Everything is in readiness for the annual convention of the Plateau Singers in Lockney, Saturday and Sunday, June 14 and 15, reports received this week indicate.

The convention at Lockney is the ninth annual meeting of the organization and is the culmination each year of 50 county conventions that are held semi-annually in accordance with a yearly program.

Floyd County singers have announced their intentions of attending one or both days and this section is expected to have one of the largest delegations present.

Officers of the association are as follows, president, Jno. F. Taylor, Clovis; vice-president, L. M. Brooks Lubbock; vice president J. P. McClish, McDonald, New Mexico; secretary, Miss Evelyn Taylor, Clovis; Assistant secretary, J. S. Garrett, Hereford.

Irvin de Cordova Is Injured When Struck By Dallas Motorist

Irvin de Cordova, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus de Cordova of this city, who was seriously injured in Dallas Wednesday night of last week when struck by an auto while crossing a residence street, has shown some improvement in his condition this week.

Irvin suffered a fractured skull and deep cut on the front part of his head. He has been unconscious most of the time, advices reaching friends and relatives here indicate.

Sixteen stitches were taken to close the wound on his head. Immediately after receiving word of their son's injury, Mr. and Mrs. de Cordova left for Dallas where they have been at the boy's bedside for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack de Cordova of Corpus Christi also went to Dallas when they were notified of the accident. Jack is a brother of Irvin.

The accident occurred at 1813 Forest Avenue near the W. J. Burke home. Irvin had been playing a game of miniature golf with Homer Eubank and his roommate, Buster Daniels, and was enroute home. The boys had started across the busy street and Irvin, in attempting to dodge one car was struck by another while "threading the traffic."

A COLORFUL RACE

Austin, Tex., June 9 (UP).—A colorful field will go to the post in Texas' gubernatorial derby this year.

Staunch wets, avowed dries, seasoned campaigners and newcomers in the political fields, as well as millionaires and laborers, are entered in the race.

Three, field as candidates, didn't know for sure they were entered. They are: Moody, Davidson and Parrish. Moody has withdrawn.

Miller, one of the first entries in the race, has no platform.

Love and Loven's names may be easily confused. Four—Mayfield, Davidson, Love and Mrs. Ferguson—have lost former State-wide races. Mrs. Ferguson has held the office before, and Davidson and Miller have served as lieutenant governors. Small, Parrish, Miller, Mayfield and Love have served in the State senate and Mayfield (senator) and Young (representative) have filled office in U. S. congress.

Martha Lee Sparks In 'Sunny Side Up' Show

Little Daughter of Former Resident Appears in Production At Palace.

Martha Lee Sparks, talented little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sparks, formerly of this city and now of Hollywood, Calif., appears in "Sunny Side Up" original Fox Movietone musical comedy, showing Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the Palace Theatre.

Little Miss Sparks has been in a number of movie productions and upon the occasion of a visit recently to Los Angeles by Former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, she presented the official welcome of the coast city in the form of a giant bouquet of flowers.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell take the lead in the feature which J. G. Deakins, manager of the Floydada theatres, is recommending highly to his patrons Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The comedy lead is taken by El Brendel and he does a good job of it, too. An unusual number of popular song hits will be heard, including: "I'm A Dreamer, Aren't We All?" "Sunny Side Up," "Turn on the Heat," "You've Got Me Pickin' Petals off of Daisies," and "You Find The Time, I'll Find The Place."

Sunday Designated As National Fathers' Day

Sunday, June 15, has been designated as National Fathers' Day, and Floyd County, with the rest of the nation, will join in the observance of this day.

Only one local church was announced definite plans for the observance of Fathers' Day during their services Sunday, although it is understood that others will also use at least a part of their services for this purpose.

A special Fathers' Day program has been announced for Dougherty Sunday night at 7:30 or 8 o'clock. The numbers will be given by the Epworth League of the Methodist Church in the school auditorium at Dougherty.

C. I. A. Tutor

ETHNA GREEN

Miss Ethna Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. K. Green of this city, who will receive her bachelor of science degree August 29 at C. I. A., will serve as a tutor in chemistry on the staff of the school next long session during the absence of a faculty member.

She has majored in chemistry and has made a straight "A" record in her major. She has made "B" and above in her other subjects. She will be 19 years old September 16. Miss Green was only 14 years old when she completed her high school work in Floydada.

Wheat Harvest Over County Is Held Up by Recent Rains

Thousands of Acres Ready For Machines; Some Grain Shipped.

Thousands of acres of the 1930 Floyd County wheat crop is ready for the harvesting machines and hundreds of farmers are impatiently waiting for dry weather that will permit them to get into the harvest, according to reports which reach The Hesperian office from grain dealers and growers.

Ripe But Not Dry That a big enough percentage of the crop is ripe enough to harvest that all the elevators of the county would be operating on a day and night schedule handling the crop if the crop had a day or two of fair weather, is indicated by these reports.

For a week showers to heavy rains have been falling over the plains and panhandle area. Numerous reports reach The Hesperian office to the effect that the best rains of the year have fallen in some sections of the county.

Henry Graham reported good rains at his farm in West Floyd County, as did E. J. Hoffman in the northeast portion of Fairview Community, J. T. Howard on the Featherston lease north of Dougherty, and W. H. Smith from the Four Section lease south of Pleasant Hill.

Some Wheat Shipped

A few carloads of wheat have gone out from the county, a portion of which was so wet, however, that the dealer had to send it to the dryer before consigning it to market.

All the local markets in the county have received some wheat. At Floydada and at Barwise a few cars have been shipped. At Dougherty some grain had been received but none of it sent out by the dealers Wednesday, Lockney, South Plains, Aiken, Sterley, and Petersburg conditions are indicated about the same as at this point, except that some of them have had considerable more rain than has fallen here.

ALEXANDER MOVES OFFICES

Dr. W. H. Alexander this week completed the removal of his offices from the Readhimer Building to the Surginer Building on the northwest corner of the square. He will devote most of his time to office practice, and is now ready for business, he said.

Miss Strange Will Be Texas Delegate To National Meet

Floyd County Demonstration Agent Will Attend National Home Economics Convention.

Miss Marie Strange, Floyd County Home Demonstration Agent, will leave Saturday, June 14, for Denver, where she will attend the annual convention of the National Home Economics Association.

The selection of Miss Strange as one of the delegates from Texas comes as quite an honor, in recognition of her work in home demonstration activities.

Flood Of Hail, Water Makes Inland Lake Near New Town Of Hart

Early Floydada Flyer Takes Breakfast in Dimmitt After 52-Minute Ride.

A novel experience that could come only to a person who takes to the air was enjoyed by Lee Wilkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Elza Gullion Sunday morning last when they arose in Floydada and by using the former's airplane had breakfast an hour later at Dimmitt in the home of Mrs. J. A. Bagwell.

Mr. Wilkinson spent the greater part of the day Sunday flying with passengers. One of these, Mrs. Sophie Giddings, was 74 years of age and enjoyed her first flight very much, she told the local pilot.

One of the interesting things the flyers witnessed from the air enroute to Dimmitt Sunday morning was the flood of water which covered the earth in the vicinity of Hart, following the tremendous downpour of hail and rain on the previous night there.

MRS. BERRY IMPROVING

Mrs. Sam Berry, who had been in a Lubbock hospital for more than a month, and who returned to her home in this city last week, is reported this week as being greatly improved.

Mrs. Berry suffered internal injuries and bruises in an automobile accident on the Lubbock highway the latter part of April. The lives of two local women were claimed in the accident, and Mrs. Berry's recovery has been slow.

14 Home Demonstration Clubs Send Entrants for Two Contests Today

Representatives from each of the 14 Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of the county will take part today in the county-wide Butter Judging and Dress Making Contests being staged under the supervision of Miss Marie Strange, county home demonstration agent, in connection with her work.

The all-day meeting opened this morning at 10 o'clock at the High School Auditorium in South Floydada where the contests will be staged.

Renner is Judge Kenneth M. Renner, head of the dairy department of Texas A. & M. College, will act as judge in the butter contest. Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent of College Station will judge the dresses.

The winners of the respective contests will be awarded a free trip to the A. & M. Short Course to be held at College Station July 26. Expenses of the trip for the two women will be paid by the Lions Club and the Rotary Club, each organization sending one winner.

All of the clubs are also planning to send from one to three delegates to the state meeting from their respective groups.

In the contests today Miss Sims of the Roseland Club is chairman of the dress committee. Mrs. W. H. Bethel of Cambell Club is chairman of the lunch committee, and Mrs. Sam Brewer of Blanco Club is chairman of the butter committee.

In the butter judging contest grades will be made according to the following score card: flavor, 45 points for perfect; texture, 25 points for perfect; color, 15 points for perfect; salt, 10 points for perfect, and package, 5 points for perfect.

All points on the dresses will be scored this morning by Miss Murray with the exception of those on appearance and these will be determined when the makers of the dresses wear them on a style review this afternoon.

The dresses will be judged according to the following score card: suitability of garment to purpose, 10 points; material and trimming, 10 points; originality, beauty, and interest of design, 15 points; workmanship, 15 points; appearance on person, 35 points; laundering possibilities, 5 points; pressing, 10 points; pressing, 10 points; total 100 points.

Club taking part in the contest are as follows: Prairie Chapel, Antelope, Campbell, Lakeview, Blanco, Sand Hill, Harmony, Roseland, Trick, Cedar Hill, Starkey, South Plains, Pleasant Hill, and Pleasant Valley.

This is the first year that this type of event has been staged by the club women in butter judging and the first contest ever held in making of afternoon dresses.

150 Copies of 'Hesper' Given Out By Staff Members Since Monday.

Distribution of the 1930 "Hesper," yearbook of Floydada High School started Monday morning and this mid-week 150 of the 200 copies had been given out, Miss Lois Sitton, editor-in-chief, announced.

"All those who have subscribed for a copy of the Hesper should get me just as soon as possible and get their book," Miss Sitton declared. "I will be at my home at 220 North Eleventh Street. I would like to urge everyone to bring their receipts to facilitate the distribution."

Saturday Last Day To Get On Primary Ticket

If you plan to run for some Floyd County office, precinct or county, on either the Democratic or the Republican ticket, make up your mind quickly. After Saturday it will be too late. Applications to get the name of a candidate on the ticket must be made to the county chairman of the party on whose ticket you wish to run.

Monday the executive committee of the two parties meet to make up their respective tickets, make assessments of the cost of holding the election against candidates and determine among other things, the places of the candidates names for the respective offices.

L. G. Mathews is chairman in Floydada of Precinct One, and E. P. Nelson chairman of Precinct 19.

The Republican Executive Committee will also meet in Floydada, according to T. C. Russell, County Chairman. There is no prospect that the party will have any county or precinct candidates, he said late yesterday, although this may occur, and present indications are that the party will hold primaries in only three precincts.

Both the Democratic and the Republican party county chairmen expect to receive today or tomorrow the certificates from their respective state committees of the state candidates whose names are to appear on the ticket in this county.

Ball Game Wednesday Opens 'World Series'

Rotarians and Lions Will Attempt To Play Benefit Tilt Here Next Week.

Claiming that they can do more rotatin' than the other "boys" when it comes to bases, the Rotarians of Floydada have issued an undelivered (supply some threatening term if that word isn't expressive enough) challenge to the Lions Club of this city to meet them on the diamond in an alleged baseball game.

Wednesdays afternoon at 4 o'clock is the date and time agreed upon. The place will be Floydada Ball Park. The admission will be 25 cents to the premier athletic event of the entire Panhandle, commonly known as the Llano Estacado, or anything that will furnish a high-powered setting for the preliminaries to the "world series."

Efforts are being made to develop a pitcher for each team. The fastest thing so far is one fellow who claims July delivery but that's a little late for such fast company that is reputed to appear at the

Floyd Co. Census Figures Will Be Released Sunday

Official figures on the Floyd County census count have all been completed and will be released Sunday or Monday, according to news received this Thursday morning from O. M. Unger, district census enumerator.

All of the official figures have been compiled and the total count made, but the figures will not be released until after a report has been made to the state enumerators. This information was given to the Hesperian this morning by County Judge Wm. McGehee, who visited in Mr. Unger's offices in Plainview yesterday.

The Mazaroff Mystery

by J.S. Fletcher

W.N.U. SERVICE Copyright by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc. Illustrations by Irwin Myers

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Mervyn Holt, bachelor World War veteran, is engaged, in London, by a man calling himself Salm Mazaroff, as a traveling companion. After a short tour the two put up at the Woodcock inn, on Mazaroff's motor. They meet, casually, Mrs. Elphinstone and Miss Merichson, and later Mazaroff informs Holt that they are his wife and daughter, who have long believed him dead. Mazaroff's right name, he tells Holt, is Merichson. He had left his wife shortly after their marriage, before the birth of the girl, of whose existence he had been unaware. That night Mazaroff falls to return to the hotel, and there is no explanation of his disappearance.

CHAPTER II.—Holt meets Miss Merichson—Sheila—and with her goes to her cousin's (Verner Court-hope) shooting box, hoping to learn of Mazaroff's whereabouts. At Court-hope's is a man named Armintrade and a London doctor, Eedleshare. They know nothing of Mazaroff. Police Sergeant Manners and a newspaper man, Bowman, question Holt. Mazaroff's body is found in "Rever's den." He has been shot. The dead man's lawyer, Crole, with Maythorne, private inquiry agent, arrives, Crole having heard of his client's disappearance. He tells Holt Mazaroff carried diamonds worth a large sum, and was in the habit of making a display of them incautiously. Neither the diamonds, nor anything of value, are found on Mazaroff's body.

CHAPTER III.—Mrs. Elphinstone scoffs at the idea that "Mazaroff" is Merichson, and produces apparent proofs of his death. Maythorne finds something of the scene of the murder, and pockets it. A gun found near the spot is identified as the property of Mazaroff, landlord of the Woodcock inn. It had been stolen from him.

CHAPTER IV.—Evidence at the inquest proves "Mazaroff" was Merichson. His will, made a few days before his death, leaves all his money, an immense amount, to Holt. Mazaroff had the will in his possession, and it is missing. A shiftless character named Parslava is found to have left Mazaroff's motor hurriedly. From Mazaroff's papers it is learned that Herman Kloop, then in London, has been a close friend of Mazaroff's in South Africa.

CHAPTER V.—Kloop tells Crole "Mazaroff" had two remarkable diamonds in his possession. It is learned that he has offered to sell these to Lord and Lady Loekie. Lord Loekie says "Mazaroff" had one of these stones, and Armintrade the other. Maythorne brings his work Cottingley, into the affair as an investigator. Sheila comes, alone, to Holt's room in London. Maythorne is there.

CHAPTER VI

How Was It Got?

HER name sprang to my lips involuntarily as I stood there, staring at her. She laughed, half shyly, as I let it out, but she was more collected than I, and she stepped into the hall as readily as if there were nothing strange in this—to me—surprising visit. I had left the door of the sitting room open; she glanced through and saw Maythorne, and her first words were businesslike enough.

"You've Mr. Maythorne there? That's better," she said. "Well—I followed her into the room and closed the door. Maythorne had jumped to his feet; for a second or two the three of us stood gazing at each other. As for myself, I felt utterly at a loss; Maythorne was quite calm. He drew a chair in front of the fire, silently motioning Sheila to sit.

"Miss Merichson is here because—something has happened," he said. "Exactly!" She thrust her hand into some inner pocket and drew out a folded paper. As quietly as if she were giving me an ordinary letter to read she held it out to me.

"Mr. Maythorne is right," she said. "Something has happened. That's the will! I brought it to you—myself."

I gave one glance at the signature at its foot—here, without doubt, was the will, made at York, of which Postlethwaite had spoken at the inquest. I handed it across to Maythorne.

"Where did you get this, Miss Merichson?" he asked. The answer came promptly and sharply—with a certain hardness of tone.

"Stole it!" "Stole it? From—whom?" "No use hearing about the bush, now! I stole it from my own mother!"

Maythorne and I exchanged glances; Sheila looked from one to the other.

"I dare say you've heard, perhaps known, of cases where daughters have had to tell the truth about their own mothers, Mr. Maythorne?" she said. "Well—whether it's wrong or not, I'm going to tell the truth about mine. I stole that will from her this morning, because I knew she'd no right whatever to be in possession of it, and when I got it, I jumped on my bicycle and made off to Black Gill Junction, and caught the next train going south—to hand it over! If I hadn't, who knows what would have become of it?"

"Yes?" said Maythorne. "Exactly. But—you know a lot more than that, Miss Merichson. And—where are you?"

She put her fingers together in her lap—I noticed they trembled a little.

"Yes," she answered. "I know a lot more than that. Let me tell you, for it's no use denying it, that my mother is one of those women who love money—money, to her, means all sorts of things—never mind what. I saw from the beginning that as soon as it was put into her mind that Mazaroff was really Merichson, the idea of getting hold of his fortune began to shape itself.

"Well, I didn't know what my mother might do: I don't know now, I tell you both, and at once, what she has done—I only know that somehow or other she became possessed of that will, and that I've stolen it from her and given it up to you. That came about in this way. Night before last, late in the evening, my mother did a most unusual thing for her. Some little time after dinner, she went out, saying that she was going to see an old man who is lying ill in the village. Now, my mother is not by no means an anxious sort about old men and women who are ill and I was surprised that she should take so much trouble in this particular instance. I tell you both I suspected something then, but I didn't know what! Could I help it?"

"Tell us everything." "Well, last night, the same thing occurred again," continued Sheila. "She went out, on the same excuse, and she was away still longer. I heard her come in—I went to see if there was anything I could do for her. And it was then I made a discovery. She was in the library.

"She turned on him a quick, questioning glance that shifted from him to the brooch, and he picked up the brooch again, and restored it to his pocket. "So—to the best of your recollection—you've never seen it before?" he said.

"Never!" she repeated. "Never!" Presently we all three went downstairs, and into the street. I got a taxicab, and Sheila and I got into it. Maythorne said good-night and went off; we, too, set out on our ride to Malda Vale. She suddenly laughed shyly.

"Mervyn!" she said. "Were you glad to see me?" "Will it be an answer," said I, "if I tell you that I'd been thinking about you all the evening?"

"That's a nice answer," she laughed. "Oh, well—now don't let's talk—we'll talk tomorrow, or next day, or some other day. But you can hold my hand, if you like, till we get to the end of the ride."

We held each other's hands—in silence—all the way to Malda Vale. I saw her safely in charge of her friend, and went back home in the same cab. Wondering, of course—wondering . . . what next?

ran off with it—to you!"

"No—no!" I protested. "I—I believe you do—I believe you do!" she exclaimed. "A pretty fool I should have been if I'd as much as let her know that I knew it was there! I know what would have happened if I'd told her that I knew what was hidden in the book! She'd have burned it before my very eyes. I know! No!—knowing what I did, there was only one thing to do, and that was to place it in safety."

"Miss Merichson's right," said Maythorne. "That was the only thing to do. And here it is, and tomorrow morning I'll hand it over to Crole. Mind you, Miss Merichson, your mother, as Holt suggests, may have a perfectly good explanation as to how she got the will. But, under the circumstances, you took the best step you could."

Sheila jumped up, suddenly, and began to button her coat. "Then that's all right," she said, "I've done my bit, anyway—and now I'm off—I'll sleep tonight."

"Where are you going?" I asked as Maythorne and I rose. "Wherever it is, you must let me see you there, safely?"

"Oh, you can do that," she answered, half-carelessly. "I'm going to my old school friend, Rhoda Apperly. She lives in a flat of her own in Ashington mansions, in Malda Vale. I'm all right—but you can get me a taxi and ride there with me if you like."

"And tomorrow, in the morning," said Maythorne, "let Holt call for you and bring you to my office. And by-the-by, before we go out, I've got something in my pocket, Miss Merichson, that I'd like to show you. Come to the light."

Suddenly, from some inner pocket, he produced and laid on the table in the full glare of the lamp, an old-fashioned clairgorn brooch, set in fine, much-worn silver. He looked closely at Sheila.

"Have you ever seen that before?" he asked. "Think!" "Never!" she replied. "Never! Whose is it?—What is it?"

Maythorne picked up the brooch, and began to finger it. Turning it over, he pointed to the pin at the back, which was considerably worn, and fitted loosely to its socket.

"It would easily slip out of any woman's gown," he said. "And—I picked it up at Reiver's den, close to the spot where Mazaroff's dead body was found."

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Portersville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I needed a medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children. I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation. "I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache. "By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

Getting Our Money's Worth

The debt we pay most reluctantly—is taxes.

Yet taxes take a very small portion of the annual income, and give us the greatest return on any dollar spent.

Properly assessed taxes represent the only equitable means of raising federal, state and local revenue for the carrying on of government, education and public safety and health.

Good citizens are good taxpayers. The tax evader is not only a poor citizen—he is a barnacle on society, taking the privileges and protection that is being financed by others.

Because of the magic of cooperative action our tax dollar goes further than any spent by us as individuals, and gives us a genuine proprietorship in our community. We may point out good roads, parks and public buildings with pardonable pride when our dollars have helped build them. Taxpayers leave the world a better place than they found it.

Most communities need more money for the common welfare. Taxes work miracles in the community. Of the hundreds of items which go to make up the average community more are dependent on tax money for support than all other sources together.

We're sure of two things—taxes, and the value of the tax dollar to

Entertain With Dinner And Theatre Party Thursday.

Miss Roaslie Smith, Delbert Eubank and Hearon Wright were joint hosts last Thursday evening to twelve couples at a delightful dinner and theatre party. The dinner was served, banquet style, at the Del Rue Cafe, followed by a theatre party at the Palace Theatre. Miss Smith presided at the dinner table, which was artistically decorated with cut flowers. Blue and gold was carried out as the color scheme for the evening, and small buttonieres of Ladies Slippers were given as plate favors. Place cards were arranged at each plate. "Let's Go Places" was the title of the all-talking picture, with color sequences, seen at the Palace by the party. A special reserved section was marked off for the visiting party.

Following the theatre party, the group adjourned to the home of Mrs. Jennie Bishop, 225 West Kentucky Street, where they enjoyed the remainder of the evening in a social gathering.

Present for the occasion were Misses Robbie Archer, Verla Blasingame, Helene Hay, Maureen Hay, Mildred Teeple, Mildred Russell, Mildred Strickland, Herma Lee Norman, Vela Blasingame and Miss Wana Tawwater, of Quanah; Messrs. Bowman Dorsey, Hunter King, Charlie McConico, Virgil Shaw, Tom Bishop, Mike Faulk, Jack Johnson; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fry; and the hostess and hosts.

W. T. Brown Celebrated Seventh-Third Birthday.

Thursday was a very joyful day for W. T. Brown who was given a surprise dinner by Mrs. Brown and his children, it being his 73rd birthday. All of the children were present except one, Mrs. W. C. Williams, of Dallas. Dinner was served cafeteria style. After dinner speeches and pranks by various members of the family furnished amusement.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brown and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Hall and son, Ceile; Mrs. Susie Flanary and son, of Falls; Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas and children, of Burk Burnett; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones and children of Aiken.

Other grandchildren present besides those included in the families given above were: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jones and son, Bobby Glenn; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brown and son; and Fred Jones.

Mrs. Fannie Power was a guest.

Dallas And Houston Visitors Honorees At Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lattimore were host and hostess at a buffet dinner Monday evening honoring Mrs. John Webb and daughter, Bobbie Sue, of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown of Houston.

Dinner was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greer, of Lorenzo; Mrs. Joe P. Brown; Miss Belle Brown, Mrs. Mary Dillard and daughter, Catherine, and Bailey Brown, all of Estacado; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith and daughter, Mary Rachael of Lorenzo; Mr. and Mrs. Ham Smith and daughter Mary Katherine and son, Ham, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Smith and daughter, Worth Gwendolyn; Mrs. G. R. May and son, George Reid, Grover Smith; and the honorees, Mrs. John Webb and daughter of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown, of Houston.

Miss Audra Mae Borum, who has been teaching school during the past nine months in Fort Worth, returned home Friday. She is at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Borum.

Miss Robinette Ridgway has accepted a position as assistant at the Holmes Studio.

Library Needs More Books, States Mrs. A. P. McKinnon

More books, tables, chairs, and equipment are badly needed by the Floydada Library, Mrs. A. P. McKinnon, librarian, indicates in a report made recently.

"We would like to have additional books at all times and every one donated will be appreciated," Mrs. McKinnon said.

In the library maintained on second floor of the Court House adjoining the District Court room there are 980 listed books available for reading research.

Actual statistics kept by the librarian show that 25 per cent of the circulation is among the child readers. From thirty to thirty-five books are loaned out each week.

During the period from January, 1929, to January, 1930, a sum of $179.97 was collected from members of the library or was donated.

"We are very much in need of more room, book cases, tables, chairs and everything pertaining to a library," Mrs. McKinnon declared.

Del Rio Man Explains Mystery Of Human Skeletons Found In Area

District Judge Joseph Jones, Former State Surveyor, Advances Theory.

Del Rio, June 10.—(UP)—There is no mystery about the two skeletons found on Devil's River; there are many more where these were found. The men were "killed either accidentally or intentionally" during the early 80's, said District Judge Joseph Jones, in an interview. Del Rio obtained its first rail connections in 1881; and soon after that, construction of the line was under way 12 miles northwest of the city, in the Devil's River area. The skeletons found by workmen near the steampower plant are, no doubt, those of men who died or were killed at the railway construction camp. It is estimated that from 25 to 30 men lost their lives there. Some of them were shipped away in impressive caskets; others were buried in wooden boxes; and still others were wrapped in their blankets and rolled into their resting places, which had been scooped out in the earth, and then covered with sand. "Planting 'em" they called it in those days.

A few wooden crosses, an occasional name plate, a pile of rocks, or a mound of gravel were the only markers above these graves. Up until 1914 many of these graves could be seen, but in that year a flood came and obliterated these markers. Now only a few old-timers are able to point out a few of the spots where men were buried. Judge Jones, whose ranch adjoins the property of the Central Power & Light Company on Devil's River, thinks he might be able to point out the places where several men were buried. Judge Jones, in those days, was a State surveyor, and, having surveyed most of this section, he was familiar with the country.

ed those of the railway engineers; and he remembers having met the railway engineers at an intersection of the surveying lines. He saw the little community, too, which had sprung up to accommodate the workers on the railroad. One of the principal business places in the camp was a saloon, housed in a tent, and next to the saloon was a gambling house, also in a tent. Drunken brawls and quarrels over cards accounted for not a few of the impromptu funerals. Construction accidents accounted for many others. A quarry on the property of the New York & Texas Land Company, now the property of Judge Jones, supplied the rock for the piers of the Devil's River railway bridge. Pressure blasts and other accidents at the quarry added to the death toll, one blast alone having taken three lives.

Generally speaking, it was a hardened lot that was found around the railroad camp, including adventurers, fugitives from justice, potential criminals and gamblers. After working all day driving spikes or hauling rock, laborers would come into camp, only to frequent the saloon and the gambling house. A real or imaginary insult suffered during the day, magnified at night by a few draughts, or crooked tactics at the gaming table sometimes accounted for one or more deaths. If the deceased stood well in the esteem of the fellows, he might get a box and a marker; otherwise his tattered and soiled blanket, in which he had wrapped himself in slumber under the starry, West Texas sky, was his shroud.

Now all the markers are gone—except the railroad men built; and their bones crop up as incidentals to the development of another project, a steam-power plant, which, like the railroad, is to add to the comfort, convenience and pleasure of humanity. If there is a sermon in the bones it probably is that the works of man live after him—on earth.

Clarence Ferguson, Grosbeck, and Estell Scott, Lometa, were elected editor and business manager of the —Tac, weekly publication. Robert Menefee, Stephenville, was awarded a handbook on Electrical Engineering as a prize for having the highest scholastic average of any junior in the engineering department.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

Nurse Tells How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Burnside, Ky., writes: "I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can."

"I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

Financing Home Is Biggest Problem Of Builders Of Homes

First and Second Mortgages Usually Necessary to Finance New Homes.

The problem of finances has stopped more building projects than any other phase of building. Plans there are in abundance, all good and suitable for the average family; building lots conveniently located; schools; transportation and work are easily found. But the bugaboo of building is often the question of raising the money with which to construct the dwelling. Contractors and builders have a disconcerting habit of wanting money.

The first step in the home building problem from a financial standpoint is to raise enough money to purchase the lot or to make a first payment on the entire building project.

Granted that the family has picked out a set of plans that appeals to them, the next step is to find out how much the house is going to cost when completed. It is going to be secured by securing bids on the construction.

Often the practicability of the plans depend upon the cost of the house. The plans may be perfect but if the house is too expensive, the building project of the family takes a set back for there is a limit to the amount the family can pay for a home.

Whether the head of the family goes to a bank, a lumber company or some other organization, he will find that the amount he can borrow on a first mortgage will be in the neighborhood of 50 per cent of the value of the house when constructed. He will have to sign a mortgage covering the lot and the house.

Sometimes these financial organizations will only loan 40 per cent of the value and again some have been to loan as high as 75 per cent. Local conditions have a lot to do with the amount of money which can be secured on the first mortgage, but the usual figure is 50 per cent and it is never wise to figure on securing anything more than this.

However, while 50 per cent of the money on a first mortgage loan will help it will not pay for the entire cost of the house. Some one must put up the balance of the money necessary or the deal will fall through.

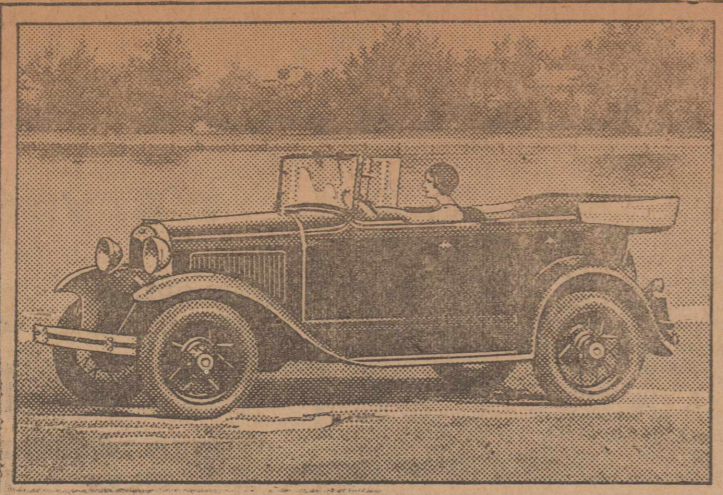

For the balance, a second mortgage must be taken. This second mortgage is decidedly an expensive investment and it is wise to make a second mortgage loan on as small an amount of money as possible. Not only is the interest rate decidedly higher, but usually a bonus must be paid to the loan organization.

This increased rate is due to the fact that the holder of the second mortgage has more risk than the holder of the first mortgage. If by some chance the property holder should meet with an accident and be unable to pay on his loan, the holder of the first mortgage could step in and foreclose the mortgage and have the property sold through a sheriff's sale to get his money. If there is any money left it goes to the holder of the second mortgage. The holder of the second mortgage therefore takes risks and must be paid accordingly.

The wise plan is to take out the second mortgage for as small a sum as possible. Here is where a prior savings account often comes in handy for if you have a thousand dollars or so to lay down, you reduce the amount of the second mortgage by just such a sum.

Get the second mortgage as low as possible and pay it off as rapidly

New Ford Car Wins Favor

The Ford Phaeton, shown above, is equally popular as a family car and as a sport car for young people. The seating arrangement provides for the driver and one passenger in front and three passengers in the rear. Seats are upholstered in two-tone cross cobra grain artificial leather. The top is of the quick collapsing type, easily handled by one person, and folds flat. The windshield, of Triplex shatter-proof glass, is of the folding type and can be laid flat forward. The windshield wings fold over it, emphasizing the sport effect of the car.

as possible. If you take the second mortgage for a period of three years, lay your plans to pay it off within that time. Once the second mortgage has been met, then you can start to pay off on the first. But do not make the mistake of trying to pay on both first and second mortgages at the same time. Your expenses will run so high that you will meet with financial disaster.

Your family must live and a portion of your income must go to their expenses. Do not bite off too big a mouthful when financing the home.

You will find in connection with the negotiating of the second mortgage that there are a lot of expenses which accrue. Perhaps deeds must be drawn up, records must be filed, investigations must be made. All of these cost money and you are the one who pays. Sometimes the expense of the second mortgage runs as much as 20 per cent. The legal rate of interest may be 7 per cent but the filing fees, the bonus and the other extras which are a real part of the cost make the final figure so high.

It is always a good plan to have at least 25 per cent of the cash value of the house and lot on hand before building. This makes it possible to pay off the second mortgage within a few years without a burden. The family who desire to build on a shoe-string will find that the burden of paying on the second mortgage will quickly put them out of the building class.

CHINA BATHROOM FIXTURES ARE SANITARY AND PRETTY

When the walls of the bathroom are tiled it is an added touch to use porcelain fixtures for holding the soap, tooth brush, toilet paper roll and water glass.

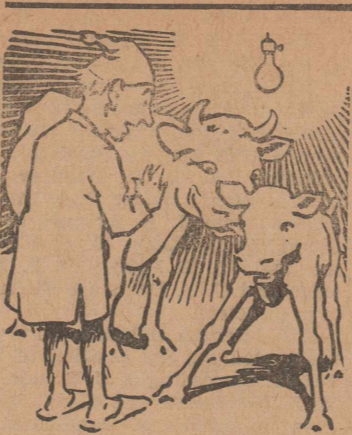

These china fixtures may be obtained in white, black or colors. Their soft delicate tints, their beautiful contours and artistic construction add much to the appearance of the bathroom.

By means of a cleat and slot arrangement these china fixtures may be easily removed from the wall for cleaning. Yet when placed in position they are firm and secure.

Miss Ruth Jenkins, who has been attending school at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth during the past long session, returned home Thursday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jenkins drove down to Fort Worth and accompanied their daughter home.

J. W. Boswell and W. J. Lovren of Plainview were business visitors in Floydada Friday.

Mildred had a calf

"Ma! Get up and light a lantern... Oh I forgot. Never mind, Ma. Finish your sleep."

That was the night, Mildred, the old red cow, had a calf. Pa was so excited he forgot they had Delco-Light and started to yell for a lantern. Then, when he got out to the barn, the lights were so bright, Pa remembered he hadn't stopped to put on his pants. Kinda embarrassed, Pa was.

But I'll tell you it's just at times like that, that you're mighty glad you've got Delco-Light on the job day and night.

Mrs. Nick Bird Plans To Spend Summer Here

Daughter of Mrs. B. F. Manasco Returns From Theatre Engagement In New York.

Mrs. Nick Bird, daughter of Mrs. B. F. Manasco of this city, arrived Monday at noon from New York city, where she has been playing for the past several months in Broadway theatres with the Marcelle Trio, presenting an unusual adagio number. She plans to spend the summer here.

For the past three years Mrs. Bird has been appearing in large theatre productions, specialty numbers, and feature acts. She began her stage career in California after she had received her bachelor of arts degree from Pomona College. After appearing in several movie productions and playing with the West Coast Theatres, she and her husband went to Chicago and other Eastern cities, where they have been playing big time theatres, receiving most favorable comments from theatre critics throughout the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird recently completed a series of performances given in Bermuda. They have worked in a double act as "Nick and Honerhea" until a few months ago when they formed a trio with a third partner and have been appearing under the title of "The Marcelle Trio."

Mrs. Bird, diminutive, dainty, and attractive, with a most winsome personality is a talented dancer and has been widely praised for her beautiful work on the stage. She appeared in a Spanish dance number in 1926 at the Amarillo Tri-State and also has given numbers as a special feature in the local theatres. She was graduated from the Floydada High School; before her marriage, she was Miss Honerhea Childers.

Rainfall Varies Over County; 8 Inch Here

Rains ranging from traces to two inches fell over Floyd County Saturday night and Monday night, the precipitation varying widely in different sections, reports indicate, but covering most of the county.

Floydada is the driest spot in the county so far as recent rains are concerned, a check shows. A total of eight-tenths of an inch has fallen in the two recent showers in this city. Five-tenths of an inch fell Saturday night and three-tenths was registered Monday night here.

While the rains were "spotted" practically every section of the territory has received sufficient moisture for row crops and cotton is said to be in good condition, taking the county as a whole.

Practically every "dry strip" has received precipitation during the past two weeks and in fact some of the farmers in the area where the rainfall had been exceedingly light so far this summer reports that Saturday and Sunday they received the largest rain in two years.

Small floods fell in several communities while others report light showers or "just a sprinkle."

A heavy drizzle was falling here early this morning but had ceased by 8 o'clock.

Work Goes Forward On First City Directory

Work is going forward rapidly on Floydada's first City Directory, it was announced this morning by the Rev. Claude Wingo, pastor of the First Christian Church, who supervised the gathering of the material and is directing the plans for its composition.

Every effort is being made, it was stated, to have the book off the press the early part of July.

The book will contain a complete business and professional directory of the city, historical data, names and addresses of citizens, information on the churches, and other general information.

J. M. Wright returned Wednesday from a business trip to Wichita Falls. He was accompanied home by his little grand child, Kathryn Thornton of Chillicothe. She will visit here for some two weeks.

R. D. Looper and daughter, Jo Ann, of Denton, and niece, Miss Looper, of Plainview, were guests of his brother, C. P. Looper, and family Sunday.

Lions Club Nominates Officers For New Year

J. C. Wester, R. R. Cloud, C. L. Minor and O. T. Williams were nominated Tuesday noon as candidates for the position of Boss Lion of the Floydada Lions Club during the 1930 year. One of these four men will be elected on Tuesday, June 23, to succeed J. C. Gilliam, president of the club during the past year.

Nominations for other offices to be filled were also made Tuesday of this week. Two directors are to be elected this year to succeed G. B. Schmid and W. M. Windsor, resigned. Nominees for these two positions were J. A. Arwine, R. R. Cloud, A. B. Keim, T. S. Stevenson and W. E. Patty. O. P. Rutledge and C. H. Davis are the hold-over directors.

E. L. Norman and G. L. Kirk were nominated for the position of Lion Tamer, succeeding J. C. Wester, and W. H. Henderson and Claude Wingo were nominated as candidates for Tail Twister. Tom Bishop and S. W. Ross were nominated as secretary, succeeding Joe Breed.

Rotary Club President-Elect Named Delegate

Dr. W. M. Houghton, president-elect of Floydada Rotary Club, whose term of office will begin July 1, was named delegate from the local organization to the Silver Anniversary Convention of Rotary International which will be held June 23-27. A. D. Cummings, vice-president of the club, who will be in Chicago attending Northwestern University, will be alternate.

Dr. Houghton's election was announced Wednesday at the weekly luncheon of the club, the matter having been referred to the executive committee. He will make the trip, he said following his selection.

Robt. A. Garrett is the most recent addition to the membership of the Rotary Club.

In a classification talk Dr. Lon V. Smith spoke of the work of the surgeon and outlined some of the qualifications required by the state medical practices act for the practice of medicine in Texas.

Wilson Kimble gave a discussion of "The value of vocational education to the nation."

A challenge to the Lions Club for a benefit baseball game was issued by the club, and Geo. A. Lider and Robt. A. Sone were named as a committee to represent the Rotarians in the plans for the game.

CITY MARKET DESIGNATED AS "RED & WHITE STORE"

City Market and Grocery has been designated as the official "Red & White Store" in Floydada, according to an announcement made today by W. M. Dorsey, manager of the store. Painting and re-arrangement of the store fixtures will be completed tomorrow, ready for the first of the "Red & White" sales Saturday.

"Red and White Stores," Mr. Dorsey said, "are not to be confused with Chain Stores. Each store is strictly home owned and home controlled" he declared. It is a system of co-operative buying, whereby the wholesaler offers reduced prices to the retailers and these prices are passed on to the consumer, according to Mr. Dorsey.

More than 150 grocers in the panhandle section have been designated as owners of "Red & White Stores."

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION TO MEET WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18

The Floyd County Commissioners' Court in a brief session Monday of this week set Wednesday, June 18 as the date for the meeting of the court, when it will sit as a board of equalization on renditions of the county for County and State taxation.

All the valuations of the county will be gone over in this session, following which notices will be sent out to taxpayers or their representatives where inequalities appear to have resulted from the renditions made.

BLANCO HOME DEM. CLUB IN MEETING LAST WEEK

On Thursday of last week Mrs. Will Snell was hostess to the Blanco Home Demonstration Club. Summer Care of Orchards and Gardens was the subject of the program. Nine members and four visitors were present.

Mrs. Holyfield will be hostess at the next meeting which will be on June 19. The subject for this meeting is "Children of the Bible." We shall answer roll call by naming a child of the Bible.

SAND HILL HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Sand Hill club met May 21 at 2:30 with Mrs. Jake Brock as hostess assisted by Mrs. W. H. Pope. The subject for the meeting was butter judging.

Mrs. A. R. Hanna gave a very practical talk on the best and quickest ways to churn.

A round table discussion on supplying the family with milk and butter of the first quality was enjoyed. A great interest was shown by all present in the demonstration on butter judging given by Miss Strange.

STARKEY 4-H CLUB

The Starkey 4-H Club met June 5 with Miss Strange and six members present. Miss Strange gave a very interesting demonstration on how to make a patch.

Our next meeting will be July 3. All the members are sorry that the encampment was postponed.

THE HESPER

Book Is Praised

The book has received high praise, having been classed by many as the best ever produced by a class from Floydada High School. The green and white color scheme of the high school colors is carried out with a beautiful leatherette cover of green, a green border on the pages of white.

W. H. Scoggins, principal last year of F. H. S., was especially honored by the staff, the yearbook having been dedicated to him in the following words: "To the one who has labored unceasingly in behalf of our interests, who has instilled within us an atmosphere of lofty ideals, and who has spurred us on to greater achievements, we, the Hesper Staff, sincerely dedicate this volume of the 1930 'Hesper' to our faithful principal and loyal friend, W. H. Scoggins."

Is Well Arranged

The annual contains 128 pages and is well arranged, showing careful work on the part of the staff. The order of sections in the book is as follows: administration, classes, favorites, features, organizations, athletics, and the crack-up. Two color sheets were used as division pages, adding to the beauty of the book.

Full page pictures were carried of the winners of the beauty and popularity contests held during the school year; they were as follows: Jesse Mae Wood, most beautiful girl; Alsie Carleton, most handsome boy; Gene Smalley, high school favorite; Howard Welborn, best athlete; Audrey Farris, most popular girl; Chester de Cordova, most popular boy; Ruth Rutledge, best all-round girl; and Ballard Wilkinson, best all-round boy.

All the classes, clubs, organizations and societies of the high school were represented. Farewell messages to the senior class of 1930 were given in the book by Superintendent W. E. Patty, and Mr. Scoggins.

Photography for the yearbook was done by Roy Holmes of the Wilson Studio. Southwestern Engraving Company did the engraving, and the book was printed and assembled in Floydada by the Hesperian Publishing Company.

Four Local Firemen Go To San Angelo Meeting

Four members of the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department are in attendance this week at the annual state convention of the Volunteer Firemen of Texas at San Angelo. The delegates of the local department left last Sunday night. The convention opened Tuesday and closes today.

Representatives to the meeting from Floydada are G. R. Strickland, fire marshal, L. V. Rogers, Horace Kincaid, and Geo. Sherrill.

R. C. McGilvary, of Lockney, and Mrs. Mamie Field, of Lubbock, are in charge of the West Texas G. Company office in this city during the vacation of Mr. and Mrs. G. Kirk, managers of the office. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk began their vacation last Thursday.

A WORTHY CAUSE

More books are needed for the Floydada Library. Any aid given toward the building of a bigger and better reading center for the people of this community certainly is directed toward a good cause. It is not necessary to go hundreds of miles to get an education for there is one waiting for every interested individual right here at home within the bound volumes of the library. Information on travel, historical events, scientific research, literature, arts, and practical problems is available at all times.

Time spent in reading is time well spent indeed—if it is spent in reading the right kind of material. Everything done to encourage more study and reading in Floydada will be reflected in a better informed populace, and a citizenship capable of appreciating life to the fullest extent.

Perhaps you have some extra books at your home; take them to the library in the court house and contribute your bit toward the up-building of a community enterprise the value of which can never be measured in dollars and cents.

DEATH AND TAXES

There is an old saying: "There are but two sure things in this world—Death and Taxes."

The one is on our minds each day. Thousands of skilled men and women are giving their lives in an effort to equalize the battle between Man and Death. And every day the world's millions, seriously or casually, but deeply, think of this one of the two certainties of this world.

On the other hand, of course, Taxes (the other certainty of this life) are nowhere near as important as our final bow to this world, and we could not expect a corps of Dollar-Doctors, or Mill-Physicians and Tax-Worriers to spring up to complete the comparison we have just made. BUT—if Taxes are that certain (and they always will be) why not give them more thought, employ more skill, and in every way try to get more out of our "Tax-Dollar."

Our local schools: are they undernourished, or are they overfed? Our local streets: do we reach willfully into our pockets for dollars with which to pay for them, or are those dollars wrenched out in the form of jangled nerves, lost time, and repaired cars and trucks because of too narrow, too rough, or even muddy streets? Our business and homes: do we pay Tax Dollars to the municipality, each our own little share, for police and fire departments—or do some of us pay bitterly the losses which come from careless administration or curtailed budgets?

Health enters in; recreation enters in; charities enter in, as well as civic expense and miscellaneous items. We must consider them all. TAXES ARE IMPORTANT. TAXES ARE DEFINITE. TAXES ARE AS SURE AS DEATH. In fact, TAXES, as we all can see, determine in our community, as in all communities, something of how and when we meet up with the other certainty.

TO A DEAD LITTLE CHILD

Oh, little child, may you fill this day
To the very end with the joy of play!

In the kindly glow of the morning light,
May your heart be happy and warm and bright;

Through the hours of gladness the whole day long,
May you romp with laughter and cheer and song;

In whatever way you choose to go,
May the flowers of beauty and kindness grow;

And when shadows tell that the day is done—
When you weary of pleasure and play and fun—

Then may gentle arms and a loving breast
Hold you tenderly, and bring blissful rest.

Every man takes pride when his savings, whether large or small, bring him in return. Why not take pride in the savings of Taxes and the returns they bring us? Not the savings in reduced Taxes, but the savings in Taxes fairly levied, properly administered, and enjoyed generally?

This is something for every one of us to consider. The responsibility is individual. If we, as citizens, want something of our fellow-citizens, our "business-organization-town" which is YOURS and MINE, will furnish it if it is needed, and will do it through our TAX DOLLARS—Yours—and Mine.

COTTON MARKET PLAN

A cotton marketing plan that is expected to do for cotton the same thing that is hoped for the adopted plan to do for wheat, has been announced by the Federal Farm Board and $50,000,000 will be or has been made available for the purpose.

Tremendous are the efforts of the agencies set up by congress with the approval of the president in the national effort to make the pursuit of agriculture profitable and the standard of living for people engaged in this enterprise up to that of the best of the nation.

The processes of getting the business of farming up to par with the business of manufacturing to illustrate, is undoubtedly to be a slow one. It may come out like it is now planned that it shall, that is, the processes may be the same. However, the economic changes are so immense that an immediate grasp of the situation is likely not seen by anyone and while we may confidently look forward to a solution of the situation, it may not come in just the form we expect it. It would be surprising indeed if the evils which have grown up with the farming industry in America, so long rooted and deeply established, should be overcome in the period of a brief decade. It is not reasonable that it should. Progress is being made, however, and the business of farming is inevitably coming back as the backbone of the country's enterprises.

A BIG PROJECT

As indicating the wonders of the modern industrial era, is the new $15,000,000 gasoline pipe line announced last week by the Phillips Petroleum Company, which will extend from Borger, Texas, on the south to St. Louis at its northern extremity, with terminal facilities so arranged that extensions may be made further north on the line when and if conditions justify at some future date.

The pipe line will be buried beneath the ground in its entire length, even across rivers, and throughout its length will race the fluid which makes modern-day highway travel possible—gasoline. Eight or ten high-powered engine pumps along the length of the line will keep the gas moving to its destinations with great rapidity, and the arrangement is such that different grades of gas may be sent through the line in succession without inter-mingling. The pipe line, partially at least, will succeed the railway tank car as a means of transporting gasoline between the points affected.

Of course, this pipe line is only one of the tremendous things which modern engineering, backed by ample capital, is doing. It is a case in point, however, to the oft-repeated trite saying that the nation is being rapidly industrialized. So many people are looking for a revolution and do not realize that the bloodless revolution is taking place before their eyes.

Oven-dried toast is a delicious accompaniment to soups and salads, and is an easy way of disposing of stale bread. Any sort of pieces may be oven dried and delicately browned in a medium oven, but for passing as a special kind of bread, it is more attractive to trim the crust off a stale loaf so the slices will be square, cut them very thin, and heat them until they are biscuit colored and slightly curled. The trimmings need not be wasted; roll them out for dried crumbs.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

The Round-up

A Sidewalk Review Mostly About People And Personalities In Floyd County.

By The Cowhand Scribe.

Ardelle Briggs of Parnell, Texas, is the winner of the big box of chocolates! The present was mailed her late Saturday afternoon. The winning title was "The Round-Up," and the Cowhand Scribe herewith presents the new title in this issue. Hope you like it, too, folks.

Certainly were some nice suggestions sent in and The Scribe wishes to express congratulations to the following whose brands received honorable mention: G. V. Slaughter, Mrs. W. D. Newell, Mrs. Harper Scogins, Mrs. Joe M. Smith, and Mrs. L. D. Sanderson.

The Cowhand appreciates the interest you have shown and wishes to thank you in helping name the maverick column.

Well well, well, Leslie Surginer went off to Amarillo and got in a big golf tourney and came back with three nice, new golf balls as a prize—Yessirreeee...He won high score!

Mrs. Geo. Sherrill, absolutely one of the most attractive little ladies in town, serves the patrons of Baker-Campbell Company and among her favorite color combinations are black and white...Martin True was business manager of the "1930 Hesperian," yearbook of the Floydada High School and he handled the finances exceptionally well...he'll make a success in the business world... just wait and see...and the annual would do credit to any high school in Texas...the staff members did themselves proud...

The kiddies had a grand time directing traffic in town last Saturday afternoon...they blew their whistles and ran their legs off catching motorists who did not observe the lights properly...O. P. Darsey, former resident years ago of this city, now of Wichita Falls, talking to N. A. Armstrong...J. D. Christian walking around on crutches...stuck a nail in his foot and has been suffering from the injury considerably...Joe Boothe says the wheat is turning out better than was predicted and that it is high test grain...Floyd County has a habit of delivering the goods, no matter what the climatic conditions...

Mrs. Bill Daily and her brand new baby down town with a brand new buggy for the tiny lady to view the world from...Glad Snodgrass says that Hobbs, the new oil boomer, is not such a bad place just so you stay on the main drag...tough as a boot otherwise though, he opines...several of the boys and girls back from college and there's some happy mothers and dads, too...Bill Grigsby wading around in the rain buying groceries...Wayne Gound remarked something to the effect that his name never got in the paper and sure enough here 'tis...Lots of folks in town last Saturday but a cloud came up in the afternoon and many went home early...many firms reported brisk trade and that sounds pretty good...every member of The Hesperian force enjoyed the boss' vacation of some two weeks...our friend Ira Marshall is home from Baylor Medical School at Dallas...some day not far off he's going to be one of the "big boys" in his profession and Floydada will be proud to claim him as one of the home town lads who made good...and you just wait and see...

You already knew it, of course, but just as a reminder it is dangerous to drive your car fast on wet pavement...better wait until dry weather to make time...Buddy Bell bought the Cowhand a nicker cigar and thereby won a place in the Hall of Fame...anyway, the Scribe enjoyed the luring smoke...Orville Harris getting a big, new combine ready to go out to do its duty in a wheat field...remember 'way back when everybody had the lightning rod craze and folks put 'em on everything from the barn to the old bay mare...and now physicists come along and declare that granddaddy was not so foolish after all and that the lightning rods actually did furnish some protection...and by the way, perhaps you never observed the fact but Floyd County's Court House is equipped with 'em...and you would be surprised at the pretty sight that the court house would present at night if the faces of the clock were illuminated by lights shining from inside the dome...

And here's another idea that would not cost too terribly much and certainly would add beauty to the square...illuminate the dome of the Court House with colored lights...if you have been in Austin the past two years and have seen the dome of the State Capital building at night you can appreciate the suggestion...absolutely beautiful...and inspiring...something worth considering and worth even more if done...you think it over, too...

Hayes O'Neal has been snorting around with a bad cold and the outcome of the bout has not been determined but most of the money has been placed on Hayes...well, there's one thing that the hardware men don't have to do any more...they don't have to pull the buggy whip rack out in front every morning like they did back in the days of Old Fan and Old Dobbin...and just the thought brings back memories of the day when we kids used to run half a mile to the pasture gate to meet the folks coming from town in the buggy...and remember how you used to hang on the back end for a ride...joy untold when home was reached and the Cracker Jacks, bananas and candy were distributed...gee, but them wuz the days...Mrs. Fannie Montague enjoyed some fresh roasting ears the other day...you gotta have friends down in the Rio Grande Valley if you want to get rare treats like that...

Jots in Jest

John D. Rockefeller was made a Boy Scout the other day. And since he was initiated during the $150,000 fund Scout drive he'll be expected, of course, to act like a good scout.

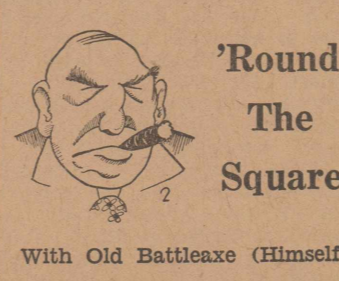

They say that when an automobile backfires in Chicago passers-by instinctively throw up their hands.

A farmer in Pomeroy, O., keeps his chickens in a hearse. So that the hens may feel, no doubt, that it is better for them to lay than to be laid away.

A scientist says he can foresee the time when food will be obtained from the atmosphere. Well, we're not doing so badly at present with angel cake with frosting.

The Massachusetts man who plans to go over Niagara Falls on a mattress probably anticipates striking bed rock.

New York publishers have cut book prices in half, but whether they'll keep them there—that's another story.

Well, Well and Well, Hurray, Eureka, exclaim and other remarks of success, delight and glee. At last, folks, they have finally torn down that Old City Hotel. One of the oldest and sorest spots in the city has seen its last day. The famous old hotel that has for the past forty years housed travelers to our city has been demolished. Since 1891, only one year after Floyd County was organized, the old city Hotel has "graced" the first block on North Main Street. But now its days are over. It's gone.

Now that Old Battleaxe has got what he wanted, I'm like most other folks—I'm just kinda sad a little bit. I just wonder how many scenes, tragic, comical and otherwise, the Old City Hotel has seen. "Round the Square" when it was first built, it was one of the finest in the country. It was visited by the most high-powered visitors and cowpunchers that came "to the city." It has housed rich folks, poor folks, beggars and maybe thieves alike. It has seen fires that have wiped out the entire town, leaving only itself and two or three other business houses standing. It has seen new life born into the world and old life die. It has seen life in Floydada "as she was as she is lived." Yes sir, if the Old City Hotel could have talked, it could have told some mighty interesting stories. But it's all gone now and, just to be honest with you, we're all mighty glad to burn glad of it.

Once upon a time there was a traveling man—Whoa, now! Don't get all excited. This ain't no mean story. It's about a traveling man out of Amarillo who made the statement in the Memphis Demobuck and Memphis, a distance of 159 miles, he counted 249 gray mules and horses in a radius of half a mile from the highway. He says that between Lubbock and Floydada, he counted 86 and from Floydada to Silverton he counted 41. The rest of the count was as follows: From Silverton to Quitaque, 27; from Quitaque to Turkey 19; from Turkey to Lakeview, 43 and from Lakeview to Memphis 29.

The first thing I want explained about this here business is whether that there fellow was counting "white mules" or "white mule." This guy says that from Lubbock to Floydada he counted 86 white mules and horses, which was the largest number counted. Of course we are right proud of that fact, because he must have been counting ani-mules when he was through this country. But the funny part of it all is that the smallest number was through Hall County, and it is generally understood that no other county in West Texas has as much "white mule" as Hall County.

Now, I ain't claiming that we have or we haven't got more white horses and mules in Floyd County than they have in Hall County, but it shore looks like we have. Maybe it was because, after this salesman had seen some "white mule" in Hall county, he got to seeing "red" and lost count. Maybe, I don't know.

Our dear exhausted...er, I mean exalted, friend, Ed Bishop was back in the city last week-end, and "believe-it-or-not" folks, he was wearing some of these new-fangled "golf bloomers." When Ed first left our midst and went to Plainview, I was kinda sorry, but after he went to "a metropolis" and got the "biggety-bug" I just didn't give a dern. But now that he has gone to Dalhart and gone to sporting "golf-bloomers," just to be honest with you folks, I'm glad he don't live in this town.

They tell me that Ed is pretty good at winning high scores.

Which reminds me of a good golf story I heard last week.

A Golfer was considerably annoyed by the actions of a very slow player in front. And it happened that the latter was the owner of a perfect pair of bow legs. Finally, his patience exhausted, the victim drove "through" the deliberate player in front, and his ball passed neatly between the widespread bow legs.

This breach of etiquette enraged the gentleman with the arched underpinning, and he marched quickly back to the offender.

"Do you call that golf, sir?" he stormed.

"No," answered the other, suavely, "but don't you think it was darned good croquet?"

Harvest time is here, folks, and it's now time for beggars, Salvation Army imitators, fake advertising solicitors, and get-rich-quick peddlers to invade the country. Better watch your step before it is too late. We've got a United Charities to take care of charity cases and the rest of them are not too good to get out like us common folks and work for a living. Don't be a sucker!

And say, folks, things sure look rosy around in Floyd County. Most all of the farmers that I have talked to say that they are making a lot more wheat per acre than they had expected to make. And you will notice that it is all testing high, too. Boy, that shore sounds good to "yours truly."

If you folks think that I'm all wet in declaring that the lights on our traffic signals ring too long, just try asking some of the boys who handled traffic during "Boys' Week" last Saturday. They are all convinced that "they just won't stay off of a yellow light."

And say, folks, last week was just one more great big week in the lives of about a hundred and fifty Floyd County Boys. They shore got a kick out of Boys' Week. Some folks may say that the Lions Club and Rotary Club of Floydada are not doing any good, but I know of about a hundred and fifty boys that shore will dispute your word on such a statement.

Well, folks, I guess that it's about time to let you all in on the greatest secret of my life. For months and months I have been preparing for this big event, and now it's here. I've spent hours upon hours with the sweat pouring off of my brow in a vain effort to make everything perfect, and now I'm already to let the cat out of the bag. I'VE WRITTEN A SPEECH! Yes sir, I've got it all written out and now all I like is getting to speak it. There ain't no body asked me to give a speech yet, and very likely they won't but just in case they ever do, I'm going to be prepared.

This speech is entitled "Advertising." I've made up my mind to tell you that before I ever give it, so that when it's all over, you will know what I have been talking about. The last time that I said it over to Haltosis it took me exactly fourteen and three-fourths minutes. The other seventeen times that I have said it to myself in the mirror it took me from eleven and a half to thirteen minutes. So you see, folks, it keeps getting longer all time, so if this paragraph inspires somebody to invite me to spake my spooch, I mean spooch my spooch—dog gone it I mean skope my spooch, dern it, you know what I mean—anyway, you had better hurry. Just think, if you put it off for about six or seven years, it may take me two or three days to say it all.

Anyway, I shore have got a hot speech and if somebody don't let me say it pretty soon, I'm going to corner that guy on California street and make him take all of the punishment by himself. Wouldn't that be terrible?

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUE OF JUNE 15, 1916

W. U. White left Monday for Austin, where he will spend some five weeks attending summer pharmaceutical school. He will be accompanied by Mrs. White as far as Abilene.

Floyd County now owns a tractor for use on the county roads. The Commissioners' Court bought through C. Surginer & Son a Big Four 30-60 Emerson Tractor, at a cost of $2700.

Ross Cope, wife and little daughter, of Swisher County, have been visiting here since Saturday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Thornton.

Sand Hill community farmers were among the first to recognize the feeding value of the hog in a country where the immense feed crops are raised, such as Floyd County, and these livestock farmers are realizing at this time their forethought. Three carloads of hogs were shipped from Floydada station Saturday, two cars being those of S. A. Greer and one belonging to J. E. Riley. Saturday week three more loads will go out, making a total for June from the community of six loads.

Keep the refrigerator well filled with ice. When there is too small a piece the temperature of the entire box rises. This not only endangers the food kept in it but causes the next piece to melt more rapidly in chilling the box to a desirable degree.

Poet's Corner

THE OLD ROCKING CHAIR
By Hudson Lincoln

There's sweet memories of home
That will never despair,
The fireplace so bright
And the old rocking chair.

I can never forget
The sweet lullabies rare,
As my mother would rock
In that old rocking chair.

I can see the dim light
On the old mantel board,
By the side of the clock
That far years, has been stored.

There's the poker, the shovel,
And the broom over there;
Sweet memories! I say—
But Oh! The old rocking chair.

It has rocked off, the years
With their joys and their griefs;
It has welcomed us, always
That it might give relief.

It has served mankind well
Through its breaks and repairs
Sweetest home—memories cling

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

P. D. O'Brien, Pastor
The attendance at all services at our church last Sunday was very encouraging indeed. There were 454 in the Sunday school, and 185 in the B. Y. P. U. The spirit of loyalty exhibited by our membership is heartening to the pastor, and feel to the Master. This is our main task, to be loyal to Him and to His program. There have been seven conversions and 23 additions to the church in the first two Sundays in June. For this we are very grateful, but we are expecting to see even greater results in the three Sundays that remain in the month.

As a church and community we feel that we should be very thankful for the fine rains, and other temporal blessings that have come our way. Many sections have been visited by storms, hail and other calamities, and our community has been spared so far and blessed far beyond our deserts.

The services last Sunday evening which was in honor of the boys of the church and community proved to be a great success. Pat Stansell, Verne Eastridge, Emmett Bost, Marion Heald and Elwood Patty acted as ushers for this service. Bernard Borum, Jim Bob Johnson and Allen Gresham led in prayer, and Garland Foster made the announcements. Songs were led by Gilbert Nichols and Cecil Spence. We had a very fine group of boys present and regret that we could not use them all in the service. We want our boys and girls to know that we appreciate them and are anxious to do everything we can to help them make a success of their lives.

Two distinctions have recently come to our church. Week before last the Sunday school organization was recognized by the Board at Nashville, Tennessee as standard for the second consecutive year. The human honor for this is due our present Supt. Byron Clark, and his predecessor, Ozro Stephens, and the fine corps of officers and teachers who have labored so faithfully and fruitfully in the teaching services.

The other honor came to the B. Y. P. U. Federation which has been recognized as standard by the Board at Dallas. As far as we know this is the first Training Service organization on the Plains to receive this distinction. From the human side too much praise cannot be given director, Joe Breed, for his accomplishment. We do not believe a more efficient leader of young people can be found anywhere than Joe Breed. Many paid workers, who give their entire time to work of this sort, have not brought their organizations to the heights reached by Mr. Breed and his helpers. He has been ably assisted by G. N. Shipley, Robyn Swinson, Veve Swinson, and other general officers together with faithful leaders, sponsors and individual members, too numerous to mention. We record our gratitude for such co-workers as these.

All regular services next Sunday with the pastor in the pulpit at both preaching hours, the Lord permitting. You are welcome at our church.

LAKEVIEW BAPTIST CHURCH

J. M. Harder, Pastor
Sunday School 10 a. m., Sermon 11 a. m., B. Y. P. U. 8 p. m.; sermon following B. Y. P. U.
Saturday night, June 14, regular conference.
All invited.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The meeting will begin at the City Park Church the third Sunday in July. Thomas E. Millholland will do the preaching and home forces will direct the singing. Every one is cordially invited to keep this date in mind and attend the meeting all you possibly can.

You are also invited to attend our regular services which are as follows: Bible School Sunday 1 a. m., preaching and communion 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.; Ladies Bible Class Monday, 4 p. m. and prayer meeting Wednesday, 8:30 p. m.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

South 4th and Tennessee Streets Sunday School at 10 a. m., Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 8 p. m. Sister Johnson will lead prayer meeting Thursday evening for us. Watch us grow. We are going to get new members in our Sunday school for they are coming already. We are going to see things move on. We wish to say that we are not the "tongues people" or "Holy Rollers" that some people brand us with. If God had a people here worshipping together he might perform another miracle of that kind, speaking in other languages unknown so-called, but the church of the Nazarene does not endorse the modern tongues theory, but a lot of our people have gone off with them but we as a church do not believe it is God's plan for everybody to get that gift; however, if God gives that gift to some then we do not oppose God for he gives gifts of different kinds to all people, such

Perfect Model

It wasn't only because she was a blond that leading fashion experts of Paris and New York chose Miss Jean Drummond, above, the most perfect and beautiful model in America. Miss Drummond, who is only 17 and weighs but 118 pounds, will receive a trip to Paris and a part in a Broadway show as a prize.

as tongues, interpretation of tongues, healing, and prophesying. But our manual speaks plainly to be courteous to all men whatever their belief may be, whether the tongues people or Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, and all alike. We try to live peaceably with everybody as far as possible. We are all running this race together toward the same place. God says for his children to love the brethren, so we are not teaching that everyone gets the gift of tongues.

Well, some day we will have a nice little church here in Floydada. We are just started and we want to do good to all mankind.

We believe if Jesus delays his coming very long that God is going to use us in his Kingdom.

Pray for us—we need your prayers. Phone 337J O. T. Busby and wife, pastor.

LINDY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ORGANIZES

The 7-year-old boy's Sunday School class met at the regular Sunday School hour Sunday morning in the Primary Sunday School Department. "Lindy" was the name chosen for the class. The class motto selected was "Still higher."

The following officers were elected by the members of the class: President, George Fry Lider; Vice-President, Billy Henry; Secretary, Wayne Collins; Treasurer, Jack Johnston; Reporter, Darrell Grisham.

All boys 7 years of age are urged to be present. We have some kind of a little contest every quarter to make the work more interesting.

Two boys in our class, George Fry Lider and Jack Johnston, have made 100 per cent every Sunday this quarter; Dalton Jones has a perfect record for every Sunday except one.

Come and learn about the Bible with us.
Reporter, Darrell Grisham.

HELP FOR HAYMAKERS

Many farmers could save time and labor in haying by using stackers, in the opinion of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. With stackers they can build larger stacks thus reducing the waste hay on the outside of the stack. Loading hay on a wagon by hand and unloading with sling or fork, eliminates about half the hand labor. By using the sweep rake or the hay loader and also slings, fork, or a stacker, pensive and several homemade types are efficient and fairly easy and let in 1615-F Hay Stackers and Their cheap to construct. Farmers' Bulletin 1615-F, Hay Stackers and Their Use, describes the different types of stackers, their cost, conditions favorable for the use of the different types, the size of the stack that can be built with each, and the size and duties of the crews. This publication may be procured from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Camp Fire Meeting

The Netoppew camp fire group met at the home of Miss Wilma Deen, their assistant guardian, Friday, May 30, at 5 o'clock in a business meeting. Songs were practiced and the "Walking Song" was the outstanding song learned. In the business meeting held a set of rules had been written by the assistant guardian was read and approved. The girls will try to abide by these rules as much as possible. A fine surprise was then announced by Miss Deen when she told us that we would spend Friday afternoon on hike to Miss Ina Sims home where we will have a picnic. We will meet at the home of Edelle King at 5 o'clock to start on the hike. The girls are making plans for the summer camp and hikes which are to follow.

WHAT STUDENTS PAY

Austin, June 3.—(UP).—What it costs a university student to live is revealed by a compilation of approved student boarding houses and their rates, prepared by the deans of the University of Texas.

Thirty-nine of 116 boarding houses for men serve meals and their rates run from $28.50 to $40 a month. Rates for rooms only run from $6 to $12 a month. The Little Campus Dormitory, operated under supervision, has single rooms as low as $12 a term and double rooms as low as $18.

The cost for girls is slightly higher. Board and lodgings for them range from $29.50 to $45 a month. Rooms alone are from $7.50 to $15 a month.

Glider Champ

W. Hawley Bowls, holder of the American nine-hour glider duration record, is shown here as he appeared in the cockpit of his glider Albatross at the first glider meet held in the east recently at Bayside, Queens, New York.

KIRK TAKING VACATION

G. L. Kirk, manager of the local office of the West Texas Gas Company, is taking his summer vacation. He will again resume his duties June 20, and during his absence from the office Mrs. Fields of the Lubbock district office will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk made a trip to Lubbock and Slaton Sunday.

REV. TUBBS INVITED TO MAKE ORDINATION SERMON

The Rev. G. W. Tubbs of this city has been invited to preach the ordination sermon for the deacons of the Whiteflat Baptist Church Sunday morning, June 15, at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. H. M. Burnam, pastor, extended the invitation to Rev. Tubbs.

Mrs. T. P. Craig of Tucumcari, N. M., arrived Sunday for a visit here with her sister, Mrs. S. F. Conner. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Honea of Silverton, who returned home Sunday, going by way of Plainview.

'Ma's' Alma Mater Has Been Modernized

Austin, Texas, June 9.—(UP).—Salado College, where "Ma" Ferguson attended school, was not the modern "girls' finishing school" of today, to judge from rules and regulations contained in a pamphlet sent to the University of Texas library by Mrs. Frank Andrews of Houston. Mrs. Andrews is a daughter of James L. Smith, for many years president of the school, which was one of the most famous of the '70s and '80s in the Southwest.

It rules prohibition whispering, changing seats or idling during school language of an indecent or immoral character, conversation or actions likely to hinder progress, wound feelings or in any way interrupt the prosperity of the school.

Punctual attendance was required at the opening of the school with the school hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Boys and girls occupied different playgrounds.

Neatness, courtesy, no visiting except by permission, and general obedience were required. Students from a distance were under "parental" care of the trustees and teachers. This parental authority included the right of chastisement for violation of the rules and regulations.

The old college, the ruins of which are still to be seen at Salado, on Highway 2, was near Salado Creek. It was the old story of "hang your clothes on a hickory limb," however, for the college rules prohibited bathing in it "on school days."

CARD OF THANKS

The Pioneers of Floyd County wish to express their thanks to S. W. Ross and others who rendered so much assistance in arranging the tables for the dinner and for many other courtesies extended that made the day more pleasant for us. Committee.

Jenkins Refuses To Endorse Plan Used On Problem

J. B. Jenkins declares that R. F. Stevenson and W. A. Kirk of Silverton, who have sent in a solution to the problem propounded recently on the length of a continuous row of maize planted by John Reagan, miscalculated in arriving at their conclusion.

"According to the way they figured it, the row would be 121 miles in length with one row to throw in," Mr. Jenkins explained. "There would be 243 1/2 rows by their estimation. Those boys over at Silverton must have studied Ray's Arithmetic and the Blueback Speller for they can't figure at all."

In the letter to The Hesperian Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Kirk outlined the following problem for Mr. Jenkins:

Two men were selling apples on a street corner. Each of them had 60 apples. One of them was selling his apples at 2 for 5c and the other was selling his at 3 for 5c. They combined their stock and went to selling them at the rate of 5 for 10c. Did they gain or lose. How much and why.

And here's Mr. Jenkins' answer: "They'll have to wait until my apples get ripe before I can figure, that out—I don't want to pull the fruit while it's still green."

Bonner Baker returned home Friday from Austin where he has been taking work in the University of Texas. He was met in Weibert by his father, W. A. Baker, who accompanied him home.

Mrs. W. C. Grigsby in company with Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cline returned Monday night from a trip down-state. Mrs. Grigsby visited relatives and friends in Fort Worth. Mrs. Cline had been on a visit at Waco and other points and Mr. Cline went down by auto to accompany her home.

J. G. Deakins spent last Saturday in Snyder visiting with his father, E. M. Deakins. Mr. Deakins and R. J. Stovall, of Snyder, accompanied him on the return trip, spending Sunday here.

Mrs. Fannie Montague and Miss Wanda Montague made a trip to Happy Monday to look after business interests.

Dougherty News

By Mrs. W. D. Newell

Dougherty, June 10, 1930.—A good rain fell Monday night which will be of great benefit to the row crops. The wheat harvest will stop for a few days but will probably be to an advantage as the wheat that was coming in was full green to store. Harvest had begun in earnest as the elevators received forty truck loads Monday. The first load was received Friday. It was cut by B. B. Wilkes for F. M. Dougherty. The average yield has been reported from ten to twelve bushels per acre making a test from 58 to 60 pounds per bushels.

Dougherty still needs a barber. Two young barbers from Floydada were in town a few days ago taking orders for haircuts, but they didn't locate with us. We hear so much now days about trading at home, we folks are a little backward about sending our measurements to another town for haircuts, but if someone doesn't "hang out a shingle" within the next few days, several orders will have to be mailed.

The Plateau Singing Convention will meet in Lockney next Saturday morning beginning at 10 o'clock and

CRAZY WATER Might Do The Same For You

Man Well Known in West Texas Relieved By Crazy Water.

After Everything Else Had Failed.

Lubbock, Texas, Feb. 15, 1930.

Crazy Water Hotel Co., Mineral Wells, Texas.

Gentlemen:

Three weeks ago today I came to the Crazy Water Hotel on a stretcher from the city of Lubbock, Texas, with what the doctors called typhoid spine and told me that there was no medicine that would cure me. I started drinking Crazy Water and taking the baths. On the 12th day after my arrival at the Crazy Water Hotel I took to the wheel chair and on the 17th day I started walking on crutches and can now walk without them; so I feel that if Crazy Water can do this for me, I cannot say enough for it.

Yours very truly,
I. F. HOLLAND.

last till Sunday afternoon. Singers from all over the state are expected to be present.

Recently one of our local citizens, being ask to lead in singing, began by saying that he was never a singing school teacher nor ever took voice culture, in fact when he was a boy of sixteen he lost his voice and barely could be heard in a whisper until he was nearly eighteen years old. He declared that was the greatest calamity that could befall one of that age, especially if he had to drive an unruly yoke of steers or plow a stubborn horse.

His father had a horse called Button, who at first was very stubborn, when running around young cotton with a double shovel or a Georgia stock with sweep, but finally Old Button was the only one of his family that had any sympathy for his affliction. The rest of the family thought it was a joke. He finally got to where he could only make a gurgle in his throat and Button would snap out of it and go gee! Haw! or get faster, which ever was needed, and strange to say it was the horse that got him to talking again, in relating his own words it happened like this, "I was a little late for dinner one day, and a brother had already unharnessed his team and put out the feed. When I came in to unharness my horse I just liked one step to the trough and old Button took it and stepped on my foot; when he did, I let out three words in as loud tone as I ever did in my life. It not only scared me but every mule and horse went out of that barn terrified, when I got outside the barn the hogs were huddled in the far corner of the lot grunting their fear. I was so elated that I ran to the house to tell the good news, but when I tried to talk I could only make a squeak as I didn't say the same words that I had said to Button. I was so crest fallen and ashamed, I sneaked out and finished my work. That evening I took Old Button out and began practicing on him, we came near having a few runaways that afternoon but by night I could say a few words besides curse words. It was awful on the horse's nerves but I believe it was worth even as good horse as was Button. My voice had made a gradual improvement from that day and I believe if I should live to be a hundred years old, I could sing if my voice keeps on improving

CHURCH NEWS

Members of the Baptist Church met Wednesday night at prayer meeting and organized a B. Y. P. U. electing the following officers: Miss Erna Lee Crawford, president; Miss Faye Ferguson, secretary-treasurer; Floyd Readhimer, vice president; Group Captain, No. 1, Lloyd Readhimer; Group Captain, No. 2, Mrs. Moore; Quiz Leader, Mrs. C. L. Lassiter and Sword Drill Leader, Mrs. Martin Duvall.

Workers meeting was held at Campbell Tuesday of last week. Those who attended from Dougherty were: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ferguson, Mrs. Frank Pitt, Miss Mable Pitt, Mrs. G. C. Edwards and son Willard and Rev. and Mrs. Earl Landtroop. Next workers meeting will be held at Whiteflat.

The pie supper, given by the Women's Missionary Society last Friday night brought a net profit of $28.25, which was used as a payment on the piano at the church.

In connection with this the quilt was given to the one holding the lucky number. Mrs. C. L. Lassiter was the lucky one having the number 47. The net proceeds has not been determined at this time as there is still some money out that has not been turned in to the clerk. It will be something near $20.00 to be divided between the two churches.

Sunday was Brother Ansil Lynn's regular appointment here for the morning and evening services.

Sunday afternoon Brother Claude Wingo, pastor of the First Christian Church at Floydada preached at the school auditorium. He has a regular appointment here for the fifth Sunday of this month. This will be an all day service in which the young people of Floydada will have charge of part of the service. Dinner will be served picnic fashion at the noon hour.

Quarterly Conference will be held at Lakeview June 22nd.

League and B. Y. P. U. both met Sunday night with good programs and attendance. An appeal is being made to all the young people of the community to join one or the other of these organizations. It is a training you need and one of the world's greatest needs of today is leaders. This is instructive work and one of the ways to develop the best there is in you.

Attendance continues good in the Sunday schools.

The Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon with eleven members and studied as their lesson Chapter V in "The Church and the World Parish" These are wonderful lessons on the Life and gradual development of the people in the foreign fields. When we stop to think only four years ago cannibalism was still practiced among the heathens, we feel a relief as one of the great steps toward development has been reached. The lesson was taught by Rev. Ansil Lynn and having had the experience as a missionary to these people makes him a very apt and interesting teacher. You are especially invited to attend these meetings. Mrs. H. D. Bloodworth will have charge of the meeting next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at The Methodist Church.

POSSIBILITIES OF POULTRY BUSINESS SHOWN

San Antonio—A profit of $2.13 per hen for the five months ending April 1 has been made by Mrs. S. W. Ridgway of Bexar county in a flock record contest, according to G. P. McCarthy, assistant county agent. In the 4-H club boys' and girls' class, Herbert Rittmann was leading with a profit of $2.15 per hen. His demonstration for three years has so established his reputation as a poultryman he was able to sell 42 settings of hatching eggs for $1 per setting during March. In the entire contest 13 flocks show profits for five months well above $1 per hen, which is considered excellent in view of the fact that a $2 profit per year per bird is counted meritorious in the poultry business.

"You'll forget your tire troubles . . . the minute you ride on the wonderful new-type Federals"

Yours,

J. M. Gullion

We Save You Time During The Harvest Rush With Steam Vulcanizing that STAYS PUT. Got A Flat? Grab a phone—Call 83 for Floyd County's Fastest Road Service.

ROUGH ROADS DON'T COUNT WHEN you ride on the new Federals. They are the most velvety riding tires I have ever ridden on.

Here's the reason, Federal engineers weren't content with the old bulky balloons. You know and I know that excess bulk never made any tire ride easier. In view of this they eliminated all superfluous weight in the new Federals and increased the air cushion 12%. What a difference it made!

More than that, they designed a new, rim-wide full contact tread, longer, stronger yet more flexible side walls and added thousands of miles' wear!

Sounds too good to be true, but it isn't. Just read the guaranty that the maker provides.

"Money-back" Guaranty

"If after 30 days' use you are not fully convinced that these new-type Federal Tires give you more luxurious, air-cushioned riding comfort, better acceleration, easier steering, firmer braking, and the assurance of maximum mileage, return them and your money will be refunded."

WEATHER MAN EXPLAINS WHAT "CYCLONE" MEANS

A "cyclone" in the science of meteorology is not a violent and destructive twisting windstorm or "twister" so greatly dreaded in some parts of the United States. That sort of storm is properly called a tornado. A cyclone, weather forecasters explain, is an extensive system of winds over an area of low atmospheric pressure as measured by the barometer. It is represented on the synoptic charts published by the Weather Bureau of the Department of Agriculture by arrows showing the wind directions and a series of wavy lines resembling the contour lines on a map. These lines pass through points having equal barometric pressure at the time indicated by the chart. Other similar sets of lines represent areas of high pressure or regions of "anticyclones." A cyclone may cover several States, and as a rule moves in an easterly direction across the country.

The reason why cyclones and anticyclones or the "lows" and "highs" of the weather chart have such an important bearing on weather forecasting," says Alfred Judson Henry, of the Weather Bureau, "is because of the pronounced contrast in the weather associated with each. If it is known that a cyclone is advancing upon a region it is assured within slight variations depending on the season, that the winds will be stronger than the average, the sky will be cloudy and there will be rain or snow according to the time of year, and the temperature will be higher than usual. After the cyclone has passed and the anticyclone has come on, precipitation of rain or snow ceases, the sky, as a rule, clears, the winds shift to a northeasterly or westerly quarter, and the temperature falls. The northerly component of the wind continues for several days and then shifts to an easterly or southerly quarter, thus indicating the approach of another cyclone."

MORE FRUIT IN DIET, AIM OF FANNIN COUNTY WOMEN

Bonham—The use of raw and cooked fruit in the family diet is the object of 371 Fannin county home demonstration club women who have made at least six plantings of grapes, figs, berries and nut or fruit trees this season in continuation of last year's planting program which resulted in the introduction of more than 20,000 such plants on local farms. This drive toward complete home orchards is centered about sixteen special demonstrations which serve as an inspiration and guide to all families in those communities.

This year's plantings total 12,248 in the following order of preference: dewberries, strawberries, peaches, grapes, blackberries, plums, figs, pears, cherries, apples and apricots.

South Plains News

South Plains, June 10.—This community looks at present as though harvest would be in full swing before another week. Wheat is looking fine. The elevator received the first load Saturday, and we have quite a bit of cotton and feed up.

The closing exercises of the school have been in progress the past week. The baccalaureate sermon was preached Sunday night, June 1, for the seventh and tenth grades. A program was given the following Tuesday night by the lower grades. Graduation exercises were held Wednesday night.

Seventh Grade Program

Invocation, Superintendent Price Scott. Address—Rev. P. D. O'Brien. Salutory—Cecil Cook. Class History—Gladys Gilliland. Class Prophecy—Irene Simpson. Valedictory—Gladys Gilliland.

Awarding of diplomas to G. C. Shearer, Gladys Gilliland, Cecil Cook, Annie Lee Pittman, Juanita Hawkins, Thelma Smith, Flavis Gilbert, Linnie Milton, Irene Simpson and Arby Mulder.

Tenth Grade Program

There were three graduates from the tenth grade. The following program was rendered by the tenth grade: Valedictory—Elsie Myers. Class Prophecy—Irene Higgins. Awarding of diplomas to Claude Myers, Irene Higgins, and Elsie Myers.

Benediction—Rev. P. D. O'Brien. Friday a basket lunch was enjoyed by all and in the afternoon there were two ball games. The first game was played by the candidates and the South Plains farmers. The score was 18 to 12 in favor of the farmers.

The second game was played by the school boys and Goodnight. The score was 15 to 12 in favor of the school boys.

Ice cream was sold by the P. T. A.

Friday night a play, "The Path Across the Hills," was enjoyed by a large audience.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilson was buried at Lockney Friday afternoon. Funeral services were held by Rev. Strong.

Saturday afternoon lightning killed a registered Jersey cow belonging to W. F. Cook. Church Saturday night and Sunday by the pastor, Rev. Brownlow. At services Sunday night Rev. Bost of Floydada.

RADIO SERVICE AFFECTED BY SOIL AROUND STATION

Placing a radio station seems utterly different from planting corn or cotton, but the two have one point in common. The right kind of soil is important to the corn or cotton crop, and the right kind of soil is important to the most effective operation of the radio station. This fact came out when a representative of a large concern manufacturing radio transmitting apparatus visited the United States Department of Agriculture and asked to examine soil-survey reports and maps as a guide to the placement of radio stations in the Middle West and Southwest. This use of the soil-survey records was new to the soil specialists of the department.

The radio expert explained that engineers have found that radio transmission is better over soils which are retentive of moisture than over drier soils. They believe this is because the drier soils absorb the radio waves to a greater degree than do the moist soils. He said that the soil maps and the detailed descriptions of the structure, the texture, and the arrangement of the layers of soils which are included in the department's soil-survey reports have already proved useful in locating stations.

Soil-survey reports are in demand by settlers in search of productive lands, by farmers seeking to make the best use of their fields, by engineers in building roads, by bank and mortgage concerns in estimating the loan value of farms. These uses are familiar, but it will be news to most soil surveyors that their work also locates the spots on the earth which provide the best sounding boards for radio transmission.

ASPARAGUS AND RHUBARB POPULAR VARIETIES

College Station—Asparagus and rhubarb figure prominently among the new vegetables which are being grown by Texas home demonstration club women this year in an effort to add greater variety to the average family menu. West Texas is going particularly strong on these two vegetables, reports of home demonstration agents show. Lamb county women have put out 3,000 plants; Stephens county reports 16,000 asparagus roots set out; and every club woman in Hockley county is growing one or both varieties. Among other West Texas counties figuring prominently in the home growing of rhubarb and asparagus are Potter, Floyd Harde-man, Brown, Swisher, Lubbock, Lynn, Dawson and Clay counties. Most of the 33,000 girl and women home demonstration club members in Texas are gardening and canning this year and using home grown fruits and vegetables to help in balancing family diet with health and economy.

Power laundries are important consumers of cotton products, consuming approximately 52,000 bales of cotton annually, the United States Department of Agriculture says. Cotton is consumed in the form of wash nets, twine, padding, sheeting, laundry bags, double-faced felt, and cover duck. Wash nets alone account for 14,900 bales of cotton.

Latest Death In King Tut Expedition Again Revives Legend Of Fatal Curse

Is there really a fatal curse attached to those who have anything to do with the opening of the tomb of King Tut-ankh-Amen in the Egyptian Valley of Luxor?

The superstition has been revived in London lately because of the suicide of Lord Westbury and the sudden death of Edgar Steele. Lord Westbury's son was connected with the Luxor expedition and Steele was engaged in the British Museum in labeling some of the things taken from the tomb.

Some firmly believe there is a King Tut curse. On the other hand, Howard Carter, who led the Luxor expedition and opened the tomb, is there now and still going strong. He wired back to London that he thought the whole yarn "a libelous invention."

The story of the curse started several years ago upon the death of Lord Carnarvon, who financed the Carter expedition and who died a few weeks after King Tut's tomb was opened. It was then said the curse was something like the following:

"Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of a Pharaoh."

Deaths by Disease, Violence Since then the following deaths have been noted and each, in turn, has strengthened the belief in the curse:

SIR ARCHOBALD DOUGLAS REID, who agreed to X-ray the mummy.

PROF. LAFFLEUR of McGill University, Montreal, who died shortly after visiting the opened tomb.

H. G. EVELYN-WHITE, who died after being connected with the expedition.

M. BENEDITE and M. CASANOVA, two French archaeologists, who took part in the research work in the tomb.

WOOLF JOEL, less than 30 years old and a multimillionaire, who committed suicide by drowning while riding along the Nile in his yacht shortly after he entered the tomb.

COLONEL AUBREY HERBERT,

half brother of Lord Carnarvon, who attended the tomb opening.

GEORGE JAY GOULD, American railway magnate, who died of pneumonia shortly after visiting the tomb.

MRS. EVELYN GREELY, an American, who visited the tomb, killed herself on returning to Chicago.

PRINCE ALI FAHMY BEY, wealthy Egyptian prince, who was shot mysteriously, shortly after visiting the tomb.

HALLAH BEN, the prince's secretary, who went to the tomb with his master and died shortly after the latter was killed.

DR. JONATHAN W. CARVER, who assisted Carter in opening the tomb and was killed in a motor car smash.

HON. RICHARD BETHELL, son and heir to Lord Westbury, who acted as secretary to Carter and was present at the opening of the tomb. He was found dead in his bed in the Bath Club, London.

Couldn't Stand "Horror"

LORD WESTBURY, father of Bethell, a man 78 years of age, recently jumped from the seventh floor window of his flat and fell to instant death. He left a farewell letter in which he said:

"I really cannot stand any more horrors and I hardly see what good I am going to do here, so I am going to make my exit."

Then Edgar Steel died suddenly after an operation in London. His job at the British Museum had been to letter and label for the Museum's Tut exhibition all the various relics from the tomb.

able for lilies. They do not do well in clays that bake hard, or in lean sands.

TEA BREWING AN ART UNMASTERS BY MANY

Brewing a social cup of tea is an art unknown to many housewives. While the amount of tea to use will depend on the individual's taste, C. F. Hutchinson, tea examiner stationed at New York for the Federal Food and Drug Administration, says that about a teaspoonful to the cup is a good average. Boiling water must be used or the leaves will not open fully and impart their full strength and flavor to the beverage. But tea should never be boiled nor should the leaves stand in the water longer than five or six minutes, in his opinion.

An earthenware pot should be used, and after the leaves have steeped five or six minutes the liquor should be poured into another container, or if a tea ball is used it can be removed.

Mr. Hutchinson puts the tea in an aluminum strainer, put the strainer across the top of the teapot, and pours boiling water through the strainer until the pot is full, covering the body of the strainer. After it has drawn for three or four minutes he takes the strainer out and has a cup of tea that is just to his liking.

VITAMINS IN COTTONSEED MEAL

Cottonseed meal has been found to be rich in vitamin G, the vitamin necessary for the prevention of pellagra, a nutritional disease of people fairly common in some parts of the South. The discovery was made by research workers in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, while studying the value of cottonseed meal in the nutrition of animals. Cottonseed meal was found, also, to be rich in vitamin B, the vitamin which prevents beriberi, a disease of people.

The tractor mower saves time and labor for cutting hay. Some of these mowers are attached directly to the tractor and are driven by a power take-off; others are drawn by the tractor as a separate unit.

Cotton Materials Stage Comeback By Using Latest Fabric Styling In Designs

BY HARRIET

It is smart to wear cotton frocks this summer.

Take one look at them and it is easy to understand why. So chic and attractive are the new wide-awake pique suits, the gingham sports frocks, the shirting outfits and the dimity, dotted Swiss, voile and printed calico dresses that every woman will want some of them.

Perhaps the noticeable thing about the comeback cotton materials are staging is their readiness to utilize all the latest fabric styling in their designs. Prints are as attractive and delicately flattering as silks, colors are as vivid, clear and lovely or as delicately pastel as the finest chiffons.

The care with which these new cotton fashionables are made insure their chic. Tailored lines, or fine hand-made blouses and soft dressmaker outfits are all done in the best style manner.

There are many kinds of cotton or linen suits that women will find useful and enchantingly lovely this summer. The peplum suit has its following in pique, the fitted tailored suit has its representatives and the little bolero is not left behind.

Latest is the sleeveless cardigan suit that takes its little short sleeved blouse to complete it. A sports ensemble of this type is made of delicate pink cotton pique with a dotted Swiss blouse of white pink dots. The skirt of the suit has a pleated lower part below an elaborately cut yoke of bandings stitched for tailored effect.

Big pearl buttons are on each side of the pockets and there is a stitched banding around the edges of the sleeveless cardigan. The blouse has a fussy little front of tucks, lace and a bow at the neck. The sleeves have turned back cuffs with lace and tucks and bows. A pique bret tops it.

An illustration of the tailored suit for business wear comes in pastel colored cotton pique, with the skirt wrap around, with pleats on the left side for fullness. There is a little tuck-in batiste waist, with a ruffled collar and double jabot down the front which buttons shut with pearl formed in Austin Saturday, May 10, had been kept secret from their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Surginer will be at home in Kenedy, the announcements stated.

Mr. Surginer is well known here. He completed his work in Floydada High School and then went to the University at Austin. He was a junior this year in the school of Business Administration.

Mrs. Surginer was a member of Phi Mu sorority at the University and Mr. Surginer was a member of Acacia fraternity.

Woman's Council Met With Mrs. L. B. Fawver.

Mrs. L. B. Fawver, Sr., was hostess to the Woman's Council of the First Christian Church Monday afternoon, June 2. A very interesting Bible lesson was had led by Mrs. Edd Brown.

A nice crowd attended the pie supper at the Lakeview school house Tuesday night of last week. A short musical program was given, also some good readings. Following the program a number of the candidates were present and spoke. This is the first opportunity Lakeview has had to have those aspiring to office in our county, present their claims. All enjoyed the speaking and appreciated the liberal patronage of the crowd. A nice sum was realized and placed to the credit of the Lakeview Auditorium Improvement Club.

The hour of B. Y. P. U. meetings has been set at 8 o'clock. Please notice the change and let all come promptly at that hour is the request of the director.

SKIM MILK CHEAP—ENS EGG COST

Albany—Skim milk in the poultry ration has reduced the cost of producing eggs nearly 5 cents per dozen for five Shackelford county demonstrators. The milk permitted a cheaper grain ration and resulted in a feed cost of 7.7 cents per dozen for eggs from these flocks as compared to an average cost of 12 cents per dozen in five other demonstration flocks where no milk was used.

It is pointed out by A. C. Magee, county agent, that 100 hens will

STEEPS GOOD HEGARI MARKET, SOUTH TEXAS LEARNS

Bishop—Surplus hegari bundles brought 5 cents per bundle or $112.50 per ton to J. B. Butts, Nueces county farmer living near Bishop, who fed 124 tons of this feed, last season to 89 head of three-year-old steers. He intends to feed 200 head of cattle next winter if his feed crop makes.

As reported by the country agent,

Mr. Butts' expenses included $6452.50 initial cost of steers; $200.75 interest; $325 molasses feed; $200 corn meal; $700 cotton seed meal; $62 cotton seed; and $225.96 for grinding the hegari bundles. The receipts were $9656.21 leaving $1490 for the hegari crop. The labor was balanced by gain of hogs following the cattle and by the fertilizer value of the manure.

Sunday School Lesson

CALVARY

The International Sunday School Lesson for June 15. Calvary, Matt. 27:33-50.

Calvary was the end of the way that reached its final stage in Gethsemane, though the shadow of the cross long before that had loomed over the pathway of our Lord.

How clearly Jesus in his earthly life knew from the beginning this end of the way is not made plain in the Scriptures. In fact, the writers of the New Testament may so easily have read into the records the things that they only understand after the death and resurrection of Jesus that we have no exact means of knowing just what was in the consciousness of Jesus or how vividly he realized what was to be the final sacrifice.

Expected His Martyrdom

That he understood the probable means of effecting his ministry would seem evident from the fact that he referred so constantly to the fate of the prophets who had gone before him. He had seen, also, the martyrdom of John the Baptist, and there must always have been in his mind the realization that some such fate was also to be his. The earnestness of his prayer in Gethsemane that the cup might pass would seem, on the other hand, to suggest the hope that his ministry might be fulfilled without going the way of the cross.

Possibly in connection with all such speculations it is worth while only to fix our minds on the fact that from the very beginning to the end of the earthly way, the one supreme purpose of Jesus was to do his Father's will. The idea of his own personal safety or welfare was entirely secondary to that supreme purpose. That he was human and tempted, like as we are, is made sufficiently apparent not only in the three great temptations, but in the evidence of struggle and trial throughout his earthly ministry and in the representation of those experiences in which only through agony and prayer did he seem to find strength.

The fact is that we must feel the humanity in Jesus all the way to the cross. If we lose our sense of the reality of that humanity, we miss the true meaning of his earthly ministry and sacrifice.

If the cross were not real for him, his bearing of it would have little reality for us. Probably in most of our thought and talk of the cross we very little sense its actuality. We could hardly speak of it so glibly and so dogmatically as we sometimes do if we truly felt its reality in terms of actual suffering.

Nor was the physical pain its greatest mark. The law of sacrifice and its mystery are perplexing. The disappointment of one's hopes and the turning back of life into channels of seeming loss and bitterness constitute the most difficult part of the cross. Yet human life in its revelations of sacrifice and martyrdom on behalf of truth and right reveals the fact that it is out of the darkest and saddest experience of mankind that have come the most glorious dawns.
