Open House Sunday Big Success

Above is a view of the Newcastle Housing Authority project where open house was held Sunday.

Some three or four hundred visitors from here and over the county visited the Newcastle Housing Authority homes in East Newcastle last Sunday.

The hours for the open house were from 2 to 5 p. m. and a steady stream of people were coming and going in the time allotted. Everyone was high in their praise of the project, its design and construction. Each unit is modern in every respect, and constructed for convenience as well as looks.

The housing authority board—Lee Otis Clayborn, Jack Moody, N. D. Graham, A. B. Larimore, Wayne Hale, and Harrell Myers, acted as a reception committee, and their wives had charge of the refreshments and other duties.

Efforts are being made to secure several more units for this community and we don't know of anything better that could happen to Newcastle.

A & W Food Store moves from Olney to Newcastle; open Monday for business

As announced elsewhere in the Register, the A & W Food Store of Olney has moved to Newcastle, and will be open for business Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williams are well known here and their many friends will be happy to learn of their moving the A & W to Newcastle.

They state they will have a first class grocery and market, handling high quality groceries and meats. Mr. Swaim an experienced meat cutter will have charge of the market, which assures you quality meats, fresh and cured.

The Williams' are experienced grocermen and will endeavor at all time to satisfy your needs with prompt service and quality merchandise, they state. Mr and Mrs. Williams extend you a cordial welcome to come visit with them.

It looks like Newcastle is on the move—with the housing project just completed, new businesses opening up new people moving in—so, lets keep it moving. Come to Newcastle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thetford Honored

Mr. and Mrs Ray Thetford were honored Friday night with a delightful party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tate Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. H. D. Raney, Mrs. Roy Veal, Mrs. M. J. Phillips and Mrs. Ed Tate.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Tate and presented to the honored couple. Mrs. Raney registered the guests.

The party rooms were decorated with various arrangements of flowers.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace cloth over white satin and centered with a lovely arrangement of pink and white roses. Punch was ladeled by Mrs. Roy Veal. Delicious pecan cake squares were served. Assisting at the refreshment table were Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Tate.

During the evening the men gathered in the den and enjoyed playing dominoes while the ladies visited and got better acquainted with Mrs. Thetford, who is a new comer to Newcastle. Before her recent marriage to Ray Thetford, she was Mrs. Bonnie Corley and resided in Graham.

The honorees received many beautiful gifts.

Those present were Messrs and Mmes Roland Williams, H. D. Raney, M. J. Phillips, Roy Veal, O. Musgraves, W. P. Bureh, Cecil Markum, Garland Hankins, Dutch Morgan, Gaspard Neal, Lionel Ewing, M. N. Phillips, J. D. Mitchell, Thomas Wilkinson, Clarence Daniels.

Mmes. Johnny Moody and Freddy, L. D. Thompson, H. G. Blanton, Iola Hearne, Lola Remington, Truett Wilson. Also Tige Stewart and J. C. Bullock.

Out of town guests were: Miss Mozelle Dishman of Olney, Mr. and Mrs. Bub Thetford, and Mr. and Mrs. Clint Rutherford of Graham.

Finest commercial wool in the 16th century was produced by Spanish merino sheep.

Have you paid your Poll Tax; deadline near

The deadline, January 30, for paying your poll tax is slowly but surely creeping up on those who have not paid.

Many people think this is an off year for elections. Just stop and think how wrong you are. We have very important school and city elections coming up, and there is often special elections on some question, and there might be state constitutional amendments to be voted on.

You never know what might come up—and in order to exercise your privilege you must have a poll tax. Be able to vote in any election by paying your poll tax now. You can make application at the Register office for a Poll Tax. Don't wait—do it now.

Roman passenger carriages could travel as much as 100 miles a day.

Thanks expressed for interest in Junior Livestock Show

The Adult Leaders club of 4-14 in Young county would like to thank all of the business men of Graham, Olney and Newcastle for their keen interest and active part in the Junior Livestock Show of Young County. Your part along with the County Agents and their staff, the Vocational Agricultural teachers, the show superintendent, the divisional superintendents, and their staff, made the livestock show the most complete show that has ever been in Young county. Again may we say thanks to Farmers National Bank and Newcastle Gin Co.

Last week in the news item about new officers for the bank, we omitted R. T. Wells name as vice-president. We are sorry, but somehow we still make 'em—errors. R. T. and Horace Morgan are vice presidents.

A Lone Sentinel it Stands; Unnoticed as the Race of Men Go By

The Little Salt Creek Indian Fighter's Monument Still Stands Six Miles East of Olney.

The motorist travels east of Olney on highway 199 leaving the city limits, and in moments the speedometer reads 65 miles per hour. Six miles out on the highway the motorist passes the site of the once famous Little Salt Creek Indian Battle and never knows when he has passed it. He really doesn't know it exists. He is not too different from others—some folks have lived in the county 60 and 70 years and know nothing of its existence.

The average modern day motorist would stop and take time to visit the battle site and the old monument at the site of the battle; many motorists would take time to stop and read the list of names of the men who fought the Kiowas and Comanches on that May 16th in 1869, but they cannot. The old monument at the place of battle is behind rancher's fences and, therefore, inaccessible to the public.

NEW MARKER

The State of Texas, under its new program of accelerated historical marker presentations, will no doubt in the near future place a new marker near the site. The marker will of necessity be beside the highway. It will tell the motorist of the historical battleground. The old monument will stand for another 68 years. It has stood there since Dr. W. M. Terrell placed it there in 1896. It has for years been far from the prying eyes of historians and tourists alike. It has weathered the storm of time.

The old monument is in need of repair but the marble carvings showing the heroic Indian Fighter's names are still as visible as ever. An old barbed wire fence still lazily encloses the old monument. It stands on the hill silently doing the job it was intended to do. It memorializes the names of those who defended this frontier against the marauding Indians.

OLD MARKER

From a point exactly six miles east of Olney, Texas, city limits, one can walk approximately 1,000 steps north and 235 steps east, and there you are! The monument sits amidst lush grassland and surrounded by native mesquite. The land is now owned by Mr and Mrs. Floy V. Hinson of Graham. It is what was generally known as the old Eichelberger ranch.

SITE OF INDIAN FIGHTER'S REUNION

The Indian Fighter's Reunion was organized in Jack County and the first meetings were held at the battle site. They were held during the summer months. The date was later changed to that of the battle—May 16th. The Indian Fighter's Reunion was changed from the site on the old Eichelberger ranch to the town of Newcastle. The reunion then became known far and wide as the Kutch-Manning Pioneer Reunion. A new book recently published by Barbara N. Ledbetter is entitled, "The Kutch-Manning Pioneer Association; Newcastle, Texas, 1919-1941." Details of the old Indian fighters get-together in Young County are documented. Published in the book are thousands of names of persons attending the reunions; hundreds of names of persons making the reunion a success from year to year; and biographies of the men who fought the Indians on that Spring day in 1869.

LAST SURVIVOR

The last survivor of the battle between 12 cowmen and the Indians on Salt Creek in 1869 was W. C. "Uncle Billy" Kutch. He attended the reunions at the site east of Olney and later at Newcastle. In fact, he attended the reunion each year until his death in 1925. Mrs. Ledbetter's book has chronological lists of all battles (and their participants) fought on Young County soil.

The Salt Creek battle lasted from sun to sun on that fateful day and historians describe the battle as "savagely." Those names appearing on the old monument at the site of battle are the 12 names given below. The following informative list is as it appears in Mrs. Ledbetter's book.

- William C. "Billy" Kutch, Jack County.
- Captain Ira E. Graves, Jack County.
- J. W. Gray, Jack County.
- Jason McClain, Jack County, died from wounds.
- William Crow, Palo Pinto, killed in battle.
- O. L. "Shaff" Carter, Palo Pinto, died from wounds.
- Henry Harrison, Palo Pinto, Joe Woody, Parker County.
- Negro Dick, a cook, Tarrant County.
- John Lemley, Young County, died of wounds.
- George Lemley, Young Co.
- Reuben Segress, Young Co.

During the year 1965, a new State of Texas marker will appear on Highway 199, east of Olney. Olneyites and the many thousand motorists who pass down the highway will be informed of the historic battleground between the marauding Indians and some of Texas' illustrious cowmen and early day settlers.—Barbara Neal Ledbetter.

SANDSTORM

One of those "bugaroo" sandstorms hit this area with strong wind about 1 p. m. Monday. It came in from the west and real estate changed hands pretty fast. It preceded a weak cold front which left temperatures on the nippy side. The sandstorm dissipated by Tuesday morning, with the wind calmed down and the skies clear.

The Little Town of True

By D. D. Cusenbery

The stores are gone. All the homes have disappeared and only evidence left is the little cemetery and fond memories. Loved ones and friends keep these memories alive.

The True Reunion is held on a Sunday each year under a well-kept arbor on the True townside, where kindred and friends meet. The order of the day usually is first registering and visiting, and afterwards singing, prayers and a service.

At the noon hour, baskets of food are spread on long rows of tables with coffee and tea, and as each partakes of the wonderful food set before them, it is hard to not breathe a silent prayer of thanks. After the noon meal and more visiting the crowd meets again for more singing and a memorial service.

When one attends the True Reunion, he looks forward to coming to the next one.

The founder of True, George W. Terrell, born in Tarrant County August 16, 1850, was destined to be a cowboy, rancher, trail driver and promoter.

He left Tarrant County at the age of 14 and came to Young County to work for Dave Terrell who was ranching a few miles northwest of Fort Belknap. Later he was ranching for himself, buying and selling cattle, often buying them numbering in the hundreds. On December 22, 1879, he was married to Nancy Ann Peen by the Rev. E. V. Butler.

Geo. W. Terrell dreamed of a little rural town, a central place for business, for convenience, for social enjoyment and a place for gathering of news.

In a short time he acquired about 3,000 acres of land in the northeast part of Young County, where the land is one of the most productive areas of the County. Then one day his dream came true, for what once was a mesquite prairie, on the land he owned, and where often the voice of the coyote was heard, sprung up the little town of True, with two general stores, one drug store, a blacksmith shop, Post Office, School, gin, Woodman of the World Lodge, band, ball team and a Church organization.

The first merchant at True was William W. Crawford, and others were Dr. Bush Jones, C. T. Richardson, P. J. Cochran, Bob Furr and J. T. Temple. Most of the freighting was from Bowie and Wichita Falls.

The drug store was operated by Dr. Bush Jones and John Lowe.

The doctors were A. M. Anderson and Bush Jones.

Those who operated the blacksmith shop were Nevy Shelton, John Gibson and Bond, Smith.

The first gin at True was operated by Turner and Bill Richardson and the second gin by E. C. Keith and Bill Richardson.

At the February 1892, term of Court a petition by R. H. Choate et als was presented asking for the creation of a new school district with a boundary as follows: Beginning at the S.E. Corner of T.E.&L. Co. Survey No. 272, Thence North to N.E. Corner of Survey No. 247 Thence West to the N.W. corner of Survey No. 150, Thence South to the S.W. corner of Survey No. 23, Thence East to the S.E. corner of Survey No. 272, the place of beginning.

Up to this time the community used the Hardy School.

The court ordered the school district be created and to be known as district school No. 38.

The school was first called Liberty and in 1908 the name was changed to True.

During the March, 1892, term of court a petition was presented to the court asking for an election and to be held at the Hardy School House, R. H. Choate, kindness, thoughtfulness and usefulness.

Choate to be presiding officer of said election. True had three different school buildings. The first two were wooden buildings and the third building an attractive brick building that today is used for a community center.

Fuel used for the school was wood and coal and the water was from a well and tank.

In the early days of the school the old-time lamp and candles were used.

Young County schools were under the supervision of the County Judge until 1909, the County Judge acting as Ex-officio County Superintendent. During the September, 1909, term of court, R. Lindsey was appointed County Superintendent of Schools, being the first County Superintendent of Schools for Young County.

Following are the names of all the teachers that could be found who taught in the True School: Zania McCloud, W. F. Keathly, C. G. Tefteller, J. W. Byrd, Pearl Norris, W. D. Bolding, C. K. West, Frank H. Wilson,

The True Post Office was established November 22, 1894. It was discontinued February 29, 1912.

The community was known as Liberty, when application for a post office was made, with the expectation it would be named Liberty, but as Texas had a post office by that name, the Administration advised it would have another name. Mrs. George Terrell suggested the name True, which was accepted. The following Postmasters were appointed: William W. Crawford appointed November 22, 1894; Thomas L. Richardson appointed August 14, 1896; Boob Furr appointed July 14, 1903; and Charles T. Richardson appointed April 14, 1904.

Warren Ward and Geo. W. Terrell agreed they would carry the mail from Graham to True, until a carrier was given a contract, which was for a short time. These men were to take time about carrying the mail, using a hack, which belonged to Mr. Terrell.

As Mr. Ward was needed in operating his farm and caring for his stock, his wife would carry the mail in his place.

The carriers were J. T. Temple, J. B. Self and Bertrum Wood. The True ball team was noted for its playing. The ball ground was located east of the townsite and members of the team were Ed Watson, Willis Gibbs, Bob Brock, Bill Gay, Jesse Watson, Hugh Jones, Rufe Choat, V. Watson and Shirley White.

True had a splendid band. Frank H. Bowron was instructor, and the members were George Leberman, J. D. Lowe, Vodie Watson, Jess Watson, Charley Watson, Cone Walker, Millard Walker, Andrew Gibbs, Willis Gibbs, San Andrews, Jim Choat, Clint Burris, Marvin Burris, Ben Gay, Bob Gay, Sec. Bonds, Alva Jones, Rufe Choat and John Blancett.

One of the earliest threshers in the True community was an old-time horse-power thresher run by L. M. Stringer.

Several pair of horses were needed to operate it. Lewis Starr was usually the driver. As the horses traveled around in a circle they would often beat out a trench several inches deep. These were the days when straw was saved and stacked into what was called a hay stack and in the winter months stock would have access to the straw.

Geo. W. Terrill the founder of True, died November 9, 1911. His wife, Nancy Ann Penn Terrill, was born January 29, 1862, in Dallas County, and died February 12, 1926. Both are buried on the land he gave for the little True Cemetery, which is so well kept. One finds the grave markers of many of the early settlers. As you view one after another of them, you note the words of affection loved ones have had engraved on the markers. I wish we had space to mention all of them, but on the grave of Elder Charles T. Richardson, who was affectionately called "Uncle Tom", are these words which he wrote before his death and requested they be placed on his tombstone:

"God of love O hear our prayer,
For the people kindly care.
We on thee alone depend,
Love and save us to the end."
And he penned these words to be placed on his wife's stone:

"Tis sweet to think
That on our eyes
A lovelier clime
Shall yet arise
That we shall wake
From a pleasant dream
Beside a pure
And living stream."

"There'll Be No Sorrow There" was his favorite song, and it was sung at his funeral.

Various church denominations had services and held revivals at True, but it appears the Methodist Church was the only one having an organized church. It is not clear as to the date the church was organized nor who was the first pastor, but the names of its pastors as far as could be found were: R. J. La Prade, C. G. Shutt, O. D. Wallace, W. C. Ferguson, A. J. Helms, Roy Johnson, J. R. Carruth, Burton H. Coleman, Leland Loy, C. F. Bell, W. J. Cloud, J. Beal Duncan, Aubrey Burns, Otis Brown, Luther Wright, G. C. Childress, J. B. Weathers, John E. Brown, G. C. Smith, Robert Sanders, John Allen, Conrad Himmell, Stirl Taylor, Clyde Bullion, John Norris, George Cassia, Frank Stone, Edis Studer and E. C. Hewitt.

In my search for the name of the families of the early settlers of the True Community, I find those of R. H. Choat, Geo. W. Terrell, M. N. Hardy, L. M. Stringer, B. H. Larimore, J. F. Larimore, E. C. Keith, I. C. Gibbs, M. M. Burris, P. P. Cady, Dick Leberman, J. A. Leberman, R. S. Laney, M. V. Wilhoit, M. E. Heskett, Warren Ward, J. B. Foster, A. J. Chandler, B. B. Collie, Dave Still, Joe Still, C. E. Leffel, W. F. Keathley, Lewis Starr, William W. Crawford, Nancy Plaster, Jim Blakney, Will Logue, Bill Bickerstaff, Ben Waters, Gordon Brannon, Jim Birdwell, A. C. Watson, J. T. Temple, T. E. Jones, Monroe Davidson, Buck Blancett, Henry Taack, C. J. Taack, W. O. Clark, John Lowe, P. J. Cochran, Tom Morris, Turner Richardson, Oscar Andrew C. G. Tefteller, Shirley White, Lee McCann, S. R. Jeffrey, Joe Flist.

If you were fortunate enough to have known even a few of these early settlers, you would understand why it would be a challenge to find a group of men who could excel these in ginned here this past season

N. D. Graham, manager of the Newcastle Gin informed us that they ginned 1692 bales of cotton this past season. This is very good considering the acreage allowed for cotton Newcastle is the cotton ginning capitol of Young County and greatly contributes to the economy of this area.

We understand Mrs. R. H. Helm, a patient in the Graham hospital, is doing much better.

Mrs. A. A. Crownover at Waco is the recipient of a birthday gift from her sister, Mrs. Doc Blanton, which is a year's subscription to this "religious weekly." It will be a weekly reminder that she was remembered on her birthday.

The American Legion of Olney is promoting a Hoot-nanny, Jan. 30 7.30 p.m. They are looking for Amateur talent to perform, and would appreciate you contacting Orville Rolland at Olney.

Dr. K. F. Neighbors of Midwestern University came by Monday enroute to Austin to attend the Governor's inauguration and Democratic dinner.
