East Mound Winner In Tilt With Sand Hill

Sand Hill Accepts Challenge For Night Game in Floydada Early In October.

Evenly matched in every department of the game Sand Hill and East Mound staged a real ball game at Lockney Sunday but errors spelled defeat for the Floyd County boys and East Mound won 9 to 7.

Walker pitched a dandy game with eight strikeouts before he was relieved by Womack. "Wild Bill" Duncan hit a homer in the first inning for East Mound.

The Sand Hill team has accepted a challenge of the E. C. Monarch Lighting Company's team for a night game to be in Floydada early in October. Managers Elmer Mickey and Calvin Golleher have announced. The players on the Monarch team are all white men it was pointed out by the Sand Hill managers, in making clear the fact that the squad is separate from the group which includes colored players.

The Monarch group is said to be in class with Texas League teams and the unique game promises to be a good one, early reports, indicate.

Next Sunday at Lockney, beginning promptly at 3:30 o'clock the Sand Hill team will meet the strong South Plains aggregation. The big drawing card of the fray will be "Lefty" Holmes, Floydada and Sand Hill product, who has been with the pitching staff of the Dallas Steers this season. Holmes is expected to pitch for Sand Hill.

Training Course For Scout Leaders Late This Month Announced

A training course for adults 18 or above, interested in Boy Scouting, was announced to be held in Floydada during the latter part of this month, by E. L. Roberts, of Plainview, scout executive of the Central Plains Area.

Dates for the scouting course have been set for September 22, 23, 25, September 29, 30 and October 2. "The course is for those who are interested in scouting as well as for those who actually will be used in scouting work," Mr. Roberts said. "The men who attend will be divided into patrols and the study of scouting made in the play way of teaching principally. There will be little in the form of lectures or speeches and a great deal of games and activities."

In view of the fact that the sessions will be early in the evening and will take only an hour and a half each night from 7:30 to 9, Mr. Roberts hopes for a good attendance and a wider inside working knowledge of the Boy Scout movement among Floydada men. A similar course, just held in Hereford, proved successful, Mr. Roberts said.

WOMEN'S CLUB EXHIBIT DATES OCTOBER 3 AND 4

Dates for the fall county exhibits of Home Demonstration and Four H Clubs of Floyd County have been set for Friday and Saturday October 3 and 4. It was announced this week for Miss Marie Strange, County Home Demonstration Agent, who said the change from a date in the latter part of September was made necessary on account of inability of the District Agent, Miss Murray, to reach this county and do the judging personally until that time.

All exhibits will be scored and ribbons will be placed on exhibits winning first, second and third places.

Local Showers Fall In Co. During Week

Although Floyd County has had no general rain during the past week, there are numerous communities which have had excellent late-ty feed growing downpour, and some reports indicate that two or three inches of rain has fallen.

In as widely separated areas as the extreme west edge of the county, the extreme northwest corner, and the extreme east edge, as much as two, possibly three, inches of rain has fallen. Similarly, two heavy rains fell in a strip of country between Lockney and Plainview.

In Floydada less than a half inch of rain has fallen in the past week. Reports give an inch estimate at Mt. Blanco, and three-quarters in the Joeabale section, an inch or more at Dougherty, two to three inches in the vicinity of the C. H. Featherston ranch four miles north of that place, two or three inches in the vicinity of Judge Henry's place on the Hale County line, and probably in excess of three inches in the vicinity of Providence. A nice shower fell in the section of country southeast of Lockney Tuesday and a similar good shower is reported in the territory immediately east of Floydada, extending south toward Lakeview, east to include practically all of Baker district.

Reports have been inadequate to give a good idea of the extent of the rains in all of the county and little information has been received in this office from the northeast portion of the county. In areas where two inches of rain fell the moisture will bring volunteer wheat up. In fact, thousands of acres of volunteer have already come up. In most instances it is being plowed under. However, several land owners are leaving the volunteer crop for winter pasture with the exception of plowing it up next spring and putting in row crops on the land.

JOINT MEETINGS PLAN LOCAL SERVICE CLUBS

Plans are being studied by the Lions and Rotary Clubs of Floydada whereby the two clubs possibly will hold joint sessions for the next several weeks. Committees from both clubs met last week to work out a plan, which was adopted Tuesday by the Lions Club and Wednesday by the Rotarians, subject to approval of the headquarters offices of the respective clubs.

If the proposal is adopted by the members of the clubs then the joint meetings will begin on Wednesday, October 1, and will continue each Wednesday until either or both of the clubs are in favor of the re-division. It is planned that luncheons will be served, at the First Baptist Church and at the First Methodist church, alternating monthly, both as to the place of meeting and the group of ladies serving the meals. These and other tentative plans were worked out recently in a meeting of a Lions Club committee, composed of Lion Boss J. C. Wester, Troy Jones, S. W. Ross and J. C. Gilliam, and a Rotary committee, composed of Rotarian President Dr. W. M. Houghton, P. D. O'Brien, Robt. Meaden and Dr. C. M. Thacker.

Other subjects discussed at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Lions this week were relative to a county meeting of Lions Clubs of this division of District "T" to be held in Floydada in the near future. A tentative date has been set for September 23, the meetings to be held at the noon hour. Representatives of six or more clubs will probably be in attendance at the group meeting. E. M. Rice, of Matador, is group chairman, and the definite date and hour for the meeting is being left up to him.

At the next regular Lions Club Luncheon, September 16, O. P. Rutledge will talk on "The Relation of Labor Saving Machinery to Unemployment," it was announced by J. C. Gilliam, program chairman. Glad Snodgrass will also talk on "Evolution of Clothing from the Fig Leaf to the Plus Fours."

At the Rotary meeting Wednesday program time was given over to talks by A. D. Cummings and J. M. Willson, two members who have been absent from home during the summer. Cummings had the subject, "Programs at clubs I have visited this summer." Willson's talk was a very brief summary of this extended tour.

Egg Number Two With Real Tail 'Rests' On Desk

...and thereby hangs a tale—rather an egg with a tail—and the second one at that...

Perfectly formed but in miniature size an egg reposes on a desk in The Hesperian office. And the great American breakfast food is perfectly contented for it has its tail curled about it just as if it were perfectly at home.

One doubting Thomas came to see and it came to pass that he saw and he exclaimed: "Well, can you beat that!" And it had to be promptly admitted that if the shell were broken and a good egg beater used it very likely could be beaten.

Anyway the fact remains—and so does the egg. The curious specimen or specimen was brought in by C. V. Howard who said the egg was found in a hen nest on the farm of C. V. Atkinson in Starkey community.

This is the second egg "with a tail" brought to light this summer. Jim McPeak toted in the first sample.

Hold Formal Opening New Grocery Saturday

Formal opening of Hill Brothers new "M" System grocery and market, located on West California Street, in the second door west of White Drug Company, has been announced for Saturday of this week. Refreshments will be served throughout the day, and special demonstrations will be held by various food companies, it was announced. The open house reception will continue until a late hour Saturday evening.

The new grocery and market was opened last week by M. B. Hill, formerly of Hillsboro, and Ben Hill, of Clarendon. M. B. Hill will make his home in Floydada, while Ben Hill will continue to make his home in Clarendon, where he is operating another grocery store. Through error last week, the Hesperian stated that both members of the firm would remain in Floydada.

Both men are experienced grocers, and they are being associated in the Floydada store by John Maxwell, well known grocer in Floydada for the past twenty years.

C. H. LOWRY NEW MANAGER BOSLEY BLACKSMITH SHOP

C. H. Lowry, prominent Floyd County farmer and former Floydada blacksmith, completed arrangements for the lease this week of the Bosley Blacksmith Shop on North Main Street. The shop, which has been closed for the past several months, was this week re-modeled and re-opened by the new manager.

Mr. Lowry has been in the blacksmithing business for many years. For more than eleven years he was associated with his father, J. A. Lowry, in the blacksmithing business in Floydada.

FAIR DIRECTOR VISITS

R. B. Galloway, director of the poultry division of the Tri-State Fair to be held in Amarillo September 29, 30, and October 1, 2, 3, and 4, was in Floydada a short time Tuesday. He solicited the cooperation of the local Chamber of Commerce in getting Floyd County poultry raisers to enter fowls in the Amarillo poultry show.

Diary of a Texas Tractor Farmer

The following figures, submitted by an actual user of gasoline for agricultural purposes, is illustrative of the present manner which the gas exemption plan actually works out in practice on the farms of Floyd County. The illustration used is that of a farmer who lives 15 miles from the wholesale station from which he buys. It is believed not to be exaggerated in any particular, but to be typical for a farmer living at that distance.

O. T. Williams Heads Voc-Ag. Organization

Six Meetings of Teachers Will Be Held During School Year, Plan.

At a recent meeting of Vocational Agriculture teachers held at Lubbock, O. T. Williams, teacher of Vocational Agriculture of the Floydada High School, was chosen President of the organization for the year 1930-31. This group, states Mr. Williams, will hold six meetings this year. Mr. Williams will call a meeting soon for the purpose of working out a score card for the scoring of the jobs done by the boys on their projects. A standard has been set up by the State Department of Vocational Education which requires each boy taking Vocational Agriculture to do a minimum number of 28 jobs. These jobs must be scored by the teacher of vocational agriculture. If a boy has three projects, one major and two minors, he will be required to select 10 jobs on his major project and five each on his minor. This will leave him eight jobs to be chosen to do as supervised practice other than his project. The jobs will be jobs that he can do on his farm which pertain to his project.

The Vocational teachers of the South Plains area are going to set up standards by which the different jobs for the different farm enterprises can be scored. Mr. Williams states that this new method will make it much easier for the boy to complete his project as he will know just what this section of the state will require of him in order to make a full score on his jobs, also that it will be easier for the teachers to score the jobs done by the boy.

Much good is hoped to be accomplished, states Mr. Williams, by the organization this next year. Each teacher can have the experience of the entire group in solving their problems.

Fund Transfers Made To 'Stave Off' Loan

Last year at this time the Commissioners' Court had had to borrow approximately $3,000 to take care of the general expense account of the county and the year previous the loan obtained was a couple thousand higher according to the records at the county clerk's office, but this year to date the court has been fortunate enough to keep from borrowing for the general fund.

By transfers from two funds made by the court on Wednesday of this week of slightly more than $1,700 to the general expense fund, borrowings will be "staved off" it now appears until late in this month. If taxes are slow coming in in October the court is likely to have to borrow for a few weeks. The transfers made were $785.95 from the County Road and Bridge Fund and $918.81 from the jury fund. The funds transferred were accumulation after the third day of July of this year of money collected from fines and forfeitures and sale of strays in the case of the county road and bridge fund, and the transfers from the jury fund were an accumulation during the same period of trial and jury fees and occupation taxes, which are required to be deposited in the jury fund. Action of the court was based on a ruling from the Attorney General's Department, it was stated. The opinion for the attorney general was rendered by H. Grady Chandler.

Fire Destroys Home Of V. M. Manning Sunday

Fire which is thought to have originated from an oil stove which had been left burning in the kitchen destroyed the farm home of V. M. Manning, one mile southwest of Floydada, Sunday morning at 8:45 o'clock. The Floydada Fire Department answered the alarm but they did not arrive in time to check the blaze.

The five-room house and furniture was completely destroyed. Mr. Manning having time only to save a few bed clothes from the flames. The loss was estimated at $3,000, which was partially covered by insurance. Mr. Manning stated that he had lighted the oil stove and had gone to the barn to milk and did not notice the fire until the house was ablaze in almost every room. Mrs. Manning and children were away on a visit with relatives when the fire occurred.

San Antonio Concern Looking For Peanuts

Possibility Seen As Firm Indicates Interest In Financing Peanut Planters.

The Chamber of Commerce has recently had an inquiry from a concern in San Antonio wanting to buy peanuts in Floyd County, also asking for information as to whether peanuts can be grown here and the probable number of acres adapted to the growth of peanuts in Floyd County. The communication states that peanuts can be readily sold at a cash price that gives the farmer good returns on his investment. The name of the firm interested in the purchase of peanuts will be furnished any peanut grower who has a commercial crop of peanuts, S. W. Ross, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said.

"The peanut industry has never been encouraged to any great extent in Floyd County and it may be that we are overlooking one of the ready money crops by failing to do so," Mr. Ross said. "There are a good many acres of soil in Floyd County that would be adaptable to the raising of peanuts, and it might be found that they could successfully be grown where we now think that it would be impossible to grow them. Floyd County farmers might want to look into this matter and see that it is given a fair trial. There are, perhaps, many crops that have not been tried out here that might be grown to an advantage other than the two money crops that we do raise, such as cotton and wheat, and peanuts might offer another opportunity for the farmer to further diversify his crops so that he might have three money crops coming in instead of two."

"Of course the peanut industry should not be undertaken on too large a scale until it can be shown that peanuts can be grown here successfully but it should be given a fair trial at least this next year," he pointed out. The communication further states that whenever necessary the San Antonio parties are in a position to finance the farmer in planting peanuts.

Former Residents Were In Frisco Train Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Stephenson, former residents of this city and grandparents of Cella Hall, son of W. B. Hall, were passengers on the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway passenger train, the "Texas Special" which was wrecked near St. Louis Sunday night, August 31, with the loss of six lives. Mrs. Stephenson was shocked and suffered internal injuries, being confined to a St. Louis hospital four days.

Their daughter, Mrs. Dickson of Chicago, formerly Miss Lorraine Stephenson, who taught English in the Floydada High School in 1918-19, went to St. Louis and accompanied her parents to their home in Greenville.

Mrs. Stephenson is still confined to her bed and is running temperature, but her condition is not considered serious, Mr. Hall said Saturday. Mr. Stephenson was satisfactorily shaken up but was uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson were en route home after a visit with Mrs. Dickson in Chicago.

Egg Price Jumps As Dealers Here Seek Big Volume

If you are a producer of eggs and want to get in on a good thing bring your hen fruit to Floydada during this week, for eggs are looking up very materially in price as local dealers seek greater volume.

An extreme price of 25 cents, several cents above that of the primary market, was posted yesterday by Floydada Poultry & Egg Company and at least a part of the other dealers are meeting the competitive condition.

The market would be around 17 cents ordinarily and when present needs are filled the likelihood is that the local market will again be in line with that of the rest of the country. Meanwhile, if you have eggs to sell, sell them this week-end in Floydada and take advantage of the temporary heavy swell in price.

Floyd County Pioneer Is Buried At Lockney

Mrs. Julia Huffman, old settler and pioneer resident of Floyd County for more than forty years, died on Thursday of last week at the home of her son, Herman Huffman, in the Prairie Chapel community 6 miles north of Lockney. Mrs. Huffman, whose maiden name was Julia Fainsworth, came to Floyd County in 1890 and has resided here since that date. Her husband died more than nine years ago and she had been residing with her son and also with her daughter, Mrs. William Wood, of the Prairie Chapel community, since.

An illness that had lasted for more than ten years is attributed by doctors to have caused her death. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church in Lockney, and is said to have been one of the largest funerals held in that city in a number of months. Hundreds of pioneers of Floyd County attended, among whom was Wm. McGehee, city, who acted as one of the pallbearers.

Only two near relatives survive the deceased. They are her son, Herman Huffman and daughter, Mrs. William Wood.

Enrollment Of Aiken School Monday Is 101

Aiken school began its 1930-31 session Monday morning, September 8, with an enrollment of 101, twenty-six of whom are high school pupils and 12 were beginners. The opening program consisted of songs, prayer and talks by teachers and patrons. Sixty parents were present for the opening exercises and seemed very much concerned about the welfare of their children.

After the assembly was dismissed, the children passed to their classrooms where books were issued and lessons assigned. Regular classroom work will begin Tuesday morning.

Teachers in the Aiken School this year are Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Walters and George Graham. The Parent-Teachers Association will begin regular meetings soon, it was announced.

A general clean-up of the school house and grounds was held last week by citizens of the community. The building was cleaned by the women and the yards were cleared and leveled by the men. We are very proud of our school yard since it has been leveled, and we want to thank Mr. Rankin, our road commissioner and his men for this excellent piece of work.

HAS ODD "ONE CENT" COIN ISSUED BY U. S. IN 1858

A one-cent piece, dating back to 1858, which is neither copper, nickel nor silver, is the nature of an unusual coin discovered this week by C. M. Battey. The coin is evidently one of the earliest one-cent pieces put out by the United States government, judging from the date the nature of the metal. On one side the coin has an engraving of an eagle in flight and on the other side is a wreath of palm leaves and the words "One Cent." It is much thicker than the pennies now issued by the government, and has the wear of eighty years exceptually.

Whether or no the coin has an additional value was not learned this week by Mr. Battey.

Nearly One Thousand Enroll In Floydada Schools During Week

Organization Work Begins After Opening Exercises Held at Three Buildings.

Organization work for the Floydada Public School year of 1930-31 is practically completed this Thursday morning as the schools begin the fourth day of the scholastic year opening Monday, the job of enrolling and classifying the nearly one thousand boys and girls having been almost completed.

Enrollment figures for the three schools had run considerably above 900 yesterday at noon, Superintendent W. E. Patty said, the high school having an enrollment of approximately 300 to begin the school year. At Andrews Ward School the enrollment was about 440 yesterday as noon and the East Ward School had slightly less than 200 enrolled.

Opening exercises were held separately by the three schools. At the high school chapel was marked by an address by Rev. G. T. Palmer following the singing of "The Eyes of Texas." A considerable number of patrons attended the opening at this school as well as at the other schools, the attendance of parents of children from rural schools being noticeably large. A heavy attendance is noted by Superintendent Patty.

Besides the talk of Rev. Palmer, in which he urged a generally helpful and aid-lending attitude on the part of students, patrons and teachers, Superintendent W. E. Patty and Principal A. D. Cummings made announcements and explanation calculated to speed up the organization work of the student body. At this school one change was made in the teaching personnel, Mrs. L. V. Smith having been named for the place of English teacher. Members of the high school faculty were presented by Mr. Cummings to the student body.

The largest student body at the schools was enrolled at Andrews Ward with Troy Jones as principal. Mr. Jones' announcements to parents and pupils followed the invocation pronounced by Rev. Ensil Lynn and a talk by him.

At the East Ward School, the enrollment was smaller but the enthusiasm of teachers, pupils and patrons pronounced. J. M. Teague, new principal at this school, succeeds Mrs. A. H. Thornton, who resigned her place in the local school system early after the close of last school year. Mr. Teague comes from Lubbock. Chapel exercises at this school were marked by the invocation pronounced by Ohmer Kirk, and a talk by the new principal.

"We are anticipating a good school year," Superintendent Patty said Wednesday. At high school classification and the issuance of books had been completed practically Wednesday night.

The Crippled Lady of Peribonka

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Introducing some of the people of the pretty little French-Canadian village of Peribonka, particularly the Crippled Lady, idol of the simple inhabitants, and heroine of an epic destined to live long in the village annals.

CHAPTER II.—How the romance of Molly Bryant, sister of the great Indian chief, Joseph Bryant, and Sir William Johnson, in pre-Revolutionary days, comes down to today with the birth of a son, Paul, to Molly Kirke, wife of a powerful New York financier, and her death when Paul is thirteen years old. Molly Kirke was a descendant of Molly Bryant, and her boy has many of the Indian characteristics. At thirty-two Paul marries Claire Durand, daughter of his father's business partner. He is in charge of an immense engineering work on the Mistassini river, near Peribonka, which his millionaire father has undertaken, but his Indian blood deplores the destruction of the wilderness, and his thoughts are more of the Crippled Lady—than of his work.

CHAPTER III.—Paul's wife is in Europe, she having no inclination to live in "those horrible woods." He comes to see in Carla, daughter of a central European immigrant, with her devotion to her invalid mother and her work in educating the village children, his ideal of womanhood.

CHAPTER IV.—Paul writes to his wife, urging her to join him, though Carla is the inspiration of the letter. Later that evening, passing the Haldan, long a hopeless invalid, is ill. He enters the cottage. Mrs. Haldan, long a hopeless invalid, is dead, Paul's efforts to comfort Carla, he feels, bring them closer together.

CHAPTER V.—Claire announces her intention of joining Paul on the Mistassini in a short time. She also writes to Carlan, of whom she has heard from Paul, a letter of kindly sympathy, on the death of her mother.

CHAPTER VI

The crowning point of anticipation in Paul's six years of married life was his journey to meet Claire. From the Mistassini to Roberval, from Roberval to Metebechewan, and on there down to Chicoutimi, where he took the cross-wilderness train to Quebec, he built steadily to the visions which the increasing interest and comradeship in his wife's letters had helped him to create during the long winter. That she was not following her usual precedent of going to New York, but was coming to him, gave him an emotional thrill which it had not previously been his happiness to experience in his relationship with her. He believed that for Claire to divert herself in this way from home, her own people, and a host of friends after an absence of nearly a year, that she might come to him in a wilderness which she frankly detested, was almost dramatically significant of a change in her attitude toward him. It was the mystery of this change which withheld from his feeling the one thing which might have made it a real passion of expectancy and joy. In none of her letters, which had drawn her nearer to him than she had ever been, had she spoken of love. Even in response to the warmest of his communications to her she had given him no definite satisfaction, except to write him in a way which, without openly avowing herself, drew her closer to him, and gave to his ideals of her a glowing, fleshy reality which excited and possessed him as he went to meet her.

He could not keep Carla out of his mind. She came to him vividly when he stood in the shadow of the ancient chapel of the Ursulines, at Quebec, where he had seen through the chancel grating the lovely nun whose face and eyes had looked so much like Carla's. In Lower Town he went into the little old church of Notre Dame des Victoires, and he felt as if she were standing at his side. She seemed to be a part of the composure and beauty and age-old enchantment of these quaint and hallowed spots which he loved, as if in some past day her soul had helped to mold and fit their destinies. Here, like himself, Carla could dream, and see ghosts and mystic fabrics of forgotten things where others saw only slow dissolution and ruin of brick and mortar and wood. In her eyes were the deep and slumbering lights which linked the memories of the past with the mysteries of the future—in Claire's the vibrant life of a glorious present. Together, he thought, these two women held the world in their breasts, from its beginning to its end.

He was at the dock an hour ahead of the ship. When it arrived, he drew himself back of the waiting people, for he knew that Claire would not be in the rush of disembarking passengers, nor would she be along the rail in the crush that always gathered to wave their greetings to friends and relatives. It surprised him when he found her to be one of the first on the landing walk. As she came down he could see that she was looking for him. She was the same Claire, tall slim, exquisitely dressed, a woman to be picked out of a thousand. He could always expect Claire like that, a wife any man would be enormously proud to possess. He waved his hat, and she saw him. A swift, beautiful smile passed over her face, and in his eagerness to reach her he made his way a little roughly through the crowd. His heart was jumping. He was meeting her alone—no one but himself to greet her, while always before there had been many. One dream had come true! When they met he held out his arms. But that was not Claire's way. She was always right, never forgetful of the fitness of things—and gave him her hands. Her fingers closed warmly about his. She raised her lips and kissed him, with the light touch of her mouth which was a part of Claire.

"Dear old Paul!" she said. "At last I'm home!"

Three days after her arrival Claire was mistress of the bungalow which her husband had prepared for her visit. Thereafter Paul could look from the window of his office to the physical realization of the second of his dreams. Claire was at last one of the wives who lived in the row of cottages on the hill. While this dream, like the friendly but dispassionate greeting of his wife in Quebec, missed something in its fulfillment, it had opened doors through which he was looking to still greater things for himself, and the woman who was making this fight against prejudice and environment for him.

"This time I am going to stay until you become tired of me and send me home," she told him.

The change in her was inexplicable, unless he accepted it as one of sheer sportsmanship. This he did, and was warmed by the thought of what he was bound to give in return for it. Behind her effort it was not difficult for him to see the truth—her struggle against instincts and impulses as deeply inborn as was his own Indian blood in himself. The desire to please him, its sunny cheer and friendliness, was an inspiration to him and strengthened his resolution to twist and bend his life, so that it would fit in with hers. He did not tell her this. The thought of explaining to her that he was about to make a mighty endeavor to cross the gulf which lay between them was embarrassing to him. Claire had said nothing about her own effort. Her actions had shown him the way. This lack of intimacy between them at times made him feel scarcely closer to her than some of the many friends she had. It was a thing which he could not tear down even in moments when some impulse or situation seemed to draw them very close together. He knew that Claire felt it as well as himself. Facing it, smiling at each other, waiting for some force greater than themselves to break the way for them, they said nothing about it. Each was hoping, and struggling, that this thing between them might be triumphed over. But it persisted in spite of them.

Each day he found something new and unexpected in Claire to increase his admiration for her. She became acquainted with the pit. She put on rubber boots and explored its muddy depths with him. She made no discrimination among his friends, and nodded and smiled as pleasantly at a foreman or a laborer as she did at the others on the hill. More puzzling to him than these things was her intimacy with Carla Haldan. After her first few days on the Mistassini they were together much of the time when Carla was not at her work. Even in this Claire joined her now and then, and talked to the children in Clara's classes about the boys and girls in other lands, and came to know their mothers, until she began to fill a little of Carla's place among them.

Carla came to his office again, but always with Claire. She was unlike the Carla who had brought him flowers, so different from her that he was left with a dully painful sense of loss when he was alone and thinking about her, as if someone very dear to him had died, leaving only very memories behind. The paradoxical reason for this emotion in him was that Carla appeared to be strangely and forgetfully happy. She was lively and gay, and joined freely in the small social affairs of the camp from which she had always held herself more or less apart. She talked only a little of Peribonka, and the forests, and of the places which he now she loved, but seemed to hold her heart when listening to Claire's colorful descriptions of interesting places his wife had visited. The two had a real affection for each other. No matter how uncertainty might cloud his judgment in other ways, there could be no doubt about this sentiment of mutual regard which had grown up quickly between them.

One evening Claire said to him: "It is strange how deeply I care for Carla. There is something about her which draws me out of myself, to her. Yet I am finding it more and more impossible to paint her as I want her, she is so completely changed. Where is the real Carla, Paul? What has happened to her? Do you know?"

Her head was bowed over a bit of lace work in her lap, and she did not look at Paul.

"I have noticed the change in her," he said. "It has happened since you came. I think you have helped to bring her out of the terrible grief which oppressed her after her mother's death."

Claire smiled gently at her husband. For a few moments a contemplative light lay in her eyes, as if she were looking—not at him—but at a child.

"You think she is happier—since I came?"

"There is no doubt of it," he declared.

"But I cannot paint her. And it is because—there is so much unhappiness behind what she is trying to make us see in her face."

In his wondering why she tries so hard to make me believe she is happy, Paul.

Before he could answer she began to tell him about her talk to the children in Carla's school that day. (To be continued)

With The Churches

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Dick O'Brien, Pastor
 With 436 present for the Sunday school, and nearly 200 in attendance at the B. Y. P. U. hour last Sunday we feel encouraged about our start on the fall program. Once or twice the Sunday school attendance fell below the 400 mark during the summer, but this was to be expected as so many of the workers were on vacation, or otherwise hindered from being constantly on the job. Now that school has opened and the fall season is on we are headed for an increase all along the line. With each one remaining "loyal to the program," the task can be done.

We had nine additions to the church during the Sunday services. Three of these came for baptism. Last Monday afternoon late a group met at the church for a baptismal service. Miss Dorothy Crawford and Roy Patton's little boy were baptized. This was a very impressive service.

This week we are meeting at the church for the purpose of studying methods of personal work in soul winning. Thirty-five enrolled in the class on the first night. This course is open to all ages, and denominations. We are making an earnest study of this Scriptural subject. Credit will be given on either B. Y. P. U. or Sunday school work for this course.

Next Sunday morning our revival starts. The Sunday services will be held at the church, but we expect to be in the community tabernacle for all services after Sunday. Announcements concerning hours of worship and other plans for the meeting will be made Sunday. We earnestly invite all Christian people in the community to take active part in this meeting. We sincerely hope that the services will prove a spiritual benefit to every church in town. With a week of rest after the fine Methodist meeting we feel that we will be in just about the right attitude to put our best into this meeting. To the unsaved and backslidden we extend an urgent invitation to be in these services. It is our desire to be helpful to you in a spiritual way.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

G. T. Palmer, Pastor
 We are grateful for the great meeting which was held in the church closing last Sunday night. Rev. Huston came to us and won the respect and praise of the people. The work which he does is sane and practical. We appreciate the fine spirit of co-operation manifested during the meeting. There were around seventy five or eighty conversions and reclamations, and a large number gave their names for membership into the church. Next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. we are going to receive this class into the church with many others who will be coming at this time. We urge those who should come into the church to be present at this hour when we shall be glad to receive them with the others who are coming at this hour. If you do not have your church letter I shall be glad to write for it. We need you and you need the church and we are hoping to have you come at this time.
 Preaching by the pastor at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.
 The three Leagues will meet at 7:00 p. m.
 You are cordially invited to worship at the Methodist Church.

Practice Of Issuing Free Book Satchels Is Local Tradition

Floyd County National Bank Makes Annual Gift to School Children of County.

Continuing a practice that has become a tradition in Floydada, the Floyd County National Bank of Floydada last week began distribution of free book satchels to the school kiddies of Floyd County. Hundreds of youngsters called at the bank for the attractive and serviceable presents. Saturday afternoon the employees of the institution were kept busy issuing the satchels. Officials and employees were apparently as happy over the idea of giving the presents to the school children as they were delighted over the idea of receiving them.

"Makes us feel good to have these little men and women of tomorrow come in and see us," they said. "It is a pleasure to have an opportunity of doing them just this little service. This is the eleventh year that we have given free book satchels to the school kiddies of Floyd County and it is an occasion we look forward to every year just as do the youngsters."

The bank has been issuing the book satchels for the past eleven years and the unique feature of the practice is that a number of the students who will receive their diplomas this year and the others in advanced classes were given their first book satchels by the Floyd County National Bank of Floydada upon occasion of their first school days.

Ben Ayres left Monday night for Austin to resume his studies in the law school at the University of Texas after spending a short summer vacation here with his parents, Judge and Mrs. Jeff D. Ayres.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Kirk spent Monday in Plainview visiting with friends and relatives.

Miss Anne McGlinchey of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. C. Coburn of Aledo left Sunday for their homes after spending the past two weeks as guest of Miss McGlinchey's sister, Mrs. Wilson Kimble, and family.

Mrs. L. G. Stewart and children of Wichita Falls came Sunday for a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Canaday, and other relatives.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT FACTORY RUNS FULL TIME

J. C. Gilliam, of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., local agents and paint headquarters said they received this week a message from the president of the Sherwin-Williams Co., of Cleveland, to the effect that all of the company's factories have been put on a full-time basis, due to the pick-up in orders and the company's confidence in improved business. This confirms Mr. Gilliam's views based on his observations here in this vicinity.

"Fall is the ideal time to paint," said Mr. Gilliam. "There is considerable delayed painting to be done. Property needs protection from winter. It's cheaper to paint than to repair, and there's an old Dutch proverb that says 'Good paint costs nothing,' which simply means that it's cheaper to use the best paint which figures out the cheapest by the job, by the square foot, and per year of service. It costs just as much to apply poor paint as it does to apply good paint. I really look for a splendid fall business. Our paint sales have held up very well, and more people seem to be paint conscious than ever before. There is no investment as small as a paint investment that brings so much satisfaction and adds so much value to property."

Mr. Gilliam spoke of the value of paint on farms and the large farm market. Farm buildings add $14.00 an acre to the value of the farm.

According to Mr. Gilliam, there has been a big increase in the use of color by women who buy small package paints, enamels, lacquers, in varied colors, for doing over furniture, breakfast sets, floors, etc. Popular colors are yellows, greens, ivories, in combinations; yellow, orange and blue; ivory, yellow and black; blue and orange; ivory and grey; with a touch of red trim; blue and white and black; lavender and yellow; greens, reds and tans are also very popular. These combinations are just a few that are widely recommended by color authorities, but every woman seems capable of using color these days, and using it effectively.

Miss Helen Miller of Collinsville came last Sunday to spend some time visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Bass and Mr. Bass.

School News
School opened at Dougherty Thursday morning, September 4, there was a good representation of both the student body and the patrons.

The opening exercises began with the song, "Battle Hymn of The Republic" after which Rev. S. M. Crawford gave the devotional, using the Thirteenth Chapter of First Corinthians as the scripture.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien next gave a talk on "Advantages" using some witty illustrations, which was impressive to the young as well as the older ones. He compared the day when men wore "breeches" and women put "lilly white" on their faces before an old fashioned "bureau," to the present day when men wear trousers and ladies pose before a "vanity" to adorn themselves with "rouge" and "lipstick," however the summary of his talk was inspiring and held the vision for the students of the high school to make the best of the new year's work.

Professor Blankenship was the next speaker, using for his subject "Moral Personality," in which he wished his pupils that to a good personality was to their lives unspotted and un- dated, using the thought that a man's face is his "Book of life." His talk are always inspiring to his steners. Professor Blankenship taught in the Dougherty school last year and won the love and respect of all his pupils.

Miss Kelly, who has charge of part of the high school work, is from Idalou, Texas, but taught last year at the Lakeview school.

Miss Cowan, also from Idalou, taught last year at Lakeview and will have charge of the Inter- mediate grades.

Miss Lloyd is continuing her work this year with the Primary de- ment. Each of these young women made talks Thursday morning as several of the patrons. are entering this year's work with the same deter- mination to have a good school as last year, and we expect the loyal cooperation of the pa- trons as we experienced this past school year," Mr. Blankenship said.

The Dougherty school faculty is planning a "community entertain- ment" to be given September 27. The adjoining communities are in- vited. Watch for further announce- ments.

Monday morning the enrollment of the school was a little above 100. Chapel exercises were held with the following program:

Scripture, James 3-2:18, Opal Mc- Neil.

Reading: "Deacon Brown's Court- ship" Coyett Ferguson.

Jokes: Johnnie Brownlow.

Reading: "Dare To Do Right," Maeyl Jones.

GINS ARE READY! BRING YOUR COTTON TO FLOYDADA

New, Modern Equipment

The managers of the four gins of Floydada, in spite of prospects for a short crop, have gone right ahead, preparing their plants to give the very best of service to their customers. They have installed new machinery, carefully overhauled their equipment, and purchased supplies just as they would have done in preparing for a bumper crop.

Bigger, Better Turnouts

The four gins of Floydada will be able to give the best service in history. These gins urge the farmers to bring their cotton to Floydada, believing that they can give better turnouts, cleaner seed, better ginned staple, and fair prices because of their modern and complete facilities.

GREETINGS:

To all our old customers and to all the cotton growers in Floyd County who appreciate first class ginning—

THE HAYNES GIN this year ginned the first bale of cotton in Floydada and our plant is in first class condition. We have not spared expense in getting our gin ready to give our customers the very best of turnouts possible. All of the machinery has been overhauled and is one of the most completely equipped gins on the Plains.

I have been in the gin business for 35 years and I know what it takes to get the most out of every load for you.

Mr. W. T. Stevenson of Goodlet, Texas, is our new ginner and he comes highly recommended as a most competent man. He has been a gin man for 27 years; he is a Christian gentleman and a member of the Baptist church.

Mr. C. T. (Bill) Scott will buy cotton at our gin and will always give you the top market price. Every member of our crew is a competent workman and will do his utmost in your behalf.

Gin at the Haynes Gin (The Green Gin.) I will certainly appreciate your business and will give you a fair, square deal at all times.

THE HAYNES GIN

A New Name— A Better Gin— A Better Turnout

Changing of the name of the Farm Bureau Gin Company, to that of the Texas Cotton Growers Gin Company, is not the only change announced by this gin this year. Our modern gin has been overhauled in every part and is now ready to repeat the service that has brought a satisfied list of customers back year after year to do their ginning at this place.

We offer to you, the cotton growers, a better gin service and a better turn-out.

At this time we wish to thank all of our old customers for their past business and want to assure them that the same courteous treatment and careful attention to their ginning needs will be accorded at all times.

GIN HERE FOR COMPLETE SATISFACTION!

Texas Cotton Growers Gin Co.

(Formerly Farm Bureau Gin Co.)

J. W. Lanier, Manager.

Everything Remodeled And Renewed—Including Our Firm Name

The Floyd County Gin Company, formerly operating under the trade name of Patterson-McGehee Gin Company, will be in readiness for the 1930 cotton season with a completely re-newed and re-modeled ginning plant.

Mr. B. G. Ford, of Dallas, for sixteen years a factory mechanic, is this week sharpening and straightening our saws and re-modeling our gin stands. A new type of burr extractor has just been installed and our entire plant overhauled, assuring you of a better turn-out than ever before.

The New Manager, J. P. Davidson, extends to all his friends as well as the former patrons of the gin an invitation to gin their cotton with him. Mr. Davidson will also act as cotton buyer and will be in the market for your cotton at this gin.

Floyd County Gin Company

Formerly Patterson-McGehee Gin Co.

FARMERS:

While the crop is going to be rather short this season we have spared no expense in preparation for ginning. Our saws are all in good shape, having been recently sharpened and trained and all ginning and cleaning equipment repaired and put in first class shape. We feel that we are in a better position to serve our customers than at any time since the gin has been built.

We have both the square and round bale presses and will be glad to handle the cotton to the best advantage. We are planning to be in the market at all times for your cotton, handling either the round or square bales in line with the market. We shall be glad to assist in shipment or storing of cotton for those who do not care to sell locally.

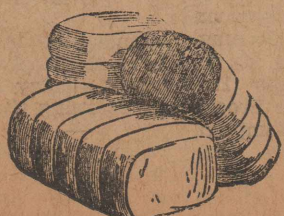

Just at this time we have a proposition whereby we can help to secure some good planting seed at a very attractive price. We would like to go into this proposition with those of you who would be interested in a quick maturing good strong staple cotton which is being grown here in Floyd County.

We shall appreciate to the fullest any business entrusted to us and shall endeavor at all times to merit your confidence.

for the very good reason extension of time will be given on the interest pay- ment of the securities their insti- tution, the president of the bank has announced that there will be no extensions of time for the payment of the securities due the Farm Loan Ass- ociation by their members this fall.

andbank president made this statement in a recent address at the bank, or in that section of the address where the effects of the sum- mer drouth are being felt most.

reaction to the speech or statement made by the Fed- eral Reserve Bank head in some quarters that he was unduly harsh, but harsh enough, to be dis- couraging. However, the statement of the virtue of being altogether plain. Just a plain, blunt state- ment that there will be no exten- sions of the obligations incurred in connection with the drouth.

s suggestion is that local capi- tal should bear the burden of the second and third liens on the drouth to the land bank. His opinion may be correct, but it appears that if the loans are made to the land bank, the drouth would appear to be less expensive for the government, through the land bank to extend the obligations than private capital to go through the process of making the addition- al advances, which will be for no purpose than to pay obliga- tions to the government.

the extensions desired in Floyd County were in position to say. But, as plain" as did the Fed- eral Reserve Bank, we want to know what he was talking about. It is a higher-up authority and the good to reverse the decision an- nounced.

INACH OR BATTLE? It has been found a val- idation to the menu of the child spinach has grown in favor of the past few every dining room. At dish has grown in favor of household head, with the thousands of kids are eating something that is unpalatable to them. The book" or the doctor.

st year there has arisen doubt as to the wisdom of a child eat something so able as to be nauseating, it is spinach or ambrosia. "wars" which are being on the table, such as spinach, volumes, if recorded, chronicles of the Thirty.

While to many spinach, to many others it does the question arises wheth- er just before meal time disturb the salivary and dis- tinctive hands more harmfully than spinach will do good. At any rate, before the next "war" why not try some other kind of leafy veg- etable on the victim. Undoubtedly the spinach or leafy vegetable hab- it might well be cultivated into a habit, but why discipline a "mess of greens" into him?

TO SUE OR NOT TO SUE

The chorus of "Yesses" from the West Texas press on the matter of instituting suit against the geogra- phers whose texts are being used in the schools, wherein the West Texas portion of Texas is being largely misrepresented, — the geographers in favor of the suit or suits, has been almost unanimous. And if the directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce take the same attitude it won't be long until the geographers have a suit to demand in court.

A side of the question which has been mentioned, however, and which has every reason for serious consideration and stating in the text as a part of the matters for consideration, is that the school boards and girls who are required to read and recite about West Texas as a desert, and so on and so forth, as related in the book, will take with considerable reser- vation things the geographers say about the rest of the world. It is enough to keep boys and girls from thinking that what the old books say about the bank, evi- dently why mind in Floydada.

A GOOD PLACE

About as wordless a vacationist as you will meet these days is that one who is home from the Carlsbad Cavern. Almost as wordless as the one who comes home from the Grand Canyon. The descriptive powers of the human tongue evidently are inadequate for the job of describing either. "It's just wonder- ful" is about the sum and sub- stance of their descriptions.

Some wisecracker got home from Carlsbad or Grand Canyon and when they asked him about the nat- ural wonder, said it would be a good place to throw used safety raz- or blades, which was about as good an answer as getting red in the face and gurgling out a batch of ohs and ahs.

WHY NOT DROUTH RELIEF?

The unprecedented dry weather of the past summer, which has been acute in one farming section of the nation as in another, if we can believe the reports of newspapers and travellers, has brought with it several serious problems which are fairly up to the people of the coun- try to have their authorities solve with temporary expedients, chief among which is the business of keeping the public services of one kind and another functioning.

For instance, the postal service has been "solved" by simply announcing that none of the postal workers would lose their jobs for the present.

A thing that occurs to us as a real problem for Texas officials is that of keeping the schools going. Some kind of expedient will have to be worked out, very likely, some- thing not exactly in the books on government. There is now no doubt that many, many schools in Texas will have to close before their school years are completed simply because the taxpayers, who furnish the sinews of education, are simply not going to be able to meet the bills.

The study of this problem should be begun now—not in January or Feb- ruary, when the actual condition has arisen. That form of "drouth relief" is practical. We doubt very seriously the kind of "relief" that is going to come out of these Wash- ington conferences with President Hoover will be the kind you can take and buy beans. We don't doubt that the statesman of Texas who works out some kind of plan that will keep a million kids or more in school for a full term will have done a real service to his state.

HIS REPRESENTATIVE

Colonel Wm. E. Easterwood, whose pocketbook grew fat on a favorite five-cent chewing gum and who dispensed with $25,000 of his pro- fits last week when the French fly- ers reached Dallas from Paris after a rest of some forty-eight hours in New York City, was not able to be in Paris for the beginning of the flight and in Dallas at its ending, too, so he took the opportunity to send a cable of congratulations—or was it a wireless?—and to have his personal representative receive the gallant French in Dallas in his name.

This "personal representative" was none other than Jimmie Smith of Snyder, who is said to have done the honors of the day in good style and to have brought encomiums—that's a good word—on himself and this section of the state.

Mr. Smith, like Colonel Billy, grew air-minded a few years since, and their common enthusiasm for aviation brought them together, probably. However it may have happened, we record it as a fact that a West Texas newspaper pub- lisher handled a chewing gum magnate's check for $25,000. The same dispatches record that a cor- don of police and national guards- men were present. We feel sure that was not intended as a reflection on Jimmy personally or news- paper people of West Texas in gen- eral. It was just a matter of pre- caution. But it was a wise precau- tion.

LIKE THE STORY?

If you've been reading the con- tinued story going in The Hesperian, you have been captivated by James Oliver Curwood's way of get- ting his characters before you, and his inimitable way of unfolding the picture and carrying the whole thing along without apparent effort.

James Oliver Curwood, now dead, will be remembered for "The Crip- pled Lady of Peribonka" long after his more ambitious stories of the northwest have been forgotten.

You might read the synopsis of preceding chapters and take up the story this week. There are several chapters yet, all to be given in com- plete length.

A Sidewalk Review Mostly About People And Personalities In Floyd County. By The Cowhand Scribe

Thank goodness there are some pleasure spots along the Highway of Life. What happens to the Cowhand but a good looking woman goes to all the trouble to make a pretty three-layer cake in as many colors and then comes all the way down to the office to bring him a slice all wrapped up nice and a cute ribbon tied around it. That cake was splendid and the noise that the Cowhand made in gobbling it up was terrific. Pretty swanky language to use but that slab of good stuff was right in keeping. The other details such as names, etc., are withheld, as you probably notice.

Bill Watson gets a great kick out of playing croquet. There are several courts over town now and the old game seems to be gaining favor once more.

Ye bicycle is coming back, too. Witness all the boys sporting new bikes over town. The prediction made some time ago that this once popular means of transportation was due for a return engagement is coming true. If the cowhand didn't have such a good stick horse he might be tempted to mount one of the things again; but then there would be the guffaws of the other hands on the Floyd County Ranch to add to his embarrassment, so the matter will have to be postponed for a time.

Blanche Hilton acts as cashier over at the Palace Barber Shop every Saturday.

Mrs. E. L. Angus is always doing something nice for someone—no personalities intended—and she will go out of her way to do a favor for a friend. She is always ready, too, to help with a program or play. She does things that a person appreciates most—always anxious to help—with a smile.

T. S. Stevenson, president of the Floyd County National Bank of Floydada, sent the Cowhand Scribe a brand new book satchel and the stick horse is just chompin' on his bits rearin' to rush up to school. How's that—hohobbin' with bankers who take enough personal inter- est in you to send you presents like that? Which brings to mind the old school days with the hitch- ing rack out in front and a bunch of saddle ponies tied alongside the buggy hoeses. Remember the days when you used to put the feed in the back of the buggy and then spread it out before old Dobbin to keep her from getting too restless and breaking off for home after books took up?

No more hitch racks; no more old Dobbins—nothing but the smell of burning gasoline!

A. V. Harris says that crops are good near Clovis. He has been visit- ing his son-in-law, Clarence Gam- ble and plans to return this week- end. Wheat, kaffir, hegar, cane, and corn are the principal crops grown. No cotton is planted.

Didja ever have a good summer vacation and then have to start back to school feeling like you would just get out of it? Didja, huh?

The Round-up

Just glimpses: Twelve sparrows en- thusiastically taking a bath in the bar pit filled by most welcome rains. Joe Breed putting furniture in a truck prepared to moving to a new place of residence.

What is a man's face value? My way of looking at it, a man's face is his face value, and a smile is what makes it sell "above par".

And she is so modest that she has only been kissed by two parties—the Republican and the Democratic.

Old Battleaxe had a very pleas- ant visitor last week in the person of Mrs. L. C. Wheeler. Mrs. Wheel- er says that if there ever was any- thing that O. B. needed to talk about and fuss about and rave about and stomp about, it is that road that leads to Petersburg and the one that leads to Ralls. She says that the worst part of the whole road was the part that you strike just as you come into town. After Mrs. Wheeler came in to see me, I just decided that I would go out and see this so-called "rough- est spot on earth" for myself. Sun- day afternoon I drove out that way, and honest to goodness, folks, I bit my tongue in three places, broke four spring leaves in old Betsy Ann, and dern near broke my neck and all ten commandments. But just depend on Floyd County, folks. When worse roads are built, Floyd- ada will do her best to beat 'em. Even our best friends tell us so, and four out of five do. There's no use to guard the danger line now, cause it's too late already to avoid that future shadow of criticism that we seem to be getting.

Really, folks, I'm honest when I say that it's plumb pitiful how tough our roads get out here in Floyd County. The county has the money to improve them, so why in the heck don't they do it?

Here's the hottest one yet: The Hesperian received an envelop this week addressed to "Floydada, Texas." Wonder where they get that. This town is not at all interested in "Flying" or they would build an airport, and Lord knows, this is anything but a dale.

Haltosis is shore dumb. Last week I asked her if she had seen one of our older girl's new fiance and she replied that it hadn't been in the wash yet.

Harmony News (By Mrs. Zant Scott) Harmony, Sept. 9.—The "Edna Ramsey" Sunday School Class en- joyed an outing at Roaring Springs last Thursday night. The crowd of girls left here Thursday afternoon and came back Friday morning. Those who went were Mrs. G. L. Snodgrass chaperon, Misses Lu- cille Smith, Effie and Rubye Brooks, Evelyn Linton, and Opal Hampton, Mrs. Everett Miller and Mrs. Zant Scott.

Price Scott, of Floydada, visited his mother, Mrs. D. T. Scott Sun- day. Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Ramsey and son, Ray, returned home Tues- day from Nebraska, where they have spent ten days. Miss Blanche Ram- sey accompanied them to Nebraska and remained to make her home

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian pub- lished in Floydada fourteen years ago.

A. V. Harris, of Allmon, former Bell County citizen, was among the Saturday visitors in Floydada. While here he made mention of their district's new fine school building. He also reports the health of the community good, among the exceptions being Mrs. G. W. de Cor- dova, who is suffering with rheu- matism. As indicating the great progress of Allmon, he mentioned the new barn just built on the Albert Krause farm, which cost $1600, is 32x56 feet and floored with concrete throughout.

Dr. I. W. Hicks spent last Friday and Saturday in Plainview where he attended a meeting of the West Texas Dental Society.

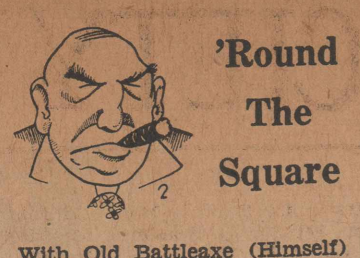

The Epworth Class of the M. E. Sunday School delightfully enter- tained the Over-Comers Class with a six o'clock dinner at the home of Rev. Lane Wednesday evening, en- joying a two course dinner. The guests were: Leland Dawson, Bail- ey Finger, Roy Snodgrass, Raeburn Thompson, Levi Lewis, Oliver Al- len, Garland McCoy, Will Dixon, Glenn Flynn, Clarence Snodgrass, Rainey Yearwood, Hubert Seale, Aryl Martin, Boone Hall, Misses Gladys Felton, Oda Felton, Marie and Bernice Henry, Bernice Niel, Ethie Thagard, Willie Slaughter, Bessie Thompson, Hester Wagner, Florence Wagner, Lonie Steen, Wanda Armstrong, Velma Moore, Louise Colville, Esther Rogers, Vel- ma Rogers, Mary Dee Allen, Ruth Brown and Myrtle Thompson.

Contemporary Thought

REAL PROFITS AHEAD Plainview Evening News-Herald: Although the commercial air trans- port companies are still, for the most part, operating "in the red," that is no sign that they will not ulti- mately make a great deal of money. An article by Earl Reeves in the current issue of World's Work points out that any new form of transpor- tation has to operate at a loss at the beginning. The railroads in this country, he says, started in 1828, but they were a full quarter of a century old before they were mak- ing profits.

Aviation probably will not have to wait that long. Last year the com- mercial transport lines carried 150- 000 passengers on regular schedules. Some lines already are making money; and as new economies come into use there is little doubt that the aerial passenger plane will prove a real money maker.

Never discuss a child's eating habits with others in his presence.

With Old Battleaxe (Himself)

Hot dog, hot dog. Old Battleaxe is just thrilled to a peanut this week. I've been out and looked over our prospects for a football team this year, and I am predicting that we are going to have a jam- up good team. Understand, when I say a good team, I don't mean one that will win every game they play this season. No siree! I mean one that is going to win lots of their games this season, and one that will play a type of ball that Floyd- ada can be proud of, even when they lose.

But I don't figure that the Whirl- winds are going to lose many games this year. They've got lots of live- wire prospects, but most of 'em are raw material—boys who have play- ed very little football. But Coach Barksdale is just the man to whip them into shape. He knows his stuff and he knows just how to make the boys know that he knows it and in turn, make them know it themselves. Now, if you can figure out what I mean, you are better than I am. But the idea I am try- ing to get over is just this: Floyd- ada has got a good coach and a good and hard working team and they will deserve the backing of every citizen of this surrounding section. Many of the business men are already showing their interest by watching their first practices and work-outs and just this is quite a little encouragement to the boys.

And night football! Say, what are we going to have next? Floyd- ada plays Plainview on the twentieth of this month in the first high school night game ever played in the panhandle. I guess now that instead of holding bonfires and pep rallies at night, it will be proper to have a sunrise breakfast and pep rally.

One of the members of the new Green Pepper Pep Squad was out the other day watching a scrimmage game. After seeing the boys go in- to a huddle out on the field sever- al times, she was heard to remark: "They're at it again! I do hope that Bill won't repeat that story I told him last night."

Which reminds me of the very modest young dumb thing who started into the high school this week. She is honestly so dumb that she thinks Rudy Vallee is a place be- tween two hills.

And she is so modest that she has only been kissed by two parties—the Republican and the Democratic.

Old Battleaxe had a very pleas- ant visitor last week in the person of Mrs. L. C. Wheeler. Mrs. Wheel- er says that if there ever was any- thing that O. Army' Out For On F. H. S. Team

Barksdale Continues to Fundamentals on Big Squad.

The opening of school Monday a new impetus was expected of the Floydada Whirlwinds to put a real foot-hold on the gridiron this season. Approximately fifty men have for training and Coach L. Barksdale has been putting his "army" of aspirants through the drills daily. Coach has been stressing fundamentals again this week. He has the boys passing, charging and going through a blocking program. Davis To Assist Barksdale and O. K. Davis, assist in coaching the team, and officials at Lubbock. A meeting Saturday of the South Plains Football Association was held at the meeting. Reeves of Lubbock acted as secretary-treasurer of the organization which will assist in the correct running of the league rules. Officials association will in the fall be a branch of the South Plains Conference Officials Association which Joe Utay of Dallas is president.

Plans Second Team Coach Barksdale stated this week he would arrange games for a second team that will be under the direction of Mr. Davis. He also stated that he would carry two full teams to every contest. "I am not going to cut out a single man who is out for the squad if I can get them for them all. I am going to put them all out fighting for the first string," Coach Barksdale said.

Games of all the teams in the sub-division of the district are not present at the Lubbock meeting and Coach Barksdale stated that he was unable on that date to complete his schedule but he has the case he can get it just as soon as he can get with the other coaches. His successful, however, in winning enough games to insure an interesting array of games that will become even more upon completion at an early date.

Scheduled games for the Green White gridsters are as follows: Plainview Bulldogs at Plainview, Saturday night, September 10. Lubbock during Fair, October 2. Pampa, October 10. Amarillo, October 17. Paducah at Paducah, October 17. Longhorns at Lockney, November 11. Jackrabbits at Floydada, November 21. Tigers at Floydada, November 27 (tentative). Dates on the Whirlwinds are as follows: September 31, and November 7. Games are under way for game at Paducah, Silvertown and Matachese dates.

KONJOLA SHOWS WHAT IT CAN ACCOMPLISH

Ill-fated San Antonio Man Eager In His Praise Of New Medicine.

MR. CHARLES OLIPHANT
"I am glad to endorse Konjola to any who suffer as I did," said Mr. Charles Oliphant, well-known San Antonio railroad man, 423 Lamar Street, San Antonio. "About a year ago I suffered a breaking out on my skin. Little patches of pimples appeared and were called water-blisters. They itched and burned severely, and though I tried many remedies I gained only temporary relief. From Konjola, I gained what I consider miraculous results. The breaking out disappeared within a few weeks after I began taking Konjola. I had kidney trouble but now the pains in my back and the swelling under my eyes have disappeared also. I feel better in every way and have gained weight. I think Konjola is a very fine medicine."

Konjola is recommended over a six to eight weeks period and is designed to relieve ailments of the liver, kidneys and bowels, rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness in Floydada at and by all the drug stores through-determining the winner of the sub-division will include games with Lockney, Paducah, Quitaque, Roaring Springs and Silvertown. Matachese is in this sub-division of District 2, Class B schools, but has announced that they will not be a member of the league this year.

Five official games must be played in each sub-division if possible, the rules provide, Coach Barksdale stated. Provided the Whirlwinds play all the teams in their sub-division they may meet any other team at any time without affecting their league standing.

Over The Gridiron

Forty-six candidates, seven of them letter men, are seeking places on the 1930 Slaton High Tiger football team, according to Coach Paul W. Wright, who began last week the initial grid work of the season with his charges.

The seven veterans are: Woodson Armes, captain; Ardie Nowell, D. Cannon, Frank Johnson, Jimmy Savage, Randolph Hodge and Jim Smith.

With much new material to select from, Coach Wright is hopeful as to prospects for the team this season, he said.

Coach Wright has announced that the Tigers will meet Spur at Spur on Oct. 25, Lamesa at Lamesa on Nov. 11, and a game will be played at Plainview or Portales, N. M., on Oct. 3 at the Lubbock Fair. Definite decision as to which of these teams will meet the Tigers at that time had not been made. Other dates on the Tiger schedule are yet unfilled.

Slaton is in District Two, Class B, and the district has been divided into four sections for preliminary play this season. Slaton is in the southwest corner of the district, along with Lamesa, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Brownfield, Wilson and Meadow. Coach Wright said—Slaton Slatonite.

PAMPA DEFEATS SPUR

Mrs. Cummings and the new member of the family are in a Bloomington hospital, the husband and father leaving them to come on to Floydada last week-end. He assumed his duties in Floydada High School as principal Monday morning.

HORSE DIES SUDDENLY

An unusual death of a dumb animal was recorded on the farm of Earl Rainer one day last week, when one of the best horses on the farm, seen grazing shortly before noon, was found dead in a few minutes after the noon meal. The horse was grazing with other animals on the place when last seen. Shortly thereafter he was found dead, apparently the victim of some sort of sudden ailment.

The first bale of the 1930 crop to be received in Petersburg was raised by William H. Johnson. It was received in Petersburg Wednesday of last week and ginned by the Newton Gin on Thursday morning. The bale sold at 9 cents and a premium was made up by the Chamber of Commerce.

He has moved to Petersburg with his family and is residing temporarily at a house owned by H. H. Robertson, while the parsonage is being put in a desirable condition to be occupied.

THE GRACEFUL TRIBUTE

The years can never dim the memory of the departed—those parents of ours who during life's battle provided us with everything within their power to give—as an everlasting tribute we should remember them with something that can never be surpassed. Sunday School Lesson

RESPONSIBILITY

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for September 14, Responsibility of the Individual. Jer. 1:4-10; 31:27-34.

From one of the so-called minor prophets, Amos, as we have seen, a man great in character and service, we turn now to a major prophet, Jeremiah, sometimes noted for the dolefulness of his message, but more noted for the courage with which he refused to use honeyed words in a tragic time and for the pointedness of his rebuke to his age, and the clearness of his message concerning the way of life and hope.

The core of Jeremiah's message is in his emphasis upon individual responsibility. It begins with himself. He is conscious of a call of God that came in the very purpose of his life. He has the assurance that he was sanctified even before birth and that he has been called as a prophet. In spite of this call he feels his weakness, and he assures the Lord that he knows not how to speak. But with all his hesitancy he heeds the call and goes to do and say the thing given him. It is a great picture of a man with a consciousness of a mission and with the determination to fulfill that mission even though he feels so little qualified for it.

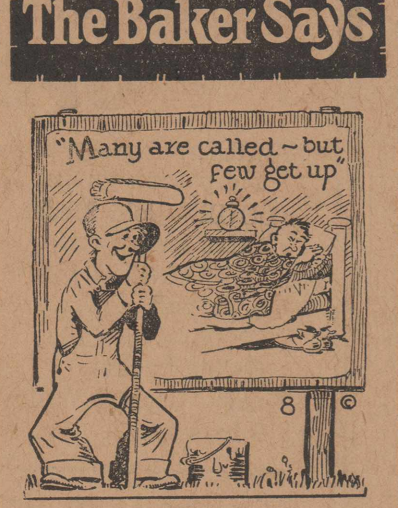

Individual Responsibility
So he comes forward, daring to speak in the name of the Lord. He speaks to those who were hiding behind the law of heredity, and he reminds them that they are responsible for their own iniquity, and that it is possible for them to make a covenant with God as directly and powerfully as any that their fathers had made. He turns the mind of the people from the outward aspect of religion to its inward aspect. The law of God is in the inward parts, and it is written in the hearts of men.

Here we see Jeremiah striking a note very similar to that of Amos.

Religion does not consist of form and observance; it has a deeper reality. It is an ideal picture that Jeremiah draws of a people with that law in their hearts determining their obedience to everything good. In the ideal kingdom that he thinks of, he pictures a time when every individual will have his part in the true society, when none shall say to his brother "know the Lord," for all shall know him from the least unto the greatest.

It is not quite easy to grasp the significance of the work of these prophets. We read so much of the ideas and impression of a later day into a record, and we fail to see the extent to which the prophet was a man far ahead of his time, with strong individuality and with magnificent daring, expressing to the world the vision of his own soul in love and in righteousness.

The prophets of Israel stand as sublime figures in the records of history as unique in relation to their age, as great artists or authors whose personalities have become supreme above their environment.

The deepest message that these prophets themselves would have enforced is that prophecy was not limited to themselves, or to any particular time or place. Prophecy is not so much foretelling as forth-telling.

The prophet was, and is, the preacher. Sometimes he is a priest ordained to a particular calling and service. Sometimes he is a farmer, or a herdsman, or a man of position and power—but always, he is priest or layman, the distinctive thing about the prophet is his character and his message.

The prophet is the seer—looking into the heart of truth and into the heart of reality, and applying the truth fearlessly to the conditions and problems of his age.

Macyl Burke Writes Graphic Account Of Trip To France

Former Floydada Boy Tells Of Experiences

Mansions And Gardens of Napoleon And Josephine Described In Article.

(This is the sixth of a series of exclusive articles written for The Hesperian by Macyl Burke, former Floydada boy, who made a trip to points of interest this summer in France.)

By Macyl Burke
Every time that we got tired of Paris we would take a tour to one of the points of interest outside the city. The most interesting of which was Versailles. On the way to Versailles we stopped and went through Malmaison, the famous chateau built for Josephine Bonaparte in 1798. Malmaison is a featureless building, unimportant artistically and architecturally but it is of great historical interest.

Malmaison in France means "sickness." It is called this for it was formerly a house for lepers. Josephine liked the location and had it fitted up for her own house. At the height of her power the Empress held a literary and artistic salon there. After her divorce, she retired there and devoted herself to gardening. Her gardens originally covered 500 acres but now only 15 acres remain. The few acres have been well kept and are planted with the varieties of roses that were grown by Josephine.

Visit Historical Rooms
Our guide took us first to the second floor (French and English call the first floor the ground floor, the second floor the first floor etc.) The first room that we went into was devoted to the history of Malmaison. The next room had letters and souvenirs of the King of Rome, his terrestrial globe and dresses worn by Josephine. The bedroom of Queen Hortense was also on this floor.

On the first floor we saw an exhibition of wall papers of the Revolution and Empire. The First Consul's room is a reconstruction of Napoleon's bedroom at the Tuileries with the original furniture and hangings. There was also a very good portrait by Isabey. The old French beds are funny—they are only about five feet long. They put lots of pillows at the head and slept in a half-sitting and half reclining position. They make the beds full length now but still put all of the pillows on them.

The next room contains Napoleon's camp bed from St. Helena and his death mask moulded by Antemarchi, his Corsican doctor.

There was one room taken up with gifts to both Napoleon and Josephine. The most elaborate was a table set, punch bowls and cups, fruit dishes, vases, plates, and platters of all sizes and they were all solid silver, gold plated—there must have been a ton of it.

Miniatures Most Beautiful
And you must remember that they did not do plating then like they do now. They couldn't electroplate so they hammered the gold into the silver thereby taking about four times as much of it. This elaborate gift was from the City of Paris. There are several swords engraved with all the battles and generals' names that were under Napoleon. The most beautiful, though, I thought, was a table that had miniatures of all of Napoleon's generals around the edge and Napoleon's picture in the center.

It was done by the miniature painter in France and as usual I have forgotten his name. I can always remember things that doesn't amount to much.

The Council Chamber is an odd room. The decorator had to do it on very short notice so he fixed it up like the interior of one of Napoleon's tents. We saw a set of dishes from which Napoleon's boy was fed. They couldn't get him to eat so they had pictures of animals painted on the plates, and in order to see the rabbits, dogs, etc., the youngster had to eat the food. Napoleon must have been a pretty smart fellow.

We made our exit from the house through the garden and went to the stables. Here we saw the "Opal," the state carriage in which Josephine drove to Malmaison after her divorce, and a gala coach used by Napoleon. They were both very elaborate, carved, gilded, upholstered, and decorated in the very best manner.

This is the most interesting exhibit we have seen outside of the Louvre.
(Next week Macyl tells of a visit to Versailles and to the palace of Louis XIII).

Dairy Show At State Fair In New Building

Preparatory to holding the biggest dairy show ever held in the South, the new Dairy Building at the State Fair of Texas, which will be the central unit of the third annual Southwest Dairy Show, is rapidly nearing completion. It has been announced here by Frank A. Briggs, president of the Southwest Dairy Show Association.

The building will house all of the exhibits of creamery and milk products, milk supplies, dairy equipment and feed exhibits. It will be 135 feet wide and 145 feet deep, and is being erected close to the Livestock Arena.

The Third Annual Southwest Dairy Show will be augmented this year by the Annual Regional Show of the American Jersey Cattle Club. Prize Jersey herds from eleven Southern States will be on exhibit at the State Fair of Texas during Dairy Cattle Week, Oct. 19 to 26.

MANY SPECIES OF WOOD FOUND AT LINGUIST FALLS

An interesting discovery made by Boy Scouts of Floydada Troops, who made a two-day stay at Linguist Falls in August, is the fact that a wide variety of wood grows in that vicinity. The discovery was made in the course of the pursuit of scouting activities in charge of local Scoutmaster W. A. Gound.

The boys were sent out in patrols of four with instructions to bring back with them as many species of wood as they could discover. Upon examination of the finds made by the boys, after the specimens of wood were laid out in lots, it was found that one had returned with a total of 10 six different kinds of tree growth, and that the least number of species or varieties of timber found by any patrol was slightly less than thirty. The patrols were gone on their timber hunt thirty minutes each.

Scoutmaster Gound was accompanied on the trip to Linguist Falls by eighteen of the Boy Scouts of Floydada.

Laurin Guimarin and son, Spencer, of Portales, N. M., spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Guimarin, and other relatives. Mr. Guimarin, accompanied by J. G. Wood, returned home Monday.

Farmers In Floydada Trade Territory Realize $27,000 From Produce

Butter, Eggs, Butter Fat, Poultry Included In Check

Figures Compiled for July and August, 'Quiet' Period of Year Show Conclusive Proof of Value of Cow and Hen on Progressive Farms of Floyd County.

Revenue exceeding $27,000 has been realized by Floyd County farmers in the Floydada trade territory from poultry, eggs, butter, and butter fat during July and August alone, the two months representing the acknowledged low-production and weak-market period of the entire year, an official check of the twelve farm produce handling stations here discloses.

The check made Friday gives conclusive proof of the value and productivity of the cow and the hen. The figures, which of necessity are approximate, were in every instance conservatively made by the respective dealers furnishing the information.

Totals compiled show that $14,247.75 was realized from the sale of butter fat; poultry sales and exchanges totalled $27,488.60; eggs were third in furnishing revenue of $4,545.90, and butter netted the producers $727.20 during the two months.

Average Price Used
In each instance an average price was used in arriving at the tests. For the butter fat an average of 30 cents per pound was used; for the butter 40 cents per pound was considered a conservative average; for the chickens, 15 cents per pound, and for the eggs, 15 cents per dozen was the basis for figuring the income to the farmers.

The survey reveals that 30,306 dozens of eggs were marketed, or 1,010 cases, representing an income to the poultry raisers of some $4,545.90. There were 1,818 pounds of good country butter brought to the Floydada market.

Especially are the figures gratifying when it is pointed out that the income from these farm products at this particular time of the year tends to stabilize conditions that otherwise could have become acute and in some instances serious. It is pointed out that the $27,000 represents a stabilization fund that has served to keep Floyd County in the foremost rank among the counties on the plains.

Other Income Nil
During July and August, the wheat harvest has been completed and the cotton picking has not been started and the income on the farm is at a standstill unless foresight has been used and production arranged for in the form of eggs, butter, chickens, butter fat, or hogs. Considering the fact that the two-month period considered in the survey last week represents the absolute minimum of the entire year, the total income of $27,000 is nothing short of amazing to the casual observer who does not take time to study the situation and is always a little too ready to begin hollering about "hard times."

Out on Floyd County farms the clack of the hen and the "moo" of the cow represent "good times" and the more of that kind of noise that is being made the more pronounced the spirit of optimism on the respective progressive farms.

During preceding months the market was higher and during the ensuing months poultry, butter, and other farm produce markets are due to make advances and likewise the production will increase as it has always done during the fall season. Should a survey be taken at a later date, a decided increase over the $27,000 total would be shown.

Possibilities Become Realities
Enterprises once thought of as "pin money" propositions under the supervision of only the housewife have grown into real industries and the cow, the sow, and the hen, once spoken of as "projects" and "needed items" are at last conclusively proving their value as realities.

Registered dairy cows and hogs, the best variety of poultry, hens, and turkeys and a new interest in developing high grade stock are responsible for the dawn of a new era in Floyd County that is limitless in its scope of development and prosperity if recognized and encouraged.

As a means of encouraging the farmers in the continuance of their wise practices in Floyd County in giving more attention to diversification in crops, livestock, and poultry this survey has been carefully compiled in order that they may realize just how financially effective their enterprises are proving.

TINY RADIO IS DISPLAYED BY LOCAL PHILCO DEALER

One of the newest additions to the radio industry is now on display at F. C. Harmon's, it was announced Saturday.

The new model is a small set, only 17 1/2 inches high and 16 inches at the base, housing a seven-tube screen grid Philco receiver and a new electro-dynamic speaker.

Designed to meet the demand for the conservation of space found in the modern American home, the Philco Baby Grand fills the needs of the average family, Mr. Harmon pointed out.

"Space is at a premium today," he said. "Most families would like to have two sets in their home but often there is little room for another full-sized set. The Baby Grand is designed to meet this need."

Will Simpson, of Plainview, was a business visitor in Floydada Saturday.

Half-Minute Interviews

Will Simpson, Plainview: "If I were going to go back into the farming business anywhere in the world I know about, I'd just as soon take my chances right on my Floyd County farm as any place I know."

A. D. Cummings: "In Southern Indiana the farmers are hauling cream to town and hauling back water in the emptied cans for their domestic use and live stock. If they don't get some rain in that country the Mississippi River in that section is going to go dry."

SHERMAN SENATOR MAKES VISIT HERE WHILE ON TOUR WEST TEXAS CITIES

Ed Westbrook, senator from Grayson and Collins Counties for the past several sessions of the state legislature, will possibly move to some west Texas point soon. He intimated as much to a reporter for The Hesperian last week-end while in Floydada prospecting and visiting with his cousin, W. H. Bethel. Numerous points south and west were visited by the northern Texas legislator during his sojourn in this section. His journey took him as far west as Ft. Stockton.

Senator Westbrook had the pleasure of naming one of the new Texas Counties. When Hudspeth County was created Mr. Westbrook made the motion, which was adopted, naming the county Hudspeth. When the bill to create the county was introduced the name was Turney, so intended to be named as a compliment to a friend of Senator Hudspeth. The motion to amend the bill, changing the name, was adopted.

Senator Westbrook is a former newspaper publisher. He is at present engaged in the practice of law.

Dizzy Spells

Mrs. Cora Moshier, of 601 North New Orleans Ave., Brinkley, Ark., writes: "I was so constipated until I was just sick. I could not stand to take strong medicine, so I decided I would take Black-Draught, and I found it to be all right.

"I would have such dizzy spells, and such bursting headaches, until I could hardly go. But after taking a few doses of Black-Draught I would feel just fine. It is a good medicine, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did. It is very easy to recommend a medicine that has done as much for me as Black-Draught has done."

Mer Business' Is Proposed Talk Topic

Better merchandising, the adoption of latter-day methods and policies taking up the slack in business management will be the theme of an address by Alfonso Johnson, director of the Trades Extension Department of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, if he carries out his proposed itinerary which includes a tour along with other Plains cities. The date for his free address has not been set.

Mr. Johnson has written the local Chamber of Commerce tendering his services without charge, proposing to assist local merchants by suggestions and also by merchandising points brought out in his lecture. His services are offered free with the compliments of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

A summary of Mr. Johnson's activities is made in a recent article in the Mineral Wells Index which follows in part:

"Mr. Johnson has had a wide and varied experience in merchandising and advertising. Starting as a clerk in a small town department store, he has recently served as personnel manager of one of Texas' largest stores and studied personnel work in some of New York City's largest mercantile establishments. He has studied advertising as a function of merchandising and has held positions of importance in the advertising field. He was business manager of the Japan Advertiser in Tokio, the largest American daily in the Far East, and for nearly five years was business editor for the Dallas News.

"Mr. Johnson served two terms as president of the Dallas Advertising League and was the first dean of the Advertising Institute in Dallas.

"As director of the Trade Extension Division of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, he is now serving the retailers of the Southwest in all questions concerning store layouts, turnovers, merchandising and personnel.

"In a capacity somewhat similar to his work for the Dallas wholesale merchants, Mr. Johnson served the Government as U. S. Trade Commissioner to Japan.

"Mr. Johnson has no sure-cures and no cure-alls for business ills but he preaches business fundamentals, advising quick turn-overs with a cleaning out of dead stock. He advocates doing away with all places in a store where merchandise can be hidden away. "Out of sight is out of mind."

He also believes that sales can be increased by better informed sales people. "Too little attention is given by the average merchant to the person who must sell the goods to the customer."

Legion To Show Safety First Film At Palace

"Look-Listen-Live," is the title of a picture that will be sponsored by the Floydada Post of the American Legion and shown by the Palace Theatre beginning Friday evening, September 12th, and until all the people of Floydada will have had opportunity to see it.

At the American Legion National Convention at San Antonio last year, safety was adopted as our means for the Legion to serve our country in time of peace as well as in emergency. It goes without saying the Legion is constantly on the alert for anything that they may do to render services to the American people.

This picture has been made by one of the largest picture producing firms of this country and with the assistance of safety experts to bring about as complete a caution lesson as can be put into a three minute film.

J. G. Deakins, manager of the Floydada Theatre is specially urging all people of Floydada to see this picture while it is being shown in Floydada.
