

U.S. Eyes Reds In Salvador
Nicaraguan Role Viewed As 'Grave Concern'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has prepared a study alleging that Nicaragua's revolutionary government has played a key role in support of Soviet-bloc efforts to install a Marxist regime in El Salvador.

The document reconstructs the assistance said to have been provided to Salvadoran insurgents since December, 1979 by Vietnam, Ethiopia, Cuba and other countries with indirect help from the Soviet Union.

There were no immediate reports of casualties. Earlier, military sources reported government troops had destroyed three guerrilla bases in San Vicente Province in fighting since Wednesday in which 17 people were killed.

because it can no longer tolerate communist takeovers. "You may be confident this administration does not intend to make a Vietnam-like commitment of major forces," Robert C. McFarlane told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

President's Austerity Program Encounters Sharp Resistance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's federal austerity program ran into sharp resistance Friday from congressional Democrats, one of whom demanded that Budget Director David Stockman go back to the drawing board and "find rich oxes that could stand a little greasing."

made "strenuous efforts in going through the budget to find rich oxes to gore, but I didn't find very many because apparently over the last 10 or 15 years the Congress hasn't been voting much welfare for rich people."

Wright declared that "We will alter the tax package so it won't be so inflationary." Many Democrats — and Republicans, too — believe that anything more than a one-year tax cut would fuel inflation.

Arms Airlift Claimed: Meanwhile, a Nicaraguan pilot captured smuggling arms to leftist guerrillas in San Salvador says leaders of his country's leftist government are directing an arms airlift to the Salvadoran rebels.

Libel Suit Produces $26.5 Million Award

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A jury awarded $26.5 million Friday to a former Miss Wyoming who claimed she was libeled by a fictional story in Penthouse magazine that told of the sexual exploits of a baton-twirling beauty queen.

After the verdict, Spence and Miss Pring embraced and stood smiling in the courtroom. The jury ruled that the former national baton-twirling champion and beauty queen was a private citizen and that the Penthouse story was false and defamatory.

The Republicans control the Senate, and the aide said he thought the panel might actually call for more than the $41 million assistance program last year.

Role Of Nicaragua: Much of the new information in the State Department study relates to the role of the Nicaraguan government, with which the Carter administration attempted to establish close ties through a $75 million assistance program last year.

Food Stamp Charges Filed At Hereford

By JIM STEIERT, A-J Correspondent: HEREFORD — An investigation by a Texas Department of Human Resources official led to 15 indictments handed down by the 22nd District Court grand jury and 14 arrests to date, including that of a 37-year-old former TDHR employee authorities allege falsified records.

degree felonies. Convicted persons would face state penitentiary sentences of from two to 10 years and fines of up to $5,000. Other suspects arrested and now out on bonds are Felipe Hernandez, Yolanda Montana, Elvira Herrera, Anna Martinez, Maria Peralta, Debbie Hernandez, Maria Anna Vasquez, Elida H. Gonzalez, Josefina Martinez and Crispin Martinez Jr., all of Hereford.

Bid To Bar Housing Project Defeated

Miss Pring claimed that a story in the magazine's August, 1979 issue entitled "Miss Wyoming Saves the World" libeled her, invaded her privacy and constituted outrageous conduct.

Temple had considered adequately the impact on Frenship schools, citing HUD's examination of two letters of opposition from the school board and Temple's submission of a map showing the nearest schools.

Woodward noted HUD was not required to seek further information about the school district, that its rejection of other sites was within its normal review and that the court could not substitute its judgment for that of the agency, which he ruled considered all relevant factors.

Carter Resumed Aid: In its final days in office, the Carter administration resumed military aid to El Salvador on grounds that Cuba and other communist countries had been providing training, weapons and other assistance to the Salvadoran rebels.

"It is the product of misplaced passion and prejudice, not of reason or law," Guccione said. "And because of its chilling effect on the normal constitutional protections of the press, neither we nor our legal advisers have any doubt that it will be reversed on appeal."

Woodward sided with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Lubbock Housing Authority, the City of Lubbock and developer Temple Management in holding the project would not necessarily have the adverse impact on the school district Frenship officials had contended.

Woodward rejected those arguments, ruling that HUD's actions were rational and not arbitrary or capricious. The judge noted no punitive action was threatened, no opposition was being voiced by the city or the housing authority and testimony indicated such disputes were normal.

One of the principal conclusions of the document is that the "political direction, organization and arming of the Salvadoran insurgency are coordinated and heavily influenced by Cuba with the active support of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Vietnam and other communist states." It said these countries were responsible for the shipment of tons of weapons to the Salvadoran guerrillas.

'High-Risk Drinkers' Rise Among Teens

LARGO, Md. (AP) — More than 12 percent of the nation's teen-agers are considered "high risk" drinkers, state experts said Friday at a conference co-sponsored by Johns Hopkins University medical school.

An approaching Pacific cold front, however, is expected to keep readings in the upper 50s today, according to the National Weather Service.

Search For Deadbeats Turns Up Numerous Federal Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration, looking for the half million deadbeats who owe the agency $521 million, consulted Uncle Sam's payroll computers. Surprise, surprise.

There, blithely collecting biweekly paychecks for their toil in the public weal, were 60,000 people who owe money to the treasury that pays them.

The amount owed the VA by federal employees totals $37 million, ranging from $300 overpayments for education assistance to defaults on $18,000 to $20-000 VA home loan guarantees. Some of the debts are 10 years old, an agency source said.

Next week it's the government's turn to yell "surprise, surprise." The dunning begins then.

"We are going to some 60 agencies and departments where we located debtors and notify them that they have X-number employees who owe the government money," the source said. "We'll advise them we are going to contact supervisors and request assistance in collection."

The debtors were located by running names of people who owe the Veterans Administration through the giant computers that make out the government's bi-weekly payroll.

The VA sends out 5 million compensation and pension checks a year. The debts are created through overpayments for education, default on education loans, overpayment either of compensation or pension, or default on VA-guaranteed home loans.

The source, who asked not to be named, said about half of the 531,659 debtors have owed the money for a long time. The VA's aggressive program of going after its money has reduced the total from $1 billion six years ago to $521 million on Jan. 1.

"This is not to say veterans are a bad risk," said the source. "The percentage is very small. The default rate on GI loans is lower than among conventional loans."

Lest it be accused of casting the first stone, the VA began its current drive by cleaning its own house — running its own employees' names through the computer. Out popped 600 names. They have paid up.

The government is barred by law from garnishing the wages of its employees, even though the debt is to Uncle Sam.

But there are ways. It is a violation of the federal personnel code of conduct for an employee not to pay its debts. The government that has borrowed $935 billion itself, frowns on welters.

Wheelchair-Bound Student Suing Tech

A wheelchair-bound journalism major at Texas Tech University has filed a complaint against the university alleging he is being discriminated against because the Journalism Building does not have an elevator.

Gary Warren filed the complaint with the Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights, charging Tech is in violation of a section of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act. That legislation states that all colleges and universities were to achieve architectural accessibility for all persons by June 2, 1980.

Administrators say they have made arrangements throughout Warren's education at Tech to make classes accessible. However, Warren says he has been given "false assurances" for more than two years that an elevator would be installed in the Journalism Building.

Warren filed his complaint Jan. 22. Approval and funding for an elevator in the Journalism Building was finalized Feb. 2.

Organized Crime Charges Filed

A 34-year-old Lubbock man Friday was charged with organized crime in connection with several heroin possession arrests made earlier this month.

Richard Cortez of 1918 E. First St., already charged with possession of heroin and in jail in lieu of $175,000 bond, was arrested in Lubbock with two other city men and a woman Feb. 8.

The criminal district attorney's office recommended bond be set at $250,000 in the Friday charge.

Social Security Revisions Considered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — President Reagan has said he is thinking about a possible revision of the Social Security system to make it voluntary, the Philadelphia Bulletin reported Friday.

Reagan, who has been dogged in the past by comments he made about Social Security, made the statement about voluntary participation at a White House breakfast Thursday, the Bulletin said. "I've been wondering if you couldn't reform the system in such a way that, if you could prove you are providing for your own retirement, you could waive participating in Social Security," the president was quoted by the Bulletin as saying.

Reagan hosted about 125 newspaper editors at the breakfast, but the statement about Social Security was not part of his general remarks.

The president may have been thinking out loud to see what kind of reaction he would get from seven big-city editors seated at the head table with him, Bulletin Editorial Page Editor Jerry Bellone wrote. Bellone sat next to Reagan at the breakfast. "Please don't put me all over the front pages with this one," Reagan said. "But I've been talking about the need for Social Security reform as far back as when Barry Goldwater ran for president."

Reagan was at his California ranch on Friday in Washington, White House officials had no comment.

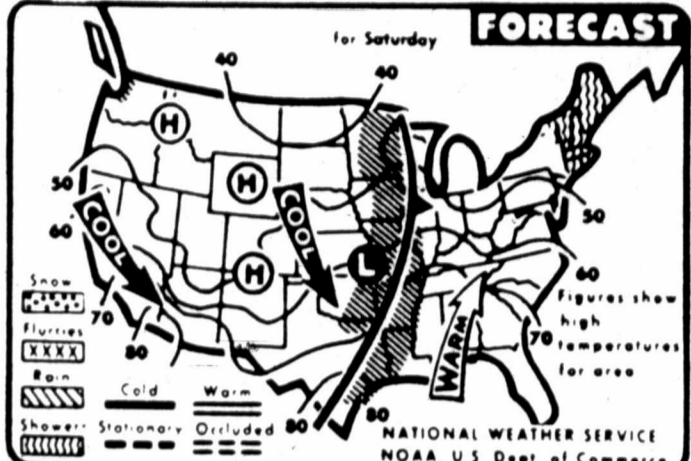

As an example of how Social Security has fallen on hard times, Reagan cited the minimum benefits plan, the Bulletin said.

"You can qualify for the minimum $122 a month if you've only been paying into the system for six quarters," he said.

In 1964, when he campaigned for the unsuccessful presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Reagan raised the possibility of a voluntary Social Security system.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for today predicts rain in a band ranging from Minnesota to Texas and in a portion of Washington. Showers are expected for most of New England. (AP Laserphoto)

Generous Rains Bring Relief From Drought

By The Associated Press

Rain drenched much of the Northeast on Friday, bringing some relief from the drought that has drained reservoirs to dangerously low levels but also presenting a danger of flooding in some areas.

A massive ice jam on the upper Hudson River was blamed for severe flooding in the village of North Creek, N.Y. Chunks of ice were heaved as high as 25 feet in some places and the National Weather Service said trees along the shore were torn off by the ice.

In New York's Adirondack Mountains, flooding caused by an ice jam was reported along the upper part of the Sacandaga River near Wells.

In drought-stricken northern New Jersey, officials feared flash flooding and that people would relax water conservation efforts after the nearly two inches of rain which fell Thursday and Friday. It was the heaviest 24-hour rainfall since 2.78 inches last April 28.

The heavy rain prompted flash flood warnings throughout northern New Jersey, with the Ramapo River just inches from its banks Friday, forecasters said.

Alta Ray, a spokeswoman for the Hackensack (N.J.) Water Co., said the impact of the rainfall would not be determined for a couple of days but said the rain could add as much as 10 days of water to the firm's reservoirs. "However, we need about 20 more inches of rain to get back to normal," she said, noting that the company's reservoirs were at 88 percent of capacity at this time last year and currently are only 31 percent filled.

New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne asked the White House on Friday to declare a federal emergency to make the state eligible for federal aid to water projects the state claims it cannot afford.

New York City's Department of Environmental Protection said the rain — 2.1 inches in the city — had raised its reservoirs to 45.7 percent of capacity, up from 43.9 percent on Thursday. The department said 45.7 percent would last 160 days if no new water were added.

There were thunderstorms along the central Atlantic Coast.

In the Rockies, a high wind warning was posted in parts of Colorado and Nevada and gale warnings were up along the California coast from Point Arena to Point Conception.

It was unusually warm in parts of the Great Plains and the foothills of the Rockies. Pueblo, Colo., with a reading of 75, had broken its record for the date by midday.

Temperatures at 1 p.m. CST ranged from 29 at Idaho Falls, Idaho, to 85 at Chidister.

Here is Friday afternoon weather in selected cities, as supplied by the National Weather Service:

Slaton Woman Arrested After Shooting Incident

A 43-year-old Slaton woman Friday was charged with two counts of aggravated assault after an incident in Slaton in which several shots were reportedly fired.

Mary Ortiz is accused of shooting at two men near an apartment in central Slaton early Thursday night. The criminal district attorney's office recommended bond be set at $7,500 on each charge for a total of $15,000. About 25 lawmen surrounded the apartment before they discovered that the suspect was next door visiting her daughter.

Lubbockite Charged In Murder

A 54-year-old Lubbock man Friday was charged with murder in the Thursday night stabbing death of a Slaton man. Robert Lee Washington, whose address had not been determined, is accused of stabbing 28-year-old Joseph McNeal about 11:30 p.m. Thursday at a Slaton nightclub. The criminal district attorney's office recommended bond be set at $25,000. McNeal was pronounced dead at the Buffalo Springs Lake and Lake Ransom Canyon police forces and Department of Public Safety snaked out of the city after the 43-year-old Slaton resident was arrested without incident. She was booked Thursday night in Slaton City Jail.

Police went to the apartment in central Slaton about 7:15 p.m. when two men reported they had been shot at "five or six times," according to Police Chief Jim Estes.

Juan Pina-Ramirez, 38, told police the woman came to the door of his nearby home complaining of too much noise. The woman left, he said, and returned with a pistol and fired three or four shots into the air. After leaving once more, she came back to the residence and spoke with Ramirez in front of his home, police said. The man's friend, 28-year-old Danny Brown, said he joined the two on the porch, where the woman fired two shots at Brown, missing him both times. When the woman returned to her apartment, the men said, they called police.

Twin Gables Club on New Mexico Street near East Division in Slaton. Police Sgt. Joe Hester said the two men reportedly had been arguing inside the club over money, when the suspect allegedly pulled a pocketknife and stabbed McNeal in the throat. Hester said there had been two reports of the incident before the alleged assailant walked into the police station and surrendered.

Sgts. Joe Hester and Mike Savage of the Slaton police arrived at the woman's apartment and noting that a light was on, decided to call in additional help. About 25 heavily armed officers came to their aid and, after waiting several moments, the lawmen decided to go next door to speak with the woman's daughter, who told them her mother was there. The woman was arrested without resistance.

Disabled Climber Tells Of Climbs

LONDON (AP) — A 40-year-old man, who lost both legs in an accident 21 years ago, arrived home Friday, claiming to have climbed 16,800 feet in the mountains of Argentina on crutches and with just one artificial leg.

Norman Croucher said he set off with nine Canadian and American climbers to scale the 22,834-foot Mount Aconcagua in the Andes but broke his artificial left leg and was forced to abandon the attempt.

Official Decries Reagan Budget Cuts

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (Special) — Protesting planned federal budget cuts by the Reagan administration, the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board's domestic hunger consultant charged the proposed cuts would hurt the poor and needy in America the most.

Nathan Porter, named last December as the Atlanta-based board's first domestic hunger consultant, said the proposed budget cuts raise a major question on the primary values and priorities of the nation.

"Will we as a nation place our major emphasis and support on the military and national defense, or on the social needs of the population in general?" Porter asked.

He pointed out there has been no hint of any reduction in military spending, but rather there have been proposals to increase budget allocations to the national defense.

"Services to the people who have basic human needs are the target of major program reductions," Porter said in a statement.

Church News

Although Porter expressed appreciation for the Reagan administration's decision to exempt seven social service agencies from budget cuts, he said these seven agencies are more on the fringe of the program that significantly helped the poor and hungry. Porter said the decision could be a sign the administration is responding to criticism that the poor are most likely to be hurt.

He expressed special concern for proposed budget cuts in the food stamp program which he said gives the victims of domestic hunger the greatest help and support.

Porter decried possible budget reductions aimed at federal programs and subsidies to Americans in urban centers, farmers, the elderly, those in education, the sick, the poor, the unemployed, those who are dependent on public transportation and sources of energy and others.

"It appears that we as a nation are saying to them, 'You are not very important after all,'" Porter charged. He observed that even though the proposed budget reductions have shocked some, there really should have been no surprise because Reagan has advocated such cuts for 20 years. Porter claimed the alarming thing is that the President seems to be reflecting the attitude of the majority of Americans.

"We as a nation, however, cannot overlook justice and peace," Porter said. "We cannot abandon our responsibilities to be our brother's helper in his time of need. Social programs are an embodiment of our basic ideals and the dignity and value of human life."

Urging religious leaders to closely examine their church and denominational budgets and the work they support, Porter suggested it is time for churches to focus on the poor and disadvantaged.

He encouraged churches to develop local programs to minister to the needy, not only through greater giving of money, but through personal involvement in direct ministries to the poor and hungry.

"The church cannot afford the cost of paying others to do the work of Christ," Porter said.

Broken Water Line Floods City Church

"As it was in the days of Noah..." so it was at Monterey Church of Christ, 3616 58th St., Wednesday when church members discovered a large section of an educational wing had been flooded.

A water line apparently backed up in a bathroom, causing a toilet tank to run continuously for more than a day, according to growth and development minister Bill Bunting.

A fellowship hall, two classrooms, a storage room and two bathrooms were found under two inches of water. Bunting said, about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday by a member of a ladies' Bible class scheduled to meet in the area.

No damage estimate was available. The fire department, a plumber and others were called to remove the standing water and dry carpet. Bunting said the church's water system had been shut off earlier to repair a broken pipe under the parking lot.

City Church Slates Special Services

Two special services will make Sunday a special day at Templo Emanuel Asambleas de Dios, 4201 Ave. J, according to Pastor James Plata.

During the 11 a.m. worship service "Los Samaritanos," a gospel music group from Abilene, will sing. The Women's Ministries Department will celebrate their national day during the 6 p.m. service using the theme "Bless This House."

The public is invited to both services at Templo Emanuel Assembly of God.

DEDICATION CEREMONY — Mrs. Ola Lindsey, widow of the late Judge Victor H. Lindsey, reminisces with former Judge Robert H. Bean during Friday's dedication ceremony for the county law library. ## Remodeled Law Library Dedicated

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The recently remodeled County Law Library Friday was officially dedicated and renamed in honor of the late Victor H. Lindsey, who served as a state district judge here from 1951 until his death in 1967.

Approximately 100 local attorneys and county officials gathered for the noon dedication ceremony held in the 72nd District Courtroom, where Lindsey presided during his nearly 16 years on the bench.

A special guest at the dedication ceremony was Mrs. Ola Lindsey, widow of the well-known jurist.

Members of the Lubbock County Bar Association and the County Commissioners' Court passed a joint resolution renaming the library facility in Lindsey's honor.

The law library, located on the fourth floor of the County Courthouse, was remodeled as part of the commissioners' renovation project at the building. Commissioners agreed to include the law library in the planned renovations after receiving a request from a bar association committee.

Remodeling the library cost approximately $31,350. The bar association contributed $1,037 to the project. Bar association member Johnny Splawn also noted that individual attorneys have donated about $8,150 to be used for the library.

In addition, Splawn said, the bar association is providing about $5,000 worth of video tapes on legal topics through the Checkmate-Texas Video Library System sponsored by the State Bar of Texas.

Speakers at the dedication ceremony included former 140th District Judge Robert H. Bean and two of Lindsey's former law partners, J. Orville Smith and W.D. "Dub" Benson.

Benson told the crowd: "The only thing he, Lindsey, wanted to do as a judge was to give a fair trial."

Bean noted that he had never known a man whose wisdom, integrity and honesty he admired more than Victor Lindsey.

Lindsey, a native of Tennessee, began his law practice in Fort Worth before moving to Lubbock in 1928. During the late 1930s, he became an assistant district attorney here under Burton S. Burks.

In 1951, Lindsey was appointed as judge of the 72nd District Court by Gov. Allan Shivers to fill an unexpired term. He was elected to the post during the general election the following year.

Gov. John Connally appointed Lindsey, presiding judge of the 35-county Ninth Judicial Administrative District in 1964.

During his career as a jurist, Lindsey presided over several widely publicized trials, including the 1963 murder trial of Walter E. Whitaker Jr.

Whitaker, a 21-year-old airman at Reese Air Force Base, was accused of killing 18-year-old Joyce Fern White, a student at Lubbock High School. Whitaker's trial was moved to Wilbarger County on a change of venue and he was convicted and later executed in the electric chair.

Lindsey also presided over the murder trial of James Lee Marion, a 25-year-old Midland fry cook who was convicted of slaying Mrs. Fred Turner, wife of a wealthy Midland oilman. The 1964 trial was moved to Lubbock on a change of venue.

Definition of a one-liner: Use of minimum words to get a laugh.
For example: "I'll never lie to you."

GOD'S LAW FOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

"WHOSO SHEDDETH MAN'S BLOOD BY MAN SHALL HIS BLOOD BE SHED: FOR IN THE IMAGE OF GOD MADE HE MAN" (Gen. 9:6) ... "HE THAT SMITETH A MAN, SO THAT HE DIE, SHALL SURELY BE PUT TO DEATH" (Exodus 21:12) ... "MOREOVER YE SHALL TAKE NO SATISFACTION (ransom) FOR THE LIFE OF THE MURDERER, WHICH IS GUILTY OF DEATH: BUT HE SHALL SURELY BE PUT TO DEATH, SO YE SHALL NOT POLLUTE THE LAND WHERE YE ARE: FOR BLOOD DEFILETH THE LAND: AND THE LAND CANNOT BE CLEANSED OF THE BLOOD THAT IS SHED THEREIN, BUT BY THE BLOOD OF HIM THAT SHEDDETH" (Numbers 35:31-33) ... "DELIVER HIM (the person who has been tried and found guilty of murder) INTO THE HAND OF THE AVENGER OF BLOOD, THAT HE MAY DIE. THINE EYE SHALL NOT PITY HIM, BUT THOU SHALT PUT AWAY THE GUILT OF INNOCENT BLOOD FROM ISRAEL, THAT IT MAY GO WELL WITH THEE" (Deuteronomy 19:11-13) ... "THE POWERS THAT BE (civil government) ARE ORDAINED OF GOD, FOR HE (civil government) IS THE MINISTER OF GOD TO THEE FOR GOOD, BUT IF THOU DO THAT WHICH IS EVIL, BE AFRAID: FOR HE BEARETH NOT THE SWORD IN VAIN: FOR HE IS THE MINISTER OF GOD, A REVENGER TO EXECUTE WRATH (punishment) UPON HIM THAT DOETH EVIL" (Romans 13:1-7). Friends, THIS IS THE WORD OF GOD. It is pure fully to ignore it.

I can only add my own earnest prayer that the ever darkening and threatening cloud of anarchy and destruction that hangs so heavily over our beloved country might yet be dissipated by widespread repentance throughout our country; and that by a careful and just consideration of the dignity of man, and the value of human life, and the interest which the state has in the safety of all its citizens, and the solemn requisitions of Divine law, exacting in all cases the life of the murderer, that those who have the responsibility of forming, directing and governing our society may clearly realize that the death penalty for murder is both reasonable, just, and merciful.

Ruth Carter Stapleton Sets Hobbs Church Talk

HOBBS, N.M. (Special) — Evangelist, author and speaker Ruth Carter Stapleton will be guest speaker at First United Methodist Church here March 1 and 2.

The Rev. Dick Clemmer, pastor, said Mrs. Stapleton will speak at the 9:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. services Sunday, March 1, and from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, March 2. The public is invited.

Mrs. Stapleton, sister of former President Jimmy Carter, began her ministry 17 years ago after a dramatic emotional experience at a weekend retreat. She became interested in the healing possibilities of faith, returned to college and earned a degree from Methodist College in Fayetteville, N.C. She also did graduate work in psychology at the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Stapleton, who claims to be neither a preacher nor a faith healer, seeks to remove crippling emotional scars through a blend of religious inspiration, psychology and Christian love. She has described her work and ministry in her bestsellers, "The Gift of Inner Healing" and "The Experience of Inner Healing."

She is president of Behold, Inc., a non-denominational religious organization, and holds monthly retreats at her center, Holovita, at Argyle, Texas. Mrs. Stapleton has conducted spiritual workshops in more than 75 cities across the United States and overseas in eight countries.

Lubbock Woman's Son Enters Into Roman Catholic Ministry

ST MEINRAD, Ind. (Special) — Mark Smith, son of Mrs. Patricia Coleman of 4203 48th St. in Lubbock, was instituted into the Ministry of Acolyte along with 17 other students in ceremonies Feb. 9 at St. Meinrad School of Theology here.

Smith, a second-year theology student, was among 47 young men receiving ministries of acolyte and lector from the Most Rev. Edward T. O'Meara of the Archdiocese of Indianapolis.

They are students in the St. Meinrad School of Theology, a four-year professional school, which trains men for entry into the Roman Catholic priesthood. During their education they receive the ministry of lector, declare their priesthood candidacy, receive the ministry of acolyte and are ordained to the holy orders of diaconate and priesthood.

The acolytes may assist priests in preparing the altar for the Eucharist, distributing the Eucharist to the faithful and to the sick and cleaning the sacred vessels. They also promise to live the Eucharistic life more intensely in a spirit of oblation and sacrifice, and to grow daily in faith and charity toward their brothers.

When Longfellow mentioned "the spreading chestnut tree" everyone pictured it. Likewise it wasn't hard to envision "the trail of the lonesome pine." But little has been written about a single white birch. It's always a stand of birches.

Perhaps because birches are like people. They're the same in many ways, yet each is different. And their true magnificence cannot be realized seeing one alone. It's when they stand together that their diversity blends into a oneness which can be spectacular.

In the worship and activities of the church we gain the true perspective of our individuality — and our community. The church cares about you as a person. Yet it helps you learn to care about the society of which you are a part. It inspires each to serve all. To achieve oneness of faith and spirit despite our diversity.

Police Locate Suspected Auto After Hit, Run Injures Two

A car believed to have left the scene of an accident in which two Lubbockites were injured, one seriously, was found shortly before 2 p.m. Friday in east Lubbock.

The black-over-white Maverick had some body damage when located by police parked in front of a home at 502 E. Tulane, but its owner had not been located by late Friday and a suspect in the case had not been arrested.

Christina Isabel Reyna, 18, of 2940 E. Baylor St. remained in serious condition late Friday at Lubbock General Hospital with injuries suffered about 9 p.m. Thursday when the motorcycle she rode was struck by a car at Idalou Road and Vanda Avenue.

Her companion, 25-year-old Michael C. Cole of 1512 E. Second St., who also rode the motorcycle, suffered multiple injuries. He was in satisfactory condition at the same hospital late Friday. The victims reportedly wore no helmets.

Witnesses to the collision told police the car, headed west on Idalou, ran a stop sign and was struck by the motorcycle. Both victims were thrown about 100 feet from the point of impact, police said.

After the collision, witnesses said, the car pulled into a church parking lot where it stopped momentarily before continuing west toward downtown Lubbock.

Stolen Bus Found Abandoned

A stolen 47-passenger bus authorities expected would be driven out of the country was found a short 140 miles from its rightful spot in an Odessa motel parking lot.

The abandoned vehicle, reportedly driveable, was found by an Odessa highway patrol sergeant shortly before 5:30 p.m. Friday, according to the Department of Public Safety dispatcher at Midland.

The bus was stolen from TNM&O Bus Lines in Lubbock late Wednesday or early Thursday. Company officials said the bus had last been seen parked on a storage lot at 14th Street and Avenue M at 8 p.m. Wednesday. It was reported stolen to police about 9 a.m. Thursday.

Although sheriff's deputies took to the skies via helicopter Thursday and the bus also was reported seen at Whiteface, authorities had no luck finding the multi-ton vehicle until it was abandoned.

Granddaughter Pioneering With Solar Energy

By GERRY BURTON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

CROSBYTON — Pioneering was a family trait with Crosby County's first family, the Hank Smiths.

Smith was a lot of things — bullwhacker, gold prospector, Indian fighter, Confederate soldier, buffalo hunter and more — before he built the first house in West Texas where he would be "Uncle Hank" and his wife "Aunt Hank" to area pioneers.

Mrs. Smith emigrated from a Scottish castle to keep house for her brothers and be doctor for buffalo hunters, cowboys and even outlaws before coming to Crosby County to doctor and be postmaster for pioneers while raising her own family.

Today, their granddaughter, Georgia Mae Ericson, is doing her own pioneering with a solar house in Blanco Canyon within sight of the ruins of the famous rock house Smith built in 1878.

Where the rock house was a gathering place for pioneers making history, Casa Del Sol is a gathering place for those seeking to preserve history — Ranching Heritage Association, National Food and Fiber Institute, Southwest Collection, Crosby County Historical Commission and the Crosbyton Pioneer Museum, which is housed in a replica of the rock house.

And a succession of sunless days in the dead of winter, coupled with toppled electrical poles, can put Mrs. Ericson back in pioneer status — dependent upon a wood stove for cooking and four fireplaces for warmth with kerosene for light.

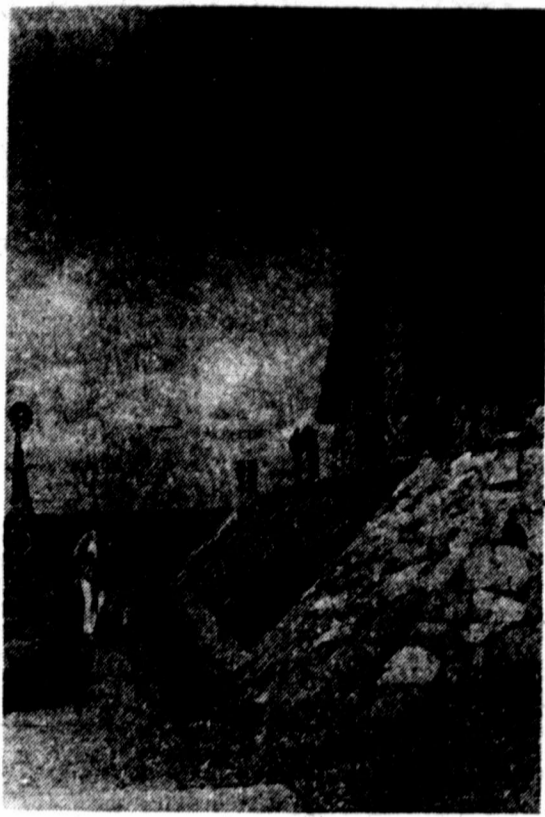

Cooking and heating with wood in winter, however, is a regular part of the solar energy game for the member of Texas Energy Committee.

Casa Del Sol, Mrs. Ericson points out, was the first ground level collection system.

Winds in Blanco Canyon are such, she explained, that the normal height for collecting could cause real problems. So she and Dr. Ernest W. Kiesling of Texas Tech, who designed the system on a private consultant basis, opted for two sets on the south slope below house level.

Faculty and students of Tech are to use the house systems for studies of solar energy heating.

Lack of replacement parts kept studies at a standstill until February when a 30-day period of temperatures ranging at times near zero showed a one-third reduction in the kilowatt consumption for auxiliary heat.

THIRD GENERATION PIONEER — The rock house her grandfather built in 1878 is just a white dot between her and the windmill as Georgia Mae Ericson checks the condition of buffalo grass planted as part of the natural look to her solar home in

"It was down a third," Mrs. Ericson beamed of the first report she was able to make in comparison.

With low temperatures and sunny days, solar heating continued right through, but low temperatures combined with several sunless days put the system on electrical backup.

"I'm still getting solar heat for the swimming pool area and I've taken out the propane backup," she said.

A propane heater was installed in a panic situation last winter when electric service was interrupted for five days and she feared for underground pipes in her swimming pool.

This winter, with the temperatures plunging regularly below the 10-degree mark, she kept close track of the pool temperature which, with a corner fireplace, never dropped below 63 degrees.

Her successes can't mean much, she added, to the normal homebuyer interested in solar heat. "The house was built for a museum, a community center or groups to use."

Approved groups utilize the home for meetings and social gatherings with their donations going to the Crosbyton museum's Stanley Gustav Ericson fund for an archives room. Coins guests inevitably toss in the fountain in the living-kitchen area go to the museum for a buffalo robe fund.

There are no curtains or drapes to hide the canyon scenes outside and, where windows aren't, mirrors capture the outdoors and send it back.

The windows, she notes, helps out on sunny days by giving her passive solar heat like that she first used in Connecticut. "I cut out the sides of the house and put in glass so the sun would bounce off the water and come in."

Casa Del Sol, constructed after she returned to Crosby County after her husband's death, is divided almost equally into 2,800 square feet for the living area and 2,300 for the indoor pool area.

Each area has its own solar system. Water for the pool is heated in a radiator system from one collecting unit while

Company To Restore Childress Housing Factory

A-J Correspondent

CHILDRESS — Fulfilling a pledge to rebuild "bigger and better," officials at Lancer Homes have announced plans for re-construction of its mobile home division, destroyed by fire last November.

Framework for the new building now going up climaxes months of labor by Lancer officials and its parent corporation, Lanchart Industries of Wichita Falls, as well as city officials and several area legislators.

Partial financing for the new factory is in the form of a $600,000 UDAG grant applied for by city officials. Unofficial confirmation that the loan has been approved reached Childress within the past few days. Another $2 million in funds necessary to complete the large

REGIONAL NEWS

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Saturday Morning, February 21, 1981

factory is expected to be derived from industrial development bond loans and company funds.

Lancer general manager Keith Finley said the new plant should be in operation by the middle of April with more than 100 former Lancer employees back on the job. Total work force when the new factory is completed should be about 425.

Lancer, in operation in the industrial park at Childress Municipal Airport since 1967, is the county's largest employer and also provides the greatest number of jobs for minority workers, with that figure at about 38 percent.

Mayor Walter Lockhoff said the UDAG grant will not only make it possible for Lancer to rebuild but also will be a boon to city coffers.

"The money is actually granted to the city to be loaned to private industry," Lockhoff said. "The interest derived from the loan may then be used for capital improvements within the city of Childress."

He noted that interest and payback schedules are set by federal officials, and in this case will be eight percent interest with a payback period of 20 years.

Although advisement of the loan's approval remains unofficial, the mayor is optimistic he will receive official notification in the very near future.

Finley said the new factory will be even larger than the quarter-mile long building destroyed by fire in November, 1980.

"The new plant will be about 26,000 sq. ft. larger than the first, and when it is completed we want to encourage our former employees to apply again," Finley said.

In addition to the mobile home factory, Lancer also produces modular homes in a separate building. That facility was untouched by the blaze, and double-shifting of as many employees as possible has permitted the company to meet all its modular unit orders and some of its mobile home production.

The drapery department is in temporary facilities downtown, in a building slated to become the future home of Childress Office Supply.

Lancer officials predicted that normal expansion over the next few years will likely add still another 100 workers to its payroll.

Wurstfest Event Scheduled In Slaton

SLATON — Wurst will be about the best thing going on the South Plains Sunday with hundreds of fans of German cooking expected for the 11th annual Sausage Festival here.

More than 6,500 pounds of German sausage, made by a 200-year-old recipe, comes off smoking racks today to be ready for the sausage meal and sausage-by-the-pound event to benefit St. Joseph's School.

A funfest, with games for all ages, starts at 11 a.m. in St. Joseph's School as the sausage meal begins in St. Joseph's Hall across the street. Serving lines last until 3 p.m., and the games continue until 4 p.m.

Trimmings for the wurst plate will include green beans, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce and homemade bread and cake.

Games like cake walk, spinning wheel and ring toss will keep the fun going at the funfest with an auction of donated items living up the school. And a country store will be loaded with homemade foods and handmade crafts. Sausage by the pound also will be sold this year at the school to keep serving lines flowing at the hall.

Beginning at noon, costumed German dancers and a German puppet show from Texas Tech will perform throughout the afternoon.

Tickets for the meal are $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for those 10 and younger. Sausage will be $2.50 a pound in pre-wrapped packages.

Sausage was made by parish members Thursday and smoked all night on racks in the smoke house built just for wurst. A smoke crew kept watch all night to make sure temperatures stayed at the proper degree mark for perfect results.

The wurstfest, which provides one third of the school's operating budget, began in 1971 with just the meal. Demands for take-home sausage resulted in the extra poundage by 1975.

Wurst from Slaton has become such a habit with South Plains residents that the amount increases annually as does attendance at the wurstfest.

Certain types of bamboo are the world's tallest grasses, some of which grow to 100 feet or higher.

ANN LANDERS

Shy Male Asks For Date Help

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 22-year-old male and I need your advice. All my life I have been painfully shy. It began to bother me late in high school, but I figured someday I'd outgrow it. Instead of outgrowing it, the older I get the more shy I become. I have never had a date because I'm scared to talk to a woman. I don't know what to say or how to ask for a date.

The thought that I'll probably never marry is painful. My loneliness and strong sexual desires depress me. I can't bear to think that this is the way it's going to be forever.

These are supposed to be the best years of my life, but I've missed out on a lot of good times — and I'll miss out on many more. Most of my time off is spent moping around the apartment. How can I overcome my shyness? How can I introduce myself to a girl I might be interested in and learn to be relaxed around her? And how do I carry on a conversation without saying something dumb? I'd appreciate any advice you can give. — G. From Missouri

Dear G: Loneliness is a prison that must be unlocked from the outside. If you only knew how many young women out there are dying to be asked out to anything — a movie, a play, a concert, lunch, brunch, a skunk raffle — you'd find the courage.

Make up your mind you are going to ask five girls to go see a movie or play next weekend. If three say they are busy, you still have two to go.

Phrase the question simply: "Have you seen —? I hear it's good. Would you like to go Friday or Saturday evening?" After the movie a snack is in order. Then you can discuss the movie. Get going and report back to me. I want to know what happened. And today after work, pick up the book "Shyness" (Wesley Publishing Co.) by Phillip Zimbardo of Stanford University.

selling and group support, I am free from alcohol, drugs and the depressions that used to plague me. Alcoholics Anonymous was one of the places that provided me with unbelievable courage and strength. You sent me there.

So, thank you, Ann Landers. Please take care of yourself and continue to spread the message and do your good work. God bless you. — Better Than Before

Dear Better: What an upper your letter is. Thank you for writing it. I am sure it will give hope and courage to others. How rewarding to know I've had a friend like you for 15 years!

CONFIDENTIAL to A Put-Down Needed for Mr. Know-It-All: Why don't you ask him how a fellow he didn't consider smart enough to marry his daughter could have fathered the most brilliant grandchildren in the world?

Ann Landers discusses teenage drinking — its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

WEIGHT CONTROL

It takes a 150-pound person about 30 minutes of brisk walking to use up 150 calories — the calorie content of one highball or a 12-ounce can of regular soda. If you're trying to control your weight, cut back on alcohol and soft higher-calorie snacks like potato chips and pretzels.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Weight-Loss Program Poses Problem

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 26 years old and have been overweight my entire life. I am currently 180 pounds and am 5 feet, 5 inches tall. I weighed almost 250 before I began a weight loss program last year. My present real problem are my breasts, which sag grotesquely. I have tried exercises. I press my fists together in front of my chest, then throw back my arms at the same time. Will this ever produce results. Can you suggest anything else? — D.F.

You are to be congratulated on your successful weight reduction. I encourage you to continue with it. The exercise you describe is helpful, but I do not think it will solve your sag problem completely, especially as you continue to shed more of that unhealthful excess weight.

Breasts contain not only the milk-producing glands, but also quite large deposits of fat. When the breasts are heavy from an increase of fat or of milk glands they will droop. Some support may be lost as weight is shed. Your exercise is designed to strengthen the chest muscles and thus minimize such droop.

The unpublished portion of your letter indicates that this cosmetic problem is causing you great distress. For this reason, I am going to suggest that you investigate the possibility of cosmetic surgery to correct the droop. There are many factors a doctor will consider before he recommends such surgery. The emotional impact is an important one.

So continue your weight program, meanwhile arranging a consultation with your doctor on the surgical possibility. You may have to delay things until you have completed your weight-loss program. You don't have to feel embarrassment about this conversation. Doctors encounter such requests regularly, and for more frivolous reasons than yours.

Your letter reveals a sound character and an outgoing, friendly personality. There is no need to allow this unfortunate physical development to interfere with that or with your beneficial weight-loss plans. You'll find hints to help your weight-reduction program in the booklet "Lost Secrets of Reducing." For a copy write Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a question concerning my legs. I was a physical education major for 11 years. I reared seven children, am now retired, and nearing 75. My complaint: shin splints. They appeared after I began walking three miles a day, on advice of my doctor. Most of the walking was on sand. I now get severe pain in the shin and through the ankle when I try to walk. My son-in-law, a former athlete, diagnosed this as shin splints, and says he had the same experience. I miss my walking. Can you tell me what's lacking? — Mrs. A.D.

The term "shin splints" has been applied to almost any pain in the shins. The pain comes from overuse — simply overdoing it. That can cause hairline fractures of the bone, inflammation of tendons or muscle swelling. Now that your legs hurt, rest is the treatment. When the pain goes away, start out again slowly. Make sure you are using a well-cushioned shoe and walk on a level surface (not sand).

If you recall, I advised a young woman jogger who had the same problem to avoid the sand for this reason. On sand, the feet can be turned easily and this can place abnormal pressure on the feet and leg structures, causing shin splints.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My sons, both of them, are playing hockey this year. I am frightened by this dangerous sport. I guess I must accept this, though. What should be done to keep injuries at a minimum in this sport? — Mrs. P.R.D.

Proper equipment. Proper coaching. Proper officiating. With these, injuries can be kept at a minimum in this admittedly hazardous sport. Unlike football, where injuries involve the legs chiefly, the head and arms are the most frequent injury sites in hockey. The body check is the major cause, with injuries from the puck and the stick close seconds.

In 1975 the Amateur Hockey Association ruled that mouthguards must be worn. The V have now ruled that a full face mask or an eye-shield must be worn by all players. See that such rules are abided by in whatever competition your son is in.

What can vitamins really do for you — and what can't they do? In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the common sense from the nonsense about this controversial health aid. For your copy of "Vitamins: Facts You Need to Know," send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Coming nuclear wipe-out?

Is nuclear war inevitable? Yes, says Laurence W. Beilenson, author, lawyer and member of President Reagan's foreign policy advisory group.

In his book, "Survival and Peace in the Nuclear Age," Beilenson offers a controversial program for surviving the holocaust that he is certain is only a matter of years away.

"I'm really scared of nuclear war, just as scared as pacifists and scientists," says Beilenson, a conservative who would have the United States aggressively compete in the nuclear arms race. But I don't think their solutions are any good."

Headvice for Americans? — Develop nuclear weapons for all countries, this will act as an equalizer.

— Forget about SALT. — Build an extensive nuclear fallout-proof shelter system. Civil defense can save millions of American lives," says Beilenson.

— Bring our soldiers home from Europe and the Far East, whom he calls "our hostages to insure our participation in any war started by a Communist-ruled nation in those areas."

— Try to overthrow Communist governments by giving arms and money to dissidents.

— Don't rely on treaties or intelligence reports. "Treaty reliance has been an occupational disease of statesmen."

Counselor Concerned That Few Know Washington's Birthdate

DIMMITT (Special) — Ask a typical schoolchild when George Washington was born and the odds are nearly 365-to-1 that he or she will not say Feb. 22.

Dr. Hilma Carrell, an educational and career counselor at Dimmitt schools who has tested more than 22,000 students and adults, is concerned that almost no one seems to know anymore when the first president of the United States was born.

All junior high and elementary students are missing the question," Dr. Carrell said, noting it is asked on several standard aptitude and achievement tests. "That disturbs me."

The educator blames the "Monday holiday" system for the confusion. Children see signs on businesses and calendars proclaiming various dates as "Washington's Birthday," she said, and become confused as to the correct date.

She proposes businesses and calendars use the phrase "in observance of Washington's Birthday and that teachers insist on students memorizing the date.

Bike-A-Thon Campaign Leader Selected

LORENZO (Special) — The Rev. Felipe Alvarez has been named to head the 1981 Spring Bike-A-Thon campaign here, said Clifford Damstrom, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital director for the Southwest Region.

St. Jude, the largest childhood cancer research center in the United States and the first research center dedicated exclusively to the research and conquest of catastrophic diseases of children, depends on public support to help finance the research and patient care programs, Damstrom said.

"Over 70 percent of our 26 million dollar budget must come from public support," Damstrom said. "That is why this Bike-A-Thon is so important."

The location and time of the Bike-A-Thon will be announced later by Alvarez.

Volunteer Reserve Plan Announced By Sheriff

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Sheriff D.L. "Sonny" Keesee has sent county commissioners another request for additional manpower. But the deputies Keesee is requesting this time won't cost the county any money.

The sheriff proposes to organize a reserve deputy force made up of 25 local volunteers who will donate their time and services to the county.

These volunteer deputies will be expected to work a minimum of 20 hours per month, with no pay, and will be required to furnish their own uniforms, Keesee said.

In addition, he added, the volunteers will be required to attend a 70-hour certification school approved by the Commission on Law Enforcement Officers Standards and Education.

Keesee said he doesn't expect to have any problems filling the no-pay positions. In fact, he said that more than 25 individuals — many of them local businessmen — already have expressed an interest in serving on a volunteer reserve force.

"They will be a lot of help," observed Don Stapleton, chief administrator in the sheriff's office.

The letter, which was presented to the judge this morning, stated:

"I, D.L. 'Sonny' Keesee, being of sound mind and considerable body, do swear, attest and affirm that due to the formidable horse-trading ability of the county judge, not only did I give up one secretary and one deputy, but in the spirit of the verbal exchange, I was convinced to promise that I would not again darken the door of the commissioners court with a request for additional personnel (paid) until June, 1982.

"Although the battle was hard fought and the loss sorely taken, I intend to be big about the whole thing," Keesee stated in the letter.

The sheriff then promises — in writing — to avoid all requests for additional paid personnel until the summer of 1982.

Keesee and Shaw ended the letter presentation by shaking hands. However, Shaw noted that his name had been misspelled in the letter, but said he was grateful to receive the pledge in writing anyway.

According to Stapleton, there often are times when the sheriff's department needs extra men to get all its work done. He said the volunteers could assist with delivering warrants or civil papers, and ride with deputies assigned to night patrols.

If commissioners authorize the reserve force, Keesee said he plans to select the first six members. Those six individuals will form a review committee to screen other applicants, he explained.

At the commissioners' request, assistant district attorney Yvonne Faulks already has conducted legal research on the proposed volunteer force.

Under state law, the sheriff has the authority, on approval of the commissioners court, to deputize a reserve force, Mrs. Faulks said.

However, having volunteers serve as deputy could pose a potential liability for the county, the attorney said. She noted that the county might have to make some arrangements through its insurance program to cover the volunteer deputies.

Keesee's request for the reserve force will be considered by commissioners when they meet on Monday.

At a meeting earlier this month, the commissioners court agreed on a split vote to authorize the hiring of four new deputies and one additional secretary for the sheriff's office.

However, Keesee first had to promise that he would not request any more staff members until commissioners begin work on the county's 1983 budget.

County Judge Rod Shaw, who cast the deciding vote that gave Keesee his additional workers, instructed the sheriff to put his pledge in writing.

In a light-hearted news conference today, Shaw received a framed copy of Keesee's letter confirming the bargain reached by the two officials regarding the ban on personnel requests.

A lemon will give nearly double the quantity of juice if it has been heated thoroughly before squeezing.

Polanski Film 'Tess' Called Poetic Masterpiece

"Tess." Screenplay by Gerald Branch, Roman Polanski and John Brownjohn, based on the novel "Tess of the d'Urbervilles" by Thomas Hardy. Photographed by Geoffrey Unsworth and Ghislain Cloquet. Music by Philippe Sarde. Costumes by Anthony Powell. Edited by Alistair McIntyre and Tom Priestley. Art director Jack Stephens. Directed by Roman Polanski. Stars Nastassia Kinski, Peter Firth and Leigh Lawson. Rated PG. At the Mann Fourplex.

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

It is, of course, unfair to simply assume Roman Polanski's work has been affected by his inability to forget his wife's murder at the hands of the Manson clan or his troubled status with American law enforcement agencies. But still, something has changed his style, granted him a newfound vision, a wondrous ability to define innocence and restraint on screen.

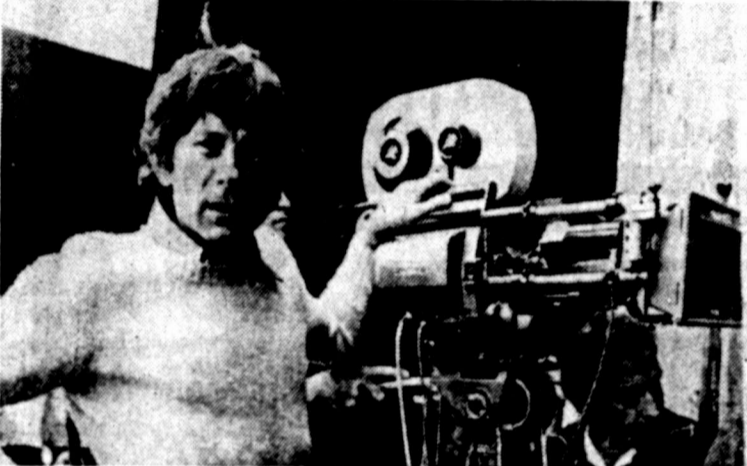

His new production of "Tess" is more than a literal screen translation of Thomas Hardy's 1891 novel "Tess of the d'Urbervilles," more than a recreation of period, more than a tragic love story. It is a multi-faceted movie about issues and innocence, passion and pride.

"Tess" is a glowing example of what the cinematic art form is all about. For all its prettiness — and the film is breathtakingly gorgeous in visual terms — it remains a motion picture in which each frame, each tree, each animal seems to play an active part in the story. Polanski can make a walk down a road lined with sun-smothering, parallel lines of trees seem like walking into a cage, a pacing between the bars toward a confrontation that will forever influence our heroine's life.

The eating of a berry speaks more of sensuality than most cinematic enticements in my memory, the long sequences devoted to farm work actually make us feel the character's weariness and blisters, the rape which will follow Tess forever is filmed with restraint, and yet with such powerful vividness as to stay with us longer than any graphic nude scene. From start to finish, which is a hefty length of three hours, Roman Polanski's "Tess" is a sweeping, lyrical look at innocence lost, at lives of desperation, at characters continuing to long for a happiness that can only elude them.

It is not only the best picture of 1980, not only the best picture given us by Roman Polanski but, further, one of the most sensitive and memorable films of modern times, a true classic.

The film deals with a beautiful teen-aged girl (star Nastassia Kinski was 17 when filming began) named Tess Durbeyfield, sent to claim her share of the family fortune from the d'Urberville clan after her drunken father discovers the names are linked.

HONORED FUGITIVE — Director Roman Polanski may be considered a fugitive from American justice, but moviegoers have recognized the dramatic tension and emotional complexity he's brought to the screen in "Tess." Polanski has been nominated for an Academy Award for his direction of the film.

Little known to him is that the d'Urberville title was simply purchased by a rich farming family named Stoke, or that "cousin" Alec will soon enough rape Tess, father her illegitimate and critically ill child, and only later become obsessed with her.

Tess ends her relationship with Alec and, after burying her child and throwing herself into hard work, meets and falls in love with a shy, pious man named Angel Clare.

The sad fact, however, is that neither her seducer nor her true love is worthy of her. Both are cruel to infinite proportions, although in different manner. Alec is a bitter, dominating cad, unable to express love in anything but monetary terms. Angel, however, has the power to administer the deepest cut of all. He simply will not forgive Tess her past.

The landscapes are visual poetry, the Normandy locations doing a grand job of representing rural England. The cinematography, assured an Oscar next month, was provided by Geoffrey Unsworth (who died before the film was finished) and his replacement, Ghislain Cloquet. Both know how to capture the beauty or ominous tones of a sky or a forest but, unlike Nestor Almendros in "The Blue Lagoon" or even Freddie Young in "Ryan's Daughter", Unsworth and Cloquet also never lose sight of making their images a part of the overall story, not just pretty pictures which stand alone.

When an animal turns its head, it's as though we're being told that the characters are allowed no secrets, that someone is always listening. And when Alec's lust and Tess' curiosity suddenly turn into frightening rape, the bodies struggling on the forest floor, the act is soon half-hidden by marauding dust — and keeps its half-hidden stature throughout the rest of the film, in fact through the remainder of Tess' life.

Costumes and art direction must also be applauded, along with Philippe Sarde's rich musical expressions. And yet it is important to remember that Polanski was never swept away with scenery to the point of forgetting his human tragedy. He cast the film perfectly, drawing expert characterizations from Nastassia Kinski, Leigh Lawson and Peter Firth.

Miss Kinski, the daughter of actor Klaus Kinski, has yet to totally prove her acting ability, but remains a marvelous Tess. She possesses the sort of innocent beauty which we can believe would obsess two very different men. The scenes in which she learns how to whistle are as effective as the one in which she defies the church.

The script grants her very few lines, even though she's in most scenes, but her feelings are expressed totally.

Lawson is also marvelous in the even more complex role of Alec, a man given to taking what he wants, emotionally battered when he finds that winning Tess from her husband has sealed his own defeat. Peter Firth, last seen as the tortured boy in "Equus," is also believably uncaring as the man Tess weds. Firth not only expresses a character, but an entire attitude of the times. His pauses are some of the most anxiety-stirring in the film.

It should also be mentioned that John Collin and Rosemary Martin are quite good as Tess' parents.

Still, this is Roman Polanski's film, the picture brought to him by his wife (she'd hoped for the starring role) and dedicated to her at the beginning with the simple words "to Sharon." Polanski was obviously as obsessed with this film as any character was with another, so meticulous is his attention to detail, to what is taking place on every inch of the giant movie screen. His characters are not emotionless, but restrained — and restrained emotion packs an even greater punch when it bursts free.

He has neither neglected nor emphasized the issues of Hardy's story and the period: fate, pride, greed and hypocrisy of moral, sexual and religious terms. They are all present for anyone who wants to grasp them.

In the end, though, we will remember "Tess" for its images and its stunning story-telling ability, for its tragic heroine whose fate leads her from dancing in the fields to capture at Stonehenge, from a curious innocence to corruption by hypocrisy and the moral rules of history. Roman Polanski's "Tess" is an epic visual poem, rich in description and impact.

It is, finally, Polanski's masterpiece — and moviegoers should be grateful for the opportunity to share his triumph.

FURTHER NOTES: "Tess" is being shown on one of the largest screens in the city, with sound played loud enough to fill the auditorium — aiding in the production of a thrilling cinematic experience.

"Tess" has been nominated for Best Picture of the year, as well as Best Direction, Best Art Direction, Best Cinematography, Best Costume Design and Best Original Music Score.

Atlanta Pastors Urge Prayers To End Murders

ATLANTA, Ga. (Special) — Atlanta pastors — black and white — are urging their parishioners, as well as the entire nation, to fast and pray every Wednesday afternoon for an end to the murders of black children in the city.

In the past 19 months, 15 black children have been murdered and five more are missing and feared dead, including one black child who was reported missing since Thursday afternoon.

After the body of 14-year-old Lubie "Chuck" Geter was discovered on a wooded roadside Feb. 5, an interracial, interdenominational group of ministers met at First Baptist Church to determine what they could do to stop the murders and to bring the person, or persons, responsible to justice.

Geter frequently attended programs at Memorial Drive Baptist Center, a Christian social ministries operation of the Atlanta Baptist Association and the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

Between the time he was reported missing Jan. 3, and the discovery of the body, Geter's father suffered a heart attack.

Work On Interstate Through Lubbock Years Away

By MARC FLAKE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A minimum of three years will pass before any work is started on the Interstate 27 project through Lubbock — if there are no delays, Dalton Jones, an engineer for the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, said Friday.

A transcript made from recordings of Thursday night's public hearing, attended by about 800 citizens, will be sent to the DHPT Austin office along with a final environmental impact statement within the next 30-60 days, he said.

The information will then be forwarded to the Federal Highway Administration, which would "hopefully" give its authorization to proceed by the end of July, said Jones.

The local DHPT office would begin drawing up right-of-way locations and the plans for the project, with property acquisition expected to begin in February 1982.

According to federal law, all interstate system highways must be under contract by Sept. 30, 1986, he said.

Whether the FHWA will consider any of the route changes suggested by people with interests along the recommended route at the public hearing would affect the I-27 proposal is an unknown factor, said Jones.

"Your guess is as good as mine," he said.

He said most of those speaking during the public comment part of the hearing seemed to favor Route 15, which runs along the west side of Avenue H for half of its length.

Those opposed to the recommended route, mostly people living or owning businesses on the west side of Avenue H, pointed out that Route 9 — running down Avenue A — was cheaper, by about $20 million.

Many said that since President Reagan has asked for budget cuts, the DHPT should consider recommending the cheapest, not the most expensive, route.

George McCleskey, an attorney representing W.D. Wilkins, even borrowed the president's illustration of a stack of thousand dollar bills, which Reagan used during his budget cutting speech Wednesday.

Twenty million dollars would be a stack of such bills six feet high, he said.

Route 15 proposal and angle east at 16th Street toward Avenue A instead of west toward Avenue H.

Gary Riley, of Odessa, who said he represented several business interests on Avenue H, suggested using Route 7, which runs along the east side of Avenue H, because of the lower land values.

"The differences between going down the east side of Avenue H and going down the west side are minor," he said, admitting the differences between Routes 15 and 9 were great.

"And it's also $5 million cheaper," said Riley.

Gilbert Herrera, representing the Brown Berets, and Raul Cortez, representing the Mexican-American Chamber of Commerce, both criticized a statement in the project's environmental impact statement suggesting that because people with $15,000 homes may find it difficult to find comparable housing, they may be asked to accept mobile homes.

"A home is a home and a lot of people don't want to live in a mobile home," said Cortez.

"If we are going to destroy people's lives or homes, let's don't build it," said Herrera.

"concerns" the Mexican-American Chamber of Commerce had about the proposal.

One of those concerns included the problem children attending Bean, Farwell and Hodges elementary schools would have in crossing an interstate highway.

Sister Regina Foppe suggested elevated crosswalks would have to be added to help children cross the highway, adding even more cost to the project.

She also supported the Avenue A (Route 9) proposal, offering several reasons for preferring that route and opposing Route 15.

She said the highway would cut through three ethnic neighborhoods along Avenue H and that Avenue A has traditionally been the most direct north-south route through Lubbock.

According to DHPT figures, Route 15 will cost an estimated $250 million to build and to acquire right-of-way, while Route 9 would cost only $229 million and Route 7 only $244 million.

Even though the figures show Route 15 to be the most expensive, city and county organizations represented at the public hearing said it would be less expensive.

The city's recommendation, read by city councilman Bud Aderton (substituting for an ill Mayor Bill McAlister) also maintained that ethnic neighborhoods would be left intact and that the highway along Route 15 would border neighborhoods, rather than cut through them.

Eddie Richardson, who described himself as the organizer and founder of the Black Chamber of Commerce, said he favored Route 15.

"Everytime we've had progress in America, someone has had to sacrifice," he said. Those who live along the recommended route should consider themselves "pioneers and martyrs" for that progress, he said.

George Long, who identified himself as a retired businessman, asked for all the "quarterbacks to withdraw themelves" so that the "experts" could do the jobs they trained for and to ensure the project is not delayed.

Red Raiders Seek Revenge For Loss

By CHUCK McDONALD
Assistant Sports Editor

DALLAS — The bad news for the SMU Mustangs started early this month when athletic director Russ Potts — the original Mustang Maniac — decided to call it a career here at the Southwest Conference's answer to the Ivy League.

Shortly after the Potts resignation, came news that the SMU football program was under investigation by the NCAA for alleged recruiting violations.

If that wasn't enough, there's always the sad case of the SMU basketball team, currently dead last in the SWC with a 3-11 league slate and 7-17 overall.

No it hasn't been a winter to remember at SMU. And tonight, at 7:30 p.m., the Potties will host Texas Tech at Dallas' brand-new Reunion Arena — home of the NBA Mavericks, not the SMU Mustangs.

First-year coach Dave Bliss, who hasn't been happy with a lot of things in his initial campaign at SMU, isn't exactly overwhelmed about playing a home game in a non-home-court environment.

"Reunion Arena is Russ Potts' place to play," snapped Bliss, "not ours. But we don't really have a home court. Our team is all new and our fans don't even know us yet. We play just as well on the road as we do at home."

"In fact," added Bliss, "we played awful well out in Lubbock."

Bliss needn't remind the Raiders. Tech is only too aware that the hapless Potties were the only team to leave Lubbock with a win this year, handing the Raiders a 58-48 setback on Jan. 26.

The loss to SMU was the fourth in Tech's five-game losing streak that saw the Raiders dip as low as eighth in the conference standings. But, after winning four of their last five, the Raiders are currently 7-6 in SWC action (13-10 for the year) and tied for fourth.

In other SWC games today, third-place Baylor (8-6) is at second-place Houston to battle the 9-4 Cougars. Rice (tied with Tech at 7-6) is at first place Arkansas and Texas A&M is at Texas in a 2:40 p.m. televised matchup.

"Tech has got one of the good teams in the conference," said Bliss. "There's no doubt we got them off-balance last time — they were playing at the bottom of their game."

"I think Jeff Taylor is one of the finest athletes in this part of the country. Bubba Jennings is one of the best freshmen in the conference and (Clarence) Swannegan is one of the toughest post men in the country."

Those three — Taylor, Jennings and Swannegan — of course, comprise the heart of the Red Raider attack. They lead the team in scoring — averaging 38 points a game between them — and also represent the squad's top ballhandler (Jennings) and rebounder (Swannegan).

The 6-6 Swannegan will open at the post with 6-8 Ralph Brewster and 6-6 Ben Hill operating on the wings with 6-4 Taylor and 5-10 Jennings in the backcourt.

SMU will counter with the lineup of 6-7 Johnnie James at the post, 6-7 Kirk Lundbalde and 6-4 Gordon Welch at the forwards with 6-3 Dave Piehler and 6-0 freshman David Gadis at the guards.

Piehler and Gadis, averaging 15.2 and 11.3 points a game respectively, have represented just about all the Pony offense this year. Welch, the lone senior on the SMU roster, is averaging 10.7 a game and was particularly effective against Tech.

"They're a guard-oriented team," said Myers. "They work to get their shots for their guards. They're loose right now and don't have anything to lose, either."

"We gained plenty of respect for them out here," he added. "And when they stack up in that tight zone defense they're pretty hard to attack."

"This team has different goals than every other team in the conference," says Bliss. "We keep things in perspective — we're not hardly the best team in the conference but we work hard and we're getting better."

"We've got seven of our 11 players who are freshmen," added Bliss. "This thing is a temporary situation. We don't plan on being in last place again."

And Myers says that Bliss has done an excellent job with his limited talent.

"They (SMU) hang in there all the way," Myers explained. "You can't expect to get a big lead on them and just coast in."

RAIDER CAGE NOTES: Tonight's game will be broadcast on KFYO radio in Lubbock... Tech's Swannegan currently ranks second in the conference free-throw shooting percentage leaders, 10th in overall scoring, and sixth in rebounding. Freshman Jennings also owns the second-best scoring average of any freshman in the league. Jennings is averaging 11.8 a game, just behind Houston's Clyde Drexler who's averaging 12.1... Tech holds a 32-31 series advantage over SMU in a rivalry that began in 1944, but the Raiders are 11-17 against the Mustangs in Dallas... Myers is 14-8 against the Mustangs...

UIL Membership Axes Disputed Transfer Rule

AUSTIN (AP) — For the first time in almost half a century, high school football and basketball players won't have to sit out a season after changing schools.

University Interscholastic League member schools voted 830-204 to repeal the UIL's controversial transfer rule, starting with the 1981-82 school year.

Results of the referendum were announced Friday.

The rule, adopted in 1933 to halt recruiting wars among football-mad high schools, said a football or basketball player could not play in varsity games for a year after changing schools. Exceptions were made for seniors who had written releases from the superintendents, principals and coaches of their former schools.

UIL Director Bailey Marshall said a pending Texas Supreme Court case challenging the constitutionality of the rule had nothing to do with the referendum to repeal it.

Some control on transfers will remain as a deterrent to recruiting.

In the same vote that repealed the 1933 rule, the UIL schools replaced it with one that permits varsity competition only if an athlete's parents sign a statement that their move was not made because of sports. In addition, the losing school would have to certify that no recruiting nor undue pressures were involved.

The new rule applies to all high school sports, not just football and basketball. Marshall said there had been "concern about recruitment and transfer problems in some of the other athletic activities."

Marshall said the decision to change the rule resulted from several things, including an attitude of "society as a whole" that it was wrong to penalize an athlete because his parents had moved.

"This feeling has been there for a number of years, and more and more every year... Probably more people are moving now, and consequently more athletes were affected," Marshall said.

In addition, he said, the UIL schools were satisfied that the new rule was workable and "offered the best of two worlds" — allowing transfer students to play and preventing recruitment of athletes.

The UIL's Legislative Council had a special committee study the problem last year and received a recommendation that the 1933 rule should be abolished. The council placed the proposal on the referendum ballot.

The UIL had contested a lawsuit, in which a student at Anderson High School in Austin, John Sullivan, contended the transfer rule was unconstitutional.

The Texas Civil Liberties Union provided a lawyer for Sullivan and argued that the rule violated the constitutional right to travel freely among the states.

But the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here said the rule was constitutional because it applied equally to students moving within Texas and those arriving from other states.

Lewis Smashes World Record

FORT WORTH (AP) — Sophomore Carl Lewis of the University of Houston, who earlier had become the third-fastest 60-yard indoor sprinter in the world, smashed the world indoor long jump record with a leap of 27 feet 10 1/4 inches Friday night in the Southwest Conference indoor track and field championships.

Lewis, the NCAA outdoor and indoor long jump champ, bested the old mark of 27-6 by Mississippi College's Larry Myricks, set last year.

He knew he had the record the minute he hit the sand. He jumped into the

City Tennis Teams

Play Dual Matches

The Coronado and Monterey tennis teams will be on the road today for dual matches against a pair of highly ranked teams, Odessa Permian and Midland High.

The Mustangs, who routed Lubbock High and a pair of Amarillo opponents during the past week, play Midland at 9 a.m. and Permian at 2 p.m. Monterey faces Permian at 9 a.m. and Midland at 2 p.m.

air with his fist clenched, then ran back to the tape area to make certain he hadn't fouled. He then celebrated again after officials studied the tape for several minutes to make sure the mark was legal.

The balanced Arkansas Razorbacks captured the championship with 96 points to 81 for second-place Houston.

Other finishers included Texas A&M with 74, SMU 66, Texas 64, Baylor 55, Rice and TCU 21 and Texas Tech 18.

Lewis ran the 60-yard dash in 6.06 seconds, which was just off the world record of 6.04 set by Stanley Floyd in the Dallas Times Herald meet only two weeks ago.

Houston McTear has run a 6.05. Lewis, of course, shattered the old SWC indoor record of 6.09 seconds by Herkie Walls of Texas, who finished fourth in 6.18.

"I was really just trying to jump to win. When I hit it, I knew it was on. It felt on," the 19-year-old Willingborough, N.J., athlete said.

Lewis was amazed he had jumped so far because "my previous best long jump was 27-4 but that was wind-aided outdoors. It'll probably hit me on the bus on the way back to Houston."

Running in the 60-yard dash helps his speed, he said.

"I figure if I can outrun people in the dashes, there's no reason I can't jump farther than people," he said.

"I lifted a lot of weights in the off season, and I'm stronger now, and I can accelerate with the shorter runners," Lewis said. "I was third last year."

Lewis got off to a slow start, but caught the pack and passed it at the 50 yard mark, nipping Texas A&M's Mark Richardson, who was clocked in 6.11 seconds.

Several other records fell, including the triple jump of 53 feet 11 1/4 inches by Southern Methodist's Keith Connor of Great Britain and the 9:51.2 distance medley relay by Baylor.

The old triple jump record was 51-7 1/4 by Houston's Keith Gilreath. Arkansas owned the old distance medley relay mark of 9:59.77.

The Baylor foursome in the distance medley relay included Kyle Wargo, Bobby Burkhalter, John Robinson and anchor Todd Harbour.

"I was happy with my record considering I had a heel problem. I bruised it," Connor said. "I had to be careful because the boards are very hard, and if I hit a support wrong it's all over for me."

as added another homer, double and five RBI as Lubbock Christian College buried the Baylor Bears 13-6 in the first game of a double-header Friday.

The Bears, behind pitcher Paul Farmer's six-hitter, shut down the LCC bats in the second game to score a 6-2 win.

The split gives LCC a 2-4 record this season, while Baylor opened its season on the twinbill.

Montemayor and Cardenas wasted little time jumping on Baylor starter and loser Jim Arnold. Following a Joe Moon single in the top of the first, Steve Cargil sacrificed him to second. Montemayor followed with a 390-foot shot over the right field wall.

Jeff Craig was hit by a pitch and Lewis Stephenson drew a walk before Cardenas clubbed the inning's second homer, giving the Chaparrals a 5-0 edge.

Baylor etched a run in the bottom of the frame before the Chaps went to work again.

With two out, Cargil drew a walk off

Arnold. Montemayor then slapped his second homer.

Leland Creel, Craig and Stephenson followed with singles before Cardenas followed with another run-scoring hit.

The Bears scored two more in the second and third innings off LCC starter Jeremy Lanahan (1-0) to make it 8-5, but the Chaps weren't finished banging the ball yet.

In the top of the fourth, Creel singled, Craig was hit by a pitch and Creel came around on a wild pitch. Cardenas followed with a double, scoring Craig.

Montemayor picked up where he left off in the fifth inning. After his first two homers, a had flied out, but lifted his third shot out of the park with Cargil aboard, chasing Arnold.

Vic Saldino came on in relief for Baylor, surrendering the game's final run on a seventh-inning Montemayor double that scored Randy Ledbetter.

Farmer surrendered single runs in each of the first two innings of the second game before blanking the Chaparrals the rest of the way.

Creel hit a fielder's choice following singles by Moon and Montemayor in the first inning to plate Moon. In the second, Karl Mahan slapped a two-out double and came home on a single by Gary Hix.

But Baylor came back in the fourth inning to tie the game on Brad Oliver's two-run homer and went ahead in the fifth when Brent Coker slapped a two-run single.

Rick Coskrey (0-1) was charged with the loss in relief of LCC starter Farmer. Davalos.

The two teams square off again today at 1 p.m. in another double-header. The Chaparrals are expected to start Rod Cline (0-1) and Noel Delgado (0-1).

Barber Moves To LA Open Lead

'MR. X' GRABS LEAD — Miller Barber holds the ball after sinking a difficult putt on the 14th green to contribute to his second-round 67 that gave him a two-day 137 total and the second round lead in the Los Angeles Open Friday. (AP Laserphoto)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miller Barber, the senior golfer known as Mr. X, grabbed the midpoint lead Friday in the $300,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open.

Barber, who will be 50 March 31, proved he isn't ready for the rocking chair.

"You're only as old as you feel," the bald Texan said. "I think I played that second round as well as I can play. I made more putts in the past two days than in all the other 1981 tournaments."

Barber shot a 67 Friday for a 36-hole total of 133 and a 1-stroke lead in the 72-hole event that carries a $54,000 winner's check.

He said a victory in Los Angeles could be a peak of his career, and that the older golfers hit the ball straighter than the youngsters who now lead the Professional Golfers' Association pack.

"When we started on the tour 25 years ago, the fairways were narrower and the greens were smaller and we had to have finesse," said Barber, who owns his own course in Texas. "Yes, we're older but straighter and on this Riviera (Country Club) course you've got to have finesse."

Barber said he gained the "Mr X" title because in the early years of his career he didn't want to talk about his bogeys or double bogeys or those from other golfers. So he would make himself scarce.

He didn't talk to the media then, but he does today most readily, trying in a way to promote the senior golfers' tour for which he becomes eligible in a month.

First-round leader Gil Morgan, a member of golf's younger generation at 34, shot a 69, good for second place with a 134 total. Jack Nicklaus shot a 70 for 141, Lee Trevino a 68-140, and Tom Watson a 67-139. It took a score of 143 or better to reach the final two rounds.

David Graham, the winner at Phoenix, was one of the casualties.

"The wind was gusty early in the morning and then it went down," Morgan said. "You know you can make a living on the tour without winning a tournament, but it's great to win one."

Tied at 136 were two of the first-round runners-up, John Cooke and Bruce Lietzke, each with 70 in the second round, along with Tom Weiskopf, who shot a 65 after an opening-round 71.

Three Gain Tie For LPGA Lead

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Defending U.S. Open champion Amy Alcott carded a 67 Friday to pull into a three-way tie with Ayako Okamoto and Sandra Post for the second-round lead of the LPGA's $150,000 Bent Tree Classic.

Miss Okamoto, who bested Mrs. Post and defending champion JoAnne Carner for the first-round lead, shot a 71 while Mrs. Post had a 70 as the three players finished at 138, 6-under-par.

Mrs. Carner shot a 71 over the 6,088-yard course for fourth place at 139 while Jo Ann Washam had a 71 to place fifth with 141 in the Ladies Professional Golf Association event.

Mrs. Alcott shot to the top of the leader board from a pack of nine tied at 71 after the first round. She had six birdies and one bogey on the front nine, and on the back nine birdied the 11th, 13th and 18th hole.

Playing in the afternoon, Mrs. Alcott captured a share of the lead when she sank a putt from 15 feet out at the 18th hole.

"I couldn't be more pleased," she said. "It was very difficult out there. This is the best round I've shot so far this year. I'm ready to play good golf."

Tied for sixth at 142 were Hollis Stacy and Sally Little. Beth Daniel, LPGA 1980 Player of the Year, and Dot Germain were tied for eighth at 143. Kathy McMullen and Patty Sheehan were tied for ninth at 144.

Seventy-three players on Friday survived the cut and posted two-round scores of 153 or better.

Miss Okamoto began the day with a strong showing but faded in the back nine.

Austin Eliminates Lady Chaps

"In women's basketball, there's always a real possibility of an upset compared with men's basketball, where past performances will not vary a whole lot." —Lubbock Christian College coach Dave Simpson, Feb. 18, 1981.

By ERIC GALE
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Dave Simpson knew all along that there is no such thing as a sure thing. He believes in the possibility of the unexpected, of the big surprise. But he did not believe it would happen to his Lubbock Christian College women's team in the first round of the TAIAP Division III playoffs Friday night in the LCC fieldhouse. Simpson could not believe what he was seeing . . . but he watched all the same as Austin College beat the Lady Chaps 63-53 to end their tournament participation on opening night and finish an otherwise upbeat LCC season.

I'LL TAKE THAT — Austin College's Susan MacCallum (34) cuts in front of LCC's Sherry Brown to grab a steal in first-half action in the 63-53 Kangaroo win Friday. The loss ended the season for the Lady Chaps. (Staff photo by Bob Sigmon)

LCC had indeed defeated Austin on three different occasions earlier this season. LCC entered the game with a 12-15 record compared to Austin's 2-14. LCC fully expected to advance to the second round of the tourney against No. 2-seeded McMurtry at 11:30 a.m. today.

Alas, the Lady 'Roos, who played masterfully for the majority of the game's 40 minutes, will meet McMurtry while Trinity, which beat Sul Ross 59-55 Friday, plays top-seeded Tarleton at 9:30 a.m. The consolation game between today's early losers is scheduled for 4 p.m. with the championship game to follow at 6. The top three finishers — LCC had been seeded No. 3 — advance to the TAIAP III regional tournament in Abilene in March.

"I don't know whether we took Austin too lightly or whether I just didn't prepare our girls well enough," a beleaguered Simpson said afterward. "I was very confident of this game. I was afraid of, and already thinking ahead, to tomorrow's game with McMurtry."

That LCC game has since been canceled.

The Lady 'Roos used almost miraculous shooting to lead LCC throughout. They were an impeccable 13 of 19 from the field in the first half and finished the game at 59 percent, 28 of 44. That is a difficult shooting percentage to overcome in any league. "We've been shooting 28 percent as a team," Austin coach Barbara Lawson said. "I've been saying all year that we've got the talent to be tough once we started shooting; tonight we hit. It's been such a long season for us that it feels really good to win at the end."

Austin scored the game's first eight points and led 27-20 at halftime. LCC played sluggish first-half defense and this, combined with 29 percent field-goal shooting overall, spelled defeat.

The Lady 'Roos moved ahead 44-32 on Terri King's basket from the top of the key with 12:17 left and the lead ballooned to 54-38 six minutes later.

A minor LCC comeback bore no fruit. "I feel disappointed for the ladies," Simpson said. "I thought we deserved a good tournament showing. Everyone felt confident that we'd finish in the top three. But it's been a long season, maybe too long."

Tech Netters To Host Buffs

The Texas Tech men's tennis team will attempt to avenge last weekend's loss to West Texas State when it hosts the Buffaloes today at 6 p.m. at The Lubbock Racquet Club.

WT defeated the Red Raiders 6-3 last Friday and went on to win the West Texas State Invitational Tournament in Canyon.

Red Raider Women Fall In Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (Special) — The Texas Tech women's tennis team dropped its second match in as many days to a nationally-ranked opponent in the University of Arizona Invitational tournament here Friday, losing a 7-2 decision to Utah.

Regina Revello, the Raiders' top singles player, outlasted Utah's Patty Penn 7-5, 6-7, 6-3 and Jill Crutchfield and Kathy Lawson, Tech's No. 2 doubles team, defeated Sharon Tarbert and Nerae Pardee 6-3, 6-2 for the two Raider victory points.

Tech, now 14-13 in dual match competition, will return to action Thursday when it takes on South Plains College in Plainview.

Raider coach Ron Damron was disappointed with that loss and hopes today's match will turn things around before Arkansas comes to town for the Southwest Conference opener Tuesday.

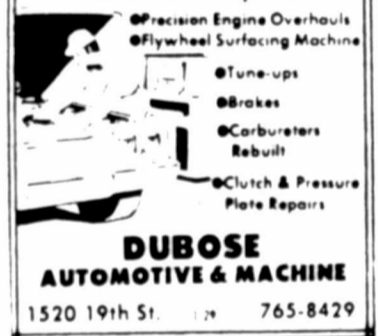

Damron will send Jeff Bramlett, David Earhart, Zahid Maniya, Fred Viancos, Mark Thompson and Lane Carroll into battle against the Buffs in singles.

The doubles teams will be Bramlett-Carroll, Viancos-Maniya and Thompson-Earhart. It will be the first time Bramlett and Carroll have played No. 1 doubles together.

"We've got to find the right teams to put together before we play Arkansas," Damron said. "Maybe we'll discover something Saturday night."

The Raiders will serve it up against the highly-ranked Razorbacks at noon Tuesday at The Lubbock Racquet Club.

Eagle Girls Advance To TAPS Title Game

ABILENE (Special) — The Lubbock Christian High girls' basketball team clinched a berth in the Texas Association of Private Schools (TAPS) state championship game Friday with a 64-43 victory over Dallas Tyler Street in the semifinals.

Opposing LCHS in today's state finale will be Abilene Christian, the same team the Eagles defeated for last year's championship 58-53.

"We stole that game from them last year," coach Dale Pectol said. "They led the entire game, but we overtook them in the last two minutes. It will be tough to beat them for the state title two years in a row, but I think we're ready."

Being ready for a close game was what catapulted the Eagles into the finals, according to Pectol. Tyler Street, which has blown teams out all season long in rolling to a 26-4 record, was not prepared for the game to be close, so LCHS had the advantage.

Glenna Jeffreys, who was the game's leading scorer with 16 points, scored 10 points in the opening period and Jill Towns hit all of her six points in the second quarter.

"I was happy to see the players take over like that," Pectol said. "We really had a balanced attack with different players taking over like that."

For Tyler Street, Jill Henry was the team leader with 12 points and Jane Bennett added 10.

Plainview Turns Away Coronado Cagers In OT

PLAINVIEW (Special) — The Plainview Bulldogs used a fourth-quarter rally to force an overtime period and outscored Coronado 3-2 to take a 57-56 District 4-5A thriller here Friday night.

The Bulldogs actually won the game at the free throw line. CHS outshot Plainview from the field by sinking eight more field goals, but only went to the free throw line only one time and missed it. Meanwhile, the Bulldogs were successful on 17 of 26 attempts to win their seventh district game in eight outings this season.

The Mustangs had two players to score in double figures as Cody Love and Mike Ahlenius each hit 16 points. John Lord and Mark Sobosie added eight each.

For Plainview, Lee Carter netted 16, Gil Wright hit 15 and Jerry Walker pumped in 14 points.

The loss drops the Mustangs to 2-5 in District 4-5A play and 13-17 for the season.

Matadors Pull Away From Cubs

By RAY GLASS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Estacado has blown more than its share of leads this season and the Mats looked ripe for another folding act Friday through the third period of Friday's District 1-4A game with Brownfield.

The up-and-down Matadors led the Cubs by 11 points when Estacado post Danny Boyd crashed into Brent Wilkes and was whistled for his fourth foul with 3:12 to play in the quarter.

Boyd joined Mat starters James Barnett and Jerry Gray on the bench, each saddled with four fouls, and after Wilkes hit one of his two free throws the margin was down to 10 points and the Cubs seemed primed for a rally. But the Estacado reserves picked up the slack for the remainder of the quarter and the Mats went on to a 77-57 victory that eliminated the Cubs from the 1-4A title hunt.

Estacado, also out of the district race, improved its league mark to 2-2 and 15-15 for the season while the Cubs slipped to 1-2 and 18-10.

"The momentum had switched so well, I was pleased with the way our people came off the bench," Estacado coach J.J. Wood said.

The Matadors led by 10 points, 37-27, at halftime, the exact situation they were in in the first game between the two schools when the Cubs rallied for a five-point victory in Brownfield. And the outlook dimmed considerably for the Mats in the first half of the third period. The teams swapped bucket for bucket but Barnett, averaging more than 23 points a game for Estacado, went to the bench with his fourth foul at the 6:46 mark.

Gray, the team's leading rebounder and stalwart on defense, picked up his fourth flag with 4:18 on the clock and Boyd followed a minute later.

But the Cubs could not take advantage in the final three minutes of the game and trailed 49-37 entering the final eight minutes when Barnett, Gray and Boyd re-entered the game.

The Matadors put their running game into high gear in the final period, outscoring their guests 28-20 with Barnett accounting for 14 and Kenneth Cade tacking on nine.

The Cubs, behind the 16-foot jump shots of Ralph Rodriguez, cut the lead to 10 points at 59:49 with 3:47 to play. But that was the closest they would come as Barnett hit a layin and two free throws and Gray added two charity tosses and the Mats led 65-49 with 1:53 to play.

"We didn't take advantage of things," Brownfield coach Benny Ward said. "Ralph hit five in a row there and he didn't see the ball after that. We're re-passing to him."

"They were running the break like crazy on us. And we lost our heads but you can't give a team like Estacado a chance like that or they'll roll," he said.

"We got four to six length-of-the-court passes — we call them touchdown passes — in the fourth quarter. That was the key to breaking it open," said Wood.

"We got some easy buckets on them and they (the Cubs) didn't hit real well from the outside. And they didn't hurt us at the free-throw line this time. Last game they beat us at the line," he said.

Barnett, despite sitting out almost the entire third quarter, tied with Cade for game scoring honors with 24 points apiece. Boyd was the only other Mat in double figures, tossing in 10.

Rodriguez and Tommy Joe Fisher paced the Cub scoring attack with 16 points apiece. Rodriguez had 14 of his in the second half, 10 in the final eight minutes, while Fisher had 12 in the first half and was saddled with four fouls most of the second half.

Brownfield's leading scorer, 6-foot-3 Dirk Bush, hit only four field goals and four of eight free throws and finished with 12 points.

"I think Bush kept himself down," Wood said. "He was just rushing. I think the tempo of the game disrupted his pattern of shooting."

Estacado led 20-14 after the first period and 26-22 with five minutes to play in the second period. Then Cade hit five of the next nine points as the Mats ran off a 9-2 spurt and led 35-24.

Ragged Westerners Charge Past Herd

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Lubbock High didn't play pretty basketball Friday night in beating Hereford 76-62, but to coach Craig Wells, it was nice enough to take home to mama.

The Westerners scored their highest point total of the season in recording their third district win but committed 20 turnovers, including an unbelievable seven in the first half of the first quarter.

But Wells was in a mood to accentuate the positive. To him, it was the first two items on the list that were most important.

"I was real pleased with the way we performed," Wells said. "We really played well as a team and that's the first time since district started."

"You can attribute that directly to two practices with everybody there — and those were the first two since district, too."

"We played ragged tonight, but you wouldn't believe how bad our offense has been the last three games," Wells added. "This was the kind of game where I expected lots of turnovers. We pushed the ball up and down the court so much."

Both teams played poorly in the first period as Lubbock High turned the ball over eight times and Hereford six en route to an 18-15 Westerner advantage.

But midway through the second period Lubbock High exploded. Leading only 24-23 with 5:21 to play in the half, the Westerners scored 10 straight points to open a lead they never relinquished.

James Johnson, playing only his second game since injuring his knee before district play started, opened the string by driving the baseline for a layup with 5:03 left.

Charlie Quade pumped in both ends of a one-and-one at the 4:23 mark. Kirk Cole followed in a missed field goal try at 3:56, Johnson canned a basket at the 3:46 mark following a Herd turnover on an in-bounds pass and Mike Hill tossed in another pair of free throws as Lubbock High raced to a 34-23 advantage.

The Westerners increased that advantage to 13 points by getting back-to-back baskets from Quade and Brad Ruff, the last coming with 5:28 to go in the third quarter, and then moved ahead by 15 as Quade and Johnson again chunked in back-to-back field goals.

Hereford managed to trim the margin to 10 at 69:59 with 1:37 left in the game, but could never come closer.

A couple of surprises are at the top of the scoring list for LHS. Charlie Quade topped the Westerners with 18 points, one of the highest totals of his career, and newly-returned Johnson contributed another 16.

Following those two were Cole with 12 (all but two in the first half as he aggravated his bad knee), Hill with 12 and Ruff with 11.

"Charlie Quade played good offense," Wells said. "And James Johnson is back playing as good as he did before he got hurt. He was a key to the game, not the difference, but a difference."

"But the thing that pleased me the most is that we showed more patience on offense than we have in a long time."

The final margin equalled the biggest Lubbock High has recorded this year. The Westerners beat Odessa by 14, but that was way back on Dec. 4. Lubbock High hasn't come within 15 points of the total since losing to Plainview 74-65 in the first game of district.

All that adds up, Wells hopes, to signs that his team is coming together in time for the District 4-5A post-season tournament.

"I think the main thing we got out of this win is confidence going into the Coronado game (next Tuesday at the Mustang gym) and the district tournament," Wells acknowledged. "That district tournament is important for us."

Two Tech Golf Teams Enter Holder Tourney

SNYDER — Western Texas College will host the third annual T.W. Holder Intercollegiate Golf Tournament here on the WTC course beginning today and running through Sunday.

A total of 22 teams from eight junior colleges and seven universities will compete for three team trophies and three medalist trophies. Defending champion Texas Tech will be on hand to open its 1981 season.

Leading the Red Raiders into action will be first-year head coach Gene Mitchell. Mitchell will send two teams from Tech to compete for the title.

"I feel like it is important to get as many of our players used to tournament competition as possible," said Mitchell. "Right now we have 10 guys who have been playing pretty good golf and I feel that they deserve the chance to play."

Making up the Red Raiders first unit will be the squad of Adam Kase, Larry Seligmann, Rex Robertson, Steve Ferris and Scott Barrett. Steve Daniels, Steve Chambliss, Kelly McElhane, Scott Jones and Mike Cotter will round out the Tech entrants.

Kase, Seligmann and Barrett all played for the Raiders during the fall season. Kase led all Raiders in the fall with a stroke average of 76.3 and Seligmann was second with a 77.3 average. He will be looking to improve on last year's third-place medalist finish in the T.W. Holder event.

WTC is entering three teams in the tourney scheduled to open with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. today.

Lamesa Wins Golf Tournament

The Mustangs improved their score eight strokes and finished with a 636 total.

First-round leader Monterey dropped to third by shooting 20 strokes higher than in the first round. The Plainsmen scored a 309-329 — 638 for the tourney.

Borg Whips McEnroe In Challenge

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Bjorn Borg, playing textbook tennis, hammered John McEnroe 6-2, 6-4 Friday night, clinching the Benson and Hedges Tennis Challenge.

Borg had whipped McEnroe 6-0, 6-4 in the opener of the three-match series 24 hours earlier and left the American reeling as he protected his status as the world's top-ranked tennis player.

"I played three times better than I did Thursday night and still only won two more games," McEnroe said.

"He's outplayed me twice now and I'll just have to try and salvage something out of the five-setter in Melbourne on Saturday," McEnroe said he found the Swede's game to be almost flawless.

"I thought if I played well tonight he might make some mistakes but I just felt I had to do more and more as the game went on," he said.

Borg said he thought the match was his best performance since he defeated Czech Ivan Lendl in the Grand Prix Masters final in New York last month.
