More Than 100 Make Loan Applications For Committee Here

Central Committee Finds Itself Swamped by Immensity of Job;

More than 100 applications for loans from the Drouth Relief Fund, recently made available by Congress, have been received and completed by the central committee operating in Floyd County, and forwarded to the St. Louis office for approval, W. Ed Brown, chairman of this committee, said yesterday, and it is possible the first returns will be received by the end of this week, it is thought.

The committees here and over the county, including the committee at Lockney, have been swamped by the huge amount of work involved and the number of inquiries and applications made. An immense a-mount of clerical work has also been

Ground Hog Sees Shadow, Digs In For More Winter

Well, you can save your long undies because the famous Ground Hog came out of winter hibernation Monday, February 2, according to custom, fashion and tradition and promptly espied his shadow. Which means, those who are inclined to follow the age-old prediction tell us, that winter will hold forth for six more weeks.

Peach tree and plum tree buds should take warning and keep their skins on and not burst forth with their glory in response to the balmy days of the past two weeks.

Anyway, the ground hog came, and saw, and went back in his hole—and now we come, and look, and crawl back into the long flannels. Mebbe the hog was wrong. Mebbe.

Painful Condition

WHEN I was just a girl at home," writes Mrs. B. F. Riggan, of Baird, Texas, "I took Cardui for cramping and pains in my side and back, and it helped me at that time.

"After I was married, I found myself in a weak, run-down condition. I suffered a great deal with my back, which was so weak it hurt me to get up or when I would stand on my teet. I fell off in weight.

"A friend of mine, seeing how bad I felt, advised me to take Cardui, which I did. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in a long time."

It is a 36-32 calibre and has a box magazine for five shots in addition to the shot in the barrel. It has a raised sight for a distance of 2,000 yards and from the looks of the critter it will shoot every bit of that far.

Now for the knives-there's a variety of them, too. Leading the list in size and attention-getting is a Bolo knife from the Philippine Islands. The man-carver weighs one leather scabbard weighs one pound. There is a leather loop on the case for wearing on a heavy belt. The heavy steel blade is curved like a meat cleaver (which it is) and rounded at one end. The back edge is % of an inch in thickness and the cutting edge is plenty sharp. Finger grips on the wooden handle tacilitate its "operator" in getting a firm grip on the deadly weapon and a brass guard protects the hand. Your friends dare not say so but The handle is five and one-fourth your sore gums and foul breath inches in length, the blade twelve, making a total of 171/4 inches worst cases if used as directed It is stamped on the blade with the date gans in hand-to-hand fighting with U. S. marines recently. Can You Qualify It?

About the oddest number among the knives is a four-inch number that no one has ever been able to identify so far as its use is concerned. It might have been lost years ago by a Spaniard or some of the very early pioneers in this section. It was found by J. B. Roberts, a brother of Ben's, in 1915 in the Croten brakes east of Dickens City in Dickens County. The round handles are of iron, badly rusted, and once carried two blades. Threads in one end of the handle indicate that it might have been used to mount on the end of a spear handle of some kind of an extension. If you have time you might drop by Ben's Shoe Shop some day and see if you can figure out just what the thing might have been used for. There are two dirks, one with a folding blade with a spring release in the handle, both have genuine deer foot handles and guards at the hilts. The larger one has a 51/2 inch blade and the smaller a 31/4 inch

And, too, there is a trench knife with a 10-inch blade that was issued to U.S. soldiers during the World

Mounted on a board along with the pistol is a bullet mould that was in use before Civil War days. Made of iron, the mould has two holes for making pointed and round bullets. # A Message to the Women

WHO SHOULDER HOUSEKEEPING RESPONSIBILITIES

With the passing of time, the problem of housekeeping increases. There are more things to be accomplished. Turn to electricity for help. Its thousands of practical uses in the home have been created through necessity and each task that can be done by electricity lightens the burdens of housekeeping. It may be a toaster, a waffle iron, a heater for a room or a sewing machine, but remember, electrical current

Watch Belts, Collars This Spring

NEW STYLES PRODUCE INTERESTING EFFECTS IN JABOT, SLEEVE TREAT-MENTS—NEUTRAL SUITS RECOMMENDED FOR "SAFETY SAKE"

Keep an eye on spring styles these days, when you buy any of those winter bargains or remnants to make new frocks or ensembles.

Among the several general style trends that bear watching are the sleeves, jabot collars, and belted coats. The latter may be belted-Directoire style, Empire style, low waistline or intermediate. Just so you belt them.

There is always a divison of opin-ion this time of year whether it is better to buy the long coat or the suit for early spring wear.

I might say right here that if you can squeeze both into your budget, so much the better. They should go together. But on the other hand, it certainly is to be a suit spring. Just suit yourself whether you want a suit or not!

If you plan to make your own suit, you can do it more easily this year than ever before. The dress-maker style allows it. But clothes are so much cheaper now, ready made, that it's a good idea to buy a

A little suit that is likely to attract increasing attention is made of beige in a sea sand tone, of one of the new dull-surfaced woolens. It is trimmed with brown galiack, in novel manner, which consists of banding that begins at the top of the jabot of the coat, and winds around the neck, making a diagonal closing of the jacket, with the belt

Worn with a skirt of stitched and seamed gores, and a blouse of either the brown or the beige, it is a lovely costume for spring wear. Moreover, with its neutral tone, it goes perfectly with a topcoat of col-or, or a new blouse of plaid gingham, in beige, brown and orange

One Retailer To Another!

NINE GOOD POINTS

FOR ADVERTISING IN THE NEWSPAPERS!

A big retailer who has spent the greater part of his advertising appropriation in good newspaper copy gave nine points which had helped him to become a successful business man through advertising. The nine points:

- 1. I advertise regularly. Every issue of the paper takes my story to its readers.
- 2. I make every ad look mine. Years ago I adopted a distinctive style, and have stuck to it. I use plenty of white space. My ads are never hard to read.
- 3. I put into my newspaper advertising a definite proportion of my gross sales. I fix this at the beginning of the year. My rule is to make it three per cent of the previous year's gross, with more if special conditions justify it.
- 4. I brighten my ads with frequent illustrations, either humorous or practical. This costs me little, for I subscribe to an advertising cut service, and keep the cuts, as I buy them listed to use again some time.
- 5. I am careful never to over-promise. When I make claims I back them up with reasons. Then when I really have an unusual bargain, people believe me when I "whoop 'er up a little."
- 6. I THINK advertising all the time. I buy goods that will advertise well. Sometimes I buy goods just for their advertising value.
- 7. I get good display for my ads by seeing that the copy is in the newspaper office in plenty of time. I DO THIS BY HAVING A DEFINITE HOUR TO WRITE THE COPY.
- 8. Whenever possible, I carry the nationally advertised goods that are advertised in my own home paper. I feature them. Sometimes they give me a smaller margin than fly-by-night concerns, but I find that I sell faster and make more money in the end, besides pleasing more customers.
- 9. My sales people back up my advertising. They often help with suggestions for it, and I see to it that they always read it.—N. E. A. Bulletin.

Gas Leaks Are Expensive

About 15 per cent of the gas you buy is lost through small leaks in your house piping, according to government experts.

This waste, which is often the cause of high gas bills, may be prevented easily A leak that may appear trifling to you will, in the course of a year, increase your-kills considerably. A loss of only one cubic foot every 15 minutes will waste almost 3,000 cubic feet of gas in a

The waste of gas is considered so very important by the West Texas Gas Company that it spends a large sum annually in an effort to keep the leakage in distributing systems as low as possible.

HOW TO FIND LEAKS

On every domestic meter is a dial marked "One Foot" or "Two Feet." This is used for detecting leaks.

Turn off all the fires in your house and note the position of the hand on the small dial of your meter. Then look at it a little while later. If the hand has moved, there is a leak—for the meter will not work unless gas is going through it.

To find just where the leak is located, cover each joint with strong soap suds. If the gas is escaping, it will bubble through the suds. If you then do not know how to fix the leak, call a plumber
