The beautiful springlike weather that has covered the South Plains early this week is expected to continue, with temperature readings in the low 80s anticipated today and Thursday.

The National Weather Service said days will be fair and continued warm throughout the week with skies becoming partly cloudy Thursday.

Winds will be southwesterly today at 15 to 20 mph, according to weather officials, and today's low will be in the middle 40s.

Unseasonably warm temperatures were seen across Texas Tuesday as temperatures climbed into the 70s and 80s statewide. Clear skies prevailed across the northwestern half of Texas, while fair skies were the rule over the remainder of the state.

Mild nights and warm days through today are predicted for Texas with intermittent light rain over south Texas.

Lubbock power and light will begin soliciting service in four recently annexed subdivisions which have been served by South Plains Electric Cooperative for 40 years, according to an announcement at the Electric Utilities Board meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Board members also approved the sale of $5.5 million in revenue bonds to finance a three-year capital improvements project. The City Council will consider the bond sale at its March 12 meeting.

Man Faces Charges In Officer Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Attempted capital murder charges have been filed against a man who reportedly shot a Dallas police officer after stepping from his car nude and saying, "I'm sorry."

Stephen Ray Nethery, 20, of Richardson, was charged Monday for the shooting of officer John McCarthy, 24. Municipal Judge Nina Landbeth set bond at $200,000.

Judge Landbeth also set bond at $50,000 on an armed robbery charge filed last August against the suspect. Nethery is thought to be one of two men who robbed a man of $40 at gunpoint in a restaurant parking lot.

McCarthy was in critical but stable condition Tuesday in Dallas Presbyterian Hospital with a gunshot wound to the head.

Police said the shooting occurred about 2 a.m. Monday when McCarthy and his partner, officer Phillip Brown, spotted a car parked on the shoulder of a road near White Rock Lake in Dallas.

When the two officers checked the car, they found the suspect, who was sitting nude in the front seat, and a 22-year-old woman, who was wearing only blue jeans.

Police said the officers told the couple they could be arrested for indecent exposure and told them to get dressed and leave the area. Nethery then stepped from the car and said, "Officers, I'm sorry," and fired several shots at McCarthy.

Police said Nethery then dropped the .32-caliber pistol and ran to the lake and jumped in, but surrendered after Brown fired several shots at the suspect. Nethery was not injured.

the Lakeridge Country Club Addition in south and southwest Lubbock.

City Trial Attorney Jim Brewster told The Avalanche-Journal the city owned utility has been authorized by the Public Utilities Commission to serve the areas, but that several motions for rehearings have delayed action on the project. The last motion was overruled a week ago and he has been waiting for verification before giving LP&L the go-ahead, he said.

Although South Plains Electric Cooperative still has the case under appeal in a Travis County District Court, LP&L still will be offering service, he said.

Dale Johnson, a South Plains attorney, said the company would not seek an injunction to prevent LP&L from providing service, but noted if the appeal goes in South Plains' favor, the city would have to take its service out of the subdivisions.

He emphasized both utilities are certified by the PUC to serve the four areas, comparing the situation to the dual service offered by LP&L and Southwestern Public Service throughout most of the city.

Jim Blagg, assistant city manager, said it has taken the city two years to offer service to the four areas because of a provision in the Public Utilities Regulatory Act which requires the filing of a certificate of necessity.

The city is working with the Texas Public Power Association which has submitted a bill in the Texas Legislature to allow a city to serve any newly annexed area, he said.

The $9 million in revenue bonds will finance three capital improvements projects desired by LP&L, will not affect the city's debt and will not contribute to a rate hike, according to city finance director Robert Massengale.

The three projects include upgrading the Cooperative, Vicksburg and Chalker substations — extending a transmission line from 82nd Street to Chalker — at an estimated cost of $1,250,000; extending the second circuit of an existing transmission line from its termination point at 50th Street and East Loop 289 to Plant Number Two on the north side of the city at an estimated cost of $3,050,000; and upgrading the present computer capabilities and installing remotes at all major substations to fully coordinate line switching and relaying at an estimated $220,000, Massengale said.

The capital improvements project will also include annual district extensions for three years, which run about $1.5 million a year, he said.

All debt responsibilities will be borne by the utility and the bonds will be paid off through current capital expenditure funds, he said.

"Actually, it will allow us to relieve the cash flow by converting capital expenditures into debt service," he said.

The bond sale should take place in September so that projects can be completed by the summer of 1982, Massengale said.

In other business, the board received a report that gas prices from Pioneer Natural Gas could go up and it approved a change in its logo.

Assistant City Manager Jim Blagg said a two-year contract with Pioneer Natural Gas which held its rates to a specific level was due to expire and the city would be negotiating with the utility on a price increase.

The logo, currently black lettering on a yellow background, was changed by the board to white lettering on a processed blue background.

Psychiatrist Examines Vickie Daniel

HOUSTON (AP) — Vickie Daniel underwent a battery of court-ordered psychological tests Tuesday in her fight to retain custody of two children by her slain husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., her attorney said.

Mrs. Daniel's two small boys — Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 14 months — also were given examinations by a Houston psychiatrist.

However, Mrs. Daniel's attorney Andrew Lannie said he did not know when the test results would be presented to the court.

A hearing is scheduled Wednesday on motions filed in the child custody suit brought by Jean Daniel Murph, sister and executrix of the former legislator's estate.

Among the motions to be considered include a change of venue request to move the child custody proceedings from Liberty to Tyler in East Texas and a motion for sanctions against Mrs. Daniel for failing to appear last Friday when depositions were taken, Lannie said.

Mrs. Daniel is charged with murder in the Jan. 19 shooting death of estranged husband at their spacious ranch home north of the Southeast Texas town of Liberty.

The 33-year-old mother, who also has a 12-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, admitted she fired the fatal shot but claimed it was self defense. Defense attorneys still have not filed a motion for change of venue on the murder charge, Lannie said.

Mrs. Murph, who lives in the Dallas suburb of Richardson, filed suit last week seeking custody of her brother's two children and claiming her sister-in-law is an unfit mother.

Mrs. Murph's petition said her sister-in-law's "emotional stability" will be an important case in the custody case. The petition noted that Mrs. Daniel received "psychiatric care and treatment" early last year and was hospitalized. State District Judge W.G. "Dub" Wood granted a request by Mrs. Murph at a hearing Monday that Mrs. Daniel and the two children undergo psychiatric examinations in Houston.

Firm Conspired To Evade Iran Export Ban

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A New York electrical company pleaded guilty Tuesday to federal charges that it conspired to evade a presidential ban on exports to Iran.

Geils & Foerst Electric Inc. of New Rochelle, N.Y., was the first firm charged by the Justice Department with ignoring former President Jimmy Carter's April 7, 1980, executive order banning the transport of goods to Iran.

The Justice Department filed a four-count criminal information against G&F Electric in federal court Tuesday, charging the company violated the International Economic Emergency Powers Act. Carter's executive order was issued under the auspices of that act.

The company pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Clarkson Fisher and faces up to $80,000 in fines. U.S. Attorney William Robertson also said the company has consented to an additional $10,000 civil forfeiture.

G&F Electric pleaded guilty to charges it arranged to export 250 welding machines to Iran through a West German company last April on a route taking the equipment through the Soviet Union.

In July of 1979, G&F Electric received an order for the welders from Atul Hosfeini of Moama & Co. of Tehran, which was forwarded to Onan-Global Ltd., of Minneapolis, Robertson said.

G&F Electric is owned by Leonard Freeman and acted as a distributor for Onan-Global.

After longshoremen's unions refused to load cargo bound for Iran early in 1980, G&F Electric arranged with Hosfeini to have the welders shipped through an import-export firm in Augsburg, West Germany, Robertson said.

According to the charges, G&F Electric went ahead with its plans to ship the equipment from Jersey City, N.J., but the shipment was stopped by U.S. Customs officials.

Expert Says Murder Weapon Can Be Fired Without Clip

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

It would have been possible for a bullet to have been fired from the gun which killed Meiva Martinez Zamora even after the ammunition clip was removed, a witness for the prosecution admitted under cross-examination Tuesday as Guadalupe Alberto Herrera's murder trial continued.

Herrera is accused of shooting Mrs. Zamora July 18, 1980, inside Mrs. Zamora's 2115 20th St. apartment. The murder victim's younger brother and brother-in-law both have identified Herrera in court as Mrs. Zamora's boyfriend and the man they found in her apartment after she had been shot.

Prosecutor Jim Bob Darnell questioned a Department of Public Safety ballistics expert Tuesday afternoon about the type of weapon used in the shooting. Jack Benton told the court the .25-caliber automatic pistol had been fired from a distance of from three to 15 feet.

Benton told the jury he had performed several safety checks on the weapon and the weapon cannot fire when its safety catch is in use. He also testified it takes nine pounds of pressure to pull the trigger and the weapon cannot be described as operating on a "hair trigger."

But under cross-examination by defense attorney Tom Cannon, Benton told the court that because of the weapon's design, the ammunition clip can be removed from a .25-caliber automatic and still leave a bullet in the gun.

And Benton admitted that an automatic weapon is not like a revolver where the operator can see how many bullets are left in the chambers — a person might not be able to tell if a bullet was left in an automatic pistol.

Presiding Judge John McFall recessed the court at 4 p.m. Tuesday, instructing the jury to return at 9 a.m. this morning to hear testimony from the state's last witness before the defense begins its case.

According to Mrs. Zamora's sister, Olga Martinez Deanda, Herrera was seeing another woman as well as her sister during the time they were dating. Her sister loved Herrera, Mrs. Deanda testified Tuesday, but knew marriage was impossible because of the other woman involved.

Business Problem Workshop Planned By Executives

The Lubbock Chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, will present a workshop on "How to Operate and Manage a Profitable Business in the 1980s" from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. March 12 at the American State Bank Operations Building.

The workshop will consist of a series of seminars in 40-minute periods throughout the day. Discussion at the sessions will be on "Personal Qualities Needed to Operate a Business Successfully," "Advertising and Marketing," "Records, Your Management Tool," "Local Business Outlook," "Inventory Management," "Borrowing Capital," "Information and Help Available to You in Formulating Your Business Plan" and "Salesmanship."

With the exception of three instances, the entire program of speakers will be drawn from the SCORE roster.

Enrollment in the workshop is $3 in advance or $5 at the door. For more information call SCORE at 762-7462.

Mrs. Deanda told the 237th District court jury that she and Mrs. Zamora were very close and had often discussed their personal problems. Her sister had been dating Herrera for about a year, Mrs. Deanda testified.

The dead woman's sister testified that Mrs. Zamora was afraid of guns and never kept one in the house.

Mrs. Deanda described to the court how she found her sister after the woman had been shot. She knew Herrera had been at the house and the defendant was still in Mrs. Zamora's apartment when she and several other family members rushed in after the shooting.

She held her sister in her arms, she told the court, waiting for the ambulance to arrive. She recalled seeing Herrera and her brother-in-law fighting before Herrera fled the house.

Herrera was taken into custody when he turned himself in to sheriff's deputies several days after Mrs. Zamora's death. Herrera's car had been abandoned at Mrs. Zamora's home — the scene of the shooting — and was impounded after two witnesses told police Herrera was the man they found in Mrs. Zamora's apartment after the shooting.

Mrs. Zamora was pronounced dead at her home, apparently surviving for only a few minutes after she was shot. Police found a .25 caliber automatic pistol behind a refrigerator in the apartment and recovered an ammunition clip containing four live rounds close by, reports indicate.

A single live round was found on the edge of the couch, but officers were unable to locate the spent shell from the .25 caliber slug that killed the woman.

Diet Doctor's Former Lover Found Guilty

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Jean Harris was convicted Tuesday of second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of Scarsdale Diet author Dr. Herman Tarnower, her lover of 14 years who had jilted her for a younger woman.
Murder in the second degree carries a mandatory minimum sentence of 15 years to life in prison and a maximum of 25 years to life.
Mrs. Harris sat at the defense table with her four attorneys and displayed no reaction as jury foreman Russell Von Glahn pronounced the word "guilty" three times for the murder charge and two weapons counts.

But two defense lawyers burst into tears at the table and Mrs. Harris turned to one of them, Bonnie Steingart, and patted her knee consolingly.
Judge Russell R. Leggett ordered Mrs. Harris remanded to the Westchester County jail to await sentencing on March 20.
"I can't sit in jail," Mrs. Harris said softly to her attorney. But she did not resist and was led away by two sheriff's deputies at 6:02 p.m.
Second-degree murder is the highest form of murder that she could be convicted of in New York state. First-degree murder applies only to the killing of law officers and prison guards, but the maximum penalty is the same.

Conviction on second-degree criminal possession of a weapon is punishable by a prison term of up to 15 years and third-degree possession is punishable by up to four years.
Leggett had told the jurors they need only find that, in the instant Mrs. Harris fired any one of the shots in Tarnower's bedroom the night of last March 10, she intended his death.

Clements' Prison Fund Plea Backed

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Rodney Tow, D-Woodlands, has filed a bill calling for the $35 million in emergency funds that Gov. Bill Clements wants for construction of prison housing.

Tow said the money would help alleviate overcrowding in Texas prisons. U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice has said the crowded conditions are the cause of many problems in the prison system.

Clements wants three new units, housing 2,880 men, to be built at existing prisons in Walker and Anderson counties.

Tow said quick passage of his bill would enable the units to be built by Nov. 15. The work would be done by private contractors.

"This, combined with construction that is already underway at the Gatesville Unit in Coryell County and some form of work furlough program, will allow the Texas prison system to permanently relieve its overcrowding within three years," Tow said in a release.

Senate Honors Local Businessman

The Texas Senate recently honored Lubbock businessman Alex K. Cooke with a resolution commending him for founding the South Plains Dialysis Center and other accomplishments, and he was honored again Tuesday with a reading of the resolution before about 50 prominent Lubbock and area citizens.

Cooke, 65, part-owner and former president and board chairman of Fields & Co., was loudly applauded after the noon reading by Fields President Dan Law in the conference room of the company at 1610 Fifth Street.

Cooke said he was "overwhelmed" by the recognition. State Sen. E.L. Short, who sponsored the Feb. 9 resolution, and Mayor Bill McAlister attended the ceremony, along with a number of city business leaders.

Cooke is a native of Clarendon who earned a business degree from Texas Tech University in 1947 and started work for Horner G. Maxey & Co., a heating, plumbing, air-conditioning and electrical supplies distributor that later became Fields & Co.

"Although Mr. Cooke was told 32 years ago that he had a terminal kidney disease, this remarkable man continues to astound medical experts with his hard-fought battle against supposedly insurmountable odds," Law read, noting that Mr. and Mrs. Cooke founded the South Plains Dialysis Center, which opened here last August.

Cooke has served on the tax board of equalization and is a member of the Lubbock Symphony, the Texas Tech Museum Association, Lettermen's Association and other groups.

Management Changes Planned In Lubbock Tennis Facility

By PAT GRAVES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

In an effort to bail out the deficit-plagued Municipal Tennis Center, the Parks and Recreation Board Tuesday adopted a staff recommendation to replace the center's tennis pro with a full-time manager.

Recreation Superintendent Jim Underwood reported the 66th Street facility, designed to break even, already has lost more than $9,000 since Oct. 1, 1980. It went in the hole by more than $20,000 the previous fiscal year.

In fact, the red ink has increased each year since the center opened in May 1977. Parks officials said hiring an interim manager who would devote himself fully to center operations should give them more control and revenue, and reduce expenses.

The city now receives 2 1/2 percent of the pro's gross income, which consists largely of fees from lessons. Under the new arrangement, Underwood said the manager will hire instructors to give lessons with the city getting 20 to 30 percent of their fees.

The city took in only $481 last year from lessons, Underwood noted. But he maintained that a pro concentrates on giving lessons and a conflict of interest is created when he must give more time to management.

Pro Mel Carter said he never sought lessons, and predicted revenue from lessons would not increase because most people prefer to be taught on a long-term basis by a pro. He also said the quality of instruction would suffer because the better tennis teachers would not work for 70 percent of their fee.

Underwood hopes to save $2,500 by combining the salaries of Carter and his assistant. Parks director John Alford told the board he wants the center to do more promotion and hold more clinics and workshops. Officials also hope to operate the pro shop themselves in the future.

"We've tried other things," Underwood said. "This (the manager approach) is somewhat radical but we're known around the state for innovation."

The department raised rates at the center in April, 1980, but Underwood said there was no substantial increase in revenue. He said they also considered leasing the center, making it coin-operated or closing it altogether.

In addition to hiring a manager, which he estimated would take at least 30 days, Underwood said the staff is considering closing the center one day a week and at noon during winter months, and opening from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. during certain periods.

"We're competing with ourselves because the public courts are so good," Underwood told the board. Later, he explained that when the center was built, tennis was booming and most city courts were inferior. Now that they have been upgraded, he said people are realizing they do not need to pay to play.

"We're not putting many tennis courts in new parks," he said. "We have more courts than there is demand for now." He said the growth of private tennis clubs has also been a factor in the center's financial difficulties.

Carter explained it is hard to keep costs down and still make a municipal tennis center available to a large number of citizens. Although lessons, tournaments and league play is up, he said he could not explain why memberships and court fees are down.

"I can't say the pro approach is the best economically," Carter said, adding he was skeptical the staff's proposal would work. "I don't know the answer but I guess something radical had to be done."

Underwood said it is possible the department will return to a pro set-up under a different contract if the new plan does not work at the center, which he described in general as a "notorious" money loser.

Lawyers Flood Court With Traffic Cases

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A municipal court judge and a group of lawyers have gone to war. The attorneys, operating The Ticket Clinic at 1110 10th St., have buried Judge Cecil Puryear under a barrage of traffic cases to be tried. Now the judge is firing back with equal vigor.

Puryear is accepting from the law firm only as many new cases as the office disposes of each day from the backlog it already has filed. And the attorneys, Goodwin Hale, Robert Kizer and Bill Wischkaemper, have filed a formal complaint with the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission in Austin.

"We intend to battle it out," Hale, managing partner of the firm, said.

"I would not anticipate that it would be resolved immediately. It's something that's been building for a considerable length of time, and I would anticipate that it would take a considerable length of time to get it resolved."

Puryear said, however, that finding a solution should not be very difficult.

"I'm pretty sure it's a temporary situation," the judge said. "They're working on a couple of ways to alleviate the situation."

In a recent letter, Puryear wrote Hale that the municipal court "has become very concerned with the great number of cases the Ticket Clinic has been setting for trial over the past few months and the seeming inability to dispose of those cases in an orderly fashion."

"To date, the Ticket Clinic has over 400 cases pending, with more being bonded every day, and the prospects of the Ticket Clinic being able to try those cases within an orderly time period becomes more and more remote with each new batch of cases the Ticket Clinic bonds," Puryear wrote.

"The Ticket Clinic is overloading the court's docket with more cases than the Ticket Clinic has shown an ability to try. The court, as of Feb. 20, will accept only the number of bonds that the Ticket Clinic has disposed of through trial, dismissal or plea. In other words, if you dispose of 20 bonds, the court will accept 20 new bonds."

"Hopefully, you may be able to alleviate the problem by hiring more counsel or settling more cases through timely DDC (defensive driving course) motions or other means."

Lubbock Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy sits on the 10-member Judicial Qualifications Committee, and he indicated today that the dispute could be complex to consider.

The commission met this month and will not meet again until late April or early May. In the meantime, LeCroy said, its staff will gather information for the members to consider when they meet.

"It would not be a removal case," LeCroy said. "We would determine if they (the court) were following the law, and if they were not following the law, we might suggest that they follow it."

He said, however, that the law pertaining to lawyers making bonds for clients is complicated, and he noted that a bill is pending in the state legislature to end the practice.

LeCroy added that the commission has never considered such a dispute since he has been a member.

Puryear described it as "a situation where the Ticket Clinic is setting more cases than we think they can try under the present state of conditions."

"They have just been providing one lawyer and have been setting more cases than one lawyer can handle," the judge said. "We feel like they ought to have the ability to try the number of cases they set."

Asked if it could be beyond his authority to issue such an order, he said, "If I thought it was, I wouldn't have taken that action."

Hale said the firm has been settling an average of eight to 10 cases per day and had been filing 10 to 15 per day until the order was received last week.

"It won't crimp a whole lot, but of course if our business expands, it will," Hale said.

He noted that the 1 1/2-year-old firm filed about 4,000 cases last year and has a backlog of only about 400 now.

Handling cases referred from other Lubbock law firms and from walk-in customers, the office handles traffic cases for $45 on tickets issued by city police and $75 on tickets issued by the Department of Public Safety. There is an additional $10 fee for the filing of an appellate brief if the case is lost and then appealed to county court-at-law.

Hale claims the firm has been winning acquittals on 60 to 65 percent of the cases it takes to trial.

The clinic was established after municipal court became a court of record, thus requiring appeals to be based on court error, and became a greater potential burden to attorneys trying cases there.

Expanding over the state, the attorneys early this year opened "ticket clinics" in Amarillo, Dallas and Houston and are opening an office in San Antonio this week.

Wischkaemper said offices will be opened in Austin and El Paso in April and that Puryear is the only attorney or judge so far to complain.

Students At Tech Hear Public Relations Talks

The complexity of corporate public relations and the need for innovative PR in competitive markets were discussed by two professionals Monday, the first day of Mass Communications Week at Texas Tech University.

Everett Groseclose, managing editor of Dow Jones News Service and Cheri L. Oakley, president of the public relations firm Cheri Oakley Co. of Dallas, addressed Texas Tech students, faculty and guests on Public Relations Day. Groseclose, a former Avalanche-Journal staffer, described some of the difficulties faced in corporate public relations and gave pointers to students studying for careers in the field. Oakley, using a slide show presentation, demonstrated some of her firm's successful PR campaigns in the highly competitive Dallas market.

Groseclose, former director of public affairs for Dow Jones, described corporate America as a group of fiefdoms or individual kingdoms, answering to regulatory agencies and government, but most concerned with the market place.

"Corporations do not have public relations or public affairs functions because they want to. If they had their choice, they would say nothing and go about their business," the 1961 Texas Tech graduate said.

Business in many cases are under attack, Groseclose noted, and "Whether they are under attack or not, they think they are under attack."

Since businesses must deal with many publics, their public relations or public affairs functions must be capable of accommodating diverse needs. Groseclose said corporations must deal with stockholders, legislators, employees, the local community and governmental regulators, among others.

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal
Wednesday, February 1981

"It is not a simple little function," Groseclose said. "It is a very complex and important corporate function."

Discussing public relations as a career choice, Groseclose told Texas Tech mass communications students it is "better than you fear, not as good as you hope and not as bad as you have heard."

For those with the goal of heading a corporation or major company, Groseclose suggested another career choice. The reason, he said, is because public relations is a "staff side" or supportive function which aids the "line side" or productive functions like marketing, production and sales.

Public Broadcasting Fund Cutback Studied

By LARRY SUTHERLAND
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Although the outlook is still uncertain, it appears the Boston Pops will continue to perform and "Nova" still will take viewers on scientific journeys via KTX-TV in Lubbock despite proposed budget cuts in the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

CPB in fiscal year 1981 provided KTX the local public broadcasting station operated by Texas Tech University, with $178,672 in funding, matching by half the money raised locally by KTX through university funds, membership fees and other sources.

The federal Office of Management and Budget has proposed cutting by 25 percent the funding of CPB in fiscal year 1982, which begins Oct. 1, 1981. Conceivably, this could adversely affect local public broadcasting stations across the country which need the CPB money to purchase programs from the Public Broadcasting Corp. and to meet other expenses.

But John Henson, station manager for KTX is not worried about losing much federal money in the near future. "It's

American Airlines To Begin Service In Lubbock June 11

By JOE GULICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

American Airlines will begin service in Lubbock June 11 with three daily flights to Dallas, bringing to five the number of major airlines serving the city.

Charles Griffith, vice president for regulatory affairs for American, made the announcement at a news conference at the Chamber of Commerce here Tuesday.

Griffith said the three-flight schedule is only an initial service pattern and that the potential exists for extending the service and adding more flights.

"We feel this is only the beginning," he said.

American will introduce service to four Texas airports in addition to Lubbock: Midland-Odessa, Amarillo, Austin and Corpus Christi.

The flights will come into Lubbock from the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, although the starting point for the flights may be elsewhere. Griffith said the Lubbock flights will be scheduled for convenient morning, mid-day and evening hours, with the final scheduling to be arranged by April 5.

The pricing schedule also has not yet been determined, but Griffith said American will stay competitive in the pricing market.

In response to a question about competition with Southwest Airlines, Griffith said, "We're basically after a different traffic than Southwest. They're more interested in the local market."

Griffith said American Airlines in contrast is interested in the passenger from Lubbock who wants to fly to New York, the Caribbean or other long-haul points. By flying American, long-haul passengers could eliminate having to change airlines and terminals at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, he said.

Among the major cities American will link with Lubbock via DFW, are New York, Chicago, Detroit, Miami, St. Louis, Las Vegas, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Mexico City, Honolulu, Washington, D.C., Montreal and Toronto.

The airline feels Lubbock is a growing area that holds potential for substantial traffic for American Airlines, Griffith said. American has moved slowly in expanding into additional cities, wanting to be sure of the city's potential before moving in, he said, adding that American has not withdrawn from any city it entered since the government deregulation in 1978.

American will add a total of 100 flights daily out of Dallas this summer, Griffith said, making Dallas the largest hub in the American system and surpassing Chicago.

Cavazos Addresses Salary Complaints

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

With a tone of intensity in his voice, Texas Tech President Lauro Cavazos told a faculty group Tuesday, "I've had it up to my eyeballs on the issue of (faculty) salaries."

In essence, he told the Tech chapter of American Association of University Professors, they may as well stop complaining about the salary issue and get on to the "real issues" such as recruitment and retention of students.

He also noted that he generally does not favor across-the-board salary increases because he said it implies "we're all alike and I don't believe that one whit."

He frankly admitted that Tech faculty salaries lag behind other universities and that it won't change quickly. "If that sounds discouraging, so be it," he said tersely.

Afterwards, he apologized to the audience, saying, "I got a little preachy. I'm sorry."

Cavazos also said that Tech is "top heavy" with high-ranking and higher-salaried tenured faculty and that it plays a part in draining resources to pay other faculty members. At the same time, Cavazos chided the news media at the meeting warning them not to report that statement to mean no one at Tech will receive tenure in the future.

But he did note that almost 70 percent of the Tech faculty is tenured and that the figure is far too high for a university of the kind we want.

As far as determining who will receive tenure or who will receive merit raises, he said, "There is no way Larry Cavazos can do that."

Instead, he said, a large factor in making those decisions will have to be at lower administrative levels such as each individual department.

He admitted that it's "not easy to make decisions" on such issues as who deserves tenure or raises, but he charged that faculty members who want across-the-board distribution of raises are looking for "the easy way out."

Cavazos told the group that Tech will not be one whit better "until faculty members are willing to make some difficult judgments about their peers in such situations as tenure review committees."

In the question-and-answer session after his address, Cavazos was asked about a link between low salaries and low faculty morale.

When he replied that salary is not the number one factor in job satisfaction and that a survey of the faculty probably would show that, some members of the audience who were seated far away from the president's hearing range mumbled comments to the contrary.

Although Cavazos does not favor across-the-board raises, he pointed out that distribution of expected salary raises will be determined largely by the Texas Legislature.

Under current versions of legislation being considered in Austin, all non-tenured faculty would receive raises but tenured faculty would be given raises only on a merit basis.

"If that's the way it ends up there is no other choice in distribution," he said noting however that legislation may be re-worded and amended several times before it becomes law.

Some arts and sciences faculty members claim the merit system rewards faculty members in such in-demand fields as engineering with repeated raises thereby reducing the pool of money available for the rest of the faculty in the university.

One faculty member at Tuesday's meeting speculated that the practice cuts perhaps 10 percent of the total faculty salary money available for that purpose, which in turn, hurts "the backbone of the faculty," he said, in reference to faculty in such fields as English, history and other required subjects.

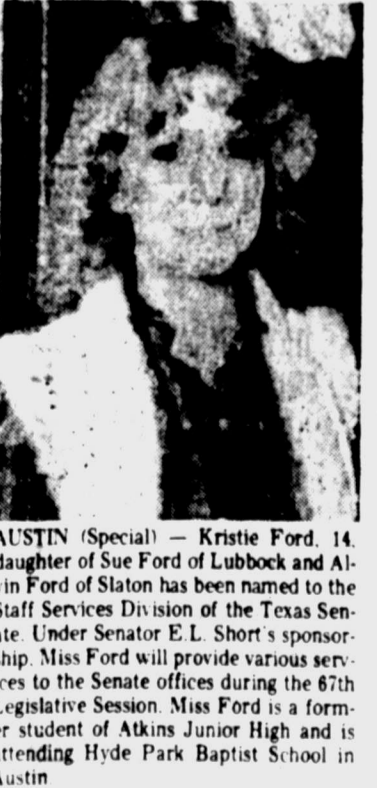

Cavazos, however, defended merit money for the engineering faculty saying that it is impossible to keep those faculty members without raises because industry so often lures them away.

He also noted that studies indicate within the coming decade engineering majors may account for perhaps as much as 20 percent of Tech's total student body enrollment, therefore increasing the need for faculty in that field.

"That one college of engineering generates a significant amount of research money," he added, noting that tenure, promotions and raises at Tech are based on teaching, service and research.

One faculty member at the meeting told Cavazos, "I'm not a researcher and I have no intention of becoming one." She added, however, that she believes she is a good teacher and spends much of her time counseling students — one of the items Cavazos mentioned as important tasks for teachers. Yet when her department makes decisions on merit raises, she said, it becomes obvious that teaching is not rewarded, research is.

The president declined to reply, ending the meeting with the remark, "I can't respond to that."

AUSTIN (Special) — Kristie Ford, 14, daughter of Sue Ford of Lubbock and Alvin Ford of Slaton has been named to the Staff Services Division of the Texas Senate. Under Senator E.L. Short's sponsorship, Miss Ford will provide various services to the Senate offices during the 67th Legislative Session. Miss Ford is a former student of Atkins Junior High and is attending Hyde Park Baptist School in Austin.

The type of meningitis afflicting a Levelland girl and a Plainview boy admitted to Lubbock General Hospital about 10 days ago is not the highly contagious form of the disease recently reported in Houston, a Lubbock physician said Tuesday.

Dr. Bharat Sharma, an attending physician in the pediatric unit at Lubbock General, said the 2 1/2-year-old girl was referred to the hospital from a Levelland hospital and requires the girl to be in an isolated room. Sharma said it is not as much of a danger as the highly infectious meningococcal variety reported in Houston.

Sharma said meningococcal is the only type in which a real outbreak is a threat.

Sharma said the 9-month-old boy was transferred to Lubbock General after a stay at a Plainview hospital for treatment of Hemophilus influenzae, an organism which causes influenza meningitis.

Sharma said the boy should be able to go home within a few days and does not require isolation. He said the Hemophilus clinic and diagnosed as having tuberculous meningitis.

While the disease is somewhat contagious variety occurs sporadically in children and should not be cause for fears of an epidemic.

Sharma said the variety diagnosed in the Levelland girl's case will require continued treatment at home after she is released.

Meningitis inflames brain and spinal membranes, with the meningococcal type being the most serious. Its death rate is said to be 50 percent unless the disease is diagnosed and treated early.

Health officials in Houston ran extensive tests on students in an elementary school classroom where an outbreak of that form appeared to be concentrated. Five pupils were determined to have been stricken, including a 12-year-old girl who died Jan. 31.

The Lubbock health department has reported no cases of the meningococcal variety here, nor have any of the seven hospitals in the city.

Sharma said the two children diagnosed with the other types were discovered at an early stage, prompting a more favorable condition for treatment.

Stock Mart Posts Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recorded its second straight gain Tuesday, apparently drawing some further support from declining interest rates.

But some individual issues came under selling pressure as a result of earnings disappointments.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 9 1/4 on Monday, added another .87 to 946.10.

The daily tally on the New York Stock Exchange showed about three gainers for every two stocks that lost ground.

The biggest loser in the session was Jim Walter Corp. off 5 1/4 at 26 as of the 4 p.m. close in New York.

The company, a diversified housing, building materials and mining concern based in Tampa, Fla., said it expected to show a small loss for the quarter ended Feb. 28.

The news surprised analysts following the company, who generally had been projecting only a moderate earnings decline for the quarter. The Value Line Investment Survey, for example, had estimated earnings of 70 cents a share, against $1 in the comparable quarter a year ago.

Warner Lambert, which projected substantially lower first-quarter profits, fell 1 1/2 to 20 1/2 in active trading.

NEW YORK (AP)—Tuesday's national average for New York Stock Exchange prices of 30 major stocks rose 9 1/4 points, or 0.1 percent, to 946.10.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 9 1/4 points, or 0.1 percent, to 946.10.

The S&P 500 index rose 1 1/2 points, or 0.1 percent, to 281.45.

Reagan Puts Strings On Grants To Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary T.H. Bell revealed Tuesday there will be strings attached to the Reagan administration's proposed $4 billion-plus block grants to the nation's schools.

The bulk of the grants, which would replace nearly 50 targeted federal aid programs costing $5.6 billion in fiscal 1981, would still have to be spent on poor and handicapped students, Bell said.

"This will not be a general aid program where you spend the money for any purposes you want, including building construction or swimming pools or anything," he told reporters at a White House budget briefing. "Generally, the bulk of the money is going to be spent on the handicapped and for the Title I purposes."

The government now spends $3.2 billion on the Title I program to provide compensatory education for poor youngsters and $1 billion to teach the handicapped.

Bell also said no decision has been made on whether to retain a requirement that federal funds supplement rather than supplant local funding. "We're still discussing that one," he said.

Last week, the White House stated flatly that the "supplement not supplant" stricture would be scrapped.

But Bell said the block grants would have to be used for the same purposes as the programs they replaced. "That has been resolved, and my point of view has been upheld on that," he said.

President Reagan also wants to cut the programs' current funding of $5.6 billion by 20 percent.

The nation's 16,000 public school districts and private schools would share block grants replacing a dozen programs targeted largely on the poor and the handicapped and costing $4.7 billion. Aid for bilingual education ($138 million) and desegregation ($205 million) also would be lumped into the local block grants.

States would divide block grants in lieu of nearly three dozen smaller programs costing $922 million.

Reagan also proposed a $450 million cut in impact aid, a $220 million reduction in vocational education and other cuts in programs not slated for consolidation. He also would make it harder for college students to get federal grants or subsidized loans.

Bell estimated the income cutoff for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants would drop $4,000 for a student from a family of four. That would put the ceiling at roughly $22,000 instead of $26,000.

To get a grant, students would first have to come up with $750 in self-help.

Bell said an inflation index in the program would be discarded and families' expected contribution rate raised from 14 to 20 percent of discretionary income.

Congress raised the income cutoff for Basic Grants from $15,000 to roughly $26,000 in 1978. It can vary by family size and circumstances.

The Reagan budget cuts would clamp down on Guaranteed Student Loans by letting students borrow no more than their "remaining need" after subtracting other aid and a family contribution. The government would no longer pay all the interest on these 9 percent loans while students attend school.

The American Council on Education has estimated the changes would make half of the two million current borrowers ineligible. Bell said he did not know how many would be affected.

Bell acknowledged the administrative savings from switching to block grants would not cushion the entire blow of a 20 percent cut in funding. The White House said 13 percent of the federal school funds now goes for overhead.

Bell said he guessed that even with block grants, administrative expenses would still eat up 3 to 4 percent, leaving the schools with a net cut of about 11 percent.

Income Tax Credits For Those Paying Tuition Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three senators introduced legislation Tuesday calling for income tax credits of up to $500 a year to offset the cost of tuition at colleges and private schools, but conceded they don't know precisely what the proposal would cost the federal treasury.

The bill would phase the credits in over three years beginning in August 1982, eventually making the tax breaks available for students attending private elementary or secondary schools as well as part-time or full-time students at public and private colleges and vocational schools.

The credits would be subtracted directly from the tax owed to the government.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., one of the three senators backing the bill, said no figures were available estimating what the program would cost. He said a similar program would have cost the government slightly more than $4 billion in 1978.

One Senate aide who asked not to be identified said the cost probably would be closer to $6 billion a year by the time the proposal is fully in effect.

Joining Packwood at a news conference to announce the bill were Sens. William Roth, R-Del., and Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y.

Packwood said President Reagan supports the measure, although he said administration officials have told him they may want to change some of the details.

"The administration supports this bill. They will not be introducing a bill of their own," he said.

Reagan told Congress in his economic speech last week he supports tuition tax credits, and said his administration would be proposing them later in the year.

But he did not say when he would want them to go into effect. Reagan has given high priority to making spending cuts and balancing the budget by 1984, and any program that costs the government money would make balancing the budget more difficult.

Similar bills have been introduced in Congress before, and in 1978 the House and Senate passed differing versions of tuition tax credit legislation. The two houses were unable to reconcile their differences, however, and the bill never gained final passage.

Critics of tuition tax credits have claimed in the past that they pose a threat to public schools and violate the constitutional prohibition against mixing church and state.

Tuition tax credits are tax aid from all federal taxpayers to that minority of religious bodies which operate private day schools. R.G. Puckett, a spokesman for a group opposing the plan, said in a statement given reporters who attended the news conference.

Anti-Inflation Program Disappointments Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration risks raising people's expectations too high by claiming its economic program will dramatically lower inflation and interest rates, a member of the Federal Reserve Board cautioned Tuesday.

"I think the American people ought to be prepared for the possibility that it won't work as fast as Mr. Stockman would like," said Lyle Gramley.

"Unless we're very lucky," Gramley said, the process of reducing inflation will be "very slow," while interest rates will fall only gradually, he told the National Savings and Loan League.

Even if Congress enacts President Reagan's entire tax and spending cut plan, "no one knows for sure how well it's going to work," Gramley said. Raising expectations could lead to disappointment by a public already cynical about government's ability to cut double-digit inflation, he added.

Reagan is proposing $41.4 billion in spending cuts for fiscal 1982, plus a 30 percent reduction in tax rates over three years.

Budget Director David Stockman said Monday that Reagan's plan could send the prime rate tumbling from about 19 percent to 8.5 percent or lower once Congress completes action. Later, he acknowledged that he "misspoke a little," but added, "We do anticipate a substantial decline in interest rates."

Meanwhile, the administration believes that Reagan's plan would cut the inflation rate from the current 12.4 percent to 6.2 percent by 1983 and 4.2 percent by 1986.

Those assumptions are much more optimistic than forecasts by most private economists.

The success of Reagan's plan depends heavily on the Federal Reserve Board. The president last week said he hopes the central bank will "steadily reduce" growth rates of money and credit to one-half last year's level by 1986.

The administration's views are very similar to ours, Gramley said. Gradually reducing the money supply is "absolutely essential" to beating inflation, although it will mean "considerable pain" in the form of high interest rates for some time, he added.

While he agreed with Reagan's money growth goal, Gramley said it would be a mistake for the Federal Reserve to announce such a target so far in advance.

The long-range goal could be sabotaged by unexpected events that push inflation higher and then creates public disappointment, Gramley said.

The Federal Reserve Board on Wednesday will announce its new money growth target for 1981, and it should be about about one-half percentage point below last year's levels.

Gramley also told the S&L officials that "The public should not worry if the money supply exceeded or fell below annual growth targets for a particular quarter. 'Judge us by what we're doing over a long period.'"

"The volatile interest rates of last year should not re-occur, nor should financial markets and consumers expect credit controls to be imposed again."

"If inflation continues at current levels, the outlook for real economic activity is very poor. However, there is little chance of a double-dip recession. 'I see a lot of strength out there.'"

Increased FBI Role Against Drugs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director William H. Webster says U.S. narcotics traffic is so large and violent that the FBI must take a bigger role in attacking it, an idea that J. Edgar Hoover resisted tooth and nail.

"The federal government has to take a hard look at its effectiveness in drug enforcement," Webster said in an interview on his third anniversary as FBI director. "Vast amounts of drugs are coming in from outside the country, overwhelming the resources of Customs and the Drug Enforcement Administration."

"I'm coming to believe that the problem is so large the FBI must take a heavier role in it," Webster said.

Hoover, who ran the bureau from 1924 to 1972, continually beat congressional efforts to thrust drug enforcement on his agents.

Privately, FBI officials in the Hoover era said they lacked the undercover experience necessary for narcotics work. And the huge sums of cash involved in the trade lured even some federal drug agents into corruption, which Hoover had managed to avoid among his agents.

But in the last five years, the FBI has developed an expertise in undercover work seen most recently in its Abscam investigation of congressional corruption and its nationwide probe of organized crime control over pornography. "We came late to the field, but we caught up quickly," said Assistant FBI Director Charles Monroe in a recent interview.

Webster noted that wherever the bureau has found organized crime involvement with drugs, it has worked in cooperation with the DEA and the Customs Service, particularly in south Florida which federal officials say is now awash in illegal drug money. "We're looking at the narcotics trade as an effort to get up into the upper echelons of crime," he said.

When he worked in a U.S. attorney's office 20 years ago, Webster said, "They used to tell me that narcotics didn't contribute to violent crime, because they largely would steal off the back of trucks."

"But we're seeing violence in a great many areas associated with narcotics," Webster said. In the Miami area, wars between rival drug gangs have spawned machine-gun assassinations in shopping center parking lots, and a string of killings to rival mob murders in Chicago during Prohibition.

With the Reagan administration committed to greater federal efforts to combat violent crime, Webster said, "When we attack the drug problem head on, it seems to me we are going to make a major dent in attacking violent crime."

But he added, "As we move, we must have the troops and resources to do the job properly. Otherwise we'd be no better than the fellow on the spot."

And manpower is a continuing problem for Webster.

He says his agency might have to choose between increasing its fight against violent crime and maintaining its campaign against organized and white-collar crime.

At the same time, he is trying to fend off budget cuts proposed by the Reagan administration.

The bureau's force of special agents has declined by 800 since 1973 to 7,755 under the pressure of tight budgets.

Various reductions have been proposed for the bureau, but most of those are on appeal, Webster said.

Leader Says Poles Can Solve Problems

MOSCOW (AP) — Polish leader Stanislaw Kania, focusing attention on the Polish crisis, told the Soviet Communist Party Congress Tuesday that his nation can solve its own problems and vowed to prevent counter-revolution.

Kania, speaking to delegates from 110 nations at the congress, appeared to be asking his allies for more time to settle worker unrest in Poland. Informed sources said Kania drew applause from the 5,000 delegates by declaring, "We have the willpower and the strength to prevent counter-revolution in Poland."

Another featured speaker at the second day of the Soviet's 26th party congress was Cuban leader Fidel Castro, who denounced "Yankee imperialists" and denied that Cuba exports revolution.

Western reporters were barred from sessions in the modernist Kremlin Palace of Congresses, but Communist sources reporting from the hall said Kania's speech was well received.

"Poland is and will remain a socialist state, a loyal ally of the Soviet Union, an unbreakable link of socialist society," Kania said, according to the accounts.

But the first secretary of the Polish Communist Party acknowledged that violations of "socialist norms" in Poland — presumably by Polish officials — were to blame for the country's problems as well as alleged conspiracies by "anti-socialist" forces.

He said the anti-socialist elements were trying to penetrate Poland's new independent trade unions, adding: "They counterpose them (the unions) to our party — they try to step up tension and widen anarchy, and also to create disorders."

In his main congress speech Monday, Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev issued a sharp warning on Poland, claiming "the pillars of the socialist state" there were in jeopardy.

Repeating the Soviet leader's own admonitions to Poland on Monday, Kania said "we agree... that we must listen to the masses and develop a well-considered social policy," the Communist sources reported.

Present at the congress were all the members of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact who have shown increasing concern at pressures in Poland for independent unions and political liberalization.

Castro also seized on the Polish issue in his speech to the congress, declaring that "imperialists are trying to provoke destabilization in Poland to detach it from the socialist community," according to sources in the hall.

The Cuban leader, always received in Moscow with wild ovations, devoted most of his comments to Latin America. He said "imperialists" were threatening intervention against progressive movements in El Salvador and Guatemala while arming those two countries' "bloody, truly genocidal governments."

Apparently responding to American claims that the Soviet bloc has funneled arms to El Salvador guerrillas through Cuba, Castro added, according to Communist sources:

"The campaign aimed at preventing the export of arms from Cuba and the export of revolution from Cuba is senseless. There are no ships with arms of ours. They are non-existent."

Castro added that Cuba is determined to continue building a socialist society. He said Cuba will not retreat if faced with "aggression," but also added that "we shall not reject an olive branch if it is extended to us."

Elsewhere at the congress, Soviet speakers praised as "fresh peace initiatives" the foreign policy proposals advanced Monday by Brezhnev. They included a possible summit meeting with U.S. President Reagan and a reopening of strategic arms talks as demanded by the United States.

Kremlinologists noted that most of the main Soviet speakers who followed Brezhnev's to the rostrum were the same people — and spoke in the same order — as at the last party congress in 1976. The lack of change indicated that the overall protocol system, and perhaps the power rankings among Soviet leaders, have not changed.

Also Tuesday, U.S. Communist Party leader Gus Hall addressed a packed news conference at the press center. Praising Brezhnev's address, Hall said "the ball is clearly on the U.S. side of the court in regard to world peace, detente and the normalizing of U.S.-Soviet relations."

Councilman Named Engineer Of Year At Banquet

Lubbock City Councilman E. Jack Brown was named Engineer of the Year and the Texas Tech Institute for Disaster Research was recognized for its service at Tuesday evening's annual banquet of the South Plains chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

Bradley A. Frieden, a Tech senior, received a plaque and $100 for his accomplishments as Student Engineer of the Year.

Two other Tech students were praised for their "quick thinking" which possibly saved lives last spring when a tornado struck the Tulia area.

Tech resident Lauro Cavazos was featured speaker at the banquet held in the University Center and Dr. John Bradford, dean of Tech's College of Engineering, was master of ceremonies for the event.

The National Weather Service recognized Tech's disaster research institute for its "significant contribution" to West Texas' severe storm preparedness and other "valuable assistance."

The public service award, one of 50 presented annually by the NWS, was presented through the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce, and announced at the banquet.

"The institute's expertise has been invaluable in the effort to educate school, hospital and nursing home administrators in the areas of severe weather planning and shelter identification," the citation noted, adding that the institute, headed by Dr. Joseph E. Minor, also has aided the NWS in the preparation and distribution of severe weather safety brochures.

Attention also was called to two students whose actions "saved lives in Tulia and possibly in Wellington."

Bruce Campbell and Erik Rasmussen, both students in atmospheric sciences, were on assignment for the disaster institute in filming a tornado several miles in advance of the storm last spring.

Spokesmen said the pair stopped filming in time to drive through the western part of Tulia honking their car horn to warn residents of the tornado's approach. They also drove to the police station in Wellington in time to warn the town of the approaching tornado.

Featured award at the banquet was for Brown as Engineer of the Year. Brown is president of the engineering-construction firm of Brown-McKee Inc of Lubbock. The Hale Center native organized the company in 1955 and has been its president since 1963. The firm specializes in industrial construction, including power plants, waste water facilities and agriculture related processing plants.

He was praised for his "active involvement" for many years in the Associated General Contractors of America organization and has served as chairman of the Texas division and on boards of the national committees.

Banquet organizers said the annual award is given to an individual who has accomplished significant engineering achievement and has demonstrated dedicated service to the community.

Brown's civic involvements have included membership on the advisory committee to Tech's industrial engineering department, the board of trustees of Milam's Children Training Center, Texas State Board of Health and the water development board for the City of Lubbock.

Pope Warns Of Nuclear Destruction

TOKYO (AP) — Pope John Paul II told diplomats in Tokyo Tuesday the world will be destroyed in a nuclear conflagration unless nations suppress an urge to control each other by force.

"The name of the Japanese city of Hiroshima has become a symbol of the threats toward which the whole of humanity is moving, if it does not succeed in overcoming the terrible temptation to dominate others by means of all-out nuclear destruction," the Pope said.

Here, where the memory and signs of the explosion of the first atomic bomb are living and obvious, the words of Christ cannot fail to take on a particular vividness. "Peace be with you!"

Japan became the only country ever to suffer a nuclear attack when the United States dropped atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August 1945.

On the second day of his four-day visit to Japan, the first time a pope has come to this mainly Buddhist and Shintoist country, the pontiff celebrated a solemn outdoor Mass and exchanged cordial greetings with Emperor Hirohito and Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki.

"I have set foot on the land that has known the special horror of destruction during the last war," the pope said at Korakuen baseball stadium, speaking in clear Japanese as a cold, light rain fell.

He urged non-Catholic Christian leaders to help "less advantaged" Asian countries and praised Buddhist and Shinto leaders for "the virtues of kindness and goodness, discretion, gentleness and fortitude."

The pope later told Tokyo diplomats "the public and governments must become ever more conscious of the fact that nobody may stand idly by as long as human beings are suffering and in need.

"Isn't it a fact that it is a lack of political determination — at both national and international levels — that is the main obstacle to the successful elimination of the gravest forms of suffering and need?" He asked.

"The present (world) economic difficulties must not become a pretext for giving in to the temptation to make the poor pay for the solution to the problems of the rich."

Earlier, he told an estimated 6,000 young Japanese at a "Youth and Pope Convention" at the Tokyo Martial Arts Hall that "true fulfillment comes from giving of oneself," and asked them not to be selfish, but to care for the poor and all those "on the margin of society."

He walked among a group of handicapped people, many in wheelchairs, kissing and hugging them, giving his blessing and speaking with them.

Sex, Scandal Draw Reporters To Murder Trial

MEDIA ZOO — Members of the press covering the Jean Harris trial work at informing the world about the sensational aspects of the Scarsdale Diet doctor murder case from a drafty makeshift press room in the lobby of the Westchester County Courthouse in White Plains, N.Y. (AP Laserphoto)

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — All the drawing cards are here: sex, money, power, death and scandal. And draw they do, bringing in several hundred reporters, some as famous as the subjects they write about.

"She brings out the best clichés in everybody," Duncan Spencer, a Washington Star reporter, said of the woman at the center of it all, Jean Harris.

The 57-year-old former girls' school headmistress with the classy clothes and society background, who is charged with the murder of Scarsdale Diet developer Dr. Herman Tarnower, is the center of what reporters call a media "zoo."

When the reporters who were to become the Harris trial regulars assembled in October for pre-trial hearings, among them were Shana Alexander, former "60 Minutes" commentator; Diana Trilling, the writer and critic; and Lally Weymouth, free-lancer and daughter of Washington Post publisher Katharine Graham. All three were said to be writing books about the case.

The press corps toniness was established almost immediately when Mrs. Trilling and Miss Alexander greeted each other with hugs and kisses.

"Saw you in the Times crossword puzzle last week," Mrs. Trilling said. "You were No. 5 across."

No stranger to crosswords herself, Mrs. Trilling acknowledged Mrs. Alexander's reminder that she was once "No. 23 down" in another puzzle.

But the trial quickly lost its glamour in the tedious waiting during the many conferences the attorneys conducted behind closed doors. Even Mrs. Harris' occasional off-the-cuff remarks to a courtroom artist not to sketch her wrinkles so deep lost their appeal as juicy tidbits to be included in reporters' stories.

Reporters worked out of a drafty, makeshift press room in the courthouse lobby, where the heat was turned off at 6 p.m. each day.

"Free the White Plains press corps. The length of this trial is cruel and inhuman punishment," read a postcard sent in January to trial Judge Russell Leggett by a pining girlfriend of one of the out-of-town reporters.

Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death" was stamped on the front of the card.

But the tedium ended abruptly Jan. 27 when the frail blond defendant stepped into the witness box in a mauve Chanel-style suit and pearls. For eight days, she captivated the courtroom with a tale of depression, failed suicide, Tarnower's casual sexual liaisons and her scorn of the other woman in Tarnower's life, Lynne Tryforos.

"I thought she denigrated him," Mrs. Harris testified, using the nickname for the millionaire diet developer. Pencils busily recorded the defendant's accompanying look of distaste.

When Assistant District Attorney George Boien read Mrs. Harris' last letter to Tarnower, in which she called her rival a "thieving slut" and a "psychotic whore," reporters could not get to the telephones fast enough with the news.

But trial testimony ended in an anticlimax of several pathologists' analyses of Tarnower's palm tissue.

Mrs. Harris, used to seeing the two dozen reporters who covered the trial regularly, seemed stunned at the hundreds of reporters who appeared on the scene last week when the case went to the jury.

She found herself riding up a courthouse escalator with cameras, microphones and notebooks thrust in her face.

"How do you feel, Mrs. Harris?" they all screamed, at which the dazed defendant replied only, "Fine, thank you."

"I resent it — the crush, the hordes, the chase, the quarry, the prey. I think it's kind of demeaning for everybody, for the defendant and the press," said Joyce Dopkeen, a New York Times photographer.

Record-Holding Diver Urges Sea Exploration

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's frighteningly cold and almost completely dark. The pressure is great enough to crush an unprotected diver instantly. Luminescent branches of coral and the eyes of deep-sea sharks glow in the darkness.

Hundreds of feet below the surface of the sea lies a world as forbidding as the surface of the moon as inhospitable as the empty reaches of space.

Though only a few hundred feet away, it is a world we know little about, says Sylvia Earle, who has made the world's deepest solo dive.

There's no excuse for such ignorance, says Miss Earle. Our survival and our well-being are linked directly to the sea, and we know as little about much of the ocean as we do about the moon.

One reason, she says, is that those who make ocean policy are frequently not those who spend time in and around the water.

Miss Earle, a marine biologist, is spending much of her time on dry land these days as she becomes increasingly involved in efforts to protect the oceans from the ravages of civilization.

"For the first time we have the capability to radically alter the nature of the sea," she says. "To some extent, we already have, with toxic chemicals."

Despite the vastness of the world's oceans, she says, "the sea is not infinite and cannot absorb all of civilization's discards."

Miss Earle belongs to dozens of organizations dedicated to the preservation of the sea, and she travels around the world on behalf of those organizations and to participate in research conferences.

She paused recently for an interview in her office at the California Academy of Sciences here, which just opened an exhibit based on Miss Earle's research — "Exploring the Deep Frontier."

The ocean, she says, provides 90 percent of the world's oxygen and is the ultimate source of fresh water. The sheer bulk of living matter in the sea — plants and animals — comprises more than 90 percent of all living matter on earth.

Never before have we had the rate of so many species in our hands, she says, noting that a recent study found that about 500,000 species of plants and animals will be eliminated by the year 2000 if present policies don't change.

We are inheriting the errors of the past, but we are also continuing errors, she says. The problems are immediate. About a dozen major fisheries have crashed in the last 20 years.

Miss Earle says she is optimistic that President Reagan, despite the claims of his critics, will follow policies that protect the oceans.

Most government leaders are intelligent, and when confronted with the truth will act responsibly, she says.

Economists have a common language with ecologists — they both deal with numbers, she says. The wealth and health of nations directly depends on natural resources and on the sustainability of natural systems.

Businesses may collapse if they lose their source of supply of materials, she says. "Everyone will win if we solve present environmental challenges."

Miss Earle made her record dive to 1,250 feet near the Hawaiian island of Oahu on Sept. 12, 1979. She wore an armored diving suit called a Jam suit, developed for work on offshore oil platforms.

It was the only scientific use ever made of the suit, which looks like a space suit and is equipped with a self-contained air supply.

DEEP DIVE — Sylvia Earle, a marine biologist from Oakland, Calif., is shown during a deep dive in a specially designed suit recently. She had made the world's deepest solo dive to 1,250 feet near the Hawaiian island of Oahu on Sept. 12, 1979. (AP Laserphoto)

Despite High Fuel Costs, Fewer Using Public Transportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reported Tuesday that despite rising gasoline prices use of public transportation in commuting to work declined between 1970 and 1977 in most of 20 cities studied.

Overall, the bureau said, the study of 20 metropolitan areas indicates 7.3 percent of people commuting to work used public transportation in 1977. The 1970 census had shown 10.3 percent of commuters using public transport.

The biggest decline was recorded in Newark, N.J., where use of public transit dropped from 20.3 percent to 12.5 percent of commuters during the seven-year period, the report said.

By contrast, among the cities studied, increases in public transit use were reported in Salt Lake City and Anaheim, Santa Ana, Garden Grove, Calif.

However, the overwhelming majority of workers continue to commute by auto or truck, with some 91 percent in this category. Of the total, 72 percent rode alone in a car or truck, while the remainder either carpooled or rode with someone.

Few more people used autos than trucks, although the number driving trucks was significant in many western communities, including Phoenix, Spokane, Tacoma and Salt Lake City as well as in Memphis, Saginaw, Mich. and Orlando, Fla.

The median distance to work in the cities surveyed was 7.7 miles, the bureau said, and median travel time was about 20 minutes by auto and 33 minutes by public transit.

Among the cities, Saginaw had the highest percentage of commuters driving alone to work, 82 percent. The lowest percentages were in Washington, D.C., 58 percent, and Boston, 59 percent.

The Washington area had the highest carpooling rate at 25 percent.

Here is a list of the 20 metropolitan areas studied: the percentage of workers in each driving alone to work and using public transit in 1977 and the percent change in public transit use since 1970 (the totals will not be 100 percent because of other forms of transport, such as carpooling, walking, bicycles, and so forth).

Boston, 59 percent drive alone and 19 percent use public transit, down 3.5 percent; Newark, 69 percent drive alone and 13 percent use public transit, down 7.8 percent; Anaheim, Santa Ana, Garden Grove, Calif., 79 percent drive alone and 2 percent use public transit, up 1.5 percent.

Detroit, 78 percent drive alone and 4 percent use public transit, down 4.5 percent; Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif., 76 percent drive alone and 5 percent use public transit, down 0.7 percent; Pittsburgh, 68 percent drive alone and 13 percent use public transit, down 3.1 percent.

Washington, D.C., 58 percent drive alone and 15 percent use public transit, down 3.2 percent; Albany-Schenectady-Troy, N.Y., 70 percent drive alone and 6 percent use public transit, down 3.1 percent; Minneapolis-St. Paul, 70 percent drive alone and 3 percent use public transit, down 1.1 percent; Dallas, 77 percent drive alone and 3 percent use public transit, down 3.6 percent.

Refinery Bid Depends On Coal Site Bill

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — If Virginia condemns a controversial site here for a coal terminal, the action apparently will end a bid by Cox Enterprises of Atlanta to build a billion-dollar oil refinery.

Bills recommended by Gov. John D. Battle were introduced in the General Assembly last week to take land in the refinery site and spend whatever is needed to build a coal facility.

The legislature adjourned without taking action, but will consider the legislation when it reconvenes in special session March 30. Backers of the measure have said they are confident it will be passed.

The governor on Feb. 10 said the bill would condemn only 350 acres of the 623-acre site, planned for the refinery. It would give the state authority to finance up to $200 million for a coal-loading operation designed to end delays which now hold up coal ships for up to three months.

But the bill does not spell out how much land would be condemned.

Richard Campbell of the Virginia Port Authority said Tuesday 350 acres is on the lowest side of what may be needed. There is a possibility that we would ask for the entire acreage.

An official of Cox Enterprises, which has waged a seven-year battle to win approval to build the refinery, said the state has a blank check to take what it wants.

Even if they take only the 350 acres, we probably would not build a refinery, the official said.

The official asked not to be identified because the site is the center of a lawsuit between Norfolk & Western Railway and Cox Enterprises over ownership of the land.

Cox Enterprises initially planned to build a $900-million refinery capable of producing 175,000 barrels of fuel, but delays in getting permits for dredging and other work and lawsuits by environmentalists delayed ground-breaking last fall. The cost of the project now has increased to $1 billion.

N&W went to court to try to enforce a repurchase clause in the original land sale contract, which gave the railroad the option of repurchasing the land if Cox Enterprises failed to begin construction of the refinery by the deadline last fall. Cox Enterprises contended it had begun work.

California Fruit Flies Spark Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — California turned to the Supreme Court today in an attempt to halt Texas' planned quarantine of California produce to protect against an agricultural pest.

Roderick Walston, a California deputy attorney general, said quarantines imposed by California and by the federal government on two northern California counties are adequate protection against the Mediterranean fruit fly.

"We think, despite the seriousness of the problem, that we have the problem well in hand," Walston told reporters after filing the request to prevent Texas from imposing its own quarantine.

He said no Mediterranean fruit flies had been found in Santa Clara and Alameda counties since Jan. 22.

The California and federal quarantines, including a 500-square-mile area were imposed last summer after the fruit fly, particularly harmful to citrus crops, was found.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown announced last week that the state would not allow a cross its border as of March 1 any California fruits and vegetables if it had not been treated for the pest.

Walston said the federal quarantine supersedes any state action and the Texas quarantine, in addition, would impose an unfair burden on interstate commerce.

He estimated the cost of compliance with the Texas quarantine at $535 million a year.

The California suit asks the Supreme Court to use its rarely invoked constitutional authority to settle disputes between the states.

It asks the justices to temporarily prevent Texas from putting the quarantine into effect before the Supreme Court decides whether to allow the California lawsuit.

'HORNS PULL AWAY FOR 65-54 WIN

UT Awakens, Swats Tech

By CHUCK MCDONALD
Assistant Sports Editor

AUSTIN — Every since Saturday's televised debacle against Texas A&M, University of Texas coach Abe Lemons has been telling folks his Longhorns were all washed up.

Kaput, through, finished for the year. Among those who rolled their eyes, shook their heads and cried "Fib!" was Texas Tech basketball coach Gerald Myers. Unfortunately for Myers, he was right.

The Longhorns avenged a Southwest Conference season-opening loss to the Red Raiders by sticking Tech with a 65-54 setback here at the Super Drum Tuesday night.

The Texas win, which helps ease the pain of Saturday's 108-79 whipping at the hands of the Aggies, lifted the 'Horns to 6-9 in SWC action. The Red Raiders fall to 8-7 and 14-11 overall.

Despite the loss, Tech clinched at least a fourth-place finish in the conference race because of Houston's 63-55 win over Rice Tuesday. That means the Raiders, who still have a chance at third place should they defeat Arkansas Saturday and both Rice and Baylor lose, will most likely host SMU Monday night in the first round of the conference's post-season tournament.

Tech, trailing 29-25 at the half, came back to trail by only two points, 31-29, when Jeff Taylor — who had yet another great game against the Longhorns with 23 points — scored four quick points. But just when the Raiders closed in, the 'Horns pulled away.

Texas went on to outscore the Raiders 10-2 over the next four minutes as everybody on the Longhorn roster found the range. When freshman Ray Harper scored on a fastbreak layup after a Bubba Jennings turnover, the Longhorns led 41-31 with 14:40 to go.

The 'Horns stretched that lead to as many as 12. Tech pulled back to within three points on several occasions, but never overtook Texas.

"Obviously, we didn't play well," said Myers, who saw his team's conference road record fall to 2-6. "We missed some little shots there early in the second half that were very makeable, and that's when they started to pull away."

"They (the Longhorns) really did a good job controlling the clock the last seven or eight minutes and made us play defense," Myers continued.

Lemons, although not overwhelmed with his team's performance, was a little

Judge Rules Out Quick Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Coliseum Commission lost its bid Tuesday for a quick trial without a jury to determine if the Oakland Raiders can move here.

The ruling by U. S. District Judge Harry Pregerson came despite commission attorney Maxwell Blecher's warning that a "full-blown jury trial" would delay the Raiders from moving in time for the 1981 season.

"The Coliseum is in desperate financial shape," Blecher said. "We cannot afford to try a three-to-four-month case outside this district."

The Coliseum lost $450,000 a year plus parking and their share of concessions when the Los Angeles Rams moved to Anaheim. The Raiders have been prevented from filling that void by NFL rules requiring three-fourths of the league's team owners to approve such moves.

In his written ruling, Pregerson said that several U.S. Supreme Court precedents dictate that only in the most extreme situations can the Seventh Amendment right to a jury trial be overridden.

"The LA Coliseum has presented no imperative circumstances that might require this unusual move," Pregerson said.

The lawyer asked that Pregerson set er the Coliseum's lawsuit from a similar claim filed by the Raiders against the NFL.

Then, he asked that the judge try the Coliseum case first, without a jury, and make a decision on the key issue — whether the NFL rule violated antitrust laws by forbidding the Raiders to move their base.

"I submit to your honor that we could save some money and get this relatively simple issue behind us," said Blecher.

He said the Coliseum would drop its monetary claim for damages in order to avoid a jury trial.

"We are really interested in trying to get a sound judicial interpretation of the league's right to keep the Raiders from coming down here," said Blecher.

He accused the NFL of seeking to stage "a circus and a road show... A Cecil B. DeMille production."

But NFL attorney Patrick Lynch, who vehemently opposed Blecher's motion, said the Coliseum was trying to deny the constitutional right to a jury trial.

"What we have here is a bold-faced effort to circumvent the right to a jury trial," he said.

He said the argument that time and

Beavers Regain Top Spot In Poll

By The Associated Press

Ralph Miller's Oregon State Beavers are No. 1 again, but defending national champion Louisville has regained something equally as important — consistency.

Oregon State, ranked second a week ago, grabbed the top position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday as Virginia, top ranked last week when it was upset by Notre Dame, slipped to No. 3 behind runnerup Louisiana State.

"They're doing a pretty good job of approaching each game as a separate challenge," Miller said before the Beavers' raised their record to 23-0 with a 89-63 thrashing of Washington Monday night.

"The intensity is staying about the same game after game," Miller added.

And that's something Denny Crum's 20th-ranked Louisville team lacked earlier this season. The Cardinals got off to a 2-7 start despite having four returning starters from last year's team. But things started falling in place.

"We haven't let up in the last 14 or 15 games," said Crum, whose team won its last 11 games and 15 of its last 16 games.

And that could spell trouble for everybody when the NCAA tournament starts in just over two weeks.

Oregon State, the only major unbeaten college team, got 54 of 60 first-place votes and 1,193 of a possible 1,200 points in the nationwide balloting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Beavers were replaced in the No. 1 slot by Virginia three weeks ago after holding the top spot alone for two weeks and sharing it with the Cavaliers during a third.

LSU, which now holds the nation's longest major winning streak at 25, jumped two notches to No. 2. The Tigers, 26-1, garnered four first-place votes and 1,087 points in edging both Virginia and fourth-place DePaul.

Virginia, which saw its 28-game winning streak shattered by Notre Dame, 57-56, last Sunday, was tabbed No. 1 by one voter and picked up 1,079 points. DePaul, 24-1 after a 89-64 victory over Butler Monday, dropped a notch to fourth, five points farther back and with the final first-place vote.

Arizona State, No. 7 a week ago, claimed No. 5 with 856 points — 25 more than Notre Dame, which leaped five places following its upset of Virginia.

Utah, ranked ninth last week, edged both Iowa and Kentucky for the No. 7 slot with 739 points. The Hawkeyes had 725 points for eighth, 10 more than the Wildcats.

Wake Forest, UCLA and Tennessee.

Smith Says Fargo Scam Tied To 'Japanese Mafia'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The "Japanese Mafia" may be linked to the Wells Fargo embezzlement scandal, and boxing promoter Harold J. Smith plans to surface within the next two days with documents that "will blow the case sky high," Smith's spokesmen said Tuesday.

Hilton S. Nicholson, a "defense consultant" working with Smith's attorneys, told the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram that Smith caught bank manager Gene Kawakami making $300,000 in unauthorized withdrawals last August from Muhammad Ali Professional Sports Inc.

Nicholson said Smith was told it was to pay a gambling debt and that Kawakami's son had been kidnapped by the Yakuza, or "Japanese Mafia," which threatened to cut off the boy's fingers if the debt was not paid, the paper said. At one point, Smith had said that his own son was also kidnapped but was later freed and that his family has now been taken out of the country for their safety.

Smith lawyer Jennifer King contended Kawakami, who has been relieved of his duties at Wells Fargo, siphoned money out of the bank for the Yakuza, which then laundered the money, the paper said.

Los Angeles police intelligence officers confirmed the Yakuza is involved in gambling, prostitution and money laundering. Police spokesman Willie Wilson said it is apparently based in Japan, with operations in the United States and elsewhere.

Smith, in tape recorded messages to the media, had earlier claimed without explanation that "Japanese Mafia" was involved in a massive fraud at the San Francisco-based bank, but at the time Wells Fargo President Richard Cooley termed such allegations "preposterous."

Meanwhile, FBI agents questioned Los Angeles Dodgers utility player Derrel Thomas on Monday after he turned up in San Diego Harbor at the helm of a 34-foot cabin cruiser belonging to Smith.

The $75,000 boat had been impounded at its mooring in Los Angeles by court order after Wells Fargo filed suit against Smith. Thomas denied knowing of the court order and said a friend of his in MAPS gave him the keys to the boat "two or three weeks ago."

Nicholson contended the scheme in which Kawakami allegedly was involved was similar to "check-kiting" except that it all took place within one bank.

In check-kiting, a fictitious balance is built up in one or more bank accounts by a well planned deposit of bad checks from other banks. To work, the scheme requires careful timing.

EHS Gridders Sign With Chaps

The Lubbock Christian College football team added another pair of players to its roster Tuesday when Scott Weems and Kelly McBride of Estacado High signed with the Chaparrals.

Weems, a 6-3, 190-pound offensive tackle, runs a 4.9 40-yard dash and LCC coach Don Carthel believes he could be used at the tight end position.

McBride is 5-9 and weighs 180 pounds and runs the 40-yard dash in 4.5. He played linebacker for the Matadors and Carthel sees him as an outstanding prospect for Chap linebacking duties.

"Weems is a prospect at either tight end or offensive tackle at the college level," Carthel said. "He should fill out into a good-sized football player in the next year."

Of McBride, Carthel said, "He's an outstanding prospect at linebacker for us. He has the speed necessary for responsibilities involved in our split-4 defense."

McBride earned All-District, All-City and All-South Plains as a prep linebacker.

Recruiting Violations May Be On Wane

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The most serious ongoing problem in policing college sports is the failure of institutions to control illegal practices by alumni and other supporters, the National Collegiate Athletic Association's enforcement chief said Tuesday.

At the same time, a group of major college football coaches said that recruiting violations appear to be fewer than ever.

And the chairman of the NCAA's Committee on Infractions said he considered the recent siege of academic scandals involving fraudulent transcripts and non-existent credits "worse than having no institutional control."

The remarks were made at a lengthy question-and-answer session with newsmen on recruiting abuses and other problems in college athletics at the windup of the NCAA's fifth annual College Football Preview.

William B. Hunt, the NCAA's assistant executive director for enforcement, called illegal practices by persons not directly connected with a school "a big problem for coaches" who are unaware of many violations.

Traditionally, the NCAA has held a school responsible for the conduct of "representatives of its athletic interests," who may include alumni and other well-meaning but overzealous backers.

"People outside an institution's athletic program get a vicarious sensation from illegally recruiting prospects and by subsidizing student-athletes," Hunt said. "They look at a team and say, 'That's my team. If my team loses, it reflects poorly on me; if the team wins, I'm something special.' It can affect a program in a very negative way."

"I don't think you can ever feel comfortable that you have complete control," said coach Vince Dooley of the University of Georgia. "The best you can hope for is to set a tone for the kind of program you'd like to have and issue periodic reminders. You have to be ever-conscious of what could happen at any given time and you have to make your staff conscious of that."

Recruiting rules were tightened at last month's NCAA convention and many coaches want even more restrictions in an attempt to curb as many violations as possible.

However, coach Jackie Sherrill of the University of Pittsburgh said illegal recruiting is "not as blatant as a lot of people think it is." Washington's Don James called this year's recruiting practices "by far the best I've ever seen. Our coaches aren't coming back and saying we're losing kids because other schools are cheating."

"I've heard less about it this year," added Florida State's Bobby Bowden. Dooley and Missouri's Warren Powers agreed.

"If the alumni know the coach's and the university's stance, it goes a long, long way," said Grant Teaff of Baylor.

In reply to a question, Hunt said he didn't think it was true that teams which depend on alumni for heavy recruiting win more than others. He said large-scale alumni recruiting "generally involves programs attempting to become successful, not the most successful."

Charles Alan Wright, a law professor at the University of Texas and chairman of the NCAA Infractions Committee, which metes out punishment to rules violators, called the organization's enforcement procedures "much better now" than in past years. But he said its "greatest single weakness is that the enforcement process is so slow."

Both he and Hunt called for enlargement of the enforcement staff, which has eight full-time field investigators.

Wright said there "will always be occasional young men, alumni and coaches who cheat, but that doesn't mean the overall NCAA program isn't a good program."

Noting that the NCAA adopted Division I women's champions last month to go along with those previously implemented in Divisions II and III, Hunt said, "That in itself is reason to add additional investigators. It's very possible that we'll be involved in similar problems in women's athletics as in men's."

Player Union Execs Meet, May Call For Strike

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Major League Players Association's executive board meets here today to consider the next step in an escalating war between baseball owners and the union over free-agent compensation.

Every indication is that the players representatives will set a strike date in response to the move last week by the owners to alter the free-agent reserve system.

Management wants clubs losing what it terms a "premier" or "ranking" free agent to be compensated with a professional player from the free agent's new team. The union claims that will place unreasonable restriction on the bargaining power of free agents.

The issue nearly caused a player strike last May and only when it was separated from the rest of the basic agreement was a settlement reached on a four-year contract outlining basic working conditions for major league players. A committee was created to try and solve the troublesome compensation question with Frank Cashen of the New York Mets and Harry Dalton of the Milwaukee Brewers representing management and Bob Boone of the Philadelphia Phillies and Milwaukee's Sal Bando sitting in for the players.

The committee held several meetings but was unable to resolve the question and management moved unilaterally last week, putting its compensation proposal into place.

Earlier this week, Boone and Bando issued their report and recommendations on the question and they will formally present that material to the union's executive board today.

In their report, Boone and Bando said there was no evidence of any damage caused by the current free-agent system to warrant increased compensation and that the proposed change would affect the bargaining power and mobility of all players.

"Major league baseball players ought to have the same rights as other Americans who, after an employment contract expires, are free to seek work elsewhere on the best terms they can negotiate, without any new employer being required to pay 'compensation' to the former employer," the Boone-Bando report said. "The manpower compensation scheme put forward by the owners would violate that basic right."

Current compensation calls for an amateur draft choice. Management has claimed that is insufficient.

The player report indicated a willingness to consider changes in the compensation clause but pointed out that any such changes would have to be consistent with the clubs' "stated aims in seeking such changes, i.e., to increase 'equity' without adversely affecting the bargaining power of any free agent."

The current plan doesn't fit those restrictions as far as the players are concerned.

The report calls for continued negotiation with management over the issue but adds that if a mutually satisfactory settlement can not be reached, "both the players association and the owners should abandon, for the remaining life of the basic agreement, all suggested changes in the reserve system."

Coliseum Loses Bid For Quick Process In Action Against NFL

In addition, Lynch said a ruling in the Coliseum's favor would be appealed by the NFL, thus delaying the now scheduled March 23 trial date.

He urged that the case proceed as scheduled on March 23 with all parties participating.

Blecher predicted a marathon trial if that happens. He said a jury presumably ignorant about football, would have to be educated about the sport. He also noted that peripheral issues such as alleged scalping of Super Bowl tickets would consume many trial hours.

In addition, Blecher said there would be discussions of "smear tactics" and personality differences between the key figures in the dispute — NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle and Raiders managing general partner Al Davis.

The judge told attorneys again he wished the case could be resolved without any trial.

"I would think sensible business people would have settled this case before this date," he said.

Turner Urges Owner Cooperation

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner, who signed outfielder Claudell Washington to a reported $3.5 million five-year contract last fall, says baseball owners must work together to lower major league salaries.

"Salaries are just too high overall," Turner said in an interview published in Tuesday's Atlanta Journal. "They've got to come down, or some teams will go broke. They'll have to go out of business."

The flamboyant Turner said he and New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner have hurt other teams by giving "outrageous contracts" to some players.

No doubt about it, he said. "They have to live up to our salaries in arbitration. I think the top salaries in all sports should be about $300,000 or $400,000. I think the average players should make around $100,000 or $150,000."

"We've got to reduce salaries somehow. I don't think all our players are overpaid — Braves pitcher Phil Niekro is worth every penny he's getting — but we have given some outrageous contracts," he said.

Turner said the Braves "went a little overboard" on Washington's contract, for example.

Despite his strong statements, however, he said he is not ready to abstain from paying high salaries unless other owners do the same.

"A team could make that decision, but it would risk handicapping itself," he said. "Oakland tried that, and look what happened. Minnesota did it recently and lost all its players. Now, Boston is doing it. You've got to stay competitive."

"Somehow, the owners have got to work together," he added.

Turner said he has become disillusioned with players who win valuable contracts and then want more.

These guys ought to act like they're appreciative of their tremendous opportunity, he said. They shouldn't walk around with sour faces. They ought to be thankful — not to me, but to life. They shouldn't be complaining about anything.

He said he thinks baseball owners should stand firm if there is a baseball strike this year.

Let's find out who's boss. The players are supposed to play, and the owners are supposed to control. Let the leaders lead. Let's get things back like they're supposed to be.

Murphy Concentrates On Defense

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Center fielder Dale Murphy got in some early workouts at the Atlanta Braves' spring training camp Tuesday, concentrating on what he considers his defensive shortcomings.

There are still things I have to learn as an outfielder, said Murphy who was shifted from first base to center field last season.

Murphy had coaches hit ground balls to his right and left, and also worked on charging groundballs.

The center fielder will leave camp today to accompany player representative Phil Niekro to Tampa, where top members of the Major League Players Association will meet to discuss current labor problems involving compensation for free agents.

Pitcher Tommy Boggs missed Tuesday's three-hour workout session because of a groin injury. Catcher Biff Pocoroba arrived Tuesday and worked out for the first time.

Twins' Pitcher Undergoes Rehabilitation

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, gathering in Orlando for spring training, have announced that pitcher Darrell Jackson has checked into a rehabilitation facility for treatment of alcoholism.

The slim, high-strung Jackson, a resident of La Habra, Calif., had a 9-9 record in 32 games last year and is being counted on as a mainstay on the pitching staff this year, said Twins Manager Johnny Goryl.

We thought last year that he might be drinking, but we didn't know a thing about his problem until the hospital called us, said Minnesota President Calvin Griffith.

Griffith said Jackson had checked himself into the undisclosed facility, which is good.

If we had known about it and had suggested it, maybe he wouldn't have. But he did it on his own, and that's a good sign.

Treatment counselors for the 5-foot-10, 143-pound Jackson told Minnesota officials that he is making great progress and can look forward to a release from treatment as soon as March 22 and no later than March 27.

For Darrell's sake, I'm glad he's aware of the problem and that he wants to get it straightened out, Goryl said.

We will check with his counselors to see if they can put him on some kind of conditioning program. He's one of the pitchers we're counting on.

Jackson went from the Arizona State campus to the Orlando Twins of the Class AA Southern League in 1978. He pitched a nine-inning no-hitter before being removed in a 12-inning Orlando victory on opening night.

He was in the major leagues with Minnesota 1½ months later.

Other baseball players with recent alcoholism problems have included pitcher Bob Welch of the Los Angeles Dodgers and catcher Darrell Porter, now with St. Louis.

Russell Hopes To Return To Lineup

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop Bill Russell, sidelined by injury late last season, already is working hard at training camp and hopes to return to the lineup when the National League baseball season starts.

Russell suffered a shattered knuckle on the index finger of his right hand when hit by a pitch last September, in the heat of a pennant race. He underwent extensive surgery to repair the damage.

A second operation removed the pin that held the knuck together although he still has a plastic insert.

Oregon State Tops AP Poll

The Deacons, upset by Clemson and then by No. 20 Maryland last week, fell from fifth to 12th. UCLA, surprised by Stanford last Saturday, plunged from No. 6 to 13. The Volunteers, a one-point loser to LSU last Saturday, slipped from seventh to No. 10 with 715 points.

North Carolina headed the Second 10 followed by Wake Forest, UCLA, Illinois, Brigham Young, Indiana, Maryland, Arkansas, Wichita State and Louisville, an absentee from the ranking for nine weeks.

Arkansas, missing from the Top 20 for eight weeks, also returned to the list. Michigan and Lamar both dropped out of the poll.

Buff's Unveil Grid Schedule

CANYON (Special) — Consecutive road games against Iowa State and the University of Nevada-Las Vegas highlight West Texas State's 1981 11-game football schedule announced earlier this week.

The road trips to Ames, Iowa, and Las Vegas are two of the Buffaloes' six games away from Kimbrough Memorial Stadium. The five home contests will include a pair of afternoon games against conference foes Indiana State and Tulsa.

West Texas opens the season at home with a 7:30 p.m. game Sept. 5 against Louisiana Tech. The Buffaloes hit the road for the Sept. 12 encounter with Iowa State, a 1:30 p.m. contest, and the UNLV game Sept. 19 with the time to be announced later.

Bill Yung's squad returns home on Sept. 26 for a 7:30 p.m. game against the University of Texas-Arlington, then travels to McNeese State Oct. 3 for a 7:30 p.m. contest to round out non-conference play.

The Buffaloes open Missouri Valley Conference action Oct. 10 at home against Southern Illinois State University at 7:30 p.m. On Oct. 17 they travel to Wichita to take on Wichita State in a 1:30 p.m. contest and follow that up Oct. 24 with a 1:30 p.m. game at Drake University.

Following an open date Oct. 31, WTJU plays host to Indiana State at 2 p.m. on Nov. 7 and Tulsa at 2 p.m. on Nov. 14. A 7:30 p.m. road game Nov. 21 in Las Cruces against New Mexico State rounds out the regular season schedule.

Razorbacks Clinch SWC Title

By The Associated Press
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Senior guard Mike Young scored eight of Arkansas' 17 second-half points Tuesday as the 18th-ranked Razorbacks overcame a Southern Methodist University delay game to gain a title-clinching 47-33 basketball victory.

A sellout crowd of 9,283 watched as the Razorbacks claimed the Southwest Conference championship with a 12-3 record. Arkansas has one league game remaining.

Arkansas raced to a 23-10 lead midway through the opening half. The Mustangs pulled to within 10 points at 25-15 with nine minutes left in the half and went into a stall.

Arkansas led 30-21 at intermission. The teams exchanged baskets in the second half before SMU killed four minutes with a perimeter passing game.

Then Arkansas, leading 37-30, also held the ball as SMU went to a zone defense. The standoff continued for about 11 minutes.

SMU switched to a man-to-man defense with about three minutes to go. The Razorbacks scored eight straight points on two baskets by Young and layups by center Scott Hastings and Tony Brown to move up 43-30 with about 40 seconds to go.

Young finished with 16 points. Hastings and senior guard U.S. Reed scored 10 apiece.

Dave Pehler led SMU with 12 points.

Arkansas took 11 shots in the final 20 minutes and converted eight. The Mustangs were four of nine from the field in the half.

The victory was the 10th in a row for the Razorbacks and left them 21-6 overall. SMU dropped to 7-19 overall and 3-13 in the league.

HOUSTON — Guard Rob Williams converted a three-point play with less than two minutes to play and hit a pair of free throws with 57 seconds left Tuesday night as the Cougars defeated Rice 63-55 to clinch a tie for second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Cougars, who broke a three-game losing streak that knocked them out of first place, now have a 10-5 league record and 19-7 for the year. The Owls dropped to 7-8 and 12-13 marks.

Williams, who hit only three of nine shots in the first half, finished with 19 points and provided the clinch when he scored a layup and sank a free throw, with 1:43 to play, that gave the Cougars a 57-53 lead.

He went to the line again in the final minute with two more free throws and freshman forward Michael Young hit four more charity tosses for the Cougars' total.

Rice jumped to an early 10-2 lead and never trailed throughout the first half, although the Cougars pulled within a point at 32-31 on a three-point play by Clyde Drexler that ended the half.

Houston was beaten badly inside during the first half but Cougar center Larry Micheaux took charge after intermission, finishing with 10 points.

Junior forward Ricky Pierce led the Owls with 21 points and Willis Wilson scored 10.

The victory extended Houston's series record over Rice to 21-1.

FORT WORTH — Forward Vernon Smith hit two free throws with just over a minute left on the clock to provide Texas A&M's 59-57 margin of victory over Texas Christian in Southwest Conference basketball action Tuesday night.

TCU had a chance to tie but Cuney Luke's 15-foot jumper rolled off the rim as time expired.

The win broke a tie between the Aggies and Horned Frogs for sixth place in the SWC race, lifting the Aggies to a 7-8 conference record while TCU fell to 6-9.

Smith, a 6-8 senior, had 13 points and a game-high 12 rebounds as the Aggies outrebounced TCU 39-31. Claude Riley added 16 points for the Aggies and Rynn Wright scored 14.

Sophomore guard Darrell Browder led TCU with 14 points, almost six points below his season's average.

Browder hit only seven of 19 from the field as the A&M defense switched throughout the game from a 3-2 zone to a pressing man to man.

Borger Holds Off Dunbar 69-60

By RAY GLASS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
 If Dunbar coach Joe McWilliams wants to look back on Tuesday night's 69-60 loss to Borger, he may have to settle for reviewing all but the Panthers' moment of glory in the final period.

On a night when little else went right for the Panthers, their experiment to film the entire District 1-4A battle on their home floor ended midway through the final period when the film broke.

That coincided with the Panthers' final rally, a run that chopped the Bulldogs' 13-point lead to six points with 4:13 to play in the game. But Borger held on behind the play of seniors Scott Hunt and Gregg Belton to remain undefeated in league action and in the thick of the district race.

Borger is 4-0 in the district's second half, 28-3 overall and knotted with Canyon for the league's top spot. The young Panthers slipped to 0-5 and 6-24 with its seventh loss in a row.

The Panthers sliced Borger's 48-35 lead entering the final eight minutes to 55-49 with 4:36 on the clock and to 57-51 23 seconds later.

The Bulldogs led 54-43 two minutes in the period when Barry Pillow and Roland Comacho each converted both ends of one and one situations to trim the advantage to 54-47.

After Belton hit one of two free throws, Danny Douglas grabbed a loose ball under the Panther bucket and put it in to cut the margin to six. Belton responded with a layup at the other end but Vance Harris countered for the Panthers with an 18-footer.

Dunbar then forced three consecutive turnovers but failed to score and a 15-foot jumper and a pair of charity tosses by Hunt knocked the margin back up to 10 points at 61-51 with 2:38 to play.

"On defense we wouldn't really come back to the basket and they were getting inside," McWilliams said. "We were trying to play a zone and they were hitting the outside shots. Of course, we had our opportunities for easy shots but we just shot our layups short."

Hunt had 11 points in the fourth period, including four free throws and a three-point play with 1:49 to play that put the Bulldogs up by 13 points.

"We tried a man defense on him (Hunt) and let the others play a zone defense," McWilliams said. "But he's just a good shooter and floor leader."

"Gregg (Belton) got us a couple of key baskets at the end," Borger coach Duane Hunt said. "We wanted to get them (Dunbar) out of their zone defense and Scott responded well."

The Bulldogs went into a spread offense with 3:38 to play but Quinton Shepard turned the ball over twice. The next time down the court the Bulldogs got the ball to Hunt and he drove the lane, canned a layup and was fouled by Taron Patterson. His free throw put Borger up 64-53 and Terrance Sheppard converted another three-point play with 58 seconds to play to ice the game.

Dunbar fought its way back into the game after trailing 38-21 at halftime by dominating the boards. Each squad grabbed 19 rebounds in the first half but the Panthers won the board battle in the final two quarters, 24-15.

Douglas and Patterson, who each had a pair of second-half baskets off offensive rebounds, led the Panthers with 11 rebounds apiece. Belton led all backboard cleaners with 12.

Hunt led the winners with 25 points while Belton, averaging 21 points a game, added 18. Patterson was the Panthers' high scorer with 13. Comacho contributed 12 and Barry Pillow added 10.

Hunt and Shawn Harrington led a Bulldog spurt that gave Borger a 22-12 lead after the first eight minutes. Borger led 10-9 when it ran off a 12-3 string to close out the quarter.

Hunt had eight points in the first period, all in the final 2:30, while the 6-foot-6 Harrington scored seven in the period from the low post.

Borger increased its margin to 17 at halftime.

Dunbar ends the season March 3 when it plays host to Canyon. Borger and Canyon meet Friday in a game that could decide the district's second-half winner. A Bulldog victory would force a playoff like we are... not too much depth and that takes a toll. They didn't seem as aggressive as they were the first time we played."

Texas was led by LaSalle Thompson's 18 points and 15 rebounds. Thompson did most of his damage in the first half, scoring 12 points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

The difference between Texas Tuesday night and the UT team that lost 89-79 in Lubbock back on Jan. 2 was the play of guards Harper and Fred Carson, who scored 23 points between them Tuesday night.

Harper was five of six from the floor and five of five from the free-throw line while Carson scored an additional eight points.

Jennings hit only two of nine effort for four points — eight below his conference average. Dwight Williams, seeing 25 minutes of playing time, was zero of four from the field.

As a team, the Raiders hit only 44 percent of their shots (23 of 52). And in the second half, almost all the Tech offense came from Taylor.

The Raider junior scored 17 of Tech's 29 second-half counters. Center Clarence Swannegan, who had 10 in the first half, had only two in the second 20 minutes of play for 12. Ben Hill was the only other Raider in double figures with 11.

Trailing 49-38, the Raiders made a mid threat. Taylor hit from 20 feet out, and then Hill scored on a fastbreak layup to make it 49-42 with 8:30 remaining.

Taylor hit again from the 20-foot range to make it a 49-44 ball game. When Harper was whistled for a charge with 5:33 left Swannegan made it a three-point game (49-46) with a 10-foot swisher. Carson hit two big free throws after the Longhorns had whittled the clock down to 4:05 and went back on top by five, 51-46.

Tech's last hurrah came when Taylor scored a fastbreak bucket. That made it 51-48 with 3:21 to play. But the 'Horns were successful in keeping Tech at bay for the remainder of the contest.

The final humiliation came with Texas leading 56-50 when the Raiders picked up a technical foul for having six men on the floor at the same time. Despite the six-man defense, the Longhorns scored on a Thompson tip-in to go up 58-50. Harper hit the technical free throw and canned another pair of charity shots after being fouled to make it 61-50 and put it on ice for Texas.

"We put three substitutions in and Clarence was suppose to come out," explained Myers. "He just didn't get the message."

Eleven of the Longhorns' final 15 points came at the free-throw line. "We hit some key free throws down the line," assessed Lemons.

It was a strange first half as both squads tried to play a fast-paced game that resulted in more turnovers than it did slam dunks. But it was a close game, a one-point contest, until Thompson muscled inside for an easy bucket and was fouled by Hill with six seconds left in the half. Thompson hit his free throw and the Longhorns owned a 29-25 advantage at intermission.

It was Swannegan who canned a short baseline jumper to pull Tech to within one, 26-25, before Thompson scored the final three points of the half for Texas.

Both teams appeared out of control in the game's first minutes, as turnovers ruled. Both the Raiders and 'Horns coughed the ball up five times.

Neither team shot well, either. Tech hit 40 percent (11 of 27) of its first-half attempts from the floor. The Longhorns were a little better at 44.8 percent (13 of 29).

Abrasive Star Keeps 'Quincy' Near Top

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A Series about a coroner? You've got to be kidding!
 That was the reaction at Universal Studios and NBC-TV six years ago.
 But "Quincy" made it to the air anyhow. Today it is one of the most successful and highly rated shows produced by the studio and network — thanks in large part to its abrasive star, Jack Klugman.
 From the beginning, Klugman has been a fire-eating monster as far as Universal and NBC are concerned. He insisted and continues to insist on quality production, high grade performances and impeccable scripts.
 He has threatened to quit. He's insisted on the right time slot. He's faced down studio and network brass who fought his policies.
 Klugman will win no popularity contests except at the bank.

Universal and NBC countenance his intemperate insistence on excellence because they are making a profit on him.
 Drawn as finely as a triple high C piano wire, the work-driven Klugman took time off during a lunch break the other day with the unceremonious observation, "I'm the boss. It's my show."
 Although he doesn't have the title of producer, Klugman is the final authority on "Quincy." What he says goes.
 "I don't care about titles," he said in the familiar hoarse voice. "What I care about is a quality show and the satisfaction that we've all done our best."
 "We've got the best writing staff in TV. I hired two of them personally and they brought in a couple more. I'm tough on 'em. I tongue lash them. I send them back to their typewriters to improve every script."
 "You could say I've become an evil

man. I'll be a good guy again once the series is over. I pray they will all forgive me."
 "But remember this: behind every long-running show on the air there is one person who cares more than all the others, someone willing to make every sacrifice possible for quality."

"It's Carroll O'Connor on 'Archie Bunker's Place.' It was Lucille Ball on the 'Lucy' shows. It was Quinn Martin on 'The Fugitive.' It's Alan Alda on 'M*A*S*H.' It's Danny Arnold on 'Barney Miller.'"

Western Film Course Offered

"From 'Bronco Billy' Anderson to 'Bronco Billy' Eastwood," a study of the American West in western films, will be offered beginning March 2 by the Texas Tech University Division of Continuing Education.
 The course will be taught by Les Adams, editor and publisher of "Yesterday's Saturdays," a popular reference magazine for western film buffs.
 Adams has contributed research and material to several western film books and is co-author of a complete reference guide to westerns. He also possesses one of the largest pressbook collections in the world.

part of the course. Topics to be discussed include "Heroes a Heroines," "Butch, Sundance and 'Star Wars,'" "The Singing Cowboys" and "John Ford & John Wayne."
 The course costs $33.50 and is limited to 30 persons. It will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays through April 27 in Room 111 of the Mass Communications Building.
 For further information, contact Teresa Katsufakis in the Division of Continuing Education at (806) 742-2354.

Killer Bees Advancing Toward U.S.

SEATTLE (AP) — African "killer bees" have reached Panama and could colonize Texas by the end of this decade, says an expert on the aggressive swarming bees.
 But the tide of bees eventually will be stopped cold by winter weather in the northern states, says Mark Winston of Simon Fraser University at Burnaby, British Columbia.
 Besides, the bees' threat to humans has been exaggerated, Winston said Wednesday at the American Beekeeping Federation convention in Seattle.
 But the bees, which eventually will spread through the southern states and California, have killed livestock and humans in South America.
 Such attacks have occurred only when a large number of the bees have been provoked into making a "massive response," Winston said.
 "The African people have co-existed with these bees for many centuries," Winston said. "All that is required is to keep a watch for their nests and avoid disturbing them."
 In the wild, African bees live in nests hanging from trees, stumps and walls. Individual colonies are small and not concentrated in numbers large enough for a "massive response" to intrusion.
 Beekeepers unwittingly turn the bees into a killer force by keeping high-population hives. Normal beehives have become "Africanized" when the queen bees mate with killer bees in the wild.
 The killer bees spread through South America after 26 colonies brought to Brazil for research escaped in 1956. There are now an estimated 10 million colonies in South Africa.
 The bees have spread northward through Central America at the rate of 200 to 300 miles a year and are now at the Colombia-Panama border. They could fly through Mexico and reach Texas as soon as 1988, Winston said.
 "Some people have suggested that a gas pipeline be installed, and a wall of flame 500 feet high be kept burning the length of the Panama Canal to stop the spread of the African bees," Winston said.
 Such an effort would be futile, he said.
 "If just one colony of bees jumps the barrier, the spread will continue — they travel and multiply so rapidly."

Whiteface Boys Stun Plainsmen

HEREFORD (Special) — The Hereford boys' basketball team pulled what could be considered the upset of the year Tuesday night by edging Monterey 46-45 here in the Whiteface gym.

The Hereford girls did the same thing to Plainview in the final district game to give Monterey the championship. Now, the Hereford boys have spoiled a Monterey district title. Plainview's boys will now be declared the 4-5A champ.

Garry Parman was the game's high scorer with 17 points to lead the White-faces to only their fourth win of the year against 27 losses.

For MHS, Gary Hodges hit 16 and Ian Hyslop added 12 as the Plainsmen dropped to 24-8 for the season and 6-2 in district.

After the teams had battled to a 10-10 deadlock after one quarter, the White-faces bolted ahead by outscoring MHS 18-11 in the second period. Monterey cut it to 36-31 with a quarter to play, but even outscoring Hereford 14-10 in the final quarter was not enough.

Both teams hit 20 field goals, but Hereford hit six of 12 free throws to five of nine for the Plainsmen.

Girls' Regional Pairings Set; MHS Faces Irvin

The pairings have been set for the Region I Class 5A girls' basketball tournament to be played in Midland this weekend.

Lubbock's Monterey, 27-2 and a 66-62 bi-district winner over Amarillo High, will face El Paso Irvin in the first round Friday evening at 6. Irvin stands 29-2 on the year after beating cross-town rival Ysleta 74-50 in bi-district action Monday night.

On the other side of the bracket, Fort Worth powerhouse Dunbar High, which hasn't lost a district game since the girls came under UIL rule three years ago, will face Lewisville immediately after the MHS-Irvin game.

Lewisville won its regional berth by stomping San Angelo Central 61-37 Tuesday night. The win leaves them 25-8 on the season. Dunbar defeated Arlington Bowie by a lopsided 67-53 count in its bi-district contest.

The tourney finals will be held Saturday afternoon at 2, with the winner advancing to the state tournament the following weekend in Austin.

New Deal Advances To Regional Play

PLAINVIEW (Special) — The New Deal Lions had three players to score in double figures while holding Springlake-Earth's big guns down to earn a regional tournament berth in taking a 52-37 victory here in Hutcherson Center Tuesday.

Vickie Teal scored 18 points before fouling out to earn high-scoring honors. Melissa Mayo was right behind her with 16 points and Renay Looney added 11.

Melinda Denham and Jennifer Keller, the top scorers for the Wolverines during the season, were held to eight and seven points, respectively.

For the Lions, it will be a return trip to the regional tournament in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Last year, New Deal lost a two-point decision to state finalist Panhandle in the finals of the tourney.

Nazareth Girls Rip Sundown

SUNDOWN (Special) — Led by a pair of hot shooting Gerber sisters, the Nazareth Swiftettes swept past the Sundown Roughneck girls 77-45 in bi-district play-off action Tuesday night.

The Gerber sisters, Lori and Sharon, accounted for more than a third of the Swiftettes points in a balanced Nazareth attack. Rhonda Holting, Danelle Schmucker and Deanna Holting contributed nine points each in the winning cause.

Leading the Lady Roughnecks in scoring were Sabra Schrader with 14 points and Carla Nugent with 13. Miss Srader and Miss Nugent carried the bulk of the Sundown offense, responsible for more than half of their team's total output.

On the Nazareth side, Lori Gerber scored all of her 16 points from the field, while Sharon Gerber hit on only one field goal but was a perfect eight for eight at the charity stripe.

The win by Nazareth pushes their season record to 29-2 while Sundown ends its season 21-8.

Forsan Rally Wins Bi-District Title

MCCAMEY (Special) — District 5-2A champion Forsan rallied in the final quarter to take a 45-42 bi-district victory over host McCamey here Tuesday night.

Forsan cruised through its district schedule with a 10-0 record and is now 25-3 entering the Region I tournament which begins Friday in Lubbock.

McCamey ends its season with a 20-7 record.

Leading the way for Forsan was Christy Adams who had 13 points.

Valley Girls Roll To Regional Berth

MEMPHIS (Special) — The Valley girls' basketball team whipped Mobeetie 56-26 in bi-district action here Tuesday night to earn a berth in this weekend's Region I tournament in the Texas Dome at South Plains College in Levelland.

Valley, now 24-5, will play the winner of the Greenwood-Robert Lee bi-district game Friday at 8 p.m.

The Patriots had three players to score in double figures as Candy Jones pumped in 18. Angie Eudy hit 12 and Nina Reyna chipped in 11.

Valley, representing District 4-1A, out scored the 3-1A champs in every quarter.

Bobcats Top Tulia For District Crown

PAMPA (Special) — The Childress Bobcats, led by David Tucker's 20 points, defeated Tulia 63-49 for the District 3-3A championship here Tuesday night.

The Bobcats, winners of the second half title with a 5-0 record, jumped out to an 18-8 lead and was never challenged by Tulia.

Tulia had won the first half with a perfect record, but suffered two second-half losses to force a playoff. During the regular season, Tulia and Childress split one-point games.

Childress will play Slaton, the District 4-3A champion, in bi-district.

Team Match Heads Card

Mexican movie star and bull fighter Mil Mascaras will team with Raul Mata against Kabuki and Killer Brooks in tonight's Main Event of NWA Wrestling at the Fair Park Coliseum. Action begins at 7:30 p.m.

In a special Lights Out bout, Danny Sanchez, a referee, will fight Mata. In other bouts, Mr. Chan will take on

Abrasive Star Keeps 'Quincy' Near Top

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A Series about a coroner? You've got to be kidding!
 That was the reaction at Universal Studios and NBC-TV six years ago.
 But "Quincy" made it to the air anyhow. Today it is one of the most successful and highly rated shows produced by the studio and network — thanks in large part to its abrasive star, Jack Klugman.
 From the beginning, Klugman has been a fire-eating monster as far as Universal and NBC are concerned. He insisted and continues to insist on quality production, high grade performances and impeccable scripts.
 He has threatened to quit. He's insisted on the right time slot. He's faced down studio and network brass who fought his policies.
 Klugman will win no popularity contests except at the bank.

Universal and NBC countenance his temperate insistence on excellence because they are making a profit on him.
 Drawn as finely as a triple high C piano wire, the work-driven Klugman took time off during a lunch break the other day with the unceremonious observation, "I'm the boss. It's my show."
 Although he doesn't have the title of producer, Klugman is the final authority on "Quincy." What he says goes.
 "I don't care about titles," he said in the familiar hoarse voice. "What I care about is a quality show and the satisfaction that we've all done our best."
 "We've got the best writing staff in TV. I hired two of them personally and they brought in a couple more. I'm tough on 'em. I tongue lash them. I send them back to their typewriters to improve every script."
 "You could say I've become an evil

man. I'll be a good guy again once the series is over. I pray they will all forgive me."
 "But remember this: behind every long-running show on the air there is one person who cares more than all the others, someone willing to make every sacrifice possible for quality."
 "It's Carroll O'Connor on 'Archie Bunker's Place.' It was Lucille Ball on the 'Lucy' shows. It was Quinn Martin on 'The Fugitive.' It's Alan Alda on 'M*A*S*H.' It's Danny Arnold on 'Barney Miller.'"

Western Film Course Offered

"From 'Bronco Billy' Anderson to 'Bronco Billy' Eastwood," a study of the American West in western films, will be offered beginning March 2 by the Texas Tech University Division of Continuing Education.
 The course will be taught by Les Adams, editor and publisher of "Yesterday's Saturdays," a popular reference magazine for western film buffs.
 Adams has contributed research and material to several western film books and is co-author of a complete reference guide to westerns. He also possesses one of the largest pressbook collections in the world.
 Excerpts from western movies and interviews with western film actors, directors, producers and musicians will be part of the course. Topics to be discussed include "Heroes a Heroines," "Butch, Sundance and 'Star Wars,'" "The Singing Cowboys" and "John Ford & John Wayne."

 The course costs $33.50 and is limited to 30 persons. It will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays through April 27 in Room 111 of the Mass Communications Building.
 For further information, contact Teresa Katsufakis in the Division of Continuing Education at (806) 742-2354.

Killer Bees Advancing Toward U.S.

SEATTLE (AP) — African "killer bees" have reached Panama and could colonize Texas by the end of this decade, says an expert on the aggressive swarming bees.
 But the tide of bees eventually will be stopped cold by winter weather in the northern states, says Mark Winston of Simon Fraser University at Burnaby, British Columbia.
 Besides, the bees' threat to humans has been exaggerated, Winston said Wednesday at the American Beekeeping Federation convention in Seattle.
 But the bees, which eventually will spread through the southern states and California, have killed livestock and humans in South America.
 Such attacks have occurred only when a large number of the bees have been provoked into making a "massive response," Winston said.
 "The African people have co-existed with these bees for many centuries," Winston said. "All that is required is to keep a watch for their nests and avoid disturbing them."
 In the wild, African bees live in nests hanging from trees, stumps and walls. Individual colonies are small and not concentrated in numbers large enough for a "massive response" to intrusion.
 Beekeepers unwittingly turn the bees into a killer force by keeping high-population hives. Normal beehives have become "Africanized" when the queen bees mate with killer bees in the wild.
 The killer bees spread through South America after 26 colonies brought to Brazil for research escaped in 1956. There are now an estimated 10 million colonies in South Africa.
 The bees have spread northward through Central America at the rate of 200 to 300 miles a year and are now at the Colombia-Panama border. They could fly through Mexico and reach Texas as soon as 1988, Winston said.
 "Some people have suggested that a gas pipeline be installed, and a wall of flame 500 feet high be kept burning the length of the Panama Canal to stop the spread of the African bees," Winston said.
 Such an effort would be futile, he said.
 "If just one colony of bees jumps the barrier, the spread will continue — they travel and multiply so rapidly."
