Scouting Looks Ahead

Here, as well as elsewhere in America, Boy Scout Week will be observed Feb. 7 to 13. It will mark the 49th anniversary of the organization that has touched the lives of more than 29,500,000 Americans since 1910. There is hardly an American family that has not felt its influence.

Today there are more than 4.780,000 boys and leaders the bedside of her sister. Miss playing the "game of Scouting." Although one of every four boys eight to 16 years old is enrolled, leaders of the movement ill. want to serve at least a majority of the boys in America. The next five years will see a large increase in boys of those ages "Looking ahead for the next five years," says Dr. Ar-thur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, "we must recognize that never has it been so important or imperative that the youth of our nation be trained to high idealism, acquired through unselfish service, by self-reliance, and cooperative effort.'

He says that although Scouting's ideals and objectives have remained constant since 1910, "the program, organization methods, and operating techniques have changed as the result of study and understanding of changing conditions and as necessary to meet the needs of a rapidly growing organization."

To bring Scouting to more of the boys who want it will require more trained leadership and more facilities including camps.

Good Answer

It appears that the 40 billion dollar Federal Highway Program is running into major financial problems, and that huge deficits in the fund are impending. And it has been suggested that the cure should be a further increase in the Federal gasoline tax, which is now three cents a gallon and is imposed on top of the heavy state taxes.

The president of the American Petroleum Institute has made an effective answer to this scheme. It is this: If all the installing equipment this week Federal taxes collected in special levies on highway users were earmarked for the highways, there'd be no deficit.

Here's the story. In the last fiscal year, these levies produced $3.6 billion of Federal revenue. But only $2.1 billion went into the highway trust fund. The rest-a smashing $1.5 billion-was diverted to other purposes.

So, there is no need to increase the already exorbitant burden on motorists.

Uncle Sam Is Sorry Businessman

(The Houston Chronicle)

It's a good thing for the 175,000,000 people of the United States that its business is not operated by its government. The House government operations committee which took an inventory of the government's real and personal property, came up with a total worth of $262,000,000,000. Then the committee announced the figure was inaccurate, that it had omitted several acres this year and has 600 big items through oversight and that if it had used realistic acres more to terrace. County appraisal values. Uncle Sam's total worth would probably have been shown twice the figure reached. If all this be admittedly with the work true, the government would seem to need new appraisers.

Even at that, the latest report on the government's holdings shows an increase of $54,000,000,000 over the total listed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. in the 1955 appraisal. This has come about despite the recommendations in Hoover commission reports that the government get out of business and tend to government. With the public debt now up to $282,000,000,000 and growing another $12,000,000, 000 on the current fiscal year's deficit, it would appear a good idea for the government to divest itself of as much of these holdings as possible and apply the money to the debt.

Bernard Buie, one of Stam-ford's wideawake businessmen, feels as much at home in Haskell as he does in his home town because of his hobby as a West Texas historian.

Bernard has done a lot of re-search concerning early days of this section and probably knows more about the unre-corded history of this area than any other person. Currently he is working on a project to erect an appropriate marker on the Thursday a broken water pipe kept courthouse custodians route of the MacKenzie Trail through Jones and Haskell Counties.

Incidentally, Bernard's store in Stamford is currently featuring an attractive collector's item in the form of china plates with the 1959 calendar by months imprinted in gold. The item has met with popular demand from homemakers and collectors, Bernard reported Friday when he left one of the plates with us with instructions that it be delivered to the missus. He only has a limited stock and no more will be available when these are gone.

Around Phillips Oil Company plant at Odessa the reputation of Stamford Lake on Paint Creek southeast of Haskell has been firmly established as a fishing spot unequalled in this section. Bobby Henshaw, Haskell native who is gas correlation assistant at the plant was responsible for spreading the fame of the lake. During his vaca-tion last summer he and his wife, the former Jeannie Redwine, spent several days at the lake. Returning home, he naturally told of his fishing exploits but fellow employees at the Phillips plant were a bit skeptical of his stories.

As a result, Bobby and three fellow employees planned a trip to the lake. Despite the fact that they came in November and that a chill "norther" blew in during their stay at the lake their catch was unusually good and fully verified Bobby's claim that it was a fisherman's paradise. Later, during the duck hunting season, one of the plant men came here to hunt. Thinking he'd do a little fishing on the side, he baited out a trotline and left it in the lake while he was shooting ducks. To his surprise he snagged nine catfish weighing from 15 to 30 pounds. "And I was just fishing in my spare time," he marvelled.

The stories spread fast at the plant, and the January issue of a magazine for Phillips employees carried a story and pictures of the record catches made at the lake.

We have just read with fascination a telegram filed in Silver City, Nevada at 9:15 p. m. on August 6, 1872, from A. Gandy for delivery to John Bowers "at Babcock's Saloon." It is reproduced in its flowing Spencerian on the front page of a recent issue of "Mark Twain's Newspaper," the Ter-ritorial Enterprise, of Virginia City, Nevada, under the eminently suitable heading.: "A Message to Garcia (Carmeli-ratorium, "tell her I will be in Gold Hill tomorrow at half past four. Answer."

Unfortunately Publisher Beebe and-or Editor Clegg do not provide us with the reply, but the cutlines beneath the ancient telegram observe: "When it is recalled that virtuous females of the period were never referred to by their first names, it must be deduced that 'Carmelita Garcia' was of the demi monde, and that 'A. Gandy' had other than innocent thoughts in his head when he dispatched the wire from Silver City. But we are most impressed with the fact that however elemental Mr. Gandy's thoughts may have been, his prose is beyond reproach. What classic simplicity of style, and how compelling! Here is emphasis without a gesture, urgency that does not raise its voice. We are sure that John Bowers quit the comfort of Mr. Babcock's retreat immediately on receiving this message, and regardless of weather conditions; that he did see Carmelita no matter what searching was involved. and that Carmelita got told.

Further we are strongly of the opinion that Carmelita was

Andy Griffith In Happy Role As "Onionhead"

Andy Griffith, the sensational star of "No Time For Sergeants," comes to the Texas Theatre on Sunday in Warner Bros. "Onionhead," a happy combination of comedy and drama with a part civilian, part Coast Guard background. Sharing with Griffith in the laugh-packed picture are Fe-licia Farr, Walter Matthau.

Erin O'Brien and Joe Mantell. The story begins in an Oklahoma college town. Andy Griffith inexpertly attempts to be a Lothario with the girls, but when he strikes out with his number one girl friend, Erin O'Brien, he decides it's time to join the service. What "Mister Roberts" did for the Navy, and "No Time for Sergeants" did for the Air Force, "Onionhead" does for the Coast Guard as Griffith divides his attentions and his talents between ship and shore. The lovely Felicia Farr portrays Stella, the girl Andy meets in Boston and with whom he has adventures in the lovemaking department.

Broadway actor Walter Matthau, already established as a versatile film personality, plays the rough talking ship's cook. Nightelub comedian Jesy Bishop, seen as the rugged mess cook in "Onionhead." made his film debut with Alan Ladd in Warner Bros. "The Deep Six." The screenplay by Nelson Gidding is adapted from the best-selling novel by Weldon Hill, and Academy Award win-Norman Taurog directed the picture for producer Jules Schermer.

But I guess country people have to have a real good dog to take care of things.

It's a funny thing (and I don't man funny "Ha! Ha") I mean but funny "Peculiar") how so many people think their property in town is their own and off limits to others, but a farm or pasture or ranch is public property. Sometimes when we have to go around the fields and gather up the beer cans and sacks of garbage someone has thrown out, I wonder how a property owner in town would feel if someone threw a box of beer cans out on the sidewalk in front of his place of business, or the yard at his home. Or if a car full of people drove up to his place and without even asking per-mission had a picnic in his yard, leaving paper napkins and cans and garbage, as so many people do in the country pas tures. Hunters have been especially careless in our community. Morris Haynes, G. W. Roberts, Ray Overton, and Dr. David Ballard that I know of, have had cows shot in their

Cadets Dub Sims, Dan

Griffith and Wallar Overton re-turned to A&M in "Shehasta" Friday. They registered for the new term Saturday. When we were discussing some of the exceptional grades made by Paint Creek college students this term, they all three said to put in the column that they each made enough good grades. each made enough good grades to say in the A&M corps, and they were surprised and pleased as could be about it. The grading system standards at A&M are higher than at nearly any other school in Tayan ly any other school in Texas. A boy has to make 92 to have an A, 84 to have a B and below 75 is failing. So our Aggles may not have the grade points other college students have.

The following article con-cerning excellent fishing at Lake Stamford southeast of Haskell appeared in the Jan-uary issue of Phillips Maga-zine published by employees of the Phillips Company plant at

"Bob" Henshaw, gas corre-lation assistant, and his fami-ly had spent ten days relaxing at Shaw's camp on the Stam-ford Lake. The lake is located between Stamford and Haskell, Texas. While fishing there, they caught three yellow catfish weighing thirteen, twenty and twenty-six pounds. They also caught several channel catfish and more crappie than they knew what to do with. Bob's wife, Jean, was fishing for crappie with a rod and reel, having two hooks on the line, and on several occasions caught two crappie at once.

After returning home, some of Bob's friends began wondering if he were telling them a fish story or if the fishing on Lake Stamford were actually that good.

Several months later a fishing trip to Lake Stamford was planned by Henshaw. "Donk" Pyeatt, Phillips production de-partment, "Wirth" Whitworth, Phillips title section and Jack Monzingo, husband of Bob Monzingo, stenographer in the Western district gas section.

Pyeatt took an extra large ice box and the group agreed that if they did not have it filled by the time they were ready to return, Bob would have have to walk back from Arrangements had been made for lodging, a motor boat and trotlines at Shaw's camp. The group arrived Friday evening, Nov. 14, and were told that two yellow catfish trotlines had been baited and strung for them. These lines were baited with goldfish. It was pointed out that goldfish made excel-lent bait because of the stamina of the fish after being placed on a hook.

The fishermen then proceeded to dip net shad from the lake. of which there was a plentiful supply, to use for bait on channel catfish trotlines. After netting a sufficient amount the group baited two trotlines.

The lines were run early Sat-urday morning, with each yielding a sizeable catch. Three vetlow catfish were caught weighing thirteen, sixteen and seventeen pounds respectively.

Shortly after running the lines, a norther hit, dropping the temperature considerably. The group ran the lines five more times during the period of time from Saturday to Sunday morning. They did not catch any additional yellow catfish but each time caught a number of channel catfish.

After the final run Sunday morning, the group, having almost filled the ice box, decided to return home. During the two days of fishing, they had caught three yellow catfish and thirty channel catfish. The weight of the channel catfish ranged from three-fourth of a pound to five pounds. The total weight of all the fish was apone thing which struck the group as being out of the or-dinary was the fact that no channel catfish were caught on the lines baited with goldfish and no yellow catfish were caught on the lines baited with

The next weekend, Nov. 22, Jack Monzingo made a return trip to the lake to do some duck hunting. After arriving at the lake, Jack decided to bait two trotines with goldfish and see if he could catch anything during the time he was hunting. Jack returned from hunting and ran the trotlines and to his amazement he had to his amazement he had caught nine yellow catfish weighing from fifteen to thirty

These fishermen all agree without any hesitation that there is no other place to fish except Stamford Lake.

of selection pretty confusing. Price is not necessarily guide to quality. Specialists say it pays to look for a label that gives information on fiber content, care needed, color fastness and shrinkage. A sales person whom you know well can give you much helpful information that will assure greater satisfaction and longer

Buying guides and pointers on judging fabric and finishes, selecting suitable styles, sizes and colors, and information on labels have been prepared by extension clothing specialists.
