

A KISS FROM VALERIE — Gary Lee gets a kiss from Valerie Sosenen, 26, of Highland Falls, N.Y., while Lee's wife, Paty, of Falls Church, Va., looks on. Military policemen at Hotel Thayer went into Highland Falls and asked if Valerie would like to meet a hostage. Lee had expressed a desire to thank the town for the welcome and cheers given to him and 31 other hostages during their stay at nearby West Point. The returnees will be guests of President Reagan today. (AP Laserphoto)

Freed Hostages, Families Unite In Worship Rite

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Singing the hymns that carried them through their Iranian ordeal, the liberated hostages joined their families in a service of gratitude Monday. One former hostage called their reclaimed freedom "a bath of love."

sponded to the opening hymn with these words: "This is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad."

"Problems" Bared
But there was disquieting news in Washington. President Reagan was told by Secretary of State Alexander Haig that about a dozen of the 52 Americans are suffering from "severe problems" and "some damage," mostly psychological.

White House Press Secretary James Brady said the president was "a little wary-eyed" after his briefing. "People were talked about by name, what specific problems were, and all that," Brady said. He did not say which hostages have problems.

The allegations of mistreatment that have surfaced since Iran gave up its hostages a week ago were denied vehemently in Iran by Hashemi Rafsanjani, speaker of the parliament.

Thursday Thanksgiving
"I know many of these boys," he said, referring to the captors. "They would not like to hurt any human being."

Reagan signed a resolution Monday declaring Thursday a day of national thanksgiving.

Those of the 52 hostages who care to will have a chance to share their experiences with the nation at a news conference this morning before they fly to Washington to receive the gratitude of their government for the 14½-months they sacrificed.

Six thousand people were invited to the ceremony on the White House South Lawn and 600 will attend a White House reception. Among the guests will be Army Col. Charles Beckwith and other survivors from a commando team he led to Iran in a rescue attempt last April that failed.

Villagers' Response Gratifying

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Former hostage Gary E. Lee, a State Department officer, wanted to thank someone from the nearby village of Highland Falls, so military police stopped a young woman on the street Monday and asked, "Do you want to meet a hostage?"

Valerie Sosenen, 26, an unemployed Russian linguist engaged to a cadet at the U.S. Military Academy, eagerly accepted the invitation.

Miss Sosenen said Lee, 37, told her he was "tremendously delighted by the response" of the estimated 200,000 flag-waving, cheering spectators along the route the former hostages took on their bus trip from Stewart Airport to the hotel Sunday.

"He said, 'I wanted to break down those smoky (bus) windows and communicate,'" Miss Sosenen related.

She said Lee told her that everyone inside the hotel on the grounds of the academy was in good spirits. As far as the privacy is concerned, he said, "We appreciate that and we do need it."

Later Lee and his wife, Pat, who live in Falls Church, Va., chatted briefly with reporters. Also with them at West Point is their 11-year-old daughter, Dana.

"I'm going to walk around here and enjoy a little of the U.S. countryside," said Lee, who was sporting a heavy beard and wearing a ski jacket. "I don't want to talk much. I lost my voice calling my friends and relatives yesterday."

Asked how he felt about his first full day of freedom in America, he said, "It is a wonderful change to have you people See VILLAGE Page 14

PASSENGER SHIP SAID ABLAZE
JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — An Indonesian passenger ship carrying more than 1,100 persons caught fire, Monday, in rough seas 700 miles northeast of Jakarta, the state-owned television reported. It was not immediately known whether there were any casualties and all vessels in the vicinity were ordered to steam to the stranded ship.

Housing Case Lawyer Challenged By Judge

By PAT GRAVES
Avalanche-Journal Staff
U.S. DISTRICT Judge Halbert O. Woodward challenged a government attorney Monday who said the policy of the Department of Housing & Urban Development is not to threaten cities with the loss of Community Development funds if they fail to cooperate on housing projects.

Woodward interrupted testimony by former Lubbock Housing Authority board chairman Cathy Morton when she told Asst. U.S. Atty. John Maclay that HUD's withdrawal of CD funds was not automatic or likely but, she was led to believe, a real possibility.

The judge then asked Maclay if HUD did not strongly imply funds would be cut off if local authorities did not go along with the department's housing plans for construction and site location.

When Maclay said no, Woodward questioned him again and said, "I'd like to hear your testimony on that. I've got sworn testimony to that effect in another case similar to this one. This strong implication of loss of funds seems to be a pattern with HUD."

Woodward told attorneys before the lunch recess that Friendship Independent School District, which is seeking a permanent injunction against a $4.9 million low-income housing project at 24th Street and Frankford Avenue, indeed had standing to sue HUD. All the defendants (HUD, the Lubbock Housing Authority, the City of Lubbock and developer Temple Management) had disputed that point.

The judge also said the case rises or falls "based on the actions of HUD since, regardless of how he rules, no housing construction is likely to occur without HUD participation and federal money."

Mrs. Morton's testimony substantiated her public criticism of HUD's dealings with the LHA during the project's approval stage in early 1980. Executive Director D.C. Fair earlier denied to Friendship attorney Charles Galey that board members were upset when HUD chose Temple Management's proposal over the LHA-favored Vivivenda Company's plans.

Researching Criticized
Friendship is attempting to prove HUD did not follow its own guidelines. Inadequately researched the impact on Friendship schools and disregarded the advice of the LHA in selecting the west Lubbock site for the project.

Fair said the LHA's initial approval of the Vivivenda three-site proposal was only tentative, adding that the authority evaluated the 16 proposed sites using HUD-issued criteria different from the city's and even HUD's.

"I've learned there are many factors HUD would consider that the LHA does not evaluate," Fair said, further testifying he was satisfied with the Temple See HUD POLICIES Page 14

Students In Poland Stage Sit-In Protest

Marxism Courses Object Of Attack

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — More than 2,000 students staged a sit-in at Lodz University, Monday, to protest compulsory lessons in Marxism, and a leader of the demonstration predicted classroom occupations would spread.

He said two other colleges in Lodz, the polytechnic and Poland's noted film school, would join the protest, Tuesday. A delegation of Lodz students arrived in Warsaw to discuss with student leaders and government officials the sit-ins, which began last week.

Meanwhile, farmers in southern Poland said Tuesday could bring new strikes if an "authorized" government team failed to discuss their demands for a rural version of Solidarity, the major independent union.

Anti-Solidarity Move
The student sit-ins and farmers' warning came as the state-run press launched what appeared to be a campaign against Solidarity, the movement born when strikes flared last summer over a steep rise in meat prices. Solidarity now claims 10 million members.

The Communist Party daily Trybuna Ludu and the army's Zolnierz Wolności printed readers' letters attacking last week's scattered strikes and nationwide work boycott, Saturday, by millions of Poles backing Solidarity demands for a 40-hour, five-day workweek.

The student protest in Poland's second largest city was aimed at what a spokesman called "full independence" of Polish universities. It added to the wave of labor and farmer protests that have sparked fears of possible Soviet intervention.

Lodz (pronounced "Wootch") has a population of 640,000 and is the center of Poland's textile industry. The city, 75 miles southwest of here, produces machinery, chemicals and metals and has a renowned film school.

Sit-In Confirmed
The sit-in was confirmed by students in Warsaw and students and labor sources in Lodz.

Student demands also include autonomy of some student groups from the government Education Ministry, keeping police off campus unless permitted by university officials, and access to printing facilities.

The demands recall those of workers who last summer sought the Soviet bloc's first unions independent of government control, access to the media, revised laws on censorship and labor unions and freedom from police reprisals.

In Rzeszow, 90 miles east of Krakow, 300 farmers continued a 24-day occupation of a government building to press for registration of "Rural Solidarity," the union they have sought since last October.

Solidarity leader Lech Walesa went there, Monday, in an apparent effort to avert a possible clash between the government and the farmers and workers there. Similar occupations by farmers in Nowy Sacz and Ustrzyki Dolne were ended quietly by police earlier this month.

In addition to Walesa's arrival, the Solidarity national presidium in Gdansk announced that it would hold its weekly meeting in Rzeszow, meeting outside its Baltic port headquarters for the first time.

Union officials attributed their decision to the situation in Rzeszow, but did See POLISH Page 14

Drug Deals Related In Alexander Trial

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

ABILENE — Convicted capital murderer Billy Wayne Alexander Jr. was a major drug supplier with an expensive narcotic habit of his own before he shot and killed a highway patrolman, jurors were told here Monday.

The eight-man, four-woman panel will consider Alexander's drug dealings and other evidence before sentencing him to either death by injection or life in a Huntsville prison cell. Those are the only options following his conviction Saturday for the Oct. 6 slaying of Department of Public Safety Trooper Jerry Don Davis near Slaton.

Criminal District Attorney John T. Montford is expected to admit about 45 pounds of marijuana into evidence that Alexander was involved in drug trafficking. The marijuana and other drugs and paraphernalia were seized from Alexander's home the day after Davis' body was found slumped at the wheel of the patrol car with a single, fatal bullet wound in the right chest.

Montford broached the subject of drug dealings Monday afternoon when he called Alexander's friend, Charlie Clanton, to the witness stand. Clanton, of Post, told the court that he had known the Lorenzo man for about six years and that Alexander had been his major drug supplier for a long period of time. He described himself earlier, outside the presence of the jury, as Alexander's partner in drugs.

Also outside the presence of the jury, Clanton testified that he paid Alexander an estimated $15,000 to $30,000 for their business dealings. Clanton has been granted court-ordered immunity from prosecution for information relating to the Alexander case.

He also described Alexander as a fairly heavy user of the synthetic narcotic substance Dilaudid.

He testified that he had seen Alexander take as many as four or five Dilaudid tablets a day at an average cost of $50 a tablet, "when he could get the money." He explained that Alexander injected the substance.

In other evidence, Clanton testified that Alexander obtained several credit cards belonging to San Angelo resident Ray Bell when he stole Bell's Datsun 280Z from in front of a San Angelo apartment. Clanton told the jury that Alexander's pickup broke down outside San Angelo once, and that Alexander walked in to town and stole the 280Z.

Upon his arrest in Lahoma, Kan., for the slaying of trooper Davis it was revealed Alexander was carrying credit cards with the name of Ray Bell.

Clanton further testified that Alexander later traded the automobile for tele- See JURORS Page 14

County Hiring Engineer To Curb Road Damage

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

LUBBOCK — County Commissioners, complaining about damage to county roads, agreed Monday to hire a professional engineer to police right-of-way projects along the road system and to direct the summer paving program this year.

County engineer Herschel Girod retired at the end of last year, leaving his post vacant.

"We need to act and act now on a county engineer," Commissioner Coy Biggs told other members of the commissioners court.

According to Biggs, the installation of pipelines and utility lines in the right-of-way running beside county roads has created some problems. "They're ruining some good county roads that we spent county money to build," he said.

One of the most recent problems, Biggs said, occurred on County Road 30 between U.S. 84 and the Lynn County line.

Water Pipeline Installed
The City of Lubbock obtained the right-of-way from the county for Panhandle Construction Co. to lay a water pipeline to transfer effluent water to Lynn County.

Lubbock Christian College's Institute of Water Research is laying the 17-mile pipeline that will carry the waste water from here to a site near Wilson. The LCC project, which has been funded by federal grants, will study the benefits of using sewage effluent to irrigate farmlands.

City officials became involved in the water research project after agreeing to pledge more than $623,000 to cover cost overruns.

However, Biggs said the construction company is building the pipeline has not lived up to the terms of the right-of-way agreement.

Roadbed Disturbed
The line was supposed to have been laid off the shoulder of the caliche road, the commissioner said. When he checked on the project late last week, Biggs found that the contractor was laying the pipeline under part of the road.

Biggs estimated that damage had been done to about four miles of the road. At least one-third of a mile of caliche had been torn up so the line could be laid beneath the road, he said.

Precinct 2 road employees spent about 16 hours last week repairing the county road, Biggs said. He noted that it will take his crew several more days to complete repairs on the road.

Commissioner Franklin Dunn also cited problems in maintaining bar ditches adjacent to roads in his precinct because utility poles have been placed too close to the right of way lines.

Engineer To Keep Watch
"A county engineer can haunt these things for us and tell contractors what we allow and don't allow," Biggs said.

Commissioners agreed to advertise for applicants for the engineering post. They already have budgeted a salary up to $28,512 annually for a professional engineer.

Earlier Monday, commissioners approved changes that will add another $9-200 to the cost of the new $4.8 million county jail.

The changes, which were requested by Sheriff D.L. "Sonny" Keesee, call for the construction of a pre-banking room, additional steel dividers in the jail's booking area and installation of a security camera in the tunnel between the jail and the courthouse.

Under a new policy, Keesee plans to require all local law enforcement officers to complete pre-booking paperwork prior to turning their prisoners over to the jail See COUNTY JAIL Page 14

Smith Backs Building Requested By Tech

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

WHEN THE announcement came Monday that former Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock had been confirmed by the state senate to be a member of the state's higher education board, Smith was at Texas Tech University learning about a proposal on which he now will be able to vote when the state board meets Friday.

Smith, 68, who served as governor from 1969 to 1973, was appointed by Gov. Bill Clements to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. He was named to fill the unexpired term of Tom Rhodes of Dallas, who resigned to become a University of Texas regent. The term Smith fills extends to Aug. 31, 1985.

Smith, the only Texas Tech graduate to become governor of Texas, says he will vote in favor of Tech's proposal for a $4 million Petroleum Engineering Building when the Coordinating Board meets this week.

Authority to approve or deny construction at all public colleges and universities in the state is one of the powers of the state board.

Chairmanship Unfilled
Clements has not designated a chairman of the board, but there is strong speculation that Smith will be given that role.

Lubbockites have been urging the governor to appoint another area resident to the board. Of the 18 members now, one is from Lubbock, one each from Plainview, Hereford and Odessa, two from El Paso, two from Fort Worth, two from Dallas, two from Corpus Christi, two from Houston, and one each from Rio Grande City, San Antonio, Tyler and Texas City.

During his two terms as governor, Smith appointed several persons to the Coordinating Board, including three West Texans who have been re-appointed by other governors and remain on the board.

Smith Appointees
They are Marshall Formby of Plainview, appointed by Smith in 1971, whose term expires in 1983; Wayne E. Thomas of Hereford, appointed by Smith in 1969, whose term expires in 1983; and Sam D. Young Jr. of El Paso, appointed by Smith in 1969, whose term expires Aug. 31 this year.

Smith says he hasn't had time to study many of the issues facing the Coordinating Board because he was waiting for his appointment to become official before doing so.

"I do plan to make whatever contribution I can," he said of his board membership, noting that he has had an interest in higher education throughout his political career including his legislative years in the Texas House and Senate.

"I hope I can really make a worthwhile contribution in the field," he said, although he has no goals outlined now.

How ever there is one issue on which Smith is knowledgeable and it is one on which he will be asked to vote as one of his first duties on the Coordinating Board.

That issue is Tech's request for permission to build a $4 million Petroleum See STATE BOARD Page 14

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. An article I read stated that, beginning in 1981, certain kinds of interest income can be "excluded" from federal income tax. As I understand it, this would be in addition to the $200 dividend "exclusion" now allowed and the total exclusion goes to $400.

A. Can you explain this — especially what kinds of interest that can be excluded from what you so aptly call "the tax bite"?

A. The best way to handle this is to start by spelling out the dividend exclusion.

As has been the case for a number of years, on your 1980 federal income tax return, you are allowed to exclude — and not pay tax on — the first $100 of dividends received during the year from "qualifying domestic corporations."

That means most U.S. companies. The form 1099 you receive from a company that pays you dividends will state if the dividend — or a portion of it — qualifies for the exclusion.

For 1980, each taxpayer is allowed a $100 dividend exclusion. That exclusion becomes $200 for a married couple filing a joint return, if each spouse owned stock on which $100 of dividends was collected or if they owned stock jointly on which $200 of dividends was collected.

For 1981 and 1982, this becomes an "investment income exclusion" and increases to $200 for each taxpayer — $400 on a joint return. You will be able to exclude not only dividends, but also interest you collect from many sources. "Qualifying interest" will include interest from bonds and other debt obligations of domestic corporations and the U.S. Treasury, as well as interest paid by banks and thrift institutions.

That last item is probably the biggest.

as far as most people are concerned. It will include interest from such things as savings accounts and savings certificates at banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions. + + +

Q. You wrote that, although cash dividends received from stocks are taxable, "stock dividends" are not taxed. Your explanation was, if a person owns 100 shares of XYZ stock on which a 10 percent stock dividend is paid, the person receives 10 additional shares of XYZ, tax-free.

A. Suppose that person immediately converts the 10 shares to cash. Is that not taxable?

A. Part of it would be — assuming the 10 shares were sold at a profit. The only way to "convert" the 10 shares to cash would be to sell them. Nobody forces you to sell.

If the shares are sold at a profit, the person who sells them would have a capital gain. If it's a long-term capital gain, the tax is much lower than the bite on taxable dividend income. Also, only the profit — on either a long-term or short-term gain — is taxed.

And, if you don't sell shares received in a stock dividend, you just don't pay tax on the stock dividend — or even report it on your income tax return. + + +

Q. We have $50,000 of 26-week U.S. Treasury Bills. When we purchased these T bills in November, 1980, through the Federal Reserve Bank, we received a "discount check" for the interest the bills pay. These T bills will mature in May, 1981.

A. Must we report that interest on our 1980 income tax return? Or, can we defer it and report it on our 1981 return?

A. Report it on your 1981 federal income tax return — the one you must file by April 15, 1982. The discount check you received was not "interest." It was the difference between the face amount of the T bills — which you were required to put up when you bought the bills — and the lower "discount" price at which you bought the bills.

T bills are "discount securities." You buy them at a discount price and redeem them at the higher face value when they mature. The difference between the two prices is your interest. In this regard, they are similar to Series E and EE, U.S.

Savings Bonds.

Your T bills will mature in May. You'll get your interest then. Report it on your federal — but not your state — income tax return. Interest from U.S. Treasury securities is not subject to state personal income tax. + + +

DOYLE welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Daniel, Gun Link Theory Rejected

LIBERTY (UPI) — The sheriff said Monday trace metal and fingerprint tests indicate former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. never held the .22-caliber rifle believed to have fired the bullet that killed him.

Liberty County Sheriff Buck Eckols said there was "nothing whatsoever" to indicate Daniel, 39, handled the rifle before he was shot to death in his home Monday night.

Daniel's wife, Vickie, 33, who had filed for divorce, has been charged with murder and freed under $50,000 bond.

Eckols said investigators planned a ballistics test to attempt to link scientifically the rifle and the bullet taken from Daniel's body.

The case was scheduled to go to a grand jury Wednesday. Mrs. Daniel has been invited to testify. If the grand jury were to decline to indict, Eckols said the case probably will be dropped even though he has filed charges. Eckols said he expected to release Daniel's house — sealed for investigation — to his family today.

Since release from a hospital where she stayed four days after the shooting — listed as being treated for "traumatic shock" — she has been staying with relatives.

Eckols said investigators ran a trace metal test on Daniel's hands to determine whether he had held a gun shortly before he was killed.

PhoneCenter Store Opening Set Today

Southwestern Bell will officially open its new PhoneCenter store in southwest Lubbock with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10 a.m. today.

For customers whose homes are equipped with modular, plug-equipped receptacles the store affords the opportunity to acquire a variety of telephones they can take home and install themselves.

Prizes, refreshments and souvenirs will be given away at today's open house in the Southwest Plaza at 6219 Slide Road in Lubbock.

By paying for a telephone at the store, customers can save more than $20 on a single phone installation, according to Southwestern Bell.

The open house concludes at 6 p.m.

STATE OF THE STATE

Water Trust Fund Well-come

THE BEST THING about Gov. Bill Clements' State-of-the-State message to the Legislature was his strong support of a proposal to use the next biennium's budget surplus to set up a water trust fund.

Other parts of the governor's budget and legislative proposals were well thought-out, too, but the water development fund is an idea whose time has come.

It would help the people of Texas, and the state's economy, in perpetuity. It's also a dandy way to put to work revenues over and above what's actually needed to run the state for the next two years, rather than expand programs and operating expenses unnecessarily.

CLEMENTS LAID OUT a $26.2 billion budget that is one-half billion dollars below the one recommended by the Legislative Budget Board, which includes both Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton.

As Clayton says, the differences will spark "good debate in the appropriations process," which is healthy. We were pleased to note that both budget proposals include funds to implement the Texas Tech School of Nursing, which the governor vetoed last session.

The governor said, too, that water research funds for Texas Tech, which he also vetoed two years ago, could be made available through the Water Trust Fund.

That trust fund, first pushed by Speaker Clayton, would provide for downstate population centers and also help with a plan to import irrigation water to this region.

Obviously, before there will be anything left over to put into a water fund, the Legislature must whittle away at the budget. The LBB's version calls for spending $200 million more than Comptroller Bob Bullock now forecasts will be available.

AN ANTI-CRIME package which Gov. Clements emphasized in his address to the Legislature contains controversial elements, especially as it relates to wiretapping, but the main thrust of doing more to slow Texas' soaring crime rate has overwhelming public support.

The public also supports his goal of improving instruction and discipline in the public schools and of giving teachers hefty pay raises, even though many of them will never be satisfied.

The governor is on the bandwagon, too, for good pay raises for all state employees, although he and others are inclined to be especially generous with college faculties.

Other good points of his message include a bill prohibiting automatic deduction of union dues from state payroll checks.

NEEDED: INFLATION CURE

Is There A Doctor In House?

WHILE THE hostage issue and foreign affairs still loom large on the horizon, the biggie facing President Reagan and Congress remains inflation.

If the nation does not get a handle on continuously soaring prices, then all the rest of it can well go down the drain in a depression and worldwide economic crunch that could set off all sorts of problems.

This fact was emphasized the past week-end as the government reported that consumer prices climbed at a 12.4 percent rate for the whole of 1980, marking the second consecutive year of double-digit inflation.

THE YEAR-END report by the Labor Department showed that despite a slowdown and a recession the past Spring, the cost of living rose almost as much as the "horrendous" figure of 1979 when inflation jumped 13.3 percent.

Not since 1918-19, when the U.S. was returning to a peacetime economy has inflation exceeded 10 percent for two years running. And some economists are forecasting that a rate of 10 percent or above is highly possible again this year.

Although the cost of fuel played a role in the latest bad news, as was the case the past year, it was major boosts in mortgage interest costs, transportation and food that led the way. Actually, housing and transportation were the major culprits.

IT IS MUCH the same story, third verse, for 1981, with energy and food costs expected to maintain their current levels.

With this background before them, the Reagan Administration and Congress have their work cut out for them.

The new White House occupant has promised some concrete programs within the next two to three weeks aimed at alleviating some of the crunch. But, it like other problems Mr. Reagan inherited, won't go away overnight. Too many built-in factors, from government spending to drought and recent winter losses to fruit crops will affect what people consume.

AS TO WHAT all this means for the average wage earner, the government notes that the after-tax buying power of the typical American worker declined by 4.8 percent last year.

It was the second year in a row for this erosion in the workers' paycheck and coupled with the 1979 figure came to 10.1 percent less buying power.

Although all the circumstances surrounding the release of the hostages was not what many would have liked, it is perhaps a break for Mr. Reagan that that headache is more or less out of the way so that he can concentrate on what else ails us.

Inflation definitely, like the common cold, needs a quick cure.

ART BUCHWALD:

Fuel From Food Bids Are Hard To Swallow

WASHINGTON—Every once in a while, someone comes up with a magic word that will end the energy crisis. The latest one is "gasohol."

It is now possible to make fuel for cars from grain products, potatoes and practically anything that can be grown on a farm. Several major oil companies are starting to get into the gasohol business.

Since we are the largest food-producing nation in the world, energy experts are very optimistic about the future of the new fuel.

But food experts are pessimistic, and with reason.

This is what could happen in the next few years on a farm in Nebraska.

A buyer from an oil refinery and one from a grain dealer show up at the same time.

"WE'LL TAKE your whole crop," the refinery buyer tells the farmer.

"Wait a minute," the grain dealer says. "We need that wheat for bread."

"Gasohol is more important than bread," the refinery buyer insists. "The more fuel we can make at home, the less we have to order from abroad."

"People need bread more than they need gasoline," the grain buyer protests.

The farmer finally says, "I don't care what you're buying it for. What are you paying?"

The refinery man says, "We'll give you $5 a bushel."

The grain merchant says, "We'll give you $5.50."

Havana's new heroes are the ex-refugees, who left for the U.S. in a leaky boat and now come back soaring on a jet airliner.

Plainview Woman Says State Holidays Justified

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:
I read your editorial in the January 19 issue of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal regarding holidays for state employees with interest. I noticed that you said 18 holidays per year "are now enjoyed by state employees."

From Sept. 1, 1980 through Aug. 31, 1981 17 holidays are allowed us. One of these falls on a Saturday, so we lose it. (We are lucky this year—usually we lose 3 or 4 in this manner.)

I am wondering if you have checked the salaries of state employees, especially secretarial employees, to see how they compare with those in other places.

I am also wondering if you know that these holidays were originated in the first place to compensate for the low salaries that the state employee receives. When employees all around us have received salary increases of 10 percent, we have received 3.4 percent to 5 percent increases. When our salaries equal those received by workers in other businesses will be the time to talk to us about the "astoundingly worthy recommendation to whack in half the holidays."

Mrs. Doris Meriwether, Plainview

ANDREW TULLY:

Lucy At The Bat

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence we are running some of his readers' favorite columns.)

WASHINGTON—In the bad old days, the best hitter for average around South Street was my sister Lucy, who once drove a baseball wrapped in bicycle tape through the Delephant's kitchen window, at least 375 feet from the flat stone we used for home plate in our backyard.

Lucy was not a pioneer in what Freudian journalists call the "sports sex revolution." She made the team because she was a good ball player.

In any case, her parents would not have gone around picketing our games because they had better things to do, like cooking supper and putting out tomato plants.

IF THE kids wanted to play ball they just picked up sides and played. It was not necessary for Pa to take you down to some fancy office and register you for a Little League and suggest strongly that if you didn't get to pitch he'd have a little talk with the Board of Selectmen.

There were, in fact, three girls on our team—Lucy, Martha Blackburn and Molly Egan—and all were regulars.

Lucy was not only a line-drive hitter, she was a cunning first baseman, adept at the hidden ball trick, and a notorious baiter of umpires.

Martha may have been the strongest player on the team. She was the catcher, sans mask or belly protector. Molly Egan was the best ball hawk in any neighborhood outfield and infuriated opposing teams with her slyly dropped bunts.

THIS IS not to say that those girls were welcomed to what was still considered a man's game. The main thing was, parents kept their cotton-picking hands off our games.

In fact, very few parents ever saw a game, mostly because they were busy but also because they were not that interested.

They were glad we were playing ball instead of robbing a bank, but in those days parents sent kids out to play and then left them alone except to rush out and render first aid for a split finger or a fat mouth bruised by a brush-back pitch.

INDEED, KIDS didn't like to have their parents around when they were playing ball—or anything else.

I didn't want Pa watching any ball game I was in because he had been a superb shortstop as a youth, often forced by penalty to play without a glove, and any comparison he'd make would be odious.

As a second baseman, I was not a candidate for Rookie of the Year with the Boston Red Sox.

Anyway, baseball belonged to kids, not to a pack of aging neighborhood busybodies. This was good if only because when Pa asked the inevitable question "How many errors did you make?" I could always conveniently forget a couple of them.

Lamesa Man Defends Hance Move To Ways And Means

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:
Congratulations on your recent editorial proclaiming Cong. Kent Hance's move from the Agriculture Committee to Ways and Means as being good for West Texas.

Trade issues, which are of vital importance to the continued prosperity of American farmers, fall under this Committee. All proposals dealing with tariffs, duties and customs on imported goods are first considered in the Ways and Means Committee.

Commodity agreements on such items as sugar and coffee are also within the purview of the Committee. Most significantly for Texas cattlemen, revisions in the Meat Import Act of 1964 were originally drafted in the Ways and Means Committee.

I would also point out that because the Ways and Means Committee is the major tax writing body in the House of Representatives, service on that Committee puts a member in the position of being able to shape programs which can significantly affect agriculture.

For example, bills to subject foreign investors in U.S. farmland to capital gains taxes, to provide a special valuation of farmland for estate and gift tax purposes, to repeal the excise tax on tractors, parts and accessories, and to continue the federal excise tax exemption for gasohol—fuel made from agricultural crops and residues and used extensively by farmers to power their equipment—are all under the jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee.

Because tax legislation and trade legislation will be emphasized under the Reagan administration, a position by Kent on the Ways and Means Committee will benefit all West Texans—especially those involved in agriculture.

Writer's Hand Gun Stand Is Challenged By Reader

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:
In the morning edition 12-30-80 was a very fine article by M. Stanton Evans. The general drift being that punishing criminals—gun control doesn't. The record proves this beyond any doubt.

In the morning edition 12-31-80 is "the other side of the coin." Mr. Andrew Tully sounds like the typical liberal, bleeding heart.

He obviously is anti-hand gun. Be that as it may. He should at least research this subject "He obviously knows nothing about hand guns."

In part, he would have his reading public to believe that a handgun has no purpose except to kill human beings. He wrote "hunters of animals do not use handguns." I'm sure this came as a great surprise to the hundreds of Thompson Contender owners. These poor souls must have dreamed that they have been hunting both large and small game with their handguns.

I personally know hunters that have taken antelope, deer and any number of small game with a handgun. I have heard of bear being taken with handguns.

With a modern hunting pistol 100 yards is not out of range. 200 yards is not unheard of.

Mr. Tully has written some fine articles in the past. In the future, for one, will always wonder if he knows what he's talking about.

Earl Lightfoot, 5303 26th St.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Get Rich By Mail

DALLAS—I kind of hate to bring this up, in case you're not on the same junk mailing list, but I'm not going to fret about the bad times ahead. With any luck at all, the "sweepstakes" are going to make me rich.

There are all these terrific prizes out there, see, and nine different organizations are just pasting to send them my way. No entry fee...no obligation...no purchase required...no kidding.

I may "already be a winner." But I have to hurry fast and send in my "first-prize claim ticket" to win a new house, a trip to Europe or an annual birthday payment that, if I live long enough, could add up to $250,000.

Or I can take the money—$81,000—and run. To the bank to cover all my overdrafts.

THAT ONE comes from an oil company that lets me charge gas on their credit card. Now they want me to sign up for their travel club, and they just happened to enclose a membership blank along with the color brochure of all the goodies I might win.

One of the big mail-order houses is even more worried about my financial future. It wants to award me $125,000 worth of gold, plus a trip to Hawaii, plus two new automobiles "waiting in the Virginia Payette driveway," plus $1,000 in cash. No purchase required, but they'd be tickled pink if I enrolled in their credit-card security service.

From an Oklahoma publisher comes word in big black type that I have won $1,000...or (in smaller type) one of 25 other prizes, including a copy of a monthly magazine that will show me how to win big money in contests and sweepstakes.

BUT I get a prize, even if I don't subscribe to their magazine. (Wanna bet it's a copy of their magazine?)

A consumer buying group wants to "shake up my life" by flying me and a "friend" to Rome, booking us into a suite at the Hassler, furnishing us with six pieces of new luggage and $12,500 in souvenir money.

Not only that, they'll meet us at the airport with a chauffeur-driven Mercedes, drive us anywhere we want to go in Italy, and then ship the car home for me to keep.

Or I can skip the trip and settle for $25,000 cash. Even if I don't sign up for their consumer shopping tips.

Here's one that dangles "not one...not two...but THREE grand prizes" adding up to $277,000. Like they say, I could be a quarter-millionaire overnight. Even if I don't sign up for all the magazines they peddle.

I KIND of like the approach from the purchasing exchange that sends me their computer print-out announcing that "one of three persons listed below has won $50,000."

And there's my name, along with two others from Toledo and Fort Lee, Va.

That's supposed to make you think the odds are with you, that in this particular contest you're not competing with millions of other folks whose names happened to get on the general sucker...er...mailing list.

Once you're hooked on that, you're automatically entered in the "magic sweepstakes" for $100,000 in spread-out payments or, if you're the get-rich-now type, $50,000 in instant cash.

Here's one that appeals to my humanitarianism instinct, a plea from one of Doris Day's animal-shelter groups that wants me to "give a dollar to save a puppy's life."

EVEN IF I don't, they'll put my name in their sweepstakes drawing for a trip to Hawaii or Disneyland, a diamond pendant, color TV, etc., etc. (No cash on this one; the prizes are all donated by animal lovers.)

One of the mail-order gift houses is giving me a chance to win back some of the money I've sent them over the years. If I hit the biggie—$100,000—I may even come out a little ahead. As a bonus, they'll put my name in the "poker sweepstakes" for another $10,000.

Then there's the granddaddy of 'em all, the Reader's Digest sweepstakes. These folks even write you a couple of weeks ahead to alert you that you've been selected as a contestant in their $50,000 drawing and will be hearing from them soon.

SURE ENOUGH, along comes news that if you win—and if you've sent your entry in early enough (they supply the stamps)—you can collect another 50 thou. They'll even fly you and your family to New York in a private jet to collect the loot.

Where (whether you subscribe to their magazine or not, they say) you'll get an extra bonus of $27,000 in gold or cash.

So you see, with all these grand people panting to bail me out of my financial difficulties, the recession doesn't worry me a bit. And I assume all you other folks out there will be just as lucky.

L.M. BOYD:

Pass It On...

Q HOW COME the Johnny Carson guards always pick on the town of Burbank?

A Just an old routine. Comics have been at it for years. Today the household word among them is Burbank. Brooklyn used to merit that distinction. Burbank was named after a dentist, not a botanist, incidentally. And more factory workers live in Brooklyn than in Pittsburgh and Detroit combined, might mention.

Q Ask your Love and War man if it's possible for one woman to love two men at the same time?

A He says yes, and one woman is far more likely to love two men than is one man to love two women. Nothing mysterious about why. Typically, the man aims his affection at one woman and goes after her. Another fellow likewise may aim his affection and go after her.

There she sits in splendid indecision, flipping a coin. Rarely, if ever, does the active pursuer love more than one person. And more men than women, still, are active pursuers.

Note it reported in print that guards along the Mexican border have shot down northbound homing pigeons in flight to strip them of capsules containing heroin. Interesting, if true.

Question is, if it's so tough to pack that heroin overland to the north, how come it's so easy to pack those pigeons overland to the south? They don't just fly down there on verbal orders to pick up their consignments, do they?

You take a feedlot steer around here, it's away more grain in three weeks than the same person in India eats in a year.

HINTS FROM HELOISE:

Vanilla Removes Room Odors

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a dandy hint for eliminating odors in the house, especially cooking odors. Here's what to do:

Pour two or three tablespoons of imitation vanilla flavoring into a small pan and heat it slightly. Then, just take the pan and walk around the kitchen or through all the rooms in the house if need be.

Reheat the vanilla and repeat the process if any odors still linger. If desired, you can add a small amount of water to the vanilla as it doesn't seem to affect the smell.

After using the vanilla, pour it into a small jar with a lid and save it to use again. Imitation vanilla is best to use as it's less expensive, and of course has the scent of those expensive vanilla candles. Also it's less expensive than sprays.

You can use this treatment in musty closets, closed-up rooms or damp basements too. — Mrs. Argell Beatty Um-mmm-mmm! Makes the house smell so nice! Try putting the vanilla in a little water, as you said, but let it simmer gently on the stove.

Not only will it give off a continuing fragrance but will put needed humidity in the house at the same time.

And did you know that when the humidity is high inside the house, you will feel warmer? Consequently, it will help to cut down on your fuel bill in the winter as the thermostat can be set lower. — Heloise

FOR A GOOD CREASE

DEAR HELOISE:

If you want to get a really good crease in pants or completely flat seams in sewing, here's how:

Get a 2 by 4 piece of wood, about 10 inches long. Sand it smooth.

With a steam iron, press the crease or seam, then place the board on the steamed part. Continue steaming and placing the board. It will really do a good job. — Mrs. Ruth Anderson

Another way to get sharp creases is to cover heavy books with aluminum foil, then lay them on the crease — end to end — as you steam press. The aluminum foil's a protection — just in case the pants are damp and the color on the book cover might come off...

Do not remove the books until the pants have had time to cool. Not only will the creases be sharp but they will stay in nicely through several washings. — Heloise

GRATE IDEA

DEAR HELOISE:

When grating lemon or orange peel for flavoring, use a toothbrush for quick and thorough removal of every smidge from the grater.

I purchased one especially for use around food and find it a very efficient tool to use for many things while preparing meals. — Mrs. James Tarbox

TO REMOVE SNAGS

DEAR HELOISE:

Use a needle threader to repair snags in knit fabrics. I keep one in my billfold at all times.

Just squeeze the end of the threader together and insert it in the center of the snag, working from the wrong side of the material.

The threader will open up on the right side, catch the snagged thread and pull it back through — Mrs. B.C. Benton

SHOPPING LIST

DEAR HELOISE:

In the past, while planning desserts I wanted to make, I would forget to buy all the ingredients needed at the store.

Now, I immediately write the desserts planned on an index card, along with a list of ingredients required to make them.

I put the card on the refrigerator door with a magnet so I won't forget to take the list with me on shopping day. — Jane Lars

Texas Tech Ex-Students Announce Officer Changes

A change has taken place. The Lubbock chapter of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association has selected new officers for the remainder of the 1980-81 year.

Ralph S. Krebs, class of 1943, will be president. Krebs was the first vice president. His former position will be filled by David A. Miller, class of 1971.

The move was made necessary when Jimmy Fullerton, the original president, moved to Monahans, Texas. Jim Douglass, assistant director of the Ex-Students Association, said.

Other officers for the Lubbock chapter are: Mrs. E.F. Arterburn Jr., second vice president; John Burdette, treasurer; and Mrs. David Theford, secretary.

Membership in the Association is open to all former students of Texas Tech University. There is no minimum number of semester hours required for membership. A college degree also is not required.

Many members of the organization never attended Texas Tech, Douglass said. They have, for a variety of reasons, "adopted" Tech as their school and wish to support the university.

The Lubbock chapter of the Association was organized in May of 1960. It has the largest single chapter membership within the Association.

Since it began, the local chapter has sponsored a variety of activities. Receptions prior to the Texas Tech home football games and a Christmas party following the Carol of Lights are two examples of the club's activities.

The club has various committees. They are: Membership and Attendance; Academic Recruiting; Publicity; Program Arrangements; Loyalty Fund Solicitation; and the Athletic Committee.

Any contribution to the Texas Tech Loyalty Fund, made on an annual basis, entitles the donor to membership in the Association and in the local chapter. Bridal Courtesies

VIRGINIA MEYERS
Virginia Meyers, bride-elect of LeRon Ginn, was honored recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Owen R. Hardwick. Mrs. Cecil D. Puckett was co-hostess.
The couple plans to be married March 12 in the Broadway Church of Christ.

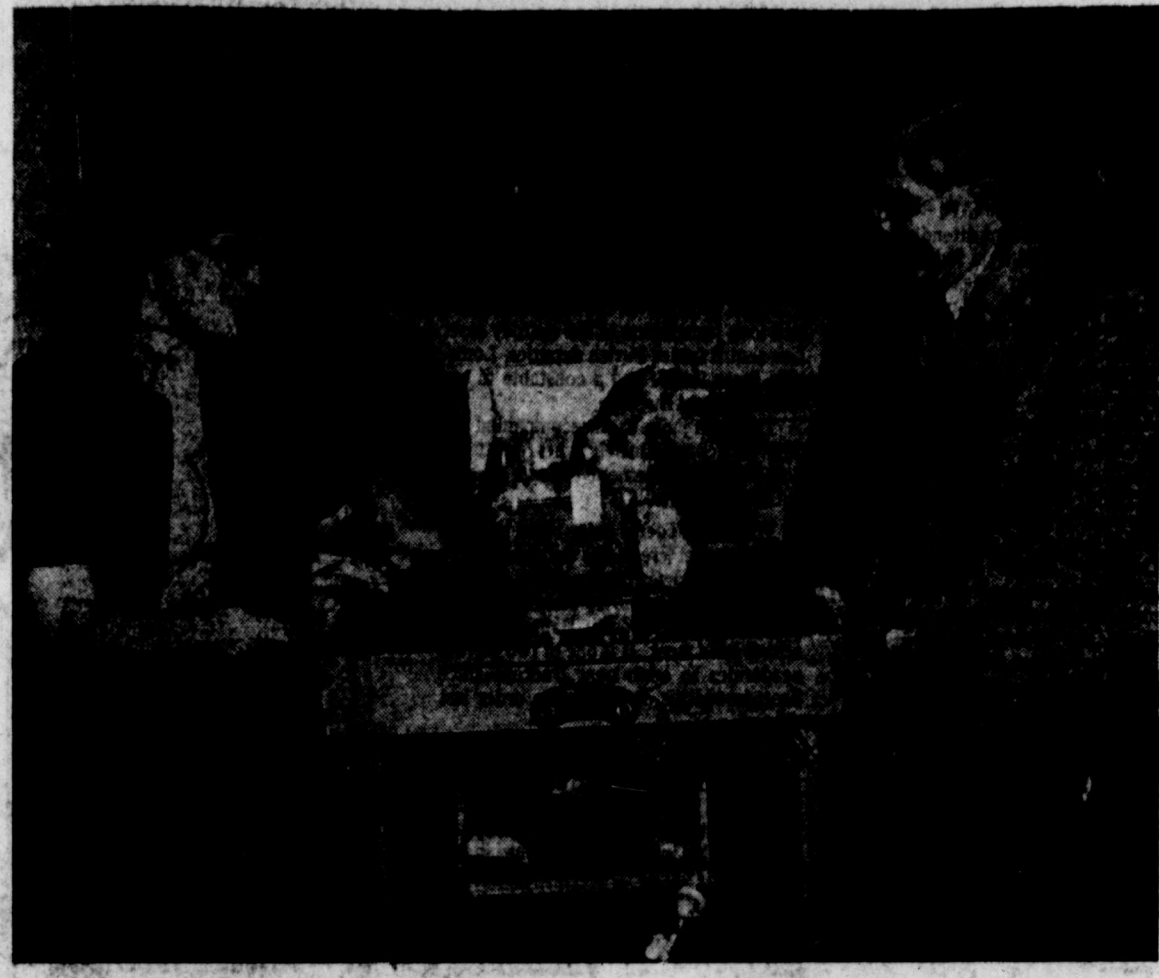

GAY SWANN
Gay Swann, bride-elect of Rodney Bownds, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. William G. Johnson. Jana Johnson also was a hostess.

Special guests were Mrs. Garland H. Swann and Mrs. Kevin Guetersloh, both of Plains, and Mrs. Jack Blevins of Wilson, mother, sister and aunt of the bride-elect.

The couple plans to be married March 14 in Ford Memorial Chapel.

CYNTHIA FANNING
Cynthia Fanning, bride-elect of Timothy DeSpain, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Kermit Simmons.
Special guests were Mrs. Norris Fanning, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Robert DeSpain, mother of the future bridegroom.
The couple plans to be married Feb. 14 in Hodges Chapel in First Christian Church.

TAMMY BROWN
Tammy Brown, bride-elect of Michael McClellan, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Louis Botkin. There were eight co-hostesses.
Special guests were Mrs. Bob Brown and Terri Brown, mother and sister of the bride-elect, and Mrs. J.O. McClellan and Mrs. Paula Johnson, mother and sister of the future bridegroom.
The couple plans to be married Feb. 28 in Broadway Church of Christ Chapel.

Local Society Seeking Funds

By MARIE CANNING
Family News Staff
Lubbock County Society for Crippled Children has opened its annual fund-raising drive, asking public support for its volunteer program to rehabilitate handicapped children.
Half of the money collected will be used to provide transportation to medical centers and purchase wheelchairs, braces and other equipment needed by handicapped children. The remainder will be given to the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy and Neuromuscular Center for its operational budget, W.R. Moss, president, said.
The Society co-sponsors the Center with the Rotary Club of Lubbock. The Center has no geographical boundaries from which cases come. To date, children treated have come from nine states.

Recently, one of the cases admitted to the Center was an infant who had a serious illness at six months of age. On admission to the Center, two months after the onset, this child could not move about and did not respond when spoken to or respond to any objects in her environment.
The parents were given an exercise program to carry out at home. She was treated in the Center at regular intervals. Today this child uses words, plays with toys, sits alone, crawls, etc.
The Center is dedicated to working with handicapped children. Admission early in the child's life is desirable. If the handicap follows an illness or injury, the Center prefers to treat cases as early as they are physically able to receive treatment. More than 3,000 children have used the services of the Center. Many of the cases known to the staff in the earliest years of operation are now gainfully employed.

The Center is open to any child in need of therapy. The only requirement for admission is that they be referred by their physician.
Lubbock physicians, who are specialists in areas concerned with cerebral palsy or neuromuscular disabilities, donate their time to conduct clinics in the Center to evaluate handicapped children enrolled in the Center's program.
Because the Crippled Children's Society has no national or state affiliation, all money collected during the once-yearly fund raising drive will be used in Lubbock.

The bidding in the box occurred at table one in a Swiss team match. The play was short and sweet for the defense, but bitter for South.
East overtook his partner's king of clubs at trick one, cashed his ace of diamonds, led back a club to his partner's queen and ruffed a diamond for down one.

"Nice defense," compliments South. "There goes our chance to win the match."
"Not at all," replied East modestly. "It is the sort of play that your partner is sure to make."
"You don't know our partners," replied South. "They're desperadoes and not vulnerable. They will have defended at the five level and will have been set badly."
Sure enough, at the other table East had doubled North's two spades. South had jumped to game and West had bid five diamonds. The contract had been doubled and set 500 for a 12 IMP swing and the match just as South had predicted.
Whose fault was it? The East player who made a take-out double with a singleton diamond.

ANN LANDERS:

Wife Dislikes 'Wanted Feeling'

Dear Ann Landers: You are always getting letters from love-starved wives who complain that their husbands never give them any attention. Well, I have another kind of problem.

J and I have been married 20 years. All the man has on his mind is getting me to bed — or anyplace that suits him. I cannot pass him in the hall without him putting a hand on me someplace. When I iron, cook, or vacuum, he undresses me with his eyes. I am so sick of being leached after and touched that I could scream. I've even considered a legal separation to get away from those hands and those eyes.

If J thinks I am home alone, he leaves the shop early, follows me around the house and makes a pest of himself. You'd think after all these years he'd be burned out. No such luck.

Please tell those women who complain because their husbands are undersexed to be thankful they have peace. I'd trade places any day. — The Go-Go Machine

Dear Go-Go: You've got high-class worries, dear. It's a lot easier to live with what you have than the other kind. At least you feel wanted.

Unfortunately, some of those dead batteries out there couldn't perform if they wanted to, so kwitchebeefin' and count your blessings.

Dear Ann Landers: My 26-year-old sister takes from one to three showers every day. These showers last at least an hour. Betty keeps the water running all that time. After she gets out of the shower, she shampoos her hair.

She washes her hands clear up to her elbows at least four times an hour when she is at home. The girl can go through a bar of soap in less than two days.

This has been going on for quite some time, and I am worried. It does not sound like normal behavior to me. Any suggestions? — Too Clean In Wisconsin

Dear Wis: Compulsive washing such as you describe (frequent and for long periods of time) is a symptom of mental illness.

Your sister should see a psychiatrist for an evaluation. She is in dire need of professional help.

sure you're 16?" I was 18 at the time, but looked 14. When I was 19, a bank teller inquired, "May I help you, little girl?"

It's embarrassing when I meet somebody for the first time and the unavoidable question comes up, "What high school do you go to?" When they find out I haven't been to high school for five years, the shocked silence is unbearable.

I've been told that when I get old, I'll still look young. Terrific! But youthfulness isn't much of a consolation to an 80-year-old, retired "old maid" on a pension!

Can you give me some advice, Ann? — Too Old For Teenagers

Dear Too Old: There's not much you can do about your ultra-youthful appearance, and I suspect you are going to be fighting this battle for a long time, so I suggest that you develop a more substantive and sophisticated conversational pattern. How you sound is more of an age peg than how you look. Maybe that's your problem.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (15 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Illinois Cafe Owner Pays Final Tribute To Patrons

By RICK BAKER
Peoria Journal Star

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — When the wino dies, sad and forgotten men, they are not forgotten at Sadie's Cafe.

Marge Singleton owns Sadie's, a tiny greasy spoon in Peoria's decaying south side, and over the years she has fed her share of down-and-outers, sometimes for free and usually at a discount. She has buried them, too.

"There was no way I could let the state do it. My boys have to be put away with dignity," she said. The typical customer at Sadie's Cafe is a pauper without enough money to have himself buried. State government appropriates $400 for the job, but that's usually enough only to have them cremated and put in a little unmarked grave.

"Just to dig a grave costs $200," said Mrs. Singleton, 51. "Then there's $300 for the gravesite, to say nothing about the coffin, the funeral home expense and the flowers and all the rest. So they would just cremate my boys and forget about them. And I couldn't allow that."

The City of Peoria recently tried to force Sadie's to pay a new tax for a civic center being built downtown. When the police arrived, Mrs. Singleton sent them away, saying she had used money set aside to pay the tax to bury three of her "boys."

She bought them caskets, flowers, funeral plots and clothes to be buried in.

She has buried at least 15 paupers during the last 12 years she has owned Sadie's.

The average client at Sadie's cafe is old, tired, poor and without family or friends. So visitation is usually a sparsely attended affair.

The average turnout at one of her wakes is about a half dozen, generally some of her other boys still alive. Mrs. Singleton's relatives and friends are often used as pallbearers because most of the departed's friends are too old or too sick to carry the casket.

"I've owed Springdale Cemetery as much as $2,000 at a time," she said. "They know I'll pay."

So, too, do the police, who left her place without a word after being promised that Mrs. Singleton would pay the city's civic center taxes as soon as she was able.

Promote Healthy Hearts With Proper Diet

NEW YORK (Special) — If you failed to make your New Year's resolution in January, do it in February, the month where attention is focused on healthy hearts. Since 1964, by Presidential proclamation, February has been designated as American Heart Month. Thoughts turn toward the ticker with a keen eye appraising diets too high in cholesterol and saturated fats. For Heart Month this year, families are encouraged to join together at mealtime to promote healthy hearts.

Nutritionists report that habits formed during the early years tend to set the stage for years to come. For this reason, nutrition and diet conscious parents and children are the best defense against heart disease. In answer to family dietary concerns, "The Family Health Cookbook" by Alice White and the Society for Nutrition Education (David McKay Co., Inc. NY 1980) provides valuable health information as well as recipes that blend good nutrition with good taste. The cookbook recipes are planned with consideration for health problems related to nutrition, such as heart disease and obesity.

- 2 tbsps. corn oil
 - 1 cup chopped onion
 - 1 cup chicken stock
 - 1 tsp. dried basil leaves
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 cup plain lowfat yogurt
- In plastic bag mix together flour, paprika and salt. Add chicken, a few pieces at a time, and shake to coat evenly. In 5-quart dutch oven or saucepot heat corn oil over medium heat. Add onion, stirring frequently, cook 2 minutes or until tender crisp. Add chicken; cook 10 minutes, turning once or until lightly browned. Add stock, basil and bay leaf. Cover; simmer 20 to 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to serving platter; keep warm. Discard bay leaf. With wire whisk stir in yogurt. Pour over chicken. If desired, serve with noodles. Makes 4 servings.

- DIJON STYLE CHICKEN
- 2 chicken breasts, boned, skinned, halved
- 3 tbsps. corn oil, divided
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms (about 8 oz.)
- 4 tbsps. chopped parsley, divided
- 1/2 tsp. pepper

- 1/2 cup chicken stock
 - 1/4 cup dry white wine
 - 1 tsp. finely minced shallots
 - 1/2 tbsps. Dijon-styled mustard
- With meat mallet pound each chicken breast to 1/4-inch thickness. In large skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the corn oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken; cook 5 minutes; turning once or until golden. Remove from pan. In same skillet heat remaining 1 tablespoon corn oil over medium heat. Add mushrooms, 2 tablespoons of the parsley and pepper. Stirring frequently, cook 2 minutes. Return chicken to pan. Reduce heat. Cover and cook 5 to 10 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken and mushrooms to serving platter; keep warm. Add stock, wine and shallots to skillet. Boil until liquid is reduced by half (about 1/3 cup). With wire whisk, stir in mustard until blended. Add remaining 2 tablespoons parsley. Spoon sauce over chicken and mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Dijon-Style veal: Follow recipe for Dijon-Style Chicken. Substitute 1 pound veal cutlets for chicken. (Do not pound.) Simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until veal is tender. Makes 4 servings.

- ORANGE CHICKEN SALAD WITH WALNUTS
 - 3 tbsps. corn oil, divided
 - 2 chicken breasts, skinned, boned, cut into 1-inch cubes
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 - 3 small oranges, peeled, sliced
 - 1/3 cup orange juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - Dash pepper
 - 4 cups torn romaine lettuce
 - 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- In large skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the corn oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken; stirring frequently, cook 5 minutes or until tender. Place chicken and pan drippings in medium bowl. Sprinkle with nutmeg; toss to coat evenly. Cover; refrigerate several hours. Add orange slices, orange juice, remaining 1 tablespoon corn oil, salt and pepper. Serve on lettuce-lined platter. Sprinkle with walnuts. Makes 4 servings.

SOMETIMES A THOUGHTFUL LITTLE DEED IS JUST THE LIFT SOMEBODY NEEDS.

Getting Started Important In Curing Writer's Block

NEW YORK (Special) — Have you ever delayed so long in answering a friend's letter or sending a note of condolence that you were too embarrassed to write at all? You're not alone, say the experts.

"Many people when faced with a blank sheet of paper wonder how they will fill it," says Phyllis Nolan, stationery expert for Hallmark Cards. "And if the situation calls for a special message, such as a sympathy note or congratulatory wishes, it can frighten off a person all together."

While acknowledging there are no strict rules for correspondence, Nolan offers these suggestions for breaking "writer's block" under the most trying of circumstances.

"The beginning and the closing parts of a letter are the most difficult to write," she says. She suggests that you plunge right in with the first thought that comes to mind. Nothing could be simpler to say than, "We were so happy to read your letter this morning," or "You don't know how often John and I have thought of you since our vacation." After you've finished the letter, you may want to go back and rewrite, but the important thing is to get started.

If you've delayed in answering a letter, don't begin with a negative apology. What could be more unkind to read than, "I know I should have written sooner, but I haven't had the time." Unconsciously, you might imply that it wasn't worth it to you to make time for the person to whom you are writing. A more appropriate way to explain might be to say, "There are so many things to tell you that I've saved answering your letter until now when I know I won't be interrupted."

The closing of a letter should be as warm and positive as the tone in which you began. Even if you're agonized over every word, try to suggest your writing has been as enjoyable as a personal visit. "I'll write again, soon," or "I'm looking forward to seeing you next month," is a friendly parting.

By far the most difficult correspondence is the note of condolence, says Nolan, and, it's the one time when a telephone call or telegram won't do. "Say what you truly feel," she advises. "Be brief and don't write paragraphs leading up to the fact that you are genuinely sorry for the other person's loss." Nolan believes that the note may be abrupt or even, on occasion, ungrammatical. "It's the sincerity with which you express yourself that matters. Whatever you say, if it comes from the heart, it will be welcome."

The letters we love the most to receive, says the expert, are those that make us feel the writer is with us. A conversational tone and the occasional use of the person's name all contribute to a feeling of closeness. A personal letter isn't formal; it's as natural as one friend talking to another. The use of contractions, a variety of punctuation such as the exclamation point or dash and even a colloquial phrase or two will convey the personality of the writer.

In spite of increased use of electronic means of communication, nothing will ever take the place of a handwritten letter, says the expert. In a survey conducted by The Roper Organization, an opinion research firm, it was found that six out of 10 Americans look forward to checking their mail more than any other daily routine activity.

Besides, as any romantic can tell you, you can't tie your phone calls with blue ribbon to save for posterity.

WINE TENDERIZER

Do cook with wine. It's a good meat tenderizer and marinade, especially for leaner meats that tend to get tough when broiled. Try an inexpensive "jug" wine.

Farmer's Wife Unsure Of Drug

BY PAUL G. DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a farm-ranch wife, 52, and I do lots of heavy lifting and walking. I have lots of pains on the backs of heels and legs. I take four tablets per day of prednisone. Do you think I should continue taking this or not? — Mrs. G.C.

I don't think you should take prednisone on your own or even adjust a prescribed dose on your own. Prednisone has many side effects. Those who must use it have to be watched carefully so that the side effects can be kept at a minimum. But please read on.

If you have been taking prednisone for some time, you cannot suddenly stop taking it. You must see a doctor and explain things to him first. If you stop use of prednisone, there is danger of a temporary deficiency of the body's own production of that steroid. Using prednisone, you may have turned off the body's natural production. It takes a while for this to come back on its own.

My advice is, first, to find out if you need prednisone, and, second, if so, how often and for how long. Your letter haunts me with unanswered questions. You don't seem to be consulting any doctor. Is your prednisone prescribed? If not, where in the world are you getting it? Please write and set my mind at ease, will you?

Dear Dr. Donohue: In 1970 I had a radioactive cocktail for an overactive thyroid gland. The result was that I came out slightly underactive and have had to take Synthroid since. What would happen if I stopped taking the medicine? It is such a small amount (0.2 milligrams). Would stopping have any effect on me? — H.W.

Yes, it certainly would have an effect. Don't stop taking it. That is not a small amount. The 0.2 milligrams is, in fact, considered full replacement dosage of a person's need for the thyroid hormone. The reason for giving the radioactive cocktail is often to completely stop thyroid hormone production. Why? Because if you don't put the gland out of the production business totally, you don't know if it will again become overproductive hyper.

From the time of your radioactive cocktail, then, you have been in need of the medicine by mouth. If you stop you will become hypothyroid, meaning you will be deficient in the hormone. The signs of it would include sluggishness, skin dryness and puffiness.

If your reason to want to stop the medicine involves unpleasant symptoms, return to the prescribing doctor, who may want to adjust your dosage. But don't stop it or reduce it on your own. If you need further reading on the subject, see the booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works For You." For a copy, write me care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it true that estrogen therapy, as that given some women for menopause symptoms, also helps prevent bone deterioration? Would the amount the doctor gives me for the menopause discomfort help keep my bones in better shape? — Mrs. G.J.

It is now thought that the great amount of osteoporosis found in postmenopausal women is related to their loss of estrogen production. Where appropriate, some doctors are now urging small amounts of estrogen as a preventative. The amount a woman is temporarily getting for immediate menopause symptoms (hot flashes, sweating, etc.) would not be sufficient to have the long-range, bone-strengthening effects as well.

Unfortunately, not all women can or should be on estrogen therapy for long periods. This matter is for the doctor to decide based on the individual woman's history.

Tips on "How to Stop Smoking" is a booklet that will help you give up the habit. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Debbie Hamilton writes:

"Before I started the program, I weighed 180 pounds and was wearing a very tight 14. My doctor told me to lose weight because I had high blood pressure that was causing me to have headaches... Now I understand about my body and how to take care of it through proper nutrition and with the help of the Symmetricon.

I have lost 51 pounds and 49 1/2 inches and am now wearing a size 9. The headaches are gone, the weight is off and I have never felt better in my life..."

COMPLETE STOCK MARKET ANALYSIS

Mart Posts Small Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Led by declining oil and precious metals issues, the stock market posted a small loss Monday in relatively slow trading activity.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, down more than 5 points at mid-session, staged a weak rally to finish the day off 1.28 at 938.91, marking the sixth straight loss session. Last week the market gave up 33.10 points.

Volume on the Big Board was 35.38 million shares, down from 37.22 million on Friday. Losers outnumbered gainers by a 9-5 margin.

The market has been dampened by uncertainty over the future course of interest rates and some investor anxiety over the development of President Reagan's economic package.

Investors are taking a wait-and-see attitude in the absence of news about the "nuts and bolts" of Reagan's economic package, said Larry Wachtel, an analyst at Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc.

On Friday, Reagan rounded out his economic team by naming Murray Weidenbaum, a Washington University professor, as chairman of the White House Council of Economic Advisors.

NEW YORK (AP) — Monday's national prices for New York Stock Exchange issues as of NYSE close. Prices and volume of outstanding securities also traded on other markets.

Valuables Taken From City Home

A set of silverware and a movie projector, valued at $3,000, were stolen Sunday night or Monday morning from the 5508 12th St. home of H.C. McRaney, police said.

Mrs. McRaney told police she discovered the burglary at 10:30 a.m. Monday when she noticed two silver knives out of place inside the home. Two more knives were found on the back porch, and the back door had been unlocked, reports show.

Police took fingerprints from a bowl in the house, but no signs of forced entry were found. Mrs. McRaney told officers the break-in occurred after 5 p.m. Sunday.

In other activity, vandals caused an estimated $2,000 damage to the drive-in banking system at the First National Bank's drive-in facility at Main Street and Avenue Q, police said.

The remote transmitter, the vacuum tube mechanism at each drive-in lane, had been torn loose from the system, reports show. Police believe a crow bar or similar tool was used to damage the device.

Pearl Herman, assistant vice president of the bank, told police the damage occurred between noon Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Equipment worth $1,775 was stolen during the weekend from Ronnie Zahn Paving, 1501 Vanda Ave., reports show.

A battery charger, a portable blow torch and assorted tools were stolen from the tool room at the business between 2:30 p.m. Saturday and 7:20 a.m. Monday, owner Ronnie Zahn told police.

The intruders apparently scaled a chain-link fence and pried open the door to the shop area, reports show.

Lisa Ann Vela, 18, of 1819 E. Auburn St. told police a 17-year-old woman assaulted her Friday afternoon in the 400-block of North Quirt Avenue.

Miss Vela said the other teen-ager hit her and scratched her face about 3:30 p.m. Friday because she thought Miss Vela had made a derogatory remark about her.

The victim was treated at Methodist Hospital for minor injuries. The incident was not reported to police until Monday, reports show.

A 15-year-old boy was taken into custody after he allegedly burglarized and ransacked Mackenzie Junior High School, 5402 12th St., shortly after midnight Monday.

Police responding to an alarm said they spotted the boy climbing down from the school's roof. The youth attempted to run, but stopped immediately after the officers ordered him to halt, according to reports.

Officers said that inside the school they found that the hallways, teachers lounge and bathrooms had been sprayed with a fire extinguisher. An alarm device had been pulled off the wall, an exit sign torn from the ceiling, office machinery knocked over and several lockers opened, investigators said.

School officials said the damage would run about $200. Entry apparently was made through an unlocked west entrance, reports showed. The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary and criminal mischief.

In other activity, an early morning altercation resulted in the breaking of several house and car windows and the arrest of three Lubbock men.

A 24-year-old woman told police she had gone to a party with two of the suspects earlier in the night and that they had shattered several windows while she was with them.

The woman said she drove to a Dartmouth Street residence about 3:25 a.m. and got into a fight with one of the men when he hit her. Reports state the victim ran into the house and was held by another man wielding a shotgun.

The gunman, police said, fired a shot in the air after a third man told him not to shoot the woman.

The woman said she ran to 3004 Dartmouth St. home of Eustalio Valerio and Henry Romero, seeking protection from the three suspects. Valerio and Romero said they refused to let the suspects see the frightened woman, prompting the trio to break a front door window and Romero's car window.

When police arrived, one of the suspects was arrested for alleged public intoxication after he was seen attempting to climb a backyard fence. Another man was taken into custody after he reportedly threatened to shoot the officers if they did not leave.

The third man was arrested while he argued with the woman.

A 20-year-old Oklahoma man, arrested about 6:30 p.m. Sunday for alleged intoxication, escaped from a Lubbock police officer, but was later apprehended after he was seen walking past a theater with his hands cuffed.

The man first attempted to convince officers he was fixing a flat on his car after witnesses said he had rammed his vehicle into a pole at Brownfield Road and Eringlewood Avenue. After that failed, the suspect told police he did not have a driver's license because one was not needed in Oklahoma.

Knowing that driver's licenses are required in every state, and recognizing the man was drunk, an officer handcuffed the suspect and locked him in the back of his patrol car.

Reports state the arresting officer then left his unit and went into a nearby business to question several witnesses to the collision. Police said the suspect unlocked one of the car doors and fled south into an alley.

Police were unable to locate the man in the area. But the suspect, still handcuffed, was seen walking past the Fox Four Theater, 4215 19th St., and was recaptured minutes later at 19th Street and Indiana Avenue.

A car containing 14 females was stopped by police in Mackenzie State Park about 5:40 p.m. Sunday, and two of the occupants, the 31-year-old driver and a 14-year-old girl, were subsequently arrested on suspicion of unlawfully carrying weapons.

Officers said they confiscated from the vehicle several makeshift weapons, including a chain with handles, part of a pool stick wrapped with electrical tape and wide leather belts with heavy buckles. The girl reportedly admitted owning the chain and the driver said the cue stick was hers.

The suspects' vehicle was seen leaving the site of a fight between two groups of females at the park, reports state.

Robert Hernandez Aguilera of 103 N. Ave. U told police his house was burglarized about 6 p.m. Sunday and 2 a.m. today, resulting in the loss of 500 silver dollars and a Home Box Office television accessory.

Anita Louise Turner of Lubbock told police she lost about $1,000 in property, including a television set, bed, clocks and watches, when her residence was broken into between Friday and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Lee Bufus of 1920 21st St. said he lost $1,100 in stereo equipment when his place was burglarized between 8 p.m. Sunday and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Police Hunting Teen-Age Church Service Robber

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Police were hunting Monday for a teen-age robber who stole $170 in cash and $1,500 in valuables during a church worship service.

The Rev. Vernon Cooper, pastor of Evangelistic Deliverance Church, told police the youthful gunman came up the church's center aisle just after service started at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, carrying a handgun in his right hand and a plastic trash can in his left.

Witnesses told police the suspect walked out of a restroom in the club and stabbed Ramirez in the back with a pocket knife.

Police said the men then struggled, and the assailant was knocked unconscious when struck on the head with a pool stick. The knife-wielding man was carried from the club on a stretcher, but Ramirez walked to an EMS ambulance.

Ramirez also suffered minor stab wounds to the left forearm during the scuffle.

Clyde Young

Mary Young

Private family services for Clyde McClellan Young, 95, and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, 92, of Lubbock were at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Sanders Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Preston James, pastor of Oakwood United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Maplewood Cemetery in Rantoul, Ill. Local arrangements were handled by Sanders Funeral Home.

Young died at 10:45 p.m. Thursday at a local nursing home after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Young died at 6:32 p.m. Saturday at a local nursing home after a brief illness.

Young was a native of Elizabeth, W.Va., and moved to Champaign County, Ill., in 1905. He taught school in Illinois for 30 years and also taught at Chanute Air Force Base in Rantoul, Ill., during World War II. Young was a member of First United Methodist Church and Western Star Lodge 240, both in Champaign.

Young married the former Mary Elizabeth Lawrence Aug. 10, 1916, in Gifford, Ill. The couple moved to Lubbock in 1978 from Champaign.

Mrs. Young was a native of Rantoul and taught school in Illinois eight years.

The couple's survivors include three sons, Lawrence A. of Lubbock, Maurice A. of Farmington Hills, Mich., and Charles L. of Winston-Salem, N.C.; 14 grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren.

High Bench Okays Court TV, Photos

WASHINGTON (AP) — States are free to allow radio, television and still-photography coverage of criminal trials even when defendants object, a unanimous Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The court said such broadcast and photographic coverage does not automatically interfere with a defendant's right to a fair trial.

"An absolute constitutional ban on broadcast coverage of trials cannot be justified simply because there is a danger that, in some cases, prejudicial broadcast accounts of pretrial and trial events may impair the ability of jurors to decide the issue of guilt or innocence uninfluenced by extraneous matter," Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said.

The decision, while a momentous victory for the news media, did not extend any new "right of access." Instead, Burger's opinion emphasized that "states must be free to experiment" with photo and broadcast coverage.

More than half the states have decided, on either a permanent or an experimental basis, to allow some camera and microphone coverage of court proceedings. Not all these states, however, have allowed coverage of criminal trials over a defendant's objection.

Left unanswered by Monday's ruling in a Florida case is whether those states that allow such access only with the consent of all participants — or those states that flatly ban broadcast and photographic coverage — have any constitutional duty to provide such access.

Last July in a case from Richmond, Va., the Supreme Court ruled that the public and the news media — at least reporters — have a First Amendment right to attend criminal trials over a defendant's objections.

More Cases Likely

Now that the court has ruled that the presence of cameras and microphones does not automatically taint a fair trial, it appears inevitable that state policies not allowing the same criminal trial access as Florida will come under constitutional attack. Many states and the federal courts still adhere to a longstanding American Bar Association rule banning such coverage.

"We hope (Monday's) decision will encourage other states to follow Florida's lead," said Jack Hogan, president of the Radio Television News Director's Association.

"We are delighted by the Supreme Court's unanimous ruling," he said.

In other matters Monday, the court:

—Ruled by a 6-1 vote that the federal government can demand information from employers being investigated for alleged on-the-job discrimination and then share that information with the complaining employees.

—Agreed to decide whether a much-used federal law aimed at keeping racketeers out of legitimate businesses can also be used by federal prosecutors to attack wholly criminal gang activities.

—Agreed to decide, in a case that could significantly affect the nation's $200 billion-a-year health care industry, whether private health care companies such as Blue Cross are exempt from federal antitrust laws.

—Left intact a California ruling that bars partisan political groups from participating in non-partisan elections.

—Refused to set aside, at least for now, the official results of hotly contested elections last November in Puerto Rico.

In the cameras-in-the-courtroom ruling, Burger said a 1965 decision striking down the swindling conviction of Texas financier Billie Sol Estes did not establish that televising criminal trials is inherently unconstitutional.

Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White, in separate opinions, said they thought the 1965 ruling did establish an automatic ban but added that they favored overturning it.

Both justices voted to uphold Estes' conviction, 16 years ago.

Burger's opinion emphasized the technological advances made by the broadcasting industry since the Estes trial in 1962. It noted that judges retain the power to ensure fair trials, including the discretion to close any particular proceeding to such coverage.

TEXAN PEACE PRIZE NOMINEE

HARLINGEN (AP) — Frank Ferree, who earned the nickname "Border Angel" for his efforts to help the poor in Texas and Mexico, has been nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize for a second year in a row. Ferree, 87, was nominated too late last year to be considered for the 1980 prize, said his sponsor, Ted R. Clark, a philosophy professor at Pan American University in Edinburg. Ferree, once a surveyor in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, carried food, clothing and medical supplies to the needy for 40 years until suffering a heart attack last year. He lives here in a modest frame house.

Jurors Hear Drug Deals Testimony

phone recording equipment during a drug selling trip to Kansas. Under questioning by Montford, Clanton identified two guns he turned over to Texas Ranger Gene Kea in the district attorney's office after the trooper's shooting. Alexander gave him the pistols just a few hours after he shot the trooper, Clanton testified.

The Texas Penal Code requires that each possible death penalty case be studied individually and that before a jury can assess a sentence panelists must consider three questions.

First, jurors must decide whether the conduct of the capital defendant was committed deliberately and with the reasonable expectation that death would result. Second, the panel must determine whether there is a probability that the defendant would commit additional criminal acts of violence which would constitute a continued threat to society.

The third question is asked of the jury only if raised by the evidence; presiding judge Robert Wright has already determined that the jury will not be asked whether the conduct of the defendant in the killing of the deceased was unreasonable in response to the provocation, if any.

A jury must answer yes to both of the pertinent questions to sentence Alexander to death.

A negative answer to either of applicable questions will make a life sentence the legislatively mandated penalty for the conviction.

Finishing Monday's session at 6:30 p.m., attorneys spent the latter part of the afternoon considering the legality of the search of Alexander's house and the admissibility of evidence seized in that search.

Outside the presence of the jury, Texas Rangers, DPS officers and investigators from the district attorney's office hauled into the courtroom several burlap and plastic bags of what is expected to be identified as marijuana.

Lawmen also brought in several firearms, a television set thought to have been stolen and various items of drug paraphernalia for examination. Wright ordered that items such as the television set and shotguns were not admissible, but that all of the apparent marijuana, LSD and related paraphernalia were admissible. These items are expected to be displayed before the jury today in Taylor County's 104th District Court.

"I had lunch (Monday) with a group of Sun Oil company executives and they are lending tremendous support to the project in a financial way," Smith said. He noted that his vote in favor of the project will be based partially on the private industry support for the project as well as his own observations. staff for fingerprinting and photographing.

Keesee requested to place the pre-book room in an area originally built to house the sheriff's department radio room. He asked commissioners to leave the radio room in the old jail facility, where dispatchers would have immediate access to all records on file.

"Reluctantly Approved"

The Texas Commission on Jail Standards informed commissioners in a letter received this weekend that it had "reluctantly approved" Keesee's proposal for the pre-book room.

However, the letter stated, the proposal appears "to violate good security practices." TCJS officials noted that a prisoner going through the pre-book room procedure would be under the control of one individual at a critical time.

Keesee foresees no security problems with the pre-book plan and noted that his proposal had been discussed with a TCJS investigator earlier. "We see absolutely no problem with this," the sheriff added.

Architect Arnold Maeker said the alterations, which will chiefly involve the jail's holding area, will be made as soon as materials are received.

Gas Station Holdup Probed By Police

A black man believed to be about 35 years old and wearing an orange ski mask robbed a B and B service station at gunpoint about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

The gunman pointed a .357 caliber pistol at a 17-year-old station attendant and escaped on foot with an unknown amount of cash.

Lubbock police searched alleys and adjacent streets for the suspect but had made no arrests late Monday.

The attendant said the robber approached the self-service gas station at 2116 50th St. when there were no customers.

The gunman walked across 50th Street from the south side and approached the employee, who was in the small station office. "He just told me to give him the money and stuck the gun in my face," the visibly shaken employee said.

After he was handed the money, the robber fled on foot down an alley behind the station.

The suspect was described as 6 feet 3 inches tall, about 170 pounds, medium build, and wearing blue jeans and jacket.

AFTER VERDICT — Former Rep. Richard Kelly, right, accompanied by his attorney, Anthony Battagli, faces reporters in front of U.S. District Court in Washington Monday after the jury found him guilty on charges stemming from the Abscam investigation. GOP Solon Handed Bribe Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Richard Kelly, the only Republican member of Congress charged in the FBI's Abscam undercover operation, was convicted Monday, along with two codefendants, of taking part in a $250,000 bribery conspiracy.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated for just over 6 1/2 hours before finding the trio guilty on three charges that carried maximum prison terms of 25 years for each defendant.

Kelly vowed to appeal the verdict, saying, "The war goes on."

A Florida Republican who was defeated for re-election in a primary last year, Kelly, 56, was convicted of accepting a $25,000 bribe from an FBI agent posing as an aide to two Arab sheiks.

Kelly, who was videotaped accepting the money at a Washington townhouse Jan. 8, 1980, testified that he took the payoff only to conduct his own investigation of men he said he regarded as shady characters.

Five other members of Congress, all Democrats, also have been convicted on Abscam charges. Only one, Rep. Raymond Lederer of Pennsylvania, is still serving in the House.

Kelly's codefendants were Gino Cuzio, 49, a businessman from Longwood, Fla., and Stanley Weisz, 54, an accountant from Smithtown, N.Y. The government said they were middlemen in a $250,000 bribery scheme in which Kelly was to receive $75,000 in addition to the $25,000 he got Jan. 8, 1980.

Weisz was shown on videotape taking a $50,000 payoff from the "aide" to the fictitious Arab sheiks on Feb. 2, 1980, at a hotel at Kennedy Airport in New York. Weisz testified he regarded the money as a legal finder's fee for introducing Kelly to the supposed Arab sheiks' representatives.

Cuzio said he took part in the deal because he regarded the supposed sheik's aides as "con men" whom he was trying to outwit.

HUD Policies Questioned In Suit Over Housing

Management site. Much of Monday's testimony centered on what those factors are, what they mean, how HUD arrives at them and what procedures HUD is required to follow in evaluating them.

Mrs. Morton said she was not told by HUD that the LHA was required to accept the HUD-approved Temple proposal. She did say, however, that the board became aware after its Vivienda choice was rejected, that HUD was considering information from agencies other than the LHA.

The board was unaware, she said, of the city's objections to the Vivienda sites because of improper zoning. After adjournment, Temple attorney Hilton Howell explained the LHA criteria did not emphasize the site as much as HUD's, or zoning as much as the city's.

Criteria Omits Schools

The city's criteria, related to the Housing Assistance Plan, rates sites based on proximity to food, clothing, health care facilities and jobs. When asked why the criteria did not include schools, Howell paused, then replied, "Why? Why anything? I'm a lawyer! That's the criteria the city used."

One of the Vivienda sites, at 34th Street and Milwaukee Avenue, was rejected by HUD as being too remote from necessary facilities. Former HUD multifamily representative Roman Palomares said the remoteness was a judgment call, noting there was no specific mileage definition.

Palomares said he never heard that HUD would reject sites located outside Loop 289, but admitted none were approved. The site in question, at 24th Street and Frankford Avenue, is just inside the loop on the western boundary of Lubbock Christian College.

Galey questioned Palomares intently on the significance of the HUD handbook in evaluating and preparing housing proposals. Although Howell said privately a third party cannot tell an agency it violated its own in-house manual, Palomares testified HUD does follow the handbook's guidelines.

Galey contends the manual is legally binding. Howell maintains only HUD regulations have the force of law.

As he did Monday morning, Galey again brought up the absence in the Temple proposal of a map showing the relationship of the project site to the nearest schools.

"If the handbook says you're supposed to show such a map, you do it?" he asked.

"Yes," Palomares answered.

Distance Not Mentioned

"And nothing on the map submitted shows the distance to the Frenship schools?" Galey continued.

"No, it shows the schools in the neighborhood," Palomares replied.

"The map doesn't show the relationship to the schools the children who will live in the project will attend?" Galey pressed.

After a pause Palomares said, "I didn't scrutinize it to that degree." When he mentioned the school district's favorable comments in its Dec. 20, 1979, letter, Woodward interrupted asking him if he meant the one in which the trustees said a sudden influx of students would be a hardship on the district.

Palomares said yes, adding there were also some comments in the letter about the district floating some bonds for school improvements.

"Okay," the judge said, "I just wanted to make sure we were talking about the same letter."

Frenship claims the project could house as many as 300 children, which would overburden its already crowded classrooms. Fair testified the maximum potential school-age children figure would be around 230. HUD estimates the total at between 100 and 150.

Defense attorneys said they hope to present their case today, but Galey said testimony could be interrupted by another trial Wednesday and then conclude Thursday.

Pay Raise Passed By Texas Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators passed the 67th Legislature's first bill Monday, a 6.8 percent emergency pay raise for state employees.

If the measure can be pushed through the House this week in time for the Feb. 1 payroll, the total cost until the state's next business period begins Aug. 31 would be $110.3 million.

The measure calls for a minimum $50 monthly raise for employees in lower ranks.

Efforts backed mostly by Senate Republicans to cut the pay raise to 5.1 percent and costing only $96.3 million failed 20-7.

Sen. John Leedom, Dallas Republican, and others argued that Bill Clements, who originally proposed a 3.4 percent raise, would be more likely to accept the 5.1 percent.

Later, most of the Republicans joined with Democrats in giving final approval 25-2. Another bill giving authority to appropriate the money needed for pay increases was approved 27-1.

The House Appropriations Committee has a public hearing scheduled on the 6.8 percent proposal this afternoon.

"My bill is a compromise," said Sen. Lloyd Dockett, D-Austin, author. "Statistics show that the actual cost of living increase for our employees is 7.8 percent just to keep up with inflation."

"This is false economy," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, about Leedom's 5.1 percent amendment. "The state has become a training ground for private industry just because we have chiseled a little bit here and there from our state employees."

"Money alone will not attract employees," Leedom said.

Speaker Bill Clayton said last week he believed Clements would accept a 5.1 percent increase, although he once said he would veto any pay raise over his recommended 3.4 percent.

"I have found from the governor's stand on the employees raise that he is always a man of his most recent word," Doggett said later.

Those voting against the 6.8 percent raise on final passage were Leedom and Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston.

Oil Company Presents $50,000 To Tech College Of Engineering

A gift of $50,000 was presented by Sun Co. Inc. Monday to the Texas Tech University College of Engineering as the first installment of a $150,000 commitment to endow a professorship in the petroleum engineering department.

Texas Tech President Lauro F. Cavazos accepted the donation from Bennie L. Franks, president of Sun Texas Co. in Dallas.

Also present were engineering dean John R. Bradford and James T. Smith, chairman of the petroleum engineering department.

"We in petroleum engineering are competing in the highest salary marketing in the nation," Smith said. "There is no way for us to stay competitive using just state monies. This gift will help us catch up."

The balance of the Sun Co. pledge will be paid over five years.

Sun Co. officials participating in the presentation were: from Sun Gas Co., Harry Allen, district engineering manager, Houston offshore, and Don J. Van Orden, chief project engineer, Dallas; from Sunmark Exploration Co., Lonnie Land, director of Human resources and communications, Dallas; from Sun Production Co., Don C. Brown, chief production engineer, Dallas, and Charles Haberthur, project engineering manager, Shreveport; and from Sun Texas Co., Franks and Joe Womack, regional production manager, Midland.

Texas Tech's Petroleum Engineering Department had a fall enrollment of 450 students. The department has four faculty members.

Texas Tech has the only petroleum engineering department in the Permian Basin region, one of the nation's major producers of oil and gas.

Reese Man Awarded Best Adviser Honor

Senior Master Sgt. William C. Schwartz of the 1950th Communications Squadron is the 1980 best unit career adviser at Reese Air Force Base.

His efforts in promoting the Air Force as a career and his strong retention program improved reenlistment rates over the 1979 figures.

He was cited for keeping abreast with and insuring that all squadron members were briefed on all policies and programs affecting the U.S.A.F. retention program.

Moslem Summit Chiefs Focus On Israel, PLO

TAIF, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Leaders of the Moslem world Monday took up a resolution aimed at forcing Israel to end its occupation of Arab territory and to beef up the military strength of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

A draft copy of the resolution by Islamic foreign ministers presented on the second day of the summit was obtained by The Associated Press.

The resolution's strategy was to pressure Israel's friends into forcing the Jewish state to give up Arab land occupied during the 1967 Mideast War. It spoke of "freezing" Israeli membership in the United Nations, but did not elaborate on what measures might be tried short of attempting to expel Israel from from the world body — an action that would face a U.S. veto.

"Islamic states would use all their military, political, economic and natural resources — including oil — as an effective means for upholding the natural, inalienable rights of the Palestinian people," said the document.

If approved by the 28 heads of state and top-level representatives from nine other Arab, African and Asian nations, the Islamic states would pledge to give "military expertise and equipment" to Yasser Arafat's PLO.

Saudi Crown Prince Fhad, presiding over the summit's second working session, criticized the United States for supporting Israel, which he described as a "strange entity within the Arab region." But he also urged Moscow to "withdraw your forces immediately from Islamic Afghanistan."

Your Personal Biorhythms

by Bernard Gittelson

For your own permanent biorhythm number for the Physical (P), Emotional (E), and Intellectual (I) cycles, just follow these steps:

STEP 1	YEAR OF BIRTH	P	E	I
STEP 2	A-B MONTH OF BIRTH
STEP 3	DAY OF BIRTH
TOTALS

BIORHYTHMS FOR JAN. 27, 1981

PHYSICAL:
Cycles: 1, 13, 24, 36, 47, 58, 70. Can't top over things. Day for hard physical work. May feel spent.
Highs: 14, 25, 37, 49, 60-69. Low: 2, 12, 25, 36, 48, 58, 71, 75.

EMOTIONAL:
Cycles: 3, 17, 31, 45, 59, 73. Not at your best. Careful. Good for meeting people. Go easy, gum day.
Highs: 2, 12, 25, 36, 48, 58, 71, 75. Low: 4, 16, 32, 48, 64, 80, 96.

INTELLECTUAL:
Cycles: 9, 24, 41, 57, 74, 90. Brain & logic. Strong mental faculties. Ponder all decisions.
Highs: 8, 23, 42, 56, 75, 89. Low: 1, 7, 25, 40, 56, 73, 91, 95.

YOUR PERMANENT NUMBERS

Step 1 — Year of birth. Read down the left hand column to find the last number in the year of your birth then go across to the appropriate decade. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B; this will be used for Step 2.

1910-19	1920-29	1930-39	1940-49	1950-59	1960-69	1970-79
P 21	P 11	P 24	A 22	A 14	B 17	B 3
E 17	E 7	E 24	A 19	A 10	B 13	B 28

P 21	P 11	P 24	A 22	A 14	B 17	B 3
E 17	E 7	E 24	A 19	A 10	B 13	B 28
I 19	I 9	I 27	A 19	A 10	B 13	B 28
P 21	P 11	P 24	A 22	A 14	B 17	B 3
E 17	E 7	E 24	A 19	A 10	B 13	B 28
I 19	I 9	I 27	A 19	A 10	B 13	B 28

Step 2 — Month of birth. Find the corresponding numbers for the month you were born. If your month is February, and your year numbers were preceded by a B, your month numbers would be 8 for Physical, 3 for Emotional and 31 for Intellectual. Enter your own numbers in the figure chart for Step 2.

Jan	Feb	March	April	May	June	July	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec

District Judge Confirmed In Plainview

By BUDDY BAKER

A-J Correspondent
PLAINVIEW — District Attorney Marvin Marshall was confirmed Monday as 242nd District Judge by the state senate in Austin. He will replace the man with whom he competed for the job when the court was created more than three years ago.

A spokesman for State Sen. Ray Farabee's office said Marshall was approved by the full senate late Monday morning after his nomination was approved late last week by the Senate Nominations Committee. He was named to the post Dec. 19, 1980, by Gov. Bill Clements.

Marshall, who has been district attorney for Hale and Swisher counties for the past five years, is scheduled to be sworn in at 4:30 p.m. today by 64th District Judge John T. Boyd.

Marshall and local attorney Van Stovall both expressed interest in the judgeship when the judicial district was created in 1977. Stovall was named to the position, but resigned effective Jan. 15 for family health reasons.

Selection of a district attorney to replace Marshall was still pending in Clements' office late Monday afternoon, Farabee's representative said, but an announcement on the nominee was expected today or Wednesday.

County Attorney Ron Felty and local attorney Keith Lemons have said they are interested in the position. Another local attorney, Richard Moore, also has been mentioned for the post.

Marshall's confirmation effectively left Hale and Swisher counties without a prosecutor. Assistant District Attorney Al Hernandez and investigator Maxey Scott were automatically terminated because, Marshall said, they had been appointed by him and could act only with his authority.

Marshall said Hernandez could be appointed as a special prosecutor until a new district attorney could be confirmed. He indicated he may make that appointment himself after being sworn in.

Hernandez was hired two months ago. Marshall is a 1971 graduate of Texas Tech University School of Law.

Labor Party Rebellion Gains Momentum

LONDON (AP) — The rebellion within Britain's opposition Labor Party gained momentum Monday when nine Labor members of Parliament declared their support for party right-wingers trying to form a new centrist political organization.

The rift in the opposition increased the ruling Conservatives' chances of remaining in office for some time despite displeasure over high unemployment and the state of the economy.

Former deputy Labor leader Roy Jenkins and three former Labor Cabinet ministers on Sunday announced formation of a Council for Social Democracy, setting the stage for a formal breakaway.

Predictions abounded Monday that the rebels would announce formation of a new Social Democratic Party styled along the lines of those parties in Western Europe.

Joining Jenkins in announcing the council's formation were former Foreign Secretary David Owen, former Education Secretary Shirley Williams and former Defense Minister William Rodgers. Owen and Rodgers are members of Parliament.

After a Monday morning meeting in Owen's office, the nine disaffected Laborites issued a brief statement saying, "We shall campaign individually and collectively inside and outside Parliament for the cause of social democracy."

Said Owen, "I recognize that this is a risk but to win all, you have got to be prepared to risk all."

The formation of a new party to take the middle road between the Conservatives and Labor would be the biggest political shakeup in Britain since Labor's emergence as a major political force in 1922.

The platform outlined by the council Sunday called for a mixed economy, a welfare state "without stifling enterprise" and a strong British role internationally in both the Common Market and NATO.

At the annual Labor Party conference in Blackpool last autumn, where union leaders controlled nearly 90 percent of the votes, left-wingers pushed through resolutions calling for unilateral disarmament, withdrawal from the Common Market and widespread nationalization.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning can bring some problems you do not need, but the afternoon finds you able to overcome obstacles easily. Listen closely to suggestions made by close ties.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Avoid calling on a difficult person early in the day. Be alert to carelessness on the part of others. Use good judgment.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A financial matter needs more study before making a definite decision. Make this a most worthwhile day.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show others that you have poise if some unusual situation comes up today. Be sure not to lose your temper with anyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A private matter could be upsetting early in the day, but later everything works out to your advantage.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get rid of whatever is not practical in the morning and later you can be happy with your friends. Relax at home tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can take care of an important home matter early in the day and later expand where your career is concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid changing present arrangement at work until you have first studied it well. Plan how to gain your finest aims.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find a much better way of carrying through with agreements you have made with others. Strive to be more successful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Steer clear of an irate associate in the morning and later all will straighten out. Safeguard your reputation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use extreme care in handling all work ahead of you and avoid possible trouble. Plan how to gain your finest aims.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Doing something special for persons you really like brings excellent results at this time. Express happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Avoid arguments at home early in the day and later there will be real harmony. Make long-range plans for the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those capable young persons who can get at the core of a situation and then know how best to handle it. Be sure to give chores early in life that could pave the way to success later. Give fine spiritual training.

Flores Hopes Raiders Stay In Oakland

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coach Tom Flores, savoring his team's Super Bowl victory, made it clear Monday he would prefer it if he and the Raiders remained in Oakland.

Oakland managing general partner Al Davis, at odds with National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle, is suing the NFL in an attempt to move the franchise to Los Angeles without the other owners' permission. It would be a move Flores would make with regret.

"I've been an Oakland Raider since 1960, with a leave of absence for a few years someplace else (1967-71 in Buffalo and Kansas City as a player and coach)," he replied when someone asked where he'd prefer to be in 1981. "I was the first Oakland Raider quarterback. So you're asking the wrong guy. But I have no choice and if Al were to move the club, then I'd go to L.A."

Flores didn't get to sleep until 3 a.m., more than six hours after the Raiders' 27-10 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles before 75,500 fans in the Superdome. And less than three hours after that, he was back in the dome, doing a television show.

"When you're there and there's only six or seven people sitting there in that big stadium and just a few hours before that you've had one of your best moments in life, it's really a strange feeling. "It was a lonely feeling, but it was a very warm, happy feeling," he said, "because you know that's where it happened."

It happened to Flores and the Raiders in part because they were not side-tracked by the Davis-Rozelle feud.

"Those things have never really been a part of our team and coaching staff," Flores said. "We never would allow it and Al would never allow anything like that to interfere with our preparation for a game."

Going with Jim Plunkett and Ted Hendricks as well as ignoring the Davis-Rozelle dispute, enabled the Raiders to cruise through their remarkable season, Flores said.

Plunkett, the game's Most Valuable Player, threw three touchdown passes, for 2 and 29 yards to Cliff Branch and a Super Bowl-record 80-yarder to Kenny King. After the game, Branch called the quarterback "the leader we didn't have when Dan Pastorini was in there."

And on Monday, Flores acknowledged that, even before Pastorini suffered a broken leg in the fifth game of the year, he was thinking about going with Plunkett.

"There was a point where I was considering possibly making a change," Flores said. "Dan was having some problems. He was really pressing. There was a lot of pressure on Dan 'cause he had come into a situation of replacing a legend in Oakland — Kenny Stabler — and everybody was expecting him to come up with the big play. And I think Dan was trying to."

"But you don't learn a new system right away, and he was having a few problems moving the ball. So there were a few times when I was contemplating not just making a change, but using Jim more."

"Dan worked hard at trying to be a leader, but Jim had been with us and they knew him better and he knew the system better and I think in that respect leadership comes from experience and the knowledge of what you're doing. And Dan was not as knowledgeable within our system as Jim was."

Defensively, Flores said, leaving Hendricks in on every down turned things around for the Raiders in 1980.

"The year before we were taking him out on passing downs. This year we left him in all the time and utilized his pass-rushing abilities. He's just a dominating player. He makes things happen. He blocks punts, knocks down passes. See FLORES Page 3

Ponies Dump Tech 58-48

By CHUCK McDONALD
Assistant Sports Editor

Mama said there would be nights like this, but, goodness gracious, she never said they'd come against SMU.

The SMU Mustangs, packing an awesome 6-11 season record in their saddlebags, rode into town and knocked off the rapidly sinking Texas Tech basketball team by a 58-48 count during Southwest Conference action Monday night in the Municipal Coliseum.

So now it's official. The Red Raider slump (Tech's losing streak was extended to four straight courtesy of the Mustangs) is no longer merely a road sickness. The affliction has spread to the Coliseum where Tech is now 8-1.

How, you ask, does a team fresh off a humiliating homecourt loss to the Rice Owls: a team that once fell to Rollins (yes, that's a college); a team that was 2-5 in SWC play prior to Monday's victory, manage to snap Tech's undefeated string in the Coliseum?

Take a glance at these statistics and wonder no more:

- Tech's leading scorer, Jeff Taylor, was six of 18 from the field.
- Freshman Bubba Jennings was an all-too-human five of 14.
- Tech's third guard, Steve Smith, was three of nine.

• Add it up. The numbers say that the Raiders starting backcourt hit 14 of 41 efforts in the game. The SWC has done a lot of strange things to the game of basketball this year, but the object is still to drop the ball through the hole.

• The Raiders inside men, Clarence Swannegan and Ben Hill, did alright when they got the ball, but those were rare occasions. Those two combined to hit five of 10 efforts from the field.

• As a team, the now 3-4 in league play and 9-8 overall Raiders, made good on 23 of 62 efforts.

SMU shot the ball only 36 times (as the Raiders owned a 37-24 advantage on the boards) but the Mustangs managed to hit 19 of those (52.8 percent).

In spite of all that, the Raiders were still in control midway through the second half when SMU outscored Tech 21-7 in the final 9:17 of play.

Tech, which had led 24-20 at the conclusion of a lopsided first half, went up by four, 41-37 on a Taylor layin with 9:18 to go. But the Raiders, who were pressing SMU all the way, saw the strategy backfire as the Ponies consistently broke the Tech press for easy buckets on the other end.

SMU, which had never led, finally tied the game at 41-41 on a pair of David Gadis free throws at the 8:26 mark.

Gadis would set up permanent shop at the charity stripe thereafter, hitting 12 of 15 attempts to finish as the game's leading scorer with 18 points.

It took awhile for the Mustangs to finally go ahead but they did at the 6:04 mark when sophomore Dave Piehler, who also had 14 for SMU, hit from way out. Slowly, SMU stretched that lead and with 5:05 to play, Tech's Ralph Brewster was assessed a technical foul for kicking SMU's Johnnie James. The Gadis free throw made it 45-41 and on the inbounds play the freshman guard drove in for an easy layup.

That made it 47-41 and, although SMU tried to oblige by missing several free throws down the stretch, Tech never challenged.

"The whole turning point came with about eight minutes left and we kept pressing the ball," said Tech coach Gerald Myers. "They were able to get through and break the press."

"They controlled the ball and had a lot of patience," added Myers. "SMU played a fine game and kept their poise."

What went unsaid, of course, is that the Raiders did not.

"We were just too impatient," said Myers. "And we took too many bad shots trying to get back into the game instead of being patient."

The Raiders went nearly five minutes stuck on 41 points, from 9:18 until 4:25 when Swannegan hit a short jumper. That made it 47-43 but didn't help the Raider cause.

Because, while SMU was hitting 11 of 16 free throws in the final moments (mercifully allowing Taylor and Smith to foul out) the Raiders could muster only five points.

As disappointed as Myers was, SMU's Dave Bliss was equally exuberant.

"With about 20 seconds to go I asked the team, 'what's going on? Let the coaches in on this,'" said a happy Bliss. "We just played a great second half."

"I'm not so sure that it didn't take more to come back after that Rice game than any game I've ever been around," he added. "That game is history now but for two days it was hell."

The Raiders may know the feeling.

And things don't get any better. Wednesday night Tech must face Arkansas in Fayetteville and on Saturday the Raiders host the league-leading Houston Cougars.

"Maybe we caught 'em looking ahead to Arkansas," noted Bliss. "They weren't able to get much out of Swannegan and we think he's one of the better post men around."

While Tech didn't get much out of its inside attack: six points from Hill, six from Swannegan and another six from Brewster, the SMU inside game was equally anemic.

Center Johnnie James hit one of six efforts for two points, while starting forwards Kirk Lundblade and David Eicher combined to score not a single point.

However, senior Gordon Welch came off the bench to spark the Ponies with 15 points (11 in the final half) as he was a perfect six of six from the field.

"We were determined that we weren't going to beat ourselves," said Welch. "We wanted them to beat us with 20 footers, not layups."

Tech of course, did neither.

The Raiders did manage to go up 24-20 at the half as Brewster got his second dunk shot of the half as the buzzer expired.

Tech took command early, going up 12-4 at the 11:45 mark as Smith hit three straight jumpers. But Smith would not sink another shot on the night and SMU finally knotted the score at 20-20 on a Piehler bomb. Unanswered buckets by Swannegan and Brewster left Tech with its narrow halftime margin.

Monterey, Plainview Girls Tip Off In Showdown

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

For the first time this year, The Gay Hemphill Show rolls into Lubbock — maybe.

The supremely-talented Miss Hemphill, who is certainly the best big girl in West Texas and quite possibly in the state, has been averaging 24.6 points and 10.5 rebounds a contest and is the main reason the Plainview girls stand 20-6 on the year.

But the 6-0 senior star missed Friday night's game with Lubbock High due to a severe case of tonsillitis.

Even though her Bulldog teammates romped to a 58-34 win over LHS, nobody in their right minds would mistake tonight's opponent — Monterey — for the Westerners.

Tonight Plainview will need their bread and butter — and maybe more than a little jam.

"I don't know whether she'll be able to play or not," said Bulldog coach Melynn Hunt. "It'll be touchy, we'll have to wait until game time to know for sure.

"I don't know what we'll do if she can't. She's got to play if we're going to have a shot at them; she's our size. Our next tallest is 5-7."

"We'll certainly be hurt badly on the boards — as well as in our scoring. I just don't know what we'll do if we can't use her."

The Plainmen's Tim Tasker, on the other hand, isn't worried. He says the whole thing smells like a smoke screen and he's not going to fall for it.

"Oh yeah, she'll be there, she'll play," he said. "She (Mrs. Hunt) said she might not play, huh, that's not what I heard. I heard that she wasn't that sick Friday night and that they were just saving her."

"Anyway, I'm sure not approaching the game like she's not going to play. I'm not even going to tell my kids about it. There may not be anything to it."

Granting that Miss Hemphill will play, Tasker is faced with the task that has perplexed every other coach in the district for the last three years — how to defense her.

"We certainly haven't done very well in the past against Gay," Tasker said. "I think she's averaging about 30 a game against us."

"There's two ways you can defend her," Tasker said. "You can double team Gay and let the others get a few more points than they should, or you can concentrate on the others and let Gay get her 35. I don't know which to do."

The main reason Miss Hemphill does so well against Monterey isn't because of Tasker's indecision. Rather, the hustling full-court press employed by the Plainmen — the very weapon that unnerves other teams — plays right into Miss Hemphill's strong suit.

"For sure, when Gay gets the ball at halfcourt or gets the ball before then, she does better," said Tasker. "She's better playing a full court game and that's why what's killing us — she's always gotten more than 30 against us."

But before Tasker sits up nights plotting to undo Plainview, he has to get his own house in order. Only a clutch stretch run saved the Plainmen against Hereford and Friday night against Coronado, MHS survived mainly on just one quarter's play.

"The kids just haven't played real consistent basketball," said Tasker. "We'll get a couple of quarters here and there and that's been enough to win."

"We've got to come up with four good quarters against Plainview and I really believe we can. When the pressure is on, I really believe we can."

"I believe when we're on top of our game, good things will happen to us. But nobody's going to win it by more than five or 10 points and to win by 10 somebody's going to have to be real fortunate. Somebody's going to have to play real well."

The Plainmen are led, of course, by the Ethridge sisters, Kriss and Kamie. As gifted a pair of front-court players as there are anywhere, both are lighting up the scoreboards for a combined average of 35 points a night, almost half of their team's total output.

But that can be a problem as well as a blessing.

"The most recent time we've been at the top of our game was the Coronado game in the Abilene tournament (a game they won by 40) and against Amarillo High just before district started (a 77-63 win against a 15-6 club).

And to top things off, Tasker said he had talked with Kriss Ethridge Monday morning and "she sounded just like a dirty old man — she's got the same thing (tonsillitis) Gay Hemphill had."

But Tasker was quick to add that Kriss will be in the lineup tonight. "It'll take something like a broken leg to keep someone out of the Plainview-Monterey game," he said.

Interestingly, Tasker doesn't consider his team's performance in the Queens Classic, a tournament in which they defeated three defending state champions including No. 1-rated Dallas South Oak Cliff, among his club's better efforts.

"We really didn't play that well, we didn't shoot a good percentage and we just didn't play good team basketball.

That was more like two-on-five."

In the boys' half of the tilt, the 19-6 Monterey bunch will host 11-13 Plainview. Both teams are coming off opening-game victories, Monterey's a 42-40 double-overtime over Coronado and Plainview's a 74-65 win over Lubbock High.

In the other district games, Coronado travels north to Hereford. The Mustang boys will try to recover from that heart-stopping loss Friday night and they couldn't pick a better club to do it against. Hereford has been having its problems this year and stands 3-18 to the Ponies' 11-13 mark.

In the girls' contest, the reverse is true. Hereford, which blew a seven-point fourth-period lead to lose to Monterey 34-49, stands 20-2 on the year (one of three 20-game winners already in the girls' ranks in District 45A). Coronado, after losses to Plainview and Monterey, stands 11-11 on the year and 1-2 in district.

The girls' games will begin at approximately 6 p.m. and the boys' contests will follow immediately.

Mats, Panthers Look For Wins

By RAY GLASS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The Dunbar and Estacado girls' teams begin the second half of their district schedules tonight while their male counterparts battle to stay in the 1-4A race as it moves into its fourth night of action.

The Panther and Matador girls, along with four other district teams, got a statehouse reprieve in the district rule that divides the 12-game 1-4A season into two halves.

Canyon demolished the league in the first half, rolling up a 6-0 record with only one close contest. But all seven district teams begin tonight's action with identical 0-0 records and an equal shot at the second-half crown and a playoff with the Eagles.

Dunbar, which ended the first half even at 3-3, plays host to Dumas (4-2) at 6 p.m. in the Panther gym. Estacado (1-5) begins the final half of the schedule on the road, traveling to Levelland (5-1) for a 6 p.m. game.

Meanwhile, the Estacado and Dunbar boys' squads will try to bounce back from district defeats on Friday. The Matadors, tied for second with a 2-1 district mark, meet Levelland, also 2-1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lobo gym. Dunbar, 0-3, plays host to Dumas, 0-2, at 7:30 p.m.

The district girls' teams may all have identical records entering tonight's games, but Canyon is still clearly the team to be reckoned with. "Right now it appears to be a one-team race. It all comes down to someone has got to beat Canyon," Dunbar coach Jim Washburn said.

But at least for tonight, Washburn's Panthers will concern themselves with the Demons, who finished third in the first-half standings behind Canyon and Levelland and who defeated Dunbar 60-55 in December.

"If we play as good as we did the last time up in Dumas, we should win," Washburn said. "Dumas has a big kid (5-foot-11 post Debbie Mills) and they have some quickness outside and they're also good shooters."

Senior Tammy Taylor, a 5-9 forward, makes the Demons' offense work. She is averaging 17.7 points and 9.8 rebounds

Sul Ross Holds Off LCC Charge For 55-52 Win

ALPINE (Special) — Sul Ross overcame a seven-point halftime deficit, then staved off Lubbock Christian College opportunities to win the game twice in the final minute Monday afternoon to score a 55-52 Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association victory.

The Lobos move to 3-2 in TIAA play, 5-8 for the season, while the Chaps drop to 2-3 and 6-16.

LCC battled to a 30-23 halftime lead after breaking open a tight contest that saw the lead change hands 10 times in the opening 14 minutes.

The Chaps took the lead with 6:13 remaining in the initial period when Brian Fortner canned a six-footer to put LCC up 20-19. The Chaps built the lead up to 30-21 before Sul Ross' Ricky Enriquez took an inbounds pass with six seconds left, drove the length of the court and put in a layup at the buzzer.

Bill McGee sank the opening basket of the second half for LCC, but the Lobos charged back and scored eight straight points to slice the Chaparral lead to one, 32-31.

McGee connected twice more to boost LCC to a 36-31 lead at the 14:21 mark, but again Sul Ross charged back and again cut the lead to one at 36-35.

Once again McGee boosted the Chaps to a three-point edge, but this time the Lobos scored nine consecutive points to open a six-point lead at 44-38 with 10:03 to go.

LCC rallied again to tie the game at 48-48 on a 23-foot jumper by Bruce Carver with 5:36 remaining before the Lobos' Mike Daniels tipped in a shot and Bill Koenig hit the second end of a two-shot free throw to put the Lobos up by three at 51-48.

Fortner closed the margin to one at the 4:28 mark by connecting on both ends of a two-shot foul. Sul Ross then lapsed into a four-corner game that held the ball until the 1:09 mark, when Richard Walker fed Daniels with a pass for a layup that again gave the Lobos a three-point advantage.

With 41 seconds left, Fortner grabbed an offensive rebound and tipped it in to cut the lead to 53-52 and LCC called a time out. When Sul Ross inbounced, Larry Holt and Rick Murdock trapped Walker and forced a turnover for the Chaps.

The Chaps, however, lost their opportunity to go ahead when Bruce Carver lost the ball with 17 seconds remaining.

LCC had one more shot, though. Sul Ross inbounced and Fortner made a steal with just nine seconds left, feeding downcourt to Keith Money.

Money, however, was called for a charging foul after he loosed a shot, and Louis Lopez connected on both ends of the bonus to cap the victory.

Fortner, the only Chap in double figures, led the LCC effort with 16 points, while Carver and McGee added eight each. Fortner added 11 rebounds to his effort.

Daniels paced the Lobos with 13 points, with Lopez and Koenig scoring 10 each. R.Q. Toliver, the TIAA's leader in field-goal percentage coming into the game with a 67 per cent success rate, was held to a three-for-seven effort from the floor and seven total points, although he did lead the contest with 12 rebounds.

The Chaps will return to Lubbock for a tipoff Thursday night against Eastern New Mexico University, while Sul Ross enters ENMU tonight.

Final Area Loop Race Begins

District 2-3A's boys have held out on intra-league play long, but with tonight's tipoffs, every basketball team in the South Plains will be playing against its conference foes.

But who can blame the 2-3A boys for not playing against each other. Dimmitt, ranked fourth among the state's Class 2A teams, has run up a 24-2 non-district record, while Littlefield is 14-4.

At any rate, both teams will be in league competition tonight. Dimmitt will be on the road playing Muleshoe, 6-9, while Littlefield will travel to play winless Olton. The big showdown between the two powerhouses will be held in Littlefield Feb. 3.

There will be several big battles tonight that could loom largely as the various district seasons dribble onward.

In the 3-3A girls' race, the winner of the Childress-Abernathy clash will take over sole possession of the league leadership. Both teams are 3-0 going into the game, while Lockney and Tulia — which also play each other tonight — are tied for third just one game behind.

The Abernathy boys, defending Class 3A champs, will get their chance to play spoiler tonight when they host front-running Childress. The Antelopes suffered their first district loss to Tulia, which is one-half game behind the Bobcats, in overtime last Friday.

In another key game involving contenders, Vega and Bovina, two of the three undefeated co-leaders of District 3-2A, will go at it while Springlake-Earth, the other league representative mired in the longjam at the top, will host 1-3 Farwell.

In the girls' 3-2A standings, Springlake-Earth is also undefeated, but has first place all to itself. Farwell, 3-1, which is only one game behind the leaders, will have a chance to move into a tie tonight.

The Hale Center and Lorenzo boys will go at it to determine who will stay in the shadow of the 4-2A lead. Both teams have suffered a single loss in district play. Hale Center is 12-6 and Lorenzo has a 17-6 season record.

Over in the District 5-2A girls' race, Seagraves will travel to try to put the first blemish on first-place Friona's record. Friona is undefeated in six games against league opponents and is 17-3 this season. Seagraves is three games behind, but would love to spoil Forsan's attempt at a perfect record.

The same is true of the 5-2A boys' game between front-running Morton and middle-of-the-road Plains. The Cowboys are three games behind the undefeated and third-ranked Indians, but could salvage their season with an upset tonight.

Happy's boys, 4-1 and 11/2 games behind 5-1A leader Nazareth, will travel for its chance to knock the Swifts from its position atop the district standings tonight.

Southland's girls, 1-2 and two games out of first place, will get their chance to send District 8-1A leader Wilson down to defeat for the first time in league play when it plays on the road.

The Borden County girls, 21-1, undefeated in seven games against district foes and two games ahead of their nearest competitors 9-1A, will travel to play Klondike, which is tied with Sands for second place.

per contest while Miss Mills adds another 10 points each game.

Dunbar is led by the trio of Lisa Cavieel, Cynthia Hardaway and Marcia Holmes, who combined for 58 points in a loss Friday. Miss Cavieel leads the team in scoring, 14.8 points per game, and hauls down nine rebounds each outing. Miss Hardaway is averaging 12.6 points and 9.2 rebounds a contest while Miss Holmes is averaging 9.8 points and 8.3 boards.

The Estacado girls' squad will be trying to get back on the win track after only one win in their first six district games, which included a 54-40 loss to Brownfield in December.

The Mats must stop the Cubs' 5-10 junior Marcy Halladay, leading area 4A scorers with a 24.0 average and who hit for 30 in the clubs' last meeting.

"We're going to change our defense somewhat," Estacado coach Mary Ann Cobb said of her clubs' plans for Miss Halladay. "Hopefully our offense will be better than it has been recently. We're capable of playing better ball, we've got to be consistent. That's been our problem all year long, we've been inconsistent."

The Matadors are paced by Cassandra Mann (11 ppg) and Stephanie Peoples (11.7 rebounds per game). Miss Halladay also leads the Cubs in rebounding, averaging 13.4 boards per contest.

The Dunbar and Estacado boys' teams will rebound from district losses last week and stay in the first-half race.

The Panthers lost to Levelland 66-55 and have yet to win a conference game. But Dumas is also winless, with a pair of losses, and tonight's winner will still have an outside chance of gaining at least a share of the crown.

Estacado needs a victory over Brownfield to stay in the thick of the race after falling to Canyon 62-55. That loss knocked the Mats from the district lead to a second-place tie with Borger and Levelland.

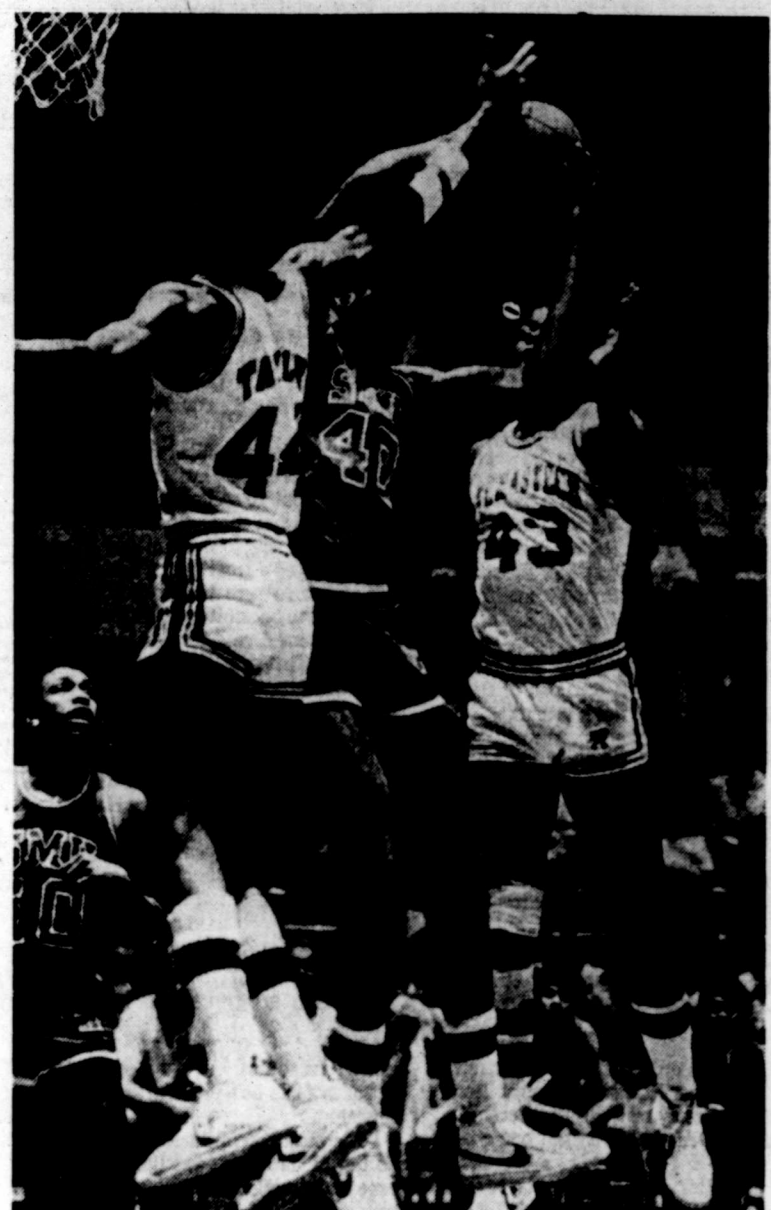

The Cubs are 1-1 and a win would push them closer to the league lead with three games remaining in the first half of the race.

In other district games tonight, the Levelland boys' and girls' teams visit Canyon while the Borger squads play non-district foes, the boys at Tascosa and the girls at Perryton.

Mays Takes Second

ALBUQUERQUE (Special) — Texas Tech track All-American James Mays was runnerup in the 880-yard run at the Albuquerque Jaycee Invitational Indoor track meet here Saturday.

Mays finished in 1:53.7 while Kenya's Mike Boit captured the event in 1:52.5. The University of New Mexico's Pete Serna was third in 1:54.7.

causes fumbles, makes sacks — he just had that kind of year. "That was a very big move on our part... We changed our scheme a little bit defensively. Taking Ted out had been just a part of our defensive plan — and it wasn't a real good one, so we changed it," Flores added with a laugh. He has been in three winning Super Bowls, first as the backup quarterback when Len Dawson guided Kansas City past Minnesota, then as an assistant coach under John Madden when Oakland beat the Vikings, and now. "Lenny did all the playing, I just watched, so that was a fun day. As a coach, well, it's a different feeling altogether. As a player, that's what you live and die for. You want to get that ring, want to be a world champion. As an assistant coach, it was another experience. But as a head coach it's the ultimate because it's something you've put together and you've molded and you don't feel it just for yourself. You feel it for everybody." As an "insider" when he replaced Madden before the 1979 season, Flores said he felt he had a built-in advantage in bringing the Raiders back to prominence. "Someone completely new to the Raider organization would have had some problems in establishing himself and also in leading and changing a team," he said. "Usually when you take over a team as a head coach it's been a losing team, so you come in and put in your system and try to show 'em how to win. I took over a team that was 9-7 and one game out of the playoffs so I had an advantage... "John Madden, before me, worked a different way. My mannerisms were a lot different than mine. His ways of accomplishing the same thing were different than mine. But he accomplished. He won. I'm a different type person, but I worked within the system. One of the advantages I had was that I was an assistant with the Raiders for seven years, so most of the players knew me and knew what kind of a person I was, the kind of temperament I had. So it wasn't any big surprise." Neither, apparently, was reaching the playoffs, winning those games, then winning the Super Bowl. "We find a way to win," Flores said. "That's been a Raider tradition." "I'm proud to be a part of all this, part of a team that made a lot of changes and won, a team that had a quarterback who had one of the greatest comebacks in the history of football and all culminated by the fact that we're No. 1... Winning a Super Bowl — to a player, to a coach, to an owner — is something they can never take away from you. It's yours for life."

SUPER ONE — Oakland Raiders head coach Tom Flores, with the Superdome in the background, shows the Raiders are number one in the National Football League as he leaves a press conference Monday in New Orleans. The Raiders smashed the Philadelphia Eagles in Super Bowl XY 27-10 to claim the world title in Flores' first Super Bowl in only two years as head coach. (AP Laserphoto)

Texans Upset Frank Phillips

LEVELLAND (Special) — Brad Blastick hit two free throws with six seconds remaining Monday night to help South Plains College take a 69-67 Western Texas Junior College Athletic Association win over eighth-ranked Frank Phillips College. The victory makes the Texans 12-9 on the year and 5-4 in WJCAA play. Frank Phillips is now 17-2 overall and 6-2 in the conference. Frank Phillips took a 30-22 halftime lead, but could not keep it in the final three minutes of the contest. Blastick led the Texans with 19 points. B.J. Jones added 16 counters for the winners. Larry Hubbard paced Frank Phillips with 20 points and Ron Sidom hit 10.

SPC Women Win

LEVELLAND (Special) — Linette Joiner and Regina Melton combined for 41 points Monday to lead the South Plains College women's basketball team to a 81-54 victory over Frank Phillips College. Miss Joiner scored 21 and Miss Melton added 20 as SPC upped its season record to 7-11. Tammy Davis and Diane Hochenstein added 10 each. Phillips was led by Michelle Gage's 13 points.

Late Basket Lifts Coogs To Win

By The Associated Press
WACO — David Bunce stripped the ball from Baylor's Pat Nunley and freshman Michael Young sank an uncontested layup with two seconds to play to give the Houston Cougars a 53-51 victory Monday night and sole possession of first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race. Houston went into a spread offense with a 51-51 tie and 7:30 to play and used up all but the final seconds when the Bears refused to come out of their zone defense. Rob Williams, Houston's leading scorer with 19 points, got the ball and tried a short jumper with six seconds left, but his shot hit the edge of the backboard. Nunley grabbed the rebound, but lost it right away and Young's goal gave Houston the victory. Terry Teagle, who led all scorers with 23 points, fired a desperation shot from 75 feet at the buzzer that wasn't close. Houston, 15-3, raised its league record to 6-1, while Baylor, 10-7, suffered its second straight conference setback to fall to 5-2.

Arkansas, which defeated Rice for the 19th straight time, is now 13-6 for the year. Rice dropped to 8-8. TEXAS 67, TEXAS A&M 63, OT COLLEGE STATION — LaSalle Thompson scored a career-high 32 points, including two crucial overtime free throws that snapped a 63-63 Southwestern Conference basketball victory Monday night over Texas A&M. The hotly-contested contest saw the lead change hands 20 times and there were 14 ties. The win lifted Texas' to 8-9 overall and 3-4 in league play. The Aggies now are 8-8 on the year and 1-6 on the conference. Thompson scored 12 points in the first half to give the Horns a 32-31 halftime advantage. For the night, he hit 11 of 15 from the floor and was a perfect 10 of 10 at the foul line. Freshman Reggie Roberts hit 18 points to lead A&M, while Vernon Smith and Claude Riley had 10.

Arkansas 57, Rice 52

HOUSTON — Arkansas' Scott Hastings scored 21 points and the Razorbacks held off a late surge by Rice Monday night to defeat the Owls 57-52 in a Southwest Conference Basketball game. The victory boosted Arkansas to a 4-3 record in the SWC, while the Owls dropped to 4-3. Arkansas built a 27-20 lead at half-time, but twice in the second half, the Owls threatened to catch the Razorbacks. At the start of the second half, the Owls got three straight turnovers and cut Arkansas' lead to 33-32 with 13:30 left to play. Arkansas went into a "spread" offense and built its lead back up to 48-36 with five minutes to play. Ricky Pierce led the Owls with 18 points and Kenny Austin added 13.

Eagle Boys Race Past Trojans

Lubbock Christian's run and shoot boys' team didn't race up and down the court as much as it normally does Monday but still managed to ease past Christ The King 69-56 in the Trojan's gym. The Eagles, tuning up for five more games this week, ran at a slower pace as LCHS coach Don Walker gave his starters two periods of rest and his reserves considerable playing time. "It was an adequate tuneup," Walker said, in reference to his upcoming games. "Our kids saw things we've been telling them all season. We didn't take the break when we had it."

LCHS Girls Use Charity Stripe To Take 52-46 Win Over CTK

Free throws were a double-edged sword that the Christ The King girls' team lived by and died by Monday night. The Trojans, playing cross-town rival Lubbock Christian on CTK's home hardwood, stayed close to the Eagles on the free-throw shooting of Leslie Schmidt. But in the end it was poor foul shooting as a team, only 12 of 28, that allowed LCHS to escape with a 52-46 victory. "We were looking past Christ The King," Lubbock Christian coach Dale Pectol admitted after the game. "We have six games this week, with Friona tomorrow night (today) and the Christian schools tournament this weekend." In the end it was Jill Towns coming off the bench that saved the Eagles' feathery. Miss Towns, who had 19 points and 12 rebounds off the bench in the Eagles' last game, came through with 10 rebounds and 12 points against the Trojans. All of her points came in the second half after the Eagles went into halftime.

Lubbock Christian vs. Christ The King 64-44

Lubbock Christian pushed the margin to 20 points, at 64-44, with 5:41 to play in leading 22-20. LCHS improved that margin to 26-22 before Miss Schmidt scored seven consecutive points as the Trojans led 27-26 with 4:25 to play. But the Eagles ran off 10 consecutive points, eight coming off four straight steals, to lead 36-27. CTK narrowed the margin to three points, 38-35, going into the final period and tied the game at 40 with 6:42 to play. But Miss Towns hit two buckets and the Eagles never trailed. Kristy Logan and Kim Phelan also scored 12 points apiece for LCHS. Miss Schmidt led all scorers with 28 points, including 10 of 15 free throws. LUBBOCK CHRISTIAN vs. CHRIST THE KING 64-44

Lady Chaps Pull Away To Whip Sul Ross 70-53

ALPINE (Special) — Lubbock Christian's Lady Chapparrals pulled away from Sul Ross in the second half Monday to score a convincing 70-53 victory in TIAA play. Leading only 31-30 at halftime, LCC spotted the Lobos a basket at the start of the second half before reeling off three straight baskets. Sul Ross came back to cut the lead to one again at 43-42, but then the Lady Chaps scored 10 straight points, four by Sherry Brown and three each by Darla Lynch and Joann Phillips, to give LCC a comfortable lead. The Lobos came close again, cutting the advantage to 54-49 with 4:48 remaining in the game, but the Lady Chaps, who had missed six free throws in a row, caught fire at the charity stripe and sank six of their next seven free tosses to put the game away. Darla Lynch led the LCC attack with 21 points, with Miss Brown adding 17, while Cindy Bigham contributed 10 points, 12 rebounds, four blocked shots

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

By DUANE HOWELL

FARMERS SHOULD PAY A GREATER SHARE of the costs of federal programs designed to aid agriculture, former President Carter's Council of Economic Advisers said in its final report to Congress.

The CEA report said per capita farm income rose sharply to a level equal to 90 percent of non-farm income during the 1970s, compared with 65 percent of non-farm income in the preceding decade.

"The improving economic health of the nation's farmers suggests that subsidizing farm income is less essential today than it was in the past," the report said.

Specifically, the CEA said farmers should pay the cost of storing grain in the reserve. The council also recommended that farmers be required to pay full interest on all Commodity Credit Corp. loans and said farmers should have to bid for the right to place grain in the reserve.

The economic report suggested the federal government stop subsidizing the use of "key agricultural outputs." Traditionally, the report said, the federal government has shared with farmers the cost of soil conservation, pest control in some instances, and land development.

RESOURCES COMMITTED TO AGRICULTURE, including water and land, "must be properly priced" in the future, the council said.

The council declared that price support decisions should not be based on "an outdated parity index that has little relation to product-specific costs of production."

Some Washington sources said the CEA analysis could provide ammunition for incoming budget director David Stockman, who has indicated a desire to cut government spending on Price supports. Stockman has described current support policies as "clearly obsolete."

Meanwhile, the USDA earlier this month published what some described as "unsubstantiated answers" to questions the Carter administration raised publicly last year on the structure of American agriculture.

The structure report was described by one Washington source as "a biased attack on commercial agriculture." If the study recommendations were implemented, he said, cotton production would "return to the era of 40 acres and a mule."

THE REPORT SUGGESTS THERE IS AN optimal farm size that, if reached, would render the farm ineligible for government programs.

"It erroneously concludes that farms get larger because of government programs and not because of the effort, efficiency, ingenuity and the risks taken by individual farmers," a Washington source said.

The report recommended that:

- Farm program benefits be directed to individuals (tenants) operating the farms and not to non-farming owners (landlords).

- Farm estate taxes be increased substantially when a farm exceeds what is regarded as the optimal size.

- All existing tax preferences pertaining to producers be reviewed.

- Farmers Home Administration loans be directed to new farmers and those with limited funds.

- Research efforts be redirected to help farms regarded as small and medium-sized to reduce costs and increase efficiency.

"Congress is not expected to give the structure report much notice," said a spokesman for the American Cotton Shippers Association. "But its mere existence is indicative of how important the recent elections were to the cotton industry."

COTTON FUTURES CLOSED AN ERRATIC, 9,000-lot session Monday above the day's lows with losses of 123 points in spot March at $7.67 cents and of 118 to 50 points in other contracts.

The market had slumped as much as 185 points on speculative selling, which triggered downside stops under 88 cents, basis March, analysts said.

Prices pared losses to around a half-cent on afternoon local and trade buying, including short covering and mill fixations, but fell back again on late local liquidation and continued commission house selling.

Analysts called the decline a technical move, partly based on bearish chart patterns and influenced by weakness in the precious metal complex.

The latest on-call cotton report put total unfixed call sales at 16,619 contracts as of Jan. 16, down 1,032 lots from the previous week. Unfixed call purchases were 5,752 contracts, up 119 lots.

UNFIXED CALL SALES LAST WEEK may have fallen by around double the decline of the previous week, some analysts said.

Mills last week continued to purchase occasional fill-ins but otherwise held cotton buying at the conservative level of other recent weeks, the USDA said in a weekly review.

It was reported that mill needs generally were covered into the late spring months. Little interest was shown for summer or fall delivery.

Mills filled goods orders made earlier but new business has slowed. Higher price quotations on goods for third quarter and later shipment is said to have remained a negative factor in the market.

Sales of many popular apparel fabrics remained fair to good while sales of yarn and selected industrial and household products continued to experience weakness. Work schedules vary from three to five days, mostly five.

SOME MERCHANTS HAD EXPECTED LARGER export sales than the 67,800 bales reported Friday during the week ended Jan. 15 for delivery this marketing year.

However, they said, additional recent sales to Japan and South Korea may show up in this week's report.

Many in the trade weren't surprised by Friday's domestic cotton consumption report, which showed December daily use down 14.1 percent from the corresponding period a year earlier.

Trade sources said high interest rates and a general economic recession had reduced mill activity.

Trading on Telcot Monday totaled 5,903 bales on an average price of 66.44 cents, an average of 2,713 points over the loan, with the market difference off 150 points.

The USDA said prices High Plains farmers received for cotton last week were 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents lower than three weeks earlier when the price trend headed downward.

Short Harvest, Record Demand Dropping U.S. Grain Supplies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday grain supplies are down sharply from a year ago, reflecting last year's drought-shrivelled harvests and a record demand abroad for U.S. commodities.

With the exception of wheat, the department's quarterly report showed declines for all major grains and oilseeds. Last year's wheat crop set a record and was mostly harvested before the summer's drought and heat wave took a toll.

As of Jan. 1, the report showed:

Russians Seek Boost In Cotton Production

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union, in its five-year plan, seeks to increase the average yield of cotton, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said in an attaché report from Moscow.

The report said the plan also seeks to improve cotton quality and to boost production of long-fiber cotton, described as the most valuable.

It was reported that the record 1980 Soviet Union cotton harvest of 9,960 million metric tons was about 9 percent above the 1979 output.

Citing Soviet press reports, the attaché said about 95 percent of last year's U.S.S.R. cotton crop was harvested by machine and noted that the cost of producing raw cotton in Russia is falling.

Soybeans help provide the world with an economical and excellent source of animal and human protein.

Corn stored in "all positions" such as on farms and in commercial warehouses are down about 5.85 billion bushels, down 15 percent from a record Jan. 1 level a year earlier of 6.89 billion bushels.

Sorghum grain at 465.8 million bushels, down 28 percent from 647.7 million a year earlier. That was the smallest Jan. 1 stock of sorghum since 1975.

Oats stocks at 390.9 million bushels, down 18 percent from 476.8 million a year earlier. It was the smallest Jan. 1 inventory of oats since the department began keeping such records in 1942.

Barley at 302.6 million bushels, down 17 percent from 365.6 million a year earlier.

Wheat, including all types, at 1.9 billion bushels, an increase of 11 percent from the previous Jan. 1's inventory of 1.72 billion bushels.

Soybeans at 1.55 billion bushels, down 12 percent from 1.77 billion a year earlier.

Rye at 918 million bushels, down 48 percent from last year's 1.77 million bushels.

Flaxseed at 6.78 million bushels, down 30 percent from the year-earlier level of 9.6 million bushels.

In a separate report, the department said Jan. 1 stocks of unmilled or "rough" rice totaled 961 million hundredweight, down 7 percent from 103.9 million a year earlier.

Stocks of milled rice, however, were larger — 6.54 million hundredweight against 6.07 million a year earlier, the report said.

REPUBLICANS REINTRODUCE Farmland Tax Legislation

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Republican Sens. Robert Dole of Kansas and Charles Percy of Illinois have reintroduced legislation which would reverse an Internal Revenue Service ruling on the special valuation of leased farmland for estate tax purposes.

The bill would allow the substitution of crop share leases for cash rentals in computing the farming value of the land. The change is intended to make it easier for family farms to continue after the death of the original owner, the senators said.

The Tax Reform Act of 1976 permitted the estate taxes on farmland to be based on its value for farming rather than its speculative investment value.

Agricultural Markets

Gins paid growers $110 to $130 per ton, mostly $115 to $120 per ton, for cottonseed.

About 2,800 samples were graded Friday for a season's total of 1,589,000. About 3,500 samples were carried over unclassified.

CATTLE FUTURES CLOSE MIXED
By Reuters
CHICAGO — Cattle futures closed 87 points higher to 42 lower on sales of 24,977 cars Monday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

June through distant February posted new season lows early.

Late local short covering, which touched off commission house stop loss buying, was encouraged by recovery in grain futures and sharply higher Treasury-bill futures.

Some traders also felt the market was oversold. Loss in the nearby contract reflected continued long liquidation ahead of the first delivery day.

Deliveries total 125 thus far. Wholesale beef was unchanged at 94 to 97 cents a pound, f.o.b. river. Cash cattle were steady to off 54 with the best top 64 per hundredweight at Peoria. Slaughter totaled 117,000 head. About 12,700 head are expected today at the major markets.

Feeder cattle futures closed unchanged to 37 higher paced by May on sales of 3,221 lots.

All but April posted new season lows early. Local short covering and other buying followed the trend of other meat pits. Strength in T-bill futures and steady cash beef at noon, despite early private reports of weakness, were also noted.

Deliveries total 38 thus far. Cash feeders were off $1 to $1 with the best top $87 per hundredweight at San Antonio. Receipts at the major terminals are expected to total 1,675 head.

Hog futures closed 55 higher to 110 lower on sales of 6,813 contracts. August paced the gain, with distant February off the most. Nearby February and distant April were the only other months lower.

Prices recovered from early lows and posted gains in most months late on local short covering and commission house stop loss buying.

The rally reflected the recovery in grain futures and strength in other meat pits. Sharply higher T-bill futures were also noted.

Wholesale hams were unchanged to off 2 at 60 to 68 cents a pound, f.o.b. river points. Cash hogs were off 50 to 50 cents with the best top $42.50 per hundredweight. Kill totaled 366,000 head. The major terminals are expected to total 28,000 head.

Pork belly (bacon) futures closed 162 to 200 higher paced by May at the daily limit. Volume totaled 9,804 cars.

Futures ran up the daily limit late on active local short covering and commission house stop loss buying.

The recovery from early losses followed the upturn in grain futures and sharply higher T-bill futures. Firm tone to cash product and large out-movement from local storage were also noted.

Wholesale bacon was unchanged at 48 1/2 to 56 cents a pound, f.o.b. river.

WANTED

Young Adult Businessmen and Women for...Delivery of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

A young adult on a Avalanche-Journal route is a part-time business person. He/She is in business for themself and will learn fundamentals of good business practice through actual experience.

The Avalanche-Journal carrier buys for wholesale and sells for retail, realizing a gross profit. He learns to operate his business as efficiently as possible to assure maximum profit. The A-J carrier builds his business by giving good prompt delivery service and through the use of good salesmanship.

It is important that he learns how to keep accurate records. The Avalanche-Journal carrier has the responsibility of keeping his accounts receivable in order so he can take care of his obligations promptly.

This early training will be useful to a child through his adult career. Many parents encourage their children to accept the challenge offered an Avalanche-Journal newspaper route.
