Plant Blast Injures 23

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) - A fiery explosion ripped through a chemical plant today, injuring at least 23 workers and leaving several unaccounted for, authorities said.

Shock waves from the blast were felt 20 miles away.

Assistant Fire Chief Arthur George said two workers were believed to have died in the explosion at the De Soto Inc. plant. He said several more were unac-

"The place is absolutely a shambles," said one worker at the plant. Debris littered a nearby roadway and at least one home across the street from the plant was completely blackened with debris.

The force of the blast threw debris 300 to 400 feet, caused extensive damage to the nearby main building and blew out windows of homes near the plant. It also buckled the steel door of an adjacent factory, blew out lights and windows up its attacks on Poland's independent labor movement. The Soviet weekly Literary Gazette accused Solidarity leaders of engaging in a "fierce political struggle masked by the pseudo-economic camouflage of strikes.

Plotters disguised as trade union leaders are striving, taking the bit between their teeth, for political power," the newspaper said.

Walesa, head of independent trade union Solidarity, called the Supreme Court decision Tuesday a "draw," and when asked by some of the 5,000 farmers outside the court if they should register as an association, he shouted, "Of

The Supreme Court said under Polish law a trade union can be formed only by employees of an organization, and that since most Polish farmers own the land they work, they cannot be considered

However, in an attempt at compromise, the court recommended they form an association. The government's Ministry of Agriculture has been urging for months that the farmers do this, but they claimed such an organization would lack the status and rights of a union. Polish farmers are represented officially by the United Peasants' Party, which has 500,000 members. Rural Solidarity claims between 600,000 and 1 million members. There are some 3.5 million private farmers in Poland who own approximately 75 percent of the nation's farm land and produce about 80 percent

Rural Solidarity has been campaigning for months to have an independent union, but the communist regime opposed the idea. It argues that with food in short supply, the nation cannot afford turmoil in the agricultural sector

Immigration officials say those bused back to the border "volunteer" to return - as opposed to the few who elect to stay and wait - in jail - for a deportation hearing.

Charles Elmore, a Border Patrol intelligence officer based in Marfa, said there is rarely any hostility between the illegal aliens and the officers who arrest

A pillar of flame shot up the side of the 2,783-room hotel, the nation's largest, as hundreds of guests fled into the streets or scrambled to the roof where helicopters plucked them to safety.

When we got outside, there were flames shooting up the side of the hotel. It looked like the 'Towering Inferno," said Hank Arkin, a guest from Merrick, Fire Chief Roy Parrish said two men were being questioned about the blazes, which followed by less than three months a fire at the MGM Grand Hotel the killed 84 people and injured more than 700.

However, Clark County homicide Detective Michael Brady said "nobody is in custody for arson." He said six people were questioned about possible looting, but they were later released.

Security guards were posted at all entrances and in the casino area today, while guests returned to the hotel in an effort to retrieve belongings. Manager Art Donovan said he had 'no idea" when the hotel would reopen. The first-floor casino was not damaged. Hotel officials said that unlike the in the southeast corner of the eighth floor. A pillar of flames quickly leapt from window to window up the side of the building spewing smoke over the nearby Las Vegas Strip.

Guests on upper floors broke windows to scream for help, or lowered themselves to the ground on ropes made of bedsheets. Stairwells to the ground floor were jammed.

One victim died in a fall onto an outside deck, Clark County Coroner Otto Ravenholt said. The others died of smoke inhalation, he said.

About 25 minutes after the first fire was found, a second blaze was discovered in a different wing. Two more were found within 20 more minutes, and a special weapons team was called to the scene when authorities suspected arsonists might be at work inside.

The bodies of three men were found in the eighth-floor elevator lobby and an elderly couple were found in their bathroom on the 10th floor. A woman died in her 21st-floor room, and a man found

University Avenue businessmen, now armed with a lawyer, will take their battle against parallel parking in a city plan to widen the avenue to the Lubbock City Council at its regular meeting Thursday.

Although the meeting is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m., the council has set 1:30 p.m. as the time it will consider the

The businessmen, who say parallel parking would cost them about 40 percent of their parking space, Tuesday night decided to hire lawyer Warren

Goss to present their case to the council. At a meeting with University Avenue opkeepers last Thursday Mayor Bill McAlister said citizens would have an opportunity to address the council before it

Two new groups have apparently joined with the merchants in opposing the street widening. Texas Tech University students are questioning the legality of the university's regents giving the city right-of-way and members of the Overton South Neighborhood Association oppose the plan because it has the potential of making 15th Street a major thoroughfare.

Under a plan already approved by the Texas Tech Regents, the avenue would have three northbound lanes and two southbound lanes from Fourth to 16th streets. Beyond 16th Street, University Avenue would have six lanes with three lanes going in both directions.

'Minnesota Fats' Files Suit

CHICAGO (AP) - "Minnesota Fats," the renowned billiards master, has filed a lawsuit seeking $1.5 million in damages from a Chicago-area company that allegedly failed to honor several business agreements.

The suit says "Fats" agreed to become president and chairman of the board of Minnesota Fats Enterprises Inc. a local billiard equipment company run by Michael and Merle Friedman of suburban Lincolnwood — in exchange for a salary, royalties from sales and design consultation

The suit contends the only compensation paid "Fats," whose real name is Rudolph Wanderone, was an annual salary of $50,000 and a new car each year between 1968 and 1972. Since then, he has received no remuneration, the suit

In addition to monetary damages, the lawsuit filed last week seeks the cancellation of a trademark on the name 'Minnesota Fats," issued to the Friedmans by the U.S. Pat-

The lawsuit contends "Fats" did not understand what he was doing when he signed the document registering the trademark. Attorney David Mattenson said his client "never went to school" and "he signs anything under the sun."

Palm Beach Outlaws Shirtless Jogging

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Any male over 14 who isn't within 150 feet of a beach had best keep his shirt on while in this exclusive island community.

The Palm Beach Town Council, declaring "there are no activities for which some dress above the waist is not required," passed on Tuesday a revised version of a law aimed at keeping residents from being offended by bare-chested men jogging.

The council voted unanimously to make it illegal for anyone 14 or older to be seen without a shirt except when near

A West Palm Beach lawyer who waged a successful court challenge to a similiar ordinance last fall says he may fight this one, too.

The new ordinance is "blatantly unconstitutional," said Allen DeWeese, an assistant public defender who got the old law thrown out after he was arrested for jogging without a shirt on a Palm Beach bicycle trail.

Council members said the ordinance was intended to uphold aesthetic standards on mansion-dotted Palm Beach, where some of the nation's wealthiest people spend the winter.

Councilman Robert Grace said that if the board didn't "fight for (a) principle it believes in, the town would be taking a step downhill."

We consider our town perhaps the most beautiful in the United States and I want to keep it that way." Grace said. "Personally, I have nothing against appearing topless, but I don't think it's appropriate to our town.' The new law, of course, also applies to women - who are not allowed to go topless on the beach, as men are, said

Harry Johnston, town attorney. Violators were subject to jail sentences under the old ordinance. The maximum penalty under the new law is a $500

With the exception of some superficial changes, the proposed ordinance is the same as the ordinance that was declared unconstitutional," DeWeese said. Passage of this ordinance in its present form would be a flagrant violation of the court ruling."

In throwing out the old ban, Palm Beach County Judge David Clark said it had "no relationship to the proper police power of the town.

Clark called the old ordinance too

"broad and all-encompassing" and said it appeared to be "a copy of Islamic law." which mandates full-length dress and veils for Moslem women.

Doctor Calls Suicide Disease Of Successful

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) - Suicides take the lives of thousands of Americans annually in their most productive years. Yet a psychiatrist says research in the field is limited by the stigma attached to Suicides take victims in their prime of life, while most heart attacks and terminal illnesses occur later in life," says Dr. Robert Cancro, chairman of the New

"Suicide carries one hell of a stigma," he said. "There's enormous pressure on medical examiners to call these deaths

Daily Apple Not Bad Idea

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I read your column on the lady who suffered from constipation for 10 years. What a pity there was no mention of eating apples to break the laxative habit. My experience has been to eat as many as needed of whole apples to keep in good condition. I will be 90 years of age soon and I need only a few apples that I enjoy to keep fit. It is important to eat the entire apple. Too many people peel the apple and throw the best part away. It is important to thoroughly cleanse the apple because of spray

DEAR READER - Thank you for your thoughtful comment. It is true that fresh fruit is often helpful in promoting good bowel function. Why? For one reason it contains bulk and, as I usually mention, it is important to colon function to include bulk in your diet. Studies have shown that cereal fiber is one of the more effective sources of bulk and that is why most people usually mention bran. Raw apples do contain a lot of bulk and that slows the absorption of the sugar in the apple to the point that the blood sugar doesn't even tend to rise after eating a raw apple. Many other fruits also contain bulk.

Now I can see that you are a firm believer in the old adage that an apple a day keeps the doctor away - and perhaps the idea that if a little is good, more is better. But I must say that not everyone with colon problems tolerates apples well. For some people they are gas formers. But so is bran. A person sometimes has to find out what works best for him or her as an individual.

A proper diet, adequate bulk and regular habits helps to relieve many of the bowel complaints that people have. These aspects are discusses in The Health Letter number 16-4. Spastic Colon, Irregularity and Constipation, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche Journal, P.O. DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you kindly explain what a Colles fracture of the wrist is? Will it affect the fingers and what are some of the after effects one can expect from this? I am 66 years old and fractured my wrist. The fingers seem very weak. Is there some therapy I can take to help the strength come back in my hand?

DEAR READER - A Colles fracture means a fracture of the distal end of the radius, the bone in the forearm that joins the hand region near the thumb. The tip (styloid process) of the ulnar bone (the other forearm bone) may also be broken. The displaced bone gives the wrist a typical 'silver fork" shape. It is named after the doctor who first described it in 1814. Abraham Colles.

The swelling during the acute injury can put pressure on the nerves that go through the wrist area (carpal tunnel) to the fingers. This may cause a variety of symptoms including tingling. But if you can move all your fingers and use your hand, you are doing well. Ask your doctor what exercises are best for you in view of your stage of recovery. But I should think you can expect good recovery in your

ff To A Walking Start

HERE WE ARE at the end of the beginning. The family photos and a jar of jelly-beans are in place in the Oval Office.

Inaugural festivities no longer are news and we should be hearing less of who is knocking them dead in what designer's gown and which are the really choice parties.

Most likely we will still be hearing now and then about progress in the redecorating of the White House as the Jackie Kennedy purists react in horror to Nancy Reagan's concepts of California classic.

On the plus side, there should be less and less need on the part of journalists to refer to the acting past for a spot of color in the copy as readers get in know him simply as President Reagan.

So now comes the big question: What next?

THERE WAS A great deal of post-election. and pre-inauguration talk about the new administration's intention to hit the ground in Washington running.

What it came down to appears at this very early date to have been a transition operation so massively unwieldy that its participants kept running into each other.

Like his predecessors, Mr. Reagan arrived in Washington short on programs ready to implement but long on intentions, some of them familiar.

For example, controlling federal spend-ing, shaping up the tax system, pruning the departmental jungle, liberating public and business from the regulators, reversing the flow of power and responsibilities from the states to Washington. -

But that is not necessarily a bad thing. Let it be remembered that Mr. Carter's trouble was not in how he started out but what came after, how he did or didn't meet the challenges that he either had not initially fully understood or could not have anticipated.

THERE HAS ALSO been some talk about the Reagan election being an event of similar but mirror importance to that of Franklin Roosevelt, epochal in its political implica-

But here, too, let it be remembered that the New Deal did not burst fully developed upon Washington and the nation on Inauguration Day in 1933. The famous first 100 days were a period of furious improvisation with many changes of approach but never of purpose; to devise the programs to which the problems of the nation would respond.

Under the circumstances, it's just as well that the new administration is not off to a running start. Problems always become more complicated when they are in your lap rather than on someone else's back. The administration and the nation are likely to be better served in the long run by a walk at a steady pace, with a sure sense of direction and a clearly comprehended purpose.

Johnny Can Not Write, Either

WASHINGTON-There was bad news and good news in last month's report on the Third National Writing Assessment-but much more bad than

Black youngsters appear to be slightly improving their writing skills. Nine-year-olds are doing better in some areas. Otherwise the findings are bleak. The hypothetical Johnny, who can't read, can't write either. The first national assessment of writing was undertaken in 1969, the second in 1974. This most recent assessment deals with a random sample of 9year-olds, 13-year-olds and 17-year-olds across the

The students were asked to write short essays of a descriptive, narrative or humorous nature, and papers then were analyzed by teams of English teachers who were "thoroughly trained in grammar, usage and firguistics."

THE RESULTS WERE generally depressing. Among the 17-year-olds, "there are some signs that the average quality of their writing is somewhat lower than it was.

The 13-year-olds "display a significant decline in descriptive writing." The 1979 papers, taken as a whole, suggest little change in quality since 1969, but that little change is for the worse.

If there are no signs of a major slide in writing performance, "neither are there any signs of improvement.

How is the picture to be explained? The authors of this report, for a pleasant novelty, do not pick on the demon television. They point instead to a widespread decline in instruction.

In 1974, 47 percent of the 17-year-olds reported that "little or no time" was spent on writing instruction in their English classes. That percentage dropped to 37 percent in 1979.

OVER A GIVEN six-week period, more than half of these senior high school students had written three or fewer papers in all their courses combined. Only one-fifth of them "usually" enjoy their writing assignments.

If the results are depressing, this report in itself is also depressing. Surely it is a reasonable assumption that the authors of this study themselves are "thoroughly trained in grammar, usage and linguistics."

If the authors' skill is typical of the teachers' skill, God help the little children.

For the authors of this lamentable work have problems of their own. They have contrived a clumsy verb, "to rank order," as in, the primary task of readers "is to rank order the papers."

It is unclear what the word "order" pro-

A "GOOD OLE BOY" system of gaining and retaining lifetime job security appears on the surface to be what the Texas Tech faculty is after.

If the university is ever to gain added stature and realize its potential, the emphasis must be, instead, on weeding out inferior faculty members and rewarding the better ones.

This requires a smaller percentage of tenured faculty, pay raises based on merit rather than across-the-board, and a meaningful periodic review of the performance of each faculty member who already has been granted tenure.

ONE MAN'S OPINION-

Rather than tighten up its standards, though, the faculty has approved policy changes which would make it more difficult to deny tenured status to young teachers after a too-short probation-

1F THE BOARD of Regents ill-advisedly goes along with the recommended policy, it will be abdicating its responsibilities and those of the administration to make certain the university doesn't become the private domain of the faculty with the taxpayer merely writing the blank check.

Promotion and tenure practices are too important to be left solely to those who are in a position to scratch one another's backs.

This attitude, we're well aware, is extremely unpopular with some segments of the academic community, particularly those who think that anyone who doesn't have a PhD. behind his name has neither the knowledge nor the right to question anything a faculty wants to do for itself.

This includes insisting that the faculty put performance first and that its participation in governance of the institution always be on the basis that power has been delegated to it and can be taken away if that power is abused.

Faculty members who are smart enough to teach are smart enough to exercise power and responsibility in that context.

The overlooked Americans are Lillian Carter. the mother of the former President, and her close friend, Winston Guest, of Palm Beach, Fla., a relative of the late British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and international traveler who has access to most of the leaders of the Western world.

The two teamed up to play a major role in influencing President Carter to freeze the Iranian assets in the U.S. and in American banks overseas. The frozen assets turned out to be the most powerful weapon that President Carter had in his successful negotiations to free the 52 American pris-

Worker Tends To Dwell In Past

FLINT, Mich. (UPI) - Bill Daniels, at 26, has a disturbing but understanda-ble tendency to dwell in the recent past.

"When you work for General Motors in this town, it's half your life," said the young man whose layoff contributed to the Flint area? 15. the Flint area's 15.2 percent unemployment, which leads the nation.

"I hired in at a time when things were great," he said, slouching in a chair in the living room of the modest frame house in the racially mixed Beecher community where he lives with his wife Ja-net and their two sons, 5 and 2. "We were working a lot of overtime."

Laid off more than a year ago, Daniels' unemployment benefits expired in

His family has $1,200 left to live on from a $4,000 Trade Adjustment Allowance, paid by the federal government to those who job losses are attributed to foreign imports.

"Now I just sit around the house," said Daniels. "I weighed 205 when I was laid off. Now I've gained 40 to 50 pounds because of inactivity. I go out in the garage and putter around but after you're rearranged things two or three times it gets to be old."

He played on a softball team last summer and now plays a little pickup basketball "to relieve the frustration.

Daniels worked for General Motors for 31/2 years, which was not enough to

"When you work for GM, seniority is everything," said Daniels, a third-generation auto worker.

"My dad's a foreman for GM," he said. "My grandfather worked for the company. Janet's dad worked 30 years for GM. The auto industry is Flint. There would be no Flint without it."

The Daniels have given little thought to relocating to find work.

"I just don't believe I could handle that," said Daniels. "We're a real close family. Where I live now is only a halfmile from where I was born. I had a cousin who went south to work. She didn't like it and came back."

Janet supports her husband's decision to remain in Flint and wait hopefully to be called back to work at the plant.

'We've never been away from here." she said.

"We've never known anything else," said Daniels.

So both he and his wife, who has worked as a switchboard operator and a billing clerk, are looking for jobs.

Nobody wants to hire you because they know you'll quit if the plant calls you back," sad Daniels.

"You could maybe get a job selling vacuum cleaners," he said. "Maybe I could became the school custodian. "I had it good there," he said. "You don't get laid off by the school district." But when he had an opportunity "to go into the shop," as they say in Flint, Daniels jumped at the chance because of "the money" and a good retirement plan won by the United Auto Workers.

"Now I don't even have money for a couple of beers," Daniels said. "If I drink a beer, somebody else buys it."

Looking at her husband sympathetically, Janet said, "He can't even join a friendly little poker game. You just can't when you don't know where the next dollar is coming from. We don't go out anymore. We don't go to movies.

"I hunt and fish some," said Daniels. "Fishing is something inexpensive we came do as a family," his, wife said.

Daniels has a lot of time to think and he believes he has figured out what went

"I'm not mad at the Japanese," he said. "Some of our people are careless. I've seen it in our shop. And our wages were a little ridiculous. I was making $10.70 an hour. Sure, I'd work for less to have a job but there are some guys who wouldn't. Look at Chrysler. Their company is going bankrupt. We've just got to make cars that will compete with the Japanese."

The experts say job loss puts severe stress and strains on marriages.

The worry is there but we have a good relationship," said Mrs. Daniels. We can talk it out. It was hard to get used to having him around 24 hours a

"I've read about the wife beating and all that, but being at home is not what bothers me," Daniels said. "It's what to do with myself. My buddies are working. People care, sure, but this is a GM town and the ones working have got their senjority and they don't really look out for

The Daniels pay $150 a month on their home mortgage, $50 a month on a loan that put in a new furnace and $115 a month "on a '79 Olds wagon I went out and bought 31/2 months before I got laid off," Daniels said. "I paid $8,000 for the wagon. I tried to sell it and was offered

Daniels has little hope that he will be called back to work.

"I think I'm more hopeful than he said Janet, holding 2-year-old Michael on her lap.

Mayor James Rutherford, in office for five years and a former police chief in this city of 160,000, said the nine General Motors plants in Genesee County employ 78,000 auto workers.

Layoffs are nothing new in Flint, scene of the 1936 sit-down strike which led to the complete unionization of the U.S. auto industry, but the 15.2 percent unemployment figure illustrrates a re-

Bill Hays, 40, president of UAW Local 581, displays a bluff heartiness but he is a deeply worried man. One out of five auto workers in Flint is out of work," he said in an interview in his office across Saginaw St. from the Fisher No. 1 plant, scene of the famed sit-down strike led by the late Walter Reuther and other labor stalwarts.

Hays said the union was working with management in an effort to place some workers in jobs in GM plants across the

"We are building better and safer cars now," he said. "You will see very few imports in the Fisher parking lot." Hays said GM can compete with Japanese imports and survive. "I don't want to work for a bankrupt corporation," he said. "I would not look forward to working for Chrysler. I know carpentry so I've got something to fall back on. A lot of these other guys don't."

Hays worked in car washes and gas stations before going into the shop.

"When I got married in the early '60s, thought it was hard to buy a house and keep groceries on the table clearing $100

Works To Cure Social Security Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. J.J. Pickle, a Texas congressman who rarely lets a speech go by without a folksy line or two, put the problems of the social security system into perspective in a recent appearance.

"Social security is in the grip of more problems and controversy today than a madam who had been elected deacon of her church," the Austin Democrat said at an American Association of Retired Persons conference

Pickle is the chairman of the House social security subcommittee, a part of the tax-writing House Ways and Means

He said crucial decisions facing the social security system were put off in 1980 because it was an election year.

'We've got to take basic, corrective action this year and, in my opinion, the sooner the better," Pickle said. "We knew that 1981 was a year of decision -'81 is here and we must act."

structure of the system itself.
"We know it has problems. The prob-lems can be managed if we work togeth-er," Pickle said. "Social security is not a corpse and its bones are not headed into the cemetery."

He said among the possible steps to take care of the large retirement fund when it runs out of cash next year would be making some changes in the cost-of-living formula and financing all or part of Medicare from general revenue funds.

"None of us are going to get every-thing our way," Pickle cautioned the AARP. "There's going to have to be some give and take."

Hightower Criticizes

A West Texas congressman tore into the Reagan administration's apparent in-decision on whether to lift the partial "I was very disappointed to learn that apparently a campaign commitment President Reagan made to American farmers to lift the ineffective grain embargo against the Soviet Union is, in effect, being overriden or at least post-poned by the State Department," Rep. Jack Hightower, a Vernon Democrat, said on the House floor. "For the last four years, a major voice in the creation of agricultural policy for this country has been the State Department, not the Agriculture Department."

Favors Housing Program

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, a San Anto-nio Democrat, called for Reagan to make sure a housing program continues de-spite reports of proposed budget cutbacks.

The Texas congressman, the new chairman of the House banking subcom-mittee on housing, said cutting the Ur-

"It is a simple, well-administered and highly successful federal grant program to our most distressed urban communities," Gonzalez said in a statement.

"To simply wipe it out at the com-mand of Office of Management and Budget Director David Stockman will, in my opinion, do serious damage to the credibility of President Reagan's commitments during his campaign to contin-ue a federal commitment to assist distressed urban areas," he said.

John Dalton of Dallas became the new president of the Texas State Society last week. The organization is open to any Texan exiled to Washington.

He succeeds Rep. Tom Loeffler, a

Farmers Slighted

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said farmers were slighted by the continuing grain embargo.

"I think they bear an unfair share of that because we have continued to carry on substantial trade," he said at a news conference for the Senate Export Caucus.

Auto Import Bill

Earlier in the week, Bentsen announced he was co-sponsoring a bill to limit Japanese auto imports.

He was asked if he owned an imported automobile.

"I bought one about five years ago," the senator replied at the news conference. "But when I get ready to trade it in, I'm going to buy American."

Bentsen said the car is a Mercedes.

Some Northerners Cannot Afford To Keep Warm

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Winter in New England: bulging wood piles, pungent wood smoke, thrifty Yankees snug by glowing wood fires. The stuff of a Norman Rockwell painting.

But in the cities — in tiny apartments and drafty old houses — old and poor Yankees are known to coax heat off kitchen stoves and ovens after fuel oil tanks in the basement run dry.

Record-breaking temperatures and the $1.20-a-gallon cost of fuel oil have made real what was only feared a few years ago — thousands of people cannot afford to stay warm

"It looks very bad this year. We have more people eligible for government help and more people signing up," Sister Betty Murtagh, a Catholic nun working for the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans, said with a sigh.

We worry about elderly people dying of hypothermia. We have people leaving stoves and ovens on. We've had fires be cause of it," she said

Police Worry About Young Shoplifter

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Police and grocery store officials say they can handle Shorty's shoplifting. But they're worried that the 4-year-old, who ran into trouble three times last week, will be hit by a car on his quarter-mile trek to his favorite market.

Shorty, so dubbed by police, was caught in the same grocery store again on Saturday — that time with his pockets saturday — that time with his pockets stuffed full of bubble gum.

"The first time I saw him was a week ago, Saturday," said Carrs grocery manager Gary Kunow. "He just walked into the store, grabbed a little toy car and walked out the door."

Five days later, Shorty came back for lip balm and a candy bar.

Kunow said each time, a store employee or a police officer led the tot home. On one occasion, police said, Shorty's mother refused to leave a bar.

"He was in the store at least two hours Saturday and nobody came to get him," Kunow said.

The boy just doesn't seem to be afraid of cars on the busy highway by the mar-ket, police said. They're worried Shorty may not make it across the busy four-lane highway next time.

"He's a cute little tyke, but he has no concept of cars," said police officer Carroll Grant. "Just because he's gotten-away with it four or five times doesn't mean he is always going to be that luck-

Children Steal Electricity

HARSENS ISLAND, Mich. (AP) -The lights are on again in the home of three children who stole electricity this winter from a 78-year-old neighbor, authorities say.

The state paid the overdue bills that caused Detroit Edison Co. to shut off electricity to the children's house. The children, who range from 10 to 17 years old, ran extension cords from an outdoor outlet at the home of Lucy Jean Titsworth, police said.

Mrs. Titsworth said she discovered the theft after a fuse blew and the resulting overload almost caused a fire. Clay Township police said they confiscated cords twice after Mrs. Titsworth com-

In some New England states, includ-ing Massachusetts and Rhode Island, natural gas and electric companies are pro-hibited by law from turning off the heat during winter months if users can't afford to pay. But fuel oil suppliers, whose product heats most New England homes, face no such restrictions.

"I expect I'll have my gas stove going for the rest of the winter," said Julia Thomas of Providence as she walked through the snow one morning to apply for government assistance.

Mrs. Thomas, 53, a single parent of two children, said her oil tank had been empty for a week. She stood in a crowd of people with similar stories to seek government help. "I keep the temperature at 60 degrees, but it's hard 'cause it's so

Items Camouflaged In Treasure Hunt

By SHARI LEWIS

Here's a mid-winter treasure hunt that'll be the hit of your party or club meeting. Now, you needn't worry about the things in your house being broken or messed up by the scavengers — the first rule of this game is that nothing is to be touched. Every one of the "tressures" is camouflaged but in full view! Nothing is hidden or Give each player a sheet of paper and a pencil. Start by reading off the list of objects to be found. The players write down the items as they are read out loud. Next. tell the players the amount of time they will have (say, a half-hour) to find the treasures.

Then the players walk around the room and really look, trying to locate the objects. As soon as one is spotted, that player runs to the leader and whispers where it was seen. If the player is right, the leader puts his or her initials next to that item on the player's list. The person who has the most initials at the end of the half-hour (or the one who locates all the items before "tirne" is called) is the win-

Children Important Life Goal

By PATRICIA McCORMACK United Press International Writer Raising a family rates as an important life goal for 63.1 percent of current college freshmen, according to a report on the 15th annual "American Freshman" survey conducted by the American Council on Education and the University of Southern California at Los Angel

Another goal receiving a high lifetime priority with the crowd entering college last September is "becoming an authority in my field." Seventy-three percent said so by checking that option on a list that was part of the survey taken by

The freshmen also gave their views on subjects ranging from the biggest domes-tic problem (80 percent said inflation) and sex (47.9 percent approve it if people like each other) to legalization of marijuana (39.3 percent said yes) and drafting women (53.7 percent said yes.).

Nearly 300,000 completed the questionnaire and were described as a sample of students at 540 two-year and four-year colleges and universities.

Of these, 187,124 questionnaires from 355 insitutions were used to compute national norms. Survey officals said these were adjusted to represent the nation's total of about 1.7 million full-time fresh-

On a catch-all list of statements about those and other matters students were asked to indicate that they "agree slightly or somewhat." That is how views were elicited.

Here is a sampling of what percentage agreed slightly or somewhat with the following statements on the survey ques-

-The government isn't protecting consumers, 75.2 percent; government not controlling pollution, 79.8 percent; too many rights for criminals, 65.9 percent; not obey laws against own views, 32.3 percent; should abolish death penalty, 32.3 percent.

-Need national health care plan, 58.1 percent; energy shortage cause depres-—Wealthy should pay more taxes, 70.3 percent; women abould get job equality, 93.3 percent; prohibit homosexual relations, 48.9 percent; students help evaluate faculty, 71.1 percent; regulate student publications, 41.2 percent; college has right to ban speaker, 26.1 percent.

Among their personal objectives, after giving high priorities to raising a family and becoming an authority in their fields, students considered the following also essential or very important:

—Being well off financially, 63.3 percent; helping others in difficulty, 64.7 percent; developing a philosophy of life, 50.4 percent; keeping up with political affairs, 40.0 percent; promoting racial understanding, 23.1 percent.

On career matters, the survey showed more young college women than ever are aiming for traditionally male careers. upong them, more than one in four, 27.2 ercent, is planning a career in business, agineering, law or medicine.

The trend was accompanied by changes in students' attitudes toward the role of women. For example, the notion that "women should receive the same salary and opportunities for advancement as men in comparable positions" is supported by more men and women than ever before — 93.3 percent, up from 81.3 percent a decade ago.

"These trends," said UCLA professor Alexander W. Astin, director of the sur-

Tax Forms Less Intimidating

NEW YORK (UPI) — According to the federal Commission on Paperwork, taxpayers spend 181 million hours each year completing their income tax forms. Most of that time is assumed to be spent in anguish.

President Reagan has proposed cutting personal income tax rates which should help reduce the anguish of diverting an ever-increasing cut of income to Washington D.C.

The Internal Revenue Service has been working to reduce the anguin wading through the myriad tax forms and confusing instructions on how to compute the amount that is to be divert-

Under a $1.2 million contract, a consortium of private tax, language, re-search and design firms has developed a new set of tax forms designed to be less initimidating in appearance, easier to un-derstand; simpler to fill out and less prone to computational errors.

In addition to simplifying the design, language and packaging of the existing forms, the consortium added an intermediate form for use by taxpayers who have outgrown the "short" 1040A form but whose returns are not complex enough to require the "long" 1040.

"When we looked at the total system, we found there was a bias to the long form," said Kenneth Studdard, a partner at the accounting firm of Deloitte Haskins & Sells, one of four firms involved in the project. "It takes more time and effort to complete the long form." And with more items to run through and complete, the chances for error are greater.

Under the prototype system, Stud-dard said, 75 percent of all taxpayers will be able to use either the short or inter-

Some 50,000 taxpayers are expected to receive the intermediate form during the 1982 tax filing season for testing. If all goes as scheduled, they will replace existing forms by 1983 or 1984.

If Americans were seized in the future, Reagan would be faced with the same dilemma that consumed President Carter: Is national pride more important than the lives of Americans?

Perhaps the freed Marine who said if he ever went back to Iran "it would be in a B-52" did capture the imagination of Americans used to action.

For Carter, the safety of the Americans came first, although had the ill-fated rescue mission been carried out, he conceded it could have cost the lives of many of the hostages.

At what point glory may also be the question. Would the hostages have preferred bolder measures to speed their return. In recent weeks, some said they used the election of a much tougher Ronald Reagan to warn Iranian.

Reagan also warned of a "limit" to U.S. patience. Certainly, Carter found that out as the weeks wore on to months Americans who supported his peaceful approach became more and more restive that the United States was helpless in the face of such provocation.

In the case of the seizure of the men aboard the American intelligence ship Pueblo, it took President Lyndon John son nine months to secure their release, and all of it was done with quiet diplomacy and little publicity.

Reagan Serves As Guest, Entertainment

By W. DALE NELSON

WASHINGTON (AP) - As actorturned-president, Ronald Reagan is finding himself both the entertainment and the guest of honor on the Washington social circuit.

Take, for example, the annual congressional dinner put on by the Washington Press Club.

Background entertainment at the cocktail party was the 1940s Reagan film 'King's Row," a gripping story about a man who loses his legs.

On a lighter note came Reagan the president, arriving after dinner to join in the traditional trading of one-liners with members of Congress and the press.

A few samples: Rep. Claudine Schneider, R-R.I. quipped. "Half of the people in Washington are waiting to be discovered, and the other half are afraid they will be. One week you are on prime time, and the next week you are doing time, so watch it fellows

Rep. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., teasing the president about his acting past, said he would have to learn a new vocabulary: "Congressional committees engage in markup, not makeup; it's undersecretary, not understudy; and HUD is a federal agency, not an old Paul Newman movie

And Reagan, alluding to the good will that new presidents are traditionally accorded, said, "If I'm on a honeymoon, then romance is dead in Washington.

Every president since Franklin Roosevelt has addressed the Washington Press Club, and most presidents have showed up at the dinner at least once. Jimmy Carter came in 1977, just after his election. That was the only time he made it. At the 1978 affair, his press secretary. Jody Powell, made this rash promise: "He'll be here again before the end of the first term.

Democratic Party Seeks Middle Political Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) - After their 1980 election defeats, Democrats are searching for a political middle ground on which to build a party record of opposition to the Reagan administration and majority Republicans in the Senate.

So far, they haven't found one.

The search is hindered by the lack of specific plans as yet from President Reagan on his economic program, the traditional honeymoon period to give a new president a chance to make his case and debate among Democrats about which direction the party should take.

Political honeymoons are applied most strongly to the people a new president chooses for the top jobs in his administration. No matter how much individual senators might disagree with particular nominees, they are reluctant to vote against them on ideological grounds.

The best test of that attitude might occur when the Senate takes up the nomination of Ernest Lefever to head the State Department office of human rights.

Lefever was an outspoken opponent of the Carter administration's human rights policies and was described by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., as having "a blind eye to human rights violations by right-wing military dictatorships and to be outraged only by human rights violations by communist countries.

It soon dawned on the policy makers that the nation's word was involved and that there would not be many more such deals in the future if the United States reneged on its pledge. And top Reagan administration officials began to say the United States would abide by the terms.

But while Cranston and other Senate advocates of a strong human rights policy will speak out against the Lefever appointment, there isn't likely to be an organized effort to block it.

Meanwhile, Democratic liberals and conservatives as well as organized labor are jockeying for a decisive role in setting the future direction of the party.

The ideological search is likely to rove more significant in the long run than the more widely publicized contest for Democratic national chairman, a race all but officialy decided in favor of Charles T. Manatt of Los Angeles.

New, somewhat tentative coalitions are forming within the party.

One example is a group of 10 Demo-cratic senators, all rated among the more conservative members of their party on defense and social issues, who raised

KANO, Nigeria (AP) — A Nigerian federal commission is holding hearings here into Moslem riots in which hundreds of people were killed in this northern city last December. There are indications that the political ramifica-tions of the outbreak go beyond the scope of the inquiry.

Diplomats say the Nigerian government in Lagos was shocked by the 10-day rampage by followers of a self-proclaimed Islamic reformer. One diplomat said the government saw the disturb-ances as a "reflection of the country's

There has been no official comment on rumors that Libya, which has sent several thousand soldiers into Chad, Nigeria's northeastern neighbor, was be-hind the riots. But a week afterward, the entire Libyan diplomatic mission was ex-pelled from the country. The govern-ment's official reason was that the mission failed to observe proper procedure. But diplomatic sources and press com-mentary indicated the expulsion was directly linked to the disturbances.

Nigeria is rich in oil, much of which is exported to the United States, and has the largest population — 72.5 million — of any black African nation. It has been troubled in the past by tribal strife, and troubled in the past by tribal strife, and in the late 1960s the secessionist Republ-ic of Biafra was proclaimed in its Eastern Region, setting off a civil war that the government eventually won. Many of the December rioters, however, were reportedly foreign immigrant workers who under regional cooperation agreements can move freely between Nigeria and neighboring countries. They come to this part of Nigeria — far from the oil-rich areas of the south - to work at such jobs as street peddlers or house

At the time of the Dec. 18-28 rioting. police estimated the number killed at about 1,000. Subsequent estimates ranged from 250 to several thousand.

Two foreign businesmen who asked not to be identified said they saw police kill several hundred prisoners in two police stations, clubbing them to death and shooting them.
"They were beating them with lead must have been at least 100."

 The contractor explained that he had gone to the police station following an automobile accident.

Another obstressman said ne watched from a window of his office next to a police station as police lined prisoners up against a wall and shot them.

Police said several thousand followers of a man called Mullah Mohammadu Marwa attacked police and residents with bows and arrows and small arms in ties. Marwa was reportedly killed during the last day of fighting. Police said they recovered his body from a shallow grave outside the city.

Kano is the center of the Islamic faith in Nigeria and of trade in this part of West Africa. Moslems make up about 47

the Yan Awaki quarter of the old walled sector of Kano, Nigeria's third largest city.

When police were unable to quell the rioting, the Kano state governor called in the army. Troops shelled the neighborhood with mortars and bazookas. Among the lines are some 30 animal figures: monkey, spider, humming bird and condor. They range from a few feet long to more than 600 feet from one end to the other. The designs cover a 30-mile spread across the plain.

They are nearly invisible from ground level. The best vantage point is from 1,-500 feet directly overhead. The lines were first discovered in 1926, but were not well-known until the 1930s when pilots began flying over them regularly.

Dr. Paul Kosok, a history profes from Long Island University, studied the lines in 1941 and called them "the largest astronomy book in the world." Miss Reicke said it was Kosok who urged her to undertake the study which began in 1946.

"Furthermore, spaceships would not need such long runways to take off," she said, visibly irritated by the idea. She suspects the builders were water worshippers, unlike the Incas who later worshipped the sun. She said several lines point to the sun's location at the winter solstice on Dec. 22. The date coincides with the rains which bring water from the mountains to irrigate the desert.

The animals, she says, could be renditions of the constellations whose periodic appearance coincide with the arrival of

"That would be the most rea explanation of the existence of such large figures of such perfect executi were made for the gods," she said.

Superpowers Assailed By Khomeini

Ruhollah Khomeini warned against superpower "conspiracies" today, the second anniversary of the Iranian revolution, as his president revealed that the U.S.-led embargo and the war with Iraq had cut Iran's foreign reserves from $10 billion to $4 billion.

'The danger of communism is not less than that of Western capitalism and the Iranian nation should resist the conspiracies of both powers," Khomeini said in a message read by his son Ahmad at a mass rally in Tehran's Azaadi Square.

"Once again I warn you of the American danger in the world, especially in the region and in Iran. All those united against the Islamic Republic are linked with America."

Khomeini also spoke out against the AUSTIN (UPI) - The Industrial Accident Board has asked the Legislature for an extra appropriation of $115,000 for a computer system to help catch doctors and lawyers committing workmen's compensation fraud.

The board's chairman, H.S. Harris Jr. told the Senate Nominations Subcommittee Tuesday that the governor had suggested a data processing system to provide more information about attorneys and doctors using the workmen's compensation system "to check further into possible fraud in the system.

Harris was before the subcommittee on his own nomination for another term as chairman of the board. The subcommittee approved the nomination and sent it to the full Senate.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, asked Harris if the system could keep track of the yearly income from workmen's compensation of individual doctors and attor-

"I presume it could be used for that purpose," he said.

Some time in the future it will be possible to find out what attorneys and what doctors are involved and to what extent," Doggett commented.

The subcommittee also approved the nominations of Clifford F. Smith Jr. of Houston, Harry M. Whittington of Austin and H.B. Zachry Jr. of San Antonio to the Board of Corrections. All three were endorsed by the prisoner advocacy group Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Er-

The Senate Tuesday passed a bill by Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, that would make it difficult for persons who have quit their jobs without good cause or been fired for misconduct to collect power struggle between clerical and secular factions in Iran, admonishing Moslem clergymen not to interfere in matters that were not their concern and about which they knew nothing.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, who heads the secular faction, told the throng Iran needed security from zealots and must exert "tremendous effort" to pull itself out of its economic difficulties.

Bani-Sadr said that next to the war with Iraq. Iran's most pressing problem was the economy.

"Our foreign currency reserves have decreased a great deal," he said. "It is unlikely that our foreign currency reserves exceed $4 billion, while at the end of the year - which started in March 1979 - our foreign currency reserves were $10 billion. The reason for the reduction in our foreign currency reserves was the war and the economic embar-

Washington blocked all U.S trade with Iran last year because of the seizure of American hostages in Iran. Most U.S. allies followed suit.

Bani-Sadr cited rising unemployment, predicted a budget deficit and said, "tremendous effort and work from you will be the only way to solve the country's present difficulties '

He also alluded to the sometimes bitter jockeying for power between his supporters and those of Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai, who heads the clergydominated faction.

"If our country wants to overcome the economic crisis, it needs security," Bani-Sadr said.

In a reference to the zealousness of some of his opponents, he said: "They can still burn books in the streets, they can still attack dormitories, they can still close schools, contrary to lawful principles, they can still assassinate people in "The country cannot overcome its problems with these incidents going on,"

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) - Cynthia Dwyer said today that despite nine months in an Iranian prison and the anxiety caused to her family, she did not regret her stay in the Islamic Republic. "I like Iran and its people. I would return if possible," she said.

The 49-year-old American writer talked with reporters aboard the Singapore Airlines jumbo jet that brought her from the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Dubai to Zurich. She left at noon - 5 a.m. CST - aboard a Swissair flight for New York and was scheduled to arrive early this afternoon. Her husband and three children were waiting in New York.

A number of record low temperatures were established around the state as the front moved through. Those included 17 at Austin, supplanting the 1933 record of 19; 10 at Midland, beating the 1933 record of 12; 10 at San Angelo, erasing the 1948 record of 15; and 22 at Del Rio, wiping out the 1955 record of 23.

The extended forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies and near-seasonal temperatures through the weekend over West Texas. Highs will range from the low 60s in the northern part of the region Friday through Sunday to the lower 70s in the southwest. Lows will vary from the mid-20s in the north to the lower 40s in the far south near the Big Bend.

Utilities across the state today appealed to their customers to reduce electricity consumption as a blast of cold arctic air sent temperatures plunging and the demand for energy soaring.

Most utilities had "real difficulty meeting the customers' electrical load requirements because of extremely cold weather, fuel curtailments and problems with generating equipment," said George Hedrick of Texas Electric Service Co. in Fort Worth.

Meanwhile, Lone Star Gas Co., which serves 200,000 square miles in North Texas and southern Oklahoma, curtailed all service to electric generation customers and Rate 3 industrial customers, said spokeswoman Pat Couch.

Most of those customers have backup fuel systems, she added.

The curtailments were necessary because of high demand and a few frozen wellheads, but the latter "is not a real major problem," she said.

ideas received. Only about 60 of Texas' 1,035 school districts make group insurance available to their teachers and other employees.

(The Lubbock Independent School District does provide health insurance for its employees. The district pays the total cost for a lower benefits package, said Ronnie Gooch, assistant superin tendent for business affairs for the system. She urged a system of regional group insurance programs that would take into account the varying costs of medical care across Texas — "I don't want to be pen-alized by someone living in another part of the state, such as Houston."

Whether the state helps pay teachers' premiums will be a major issue. A $50-amonth contribution for all school employees and retired teachers would add an estimated $360 million to 1982-83

Rep. Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, chairman of the House Education Committee, said some teachers don't want the state to contribute toward group insurance premiums.

He said as many as 50 to 60 percent of all teachers already are covered by a spouse's policy and "are saying, 'If you have money for insurance, just put it into salaries.

She said an advantage of a statewide program, as opposed to many local plans, would be that "broad-based participation should help provide for a lower rate.

The Texas Association of School Boards endorsed a bill by Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center, a former teacher. Haley's bill would pump money into group insurance programs set up separately in each district without state controls.

Ex-Priest Preaches Atheism

MOSCOW (AP) - Konstantin Petrovich Shvets, for 16 years a priest, is a bornagain atheist and proud of it.

One of 200 anti-religion propagandists who lecture regularly at Moscow schools and factories, Shvets says he's been happily preaching atheism since "I made my decision" to give up Christianity in 1959.

"Just the other day, someone told me I was a Judas, that I had betrayed Christ," said the bald, burly Shvets, whose eyes shine with an evangelist's dedication.

"I was a believer for 36 years and a priest for 16," he added in an interview at Moscow's "scientific Atheism Center," a rambling 19th century mansion with a permanent staff of 10. "But I could not go on with the religious life. I wanted to be a person with a pure consci-

The 58-year-old Shvets and his colleagues are the shock troops of officially sanctioned Soviet atheism campaigns. Although churches, synagogues and mosques are allowed to stay open in this country, years of anti-religious propaganda have taken a heavy toll on the size of congregations.

Atheism "enthusiasts," as the campaigners call themselves, claim that only 8 to 10 percent of the Soviet Union's adults, roughly 15 million people, are still genuinely religious.

And they claim that each new generafaithful than the generation before it.

"Bringing people to atheism is a very slow, gradual process, and we still have a long way to go," said Viktor Timofeyev, another atheism lecturer.

"Remember that churces still operate in this country and have their own rights," Timofeyev said. "We aren't allowed to go into a church, grab someone by his lapels and say, 'Look, there's no God, so let's get out of here.' The police would fine us for interfering in church

Still, the Soviet Union's atheism campaigners have plenty of opportunity for their work. Moscow's "enthusiasts" say they lecture to more than 200,000 citizens

Knows About Jesus Christ."

They are aided by regular anti-religious cartoons and articles in the Soviet press, a monthly atheism journal called "Science and Religion" and virulent press attacks on foreign "imperialist" subversives who allegedly play on citizens' religious feelings.

Some Russians fear a display of religious feelings can retard their career or political advancement, although official policy forbids job discrimination on religious grounds.

Atheism campaigners, like religious evangelists, say they keep a constant eye out for people who can benefit from their

"But we have to be careful, and we can't go around just stopping people on the street and asking if they're reli-gious." Timofeyev said. "People might say. What business is it of yours?"

Rather, atheism campaigners invite pensioners to quiet chats over tea and cookies, and speak to factory and office (social clubs and youth groups.

"Of course, we have many opportunities to hold lectures and do our work," Timofeyev said. "But don't underestimate the propaganda effect against us, in favor of religion, when thousands of people line up at churches on Easter and other occasions. That's powerful propaganda for the other side.

Churches in the Soviet Union are not permitted to evangelize outside their buildings. But many Soviet citizens, even if they do not practice religion regularly, drop by at churches from time to time for family occasions or just out of curiosi-

By some accounts, up to 60 million of the Soviet Union's 266 million citizens have occasional contacts with Russian Orthodox, Catholic, Baptist, Jewish, Moslem or other religious groups.

Travelers Report Food Crisis Apparently Eases In Cambodia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - In factors and that further international aid marked contrast to a year ago, people look better fed in Cambodia these days. Hundreds of small restaurants have reopened in Phnom Penh and countryside markets are amply stocked with chickens, ducks, pork and vegetables, according to U.N. officials and diplomats who have traveled there recently.

They report seeing children playful and happy; last year they were emaciated and spent their time foraging for food.

The travelers say all this seems a sharp reversal of the dark days of the Cambodian emergency 14 months ago when a million or more starving peasants surged toward neighboring Thailand in search of food.

But officials caution against over-opti-

The country had a substantial rice harvest in December, but international relief officials here say Cambodia could easily plunge into a new food crisis. They note the still-fragile economy is vulnerable to epidemics, bad weather and other is essential to overcome a projected food deficit for later this year.

Aid agencies emphasize new pledges to finance food aid of 75,000 tons are needed now - but they place equal, if not more urgent, emphasis on the distribution of rice seeds before the main planting season in June.

Seeds and fertilizer are a particularly crucial element in returning Cambodia, now under control of a Vietnamesebacked communist government, to food self-sufficiency by this time next year.

While the major U.N. agencies involved in Cambodian relief have estimated that $236 million is needed for 1981, only $97.2 million has been pledged so far. The U.N. target includes $93 million for some 90,000 Cambodians and displaced Thais along the Thai border, and $108 million for assistance and rehabilitation inside Cambodia.

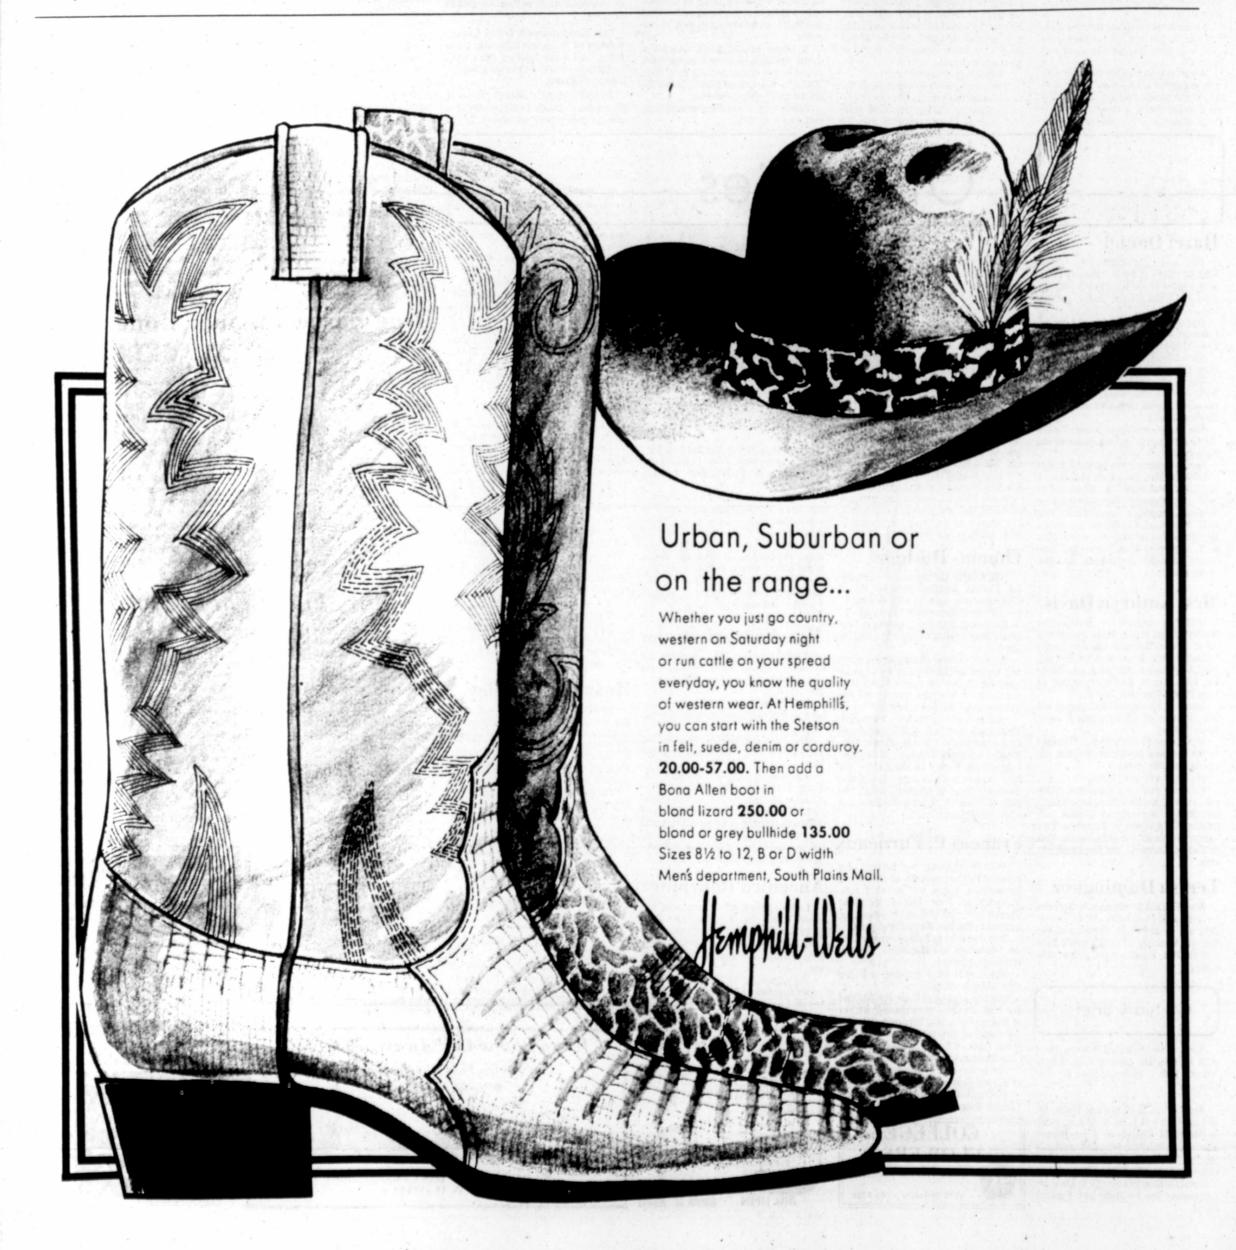

The agencies are now ordering their priorities, awaiting a U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization mission into Cambodia. It is expected to provide a precise assessment of the current harvest to let donor nations know exactly how much additional finance is needed.

One Bangkok-based relief official said the size of the rice grains harvested was smaller than a normal harvest because of the lack of fertilizers. Rats are also taking a high toll. A report from the southern province of Svay Rieng said up to 21/2 acres of rice is being lost each night to rats.

In that province, groups of children are said to be hunting the huge rats with clubs at night for a reward of 61/2 pounds of rice for every 100 rats killed.

Because of the December harvest, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNI-CEF), the lead agency in the Cambodian emergency, recently suspended food shipments up the Mekong River to the capital, Phnom Penh, and to so-called 'landbridge" distribution centers along the Thai border, where thousands of Cambodians previously visited to pick up food and return home.

University Avenue businessmen who say the city's plan to widen that street would mean economic disaster for their businesses decided Tuesday night to hire an attorney to present their case at Thursday's City Council meeting.

tained by Varsity Formal Wear owner Phil Sooter, was selected by a group of the businessmen to represent their interests. Sooter said late Tuesday, however, that the method as to how Goss will be paid by the shop owners has not been determined.

And indeed, some of the approximately 50 businessmen and students who oppose the street widening plan and who met at Bromley Hall private dormitory on University Avenue to discuss their concerns, did not favor hiring a single representative for their cause, with some arguing for a bombardment of city officials with emotion-packed pleas.

The businessmen complained that the planned switch to parallel parking from 30-, 45-and 60-degree angle parking would discourage drive-up customers they say constitutes most of their busi-

The students complained that the additional lane of traffic would increase volume on the already heavily traveled University Avenue between Fourth and 19th Streets, making pedestrian crossing dangerous and dormitory living noisy.

But Goss waved an inch-thick volume as his proof of the picture he painted: the University Avenue businessmen are merely catalysts in the city's goals of beautification and increased use of public transportation

"The reason that you're losing your parking is so that this plan can be carried out," Goss said, holding a volume he said was a 1974 Lubbock Comprehensive Plan drawn up by City Planning Director Jim Bertram's office. "We reduce the number of parking places (on University Avenue) and the public must rely on public transportation more.

We widen University Avenue and the city gets to put up its brick median with the shrubbery," he added. "You do not matter. What matters is that this plan goes-through. The street-widening proposal, which is scheduled to go before the city council at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, affects University Avenue from Fourth to 19th streets. City officials argue the widening is needed to accommodate a higher volume of traffic on the one-mile strip adjacent to Texas Tech University. Tech regents Saturday approved granting additional easement space for the project, which also calls for changing the angle parking in front of businesses located on the east side of the avenue to parallel parking.

However, it was revealed last week that the parking change will not affect the widening process itself, but is being proposed because parallel parking is considered safer - and Bertram believes the city could be barred from using federal funds without the change.

Sooter, however, said three councilmen have conceded to him that some degree of angle parking can be retained.
"But I didn't get that in writing," he said. "What we need is legal representation. Thursday (in a meeting with city officials) all we did was blow smoke, and they know it, and they still know it.' Another businessman claimed, however, a packed council chamber with arguments "from the heart" would "surely move the councilmen who are human beings just like the rest of us.

Goss disagreed. "You can't win with statistics. They've got too many statisticians for that. You can't win with emotions," the attorney said.

"You have to fill the place (city council chambers) up with numbers and say a big no," Goss added. "Then the decision is up to the city. They have to decide, do we go against the people that put us into office, or don't we?

Another businessman said he would appeal to the council in a different man-

Guard Shoots, Kills Stowaway

HOUSTON (UP) - No charges will be filed against a security guard who shot and killed a Colombian stowaway who tried to escape from a holding cell Tuesday owned by a private security company, but the case will be referred to the Police said the guard, William Robertson, 51, employed by Danner's Inc. Guard Service, fatally shot Ramon Garcia. 24, and wounded Juan Bermudez, 20. when they attempted to break out of a cell on the Houston Ship Channel along with 14 other stowaways.

Police said Danner's officials told them the shooting was accidental and, while no charges were planned, the case would go to the grand jury routinely.

The 26 Colombians came into U.S. waters Saturday aboard the Colombian freighter Cartagenia de Indias. U.S. Customs agents also found 14 pounds of cocaine on board Saturday, said spokesman Charles Conroy

'Immigration (service) is in no way responsible for what happened. They (guards) were not under contract with us." O'Neill said. He explained the shipping agent of the freighter hired Danner's to watch the men

Usually stowaways are kept on board the vessels they come in on, but because there were so many, O'Neill said he allowed them to be removed from the freighter.

Conrov said the stowaways were herded into a security chamber owned by Danner's, but they attempted to break out early Tuesday. The chamber was 12feet by 16-feet, had two beds and one car seat, officials said.

Police said at about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday the Colombians managed to break through the holding room's steel-barred door and into the outer office at Danner's. The security guards told police they tried to hold back the men, but one Colombian began fighting with a guard over a shotgun.

Police said the gun went off, hitting one Colombian in the stomach and killing him immediately. Another man was shot in the arm and taken to the hospital. A third man was cut, but no medical attention was required.

The FBI filed a complaint Tuesday charging the 25 remaining Colombians as being stowaways more sneezing, sniffling, coughing people in Lubbock now than there are fanatics in Iran.

It goes by different aliases. Some people call it the flu, a cold, a bug, the 24-hour bug, but it is most often referred to as "what's going around.

For those unfortunate enough to have been stricken with the ailment and for those yet hoping to avoid it, some interesting questions arise. What causes some of the miserable symptoms? Is there any effective way of avoiding colds or And, most importantly, is there anything that can be taken to cure or lessen the symptoms?

As most people know, colds and flu are caused by any of a group of 100 viruses. Nose and throat linings are inflamed by the virus and the nose may become runny or stopped up due to increased mucus formation. One of the functions of

Lubbockites Besieged By Flu the nasal cavity is as a resonating chamber for the voice, but due to congestion, that function is negated and a voice

> Sinuses may become blocked because of swelling in membranes and the increase in sinus pressure may cause a headache. Post-nasal drip from increased mucus formation causes throat irritation.

A portion of the brain is designed to respond to irritations in the respiratory system. Mucus congestion in the bronchial tubes of the lung often triggers coughing and irritations to the throat can cause it as well.

On top of all this is fever, but a fever associated with a cold generally won't go above 101 degrees. Fever accompanying influenza, however, may be higher. Though the malady is caused by a virus, during the course of a cold, the body can be invaded by bacteria, sometimes causing secondary infections in the sinuses or ears. All of this sounds like the poor guy in the TV commercial who lists all his symptoms and plaintively adds, "And I could use some rest, too. The fact is that, while there are aids in reducing some of the symptoms, there is absolutely nothing that can get rid of the virus itself. Aspirin, for example, can reduce the fever of a cold, but the virus that ultimately caused the fever is still

By ERMA BOMBECK If the American Family is becoming an endangered species, you can bet one of the things that killed it is the dinner

When it was conceived, the dinner hour was to be a gathering of every member of the family who would sit around and exchange pleasantries and news of what each had done that day.

I know that's the way it's supposed to be because I saw it once on the Donna Reed Show. We have never had a family dinner that did not sound like we were hosting a lynching. It was inevitable to touch upon who did what to whom, who did it first, and who would get a room to themselves after they were sentenced.

The criticism of family meals is that this is not a fit topic to discuss at dinnertime. As I see it, no one seems to know what is a fit subject to talk about at the dinner table. There are few things that the entire family can get into

Children tend to talk about things that take away your interest in food - and living. At one meal alone, I heard a description of the underside of the tongue. a rumor of what popular food contained rat's nostrils, what pureed peas remind you of when you look at them from a distance, and what happens to the dog's stool when he eats leftover chicken.

Men prefer to talk about money Within minutes they can make you feel guilty for asking for seconds on the salt. They also take the opportunity to lay on the family their famous lectures: "An 'E' on the Gas Gauge Does Not Mean Evacuate," "Why Do We Heat the Front Porch by Gas in the Winter?" "Don't Reach Out and Touch Somebody Unless It's Collect," and the all-time favorite. When I Go to the Poorhouse, I'll Have to Call a Cab to Get There.

Mothers use the togetherness of the meal to discuss their doormat status Why don't you just put a key under my tongue and stand on me?) and to tell their children that no one ever amounted to anything who smoothed a lumpy bed with a coat hanger

I have come to the conclusion there are no safe topic areas at the family dinner table. No matter what you hit upon, every member of the family will react in

The other night, a guest said at our table. "I read where the Snail Darter is still on the endangered species list. There was a moment of silence before one child said, "Aren't they the ones that bleed through the eves when they die?"

My husband said, "When they go up to $10 a pound, knowing our kids, they'll develop a Snail Darter deficiency.

I said, "They aren't the only ones who have become endangered. So are women who pick up towels after a 16-year-old. The family that eats together

Labels Define 'Natural'

WASHINGTON (USDA News-Feature Service) - Shoppers may find foods advertised as "natural" contain additives, preservatives, artificial coloring or other artificial ingredients. That's because there is no generally accepted definition for the term "natural" as applied to foods, says Charlene C. Price, a U.S. Department of Agriculture economist.

Price said all kinds of food are being marketed as "natural" by producers seeking a share of the flourishing natural foods business.

'No federal standards regulate the use of the term "natural," so some producers often use it to suit their own purposes in promoting and selling various food products," Price said.

Health and natural foods stores have a specific image to protect," she said. "Many have their own standards for stocking natural food products. For example, some do not stock products containing refined sugar, additives or preservatives. However, other stores carry products containing natural additives, preservatives or both.

"Some foods are advertised as natural even though they are highly processed and contain synthetic additives. Cereals that are processed and fortified with vitamins and minerals or contain chemical preservatives could this

Price said natural foods are unpro cessed or minimally processed without additives, preservatives, artificial coloring, or chemicals added after the food is harvested. Nutritionists have a stricter definition of natural foods: those not processed after harvesting or slaughter.

Opening lead: Nine of . We have been told that it is more blessed to give than North's bid of five hearts was a two-way action. He was not sure he could defeat four spades, and five hearts, even if it failed, would not prove costly. East felt he had done his all by risking four spades at equal vulnerability. His assessment was correct -perfect defense would have defeated five spades by two tricks. And an inspired club lead by West would have beaten five hearts.

The opening spade lead was ruffed in the closed hand. Declarer led a low trump to the nine, and ruffed another spade. He cashed the king and ace of diamonds then led the king of spades. East covered with the ace, but instead of ruffing, declarer magnanimously discarded his losing diamond.

This loser-on-loser play had a dramatic effect. Unless East took the ace of clubs there and then, it would have been assigned to oblivion. A spade would allow declarer to discard a club while ruffing in dummy, then set up diamonds with a ruff. The jack of trumps would be an entry to dummy to the established diamonds, allowing declarer to get rid of his remaining club loser. And if East had the remaining diamond, he could exit with it but that would simply allow declarer to set up dummy's suit with a ruff. Note that, if declarer takes the straightforward line of simply leading toward the king of clubs, he is doomed. The defenders will get two club tricks and a diamond. Also, if declarer tries to set up the diamonds. West can maneuver to win a diamond

Agency Teaching People About Heart Diseases

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

What you don't know about your heart could kill you.

That's the message from the National Institutes of Health, which is trying to teach people more about heart disease and how to avoid it.

The federal agency says that prevention is just as important as treatment after trouble strikes. "If we wait for the first sign of heart attack, we may have waited too long," say the experts. The National Institutes of Health cites

The National Institutes of Health cites some statistics to show the magnitude of the problem. Among them:

Cardiovascular disease is the leading killer in the United States, responsible for more than half of all deaths every year. Almost three times as many people die of heart disease as die of cancer.

 Cardiovascular disease costs the nation $50 billion in lost wages and productivity and in medical bills. More than one-fourth of the people who die are under 65.

The agency has prepared a guide explaining the causes and symptoms of heart disease and what can be done about them. Copies of the guide, "Heart Attacks," are available, at no charge, from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 586J. Pueble, Colo., 81009.

The major cause of most heart attacks is arteriosclerosis — a general term for diseases of the arteries. It is responsible for more than 850,000 deaths a year, according to the National Institutes of Health.

It is often hard to teil whether someone is having a heart attack. Symptoms vary, but the most common one is chest pain, usually in the middle of the chest, but sometimes extending to the neck, the left shoulder and down the left arm. Some sufferers describe the pain as constricting, as though a rope were being pulled tightly around the chest. Others say the pain is like a weight, pressing down on the chest. Heart attack victims also tend to feel weak and be short of breath. They appear pale and may feel cold while sweating heavily.

In some cases, however, there is no

In some cases, however, there is no warning. "Sudden death is the first sign (of trouble) in about one-quarter of the patients who suffer heart attacks," say the experts at the National Institutes of Health.

In addition, about 60 percent of the deaths among people who have a history of heart disease occur outside of a hospital. "These deaths occur within two hours of the heart attack, long before most patients can reach or receive effective medical therapy," according to the National Institutes of Health.

The best thing to do in case of a heart attack or a suspected heart attack is to seek immediate medical treatment in a hospital. A procedure called cardiopulmonary resuscitation or CPR can help sufferers before the ambulance arrives.

CPR is used when the heart has stopped and the patient has stopped breathing. It involves a combination of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and chest heart massage. In the past, only doctors and nurses practiced CPR, but medical authorities now recommend training the general public in its use. A growing number of communities have set up special CPR programs. Call your local chapter of the American Heart Association or the American Red Cross if you are interested.

A number of things contribute to your chances of having a heart attack. Some, like heredity and age, are uncontrollable. Others risks, however, like smoking and high blood pressure, can be reduced.

high blood pressure, can be reduced.

The National Institutes of Health says there are signs that the public is changing its habits. The number of smokers has decreased, for example. The number of people receiving treatment for high blood pressure has doubled since 1972; consumption of animal fats and oils has dropped.

The changes apparently are working. "For the first time in our nation's history, cardiovascular death rates are going down rather than up," says the National Institutes of Health. "In addition, we can see a decline in the absolute number of heart attacks. ... Prevention of heart attacks is not only the most effective way to attack the problem ... It is humanly possible."

Q: When my husband took me to the hospital to deliver my baby, the hospital wouldn't admit me until he either proved he had insurance to cover expenses or put up a large cash deposit. Could the hospital have legally turned me away if we had no money or insurance?

A: Texas law provides that no general hospital supported by public funds may deny emergency services customarily provided at the hospital to a patient who is seriously ill merely because the patient is unable to establish her ability

There is a question as to whether delivering a baby constitutes an emergency, since a patient normally has a regular doctor practicing at a designated hospital, and so would not be seeking emergency care.

Q: Our city has approved a requested zoning change, but the new zoning directly conflicts with neighborhood deed restrictions. Does a municipality have a right to override residential restrictions? By the way, there is no question here of eminent domain.

A: A municipality cannot by zoning ordinance allow in what the deed convenant restricts. However, a zoning ordinance that is more restrictive than the deed will prevail over the broader deed covenants.

Q: Since that new law was passed that city and administrative officials may be sued for their actions in office, may we also file suit against county officials

A: Under Texas law, both the governmental unit - that is, the state, the county. the city or the school district - and its employees, may be liable for personal injury, death, or property damages resulting from their actions in off-

The government's liability on behalf of its employees' negligence, however, is limited by law. And, in answer to your question, yes, county officials and county judges may be sued, although the statute allows them certain defenses.

Q: What recourse does a person have when a builder fails to complete installations in a new home? We moved in over a year ago and our intercom has not yet been completed. Is it the builder's responsibility or shall we look to the lighting company which was paid by the builder?

A: Your question is a difficult one to answer without knowing the details of the contract between you and your builder. Generally, the builder is responsible to see that the work is completed, but your contract may contain provisions limiting the builder's responsibility.

New home contracts often contain penalties for non-performance, and can be enforced in court. Since each agreement is different, ask your lawyer to review the rights and responsibilities of each party to the contract.

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) - A wheelchair-bound student at Texas A&M University has charted the 5,000-acre campus to help guide other handicapped students to classes

Roddy Dunnell, a senior engineering technology student originally from Edinburg, was the primary researcher for the publication, titled "Access." He wheeled himself around Texas A&M for almost a year, gathering specific data on which buildings were accessible and which

He surveyed entrances, elevators and Working with Charles Powell, Texas A&M adviser for the handicapped, Dunnell and other students are also making improvements in athletic opportunities and social involvement for handicapped students

They've pointed out such problems as not having a desk surface to write on in classrooms and safety problems for students during electrical blackouts when elevators do not work.

Powell said Texas A&M already has spent more than $500,000 on upgrading the campus for the handicapped and plans are underway to spend at least another $500,000.

The university president's office has given the Handicapped Athletes Association $8,000 to purchase sports model wheelchairs for a basketball team. A donation from the vice president for student services office has made possible an emergency wheelchair repair service.

Paralyzed from the waist down from a diving accident the summer before his freshman year at A&M, Dunnell knows first-hand what it is like to try to go to class but not be able to get inside the front door of the classroom building.

During my early days on campus, I pushed myself around several buildings several times trying to find a way inside, but couldn't," he said. "I can get over steps up to eight inches high, but the students in electrical wheelchairs cannot.

Dunnell said his confinement to the wheelchair has made him see things dfferently. 3

"How can you know what I need if you haven't experienced it," he said. "I've realized things about getting around that I never thought of before I was in a chair. I want to do what I did before my accident, maybe not in the same way, but in a different way.

The Access booklet contains descriptions of campus services for the handicapped as well as information on organizations like Students Concerned for the Handicapped and the Association of Handicapped Athletes. But more importantly, it contains an alphabetized list of each campus building, with information on its accessibility. Information on the Academic Building, for instance, says there is a ramped entrance on the west side of the building, elevators service all floors and restrooms are accessible but not modified.

The campus is divided into sections

Lynn Moak, director of research for the lieutenant governor's office, pointed out in a recent report that Texas' 27 percent gain in population the past decade - from 11,198,655 to 14,228,383 - occurred mostly in the six largest counties of the state.

However, Moak said, the fastest growing areas were in those counties immediately outside of the main metropolitan counties

This is an indication of some of the problems that those marking new boundary lines for congressional and legislative districts will have.

Harris County grew by 37.5 percent, faster than the state rate. Nevertheless, most surburban counties surrounding Harris grew faster. For example, Moak said, Montgomery gained 158 percent in population, Fort Bend 149 percent, Bra-zoria 54 percent, Liberty 42 percent and Waller 35 percent.

Juvenile officers said they have referred seven Atkins Junior High School students, ranging in age from 14 to 16, to the Lubbock County Juvenile Probation Office in connection with a series of thefts which occurred at the school over the past few months. Officers Larry Manley and Tom Mann said six tape players, an unknown amount of money and about 20 coats from lockers and classrooms in the school have been reported stolen. The thefts began last October and continued through last week, the officers said, and they credited school principal Waylon Carroll and vice principal C.W. Edwards for their help in the investiga-

Panel Approves Short's Bill

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Senate Jurisprudence Committee Tuesday approved a bill by Tahoka Sen. E.L. Short that would have the state pay for court-appointed defense attorneys in capital cases. The committee voted 8-0 to recommend that the full Senate approve Senate Bill 12, sponsored by Short.

Under the bill, counties would continue to pay court-appointed attorneys in other criminal proceedings, but Short said payment by the state for attorneys in capital cases would relieve the heavy financial burden on small rural counties.

A spokesman for the Texas Association of Counties said that Motley County. which has tax revenues of only about $130,000 per year, spent $31,000 last year for attorneys to defend indigents in capital cases. If approved, the bill will benefit both the counties and the defendants in such cases by relieving the financial burden on the counties and providing better qualified representation, Short said.

The bill now goes to the full Senate

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - After the ferocious fire at MGM Grand hotel in November, fire officials said safety violations were "an on-going problem" at resorts here but predicted the problems likely wouldn't lead to a similar disaster.

Fitzgerald said safety violations were 'an on-going problem" at the hotels and could not properly be supervised in a city where resorts are "like their own cities."

But the problems "in all probability are not going to lead to a disaster like the MGM Grand fire," he said.

In an interview following the MGM fire, Hilton manager Fritz Huebler said his hotel had "the highest degree of safety. Like everyone else, we review it every

The fires Tuesday at the Hilton were "suspicious" in origin and "entirely different" from the smoky MGM blaze Nov. 21. said Clark County Fire Chief Roy

Unlike the MGM Grand Hotel, the Hilton had smoke alarms and sprinklers on every floor, Huebler said. Nor was the casino involved in the fire at the Hilton. Eight died in the blaze.

Guests at the Hilton also were warned to leave the building by an announce-ment over the public address system.

Building code violations discovered in the devastated MGM Grand hotel after the the fatal blaze were partly to blame for the rapid spread of smoke that killed 84 people, county officials have said.

That fire, caused by an electrical hort in a restaurant serving station, charred the casino and sent smoke throughout the entire 26-story building. A preliminary report by the county build ing department cited numerous violations that allowed the smoke to spread.

Among the problems were holes in air shafts, openings cut in interior stairways that weren't sealed by fire-resistant doors, improperly ventilated elevator shafts and holes in fire walls.

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science movement, was born in tremely different," said Clark County Fire Chief Roy Parrish. 'In this case, we had a high-rise fire, he said of the latest inferno. Smoke, but not flames, had filled the upper floors of the MGM hotel and the "circumstances were different." he said.

The Hilton fire was the result of mul-tiple blazes, Parrish said, including one that started in an eighth-floor corner and quickly hopscotched window-by-window to the top of the hotel.

The blaze at the MGM Grand hotel-casino began as a ground-floor kitchen fire in the 26-story tourist mecca, fire investigators later found, and flames never reached the upper floors. Hilton spokesmen said the hotel had smoke alarms and sprinklers on every floor. The MGM Grand had sprinklers on only a few floors and no smoke alarms.

And at the MGM, the hotel fire alarm system burned out, leaving guests in the resort's 2.076 rooms unaware of the impending danger. The sprinkler system failed to douse the flames before they raced through a catwalk used to observe gambling and torched the huge casino below in an explosion of flames.

Deadly black smoke then poured up the elevator shafts and into every floor; guests awoke to acrid fumes seeping into heir rooms and panic ensued.

Guests broke sealed windows trying to escape the smoke. At least 70 victims were found in the upper floors, dead of smoke inhalation.

Three days later, some 1,500 gamblers and guests fled Harrah's casino-hotel in Reno, Nev., when a grease fire broke out in a restaurant below the casino floor. A few minor cases of smoke inhalation, but no deaths, were reported.

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) - Firefighters were waiting today for more chemical foam to arrive before turning again to a stubborn fire aboard an empty Greek oil tanker off the Virginia coast.

The fire, which was reported extinguished Monday, blazed anew Tuesday in the engine room of the tanker Aikaterini.

which had been used as an equipment platform, went to Norfolk on Tuesday to get more foam from the Navy and was expected to return to the tanker late today, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Tuesday, choppy waters and the threat of gale warnings forced the tugboat to move away from the tanker. The tanker was carrying no crude oil The fire, apparently sparked by faulty wiring in a sevice generator, forced the 36 crewmen to evacuate on Feb. 1. Two days later, the flames engulfed the super-structure, which collapsed.

The firefighters, specialists in extinshing oil rig fires, arrived last week but had to wait for the salvage tugboat to fight its way through bad weather to the scene 20 miles east of Chincoteague. The crew then sat out a day in Sunday's rain and fog.

On Monday, the firefighters cooled off the superstructure with hoses that sucked up seawater at 4,000 gallons a minute. They poured foam on the smold-ering embers in the engine room, doused it with water and reported all clear late

Reporter Tells Of Capture

NEW YORK (AP) - An Iranian reporter for Time magazine says he was blindfolded and put up against a wall in Iran in a mock execution designed to force him to confess he was an American

Raji Samghahadi, who later escaped through Pakistan and now is in New York, says in the current issue of Time that the incident last Nov. 4, the first anniversary of the U.S. Embassy seizure, was an effort to discredit Iran's former was an effort to discredit Iran's former foreign minister, Sadegh Ghotbzadeh.

Before the fake execution, a "mullah" — or clergyman — and a band of Islamic guards tried to make the reporter sign a typewritten confession that he was a spy and Ghotbzadeh's liaison with the CIA, Samghabadi wrote.

Speculating that his tormentors were enemies of Ghotbzadeh who actually had no authorization to arrest him, Samghabadi said he was released several days later but decided to flee because he was warned he was still on a "hit list."

Saying that some "so-called men of God" in Iran have become "misguided fanatics," Samghabadi wrote:

"I wonder whether Ayatollah Khorneini truly knows what these cynical opportunists have done to him, to the revolution and to Islam. Unless he moves swiftly against the architects of the new swiftly against the architects of the new despotism in Iran, the Islamic revolution will go down in history as a tragic blun-

Samphabadi had been managing edi-tor of an English-language newspaper in Tehran before joining Time's staff there in March of 1979. He said his father and brother were active in the revolution that deposed the shah, and that his brother was driven insane by torture inflicted by the shah's secret police.

Time's American correspondents were expelled from Iran in late 1979, but Samghabadi stayed until Islamic guards burst into the Time-Life building and seized him and several others.

He said the captives were blindfolded and stripped of money and papers. A guard told him: "The spies among you will be executed tonight."

Samghabadi said he was questioned, then thrown into a cell. He said a mullah and a guard entered the cell at about 3 We have become skilled at eatching merican spies, haven't we?" he quoted the mullah as saying. "You know what punishment you face."

He said the mullah told him that if "you want to live," he must sign the confession implicating Ghotbzadeh.
Samghabadi said the alleged confession was a "flagrant lie" and he refused to sign it. Finally, he said, he was led to a

"I could see five rifles glinting in the light from my cell doorway," he recalled. "Click, click. The guards holding them were checking the bolts. My knees turned to jelly."

The guns roared, but Samghabadi was not shot. He was kept in various jails for about six days, he said, but the prison officials had no idea why he was being detained and finally released him.

Family Size Drawback For Renters

NEW YORK (AP) — A growing num-ber of "no-children" policies is making it harder for families to find apartments to rent, according to American Demographics magazine.

The magazine said a random sample by the Department of Housing and Ur-ban Development found that more than one-fourth of the nation's rental units do not allow children, up from 17 percent in

The study, based on 1.007 interviews with tenants and landlords in February and March of last year, found that "re-strictions mount with family size," the magazine reported.

The magazine cited HUD findings The magazine cited HUD findings that because of the growing number of "no-children" policies, a one-child family can choose from 64 percent of available units, a family with two children from 55 percent and a family with three children from only 41 percent. No figures were given for larger families.

"Large families have fewer choices in part because small anartments are often part because small apartments are often unsuitable for them," the magazine said, dding "Large apartments have fewer size restrictions.

"Ninety-five percent of all three-bedroom units are open to families with one or two children, and 88 percent are open to families with three children. But only 41 percent of two-bedroom units are open to three-child families."

American Democraphics said the HUD study also found that:

- Nearly one-fourth of renters without children said they prefer not to live near children. More than half of those said children make too much noise.

One in five people said they moved into their apartment because there were no children nearby.

aintenance costs. HOT SAUCE SALES

ALCOA, Tenn. (AP) — Sales of spe-cialty hot sauces are greater in the South-ern and Western regions of the country than in the North, according to one pr mental in their cooking than Northerners and more receptive to trying new sauces," said Fred Hafer of Gourmet Foods. He attributes this primarily to entrenched ethnic cooking styles of the North. "People just don't add exotic sauces to traditional Italian, Greek or Indian dishes." he said dian dishes," he said.

Home Prices Still Rising Despite Drop In Sales

By CHET CURRIER
NEW YORK (AP) — These are indis-

putably tough times in housing - tough for builders, tough for realtors, tough for people who would like to buy a home. But some of the doom-and-gloom crowd's forecasts of a severe drop in home prices have yet to come true.

Mortgage rates hovering around the 15 percent level have cast a decided pall over the market. Sales of new one-family homes dropped 3.4 percent in December, the Commerce Department reported late last week, and stood 4.6 percent below their pace of a year before.

Still, prices kept rising. The median price tag on a new home stood at $67,900, compared with $61,500 in December

The story is much the same with existing homes. Since late 1978, when used rate of about 4 million, activity in the market has been in a deep slump, hitting a low of less than 2.5 million for a while

Even so, the chart of existing-home prices has kept on rising with barely a wriggle. At about $65,000, the median price of a used house has doubled in less gage interest rates reduce the affordabili-ty of homes, sellers are taking their houses out of the market if possible rather than selling them at 'bargain' rates. Thus prices of homes actually sold rise as activity shrinks."

The explanation for this gravity-defy-

In theory, this can't go on forever. At some point, the pressures on the market should presumably start to push prices downward, or at least slow their upward

Some people say there are signs that this may already be happening. Edward Yardeni, economist at E.F. Hutton, points to California — the archetypical hot housing market of the 1970s. From November 1979 to November 1980, he notes, the median price reported by the California Association of Realtors rose 11 percent. Only a few months before, the annual appreciation rate was running close to 30 percent.

"Hot tubs, roller disco ... national fads and trends often seem to start in California," Yardeni observes. "If so, then the national existing-home market is in for tougher times.'

Confronted with that prospect, many participants in the housing market aren't giving up without a fight. They are constantly working up new types of financing to get around the mortgage squeeze.

It is estimated, for example, that more than half of home resales in California during November were done by assuming existing loans.

This spirit of innovation testifies to the fact that the housing market, shaky though it may be, rests on a strong foundation of underlying demand.

The National Association of Home Builders figures that more than 2 million new housing units must be built each year in the 1980s to keep up with de-mand. Last year, less than 1.3 million units were started.

Using such data, it can be argued that if mortgage rates ever do come down by even a few percentage points, there could be a new upward explosion in housing prices.

Economic historians tell us that no market goes up forever. In the words of the old Wall Street axiom, no tree grows to the sky. But if the U.S. housing market in recent years has been just another specula-

Computer Expert Wants To Talk To Reagan

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, III. (UPI) - Computer whiz Louis Elsen says he would give up all rights to his computer system, which already has saved the government a quarter of a billion dollars, for a chat with President Reagan.

"Yeah, I'd do it," Elsen says with a sheepish grin. "I'd probably throw away a million dollars."

Elsen developed the system in his spare time and estimates its worth at $1 million. The Air Force estimates the system has saved the government $238 million in just one year.

Elsen, a civilian working for the Air Force, says he would give up the chance to make money with his computer system for a two-hour, closed-door talk with

Reagan on the subjects of Elsen's choos-

"I'd like to sit down and talk with Reagan." Elsen says.

Elsen's computer system is called LOUIS, which doesn't stand for Elsen's first name, but Logical On-line User Inquiry System.

"It's a coincidence it came out that way, but I'm not denying I'm proud of it," Elsen says.

One of the reasons LOUIS is so valuable is that practically anyone can learn to use it in minutes. To perform a variety of complex computer functions, the user has only to type a series of commands in simple English.

If the user gives an incorrect command, LOUIS says so.

"LOUIS is a very fast and usable system," says Elsen, a computer troubleshooter for the Air Force Communications Command based at Scott. "Just about anyone with reasonable intelligence should be able to use this system."

Elsen claims his brain-child is almost an artificial intelligence. "It mimics what you tell it."

Four years in development and testing. LOUIS is used throughout the Air Force and some federal agencies. Air Force officials say the system's value is its simplicity and the reduced use of computer time

LOUIS is a tape program that can be placed into the memory of any Honeywell government computer. Once the tape is stored in the computer's memory. simple commands can be used to get information on personnel, budgets, finance, inventories, status of equipment, availability of communications circuits and whatever else government computers have stored away.

Elsen, 31, said his family background had much to do with LOUIS' develop-

"When I was a kid, my dad was working at a plant and one day he pulled out a piece of welding rod," Elsen said.

"What are you going to do with it, Elsen asked "Anything I want," was the reply.

East Germans See Contrast

BERLIN (UPI) - Like most East Germans in their early 20s, the seaman wore dark cords, a dark sweater and an army-type parks like those sported by rebellious Western students in the 1960s.

In East Germany, the outfit is just another uniform mingling with those of the many soldiers and police.

Neighborhood Casino Raided

ROLLING HILLS ESTATES, Calif. (UPI) - Almost everyone in the posh Palos Verdes Peninsula neighborhood, where most residents drive a Mercedes and jog in designer sweatsuits, knew something suspicious was going on.

Each night for the past year, high-priced automobiles would pull up in front of Billy Ray Meacham's home and the occupants would quietly slip inside the house and stay until dawn.

Some neighbors, where the custom homes range in price from $250,000 to $1 million, suspected a drug ring, others thought it was a haven for prostitutes. This weekend, they learned they were

The seaman complained about the economy and restrictions on travel but boasted that voyages had taken him to South America, the Mediterranean and "over there" to West Germany.

He wasn't all that keen on West Germans - arrogant and loud, he said - but he was certain they lived better. They were freer, they had more.

"I've thought about leaving several times," he said, "but there's my family. 'My father isn't in the (Communist) no-style gambling operation." Seventeen persons, including Meacham, were artrol agents crashed the Meacham's "casi-

Confiscated by authorities were gaming tables, dice, playing cards, poker chips, large amounts of liquor being served across a commercial bar and several ounces each of marijuana and cocaine, deputies said.

Deputy Mark Klugman said deputies who began infiltrating activities at the exclusive home three months ago witnessed "high-stakes gambling" and nar-

I have a brother still of school age. If they look in his file and see, 'Elder brother in Hamburg,' he can't get a decent job, he can't study, he can only dig ditches, work on the production line, collect garbage or be a street sweeper."

Communist officials, taunted by the example of a prosperous West Germany, make no attempt to deny economishortages and vow to better them.

But grumbling East Germans often cannot see why there are shortages when official statistics speak only of steady economic improvemen

"There is a saying here," one comput-er programmer said. "There are lies, white lies and statistics."

That skepticism contrasts with the sometimes blinding optimism of com-munist believers. The escort appointed to accompany me through East Germany

We walked along an East Berlin street where a line had formed outside a linen shop. The guide said she would not stand

"Perhaps they must," I suggested. "In our country, there is no must,"

Many East Germans are gloomy, but they are more prosperous than others in Eastern Europe. Nobody expects them to organize and fight for more freedom. People have it too good here, and Germans are too lame," one East Berlin-

Other factors possibly preventing revolt are the presence of an efficient pol-ice system and several Soviet and East

German army divisions. Youth groups and education and sports programs channel energy into the state from an early age.

In East Germany, they have known Prussian kings and Saxon lords, Bismarck, the Kaiser, Hitler, communism and a brief, disastrous experiment with democracy in the 1920s.

So many are content to get on with making the system work and ensuring home comforts. As one young agricultural student shrugged; "You must adapt to everything."

Five days after West Germans reelected Chancellor Helmut Schmidt last October, endorsing Schmidt's policy of detente with the East, East Germany doubled the amount of currency that West Germans visiting relatives must exchange each day of their stay - from $6.50 to $12.50.

is aimed at the black market in West Berlin where banks sell four East marks for every West mark, undercutting East Germany's official 1-to-1 exchange rate.

Several East Germans said the government, unnerved by the Polish crisis, wanted to reduce contact with the West.

"This time I held out for eight days," said an East German pensioner, Hermann Ehling, 75, explaining he had paid his final visit to his sister in West Berlin. "But I wouldn't want to live in West Berlin. There's too much noise, and all this robbery. that'll just get even worse.' Other East Germans shy away from the noisy hustle of the consumer society that most can see every night on West German television. As the 1949 division of Germany and the building of the Berlin Wall in 1961 recede into distant memory, the gap between West and East Germany grows.

Young East Germans shudder when they hear more than 600 West Germans borders are so tight," one girl said. Western music and fashions have made inroads in East Germany. But young people are increasingly estranged from one another. For me, it's another country," said West German Gabi Kleindienst, 27, of Bonn. "I was born after the war. How should I think of it differently?"

Germany has been divided for 31 years, and even the language reveals dif-ferences between East and West. East. Germans use constructions adopted from Russian. West Germans, like the French and other West Europeans, talk of "das weekend" and "schicke" clothes.

Experts say real language differences

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI) -There's a war going on across the border but people in Uzbekistan would rather talk about earthquakes.

"Always Afghanistan," a college student told Western visitors at a hotel night club. "Why don't you leave it alone? Let's dance instead.

The invasion came up again when the band took a break from playing Western

'Who needs it?" a visitor asked after mentioning the invasion. "The Afghans need it," a young man said. Everybody laughed.

"That's very clever," his girlfriend said, "but the fact is that they needed our help and they invited us in."

She was echoing the official line put out to justify the Soviet move into the neighboring country in December 1979. But she seemed sincere.

Variations on the theme came up in talks with officials and private citizens during a recent trip across the Central Asian republic.

Many said Afghanistan would benefit from the Soviet presence, just as their own region put illiteracy and rural poverty behind when the Bolsheviks took over in the 1920s.

"If we wanted to take Afghanistan by force, we could have. But we didn't," said Ziyat Esenbaev, the portly, gold-toothed, minister for publishing and head of the Uzbekistan Journalists Un-

Sheikh Yusif Khan Shakirov, a reli-

"They themselves are shooting at fellow Moslems," he said of the rebels. "Why aren't they ashamed? These are people who have squeezed out the juice of the poor people. Who would help Afghanistan if not we?"

Chatting in a Turkish bath, a soldier who served in East Germany said he was much more interested in the Polish cri-

Even an elderly resident who said, "Of course, I do not approve of the invasion," found a reason for it.

'If you were a Russian, what would you do?" he said. "The Chinese are behind the rebels and the Chinese are the most frightening thing in the world."

Earthquakes are frightening, too. But one of the college women at a birthday party in the Hotel Uzbekistan said, "You

A big earthquake in 1966 knocked down thousands of the low clay houses that Uzbeks have lived in for centuries. Authorities moved the homeless into new apartment buildings.

"Some people like it, some people don't," a cab driver said. "Some people want a piece of land so they can grow grapes. But take me, for instance. I live in an apartment with pleasure. I've got all the conveniences: electricity, indoor plumbing. It's great.'

Flu-Like Symptoms Plague Many Lubbockites

(Continued From Page One) ways to do so, but there are ways to lessen the body's chances of getting a cold.

It is very important to avoid getting run down or excessively tired, because that will weaken the body's resistance. Another item of great importance is washing your hands. Much research is being done today on the spread of colds and there is evidence to indicate that a significant number of colds are spread by the hands. A person gets the virus germs on his hands and, by rubbing his nose or his eyes, moves the virus right into his body. A book called "The Medicine Show," published by the editors of "Consumer Reports" magazine says it is now reasonably certain colds are spread more by shaking hands and handling germ-contaminated material than by sneezing, coughing or even kissing.

There is even some speculation that "the cure for the common cold" might someday involve a germ-killing hand lotion people could use during cold seasons.

Whatever the cure may someday be, there is nothing now to prevent, cure or even shorten the course of the common cold, according to the Food and Drug Administration. There are. however, plenty of remedies on the market that will relieve various symptoms of a cold. Aspirin, for example, can lessen the aches and fever that may be involved, but does nothing to cure the cause of the aches and fever.

The FDA reports there are 50,000 drug products for coughs, colds, allergies and asthma and that number includes just the "over-the-counter" (non-prescription) remedies. The FDA set up 17 panels to study the claims of all over-the-counter drugs and one of those panels studied cough and cold remedies. Involved in the drugs were 90 active ingredients to relieve various symptoms and the FDA panel divided those ingredients into different groups.

Among the groups are antitussives, which are cough suppressants; expectorants, which loosen mucus in the lungs so it can be coughed up: anticholingerics, which dry up watery secretions in the eyes and nose; nasal decongestants, which open up nasal passages; and other drug products associated with asthma, hay fever and allergies,

The FDA panel then classified the ingredients as to whether they were safe, effective and not mislabeled. The results are not particularly encouraging. Only a handful of the ingredients were found to be both safe and effective and labeled honestly.

Consumers can get a free copy of the results and get a lot of other useful information about colds by writing The Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009, and asking for their booklet "The Common Cold: Relief But No Cure."

When taking ANY drug - either prescription or overthe-counter - take the time to ask a pharmacist about the drug. Pharmacists are professionals who have studied and trained to be knowledgable about drugs and the advice is

The pharmacist's advice can be not only useful, but protective. For example, a person taking a cough suppressant might learn he should not take the antitussive before sleep-

The reason? Coughing is a defense mechanism in some cases. If there is fluid in the lungs, it needs to be coughed up. If a cough suppressant is taken, the coughing mechanism might be temporarily short-circuited and problems might result. In its extreme case, the problem might cause a person to "drown" due to the fluid in his lungs. Coughing due to smoking, asthma and emphysema should also not be sup-

Area Health Care Planners Fear Cutbacks

By DEBBI STALTER

Avalanche-Journal Staff Area health care planners are carefully eyeing President Reagan's proposed federal budget changes, which a local official says will entirely cut out health systems agency funding if passed.

Dr. John Selby, chairman of South Plains Health Systems Inc. said the organization faces a loss of half its fiscal 1981 funding and possibly its total funding for 1982, although the legislation setting it up will stay on the books until Oc-

Although an official announcement of future funding will not come until Reagan makes his proposed budget cuts cials with whom he has spoken throughout the state have indicated health systems agencies are dead.

Selby said several special interest groups have attacked the agencies' existence and the American Medical Association has gone on record opposing future support of the organizations

And Selby himself takes a dim view of the actual purpose of the groups.

For instance, he noted, through federal planning guidelines the agencies follow, communities are limited to four hospital beds per 1,000 population. However, he said, hospitals have in the past month had to turn away patients after an influenza epidemic hit and packed to the limit several hospitals here.

Selby said the AMA considers the organizations "a waste of time and money that don't save any lives."

And, he added, if cutting out costs is the only factor considered, health plan

He said he feels a return to the basic supply and demand approach would bring about the best control on inflated health care costs. Rather than leave an outside organization to decide how much expansion a hospital can undertake, Selby said the public's demand should make the final decision.

Unused space in the health facilities yould eventually close out of necessity,

Health systems executive director Ron Warner said the local agency has funding until May of this year, but after that time, federal backing will depend on what Reagan proposes and Congress ap-

He said he has not been formally notified of any cuts, although he has heard that some type of revenue-sharing plan may be carried out instead.

Under this approach, he said, states would receive bloc grants for health care planning, leaving the shift of emphasis at the statewide level rather than federal.

Warner said he hopes Congress will look at the importance of health care management before making a decision, noting his organization has focused on planning and resource development in the past rather than acting as a regulato-

Also to be seen in Reagan's proposals is the effect on the federally backed South Plains Emergency Medical Services Inc. A non-profit corporation which grew out of the health systems realm, SPEMS is charged with setting up improved quality and availability of emergency services within the Lubbock area.

The organization most recently has focused on training of emergency medical personnel, an improved communications network between hospitals and emergency vehicles and a future trauma center set-up that so far has been delayed by the exact designation of which hospital in Lubbock would serve as the center.

Although not directly funded by South Plains Health Systems, SPEMS serves as planning mechanism similar to those coming under review by Reagan's staff. The extent of its inclusion in health care planning reviews hasn't been clarified.

Local officials are awaiting Reagan's announcement next Wednesday for a clue to how much the local services will

For the past year, the typical saver has been playing the "Tuesday Game," rushing for the financial pages of his newspaper every Tuesday for news of the weekly auction at the Federal Reserve Bank for 26-week treasury bills.

The rate set at that Monday afternoon auction fixes the rate that will be offered by financial institutions on Thursdays on six-month money-market certificates.

If the papers report that the Thursday rate will be up, there is a lull in the sale of certificates on Tuesday and Wednesday followed by a rush to buy on Thursday when the higher rates take effect. Just the reverse happens when people have a two-day advance notice of a dip in rates.

Every two weeks, a similar event marks the disclosure of the new rate for 2 1/2-year money-market certifi-

Daisetta Hires Firm To Build New Gas System

DAISETTA (UPI) - The city council hired Wharton engineer James M. Ferguson and allowed him to begin designing a new natural gas system even before the federal grants to pay for it are in hand.

Mayor Harold McCann today said he had a commmitment from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to pay $380,000 for the building project. Earlier, the federal agency approved an early start on planning to expedite replacement of the city's antiquated, leaking system.

With assurances of that money and $111,000 from the Farmers Home Administration, the Daisetta City Council Tuesday night selected Ferguson, president of an engineering and survey company, to build the system.

Parity Files Missing From Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm parity, an issue that has befuddled politicians on occasion, is the subject of a minor mystery at the Agriculture Department. Call it the case of the missing parity files.

Parity, without getting into all the confusing details about formulas and other economic cobwebs, is roughly the prices farmers would need for commodities they produce to give them the same buying power they had in 1910-14.

It also is used to set standards for government price supports of some commodities, including milk.

And it always seems to be raised as an issue in election years, which brings up the mystery.

Because costs of production outran prices farmers get — the two essential ingredients in the formula — the parity ratio ebbed last April to 60 percent, the lowest reading for a single month in 47 years.

That fact did not escape the attention of Ed Curran, who as editor of the Agriculture Department's weekly "Farm Paper Letter" keeps track of parity readings, matching them against records of yesteryear.

Curran reported the parity news in the May 5 edition of his paper and mailed it as usual to farm editors, members of Congress and people in agribusiness. Copies were then stowed in gray steel files in Curran's office.

The May 5 edition of Curran's paper was mailed as usual, with copies carefully stowed in gray steel files in Curran's office.

Earlier this month, however, Curran went back to the files to prepare another parity item for his paper after the department's January report on farm prices showed the parity ratio for all of 1980 averaged 64 percent.

The parity files were gone, and all issues of the May 5 newsletter — the one with the worst-in-47-years news — were missing

Curran theorizes someone may have rifled his files in an effort to remove documents that would have cast a poor light on the Democratic administration during last year's election campaign, but he can't prove it.

Whatever happened to the missing files, there is a happy ending

Curran had a spare copy of the missing report hidden away — in plain sight, on his desk, And it survived.

So Curran was able to quickly reconstruct what happened to parity in 1980, based on the preliminary reading of 64 percent. That was the lowest average for an entire year since the indicator also was 64 percent in 1934, which was the second lowest on record. The lowest was 58 percent in 1933.

Bicycle Racer Fears Pain From Tumors

ENGLEWOOD. Colo (UPI) — The second time Olympic bicycle racer Bob Cook fell and broke his collarbone last summer, he had a feeling of impending

After breaking my collarbone that time. I had a feeling something nasty was going to happen to me, he said. "Usually you have an 'it-won't-happen-to-me' attitude. But then it all started happen-

Cook, 23. retired from competitive cycling and concentrated on his job as an engineer on Martin Marietta's space shuttle project. He only rode his bike the 25 miles from his Englewood home to work.

Last December, his left leg began to go numb. By Christmas he was bedridden, suffering from memory lapses and distored balance.

After a series of tests, doctors discovered Cook, who was considered among the top international bicycle racers for six years, had more than a half-dozen brain turnors. The medical experts do not know which way the turnors will go

After a month of radiation treatments. Cook has lost most of his hair and has constant headaches but said he is not bummed out.

It doesn't help to get bummed out, said Cook in a recent interview. I'm the same person, except I'm unable to do the things. I used to do. This whole thing seems like a step along the way. It doesn't seem all that dramatic.

At the Red Zinger Classic the summer of 1979, Cook tumbled off his bike in the opening-day criterium and broke his collarbone. He had been considered one of the favorites to win the Classic because many of the races were to be along mountain routes and he was noted for his climbing proficiency.

Cook got back into shape and led the overall standings after the first three stages of last summer's Colorado race, which got a new sponsor to become known as the Coors Classic. In one of the mountain races, Cook's bike hit some gravel on the shoulder of a highway and he broke his collarbone the second time.

Cook said he is more fearful of the pain getting worse than of dying.

I hate pain." he said, "but that death scares me second most. I haven't really come to terms with what could happen."

happen He is philosophical about his life

To some people, what they live for is to be important," Cook said. "To me, that is not an obsession. Sometimes I'll think about all the people in the world and then about all the other worlds. It makes you see how insignificant you really are."

Cook refuses to call his fate tragic It's just another story." he said

Reagan Considering Additional Aid To Poland

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration may consider some additional aid to Poland to ease the economic crisis feeding the labor unrest that has raised the threat of Soviet intervention, the State Department says.

While U.S. officials stressed they are not actively weighing new economic help for the debt-plagued communist government, a State Department statement issued Tuesday evening said: "Poland has asked the U.S. government for additional economic assistance and we continue to examine that request.

It added, "We feel a very important and sensitive sympathy for the people of Poland and their current plight, and we are considering what further steps could

The statement qualified spokesman William Dvess' assertion earlier in the considering any new aid to Poland.

Poland asked for $3 billion in aid from all sources last year.

The Washington Post reported today that U.S. officials and West European allies will meet in Paris later this month to discuss Poland's financial condition. Quoting high-ranking administration officials, the paper said one possible form of aid might be rescheduling part of Poland's $25 billion debt to the West.

U.S. officials, meanwhile, said they do not consider Soviet intervention in Poland inevitable.

"We do not consider that Soviet military intervention is imminent, or that it is inevitable, or that it is justifiable,' Dyess said. "We see no development with regard to Poland that would cause us to change our assessment that the

Nearly All Votes Cast In Korean Election

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - Government officials said more than threequarters of South Korean voters cast ballots today in elections for the electoral college that is expected to keep President Chun Doo-hwan in office for seven

The official figure on voter turnout was lower than the 95.5 percent given for last October's referendum for a new constitution. At that time, South Koreans were acting to replace a repressive consitution, written in 1972 by the late President Park Chung-hee to ensure his one-

Early voter turnout was light in today's election. Polling places checked shortly after the polls opened at 7 a.m. showed only a handful of voters had turned out in opening hours

Sadat Arrives In Paris To Seek Peace Initiative

PARIS (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat arrived in France today to pursue his mission of encouraging a European Common Market initiative on the Middle East while maintaining the Camp David peace process.

Although he is on a private visit, the Egyptian leader was met by French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing at Orly airport and received with full military honors in a nationally televised ceremony

A motorcade then took the two presidents into the capital, passing through the Left Bank, across the Seine and the Place de la Concorde to the presidential Elysee Palace while lunchtime crowds applauded.

Giscard d'Estaing and Sadat planned talks alone after dining together.

Government officials said Sadat is enormously popular among the French, who consider him a leader of political courage and open-mindedness because of his historic trip to Jerusalem in 1977 and his welcoming of the late shah of Iran to Egypt last year in the final months of the shah's life. In a speech Tuesday night in Luxembourg to the 434-member European Parliament, the legislative body of the 10-nation Common Market, Sadat called the European Mideast initiative launched in Venice last year a turning point in the search for peace. The Egyptian leader said Europe could become involved in security guarantees after an eventual settlement

"We should like you to participate with us in persuading those Israelis and Palestinians to accept a formula of mutual and simultaneous recognition," Sadat said.

He said he hoped the Common Market initiative would not interfere with the U.S.-sponsored Camp David process, which calls for autonomy for West Bank and Gaza Strip Palestinian Arabs but bars recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The Common Market has called for PLO association in the peace negotia(4 a.m. EST), government officials said 78.2 percent of South Korea's 20.9 million eligible voters had cast ballots.

Vote counting began immediately and election officials said results were expected about noon Thursday (10:00 p.m. EST today.

Election officials said voting was carried out "smoothly" across the country.

Although four parties ran presidential candidates, there was little doubt the 50year-old former army general and candidate of the Democratic Justice Party. would be elected by the 5,278-member college Feb. 25.

Ot 9,479 candidates for the college, 4,-610 were from the ruling Democratic Justice party and most of 3,442 independents were said to be Chun supporters.

The opposition parties combined to field 1,427 candidates:

The three other candidates were Yoo Chi-song of the Democratic Korea Party: Kim Chong-chul of the Korean National Party; and Kim Eui-taik of the Civil Rights Party.

Chun was named interim president in August, and today's balloting was the first nationwide voting since the October vote on the constitution drafted by Chun's regime. The constitution provides for a single 7-year presidential term.

The presidential campaign has been low-key. There have been some officially-sanctioned rallies and each party's candidate was allowed one 30-minute radio and television address.

Martial law, declared after the the assassination of President Park in October 1979. was lifted Jan. 24 before Chun's trip to Washington for talks with President Reagan.

Chun described the lifting of martial

mosphere of freedom for the presidential contest and the subsequent election expected in March or April - of a new national assembly.

Even so, a government blacklist bars more than 500 former opposition and dissident activists from political activity.

Observers say the country's last freely contested presidential election was in 1971, when Park narrowly defeated opposition leader Kim Dae-jung. Kim had been expected to head the political opposition here until his arrest last May on charges of treason and sedition.

He was sentenced to death by a court martial in September, the sentence was upheld last month by the Supreme Court but commuted by Chun to life imprison-

Despite the lifting of martial law and the commutation of Kim's death sentence, the midnight to 4 a.m. curfew remains in effect.

School Planned On Elections

The elections division staff of the secretary of state's office will conduct a school to prepare municipal and special district election officials and others for the April 4 elections.

The school is being sponsored for regional officials by the South Plains Association of Governments.

Training will be from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Feb. 25 at the SPAG conference room, 1709 26th St. More information may be obtained from Arlene Miller, SPAG director of regional services.

Registration deadline is Friday

CHICAGO (AP) - Grain and soybean futures prices rallied at midsession to close higher Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade

Traders said prices turned around on some light pricing by commercial interests amid choppy activity and very little change in fundamental supply and demand factors.

"We are just in kind of a trading range where day-to-day fluctuations may not take on as much significance as they would at other times," one analyst said. 'The market is going to go sideways until we get some big news out of Poland or Russian or something else."

Earlier, selling was said to be based partly on the storm moving across a large portion of the nation from the Rockies to the Great Lakes.

Waldheim Calls For End To Afghan Intervention

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim called today for a solution to the situation in Afghanistan that would allow the Afghan people "to determine their own destiny free from foreign interference and intervention." He did not mention the Soviet Union.

Waldheim made the appeal in an address to representatives of 92 nations meeting here at the Non-Aligned Foreign Ministers conference.

Some 85,000 Soviet troops stationed in Afghanistan are helping suppress an insurrection by anti-communist Moslem fundamentalists. The Kremlin sent troops into its neighbor to the south in December 1979, when one Marxist Afghan government fell in a coup and was replaced with the current regime headed by Babrak Karmal.

Waldheim noted that the United Nations has twice passed resolutions calling for the withdrawal of foreign troops from Afghanistan.

Earlier in the day, Waldheim met separately with the foreign ministers of Pakistan and Afghanistan. Pakistan, along with Iran, has frequently been accused by the Afghan regime of supporting rebellion against the Soviet-backed govern-

Sources said Tuesday that the conference's final resolution on Afghanistan would likely incorporate Pakistan's call for the withdrawal of foreign troops and India's less specific appeal for a "peaceful political solution. On Cambodia, another issue dividing the ideologically amorphous non-aligned movement, Waldheim expressed deep regret over the failure to find a settlement in that country, where the situation, he said, "remains precarious." Vietnam sent an estimated 200,000 troops into neighboring Cambodia in late

Samrin. Vietnamese forces remain in Cambodia. Earlier today, the Vietnamese foreign minister addressed the conference and vowed his nation's troops will remain in Cambodia until "the danger from China

Difficult Times Ahead For China

PEKING (AP) - U.S. Ambassador Leonard Woodcock said in a farewell speech today that the 1980s will be a "difficult decade" for China's economy but urged businessmen not to give up because "China will turn the corner."

Woodcock said he has "great optimism" for the future of strong and friendly Chinese-American relations based on its own merits and not for possible effect against any third country." an apparent reference to the Soviet Union. "I have said the 1980s would be a difficult decade for China," said the first American ambassador to China since the Communist revolution in 1949. Woodcock, 70, leaves China Friday after serving 31/2 years in Peking, first as head of the liason office and then as ambassador when diplomatic relations were established in January 1979. His replacement has not been announced. Speaking to the American Club of Peking, a group of businessmen and other Americans, Woodcock said a lack of energy and transportation means China will struggle with the economy "for practically all of this decade." He said "there will be business done. It will not be of any massive size but it will be substantial." He said those who do business with China "on a sensible, mutual benefit basis in these difficult days will most certainly reap the benefits and rewards of the time when I am confident China will turn the corner.

11 People Die In Zimbabwe

BULAWAYO, Zimbabwe (AP) - At least 11 people were killed in gun battles between factions of former guerrillas in Zimbabwe's new national army, police and other sources reported today.

The fighting between guerrillas loyal to Prime Minister Robert Mugabe and others to Joshua Nkomo, a minister without portfolio, was the bloodiest so far within the new army made up of former guerrillas and the regular soldiers they fought against in a seven-year independence war. The lastest clash began Tuesday night after an argument in a tent encampment at Glenville on the outskirts of Bulawayo, Zimbabwe's second largest city, police

It followed similar fighting among the ex-guerrillas in the 11,000-strong army in two other camps over the past few days. At least two former guerrillas are believed to have been killed and many wounded in those clashes, police sources

Franse Delivers, Tech Outsmarts Owls

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The Clovis, N.M., connection came through for Texas Tech again Tuesday, but it was the not-so-highly regarded sophomore member of the pair that keyed the Red Raiders' 61-55 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Rice at the Municipal Coliseum.

While freshman Bubba Jennings, Tech's third-leading scorer this season, was isolated by a zone-and-chaser Owl defense and barely sniffed the ball all night long, 6-foot-2 Nelson Franse came off the bench and provided the Raiders with sorely needed outside shooting.

Franse, who had played a total of 71 minutes in the previous 11 conference games, was in the game for all but two minutes against Rice and responded with 12 points on six of nine long-range jum-

'There's the difference in the game right there," Tech's Jeff Taylor said, pointing to Franse. "He came off the

The Rice defense - one player shadowing Jennings and keeping him from the ball while the other four played a 1-3 zone defense - was effective in stopping Jennings. He got one shot off in 40 minutes of playing time, spent running endless wind sprints along the baseline or standing face-to-face with a defender in the corner, watching the four-on-four Franse, meanwhile, took up the outside shooting slack and, when the Owls put pressure on him and Taylor at the top of the key, worked the ball into postmen Ben Hill and Clarence Swannegan.

"We have had some games where we have had the lead at the end of the game and were in our delay and wound up losing," said Franse. "Tonight we took our time, worked it and hit the shots.

'We just didn't hit our open shots in the first half," Franse added. "In the second half, they tried to put more pressure outside on Jeff and I, so we were "Franse is a good shooter. Anytime you do something like that (the special defense on Jennings), you're taking a chance," Rice coach Mike Schuler said. 'Sometimes it works and sometimes it hurts you.

The Owls' game plan worked for a half and Tech found itself on the bottom end of a 34-27 halftime score. But with Franse and Taylor zeroing in from the top of the key at the outset of the second half, the Raiders made their move.

Ricky Pierce hit a layin with 12 seconds gone in the half to up Rice's margin to 36-27 before the Raiders found the range. Franse hit three 18-foot bombs and Taylor had a pair of long jumpers in the next eight minutes before Taylor's layin gave Tech the lead 45-44 with 12:06

The Owl defense adjusted to stop the long-range antics and a slumbering Swannegan roared to life. The 6-6 junior, who suffocated under the Owl zone in the first 20 minutes and missed all seven of his first-half shots, took short feeds from Taylor and went to work.

Phelps Accepts TriumphCalmly

Digger Phelps wasn't particularly thrilled with his 200th coaching victory at Notre Dame. He might have clicked his heels a few times, though, had it come one

Rebounding with a vengeance from a tough one-point loss to UCLA on Sunday that dropped them to 12th in The Associated Press ratings, the Irish crushed Boston University 89-63 Tuesday night. 'We had the mental intensity we needed," Phelps said. "We shot 74 percent in the first half (20 of 27) against a team that was pressing and using a zone. We were just in a good groove and that got things going."

was concerned. Phelps had to confess that he felt "nothing really. That's for someone else to worry about. All I'd like to do is win the national title, then celebrate." Phelps' 200th triumph was never in doubt. Notre Dame scored the game's first 10 points, including four apiece by John Paxson and Tim Andree. Orlando Woolridge led the Irish with 18 points and Tracy Jackson added 17. BU coach Rick Pitino said his Terriers were "totally intimidated" by playing in South Bend. "We were in awe, not just of the Notre Dame basketball team, but of Notre Dame, period," he added. "We're a good New England team. We play Boston College and Connecticut and some of the other top teams in the East, but we weren't mentally prepared at all.

"We were certainly not a good representative of Eastern basketball. We are tired. We've been on the road to New Mexico. Boston University has upgraded its schedule to improve the team, but that doesn't necessarily work. This is a level we want to play at. Hopefully, we'll arrive there in a shorter period of time than the wiched around a feed for a Hill slam and the Raiders led 51-48.

The next trip down the floor, Swanegan canned a three-footer and Hill's muscle move inside produced another easy jump shot and a 55-51 lead with 3:34 to Pierce, who led all scorers with 24 points, responded with an arching 10footer before Swannegan turned in the play of the contest, effectively shattering. any Rice hopes.

With the Raiders up 55-53, Swannegan took a bounce pass from Taylor, gave Pierce a head fake inside and rolled to the basket, canning a short layin. Pierce fouled him on the move and Swannegan's free throw gave Tech a 58-53 bulge with 1:20 to play.

Pierce came back with the Owls' last gasp, a 20-footer from the baseline, but Swannegan hit a pair of charity tosses and Hill added one free throw in the final seconds to frame the victory.

This was really a chess-match type of ballgame," acknowledged a relieved Tech coach Gerald Myers. "It kept going back and forth in the beginning. The difference I felt was in the beginning we couldn't adjust to the 1-3 defense with the man-to-man against Bubba.

We came in at halftime with our heads down but we came out in the second half a little more confident and made some clutch shots." Myers continued. "Nelson Franse played really well for us, especially the way he took so much pressure off Clarence inside so we could get him the ball."

Swannegan, after his miserable first survived being inadvertantly stepped on by an official to hit six of ished with 17 points and 12 rebounds, half of Tech's total.

Taylor, despite playing the entire sec-ond half with four fouls after guarding Pierce in the first half, scored 15

Guard Bobby Tudor was the only Owl besides Pierce in double figures, scoring

"I guess we thought the game was over at the half," Schuler noted. "We were in complete control the first half, but we got to standing around on offense the second half. Tech had some players in foul trouble, such as Taylor with four, but we couldn't exploit it."

Tech evened its conference record at 6-6 with the win and improved to 12-10 for the season. Rice, in fourth place when the game began, slipped to 6-5 and 10-13 and virtually lost any chance of claiming the SWC crown.

Charlie Finley Gets Top Medical Care

HOUSTON (AP) - Charles O. Finley is undergoing a series of tests and is under the observation of a heart specialist in a hospital in Houston, according to an assistant to the controversial former owner of the Oakland A's.

Finley admitted himself to the Methodist Hospital on Sunday and is under the care and obseravation of Dr. Michael De-Bakey, the noted heart specialist. He was "resting comfortably" Tuesday, the assistant said.

Finley, who will turn 63 in less than two weeks, underwent open-heart surgery in 1977

"I was feeling uncomfortable for the last three weeks, so I decided Saturday to come down and have a doctor look me over. Finley, president of the Chicagobased Charles O. Finely and Co., Inc., said in a telephone interview.

Finley, whose tactics often drew fire from fellow American League owners sold the A's last November

MHS Errs But Wins As CHS Fails To Capitalize

By RUSS PARSONS

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff It was almost like stepping into a time warp. Monterey, which trailed 22-10 at halftime of its first game with Coronado, led 23-10 at the half Tuesday night. And then, like the Mustangs in the opener, they proceeded to dribble the lead away, refusing to take the easy win. But unlike the Coronado bunch, the Plainsmen stopped short of an outright giveaway, making just enough free throws at the end to come out with a 43-

In the original, Coronado coughed up a 42-40 double-overtime loss. Not that Monterey didn't try. Playing some of its best basketball of the year, the Plainsmen jumped to a 23-10 lead going into the locker room.

Then, playing just as badly as it had played well, Monterey turned the ball over 11 times in the second half (compared to two in the first) to make the contest a little more exciting.

Suitably, it was some mediocre foul shooting at the end that saved the Plainsmen's bacon. Leading only 37-33 with 1:23 remaining in the game, Monterey hit only six of 10 free throw attempts down the stretch. They were just enough, primarily because Coronado only scored

Included in that shoddy shooting was the missing of the front ends of back-toback one-and-one attempts in the last

"In the fourth quarter we just shut down, we didn't do anything," said Mon-terey coach Joe Michalka. "I knew we'd play better to start the game; we were

"I was real proud of the way we came back in the second half and challenged." But back to those Monterey turnovers: they were the things that really made the game close. The Plainsmen made six in the third period that saw their 13-point lead drop to nine and then they turned it over five times in the fourth period, despite running a stall for the last four minutes of the contest.

"I think we were just trying to do too much when they trapped us in the second half," Michalka said. "We tried to score and pass at the same time instead of just moving the ball quickly."

Three Monterey players scored in double figures with game-high scorer Gary Hodges leading the way with 14. Ian Hyslop and Jerrell Key each contributed Coronado's pair of high-scoring wings (Robby Garner and Cody Love), who are each averaging over 12 points a game, combined for 12 in Tuesday night's game. Junior big man Mark Sobosle was the only Pony to break double figures,

imping in 10 before fouling out.

The Monterey girls, playing their bynow traditional three quarters of good basketball, proved once again that it was enough Tuesday night, blitzing Coronado

'It was the Plainsmen's third straight win over the Mustangs this year. With it, they move to 25-1 on the season and an imposing 2-0 in the second half of District 45A play. Coronado, on the other

Indeed, Coronado did trail by only three, 14-11, at the end of the first period, certainly within striking distance.

But the only thing the Mustangs five minutes of the game we only had six struck in the second period was the canvas as Monterey outscored them 27-13 in plowing to a 41-24 advantage figures (Alayna Gilmore had 16 and Kriss Ethridge had 10 in a little over three quarters of play) but a total of 11 Monterey girls chipped in points.

"We had a real slow start," said Monterey coach Tim Tasker, viewing the first period from a slightly different vantage

"We played good team basketball," said Tasker. "Alayna Gilmore scored well tonight and she did real well playing in a team offense."

Hard-Luck Sonics Present Hard Time To Celtics

By The Associated Press

It has not been a very enjoyable season for the Seattle SuperSonics, who have struggled because of injuries to Paul Westphal and Lonnie Shelton and a contract dispute that has kept Gus Williants on the sidelines.

But finally they found reason to re-

The Sonics rallied from a seven-point deficit in the final two minutes of regulation play and went on to stun the Boston Celtics 108-107 in overtime Tuesday night at the Kingdome in Seattle. It was the lourth loss in the last six National Basketball Association games for the Celtics, who fell three games behind Philadelphia in the Atlantic Division race.

"It was one of the biggest wins of the year, especially now when we have to put a string together," said Sonics' coach Lenny Wilkens, whose club has a modest three-game winning streak and is still in the chase for a playoff berth despite a 25-

"It's the type of g tme that can turn the whole season around," said Westphal, who came off the bench to lead Seattle with 24 points. "If we spring off it and use it as momentum, it can help us on the coming road trip."

The Sonics start a four-game road swing at Portland Thursday night.

Boston seemed to have the game in hand with a 98-91 lead, but Seattle's John Johnson hit two free throws and Fred Brown followed with a three-pointer and a layup off a Vinnie Johnson steal to tie the score with 1:12 to go.

When it was 98-91, it got real ugly, said Boston coach Bill Fitch. "During that time, it was the only period that we misfired in the backcourt all night. They didn't have a beautiful game either. We kicked them and they kicked us."

Neither team could score for more than a minute before Vinnie Johnson hit a jumper to put Seattle ahead 100-98 with four seconds left. Boston's Chris Ford was short with a three-point try but Larry Bird converted the offensive rebound at the buzzer to force overtime.

James Donaldson and Vinnie Johnson scored the first two baskets of the five-minute overtime for Seattle, which then held off Boston. The Celtics had a chance to pull it out after calling a timeout with seven seconds left, but Parish fumbled a pass from Bird and couldn't get a shot off before the final buzzer.

Parish led the Celtics with 29 points and 21 rebounds while Bird added 23 points and 17 rebounds

Bells 116, Kings 115 Ricky Sobers, who scored 16 of his 22

Sobers made all 12 of his free-throw attempts in the game to set a club record of 48 in a row without a miss. Chet Walker had set the old Bulls' mark of 47 in

"I wasn't conscious of it at all," said Sobers. "But I hope I can put the pressure on (Calvin) Murphy and get the freethrow title.

Murphy, of the Houston Rockets, leads the NBA nn free-throw percentage with a .964 mark, while Sobers is at .940. Another mark for Sobers to shoot at is Rick Barry's NBA standard of 60 consecutive successful free throws.

Hawks 116, Warriors 108 Atlanta led 92-81 going into the final period but Golden State pulled within six

John Drew topped the Hawks with 25 points and Roundfield and Eddie Johnson added 22 eich. It was only the third victory for the Hawks in their last 18 games and their first home victory of

Razorback Win Sets Up 'High Noon' With Coogs

The Arkansas Razorbacks are alive and well and right back in the middle of the Southwest Conference basketball

fense Tuesday to coast to an easy 67-50 victory over the Baylor Bears to set the stage for Saturday's "High Noon" type shootout with the Houston Cougars.

SLUMPING - Arkansas player U.S. Reed falls backward in a a vain attempt to draw a charging foul from Baylor's Joe Copeland (32) Tuesday night in Fayetteville, Ark. The Hogs' Scott Hastings and Keith Peterson watch. The Razorbacks stopped Baylor Appropriately the game will be played at high noon Saturday for a regional television audience with the Razorbacks hoping to use the home-floor advantage to move closer to the firstplace Cougars.

In other SWC roundball action Tuesday night. Texas edged Texas Christian, 88-84: Texas Tech beat Rice, 61-55, and Texas A&M beat Southern Methodist, 61-

Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton said the Razorbacks played their best defense ever for 20 minutes in the victory over Baylor. The Razorbacks used a strong manto-man defense to limit Baylor to eight points in a 16-minute span.

"Our press did a great job. I'm sure they threw the ball away seven or eight times against it," Sutton said.

Darrell Walker came off the bench to score 16 points for Arkansas and Scott Hastings had 22 for the Razorbacks. Terry Teagle had 14 points and was the only Baylor player scoring in double figures.

Baylor coach Jim Haller said Hastings was the difference in the game.

"We usually do well against Arkansas when we shut Hastings off, but tonight he had 14 points by halftime," Haller

The Texas Longhorns jumped off to a comfortable 53-28 halftime lead, but had to hang on at the end for an 88-84 victory

Texas coach Abe Lemons said he didn't know what happened in the second half when TCU outscored the Longhorns 15-2 in the opening minutes and pulled to within two points with just under a minute remaining in the game.

"I guess you've got to play them close to keep the crowds coming back. We had a whole lot of bad and attle bit of good

REDSKIN RETIRES

WASHINGTON (AP) - Washington Redskins' linebacker Pete Wysocki announced his retirement from pro football Tuesday after six seasons with the Redskins in the National Football League and four seasons in the Canadian Football League. The 32-year-old Wysocki played in 88 games after joining the Redskins as a free agent in 1975. An agressive, hard-hitting tackler, Wysocki was used primarily as a special-teams player under former coach George Allen whole year," Lemons said, "What you saw is what we are.

Ken Montgomery had 28 points and LaSalle Thompson had 19 for Texas. Deckery Johnson had 20 and Darrell Browder had 17 for the Horned Frogs.

Vernon Smith hit 21 points to lead Texas A&M to its fourth consecutive SWC victory as the Aggies beat SMU, 61-

Dave Piehler had 19 points for the Mustangs.

"It wasn't pretty, but I'll take ... I'll take anything these days," said Aggies' coach Shelby Metcalf, noting that the four straight victories came after seven consecutive conference losses for the de-tending champion Aggies.

SMU coach Dave Bliss also noted that "A&M seems to be playing very well at this point and they are going to make it difficult for some teams the rest of the way," Bliss said.

In addition to Saturday's regionally televised game matching the Cougars and Razorbacks, Baylor is at Texas Tech, Texas A&M visits Rice and TCU is at SMU for night games.

Geoff Huston Adjusts To Trade

CLEVELAND (AP) - Several basketball players have been titled "the newest Cavalier" this year, but Geoff Huston may have the loftiest goals of any acquisition.

"I really don't care about any personal goals, points or anything like that. My only goal is winning a championship - getting that ring," he said.

The 23-year-old Huston was obtained last week from the Dallas Mavericks in a trade for rookie Chad Kinch and Cleveland's first-round draft pick in 1985.

As a third-round draft choice out of Texas Tech in 1979, Huston said he just wanted to play in the National Basketball Association. That goal was realized as a reserve guard for the New York Knicks. He was taken by Dallas in the 1980 expansion draft and became the Mavericks' top scorer and leading playmaker averging 16 points and five assists a game.

"At Dallas, I gained some respect as a good point guard. It was a good experience for me. I played a lot of minutes. It was ing," he said. The Mavericks' 8-50 record is the worst in the NBA.

At 6-foot-2, Huston is likely to see playing time with the Cavaliers at both the point guard and off-guard positions. He is seeking a three-year contract and Cavaliers' president Ted Stepien said he anticipates no problem in negotiations with Hus-

Huston is a native of New York and has played organized basketball since sixth grade. During the offseason, he said he goes back to New York to work with youngsters.

"I try to work with little kids, with basketball, baseball or whatever," he said. "I try to remember what it was like when I was a kid. I want to give something back. I want to share with the kids and maybe help some along the way.

Huston said the change of system from Dallas to Cleveland might take some adjusting, but he said trades do not affect him

When I came to the pro game as a third-round draft choice, I figured if I made it, I probably would have to move around some. I have been objective about it.

"I've learned to keep a positive attitude despite things going on around me and this attitude has helped me a lot," he said. " just want to do the best job I can for the team I'm with - and

ing figures named in a $21.3 million bank fraud suit filed by Wells Fargo National Bank, is reported to be in FBI hands and discussing the case with investigators.

Lewis, a director of Muhammad Ali Profess Inc. and operations manager of Weils Fargo's Beverly Drive Branch, has not been seen in public since reports of the alleged embezziement began to circulate earlier this month.

Meanwhile, Wells Fargo announced Tuesday that Gene Kawakami, the manager of one of its major branches, had been relieved of his duties.

Bank spokesman George Caulfield also confirmed that the bank is seeking $25 million in punitive damages from MAPS, in addition to the return of the $21.3 million allegedly embezzled.

Caulfield declined to say why Kawakami, manager of the bank's branch in the wealthy Miracle Mile district, was relieved of his duties, and Kawakami said he had been advised by his attorney to make no statements.

Asked if Kawakami was relieved because of allegations on tape cassettes delivered to sportscasters from Harold J. Smith — the other missing men named in the bank's suit — Caulfield said. "I'd better not comment on that. All you can say is that the action relates to our continuing investigation of facts around the case." However, Caulfield did say of Kawakami,

"We're not suspending him — he's still in our employ."

The Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram and Time magazine reported they had learned that Lewis has been in the hands of the FBI since last Wednesday or Thursday.

The FBI refused to confirm the report, and pointed out that no warrants had yet been issued in the case.

Caulfield said he had no reports from the FBI that Lewis had turned himself in but he acknowledged that the bank's suit points at Lewis as the key to the alleged embezzlement.

Bank caused traudulent transactions to occur by manipulation of ... internal operation procedures."

The suit goes on to contend that "L. Ben Lewis knowingly violated his obligations to act with loyalty and in good faith by doing the following acts ... causing fraudulent and fictitious credits to be made to the defendants' accounts; issuing cashier's checks to the defendants against uncollectable funds or against no deposit; authorizing withdrawals from the defendants' account when the funds credited therein were uncollectible."

While Smith's whereabouts also remained unknown, Freddie Sommers, who has been associated with MAPS' projects in the past, said Tuesday night he had spoken with Smith, and had been told to arrange a news conference for Friday in Los Ange-

Holmes Gains Fame — At Last

Larry Holmes is whizzing along the Pennsylvania Turnpike at 70-odd miles per hour, thinking he's A.J. Foyt, when a state trooper, siren screaming, pulls alongside and motions him to the road's shoulder

"Where's the fire?" the trooper growls, and yanks a pad from his hip pocket. Then suddenly he looks inside the car and freezes

"Oh, eh ... eh. Hi, there, champ," he manages to mumble. "You were moving pretty fast, don't you think?

"Got an important press conference in New York," says Holmes.

"Okay, but go easy now, hear?" Holmes revved up the eight-cylinders and sped away, his foot still heavy on the gas pedal.

"Eeeceen, eeeceeen!" goes the sirens again. Again Holmes pulls to the highway shoulder. He is just beginning to frame an apology when the trooper interrupts.
"I called headquarters and told them I had stopped Larry Holmes for speeding," the trooper says. "They told me if I let you get away without an autograph, don't come back."

The trooper proceeds to chaperone the limousine to the

For Larry Holmes, they don't go by anymore.

Since the big, easy-going son of a Cuthbert, Ga., laborer crushed the immortal Ali in 11 rounds last October for his 36th straight professional victory — 27 knockouts and no defeats the ring world has come to realize it has more than an ordinary fistfighter in its midst. -

He walks into a luncheonette off Broadway and sits at the counter. "Hey, champ," the waiter says," a stool is no place for the champion. Here's a good table over in the corner." Soon he is besieged for autographs.

Holmes came to New York for the formal announcement of his April 11 title defense against Canada's bullish Trevor Ber-bick, who knocked out former WBA champion John Tate.

Holmes is reportedly getting $750,000 and Berbick $250,000 for the cable television show at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. "Now that you are champion," a radio broadcaster asked,

"why don't you demand $5 and $8 million purses the way Ali "Money don't mean that much to me," Holmes replied. "I got to fight to keep in shape. I got to give the guys — even the little guys — a shot. After this, I'll fight Leon Spinks and then maybe Mike Weaver (WBA champion) and hang it up."

Listeners were unconvinced. "You're only 31." a skeptic insisted. "You mean you're going to sacrifice all the money that you could make now that you're on top?"

"Money? What's money?" the champ asked rhetorically. "I got an $800,000 home in Easton. I got an office, a place for kids to train, a new nightclub ("Round One"), five automobiles, all paid for, and plenty of money in the bank.

Tony Mason's Trial Faces Postponement

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - A Pima County Superior Court judge has postponed the trial of former University of Arizona football coach Tony Mason and six of his former assistants for 30 days.

Judge Robert Buchanan delayed the trials Tuesday after defense lawyers argued recent publicity would deny their clients a fair trial.

Buchanan also agreed to hold a hearing next week to decide about an indefinite postponement.

News reports last week disclosed that evidence filed in the case included reports by state investigators that assistant coaches admitted receiving money for trips they never took. Because of the intensity of the publicity over three days. I'm not sure we can handle that with a 30-day continuance," said Steve Weiss, attorney for former assistant coaches Thomas Roggeman and Robert Valensente In another matter, Mason's attorner

Rick Gonzales, was denied a motion to take depositions from the assistant coaches who will be tried after Mason.

Assistant Attorney General Lindsay Brew has said he will call the coaches to testify against Mason. Defense attorneys argued it will incriminate their clients.

Jurors Award Child Damages

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal court jury has awarded $400,000 to a Victnamese orphan who was aboard a jet that crashed while flying refugees out of Vietnam during the fall of the Saigon regime in April 1975

The child, 6-year-old James Matthew Zimmerly, now lives with adopted parents in St. Louis. He was one of 330 peo-ple aboard the Lockheed jetliner that was part of the U.S. mercy mission known as "Operation Baby Lift.

It was the second time the Zimmerly suit has been tried. An earlier jury did not award anything to the child, while granting a total of $1.5 million to two other passengers on the same flight. U.S. District Judge Louis Oberdorfer ordered a new trial on the Zimmerly case last spring, citing racially prejudiced arguments by lawyers for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and possible jury confusion over financial aspects of the case. The child's lawyers contended that he suffered brain damage when the aircraft suddenly lost oxygen just prior to the crash. The injury resulted in a number of impairments, including learning and emotional problems, they said.

The sentence was imposed by U.S. District Judge Richard Owen on Tuesday, following Day's guilty plea in November. Prosecutors said the scheme falsely involved White, then-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in an effort to get a $1 million payoff from Day, 49, of Brookshire admitted he falsely claimed that White would help him secure the release of eight embar goed military airplanes Libya was trying to get from the U.S. government.

In a separate matter, Day also made White the unwitting subject of an Abscam investigator who tried to bribe the former Texas agriculture commissioner, court records showed.

But Owen was unsympathetic to defense claims that Day's scheme was

This is not puffery, this is just fraud on the highest level," the judge said.

Day, in his guilty plea, admitted to the scheme which involved getting $30,-000 from "investors" to finance a deal that was supposed to collect a $1 million payoff from Libya. Object of the scheme, Day said he told investors, was to get a U.S. embargo lifted on Libya's order for the military planes.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Raymond Levites said Day did, as part of the conspiracy over 1978-79, induce White to meet with a Libyan diplomat.

Man Awaiting Execution Moved To 'Death House'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - David Dene Martin was being moved to Louisiana's 'death house" today as his lawyer searched for a way to block the convicted murderer's scheduled execution on Friday the 13th.

On Tuesday, the Louisiana Supreme Court voted 4-2 against halting the execution, the second time the state's highest rourt has ruled Martin can be executed.

Two dissenting justices argued Martin was due another day in court on issues raised by his defense, but the majority ruling meant the end of the legal line in Richard Shapiro, a lawyer for the outhern Prisoners Defense Committee, said he would carry the fight for a stay of execution to federal court. Martin, 28, was convicted of killing

Meanwhile, Warden Frank Blackburn of the state prison at Angola, La., said Martin would be moved to the "death house," an empty tier of cells near the room that houses the state's electric

He said Martin would be kept under 24-hour guard.

As the defense searched for a way to block the execution, aides to Gov. Dave Treen said the state's chief executive had the authority to issue a reprieve but had not been asked to do so.

"I imagine the governor could stop it at any time," said top aide Edgar "Son-ny" Mouton. "I also believe the governor would not intervene until such time that four people in Terrebonne Parish in 1977 the courts have decided."

Harris' lawyer jumped out of his chair shouting today as he began cross-examining a pathologist who disputed defense claims that Scarsdale Diet doctor Herman Tarnower was shot during a struggle

Dr. Louis Roh, the deputy Westchester County medical examiner who performed Tarnower's autopsy, has testified that tissue fragments found in Tarnower's chest wound were carried there by a bullet fired into the physician's hand as he was warding off an attack.

Government prosecutors have indicated they would submit documents obtained through West Germany from the Soviet Union.

Defense attorney John W. Martin denied allegations that Demjanjuk, an auto mechanic from suburban Seven Hills, served at two camps in occupied Poland. Justice Department prosecutors charge Demjanjuk was a camp guard who helped the Nazis commit atrocities in 1942 and 1943.

The government contends that while Demjanjuk served in the Soviet army, he was captured by Germans, recruited and trained by the SS Wachmannschaft and assigned to duties at Treblinka and Sobibor. Poland.

Prisoners of war were essential to the implementation of "Operation Reinhard" a German plan to exterminate Jews in Europe, Horrigan said.

Prosecution expert witness Wolfgang Scheffler, a West Berlin professor and expert on Nazi government and its persecution of Jews, testified "Operation Reinhard" resulted in possibly 900,000 deaths in Treblinka and up to 250,000 in Sobibor, mostly of Jews.

The executions couldn't have been carried out without the use of recruited Ukrainians and other POWs, Scheffler

Neither Scheffler nor Earl F. Ziemke, another prosecution expert witness from the University of Georgia, linked Demjanjuk to the deaths.

Horrigan said Demjanjuk told U.S. immigration officials in the 1950s that he was born in Kiev in 1920 and worked as a farmer in Poland from 1936 to 1943 before moving to Danzig as a laborer. But Demjanjuk later said he was born in a rural Ukrainian town and lived on a collective farm in Russia until drafted into the Soviet army, the lawyer said widow who lives with convicted collabo-rator Pfc. Robert Garwood told a military jury today that the 34-year-old Mar-ine needs medical treatment rather than a prison sentence.

Donna Long, a petite strawberry blonde and widow of an ex-Marine, was called as the first defense witness as the sentencing phase of Garwood's court-

Mrs. Long's 9-year-old son, D.J., testified that he had looked on Garwood as a father since September 1979, when his real father was killed in a motorcycle ac-

"I think he shouldn't go to jail," the small, sandy-haired boy testified. "For one reason, because I love him.'

Garwood, who has remained virtually expressionless through his 12-week courtmartial, listened to the child intently, his lips turning up in a small smile. The same jury of five Marine officers that convicted him last week of collaboration with the enemy and assaulting a fellow prisoner of war will decide his sentence, which could range to life in prison.

Mrs. Long testified that she and her husband befriended Garwood when he arrived at Camp Lejeune in May 1979 after spending almost 14 years as a prisoner of war. Garwood lived briefly with the Longs, but moved out after Dale Long was killed because, she said, "he didn't think it was right."

Garwood moved back in September 1980 and has been living with Mrs. Long and her two sons since.

The court adjourned until Thursday

The Carter administration regulation. which called for automatic restraints in all large 1982 model cars, has been criticized by the automobile industry.

Lewis said this week that a proposed rule to delay implementation of the standard will be initiated soon by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Opportunities for public comment are required before the delay becomes final.

He said the delay is necessary to allow a re-evaluation of the rule's benefits and costs "in light of these changed circumstances in the auto industry and the U.S.

U.S. Reducing Aid To Poorer Nations

By The Associated Press

U.S. foreign aid, once the gold mine of world development, is in an acceleratdustrial democracies as Japan and West Germany are setting higher and higher goals for their aid programs.

Among the top half-dozen donor na-tions of the West, only Britain, under Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's austerity program, has joined Washington in whittling away at its financial assistance to poorer nations. As a result of the current aid skid, the United States now ranks 15th among 17 nations in ratios of aid-to-wealth. The 17 countries are the major aid donors of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, a grouping of industrialized democracies. Official American development aid in 1979, the last year for which comparative statistics are available, totaled $4.7 billion, which equaled one-fifth of 1 percent of the U.S. gross national product. Only Austria, with an aid program equivalent to .19 percent of GNP, and Italy, at .08 percent, were lower.

The most generous donors statistically - Sweden, the Netherlands and Norway - all topped the .9 percent-of-GNP level, almost five times the U.S. rate. The United States remains the biggest single contributor of foreign aid. In dol-lars, the Swedish, Dutch and Norwegian programs together totaled barely more than half the amount of U.S. aid. But specialists in the field regard the aid-to-GNP ratio as the most meaningful indicator of a government's generosity

They point out, for example, that the GNP of the United States equals the GNPs of Japan, West Germany and France combined, but those three countries together spend twice as much on foreign aid as Washington.

In the first decade after World War II. the United States was virtually alone in providing substantial overseas aid. But from more than 5 percent of GNP in the Eisenhower-Kennedy years, the aid program slipped to .32 percent in 1970, and on down to its 1979 low of .2 percent.

In its report for 1980, the OECD's Development Assistance Committee concludes "there appears to be no present chance" that OECD donors will collectively reach the United Nations' goal of .7 percent of GNP in aid by 1985. The committee largely blames the United

The outgoing Carter administration proposed a foreign-aid budget of $8 bil-lion for fiscal 1982, which begins next Oct. 1, but President Reagan's Office of Management and Budget has suggested cutting that by $2.6 billion, for a budget of roughly $6.4 billion.

The proposed cuts drew criticism from such U.S. allies as West Germany, France and Canada. Liberals in Congress also assailed the planned cutbacks. Last month, then-Secretary of State Edmund Muskie noted the long decline and said the United States "can no longer afford to act as if foreign aid were charity, and as if diplomacy were a diversion. ### Smith Keeps Information Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General William French Smith intends to continue a Justice Department policy of restricting calls from White House and congressional officials inquiring about pending investigations or cases. In a memorandum to heads of department offices, boards, bureaus and divi-sions, the new attorney general directed that any calls or contacts from the White House or Congress be referred directly to him or his deputy. Smith's order substantially reaffirmed directives issued by his two Democratic predecessors, Benjamin Civiletti and Griffin Bell, with only minor differences

Bell first issued the guidelines Sept. 6, 1978, partially in response to Watergate-cra revelations that Assistant Attorney General Henry Peterson had discussed details of that investigation directly with then-President Richard Nixon.

Bell's order alse followed a controver-sy over his contacts early in the Carter administration with Joshua Eilberg, a Pennsylvania congressman who sought the firing of David Marston. Marston, a Regublican U.S. attorney in Philadelphi-a, was in solid part of the time.

Bell said he issued the guidelines be-cause the power that goes with positions in the White House and Congress creates a potential for unintentional influence upon a decision, or more often, may give rise to the broad appearance of improper influence.

In his directive, Smith said, "The effective and impartial administration of the laws depends on the exercise of good judgment. ... Already I have observed that those in the Department of Justice are steadfastly professional in the administration of the law

Smith directed that "all inquiries and information concerning pending investigations or cases from either the White House staff or the Congress should be directed to the offices of the attorney general or the deputy attorney go

Additionally, he directed that each assistant attorney general report to the deputy attorney general all communica-tions about specific cases by persons other than those involved in the litigation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Billy Carter has started repaying the Libyan government the controversial $220,000 that made him the target of a federal investigation and deeply embarrassed his Ali Hocderi, head of Libya's diplomatic mission in Washington, told United Press International Tuesday the mission received a $1,000 check from the former president's brother last month.

Houderi said his government expects Carter to repay the entire $220,000. "But at this time I can't say when the rest of the amount will be paid," he said.

Carter could not be reached for comment. But NBC News quoted a spokesman for him as saying the payment was hoped-for loan of $500,000. Houderi said there were two installments - one of $20,000 and the other of $200,000 Carter registered with the Justice De-

LOS ANGELES (AP) - President Reagan's eldest son, under investigation

Municipal Court documents show Miesael Reagan, 35, was questioned and his home searched in connection with his gasohol venture and his role in introducing prospective investors to a man selling mining stock.

Both investigations began before Ro iald Reagan was elected president.

Michael Reagan's home was searched Friday in connection with the investigation into Agricultural Energy Resources, his proposed enterprise to sell equipment to convert excess or spoiled crops into gasohol. The Hollywood branch of the Security Pacific National Bank, where both Reagan and AER have accounts, also was searched.

According to court documents, four men - Paul Edward Morenz, Phillip Whitworth, Bob Scullin and Bob Francis gave Reagan a total of $17,500 last spring and summer as partial payment of $30,000 they'd agreed to invest in ex-

Reagan says he believes the AER investigation began as a result of an earlier investigation focusing on Richard Francis Carey, who purportedly sold mining stock in Sawyer-Adecor International

At least one investor, Randall Lynch of Beverly Hills, said he did so at Reagan's recommendation. Authorities say that if Reagan found investors for Carey and was paid to do so, he may have broken the law because he is not a licensed securities agent.

Lynch said he bought 2,000 shares of stock for $2 per share, giving Reagan a check made out to Carey.

When the deal fell through, Lynch said he invested the $4,000 and an additional $10,000 in another firm. Carey later told him that deal also was off, but that the money had been put into Wildcat Development Corp., which is traded over the counter in Utah.

Reagan has denied soliciting investors, but said he did refer several people to Carey as his co-workers and clients heard of the investment opportunity "through word of mouth."

Prosecutor Says FBI Had Previous Data On Solons

NEW YORK (AP) - FBI agents already had "derogatory information" on four congressmen before they were ar-rested and convicted in the Abscam investigation, a federal prosecutor says.

"On every congressman there was an allegation of a criminal nature," prosecu-tor Thomas Puccio told U.S. District Judge George C. Pratt at a due process hearing Tuesday for seven Abscam defendants who are trying to have their convictions overturned on grounds of governmental misconduct.

Only one of the Democratic congress men involved is still in the House of Representatives - Rep. Raymond Lederer, D-Pa. The other three & John Murphy of New York, Marhael Myers of Pennsylson Jr. of New - were defeated in re-election races last November

The other three defendants in the hearing are Philadelphia City Councilman Louis Johanson, Mayor Angelo Errichetti of Camden, N.J., and Philadelphia attorney Howard Criden.

Puccio said FBI Director William Webster had ordered that it had to be made clear to the congressmen they were being offered a bribe before any money was passed. Also, the prosecutor said. Webster ordered that unsuspecting middlemen, not FBI agents, were to solicit the congressmen.

In addition, Puccio told the judge, Webster ordered background checks on each of the House members before any meetings took place.

Puccio wanted Pratt to see the documents as evidence that the government had a reason to deal with the particular congressmen who were brought into the Abscam net.

Puccio did not want anyone else to learn of the documents' contents, but desired to question FBI agent Michael Wilson, who was on the witness stand, about

'Il you only knew what was on this paper you could see why we prosecuted these congressmen, but I can't tell you what we knew." Puccio said.

Defense attorneys objected. The judge said the documents could have a "highly prejudicial impact" and expressed concern that if he accepted them it would expand the already wideranging hearing, forcing the summoning of the informants who supplied the alle-

Weinberger Still Backs Neutron Warhead Use

WASHINGTON (AP) - Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger says he still supports use of the neutron warhead in Euhope, but he emphasizes that he is not speaking for the Reagan administration.

The neutron warhead "could do quite a lot to offset the Soviet advantage in tanks along the NATO front, Weinberger said in an interview published today in The Washington Post.

He repeated that he felt President

Carter made a mistake when, in 1977, he decided against production and deployment of the weapon.

After Weinberger announced his support for the neutron warhead at a news conference last week, the State Department felt compelled to reassure the country's European allies that American policy on the weapon had not changed.

Secretary of Ntate Alexander M. Haig told the allies that they would be fully consulted before any change was made in U.S. policy on the warhead.

The neutron warhead has become controversial because of its ability to kill human beings while leaving surrounding buildings intact. It is designed as an antitank weapon that can be fired on artillery or Lance battlefield missiles.

Weinberger told the Post that "the enhanced radiation warhead could do quite a lot to restore some kind of balance between the NITO and Warsaw Pact forces. "And I believe that's one of the reasons the Russians are reacting so strongly to this slight suggestion," he

The Soviet Union said last week that the posssibility that deployment of the weapon might come about "cannot but deputies armed with arrest warrants combed through this small East Texas town, looking to arrest every city law enforcement agent on charges of impersonating a police officer.

City Marshal James Morgan and two of his reserve officers, Phillip Luchae and David Patterson, were arrested Monday on five separate charges by Upshur County Sheriff Dale Jewkes, who said he was enforcing the orders of a county grand jury. Morgan, elected City Marshal in May 1980, was booked into the county jail, then released on $500 bond after his arraignment before Justice of the Peace W.V. Ray. The same thing happened to Patterson and Luchau and Jewkes said warrants have been issued for five more reserve officers.

The sheriff said the arrests came after a grand jury recommended charges against the marshal and his reserve officers because they had not completed a state certification course within six months of the time they assumed their duties, as required by state law. Jewkes said the investigation began last August, triggered by complaints about a "speed trap" in the town, which was incorporated three years ago. Any officers who issued fickets or made arrests but had not been certified was violLaw Enforcement Standards, which also took part in the investigation, said, "In effect, what they were doing is to impersonate a police officer. The charges said Morgan recklessly appointed a police officer and that his reserve officers recklessly accepted appointment as a peace officer.

City Commissioners met Monday night and voted to seek no changes in Morgan's department, despite having been advised of the certification requirements last year

'We voted to continue our present police department ... not suspend anyone and to back the department 100 percent," said Commissioner Fabe Pace.

East Mountain Mayor Ralph Collins said the charges are the result of a group of dissatisfied people trying to dissolve the city government because of the taxes needed to pay for municipal services.

District Attorney Dwight Rannon said Tuesday the situation has resulted in dismissal of several speeding tickets written in East Mountain, and refusal to house East Mountain prisoners in the county

"The county is in a sticky situation," he said. "If we house a prisoner in jail and the officers making the arrest are not certified, it becomes a difficult legal

Pantex Target Of Protesters

The six were taken into custody by private security guards at the plant after they scaled an outer fence Tuesday

None of the protesters attempted to scale a high-voltage fence separating the Pantex weapons assembly facility from the perimeter fence, authorities said. The plant is located about 30 miles east

In all, a total of 17 persons took part in the demonstration, which began shortly after 9 a.m. CST.

Waving banners that said "Love Thy Enemy" and "Security - in the bomb or in God?," the demonstrators said they were affiliated with the Atlantic Life Community, a Washington D.C.-based umbrella organization for several regional anti-nuclear activist groups. A spokes-man for the organization described the protest as being "peaceful and nonvi-

Uncertainty Sends Stock Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices turned lower today, amid uncertainty over President Reagan's budget-cutting plans.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which gained 1.45 points Tuesday, rose at the opening but was down 2.64 to 945.99 at noon.

Declines held a nearly 7-5 edge over advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The stock market has been sluggish as investors wait for the delivery of the president's economic program to Congress next week and look for signs of how the

Alan Poole of Laidlaw Adams Peck said there is hesitancy in the market because of a White House announcement Tuesday that basic Social Security benefits and several other social programs would not be cut.

When Reagan took office, said Poole, "he told us nothing would be spared, but now he has eliminated a lot of things" and investors are wondering where the budget cuts will come from.

Trading in Hilton Hotels' stock was delayed at the company's request following a Tuesday night fire at its Las Vegas Hilton hotel, which claimed eight lives and in-

Gays Fighting Church Groups

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Homosexual leaders here say they're confident San Francisco's sizable gay community can withstand a planned campaign by fundamentalist church groups to turn people.

"It's going to pull us together like nothing has before," Police Commissioner Jo Daly, an avowed lesbian, said Tuesday amid charges that San Francisco had become "the Sodom and Gomorrah"

Richard Zone, whose In God We Trust Inc. is spearheading the campaign, said some $3 million would be spent in a media campaign to build anti-homosexual sentiment and persuade homosexuals to give up their lifestyle.

We're going to march through this territory from one end to the other," said Zone.

Dean Wycoff of the Santa Clara Moral Majority called San Francis co "the Sodom and Gomorrah of the United States and the armpit of this perverted movement" and said that homosexuality is "a capital crime against God and upon society."

San Francisco was picked for the drive, said Zone, because if the Moral Majority succeeds here, "that will change every major city in the country that has a problem.'

But Miss Daly and other homosexual leaders said the "common threat" will only strengthen the gay community, estimated at 15 percent of the city's 675,000 population.

"I don't know why it is, but a common threat brings people together and makes them stronger," she said.

Said Supervisor Harry Britt, also an avowed homosexual: "If they think they have a chance in San Francisco, they don't know this

Most Lenders Agree To Loan Concessions

DETROIT (AP) - Fewer than 20 lenders to Chrysler Corp. so far have failed to grit their teeth and swallow their share of more than $1 billion in concessions to Chrysler Corp., the No.3 automaker says.

"We expect everybody to come to the party," said a Chrysler executive who disclosed the figure Tuesday. He would not permit the use

He also declined to be more specific because "we are not running a numbers game.

The "party" is the planned Feb. 18 closing of the sale of $400 million in notes guaranteed by the U.S. government — an infusion of cash that now depends on the lenders and the Canadian government.

The nearly 150 banks and insurance companies holding Chrysler debt are being asked to convert $568 million in loans to preferred stock and accept 30 cents on the dollar on another $500 million in

The U.S. Loan Guarantee Board in Washington will not approve new guarantees until all the lenders bite the bullet on their loans Chrysler's production workers already have approved wage cuts and other sacrifices totaling $622 million.

Last year, refusal by some banks to go along with repayment con-cessions nearly scuttled the first installment of the $800 million in loans Chrysler has drawn under the guarantees.

In Windsor, Ontario, across the border from Detroit, Chrysler Can ada spokesman Gordon Pfeiffer said negotiations with the Canadian government by telephone on loan guarantees from Ottawa had prog-ressed to the point where the two sides no longer need to meet face-

Two Remain Missing On Mount Palomar

ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP) — A 9-year-old boy lost since Saturday and a retired policeman who went looking for him near the summit of 6,000-foot Palomar Mountain were still missing today.

Hopes for survival were fading for James Beveridge, of Spring Valley, a San Diego suburb, who failed to rejoin his family after a hike, and family friend Rick Enell, 44, after their fourth night in near-freezing temperatures But Sheriff's Lt. Jack Drown said, "We're proceeding as if the boy

Some 250 people, including 120 Marines, were resuming the search at dawn in steep, rain-slick terrain.

On Tuesday afternoon, the boy's blue down-filled jacket and one of his tennis shoes were found about two miles from the spot where he

Enell was believed to have been working his way alone toward

The search was called off at nightfall after a team of experienced trackers was unable to find any further sign of the former Cub Scout. About two dozen searchers camped overnight in the rugged Pauma Three helicoptors were available, but heavy fog and thick foliage hampered the search. "The stuff they're in ranges from waist-high to overhead," said

Roger Babcock. a volunteer survival expert. 'At times you have to crawl you're way through it," he added.

"Without this weather, we'd found him in a couple hours," said Ab Taylor, 56, of San Diego, a retired U.S. Border patrolman.

Airline Fares Will Increase

NEW YORK (AP) - Air fares will jump by up to 10 percent within days, say airline concerns, which have been plagued by rising fuel costs.

As a whole, the airlines suffered their worst financial year in history last year, when the cost of air travel between U.S. cities rose an average of about 30 percent.

On Tuesday, several major carriers, citing higher jet fuel costs, notified the Civil Aeronautics Board of plans to raise fares by as much as 5 percent

Most said they did not plan to raise all fares by the full 5 percent, and said some fares will not rise at all.

sleep the last few days. I've been praying for this for four years," Mrs. Tomiczek told the Chicago Sun-Times.

Mrs. Tomiczek said she wanted to fly to Florida immediatley to confirm her beliefs, but Fort Lauderdale police persuaded her to send her daughter's dental and medical records before making the trip.

"Jane Doe," a young wom-an found naked, filthy and dehydrated in a shallow grave in a state park in September, went on ABC's "Good Morning America" show Tuesday to ask for help in finding her past.

It was the unforgettable mayor of New York, Jimmy Walker, who once got off this political truism: "There comes a time a man must rise above principle!'

Two sides to an anti-inflation paragraph: Miss Lillian Gish, who was one of the shining stars in D.W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" (still regarded as one of the greatest movies ever filmed), stood still for a question a reader asked us to relay: "How much did the film cost?" The glib veteran readily answered: "$65,000!"

Counter comment reflecting today's prices: Rock stars Gene Simmons, Ace Frehley and Paul Stanley, after introducing Eric Carr as the newest member of the KISS group, fielded this question from the ABC-TV studio audience witnessing "Kids Are People Too":

"How much do your garish costumes cost?"
The answer was: "Anywhere from 60,000 to 70,000 dollars - and we need doubles and triples of everything!

Critic Says Movie On Handguns Blatantly Exploits Violence via Fine's husband, Danny Kaye; the

with its broadcast of "The Choice," CBS demonstrated that a controversial social issue can be presented in TV drama with passion and reason in even measure. The issue was abortion.

Another day, another matter. Tonight's made-for-CBS movie, "A Gun in the House," intends (and presumably will succeed) to incite passions on both sidesof the handgun argument. But that question - to arm, or not to arm? - is almost secondary to this film's primary thrust, which is the blatant, protracted repeated exploitation of violence.

While producers David Debin and Peter Locke insist they intended only to bring focus to the question of handguns in America, what they did was create a sort of made-for-TV Dirty Harry in Sally Struthers plays a nice middle class housewife whose husband is away a lot. She worries about crime and eventually buys a gun. She and her lady friends take a class on the use of handguns.

It just so happens that a spectacularly wacko creep is on the roam, a guy who likes to burgle houses and rape women. But he doesn't only attack women; he badgers them, torments them, psychologically batters them. (He does this, we discover, because his mother is a woman of loose standards; subtle shadings of character are not this movie's forte).

His partner in crime is a nice young boy who is apparently working his way through college by going along on these missions of pillage.

Anyway, Sally Struthers is chosen as a victim. The baddies break in and proceed to spend several long minutes tormenting her, making her crawl on the floor in her nightgown and such, until she finally runs upstairs and grabs her gun. There is some confusion and she fires, killing the "innocent" kid.

Now, as in "Dirty Harry," this is where the audience is supposed to stand up and cheer. You've been set up by the long, harrowing scene, and the killing seems justified, if not reasonable. The movie doesn't end here; a bone needs to be tossed to the other side of the handgun argument. A singularly unbelievable district attorney charges Sally Struthers with murder, and she and her husband have to prove her innocence.

The obvious intent of this lurid melodrama is to elicit a collective, "Good, those punks deserved it." Indeed, producer Locke says the scene had to be set up

'Unless the situation was set up that way. I think there would be some heavy doubts in your mind, that she might have appeared irresponsible (in shooting the Oh. But in real life, shootings are responsible? Locke admits that his research revealed most real-life handgun killings to involve people who know each other, husbands and wives, for instance, Wouldn't such a case have made a more responsible story? Why establish a situation that is atypical?

"If I had shown her just shooting someone entering the house, that would have made her seem irresponsible. We wanted to portray a sympathetic charac-

A much, much more rewarding expenditure of your viewing time would be to tune in Sylvia Fine's second "Musical

Marilyn Horne Praised For Opera Role

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) - "The Italian Girl in Algiers" could have been called "Marilyn Horne in Algiers" recently at the Metropolitan Opera.

Miss Horne, in the title role, was in fine voice and good comic form. She could trill, confounding the purists who say there is no such thing as a coloratura mezzo, use those dark, rich contralto tones and sing, touchingly, pianissimo. Miss Horne had, among her costumes, the Black Watch plaid dress with white jabot and parasol in which she left her sinking ship, a black bustled number with feathered collar and red "Algerian" robes with turban.

Center stage much of the time, glowing vocally and comicaly plotting to keep the Bey at bay, Miss Horne seemed to be having a ball.

Sets and costumes in this production, new in 1973 and not seen since the season after that, are by Jean-Pierre Ponnelle and direction is by Sonja Frisell. There are a lot of inventive touches which keep an audience laughing, a good thing in a comic opera with a happy ending.

The Bey's forces, for instance, shoot a cannon toward the back wall and a tiny

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) Simmons has been menaced with a shotgun in Colton, threatened with death in Binghamton and held against his will in the men's room of a Watertown tavern.

And he did it all for people like Carole King, Neil Diamond and Smokey Robinson and the Miracles

Simmons is field representative for ASCAP, the American Society of Composers. Authors and Publishers, the organization devoted to protecting the royalties and copyrights of songwriters and musicians

As ASCAP's man in central New York, Simmons is responsible for making sure that any merchant or bartender playing music publicly, even if it's background music in an elevator or a radio turned up for a tavern's patrons to drink their beer by, pays the royalties for the copyright music

Not all proprietors understand they must pay for the right to use a composer's work publicly. Simmons said. He tells stories of his uncomfortable moments with angry bartenders who did not believe they should have to pay ASCAP money to play music for their customers.

"I have had very few punches in the nose, but it happens occasionally," said Simmons. An assault case is pending against one village official who struck him when Simmons informed him of AS-CAP's rights to royalties for an outdoor concert

We guard this right so jealously, to use music privately, but they sometimes don't realize the composer, author or publisher has exclusive rights to public

ASCAP operates under the federal copyright laws and, using a sophisticated computer operation, returns the licensing fees from users to the composers. musicians and publishers who own the

copyright to a piece of music. ASCAP's right to collect the licensing fees for the musicians it represents has been upheld by court cases dating to the early 1900s, Simmons said. ASCAP's rival Hong Lou Restaurant Authentic Chinese Food Sunday-Thursday Night Special $450 M Includes Egg Roll, Soup, Choose From 12 Dishes Tea. Coffee or Soft Drinks
