Jackson gains Best in Command Award

Best in command says the certificate awarded to SMSgt. Tommie L. Jackson Tuesday.

The presentation was in honor of Sergeant Jackson receiving the Outstanding Air Training Command (ATC) Transportation Noncommissioned Officer of the Year Award. Sergeant Jackson will now compete against other command winners for the Air Force award.

Sergeant Jackson arrived at Reese in June 1976 to find transportation facilities in poor condition, equipment missing or broken, mechanics not properly trained and vehicles in poor condition.

Work begins

After establishing priorities and developing a plan, Sergeant Jackson started work to correct all discrepancies.

Although facilities were old, Sergeant Jackson did what he could to improve working conditions for his employees. Buildings were painted, light fixtures repaired and improved and safety hazards eliminated.

Not only were the physical properties of the maintenance buildings improved, but layout was also changed to improve work flow and span of control. This resulted in noticeable vehicle improvements which were observed by wing supervisors and ATC personnel.

Acquires needed equipment

Improving the condition of equipment was the next task undertaken by Sergeant Jackson. Spending more than $54,000 he had old equipment repaired and newer equipment ordered.

This lead to another problem. Most of the mechanics didn't know how to properly use the new equipment and tools. Sergeant Jackson solved this problem by establishing weekly training classes for the mechanics. He developed lesson plans, obtained qualified instructors, and personally supervised the overall training program.

The benefits were immediately realized VIC) rated and decreased quality control

Sergeant Jackson also arranged for mechanics to attend technical schools to become specialized mechanics. A Field Training Detachment course from Chanute AFB, Ill. was also established

Plan works

His plan was working. Facilities and working conditions were improved, proper tools and equipment were available, and mechanics were properly trained. Soon the VIC rate began to climb. The Air Force standard VIC rate is 90 per cent. Reese has maintained a 93 per cent VIC rate for the past nine months.

Reese had another man selected as best in command. Maj. James J. Schweitzer won the Outstanding ATC Officer of the

'Rivet Save' chops 600 missle crew positions

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - The Strategic Air Command (SAC) has begun a program to reduce Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile crew requirements by about one-third by April 1978.

Nicknamed Rivet Save, the program is expected to cut about 600 crewmember authorizations and produce annual savings of more than $14 million. The manpower reductions and the savings are made possible through changes in launch control equipment.

Under Rivet Save, missile crews cannot take launch actions until. they receive a launch directive with a special code. In addition, a two-officer crew cannot launch a missile without cooperative launch actions by another crew in a separate launch facility.

The changes eliminate the requirement for two missile crews to be on duty at the same time. Air Force officials say similar reductions are not being planned for Titan II missile crews.

Minuteman sites are located at Malmstrom AFB, Mont.; Ellsworth AFB, S.D.; Whiteman AFB, Mo.; F.E. Warren AFB, Wyo.; and Grand Forks and Minot AFBs, N.D.

Personnel no longer required for crew duty at those sites may retrain into other career fields or move into missile staff officer positions. Before Rivet Save, SAC Minuteman crews stood a 36- or 40hour tour of duty. While one twoman crew was on alert in the underground launch control center, another two-man crew rested in an above-ground alert building. The crews would change places about every 12 hours.

Under the new system, one crew will spend a 24-hour duty period in the underground center. One crewmember will be allowed to rest in the center during portions of the alert tour.

Alert crews will be relieved by personnel reporting directly from main operating bases.

Volunteer programs need help

We have two vital civic programs at Reese that are in trouble for the lack of volunteers. Family Services provides a place for people to get information about Reese as well as other Air Force bases. They also loan dishes, cots, high chairs, etc., to newcomers and mail a packet to people being assigned to Reese. Family Services is a much needed "people program" that we should support as a way of "taking care of our own". Because just six ladies have become active volunteers, Family Services is only able to stay open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. three days a week. People have needs all through the week and more volunteers to provide additional operating hours would indeed help.

The Red Cross Volunteer Program is also in need of member support. They have five active volunteers (with four in training) when 20-25 members are needed to adequately complement this important program. Some areas where Red Cross volunteers are needed are: Physical Theraphy, Primary Care Clinic, Veterinary Office, Dental Clinic, GYN Clinic, Surgery Clinic, Typing, and Hospitality Cart.

Folks, both of these volunteer programs are important civic responsibilities which we need to do well by in order that we may continue to improve our overall quality of life at Reese. Please give your time and talent where personal schedules and interests will permit.

For more information regarding Family Services, call 2nd Lt. Jeff Lovell, Ext. 2402/2643; and Capt. Judy Alexaitis at Ext. 2285 regarding the Red Cross Volunteer Program.

Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273).

At the Fourth of July picnic they had Superstars competition for tug-or-war, obstacle course, and stuff like that. But they didn't have any competition for anybody else who wasn't in Superstars.

To me a Fourth of July picnic is for everybody. It is supposed to be fun. I can see where they would want to finish up the Superstars competition but they could have also worked in everybody else. They could have had some games for the kids because it gets boring sitting there playing in the sun and you run out of things to do and you spend your money, and that is all there is to do and you want to do something else.

I don't see why they couldn't mix in regular competition with the Superstars competition and then just figure it all out later.

A1C Sandra Gruber

We feel that the Fourth of July picnic was an overwhelming success based on personal observations and numerous favorable comments. There were many games and contests for the kids as well as the adult Superstar program. We noted, as you did, however, that there was room for additional games and contests. We'll try to do better next time.

Conservation is the cornerstone of President Carter's proposed national energy plan for dealing with "the greatest domestic challenge this Nation will face in our lifetime." The President's plan calls for individual citizens to participate actively in reducing energy waste and inefficiency by cutting gas consumption in automobiles, insulating homes, and using electrical appliances only as necessary.

rebate system would provide increased incentive. For example, if a person buys a 1978 car that gets 12.0 but less than 12.5 miles per gallon of gasoline, an excise tax of $449 would be imposed on that "gas guzzler" for the first year, with a gradual increase each year through 1985, re-maining constant thereafter. However, if a new auto buyer selects a car which gets 27.0 miles per gallon, there would be a rebate of $299.00.

Cornerstone of the Proposed homes will be eligible for a tax credit of 25 per cent of the first $800 invested in insulation and 15 per cent of the next $1,400. Whether insulating on their own or taking advantage of a weatherization service, homeowners would find that the cost of insulation would soon be offset by the savings on both heating and cooling utility bills. Be conservation conscious; turn off electric lights, TV, radio, etc., when they are not needed.

Public Relations classes set for Reese

The Department of Mass Communications at Texas Tech University will offer courses for advanced training in the practice and theory of public relations at Reese next fall.

The graduate classes will be open to the public as well as Air Force personnel

The courses will be taught from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays. Those enrolling can apply work toward a master's degree in mass communications. Registrants who have undergraduate degrees in fields other than mass communications will be offered six hours of levelling work.

Two courses will be offered each long semester and two for each of the summer terms.

In addition to public relations theories, cases and practices, the student seeking the master's degree will take courses in journalism, advertising, mass communications theory, research methods, telecommunications and public opinion and propaganda.

The first courses to be offered will deal with advanced journalism problems and with public opinion and propaganda.

"The courses offered at Reese will be the same as those taught on campus," according to Dr. Billy I. Ross, chairperson of Mass Communications.

"We will be rotating the courses, so that those enrolling at Reese will have opportunity to take any offered in the public relations concentration, but so will persons who prefer to enroll for classes on campus."

The objective, he said, is to educate competent public relations practitioners and managers.

Although the courses will be taught here, students will be enrolled in the Texas Tech University Graduate School.

Individuals wanting more information should call Bill Trafton, education officer, Ext. 2469 or 2634.

CHAMPUS names contractor California firm begins dental claim processing

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -Beginning Aug. 1, 1977, Blue Shield of California will process claims for adjunctive dental care received in most parts of the world by beneficiaries of the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS). The Office of CHAMPUS, Europe (OCHAMPUSEUR) will continue to process claims for adjunctive dental care received in Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

DoD officials have asked affected beneficiaries to begin submitting claims for adjunctive dental care to the new contractor after July 31, 1977, even if the care was received before that date. The address is: Blue Shield of California, P.O. Box 85035, San Diego, Calif. 92138.

Under the law governing CHAMPUS, dental benefits are limited to adjunctive dental care care that is medically necessary in treating a medical or surgical problem covered by CHAMPUS, is an integral part of such treatment, and is essential for controlling the medical or surgical problem.

The program cannot share the cost of dental care provided solely for dental purposes. Emergency dental care is not covered unless it otherwise qualifies as adjunctive dental care. Orthodontia (straightening of teeth) is not covered except where directly related, and an integral part of, surgical correction of cleft palate.

Examples of adjunctive dental care are:

 Elimination of nonlocal infection such as an infection of a tissue (celluitis) or infection of a bone (osteitis) that is causing problems related to a medical condition being treated.

• Removal of a tooth or tooth fragments to repair a facial injury.

Except in emergency medical situations, adjunctive dental care must be authorized by CHAMPUS before it is received — it must be preauthorized. The same organizations that process dental claims also process requests for preauthorization.

Some local moves need Base Commanders okay

By Janette Bouche

Making a local area move from base housing, except in conjunction with separation, retirement or PCS orders, requires special permission from the Base Commander.

For example, personnel planning to purchase a home and terminate government quarters should write a letter (in four copies) requesting permission to vacate their base quarters and coordinate it through their squadron commander before presenting it at the housing office. The housing office indorses the letter and sends it to the Base Commander for approval. It is best to be sure approval will be granted before signing any contracts!

Local area moves for other reasons must be coordinated in the same manner.

Once a permissive move has been approved, the requestor must:

· Process through the Housing Referral Office.

• Give at least 40 days notice to the housing office and schedule a pre-final inspection.

• Schedule a final inspection at least 15 days in advance. Basic allowance for quarters will be started as of the date the final inspection is passed.

Permissive moves are made at no expense to the government.

A question often asked of an attorney is, "Do I need a will?"

Some persons emphasize that all they own are some of the following: a home, a car, some life insurance, a few shares of stock, a bank account. As a matter of fact, every adult person should have a properly prepared will. If they have other properties than that mentioned above, then they may have even greater reason to make a will.

Most people realize that a will determines who receives their property at death, can save death tax expense, and can solve or avoid many problems created by death without a will; however, they are not exactly sure what happens if they should die without a will.

Texas is a community property state. If a person whose legal residence is Texas dies without a will and leaves only community property he should anticipate the following consequences:

• If he has children his wife (or husband) inherits nothing. He or she already owns one-half of the community estate.

• Children take the entire onehalf of the community property.

• A wife may have to go to work because her half may not be enough to support her (and she may still have the legal obligation to support the children).

• An administration may be necessary.

• A guardianship may be necessary for the estate of minor children.

Why an administration

An obvious question is, "Why an administration?" Basically, creditors insist on it. Heirs must allege and prove that there is no necessity for an administration to and recover property or damages belonging to a decedent's estate

An administration is supervised by the probate court and the administrator is whoever the court appoints. A bond is required, and the administration can be a costly procedure; however, such a courtsupervised administration can be avoided by a properly drawn will.

A will can avoid probate expense by providing for an independent administration whereby an executor of your choice serves without bond and winds up your estate. At the probate court your executor need only prove up your will and file an inventory, an appraisement, and a list of claims and there is no further court administration. Such independent administration is not possible in all states, but fortunately, Texas probate laws allow for the minimum possible expense when there is a properly drawn will.

A guardianship is necessary if there are minor children and there is no will, for the following reasons:

• To protect the property and rights of the minors.

• To sell their interest in a home or car or stocks.

• To handle the children's money. Social Security, Veterans

Administration, and many others require it before they will pay certain benefits.

The probate court appoints the guardian and supervises the appointed guardian. The guardian is required to post a bond, and this bond is an added expense to the estate. This expense also can be avoided by a properly drawn will, and a guardian of the testator's choosing is more likely to be appointed by the probate court.

If you have any questions about wills or need a will drawn, the place to contact is the Base Legal Office, Ext. 2505.

Youth Center provides ways for beating summer boredom

By 2nd Lt. Lorin Long

The Youth Center, located at the north edge of Reese Village, is open and available for military dependents ages 8 to 18. Open 1-5 p.m. and 6:30-10:30 p.m. Sunday-Thursday and until 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, the center offers a wide variety of activities to keep the kids busy.

Outside, there are lighted

Nearly 40 per cent drink

basketball and volleyball courts, a shuffleboard lane, and croquet.

Inside, the center provides television, music rooms, ping pong and pool tables, a dance floor, and a snack bar.

A wide variety of pre-teen and teen activities are sponsored by the center, ranging from sports such as Little League baseball, soccer, football, swimming, summer basketball, and senior softball to handicraft activities such as ceramics. Both band and disco dances are held on a regular basis. The facilities are also available for showing movies and cartoons.

According to Jane Ingram, a fulltime helper, "the center provides a 'place to come' for the kids." Asked about attendance, she replied that the facility is in virtually "constant use.

National survey shows increase in high school student drinkers

Nearly 40 per cent of junior and senior high school students drink some alcoholic beverage, particularly beer, at least once a week, according to a recent nationwide survey of 13,000 students conducted for the National

5308-B Slide Road

Lubbock

Institute on Alcohol and Alcoholism.

Although no other comparable national study of youthful drinking practices has ever been undertaken, comparisons with regional and local studies indicate that this represents a noticeable increase in teenage drinking.

Meanwhile, marijuana is the only illegal drug that continued to show a definite upward use trend from 1975 to 1976, according to a study sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration.

Use of marijuana by high school seniors during that year's time increased by five per cent, with onethird considering themselves users in 1976 and more than one-half barbiturates," said Dr. Robert DuPont, director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

"With the exception of marijuana, the public, including youth, has negative attitudes today toward the use of illicit drugs," Dr. DuPont stated on the basis of the studies.

Drug and alcohol experimentation does not necessarily mean that a youth has a psychological problem and "needs help." Most adolescents do not continue to be regular users. But, for some youths, early alcohol or drug abuse may set a serious pattern for the future.

located at the Twenty-nine Palms, Calif. The exercise, being conducted July 5-28, will provide joint operations training for selected Air Force, Army and Marine Corps forces.

Approximately 85 ATC augmentees are involved in the exercise. Those from here taking part in the exercise are SSgt. Fidel Marquez, Sgt. Ricky L. Dunahoo, and Airmen First Class Christine A. Clark, Mark N. Genest, Sherwood F. McCorkle and William H. Rener Jr. They are part of the combat support element preparing for the exercise.

Friendly forces

Friendly forces in the exercise are the Air Force Readiness Command, 12th Air Force, 9th Air Force, Military Airlift Command, Strategic Air Command, Air Force Communications Service, Air Force Security Service and Air National Guard.

Opposing Air Forces will be Headquarters located at Nellis AFB, Nev., F-4 and F-11 tactical fighters, RF-4 reconnaissance, 0-2 forward aircraft control and C-130 airlift support. Additionally, the tactical air control elements will control the opposing air forces.

Airman assigned to USAFA; leadership helps appointment

A1C Kenneth B. Owens, an air traffic control radar repairman in the 1958th Communications Squadron, has been selected to attend the U.S. Air Force Academy.

The Marion, Ohio, native has nearly two years of Air Force training and experience behind him. In technical school he was a student leader — formally and informally assisting fellow students with their studies and graduating with honors.

He's been equal to the challenge of maintaining complex radan systems, and hopes his success will continue in this new endeavor. A year of prep school and four years of intense academic and military training lie ahead, followed, he hopes, by pilot training.

FUN, FUN, FUN? CR WILL YOUR LEAVE BE A DISASTER?

Leave or vacation time is fun time—right? Not always. Some people work so hard at having fun that they end up hurting themselves or others.

Some people try to jam so much fun into every available minute that they knock themselves out. They over-stress themselves by doing more physical activity or a different type of physical activity than they are used to. Instead of getting more sleep, they get less. They eat too much, too fast, at wrong times.

The night before the first day of leave or vacation can be more hectic than the last day of the reporting period in the office, or the last day of the production cycle in the shop. There are so many things to do and so many things to remember: clothes, tools, car, maybe a boat, maps, food, medicines, etc.

The whole family may be busy late into the night, and then gets up early to drive a long distance! It doesn't make sense when you think about it, but a lot of folks do exactly that. Results? Oftentimes headache, upset stomach, fatique, irritability and occasionally even an auto wreck. This is fun?

And think about the children. The children are usually the ones for whom a family vacation is planned. But look what can happen. Trying to do too much in too little time puts parents under great stress.

Children are instructed, but in their own excitement they easily forget their instructions or become involved in other things. Then a most unfortunate situation can develop if parents under all these stresses lose their patience. Child abuse? Possibly. And wasn't this suposed to be a fun time for the children?

Here are some suggestions for getting the most fun out of your leave or vacation:

• Plan ahead; make checklists.

• Go to bed at your usual time. Better yet, get even more sleep than usual.

• Eat at your usual times; eat slowly.

• Don't count on much help from your children.

• Don't schedule yourself for driving excessive distances.

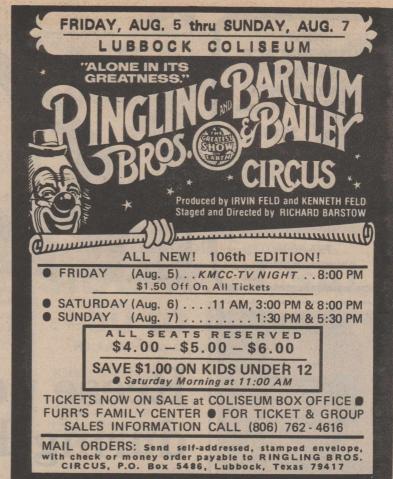

• Don't work too hard trying to have fun!

School specials at Exchange

Back-to-school specials at significant savings for preschoolers to collegians will be featured from Wednesday - July 31 at the Base Exchange.

Merchandise categories include little girls' dresses; shirts, sweaters and warm-up suits for growing boys; shirts, tops, pants and jeans for active girls; rugged, easy-to-launder togs for preschoolers; junior fall fashions and misses' back-to-school coordiantes; ladies' loungewear, nylon jackets and long sleeve sport shirts; and long sleeve cotton sport shirts and ribbed socks for the college bound male.

All represent solid savings and are just some of the specials to be offered. Digital clock radios to wake the student and cassette tape recorders to capture classroom lectures, round out the items available at attractive savings.

Following this special event, another big selection of back-toschool supplies and necessities will be featured in August and September. This latter event will coincide with local school openings and include offerings from pencils to pocket calculators. Other categories will include crayons, pens, pencil sharpeners, staplers, binders, paper, theme books, tape and glue.

By 1st Lt. J.G. Michelini

Led by a sizzling best ball 67 by Maj. Marty Fricks and Capt. Mike Farage, the squadron golf team declared the talons and put the go fast boys in their proper place.

It seems they made a challenge for beer but decided to back down after seeing the futility of their plight.

We'd also like to welcome another "Duffer", 2nd Lt. Kevin Heise, to the 35th along with the rest of the newly assigned instructor pilots from Class 77-07, Lieutenants McHenry, Naber, Sutter and Ray.

Congratulations in order

A belated congratulations is in order for one of the squadron dispatchers. Evidently A1C Victor Brooks ran off two weeks ago and, without telling a soul, got married. He secretly reentered the squadron and then had the audacity to complain to me about not seeing his name in print. Well, Brooks, here it is. Congratulations again.

Dear Mick:

Will you please take me out to a T-37 and explain which is the right seat and which is the left one. Capt. Wayne Plump

The Volvo 265 station wagon was designed with the knowledge that in addition to carrying your possessions. a station wagon also carries you.

And you shouldn't have to put up with a station wagon that's a bore to drive.

So in addition to 75 cubic feet of cargo space in the back (rear seat folded), the Volvo 265 comes with 2.7 liters of fuel-injected V-6 engine up front.

In high-speed passing, the Volvo 265—with its 4-speed transmission surpasses a BMW 320i sports sedan.

You also get power disc brakes on all four wheels. Hit them, and the Volvo 265 (even with maximum load) stops in about the same number of feet as a BMW 320i.

The Volvo 265 comes with rack and pinion steering for precise, responsive handling. And an advanced swaybar suspension system that keeps the wagon steady and level even when you're whipping through hairpin turns.

A STATION WAGON THAT REALLY MOVES

Even parking the Volvo 265 is a pleasure. Despite the room inside, it's no bigger outside than a Volvo sedan. And when it comes to turning circle, it has the inside track on cars like BMW, Corvette and the Datsun 280Z.

You can also take comfort from the fact that the Volvo 265 is perhaps the most comfortable station wagon on the road. Air conditioning is standard equipment. As are Volvo's famous orthopedically-designed bucket seats. You also get power-assisted steering, and your choice of automatic transmission or 4-speed manual with overdrive ...all at no extra cost. So if you're looking for a luxurious station wagon that performs like a sports sedan, come in and take a look at the Volvo 265.

It's the kind of station wagon you'll appreciate. Even when the only thing it's moving from one place to another is you.

CHAMPUS eligibility extended

Persons under age 65 who were facing a loss of their Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) medical health benefits under a new change to that medical program will now temporarily retain their benefits, the Defense Department has announced.

The people involved include those under age 65 entitled to Medicare hospital insurance — and widowers and husbands who can enroll in Medicare because of their wives employment covered by Social Security.

Under a new CHAMPUS regulation medical benefits would have ended when an individual (other than the dependent of an active duty member) became eligible for the Medicare program's hospital insurance. Prior to June 1, 1977 persons under age 65 could have both Medicare hospital insurance and keep their CHAMPUS benefit. Their Medicare hospital insurance was free if they were entitled to 25 consecutive months disability benefits, or suffered from chronic renal disease.

However, many of them did not enroll in Medicare's Part B program because it required a monthly payment — and CHAMPUS gave them about the same protection for physician services, outpatient services, etc.

Unfortunately, Medicare regulations state that a person who failed to enroll for Part B at his first chance could then only enroll between January 1 and March 31 of each year. Coverage would follow three months later on July 1.

So when the new CHAMPUS regulation took place June 1 of this year people not enrolled in Medicare's Part B program were inadvertently left without medical coverage. They didn't have CHAMPUS coverage — and couldn't enroll in Part B until July 1, 1978.

Now the Defense Department is working with Medicare officials for a special enrollment period for these people. CHAMPUS coverage will continue until the end of this enrollment period, whose dates have not yet been determined.

CHAMPUS eligibility will not be extended or reinstated for anyone else presently over 65 (except for active duty dependents). The special enrollment period will not be available to them and they will have to wait until Medicare's next regular open enrollment season to arrange for Part B coverage.

The Telephone Equipment Automated Management System (TEAMS) has arrived at Reese.

TEAMS is a computerized program designed to replace several forms used for posting work orders and billing the Air Force for completion of telephone work orders.

TEAMS will simplify the posting of work orders, keep a constant record of equipment installations, and maintain a running total of monthly and one-time charges.

The program, currently in its first stage, is undergoing further development at Randolph AFB, Tex. Reese was selected as the test location for TEAMS. Following evaluation of the program here the system will be implemented Air Force wide.

Mariners place second in tri-team meet

The Mariners, the youth swim team, participated in their first swim meet here Saturday and won second place.

Besides the Mariners, the Lubbock and Big Spring Young Mens Christian Association's competed.

Among the 22 members of the Mariners swimming (listed in last week's ROUNDUP) were Mark Adams, Chris Adams and Marty Fox.

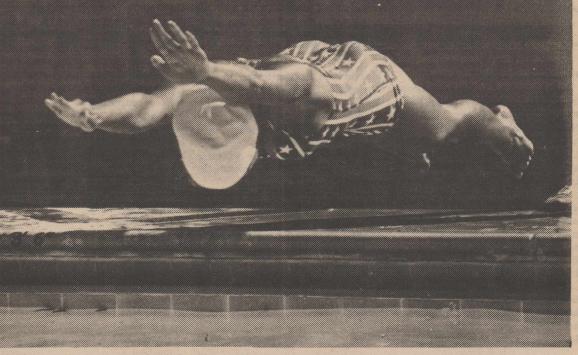

The team began the long road to their first meet back in June with two-a-day workouts. Daily workouts consist of timings and swimming some 10,000 meters. The daily routine also consist of practicing starts, turns, strokes and many other strenuous events.

When Coach Jan Ingram was asked how she felt about this first meet, she said. "The team put out their all in every event and performed greater than the other teams had anticipated. They can all be very proud of themselves and of their performance."

The Mariners next stop is at the AAU Regionals tomorrow in Amarillo where seven of the members will be swimming against teams from all over the South Plains and West Texas area.

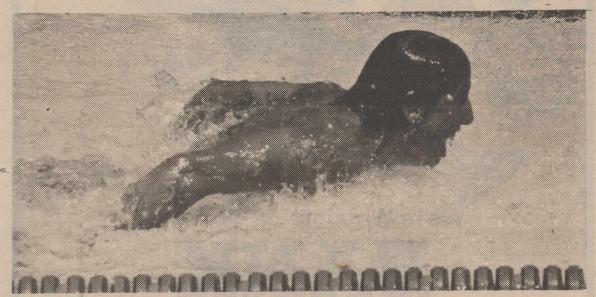

THEIR OFF — Phyllis Perry begins her way to a win in the 100 meters breast stroke in the girls' 15 and over category. (U.S. Air Force photos by A1C Gary Dybvig)

ALMOST FINISHED — With just a few more strokes to go to the finish, Diana Smitherman looks up for one last breath. Diana won the girls' 50 meter freestyle and 100 meter breast stroke events.

ONE, TWO, THREE, SWEEP — Dave Norell (foreground), Dave Bishop (center), and Dave Bonin take a plunge in the 200 meter freestyle event. Dave Bishop won the event.

HE'S FLYING — Steve Bishop seems to be taking off as he swims in the 100 meter butterfly during Saturday's meet. Steve received the most points in the boys' division by winning five races.

Red Hots take championship; Twenty picked for All Star Team

By Johnny Arthur

The first game of the afternoon matched the Better Half against the Dusty Devils. Becky Barron (Homerun & Double) and Betty Pusser (homerun & single) led the B.H. bats through a closely fought 7inning contest. Trailing 8-7 in the sixth, Barb Zoll brought the Devils to life as she drove in two runs with her triple and then scored on a sacrifice hit. The Dusty Devils held on to their lead for the remainder of the game with the final score showing: Dusty Devils 11; Better Half 9.

In the second game, the Blue Diamonds nipped the Red Hots in the bottom of the seventh to pick up their fifth win of the season. Homeruns by Pearl Moore and Retta Marvin kept the Red Hots in the lead through the first half, but fourth and sixth inning rallies by the Diamonds tied up the game going into the last inning. A good defense held the Hots scoreless and the offense drove across the winning, run. Final score: Blue Diamonds 12; Red Hots 11.

The protested game between the Dusty Devils and the Blue Diamonds was played at 8 p.m. Sunday, with the Dusty's coming out on top, 18-13.

Deep breathing may be fine for some folks as a part of sitting-up exercises, but it's dangerous and may be fatal as a preliminary to swimming.

Too much deep breathing can cause hyperventilation and unconsciousness, says the Red Cross. Hyperventilation stems from an excessive rate and depth of breathing which leads to abnormal loss of carbon dioxide in the blood.

When you hyperventilate, you increase your breath-holding time by blowing off carbon dioxide in your blood. When the carbon dioxide content is lowered, the stimulus for taking a breath is decreased.

When you try to swim underwater for a long time after hyperventilating, the oxygen content of your body may decline to a point where you will lose consciousness before the carbon dioxide builds up enough to stimulate the breathing action. Unless someone is around to help you to the surface, you will drown.

The Red Cross warns especially against competition among children or even adults to see how long they can hold their breath and stay under water. "The No Service Charge Bank"
