Reports of the AWACS (Airborne Warning and Command System) deal surfaced last Wednesday, a few days after the Israeli government decided to avoid a head-on collision with the new U.S. administration over the sale of extra equip-ment for Saudi Arabia's American-built F-15 jet fighters.

The United States decided to upgrade the Saudi air force in an effort to dis age Soviet expansion in the oil-rich Persian Gulf region, according to Reagan administration sources who said the United States had decided to sell four of the radar planes to Saudi Arabia

Former Foreign Minister Abba Eban, speaking for the opposition Labor Party, accused Shamir of getting Israeli relations with the Reagan administration off to a bad start by failing to "confront the United States" on the Saudi arms issue.

Shamir urged the United States and other arms-exporting countries "to put a Dyess also called attention to the role of Afghan President Babrak Karmal who, he said, blamed the government of Pakistan for the hijacking and demanded that Pakistan give in to the demands of the hijackers.

As for Pakistan's decision to release political prisoners, Dyess offered no judgment, saying only that the demands made by the hijackers posed a "terrible dilemma" for the Pakistani government.

Dyess' public criticism of the Soviets added a new dimension to U.S. relations with Moscow, already strained by Reagan administration allegations of Soviet support for international terrorism in El Salvador and elsewhere.

Dyess refused to speculate on what motives the Soviets may have had for

Airport UFO Revealed As Bat Kite

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - What was reported to be an unidentified flying object was identified as a child's bat-shaped kite, Monday, after causing five hours of concern at the San Antonio International Airport.

The confusion was highlighted by descriptions of the kite as a "large wing-type object" which was flying "much higher than ap-proaching aircraft" near an approach pattern to the airport.

Airport control tower operators, airport police, nearby residents and a task force of a dozen police officers joined in reporting the object.

Long Hunt It took hours for police searching with spotlights, in patrol cars and on foot - to finally corral

A police helicopter finally was called into service, located the kite and flew down the string until the officer in charge, Lt. Andres Lozano, grabbed its string and hauled it back to earth.

Lozano described the object as a child's two-foot by two-foot "Bat Kite" on the end of a long nylon cord. The cord apparently had become entangled in a tree at a house near the airport.

"Red Eyes"

Airport Security Police Sgt. Jack Thomason said officials first were notified by a nearby resident at 11:10 p.m., Sunday, of the 'wing-type object.'

Several people, including pol-icemen, said the object had two large "red eyes," Thomason said, and was flying in the vicinity of the approach patterns to one of the airport's main runways.

Because of wind conditions, however, the runway was not in service at the time of the reports.

Tech 'Blarney

Avalanche-Journal Staff FOR ALMOST half a century, Texas Tech students have heard of the university's own private piece of the fabled rock from Blarney Castle near Cork, Ireland.

As legend has it, those who kiss the Blarney Stone will be endowed with the gift of eloquent speech. Theoretically, that same power applies to Tech's own small portion of storied stone, which sits atop a pedestal near the entrance to the Electrical Engineering Building.

Internal political divisions have paralyzed the decision-making apparatus in Iran's revolutionary government, prompting long delay in resolving the U.S. hostage crisis that ended in January and prolonging the conflict with Iraq that erupted last Sept. 22.

In his speech, Khomeini prayed that the Almighty "help solve the disputes and discord...whether in the top echelons or among the masses," the official news agency Pars reported Hardliners from the Islamic Republican Party who attended the meeting at Khomeini's residence in north Tehran were Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, the party leader and head of Iran's supreme court; parliament speaker Hojato-leslam Ali Akbar Beheshti-Rafsanjani, Presecutor General Ayatollah Musavi Ardabeli and Khomeini's military adviser Hojatoleslam Ali Khameini.

Supporters of Bani Sadr included former Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan and Khomeini's son, Hojatoleslam Aahmed Khomeini Pars said

After the four-hour meeting, Bani-Sadr had a private audience with the 80year-old Khomeini. He later told reporters each side presented written statements on subjects they could not agree on. The topics discussed were not released, Pars said.

Beheshti told reporters Khomeini called the meeting "to review the country's present conditions in his presence that we might attain a common outlook whereby the critical and complex issues could be tackled."

aloof from the conflict thus far. Beheshti redicted a second summit would be held to decide the disputes — an indica-tion Khomeini may be forced to take

The political battle reached new in tensity in the wake of clashes at Tehran university March 5 while Bani-Sadr was giving a speech. Hardliners blamed the president for letting his supporters get out of hand and attack hecklers, resulting in more than 40 persons being injured.

The pro-clergy state radio and television then called on Bani-Sadr to debate his opponents on national television and Bani-Sadr accepted, setting the stage for a political showdown.

It was uncertain if Khomeini would allow the debate to take place and Bani-Sadr said the issue was not raised at the meeting Monday.

Khomeini, in his speech to the Qom women's delegation, stressed the importance of cooling the political skirmishes. But he was critical of "poisonous tongues and pens" that urged women to abandon the veil and adopt Western practices such as the use of "horrible cosmetics." The statement seemed directed t the secular and leftist groups, most of which have backed the president.

ON OPPOSITION TO REAGAN

Mr. Wright Or Mr. Wrong?

IF ANYONE thought the old line, hardcore Democrats were going to "go along" with President Reagan's economic package, then perish the thought.

Both House Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill, Jr., and House Democratic leader Jim Wright, D-Tex., have made it clear that they plan to make some changes in the budget and tax cutting proposals offered by the

The latest to take up the criticism cannon is Rep. Wright, who has been urging his House colleagues not to "rubber-stamp" the administration's economic plan. As a matter of fact, Rep. Wright says Democrats should counterattack with a nine-page package of their own.

REP. WRIGHT'S pitch, in a package he has sent to colleagues and others for use as ammunition to oppose Mr. Reagan's program, zeroes in on both spending cuts which he argues would hurt the needy and tax cuts which he says would benefit the wealthy.

The tax slash, particularly, Wright argues, would "impose a grossly unfair burden on those least able to carry that burden."

Budget David A. Stockman counters with the position that the Reagan administration has no plans to make budget cuts that hurt the elderly or the truly needy.

RISKS OF COMPLACENCY

In One Era And Out Another

THE PRESIDENT of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the largest business organization in the world, unburdened himself of some sobering thoughts for those who are euphoric about the prospects for a new conservative era in America.

Dr. Richard Lesher said he is concerned that the prospects of restoring economic growth and reemphasizing traditional values may be dimmed by over-complacency, arrogance and over-expectation among conservatives themselves.

His words demand the careful attention of those who believe that the results of the last election offer an opportunity for significant and constructive change in this country.

These are the three major risks cited by Dr. Lesher and his explanation of each:

FIRST. AN attitude of over-complacency by the public in general and the business community in particular.

The attitude here is, "We won it all, so there's nothing left to do or worry about. But Dr. Lesher argues just the opposite.

"Never," he says, "have we had a greater need for legislative and political activism originating at the grass roots."

There is a world of difference between enunciating legislative proposals and following through to ensure they are passed by Congress and fairly administered by the executive agencies.

Second, an attitude of arrogance and extremism which makes demands that are unreasonable, unrealistic and unacceptable to the public.

The mandate is for less government. It is for more private enterprise. However, in no way should this be interpreted as signifying less concern for honesty and reliability within the system, Dr. Lesher says.

THIRD. AN attitude of over-expectation by the public at large.

"The election permits us to attempt a clean break with the past and to begin anew," he says, "It did not provide us with a magic wand which we can wave once to produce a painless panacea.

Dr. Lesher concludes that it is the members of the business community who are the logical leaders in the 1980s. "We have waited a long time for the opportunity to get America back on track," he writes, "and now that we finally have it, we must not allow it to slip

If we do, who knows how long it would be before we have another opportunity, and who can even imagine what kind of problems America would be facing by then.

Softball Team Manager In Defense Of Local Setup

Editor, Avalanche-Journal As one of the 200 to 300 softball managers in Lubbock, I read with interest the letter of Mr. Burnett complaining of the $20 increase in softball fees. Agreeing with Mr. Burnett that the Parks. and Recreation Department is here to serve the taxpayers, I cannot accept the unmistakable inference supplied by Mr. Burnett that they do not do

Having managed a team for two years in Lub-bock, played four years in Lubbock and having participated in softball programs in other cities, I find the Lubbock Softball program to be well run and reasonably priced:

I have never played or managed a game where umpires and scorekeepers were not present and ready to go. They miss calls occasionally, perhaps frequently, but all managers think all umpires are off base anyway, so who cares if they get an extra

It doesn't make any difference whether the scorekeeper knows the difference between a clean base hit and a sloppy error because everybody knows that a scorekeeper in softball, at least at this level of competition, only needs to count outs

As for maintenance, the fields are generally chalked and smoothed for each night's festivities. Who would expect P & R to chalk the foul lines and batter's box between games. It wouldn't even be necessary if the frustrated jocks, myself includbox every time they come to the plate. In sum, F & R puts on an excellent program and $195 per team buys the right to show up at the ballpark with bat, glove and ball untroubled by the details of who will be there to turn on the lights and administer the confusion. Reasonable indeed. Bill Harriger, 4328 56th St.

He Poses Key Question For Demos On Budget Proposal

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

A few nights ago, on national television, I listened to Senators Chiles and Hart and also Cong. Jim Wright, the Democrat Majority leader of the House, expound on President Reagan's tax and budget policy.

If the picture was blanked out and only the words were heard. I would have sworn that I was listening to three very conservative Republicans. To hear them tell it, one would have thought that their party, the Democrats, were always for curtailing government spending and balanced bud-

Their halos must have been binding and causing untold agony. Those three congressmen were representatives of the Democrat-controlled Congress which has held sway and held us, the American people, hostage for 44 of the last 48 years, exercising negative and unjust powers at a time when it should have acted positively to solve the complex and difficult problems of our time.

It is the legislative branch of government where things have gone awry-where democratic government has broken down-where vested-interest lobbies have run riot-where conflict of interest has been rampant-where the evil influence of arrogant and corrupt politics ignored the public welfare-rarely facing up to current problems and even more rarely resolving them. The problems of inflation, unemployment, deficit spending, energy, defense were never met head-on.

Instead, they bounced from one crisis to another, postponing solutions reminiscent of Scarlet O'Hara's "Gone with the Wind" remark of "I'll worry about that tomorrow." The past four dec-ades of congressional leadership are a period of our history of which we are least proud. Just a few last words to those Democrat congressmen who will attempt to block or hinder President Reagan's economic recovery plan. Do you have an alternative which offers a greater chance of balancing the Budget, reducing or elimi-nating inflation, reducing unemployment and re-ducing the tax burden now carried by the American people? If not, why do you not give his plan a chance to succeed where you have failed miserably? Your past policies led the country into ppressive socialism and threatened the country with complete collapse and bankruptcy.

Reader Upset With Protest Movement Over Films Here

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

As I sat and watched television news on the night of Feb. 21, I thought I was seeing scenes from Iran again, with people marching, carrying placards, and maybe even trespassing.

But here in Lubbock, a group of people protest-ing can even get the county sheriff to speak at its meetings, and tell them to keep up the good work. It was also interesting to note that as soon as they were covered by the news media, they disbanded.

Since C.A.P. likes the idea of censoring the mov ies, let's go all the way and tell The A-J what it can print, and let's tell the television stations what they can show. Why not post an armed guard at the library and monitor what people read? I thought these were all Communist ideas that couldn't happen in Lubbock, Texas, or could it? So come on everyone, let's start taking away peo-ples' rights and down with the Constitution and the law. After all, it's in the pame of religion!

P.S. I believe in evolution, so does that mean I get a prison term or do I get death?

Professor Questions Need For Highway Expenditures

Editor Avalanche-Journal: Where are the many Republicans and even some Democrats who supported Ronald Reagan in his campaign to cut government expenditures?

Where is the Lubbock Taxpayers Association which wanted to serve as the watchdog of local expenditures?

Where is the Avalanche-Journal which has lambasted the "spendthrift Democrats" for so many years and praised "virtuous Rebublicans" for their program to cut taxes and expenditures (except in Lubbock)?

Whose ox is gored? Whose log is rolled?

Many of these same people are now enthusiasti-cally wanting to spend hundreds of millions of taxpayers' dollars to widen University Avenue and build a north-south freeway through Lubbock— chiefly for people from Amarillo to get through Lubbock at a faster pace without stopping on their way to San Angelo or Austin.

These enthusiasts only debate how or where to do it—not whether it should be done. Never do they seem to worry about the cost or even the de-sirability of such projects. Someone must have said that is "progress," and that magic word is sufficient to want to spend hundreds of millions of dollars which, if they weren't spent in Lubbock, would otherwise be called wasteful.

Before deciding what residents and businesses will be sacrificed for right-of-way or parking, why don't we seriously debate the need and desire for such enormous expenditures?

For Zia

ISLAMABAD—Like a flare in the night, the jacking of a Pakistani airliner has suddenly lit this country's domestic and foreign policy. President Zia ul-Haq is vulnerable to internal forces.

But he, and he alone, has the power to deal with the reality that makes Pakistan a front-line state in the competition between the super powers.

The Reagan administration, in formulating a strategy for the Persian Gulf and its environs, should deal with him accordingly.

At home, Gen. Zia rules illegitimately. He seized power in 1977, promising to restore law and order and then hold elections. The elections have been postponed repeatedly, and are now not even

The main political organization in the country, the Pakistan People's Party, or PPP, has been against Zia since he took over.

LAST MONTH, the PPP won the support of eight other political groups for a campaign of resistance to force Zia out. The hijacking took place on the day scheduled for the start of the resistance campaign-March 2.

Apart from lacking legitimacy, Zla has blood on his hands. He ordered the hanging of the deposed Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto. The Bhutto family has sworn vengeance and converted much of the PPP into a party of revenge.

The hijacking was led by a PPP member who acted in collusion with Bhutto's son, Murtaza; By those terroristic acts, the Bhutto family and their allies in the PPP have put themselves out of bounds as future rulers of Pakistan. The military, which commands ultimate power here, has rallied against the party and around Gen. Zta.

So have many religious leaders who were on the point of joining the PPP in opposition. At least some PPP officials have also broken with the par-

FOR EXAMPLE, Kamal Aziar, a former prov-incial minister under Bhutto and a socialist trained by the Swedish economist Gunnar Myrdal, has been negotiating for a post in the government. Foreign policy explains the surge of support for Zia. The Russian invasion of Afghanistan brought Pakistan face to face with the Communist super power. More than a million Afghan refugee have fled into this country. Soviet planes regularly fly over the Pakistani border in hot pursuit of Afghan resistance fight-

The Russians are also playing with radical elements in and out of the PPP to subvert the Zia regime. The hijackers took the plane first to Kabul where they were protected by Babrak Karmal, the Soviet puppet leader in Afghanistan. Before continuing further, the hijackers boasted that they had been responsible for several terror-ist actions in Pakistan, including the bomb explosion when the Pope visited Karachi in late Janu-

THE CLEAR emergence of the Soviet peril has had an impact on Pakistani attitudes toward the U.S. Officially the country is still nonaligned. But the offer of military and economic aid which was extended by the Carter administration, and contemptuously dismissed as "peanuts," now looks a lot better.

The Pakistani military in particular yearns more modern aircraft. They also appreciate, ar more than they did a year ago, the 1959 agreement whereby the U.S. gave Pakistan a kind of a guarantee against Soviet attack.

Attitudes toward India also show signs of changing under the threat of Russian pressure. Officially the Indians are still Public Enemy Number One, and the bulk of the Pakistani army is stationed to ward off attack from the east.

But in conversations with me, several high-rank ing Pakistani officials have privately wondered with New Delhi in a way that would rule out armed conflict.

Conditions, accordingly, seem ripe for a new American move to co-operate with Pakistan in defense of common interests. But in making the approach the Reagan administration will want to learn from the failure of the Carter gambit.

A FIRST lesson is that aid negotiations should center around specific items rather than overall dollar figures.

In that way a lobby for agreement is built in the Pakistan military and there is no semblance of buying off the country by a bribe of so many hundred million dollars.

A second lesson is that there be no drawn such as the visit of Zbigniew Brzezinski. A khyber Pass. On the contrary, quiet diplomest required for two items. One is the wooing the dia. The second is an understanding that Zia secto legitimize his regime—perhaps by standing the election as president. Progress along these lines would undo come siow. But the effort is worth the patie

For the co-operation of Pakistan is an a condition for holding the line against Ri south Asia, and an extremely useful adjung fense of the Persian Gulf with its vast store

Murder Trial Costliest In County History

BY MARY ALICE ROBBINS

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Loost Lubbock County taxpayers more than $50,000 to try convicted capital murderer Billy Wayne Alexander for the Oct. 5, 1980, slaying of a Department of Public Safety trooper near Slaton.

And according to county financial re-cords, that makes Alexander's trial the most costly one for taxpayers in Lubbock

The 21-year-old Lorenzo man was found guilty by a Taylor County jury for the murder of DPS trooper Jerry Don Davis. On Jan. 29, the 104th District Court jury then sentenced Alexander to Alexander's trial, which was moved to Abilene on a change of venue, lasted about two and a half weeks and ran up a total bill of $51,591.37, noted County Auditor Dale Gallimore.

In comparison, Gallimore said, local taxpayers spent $26,023 to try Philip Carey Brasfield in Wichita Falls in 1978 for the capital murder of 6-year-old Johnny

That same year, taxpayers also picked up a $43,467 tab for Clarence Allen Lackey's trial in San Angelo, Gallimore said.

Texas Tech University medical school

secretary Tony Diane Kumpf.

According to Gallimore, the figures he provided on the Brasfield and Lackeytrials did not include costs for the statement of facts, the document prepared by a court reporter when a case is appealed.

No appeal is expected in the Alexander case, so the statement of facts was not prepared.

The biggest expense in the Alexander trial was for meals, lodging and travel for the jury, district attorney's staff, judge, court reporter, sheriff's deputies and the defendant. Records indicated that the county spent approximately $17,300 on those expenses during the course of the

However, Commissioner Coy Biggs noted that the costs for Alexander's transportation while in Abilene could have been even higher if Taylor County officials had not made an effort to assist Lubbock County. Biggs said Alexander was transported to and from the courtroom at no charge to this county.

The next largest expense from the trial was for court-appointed attorneys' fees, which cost around $13,700.

In addition, jurors were paid about $9,600 and Taylor County personnel about $9,800 for services during the trial. Miscellaneous expenses for phone bills, transportation of witnesses, copy machine costs and other items tot

Gallimore explained that the county commissioners court will have to pass a dget amendment to cover the costs-

This year, the auditor said, the county has only about $1,500 in its budget for out-of-county trial costs. "We normally put only a token amount in the budget, hoping that we don't have anything," Gallimore said.

Having expenses for out-of-county trials doesn't happen that often, accord-ing to Gallimore. He noted that the coundidn't have any expenses of this type of sinkholes in the Panhandle.

The Cottle County sinkhole is the result of subsurface dissolution of salt and gypsum, he said, adding that when ground water dissolves the underground formations, it creates caverns that collapse when they no longer can support the weight of the overlying earth.

Although widely separated sinkholes and small faults are common in the Panhandle, he said, they are not a major problem to farm operations or livestock Some instances of highway damage and stock water tank failures have been attributed to sinkholes.

Larger sinkholes, like the Winkler County hole, are formed primarily through salt being dissolved at depths of 600-900 feet, the geologist said.

The sinkhole near Wink, which has stopped growing, endangered a highway and gasoline storage tanks after it began forming last June.

What is Diamond Shamrock Gasobol?

Gasohol is a motor fuel mixture composed of 90% Diamond Shamrock Unleaded Gasoline and 10% Anhydrous Ethyl Alcohol which is known as Ethanol. This significant new fuel is blended by Diamond Shamrock as an alternative fuel for your car. Diamond Shamrock believes Gasohol is important to our country's future.

Who should use Gasohol?

This modern fuel is designed for, and burns cleanly and thoroughly in, later model cars that use leaded or unleaded gasoline. No special equipment or adjustments are needed to use Gasohol and it will not harm catalytic converters. If Gasohol is not readily available it is permissable to switch back to regular or unleaded gasolines. Due to the cleaning action, it may be necessary to replace your fuel filter after the first or second tank of Gasohol. This is not a recurring problem.

Gasohol improves your car's performance.

Although Gasohol costs slightly more than regular unleaded gasoline, it pays big dividends in engine performance and life. Check these advantages:

- 1. Gasohol, as a result of approximately 3 points higher octane value, reduces engine knock and ping.
- 2. Gasohol reduces pollutant emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon exhaust which is especially important to our environment.
- 3. Gasohol's cleaner burning characteristics cut harmful rust, varnish, carbon deposits and soot buildup, and helps prevent irritating engine "after run".
- 4. Gasohol cleans carburetors and fuel lines.
- Gasohol protects against fuel freezeup and provides faster winter starting.

- 6. Gasohol reduces engine under-hood temperatures and lengthens engine life.
- 7. According to an Illinois Bell test, Gasohol improved their miles per gallon by 4.8%.

Gasohol helps farmers.

The alcohol used in Gasohol can be produced by distilling agricultural crops such as corn, grain sorghum, wheat and sugar cane, and gives farmers a much-needed new market. Every gallon of Gasohol you use helps strengthen the American farmer who contributes so much to our economy and our well being.

Gasohol helps our country.

Gasohol is a renewable motor fuel because farmers grow new crops each year to produce the 10% volume of alcohol used in Gasohol. This helps our national security and economy by reducing our dependence on imported oil and by increasing our nation's self-sufficiency.

Diamond Shamrock Is Proud to Be Among the First to Provide Gasohol Which Will Benefit Our Customers, Our Farmer Friends, and Our Country

Look for the golden colored pump. It's the one with Gasohol, the new, higher-octane premium quality unleaded gasoline.

Lunch-Time Fitness Busy working women have trouble fit-ting physical-fitness routines into their daily schedules. According to an article by Emily Pattner in the January 1961 issue of "The Working Woman," because of their work patterns — long hours, sitting or standing, working in confined areas and against tight schedules — they especially need to get into shape and to release tension. The main excuse for avoiding exercise is that there is not enough time to get to and from a place to exercise. There are some exercises that may be done in a limited space and time. Look for a few stretchers and take 10 to 15 minutes during your break or lunch hour to relieve stress and tension. Take a few minutes to identify your particular "danger" spots of tension and release them. Working women tend to have tension and weight problems in these areas: head and neck, abdomen, buttocks, legs and general circulation.

Entertaining in a Hurry The employed homemaker often en-tertains friends, business associates, neighbors and relatives. Simple meals and refreshments provide delicious and appealing food for company and make entertaining enjoyable and trouble-free.

Keeping your guests' likes and dislikes in mind, as well as your own capa-bilities and facilities, helps make entertaining easier. In any event, it pays to plan company meals or refres early and carefully. Eliminate as much last-minute preparation as possible. The meal may be as individual and as informal as the service. Delicious, filling food, easily prepared and attractively served, will make a hit with guests.

Consider foods that can be prepared several hours or days in advance. These include meat loaf, scalloped or casserole dishes, baked ham or turkey, salads and desserts, and fresh vegetables that can be prepared and stored in the refigerator.

Many foods available are designed to save time and energy. There are frozen foods, frozen precooked foods, packaged mixes, quick-cooking cereals, hundreds of canned goods and ready-to-eat bakery products. They provide an endless variety in selection and should be used to save as much time and energy at home as possible. Keep basic items, such as instant tea and coffee, and dried soups, in stock and handy for quick entertaining.

Use a grocery list to shop intelligently. Keep the list flexible enough to take advantage of bargains. Also, buy in quantity to save money and shopping time. If you make weekly meal plans that include the company dinner, putting a 10 0 over the menus and write down the items you need. Check the pantry shelf, refrigerator and freezer and add any needed staples.

As another shopping time-saver, list foods in the order in which they are stocked on the market shelves. Study the food ads for the day you shop, making practical substitutions or additions as you find them.

The Employed Woman Newsletter The information or entertaining was taken from our new newsletter called "The Employed Woman." The newsletter will be mailed periodically, free of charge, from the Extension Office. It will focus on dual career management information. If you would like to be added to the mailing list, please call the County Extension Office, 741-8084. Successful managing!

Deficiency Of Mineral Cited As Cancer Cause

Family News Staff
Dr. S.P. Yang and Dr. Xian-Mao Luo from the Department of Food and Nutri-tion at Texas Tech University, have discovered a relationship between molyb-denum deficiency and esophageal cancer

Two years ago Yang returned to China, at which time he met Luo, who was studying cancer. He had found that certain parts of China had a low molybdenum (trace mineral) content in the water and food. Of the regions with the low content, 199.7 per 100,000 population had esophageal cancer.

"For each 100,000 population in China, 23.4 die of esophageal cancer. In this country, 2.55 for each 100,000 die of this cancer," said Yang.

In China, esophageal cancer is the econd most common cancer in men, and

According to Yang, studies have reealed that between 60 and 90 percent of cancers are produced by environmental factors. "The food you eat, the water you drink and the air you breathe is responsibile for all types of cancer," said Yang.

Long Nerve Causes Problems

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you please tell me about the cause of extreme discomfort of the sciatic nerve? Also, what to do to relieve it? It prevents good sleep and also gives me knee problems. - Mrs.

In the lower part of the back, nerve roots from that area of the spine merge into one large nerve that passes down-ward to the legs. This is the sciatic nerve. Sciatica is a symptom of something wrong with that large nerve or its roots.

There may be low back pain or pain anywhere from behind the buttock to the ankle. The pain is aggravated by moving the leg or the back. Because this nerve system is so long, the cause of pain at any given point may be caused at a point far removed from there. There may be a protruded disc, one of the cushions between the blocks of bone that make up the spinal column. Such a disc can press on a nerve root and the pain be felt in the buttock or leg. A cause may be found anywhere between the spine and the point of pain.

For the sake of another example, an abscess in the muscles of the buttocks can press on the nerve. So sciatica is not an illness itself, but an indication that something is wrong with the nerve some-where along its path in the body.

The exact cause must be found, then treatment can be instituted. You can see why it would be futile for me to attempt to give you any tips about easing your problem yourself. The booklet "Backache and Spine Problems" discusses the role of these nerves in various pain symptoms. For a copy, write Dr. Dono-hue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have constant saliva in my mouth. I hope you can advise me as to what kind of a doctor to see for such a problem. I am constantly

The very first person I would consult would be a dentist. Since you do get some relief when you remove your dentures, it seems likely that they may be the cause. Perhaps they are throwing the alignment of your mouth off enough to irritate the jaw joint. That irritation can result in salication.

I don't know for sure, but I would start there. Then, after a dental examina-tion, if the problem is not there, I would see an ear, nose, mouth and throat doctor. They are experts in problems of the salivary glands also.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 48 years old and had only three periods in 1979 and last year had none. How many months do I have to miss menstruation to be sure of no longer becoming pregnant? - Mrs. R

To be sure pregnancy will not occur, a woman should practice birth control for a full year after her last menstrual period. But she should also be certain that the menstrual periods have stopped because of menopause and not for some other reason. That is, she should have some of the other symptoms of menopause - the hot flashes, for example. If she has none of the other symptoms; she ought to consult her physician to confirm her fertility status.

Paul D. Webster, president of the sponsoring organization, said the Daphne Award was long overdue "as recognition for the outstanding contribution that furniture designers and manufacturers make in creating an environment that en-riches us all. The Daphne Awards were created to honor that art, talent and creative spirit." In keeping with that spirit, he said, "the noted wood sculptor and furniture artist, Wendell Castle, was commissioned to design the Daphne Award in American walnut."

In addition to the Daphne recipients, finalists in each category were chosen whose designs, the judges felt, wre outstanding examples of furniture design.

These included a mobile bar/server in teak veneer and solid pecan designed by Dave Parmelee for Tomlinson Furniture. High Point, N.C., an "1880 Centennial" desk mahogany solids and veneers by David Warren for Sligh Furniture, Holland. Mich., and an oak corner cabinet designed by Leonard Eisen for Pulaski Furniture in the category of Occasional

Vinegar Washes Deposits Away

While most prefer bacon and eggs each a.m., I get an education and a delightful start with coffee and Heloise!

My daughter, an expectant mother, has requested information from Mom "who knows most everything" (thanks to your column) on how to keep glass nursing bottles from turning white and dirtylooking when sterlizing them.

Again, I turn to you for help as I'm sure you have a solution. Thanks a bunch! - Kay Johnson

Yep, and your daughter is going to love it too 'cause it's so simple it's only going to require her to use an extra smidgen of her precious time, yet those bottles will remain crystal clear.

All she has to do is add two or three teaspoons of vinegar to the water in which she sterilizes the bottles. This will keep the chalky deposits off them, as they are caused by hard water. However. if the bottles have been boiled numerous times and the lime has built up on them, you probably will need to use about a cup of vinegar in the pot of water at least for a time or two to remove it. Once the build-up is off, you can use less vinegar each time you sterilize bottles.

This also works on bottles made of plastic, as well as glass ones. Too, as an ounce of prevention, add a few drops of vinegar to the water when warming the bottles to prevent lime deposits on both pan and bottle. - Heloise

Vickie Daniel Testifies To Abusive Acts By Husband

LIBERTY (AP) - Former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. kicked his pregnant wife in the stomach and ex-posed himself to young boys, his wife and accused killer testified Monday.

Vickie Daniel painted a vivid picture of physical and mental abuse by her once politically prominent husband during a stormy four-year marriage.

Her testimony came in a child custody trial where she is fighting to retain custody of her two young sons by Daniel. She is charged with murder in the Jan. 19 shooting death of her husband. Her sister-in-law, Jean Daniel Murph, is trying to get custody of the boys, Franklin Bald-win Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1.

Mrs. Daniel told about being physically and mentally abused, having an abortion, finding marijuana in their home, and her husband being "in bed drunk most of the time.

She also related how Daniel pulled his pants down during basketball games at the house and how she sought psychiatric help after the birth of their second child. Daniel denied her the necessities of life, such as food, gasoline and money, she said under questioning by Zeke Zbra-nek, an attorney for Mrs. Murph.

Mrs. Daniel said her husband kicked her in the stomach when she was pregnant, sometimes knocking her out of bed, but she did not try to fight back. She claimed she did nothing to provoke such

It was this behavior that caused her to file for divorce in October 1977, almost a year after their marriage, she said. However, she canceled the suit after her husband, members of her family and Mrs. Murph asked her to patch up the differences because of Daniel's bid for state attorney general. Daniel lost the race.

But the kickings continued, and he began beating her.

He would sometimes "throw chairs, glasses, pour drinks over my head and sometimes throw sticks and tree limbs," she told the jury of three women and Although bruised at times and occa-sionally suffering a swollen lip, she did not go to a doctor, she said.

She revealed she became pregnant in 1979 but had an abortion. She denied telling Mrs. Murph that the abortion "nearly killed Price" as had been reported, nor did she say that she could not cope with another child.

She got pregnant again in 1979 and their second child, Marion Price Daniel IV was born in February 1980. Shortly after that she saw a psychiatrist six or seven times

She told the court that she complained Daniel would not give her enough money

"He would say he was going to put money in the bank and then never would," she said. He bought most of the groceries and "most of the time wouldn't buy enough food for the family. Sometimes he would bring just enough for himself. He would be there eating steak while the rest of us ate sandwiches.

She took a job at a food market in nearby Baytown once but quit because it was not economically feasible, she testi-

Zbranek went over list of things Daniel had provided her, such as a new car, deep freeze, a ring, and a Caribbean cruise, which she acknowledged.

She admitted jealousy was a problem in their marriage.

As for the marijuana, "I saw it beside the bed and in the attic," she said. "But I didn't know what it was. She said when she saw it a second time in the attic and showed a young boy who worked for them, he told her it was marijuana.

She then flushed it down the toilet, she said. She said she never saw him smoke at any time and never saw any pot in the house after that.

When Zbranek asked her why she put up with all the abuse, she responded, Because I loved him and I believed in the marriage.

The first witness in the trial, Mrs. Daniel said her husband abused her two children by her first marriage. Jonathan Moore, age 10, and Kimberly Moore, 12.

She said she agreed to give her first husband, Larry Moore, custody of the boy in 1979 because of "the way Price treated him - badly, very badly.

She accused Daniel of once making one site. We don't need efficiency aparther son carry out trash and throw gasoline on it, causing it to blow up in his face and burning him.

She did not take the boy to doctor or report it to police, but told Mrs. Murph and Moore She said Daniel refused to intervene when other boys were beating her son because "he was in bed drunk most of the time. When asked by Zbranek if there was anything else Daniel did, she replied;

"I didn't think it was very nice of him to pull his pants down when he was playing basketball" with her son and several boys who worked there. "I was ashamed. I would tell him to pull his pants back up." She didn't think it was funny "for him to go prancing around and showing his behind." She said he eventually pulled up his pants.

Mrs. Murph sat quietly with her lawvers throughout the testimony, occassionally leaning over to talk to them.

Daniel, the 39-year-old son and heir to a politically prominent Texas family, was shot to death with a rifle in their fashionable Liberty home. Sheriff's officers found Mrs. Daniel hysterical when they arrived and she was hospitalized for sev-

The bankers want to make the new rate effective on Tuesday. If that happens. I won't be able to choose the better rate. Can they get away with this?

 A. Probably — unless there is such an outcry from people like you that federal regulators scrap the proposed rule change.

The maximum interest federally-insured banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions can pay on newlyissued 182-day savings certificates is de termined by the average discount rate the U.S. Treasury Department pays on 26-week bills at its weekly auction.

That auction is held on Monday Friday, if Monday is a holiday. And the 182-day certificate rate is announced late in the day. It's undoubtedly one of the most-read items in the next day's newspaper financial pages.

Under the present rules, the new interest rate goes into effect for 182-day certificates issued the following Thurs-

The Depository Institutions Deregulation Committee - "DIDC," for short the super-regulatory agency of the nation's banks and thrift institutions, is considering a proposal to make the new rate effective either on Tuesdays or Wednesdays

If the new rate goes into effect on Tuesday, you won't be able to time your certificate purchase to get the better rate. Even with a Wednesday change, you would have to act awfully fast.

DIDC is supposed to discuss this proposed rule change at its next meeting on Mar. 26. You and others who are opposed to the change should write your congressmen and senators. Pressure from Capitol Hill can work wonders on federal regulators.

Q. You often mention "182-day" savings certificates. My bank sells six-month certificates. Is there any difference?

A. No. Many banks and thrift institutions call them "six-month" certificates. But they still mature in 182 days, slightly less than a half year.

A number of sharp-eyed readers have made this point in letters to this space So, in the interest of accuracy, this typewriter's keys punch out "182."

THE COTTON MARKET CONTINUES TO BE an extremely difficult purzle, a futures analyst said at the end of last week.

"Of course, this constant struggle between bullish statistics and bearish business makes the analysis a bit more difficult than if everything were working in the same direction," he remarked.

Statisticians that we are, we have to give the nod to the business side in trying to anticipate the direction that prices will take.

"The statistical picture can be very seductive indeed, but it will take more than statistics to win this game."

Everybody who keeps careful records on important matters knows that the great Babe Ruth only hit a homerun once every 11 times at bat, the analyst

Somebody is trying to hit a homerun in this market," he added, "and the odds do not appear to be any better.

MOST IMPORTANTLY, BUSINESS ISN'T ROSY, he added.

The demand side, as in most commodity markets, is a negative feature.

"The stock market is saying that this administration can put us on the road economic recovery," the analyst said, "but that's not going to sell any more blue jeans or sheets next quarter.'

A fresh note of pessimism was added last week when the Japanese spinners decided to form a recession cartel to cut yarn production by an average of 15 percent for the April-June period.

"We have to be optimistic to stay in business," the analyst said, "but there's very little to be optimistic about in terms of a quick salvation."

Meanwhile, the poor market since the year-end China sale seems to have brought out a larger-than-expected amount of cotton to be disposed of by Mexican and Cnetral American competitors.

"WE ARE TOLD THAT AS MUCH AS 450,000 bales must be moved out of those countries in the spring period at the same time that the marketing of the South American crop begins," the analyst said.

So even with the domestic carryover appearing to be such an enticing prize, he added, the supply situation in the balance of the world is not so tight. In addition, a strong May futures would seem destined to attract cotton to

'Price will answer all these problems, but not to everyone's satisfaction." All the Commodity Futures Trading Commission rules are designed to protect the shorts and not the longs, the analyst said, adding that "the structure of this market weighs very much in the same direction.'

THE PLANTING INTENTIONS REPORT to be released Thursday by the U. S. Department of Agriculture "should have little surprise," the analyst said. New estimates will be generated only for Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas, he pointed out. They will be based on intentions as of March 1.

December cotton futures are down a little more than 4 cents per pound from the end of the year to March 1, the analyst pointed out, while November soybean futures are off 48 cents per bushel.

"We don't see that as very significant," the analyst said.

"In Texas, the best estimates we hear are that the Rio Grande Valley has nearly completed the planting of about 270,000 acres," he said, down from 378,-

"With improving moisture on the High Plains, we would expect last year's large acreage to be reproduced.

DOMESTIC MILLS MAINTAINED a conservative cotton buying policy last week, the USDA reported in a weekly review.

Some price fixing occurred and a few were taking up cotton. Overall demand was described as light.

Recent purchase volume was limited but covered a fairly wide range of qualities with shipment dates extending into early fall. Further reductions of interest rates were regarded as a positive business factor.

Mill sales of goods continued to reflect wide variations in the market9 Demand for corduroy remained weak and denim and selected bottomweights softened. Blended print cloth, some lightweight all cotton knits and materials for athletic wear continued to move readily. Sales of all cotton yarn were light and intermittent with work schedules at these mills on three to four days per week. Most other mills were on five-day months Monday to up 11 to 30 points in December and other deferreds. Volume was estimated at 7,500 lots. The market opened slightly higher on extremely light commission house buying in sympathy with stronger gold values, analysts said. But it quickly slumped on speculative liquidation as well as trade and local selling, they said. Lack of followthrough support on the higher opening may have convinced many long position holders to liquidate, analysts added.

Some analysts suggested the market may have been concentrating on overall sluggish demand while ignoring usually constructive signals such as export numbers and declining interest rates.

The front months had a hard time holding up underneath the pressure of spread traders, one analyst said, and May dipped as low as five points from limit down at one time.

The July-December spread traded from 375-315 points, analysts said, and the settling difference on the board was a 328-point premium on July.

"We heard of foreign inquiries of Texas-type cotton over the weekend but no reports of Iransactions," one analyst said.

Unfixed call sales as of the week ended March 6 totaled 1,240,000 bales, up

THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN THE United Kingdom today will pressure the European Economic Community's council of ministers to take "firm and decisive action" to counter what it calls growing disruption of the U.S. market by U.S. textile imports.

"When we came here Thursday, we were assuming that the problem was re-latively unique to the black farmer; that's not the case," said Thomas Burrell, a farm management consultant and spokesman for the black farmers. "The overwhelming response over the week-end, with calls from farmers all over the country, said the problem was one of national proportion.

The white farmers who joined the protest belong to the American Agriculture Movement. Timberlake said he would make no effort to oust the protesters "as long as they're peaceful and not in the way so we can operate." But Burrell said the farmers are prepared to stay "until we get some relie These people can't go to the fields until they get their loans and they maintain if they don't get their loans then they just might as well stay up here in the office." Timberlake said he did not "know of any (loan) delays at the present time. It's just normal processing that we're involved with. You have to have all the information together before we can approve loans." He said there is no standard deadline for the processing of loans.

Burrell, 31, who farms in three Tennessee counties, said FmHA checks often come too late for the start of the planting season, usually April or May.

"We have documented evidence that farmers have received their money in July and August at a time when the planting season is long gone and people are preparing to harvest," Burrell said. viduals come with only enough money to get here and with expectations of finding employment," Manuel Gonzalez, DSS director of migrant services, said in a recent meeting in Grand Rapids. "We've had to provide money to get them to oth-er job sites or back home."

State officials fear that the combination of Michigan's dismal economy and cutbacks in social services budgets will mean problems for the traditionally large numbers of migrant workers who come to the state with no pre-arranged job.

Behind California, Texas and Florida Michigan is the country's fourth largest user of migrant labor. State officials estimate that 35,000 to 40,000 migrant workers came to Michigan in 1980, causing unemployment or underemployment in many areas.

We are asking migrant workers to get confirmation (of a job) before they come," Gonzalez said. State officials also are asking that workers come to the state as close as possible to the date they are scheduled to begin work.

Editor Of Enquirer Says Retraction Headline Would Turn Away Readers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The editor of the National Enquirer said Monday he ordered a retraction printed of a gossip-item about Carol Burnett but declined to put a separate headline on it as the enter-tainer's attorneys had requested.

"We didn't use the headline because we felt people wouldn't read an article that said 'retraction' or 'correction,'' lain Calder testified at Miss Burnett's $10

Instead, the Enquirer ran a headline over the April 13, 1976, gossip column correction that said "$6 Million Man Calder testified in Superior Court, "People who read the gossip column will be attracted to the column and read the retraction. To put 'retraction' in the headline, I think, would be a disincen-

Calder said he had received a letter from Miss Burnett's attorneys demanding a retraction and suggesting the wording to be used.

"They specifically didn't want the same words from the original columnused," he said, "but I felt that without using those same words people wouldn't recognize what we were retracting."

He said that in addition to asking for a headline, the attorneys also demanded that the Enquirer include in the retraction a statement that it had been "negligent in not investigating" the allegation in the gossip item, which described a purportedly rowdy confrontation be-tween Miss Burnett and then Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in a Washington. D.C. restaurant.

The item also said she had spilled a glass of wine and had a glass of water spilled on her and had traipsed around the restaurant offering bites of her dessert to everyone

Kissinger and previous witnesses denied Miss Burnett had been boisterous or that there was any sort of argument. Kissinger, who said he gave a deposition and has no plans to testify, told a news conference Friday that Miss Burnett behaved in a "perfectly ladylike fashion."

Miss Burnett's lawyers have contended that the Enquirer article implied she had been drinking or was drunk.

Calder, who was on the witness stand all morning, was questioned about a possible Enquirer policy about writing arti-cles on celebrities' drinking.

He denied such a policy but said the tabloid at one time investigated an article about how celebrity drinking was costing the networks and studios money. He said the article was never published.

Asked how many people read the En-quirer, Calder, who is also president of the tabloid, said circulation in 1976 was between 4.5 million and 5 million copies. He estimated that at least four people read each copy, bringing readership to more than 16 million.

Los Angeles Schools End Busing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With the blessing of the state Supreme Court, the Los Angeles School Board voted unanimously, Monday, to end court-ordered mandatory busing of students whose parents wish to return to neighborhood schools as of April 20.

The action came following the California Supreme Court's ruling, last week, uphoiding the constitutionality of a voter-approved initiative that forbids mandatory busing unless segregation has

The board's 5-0 vote followed a fourhour meeting that included heated speeches by a dozen parents, teachers non-teaching board employees, and stu-dent representatives, most of them opposed to the board's action.

The integration plan, ordered by Su-perior Court Judge Paul Egly, began in the fall of 1978, and this year some 23,000 elementary and junior high school stu-dents had been bused on trips lasting in some cases more than an hour, one way, through the 600-square-mile district. Los Angeles is the nation's second-largest district in number of pupils, with nearly 550 000 students

Many audience members began jeering loudly after the board formally adopted a motion allowing parents to choose whether to have their children complete the school year at their assigned schools or return to neighborhood schools.

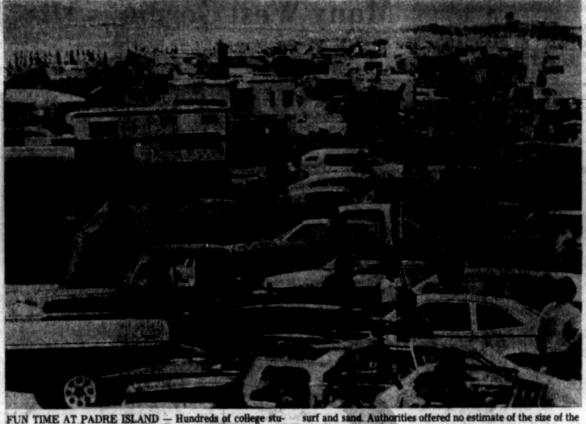

The only member of the board who opposed lifting of the busing program, Rita Walters, was in Washington D.C., on board-related business. But Los Angeles Urban League President John Mack read a statement by Mrs. Walters urging the board not to adopt an action she said "constitutes a gross denial of equal edu-cational opportunity to the minority students now participating in the plan.

For Everyon The board's own staff had admitted that the educational interests of the children would best be served by keeping them in their current schools until the end of the year. But board president Roberta Weintraub said she felt the board's decision would satisfy everyone by granting "an option for those who wish to return, an option for those who wish to stay.'

Even before the board's decision, some parents, who had put their children in private schools to avoid busing, moved to enroll them in public schools again. Associate Superintendent Jerry Halverson said these children could be accomodated in public schools immediately.

Nineteen students, all of whom had been in private schools, enrolled at two San Fernando Valley junior high schools

What all this means is that this chaos with busing and the mandatory program is going to end and we're going to get back to the most important thing — and that is education," said Mrs. Lillian Whalin, whose 15-year-old daughter en-rolled at Robert Frost Junior High School in Granada Hills. "I think bring ing back the children to their neighbor hood schools is going to improve educa-

Budget Committee, setting out to force massive cuts in federal spending, was jolted with a forecast from its own ex-perts Monday indicating that Reagan administration spending estimates for 1982 are as much as $25 billion too low.

If correct, the preliminary estimates by the Congressional Budget Office mean that Congress would have to vote for deeper spending cuts or smaller tax reit is to meet the president's goal of a balanced budget in 1984.

The budget office estimates were disclosed as Sen. Peter Domenici. R-N.M., gaveled the Budget Committee to order and proclaimed the panel was embarking on "the most massive reduction in feder al spending in American history." Reagan has recommended cuts of $48.6 bil-

Reagan is forecasting a deficit of $45 billion for 1982. Hollings said it would be more like $70 billion if the president's program were enacted.

Local Man Charged In Murder

A 46-year-old Lubbock man has been charged with murder in connection with a fatal shooting which investigators say may have been sparked by an argument over whether martjuana should be smoked in the pool table area of an eastside motel

Joe Otis Duran, also known as Joe Horace Duran, of 608 Idalou Road No. 5, was charged Monday with the death of Pete Flores Donery, who was killed Saturday afternoon in the pool hall of the Alamo Motel on Idalou Road. The Criminal District Attorney's office has recommended that Duran's bond be set at $35,-

000 for the offense Police said that Duran reportedly told Donery to refrain from smoking a mari-juana cigarette in the motel's pool hall. An argument began, detectives said, and the suspect allegedly shot Donery three times with a .22 caliber pistol after the victim allegedly tried to hit Duran in the face with a beer bottle.

Municipal Judge Robert Baber pron-ounced the man dead at 4:36 p.m., ruling the death a homicide, the city's sixth of Eleven senators voted against consideration of Sarpaliua's Senate Concurrent Resolution 53, which requests that Congress not adopt a "split basing" mode for deploying the MX missile system.

Under the split-basing proposal, the system would be located in several West-

Sarpalius said, however, that locating part of the system in Texas was still a possibility and under the split-ba plan much of the agricultural land in Deaf Smith and two other Panhandle

The resolution was opposed by Port Arthur Sen. Carl Parker, who chided Sarpalius for trying to turn the Senate into a "debating society" on issues that are purely "political."

Dallas Sen. John Leedom also opposed the resolution, saying that the Texas Senate is not in a position to say what is best for the national defense.

LSU Takes Top Spot Among Survivors

By The Associated Press
They're not No.1 yet — but they're closest to it.

With DePaul, Oregon State and Arizona State having lost unexpectedly, Louis-iana State's Tigers now are the highest ranked team still alive in the upset-laden National Collegiate Athletic Association

The Tigers were ranked No.4 before the tourney. Now they're the best of the five surviving teams from the Top Ten with a chance for the national champion-ship.

The others are Virginia (No.5 in the fi-nal regular-season poll), No.6 North Car-olina, seventh-ranked Notre Dame and No.9 Indiana. Kentucky and UCLA were the other Top Ten teams eliminated.

LSU, 29-3, has a "home-court" advantage of sorts for its Midwest Regional semifinal game Friday night against Ar-kansas, 24-7. The Tigers, who play their home games at Baton Rouge, will be just

In Friday's other semifinal regional, the Mideast at Bloomington, Ind., it's St., Joseph's, 24-7, against Boston College, 23-6, and Alabama-Birmingham, 23-7, vs. Indiana, 22-9.

Thursday night, it's Brigham Young. 24-6, vs. Notre Dame, 23-5, and Virginia, 26-3, takes on Tennessee, 21-7, in the East semifinals at Atlanta, and Kansas State, 23-8, vs. Illinois, 21-7, and Utah, 25-4, vs. North Carolina, 26-7, in the West semis at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Ron Abernathy, an assistant coach under Dale Brown at LSU, says the fact that the Tigers are the top-ranked survieven thought about it," he said. "The people around the team make them aware of it, but being ranked doesn't make any difference now. We 're all

"It looks pretty bad for the under-dogs," Abernathy added. "Nobody's going to surprise anybody anymore."

A year ago, DePaul went into the tournament ranked No.1 and, after a first-round bye, was jolted 77-71 by UCLA. This year, coach Ray Meyer promised, would be different. It was. This year, DePaul went into the tournament ranked No.1 and, after a first-round bye, was jolted 49-48 by St. Joseph's, Pa.

A year ago, forward Mark Aguirre, then a sophomore, wept openly when the Blue Demons were beaten. This time, if he cried at all, the All-American did it privately. "A game is a game," he said with resignation that bordered upon in-dignation when he was questioned as he walked away from the arena. "It happens that way. It's basketball, Nobody can predict it."

Oregon State improved its position in the final poll from fifth a year ago to second this time and again received a firstround bye. But the Beavers got no far-ther this year (kayoed 50-48 by Kansas State) than they did a year ago, when Lamar ousted them 81-77.

"We blew it again," moaned Oregon State center Steve Johnson. "I don't know what in the -is wrong with us. . . Now our season is all gone. The disappointment really is going to set in when we realize how our fans feel. All they are

The disappointment expressed by Beavers' coach Ralph Miller wasn't for himself. "I'm just sorry for the players," he said. "They've had a great two years and it's too bad it has to end this way."

In 24 years at Arizona State, coach Ned Wulk had rarely enjoyed as much success as this year's 24-3 team, and he expected to improve on last season's performance, when the Sun Devils won a tournament game before being beaten 89-75 by Ohio State. It was obvious he wasn't expecting the 88-71 pounding administered by Kansas. And it was obvious the pain he was feeling wasn't just for his players.

Raiders Repeat Up-Down Year

Assistant Sports Editor

It was a season full of surprises that no longer come as surprises to anyon Because the Texas Tech basketball team, while winding through its roller coaster season was as unpredictable as. . . well, as the Raiders were during the 1979-80 campaign directly preceeding this one.

For two straight years, the Raiders have romped at times and been stom at others. For the second straight season the Raiders were awesome at home and pathetic on the road. For two straight years now Tech has managed an even draw with every team in the conference save Arkansas and TCU. The Hogs swept Tech, while the Raiders dumped TCU twice.

Unfortunately, 1980-81 was a carbon copy of 1979-80. There was only one difference: Tech won its quarterfinal game in the Southwest Conference tournament in San Antonio in the previous season, but lost to Texas in the Ala-

And for the second straight season, the Raiders were — unexplainably — probably at their best early in the season. The form Tech displayed in a runaway 89-79 win over the Texas Longhorns on Jan. 3 was possibly the best the Raiders would play all year. It was both teams' Southwest Conference opener.

Remember, the Raiders finished the season by losing a pair of games to the Longhorns over a two-week span. Even more disappointing was the fact that, in the tournament game in San Antonio, the Raiders had the Longhorns on the copies. UCLA Coach Meets With Team, Announces Decision To Resign on second and third with no outs.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - UCLA basketball coach Larry Brown told his team Monday that he was leaving the university to coach the New Jersey Nets of the National Basketball Association.

After a closed-door meeting with the Bruins, Brown would not confirm that he was leaving, but two players who asked to remain anonymous said that was what

The two also said that Larry Farmer, a Bruin assistant for the past six years, was to be named the new head coach. Several players were near tears following the meeting. Although being careful not to say directly that Brown had taken the New Jersey job, freshman center Kenny Fields, who had been dropped from the team and then reinstated by Brown,

UCLA, while officially confirming nothing, called a news conference for 1 p.m. today. The Nets declined comment Monday on Brown's status.

Brown had been rumored to be leaving UCLA for the past month, but said he would wait until after the Bruins finished the season to make a decision. Monday's talk with the team came two days after the club lost its opening game of the NCAA tournament.

He becomes the third UCLA head basketball coach to leave in the past six years. Following the end of John Wooden's 27-year reign at the school, Gene Bartow, Gary Cunningham and Brown each guided the team for two years.

This season Brown's 10th-ranked Bruins, who suffered an embarrassing 78-55 NCAA playoff loss to BYU Saturday, finished with a 20-7 record. In 1979-80. Brown coached the team to a second-place finish in the NCAA tournament and a 22-10 overall record Brown, 40, had become the focus of considerable controversy at UCLA during the past two months. The speculation about his going to New Jersey was never really quieted. Brown publicly criticized the school for, among other things, not allowing enough students easy access to Bruin basketball games. Later, he dropped Fields from the team because of what Brown described as an attitude problem. He said he'd never coach Fields again, but, later he reinstated the young center.

There was also a telephone threat on Brown's life and an upset loss to lowly Stanford in the Pacific 10 Conference.

Cincinnati Rocks Ryan, Outslugs Houston 12-10

The Cincinnati Reds routed Nolan Ryan with 10 runs in two innings Mon and then held on for a 12-10 exhibition victory over the Houston Astros.

Ron Oester, Ken Griffey, and Nick Esasky had home runs for the Reds.

Oester's homer gave Cincinnati a 2-0 lead in the first inning and the Reds then chased Ryan with eight runs in the second with the big blow coming on Griffey's three-run homer.

Jose Cruz hornered for Houston and teammates Joe Pittman, Scott Loucks, and Luis Pujols each had three hits.

The game was influenced by gale force winds sweeping toward the outfield as Houston took 18 hits off four Reds pitchers and Cincinnati had 17 hits

Don Sutton, who took over from Ryan, was the most successful pitcher with four shutout innings.

peared to be out of air. But the Raiders let it slip away and wound up losing by

The Raiders dumped Western Kentucky by a 68-58 count back on Dec. 4 but the Hilltoppers wound up in the NCAA tournament with only seven losses in the regular season. The Raiders throttled Houston $1-70 back on Jan. 31 but the Coogs also wound up in the NCAA.

Tech had a winning streak of four games, a losing string of five games. The Raiders blew leads, and wound up losing, against Rice, North Texas, Alabama, SMU and Texas.

The Raiders also had several impressive second-half comeback efforts, but most of those were at home. Of Tech's three road victories, only against SMU did the Raiders successfully overcome a substantial deficit. The Raiders finished 12-2 at home, 3-11 outside the Municipal Coliseum.

"We accomplished some of the things we aimed for, but we weren't as consistent as we wanted to be," said Tech coach Gerald Myers. "We would play really well at times and then turn around and not be able to keep it going."

Coming into the season, the Raiders' two big question marks were rebounding and ball handling. The Techsans did well in both categories during the year, outrebounding opponents 30.2 to 29.0 and losing an average of 11.8 turnovers a game to 13.6 for the opponents.

But the Raiders' shooting percentage slipped from a school record 51.8 in 1979-80 to an even 49 percent this year. And the opposition outshot the Raiders badly during SWC play.

Junior Jeff Taylor averaged 13.4 points a game for the second straight season and for the second time in a row he was the team's leading scorer. The 6-4 junior led the team in slam dunks (20) and hit 52.4 percent from the field. He was named to The Associated Press second-team all-SWC team and was also named the league's Co-Defensive Player of the Year.

'Jeff's the best defensive player in the Southwest Conference," noted Myers. "And he's awfully hard to stop when the defense is spread out."

But the Raiders rarely saw a spread-out defense. Instead Tech was faced with a never-ending series of zone defenses that, for the most part, kept the Raiders bottled up.

Junior college transfer Clarence Swannegan was the team's second-leading scorer with a 13.1 average and led the team in rebounding with seven per game. The 6-6, 220-pound junior had a nice shooting touch inside and his high-arcing shots were often critical to the teams success. He was also a second-team all-

SWC selection and named to the all-newcomer squad by AP.

Freshman guard Bubba Jennings proved to be a valuable addition at point guard and, after a slow start, an excellent outside shooter. Jennings averaged 10.9 points a game and dished out 80 assists, second on the team to Steve Smith's 101. He was also on that all-newcomer squad.

But the Raiders lose 6-6 Ralph Brewster and 6-6 Ben Hill to graduation this spring. That duo accounted for 14.2 points and 9.1 rebounds a game. Brewster started the Rajders' last 10 games in placed of Smith, who was relegated to a reserve role. Brewster's 111 rebounds last season give him 637 for his career and make him seventh on the all-time Tech list.

Tech will lose two other seniors, 6-9 Leslie Nichols and 5-10 Dwight Wil-

With the departure of Hill, Brewster and Nichols, Myers says the top recruiting priority is big men.

"We have some spots available inside," says the Tech coach. "Not to say the sople we have coming back can't fill them, but we want to create some saithy competition."

High on the Tech list is 6-9 Herb Johnson of Midland High, 6-8 Dwight Phillips of Levelland and 6-5 Vince Taylor (Jeff's younger brother) of Hobbs, N.M.

Cecil Cooper had three hits, including a bases-empty homer, and Roy Howell doubled home two more runs to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Pete Mackanin and John Castino hit home runs and Jerry Koosman pitched five innings of one-hit ball to pace the Minnesota Twins to a 14-3 romp over the Toronto Blue Jays.

A two-run homer by Dave Parker powered the Pittsburgh Pirates over the St. Louis Cardinals 7-3. Rusty Torres' sacrifice fly in the fifth snapped a 3-3 tie and put Pittsburgh ahead to stay.
