IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

When the dimpled baby's hungry, what does the baby do? It doesn't lie serenely and merely sweetly coo; The hungry baby bellows with all its little might Till someone gives it something to curb its appetite; The infant with the bottle which stills its fretful cries A lesson plainly teaches—it pays to advertise. The lamb lost on the hillside when darkness closes round, Stands not in silence trembling and waiting to be found; Its plaintive bleating echoes across the vales and meads, Until the shepherd hears it, and, hearing, kindly heeds. And when its fears are ended, as on his breast it lies, The lamb has made this patent: It pays to advertise. -Chicago Record-Herald.

Fanned by a gale, the fire swept rapidly south and east to Balloon avenue and up Rawhide avenue to within fifty yards of the People's Hospital. Over a ton and a half of dynamite were used in demolishing buildings, which in a measure chocked the flames' progress. The volunteer fire department and 500 citizens worked heroicdown upon Chisholmn, seven miles ally, but on account of the inflammable construction of the buildings they were swept away like tinder.

Price Says Heavy Demand.

Theodore Price, the cotton speculator who has been on the bear side of the cotton market for two or three seasons past, and the man who issued the confidential circular last year to bankers and merchants advising them to force the farmers to sell, has turned to the other side of the market and has just issued the following circular:

America will sell its agricultural products of this year for something over eight billions of dollars. The world cannot pay us for this in gold, abundant as it is, because there is not much gold in the world, and we must be paid in goods which other people will produce. The result will be an impetus to industry and commerce that will set all wheels in motion and give employment to all able to work.

I shall not be surprised if about September, 1909, Messrs. Hood, Fernie & Co. in the light of spinners' takings of 14,000,000 bales of American cotton for the season then ending. shall cable me that a crop of 15,000, 000 bales will be too small for 1910.

When cotton was half a cent lower. I advised spinners to protect their prospective requirements until Deent prices. I am certain the crop has certain that it will seem so small before frost that the cotton they now buy or the goods they manufacture from it can be sold at a handsome profit. To the Southern planter I say there is no possible reason why you should accept less than 10 cents per pound for this year's crop, however large, and you may be justified in demanding very much more, if the crop promises to be less than 13,000,000 bales. A year ago, in September, 1907, when cotton was selling at 13 cents I predicted that under the panicky conditions which I foresaw, it would sell at 8 cents, and May contracts in

New York actually sold at 8.03.

On Wholesale Botching. It used to be that a man could take a small team and small tools, plant many things on thirty acres of land. raise a good support. Send their children to school half of the year. But how is it now? From 75 to 90 acres with a double or triple team, all of the children and a hired hand thirteen months in the cotton field; buy everything to live on out of the store on a credit (board in town and live at home.) If that is not botching, what is it? One land owner in Red River county said it used to be that "I could not get one man to take more than 25 or 30 acres; then I got a bale to the acre, but now he must have 75 or 80 acres, and the result is it takes three acres to make a bale."

Now, on another kind of botching. There is too much cross-firing on various subjects. I fear if it is not stopped it will get our Union in to a conglomerated mess. Let me offer a suggestion: Let headquarters say what we need mostly to give success. Such as banks, mills, warehouses, etc., and let the locals work to that point and quit cross-firing.-Rev. E. C. Martin, in National Co-Operator.

Some idea of the scarcity of timber may be had from the fact that when an Illinois farmer cut 19-inch boards out of cottonwood trees on his farm the fact was heralded throughout the state as something quite remarkable.

Agriculture in the Public Schools. Professor S. A. Minear of Fort Stockton, Texas, in National Cooperator, says:

School gardening is presented with the elements of permanency inherited in itself, for Europe has over a hun dred theusand school gardens today, which have become a feature of the educational field.

In Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio, in Philadelphia and Kansas City, it has raised adjoining real estate, and in the city of San Antonio, Texas, it has raised the value of lots where children worked with the soil and growing plants.

This work is comparatively new to Texas, but it is not, however, in an experimental stage, for in the District of Columbia, Connecticut, New York and other states it has been conducted with various results.

On the other hand, there are many educators who look upon this work as a fad, but they are stimulated by political movements, which will eventually fade away

Agriculture in a broad sense is the primary basis of wealth in this country, and we should do all in our power to bring early to the mind of the child facts which will point out the necessity and importance of such work conducted on a systematic and scientific basis.

It is well known by all who have the opportunity of being connected with the public schools, that the public school education causes us to forget our relationship to the soil and points to the farmer as being a man without a future. To allow such to continue is a sad mistake and will no doubt injure the child.

The work in a city may be entirely different from what it should be in a rural district. In the city the main ideas should be to combine moral and physical training, to throw off the class room restraints and to give the child an opportunity to stretch its limbs. To accompliish such, it should be done through some form of manual training, and there is no form better than the school garden.

In the rural districts the point of view should not be to maintain common methods used at home. The mental strain does not exist in these schools as in the city, because the average country boy brings about the equilibrium between the mental and physical functions, therefore it would be wise to teach an elementary principle of agriculture in such schools, and have a garden where it could be conducted in a manner which would eventually effect the industrial development of this state.

No attempt heretofore has been made to present the methods for this state in a written form and I hope these chapters will help lead the way to better things. Conditions existing at San Antonio, Texas, have been constantly kept in mind in preparing this work; therefore, what is said will vary according to the locality.

The community system of garden ing is where the children take care of the garden in general. This system does not strongly develop the idea of individual responsibility, and a boy has a tendency to care little for the plants which others have shared in producing. This brings about lack of interest and many boys will shirk responsibility.

The individual system is where each boy possesses a small plot of ground for a garden. Each boy performs every operation of preparation, planting and general care of the plants grown in his garden. This system furnishes a basis of valuable knowledge and is superior to any system yet tested.

Size Up the Successful Farmer.

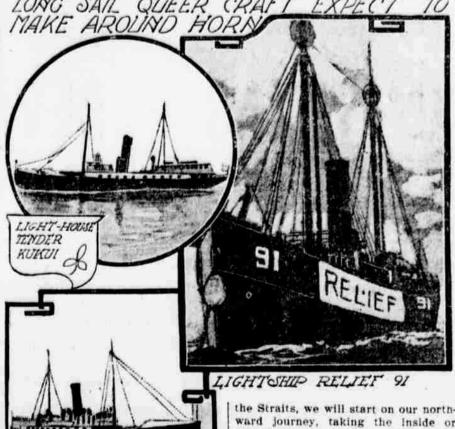

The Danbury Reporter sizes up the successful farmer of the future in the following manner: "The day is coming when the small farm, the labor saving machinery, the knowledge of seasons and soils and rotations, and the careful but intense cultivation, shall constitute the equipment which will yield handsome returns. The farmer of the future who shall win success will be an educated man. He will know his fields like the potter knows his clay, and his mind will be as skilled as the hand of the artisan who fashions the vase. He will be able to plan a campaign upon his plats with the same precision that Lee planned at Cold Harbor, and execute it with the success of Jackson at Antietam. As the lawyer knows his code, he will be acquainted with soils and strata, and as the practitioner is drilled in the art of civil procedure, he will know the rotations. and his evenings shall be spent by the fireside with text books and farm fellow sollsmen in other countries shall be in his mind always. He must be a student, but his knowledge shall not all come from books. Personal experience, experimentation, test plats, visits to other model farms, the constant ambition for new ideasthese shall make his battery invincible."

Lightships for the Pacific

Another fleet of ships is to make he long trip around South America from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but this time instead of being a fleet of magnificent battleships it is to be one of lighthouse tenders and clumsy lightships. For this reason it will not be as spectacular a departure as that which marked the sailing of Admiral Evans' fleet from New York harbor last year. Nevertheless, it will be interesting in its way and important because in the Pacific this fleet of ships is to perform a service for navigation which is of the utmost importance. Five of the six boats will be stationed on the western coast and one will continue on its way to

LIGHT-HOUSE TEMPER MANZANTA

Honolulu. This strange fleet which is booked to sail in September, and which will be the first of its class ever sent on so long a journey, will be made up of the lighthouse tenders Manzanita, Sequoia and Kukui and the light vessels Nos. 88, 91 and 92. All of the craft will go out under their own them along at the rate of seven knots an hour, and at this leisurely gait the trip is expected to be brought to a successful termination in about 120 days.

Over at the United States lighthouse station at Tompkinsville, Staten island, where the tenders and lightships congregate, the craft have arrived from the hands of their builders, and are being put in order for the voyage. Capt. Albert Mertz. who will have charge of the fleet, is engaged in supervising the stowage of stores and supplies and otherwise getting the vessels in shape for their long and hazardous journey.

The vessels are only of moderate size, and three of them, the lightships, are not intended for regular deep sea steaming. They are sturdy craft, however, and little trouble is anticipated en route. The worst to be feared is the separation of the vessels in a storm, at which time each ship may be blown miles out of her course and each become widely separated from the other. Each craft goes out under her own steam and there is to be no towing except in case of emergency. The Manzanita ships keeping within reasonable distance of her. "It is my intention." said Capt. Mertz, "to follow practically the same course as that recently taken by the torpedo boat flotilla, although circumstances may change all that. The lightships have a steaming radius of 2,800 miles-that is, with the coal which they are capable of stowing es stroke, and supplied with steam in their bunkers they are able to by one boiler 101/2 feet long by 11 make this distance without refueling, and when they have run this course they must make port for coal. Their speed is estimated at seven knots, He must be familiar with precedent, and as the tenders are capable of steaming at twice that speed it will be a case with the latter of lagging their consorts and protectors, the journal, and the experiences of his in order to keep company with the lightships.

"Each of the six craft is being loaded with a large amount of lighthouse material and supplies intended for the Pacific stations, and in this way the trip of itself will save the government considerable money. since otherwise it would have been necessary to ship these commodities by rail or steamship. The six vessels will therefore all be pretty deep in town as soon as you get a bale of the water when they leave New York

These lightships are not handsome to look at, and hardly would be taken for steam yachts, yet they are extremely comfortable and seaworthy and should be able to take care of themselves in a storm when tenders, would be making hard weather of it. It was deemed safest, however, to send the tenders along so they could aid the lesser powered craft in case of necessity. THE LOVELINESS OF CHRIST

By REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D., Pastor of the Chicago Ave. (Moody's) Church, Chicago.

"He is altogether lovely."-Song of Solomon 5:16

Either a deeply spiritual man or an intensely carnal man wrote this Song of Solomon. If it was written simply as a love letter, it has much carnality in it; if it was written as a spiritual blography of Jesus Christ and His bride, it has deep spiritual truth. I believe the latter. We have Christ as the bridegroom talking intimately and familiarly with and about His beautiful bride, the church, and He permits us to eavesdrop. Solomon, it seems to me, wrote the Proverbs in his sturdy manhood. when he was strong in moral and spir-Itual strength. Then he backslides, and in his backslidden state he wrote Ecclesiastes, and we have the picture of life "under the sun." The "Song of Solomon" was doubtless written after lateral channels in this section of the he had made confession of his sin, and world, so far as may be practicable God had restored him: He is living with safety, and calling at Valparai now in his old age a deeply spiritual

The gentleman is one who is gentle, tender and considerate.

> VII. Christ was lovely in His death. The crucifixion scene was not lovely. There is nothing lovely in driving nails through hands and feet, in a crown of thorns, in blood trickling down and becoming clotted, in the pierced side, in the quivering flesh. The tragedy of the crucifixion is one thing, but the deeper meaning is another.

> Jesus Christ was lovely in His death, for He died for others. He prayed for those that killed Him. He was lovely in His resurrection. He was lovely in His ascension. There was no attempt at spectacular display. He is lovely in His intercession. He is still pleading for others. He became incarnate for us; He lived for us; He died for us; He rose from the dead for us; He intercedes for us. "He is altogether lovely." Have you eyes to see His loveliness? Are you not charmed by it? "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me."

THE HOME ELECTRICIAN.

How You Can Make Yourself a Small Storage Battery.

The cell of a storage battery contists of two plates, a positive and a negative, made of lead and placed in a dilute solution of suiphuric acid. Large batteries made large cells have a great number of plates, both positive and negative. of which all positive plates are connected to one terminal and the negative plates are connected to the other terminal. The storage cell as described below is the right size to be charged by a few gravity cells and is easily made.

Secure a piece of 134 inch lead pipe, five inches long, and cut both ends smooth and square with the pipe. Solder a circular disc of lead to one end, forming a cup of the pipe. As this cup must hold the sulphuric acid it must be perfectly liquid tight. It is necessary to get another lead pipe of the same length and three-fourths inch in diameter. Bore as many oneeighth-inch holes in this pipe as possible, except for about one inch on each end. One end of this tube is hammered together as shown at A in the sketch to make a pocket to hold the paste. This, of course, does not need to be watertight.

A box of wood is made to hold the larger tube or cup. This box can be square, and the corners left open around the cup can be filled with sawdust. A support is now made from a block of wood to hold the tube, B. in place and to keep it from touching the cup C. This support or block. D, is cut circular with the same diameter as the lead cup C. The lower portion of the block is cut away so it will just fit inside of the cup to form a stopper. The center of this block is now bored to make a hole the same size as the smaller lead pipe. Place the lead pipe in the hole and immerse it in smoking hot paraffine wax, and leave it until the wood has become thoroughly saturated with the hot wax. Use care to keep the wax from running on the lead at any place other than the end within the wood block. Two binding posts should be attached, one to the positive, or tube. B. and the other to the negative, or tube C, by soldering

A paste for the positive plate is one part water with a sufficient amount of red lead added to make of lates to railways, where the device thick dry consistency. The cell may be charged with three gravity cells. These are connected in series and the positive terminal binding-post on the storage cell is connected to the wire leading from the copper plate in the gravity cell. The other plate is connected to the zinc. The first charge should be run into the cell for about one week and all subsequent charges should only take from ten to twelve hours.

Simple Bevice That Will Prove Effective, It Is Said.

Secure a piece of wood about 31/2 Inches square that will furnish a nice finish and round the corners and small rounding edge as in the shown sketch. From a piece of brass 1-16 inch thick cut two sleces alike. A and B, and match them together, leaving about 1-16 inch between their upper edges and fasten them to the wood with binding-posts. The third piece of brass, C, is fitted between the pieces A and B allowing a space of 1-16 inch all around the edge. One binding-post and a small screw will hold the piece of brass, C. in place on the wood. The connections are made from the line wires to the two upper binding posts and paraltel from the lower binding-posts to the instrument. The third bindingpost on C is connected to the ground ning, says Popular Mechanics, will jump the saw teeth part of the brass and is grounded without doing harm to the instruments used.

"The need has been frequently felt, during recent years, of a device for giving soundsignals that will be heard above disturbing noises in whose presence or dinary alarms are without effect.

'An electric siren, which appears to satisfy this demand perfectly, has been constructed by the Deutsche Telephonwerke at Berlin. In this apparatus the armature of an electromagnet, excited by a variable current of determinate frequency, acts on a metallic membrane through a lever; the ratio of the lengths of the lever arms is so chosen as to secure a strong and powerful sound.

"The sounding membrane, which is relatively solid, is made of an alloy of nickel bronze; it closes the apparatus hermetically. The mechanism is contained in a gas-and-water-proof box, and consequently the device may be installed in the open air without any special protection.

The electric siren uses a very small quantity of energy, while its acoustic performance is greatly superior to of ordinary annunciators or

"A special advantage of these devices is the facility with which several of them are arranged in parallel and controlled from a central point by an ordinary contact button. The arrangement of connections is about the same as with ordinary annuncia-

"The electric siren is easily used for giving all sorts of well-defined signals analogous to those of the Morse alphabet. Among these numerous applications the following may be cited as most important:

"An evident field of application is for systems of fire alarm. As the sound of the siren resembles exactly that of the alarms generally used, the character of the signals will be clearly intelligible to every one.

"This device may be employed to advantage in alarm systems on board vessels, where it may take the place of various kinds of annunciators and bells now used to give orders to guard stations in the different compartments. or signals to engineers, firemen, or pilots. These orders are transmitted simultaneously to all the compartments in question by pressing on one contact button, which evidently assures great economy of time in case of imminent danger

the next ten years is hard to predict Transmission lines of 60,000 volts and 75,000 volts are now as common as those of 11,000 and 12,000 volts ten years ago, while transmission lines several hundred miles in length are now being projected and installed for an operating pressure up to 150,000

That the manufacturers of high potential insulators are meeting the evergrowing requirements of electrical enwire. Any heavy charge from light. gineers may be noted from the fact that they offer to supply insulators testing from 1,000 to half a million volts. In is said to have solved the problem of addition to this testing room are several hundred other testing terminals at Victor.

VALUE OF CHEESE TOO FRE QUENTLY OVERLOOKED.

As a Staple, as Addition to Cooked Foods, or in the Form of Dessert It Is Highly Recommended.

The American has yet to learn the food value of cheese as it is recognized abroad. While generally caten uncooked, it adds to cooked foods in number of ways. Potatoes, toast, rice, baked tomptoes, eggs, macaroni, and even soups are made more nourishing, and to many people more appetizing, by the addition of a grat-

In all the high-class Lalian restaurants in this country, as abroad, a small dish of grated Parmesan cheese is brought on with the soup tureen each adding to his plate to suit indiridual taste.

When it comes to cheese as a part of the dessert, in contrast to the pastries and other confections more commonly found, one ought to cultivate the taste for it as one may have cultivated a fondness for olives.

Among the hardy Swiss it is staple, second only to bread. Among the Bulgarians, whose longevity as a people stands first among all nations. cheese runs a close second to their loppered milk, the yaourt or Zoolak so highly indorsed by scientists.

Among the Italians and Germans its use is extensive, the peasantry in many cases eating scarcely any meat using cheese in its stead.

Indeed, the use of cheese as an arti cle of diet is as old as history itself. It was a common article of food among the Hebrews and is mentioned three times in the Bible, although in suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeeach case the original word is differ-ent. In First Samuel where Jesse and I am so well that I can do as big a ent. In First Samuel where Jesse commands David to carry "ten cheeses unto the captain of their thousand" it implies ten sections of curd or soft

In Second Samuel, where "Shobi, the son of Nahash," is recorded as bringing David and his men a long list of necessities running the gamut from 'beds and basins" to "honey and butter and cheese," the root means scraped or grated cheese. In the third case where Job expostulates periodic pains, backache, that bearwith the Lord concerning his afflicing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestions he mournfully asks, "Hast thou not poured me out and curdled me as Cheese is mentioned by Aristotle about 350 B. C. The Romans introduced the art of cheese-making into England about the time of the Christian era, where it was received with high favor. In fact, scarcely any old English play or story comes to us without some reference to this popu ar viand.

Prepared Sandwiches.

Take a long oblong-shaped loaf of bread and cut the crust from the sides, top and bottom; then cut into thin slices, lengthwise; chop a quantity of cold boiled ham; also a quantity of cold boiled chicken; take a slice of the bread and place upon it a layer of chopped ham, then a layer of mayonnaise dressing, a layer of chopped chicken, a layer of chopped English walnuts and another slice of bread; again a layer of chopped ham, mayonnaise dressing, chopped chicken, chopped English walnuts and lastly a slice of bread. Wrap all in a damp cloth and place a heavy weight on top (flat irons are serviceable) to press well the ingredients. Allow the loaf to stand from six to eight hours. then slice as you would bread. This makes a very dainty course for luncheons, parties, etc. A layer of finely-cut lettuce or celery may be used with effect.

Pickled Walnuts.

These must be picked when tender enough to be pierced with needle. Cover with very strong brine; keep the nuts in this for three days; drain and re-cover with brine. At the end of three days drain again and leave in fresh cold water for six hours. Bring to a boil a gallon of vinegar in which you put a cup sugar, two tablespoons each of whole peppers and cloves, one tablespoon alispice and eight blades of mace. Boil for ten minutes, put the nuts in a crock and pour the boiling vinegar over them. At the end of three days drain off vinegar, bring it to the boll again and bour back on the nuts. Cover and secon for six weeks before eating.

Peach Batter Pudding. Fill a pudding dish with peeled and halved peaches. Pour over them one pint of water; cover closely and bake until the peaches are tender, ther drain off the juice and let it cool. Add to the juice one pint of milk, four well-beaten eggs, one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one saltspoonful of salt and one cupful of flour mixed and sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat well; pour the butter over the peaches and bake until a rich brown. Serve with aweetened cream.

To Keep Tins Bright.

Tins are hard to keep clean uness one knows the correct method, which requires little time and labor. Wash the tins thoroughly in hot water, o which a little soda has been added. Dry carefully and polish with a little rhiting and a clean cloth. Powdered vhiting should be used.

Ironing Hint.

An economical, and really excellent pad for cleaning and testing hot irons is made of several layers of heavy brown paper. This may be renewed each ironing day, and is quite satisfactory. For a fine polish a little wax or parafile should be used.

There's a reason for this enormous and constantly increasing number of STAR chewers, and it's just this-

Star Plug has always been manufactured with one sole object in viewto give chewers the best chew of tobacco it is possible to produce, yet to sell this STAR chew at a moderate price.

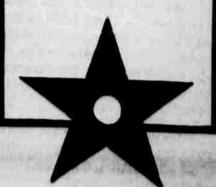

More chewers are learning every day that STAR, considered from the standpoint of true merit, has no competitor, and is the one best chew.

For a long time there was a prejudice (which probably still exists) among certain chewers against the use of what is generally termed "Navy Tobacco," because of the impression that all tobacco of that character is too sweet.

It is true that some brandsof tobacco, similar in appearance to STAR. are too sweet to please chewers accustomed to the use of tobacco manufactured in thin plugs, but we know that STAR is right in every way.

You use tobacco for the pleasure it gives increase your pleasure by chewing STAR!

MOTHER AND CHILD Both Fully Nourished on Grape-Nuts

The value of this famous food is shown in many ways, in addition to what might be expected from its chemical analysis.

Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and barley, is thoroughly baked

It contains also the phosphate of potash grown in the grains, which Nature uses to build up brain and nerve

Young children require proportionately more of this element because the brain and nervous system of the child grows so rapidly.

A Va. mother found the value of own strength but in nourishing her baby at the same time. She writes:

"After my baby came I did not recover health and strength, and the doctor said I could not nurse the baby home, two miles east of Paris while as I did not have nourishment for her,

"He said I might try a change of diet and see what that would do, and recommended Grape-Nuts food. Burglars entered the postoffice at bought a pkg. and used it regularly.

Everybody should know how simple and easy it is to avoid all uncertainty in buying paint materials. There are many so-called white leads on the market, which contain chalk, zinc, barytes, and other cheap adulterants. Unless the property owner takes advantage of the simple means of protection afforded him by reliable white lead manufacturers, he runs great risk of getting an inferior and adulterated white lead.

It is to protect the paint-buyer against fraud and adulteration that National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead. place their famous "Dutch Boy Painter" trademark on every keg of their product, an absolute guarantee of its purity and quality. Anyone who wants to make a practical test of white lead. and who wants a valuable free book about painting, should address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York, and ask for test equipment.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First-The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory." Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Casteria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoris extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

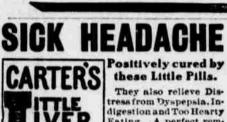

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartlest recom-
