Film of Olympics Shown at Rotary Club Meeting

Members of the Rotary Club were shown an interesting film of the 1956 Olympiad held in Melbourne, Australia, at the regular meeting and luncheon Thursday in the Texas Cafe dining room.

By coincidence, President Tom Barfield read a letter from a Rotary Club in Australia to the Haskell club. Since their country is one of the gold-producing areas of the world, Australian Rotarians are interested in world affairs affecting the price of gold.

A brief talk on the importance of club attendance, and regulations concerning Rotary attendance was presented by Gene Elliott. Haskell was in second place in attendance in the district for the month of September, President Barfield reported, with a record of 98.86 points. Rotary Club of Crowell was first in attendance, he reported.

Mrs. Ruby Withers was pianist for the club sing-song led by T. B. Roberson. Guests at the meeting were Rotarians Jim McCullough and Bernard Bryant of Stamford, both Past District Governors. Presentation of the Olympiad film was a courtesy of the Coca Cola Company.

Mr. Ballard was alone at the time of his death. He had been to Haskell early Saturday morning and made arrangements with H. H. McNeill of this city to come to the Ballard place and help do some work at the farm later in the morning.

$1,087.50 Raised To Date In Scout Finance Campaign

The 1958 Boy Scout finance campaign is falling short of its hoped-for goal. Community Chairman Alfred Turnbow and Audit Chairman Joe Harper reported Wednesday.

To date $1,087.50 has been turned in by workers. Harper stated, with some workers yet to make their reports. A check of prospect cards Tuesday showed 183 cards still out, the audit chairman said.

Workers who have not had time to complete their contacts with prospects are urged to do so as early as possible, in order that a final report can be made on the campaign. Chairman Turnbow said.

Commissioners Court To Accept Audit Figures On J. P. Account

At a special meeting Friday afternoon, the Commissioners Court decided to accept the amount shown in a special audit as basis for a settlement of the account of J. P. Prec. No. 1 prior to March 19 this year.

Previously, at a regular meeting Monday of last week, a majority of the Court had agreed to seek recommendation from the Grand Jury relative to the amount to be sought in settlement. The special audit, made by the accounting firm of Knight & Hart, Abilene, shows approximately $1,625.30 due the county. District Attorney Royce Adkins, after making a study of the audit, and making allowances for possible errors, had advised the Court that the correct indebtedness might not amount to more than $900.00.

At Friday's special meeting, the Court voted unanimously to accept the special audit of the J. P. account, and also a general audit made by Knight & Hart covering all receipts and disbursements of county funds over a two year period.

In accepting the special audit as correct, Commissioners stated that since Knight & Hart are licensed auditors and accountants and had devoted considerable time and study in checking all records involved, figures shown in the audit were believed to be accurate by the Court.

Haskell Man Gets Deer on Hunting Trip To Colorado

J. W. (Johnnie) Mullins returned Sunday from a hunting trip to Colorado. He was accompanied by his son, J. W. Jr., of Lubbock, and the Haskell man's son-in-law, Marlin Brown who lives near Durango, Colo.

The three men spent several days hunting deer and other big game in the Durango area, each was successful in killing a deer. However, Johnnie says weather conditions were not too good for hunting. The sunshine and clear weather prevailing during their stay permitted big game to remain in the rough, upper sections in mountainous areas.

Condition of the injured man was reported favorable Wednesday, and he is recovering satisfactorily.

Mr. Daniels, longtime resident of Haskell, is a farmer and also worked as a ginners for a number of years during the ginning season.

His hand was caught by the lint cleaners back of the gin saws, and most of the flesh was torn from the top of his left hand before he could jerk loose from the machine. His hand was so badly mangled that amputation at the wrist was necessary.

A son, Jack Daniels, and Leo Duncan, gin manager, rushed the injured man to the Haskell Hospital immediately after the accident.

How To Build A Ghost Town

A recent report from the Colorado Springs (Colorado) Chamber of Commerce tells how to have a ghost town. It is an interesting tongue-in-cheek report that will hold true just as well right here in our town as it does in cool Colorado.

It reads something like this: Results are almost certain for those citizens to create more "ghost towns" if these few simple directions are followed, either by accident or design. Hundreds of potentially thriving communities which have the opportunity to become progressive, up-to-date towns are proving that there is more truth than poetry in the simple statement "It Could Happen Here."

Here are just a few of the methods being used successfully by some groups to hold their communities back as they were in grandfather's day:

- 1. Tell everyone that you meet that you never buy anything at home; the merchants are a bunch of crooks, robbers and cheats.
2. Belittle all efforts for community betterment - the people and clubs trying to do these things are secretly making a lot of money, want to "run things" and their way of doing things is all wrong.
3. Never waste any money advertising or waste time trying to attract trade to your town. Nobody reads the ads anyway, there is never anything in the paper, it is always late, and why should anyone want to come to town - it's a dead place.
4. Turn down all appeals for contributions; and do it in a nasty way so you won't be bothered again, because the money collected is eventually stolen by the collectors, anyway.
5. Refuse to serve on all committees, have nothing to do with civic organizations - the Chamber of Commerce never does anything and is run by a bunch of dimwits who want only to get their names before the public. All the city officials are in office to get a share of publicity and graft.
6. Refuse to lease or sell - at a huge profit - any property that might bring new business or afford one of the local businesses room to expand and offer better service to the community.

There you have it - six simple directions for producing a "ghost town." It is rather hard for one person to do it alone, but if you can keep at it long enough, eventually you'll get others on the band wagon, and then a Ghost Town.

The American Tragedy

The great American tragedy lies in our failure to see the signs of moral decay that surround us.

Thus writes Dr. Louis Finkelstein, distinguished scholar and theologian, in the September issue of Fortune magazine. These signs, he adds, "are apparent in the vulgar ostentation all around us, in the sexual laxity revealed by the Kinsey studies, in the demoralization of American captives in the Korean war, in the widespread defiance of law. The signs are apparent in our general toleration of wrongdoings, which is itself an evil and corrupting force."

Dr. Finkelstein believes that it is the primary responsibility of the businessman to "put ethics on the agenda." The businessman, in his view, is necessarily the leading citizen in an industrial society. His morals and attitudes pervade our life. He must have values in life "above profit or economic security."

Can the spread of moral drift rot be stopped and the sorry trend reversed? No greater, more far-reaching question faces us today. And businessmen alone, important as their role is, cannot provide the whole answer. The disease is found in labor, government, everywhere. And it is deadly.

Heavy rains have fallen over most of the county during the past week. Although the rainfall came too late to benefit crops which have been severely hurt by the long drouth, farmers are hopeful that a good season can be received for small grain.

We learn from J. F. Jones that his gin at this place has up to this date turned out 945 bales of cotton. The gin will run only on Tuesday and Friday during the remainder of the season.

Our old citizen, D. A. Whately, came in Friday from East Texas with two wagon loads of sweet potatoes and turnips which he was selling along the way to pay expenses. Both are of fine quality and found ready sale here.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

There were only six or eight houses in Haskell when Theodore Bowman, now of Corpus Christi, came here as a boy in 1884, he recalls in a letter to The Free Press.

Although he moved away in 1918, he declares he still considers Haskell his home and wants to keep in touch with happenings here through the newspaper.

He recalls that his father was among those helping to organize Haskell County. Their first attempt failed to secure enough signatures and he tells "that four or five of the men 'rode as far as 50 miles getting signers for the organization petition."

As a boy, Bowman saw the first grave dug in what is now Willow Cemetery. "John Keister and Quency Taylor dug the grave. It was for a child that had died after being bitten by a rattlesnake," he wrote.

Recent recommendation by the Grand Jury that culprits be fined in local courts either pay the fine or "lay it out" in jail may sound a little harsh.

However, back in the early days, local officers believed that a jail sentence meant what it said, according to old newspaper files.

An item of 50 years ago tells that a young man who had broke out of jail was recaptured and chained by the leg to his cell. Picking the lock on the chain, he got out again. Caught and brought back the second time, the newspaper reported: "We understand that he is now chained by the neck."

Drinking coffee the other evening, we got caught in the role of listener to the hard-luck story of an old boy whose wife had left him, evidently for a new-found flame.

He couldn't understand why. He'd always treated her all right, he confided. Made her a living, nothing fancy you understand, but a good living and a roof over her head and a new dress now and then. Oh, he'd done a little gambling at times, and he'd hit the jug on occasions, but any reasonable woman should expect that, you understand.

Too, he'd raised Cain with her a few times, like when coming home and finding some strange man visiting in his home. But he'd never beat her up, just talked pretty strong, you understand.

Now she'd left him and has probably taken up with some other fellow—and he can't understand why, quitting a man who'd always made her a living—well at least, most of the time, you understand.

"You may not believe it," he declared, "But I've been a pretty good sort of fellow all my life, but nobody has ever given me credit for it."

Not even his wife, it seems.

Vernay Moody, custodian at the courthouse, ran across some old newspapers in the basement of the Clerk's office the other day that make interesting reading.

One copy was the Haskell Herald, dated April 22, 1910, published by A. J. Street and A. J. Smith.

In a column entitled "Naturally Boosting" it was stated plans were underway for erection of a three-story building just north of the Haskell National Bank. Ground floor would be for business establishments, while the second floor would be designed as an opera house of the 'first water.' Third floor would be devoted to business offices.

Another paragraph stated steel rails had been received for Haskell's street railway line which would extend from the depot to town, then out to a recreation center northeast of town. "Ours will be the only town between Wichita Falls and Abilene with a street railway," the editor wrote. Continuing he prophesied "This fall will fly over the state like wildfire and the project will be a very fine drawing card for Haskell."

Another paragraph dealt with plans for establishing a creamery in Haskell.

A person who is fortunate enough never to have been hospitalized for any length of time can't realize how lucky they are, declares Marvin Wheatley, Haskell farmer, a recent hospital patient.

Despite the excellent treatment and services of doctors, nurses, and hospital staff, the tedious monotony of being flat on your back is hard to take. Marvin says he counted the squares in the ceiling of his room, also knows how many slats are in each venetian blind in every window in the room. Brightest spots were the visits of friends and neighbors, he declared. "If my gratitude to them could be measured in money, every friend and neighbor who called would be a millionaire now," Wheatley stated.

Author of the following letter, entitled "A Preacher Who Wouldn't Do," is unknown. "Gentlemen: Understanding that your pulpit is vacant, I should like to apply for the position. I have many qualifications that I think you would appreciate. I have been blessed to preach with power and have had some success as a writer. Some say that I am a good organizer. I have been a leader in most places I have been.

"Some folks, however, have some things against me. I am over 50 years of age. I have never preached in one place more than three years at a time. In some places I have left town, after my work caused riots and disturbances. I have to admit that I have been in jail three or four times, but not because of any real wrong doing. My health is not too good, though I still get a good deal done. I have to work at my trade to help pay my way. The churches I have preached in have been small, though located in several large cities.

"I have not gotten along too well with the religious leaders in different towns where I have preached. In fact, some of them have threatened me, taken me to court and even attacked me physically.

"I am not too good at keeping records. I have been known to forget whom I baptized. However, if you can use me, I shall do my best for you, even if I have to work to help with my support."

The elder read this letter to the committee and asked them if they were interested in the applicant. They replied that he would never do for their church.

They were not making, commencing jailbird. The name of the Wherupon the "The Apostle Paul" Jerome Fisher of a visitor last week of her aunt. Mrs. in this city.

Negro "Mystery Boy" Preacher to Speak Here

BY B. T. W. BREMBRY

Come one! Come all! Where? To Hopewell Baptist Church, Thursday, Oct. 23 at 8 p. m. to hear and see the five-year-old Wonder Boy Preacher from Los Angeles, Calif.

He has been preaching since he was two years old. He would be the pride and joy of any mother. "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when old he will not depart from it."

A rare treat to hear and see Thomas Master Harrison. Some call him the "Wonder Boy" and others the "Mystery Boy Preacher." Be a witness for yourself, for the half has not been told.

Remember the time and place — this evening at eight o'clock, at Hopewell Baptist Church.

VISITOR FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Mrs. Betty Patterson of Erie, Penn., is in Haskell to spend a few weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson. This is her first trip to Texas and the first visit with her son in over two years. She will make her return trip to Erie by bus in five or six weeks.

Paint Creek . . . Community News

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

The community and especially the mothers who work during the baseball games every year, are most grateful to the men who built the new concession stand east of the score board. It is 18x10 feet and is up high enough so the mothers may see the ball game when business is slack, and they will be warm, and the food may be arranged more conveniently to be sold. The work was done by the school board members, Gene Overton, Roy Medford, Ira Coleman, Paul Fischer and Allen Isbell and Paul's hired hand, Albert Ortego. These men built the building last week and will cover it with asbestos siding this week. We mothers appreciate you men for thinking of it, and for building it for us.

Three Paint Creek girls were elected officers in the Haskell County 4-H Club. I think this club is called the Lucky Three 4-H Club. Mary Lou McLennan is president, Ann Mc Lennan is secretary-treasurer and Jo Ann Griffith is reporter. Ann and Mary Lou are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLennan and Jo Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Griffith. Others officers elected were Janet Haynes of Rule, vice president, Kay Bell of Rule recreation leader. Ann McLennan was also designated alternate council delegate.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaw had as their guests last week their children Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weems and children of Sweetwater and Fred Shaw Jr. of Midland. Other guests were Granville Martin of Midland and W. D. Martin of Dallas.

Mrs. John McCown who underwent surgery in the Sanitarium remained there this week and then returned to her home. She is doing nicely and recuperating most rapidly from a gall bladder surgery.

Jimmy Ned Hokanson from Dallas and Leon Hokanson who is a student in Midwestern University, Wichita Falls were weekend visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Hokanson.

Supt. and Mrs. Pat Morrison and children were in Dallas last weekend where they attended the State Fair. Marcia Jo stayed in Throckmorton with her aunt and uncle.

H. W. Wright who has just completed boot training at San Diego is at home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hildred Patterson and Billy for a ten day leave. He will return to the base at San Diego for a six months course.

Burl Medford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Medford is at home for a ten day leave from his base in San Antonio where he has completed basic training. He is to be stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y. at the end of his leave.

Gene Overton, Mack Earles and Ira Coleman were in College Station this past weekend where they attended the A&M-TCU game and visited with Wallar Overton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sims and Dr. Frank Sims Jr. spent last weekend on the A&M campus with their son and brother Dub Sims. They also attended the football game.

Mrs. Gene Overton and Mike attended the Homecoming at Rule Friday and visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McBeath of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Griffith and daughters and Jimmy Griffith visited their son Dan Riley Griffith on the A&M campus last weekend and attended the football game. They returned Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene King and children from Oklahoma have moved recently to the Alfred Grand place and will be in our community. They have children in school.

Mrs. Gene Overton spent Sunday morning in Abilene and visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderburg. Judy and Sandra Earles and Eddy Mack Earles of Abilene, spent the weekend with home-folks recently. Judy and Sandra are student nurses at Hendrick Memorial Hospital.

Earl Daniels suffered a terrible accident at the Duncan gin Monday. He was trying to free some cotton that was caught in the end of the saws and the saws caught the stick pulling his glove and left hand into the saws. He pulled the hand free but it was so badly mangled that he had to have it amputated Tuesday morning. He is in the Haskell Hospital.

Mrs. Mack Earles spent last weekend in Munday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. McCuarty. On Thursday her brother-in-law, George Boone of Goree was seriously injured when a transport full of cotton ran over him at the Goree gin. He was rushed to the Knox City Hospital and later taken to the General Hospital in Wichita Falls for surgery. He suffered two broken legs, a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Martin from Oklahoma spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Gene King and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overton Sr. were in Petersburg this past weekend where they took Mrs. Overton's sister, Mrs. Catherine Terry home. She had spent the last two months with the Overtons.

Carolyn Cook, freshman student in Texas Woman's University at Denton spent last week end at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Cook, Charlotte and Ray.

The Paint Creek folks were grieved to lose their neighbor and friend, Mr. Tommy Ballard last Saturday morning. Mr. Ballard suffered a heart attack at his home. We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Ballard and Dr. David and the girls.

Mr. Ballard will be greatly missed, and especially by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welsh and his other near neighbors. He was in this big chicken raising program, and at the time of his death was caring for 1200 producing hens.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thane and Delores spent Sunday in Seymour with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Wayne Nickleson, Mr. Nickleson and their two children.

Mrs. Charles McBeath of Amarillo and Mrs. L. W. Jones Sr. of Rule were Paint Creek visitors Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton.

Mike Overton attended the Order of the Arrow convalesce at Camp Tonkawa, Buffalo Gap Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Williams of Texas Tech, Lubbock, spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jess Mickler.

New residents of the community are Mr. and Mrs. Twain Mickler and two little daughters. They have moved to Veda Ballard's camp where Twain will help with the boat and cabin business.

Seems like funny things are always happening to red heads. Roy Petrich is the only red head in Paint Creek school now that Paul McLennan has moved to Haskell. Last Thursday night after the ball game Peaches put his football shoes in his dressing room locker and didn't get them out till he suited out for scrimmage Monday afternoon. While he put on one, he threw the other down on the little concrete porch, and out tumbled 5 baby mice.

In and Out The Tee-Pees

BY SUZANNE LANE

BY SUZANNE LANE

How! Heap big events in tee-pees this year. One has been the Indian War Whoop. Each week it has tried to outdo itself. This spring the War Whoop will enter the Interscholastic League Journalism contest. This is the first year the paper has entered this contest. By entering the League contest the members of the staff will be able to improve the quality of school journalism. The contest consists of five parts: 1. News writing, 2. Copy reading, 3. Headline writing, 4. Feature writing, and 5. Editorial writing. Each school can enter two contestants. Members of the War Whoop staff are working hard to meet the requirements. Rebecca Griffin, editor of the paper, is a senior who came to HHS from Seymour last year. She worked on the paper in Seymour High School. Other members of the staff are Business manager, Frances Bartley; Reporters, Peggy Williams, Kay Wiseman and Billy Fouts; Sports reporters, Tommy Coston and John Gannaway; Typists, Suzanne Weaver and Freddie Gilliam; Circulation editor, Joe Bruce.

Always another neap big attention getter is the Indian year book, the Chieftain. Plans are underway, headed by Becky Busby, editor, for the best diary ever published on the reservation. If good weather holds out, photographers Jimmy Vaughter and James Cameron will be able to "shoot" all the Indians in and out the tee-pees. Suzanne Weaver, business manager, has borrowed the latest yell from the cheerleaders, "Be Calm, Be Cool, and Be Collected." Suzanne has changed the words, as she approaches the merchants to sell ads to "Be Calm, Be Cool, but Be Generous!" The merchants might like to know that if they have a picture which costs no extra, with students in it they will certainly get their money's worth. In the spring when the annuals come, all Indians sign their pictures—result—your advertising is read! The business staff will carry matter from the superintendent, getting their permission to sell ads. Other members of the staff are working hard at their particular jobs too. Their names will be revealed as smoke signals go up from the tee-pees.

See you next seventh moon.

SPENDS WEEKEND WITH FRIENDS HERE

Mrs. John A. Couch of Waco, a former resident here, spent last weekend in Haskell visiting friends. Mrs. Couch was accompanied to Haskell by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burlison of Waco who were on their way to El Paso. They returned by way of Haskell Sunday and were joined by Mrs. Couch for the return trip to Waco.

Mrs. May Larned has returned to her home after spending two weeks with her son and his family, Lieut. Jack Larned in San Antonio. Lieut. and Mrs. Larned were here early this month to visit his mother, and she accompanied them to San Antonio Oct. 5.

This was the program topic directed by Mrs. H. T. Wilker son when members of the Magazine Club met Oct. 17.

Mrs. C. V. Payne, accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Patterson, led the group in singing two songs, "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and "Heigh Ho, Come to the Fair."

Mrs. Joe Thigpen, related the "History of the State Fair." The fair, now in its seventy-third year, was established in 1886.

Miss Madalin Hunt showed colored slides of the Brussels Fair. In her commentary she stated that the last International Exposition was held in New York City almost twenty years ago.

Visit In Film To World's Fair Is Program Feature At B&PW Club Meet

The theme of "World Peace—the preservation rather than destruction of Man" was carried out in an exhibit of the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium, bringing together the people, organizations and industries in an effort to create better fellowship and peace for the first time since the International Fair in New York twenty years ago.

The International Relations Committee composed of Stella Trice, Fawwa Hassen, Lella Conner and Artie Mae Burkett were hostesses for the social hour following the film, when punch and cookies were served to thirty-four members and two guests, Edith Langston and Yvonne Black.

During a brief business session with the president presiding, Stella Trice announced that the capping and pinning ceremony for the NIBS co-sponsored by the B&PW Club would be held at 3:30 Sunday, Nov. 2 at the Presbyterian Church. The Legislative Committee will have charge of the next regular meeting Nov. 4, when the year's program outlined as a trip designates a look into one form of insurance—Social Security.

The tempo of farm work is sure to hit record highs, if and when favorable weather returns, and that means farmers and their families will be exposed to more accident hazards warns the Texas Farm Bureau.

The largest and most beautiful of all buildings was the American Building, a structure of steel, aluminum and glass, 355 yards in circumference, 153 yards in diameter and 33 yards in height, with a gold and white color scheme model home, community, hospital, farm, school, etc., displays were evident in addition to lounge, kiddyland, pools, chapel and dining areas.

Other buildings, each with exhibits of the specific nations' phase of life, industry or progress, shown were the Belgium Congo, the Norwegians, the Netherlands, the Germans, Thailand, the Russian, Austrian, Hungarian, Switzerland, Czechoslovakian, Chinese, Venezuelan and Mexican.

Industrial buildings include the Agriculture Building (displaying the history and development of electricity), Civil Engineering Building, Communications Building, the International Shopping Center and the Metropole Cafe, where food from any nation could be had in the atmosphere of that country.

The only religious building was the Catholic Church. The promenade, the fireworks, the fountains and the midway with emphasis on color and lighting concluded the sightseeing.

Weinert Continues Winning Ways, Rip Mattson 48-0

Weinert's Bulldogs, scoring almost at will, banged their way to a 48-0 win over Mattson in District 3 six-man football contest at Mattson Thursday night.

The Bulldogs, with the first two teams watching the Goree-Paint Creek game 28 miles away during the second half, rolled to their 18th consecutive game without a loss. Coach Jay Cox pulled his regulars after the first quarter and sent them to Goree, which stayed in a tie for the District 3 six-man lead by whipping Paint Creek. The two loop powers clash two weeks hence in the "title" game at Goree.

W. J. Swanner scored from 12 and 16 yards and passed 30 yards to Bob Raynes, with Jerry Walker kicking two conversions to give Weinert a 22-0 first quarter lead.

In the second quarter, the sophomores took over. David Earle hitting paydirt from 18 yards, Chesley Forehand scoring from the 21 and Keith Hobbs tackling Gene Leonard in the end zone for a safety.

In the third quarter, Forehand scored from the 20 and Jimmy White from the 35.

Thus ended the scoring for the night.

Weinert has only a 20-20 play-off tie with Jayton last year to mar its record over the last 18 games. The Bulldogs will host Benjamin at Weinert next Thursday in another district game.

A continuation of the present unfavorable weather conditions could bring about a repeat of last year's cotton seed situation, warns Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist. He says harvesting conditions in home areas are even worse than last fall and the situation has been worsened by cotton root rot and angular leaf spot diseases.

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

Fat Stock Higher At Fort Worth Monday

BY TED GOULDY

Trade on cattle and calves was a highly mixed affair at Fort Worth Monday. Fed steers and heifers were very scarce with less than a half dozen loads on offer, and prices were strong to 50 cents higher on the short crop. Fat cows were stronger but canners and cutters were unevenly steady to weaker with some lightweight canners under heavy pressure. The percentage of cows in the cattle run was relatively large, since they made up about 25% of the cattle. Calves were generally active and fully steady with some slaughter calves 50 cents above last week's low close. Bulls brought fully steady prices.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $23.50 to $26.50 with some held above that range. Common and medium butcher yearlings and heifers sold from $17 to $23.

Fat cows sold from $18 to $20, with a few to $20.50 and $21. Canners and cutters cashed at $12 to $18. Bulls sold from $18 to $23.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $23.50 to $26.50 with a few to $27. Cull and medium slaughter calves drew $16 to $23. Stocker calves ranged from $25 to $32, and steer yearlings sold from $25 downward. A few mixed lots of stocker cows of fair kinds sold around $18 to $19.50.

Hogs were steady at Fort Worth Monday. Choice hogs topped at $19 to $19.25. Medium to good butchers sold from $18 to $19. Sows cashed at $17 to $18.50. A few stags drew $12 to $16.

It was the fourth consecutive day choice hogs and sows had sold at these prices here. Most northern markets came in lower Monday despite smaller supplies there.

Ducks and Geese Arriving Early On Texas Coast

Ducks and geese are arriving on the Texas coast now in great numbers, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Wardens all along the coast are reporting heavy night movements, the director said. They expect the heaviest movement will be over soon and the ducks and geese will settle down to living in their winter home. Many South Texans have reported flights of geese over their houses during the night hours. Although some Canadas and Whitefronts have arrived, most of the geese now on the coast are snows and blues. The early duck movement consists mostly of teal, pintails, and spoonbills. Mallards, canvas backs and red heads are now beginning to move in, however.

Food conditions are excellent on the coast, according to Harold Irby, waterfowl biologist. He plans to make an aerial check of the total coastal population in the near future. In the meantime, J. R. Singleton, another waterfowl biologist, is making plans for the development of the marshland land recently bought near Port Arthur. This area will be thrown open to hunters this year, pending plans for full utilization of the area as a management unit.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY A. L. WILKE If you haven't already started on the project, better get busy sighting in that deer rifle for this fall's shooting. Every year we warn hunters against going out with a gun that has not been "trained in" for the season's shooting. And every year hunters come back with their shirts tails cut off for missing a big buck.

In some areas it is difficult to find a place to target a big rifle. Around most cities, however, there are shooting ranges where for a fee you can lay a few shots in the bulls-eye. If you decide to go to the country, however, be sure you get permission of the land owner before blasting away. He may not like to have shooting on his place by someone thoughtless enough not to ask. There'll be quite a few new guns and calibers on the market this fall. Also some changes have been made in ammunition. For instance, Winchester has introduced a new 20-gauge magnum bird load comparable in pattern and energy to a 12 gauge load. The 2 3/4 inch shell is loaded with 1-1.8 ounces of 7 1/2 shot. Previously the shell has been loaded with 2's, 4's and 6's for waterfowl and pheasant shooting.

Another new gun on the market this year is the X-5 Lightning by Ithaca. It is a semi-automatic 22 built along modern streamlines and is sure to become a favorite among those who have been shooting Ithaca shotguns for years. This new model, the first rifle by Ithaca, is built to Cadillac specifications. It handles easily, has a ruggedness not found in many rifles and is equipped to handle either 7 or 12 shot magazines. Ruger also has announced a new 22 caliber frontier model. It is in the competitive field of the Colt single action 22 and the new Double 9, of Hi-

Standard. The new Ruger, Bearcat by name, has some of the appearance of the original Police 36, and the Colt Model of 1849. It looks more like a gun of the old west than the others.

Ruger now claims to be the largest manufacturer of single action pistols. In addition the company also has a very interesting line of semi-automatics.

With the approach of the big game hunting season in Texas and elsewhere it is fitting that we give some thought to the handling of trophies. The average man who sits at the desk 50 weeks a year can't be expected to know too much about the dressing out of wild game, or preserving a head for mounting.

Major B. J. Brewer, who is the wildlife management coordinator for the Red River Arsenal at Texarkana, has written a book telling how to handle your prospective trophies. He got his inspiration while visiting in the taxidermy shop of Kelton S. Tillery of Fort Worth.

Major Brewer was looking over some of the trophies shipped to Mr. Tillery. Most of them had been badly handled and had major things wrong with them to prevent perfect mounting.

It was then that he was inspired to prepare a handbook for field instruction in the care of trophies. There are many library books on the subject, but none small enough to carry in a parka pocket, to provide directions on the spot.

Major Brewer points out in his pocket size manual that two things make the difference between poorly mounted trophies and a piece of art. First is the proper care of the trophy from the moment it is killed or caught; second, the use of a skilled taxidermist for the finished product.

He takes up the various subjects, such as caring for big game heads, skins for making rugs, animal full body mounts, half mounts, fish and birds and then gives you a few simple rules to remember. Major Brewer's book is well written and well illustrated. It certainly is worth the dollar price.

W. D. "Bo" Randall of Orlando, Fla., is a man who has literally carved his way to fame.

He is a knife maker. It all started as a hobby with him. Suddenly his hobby became a growing business and today he sells outdoor knives all over the country. He thinks other people should make knives as a hobby, too, so he has prepared a handbook on knife-making which he sells for 20 cents. Might be worth reading.

Good Management Key to Hatching Egg Operation

One of the best ways to increase hatchability of hatching eggs is to increase their fertility, says L. C. Cawley, Department of Poultry Science, Texas A&M College.

One of the first points to consider when increasing flock fertility is raise enough males to be able to select only healthy, vigorous ones for the flock, advises Cawley. During the growing period keep males separated from females so the males can be fully fed.

He suggests keeping no more than 11 and no less than nine males per 100 hens for broiler type birds. In egg production stock, this number may be reduced to no more than nine or less than seven males per 100 hens.

Elevate some of the feeders to permit males to eat booster pellets and corn chops free choice, advises Cawley. Keep birds free from lice, mites and worms. Feed all hard grain on the litter and keep house well lighted and ventilated. Avoid abrupt changes in management which may throw birds into a molt.

The popular F-100 pickup is one of 371 Ford truck models available in 1959. Dual headlights and a new Ford nameplate on the hood are standard features on the pickup models. With the 223 cubic inch six-cylinder engine — the most modern "six" in the industry — Ford offers greater economy in the high speed or increased load range. The pickup is available with either this Styleside body, which Ford pioneered with the 1957 models, or the Flareside body.

Biologists Seek Winter Quarters Of Brown Bats

Lubbock — Where do West Texas bats go in the winter? The answer isn't Florida. But Texas Tech biologists are interested in finding out where summer time colonies of the Brown Bat species do hibernate in the South Plains-Panhandle region.

Their research is being conducted under a $8,690 grant for a study of the ecology and natural history of bats. Sponsor is the U. S. Department of Public Health.

Co-researchers on the project are Dr. Donald Tinkle, assistant professor of biology, and Dr. Wm. W. Milstead, Tech biology researcher. The study is being directed by Dr. R. W. Strandmann, professor of biology.

Both Tinkle and Milstead have banded bats found in various South Plains and Panhandle communities. They have been particularly successful in banding approximately 500 of the "flying mammals" that have established summer time residence in a church and the school gym in McAdoo, a community some 60 miles east of Lubbock.

"It's the only place I've seen bats in a belfry," quipped Tinkle as he described their success in banding practically whole colonies of bats in this area. They've also banded bats at Justiceburg, Quanah, near Crosbyton and Tulla.

"We now need the cooperation of farmers and ranchers in this region to help locate the winter hibernating places of these colonies," he said.

The researchers ask that any person seeing a bat or bats this fall and winter—dead or alive—please notify the Texas Tech biology department or the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The biologist would like for those killing bats or finding dead bats to send them along to Tech. If this is not possible, they would appreciate a report on the location of the bat and the number of its band if it is banded.

We take this method to express our heartfelt appreciation to the host of friends and neighbors for their kindness expressed in so many ways during the illness and death of our loved one. We are grateful for the comforting words spoken, the messages of tender sympathy, the beautiful flowers and other expressions of love and understanding. We are also grateful to the churches and friends for food brought to our homes, and for everything done for us. We pray God's blessings on each of you.—The family of Mrs. J. W. Nanny. 43c

Man in the making

You watch your bright-haired boy turn in a twinkling from rowdy horseplay to tender cherishing of an injured bird.

How humbly proud you are of such evidence that your son is growing—in all directions!

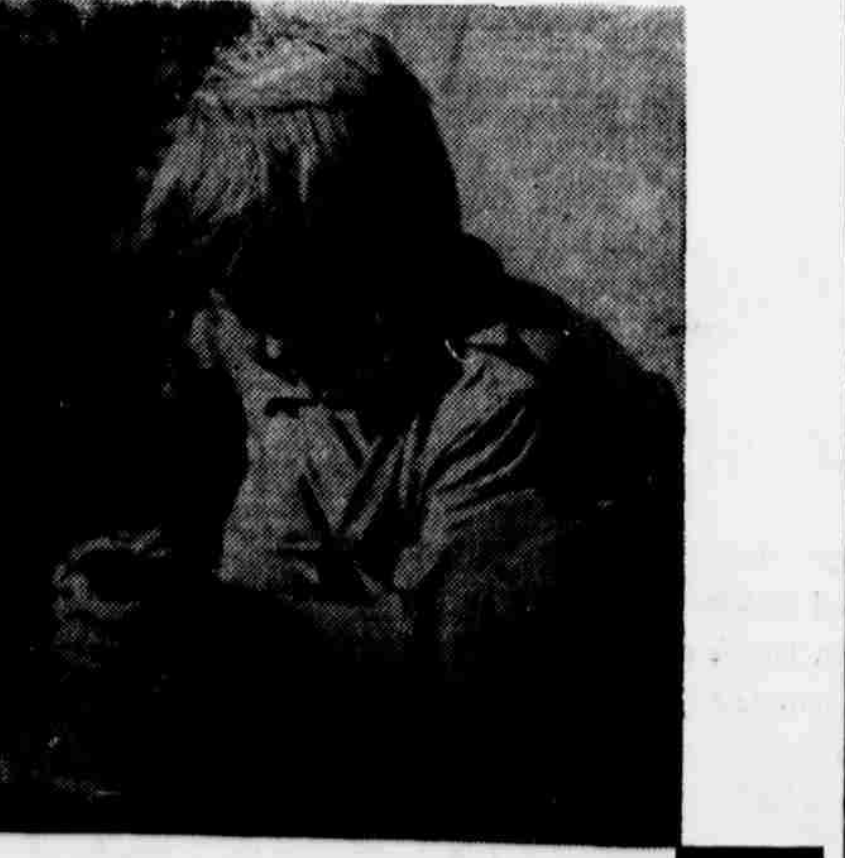

And how you want for him a world where there are no barriers to his development as a free and independent American.

There are many ways you can help assure this sort of world for him. One very important way is to be on the watch for ideas that could deprive him of his right to freedom and independence.

The idea, for instance, that "government should run such and such a business, a service, an institution." Even though it has been shown that the more things government runs, the less freedom there is for the individual.

When you hear people talking like that, point out that when you take independence away from anybody, you undermine the freedom of everybody.

Very much aware of this threat are the independent electric companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing government to take over more.

1959 Quota, Acreage Allotment, Referendum Date for Cotton Set

A national marketing quota of 12,167,000 bales, a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres and a date set, Dec. 15, for a farmer referendum on marketing quotas for upland cotton have been set by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

All are in accordance with present legislation covering cotton. In setting the national marketing quota figure the secretary found that the total supply of upland cotton exceeds the normal supply needed by 4,379,000 bales. The national acreage allotment for 1959 will be apportioned to the states, the state allotments to the counties and the county allotments to farms according to the provisions of the law.

If marketing quotas for 1959 are approved—it takes two-thirds favorable vote—in the Dec. 15 referendum, the cotton grower will have a choice between two allotment-price support program known as Choice A and B.

Under A, growers who comply with their regular acreage allotment will have available price support at no less than 80 per cent of parity. Growers under Choice B receive larger farm allotments—40 per cent above the regular allotment—but with a reduction of 15 per cent of parity in the support price as compared with Choice A.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1959 upland cotton crop, only the regular allotment program will be in effect. Price support will be available to cooperators at 50 per cent of parity as provided by law. Under the 1959 quota program and in accordance with controlling legislation, growers who exceed their chosen farm acreage allotments will be subject to penalties of 50 per cent of the cotton parity price as of June 15, 1959 on the farm's excess production. Too, all cotton produced on the farm will be ineligible for price support.

According to J. F. Montgomery, program specialist, Texas ASC office, notice of individual farm allotments under both Choice A and B will be made available to producers by the Dec. 15 referendum.

Rule 4-H Club Boy Shows Prize Duroc Gilt

A Duroc gilt belonging to Max McMeans, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McMeans of Rule, was named grand champion gilt of the Abilene Sears store district swine show, held at the recent West Texas Fair in Abilene.

Previously, Max's long-bodied, well-typed Duroc had won first place in the Sears county and area shows.

The Rule boy's gilt was farrowed Feb. 16 and was out of a litter of seven pigs, all of which were raised.

Vegetative Cover Termed Important Key to Watershed Management

Man has his greatest opportunity to influence watershed runoff and crop yield by manipulating vegetative cover on farm and ranch lands, Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, Texas Tech agriculture dean, reports.

"Management of vegetative cover is undoubtedly one of the most important keys to the total watershed management program," he said. But he emphasized that "without question we are not making very effective use of our valuable water resources."

The Tech dean said that while research dealing directly with vegetation and runoff is rather limited in Texas, studies at Spur showed runoff on a two per cent slope varied from five inches on fallow land to 0.94 inches on grass cover.

At Temple, a corn-oats-cotton rotation decreased runoff over continuous cropping and a Bermuda grass cover reduced runoff even more.

Thomas also pointed out that experiments conducted in timber areas of the Colorado Rockies "certainly have implications for our Texas brush infested lands."

"Reports by Texas ranchmen of old springs starting to flow again following brush removal are significant and further illustrates the effect of kind of cover on runoff and water yields," he added.

"Texas has over 100 million acres of range land on which the major use is grazing by domestic livestock and wildlife. The type of management practices on this tremendous land area is the primary factor in determining the kind and the amount of plant cover and thus, in turn, influencing runoff," Thomas said.

The agriculture dean also raised the question: "How much control is desirable on farm and ranch lands which constitute our watersheds?" The question was a source of controversy during the severe drought from 1950-56 in Texas.

"It seems to me that before we complain about conservation practices on the watershed, we should first make sure that we are making efficient use of the present water yield," Thomas stated.

He noted that when the rains finally returned to Texas, the emphasis shifted to flood control and few people condemned conservation practices on watersheds which helped reduce the flood hazard.

Mark Twain's Story OF THE READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper. One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider is merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to the store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local newspaper.
