

Accountant Claims Many Overpay Income Tax

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans are giving the federal government more than they have to, says a New York accounting expert who claims people frequently overpay their income tax bills because of ignorance and laziness.

Herbert M. Paul, a partner in the management consulting and accounting firm of Touche & Ross, said taxpayers generally "don't know what they're entitled to" and don't want to "go to the bother" of doing all the paperwork. As a result, he said, they "end up paying too much."

The majority of taxpayers, for example, do not itemize deductions. They use the standard deduction, formally known as the zero bracket amount and now equal to $2,300 for single persons and $3,400 for married couples.

Paul said, however, that taking the standard deduction may be a mistake. "Most people, if they truly go through their records, should itemize," he said. The deductions they could claim would add up to more than the standard amount.

If you're buying a house — and more than half of all Americans are — it usually pays to itemize, Paul said. You can deduct your property tax payments and the interest on your mortgage.

You also should itemize, Paul said, if you "live in a state with a personal income tax." State and local income taxes are deductible on your federal return if you itemize.

High interest rates — not only for mortgages, but for other loans as well — also can make it profitable to itemize since interest, including the interest you pay on credit cards, is deductible.

Itemization does not automatically increase your risk of an audit. Paul said audits generally occur because:

— Your deductions are higher than average for your income bracket.
— Your tax return includes a particular item that, for one reason or another, the Internal Revenue Service is investigating.

Your return happens to be one selected by a computer on a random basis for checking.

Don't panic if your return is audited. "It's not an accusation," said Paul. It is simply a matter "of proving what you put on the tax return," he said. "If you have documentation, you will simply wait in and wait out."

Paul said tax laws are so complicated that "it's almost impossible" for the average person to prepare his or her return. Another accountant, Frank Gaffney, a partner in Main, Hurdman and Cranston of New York, disagreed.

Gaffney said most people with relatively straightforward financial affairs should be able to figure out their own taxes, even if they itemize. The people who need help, he said, are those with complicated budgets, including things like investment-type income, or those who have changed their tax-filing status, through divorce, for example.

No matter who prepares your return, you will have to provide the records and you can make the paperwork easier for yourself. Paul said the first thing to remember is to "pay everything that's possibly deductible by check." Make a note, on the check, of where the money went. When you get your canceled checks, pull out the ones that involve tax deductible expenses and put them in a large envelope. Keep tax-related receipts in the same envelope.

A few minutes each month can save hours of searching when you get ready to prepare your return.

DWI Plan Approved By Panel

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texans convicted of drunk driving may have to attend a course to learn "the moral responsibilities of the driver," or go to jail, if a bill by Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, becomes law.

Caperton's bill was unanimously voted out of subcommittee today. The bill makes attendance at a rehabilitation course mandatory for anyone granted probation after a conviction of driving while intoxicated.

A judge could waive the course for offenders who live too far from where the course is being offered, have bad work, cannot get time away from school, health or have other problems.

Some judges are requiring such a course now, but it is not mandatory.

The course would be approved by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, the Department of Public Safety, the highway department and the Texas Adult Probation Commission.

Robby Duffield of the commission on alcoholism said "the course will teach the offenders the moral responsibilities of the driver and the effects of alcohol on driving."

The bill would permit those taking the course to keep their driving licenses.

"The bill treats the problems of a DWI offender on a different level than we have traditionally," Caperton said. "Traditionally we treat them only as a criminal. This couples that criminal treatment with something more meaningful, an educational approach, which I think is preferable."

The bill now goes back to the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Meanwhile organized labor dealt a practical blow last week with the passage in both houses of a ban on dues checkoff, was scheduled for another assault today with three right-to-work bills by Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston.

The union shop is already illegal in Texas, but Mengden wants to make the ban permanent and national.

He has introduced a constitutional amendment banning the union shop in Texas, a resolution asking Congress to initiate an amendment to the U. S. Constitution banning the union shop and a bill to outlaw the agency shop in Texas.

All three proposals are on the Senate calendar for today. If he has the votes, an aide said, Mengden will bring them up.

The Senate has already passed a bill by another Houston Republican, O. H. Harris, forbidding the state from deducting union dues or any other payments from the checks of state employees.

Salvadoran Troops Launch Offensive

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — About 1,500 government troops backed by tanks and artillery launched a gant search-and-destroy operation against 15 guerrilla strongholds in eastern El Salvador and inflicted "heavy" casualties, military officials said.

At least 47 people were killed during the weekend in San Salvador, Santa Ana and San Miguel, officials in the country's three largest cities said. They said most of the victims apparently were shot by soldiers enforcing a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Leftists were blamed for killing two civilian militiamen and a rural judge in the northern Chalatenango province and shooting five people in an ambush on a truck in the southeastern San Miguel province, local officials said.

Three casualties were reported Sunday by government troops participating in 15 search-and-destroy missions in the eastern Morazan province, a National Guard commander in Morazan said.

The commander, who declined to give his name, said guerrillas had suffered "heavy" casualties, but did not specify the number killed. He said government forces were using artillery, rubber-wheeled tanks and helicopters fitted with machine guns in their attacks against guerrilla positions.

The heaviest fighting was in the town of El Rodeo, where 300 troops were pursuing guerrillas near the Honduran border, the commander said.

Fighting was also reported outside the cities of Soledad and Corinto, about 120 miles east of San Salvador. The commander said there had been no fighting within the cities, each with a population of about 17,000.

Military officials said about 1,500 National Guardsmen and army troops were participating in the operations in Morazan, a long-standing guerrilla stronghold.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Manuel Torruella, substituting for the head of San Salvador's archdiocese in a mass at the cathedral's central altar, said a "just political option" still is possible in El Salvador.

He said that despite public distrust of the government, the ruling military-Christian Democrat junta should push ahead with its plans to hold elections in 1982.

Torruella also said the church will hold a special service March 24 to mourn the death of Archbishop Oscar Romero, slain by a sniper last year to silence his ringing denunciations of murders and other atrocities allegedly committed by troops of the U. S.-backed ruling junta.

Romero's successor, Monsignor Arturo Rivera y Damas, has taken a more moderate position on human rights.

March Rainfall Boosting Crop Outlook On Plains

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock has had more than twice as much rain this year as it had at this time last year, and farmers are increasingly optimistic about the planting season beginning in early May.

Rainfall over the past week ran the March total to 1.17, exceeding the 86 normal for the month, and brought 1981 precipitation here to 2.16 and well above the mid-March 1980 total of .93.

"We're going into spring in a lot better shape than we have in the last two winters," County Agent Randy Upshaw said this morning.

"There is optimism among the farmers that we can have a better crop. We didn't have the moisture we needed last year."

Upshaw said most Lubbock County farmers have applied herbicides to their land and either have prepared their seedbeds or are in the process of preparing them.

Some county farmland already has gotten enough rain to ensure a successful planting, he said, but more rain between now and the May 5 to May 10 optimum planting period would be helpful.

"If we can go into the growing season with a full profile of moisture, we can be almost assured that we can make at least a break-even crop," Upshaw said.

A Lubbock weatherman said the county has a good chance to better its 1980 total of 15.86, but could run into dry weather later in the year.

"We could still have a dry spring," he said, noting that record snowstorms here last November made recent rainfall even more helpful for area crops.

Normal yearly precipitation here is 18.50.

"This is one year that the farmers will not have to irrigate for pre-planting," the weatherman said. Many farmers, however, apparently don't agree with that assessment and are going ahead with plans for a pre-plant irrigation "just in case."

Normal precipitation through March is 1.99.

Although this March has been unusually rainy, along with its expected windiness, no rain is in forecasts for this week. But extended forecasts indicate the possibility of more moisture early next week.

Thick, high-altitude clouds are forecast for today and Tuesday, and typical March winds are expected for both days. The wind will be southwesterly at 10 to 15 mph today and northwesterly at 20 to 30 mph Tuesday, weathermen said.

Temperatures will be near 70 today and Tuesday and near 40 tonight.

The extended forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and cooler weather at mid-week and returning warmer temperatures late in the week. Temperatures

Relaxed Jimmy Carter Has No Apologies

By HELEN THOMAS
PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter says he has held off criticizing President Reagan for trying to scuttle his policies and programs because it is too early and his successor is still enjoying a political honeymoon.

As for programs that appear threatened by the new administration, Carter said, "I think the next few months might start the redemption process in the public mind."

The former president made the comments in an interview with United Press International in the relaxed setting of his ranch-style home.

"I'm not wishing ill on the new administration," Carter said. "I hope they succeed. But I still think some of the departures might prove to be ill-advised. We've made mistakes of our own."

Carter, relaxed in blue jeans, a plaid flannel shirt and leather boots, made it clear he was suffering no withdrawal pains over the loss of the presidency. He seemed free of the tensions and pressures that beset him in the Oval Office.

In fact, he seemed to be sitting on top of the world, having just sold the family peanut warehouse for more than $1 million and his memoirs to Bantam Books for between $1 million and $2 million, according to reports from publishing circles.

"Everyone predicted that when I got home, I'd be frustrated and dissatisfied,"

Carter said. "I have to say that we enjoyed the four years we lived in Washington, but since I've been home I have not missed Washington one single minute."

"I say that without bitterness and with a full reminder that I enjoyed it while I was there."

Rosalynn Carter, slender and smiling in casual pale blue corduroy pants and a striped T-shirt, was equally glowing about their future plans, and the fun they have had returning to their southern Georgia roots. As for the White House, she said "it's amazing how detached we are from it all."

Carter said he realized one of the pluses of being out of office when he and his family were vacationing in the Virgin Islands. "I realized I didn't have to worry about El Salvador and Nicaragua."

Carter said he doesn't think people are holding Reagan "quite responsible for details. They might blame (budget director David) Stockman or others. But they don't blame him. We had a honeymoon, too. It's hard to remember, but it's true."

He predicted Reagan ultimately will face "inexorable pressures" to address the questions of human rights, nuclear arms control and leadership in protecting the environment.

"I think every administration has to feel its way forward," Carter said. "These issues are very important to me still, and to the world. There's no way to avoid them."

Carter said he believes that "in recent weeks" the new administration has focused more on investing the nation's resources "in new plants and new cities rather than human beings."

"To me, even looked at in cold and callous terms, the investment in life ... in better education and health, protection of the newborn child, a better diet and opportunities for training ... is a good business-paying proposition."

"I think that is the aspect that has been overlooked in recent weeks," he said.

He said Reagan's policies are based See JIMMY CARTER Page 14

Former Hostages Take Vacation

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix (AP) — The first three of a dozen Americans formerly held hostage in Iran are in St. Croix for a free vacation offered by a Milwaukee businessman who owns a resort here.

Oliver Plunkett offered all the freed hostages a week at his Hotel of the Cay in Christiansted harbor because he thought they deserved it after their ordeal in Iran.

Those who arrived Sunday were Marine Sgt. Kevin Hermering of Cudahy, Wis., and fiancée Kelly Manion; Charles Jones of Detroit; and Col. and Mrs. Tom Schaefer of Falls Church, Va.

Other former hostages expected to arrive by today were Michael Howland of Alexandria, Va.; Leland Holland and Malcolm Kalp, both of Fairfax, Va.; Alan Golacinski of Silver Springs, Md.; Joseph M. Hall of Elyria, Ohio; Gregg Persinger of Seaford, Del.; William Daugherty of Ossining, N.Y.; Joseph Subic of Redford, Mich.; and Donald Cooke of Memphis, Tenn.

Free tours, a St. Patrick's Day dinner dance and an excursion to the neighboring U.S. Virgin Islands are on the guests' agenda.

Ulcer Forces Cancellation Of Tour

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — British rock star Eric Clapton is expected to be hospitalized for two to three weeks for treatment of a perforated ulcer that forced him to cancel his entire four-month North American tour, his personal manager says.

Clapton was rushed to a St. Paul hospital Saturday, following a Friday night performance in Madison, Wis. He was in serious but stable condition Sunday.

University Wants More Dignity

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — University of Wisconsin graduates will have to get up a little earlier this year if they want to pick up their sheepskins.

The Lighter Side Of The News

It's all part of an effort by university officials to restore more dignity to the spring commencement ceremony, which in recent years has featured drinking and graduates attaching helium-filled balloons to their mortarboards.

Those ceremonies were held in the afternoon, giving graduates who feel a need to celebrate more time to start imbibing.

But this year, the May 17 ceremony will begin at 9:30 a.m., with graduates asked to congregate 45 minutes before that.

In a statement to the degree candidates, the university said, "We want commencement to be a joyous occasion, but one whose dignity appropriately marks the respect we have for those who are to be honored."

Nader Joins Campaign Against Japanese Cars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Worries over Japanese auto imports made unexpected bedfellows of consumer advocate Ralph Nader. General Motors chief executive Roger Smith and Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd over the weekend.

Nader, who made his name crusading against American cars, suggested to the United Auto Workers union it start an advertising campaign and "informative street demonstrations" to warn Japanese cars are not as safe as U.S. autos.

In a letter to UAW President Douglas Fraser last week, Nader suggested a new ad campaign be trained on the relatively poor performance of Japanese cars in American safety tests.

"The United Auto Workers and consumer groups can help fill this information gap about the relatively superior safety of several U.S. cars compared with their Japanese counterparts," Nader told Fraser.

"In so doing they can provide consumers with solid reasons for exercising a preference for domestically produced models," he said.

Nader cited these Department of Transportation findings:

—In 35 mph barrier tests, only the Chevette and Fiat Strada passed, while the Honda Civic, Toyota Corolla, Toyota Terrel, Datsun 310, Subaru GIF and Honda Prelude failed.

—One test that pitted a 1980 Ford Mustang against a Toyota Celica in a head-on crash found that the belted dummies in the Mustang passed the test while those in the Celica did not.

—By far the worst performing bumper system on the tested subcompacts is found on the 1981 Toyota Corolla Terrel, an imported car that is being marketed very vigorously in this country.

Meantime, Byrd and Smith urged the Reagan administration to seek limits on Japanese imports.

In a speech Sunday to the UAW, Byrd said the American auto industry needs "a temporary respite" from growing imports of Japanese cars as it shifts gears to meet consumer demands for small cars.

"Before the imports severely and permanently damage our automobile industry, I urge the president to negotiate with the Japanese to prevent further incursion into the American auto market," Byrd said.

"He should alert the Japanese that they should not significantly increase their production capacity for export to the U.S."

It is "a proper role" for the government to seek limits on foreign car imports, Smith said.

"Basically, we want to see the government get out of business, but there are some things that the industry can't do."

Administration Will Not Press Busing Suits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Education Terrel Bell says the Reagan administration is concerned with upgrading the quality of education and not in forcing communities to use busing to desegregate schools.

"We certainly won't be pressing new suits for busing for desegregation," Bell said in an appearance Sunday on NBC's "Meet The Press."

The problem with busing is that (at) the end of the bus ride, you're still back in that racially isolated neighborhood. And what we ought to be doing is working more on excellence, improving academic performance, than we've been doing."

Bell said busing also isolates parents from neighborhood schools.

"We think there has to be other approaches to attaining a better racial balance," he said.

Asked if he favored a federal law or constitutional amendment forbidding busing as a remedy for segregation, Bell said, "I certainly wouldn't oppose that, from my own point of view and looking at the results so far."

Bell said he opposed "too much strident interference" from federal authorities, but agreed busing could be a remedy "if it is desirable and the local authorities feel that that's a good solution."

Questioned about the drop in scholastic aptitude scores, Bell said the decline "is quite alarming" and that teachers haven't pushed their students enough.

"I happen to feel that we need more discipline, more rigor in our education system," said Bell. "I think we need standards and I think we need to stand by them more vigorously than we have ever done in the past."

Asked if teachers had lowered their standards, Bell said, "Yes, I feel that we've not held to standards, we've not demanded arrival at a certain level of accomplishment before you can be promoted. And parents, especially in the inner city, have been expecting automatic promotions, automatic awarding of diplomas, and what we really have is an education system that's academically quite flabby. And as I have said before, I think it's time to shape up academics."

Congress Launches Probe Into TVA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is launching its first full-scale look at the operations of the Tennessee Valley Authority in six years, with the focus on raising electricity rates charged by the government-owned corporation.

TVA Chairman David Freeman was the first scheduled witness today at the start of two days of hearings before the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee.

The TVA, created in 1933 to bring cheap electricity to the underdeveloped Tennessee Valley, is facing mounting criticism from its customers and Reagan administration officials.

After last November's election, a Reagan study team said the TVA was spending too much money building nuclear reactors. The authority halted development of four of 14 proposed reactors in 1979 and was urged by the Reagan team to suspend two others.

But TVA officials have insisted it must go ahead with the nuclear power plants or else put a premature ceiling on growth in the Tennessee Valley.

Witnesses expected to challenge Freeman's views included major industrial customers who contend they are being overcharged to help pay the TVA's borrowing costs.

Rates jumped more than 25 percent for TVA electricity users in the past year and a new increase last week is expected to mean another 10 percent to 13 percent boost next month.

But TVA officials say the rates are still well below the national average.

Interest charges exceeding $1 billion on borrowed money to pay for six nuclear plants in three states accounts for at least a third of the latest increase, the TVA says.

The congressional oversight hearings, originally scheduled for last November, mark the first time since 1975 that the TVA has been the subject of full-scale Capitol Hill scrutiny. There have been other hearings with narrower scope in the interim.

In addition to customer complaints of excessive rate increases and nuclear power development, the current hearings will examine the authority's coal-buying policies and the salaries and composition of its governing board.

There have been reports that the administration is seeking to have Freeman step down as chairman, while remaining as a member of the three-man board. Freeman was appointed chairman by former President Carter in 1978.

The TVA serves all or part of Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

DICTATORSHIP IN TEXAS?

The voters of Texas by Constitutional Amendment in 1980 created Courts of Appeal and gave them jurisdiction over criminal as well as civil appeals. This created the need for at least 26 new judges (a more realistic figure is 48 new judges.)

The Texas legislature has tried to permit these judges to be chosen by the people at a general election.

Our Governor, Bill Clements, has threatened to veto any bill which does not give him complete power to appoint every single judge.

Such an action would throw the courts of Texas into chaos by leaving an appellate system effectively unable to even attempt to handle the immense additional burden of criminal appeals.

The stance taken by Governor Clements is not only dictatorial, but absolutely irresponsible.

We ask all citizens to write your legislators and Speaker Bill Clayton, Lt. Governor Bill Hobby, and Governor Bill Clements and ask that the people be permitted to elect the new judges of the Courts of Appeal in the State of Texas.

Some of our legislators are: Senator E. L. Short, The Senate of Texas, Austin, Texas 79711, Representatives Pete Laney, Jim Rudd, Froy Salinas and Nolan J. (Buzz) Robnett, Texas House of Representatives, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769.

School Presents Tough Challenge For Aliens

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Until two months ago, 9-year-old Julio had never held a pencil, used scissors or sat at a desk. He still has trouble writing, cutting paper and speaking English.

Julio is one of 750 undocumented children enrolled in local schools for the first time this year under a federal judge's order. Among those children is a smaller number who, like Julio, had never been to school, even in Mexico.

Before his family moved to this border city six months ago, he worked on a large ranch carrying firewood and doing odd jobs. The nearest school was more than 10 miles away in Matamoros, across often impassable roads.

Along with 26 other youngsters, Julio is in a special program for children who lack basic skills in either English or Spanish.

"These youngsters at first went into regular, bilingual classrooms. But problems emerged very clearly when teachers found the children had no (classroom) skills," said Cesar Cisneros, director of elementary education for the Brownsville Independent School District. "You can imagine the frustrations of teachers trying to conduct a regular class when there's one who can't hold a pencil."

Texas law prohibited free schooling for illegal aliens before a federal judge struck down the statute as unconstitutional in July 1980.

The Brownsville district set up special classes in January at three elementary schools and plans to start the program in two more schools when teachers are available. The bulk of illegal aliens entering school for the first time are in regular, bilingual classrooms.

At Cromack Elementary School, Blanca Betancourt teaches eight pupils, aged 9 to 13, in the special program. Her classroom is reminiscent of a one-room schoolhouse. A girl who normally would be in the second grade sits in front of a boy whose peers are in the seventh.

"It's unbelievable what can happen when a child doesn't get an education," she said. "I never realized there were children with no schooling at all. I've found it very difficult with the wide age-range and maturity of the children."

Some have "been around" like one boy, aged 13, who worked as a street vendor in Matamoros after his parents died. He enrolled in local schools after moving in with an aunt and uncle here.

All the children come from families with incomes below the federal poverty line. Their only experience with English comes in class, unless they follow the teacher's orders to watch American television programs.

"I grew up speaking only Spanish at home but I had brothers and sisters who went to school and we would talk English among ourselves. But when these kids go home, that's it," Miss Betancourt said.

She uses English as often as possible for instruction but frequently switches to Spanish to make herself understood.

Nevertheless, these children with little or no schooling often lack even a basic Spanish vocabulary.

"I must teach them the Spanish word so they will know what I mean when I tell them the word in English," the teacher said.

Instructional materials include first grade-level flash cards and a lot of improvisation. The setting is similar at Egly Elementary School, not far away.

Betty Frausto has seven students, aged 10 to 13, including two who lived on large ranches in Mexico and had never been to school.

One of Mrs. Frausto's students, Oscar, lived in Brownsville three years without going to school. He had been in a Matamoros school before moving to the United States.

"I would go with a friend all the time and try to find a job," the 13-year-old said in Spanish. "But they would tell me I was too young and needed an education. They told me I should go to school."

Unable to enroll here because of the state law, he stayed at home with his three sisters.

What is Diamond Shamrock Gasohol?

Gasohol is a motor fuel mixture composed of 90% Diamond Shamrock Unleaded Gasoline and 10% Anhydrous Ethyl Alcohol which is known as Ethanol. This significant new fuel is blended by Diamond Shamrock as an alternative fuel for your car. Diamond Shamrock believes Gasohol is important to our country's future

- 6. Gasohol reduces engine under-hood temperatures and lengthens engine life.
- 7. According to an Illinois Bell test, Gasohol improved their miles per gallon by 4.8%.

Who should use Gasohol?

This modern fuel is designed for, and burns cleanly and thoroughly in, later model cars that use leaded or unleaded gasoline. No special equipment or adjustments are needed to use Gasohol and it will not harm catalytic converters. If Gasohol is not readily available it is permissible to switch back to regular or unleaded gasolines. Due to the cleaning action, it may be necessary to replace your fuel filter after the first or second tank of Gasohol. This is not a recurring problem.

Gasohol improves your car's performance.

Although Gasohol costs slightly more than regular unleaded gasoline, it pays big dividends in engine performance and life. Check these advantages:

1. Gasohol, as a result of approximately 3 points higher octane value, reduces engine knock and ping.
2. Gasohol reduces pollutant emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon exhaust which is especially important to our environment.
3. Gasohol's cleaner burning characteristics cut harmful rust, varnish, carbon deposits and soot buildup, and helps prevent irritating engine "after run".
4. Gasohol cleans carburetors and fuel lines.
5. Gasohol protects against fuel freezeup and provides faster winter starting.

Fires 'n Gasoline

DEMAGOGS on Capitol Hill and in the national press are moaning that President Reagan's across-the-board income tax cuts will save more money for rich folks than for the poor folks.

My Neighbor Twice Removed says even the liberal Brookings Institution ought to be able to figure out why. Rich folks have more income.

Five major oil companies made temporary cuts in wholesale prices of gasoline because supply exceeds demand. What's this? The free market system survives?

"RURAL" FIRE calls was an issue laid to rest five years ago. Instead of trying to resurrect it, the City Council should give the issue a proper burial.

If businesses and residential neighborhoods on the fringes of the city, whose owners pay no city property taxes, want free fire service for their properties they have other alternatives.

They can (1) petition to be annexed to the city, pay their taxes and get city services or they can (2) figure out some way to provide and pay for their own fire protection.

They shouldn't stick the county taxpayer with the bill. The taxpayer who lives several miles out in the country isn't going to get meaningful fire protection anyway.

The one who lives in the city pays 85 percent of the county tax bill. This means that if the County pays the City $1,000 for a fire call, the taxpayers inside the city still foot $850 of the cost.

Why should those who pay taxes inside the city

Paul Scott:

Backyard Allies Backing Off

WASHINGTON—The crucial test of the Reagan administration's policy of military aid to the pro-U.S. government of El Salvador is now expected to take place here in the U.S. rather than in that strategic Central American country.

Political forces and militant groups on the far-left, in the media, and church organizations lending their support to the "liberation theology" movement in Central America have united behind a new strategy being orchestrated from Moscow.

Their immediate objective is to force the Reagan administration to support a coalition government in El Salvador that includes pro-Castro Marxist and socialists. This is the dark heart of their pronouncements favoring a "political settlement."

THIS NEW FOCUS makes the stakes in the El Salvador battle take on a new meaning: Is it possible for the U.S. government to successfully support allies in our own backyard that seek our help in opposing Communist takeovers?

While the Reagan administration believes the U.S. has the military power to stop the flow of communist arms and guerrillas into El Salvador, its officials are concerned about attacks on their rear by the emerging far-left and church groups openly working with Marxists in Central and Latin America.

In a major effort to recreate the "Vietnam syndrome," these groups are planning teach-ins, seminars, and street demonstrations to force the cut off of U.S. military aid to El Salvador and the establishment of a coalition government including pro-Soviet Marxists.

AS COVER FOR this campaign, "the Communist countries are orchestrating an intensive international disinformation campaign to cover their intervention while discrediting the Salvadoran government and American support for that government."

That's the blunt warning that Sec. of State Alexander Haig has given in confidential briefings on El Salvador to foreign diplomats and members of Congress.

Haig stressed that "the internal disinformation campaign directed from Moscow was designed to paint the revolutionary efforts of the guerrillas in El Salvador as distinctively apart from outside intervention activity."

Significantly, this is the same line that U.S. far-left and church groups are now taking in their campaign to force a coalition government with Marxists on El Salvador.

To push this propaganda campaign in the U.S., hundreds of Soviet and Cuban agents have been instructed to take the lead and work in these groups to use the El Salvador issue to build a mass protest movement against the Reagan administration's foreign and military policies.

These instructions also included terrorist activi-giving the freeloader outside the city fire service at 15 percent of the actual cost?

Major businesses like TV stations and lumber yards that sell to city customers but don't pay city taxes maybe should study the advantages of being annexed if they want fire protection.

A San Antonio madam, Theresa Brown, announcing her candidacy for the City Council, said she would use her 3,000-name trick list to find political contributors.

Her Political Action Committee, presumably, will be called "Bosom Buddies for Brown."

ORDINARILY, we'd be among the first and loudest proponents of a raise in the state gasoline tax.

But it's difficult to get too vocal on the matter without assurance that Lubbock won't be treated as a stepchild—as usual—when the highway funds are spent.

We're still the only major city in Texas without cross-town expressways.

Moreover, while Houston and Dallas gobble up the lion's share of the money, we still don't have a four-lane highway directly linking Lubbock with Dallas-Fort Worth or any other major population center.

While, admittedly, urban congestion grows worse faster than new facilities can be built to handle the traffic, the fact remains that the first priority for highways is to connect cities.

A Lubbock-to-Dallas divided highway would attract interstate traffic through Lubbock, boost our economy, and cut miles and time off the movement of goods and people between here and there.

Compounding our problem, Lubbock is the last city in the state to get funds for urban facilities. Despite all that, the people here always have been among the strongest supporters of a high level of funding for state highways.

HOUSE SPEAKER Bill Clayton has revived a proposal for doubling the state's 5-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, which now provides $483.5 million in annual revenue, $120 million for the Available School Fund and the rest for highway construction and maintenance.

Raising the state tax, lowest in the nation, makes a lot of sense if Texas is going to maintain and protect its investment in highways. Otherwise, they'll deteriorate.

Certainly, increasing the state tax would be better than inflating the 4-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax, which also has been proposed.

The feds take out too much of the money, then redistribute an unfair proportion of it to other states, leaving Texas a lot less to get back than it sent in.

With the price of gasoline nudging up to the $1.50 level, another nickel on the state tax wouldn't make much difference—but, if it's slapped on, we must insist that Lubbock get its fair share, including making up for all those years we've been shortchanged.

ties against U.S. military installations and personnel within the U.S. as well as abroad.

In recent weeks bomb threats have been received at recruiting stations in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Canton, Ohio, and New Haven, Conn., indicating a nation-wide effort.

In a preliminary move, the Army has ordered recruiters and commanders of other military installations around the nation to take new measures to protect against possible hit-and-run attacks by terrorist groups.

If all of this sounds like the beginning of a replay of the 1960s and early 1970s, it could be.

In the Vietnam war, the Soviet leadership learned that the U.S. couldn't be defeated on the field of battle but could be defeated in Washington.

This is why the crucial test for Reagan's El Salvador policy will come in the U.S.

Japanese Setting Pace In Technological Race

NEW YORK—The Reagan administration is urgently debating mandatory or voluntary limits on Japanese auto imports.

Automobile interests across the board—from industrial leaders and union officials to governors of at least eight heavily-involved states—plead for import curbs immediately. And what are Japan's manufacturers doing meanwhile?

Preparing a wide choice of new and better products to be introduced in the U.S. soon at comparatively low prices!

Just as a sampling of Japanese improvements or innovations:

• Ultra-small electronics. Leading Japanese manufacturers are turning out a vast collection of mini-mini tape recorders, super-thin pocket radios, calculators and car stereo systems that can be attached to the interior roof rather than the dashboard of a car.

Panasonic, for instance, has introduced a tiny portable TV set that weighs one pound and is even smaller than a short paperback novel.

It will be available in the U.S. next month, in April, at a price of about $200, reports my associate, Brooke Shearer.

• A MICRO-VIDEO system that combines a color video camera and video tape recorder in one unit. Both Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. (known in the U.S. as Panasonic) and the Sony Corp. have developed these products.

• A video player that uses what looks like a phonograph record instead of a tape to reproduce color TV shows or movies.

This disc system produces a picture and sound superior to that of a video cassette device and will be sold later in 1981 for less than half the price of a video cassette recorder, such as VCR.

Unlike the VCR, though, the video disc player cannot record programs.

• TALKING PRODUCTS. The Japanese are making use of a new technology for such products as a clock that speaks the time, a calculator that repeats out loud the numbers and functions you direct it to perform with a keyboard, a vending machine that says "please" and "thank you."

Machines that talk back are not merely a novelty; they can help you follow operating instructions. Instead of reading pages of directions, you might follow oral instructions from the machine itself.

Voice synthesizers also are meant to reduce errors. Airline warning devices which literally shout at pilots to "go up" to avoid mid-air collisions were among the first uses of the new technology.

Matsushita Electric plans to put voice recognition devices in such consumer products as TV sets and microwave ovens, too. So instead of flicking a switch, you verbally tell the machines what to do.

• AUTO HIGH TECH. Electronic devices you now have in your home or office soon will be available for you to operate out of your car. Ja-

The Golden Pay-As-You-Go Rule

WASHINGTON—So much comment has focused upon Reagan's proposals for reducing federal outlays that his proposals for raising federal revenues have been almost overlooked.

The President wants to raise user fees on inland waterways, coastal waterways and airports. His recommendations are probably too optimistic, but they make great good sense.

Specifically, Reagan will ask Congress for increased taxes on barge operators, airlines and private plane owners. He will ask new fees on the owners of yachts, recreational craft and merchant vessels.

In each case, the taxes and fees are intended to cover services of direct, personal benefit to the users.

REAGAN SEES NO good reason why a yacht owner shouldn't contribute something toward the costs incurred by the Coast Guard in maintaining navigational aids and rescue operations. The President has a good point.

For many years the nation's barge operators paid nothing at all toward the cost of maintaining the locks and channels of the inland waterway system. After a prolonged fight, the 96th Congress imposed a tax of 4 cents a gallon on barge fuel.

By the government's estimates, the proceeds will meet only 11 percent of these maintenance costs in 1981.

Reagan now expects to send a bill to the House this month that would hike the tax from 4 cents to 29 cents a gallon, effective July 1. If Congress goes along, the Inland Waterways Trust Fund would gain by $306 million in fiscal '82.

The Office of Management and Budget says the increase would be less than 0.4 cents per ton mile for the shippers. It seems a reasonable charge for use of a $6 billion system.

ANTHONY L. KUCERA, head of American Waterways Operators, Inc., says his members generally will support the President if—if Reagan's user fees are in fact equitably distributed across the whole of the transportation industry.

Kucera adds that if user fees have become the name of the game, municipalities and industries that take water from the inland system, either for drinking purposes or for industrial use, also should be hit for a share of the cost.

Such an extension would complicate a simple tax bill, but it's hard to argue with his reasoning.

The fees proposed for an estimated nine million boat owners are based on the same line of thought. This year the taxpayers will put up $1.3 billion to finance the U.S. Coast Guard.

A PART OF this outlay, of course, is of general benefit for law enforcement, weather forecasting, coastal security and the like. But the bulk of the cost benefits only a small segment of the public.

Reagan's idea is to impose modest fees, ranging from $10 to $30 a year for most boat owners. Oper-

Jest For Fun

Overheard: "If you ask me, automotive engineers will be getting somewhere when they develop a subcompact which, in heavy traffic, will run on the fumes from other cars."

ators of commercial vessels would pay "several hundred or a thousand dollars" a year.

The proceeds would offset the direct costs of navigation lights, buoys and rescue helicopters. By 1986, says OMB, revenues should approach $500 million.

In a third area, the administration will ask higher fees from airlines and from general aviation, intended to cover a larger portion of the cost of maintaining our air control system.

The proposal embraces new taxes on aviation fuel, passenger tickets and freight waybills. By the OMB's estimate, these taxes would generate $3.3 billion in new revenues in fiscal '82 and as much as $5.2 billion in 1986.

TAKEN AS A whole, Reagan's plan admittedly would impose some additional burdens upon consumers.

The barge operators, for example, haul 700 million tons of freight every year, chiefly in petroleum, coal, building materials, chemicals and grain.

Presumably the expense of higher fuel taxes would be passed along. The airlines, already hard pressed by mounting fuel costs, can be expected to resist any proposal to raise passenger fares even higher.

But the President's basic contention is convincing. We never will get out of the economic mess without belt-tightening all along the line.

More than 150 years ago, John Randolph of Roanoke startled the House by crying, "Mr. Speaker! I have discovered the philosopher's stone. It is this, Sir—Pay as you go! Pay as you go!" The rule is as wise now as it was then.

Vickie Daniel Says Husband Cruel To Children

LIBERTY (UPI) — Vickie Daniel, fighting to keep custody of the two children she had with Price Daniel Jr., today testified her late husband physically and mentally mistreated her son from her first marriage and often exposed his buttocks to children.

Mrs. Daniel, who later will be tried for murdering Daniel, former speaker of the Texas House, said Daniel opened testimony in the hearing by saying Daniel abused her son, Johnathan, now 10, so much that the boy left to live with his natural father.

After returning to his father, Mrs. Daniel said the boy would "come to visit only when Price wasn't around."

She testified Daniel often would drop his pants and underwear in their backyard.

"I didn't think it was very nice for Price to pull down his pants in the yard for the little boys to see his behind," she said. "He wanted everyone to look at his behind."

"I was ashamed of him. I told him to pull his pants up. He'd go prancing around, shaking his behind. Everyone was shocked."

Mrs. Daniel said Daniel once poured gasoline in a filled garbage can and lit it so that it would burn Johnathan. She said he would hit the boy in the face with the refrigerator door, step on his feet, hit him in the stomach with a ball and have other boys beat him up.

Daniel would laugh when Johnathan was hurt and also excluded her daughter, Kimberly, now 12, from family activities.

"I talked to him about it," Mrs. Daniel said. "I wasn't mad or angry. I was just hurt."

Jean Daniel Murph, Daniel's sister, is trying to obtain custody of the two children — Franklin, 3, and Price IV, 1 — her brother had with Vickie. Kimberly and Johnathan live with Mrs. Daniel's first husband, Larry Moore, to whom she was married for nine years.

The trial's first hour was broken by six bench conferences and 17 objections by Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, one of Mrs. Daniel's attorneys. Judge Sam Emison, chewing an unlit cigar, reacted calmly to Haynes' interruptions and sustained only seven of his objections.

About 50 observers were present for the hearing.

The Jan. 19 shooting of Daniel, which

Mrs. Daniel claims occurred in self-defense, and the custody case have turned normally quiet Liberty into a divided community.

Mrs. Daniel is represented both in the child custody case and the criminal case by Haynes. He has suggested improprieties occurred at the Daniel home that led to the shooting, including marijuana use by Daniel, 39, and homosexual lovers.

Despite all the publicity, Judge Sam Emison refused to move the custody case out of the southeast Texas county.

Van Horn Shocked By Deaths Of Students

VAN HORN (UPI) — Still reeling from the shock of the worst tragedy in recent memory, this west Texas community of 2,500 prepared to bury three members of the Van Horn High School girls' track team killed during the weekend in a freak schoolbus accident.

A rosary was to be said tonight at the high school auditorium in memory of Gloria Rivera, 18, Sonya Carillo, 15, and Julie Gomez, 15.

A funeral mass was tentatively scheduled for Tuesday afternoon for Miss Rivera and Miss Gomez at the same time services were to be held at Shotwell Funeral Home Chapel for Miss Carillo.

"It was quite a shock," said an employee of the local funeral home. "The whole town came to a standstill."

Meanwhile, the Department of Public Safety trooper who investigated the fatal accident near Fort Stockton that also left 12 others injured said he planned to consult with the district attorney's office on whether charges should be filed in the case.

A schoolbus carrying the girls' track team 170 miles to the Cactus Relays in Iraan ran off the road early Saturday and overturned about 18 miles west of Fort Stockton when two coaches — Shirley Chandler, 22, and Victor Munoz, 24 — attempted to switch driving duties while the bus still was moving.

The bus turned over on its side and slid into a piece of heavy road machinery that ripped open the top of the bus, killing the three teen-agers and injuring 12 other people about 70 miles from their destination.

"As I see it now, though I don't see how much we could file any charges," Department of Public Safety Sgt. Leon Roberts said. "I don't think so but I need to get the district attorney's opinion. The way I read the law, there's nothing unlawful about changing drivers."

Officials said the bus was carrying 14 members of the track team, two coaches and a 20-year-old friend of one of the coaches when the 7 a.m. accident occurred.

"The two coaches, a male and female, were changing drivers while the bus was in motion," Roberts said.

Heir Indicted In Relatives' Murders

HOUSTON (UPI) — A man who inherited $400,000 following the deaths of his adopted sister, her husband and their infant son now has been indicted on murder charges on the basis of information given police by the man's friend and co-defendant.

The man who reportedly told police Markham Duff-Smith, 34, masterminded the July 1979 deaths — originally ruled murder-suicide — will avoid a capital murder trial scheduled to begin today by pleading guilty to a reduced charge of murder, his attorney revealed during the weekend.

Real estate broker Walter A. Waldhauser Jr., 27, was scheduled to go on trial today, along with Allen Wayne Janicka, 31, in the slayings of Diana Wanstrath, 36, her husband John, 35, and their adopted son, Kevin, 14 months.

A capital murder indictment was returned last Friday against Duff-Smith following a nine-page statement to police by Waldhauser.

Waldhauser reportedly agreed to aid investigators in exchange for a reduced charge and recommended sentence. Details of the agreement were not released.

Waldhauser's lawyer, Robert Scardino Jr., said Waldhauser's statement concerned "details of crimes that have been committed that he has knowledge of."

He refused to elaborate, but his use of the word "crimes" suggested more than one was involved.

"I felt like it was in Walter's best interest, after reviewing all the facts and evidence, to proceed along the lines of cooperating with the police," Scardino said.

Police also are investigating the 1975 death of Duff-Smith's mother, Gertrude Zabolio, 60, found strangled in her River Oaks home. Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph Jachimczyk ruled the death a suicide but reopened the inquiry.

Jachimczyk initially ruled the Wanstrath deaths murder-suicide by Mrs. Wanstrath, even though no weapon was found at the scene. Police since have said they found the .22-caliber pistol used to shoot each in the head.

Jachimczyk has changed his ruling in the Wanstrath case to murder.

Golden Eagles May Halt Construction

BASIN, Mont. (AP) — A family of golden eagles, whose predecessors have been nesting near this southwestern Montana community for nearly a century, may put a temporary halt to construction in the area.

Ken Joki, area manager for the construction company doing road work in the area, said drilling and blasting will have to stop unless the eagles fly away and find a new nesting site.

The Highway Department contract requires the firm to stop work from Feb. 15 to June 1 — the time the eagles need to perform courtships, mate, brood over their eggs and hatch their young.

LOOSE DIAMONDS REDUCED — Russell Igo and Carroll Anderson of Anderson Bros., West Texas' oldest and finest jewelers, call attention to diamonds among those featured in the Loose Diamond Sale beginning today at each of the Anderson stores in Lubbock. Check the report here for details of the 20 per cent reduction, together with other Anderson benefits.

Annual 'Loose Diamond Sale' Begins Today At Anderson Bros.

The eagerly-awaited Annual Loose Diamond Sale, a tradition of more than a decade at Anderson Bros., begins today.

Actually, you have never seen a more fabulous collection of loose diamonds than we have assembled from our in-stock selection and on consignment from our New York brokers for this event, today through Apr. 11, at the two Anderson Bros. stores in Lubbock (13th & J and in South Plains Mall). A similar sale will be conducted at later date in our Amarillo store.

For this special event, loose diamonds, 1/4 carat to 3 carat, are reduced a full 20 per cent.

Anderson Bros., West Texas oldest and finest jewelers, takes pride in again giving the best diamond deal on the South Plains. It is a great time to secure a new or a larger diamond, an advantageous time to make dreams come true.

The diamonds, as for all extensive jewelry supply in the big Anderson Bros. stores, are backed by 57 years of quality and integrity—the record of the home-owned and home-operated Anderson Bros., a three-generation family-owned store.

Included in the operation and ownership is Dorman Igo, president; Gordon Anderson, secretary; and Carroll Anderson and Russell Igo as vice presidents.

History Recounted

The store stems from Lubbock beginnings back in 1923 when J.C. Anderson set up his jewelers and watch repair benches in the Broadway & Texas location of the Citizens National Bank. After pursuing the watchmaker trade in Lamesa, later in Fort Worth and Electra, J.C. Anderson had a strong belief that Texas Tech would be founded in Lubbock, and he moved here in the fall of '23 to be part of the growing community. His faith was well founded, and Anderson Bros. has grown accordingly.

Now, as then, the business philosophy of the firm is that of dealing in merchandise suitable for the midway point to the top-of-the-market spectrum, with quality and integrity foremost.

Anderson Bros. has been at its present landmark location, the corner at 1101 13th St., since 1954.

(Subsequent stories on these pages will not only pinpoint immediate merchandise news of interest, but also will recount much of the intriguing history of the business.)

In connection with the present Loose Diamond Sale, it is emphasized by the Anderson family:

"We try to sell our customer something of which he or she will be proud... and happy... knowing that the diamond is exactly as represented, knowing that it can be enjoyed daily. A diamond is today's pleasure... tomorrow's treasure."

Unique Offer

(Did you realize that any diamond purchased at Anderson Bros. can be traded back to them at the full original cost when the customer purchases one of twice the dollar amount of the original? If this offer is not clear, check with us for the details. It is really a simple but money-saving offer not to be minimized.)

Anderson Bros. carries major lines of fine watches, china and porcelain, art objects including paintings, sculptured works, etc.

For value in jewelry and related items, Anderson Bros. stands tall!

Abbott Trailer's Airstreams Enable New Vacation Pleasure

We at Abbott Trailer Sales like to prove that Building Dreams Is Our Business.

"If dreaming of new vacation enjoyment this spring, summer and for seasons to come, then let Abbott show how it is possible, practical, and fun."

Abbott Trailer Sales, at 408 Ave. Q, phone 763-4747, has 23 years experience in trailer sales and service, providing Airstream... for the person who insists on a trailer that is lightweight, durable and trouble-free.

This year is a special one in the history of Airstream, it is pointed out, this year commemorates 50 years of building the world's finest recreation vehicles. Since Airstream was founded in 1931, it has been an industry leader in areas of quality, resale value and design, and continues to be a leader in 1981!

Flexibility of Choice

"Whatever your preference in an Airstream... motor home or trailer, whatever floor plan or size, we correctly point out that there's an Airstream for everyone!"

"If you're ready to retire, but not ready for the rocking chair, there is an Airstream for you!"

"And whether you've got two kids or four, or you are just one happy 'free wheeler' bent on heading for the open road, there's an Airstream for you!"

"View and select from the all-new models of shiny silver and lightweight, aerodynamic, energy-efficient Airstream construction... a sensibly-priced Airstream, sized in new lengths for every type of family and lifestyle."

Airstream offers a valued choice of loading up with all the fancy frills, or sticking to basics. In either instance or in between, it is a travel trailer that travels "like a stream of air" — a high performer custom tailored to the needs of the owner.

"For more ways to get more out of life" the Abbott selection right here in Lubbock can be quite a revelation.

An introduction to the delightful advantages of owning something special, of experiencing new travel and vacation convenience, of fighting boredom or exorbitant travel expense!

Inspection Invited

"With the price of fuel going up and the fuel supply in question, Airstream is the unit to go with. Pages could be written on the aerodynamic construction, the test after test that has proved Airstream's worth, the many standard features of every unit, etc. But it would take a book! The best idea is to come to Abbott Trailer Sales at 408 Q and see for yourself, besides, we want to visit with you as new and old friends alike. We pride in the fact that we at Abbott Trailer Sales have served so many of you in the two decades past, and we look forward to continuing as your dream builder!"

Example:
Throughout this week one can purchase two bras at regular sensible price and have opportunity of purchasing a third one for only $7!

Pennyrich and Sculptress bras are in stock, affording a complete line. All costume jewelry is marked at half price.

Two racks of merchandise carry half-price tags, and there are delightful short-sleeve sleep shirts at just $3.25.

Spring and summer arrivals were never more beautiful, and these have been received in exceptional number and selection to make preparation for balmy, outdoor days most enjoyable.

Swim Suits
See the Robby Len bathing suits, sizes 8 to 18, in several one-piece and two-piece styles, some with skirts and some with "little boy" legs. There are sparkling colors, prints and solids. One cannot help but thrill at this exceptional swim suit selection.

Sun Dresses
There are terry sun dresses, too, by Robby Len and other quality labels, some of these with built-in supports.

And the lace trim swim suit covers in pinks, yellows, apricot and blue are sure to attract.

Short and long one-piece terry jump suits are on the racks, also.

And terry two-piece short sets, strapless short sets, cotton blend gowns and robes, too. See the latter in both short and long, some embroidered and all so pretty.

There is a good assortment of cool cotton gown and robe sets, with matching househoes!

Assorted loungewear is on still another rack.

There still is a good selection at Pennyrich of nursing and hospital gowns.

Select from the popular Today's Girl pantyhose, from sheers and control top and support styles, with the "All Together" panty and panty hose in one, also, with knee-high hose also stocked.

Hues include teasing taupe, brown sugar, blushing beige and toast. And there are White Cloud sheer support hose for nurses.

Panties are stocked from Gilead and Texsheen.

AT NEW-LOOK PENNYRICH — Dolores Cox, manager of the Pennyrich Bra & Lingerie Shop, 4134 34th St., is shown with some of the all-new and fashion-wise arrivals for spring and summer. Check the story here for 'what's new and stocked' at the versatile and upgraded store.

And there are Jezebel strapless tube and contour strapless bras, great for summer.

Select from white, beige and black half-slips, too.

Some might not even realize the shop has a great selection of Viviane Woodard and Nutri-Metics cosmetics.

What a selection — all at this one intriguing shop under present ownership since last fall.

June Schwarz is owner, with daughter Dolores Cox as manager, and with Mrs. Charlie B. Heald, longtime staffmember at the same location, as trained fitter.

It seems that everything possible has been done at the "new look" Pennyrich Bra & Lingerie Shop, 4134 34th St., to assure finest service and products.

"Don't forget this week's bra special, and see the delightful new spring and summer apparel at the same time."

The Pennyrich bra selection includes the incredible number of over 150 sizes, and the new smooth seamless bras.

"If you wear up to a size 52 in a store bra, we can fit you and assure you comfort and beauty."

"We specialize in fitting the Pennyrich prosthetic bra. Our prosthetic has a 100 per cent silicone shell filled with silicone gel, the nearest thing to the natural breast."

The beautiful, service-oriented Pennyrich Bra & Lingerie Shop, 4134 34th St., phone 799-4826, is open Mondays through Saturdays, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day.

LOW COST, MINIMUM TIME — Mike Shelton of Auto Cosmetics in Lubbock utilizes the proven and economical Novus windshield repair method, making it available at minimum in-

Auto Cosmetics Affords Novus Quality Windshield Repairing

"Unconditionally guaranteed for total satisfaction" is the record and the promise of stone damaged windshield repairs by Auto Cosmetics, phone 797-6734, in Lubbock.

No newcomers in business or in Lubbock. Mike Shelton and son Mike Farley are owners and operators of Auto Cosmetics, utilizing the franchised Novus Method of windshield repair. Shelton also is associated with his wife, Connie, in the Connie Shelton Realtor firm.

"The Novus Method is not only effective, but it has been proven through the years. It is no new thing; this is the original windshield process patented in 1973," Shelton emphasizes. "It has been tested and approved by private laboratories, federal and state agencies and by many auto and trucking companies, presently used in all states and in 25 foreign countries."

Check these that are among specific advantages of such repair:

"The cost is a fraction of that of replacement, and if you have insurance, we point out that many insurance companies waive the deductible and there is no cost to the auto owner for such windshield repair."

The entire procedure takes only about 30 minutes, with the repair cured and ready to go... ready for bad weather, the car wash, etc.

The guarantee specifies the windshield will not crack out from the repaired point.

A flat economical fee is charged with the customer knowing exact cost before repair.

An Auto Cosmetics mobile unit goes to the customer's home, office or wherever in Lubbock, for maximum convenience.

Mike Farley personally is on the job to see that it is done right.

This repair method has been used extensively here, and the folks at Auto Cosmetics are glad to give names of local businesses who have utilized the service to complete satisfaction.

"The story is this: It is no longer necessary to replace many damaged windshields when the patented Novus Method can restore and repair them both structurally and optically, leaving the stone-damaged areas practically invisible, almost like new. One should act before the crack damage spreads too far, making it necessary to replace the entire windshield... so see the helpful folks at Auto Cosmetics now; just call 797-6734."

More recently comes the revelation that both Panasonic and Sylvania lines of video equipment have been stocked by the firm, right here in Lubbock.

(What better time than now could there be to purchase a Panasonic recorder?)

Newest units are on the floor at Video Cassettes, Etc., for inspection and comparison... and selection. Financing is available, and layaway is welcomed.

Pilgrim Stamp And Coin Aids Amateur, Professional Alike

"Pilgrim Stamp and Coins, Inc., 2413 34th St., can open a whole new world for you in hobby pursuits, collector achievement and investment purchases in the field of coins and stamps."

"In business only since mid-January, the shop has enjoyed exceptional acceptance, trade and appreciation, however. And for those who have not discovered us, we hope you come in real soon, you might just be surprised at the extensive stock and the time that we are glad to spend in service."

Another good way to become acquainted with Pilgrim Stamp and Coin is to attend the forthcoming Coin Show, sponsored by the South Plains Coin Club, to be held this Saturday, March 21, and Sunday, March 22, at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. We will have a booth there and we look forward to greeting you at this show, 9-6 on Saturday and 9-5 on Sunday.

Also, we will be on hand with an exhibit at the Stamp Show sponsored by the South Plains Stamp Club, and to be held the following weekend, March 28-29, also at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center, hours 10-10 on the 28th, and 10-6 on the 29th.

Both shows are open to the public, with free admission. They will afford quite an opportunity for learning, selecting, selling, trading, buying and just looking!

Personal Attention
Pilgrim Stamp and Coin is owned by Jack E. and Mary Anne Latter, with Mary Ann actively operating the business, with the shop open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.
Not only is the coin and stamp stock extensive within the shop, but the owners have affiliations enabling search and location of hard-to-find coins.
Gold and silver is purchased at the shop, too, with the scales in full view of the customer.

HOBBYISTS' COLLECTORS' BONANZA — A most interesting stamp and coin stock marks Pilgrim Stamp and Coins in its first year but fast making friends in Lubbock and area. Shown is Mary Ann Latter, owner with her husband, calling attention to a variety of gold and silver coins (most dated 1861 to 1974) and a Bicentennial Album from Paraguay honoring the U.S. Bicentennial, a unique and uncommon album.

Browsing Invited
Browsing is welcome, and the owners pride in taking time for service.
No matter if totally unacquainted with coin or stamp collecting, or if an avid enthusiast or even investor, Pilgrim Stamp and Coin can serve in manner to be appreciated. Young folks are encouraged to come in and become interested in related hobby pursuits, with the Latters intensely interested in young people and recognizing the importance of hobbies in happy, well-rounded, achievement-filled lives.

The Coin World newspaper is available at the shop.
Ordering of gold coins and of gold and silver bars is another service.
Won't you honor us with a visit at our 2413 34th St. shop (just east of University on 34th), and at the impending shows?"

Doll House Shop Reveals Rhonda Kaye Creation As 'Utmost In Versatility'

There's great news at the Doll House Shop, No. 20 in The Terrace Shopping Center, one of the most complete miniature shops, in products and services, one has ever seen anywhere.

It already is quite well known that a very good miniature selection is stocked at The Doll House Shop, that doll house shells and kits are in the big store, that interior and exterior doll house finishes, accessories and all the lumber yard products are stocked, and that free instruction and workroom space is provided, but even so, more has been added.

"What we believe is the most versatile doll house on the market, our own Rhonda Kaye, is now being distributed by The Doll House Shop."

National Distribution
Co-designed by Leonard Stewart (Doll House owner) and by Bryan Handley, also of Lubbock, this new house, produced to distribute nationally in numbered editions, is named for Rhonda Kaye Stewart, Bayless third grade student, daughter of the shop's owners.

Proving the versatility of this beautiful house, it can be finished with about 15 variations. Several porch and wing arrangements are enabled, together with chimneys, wings and even with wrap-around porch kits among the options.
It is a sturdily constructed collectors house of which anyone could be proud. One-half inch plywood is utilized, as example of its quality build.

A Complete Shop
And look at the following as among the many services, some of which you might not realize being offered at The Doll House Shop.

Seminars for dealers and for hobbyists are conducted monthly. Check for full details of these that are conducted by Stewart.

Dealer inquiries are invited for the new Rhonda Kaye house, it is pointed out.

Instruction, Workrooms Regular classes are a popular facet of the firm's operation. Big classrooms are provided, only cost to participant is that of any materials purchased there. One even can bring his or her own kit or a house or shell that they have had or purchased elsewhere. The Doll House is a friendly kind of store! Early inquiry about classes is wisely urged, due to the always-heavy demand for participation.

Custom work is solicited, also, by the skilled owners of The Doll House Shop. Folks even bring pictures of fondly remembered homes of their childhood for recreation into miniature houses. The staff also is adept in designing, assembly, remodeling, landscaping, etc., to round out the services of The Doll House Shop, Terrace Shopping Center, phone 799-0154. Inquiries are invited about any aspect of the shop's products and services. Be sure to see the big furnishings selection there, too.

"Welcome to The Doll House Shop and to new horizons in miniature fun and achievement!"

Wanda's, In Sunshine Square, Unveils 'Newest For Summer'

Chic apparel for spring and summer it never was in more gorgeous or greater array at Wanda's than now! For the new season, as in those of the past, one should find it a distinct pleasure to select everything in women's apparel (with exception of shoes) in the one great store: Wanda's, 4523 50th St., in Sunshine Square. Everything is "new for the season" at this southwest Lubbock store where owner-operator Wanda Reeves assures one of the largest selections in the entire area. New arrivals include selections in sundresses, coordinates, skirts, blouses, prom dresses, lingerie, costume jewelry, hosiery, etc. Featured sizes are 3 to 16, and well-known labels are the rule. Special Value At this time there is one rack of early spring coordinates marked at 30 per cent off! Wanda opened the attractive store in early '79, and in reaching this Second Anniversary, she especially emphasizes her appreciation of the trade and confidence, and the friendships, accorded the store and its personnel. "Thanks, so very much." "Moderate to better" apparel is correct description of the selection within the store, with all made available without exorbitant price. Store hours are 10-6, Mondays through Saturdays, with extended Thursday hours until 8 p.m. "We welcome you and appreciate you as a friend and customer at Wanda's, a store we continually strive to keep outstanding in Lubbock at 4523 50th St., in Sunshine Square."

Tuftwick Affording Customer Special Opportunity In New-Shipment Values

"Consider the following as positive proof that Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., Slide Road at Brownfield Highway in Lubbock is 'The Carpet Store Where Your Dollar Buys More!'" A new shipment from Milliken has been received, with an $11.95 sq. yd. price posted by Tuftwick (rather than suggested $15.95). Select from the beautiful Milliken Highlands pattern sculptured carpet in several colors, and with all treated for static and soiling. And look at this: Several rolls of hi-lo carpeting, made to sell at $12.95, is now $9.95 at Tuftwick. Plus there are lots of remnants, of first quality carpet, at cost or below! Select, too, from several rolls of jute back, loop pile carpet sale priced at $7.95! Tuftwick recently made another purchase that is saving for South Plains customers. Tuftwick secured some really fine carpet from a leading mill, passing it along at savings of 30 per cent to 40 per cent! This has been moved out in large quantity since announcement of its purchase, but there still is some left to be sold at this tremendous saving. "We were able to secure these fabrics and patterns that should be priced at $19.95 per yard, but we are privileged to make them available as low as $12.95! And this is first-quality Antron III* and other really quality carpet." Several rolls also are in stock in a "one-of-a-kind" category, and these are specially priced at this time. The wise word, here at time when one is fighting inflation and the budget but at the same time needing to ready the home for spring, is to shop Tuftwick, depending on the firm that takes pride in selling everyday at $3 to $5 under suggested retail, no matter what the selection, no matter if just arrived in stock! "Holding the price line" to the fullest extent possible in every transaction is a way of business at Tuftwick. One is invited to bring room measurements on the very first visit, and the Tuftwick staff will gladly figure the carpet amount necessary. There are numerous special "bonus buys" in carpet from Milliken, Lees and others check within the store for these exceptional values. Add to this that Tuftwick advertises easy terms, and the idea comes through clearly and forcefully, that Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., wants your business! Visa and Master Charge use is enabled. Likely more consideration is being given at this time to the advantages of home remodeling than in some years. And in this vein, it is evident that new carpeting should be a major acquisition in making the home beautiful, livable and more energy efficient. Let Tuftwick assist in the related savings. Whatever the selection in the very large stock, including full rolls, short rolls and remnants, one can save by purchasing from Tuftwick at this time. One must surely see the new rolls arriving from such famous mills as Lees, Milliken, Philadelphia and Horizon. Seidom has there been such a variety of fabrics and colors and patterns. All the fabrics received by Tuftwick are created for static and soiling, with either Scotchgard or Teflon. A really great selection of Antron (the best Dupont nylon) is noted. With the quality of workmanship, with fine materials and beautiful new patterns, more for the money in carpet is provided than ever before, the folks at Tuftwick welcome the opportunity to explain and prove. Hal, Arvel, Nancy, Beth and Cy all will be glad to assist in any manner possible. They know carpet, and they know that satisfied customers are the biggest asset a firm can have. All labor is guaranteed. "Longtime recognition of Tuftwick Carpet, Inc. as a headquarters for attractive pricing, utmost in value, and always a wide selection in a matter of general knowledge."

VALUE IS THEIR CONCERN — Arvel and Nancy English of Tuftwick Carpet in Lubbock are among the friendly folks assuring utmost in customer consideration at Tuftwick. Check the accompanying report for proof of current values.

AMONG HOWLE-MANUFACTURED UNITS RIGHT FOR THE JOB

Howle Manufactures, Markets Variety In Quality Trailers

"For all your trailer needs, call Howle."

This really simplifies things, doesn't it? After all, Howle Trailer Sales & Manufacturing, located on Hwy 82 East from Lubbock, phone (806) 774-1733, P.O. Box 2931, Lubbock, stocks grain dumps, drop necks, flatbeds, utility and other trailers manufactured right here in their own facilities. (WW stock trailers also are stocked.)

And Howle (since '76) does custom work, too! For repairs, for re-wiring, lighting and service on whatever brand of trailer unit, the skilled folks at Howle Trailer Sales & Manufacturing excel and invite full consideration.

This locally owned firm performs quite a service, knowing trailer needs of the area and building trailers for the many farm, ranch, construction and fleet uses.

"Did you realize all this was available right here in Lubbock... provided by Howle?"

Grain Dumps
Special attention might be directed to the popular grain dump trailers.

Howle makes a grain and stock in one versatile unit that does all the work of a truck and at half the cost, they emphasize.

"Our specially designed 'gooseneck' type shrugs off stress with a tested design that gives you greater dependability; the stem quickly adjusts to any four positions for trucks or tractors of various heights, and it is available in 10,000 lb. tandem dual axles.

Flatbed equipment is another popular offering, with these gooseneck type trailers available in two and three axle models, great for transporting small heavy equipment to 20,000 pounds (such as back hoes, small tractors, fork lifts, front end loaders, etc.) Electric brakes are on all wheels.

Gooseneck type trailers are available in 20 ft. and greater lengths, with vacuum, hydraulic and electric brakes.

Utility Units
The utility trailers from Howle feature electric or hydraulic surge brakes, axle capacity of 7,000 pounds, size 14 ft. or 16 ft. by 74 inches, ramps as standard equipment, and 670 x 15 6-ply tires.

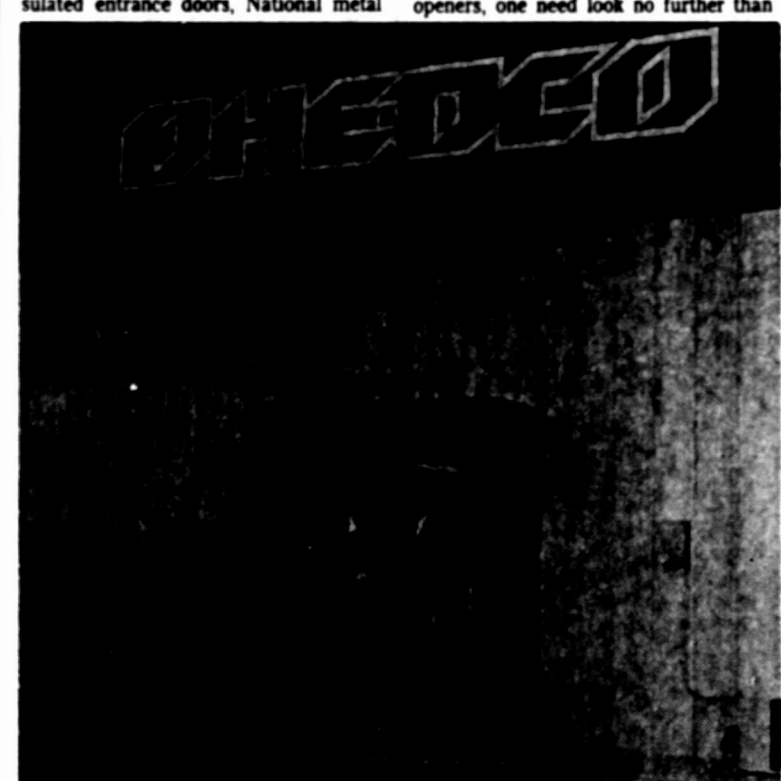

Equipment trailers are in two and three axle models, for transport of small heavy equipment to 20,000 pounds, available with gooseneck type hitch.

Or maybe the need is a drop-deck float, with axle capacity of 20,000 pounds and greater. Howle builds these to customer specifications!

"May we show you the advantage of a trailer with the Howle label? We also invite your business in servicing present units of any brand, remember. We think you will appreciate the locally owned Howle Trailer Sales & Manufacturing firm, just as others throughout the area have found our products and services of very real benefit.

OHEDCO, Division Of Overhead Door Lubbock Firm, Stocks Needed Items

For General Aluminum windows, insulated entrance doors, National metal fireplaces and a complete line of door openers, one need look no further than SUPPLYING AREA — Operating as a division of Overhead Door of Lubbock, the OHEDCO firm performs a variety of services as outlined in the accompanying report. Shown at right is Tim Hatch, Overhead Door of Lubbock president, with Virgel Merriott, manager of the OHEDCO division of which Alan Hatch is assistant manager.

OHEDCO, 5828-B W. 50th St., phone 795-8844.

A division of Overhead Door Co., this relatively new business is distributor for the above key items, maintaining a huge inventory in its 6,000 sq. ft. facility opened late in '79.

OHEDCO invites calls for free estimates on new construction or existing buildings, catering primarily to builders but making its products available either installed or delivered, wholesale or retail.

'Sun Garden' Window
In its General Aluminum window line, OHEDCO calls special attention to the greenhouse windows developed by General Aluminum.

This "Sun Garden" window brings light, air and sunshine into the home. It is a three dimensional plant place, designed to complement any home. It is a room expander and the most decorative feature one could imagine. And it is even prettier from the outside!

And there are the Series 1900 "Spaceglass" single-hung aluminum window units from the same manufacturer, with the sealed, insulating construction saving fuel by reducing heat loss in the winter and gain in the summer. Fuel bills are lower and systems can be smaller. Outside, audible noise is greatly reduced, too. Other features include more weather protection, more security and fast installation.

National metal fireplaces come in for full attention at OHEDCO, also.

Business & Industrial Review

Renovation, Styling, New Hats Among Popular Lynch Services

With hats definitely in fashion, for dress, casual and work, isn't it great to have a Lubbock firm, Lynch Hat Works, that for over half a century has afforded every hat and hat-related need!

Not only are new felts and straw available at Lynch Hat Works, downtown at 1106 Ave. J, but cleaning, renovation and customizing services are vital segments of the firm's business.

The following situations are pointed out as of immediate interest — and reason to check at soonest convenient date with Lynch Hat Works — but pronto!

"Your favorite hat — that one that ordinarily looks best, feels best and most correctly projects your personality — has grease on it, as well as spots... and the ABC Rodeo is fast approaching (on March 25-28)! So what to do?"

"Bring it to Lynch Hat Works just as quickly as you can!"

"This favorite hat is a little too small or too large, or for some reason just hasn't felt right of late. What can you do?"

"Take it to Lynch Hat Works!"

"You are just now getting out that hat you received for Christmas or for your birthday and discover the crease needs to be changed or the brim needs to be cut down some. What to do?"

"The answer still is to get it to Lynch Hat Works as soon as possible so that you can enjoy wearing it at the rodeo and for rodeos to come, and for every occasion, including work or dress-up."

"Hats are right — now throughout the nation, just as they always have been right in Texas!"

Yes, there is a business in downtown

Lubbock that deals exclusively with hats.

Mail Orders, Too
Lynch Hat Works, at 1106 Ave. J, is this family-owned business that is vitally interested in you and your hat needs, with a staff that appreciates opportunity of "fixin' up" your present hat just as much as selling you a new one from the always-selective stock. Mail-order business is welcomed.

(But if your hat needs our attention, please bring it in real soon so that it will be ready when you need it. We surely don't like to have to say "it's too late to get it out.")

Mrs. Virginia Lynch and staff are at Lynch Hat Works to help and serve in all your hat needs, a personal interest that has been the rule throughout more than half century the firm has been in business!

During those more than 50 years the equipment has been expanded as needed, and the staff has garnered a knowledge that comes only with decades of plying the trade.

Fun Place To Visit
Besides the service, it is fun to visit Lynch Hat Works!

One will find styles of blocks and flanges as they have changed over the years. In fact, it is most interesting just to visit the store that is "like a step into yesteryear." The equipment is antique, and Mrs. Lynch takes care of all equipment. That is why Lynch's can handle almost any hat situation or give helpful advice. They always are happy to visit with you in person or over the phone. 765-7171.

"Hats is their business" and the staff at Lynch Hat Works does its best on each hat. No two hats are the same, and each is given special attention by hand. The skilled staff can renovate one's hat, put new trimmings on it and crease, if desired, or can leave it open crown and let you put in your favorite crease.

Lynch Hat Works is equipped so that they can change the size of your hat, making it larger or smaller. If the brim is too wide, they can cut it to the width desired. The crease in one's hat also can be changed.

"Come in today and let us discuss your hat problem."

New Felts, Straws
In addition to renovating hats, Lynch Hat Works carries a stock of new hats in various styles, for sale. These include both straws and felts, remember.

A new hat is a welcomed gift anytime of the year... and likely especially so here at rodeo time.

Gift Certificates
If you are not sure regarding which hat to choose, Lynch Hat Works also has gift certificates.

"To take care of your hat, we carry hat brushes, hat savers (to put your hat into while driving), rain hat protectors, hat stretchers and hat-spotting powder.

"Maybe you would like to dress up your hat by choosing a feather hat band, a silver band, wide snap-on band or a feather or two!"

"Remember, for all your hat needs, come by 1106 Ave. J, or phone Mrs. Lynch at 765-7171. She and her staff really mean it when they say "making you a satisfied customer is our goal."

Tech-nique Paint Contractors Backs Claims With Long Record

For exterior or interior painting, for remodeling and related work, doesn't it make sense to rely upon Tech-niques Paint Contractors, the folks who have been in business since back in 1968 right here in Lubbock?"

Tim Mitchell, owner, personally supervises every job and takes pride in the hundreds of examples of Tech-nique expertise in the city.

"In fact, Mitchell keeps a file of customers, and is glad to supply names of these folks who have utilized Tech-niques services through the years. Hundreds of recommendations surely must prove that Tech-niques does things right!"

Quality Foremost
Quality is the watchword for all Tech-niques operations, with this devotion to value proven time and again during the more than a decade of service. ("We aren't here today, gone tomorrow" is a correct representation by the Tech-niques owners.)

Aside from the quality, check these other factors that should make reliance upon Tech-niques a wise choice:

Other Services
Not only is expert painting afforded, but Tech-niques crews also do carpenter work and can handle interior or exterior remodeling tasks.

Antiquing and dry wall operations are among the services.

Residential, office and commercial paint jobs are solicited, with the firm having an impressive list of customers including schools, hospitals, nursing homes, etc.

Whether the job is simple or complicated, Tech-niques representatives are assurance of a job done right.

"Every person sent out by Tech-niques knows that the job has to be right," Tim Mitchell emphasizes, also noting that key personnel of the firm have been on the staff for a long time, lending a stability and "know how" that should not be minimized.

Price Advantage
And as for costs, Tech-niques enjoys a large volume of business, enabling them to "keep the price down," folks have found. Several jobs can be handled at one time, so no long delays are involved.

"This, in brief, is the story of Tech-niques Painting Contractors, 4421 77th St., phone 797-9867 in Lubbock, a firm inviting and earning your business."

Congress Working On Budget Slashes

WASHINGTON — Budget director David Stockman today defended budget cuts aimed at changing the direction of two consumer agencies, declaring the move part of the administration campaign against bureaucracy.

Stockman told a House subcommittee the theory behind the budget cuts at the Federal Trade Commission and at the Consumer Products Safety Commission is to direct their focus into other areas.

"It is our view that all bureaucracies tend to be self-aggrandizing," he said.

Meanwhile, Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis testified today the Amtrak system must be cut back drastically, but Conrail is vital to the nation's economy.

"I feel stronger about cutting Amtrak than any other part of my budget," he told the House Appropriations subcommittee on transportation.

"In my judgment it must be cut back, it must be cut back drastically," Lewis said. "Amtrak is a monument to bureaucracy ... It's a mode of transportation from a bygone day."

"Conrail has to exist. Conrail is essential to the vitality of the country," he said, adding, "It is not my objective to see Conrail slashed to the point where it can't be effective in serving the Northeast."

Stockman spoke out as the Senate Budget Committee prepared to begin work today on a measure aimed at nudging congressional committees into making large budget cuts in programs under their jurisdiction.

Some conservative members of the Senate panel hope to make deeper reductions than President Reagan recommended in his proposed $895.3 billion budget.

Vowing to work day and night, the committee will draw up an overall spending plan, setting a top limit for total expenditures. Other committees must get their spending to fit into the budget committee's box.

In his House appearance, Stockman said the FTC has turned traditional anti-trust doctrine into "almost a shambles" and it would not make much difference if the agency is abolished.

Other action on Reagan's economic program is scheduled this week as the Senate votes on scrapping higher dairy subsidies and its budget writers draft their own plan for deep cuts in federal spending.

Reagan's recommendation for scrapping the scheduled April 1 increase in dairy price supports was endorsed by the Senate Agriculture Committee earlier, and Majority Leader Howard Baker predicted the full Senate will go along. A vote is expected Thursday.

The House Agriculture Committee holds its own hearings on the subsidy increase Tuesday, with a vote scheduled the following day. The prospects there, however, are dimmer, with committee leaders predicting the Democratic-controlled House will be more reluctant than the Republican Senate to approve the cut.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, its own work on the milk subsidies finished, turned its attention today to the food stamp program, which Reagan wants to cut by $2.3 billion next year. The president may have a strong ally on that issue, since the committee's chairman, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., has been a vocal critic of food stamps in the past.

The Senate Budget Committee, meanwhile, began a three-day budget-cutting blitz today amid a pledge by its chairman, Sen. Peter Domenici, R-N.M., "to move events quickly" by keeping the panel in session until at least 10 p.m. every day, if necessary.

The committee is expected to balk at some of the cuts Reagan wants in child nutrition programs, and it also may reject his proposal to eliminate money earmarked for legal aid for the poor. But Domenici and others have suggested the committee may recommend making up the difference by changing the way Social Security benefits are adjusted for inflation.

Reagan's program may face more extensive changes in the House, where Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas has sent his colleagues a letter reminding them: "No president has ever achieved enactment of his entire program. ... The people want Congress to be cooperative. They do not want it to be supine."

The House Budget Committee called a parade of Reagan Cabinet secretaries to testify on the administration program this week.

Health and Human Services Secretary Richard S. Schweiker said Sunday that programs for the poor won't be destroyed by Reagan's proposed budget cuts.

"We're not quite hurt as much as some of the Chicken Little people would have us believe," Schweiker said.

Schweiker also said only about 20,000 families would lose benefits under proposed cuts in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program and about 50,000 other families would have benefits reduced. "Those families actually are above the poverty line now," Schweiker said, if double benefits such as food stamps are counted as income.

Weather

over West Texas will be mostly in the upper 50s at mid-week and will warm into the upper 60s under fair skies by Friday.

The long range forecast covering most of next week calls for below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation.

A pleasant spring day was forecast for the entire state today.

High, thin clouds were forecast for the western half of the state, while the eastern half was to have clear skies. Highs were expected to be mostly in the 70s over state.

Some patchy fog was reported over South Texas early today. Early morning temperatures were in the 30s and 40s over the northern half of Texas and in the 50s and 60s over the southern half.

Extremes ranged from 34 at Dalhart to 61 at Brownsville.

Light rainshowers were reported at mid-morning along the Rio Grande from Crystal City west to 50 into Mexico, and rain was reported falling from Laredo to 60 miles over the Mexican border.

Strike Deadline Tonight For Soft Coal Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers and the soft-coal industry, battling a midnight deadline, resumed negotiations today in search of a tentative contract that would avert a nationwide strike.

"We're not optimistic at this time," B.R. Brown, chief industry negotiator, said as the session convened.

The union today slightly softened its position on the midnight deadline for reaching an agreement. Spokesman Eldon Callen said he doubted the union would extend the deadline, but later added that the union probably would be willing to talk for a brief time beyond the deadline tonight if an agreement was in sight.

Callen said if an agreement is not reached, he expects the miners would walk out on March 27, when the current contract expires.

Both sides agreed on tonight's deadline to allow at least 10 days after a contract agreement for the ratification process in the coalfields. Some union sources have indicated the vote could be completed in nine days.

The bargainers recessed Sunday's talks around 7:30 p.m. CST, hours earlier than had been expected.

Afterward, negotiators refused to comment publicly on the progress of the talks — in contrast to the ill-fated bargaining of 1978, when the two sides sought to win public support for their positions.

A union source who declined to be identified said Sunday night, "We've still got a long way to go."

An industry source said it was "extremely important" that a strike by the 160,000-member UMW be averted, but he added that "things are going slowly."

The industry bargaining is being handled by the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, which represents some 130 coal companies.

Among the remaining issues are:

—An industry proposal to replace the existing multi-employer pension plan with company-by-company plans handled by private insurance companies.

—The union's demand of wage and benefit increases totaling about 50 percent over the next three years.

—The industry's desire to retain an arbitration board.

Both sides have maintained all along they want to avert a strike, thus reversing a trend that started in the mid-1960s and continued through the record 111-day strike of the winter of 1977-78.

Sources on both sides said the major obstacle to the current talks is the pension proposal.

Sam Church, the union's president, has said the 39-member UMW bargaining council unanimously opposes it. The BCOA expressed concern about smaller coal companies folding and leaving the pooling of the pension costs to the larger coal operators remaining in business.

Some 25,000 UMW miners in the East and Midwest have been furloughed because of mine closings.

The industry maintains the existing pension program costs coal operators some $4,000 a year for each active miner, far higher than contributions made by employers in other industries.

But Church was quoted Sunday by a source as calling the idea "a pig in a poke." He had said Friday that it would jeopardize the pension benefits of miners who move from one company to another.

At present, the unionized coal companies contribute money to two pension trust funds, one for miners who retired before 1974 and the other covering those who retire after that.

Neither union nor industry officials would say whether the BCOA made an economic offer over the weekend, as the union had expected.

In the 1978 settlement, UMW members won a $2.40 an hour pay raise. A typical union miner now earns $10.50 an hour.

Some 3,000 UMW miners covered by separate western surface agreements already have won wage and benefit increases amounting to around 35 percent over three years.

Man Shot Down At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — A man trying to climb the Berlin Wall from West to East Berlin was shot and carried away by East German border guards to their side of the barrier, West Berlin police said today.

It was the first time East German guards were known to have shot anyone trying to cross the wall to the communist side.

Police said a man, about 40 years old, started to climb the wall in the unusual direction of West to East.

East German border guards called out in warning, then fired off a warning shot before taking exact aim, police said.

The mysterious climber collapsed and was taken away in a van by East German border guards, police said. It was not known how severely the man was wounded.

Eyewitnesses told police the man was spotted climbing onto a viewing platform on the Western side of the wall in the French sector of Reinickendorf.

He then climbed over the 12-foot-high concrete wall and ran through some 50 yards of no-mans land before reaching an electrified wire fence that he started to climb, police said after receiving several reports.

East German border guards perched some 45 feet away in one of the high watchtowers that line the wall dividing Berlin then fired a warning shot, West Berlin police said.

Eyewitnesses told police the East German guards then called out twice, shouting to the man to stop and freeze.

Two more shots were heard, and the man slumped to the ground, police said.

He was then dragged off behind the watchtower out of sight from the Western side of the wall, police said.

Then he was taken away in a vehicle, West Berlin police said.

The Berlin Wall was built Aug. 13, 1961, by the Soviets and East Germans and has slowly been fortified into a concrete curtain slicing the city in two.

There have in the past been isolated incidents of people in West Berlin climbing on or over the wall, either in protest against its existence or sometimes because they were drunk.

U.S. Blames Russia In Hijacking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department today accused the Soviet Union of responsibility in the hijacking of a Pakistani airliner, a drama that ended over the weekend with the release of the plane and 102 hostages in Syria.

In an unusual briefing at the State Department, spokesman William Dyess summoned reporters to read a statement saying that the Soviets, as the principal occupying power in Afghanistan, had some responsibility for the episode.

The three Pakistani hijackers "arrived (in Kabul) with pistols," Dyess said. "They left with machine guns."

Dyess said he based the statement on "reports from American eyewitnesses."

Asked whether he was accusing the Soviets of supplying the weapons, he said, "I don't see how the Soviets can escape responsibility for what happened."

Dyess also said that at one time all three hijackers were seen at planeside at the Kabul airport, in the company of Afghan and Soviet security forces and the hijackers appeared to be at ease.

Earlier, he said the United States found it "strange and unreasonable" that the Soviet Union did not condemn the hijacking until it had been in progress for 10 days.

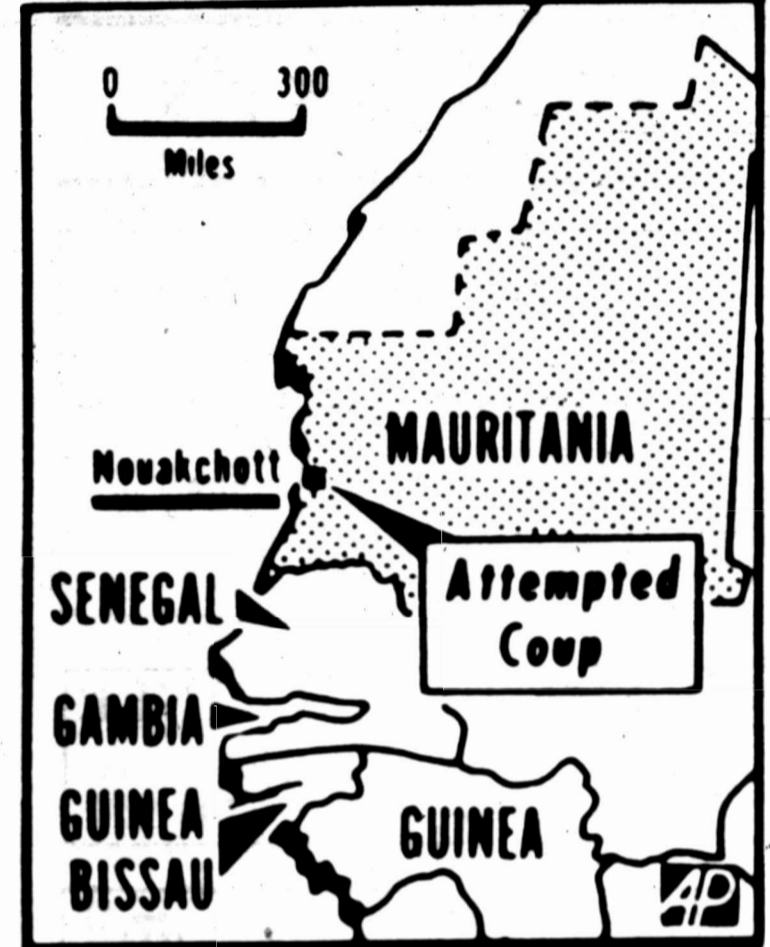

He also said the Afghan authorities prevented the Pakistani government from negotiating with the hijackers while the plane was in Kabul. The plane left Kabul and flew to Damascus, Syria, where the drama ended Saturday.

State Department Investigates Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says it is looking into the circumstances of a trip to the United States by five South African military officers in violation of a 19-year-old ban on such visits.

The five did not disclose their military status when they applied for and were granted visas, U.S. officials said.

The quintet paid a "courtesy call" last week at the Defense Information Agency and met with an officer of the National Security Council, said the officials, who asked not to be identified.

COUP ATTEMPT — This map shows the area involved in a reported coup attempt in Mauritania. The Iraqi news agency today said the presidential palace in the capital was attacked, but the coup attempt failed. (AP Laserphoto)

Coup Try Fails In Mauritania

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Troops led by two exiled colonels stormed the presidential palace in Nouakchott, Mauritania, today in a bloody but unsuccessful attempt to seize power in the desert Arab republic on the western bulge of Africa, broadcasts and dispatches reported.

The Mauritanian prime minister blamed Morocco for the attempt, possibly linked to a struggle over the phosphate-rich ex-Spanish Sahara.

Fighting raged at the presidential palace, around the state-controlled Radio Nouakchott station and elsewhere in the streets before the attempt was put down, the reports said.

One of the two leaders of the failed coup was killed during the assault on the palace and the other was captured, Mauritanian broadcasts heard here said.

An indefinite curfew was ordered in the capital as of 6 p.m., local time, as forces loyal to President Mohammed Khouna Ould Haidalla mopped up rebel troops at the palace and at the headquarters of the ruling Salvation committee, according to the Iraqi news agency reporting from Mauritania.

Mauritania's prime minister, Sidi Ahmed Ould Ben Jara, charged that the neighboring country of Morocco was behind the coup attempt, Mauritanian Radio said.

Ben Jara appealed to the U.N. Security Council, the Arab League and the Organization of African Unity to put an end to what he called Moroccan aggression, the broadcast said.

Mauritania has a population of about 1.6 million black farmers and nomadic herders and warriors of Moorish and Berber origin. It became independent of France in 1960.

An internal conflict among the Mauritanian military leaders has been aggravated by the large-scale infiltration of the Polisario guerrilla movement into Mauritania's virtually uninhabited northern desert.

Polisario has fought a bitter and thus far unsuccessful guerrilla war for the independence of the former Spanish Sahara annexed by Morocco.

Polisario receives most of its arms and funds from Libya and Algeria and uses the Algerian oasis of Tindouf as its main sanctuary for hit-and-run attacks on the Moroccans.

Moroccan Foreign Minister M'hamed Boucetta warned Mauritania last week that the growing Polisario infiltration into northern Mauritania could force the Moroccan army and air force to attack targets on Mauritanian territory.

In the Mmauritanian capital, this warning led the pro-Moroccan faction in the military junta to call for efforts to expel the guerrillas from Mauritania — a task likely to be beyond the capacity of the ill-trained, 6,000-strong Mauritanian army.

gypsum, he said, adding that when ground water dissolves the underground formations, it creates caverns that collapse when they no longer can support the weight of the overlying earth.

Although widely separated sinkholes and small faults are common in the Panhandle, he said, they are not a major problem to farm operations or livestock. Some instances of highway damage and stock water tank failures have been attributed to sinkholes.

Larger sinkholes, like the Winkler County hole, are formed primarily through salt being dissolved at depths of 600-900 feet, the geologist said.

The sinkhole near Wink, which has stopped growing, endangered a highway and gasoline storage tanks after it began forming last June.

Jimmy Carter Not Ready To Blast Reagan

partly on his political philosophy "and part of it is an attitude of multimillionaires." Asked if he had lobbied Congress to protect his programs, he grinned and said, "Oh, I talked to a few members as a matter of courtesy."

Carter said his memoirs will be narrative, dwelling on the human side so people will know "this is the way a Southern peanut farmer who's been governor felt when he went into the White House."

"I'm not going to write an apology. I don't feel apologetic."

Carter plans to go to Princeton to confer with authors of presidential biographies before proceeding with the 5,000 pages of impressionistic notes he dictated while president.

He also will leave the judgment of history to others. When asked how he would like to be viewed in the future, he said, "I don't know."

He conceded his administration failed to come to grips with the problem of inflation.

"The first few months (in office), for example, we were preoccupied with jobs and stimulating the economy, putting people back to work, and we succeeded. But we didn't give adequate attention to inflation, and why we didn't is worthy of a paragraph or two," he said.

Carter remains loyal to the Georgia team he brought into the White House. Asked whether he ever considered dropping them when they became politically vulnerable, he said "no, they're tops."

Responding to questions, he said he believes Iran deliberately held off releasing the 52 American hostages until after Reagan was sworn in on Inauguration Day, but he does not know their motivation.

Asked if the delay was disappointing, Mrs. Carter said, "I felt it was a triumph for us. I felt we were going out in triumph."

Besides, she added, Reagan did not deliver a "good inaugural speech."

Carter said he thinks the most important single issue of the campaign "was the hostages, and the exemplification of a powerful nation and innocent Americans being held."

"To me," he said, "it was an indication of the basic power of our country, of the strength of our country, to exalt the importance of those human lives."

When his presidency was over, Lyndon Johnson expressed his great relief that he no longer had "the man with the black bag" following him with the secret nuclear codes. Did Carter feel the same way?

Carter said he did not have any sleepless nights and felt the black bag "was in good hands when it was in my possession."

The ex-president is having the time of his life getting acquainted with the new computer he installed in his study to work on his memoirs.

He also put in the flooring of his attic and made stilt — called "tom walkers" in Plains — for his daughter Amy, who has said she wishes her father was still present because she misses her friends in Washington.

As for Billy Carter, "he's doing fine," said Carter, adding he thinks Billy has "assuaged" his problems with the Internal Revenue Service and has a job as a traveling salesman selling woodwork and molding in the southeastern states.

The former president says he gets 2,000 letters a day in his Atlanta office. He is trying to decide on a location for this presidential library. The betting is on Atlanta, where there are some 25 area colleges.

Since he is only 56 years old, there has speculation Carter may seek public office again some day. The question brought a smile to his face, and an emphatic "No."

Alexander's Murder Trial Cost Taxpayers More Than $50,000

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

It cost Lubbock County taxpayers more than $50,000 to try convicted capital murderer Billy Wayne Alexander for the Oct. 5, 1980, slaying of a Department of Public Safety trooper near Slaton.

And according to county financial records, that makes Alexander's trial the most costly one for taxpayers in Lubbock County's history.

The 21-year-old Lorenzo man was found guilty by a Taylor County jury for the murder of DPS trooper Jerry Don Davis on Jan. 29, the 104th District Court jury then sentenced Alexander to life in prison.

Alexander's trial, which was moved to Abilene on a change of venue, lasted about two and a half weeks and ran up a total bill of $51,591.37, noted County Auditor Dale Gallimore.

In comparison, Gallimore said, local taxpayers spent $26,023 to try Philip Carey Brasfield in Wichita Falls in 1978 for the capital murder of 6-year-old Johnny Turner.

That same year, taxpayers also picked up a $43,467 tab for Clarence Allen Lackey's trial in San Angelo, Gallimore said.

Lackey was convicted of the murder of Texas Tech University medical school secretary Tony Diane Kumpf.

According to Gallimore, the figures he provided on the Brasfield and Lackey trials did not include costs for the statement of facts, the document prepared by a court reporter when a case is appealed.

No appeal is expected in the Alexander case, so the statement of facts was not prepared.

The biggest expense in the Alexander trial was for meals, lodging and travel for the jury, district attorney's staff, judge, court reporter, sheriff's deputies and the defendant. Records indicated that the county spent approximately $17,300 on those expenses during the course of the trial.

However, Commissioner Coy Biggs noted, that the costs for Alexander's transportation while in Abilene could have been even higher if Taylor County officials had not made an effort to assist Lubbock County. Biggs said Alexander was transported to and from the courtroom at no charge to the county.

The next largest expense from the trial was for court-appointed attorneys' fees, which cost around $13,700.

Local attorney Floyd Holder, who was appointed to represent Alexander from the time the 21-year-old oil field worker was arraigned in Slaton through his capital murder trial in Abilene, was paid almost $8,290.

Dick Alexander, another attorney who assisted with Alexander's defense during the trial, was paid $5,430.

In addition, jurors were paid about $9,600 and Taylor County personnel about $9,800 for services during the trial.

Miscellaneous expenses for phone bills, transportation of witnesses, copy machine costs and other items totaled about $1,060, financial records showed.

Gallimore explained that the county commissioners court will have to pass a budget amendment to cover the costs.

This year, the auditor said, the county has only about $1,500 in its budget for out-of-county trial costs. "We normally put only a token amount in the budget, hoping that we don't have anything," Gallimore said.

Having expenses for out-of-county trials doesn't happen that often, according to Gallimore. He noted that the county didn't have any expenses of this type in 1980.

Man Arrested After Fatal Accident

LEVELLAND (Special) — A suspect in a three-vehicle accident was in custody in Hockley County jail Sunday after two Levelland residents were killed Saturday by a truck that had reportedly run a stop sign.

Killed in the incident were Beverly Anne Warren, 34, and her 15-year-old daughter Wendy Su Warren.

Levelland police said the man arrested was allegedly driving on U.S. 385 when he ran a stop sign and hit the car driven by Mrs. Warren traveling on Highway 114. Police are still sorting out the evidence in the incident.

Services for Mrs. Warren and Miss Warren were at 2 p.m. today at College Avenue Baptist Church in Levelland. Officiating were the Rev. Merle Fulmer, pastor of College Avenue Baptist Church, and David Evetts, pastor of Second Baptist Church in Levelland.

Burial will be in City of Levelland Cemetery under direction of George C. Price Funeral Directors.

Both were pronounced dead at Cook Memorial Hospital Saturday evening following the automobile accident at 7:30 p.m. in Levelland.

Mrs. Warren was born Nov. 26, 1946, in Hobbs, N.M. and lived most of her life in Levelland, attending and graduating from Levelland High School. She married Ted C. Warren March 6, 1964, in Santa Fe, N.M. She was a student at South Plains College and a housewife.

Miss Warren was born March 18, 1965, in San Angelo. She was a junior at Levelland High School.

Administration Eyes Rebates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is thinking about giving rebates to people eligible for Medicare who sign up with private insurers instead.

Interviewed on the ABC-TV program "Issues and Answers," Health and Human Services Secretary Richard S. Schweiker said Sunday, "We're going to consider giving people rebates if they buy the less expensive plan and begin to insure themselves, like an automobile — $50 deductible, $100 deductible. If they begin to take some of the burden themselves, we'll give them some kind of rebate" of the money they already have paid into the Medicare trust fund.

The administration plans to introduce a new plan to bring more competition to health care insurance because "we believe that competition will keep costs down far better than federal controls and federal regulations," Schweiker said.

Andrews Resident Dies In Automobile Mishap

ANDREWS (Special) — An 18-year-old Andrews man was killed early Sunday morning in a one-car rollover just south of here, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Don Lee Munsell was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Andrews Justice of the Peace Jay Williams, who ruled the death accidental.

Joseph Wayne Harper, 18, and Samuel Wayne Baxter, 18, both of Andrews, suffered injuries in the 2:30 a.m. mishap and were in satisfactory condition today at Permian General Hospital here.

According to DPS reports, Harper was driving north on U.S. 385 about three miles south of Andrews when his 1978 Ford ran off the right side of the road. The driver apparently overcorrected, and the vehicle crossed into the center median and overturned twice.

Munsell was thrown from the car, the DPS said.

Funeral services were at 4 p.m. today at Means Memorial United Methodist Church with the Rev. Keith Wiseman, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Andrews Cemetery under direction of Singleton Funeral Home.

Machine Blocks Citibus Stop

The much-discussed Citibus temporary transfer point, relocated effective this morning at Broadway and Texas Avenue, temporarily ran into a problem today in the form of a huge crane.

The gargantuan machine, owned by Trumble Steel Erectors, is parked in the eastbound lane of Broadway in front of the federal building in order to assist workmen replacing the roof of the eight-

Munsell was born July 24, 1962, in Andrews and was a freshman at Texas A&M University and was home on Spring Break. He was a 1980 Andrews High School graduate.

Pallbearers were Dennis Clift, Jim Ellison, Larry Parnell, Randy Jarvis, Darrell Floyd, Bobby Zugg and Joey Harper.

Police Find Three Names For City Murder Victim

Lubbock police have three last names for a homicide victim who was shot and killed at the Alamo Motel, 608 Idalou Road, about 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Det. Lt. Billy Knox said Department of Public Safety records show the victim to be Pedro Palosios, 32, who reportedly was from Panama. The man's Social Security number, however, lists the name of Pedro Donaires, and acquaintances said the man also went by the surname of Flores.

The man was known to witnesses only as "Pete."

He had suffered three .22-caliber gunshot wounds, two in the chest and one just below his left armpit, police said.

A 46-year-old man was arrested at the scene and remains in the Lubbock County Jail on suspicion of murder today.

The victim apparently was shot when he told a man to refrain from smoking a marijuana cigarette inside the pool hall. An argument ensued, and the suspect allegedly shot the victim after he reportedly tried to hit the suspect in the face with a beer bottle.

Municipal Judge Robert Baber pronounced the victim dead at the scene at 4:36 p.m. He ruled the death a homicide, the city's sixth of the year.

Man Killed In Accident

MORTON (Special) — A 23-year-old man was killed about 1:40 a.m. today when he apparently failed to negotiate a curve near here and overturned his motorcycle, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Billy Eugene Sheek of Pettit was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Carl Kernell.

DPS reports state that Sheek, traveling alone, was eastbound on FM 597, about 3 1/2 miles east of Highway 214, when he apparently lost control of his vehicle and it overturned twice.

The death was ruled accidental by Kernell.

Slain Children Memorialized

LEADS MARCH — Coretta Scott King, arm-in-arm with entertainer Ben Vereen, left, and David Smith, leads a march through Atlanta Sunday honoring the 22 missing and murdered children of Atlanta. About 2500 people participated in the march and a rally. (AP Laserphoto)

ATLANTA (AP) — As police examined a jacket like the one worn by the latest young victim, scores of demonstrators from across the nation brought their prayers, their money, their friendship and their sometimes hostile frustration to the city stalked by a child killer.

About 2,500 people, including busloads from Connecticut, New York City, Boston, Detroit, Washington, D.C., Iowa, Virginia, Indiana, New Orleans, Houston and Florida, joined Atlantans in a memorial to the 20 slain children Sunday.

Meanwhile, more than 2,000 people staged a walkathon Sunday in Stamford, Conn., raising about $1,500 for the Atlanta investigation "to show the people of Atlanta that they are not standing alone," said Joseph Arnette, chairman of the Stamford Urban League.

And in Brockton, Mass., New England Patriots football players Tony McGee and Ray Hamilton joined more than 100 people for a prayer and song service for the families of the slain children and two boys who remain missing.

Hostility rippled through the Atlanta crowd, with several local speakers heckled as they spoke of marchers united in peace and harmony.

"We need action, not talk," one dissenter yelled, drawing applause.

Andrew Young, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and an Atlanta resident, left the stage with the first calls and when he was "introduced," his car had long since departed.

"What we need to do is not put the police or leadership on trial," Young told several reporters as he walked to his car. "You have to have confidence in the police. We just haven't had a break yet."

Government Awards Settlement For FBI Rights Violations

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Justice Department awarded five people $10,000 each because the FBI violated their constitutional rights with telephone wiretaps, clandestine break-ins into their homes or unauthorized mail openings.

Leon Friedman, a lawyer for the New York Civil Liberties Union, said Sunday the agreement providing the settlement was "a victory for our side." Friedman represented two of the five people.

"It was more (money) than anybody has ever gotten," said Friedman. "It will serve as a warning" against constitutional violations by government.

The agreement, which was reached at the end of President Carter's term, was approved by the Reagan administration. The payments are in settlement of lawsuits begun three years ago in U.S. District Court, in Manhattan.

FBI surveillance of the five came to light in 1977 when the Justice Department indicted John Kearney, former head of the FBI's internal security unit in New York.

The indictment was dropped the next year on the grounds that Kearney's superriors had sanctioned his activities while seeking information on the radical Weather Underground fugitives.

None of the five was wanted by the government, but the FBI surveilled them on the grounds they might be linked with the underground.

The five are Johanna Lawrenson, the girlfriend of former Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman, actress Deborah Offner, former reporter William Price, and freelance writers Sara Blackburn and Lewis Cole.

Friedman said the FBI tapped the telephones of Mrs. Blackburn and Cole for two weeks and broke into their homes to gather information.

The FBI tapped the phone and a payphone near the home of former New York Daily News reporter Price for five weeks, said Michael Standard, a lawyer with the National Emergency Civil Liberties Committee. He also represented Miss Lawrenson and Miss Offner.

Reputed Mobster Dies In Bomb Blast

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The slaying of reputed Philadelphia mob boss Phillip C. "Chicken Man" Testa, blown up on the front steps of his house, may have been a retaliation killing or part of an effort by New York mobsters to muscle in on area rackets, officials speculate.

Testa, alleged to have controlled the local underworld since Angelo Bruno was shot to death last March, died Sunday of multiple injuries from the bomb blast triggered as he was about to enter his home on a quiet, tree-lined street of South Philadelphia.

"He looked like he went through a giant paper shredder. It was a helluva bomb," one police officer on the scene told The Philadelphia Bulletin.

Unidentified authorities quoted in local newspapers speculated the killing was possibly part of efforts by New York crime families to claim Philadelphia and southern New Jersey rackets.

Others felt Testa had made himself vulnerable by eliminating every strong figure in the local crime family who posed a threat to him, while some unidentified detectives said the killing might have been in retaliation for the pre-Christmas shooting death of Roofers Union President John J. McCullough.

Authorities, however, had no suspects and were not sure of the composition of the bomb or how it was detonated. They believed the bomb was set off by remote-control by someone within "eye range," according to the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Rocky Marciano, the only heavyweight boxing champion to retire without being defeated in his professional career, was killed in 1969 in a plane crash near Newton, Iowa.

FUEL OF FUTURE

The U.S. Department of Energy says wood may be the fuel of the future — already Americans are saving one million barrels of oil daily and $7.7 billion annually by burning wood. Soon the U.S. will be able to produce the equivalent of 2.2 million barrels of oil daily from the wood of lumber waste and dead trees.

Crime Line Seeks Information On Robbery

Crime Line Inc. this week spotlights the Tuesday aggravated robbery at a gasoline station in which the victims were threatened with a pistol and struck by the bandit, who fled with $2,261.

The hooded holdup man entered the Hornet Station, 4601 34th St., as one of the attendants was totaling figures in the office and the other was taking out the trash. The attendant inside said he felt a hand strike his neck, and he fell to the floor. Seconds before the suspect turned the storage room lights off, the attendant caught a glimpse of a small black automatic pistol.

The bandit told the attendant to get up as he unrolled a rust brown garbage bag, telling the victim to place cash inside. As the victim complied, his fellow employee entered the room. The gunman told him to go back into the storage room, pushing him inside. The second victim also was hit hard enough to fall down.

The bandit ordered his captors to open the back door, then left the station after kicking one of the attendants in the ribs. The victims called police to report that the robber wore a gray shirt and gray pants, weighed about 195 pounds and is about 5-foot-10.

Crime Line offers a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the bandit. Anyone having such information is urged to call Crime Line at 741-1000. Informants may remain anonymous.

Crime Line is supported entirely by private donations. Tax deductible contributions may be mailed to Crime Line Inc. at P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock 79457.

A $2,500 portable radio was stolen in a March 9 burglary at Southwestern Public Service, 10th Street and Avenue C, and a $300 reward is offered for information leading to an arrest in the case.

The radio, described as a black General Electric with serial number 8102177, was taken from an unlocked office used by service employees.

A $300 reward is offered for information leading to the arrest of a thief who took a road grader valued at $46,500 from a construction site at East 34th Street and Elm Street.

The victim, who called police at 6:45 p.m. March 8, told police the grader was taken between 7 a.m. March 7 and 5 p.m. the following day. Burglars probably used the keys that were left in the left door channel to drive the grader west off the site, then south on Elm Street to East 37th Street. The tracks were lost as the grader was driven west down 37th Street.

The grader has narrow tractor tires with a used truck tire on the left front. It bears black decals reading "Chandler Paving & Dirt" on both sides above the engine, and has a flashing yellow light at the rear top of the cab.

A $300 reward is offered for information leading to the arrest of fugitive Rickie Don Stevenson, charged with attempted capital murder and felony theft. Stevenson, a black man, was born April 28, 1960. He is 5-foot-2 and weighs 127 pounds and has black hair and brown eyes.

Luis Dominguez Ramirez, a Mexican man born May 14, 1943, has been charged with burglary, and Crime Line offers a $300 reward for information leading to his arrest.

Ramirez weighs 160 pounds, is 5-foot-8 and has black hair and brown eyes.

Charge Names Fugitive Suspect

Charges have been filed against a man who allegedly participated in the March 7 attempted robbery of two Lubbock women which led to a brief armed stand-off between police and one of the alleged bandits.

A charge of attempted aggravated robbery was filed against Edward Eugene Peterson, 27, in Justice of the Peace Charles Smith's court after witnesses identified him Saturday from a drivers' license photograph sent to Lubbock police by Department of Public Safety officials in Austin.

Police believe Peterson is the Bible-carrying man who first gained entry to the women's 37th Street home. A second suspect, Franklin H. Payne, was arrested following the 10 a.m. March 7 incident.

Peterson remained at large Sunday night, but Smith already has set his bond at $200,000.

Authorities allege Peterson, believed now in Fort Worth, was the man who drove off in a bright yellow Luv pickup minutes before the other suspect barricaded himself in a nearby house and briefly held off police with an arsenal of weapons.

Police learned last week a man named Peterson had been a friend of Payne in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Peterson's photograph was transmitted from Austin, and the two women who were victims of the attempted robbery identified Peterson as the man holding a Bible who gained entry to their residence.

Payne lost a bid in 140th District Court Friday morning to have bail set and he remains in the Lubbock County Jail.

Authorities said Payne's alleged accomplice may be driving a Luv pickup bearing license tag number RF-9644 and the serial number CLN14N823467.

Dennis The Menace Turns 30

Are you ready for this? Dennis the Menace is 30 years old!

Yes, the popular Avalanche-Journal cartoon youngster is celebrating his 30th publishing anniversary this month. However, according to his cartoonist creator, Hank Ketcham, he'll always be 5.

Dennis first crawled out of the inkwell and into the pages of 15 newspapers in March, 1951. Today, he appears in more than 850 daily and Sunday newspapers worldwide.

Back in 1950, when young Dennis Ketcham was doing his usual 5-year-old thing, one particular antic caused his exasperated mother to explode: "Henry, your son is a menace!"

"Dennis — a menace?" Hank repeated. "Great idea for a cartoon!"

A former Disney animator, Ketcham sketched some situations based on his youngster's misadventures, and the rest is history.

This week, The A-J will publish some of the comics that appeared 30 years ago. For a look at what Dennis looked like then, turn to today's comics on Page 4, Sec. B.

Accidental Poisonings On Rise

By ANN EVANS
Family News Staff

Susie had learned to walk and was forever grabbing at everything within her reach. One day the kitchen sink clogged and Susie's mother used liquid drain opener on it. When that didn't work, she went to the phone to call her husband for another suggestion to unclog the sink. The phone was on the other side of the room and Susie's mother concentrated on dialing the number "for just a second"...

In that second, Susie spotted the pretty red and white drain opener can, toddled to it, and, thinking it was juice or cola because it was next to the sink, quickly drank the remaining two ounces of liquid.

This potentially life-threatening incident could have been prevented if Susie's mother had kept the product out of sight and reach of her child. When in use, these items should never be out of sight of adults — even for the time it takes to dial a telephone number.

To make the public more aware of accidental poisonings and how to prevent them, this week is National Poison Prevention Week. The theme this year is "Children act fast... so do poisons!" This has been a national observance for the last 20 years.

The problem with accidental poisoning has become worse as new drugs and chemicals are introduced to make our lives easier," said James Cave, director of pharmacy at the Methodist Hospital. "There are products on the market that weren't there before that are potential dangers. Chemicals are more complex and harder to treat if taken accidentally."

Cave pointed out that the public is becoming more aware of the poisoning problem through efforts such as Poison Prevention Week and distribution of literature.

"The Safety Packaging Act on drugs and aspirin also helps prevent accidental poisonings," said Cave. "People gripe about child safety caps, but they know the real purpose of them is to save lives."

Seventy percent of accidental poisoning victims are children under five years of age who can't read labels. Five hundred thousand such poisonings will occur this year, according to Cave.

How do children reach poisons? "When they learn to crawl, they reach cleansers under kitchen and bathroom sinks, and kids of this age always put everything in their mouths," said Cave. "By the time a child can stand and walk he can reach counter tops and lower cabinets. When he learns to climb, he can reach medium-high shelves and bathroom cabinets. Usually by the time they start school kids can learn to leave poisons alone, but this depends on the child."

Cave said he felt older children can help to prevent poisonings in younger siblings if there is information available for them at school. "They look out after the little ones and can help rid their home of poisons if they are made aware of how this is done."

Should a child be told the consequences of taking poisons as a preventive measure?

"This depends on the age of the child," explained Cave. "Some children are too young to understand. For very young children 'no, no, it will hurt you' is more effective than going into a lot of detail." But very young children need parental protection, not just warnings. Cave said one way to protect children is to poison-proof the home. "Lock up medicines and household products where children can't reach them. Make sure everything has a label on it and is stored in the original container. Throw away medicines and goods you no longer use," he said.

One problem with medicines and drugs, according to Cave, is when parents tell their children it is "candy" so they will take the drug when ill. If the child likes the taste of the "candy", he will want more of it.

"We set ourselves up for poisoning accidents," said Cave.

One campaign to prevent accidental poisonings is the "Mr. Yuk" campaign, developed at the Children's Hospital in Pittsburg over ten years ago. The hospital surveyed children to see what symbol would discourage them to take poisons. What the children chose was a green face with the tongue sticking out, truly a 'yuk' face.

"This is a good program that is very effective," said Cave. "It is used by the Texas State Poison Center in Galveston. Free 'Mr. Yuk' stickers can be obtained to be put on drugs, household goods, or poisonous plants."

For Mr. Yuk stickers, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Southeast Texas Poison Center, 8th and Mechanic, Galveston, Texas, 77550.

The Methodist Hospital in Lubbock has a Poisoning Control Center with physicians on duty 24 hours in the emergency room. It has a microfich poison index to help physicians get information on treating poisons. Cave said this is provided as a public service.

The hospital soon will come out with a pamphlet on poison information. For more information on preventing accidental poisonings, interested persons should contact James Cave at the Methodist Hospital pharmacy.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Ten years ago, America had a dream. Garbage was to be unseen. Replacing toilet tissue spindles was to be a sharing experience.

Laundry was to become an equal opportunity employer.

Babies in damp diapers would not discriminate against fathers.

In theory, it sounded terrific. In reality, it just hasn't happened. Every day a new study confirms what my grandmother used to chant over the backyard: Man works from sun to sun... but woman's work is never done!

One survey showed that even the sympathetic husband only puts in a couple of hours a day to help his working wife. (Is there any other kind?) And another study didn't help things when it circulated statistics saying that housework heads the list of "Burnout," a syndrome that leaves its victims weakened, unenthusiastic about life and unable to make decisions.

The frightening fact is housework has a bad name, and unless we can do something about it — and fast — no one is going to be doing it in the near future.

I approached a friend of mine who is in public relations and told him about the problem.

"Sweetie," he said, "you're talking self-image. I'm going to give you the bottom line. Housewives need a PR number done on them. They're beige, do you know what I'm saying? They're positively invisible. People into waxing corners don't get noticed. No one quotes them. No one hears them. They're out of the fast lane. They need a concept."

"How do we do that?" I asked.

"Listen up," he said. "What are we looking at? We want housework to be a sensuous experience, lusted after like silky hair. We want babies crying for it and men begging to have their own food processor. First, we put out eight million bumper stickers saying, 'HONK IF YOU LOVE FLUSHING!' Then we do ads in the trades showing a sexy housewife saying, 'Reach out and dust someone.' Then we get together spots on all the TV stations of a housewife sitting in a wicker chair and toying with her food saying, 'I will throw away no leftover before its time. Don't you love it?'"

We'll get billboards that say, 'THE FAMILY THAT CLEANS TOGETHER IS SEXIER.' We'll schedule housewives on talk shows who will talk about their latest low sudser experience and finally we'll have a recruiting spot for a few good homemakers that shows a woman with the American flag flying behind her that says 'The few. The proud. The housewives.' I love it.

Check Home For Safety

Children are naturally curious and touch, smell and taste things while exploring their environment.

Sometimes they may take products that are designed to make life easier and pleasant, but are poisonous or even fatal if swallowed.

If poisoning occurs, SPEED IS IMPORTANT.

1. Call your physician or the Poison Control Center at the Methodist Hospital for advice on what to do.

2. Then follow the advice, whether to dilute the poison or make the victim vomit. Every household should have Syrup of Ipecac on hand to induce vomiting, but don't induce UNLESS your physician says to. Never use burned toast to induce vomiting. If the physician says to bind the poison in the stomach, give Activated Charcoal syrup to render the poison inactive.

3. Get the victim to the hospital immediately. Be sure and bring the container of poison with you so the physician can determine the ingredients. Remember, SPEED IS IMPORTANT.

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦KQ6 ♦K7 ♦AQ1054 ♦A4
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass-

What do you bid now?
A.—It is a choice between a jump to three diamonds and two no trump. Two no trump? With a six-card suit and only 18 points? Essentially you have a balanced hand and stoppers in every suit. Also, your long suit, which could be a valuable source of tricks at a no trump contract, more than compensates for the missing point. In all, we think two no trump is the more descriptive rebid.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦AQ10653 ♥4 ♦AJ52 ♦AK
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
3 ♦ 4 ♣ Pass 6 ♣
Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Partner is marked with extreme shortness in diamonds, and he must surely have the king of trumps and ace of hearts to justify his leap to slam. Even the Cowardly Lion would bid a grand slam with your tickets. But bid seven spades, not seven no trump—you may need diamond ruffs in dummy to come to thirteen tricks.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦J1064 ♥4 ♦A1032 ♦9863
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass Pass 2 ♥ ♦
Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♦
Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Your hand has suddenly grown to immense proportions, so much so, in fact, that a direct leap to six spades would not be out of the question. The safest course, however, and the one that gives you the best chance to reach your optimal contract, is to cuebid four diamonds before raising to five spades. That also protects against the possibility that partner has a highly distributional hand with two fast club losers.

Q.4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦1083 ♥43 ♦KQJ6 ♦Q1043
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♦ Pass 1 NT 2 ♦

What action do you take?
A.—This hand has all of the elements of a classic sacrifice bid: the vulnerability is in your favor; your hand is almost worthless defensively; your length in partner's suit lessens his defensive potential; and your length in declarer's suit strongly suggests that partner is short there. Bid five diamonds.

The bidding has proceeded:

Q.5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦1083 ♥43 ♦KQJ6 ♦Q1043
East South West North
1 ♦ Pass 1 NT 2 ♦
4 ♦ 5 ♦ Pass Pass

What action do you take?
A.—There is an old and true saying: The five-level belongs to the opponents. You have already achieved your object—you have pushed East-West one level higher than they wanted to go. If you bid again, you defeat your own ends. You give up the chance to defeat the contract, and the penalty the opponents will exact may be roughly equivalent to their vulnerable game!

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦Q42 ♥3 ♦Q9653 ♦A1087
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 NT Pass Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—We are not partial to partners who overcall in the opponents' suit, especially when we are vulnerable. However, we presume that partner is aware of the auction and the vulnerability, so he is not stepping in at the two-level on a poor suit and weak hand. We would not dream of rescuing partner—even if he gets doubled. Pass.

DEAR ABBY

Problem Isn't Bad Breath

DEAR ABBY: My wife keeps telling me I have bad breath. I've consulted my doctors in medicine and dentistry, and they both have assured me that there is nothing abnormal about my breath. I have even asked some of my best friends, and all have affirmed that I do not have bad breath. Meanwhile, everytime I go to kiss my wife, she pushes me away, saying, "Your breath is terrible!" This totally destroys any romantic impulses I might have, leaving me frustrated, rejected and depressed.

It has occurred to me that my wife is using this "bad breath" excuse to get out of having a normal husband-wife relationship. Obviously, if this continues, it will be the end of our marriage. My wife is a very desirable woman of 58, and I love her very much. Please advise.

NO LOVE IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR NO LOVE: Your wife could be suffering from "olfactory hallucinations" (smelling imaginary, non-existent odors). If this is not the case, and she is keeping you at arm's length for reasons of her own, you have another problem. Your marriage smells!

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen years ago I chose a sterling silver flatware pattern and have accumulated two place settings. Since it has become so expensive, my husband discouraged buying any more.

You can imagine my excitement when an aunt came from another state to visit and in the course of the conversation I discovered that she and I had the same silverware pattern! She has a complete service for 12. How do I go about asking if I may have her silverware after her need for it has passed?

She is a very gracious lady in her 80's, very proper, well-to-do and has many grandchildren. We are not close, but I correspond with her daughter.

When the time comes for this aunt to dispose of her silver, I would buy it if it were for sale. (It probably wouldn't be as expensive as brand-new silverware since it was purchased many years ago, and is "used.")

I would appreciate any suggestions you have on how to handle this ticklish problem.

THE GREEDY NIECE

DEAR NIECE: I would not "handle" this problem at all. Gracious, proper, well-to-do ladies in their 80s rarely "sell" their silver. They usually give it away or leave it to their closest kin.

Your aunt already knows that you and she have the same pattern. Any further mention of it on your part would be inappropriate and presumptuous.

DEAR ABBY: What has happened to you? You used to encourage married couples to do everything within their power to save their marriages. Lately, you give the impression that divorce could be the answer for some couples. Why?

WASHINGTON STAR READER

DEAR READER: Because I think it's more important to save people than marriages. And often, in an effort to save a marriage that isn't worth saving, people have destroyed themselves and/or each other.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Man Stabbed During Altercation

A Lubbock man was stabbed Sunday during an altercation at Mackenzie State Park, according to police.

Armando Salgado, 25, of 2808 Bates St. was in satisfactory condition today at Lubbock General Hospital, where he reportedly was treated for several knife wounds, including one to the head.

Salgado, a disabled veteran, challenged four Mexican-American men to fight about 7 p.m. Sunday after the men called him names, according to the victim's companions.

A Lubbock County sheriff's deputy said he witnessed the incident. He then flagged down a police officer, who escorted Salgado to the hospital.

The assailants were all wearing T-shirts and blue jeans, according to witnesses.

In other activity, a 26-year-old man was arrested about 11:15 p.m. Sunday after he allegedly smashed up a car parked in the 1600-block of 27th Street, resulting in about $300 damage.

Nova Janet McMahon told police the man came to her house wielding a tire tool and demanding she come out. When the woman refused, the man allegedly shattered the rear windshield, two back side windows and an opera light on the victim's car.

When police arrived they found the suspect staggering in front of a residence nearby, according to reports. The man was jailed on suspicion of criminal mischief and public intoxication.

A man, accompanied by his wife and two small sons, was arrested about 7 p.m. Sunday after a police officer reportedly saw him take several items from the Goodwill Industries box at 50th Street and Boston Avenue.

The man was seen allegedly placing three containers of clothing, a box of books and a tricycle in the trunk of his car. He was stopped two blocks from the box.

The man reportedly told police he did not know it was against the law to take items from the container. However, police said he was taken into custody after Dennis Brice, executive director of Goodwill Industries, said he would press charges.

An Amherst woman was arrested about 7:30 p.m. Sunday, about two hours after she allegedly stole a $10,600 diamond ring from a friend's South Lubbock residence.

The victim told police she saw the 37-year-old suspect, who was visiting her, going through her jewelry in the bathroom.

She said she confronted the guest and asked what she was doing. The suspect replied she was looking to see what kind of perfume the victim used, saying she was going to buy her some for her birthday, reports state.

The victim said she then noticed a 2.5 karat diamond ring missing, but the guest denied taking it. However, investigators at the police station said they found the ring in the suspect's cigarette case. Reports state that when officers found the missing ring, the woman shouted, "I never saw that before."

Police said intruders at Thompson Junior High School in the 2000-block of 14th Street did about $300 damage Sunday, shattering 36 window panes and emptying fire extinguishers on all three floors.

The suspects were described as two Mexican-American males, between 12 and 14 years of age, both wearing dark coats and blue pants.

An officer said he saw one of the boys climbing out a second-floor window after he responded to an alarm at the school at 5:30 p.m. People playing softball on the grounds said they saw two males emerge from a second-floor window on the east side of the building, go down a fire escape and run south on Avenue T.

A dispute over a traffic incident Sunday afternoon resulted in two men pulling to the side of the road at 34th Street and Frankfort Avenue and exchange "abusive" words.

One man said the other motorist was going too slow in the passing lane on 34th Street and started honking his horn. Police said both men pulled over and began arguing, and that one of the motorists kicked the other's car.

The owner of the car said he simply was attempting to drive away when the other man damaged his vehicle. But the man named as a suspect in the report told police he kicked the car after the complainant attempted to run him over.

Investigators Say Arson Serious Problem At TCU

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Fort Worth fire investigators say arson has become a serious problem in the Texas Christian University neighborhood, locale of five deliberately set structure fires in one week.

The area's latest fire Sunday was in an elementary Sunday School room in the University Baptist Church near the TCU campus. Children had left the classroom to attend church services only a few minutes before the fire was discovered.

"We got what we feel is a very dangerous situation here," said Deputy Fire Chief Don Peacock.

Within a week, there have been two fires on the campus itself and three nearby, making residents jittery and forcing university authorities to hire extra security guards.

"It was definitely arson — again," District Fire Chief Willie Cole said of Sunday's fire.

He said the blaze was started in a second-floor room. Cole said a roll of paper towels was pulled from a cabinet, wadded up and ignited — apparently after gasoline was poured over them.

University Baptist is located a block from University Christian Church, where a fire Friday caused an estimated $250,000-$500,000 damage. Both churches are located near TCU, where two fires were deliberately set a week ago — one of which destroyed 54 specially trained laboratory mice in a science classroom.

No arrests had been made in the cases Sunday and Peacock said a 24-year-old suspect in the first four fires was under surveillance when the University Baptist fire was set.

"It was set by someone other than the prime suspect. Three college-aged males were seen near the church before the fire was set. We're searching for them now," he said.

"The first fires were in buildings with no one in them and set at times when they would be empty. This fire was different. It was a very dangerous situation," he said.

Since both men reportedly had witnesses to back up their stories, police said they decided not to take an immediate arrest.

Ronnie Dean Tobe of 2805 E. Eighth St. said his house was burglarized between 8:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Sunday, resulting in a loss of about $1,450 in property, including a television, jewelry and clothes.

Fred E. Wright of 5201 45th St. said he lost $800 cash and another $200 in property to burglars who entered his house between Friday and 4:25 p.m. Sunday.

An apparent domestic quarrel Sunday afternoon left a 43-year-old Lubbock man hospitalized with four gunshot wounds, according to police.

Herbert James Allen of 2115 E. 30th St. was in satisfactory condition today at West Texas Hospital after being shot four times in the upper body shortly before 6 p.m. Sunday.

A woman was arrested at the 30th Street residence and booked into the Lubbock County Jail on suspicion of attempted murder, police said.

Details of the incident remained sketchy Sunday night, but police said Allen apparently was shot as he walked in the front door of the residence. Police at the scene said the woman was afraid Allen planned to harm her.

A .22-caliber pistol was recovered at the house.

In a separate incident, a 33-year-old Lubbock man was jailed on suspicion of attempted murder Saturday night after he allegedly shot an Odessa man in the throat.

Luis Zapata, 36, of Odessa was in serious condition Sunday night at Lubbock General Hospital with a single gunshot wound.

The suspect initially told police he shot the Zapata because he was breaking into his north Lubbock home. However, the man later told officers he had tried to hit the victim with the weapon when it discharged accidentally.

The suspect said he and Zapata had been arguing, and that he got his .22-caliber revolver to frighten Zapata into leaving the residence. The man said he fired a shot into the ground in the front yard, but the victim refused to leave.

The suspect said he then attempted to hit Zapata, and the gun went off. Zapata, however, told police he and the man had been arguing and that the suspect shot him for no reason.

When officers arrived at the scene, they found Zapata lying unconscious on the ground on the east side of the home.

In other activity, Josephine Aguirre, 47, of 1704 E. Auburn St. was in satisfactory condition at West Texas Hospital with two stab wounds in the abdomen.

Mrs. Aguirre told police she and her sister were in the women's restroom at Margie's Place, 407 Quirt Ave., shortly before midnight Saturday.

She said two Mexican-American women in the restroom began verbally abusing her and her sister. A scuffle ensued, and Mrs. Aguirre said she was not aware she had been stabbed until she noticed she was bleeding.

The woman then asked her husband to take her to a hospital. The two suspects apparently then left the club.

Tons Of Marijuana Seized In Raid At Seadrift Pier

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Sixteen tons of high-grade marijuana, 14 would-be drug smugglers, a fishing boat, a truck rig, two cars, two motorized campers and six weapons were the haul in a massive, coordinated drug raid at a dilapidated pier north of here, agents said.

Dozens of local, state and federal agents cooperated in the raid at Seadrift, the biggest drug bust ever made on the Texas coast, a federal agent said.

A U.S. magistrate scheduled arraignment for the 14 today.

Sunday's raid ended a three-month investigation and also resulted in the seizure of a 76-foot, steel-bottomed shrimp boat, a tractor-trailer rig, two large recreational vehicles, six weapons and two late-model automobiles, said James Anderson, in charge of the DEA office here.

Two of those arrested were Cubans, one was a Colombian and the marijuana had a street value of $20 million, he said.

"The stuff was in ... burlap-covered bales," said Anderson. "It was fine leaf, no stems or seeds. It is in federal custody and will be destroyed, except for those samples saved for use as evidence."

Several undercover officers from different law enforcement agencies — Anderson would not reveal specific details — set off the big bust.

"We had been staked out all night," said Charles Conroy of the U.S. Customs office in Houston. "The arrests ended a months-long investigation."

The agents said they waited in darkness until the marijuana had been loaded onto the truck and the delivery boat had departed before making the arrests.

Waterscope Made From Milk Carton

By SHARI LEWIS

I'm really sick of winter. I ALWAYS seem to get this illness in the middle of March. I mean, enough is enough!

I'm starting to look forward to those wonderful things that we don't even do in California during the winter — swimming, boating and having all kinds of fun in the water.

I like to wade in tidepools and look at the tiny creatures hiding there. They are weirdly shaped, and many of them nestle snugly against the rocks. You can see them best if you make a waterscope which will magnify the little critters and make them look bigger.

Here's how: Start with a half-gallon milk carton. Cut the top and bottom off the carton. Stretch a strip of clear plastic food wrap over the bottom. (If you prefer, you can simply put the carton into a clear plastic bag and tape it securely in place.)

Now wrap a couple of rubber bands around the sides of the carton to grip the plastic or clear bag. When you get to the tidepool, you can stick the plastic-covered end down into the water and peer in through the top. If you can get hold of a little magnifying lens, lay it onto the plastic inside your waterscope.

I wish I could be with you to see what you will see, but I guess we'll both have to wait till summer, won't we? At any rate, if you make your waterscope now, you'll be ready!

Friday's Brain Twister: Can you figure out what familiar phrase is hidden in this arrangement of letters: ALL 1111 AND 1 ALL ALL ALL?

Answer: All for one and one for all.

Today's Brain Twister: Picture this: You have your left hand completely stuck in your right-hand pants pocket — and your right hand inserted totally into your left-hand pants pocket — both at the same time! As you are doing this, you're WEARING THE PANTS. Impossible? Ah, not if — (YOU have to figure out the way to achieve this!) (Look for the answer in Tuesday's Kids-Only Club column.)

UNESCO Coverage Stirs Debate

NEW YORK (UPI) — A study of the news coverage of last fall's UNESCO general assembly in Belgrade, in which news coverage itself was the dominant issue, has provoked a controversy over its contents and the manner in which it was released.

The National News Council, which appraises media coverage in the United States, found itself unexpectedly embroiled in the long-running debate between western proponents of a free press and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

UNESCO, dominated by Third World countries, has proposed "a new world information order" involving communications and a better balance of stories between the less developed nations and the richer, industrialized countries. Western representatives have vigorously opposed parts of the plan, contending it could lead to censorship and other press restrictions for foreign correspondents.

Although the study was sponsored by the council, it was quickly publicized by UNESCO, which quoted heavily from its negative comments.

This drew a rebuke from Norman Isaacs, the news council chairman. "What the UNESCO handling has done, it seems to me, has been a disservice to the cause you seek to serve," he said in a letter to Joseph A. Mehan, information director for UNESCO in New York, who put out the UNESCO release.

"The UNESCO's staff approach in this instance seems to reinforce the feeling so often expressed in American circles of suspicion and distrust of UNESCO's motives and aims," Isaacs said.

"The news council report stands on its own and its basic findings remain unchanged," Mehan said when informed of Isaacs' criticism.

The staff report prepared at the request of the council concluded that American coverage, including that of the major wire services, of UNESCO's general assembly last September "provided an inadequate foundation for independent judgment by Americans" on the communications dispute.

The study found that virtually all stories from the meeting in Belgrade featured little except the communications controversy, although other items were on the agenda.

Without voting on the study report, the full council accepted it at a meeting in New York March 6. Copies were made available to others on a limited basis.

A few days later, the UNESCO news release appeared, prompting protests from some who contended their arguments against the world organization's communications goals were taken out of context by the council and the UNESCO announcement.

Leonard Sussman, executive director of Freedom House in New York, said: "Neither public understanding nor an effective defense of press freedom is helped by exaggerating the present state of the challenge."

Harold Andersen, president of the Omaha, Neb. World-Herald and president of the World Press Freedom Committee, was critical of the council study for failing to "emphasize that UNESCO has become so politicized" the communications issue has overshadowed other undertakings.

Lawyer Says Murder Suspect's Actions Influenced By Demons

WATERBURY, Conn. (UPI) — A young man accused of killing his landlord appears before a grand jury this week in a murder case his lawyer claims will test the "existence of the devil."

Attorney Martin Minella says if a murder indictment is returned, he will argue Arne Johnson, 19, of Brookfield unwittingly challenged the supernatural during a Catholic exorcism ritual and was possessed by a demon who "actually manipulated his body."

"This is not an insanity defense," Minella said. "We're coming up with something completely unusual in American jurisprudence. We're dealing with the existence of the devil."

The grand jury convenes Thursday in Danbury Superior Court.

The facts of the Feb. 16 slaying of Alan Bono, 40, point to an uncompleted tragedy involving "the best of friends."

"It's just a routine homicide investigation. Nothing else — yet," state prosecutor Walter Flanagan says.

Johnson, a lanky, quiet youth with curly blond hair and a spottish record, allegedly slashed Bono outside Bono's kennel, where Johnson did odd jobs and rented an apartment, police said.

Johnson apparently was enraged over an obscene remark Bono made during a gettogether with Johnson's girlfriend, Deborah Glatzel, 26, and Johnson's two teen-age sisters, reports said. The men argued in the apartment, then went outdoors and scuffled.

One minute, Bono was pounding his hand in his fist and yelling, the next, he was on the ground with multiple stab wounds, Miss Glatzel said.

Police recovered a knife with a five-inch blade belonging to Johnson. Miss Glatzel said she stood between the men and never saw a knife.

Beyond Bono's death is a tale of deliverance rituals — "minor exorcisms" — performed last summer by five Catholic priests for an 11-year-old boy identified only as David, Minella said.

"This is not something that happened on Feb. 16," said Minella. "The devil made him do it ... it's more frightening than 'The Exorcist.'"

Johnson was living with the boy's family at the time and participated in the church rites to rid the boy of demons that were said to have produced strange behavior, such as growling.

Lorraine Warren of Monroe, Conn., who gained national attention with her husband, Ed, for their psychic research in the "Amityville Horror" case on Long Island, N.Y., said during one ritual Johnson "unwittingly challenged what was within the boy."

She recalled Johnson saying, "Whatever is in him let it take me on."

Minella said a tape-recording of the rite will be used as evidence and he will call "priests, bishops, church documents" to prove a demon, not Johnson, was responsible for the killing.

Johnson, held on $125,000 bond, "is still possessed and he is suicidal," Minella said.

"It seems the ultimate a demon can do is to make you take your life," Minella said.

Irish Gain Notoriety On St. Patrick's Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once a reporter named O'Reilly covered a Fifth Avenue March 17 parade, and in the midst of detailing the personage-and-unit flow he wrote: "Up the street came a prominent Irishman."

Instead of mentioning a name, he followed that sentence with an analysis: "All Irishmen are prominent Irishmen on St. Patrick's Day."

The great day is at hand again. Irishmen will be prominent on Tuesday in parades in 103 cities, towns, and hamlets in this country, according to unimpeachable authority.

The authority is John J. Concannon, No. Irishman is impeccable on St. Patrick's Day.

Concannon is historian of the New York State board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians (organized in New York City May 4, 1836), and a parade pundit of national scope.

"In the far distance," he writes in his annual communique to the media, "I faintly hear the skirl of bagpipes, the blare of the horns, the beat of the drums. Definitely a band practicing. (He even spells with a brogue.)

"And isn't that Mrs. Foley ironing a green, white and orange sash? And himself, Michael Foley, and friends, unfurling and airing the huge Hibernian banner ... etc. etc. etc."

The et ceteras are also prominent on this proud day. They have been mounting in New York City — the founding burg — since that March 17 when the very first St. Paddy's Day parade in the world was held on Broadway. That was 14 years before the 1776 Declaration of Independence.

So this will be the 219th annual parade for New York, the first having been impromptu: A group of Irish-born American militiamen on their way to a St. Patrick's Day "breakfast" at Hull's Tavern on lower Broadway marched with their band and regimental colors in a brave display that was an instant cockle-warmer for spectators.

From New York, the parade has spread to Dublin, Ireland; Dublin, Ga.; not to mention Sydney, Australia; Sioux Falls, S.D.; Honolulu etc. etc.

There was a St. Patrick's Day parade as early as 1776 in Boston, 1812 in Savannah, 1824 in Montreal, 1833 in Carbondale, Pa., 1843 in New Haven, 1853 in Scranton, 1858 in Atlanta, 1867 in Cleveland.

The great-granddaddy parade in New York this year will have 100,000 marchers etc. etc. and more than 1.25 million watchers. There are always more than a million and a quarter watching, by police etc. estimate.

"The Irish and their friends march in honor of Ireland's 'Steadfast Man,' St. Patrick, in 31 of the 50 states, in the nation's capital, and across the border in Montreal," Concannon says. "The 'Great Day for the Irish' is kept in 103 cities, towns and hamlets across the country."

"They parade in the morning, afternoon and at night, through streets and over water. The color green is present in outrageous abundance — in ribbons and bows, hats and ties, sashes and skirts, banners and flags, beer and pretzels, in lakes and streams, on horses and donkeys." Etc. etc.

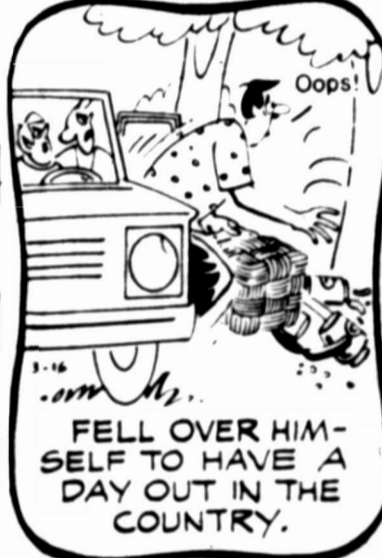

Historian Concannon's latest reports from the national front show these upcoming parade totals: 22 in New York State, 9 in New Jersey, 7 in Pennsylvania, 5 in California and Texas, 4 in Connecticut, Illinois, Massachusetts, Missouri, Ohio, Minnesota, 3 in Florida, Rhode Island, and Georgia... etc. up to 103.

The Irish in Colonial America were few, comparatively, but they had lots of meetings — especially on the anniversary of the death of their patron saint, Patrick, on March 17, 461 A.D. (or 432 A.D. or 492 A.D.). An impetus-booster for meetings was an institution called the tavern.

Ohio City Celebrates Return Of Buzzards

HINCKLEY, Ohio (UPI) — The buzzards are roosting today on the dead trees and shale crags around Hinckley Lake — a sure sign of approaching spring to the 30,000 people who turned out to celebrate their return.

More than a dozen buzzards, returning from their winter stay in the Great Smokey Mountains, flew into Hinckley Sunday. This put them right on schedule, for tradition says the buzzards return every March 15.

Most of the thousands of buzzard "watchers" who flocked to the rural town, 30 miles south of Cleveland, did not get a glimpse of the birds, preferring instead to feast on a mountain of pancakes and sausages awash in a sea of syrup at the town's annual celebration.

They didn't miss much. One resident noted the buzzard, a black bird with mottled dark brown coloring near the head and crinkled red skin on the neck, could hardly be compared to the swan.

"They sure are ugly up close," she said. "But when you see them fly, they float on the air so beautifully."

Legend has it that the buzzards have been migrating northward and arriving around March 15 at the same roosts since 1818, when the first settlers slaughtered 300 deer, 21 bears and 17 wolves. The buzzards spotted the carcasses while flying over.

The birds — with wingspans of 6 feet — soar as high as 1,000 feet, looking for food, which consists exclusively of dead animals.

Some years the buzzards dawdle on their migration flight and don't appear in Hinckley until a few days after March 15. Not this year, though.

"We've seen quite a few today," said Sue McRitchie, a dispatcher in the park ranger's office. "There's been about 13."

Buzzard Day has become a big event in the community but when the story first received wide circulation in the mid-1950s, it split the community.

Some of the folks resented identification with "such a repulsive, revolting, verminous, stinking, bad-mannered eater of carrion" as one resident referred to them.

Senator Wants To Name Building After Hoover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — So strong is the association of Herbert Hoover, the 31st president, with the Great Depression that he has yet to have a building or a monument to honor him in Washington.

But all that may change under the new Republican administration.

Besides being president from 1929 to 1933, Hoover was a world renowned geologist and Iowa native, the organizer of American relief in Europe after World War I and the man many consider the best secretary of commerce.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and a Hoover scholar, has proposed a bill to name the Commerce Department building, erected during Hoover's presidency, after its most famous official.

When the measure comes to the House and Senate floor, there may well be snickers or outright Democratic opposition, although two leading Democrats, Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Daniel Moynihan of New York, are co-sponsors.

Hatfield's speech in support of the bill last week dealt with the high spots of Hoover's career as relief coordinator and commerce secretary.

But a Senate aide, noting Hatfield's graduate work on Hoover at the Hoover Institution on War, Peace and Revolution at Stanford University, stuck up for the maligned president's honor.

"Hoover has one of the most unjustifiably vilified characters in 20th Century history," he said. "He had a quite remarkable record internationally and nationally of major achievements. ... He has been, in Hatfield's opinion, completely oversimplified because of the association he has with the Great Depression."

Another aide said since Hoover's death in 1964 at age 90, "There's been quite a rethinking about him going on. The view by the (Franklin) Roosevelt White House that Herbert Hoover caused the Depression is under attack.

Naming departmental buildings for former secretaries is not new — a Labor Department office is named for Frances Perkins, the first woman cabinet officer, and another office complex honors James Forrestal, first secretary of defense.

How important is world health and the world health organizations? The United Nations review states: "It is estimated that in India alone, 4,000 people die every day from water-borne diseases. This means about 2 million people a year in a single country where 50 million persons annually suffer to some extent from such diseases. It is only about six percent of India's people that enjoy the benefit of a safe water supply and barely one-sixth of India's towns have this advantage." It is something to think about, isn't it? Freed Moslem Hostages Land In Saudi Arabia

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Moslems among the 101 freed hostages from a hijacked Pakistani airliner flew to Saudi Arabia today for a two-day thanksgiving at Islam's holy shrines. One of the Americans who suffered through the 13-day ordeal said the killing of a Pakistani diplomat-hostage may have been accidental.

Frederick Hubbell of Des Moines, Iowa was reunited with his parents in Frankfurt, West Germany after stepping off a Lufthansa flight from Damascus, Syria, where the hostages were freed Saturday after Pakistan released 54 political prisoners.

Polish Urged To Abandon Strike Plans

RADOM, Poland (UPI) — Leading dissident Jacek Kuron met with 600 representatives of Solidarity union members today and urged them to consider calling off a threatened strike this week.

Kuron, a leading member of the Dissident Committee for Social Self Defense, attended a local branch meeting of Solidarity delegates from plants and factories in Radom province, south of Warsaw.

Solidarity leader Lech Walesa also was in Radom and met with several local union leaders, but did not attend the delegates' branch meeting. He was due to meet residents of the city of 200,000 people 70 miles south of Warsaw at a sports stadium later in the day.

The Solidarity delegates were meeting to consider plans for a two-hour warning strike set Wednesday unless the government agrees to a list of demands, including the ouster of local officials accused of mistreating workers during Poland's 1976 food riots.

Two of those officials already have resigned and Solidarity has been told a team of government negotiators was on the way to Radom to discuss the unions demands.

Despite those concessions, local Solidarity officials have said their strike alert still is in effect for Wednesday.

"We want the talks to take place in such an atmosphere so that neither side can claim that the other side wants to blackmail them," he said. "This allows us to demonstrate our readiness to work for partnership and the good of the country. It is in no one's interest to compromise this government and make its job difficult," he said.

Hubbell, 30, also planned to meet his wife Charlotte in Frankfurt. Mrs. Hubbell, also a lawyer, was on board the Pakistan International Airlines jet when it was hijacked over Pakistan on March 2. The three Pakistani hijackers released her and other women and children passengers in Kabul, Afghanistan five days later.

She was in New Delhi, India on Monday, and planned to fly from there to Frankfurt to meet her husband.

The plans of the other American ex-hostage, Craig R. Clymore of Laguna Hills, Calif., were not known. He is wanted on drug charges in the United States. The State Department revoked his passport and said it would issue him documents valid for travel only to the United States.

The United States has no extradition treaty with Syria.

U.S., China, Russia May Meet At Summit

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — The United States, China and the Soviet Union may meet in Mexico City later this year as part of a 23-nation summit to discuss relations between the industrial powers and the developing countries of the world.

The possibility of the three big powers attending came about during the weekend when the foreign ministers of 11 nations organizing the summit made two concessions intended to persuade the United States and the Soviet Union to join the talks. China has been interested in the summit since Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo proposed the idea last year.

The first concession last Friday came when the 11 organizing foreign ministers bowed to a Reagan administration request to push back the scheduled summit date from early June to Oct. 22-23.

That request was relayed last Friday by Canada's Secretary of State for External Affairs Mark MacGuigan, one of the 11 organizing foreign ministers. MacGuigan told his fellow organizers the new Reagan administration needed more time to prepare for the summit.

Then, after giving in to the U.S. request, the foreign ministers unanimously asked Kreisky to make a personal appeal to the Soviet Union to attend.

Unlike the United States and China, the Soviet Union has failed to show any interest in attending the summit, which will deal informally with such issues as world food and energy supplies.

"The Soviet Union so far has not participated in any North-South discussions because it does not consider itself involved in the subject," Kreisky told reporters last Friday.

However, Kreisky agreed to approach the Soviet Union about the summit and said he expected to have an answer one way or the other in four weeks.

Starting A New Season

DALLAS COWBOY COACH Tom Landry sat down in his North Central Expressway office the other day and evaluated his personnel and prospects for the upcoming National Football League season. He had both good and bad news for the fans, plus a lot of questions that only time can answer.

The good news is that the 'Poke offense is in good shape for another title bid. The bad news is that the Cowboys' defensive secondary remains as shaky as the Afghanistan government, and developments these will make or break Dallas' title hopes this fall.

Most of the questions concern players on defense. Will former All-Pro strong safety Charlie Waters try to play again, despite a second operation on his gimpy knee?

"I don't know how Charlie played as well as he did last season, after he hurt his knee again," Landry remarked. "He played on courage alone, and if a guy can do that, then you can't ever count him out. But he has lost some speed, so if he does play again he will have to overcome that with experience and intelligence."

In other words, be at the right spot at the right time and don't try to chase those fast cats all over the field!

RANDY HUGHES, a most promising free safety who missed virtually all of last season because of shoulder surgery, vows that he will try it again. The doctors say he should be in good condition, although they won't know for sure until he starts hitting people.

There are other questions, but they do not rank with the Waters-Hughes situation in importance. Veteran defensive tackle Larry Cole may retire, but John Dutton is ready to take over the spot. Linebacker D.D. Lewis has not signed a new contract, even though he says he wants to play again and Landry has invited him back. Chances are that he will.

Then there is the case of wide receiver Butch Johnson, who wants to be traded since he cannot beat out either Drew Pearson or Tony Hill. He may get his wish before camp opens in July.

LANDRY IS OPTIMISTIC about his offense. The Cowboys could use some help in the line, but that problem is dwarfed by the strength at quarterback, running back, tight end and wide receiver.

Landry is extremely pleased with the way quarterback Danny White took over for the retired Roger Staubach last year, with Glenn Carano and Gary Hogeboom providing excellent depth at the position.

Running back is another strong area, too, although a team always can make room for an Earl Campbell or an O.J. Anderson. Tony Dorsett grinds out his thousand yards every season and hollers for Landry to let him carry 30 times a game. Landry is not going to do it, though, because he thinks Dorsett is too small to stand that kind of pounding.

Landry intends to give Ron Springs another shot at fullback, a job he won early last year and then lost to veteran Robert Newhouse. If Springs does not show a lot of flash this summer, he will return to halfback behind Dorsett.

DEFENSE REMAINS THE major challenge for Landry and the Cowboys. Tactician Tom worked hard last year to bring Doomsday up to its former level, but he did not succeed.

The brightest area on defense is, of course, the front four. Ed Jones and Randy White rank among the best in the NFL, with Harvey Martin just a step behind. "Too Tall" deserved a Pro Bowl berth this year, even though he didn't get it.

Landry can make do with his regular linebackers, but he is demanding some improvement by his reserves. Speedy Anthony Dickerson could challenge the starters this season, probably on the weak side where Lewis gets older and slower every year.

Landry will be looking for a linebacker or two in the draft, you may be certain.

THE DEFENSIVE SECONDARY holds the fate of the Cowboys, however, and Landry makes no secret of his concern in that sector.

"We put a great deal of responsibility on our young cornerbacks last year, and they performed well at times and very poorly at others," Landry admitted.

"Even though he got burned a number of times, Steve Wilson has the potential of becoming a cornerback. He's got the speed, movement and tackling ability to become a pretty good corner. Only time will tell.

"Aaron Mitchell, who played the other corner, showed at times that he could perform well, and at other times he got beat consistently.

"These two guys have just got to improve in training camp this summer."

Landry also will be looking at two other young players in camp. Dexter Clinkscales, a safety used mostly on the special teams last season, appears to have great potential. And Wade Manning, the former Ohio State baseball star, will be back for another shot after being on injured reserve in '80.

Veteran Benny Barnes may shift from corner to safety, where there is less wear and tear on a chronic foot ailment.

"How we do in the division race depends largely on our success in developing the defensive secondary," Landry emphasized. "This is our challenge in 1981!"

Landry says he loves a challenge. Now he has one to test all his skill and savvy.

Red Raiders Hope To Regroup Against Difficult Opposition

By RAY GLASS

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff College spring vacations, once a time of leaving the frozen north for a week of lounging on a sunny beach while forgetting all about school, have become just a fading memory with the flowering of college baseball.

And, although they will be less than 70 miles from the ocean, Texas Tech's schedule during the next week — the university's spring break — calls for anything but a romp in the sand.

The Raiders, coming off a three-game SWC setback at the arms and bats of Texas, open an eight-game set today against Pan American, Kansas and Missouri in Edinburg.

Tech opens the round-robin play at 7 p.m. against host Pan Am. Tuesday, they play a single game with Kansas, followed by a double-header with both squads Wednesday, another single contest against Pan American Thursday, a second double-header Friday and close out the week with a single contest against Missouri Saturday.

The busy week will give Kal Segrist's pitching staff another test, coming on the heels of 29 runs, 26 hits and 30 walks given up to the Longhorns.

"We have 11 games in the next 10 days," Segrist said before the road swing began in Austin. "That many games will be good for our pitching staff to get in some work. I hope these 10 days will get us over the hump and we can finish strong."

Tech is 12-5 overall and 0-3 in Southwest Conference action after the 17-3, 5-1 and 7-6 setbacks to Texas.

Raider pitching stalwarts Kyle Fahrenthold and David Carroll, two-thirds of the starting rotation, each picked up his first loss of the season during the weekend series. Carroll is 3-1 and is likely to start today's game against Pan American.

Fahrenthold is now 4-1.

NCAA Underdogs Growl

By The Associated Press

Knock, knock.

Who's there?

Alabama-Birmingham.

Alabama who?

Well, it may sound funny, but there are Gene Bartow's Blazers knocking on the door of the Mideast regional championships in the NCAA basketball tournament.

How they got there is no laughing matter to Kentucky, however. The nation's eighth-ranked team was beaten by the UAB upstarts 69-62 Sunday in Tuscaloosa, Ala., as upsets continued to underscore this year's crazy-quilt tournament.

"Without question," said Bartow, "it was the biggest win in UAB history. It may be the biggest win in Gene Bartow history."

Bartow could become the first coach to lead three different schools to the Final Four. Previously, he had brought Memphis State and UCLA to that level.

Third-ranked Arizona State, No. 11 Wake Forest and No. 13 Iowa also were upset in Sunday's second round. That continued a dark trend for Top Twenty teams from Saturday when No. 1 DePaul, No. 2 Oregon State, No. 10 UCLA and No. 12 Louisville all went down.

Glenn Marcus converted 12 free throws in the final 5½ minutes to pace UAB's conquest of Kentucky. The Blazers, playing in only the school's third year of varsity basketball, blew a seven-point lead midway through the second half before rallying to beat one of the country's most honored teams.

"We couldn't get the ball inside and couldn't hit from outside," said Kentucky coach Joe B. Hall. "That's a tough spot to be in. They played a tough, inspired game. They're a good ball club."

The victory sent the Blazers against Indiana in Bloomington, Ind., in Friday night's Mideast semifinals. Boston College will meet St. Joseph's (Pa.) in the other Mideast game. The Eagles got there with a 67-64 conquest of Wake Forest Sunday, a result that did no harm to the eastern basketball image.

"We've been kicked around in the East a little bit," said Boston College coach Tom Davis. "Folks say we don't play good basketball, but I'd have to disagree."

Leading the way for the Big East team was John Bagley, who scored 35 points, including four big ones in the final minute.

"We got impatient," said Wake Forest coach Carl Pacy, whose team was forced into 22 turnovers by the BC press. "We made some mental errors that hurt us in crucial parts of the game."

Arizona State was upset 88-71 by Kansas and Iowa lost to Wichita State 60-56 in the Midwest regionals at Wichita, Kan. Tony Guy scored 36 points to lead the Jayhawks' surprisingly easy victory over the Sun Devils.

"The problem was we did nothing on the offensive boards," said Arizona State coach Ned Wulk. "Guy just murdered us early and played an outstanding game. They were definitely more up for it than we were. We seemed to get down on ourselves."

Arizona State thus became the third and last Pac-10 team to be knocked out of the tourney, with the earlier exits of Oregon State and UCLA.

In the other Midwest game Sunday, Wichita State beat Iowa with the help of a technical foul call on Hawkeye coach Lute Olson near the end. The Shockers were awarded two foul shots after Olson inadvertently called a timeout when his team had none left, and Randy Smithson converted them for Wichita State with five seconds remaining.

"We had a communications breakdown on the staff," said Olson in explaining the mistake. "I was told we had one timeout remaining."

Smithson said he was aware that the Hawkeyes were out of timeouts at that point of the game and when he heard guard Bob Hansen call one, "I was elated."

Wichita State and Kansas will play each other in the Mideast semifinals Friday night at New Orleans. In the other game, Louisiana State will meet Arkansas.

Sunday's other second-round results went according to form, although fifth-ranked Virginia and No. 15 Tennessee both had tough times with their opponents in the East Regionals at Charlotte, N.C. The Cavaliers struggled past Villanova 54-50 behind Ralph Sampson's 17 points while Tennessee edged Virginia Commonwealth 58-56 on Dale Ellis' medium-range jumper with two seconds left in overtime.

The Cavaliers came back from a five-point deficit in the second half and Virginia coach Terry Holland said the deficit was "the best thing for the team" because it fired up his players.

"It was a hard-fought win for us and we were a little tentative in the first half," said Holland. "In the second half we got the good shots early, but the best thing for the team was that we missed them, got five points behind, then threw caution to the wind and played like the devil to stay in the game."

VCU coach J.D. Barnett thought his unheralded team stood up well under playoff pressure.

The results sent the winners to a meeting in Thursday night's East semifinals at Atlanta. In the other game, Brigham Young will play Notre Dame.

James Worthy scored 21 points and Sam Perkins had 19 as sixth-ranked North Carolina coasted past Pitt 74-57 in the West Regionals in El Paso.

"We made a couple of runs in the second half, but we couldn't seem to get anything to go," said Pitt coach Roy Chipman. "Maybe we were trying too hard."

Chipman said the officiating was "closer than ... during the regular season" and it hurt his team "because it made us play more passive than we normally are."

Danny Vranes scored 27 points as Utah overwhelmed Northeastern. The Utes took control of the game after the first six minutes and never trailed, building their margin steadily on baskets by Vranes and Tom Chambers, who added 21 points.

"When we came out with a 15-point lead in the second half," said Utah coach Jerry Pimm, "we as much as told them there would be no comebacks."

Utah and North Carolina will play one of the games in the West semifinals at Salt Lake City Thursday night, while Kansas State will face Illinois in the other.

Among Saturday's games, DePaul's 49-48 knockout by St. Joseph's in the Mideast Regionals was clearly the most surprising. To many observers, the Blue Demons were the odds-on favorites to win the tournament. And the defeat by the Hawks so upset Ray Meyer's team that the players were unavailable for comment after the game, skipping town quickly in an embarrassed retreat back to Chicago.

Oregon State, another solid tourney favorite, went down to Kansas State 50-48 in the West Regionals at Los Angeles. UCLA, the NCAA finalist last year against Louisville's national champions, was routed 78-55 by 16th-ranked Brigham Young in an East game at Providence, R.I. The 12th-ranked Cardinals, one of the hottest teams in the country, lost a 74-73 sizzler on a last-second miracle shot by Arkansas' U.S. Reed in the Midwest at Austin.

In Saturday's other action, No. 9 Indiana defeated No. 18 Maryland 99-64 in the Mideast. No. 19 Illinois stopped No. 17 Wyoming 67-66 in the West; seventh-ranked Notre Dame beat James Madison 54-45 in the East and No. 4 Louisiana State muscled past Lamar 100-78 in the Midwest.

The excitement may continue. Back in December in Anchorage, Alaska, the Arkansas Razorbacks may have done something they could be sorry for this week in New Orleans — they flogged Louisiana State 86-76 behind Scott Hastings' 25 points and 14 rebounds.

All the Tiger revenge is centered squarely on Arkansas. LSU had already sold 18,000 tickets for the finals of the Midwest Regional in New Orleans and that was BEFORE it trampled Lamar.

And just how well is 29-3 LSU playing?

"We're on the upbeat," said LSU coach Dale Brown. "We're playing like we did when we won the Southeastern Conference championship."

Arkansas may have trouble coming out of the clouds following Reed's "Hail Mary" shot that set off the wildest celebration ever seen in the history of Texas' Super Drum.

"That's what you call throwing up a prayer and having it answered," said Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton.

Louisville Coach Denny Crum was philosophical.

"We were just unlucky," he said.

Michigan Builds Steam As NIT Narrows Field

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan coach Bill Frieder is looking ahead in the National Invitation Tournament, but not too far.

"We've got a good enough club to win, but in no way am I saying we are favored," Frieder said following his Wolverines' 80-68 triumph Sunday night over Toledo in the NIT's second round.

"There are a lot of great clubs including the other Big Ten teams (Minnesota and Purdue) and Syracuse," he added.

"Once you get to the final eight, any team can win it."

Toledo jumped to a 27-20 lead behind Harvey Knuckles, who scored 17 of his 27 game-high points in the first half. But the Wolverines were able to regroup in time to knot the contest 40-40 at the intermission.

Michigan and Toledo scored just one basket during the first two minutes of the second half before the Wolverines broke it open, outscoring the Rockets 17-4 during a six-minute span, to go ahead 59-46. The Rockets never came closer than 10 points during the final five minutes.

Mike McGee, who was held to just seven points in the first half, led the Wolverines with 25 points while Johnny Johnson added 22. Adamek had 19 for Toledo, which finished its season at 21-10.

Frieder, the first-year coach, said he believes defense was the key to Michigan's turnaround and eventual victory.

"We played pretty well, especially in the second half when our defense picked up and we continued to play well offensively," Frieder said. "We gave up too many points to (Mitch) Adamek and Knuckles in the first half, but we a did much better job defending them in the second half."

On the Toledo side, coach Bob Nichols pointed to a lack of defense as a primary cause for the Rockets' failure in the interstate rivalry.

The Wolverines, who lost seven of their last eight games in the Big Ten Conference, are now 19-10. They will find out who their third-round opponent is late Tuesday morning following a full slate of second-round games tonight.

Tonight, seven second-round games are scheduled — South Alabama at Georgia, Alabama at Duke, Holy Cross at Syracuse, Dayton at Purdue, Temple at West Virginia, Texas-El Paso at Tulsa and Minnesota vs. Connecticut at Hartford, Conn.

Cliff Ellis, South Alabama's coach, hopes to teach his teacher a thing or two. He learned the game from Georgia coach Hugh Durham when he was a student and Durham a teacher at Florida State.

"Coach Durham taught me just about everything I know about basketball," Ellis said.

Could that put Durham in a no-win situation?

If Georgia, 19-11 and a five-point favorite, wins, some might say Durham didn't teach technique as well as he might have. If South Alabama, 24-5, upsets the Bulldogs, some might say he taught the game all too well.

Durham remembers that Ellis didn't play the game at Florida State, but "he was at practice a lot. He was always interested in basketball."

Durham also knows Georgia could be in for a tough night against the Jaguars. "They're very inside-oriented, high-percentage shooters," the Bulldogs' coach said. "And they're big."

Purdue, 18-10, will be trying to keep its NIT home record intact when it takes on Dayton, also 18-10. Coach Gene Kealey's Boilermakers will be going after their fifth NIT victory in five home games.

The Boilermakers won three NIT games at Mackey Arena en route to a runnerup finish in 1979, and Purdue advanced to the second round of this year's tourney with an 84-58 romp over Rhode Island last week.

West Virginia, 21-8, will meet its second Philadelphia opponent in four days when it takes on Temple, 20-7. The Mountaineers defeated Pennsylvania in a first-round clash.

"Temple is a great team and it is going to be a great game," West Virginia coach Gale Catlett said.

Baseball Newcomers Offer Surprises

By The Associated Press

Spring training is for finding things out... not only about your own players but about the opposition, as well.

For that reason, the base-stealing Pittsburgh Pirates decided to test Mike O'Berry, the Cincinnati Reds' young catcher.

"I wanted to see if he could throw," Pirates' manager Chuck Tanner explained Sunday.

He didn't have to wait long. Speedy Omar Moreno, who finished second in the National League with 96 steals last season, drew a leadoff walk and promptly set sail for second base. O'Berry gunned him down by a full step. Two innings later he nailed Dorian Boydland.

"He can throw," Tanner decided. "Omar doesn't get thrown out like that very much, that's for sure."

"It kind of surprised me that I was so accurate," said O'Berry, who has seen major-league service with the Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs. "I didn't throw any from behind the plate since last season."

The Reds grabbed a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning on Dave Concepcion's triple and Duane Walker's single. But Pittsburgh's Gary Alexander tagged Doug Bair for a pinch homer in the eighth inning and Bill Robinson homered off Tom Hume on the first pitch of the ninth, giving the Pirates a 2-1 triumph.

Spring training also is for discovering phenoms. The latest is rookie outfielder Les Filkins of the Detroit Tigers, who keyed an 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins by collecting three hits, including a two-run homer.

And with the game tied 6-6, Filkins led off the eighth with a single, raced to third on John Wockenfuss' single and scored the winning run on Lynn Jones' squeeze bunt. In the first inning, Filkins singled home a run and later scored on a single by Champ Summers.

With the Tigers trailing 4-3 in the fifth, Rick Peters doubled a run across and Filkins homered.

Filkins, a 24-year-old Chicagoan, doesn't have much chance of sticking with the Tigers, who have plenty of outfielders.

"There really is no job for him over here this year," manager Sparky Anderson conceded. "But this is good experience for him. I didn't really know him at all before and now I'm getting a chance to see the kid play some."

Filkins was placed on the Tigers' roster as a reward for hitting .297 in 83 games at Evansville in the American Association last year.

"I'm just glad to make it this far," the Tigers' No. 1 selection in the June 1975 draft said. "I don't want to put any pressure on myself. This is just Triple-A to me. That's how I'm treating it. I'm not going to worry about it."

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles' spring losing streak reached 11 games — eight dating back to last year — when they were edged 4-3 by the New York Yankees on Larry Milbourne's RBI single in the 11th inning.

The Oakland A's remained unbeaten by nipping the winless Seattle Mariners 3-2 on Rob Piccolo's ninth-inning homer.

Harold Baines tied the score with a 415-foot eighth-inning homer, then doubled in the 10th and scored on Ron Perry's single to give the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

The Toronto Blue Jays erupted for six runs in the third inning and whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 9-4, while home runs by Larry Parrish and Gary Carter powered the Montreal Expos past the Atlanta Braves 6-5.

Catcher Jerry Grote, attempting a comeback after a two-year retirement, homered as the Kansas City Royals shaded the Texas Rangers 6-5 and Pepe Frias delivered a tie-breaking single in the seventh inning as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 9-6. Houston's 'B' squad downed Japan's Tokyo Giants

4-3 behind Chris Bourjos' two homers.

The Milwaukee Brewers scored all their runs in the last four innings, three on a double by Gorman Thomas, and clobbered the Chicago Cubs 13-1. Tom Ververz's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth gave the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Rookie Mookie Wilson drove in four runs with a bases-loaded triple and a single, pacing the New York Mets to an 11-7 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Whitey Herzog Revamps Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Whitey Herzog wears two hats for the St. Louis Cardinals and he may have to pull rabbits out of both of them if he is to master the jigsaw puzzle he has laid out for himself.

"If the pieces come together," says the 49-year-old general manager and manager, "we could be a contender. I won't know until we get started."

"I am fully aware that baseball is a now game and Cardinal fans are restless for a winner after 12 years. But when I made the moves I did, I felt confident that we could be back on top in 1982."

Cardinal watchers — and, like Notre Dame and the Yankees, they are national — were shocked into a state of dizziness when Herzog began wheeling and dealing at the winter meetings in December.

Before he was finished with his sleight-of-hand, he had dealt away 13 players who wore the redbird insignia at the end of last season and had brought 10 new faces onto the scene.

It was Whitey Herzog, with virtual carte blanche authority, choreographing a cast which he hoped would revive memories of the old "Gas House Gang" and other champions of the past.

"It really wasn't as big a shakeup as everybody made it out to be," he said over the weekend as the Cards opened their exhibition season against the Mets.

Wasn't it, really? He dispatched a longtime St. Louis hero, Ted Simmons, in a seven-player trade that brought him pitchers Larry Sorrensen and Dave LaPoint plus outfielders Sixto Lezcano and David Green.

To replace Simmons, he signed as a free agent the star catcher of the Kansas City club which Herzog had led to three American League West titles, Darrell Porter. He also picked up Bruce Sutter, the ace relief pitcher from the Chicago Cubs.

It was the Simmons deal that brought Herzog the most heat.

"It was from the talk shows mostly," he said, wincing. "There wasn't too much yip yap from the legitimate critics. I can't worry about criticism."

"I offered Simmons a chance to stay and play first base. He accepted at first and then decided otherwise. He told me, 'Skip, if it was any place but St. Louis I'd do it. But it wouldn't work here. You've got the best first baseman in the league (Keith Hernandez, .321 batting average, 111 runs, 99 rbi, co-MVP in the National League in 1979.)"

Porter is a great catcher, should have been the MVP in 1979. If you wouldn't take him over a DH you'd be out of your mind. Besides, Simmons, going to Milwaukee, got three-quarters of a million dollars over his salary."

Herzog is considered one of the most astute managers in the musical-chairs game. He began his dugout career with Texas in 1973, skippered Kansas City for five years and last year replaced Ken Boyer as manager of the Cards in mid-season.

"When John Claiborne got fired in August, Augie (owner August Busch, Jr.) asked if I would take over as general manager," Whitey explained.

Patty Hayes Celebrates LPGA Event Victory

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — The first thing Patty Hayes did Sunday after winning the LPGA Sun City Classic was call home.

"Hi Mom, I won," said Miss Hayes, choking back tears. Hayes had reason to be overcome.

She shot a final round 4-under-par to capture her first title since joining the women's tour in 1974. With her 155-under-par 277 total for 72 holes went a check for $15,000.

"I didn't know it was going to take this long, but it makes it all the better," said Miss Hayes after her 2-stroke victory in the $100,000 event. "It's the greatest thrill of my life."

As late as 1979, Miss Hayes finished 71st on the money list.

Ray Floyd Relaxes, Counts Purse In Doral Open

MIAMI (AP)— Although there's the possibility of a huge, quarter-million dollar prize awaiting him at the Tournament Players Championship, Ray Floyd didn't even want to think about it.

"I just want to cherish this for a while, a day or so, before I start thinking about that," an emotionally drained Floyd said after his dramatic victory Sunday in the Doral-Eastern Open golf tournament.

"It was very exciting, very rewarding.

"But I'm just drained.

"That was 5 1/2 hours of intense pressure.

"It was match-play all day (against his playing partner David Graham) but in addition to that, every time I looked at a leaderboard there were six other guys getting close."

"But that's what it's all about. The guys who win, the guys who can win, can pull off the shot they need in those conditions."

And Floyd, 38, in his 19th year of PGA tour activity, pulled off just enough of them to acquire his 13th victory in a successful defense of the title he won a year ago on the 7,065 yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club, just a few miles from his home.

"It's very important to come back and win again, particularly when you're playing at home," he said.

He achieved the repeat victory with a 4-under-par 68 that gave him a 273 total, 15 strokes under par. He led or shared the lead at all the 18-hole breaks, but trailed Graham at one point on the final round and was pressured by Gilt Morgan, Tom Kite, Leonard Thompson and Keith Fergus.

The triumph was worth $45,000 from the total purse of $250,000 and made Floyd eligible for a $250,000 bonus prize if he's able to win this week's Tournament Players Championship.

Graham, a former PGA champion and winner at Phoenix earlier this season, tied with Fergus for second at 274. Each had a closing 67 in the warm, sunny weather.

Kite was next at 275 after a 67, with Thompson and Morgan tied at 276, only three back. Thompson had a closing 68, Morgan 70.

Jack Nicklaus, who lost to Floyd in a playoff here a year ago, failed to make the cut for the last two rounds this year.

Floyd's victory also negated the opportunity for anyone to claim the $500,000 bonus prize put up by the sponsors of Inverrary, Doral and the Tournament Players Championship for any man able to sweep all three titles. Kite won at Inverrary and could have claimed $250,000 with a victory here, a bonus that goes to a player winning two of the three titles in succession. Floyd now has a chance at that.

"I played well with a 67," Kite said. "I gave it a good run. I hit a lot of good shots but I came up empty this week."

Playing well in front of the other leaders, Kite simply ran out of holes. He parred the last seven holes, grazing the cup on birdie putts on the 15th, 16th and 17th.

Morgan, Thompson and Fergus all faded at one time or another until only Graham was left to challenge.

He'd moved into position with an incredible eagle-birdie-birdie-birdie start and stayed within one shot of the top spot the rest of the way.

Chaparrals Host William Jewell
 The Lubbock Christian College baseball team, which swept a feeble Cameron State team in four games last weekend, stepped up in competition when it hosted William Jewell (Mo.) in a double-header that began at 3 p.m. today at Chaparral Stadium.

The twinbill launched an eight-game set with William Jewell. These two teams play double-headers today through Thursday before Dallas Baptist visits the Chaparrals for a pair of weekend double-headers.

LCC, 13-14, met and eliminated William Jewell 10-4 during last year's NAIA World Series in Nashville, Tenn.

LCC coach Larry Hays expects a difficult series.

"You never know how tough William Jewell's gonna be," he said. "I just know they are competitive. They are every year."

Ex-Diplomat Linked To Porno Scandal

LONDON (AP) — A Conservative member of Parliament has accused the government of a cover-up for refusing to prosecute a retired diplomat implicated in a child pornography case. But Britain's attorney-general said the man's offense was "trivial" and didn't corrupt children. House of Commons member Geoffrey Dickens claimed the ex-diplomat's involvement with an organization advocating legalization of sexual relations between adults and children made him "a tremendous security risk ... and open to blackmail."

Dickens said he would demand that Home Secretary William Whitelaw name the man in Commons today. If Whitelaw refused, he said he would name him out of a sense of "duty."

Attorney-General Sir Michael Havers denied there was an official cover-up and told reporters the retired diplomat "committed the trivial offense of sending obscene material through the mail."

He said no charges were brought against the man because his actions were not considered to have corrupted children.

"He was dealt with in exactly the same way as a number of others who had sent obscene material through the post," Havers said. "He was among a dozen other people on the fringes about whom the decision was taken not to prosecute. There's no question of him being given immunity. He was given a formal caution."

No other government officials would comment on the case, which posed a new problem for Conservative Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

Mrs. Thatcher has been sensitive to allegations about official cover-ups in security matters since she was forced to disclose in Parliament in 1979 that Anthony Blunt, Queen Elizabeth II's art historian and a former intelligence agent, spied for the Soviet Union but had not been charged with treason.

British newspapers said the man in the latest scandal was a former high commissioner, or ambassador to a Commonwealth country, who had access to top secret documents and was knighted for his services to the nation.

The Daily Mirror reported, without attribution, that he had served in key defense posts, and the Daily Mail said he had once been attached to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The man was referred to but not named during the trial in London last week of Tom O'Carroll, chairman of the Paedophile Information Exchange, a worldwide organization of about 250 members who encourage sexual relations between adults and children.

French Comic Withdraws From Presidential Race

PARIS (AP) — France's most popular comedian has withdrawn from the presidential race, ending a tongue-in-cheek campaign that delighted the public and angered the politicians.

"Bitter to vote for a fathead than for someone who treats you like a fathead," was the campaign slogan of Michel Colucci, a junior high school dropout best known by his stage name, Coluche.

His withdrawal from the race was announced Sunday by his agent. The comedian was expected to give his reasons for dropping out in an interview to be published today in the first edition of a new satirical daily newspaper called Charlie-Matin.

DR. LAMB

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Is there any permanent cure for depression? I suffer from chronic depression and have just realized this past year that the symptoms can vary. I used to think one had to be listless, maybe hysterical, with hopeless thoughts. Now I know there are other degrees of depression. My main trouble now is a great and deep sadness. And I feel that every effort is really useless since we are all must waiting for death. I am not consciously suicidal.
 I have had five nervous breakdowns in 25 years. I recovered each time and returned to work. I have had electric shock therapy, insulin shock treatment and lots of medicines. And I have had private psychotherapy and group therapy. Now I can no longer afford a private psychiatrist. I am an impoverished 62-year-old widow.

There are lots of women like me. I've met them in the general and psychiatric hospitals.

DEAR READER — Yes, there are degrees of depression. We all have mood swings and it must be a rare person indeed who never experiences depression. The mild depressions we experience can be relieved or controlled in many instances by things we do in our personal life. I am glad you recognize the difference because you can help yourself in controlling the less severe problems.

The range and types of depression are discussed in The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life, which I am sending you. It will give you some useful ideas on how to help with mood swings and fatigue from depression. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-adressed envelope for it to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Now, you and others need to recognize that beyond the mild depressions and sadness are the more severe depressions which you cannot manage yourself. These require professional help. It is dangerous to neglect such cases.

Yes, women are more prone to depressions than men. About 20 percent of women who live to age 70 experience a depression. And it is difficult to get help when your funds are limited. Those with this problem could check the yellow pages in the phone book under Mental Health Information and Treatment Centers and ask any agencies listed there in your community for advice.

Snake Hunt Falls Short Of Goal

SWEETWATER (UPI) — Rattlesnake hunters collected 5,155 pounds of the reptiles in the three-day 1981 Rattlesnake Roundup, but the event fell far short of the record amount for the 23-year-old spring roundup.

The record catch was 8,989 pounds in 1970 which included 9,017 snakes.

The Double Mountain Snake Club was group winner with 866 pounds. Tommy Camer of Sweetwater claimed individual hunt honors with 619 pounds. The longest snake caught was 70 inches by Robert Resor of Sweetwater. The shortest was 12 inches Larry Frizzell of Sweetwater.

Snake handler Bill Ransburger said Roundup was not intended to rid the countryside of snakes.

"We're trying to control the species," he said Sunday. "There is no way to get rid of them."

"One summer day on the Texas highways killed more rattlesnakes than the three days of our roundup."

"There were more farm animals bitten by snakes last summer in the Sweetwater area than there had been in 10 years," Ransburger said. "I think it was just too hot to graze in the daytime during the drought, so they grazed at night when the snakes were out too. They were no animals killed but seven horses were bitten and also lots of dogs and cattle."

Hunters used old golf clubs with hooks on the end or specially made tongs that open and close. An estimated 10,000 people attended the roundup.

Irish Learn Hatred Very Early

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — When kids are let out of school in the flashpoints of central Belfast, army troops and police are there to see they don't get into a brawl that could easily flare into a riot.

Children are versed early in the realities of sectarian hatred. The strictly segregated Catholic and Protestant schools in the city's sooty working class districts let their pupils onto the streets at different times to minimize the risk of conflict between young gangs of "Prods" and "Togs" — as they're called in local slang.

There is little to tell the two groups apart. The teen-age boys sport shaven heads and heavy boots whether they are Catholics or Protestants. The Catholics wear badges with a portrait of Irish resistance leader James Connolly while the Protestants flaunt a small Union Jack.

The ghetto kids have scant chance of finding a decent job. Northern Ireland has 99,000 registered unemployed out of a population of 1.5 million. Unemployment in the areas worst hit by the troubles exceeds 40 percent.

This provides a fertile recruiting ground for the paramilitary organizations and terrorist squads. Many youngsters sooner or later will clash with British security forces and perhaps finish up in the Maze prison as convicted terrorists.

Of the 1,500 or so persons already in prison for terrorist-related offenses, two-thirds of those serving sentences of more than four years were less than 15 years old when "the troubles" started in 1969 and one-third were under age 9.

There are few amenities in the ghettos to steer a youngster away from vandalism and possible crime.
