

Phillips tops UPT graduates

Capt. John D. Phillips was recognized as the top student in Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 79-07 during wing presentation ceremonies here last week.

A 1973 graduate of Indiana State University, Captain Phillips received the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy, symbolic of his standing as the top all around performer in the class.

The Indianapolis native also garnered the Flying Training

Award, Leadership Award for Section-two and one of four Outstanding Graduate certificates.

Also tabbed as "outstanding graduates" were 2nd Lt. Greg G. Clasen, 2nd Lt. Penny R. Nixon and 2nd Lt. Phillip J. Snoy.

In addition to his selection as an outstanding grad, Lieutenant Clasen copped the Academic Training Award.

Other award winners included Capt. Warren L. Jagodnik, Leadership Award

Section-one; 2nd Lt. Mack K. McCullom, Outstanding Second Lieutenant Award Section-one and 2nd Lt. John M. Heise, Outstanding Second Lieutenant Award Section-two.

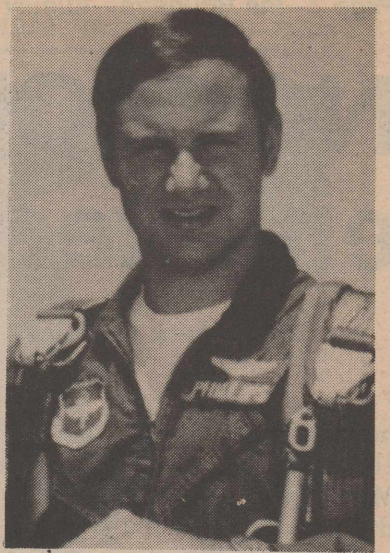

Rounding out the honorees was 2nd Lt. Jose Bravo, Citizenship Award.

UPT Class 79-07 began training on Aug. 30, 1978. The students entered the T-37 phase nearly a month later and started training in the T-38 Talon on Feb. 16.

Class commander for the T-37 phase was Capt. Bruce Edstrom and Capt. Frank Mendez served as class commander for the T-38 phase.

Thirty-one of the grads earned their commissions through the Air Force Academy, five completed ROTC, one was commissioned through Officer Training School, another is a member of the Air Force Reserve and the final graduate is from Iran.

100,000 join base festivities

by Ted Houghton

Last week, nearly 100,000 people gathered to enjoy jets, planes, chili, fiddling, dancing and sun at Reese's largest Open House ever.

Events of the two day celebration included a Civilian fly-in with the Confederate Air Force, a soccer tournament, an officially sanctioned chili cookoff, an ol' fiddlers contest, model rocket and radio controlled model airplane demonstrations. There was also a van show, a pancake breakfast, the Air Force Drill Team, the Navy parachute team Leapfrogs, and a barbecue dinner and street dance with music provided by the Air Force's Dimensions In Blue.

The whole affair climaxed Sunday with the spectacular air show of the Air Force Thunderbirds before a record breaking crowd.

The High Fliers of Shallowater with head cook Doug Hutchinson took first place for the best tasting chili at the First Annual Official Reese Air Force Base Chili Cookoff. Second place went to Wayne Hill's T.B.F.C.I.T.W. team from Odessa. Third place went to Lubbock's Miller Girls with chief cook Bill Turner.

In the Showmanship division first place went to the Ball Bustin' Chili team of Midland, Texas. Second place went to the 64th Student Squadron's Subterranean Chili team and the Official Chili Conasewers of Lubbock took third.

Weldon Turpin of Lubbock walked away with first place prize money in the Ol' Fiddlers Contest. O.P. McCall of Slaton came in second.

The Jolly Rodgers of Lubbock won the four-team soccer tournament held Saturday.

Morale, Recreation and Welfare spokesman Jack Hood said that concessions sales at the Open House proved successful not only for MWR, but for all organizations involved. The money will go a long way in financing many base activities in the coming year, he said.

NCO Club offers enlisted benefits

by CMSgt. Frank Guidas Jr.

One of our benefits as enlisted members is the opportunity to join the Enlisted Open Mess. Membership is voluntary and the dues are very nominal.

During the past nine months "The Club" has become one of the most solvent in the command. This means that management can give more to the members.

Some of the freebies include membership night the last Monday of each month with a minimum of three meat entrees. Drawings are also held that night and some recent prizes were a stereo and television. Other freebies are bar snacks on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; and free coffee and tea.

Other activities include pinochle and dart tournaments, pool tables, widescreen TV, and bingo. Buy-one-get-one-free steak night is each Thursday — a bargain price.

The club also has a wives' club that is starting to grow. Their main purpose is charity; however, they also have social events and are sincerely interested in welcoming enlisted wives to the area.

This month "The Club" has scheduled 10 nights of live entertainment. If you haven't been there lately or are new on Reese, please check out "The Club." I strongly believe it's well worth it.

Club feast

NCO Club members dig into the special buffet laid out by the management during Membership Night at the Club. It was the first of two feasts presented by the NCO Club in recent weeks. Sunday, enlisted members of the Thunderbirds, AF Drill Team and other Open House performers were honored by the NCO Club with an "after the show" dinner. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Flightline radios

Running the flightline requires that we have radios and vehicles at all times.

My question is, "How is it that our vehicles are continually in the motor pool?" One of the vehicles that I am referring to has been in the motor pool since February and we are continuing to have a radio problem and I would like to know why we have vehicles over there for parts that could be bought downtown.

We do not have the equipment we need to comply with mission requirements.

Dear Broken:

Without more specific information it is difficult to substantiate this complaint. Of the vehicles now in the shop deadlines for parts, an OMS multi-stop has been in the longest (since May 31).

As a matter of general information, practically all parts for general purpose vehicles are purchased from downtown. Additionally, the older a vehicle gets, the longer it takes to obtain replacement parts; despite this, our deadline rate has been good; only two to three percent.

Gym closes early

According to Reese Bulletin #49, dated June 28, the gym was supposed to be open July 4 from noon to 6 p.m.

I called up the night before, on July 3 and asked them if the hours were correct and they told me yes.

I drove 12 miles from town to utilize the facilities, got there at approximately five minutes after four and the gym was already shut down, and on the gym door was a sign stating that the gym's hours of operation for July 4th were noon - 4 p.m.

I am really steamed and want to know why it was closed early without any notice whatever.

Dear Steamed:

The gym will have to "bite the bullet" on this one.

In the past the operating hours for holidays was noon to 4 p.m. This was extended to 6 p.m. starting with this Fourth of July; however, through an oversight, the man on duty was not notified of the change.

The gym apologizes for the inconvenience you were caused and will make every effort to prevent a recurrence of this nature.

Chief McCoy outlines his goals

Quality of Air Force life and efforts to "inject the influence of enlisted men and women into programs that will improve retention and keep our people on board" will be major concerns of the new chief master sergeant of the Air Force.

CMSgt. James M. McCoy, who took the top enlisted Air Force job on Monday, said, "We use the term benefits. I prefer to use the term compensation because I feel that we're being compensated with good medical care and the commissary and BX privileges for the long hours we put in, the lengthy TDYs and extensive PCSs that make the military life the way it is.

"I feel that these compensation areas are very important and we should strive to continue to keep them so we can continue to keep our people."

Speaking from the vantage point of 28 years of service and as the father of eight children, Chief McCoy believes his military career has been a tremendous advantage to his family.

"Right now I have to pull my two youngest, a junior and sophomore in high school, out of the school system they have gotten used to. The older they get, the harder I find this is to do. But by the same token, they've been able to look at this as a tremendous learning experience. . . meeting different people living in different societies in different countries.

"People say that it's hard to maintain a career and maintain a family life—I don't agree with that. I think there are a great many ways that you can maintain a strong family life even with your military career."

Today's airmen look at life in a different manner than when he came in the service in 1951, Chief McCoy believes.

"It's not just in the military, but society itself has changed. We're in a different, a more permissive society. But I don't want to go back to those times often referred to as good old days.

"I think our young recruits of today, and I've been privileged to spend a lot of time with them recently, are most impressive.

"They feel a need to serve. They're better educated. They ask questions. They listen but they also ask. I think that's good, healthy."

Getting ahead in the Air Force is a one-step-at-a-time process, Chief McCoy feels.

"You have to set goals and initiatives. You've got to be able to try your best and get into the areas where you feel you can contribute to the life style of the total military force.

"Get as much education as you possibly can, not only in professional military education but academics as well. Take advantage of every opportunity."

Chief McCoy added another goal. "I just want to make the Air Force a whole lot better and greater place to live and work in so that this great country of ours can enjoy the freedom that we've been able to enjoy for so many, many years."

Airman of month

AB Carmen Jalocha, Reese Hospital, fills a syringe while working in the Hospital Emergency Room. Despite being stationed at Reese only two months, she has already made quite an impression on people here. Airman Jalocha has been selected as the 64th Flying Training Wing Airman of the Month. Making the award even more unusual is that she was able to gain the recognition after arriving here on a direct duty assignment from Lackland. (U.S. Air Force photo)

President urges CFC donations

President Jimmy Carter has asked for support in the upcoming Combined Federal Campaign, scheduled Sept. 10 through Oct. 19.

This year's goal for the South Plains area, which includes Reese and local federal employees, has been set at $120,000. That is nearly $2,000 more than collected during the 1978 campaign, a record effort that netted 131 percent of the South Plains target.

"Federal government employees traditionally have responded generously in aiding those less fortunate than ourselves. Particularly noteworthy have been the tremendous compassion and support we have demonstrated through our contributions to the Combined Federal Campaign, noted the President.

"Once again, this yearly opportunity to support the services of voluntary health and welfare agencies, including the United Way, The American Red Cross, National Health Agencies and International Service Agencies, by participating in the Combined Federal Campaign is upon us. These agencies help make our community a better place in which to live; they alleviate pain and suffering, and seek cures from dreaded diseases; they bring hope to those in overseas lands, and reinforce a sense of security in the aged, infirm and handicapped.

"In the spirit of neighborliness, we will continue our tradition of generosity and concern for others through contributions to the Combined Federal Campaign. I am confident of your support," concluded President Carter.

Panel studies pay-cap effects

Impact of the current 5.5 percent pay cap on junior and career military personnel and its effect on recruiting will be examined by a top-level Pentagon study group.

In announcing the new pay study, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown said, "Military pay systems are not and should not be static."

services study group on military compensation.

Pirie said his group would look into incentive pays and the general level of military compensation.

He pointed out that the pay of recruits has slumped from 115 percent of the minimum wage in fiscal year 1975 to 83 percent this fiscal year.

The manpower secretary said his study group should wind up its evaluations this fall, but noted that recommendations would be too late for this year's annual pay raise in October. They would be proposed for 1981.

Hospital advises checking boosters

Texas State Law requires that all children entering the first grade must have received an entire complement of vaccinations prior to the beginning of the school year.

The Reese Hospital is urging all military parents to check their children's shot records to insure they are up to date. If unable to read the records, they may be brought to SSgt. John Compton or SSgt. Ginger Minnis at the hospital.

Required vaccinations are a diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus booster and a polio booster since the age of four. A combined measles, mumps and rubella shot is also required and should be given at around age 15 months.

Parents are urged to bring their children into the immunization clinic early to avoid the pre-school rush. Clinic hours are 7:30-noon Monday-Friday and 1-4:15 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

These diseases still account for a lot of illness and a number of deaths each year. They needn't. When diseases can be prevented through such a simple procedure as vaccination, no child should face the needless risk of remaining unvaccinated.

Any questions regarding immunizations may be directed to Sergeants Compton or Minnis at 885-4571, ext. 288.

Camp Blue Yonder gets underway Monday

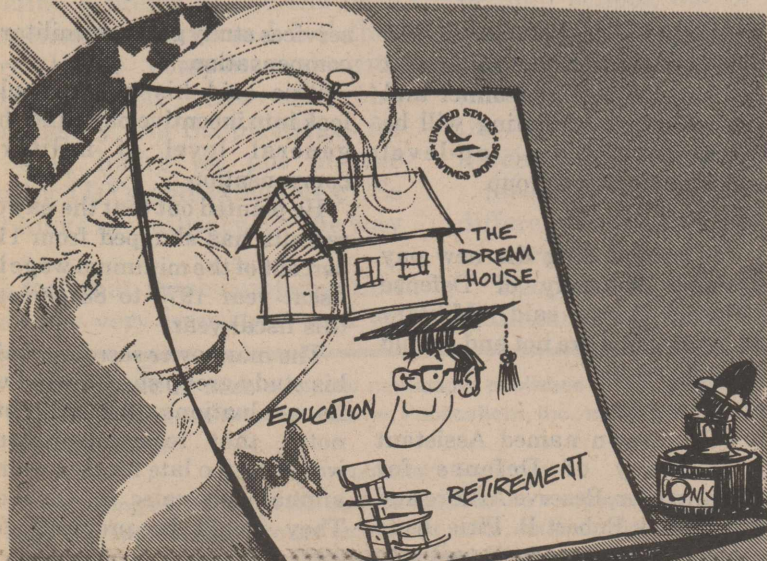

Camp Blue Yonder, Reese summer camp program for disadvantaged youth, opens Monday with approximately 40 boys expected to attend the week-long event.

The special camp, in its fourth year, provides summer recreation and education for area youth, who for one reason or another, would not have been able to attend a civilian run camp elsewhere.

During the camp, Reese visitors will receive complete physicals and health care advice, tour several base facilities and enjoy a wide range of recreational activities.

On Aug. 20, an equal number of girls are expected to attend the second phase of Camp Blue Yonder.

ADV. School registration set for St. Elizabeth - St. John Neumann

Registration for the fall term for St. Elizabeth-St. John Neumann Catholic School has been set for Friday, August 24, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the school cafeteria. All parents who have pre-registered their children are asked to come sometime during the day in order to bring records up to date and pick up supply lists. Immunization records must be complete in order for students to begin school.

First day of school will be Monday, August 27, with half-day sessions through Tuesday, August 28. Full days will begin Wednesday, August 29, for grades two through six. The first grade will meet half-days all week, in order for the teacher to make home visits. Wednesday, August 29, will also be the first day for pre-K and Kindergarten children.

For parents who have not yet pre-registered their children, and wish to do so, the following vacancies exist: Pre-Kindergarten (child must be 4 years old by September 1 - this class meets five mornings a week from 8:20-11:30.); a new class is being opened for third and fourth grade; and a few vacancies exist in 5th and 6th grades. If parents are interested in any of these vacancies, they are asked to call the school as soon as possible, at 799-4788, or 799-1720.

St. Elizabeth-St. John Neumann Catholic School will offer after-school programs each day which include: gymnastics, ballet, guitar, Spanish, Boy and Girl Scouts, as well as a unique fine arts program offered by artists from Texas Tech. The after-school programs are open to the public.

The Reese AFB Optometry Clinic, headed by Dr. Robert Crane, will conduct eye-screening for all St. Elizabeth-St. John Neumann School students at the school the mornings of August 27 and 28, from 8:30-noon.

Free bus service to and from Reese Village is provided by Reese A.F.B. Parents desiring this service must submit a letter requesting this service to the Base Education Office. More details may be obtained by calling the school office. ADV.

95 non-selectees get chance to stay in AF

Ninety-five active-duty Reserve captains, slated for involuntary separation this year, have been selected to remain on active duty. This includes one captain from Reese.

The action follows the captains' second non-selection for promotion to temporary major by the recent promotion board.

The selective continuation program helps the Air Force meet requirements and permits some officers to continue to a 20-year retirement. The board convenes in conjunction with the temporary major promotion board.

This year officers in all specialties were eligible. Those in specialties such as pilot, navigator and engineering had a better chance for selection because of greater needs in those career areas.

The board's decision enables these officers to continue serving for at least three more years in a commissioned status. If not subsequently promoted, the continued officers will be evaluated by another board in their third year of continuation.

While the Air Force cannot guarantee continuation to retirement, current projections show a continuing need for officers selected under this program. Officials emphasize that if duty performance is good, it is their intention to keep officers on active duty until eligible for retirement. They expect the program to continue for the foreseeable future.

The selective continuation program is voluntary. Those selected who ask to be continued will be; those who do not will be separated and receive readjustment pay, if eligible. Those who accept continuation will remain eligible for promotions, assignments and schooling under the same terms as other officers.

Reese installs energy savers

Refrigerated air conditioners in Reese Village may be shut off for 10 to 15 minutes the next couple of weeks because of an energy saving device that is being installed.

Work is expected to start today.

The device is a radio controlled unit that will help Reese reduce peak load charges for electricity. What it will do is prevent more than 75 percent of the Reese Village units from running at the same time.

According to a Civil Engineer spokesman, the device will shut off individual air conditioning units for only a few minutes at a time. By alternating down time from one home to another, officials say that occupants should notice little difference from normal operation.

The radio control project will take two to three weeks to complete. Additional work will have to be done later when the rest of the Reese Village units have been converted from evaporative cooling to refrigerated air.

Filters cause problems

Air conditioning units in Reese Village have been the subject of several service calls this summer, but, according to Civil Engineering spokesmen, the majority of the problems can be corrected by some minor maintenance.

The number-one problem seems to be dirty filters in the air conditioners. These filters need to be cleaned about every two weeks and can be cleaned with warm soapy water.

If the metal filters are worn beyond use, Village residents should take the old filters to the Base-U-Fix-It-Store (building 552) and exchange them for new ones at no charge.

CE officials remind housing occupants that maintenance of the filters is their, the resident's, responsibility.

Carpool program moving

One-hundred-seventy-seven people are currently signed up for the Reese carpool program.

Maj. Roy Markle says that interested people may still register by picking up an application at their unit orderly room or the wing comptroller's office. A new list will be compiled when enough new names are added.

C-5As fly oil pump to Alaska
 Air Force C-5A aircraft are flying components of an entire 100-ton oil pumping station from Columbus, Ohio, to Dead Horse, Alaska, to speed Alaskan pipeline production and increase the nation's domestic oil flow before the onset of winter.

Once the 11 sections of the pump reach Dead Horse, they will be trucked to a site 65 miles from the pipeline's northern end at Prudhoe Bay. When the pump goes into operation, expected in late November, an additional 160,000 barrels a day will be piped into the Alaskan pipeline for American consumption.

The Department of Transportation requested airlift from the Department of Defense because of the critical energy situation and the short Alaskan construction season.

Youth sports sign-up
 Registration is now underway at the Youth Center for youth soccer, flag football and bowling. For information on ages, cost, and starting dates call the Youth Director at Ext. 3820.

Sunday school
 Protestant Sunday School will not be held at the base Chapel until Sept. 9.

Registration begins for all students, three years old through adult, on Aug. 26. The early registration date is necessary so that the Chapel staff can arrange for classrooms and allow the teachers time to prepare for the fall classes.

Pool closing
 The base gym has announced that the swimming pool near the Officer's Club will close to public swimming this summer beginning Monday. The Rec Center pool will remain on a regular schedule.

Outstanding check rides
 Three officers in the 35th Flying Training Squadron earned outstanding ratings on their Final Contact Check Rides.

They were: 2nd Lt. Lee Hanson, E-Flight; and 2nd Lt. Gary Haskins and 2nd Lt. Joseph Fusco, A-Flight.

Chief Gaylor bids farewell
 As the time approaches for CMSgt. James M. McCoy to assume office, retiring Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Robert D. Gaylor offered the following message to all Air Force members.

"The support received from commanders and especially senior enlisted advisors made my job easy and enjoyable. We have a great Air Force with concerned people, and my wife, Selma, and I will miss the interaction available to us over the past two years. But we still own stock in the Air Force and will continue to make our contributions in every way. "Best wishes for good health and happiness."

Space-A applicants must be on leave
 People applying for space-available travel must be on leave when they sign up.

The provision that leave can be valid three days before or after the effective date shown on the AF Form 988 is an administrative measure, say Air Force officials.

It is designed to reduce paperwork when service members, due to events beyond their control, must begin leave before or after the effective date. Applying for space-A travel is not an event beyond one's control.

Commissary schedules third anniversary sale

A one-month sale celebrating the third anniversary of the Air Force commissary service gets underway here Wednesday.

According to Reese Commissary officials, nearly every supplier of goods here will be participating in the sale. Most sale items will be discounted 15 percent or more.

Past sales began the first working day of October and ran through the month. The change was made so stores could better prepare for the annual event.

"We found that, as a result of the fiscal year beginning on Oct. 1, some of our stores were not prepared for the sale. Their stocks were low," said Maj. Gen. Charles E. Woods, Air Force Commissary Service commander.

"It is believed that a $2 million savings for the commissary patrons could be seen as a result of the sale. The anniversary sale is a good opportunity for customers of Air Force commissaries to obtain special savings over the normal low commissary prices on a large number of products," the general stated.

Fall courses set here

Reese's Education Office now has the fall schedules for South Plains College, Wayland Baptist College, Texas Tech and Lubbock Christian College.

There are also limited numbers of catalogs available. Those students using Tuition Assistance should pick up their forms and get them completed prior to registration.

The Education Office has several ECI tests which are about to expire. These tests expire one year from the date of enrollment unless an extension is received. Students enrolled in an ECI course over a year ago who have not taken the end of course exam must do so before ECI cancels their enrollment. Students not planning on taking their tests should inform the Education Office.

For information on either of the above items, call the Education Office at Ext. 3469 or 3634.

Heise captures command title

Long driving Kevin Heise carded a 72-hole 292 last weekend to capture the Air Training Command golf crown and end a two year title drought for Reese.

Heise, the former captain of the Air Force Academy golf team, opened with a one-under par 71 and then shot 75-72-74 to win the open crown.

It was the first time since 1977 that Reese was won an ATC championship in an athletic competition. The last Reese victory came in the Almost Anything Goes contest.

Famed for his rocket drives (earlier this year Heise qualified for the national driving championships in Dallas), Heise led Reese to second place finish in the team standings, five shots behind Sheppard AFB, Texas.

Open teammate Mike Mahan shot a 314 while handicap players Phil Davidson (340), Ron Biddle (321), Coy Martin (334) and Bob Perry (314) rounded out the team scoring.

Steals ball

A member of the Reese Rattlers slides past a Jolly Rogers player during last weekend's soccer tournament here. Reese tied the eventual tournament winning Jolly Rogers 1-1.

Rattlers falter in own tourney

Despite playing "dead even" with two of the three teams they faced, the Rattler soccer team could fare no better than third place in their own soccer tourney here last weekend.

Playing with several key players injured and a couple more absent, the Rattlers scored only three goals in three games. They tied tourney winner Jolly Rogers 1-1 and matched that effort against Lubbock United.

But the Rattlers lost to Mellow Yellow Taxi, 2-1. Ironically, the varsity squad lost on the field to the only team the Rattlers beat in the final standings.

The standings were determined by North American Soccer League scoring rules.

Providing the offense for the Rattlers were Bruce Schaffer, Jeff Olinger and Greg Schultze. Each scored a goal in the tournament.

Sports in brief

IM tourney

Organizational Maintenance Squadron dominated intramural slow-pitch softball action throughout the regular season. But, with post-season play barely started the pre-tourney favorites find themselves backed into a corner.

OMS was upset 12-7 in Monday night's opening game by the Security Police, the last team to qualify for a spot in the playoffs. Heading into the tournament opener the Security Police weren't even a .500 team, posting a 10-11 mark in regular season action.

In other Monday night games, the Medics the 54th and the Civil Engineers all advanced to the second round of the winner's bracket. The Medics beat Supply, 13-6; the 54th downed Resource Management, 14-5; and CE dropped Field Maintenance, 13-10.

Cross country race

The Texas Team Cross Country Race will be held at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, Oct. 13 at 9:30 a.m.

Two divisions, military and open, will consist of five-member teams composed of any mixture of men and women.

Individual awards will be presented to the top three teams in each division. Teams will be scored on basis of sum of members finishing places.

Entry forms may be obtained by writing:

Texas Team Cross Country Open, c/o Shawn Flanagan, 3003 Charles Conrad, San Antonio, Texas 78219.

Racquetball

Stephen H. Gladstone, 1958th Communications Squadron, and his civilian counterpart placed first in last week's Lubbock YMCA Summer Raquetball Hi-Low Doubles Tournament.

Hi-Low Doubles Competition pairs an "open" player with a "novice" player. This combination encourages the more experienced player to coach the novice on some of the finer playing techniques. Therefore, the team which can adjust the quickest has the inside track to victory.

In this case, Gladstone proved to be a good coach and his partner, Greg Schneider, a good pupil as the team breezed through the competition to claim the championship.

Youth clinic opens

A special youth golf clinic, designed for those between 11 and 19 years old but open to anyone, will be held at the base golf course each afternoon Monday through Aug. 17 with a tournament for the students set for Aug. 19.

The first three days of the clinic will be spent learning golf skills on the driving range (no charge for range balls). The students will then be divided into foursomes, each with their own instructor, and play the course for the last two days. There will be a token green fee of $1 per person. Clubs will be furnished but everyone must bring their own golfballs.

According to clinic spokesman Kelly Carton, all instruction is free and will be provided by experienced golfers. Parents are encouraged to participate.

For more information about the clinic call Carton at Ext. 3885 or 3884 or Coy Martin at Ext. 3531.

Short putt

Timothy Welch watches his brother Les stroke a putt on the Reese practice green. The youngsters will be among those participating in a special clinic for Reese youth next week. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Rattlers finish third in ATC regional play

Player-coach Tom Herns seventh inning single led Reese to a 5-4 win over Laughlin and third place in last weekend's Air Training Command Central Division playoffs.

After dropping the opening game to Lackland (the eventual tourney champs), 7-1, Reese jumped on Laughlin pitching for four runs in the third for a two-run lead.

Roy Emerson got things started in the inning with a one-out single. Ron Benevides flied out and then Gil Gonzales tripled home Emerson. Herns scored Gonzales with a RBI single setting the stage for the big blow of the inning.

With two and one aboard, designated hitter Jim Hone drilled one out of the Warhawk field giving Reese a 4-2 lead.

Laughlin cut the lead to one run in the fourth and tied the game in the top of the sixth.

In Reese's half of the seventh, Benevides stroked a one-out single to open the door for Reese. Gonzales flied out, but Herns ripped his game winning single to eliminate Laughlin from tourney play.

Reese lost to Randolph, 5-0, in their next and final game.

The final standings had Lackland on top, Randolph second, Reese third and Laughlin fourth.

Emerson and Herns led the Rattler offense batting .444 and .375 respectively through the tournament.
