

'Fifth String' wins first in ATC Talent Contest

Captain David Dorger, first lieutenants Donald Staid, Joseph Dye, second lieutenants Robert Downs and Jeffery Lovell members of the country and western band "Fifth String" have won first place in the instrumental category of the Air Training Command Talent Contest held last week at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Entertainers from Keesler AFB, Miss., ran away with most of the honors at the contest.

SSgt. Bob Schmidt, Keesler AFB, was chosen the best performer in the show after winning both the non self-accompanied male vocalist and male classical vocal categories.

A1C Carol Diepenbrock, also of Keesler AFB, was the only other performer to win two categories. She took top honors in both the female classical vocalist and non self-accompanied female vocalist categories.

Other winners command-wide were: A1C Leon Johnson, Keesler AFB, comedy; A1C Artie Boughan, Lackland AFB, potpurri; A1C

Richard Enroth, Chanute AFB, Ill., instrumental soloist; SSgt. Bill Shannon, Craig AFB, Ala., self-accompanied vocalist; A1C Arnold Houston, Randolph AFB, Tex., drama; AB Vincent Cranford, Keesler AFB, solo dance; Sgt. Arlene Bates, Sgt. Landrum Wise and A1C Gary Sarchell, Lowry AFB, Colo., vocal group; SSgt. Don Mackey, Mather AFB, Calif., master of ceremonies.

"Fifth String" will now compete in the Air Force Talent Contest.

Survey says public supports strong defense, B-1 bomber

PRINCETON, N.J. (AFNS) - The American public wants a stronger national defense and supports the decision to produce the B-1 bomber, according to a national survey released by Opinion Research Corporation.

Results of the survey indicate 65 per cent of the public believe the United States should be stronger than Russia, but only 29 per cent feel that we are.

Twenty-six per cent of those polled think we should be equally strong and 30 per cent believe we actually are.

One percent of the Opinion Research Corp. poll says the United States should be weaker than Russia, but 27 per cent says we are.

Questioned on the Dec. 2 Department of Defense decision approving initial production of the B-1 strategic bomber, 64 per cent said they agreed with the decision. Eighteen per cent disagreed and 18 per cent were undecided.

Forty-two per cent of those polled said the present U.S. defense budget should be increased, 29 per cent favored leaving it where it is now, 16 per cent favored decreasing the budget and 13 per cent had no opinion. (In effect, 71 per cent said that they did not want our defense budget reduced.)

On the subject of the effect of inflation on defense projects, those polled were asked how much of the total B-1 program cost through the 1980s would be due to inflation. Thirty-four per cent responded "a great deal," 31 per cent felt "about half," 14 per cent believed "a small amount," three per cent felt none and 18 per cent had no opinion. The Air Force projects that approximately one-half of the $23 billion B-1 program costs will be due to inflation.

The nationwide Dec. 10-12 telephone survey of a scientific random sample of 1,004 persons was designed by Opinion Research Corp. to measure public attitudes toward U.S. defense strength and awareness of the attitudes toward the B-1 bomber program. It was commissioned by Rockwell International, prime contractor for the Air Force's B-1 program.

Fifty-six per cent of those polled said they considered themselves Democrats, 28 per cent said they were Republicans and 8 per cent responded as Independents, while 8 per cent said they were undecided or "something else." Eighty-seven per cent of the respondents were white, 9 per cent black, while 4 per cent said they were other or declined response.

Airmen must make NCO to reenlist in Air Force

Effective May 1 two new rules will be implemented by the Air Force to insure that only trained, experienced and qualified individuals become noncommissioned officers (NCO). Closely associated with this objective is the goal of the Selective Reenlistment Program (SRP) which is to maintain a quality enlisted force.

After May 1 the following two rules will be implemented:

- An airman who is considered but not selected for advancement to NCO status will not be allowed to reenlist.

- An airman who has been declared ineligible to reenlist will be denied advancement to NCO status.

If an airman has already reenlisted and is considered for and denied NCO status he will be ineligible to reenlist again. In addition, individuals whose NCO status is vacated will be ineligible to reenlist.

Personnel whose status as an NCO is denied or vacated may seek reconsideration from their commanders through procedures outlined in AFR 39-13, Appointment to Noncommissioned Officer Status.

Additional information on this program may be obtained by contacting the Career Information Unit, Ext. 2420.

Retirees get pay increase of 4.8 per cent this month

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Military and federal civilian retirees will get a 4.8 per cent increase in their retired pay for March.

A 1976 law set March 1, 1977, as the effective date for new procedures in figuring cost-of-living increases for retired military and government employees. This means the pay increases will show up in end-of-the-month checks.

The 4.8 per cent increase is a "before-taxes" figure. The net change may be slightly different for some retirees.

Under the 1976 law, cost-of-living adjustments will be made at six-month intervals (each March and September), based on the consumer price index (CPI) increase for the previous six months.

The CPI measures the change in the cost of purchases a typical wage earner might make during a particular base period.

The first increase under the new system is based on the CPI figures for December 1975 and 1976. December 1975 is used as the base month because it triggered the previous CPI increase in March 1976.

According to Air Force officials, if there is no CPI increase for six months, or if the index drops, there will be no change in retired pay.

Under the previous method of computing retired pay, adjustments were made when the CPI rose 3 per cent above a base month and stayed at the new high or higher, for three months. The raise in retired pay matched the CPI percentage increase, with an extra 1 per cent "kicker" added.

The new computation method eliminates the "kicker," but is expected to provide retirees with faster, more equitable changes when the CPI goes up.

State Tax Withholding

July set for implementation

LOWRY AFB, Colo. (AFNS) - The Air Force Accounting and Finance Center (AFAFC) will begin withholding state income taxes from the pay of Air Force members beginning in July of this year for states that have completed agreements with the U.S. Treasury. No state has yet signed an agreement, but 28 states are negotiating with Treasury.

Negotiating are: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado,

Delaware, the District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Michigan and Arizona have requested information on state withholding, although Michigan does not currently tax military pay.

The AFAFC will use each individual state's tax formula to compute the tax withheld from members' pay. The center will also print information on state taxes on the new self-mailer leave and earnings statement which will be in use throughout the Air Force as of the end of July.

FROM THE TRAIL BOSS

Brig. Gen. Edward Mendel
Wing Commander

April is spring clean up time again, a time to upgrade the overall appearance of the base, our working areas, and our living quarters. Although our Base Civil Engineers will organize and provide the driving force for this campaign, we expect that everybody will participate in some way.

Supervisors are expected to actively plan, promote, publicize, and support the base clean up campaign. Building custodians must place emphasis on identification and correction of fire safety hazards and improvement of building appearance. Building custodians should also identify cleaning and maintenance tasks within the facility and within 75 feet of the outside. We need to get rid of some of that old furniture, equipment, or whatever it is you have been saving but not using. We need to spruce up the appearance of the buildings through self-help efforts if necessary; clean and paint doorways, entryways, corridors, etc.

Base housing occupants should check carports, yards, and homes for safety hazards and for ways of improving their appearance. If you can do it yourself, please do on a self-help basis, but check the housing brochure to insure that it is proper and permissible. When you see something that needs doing that you can't do, let our Civil Engineers know about it. The lead time on some projects is pretty long, so early identification is necessary.

BOQ and BEQ occupants should inspect their rooms and facilities to identify similar projects. Again, do what you can on a self-help basis to clean things up or fix things. What you can't do yourself, identify to your first sergeant or the appropriate person in order that Civil Engineers can be scheduled to fix it. Remember that our Civil Engineering funds and manpower are somewhat limited so that we will expect you to participate actively—not just sit back and play straw boss.

As the end of April approaches, I expect to see a flurry of activity all over this base in response to planning actions accomplished earlier in the month. I encourage all of you to fully support this program so that we can keep Reese a desirable place to work and live, and a show place that we can proudly exhibit to visitors.

Community Property

Understanding law vital in estate plan

By Maj. David F. Sullivan
Staff Judge Advocate

however, is not uniform among the community property states.

Community Property

In Texas and some other states, income from most separate property becomes community property; but in others, for example California, it remains separate property. Generally, the husband has the right to manage and control the community personal property but usually is prohibited from making gifts of it to third persons unless his wife consents.

In most community property states, a wife may dispose of her one-half interest by will, but New Mexico is an exception to that general rule. In California, Nevada, Idaho and New Mexico, if either spouse dies without a will, his or her share passes to the survivor, but in other states, the decedent's interest goes to his descendants or heirs.

Estate Planning

Obviously, estate planning is significantly influenced by community ownership. For example, if the premium for an insurance policy on a husband's life is paid with community funds, the wife owns one-half of the policy during the husband's life and she is entitled to one-half the proceeds on his death regardless of whom he may have designated as his beneficiary. Also, as a wife owns one-half of all community property, the value of her interest is not taxable as part of her deceased husband's estate although it is retained in the estate for limited purposes of planning.

The law of community property is often not well understood in other states where the legal system is based on some form of common law ownership. The respective property interest of a husband and wife is not always easy to resolve. Difficult as it is, however, in planning his estate, a resident of California, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Louisiana and Texas must consider the nature, extent or consequences of his or his wife's interest in their property.

If you believe any of the above laws may affect your own estate planning, you may receive further legal advice by contacting the legal assistance officer at the base legal office.

In estate planning, an understanding of the Law of Community Property is especially important. Eight states mainly in the Far West and Southwest follow in one form or another, the community property system of civil law.

In brief, community ownership means that each spouse owns an undivided one-half interest in all property acquired by either after marriage except that obtained by inheritance or by gift. The law,

Two Cents Worth

Do you think the Air Force Assistance Fund is a worthwhile charity?

Yes I do. It provides benefits for our dependents such as educational funds.

1st Lt. Donald Benton
54th FTS

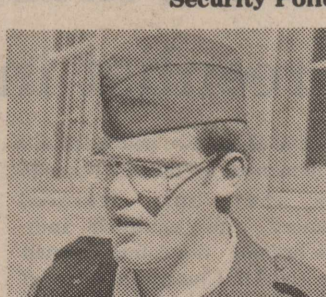

I believe it's a pretty good charity fund. It helps dependent wives out whose husbands have been killed in Vietnam or who have died.

A1C Earl Dullen

I believe it is because we are all part of an elite group and I believe it is our responsibility to take care of our own.

1st Lt. Dennis Roye

Yes, it is a worthwhile cause because if a guy dies, his wife has got to have something to fall back on, she has to have some place to go and something to help her out.

Safety eyewear: Helpful device for preventing sight damages

By Mary Hughes
Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness

A farmer lost his sight while stretching barbed-wire on a fence. A teenaged boy was blinded in one eye while using anhydrous ammonia to fertilize the family farm.

These common farm practices which resulted in blinding eye accidents could have been prevented through the use of appropriate safety eyewear, reports the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Farm workshop hand tools, grinding wheels, power saws, lathes and drills should never be used without the protection of at least plastic cover goggles (which fit comfortably over prescription glasses.) Full shields provide general protection, especially during light grinding, but a goggle provides better over-all coverage, for example when making repairs underneath farm machinery.

Well-fitting plastic covered goggles with hooded vents provide protection from flying dust and chaff, as well as from low-lying branches and brush, encountered during general field work. Such goggles should be stored on tractors and other farm machines, and in containers to protect and keep them clean.

Anhydrous ammonia fertilizer is especially dangerous. The highest percentage of ammonia accidents occur during transfer from one tank to another, a process that is repeated at least three times between factory and field application. If there is just one minor equipment defect—such as weak point in a hose or a faulty valve—eye damage can occur.

Ammonia absorbs into the fluid of living tissue so fast that damage can begin to occur within a brief time as 30 seconds after contact.

The Prevention of Blindness advises; always stand upwind, keep your head and body clear of valves and couplings, and have an ample water supply (at least 5 gallons) within easy reach when working with ammonia. In the event of an accident where ammonia comes in contact with the eyes or skin, flush with clean water for 15 minutes. Another recommended safety precaution is to keep a small squeeze bottle of water in a pocket when working because blinding pain may immobilize the injured worker.

Study courses available to civil service employees

(AFNS Editorial)

A new educational opportunity for civil service employees is available through the Civil Service Commission.

The program falls under the recently established National Independent Study Center (NISC), a branch of the Civil Service Commission in Denver.

Under the new program, individuals can study course materials at their own worksites and at their own pace.

The expanded on-the-job curriculum includes programmed

English usage, personnel clerk functions, position management and position classification, and basic labor relations. Also included are courses on equal employment opportunity, classification as a management tool, basic personnel management and preparation for retirement.

To enroll, individuals must have an authorized official of their agency submit an Optional Form 37 or Optional Form 170. The forms are processed through the civilian training officer in the central civilian personnel office.

AFA begins membership drive

By Capt. Wayne Hodges
AFA Liaison Officer

The Air Force Association (AFA) begins its annual membership drive here April 1.

AFA is a national nonprofit organization with no personal, political, or commercial interests. It publishes AIR FORCE Magazine, the largest aerospace magazine in the free world, and currently has more than 150,000 members, including both active duty and civilian personnel. Local support for Reese Air Force Base is provided by the Lubbock Chapter of the AFA.

In its recent Policy Statement on People, AFA strongly affirms support of "people programs" for the Air Force Professional, be he in uniform or in a civilian capacity, at every level and of every rank. Pointing out that "the surest way to make the volunteer force (concept) work is by enhancing the values of the professional military career", the statement criticized those who would "chip away, deride, distort, and legislate against benefits provided to servicemen". It concludes by saying that the men and women of all armed services have "never needed help more urgently, (and) they will get it from the Air Force Association to the full extent of our abilities, our resources, and our energies."

Representatives for each agency and unit at Reese have been identified and are currently contacting all military and civilian personnel assigned to that unit. Applications for membership are available from the following:

(Editor's Note: THE ROUNDUP will publish Commander's CARE Line calls which are of base-wide interest. Names of callers will not be published, but callers should leave their name and duty extension in case their problem needs clarification. All calls are reviewed by Wing Commander Brig. Gen. (Ext. 2273). Please provide your name and duty section when calling.)

Thanks to Hospital

I want to take the time to compliment the Hospital staff for the wonderful job they did for my wife while she was in the hospital. I think we have a fine medical facility at Reese and I think we have a very fine dental clinic and I don't think many people appreciate it the way they should.

The following people were very kind to my wife when she was in the hospital: Dr. Bell; his assistant; Captain Ratajczak; the hospital staff—Major Griswold, Lieutenant Eley, SSgt. Harrison, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Ivey, Mrs. Maddox, Amn Williams and others. All these people have been very kind and very considerate of my dependent and I am very grateful to them.

We appreciate very much your complimentary remarks about our hospital. We agree that the hospital is a fine facility, staffed with competent and professional personnel who care about the health and welfare of all patients. Thank you for your concern and kind remarks.

Racquetball Reservations

I would like to know why colonels have preference for the base Gym racquetball courts and why an airman first class does not.

The answer is quite simple, because we have very few colonels on this base and they are busy people. Not that you aren't busy, I know you are, but the demands on our senior officers' time are such that it would be impossible for them to make a reservation if they followed the normal process. In other terms, I strongly believe that our senior officers and senior enlisted people should have certain privileges. This is one of them. As long as these privileges are not abused, I expect to let them stand.

Dust confuses students

by Capt. Cliff Napolitano

The new issue items around the Student Squadron are miners' helmets. . .for the power blackouts. We weren't sure whether there was a natural disaster or if Lt. Col. Phillip Rain had just plugged in the simulator building.

There was some confusion in the building as to continuing classes during the blowing dust. The Advanced Aerodynamics classes were held on the soccer field where some wind tunnel tests were demonstrated (only two students were lost) actually they were testing their new kite and are now enrolled in Class 7802 at Sheppard AFB.

It seems that our incoming classes have started a trend of having one set of twins per class. Class 7802 was neglected somehow, but did the next best thing. One student from each section volunteered to break his leg and hobble around on crutches together (the unfortunate thing is, both of them tried to break their respective legs and failed). So, if you see either Lt. Gardner or 2nd Lt. Mark McNair offer them condolences. . .and maybe some coordination.

The question for the week is: do a Captain and a senior First Lieutenant have the authority and/or the judgement to dismiss the squadron? . . .Oh, by the way, who is answering the phones in the student squadron these days? Tune in next week for the answers to these and other enlightening questions, like what is the worst recorded disaster in South Plains history? Tornado of '73, Jackrabbit Stampede of '06 or O'Clubs Mexican special before a chamber ride.

There will be a meeting at the Officers Club today at 5 p.m. for Class 7803. Welcome to Reese, Gentlemen, home of fun in the sun and the world's fastest beach.

This week was, as usual, slow. Congratulations are in order for 1st Lt. Gary Buis, for his outstanding showmanship as he entered Patrick J. O'Malleys to help celebrate St. Pat's Day. Even more importantly, 1st Lt. Gary "Super Flame" Ambrose finally got to fly on Friday and fly he did. Congrats Gary. On Sunday, the "C" and "F" flights clashed in a true test of abilities, the first of many beer ball games of the spring. The award, once again, goes to 2nd Lt. Randall "Grace" McPeak who, with the abilities of a mountain goat, sprained his ankle getting out of the club. What a way to go DNIF! A welcome again to 2nd Lt. Steve Murcoch. It was his first week in the flight and he had dispatch five times and snack bar once. Doc wants to thank you 02, every last one of you.

IP OF MONTH—Capt. Travis Hailey has been selected as Instructor Pilot of the Month for the 54th Flying Training Squadron. (U.S. Air Force Photo by SSgt. Ron Pack)

54th FTS picks Hailey as month's top instructor

Capt. Travis T. Hailey has been selected as the Instructor Pilot of the Month by the 54th Flying Training Squadron (FTS).

In addition to his duties as an instructor pilot, Captain Hailey has taken on other duties associated with flight operations. He is a senior Runway Supervisory Unit controller, flight scheduler and Wing Assistant Executive Officer. In this capacity, as a direct representative of the Wing Commander, Captain Hailey is in charge of numerous administrative duties including the Wing Inspection and Management by Objectives Programs. He is also the Wing Historian.

Commander of the 54th FTS Lt. Col. Wesley K. Blanchard says "Captain Hailey's commitment to perfection, self-motivation, and complete dedication to the training mission makes him an obvious choice for this award."

GROWING WITH THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

JUVENILE OFFICER PROGRAM—Lorraine Special receives last minute instructions from John Morehead before taking the road portion of a Defensive Driving Course with instructor Sharon Adams. The course was sponsored by the Reese Juvenile Officer Program for dependent youth. AIC Dwight Dillow, Juvenile Officer, Lisa Pierson, and Capt. Thomas Clarke were also on hand to wish Lorraine good luck. (U.S. Air Force Photo by SSgt. Dennis Mehrenberg)

La Leche League

A meeting, open to all women interested in breastfeeding, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at 109 Andrews Dr. Babies welcome. For more information, call Heidi Buttrick, 885-2186.

NCOA Reorganizes

The first reorganization meeting of the Mark T. Kuykendall Chapter of the Noncommissioned Officers Association (NCOA) will be held at 7 p.m. April 6 in the NCO Open Mess. The meeting will be for the election of chapter trustees and board members. It is important that all members (active and retired) and prospective members attend. NCOA membership is open to all E-4s and above and to officers who were honorably discharged in the rank of E-4 or above. Future meetings will be held on the first Wednesday of each month.

First at Reese

Lt. Col. (Father) Earl DeBlieux has received notification from Air University that he has successfully completed the written requirements for course 1F, Air Command and Staff Seminar (ACSC).

This accomplishment gives him the honor of being the first student from Seminar No. 99, Reese AFB to complete course 1F.

A new seminar on course 1F will begin around May 2. All interested personnel should contact the base education office or Captain Steverson, Ext. 2740.

Church of God Retreat

A serviceman's Retreat for Church of God personnel is planned for April 21 - 24 in Weatherford, Tex. For information, contact the Chapel, Ext. 2237.

Correction Notice

In last week's Roundup, errors were made in the Field Maintenance story concerning personnel who had achieved an outstanding rating on their end of course exams for on-the-job training. The individuals who obtained outstanding ratings were SSgt. George Edmond, Airmen Robert Riley, Kenneth Hammer, Denise Salzman, Kenneth Cochran, Mark Williams, and Maria Abbott.

The photo credit line for the Tornado picture on the front page on last week's ROUNDUP was left off. The picture was taken by SSgt. Mike Hall.

Base lauds Chief Wood in ceremonies next week

by SMSgt. Herbert Cummings

As most of you know, we are losing our Senior Enlisted Advisor to retirement on Thursday. Chief Wood would prefer to slip out the gate and proceed to his hideout in Oklahoma, but the Wing Commander and Senior NCO's have no intention of letting this happen. Two activities have been planned to honor him and hopefully make Reese AFB and retirement one of his most memorable experiences.

A "Roast Chief Wood Banquet" will be held in the NCO Club starting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. Schedule of events include: Cocktail Hour, Dinner, Roasting Activities, and a band for a full evening of entertainment. All Reese personnel and their ladies are encouraged to attend and take part in honoring Chief Wood and his wife, Wanda. Detailed information and tickets are available from your first sergeant and a number of NCO's throughout the base.

A formal retirement ceremony will be conducted in the Mathis Recreation Center at 11 a.m., Thursday. Again, all personnel are encouraged to attend and pay farewell tribute to Chief Wood.

Bank Americard use set for May 1 in both clubs

by Lt. Col. Thomas P. Laffey
Consolidated Club Manager of the clubs and fill out the required forms.

The target date for the Bank Americard system to be fully operational at the NCO and Officers Clubs is May 1, 1977. To make the transition from the present system to Bank Americard will require the cooperation of all present and new club members. If you have not already filled out the application for your new card, please stop by either

To clear up any misunderstanding about interest charges or membership dues under the new system, the following is the way it is:

- No finance charge will be assessed for the use of Bank Americard to buy merchandise or services if payment in full is received at the Bank Americard Center within 25 days of the closing date shown on the holder's periodic statement. A charge of one and one-half per cent per month or 18 per cent annually will be assessed to any carry over charges that extend past the 25 day period.

- There is no annual membership charge for being a member of Bank Americard, and no finance charge is attached to your club dues which are paid for a month in advance.

Those members that want a dues only billing with Bank Americard need only fill out the basic information on the application such as name, address, telephone number and type of account. Credit references are not required.

Those individuals that already have a Bank Americard will only be required to fill out the local form listing their present card number.

It cannot be emphasized enough the importance of filling out and turning in the available application at either club. Please do so now if you are one of those that have been putting it off.

Wives model Spring fashions

Twenty wives from the Enlisted Wives' Club will be modeling the best of the new and old at 7 p.m. April 1 during a Spring Fashion Show in the NCO Open Mess.

Spring fashions for 1977 will be modeled by half of the wives. The other half will be modeling spring fashions from years past.

Helping the club with the show is Sears' Fashion Coordinator Terry Gaschen. There is no charge for the show and everyone is invited.

AAFES releases travel guide

Dallas—The Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) announces the 1977 travel guide will be distributed in Mid-April.

"AAFES had a good response to the 1976 travel guide and has made the 1977 guide even better," commented Colonel Harlow D. Hart, Sr., director of the Command and Public Relations Division at headquarters.

The travel guide will feature a map of the United States showing the geographic location of Army and Air Force installations. A listing of the installations will provide directions to each base or post from the nearest town or city. The list will also be keyed to show what facilities (commissary, hospital, boating, camping, etc.) may be found at each installation. The travel guide will be folded more compactly for easier handling.

The free travel guide is aimed at the military-oriented traveler and his family, whether active duty or retired. Emphasis will be placed on military privileges available to them.

Zoonoses clinic provides treatment for sick pets

Not only do pets provide us with companionship and pleasure, but they can also expose us to human diseases. Because of this, one of the duties of the Air Force Veterinarian is to support the overall medical mission with a program for the prevention, diagnosis and control of zoonotic diseases (diseases transmitted from animals to man).

Treatment Available

A Zoonoses Control Clinic is operated on an appointment-only basis from 9-11 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursday. Following are services available during the clinic:

- Immunizations for rabies and leptospirosis and distemper.
- Distemper vaccination should begin at six weeks of age for puppies and seven to nine weeks for kittens.
- Rabies vaccinations are required for dogs and cats in Reese Village over the age of four months. This is followed by annual boosters.

• Treatment for zoonotic disease such as mange, ringworm, rabies, brucellosis, intestinal parasites (worms) and numerous bacterial infections.

• Issue of health certificates for pets traveling out of state or on airlines. Certificates are valid for 10 days.

Internal Parasites

For owners who believe their animals may have worms or other intestinal parasites, stool examinations are performed on Monday and Wednesday mornings.

A new service to begin next month is population control surgery (spays and neutering). Needed equipment and supplies should arrive by April 15 at which time a waiting list will be established. Priority will be given to personnel residing in the Village with about eight surgeries performed per month.

Since the Zoonoses Clinic is funded by the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division, there is a charge for all medication and supplies used in treatments and examinations.

For more information contact Veterinary Services, Bldg. 631, Ext. 2535.

RECEIVES HONOR—Mrs. Dale Mears was recently honored when she was selected as the PBX Operator of the Year in the Lubbock area. (U.S. Air Force Photo by MSgt. Stanley H. Stahl)

Reese operator receives recognition for support

By MSgt. Stanley H. Stahl

REESE AFB, — Dale Mears, a telephone operator for the 1958th Communications Squadron recently received the 1976-77 "PBX (private branch exchange) Operator of the Year" award. She was presented the award by fellow members of the PBX Club of Lubbock in recognition of her outstanding support to further the PBX profession.

The local club has been in existence for 22 years. The object of this organization is to promote good will among operators, employers, and the telephone company. This is accomplished through the adoption and conscientious application of the club's motto, "Always be Courteous."

SPRING CLEAN UP—SSgt. Royce Zvorak gets an early start on the Reese Clean Up Campaign as he cleans his storage area looking for safety and fire hazards. The base wide clean up begins today and everyone's help is asked so that Reese can be one of the best looking bases in ATC. (U.S. Air Force Photo by SSgt. Ron Pack)

Part of the fun is driving a bargain.

Very few things in life are great fun and a great bargain all at the same time. MG Midget, however, long recognized as one of the world's foremost fun cars, is also the lowest priced authentic sports car on the market. By authentic, we mean nothing less than front disc brakes, rack and pinion steering, short throw stick and a wide-open, top-down approach to motoring that could make you wonder why you waited. So why wait? Drive the MG Midget, one of the sports car world's great bargains—today.

Randolph wins Volleyball crown

Randolph AFB amassed 11 points in the Air Training Command (ATC) Central Division Volleyball Tournament held here March 19 and 20 to capture the first place trophy.

The tournament was officially opened when Col. Joseph Brotherston, 64th Air Base Group commander, served the first ball.

The first match of the tourney was between Randolph and Webb. Webb was unable to field a full team on time for the first game and were forced to forfeit. Randolph took the second game of the match 15 to 4.

Reese split the next match with Lackland losing the first game 15 to 13 but winning the second game 15 to 13.

Lackland went on to win both games in the third match against Webb 15 to 5 and 15 to 8.

Randolph and Reese played match four in the tournament. Randolph won both games 15 to 3 and 15 to 1.

Lackland didn't do any better against Randolph as Randolph won their next match 15 to 0 and 15 to 11.

Reese came back from their loss to Randolph and beat Webb both games in match six 15 to 9 and 15 to 13.

The last match of the day was between Randolph and Webb. Randolph continued its winning streak beating Webb 15 to 1 and 15 to 2.

Reese played Lackland in the first match March 20. Lackland won both games 15 to 7 and 15 to 10.

Lackland next played Webb, again winning both games 15 to 3 and 15 to 7.

Randolph and Reese played the next match. Randolph won both games 15 to 3 and 15 to 4.

In the next match Randolph again won both its games beating Lackland 15 to 13 and 18 to 16.

In the final game of the tournament Reese beat Webb 15 to 8 and 15 to 9.

In all Randolph won 12 games, Lackland won seven, Reese won five and Webb did not win any games.

Willoughby, Goad bowl in tourney

Karen Goad led the ladies in the Roll-off and will be one of the ladies representing Reese at Randolph AFB, Tex. in the Air Training Command (ATC) Bowling Tournament.

Brenda Willoughby beat out Debbie Persinger by three pins to take the other slot. Debbie, teamed with Hassie Lormand to take second place in ATC last year.

Cycles need registration stickers

by Capt. Thomas Clarke
Chief, Security Police

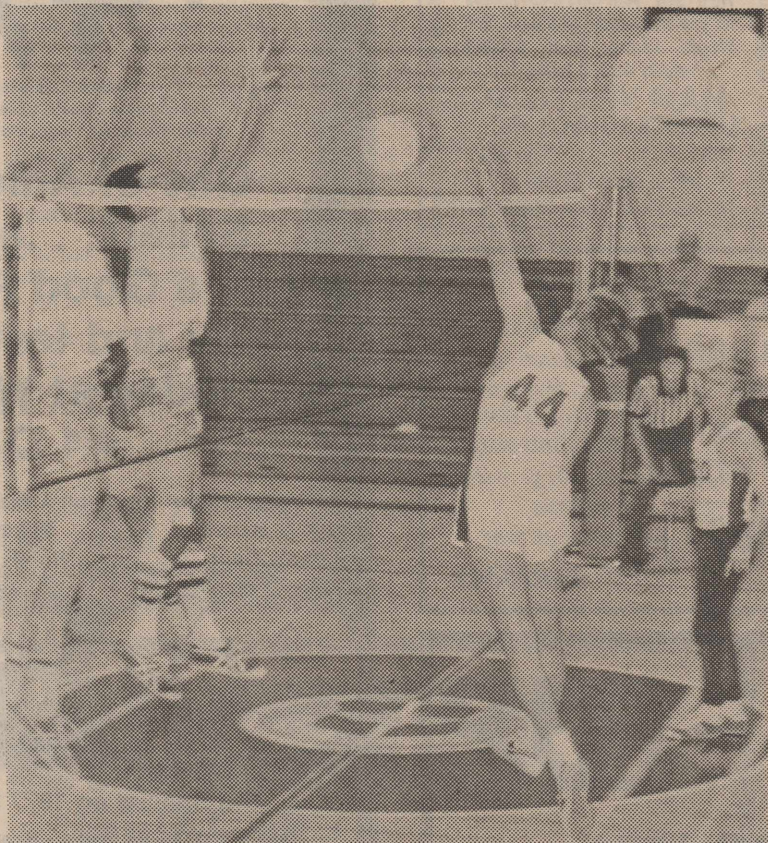

As the flowers bloom and the robins return; the weather encourages recreational travel, and increased roadway exposure. Since more vehicles will be utilizing the nation's throughfares we all will be more prone to incidents. One of the potential incidents we could be involved in—no valid vehicle registration sticker.

The latest IG Inspection was not too impressed with the lack of concern on the part of motor vehicle (to include motorcycles) operators. It is the inherent responsibility of each motor vehicle operator to register his vehicle at his earliest convenience upon arriving on base. Motorcycle operators should be especially aware of the required Base Regulations. Base regulation requirements are as follows:

- Motorcycle operator must have a valid state inspection sticker and special drivers license, if required by state bike is licensed in.
- Wear approved helmet and eye protection at all times.
- Headlights illuminated at all time.
- Motorcycles operated on Reese AFB must be equipped with the following equipment:
 - Front and Rear wheel brakes - unless manufactured without front wheel brakes.
 - At least one mirror which provides an adequate field of vision for a minimum of 200 feet to the rear.
 - Front and rear fenders.

The following items are prohibited equipment:

- Handlebar height in excess of 15 inches above the seat.
- Forks more than six inches longer than stock, or rake angle in excess of 40 degrees.
