County Judge Turnbow Will Not Seek Re-Election in Approaching Primaries

In a statement released this week, County Judge Alfred Turnbow who is now completing his third term and eighth year in that office, announced definitely that he would not be a candidate for re-election in the coming prima-

Judge Turnbow's decision leaves the race for the office of County Judge a "wide open" affair, with considerarble speculation as to probable contenders for the county's chief administrative post. Salary of the office is approximately $4,687 annually. The County Judge is elected for a four-year term.

During his tenure of office, ludge Turnbow has become one of Haskell County's best known officials, and enjoys the friendship and acquaintance of a majority of the people in the county. In addition to his official duties, he has been active in community and county civic affairs. He has or is currently serving in numerous capacities with the Red Cross Salvation Army, March of Dimes, Boy Scout fund drives and similar organizations. He was one of the sponsoring organizers of the Kimbrough Memorial Foundation and is also a member of the executive board of the Haskell County TB Association and ex-officio head of the Haskell County Hospital Board.

In announcing his decision not to seek re-election, Judge Turnbow issued the following statement: "To My Friends and the Tax-payers of Haskell County:

"After due consideration, I have decided not to be a candiate for re-election to the office of County Judge, As most of you know, I am now serving my third term, of which my first and second terms were two year terms and the last (Continued on page 10)

Tom Holland Is Candidate For Justice of Peace

Tom Holland, longtime resident of Haskell, who has been Office Deputy in the Sheriff's Department for the past two years, has authorized the announcement of his candidacy for Justice of the Peace for Precinct No. 1, subject to the Democratic primaries. to the Democratic primaries.

Mr. Holland, resident here since

1915 with the exception of time spent in the Army during World War I, has long been associated with Haskell business circles, and enjoys the friendship and acquaintance of a majority of the people in the precinct.

Mr. Holland has never been a candidate for public office before, and bases his decision to seek the office of Justice of the Peace on the belief that he is qualified to handle the affairs of the office in a satisfactory manner.

The experience gained as Dep-uty in the Sheriff's Department has enabled him to become fami-liar with the duties of the office he seeks. He also enjoys the friend-ship and confidence of officers and court officials as the result of his service as a deputy.

Mr. Holland states that he has only one pledge to make in con-nection with his candidacy, and that is if elected to devote his full time and efforts to discharging the duties of the office with fairness and impartiality toward everyone. As time permits, Mr. Holland will endeavor to contact the peo-ple in Precinct 1 in order to discuss his candidacy personally. In the meantime he asks and will appreciate the consideration of the

Poll Tax Payments Lowest on Record

With only four weeks remaining in which to pay the 1957 poll eral Wells, visiting Mrs. Self's patax-a requisite for voting in all 1958 elections-present indications rents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goodare that the county's voting strength this year will be the lowest in win.

At the beginning of the week, fewer than 900 poll tax receipts had been issued, and this figure covered a three-month period, Oct. 1 through Dec. 30. However, January is a peak month for poll tax payments, with at least half the voters waiting until the final month be-

Based on totals for the last election year, 1956, approximately 2,400 potential voters are delinquent in payment of their poll tax. That means that around 100 potential voters must pay their poll tax each weekday during the remainder of January if the 1956 total is reached.

Before passing up the opportunity to pay the 1957 poll tax and thus qualify as a voter, consider the following imortant elections slated Judge S. A. Hughes. this year:

Local and county school trustees.

City officials, a majority to be named in 1958.

Democratic primaries to nominate National, State, district, county and precinct nominees

General election and Constitutional Amendments.

In addition to the above, several special elecitons are almost certain to be held relative to a municipal water supply proposal.

Last, but not least, should any move to integrate local schools develop during the year, the proposition must first be submitted to a vote of the people within the affected school district.

Decisions in all of these matters, and conceivably others of equal importance, will be in the hands of those citizens who pay the 1957 poll tax or are otherwise qualified.

The Trouble With Cotton

Although 1957 will be happily recalled by Texans as "the year the drouth was broken," State Commissioner of Agriculture John White points out that 1957 will also be remembered by everybody in the cotton industry as the "year of trouble."

The trouble with cotton didn't miss anybody. It ranged from the farmer to the processor and on up to the Government.

The farmer suffered more and losts more than anybody. His troubles started back in the spring at planting time, although he certainly didn't complain, because who could complain about rain at that time? But anyway, the rains came and washed out what had been Lemmon. planted or else delayed planting by precious weeks.

When the cotton finally got planted, the farmer thought he had it made. And it did look good for awhile, although it would have helped if some of that spring rain had waited until mid-summer to show up.

The rains did come back, though-at harvest time. And they are still ginning cotton in Texas as a result.

Texas farmers have lost millions of dollars from fallen, lowgraded or ruined cotton. And along with their losses have been equally serious losses throughout the cotton industry. Cottonseed crushers. for intsance, felt losses when normally heavy receipts in the fall failed about 500 bushel of oats and about to show up. Ginners have had a long, drawn-out season with the many lost a buggy which was in the processing difficulties that come with a wet harvest.

Perhaps the most encouraging outcome of this trouble year, for cotton is that U.S. surpluses are expected to be shortened considerably, paving the way for a good market for Texas cotton to come back in 1958.

Highway Business Picking Up

Highway business is picking up. Any member of a highway maintenance crew can tell you but this time it's bad news. Picking hup litter thrown on the highways of the nation costs more than $50,000,000 a year in tax dollars used to clear trash from the highways. In an effort to combat the trash-throwing litterbug in Texas. the Texas Highway Department recently conducted a survey to see Kell's Navy boys, is here from Great Lakes. Ill., visiting friends. if the distribution of litterbags to motorists, as recommended by the He was formerly with Kinnison's national Keep America Beautiful, Inc., and other organizations, would barber shop. reduce the trash problem along Texas highways. A litterbag is a paper sack for stowing away the normal debris which collects in a car or truck during a trip. During a four-month test period. June through September, the highway department distributed 50,000 litterbags to

At the conclusion of the test period, a poll of 200 highway maintenance foremen throughout the state was taken to get their opinion of the litterbag. The fact that very few of the bags were found discarded along the roadside indicated that the bags were being used, emptied, and re-used by the traveling public. Approximately 70 per cent of the foremen were in favor of the litterbag idea for reducing highway cleanups.

The survey clearly indicated that the worst litterbugs were local people, not the out-of-state visitors nor motorists from another area of the state, but local residents who discarded trash, bottles and cans from automobiles and trucks. As one foreman put it, "People will do things at home they wouldn't dare do away from home."

Newspaper headlines recently elling about the transportation jam caused by striking subway workers in New York City seemed a long way from Haskell.

But to some who remember way back when" Haskell had breakdowns in its transit system the New Yorkers had.

Jason W. Smith, local abstractman. Tame as a kitten. Dandy or, recalls the street car line operated in Haskell back around 1910. Built by M. R. Hemphill, who still lives here, the line ran from the W. V. depot through the business section, then out to a lake a few miles northeast of town.

Abstroctor Smith still has some of the street car "tickets" used on the line. A mere kid at the time, "Jake" remembers how he and other youths would sometimes have to walk the two and one-half miles back to town when the gasoline motor of the street car went dead. ### New Coin-Operated Washers Added Facilities at Hammer Laundry mer Laundry in this city, have announced the addition of a May-tag Coin-Operated Laundry to daughter, Mrs. Otis Emore, while their business.

Exansion of the facilities of their modern establishment is in order to offer the people of this section a more selective laundry service, the owners stated.

Twelve new automatic Maytag machines and two new Hammond dryers have been installed in the new section of their laundry. The new units are separated by a partition from the helpy-self laundry. Expansion of their facilities represented an expenditure of more than $5,000 and the commore than $5,000, and the com-bined laundry plant is now one the Staff and Patients in Johnson of the largest and most modern Rest Home. in this section.

They planned to remain here until the body is recovered, Mrs. Ozburn said. A brother of the missing man. Capt. David Seyfarth, jet pilot on duty in England with a unit of the Strategic Air Command, was to return to the U.S. on emergency leave and was expected to

to join his mother here.

Mr. Seyfarth, who had been an engineer with the Katz Oil Company for the past two years, had gone to the lake Sunday for the purpose of retrieving a sailboat he had built and placed in the lake last summer.

The boat had capsized several months ago and Seyfarth had moored it to a marking buoy until he could move it to shore.

He was last seen Sunday about dusk by a Stamford businesswo-man, Ruby Lee Brooks, who has a cabin and boathouse at Veda's Camp. J. R. McDaniel of Stam-ford, who also had a cabin on the lake shore, also noticed Seyfarth about dusk Sunday. He was in the rowboat and apparently was working to remove the mast of the
