LET'S COMPLETE THE VICTORY ON JUNE 4TH!

CRAWFORD MARTIN

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Political ad paid for by Martin Campaign Committee, George Cowden, Chairman in seeing some of the wheat, oats, barley and rye grown in Young County.

Clarence Klenk, President of the Olney Chamber of Commerce, David Hays, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber, James Kunkel, past Chairman of this committee, did a fine job in helping with the plans and in representing Olney.

Gene Lowe served as tour Chairman and did his usual good job in formulating plans.

Hays can really turn out barbecue that is lip smacking. In fact, seconds for most and thirds for some, along with a large ham was consumed.

The First National Bank of Olney, Olney Federal Savings and Loan, along with Farmers National Bank of Newcastle, picked up the tab for the meal. Clarence Daniels and R. T. Wells, Jr. were on hand to represent the latter bank.

The drawings held at each stop seemed to add a bit of spice to the tour. Almost everyone likes an old fashioned drawing and several took home nice gifts that had been donated by Olney merchants. Raylon Kunkel of Olney was the winners of 25 pounds of Purina Dog Chow from Olney Feed and Elevator. Olney Drug gave a can of Rat Kill, won by Aaron Hughes of Newcastle. Aaron was also winner of the Grand Prize, an air tank, given by the Olney Chamber of Commerce. Thomas Choate of Graham had his name drawn for a wrapped gift from Ben Franklin Store. Mitchell's Gulf Station donated a role of electricians tape with Raymond Holbert of Graham the winner. Perkins-Timberlake gave a nice pair of leather work gloves, for which Lloyd Keeter of Olney held the lucky ticket. Horzny's Department Store donated a fine belt that just fit Clarence Stowe of Olney, the winner. Kunkel Truck and Tractor gave an adjustable wrench won by Alfred Morris of Olney and a tractor seat cushion, won by Wayne Bullock of Newcastle. Gene Lowe of Newcastle and a commercial fertilizer dealer gave 100 pounds of 16-48-0. At least this went back to the community from which it came, W. T. Thresher, a neighbor.

Ward Pendleton brought along a nice group of Newcastle FFA members and furnished a school bus for the tour.

Mrs. John R. Bullock of Newcastle, and her committee did an excellent job of planning and carrying out the Rural Life Sunday Program. This was well attended and I have heard many favorable comments from those present.

Soil Stewardship Week will officially end Sunday, May 22. It is my hope and desire that we will not neglect our obligations to protect our God given natural resources at any time throughout the coming year. May each Young County resident take the advice of the many 4-Hers that have appeared on Radio KSWA programs throughout the week. The theme for the week has been "Crisis in the Countryside."

The annual Ham Choate Club Lamb sale will be held May 30 in Abilene. All of the top winning lambs in the county for the past 3 years have come from this flock. 4-H and FFA members interested in showing lambs, should fulfill their needs from this sale. Mrs. Choate was re-elected Secretary - Treasurer of the Texas Purebred Sheep Breeders Association in Brownwood last Saturday.

I wish there could have been a Sears Pig for each 4-H application this year. Thirteen boys and girls applied for 6 registered Durocs. Elizabeth Oatman of Loving, Steve Joyce of Bunker, Derrell Hannah of Graham, David Clerihew of Olney and Charles (Ike) Neal of Olney received the gilts. Jenny Stuteville of Olney won the Boar.

4-H members with gardens should turn your entry into the County Agents office before the June 1 deadline. Farmers Milling Co. of Graham is again sponsoring the County Contest and will award plaques to the top 5 winners.

The dropping of peaches, plums, apricots and other fruit from the tree, may be nature's protection plan. Most trees will set more fruit than is ever recommended. Usually it is necessary for puss to come from the tree to prevent damage to the tree and assure a better quality of fruit.

or grayish, mold like growth found at this time of year on roses, crepe myrtle, eunonymous, sweet peas and many other plants, shrubs and trees. Control is quite easy with wettable sulfur or some of the other materials recommended in MP-574, "Texas Guide for Controlling Diseases on Ornamental Plants." Visit, write or call the County Agents office for your free copy.

The Graham FFA boys have made and put up signs on the Grass Observation Plot. These designate the different kinds and rates of fertilizers applied. Be sure and visit the plot and see the difference in these grasses.

Lawns Should Be Measured Before Fertilizer Applied

Lawn fertilizers and pesticides are often purchased with little or no consideration given to the square footage to be treated. For the most economical purchase, and efficient use of any lawn materials, County Agent L. M. McCarroll suggests that the lawn be measured and the square footage determined.

This job can easily be done by multiplying the length of the lawn by the width. For example, a lawn 60 feet wide and 80 feet long will contain 3,800 square feet. If a fertilizer recommendation calls for 20 pounds per 100 square feet, then it would be necessary to purchase approximately 100 pounds of fertilizer.

It is a good idea, says the county agent, to mark off the lawn in plots of approximately 1000 square feet each when herbicides or pesticides are being applied. This enables the homeowner to apply the correct amount of the material much more accurately than by estimating the area to be covered. In case of herbicides, this can be extremely important since many herbicides applied in excess of the amounts recommended will cause burning of the turf or if applied in less than recommended amounts will not give proper weed control.

The county agent says he has considerable information available at his office on many subjects dealing with lawns and home landscaping and that they are free for the asking.

County Veterans Memorial Service

Special Memorial Day Services will be held this year at 3 p.m. Sunday in the American Legion Building in Graham according to Carl Harris, commander of the Gray - Barr Post of the American Legion.

Members of the Olney Legion, VFW, the Newcastle Legion, DAV and the Graham Legion and VFW will join in the special service honoring the 123 Young County men who have died in war action.

Harris urged all members of the organizations to attend the service this year and join in with others throughout the county in paying tribute to those men who have given their lives in the cause of freedom.

The service will conclude outside at the flag pole with the playing of taps.

External Parasites Are Profit Robbers

External parasites of livestock and poultry are profit robbers. They lower the production of meat, milk and eggs by sucking blood from the animals, transmit diseases and cause loss in energy from annoyance.

They can be controlled, and their profit grabbing greatly reduced through control programs, says County Agent L. M. McCarroll.

The control programs involve the use of insecticides. Livestock insecticides are formulated as wettable powders, emulsifiable concentrates, smears, dusts and aerosols. And, cautions the county agent, all insecticides are toxic to warm-blooded animals. They should be handled with care and used only in the recommended amounts.

He emphasizes that only insecticide formulations prepared specifically for livestock be used on livestock and that the material be used in strict accordance with the labeled instructions. There may be considerable difference between insecticide formulations for plant use and those for livestock use, explains the agent.

In order that livestock producers may have the latest available information on control methods with insecticides, McCarroll says, Extension and research entomologists of Texas A&M University have prepared MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry." Copies of the guide, he adds are available from his office.

Losses Low On Farmer Loans

Losses on principal have amounted to only 2 hundredths of 1 per cent during the 16-year operation of Farmers Home Administration's rural housing loan program, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced today.

"More than $906 million has been advanced to farmers and other rural residents through direct housing loans. Approximately $326 million in principal and interest has fallen due. Repayments of principal and interest total $340.7 million," Secretary Freeman said. "Only about $163,000 of the $906 million loaned has been written off as uncollectable."

Secretary Freeman also said that one-fifth of all Farmers Home Administration rural housing borrowers have paid this loan in full. And the 89,700 borrowers with outstanding loans have made principle and interest payments of more than $188.8 million or 104 per cent of the amount that has become due.

Foreclosures have been less than 1 for each thousand loans made.

"This is a remarkable tribute to the financial integrity of rural families, and their ability to manage their financial affairs," Secretary Freeman explained. "Loans under this program are made only to those unable to obtain financing from conventional sources. And as a result, the more than 100,000 families who obtained this credit have had to be extra diligent in meeting repayment obligations."

First loans under Farmers Home Administration's new insured program — where private lenders furnish funds whose repayment in turn is insured by the agency — were made last November. By Jan. 1, some $103,000 in principal and interest has been paid. This was 5 per cent more than the amount due. Some 6,600 insured loans for over $60.6 million has been committed as of Feb. 28.

Families interested in repairing, remodeling, or in building a new home in the rural area and in towns up to 5,500 population in Young, Jack, and Stephens Counties should contact the local FHA Office for further information concerning the housing loan program, Chester L. Sinclair, County Supervisor for the unit stated today.

There are ample funds available at the present time with emphasis being stressed for small loans up to $1000 to Senior Citizens, 62 years old and older, at four per cent interest and up to ten years to repay for making minor repairs and improvements to the dwelling which they already own and occupy in order to make it safe and sanitary and remove hazards to the health of the applicant, his family, or the community, Sinclair advised.

Memorial Day, Lest We Forget

Monday marks the 1966 day of paying tribute to the thousands of Americans who have sacrificed their lives so that we might have the freedoms guaranteed us under the Constitution of the United States.

Memorial Day, as it is called, was set aside many years ago as the day we should all stop and pay homage to those brave men and women who gave the ultimate for our nation.

Many families here in Olney will be saddened this day in remembering their sons, husbands, brothers lost during World War I, World War II, Korea and Viet Nam, as they pay tribute to their loved ones. But most of these families pay tribute and remember daily their loss.

It is not so important that those who have lost loved ones be reminded of Memorial Day, it is important that each one of us who have not remembered why and how these men were called on to give the most precious possession they had.

Memorial Day is rapidly losing its meaning to a vast majority of American's, many of whom could not even tell you that Monday is Memorial Day or even why the day was set aside. Memorial Day is now a holiday observed each year as sort of the start of the vacation season. Sort of a holiday that sounds the alarm for vacation planning.

It would be interesting to ask just about anyone on the street when Memorial Day was first observed and the purpose for which it was intended.

Memorial Day, called Decoration Day in the beginning, was originated on May 30, 1868, by Gen. John A. Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Memorial Day now marks the tribute made in the United States to the dead of all its wars and is a legal holiday in all states but a few of those in the South.

Observance of the day assumes the form of military and civic parades and memorial exercises, and includes decorating with flowers the graves of American servicemen in foreign cemeteries, water services for those who died at sea, and ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery. Flags are to be flown at half mast until noon.

But, when was the last time you took time to explain what Memorial Day means, to those you love, to your children or even to yourself? When was the last time you stopped to pay homage to those brave men who gave their lives that you might have your home, your car, your family? When was the last time you gave a prayer of thanks to those who sacrificed everything for your freedom?

But in the hurry - scurry times in which we now live, it is easy to forget Guam, Guadalcanal, the Battle of the Bulge, Normandy, and the many hundreds of names and places where our men have died.

It is easy to forget these places when we are having fun at the lake, beach or golf course or wherever it may be. It is easy to forget if we have never had to live through the hell of war or seen the face of death on a soldier, sailor or marine.

It is easy to forget unless we are reminded of what Memorial Day should really mean, not a day entirely meant for joy and merriment, but rather a day for remembering those who died that we might have a free way of life. Lest we forget. Lest we forget. DHP

Know Flag Flying Regulations

Flying the American Flag carries with it certain obligations and responsibilities. In connection with the Memorial Day flying of the Flag the following rules and regulations should be carried out.

It is the universal custom to display the Flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaves in the open. However, the Flag may be displayed at night upon special occasions when it is desired to produce a patriotic effect.

The Flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.

The Flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement.

The Flag should be displayed on all days when the weather permits, especially on New Year's Day, January 1; Inauguration Day, January 20; Lincoln's Birthday, February 12; Washington's Birthday, February 22; Easter Sunday (variable); Mother's Day, second Sunday in May; Memorial Day (half staff until noon), May 30; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Citizenship Day, September 16; Armed Forces Day, third Saturday in May; Columbus Day, October 11; Veterans Day, November 11, Thanksgiving Day, fourth Thursday in November; Christmas Day, December 25, such other days as may be proclaimed by the President of the United States; the birthdays of States (dates of admission); and on State Holidays.

The Flag should be displayed daily, weather permitting, on or near the main administration building of every public institution.

The Flag should be displayed in or near every polling place on election days.

The Flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.

The Flag, when carried in a procession with another flag or flags, should be either on the marching right; that is the Flag's own right, or, if there is a line of other flags, in front of the center of that line.

The Flag should not be draped over the hood, top, sides, or back of a vehicle or of a railroad train or a boat. When the Flag is displayed on a motorcar, the staff shall be fixed firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.

No other flag or pennant should be placed above or, if on the same level, to the right of the Flag of the United States of America, except during church services conducted by naval chaplains at sea, when the church pennant may be flown above the Flag during church services for the personnel of the Navy.

Cattle Should Be Grub Checked

Beef cattle producers often fail to notice the hidden damage inflicted by cattle grubs, according to county agent, L. M. McCarroll.

The agent says, that these losses began when heflies attach their eggs to cattle and continue through the period when the grubs appear as lumps in the back.

The agent goes on to explain that grub losses can be reduced with timely application of any one of several recommended systemic insecticides. These insecticides are called systemics because they are distributed inside the body of the animal and carried to the site where the grubs occur.

McCarroll reports that only one application is necessary, and that timing is all important. He says, that early application of systemic insecticides are considerably safer and more effective than later ones. He believes that greatest efficiency may be obtained when the application of recommended insecticides are made between May 1 and September 1 or as soon as possible after heel fly activity ceases.

For further information concerning cattle grub control and the use of recommended systemic insecticides, please visit or call the County Agents office.

Range Management Important In Preventing Losses

Good management of pasture and range lands is an important factor in preventing livestock losses from poisonous plants. Approximately 80 species and varieties of poisonous plants are found in Texas, says County Agent L. M. McCarroll and emphasizing the importance of the problem. The losses from such plants, he adds, are a major economic problem since a study of numerous reports indicate the annual loss to the state's livestock industry ranges from $50 to $100 million.

Research and field studies in Texas and elsewhere indicate that the poisoning of livestock is more commonly the result of management, range conditions or kinds of animals rather than the presence of plants concerned, says McCarroll. Poor range condition from overgrazing or other conditions resulting in a lack of palatable forage is commonly the cause of poisoning. The real danger, explains the county agent, is whether or not the toxic species is grazed.

Many species are seldom eaten, but some are relished by certain animals and may be taken in preference to other forage. Many poisonous plants are green at a time of the year when other plants are dormant. Too, frequent cases of poisoning occur when hungry animals are turned into new pastures or are given access to poisonous plants near pens, watering places or along trails, says the county agent. Most poisonous plants are eaten because the animal is hungry and the toxic one is readily available.

In order that stockmen may have readily available information needed to assist them with the solution of the problem, the Texas Agricultural Experiment

Mint Can Be Home Grown And Adds To Summer Meals

By Barbara Fisher

As hot weather arrives, with a vengeance, that cool, fresh-smelling mint bed is going to come into its own. Spearmint is the most common of the home-grown mints, but anyone with a cool, moist, shaded bed can grow many varieties of mint.

Apple mint, lemon mint, spearmint and peppermint are only a few that are more than worth the small effort it takes to grow them.

Peppermint has a more delicate fragrance than spearmint, but has a more cooling, stimulating flavor. The plant has branching stems which grow up to three feet tall.

The stems have a pinkish-red-dish tone and the tips are often entirely red. There are many, spear-shaped leaves of a very deep green color which have jagged edges.

At the end of July and through August, the plant will bear spikes of rosy, lavender flowers.

Spearmint is the wonderful, familiar green mint which is delightful in tea, marvellous in fruit salad dressings and indispensable for mint sauce on lamb.

Spearmint is a shorter plant than peppermint, and is of more compact growth. It carries small white flowers in late July.

When spearmint is dried, attractive tints of red and bronze appear in the leaves, and it is quite effective in winter arrangements.

Apple mint has a nice, minty flavor, with a delectable undertone of apple. In addition to its wonderful possibilities in the culinary field, apple mint has the added attraction of being a lovely plant.

It grows about 18 inches high and its stems are covered with a soft down. The leaves are a cool soft green in color, and the blooms are spikes of lovely creamy flowers.

The soft green texture, contrasted with the burnished sheen of a pewter container, could be an arresting house arrangement.

During the hot months to come, appetites will diminish and menus should be lighter and less filling. A favorite "old-country" meal consists of a cooling drink, home-baked bread and several varieties of cold meats and cheeses.

Black, or rye bread, is impossible to make without caraway seeds.

Caraway seems to have been native to Europe, but it has been naturalized in so many places that it is difficult to ascertain where it first grew.

Caraway is a biennial or an annual, which, if left alone, will resow itself plentifully. It is easy to grow from seed.

The root of the plant is fleshy rather yellowish in color and tastes vaguely like a carrot. A rosette of leaves will grow from the root and later a tall flower stem will grow out of the low leaf cluster. The flower stem will grow to a height of 18 to 30 inches and bears umbels of small white flowers.

The seeds come after the flowers fade. They are oval shaped and very aromatic.

An unusual way to use caraway seeds is to bake them in an apple pie. They are excellent sprinkled over canned asparagus.

For a lovely party refreshment, or for someone very special on a hot, dry day, try this Apple Ale.

- APPLE ALE
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 18 sprigs apple mint
- 4 lemons
- 1 quart ginger ale
- Boil sugar and water until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and add 10 sprigs of the mint. Chill. Add the juice of four lemons and strain.

After filling mint julip glasses with crushed ice, add 1/2 cup apple ale and fill to top with ginger ale. Decorate with a sprig of mint and serve to four.

Weddin' Nets Firemen $700

Miss Butterball Smoot successfully became the bride of the Percy Algernon Peerless III in ceremonies held Saturday night in the Olney High School Auditorium.

The wedding, before a packed house, was billed as the social event of the season and netted the sponsors, the Olney Volunteer Fire Department, about $700 according to Foster Richmond, chief. The funds will be used to help pay for the new fire building which is nearing completion.

Following the wedding two lovelies were named to share the title of "Miss Flame of 1966". The winners were Snicker (David Hays) and Milky Way (Al Myers) who did a strip show as their talent entry.

Pecan Growers Should Watch For Casebearer

pecan growers to spray for the Pecan Nut Casebearer, reports L. M. McCarroll, County Agent. Traps were established in the Crouch Orchard in cooperation John Ford, Orchard Manager. The first adult casebearermiller emerged on Wednesday, May 18. According to the agent, recommendations call for insecticides be applied about 9 days later. This would be Friday, May 27. McCarroll says that producers with sufficient trees to require several days of spraying should begin a few days before and continue a few days after the above date. Because of the longer residual (lasting effect) of some insecticides, good results can be obtained for a period of 7 days. Three to four days either way from the May 27 date.

McCarroll points out that Malathion, Sevin, DDT, Toxaphene and Thiodan are the insecticides recommended. These should be applied according to the recommendations found in bulletin L-245, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Fruit and Nuts. Guide recommendations should be observed closely if livestock are to graze the area where pecans are sprayed. Leaf minors have proven a problem for some growers. McCarroll says this is where the leaves turn brown and drop from the tree. Under these conditions, Diazinon should be used for both the minor and casebearer. The agent points out that another good practice is to add Zinc Sulfate at the rate of 2-3 pounds per 100 gallons for the control of Rosette. Be sure and put a sticker agent in the sprayer to assure better coverage. According to McCarroll this may be purchased under various trade names or household detergents may be used.

Remember the recommended spray dates for the control of the Pecan Nut Casebearer in Young County are about May 23 to June 1.

Mesquite Ready For Aerial Spray

With recent rains, mesquite has had sufficient moisture to produce luxuriant growth and permit aerial application of herbicides for their control.

In most areas of Young County annual weed were abundant. When the mesquites are sprayed, weed control will be a by product. If the weeds are rather mature, add 1-3 of a pound more of 2,4,5-T per acre. This extra amount of 2,4,5-T generally will produce satisfactory weed control even on mature weeds. It may not kill the weeds completely, but will stop their growth and keep them from using so much soil moisture.

Aerial application for mesquite control costs around $2.75 per acre. A good top kill and root kill ranging from 20-40 percent should result depending upon growth conditions and range site. The heavier the range site the less plant kill from aerial application.

The returns from mesquite control at Spur, comparing brush controlled pastures over a 5 year period, has resulted in an increase of 33 pounds more per calf on the cleared pasture. Also, at the beginning of the fifth year, the stocking rate was increased one animal unit on the cleared pasture. The aerial spraying should give good grass production in most areas of Texas for at least 5 years and possibly 8 before a retreatment is needed.

Ranchmen report that in addition to increased beef gains, they save about a dollar in labor per acre when working livestock in brush controlled pastures. Brush control, said one rancher, means the difference between properly working stock and not working them.
