Oil price decline stirs questions, 'pure panic'

In a week of trading the price of crude oil on the spot market dropped from almost $26 per barrel to slightly over $21 per barrel The graph above shows the price between Monday, Jan. 13, and today. In London, the price dropped below $20.

From Staff and Wire Reports

As crude oil prices continued a precipitious decline to breach the $20 mark for the first time in a decade on world markets, analysts and observers around the world and in the Permian Basin are still trying to understand what happened and what

Edward L. McClelland, vice president and economist for RepublicBank Corp., Dallas, said it was simply too soon to determine what factors caused the steep decline that dropped the price for West Texas Intermediate by more than $4 per barrel in a a week. "Some of the sales may be pure panic. We'll have to wait for things to settle to really find out what is happening in the market, and that may take from two weeks to two months. What we are seeing here may be just a ripple effect of what is really happening in the market.

McClelland said the price drop had been in the wings for sometime, but he had thought it would be more orderly. "I thought there was about a 20 percent chance of rapid decline, such as we have had, and a 60 percent chance of an orderly and

"IF WHAT WE are seeing is pure panic, the chance of the market bouncing back is very good. Sellers will begin to react to the declines," he said. Locally, Tom Wageman, president of Republic-Bank First National Midland, also wondered if the price crash is real or not. "In the words of Casey Stengel: 'We'll know when we know.' We're just going to have to wait and see, and I don't know how long it takes for something like this to settle

Analysts asking 'what's next?'

NEW YORK (AP) - With demand for petroleum weak as supplies continue to grow, industry analysts and traders are wondering where the downward plunge of prices will end 'What's to stop it?" Philip Verleger Jr. a Washington based analyst for Charles River Associates, asked on Monday

There's no question there's going to be a rebound said Peter Beutel, an analyst at Rudolf Wolff Futures Inc. "The question is when, and where, and to where?

What you're seeing is absolute utter panic on the financial side of the market," said Steven Smith, an analyst for Data Resources Inc. an economic research firm in Lexington, Mass. William Randol, an oil analyst at the investment firm First Boston Corp called the price trend "great news for consumers," adding that he said he expected the price of crude to dip below $20 by mid-April

At Data Resources, Smith pointed out that for the impact to be significant, it would have to consist of a composite drop of the prices of all oil used by refineries from all sources.

December figures show less local joblessness

BY MELLA MCEWEN Business Oil Writer

Midland's employment picture brightened some during the month of December, as both the unemployment rate and the total number of unemployed fell

According to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission, the unemployment rate fell from 4.4 percent in November to 41 percent in December, and total unemployment fell from 2,800 to 2,600. Odessa also had an improved unemployment rate, with the unemployment rate slipping from 51 percent to 49 percent in December

However, the labor force also fell, according to TEC figures Midland's civilian labor force fell from 64,300 to 63,700, and total employment dropped from 61,500 to 61,100. "We saw the labor force shrinking slightly, and everything else shrunk too.

He attributed the lower unemployment rate to the hiring of temporary retail workers for the Christmas season, a trend that began in November. The drop in the labor force was due to a "continued tightening of belts in this area, which is not all that unusual at the end of a fiscal year. And part of it is that people have sought work elsewhere, probably after looking here for a period of time." Burke said "The petroleum industry is still not doing real well, with mergers and everything Some companies are hiring, and some are laying off, and I'd say the layoffs are outstripping the hiring. Midland continued to follow a statewide trend of lower unemployment. The state unemployment rate fell from 6.5 per cent in November to 6.3 percent in December, while the national rate remained stable at 67 percent for a second month.

Teachers' group determined White won't win term

BY STEVE LEVINE

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Like the ABC (Anybody But Carter) campaigners of 1978. Texas' second-largest teachers group has targeted a candidate for defeat: Gov. Mark White, they say, must not win re-election.

Top officials of the Association of Texas Professional Educators say they have put up with a lot - competency testing, paperwork, classroom discipline problems - in the name of the school reforms White supports. But the governor's suggestion last week that teachers should face drug testing "is the final straw," said W.L. Holt of Haskell, chairman of the ATPE's Legislative Commit-

"Teachers cannot - no, will not - continue to be pawns in the games of this political opportunist," Holt said

When the ATPE board of directors meets next weekend, it will take "some action" to back up the displeasure with White two of the group's committees have expressed, Mike Morrow, ATPE executive director, said Monday. That would mark AT-PE's first foray into the political arena, Morrow added.

'First, he says education is the reason for a $3.6 billion tax bill of which we only recieved $800 million," Hazel Moye of McAllen, chairman of the ATPE Educational Policy & Curriculum Committee, said of White,

"Second, he claims we're all illiterate until proven otherwise by a basic skills test. Now he plants the seed that we're all drug addicts until we teachers, except in those infrequent instances where there is some obvious outward evidence of drug abuse

impairing job performance," he said. "I do stand by my statement that Texans demand and deserve a drugfree work place - whether that be in private industry, a state agency or Morrow said the teachers were just reacting to the governor's words as the press presented them. "They felt the perception of what the governor said was more than what professional people ought to have taken," he said.

The governor is expected to announce his re-election plans later this week from a Houston classroom. White aides say they expect him to stress his education-reform record as a top campaign issue.

Morrow said he hopes White continues to talk about the public schools. "For the governor to get up and say, 'All is well,' ... is wrong," he said. "We'll be in the papers every week" pointing out the "turmoil, confusion and chaos" the education reforms have caused Also upset with White, two other education groups plan to get in-volved in the 1986 gubernatorial race. The Texas High School Coaches Association has criticized White for his strong support of the controversial no-pass, no-play rule, while the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals complains that the school reforms stripped teachers and principals of the discipline tools they need to control their class-

Hormel workers told to stay home until Guardsmen secure strike area

AUSTIN, Minn, (AP) — Dozens of National Guardsmen, riot clubs in hand, stood shoulder-to-shoulder facing angry, jeering strikers outside Geo. A. Hormel & Co.'s flagship plant today, and company officials told workers to stay home until the area

Gov. Rudy Perpich activated about 600 Guardsmen on Monday after local officials requested help in controlling the strikers.

Union members and their supporters had blocked plant gates with their cars and pickup trucks Monday and yelled "scab" at people entering the $100 million meatpacking plant, which reopened Jan. 13. Police Chief Donald Hoffman said a pickup truck leaving the plant was struck by a bullet Monday, and a Hormel photographer was kicked.

Klan member enters governor's race

By STEVE LEVINE Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The grand dragon of a Texas Ku Klux Klan group en tered the race for governor Monday, calling for public school segregation and tighter controls over the Texas-Mexico border.

Charles Lee, a 31-year-old Hous ton printer and grand dragon of the White Committee of the KKK in Texas, told reporters he will run a write-in campaign leadership in both parties has gotten away from the white majority," Lee said. "I feel they worry more about the interests of minorities than they

He said he plans to run an active campaign until November, with two busses touring the state with his message. "We're going to take the campaign to the people."

Lee called the state's public education system "worthless" and a waste of money. "The problem we have is that we've lowered the standards in our public schools so that all minorities and whites can pass equally, therefore a lot of them are coming out where they can hardly read or write," he said.

"What we need to do is segregate our schools in the state of Texas and let each student, each minority learn at their own pace. Whites have a higher learning ability."

Lee said the state should "seal off" its borders with Mexico to stop the flow of drugs, illegal aliens and weapons. "People are fed up with the leadership we have here," he said.

"They're fed up with the crime we've got here. They're fed up with illegal aliens taking Texans' jobs. They're fed up with drugs being pushed to their kids. All this is coming across their borders and (Gov.) Mark White is doing nothing about Complaining that gays have become a potent political force in Houston, Lee said he favors quarantining AIDS patients and closing down gay bathhouses.

White rebuked his newest opponent. "The KKK announcement just confirms my suspicion that my real opponents in this race are going to be ignorance and superstition,"

White said in a printed statement.
"It is particularly inappropriate on this special day have a proper statement. this special day honoring the memo-ry of Dr. Martin Luther King for anyone to suggest that we re-segre-gate our schools and slam the door on the dream of equal educational opportunity for all our children."

The grand dragon said other Klan organizations had planned rallies to protest the first obserervance of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday Monday but said he did not plan his announcement to coincide with that observance.

"It's just a coincidence," he said.

confirm that an American Eagle airliner tried to help Rick Nelson's DC-3 plane but the aircraft went down and was engulfed in flames before the second airliner could reach it, a Dallas television station reported. The pilot of Nelson's plane radioed air traffic controllers that there was "smoke in the cockpit," WFAA-TV reported Monday night, quoting transcripts of the conversation.

DALLAS (AP) — Tape recordings

Pilot Brad Rank told controllers at the Fort Worth Air Route Control Center that the DC-3 could not make it to an airport 20 miles away in Texarkana on Dec. 31, the station reported.

Nelson's plane was en route to Dallas for a New Year's Eve concert when the plane crashed near De Kalb.

Nelson, 45 and his fiancee 27-yearold Helen Blair died in the crash. Also killed were hand members Bobby Neal, 38; Patrick Woodward, 35; Rick Intveld, 22; Andy Chapin, 20; and sound man Clark Russell, 35. Rank and co-pilot Keith Ferguson survived. Transcripts show controllers were having trouble understanding Rank's transmissions, so the nearby American Eagle plane acted as intermediary and relayed Rank's conversation to controllers.

The Federal Aviation Administration was expected to release official transcript copies and tapes of transmissions between Rank and the FAA controller at the center today.

A duty officer at the FAA building in Fort Worth said he did not know how the station obtained the transcripts, and said officials were not available for comment. He said from what he had heard, the station's account was accurate.

The station reported the controller asked Rank if he could land at an airport in Texarkana or Mount Pleasant, but the pilot said he couldn't.

Rice farmers fined $500

BEAUMONT (AP) - Nineteen Chambers County rice farmers were fined $500 after pleading guilty to a federal wildlife charge of using an illegal pesticide, bringing to 72 the number of farmers fined in the area.

During 1981 and 1982, the farmers attempted to kill birds feeding on their rice seed by treating the crop with the pesticide aldrin, which has been virtually banned since 1974.

U.S. Magistrate Earl Hines charged the 19 Southeast Texas farmers Friday. Three more farmers have charges pending.

Five companies and individuals that illegally sold the pesticide aldrin have been fined as much as $50,000 and given probated jail terms.

Lesotho's new leaders request border concessions

MASERU, Lesotho (AP) — South Africa maintained its clampdown on people and freight entering Lesotho today and members of Lesotho's new ruling military council flew to South Africa to seek a relaxation of border restrictions

Paramilitary commander Maj. Gen. Justin Lekhanya, who ousted Prime Minister Chief Leabua Jonathan in a bloodless coup Monday, apparently is seeking more amicable relations with South Africa which surrounds this poor, mountain

Maseru was calm today with government offices and fruit and vegetable markets open as usual. Soldiers stood in small groups at intersections along Kingsway, the main street, but residents reported no troop patrols Lekhanya, in his first statement to the nation since the coup, said today on Lesotho radio, "As we begin a new path toward true national reconciliation, I humbly implore them (government workers) to render service to all members of the public .... with respect, humility and without discrimination.'

Jonathan, who led Lesotho since its independence from Britain in 1966, angered South Africa by opposing its racial segregation policies. He caused further controversy by his authoritarian rule and by turning to the Soviet bloc for aid.

Three weeks of delays at border posts, caused by South African guards who said they were searching for ANC members and weapons, appeared to have been a factor in bringing about the coup. Lesotho was reported last week down to a

Lesotho officials said a train carry-

But a South African government spokeswoman, who refused to be further identified, said in Cape Town, "The status of the border remains unchanged." She said letting the two trains in did not mean the border crisis was over. On the South African side of the Maseru border post, more than 50 parked cars and trucks awaited

A train from South Africa pulled into a siding to be searched. A border guard said it could be four days before the train was cleared.

Tom Moore, president of Clayton W. Williams, Jr. Inc., said the panic in the futures market would not cause him to panic. "We are going forward with our drilling program."

He said there was no way to tell what sets off a steep price decline such as the one seen this week and late last week, but it had been reported two tankers of unsold crude oil setting off the coast of New York may have sparked the action.

"I don't see any real market problems. I think it's mostly panic. When it was $31 in November it was too high. Now at $21, it is too low. If the price does go lower, we are looking for a quick rebound and we expect prices to have returned substantially by the fourth quarter of this year," Moore said.

IN NEW YORK, the sharp declines, which sent the price of crude oil down nearly $2 a barrel on the futures market and more than $2 a barrel on the spot market, astonished analysts and led some to suggest that without action by oil producers or governments oil prices may fall much further, to below $15 a barrel.

"This is one of the most important days in the oil markets in a decade," said Charles T. Maxwell, an analyst with Cyrus J. Lawrence Inc. "It underscores the remarkable contraction that's occurring in the price of oil.'

Maxwell noted that, in less than two months, the price of two of the world benchmark crude oils, the British Brent North Sea and the American West Texas Intermediate, had fallen by $8 and $10 a barrel, respectively, and that the price of crude oil on the futures market had fallen nearly $5 since early last week.

He said that if the price drops continued, they could exert a "tremendous impact" on interest rates in the United States and elsewhere, on the financial stability of debtor nations and their lenders, and on the willingness of Western nations to discuss establishing official prices for crude oil in concert with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

ANALYSTS SAID that the price declines, which began just before the December meeting of OPEC, had been furthered by the West's relatively warm winter thus far, by ample fuel supplies and by continued overproduction of crude oil within and outside of OPEC.

"The market is in a free-fall now," said R. Bryan Jacoboski, a Paine Webber vice president. John H. Lichtblau, president of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, said that "it's difficult to say when the decline will stop because there's no more market discipline; there's too much oil available at the moment, so it's a buyer's

"Prices could go a lot lower," he added, "because they're still way above the actual cost of production in virtually every producing country."

However, analysts said that consumers were not likely to see substantive reductions in prices for heating oil, not only because of the normal lag in the time it takes for lower wholesale prices to appear at the retail level, but also because oil companies and fuel dealers will wait in the hope that there may be cold snaps ahead.

Some energy analysts say that falling crude oil prices should mean declining prices at gasoline pumps. However, Daniel Lundberg, a gasoline retailing expert and president of Lundberg Survey

Inc. of North Hollywood, Calif., said that such developments as the federal lead-phasedown program have made a direct relationship between crude oil and retail gasoline prices tenuous.

The frantic pace of activity - and guessing continued in the oil markets, meanwhile.

This is a time that really requires nerves of steel, for buyers and sellers alike," said Daniel Yergin, president of Cambridge Energy Research Associates. "Oil has become much more like other commodities now. The market is much more volatile, much quicker to react to things like the weather or political developments. Most people in the oil industry aren't used to playing in this kind of a market. They've got to learn fast."

BRENT NORTH SEA crude oil fell to a six-year low Monday when cargoes due to be loaded in April closed at $19.20 a barrel on the spot market, where oil not under contract is traded.

The price on the New York Mercantile Exchange of crude oil for prompt delivery finished at $21.27 a barrel, down $2.26, and prices for future deliveries fell $1, the maximum amount the exchange allows.

Contracts for future deliveries of leaded and unleaded gasoline and heating oil also fell by the exchange's maximum limit of 2 cents a gallon

As it usually does in periods of sharp price move ments, the exchange was to expand the price trading limits for fuels today to $1.50 for crude oil and

3 cents for petroleum products, a spokesman said. Heating oil for prompt delivery closed at 59 cents a gallon, down nearly 5 cents from Friday. Unleaded gasoline and leaded gasoline both ended the day more than 4 cents below their Friday levels, at nearly 60 cents a gallon and nearly 59 cents a gallon, respectively. "The market dropped as much in one day as it did all last week, and last week was one of the worst I remember," said Peter C. Beutel, an analyst in New York with Rudolf Wolff Futures Inc.

In that case, he said, Data Resources estimates that a one-year drop of $5 per barrel would reduce the U.S. inflation rate by one percentage point, while boosting the gross national product six-tenths of a point higher. The GNP is the total value of goods and services produced in the nation.

LOS ANGELES - Bishop Desmond Tutu thanked the people of the United States Monday night for forcing President Reagan to apply sanctions against South Africa

Addressing an overflow crowd at the Bonaventure hotel at the end of the nation's first observance of the birthday of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Tutu said he thanked God for the inspiration provided by King and the American people for the pressures they brought on their government to take action against apartheid in South

"In 1984," the South African clergyman said, "people would have called you crazy if you had said Congress would even be debating sanc-tions against South Africa by 1985.

The Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, the recipient of the 1984 Nobel

Before emergence of the apartheid struggle in South Africa as an international issue, he said, the black community of the United States had become lulled into a sense of

Atlanta parade reunites veterans of civil rights

ATLANTA (AP) - A parade down Peachtree Street featured some old friends from the civil rights movement, arms locked around each other, leading the marchers in honoring Martin Lu-ther King Jr., who became the first black American whose birthday was observed with a federal holiday.

On the podium Monday to honor the slain civil rights leader was Bishop Desmond Tutu of South Africa, the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize winner, while in a convertible was Rosa Parks, whose refusal to give up her seat on a Montgomery, Ala., bus sparked the civil rights movement in 1955.

They, along with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Vice President George Bush and Mayor Andrew Young, were among the 15,000 people attending Monday's parade to honor King. At the front of the march was the mule-drawn cart of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the organization that King founded, carrying some of its old-

Bennett appeals to Soviets to 'raise the iron curtain'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Education William J. Bennett today appealed to the Soviet Union to "raise the iron curtain" and allow American intellectuals, including Bennett himself, to teach in Soviet classrooms and appear on Soviet Bennett said he would welcome a visit in return by the Soviet Deputy Minister of Education, Marina I. Juravleva, to "teach classes on the Soviet system.

He proposed the exchange in a speech prepared for delivery today to the Chamber of Commerce in Kansas City, Mo. A copy of the speech was obtained Monday.

The tough-talking education chief recalled Winston Churchill's famous 1946 speech in Fulton, Mo., in which the British wartime leader declared, 'From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the Continent" of Europe, and warned the Western democracies to stand firm against the spread of communism.

Bennett said the preliminary findings of a new study of American youths found that half of those tested "could not even identify Winston Churchill. Nor could half of them identify Joseph Stalin," the Soviet dictator "For that matter, I am sorry to report that nearly one-third of our 17-year-olds could not say which two nations were our principal enemies in World War II. Indeed, nearly onethird were unable to find Great Britain, West Germany or France on the map," Bennett said.

His examples came from a survey of high school juniors by the federalbacked National Assessment of Educational Progress.

Bennett, who pilloried the American Broadcasting Cos. recently for postponing a fictional television miniseries about a Soviet takeover of the United States, said, "Some of our children can only nod their heads in agreement when confronted with standard Soviet propaganda. They lack the knowledge to recognize it as propaganda, much less to refute it."

"I was amused to read the other day of Soviet officials condemning films like 'Rambo' and 'Rocky' as anti-Soviet propaganda, feeding anti-Soviet hysteria in the United States,' Bennett said.

"Let me challenge my counter-parts in the Soviet Union...Let us go beyond propaganda," he said.

Public colleges boost tuition by average of 7 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sharp increases in tuition at the nation's four-year public colleges and universities helped boost annual total expenses for tuition, room and board to an average of $3,621 for homestate students and $5,553 for non-residents, a new survey shows. This year's average bill of $4,587 for all students is 7 percent higher than in 1984-85, but it still is only about half of what the typical private college charges.

The figures come from a report released Monday by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and the National Association of State Colleges and Universities and Leadation of State Universities and Land-

Grant Colleges.

Tuition alone jumped by 8 percent to $1,278 for students attending college in their home states and by 11 percent to $3,210 for out-of-state

Room and board cost $2,343 at the typical public campus this year, up 5 percent, or $101, over last year.

Texas, for years the home of the nation's least expensive public universities, posted the steepest percentage increases. The Lone Star state raised tuition and fees for residents 57 percent from $446 a year to $701, while out-of-state students saw their bills soar 162 percent from $1,437 to $3,764.

The Texas legislature boosted the cost of higher education in the wake of a budget crunch brought about largely by depressed oil and gas prices.

Louisiana, another state hit by falling energy prices, had the second highest increase in tuition and fees, 27 percent for residents and non-residents alike. That boosted tuition and fees to $1,071 for home-state students and to $2,134 for non-re

Families of hostages have gift for Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The families of six American hostages in Lebanon have a present for President Reagan: a 900-foot yellow cloth ribbon signed by more than 7,200

The families hope to present their gift to top Reagan administration officials as a way of keeping attention focused on the plight of the missing Americans.

We would like to wrap it (the ribbon) around the White House but we know it won't fit," said Tom Anderson, 41, a New York City policeman from Valley Stream, N.Y. He is the cousin of hostage Terry Anderson, the chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press. Tom Anderson said the Anderson family feels a special urgency be-cause Terry Anderson's father,

Glenn, is gravely ill in a Batavia, N.Y., hospital. Terry Anderson was abducted from the streets of Beirut 10 months ago.

During a three-day visit, the families also will go to Capitol Hill and contact the embassies of several Arab nations. They saw Lebanese officials Monday. The enormous ribbon, composed of 3-foot sections sewn together, urges Reagan to work for the "safe and immediate release" of the six

Those who have signed it include Americans from all over the coun-try, as well as Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., and Rep. Raymond McGrath, R-N.Y.

The ribbon was the idea of Heather Lacayo, 16, another Anderson cousin from Santa Rosa, Calif., who started the project last November and convinced Anderson relatives to help collect signatures on cloth. Heather's grandmother, Irma Stewart, sewed them together.

Sue Anderson, Tom Anderson's wife, said she gathered more than 2,000 signatures in her home town. Since 52 Americans were held captive at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran for 444 days in 1979-1981, the yellow ribbon has been a symbol of

The relatives of the hostages have not met here in nearly three months. At their last gathering, President Reagan told them his administration was pursuing "specific initiatives" regarding the hostages.

Tom Anderson said the families are "convinced that our government is working more than they were" to secure the Americans, who are believed to have been kidnapped by extremist Shiite Moslems. The cap-tors say they want the release of 17 comrades held in Kuwaiti prisons.

In Washington, Tom Anderson, a New York City police sergeant, and his wife Sue of Valley Stream, N.Y., display a 900-foot long ribbon with 7,200 signatures urging the president to work for the release of the Americans held hostage in Lebanon.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The first national holiday celebrating the birth of Martin Luther King Jr. came to a close with a three-city, musical finale produced by singer-composer Stevie Wonder and studded with

"This is just the beginning," said Wonder, who has been campaigning six years for national observance of Martin Luther King Day. "It's not just a black holiday anymore."

Simultaneous concerts, produced by Wonder, were taped Monday before live audiences in Washington, Atlanta and New York, then edited in Washington for a two-hour television special broadcast nationally by NBC later in the evening.

Among the performers were Bob Dylan; Peter, Paul and Mary; Bette Midler; Harry Belafonte; Bill Cosby; the Pointer Sisters; Diana Ross; Elizabeth Taylor; Eddie Murphy; Patti La-Belle; Joan Baez; Neil Diamond; Dick Gregory; and Lionel Richie.

Capacity crowds paid $35 to $1,000 a seat to see the shows at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the Atlanta Civic Center and Radio City Music Hall in New York.

Hope in Vietnam

U.S. military forces withdrew from Vietnam and 10 years after the war itself ended, there is finally reason to believe that Hanoi is finally considering coming clean on the matter of the 1,797 American servicemen still listed as missing in action in

That could mean that during the next year or so, the Vietnamese will hand over the approximately 400 sets of remains they have been holding, and lying about, since at least the late 1970s. It could mean permission for teams of U.S. investigators to excavate crash sites and otherwise search for information about the missing in action. And also that an unknown number of Americans who might still be prisoners in Vietnam, Cambodia, or Laos would be coming home

This last possibility is, without a doubt, the most remote. Yet, there have been tantalizing hints recently that not all of the missing are dead. Assistant Secretary of Defense Richard Armitage, having just returned from talks with Vietnamese officials in Hanoi, suggested that as many as 100 Americans might still be prisoners in Indochina.

That view was promptly supported by Assistant Secretary of State Paul Wolfowitz. During a television interview, Wolfowitz disclosed that U.S. intelligence had investigated more than 800 reports, mostly from refugees, of live Americans in Vietnam, Laos, or Cambodia. Of these 800 reports, 95 are still considered both dozen years after the last credible and unexplained, he

These statements add up to the most forthright admission yet by the Reagan administration that Americans may still be prisoners in Indochina. Among those known to agree are Robert McFarlane, who resigned in December as President Reagan's adviser for national security affairs, and retired Air Force Gen. Eugene Tighe, who headed the Defense Intelligence Agency from 1974 to 1981. The agency had, and still has, principal responsibility for investigating reports about American POWs or MIAs unaccounted for in Indochina.

Vietnam's motives for beginning to cooperate after all these years are, obviously, wholly cynical and self-serving. The Vietnamese want American aid, trade, and technology for their impoverished economy. They also want formal relations with the United States, a political achievement that would punch a huge hole in the diplomatic isolation Vietnam has suffered ever since its invasion and occupation of Cambodia in 1978.

The Reagan administration should never sanction Hanoi's aggression and no Congress is ever likely to appropriate a dime's worth of aid for Sovietbacked, communist Vietnam.

Beyond these restraints, though, resolving the POW/MIA issue must be what President Reagan said in 1983 that it would be - a matter of the highest national priority. And all the more so now that there is flickering hope that some American POWs may still be alive.

Bring Goetz to trial

found plausible technical grounds for dropping charges of attempted murder and assault against Bernhard Goetz? Yes. Are they clear or compelling enough to derail a case that has excited such national concern over self-defense? Certainly not.

Unless the appeals courts act swiftly. Goetz will win far more than a legal victory. His critics would finally have to admit he's right about the ineffectiveness of criminal justice.

What went through his mind when he pulled a gun and fired at four young men on a New York City subway train? He said he felt threatened, yet by his own account the four displayed no weapons and announced no robbery. Only their "body language" frightened him. And after he started shooting, he said he became "cold-blooded." Seeing no blood on one victim, he said to him: "You don't look so bad, here's another," and fired

When a grand jury nonetheless indicted Goetz for no more than illegal gun possession, the furor prompted Robert Morgenthau, the Manhattan district attorney, to try again. This time, with victims testifying, he had no trouble getting another grand jury to charge attempted murder and assault.

Now it turns out there was a hitch. The prosecutor told the grand jurors that to find the shooting justified, they would have to find it reasonable. What does reasonable mean? a juror asked. "Consider whether the defendant's conduct was that of a reasonable man in the defendant's situation," the prosecutor as Judge Stephen Crane nocuous statement was legally fatal. The prosecutor's answer suggests a definition of "reasonable" that goes beyond a particular victim's state of mind. But Crane believes self-defense is justified simply because a person feels threatened. Intermediate appeals courts have supported the latter, subjective standard. By endorsing the idea of objectivity, the judge ruled, the prosecutor misguided the grand jury.

To Crane, that seemingly in-

Precision on the law of selfdefense is certainly important when people are tempted to take the law into their own hands. But should it warrant throwing out charges in so important a case? Crane could just as well have written his misgivings into a decision that let the case go forward to trial.

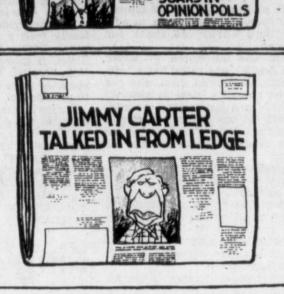

The judge also opened himself to more basic criticism. He raised questions about the victims' truthfulness to the grand jury. His questions arose because a police officer later said he heard one victim say that they had wanted to rob Goetz. Another victim made a similar assertion to a newspaper writer. On what ground does such hearsay make it "strongly appear" that the victims' grand jury testimony was perjured? By saying so, the judge makes a glib leap.

The Goetz case holds enormous potential to instruct the public, nationally, about the law of self-defense. But that result requires the case to come to trial. The long months of preliminaries have only shortened public patience. Normally, to appeal Crane's decision would take more months. If all parties now work to expedite the appeals, however, the trial could take place within weeks. That must be the urgent goal.

Armitage had written a letter on Mrs. O'Rourke's behalf urging the Arlington County Court "to show mercy" after she had pleaded guilty to charges of conducting an illegal gambling operation. She was sentenced to two years in prison with all but 30 days suspended, and is now on probation after serving the 30 days. In the letter to the court, dated June 6, 1985, and typed on Defense Department stationery, Armitage wrote that he had known Mrs. O'-Rourke in the early 1970s, when she ran a restaurant in Saigon. He described her in the letter as "a very successful businesswoman (who) had

Mrs. O'Rourke could not be reached for comment. Her attorney, John Kilcarr, called his client "a small-time, nickel-and-dime gambcommission she was not connected to any organized gambling ring. Kilcarr said she was granted immunity for her testimony to the crime

According to a police report compiled at the time of her October 1984 arrest for running an illegal football pool, "All leads provided by the investigation pointed to ... Nguyet Thi O'Rourke as being the organizer of the gambling operation. Before being placed, all bets had to be cleared by Ms. O'Rourke."

But Mrs. O'Rourke told police she was a go-between. "As the money got more and more, I couldn't cover the bets, so I passed the bets on to bigger people in Washington," her state-ment said. "I would be a middle person and would accept a 10 percent

While awaiting trial, police records show, Mrs. O'Rourke was stopped with another person leaving a high-stakes gambling operation in Silver Spring, Md. The other individ-ual had fired a "Miami Vice"-style machine gun during an altercation with the gambling operators. Mrs. O'-Rourke was carrying $3,850 in cash, according to the records, and Arlington County officials sought to revoke her bond after the incident.

According to court documents, Mrs. O'Rourke came to this country from Vietnam in 1975 with $700,000 worth of valuables from the profits of her restaurant and bar. She told investigators she has lost about $600,000 since then, gambling in Atlantic City.
When Mrs. O'Rourke was arrested, police found records in her home that showed she had taken in $53,000 worth of bets in a single day. Police later searched 12 different residences believed to be involved in the operation and found quantities of money and gambling paraphernalia.

Police records show that $148,879 in gold, jewelry and cash was seized from Mrs. O'Rourke, including 34 $100 bills. A 1975 Porsche 911S Targa was also confiscated.

CHARLEY REESE Sometimes government is better

Tuesday, January 21, 1986 Midland Reporter-Telegram

here's supposed to be a big push this year toward privati-zation which is a fancy way of saying selling off government agencies and assets. The Reagan Administration wanted to sell Conrail, the government-owned freight train service, last year but Congress balked. A lot of conservatives back the idea. The Heritage Foundation, which is a conservative think tank, is especially pushing the idea as a means of reducing the deficit.

Maybe it's a good time to remind these conservatives of one of their own favorite sayings: There's no such thing as a free lunch.

There is a tendency to claim that private enterprise can do anything the government can do, only do it better and cheaper. I'm no friend of big government, but that proposition just isn't so.

Anybody who believes that a private organization is going to provide exactly the same level of services as government, only do it cheaper, ei-ther believes in the Tooth Fairy or believes in deceiving his fellow man for ideological purposes.

I believe, for example, that a private organization can run a jail for less money than government, but in order to do it, they will reduce the level of supervision and security. They have to. Admittedly, some government agencies are overstaffed but not that much. Fixed costs, like energy, food, personnel, and mainte-nance don't just vanish simply because a private contractor takes over a government function. In order to reduce the bottom line, the component costs have to be reduced somewhere.

I'm dead-set against the idea of government hiring private enterprise for a fee to perform a government service. Generally speaking, both the taxpayers and the recipients of the service will be skinned.

Let me tell you about the psychology of the fee business. I was in the advertising agency business for awhile. Suppose you have a client who is paying you a $1,000-a-month retainer for public relations counsel. You don't have to be a Harvard graduate to figure out that the more time you give that client, the less money you make. If you give him only one hour a month, you're making $1,000 an hour. If you give him 10 hours, you're making $100 an hour.

Well, if you pay a corporation a flat fee to run a government service. then the less money they spend providing the service, the more money they can put in their own pockets. They are going to squeeze those dol-lars out of something — service or wages and benefits for their workers or both.

Rural electric programs didn't start because private utilities couldn't provide service to people. They started because private utilities wouldn't provide service because it wasn't profitable to do so for relatively few people scattered over a large area.

Government and private enterprise necessarily operate on two separate principles. The principle of government is that if a service is needed, provide it whether it's economical to do so or not. It's not economical to provide people with a fair trial. Vigilante justice is a lot cheaper, but we pay for these uneconomical trials because we think the moral principle is worth it.

Private enterprise, on the other hand, exists only to make a profit. When it no longer takes in more than it puts out, it ceases to exist. Therefore it will never do anything unprofitable if it can help it. Government can say, "This little town needs train service." A private railroad would say, "Too bad if they do because it's not profitable to provide

Don't get me wrong. I think there are plenty of ways to cut the federal budget. But let's not blur the distinction between government and private enterprise. Let's keep them as separate as church and state. Above all, let's be honest with ourselves and with the people. Let's not tell somebody they're going to get a better deal when in fact they aren't.

Summer summit politically so-so

7 ASHINGTON — Republican political leaders are in a state of quiet rebellion against Secretary of State George Shultz's dictate to hold the second Reagan-Gorbachev summit in June, a date that runs counter to the advice of wily old pro Richard M. Nixon and that once again lays bare the paucity of strategic political planning in the Reagan administration.

At stake is political management of two events fortuitously linked: the Geneva follow-up summit here and the Nov. 4 congressioto give the nal election. No serious planning has taken place and none is in the offing president the benefit of solid political reasons holding the summit spectacular in September, closer to the election.

the To contrary, Robert Novak Shultz appears to have free White House rein to do as he wishes, acting well be yond the reach of mere politicians. Non-politician Shultz, perhaps wary of partisan charges that President Reagan might use the summit for political advantage, wants June — as far from the election as he can get.

Rowland Evans

That ignores this reality: There never has been a summit not drenched in partisan politics. It also betrays the fuzzy focus of an administration that repeatedly shows itself unable to get its act together so that major players pull in the same direction. This is similar to the fuzziness that has cost the president so much disorder from top-level public feuding on how to deal with Palestinian terrorism, resulting in verbal shootouts between Shultz and Defense

Growing discontent of serious politicians over the timing of the summit is a sign that despite his immense clout with the president, Shultz will be getting warnings from Republican heavyweights. Their per-fectly respectable feeling: To hold the week-long summit in June is to throw away a fair and natural cam-

in a closed-door session of White House political advisers last week in Room 248 of the Executive Office Building. Lee Atwater, deputy politi-cal director of the president's 1984 campaign and now a private political consultant with close ties to Vice President Bush, told his colleagues June was premature for the summit. "Very eloquently," according to one participant, Atwater asked those present to work hard to change the president's mind and move the summit to September. There was no

Top White House aides told us that the origin of the June date was the almost haphazard way in which Reagan "mentioned June" when he tossed out his invitation to Gorbachev in the parking lot of the Inter-national Press Center at the end of the Geneva session.

But instead of agreeing to June, Gorbachev has sent unofficial feelers to the White House for a September meeting – exactly what Reagan's political advisers and congressional campaign chiefs want. They correctly minimize the chance of a summit backfire on Reagan, either by Soyiet backfire on Reagan, either by Soviet calculation or by accident. A back-fire against Reagan would not bene-

House Republican campaign chair-man Guy Vander Jagt, never asked by the administration if the date of the Gorbachev visit made any difference to him, wants the Soviet leader here in September ("It's not even a close call," he told us). With the exception of one Senate conservative who fears his anti-Soviet rhetoric might be compromised by a late Reagan-Gorbachev summit, Republicans senators are saying the same thing.

That also happens to be the view of former President Nixon, whose three sessions with then Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev in the mid-1970s ave him the summit record. Nixon has advised Robert Teeter, the Republican polister and political consultant, that "the later the summit the better," arguing that an aura of peace-making is the immediate byproduct of almost every U.S.-Soviet summit. It tends to benefit the president's party and although it never lasts more than a few months, it can be extremely potent for the short

With Shultz pushing June so hard, Reagan, whose normal political reactions are highly instinctive, has apparently not heard much, if anything, about the desires of his party politicians. But he acknowledged to a friend in Palm Springs over the New Year holiday that he could not make up his mind whether he should stick to June or move to a later date.

So long as George Shultz worries about partisan politics raising an ugly head at the summit and keeps control of the president's ear, the timing issue will not get the hearing it deserves. U.S.-Soviet summits have always been the very essence of poli-

South Yemen's capital 'city of death'

Associated Press

Warring Marxist factions in South Yemen reportedly were discussing a cease-fire even as each claimed on radio broadcasts to be in control of the Soviet-allied Arab nation. Refugees said more than a week of fighting had turned the capital, Aden, into a "city of death."

The British Foreign Office in London said today, "It is not at all clear

Marxist factions in the impoverished nation began fighting Jan. 13, apparently after a coup attempt by hard-liners who opposed South Ye-men President Ali Nasser Moham-med's reported desire to liberalize the economy and improve relations with pro-Western Arab countries.

The British Ministry of Defense said its reports suggested spasmodic fighting was continuing.
Official Addis Ababa radio in near-

Mohammed, who was reported to have flown to Ethiopia over the weekend, returned to South Yemen Sunday night, the Bahrain-based Gulf News Agency reported Monday. It quoted reliable sources in San'a, capital of neighboring North Yemen, as saying Mohammed's forces controlled most of South Yemen.

However, both sides claimed to be in charge in rival radio broadcasts carrying 24 of its nationals to safety

Arab diplomatic sources in the Persian Gulf said both sides appeared to be discussing terms of a cease-fire, but no agreement was announced.

The British royal yacht Britannia rescued 15 more Britons today, after over the weekend, according to the Foreign Office in London. It said about 25 Britons still awaited evacuation.

The luxury vessel already has brought 659 people of several dozen nationalities to Djibouti across the Gulf of Aden on the Horn of Africa.

The yacht's commander, Rear Adm. John Garnier, said in a telephone interview with British Broadcasting Corp. radio that he believed about 600 foreign nationals remained in South Yemen and 200 required evacuation.

"This morning we were lying close off the beach at Khormaksar where fighting is still going on. The Soviet Embassy was actually pinned down by rifle fire while we were talking to them," Garnier said.

Diplomats in Djibouti said Soviet ships had evacuated at least 2,000 people. One Iraqi woman who left on a Soviet ship described Aden as a "city of death."

"Blackened, swelling corpses and

Peres: Israel 'serious' about talks with Jordan

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) -Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres says his country has gone "most of the way" toward agreeing with Jordan's King Hussein on the preconditions for Middle East peace talks.

In an after-dinner speech Monday in the 17th-century Dutch Parliament building, Peres said Israel was 'very, very serious" about the effort.

"I think we have opened widely the chances of making peace with Jordan and solving the Palestinian problem," said Peres, speaking in English before an audience that included Dutch Prime Minister Ruud

An Israeli official traveling with the 62-year-old Peres on his tour of the Netherlands, Britain and West Germany cautioned that long negotiations still would be needed. "We are not on the brink of a breakthrough, said the official, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

The trip has focused primarily on the shuttle diplomacy of U.S. Middle East expert Richard Murphy and a team of U.S. specialists that included the U.S. Ambassador to Israel, Thomas Pickering, who flew to the Netherlands aboard Peres' air force jet. Peres was scheduled to go to London today, but his spokesman, Uri Savir, said Peres would not meet with the Jordanian monarch, who has been vacationing in the British

Further talks with Murphy were expected during Peres' nine-day trip, but Savir said no such meetings had yet been scheduled.

Peres said that even though Israel's government was a coalition of his own left-leaning Labor Party and Foreign Minister Yitzak Shamir's right-wing Likud bloc, he believed there was a consensus for negotiating with Hussein.

"I am convinced that our people are ready to pay a price for peace, if we have peace. We don't look for a bargain, but we look for a return," said Peres. He did not directly mention Murphy's shuttle diplomacy.

Two key obstacles have stood in the way of Arab-Israeli negotiations: the structuring of an international forum for the peace talks, and the question of who would represent the Palestinians.

Cooler days due

From Staff and Wire Reports

On Wednesday the Permian Basin will be experiencing cooler weather than the last few days, according to the forecasters at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. The high will be near 50 under partly cloudy skies with northeasterly winds at five to 15

For tonight, a low in the upper 30s and partly cloudy skies are forecast. Winds will be out of the north at 10 to 20 miles per hour with occassional gusts. There is a slight chance of showers, but the possibility is less than 20 percent.

Monday saw a new record high set. The 76 degree high was one degree above the old record set in 1959. This morning's low of 46 was 41 degrees above the record low set in 1966.

STATE

A cold front was headed for Texas today and forecasts called for an end to the summer-like weather that resulted in record high temperatures being posted across the state. But the cold front was far enough away for temperatures to reach into the 70s and 80s across much of the state again today, forecasters said. The front was expected to reach North Texas late tonight and cross the rest of the state Wednesday. Skies across the rest of the state

NATION

Snow and freezing drizzle dotted the nation from the Plains to Minnesota and from the Ohio Valley to northern New England today.

A frontal system pushed snow across the northwest Plains and freezing drizzle across the northeast Plains and northern Minnesota.

The light snow and freezing drizzle that scattered from the upper Ohio Valley to northern New England prompted travelers' advisories in western New York and western Pennsylvania, while travelers' advisories for blowing and drifting snow were posted for the mountains of West Virginia and Maryland. Rain ranged from northeast Pennsylvania to central New England and across the northern Pacific Coast while dense fog spread along the western Gulf Coast.

Clock ends OC rally for Chaps

Sports Editor

If Midland College remains No. 2 in the national junior college basketball rankings, it's because Odessa College ran out of time in a 79-74 loss before another bumper turnout at Langford Chaparral Center Monday

For 32 minutes, this battle of the Petroplex followed the script MC fans have come to expect, a standard no prisoners blow out and, heading into the final eight minutes, it seemed just a question of how bad it

That's when the Chaps ran out of gas, lost interest, or Odessa got hot. Take your choice.

The Midland team, which for 32 minutes tipped passes away and turned them into easy baskets, suddenly became all thumbs.

Going into that final eight minutes, OC trailed 73-49. And in those final eight minutes the Wranglers outscored MC 25-6. And all that kept the wolf from the door in that period was a crip shot by Todd Duncan off a Ricky Grace pass, a slam dunk by 6-6 Eddie Frazier and finally a pair of free throws by Mookie Blaylock.

OC COACH Archie Myers may have been totally unhappy with his team's play through the first 30 minutes, judging by the long locker session after the game, but Coach Jerry Stone was just as unhappy with his Chaps.

"I didn't like the way we handled the last eight minutes," Stone grumbled after his locker room discussion of the night's events with his team. "I didn't like the way we handled the ball or anything about our play."

"Did we look like the No. 2 team in the nation?" It sounded like a question, but was delivered as a chal-

When it was pointed out that the Chaps couldn't have been better than they were the first three quarters of the game, Stone countered with, "If you can't finish right, you're not as good as you think you

But, coach, those first 30

"All I can remember is the last 10 The Chaps did a good job of holding 6-7 Greg Lazard, the Wranglers' 18.7 point per game scorer, in check, only nine points for the night...how about that, coach?

"But how many did No. 40 get?" he

As a matter of fact, Dewayne Scott, a 6-3 sophomore from Biloxi, Miss., didn't contribute much to that final charge, but for most of the game he was about all the Wranglers had, pouring in 25 of his 27 points to keep an OC team that was thoroughly outclassed on the scoreboard.

THE GUY who fueled the Wranglers down the stretch was 5-11 Eric Chinn, a sophomore from Denver, who wound up with 13 points, and 6-3 Ron Sykes, who scored nine points, six down the stretch.

If ever a team refused to quit, it was the Wranglers Monday. The Chaps completely outclassed their WJCAC rival for 32 minutes with that octupus defense that converts turnovers into lightning-quick points off the transition game.

Again it was the quick guards who led the charge. Mookie Blaylock scored 22 points and Ricky Grace 18. Grace fattened his league-leading assist total. And while Frazier scored 12 points, his big contribution was defensively where he was the ringleader in making life miserable for

The 6-8 pivot from Crowley, La., who is second in WJCAC scoring, first in blocked shots and first in rebounding, missed his first seven shots and didn't score from the field until 1:51 remained in the first half. Still, the big guy was credited with 20 rebounds before the night was

In the early going, the Chaps were finding the open man and hitting from the corners and lane with demoralizing accuracy.

Grace opened the game with two from the lane. Tony Wright fed Eddie Frazier under the rim and Lincoln Minor and Grace from the corner added to the surge. Blaylock scored on a fast break and Mike Smith set up Frazier for the basket that made it 14-6 with 12:35 left in the half.

The Chaps opened up a 30-15 lead and were in front 39-24 when OC made a run just before half, whittling MC's lead to 39-28. Todd Duncan took the sting out of the rally by hitting first from the left corner and then from the right to give MC its halftime edge of 43-28.

JUST 4:08 into the second half, MC had widened its margin to 58-36 on the way to that 73-49 advantage. Blaylock hit five shots without a miss, Grace was three-of-four and

Lee girls don't look back, tip MHS, 42-35

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Assistant Sports Editor

The Midland Lee and Midland High girls finished the cross-town squabble for 1986 Monday night in the MHS gym and Lee's 42-35 victory also defined both team's roles for the rest of the District 4-5A campaign.

This was the point of the season where the Lee girls fell off the horse a year ago and MHS made a bold move toward the playoffs. Lee never forgot that.

We were 8-0 going into this game last year and lost. We were 8-0 going into this game," noted Lee's Roz Eaden after scoring a game high 13 points to lead the Rebels over a hill they couldn't climb last year. "This was the ninth (district) game and we thought about it a lot. We thought we could win this year, but we had to go out and do it.

Lee never trailed in the game after Eaden drove the baseline to hit an early third quarter layup that broke a 16-16 deadlock. Eaden's free throw and a layup off a rebound un-derneath by Tina Swinney to open the fourth quarter broke open a close contest, giving Lee a 31-24 lead.

The Rebels went on to build a 12-point margin with just over four minutes to play and the thoughts of a year ago were history. MHS did cut the margin to six points before the game was over, but a 12-point lead was much too much to make up in this low scoring contest where both teams had trouble making the ball go through the hoop.

LEE CONNECTED on only 19 of 51 shots from the field for 37 percent while the Lady Bulldogs hit on only 12 of 45 shots for 27 percent.

MHS stayed in the game by hitting 11 of 15 from the charity stripe while Lee was a meager four of 12.

The victory gives Lee a perfect 9-0 District 4-5A mark and a full twogame lead over the field with just five games remaining on the schedule. MHS fell to 7-2, losing its bid for a share of the league lead with Lee and now shares second place with Abilene High, a narrow 68-66 victor over winless Abilene Cooper

You could see the pressure on the young faces of both teams. They forced some shots they shouldn't have taken and missed on some that should have dropped. But it wasn't from a lack of effort. MHS led six different times, all in the first half, and the score was knotted seven times before Eaden and Swinney hit back-to-back buckets in the third quarter. Lee never trailed

IN THE long run, Lee's quickness and depth turned the tide and Rebel coach Shirley Stephenson was just glad it was over.

Dogs, Rebs meet in battle for 4-5A lead

By BOB BRUNDAGE Sports Writer

When the Midland High Bulldogs and Midland Lee Rebels first met this season, it was for the championship of the Tall City Tournament. As impossible as it seems, both teams came away a winner. Both, also, were losers The Bulldogs won the on court battle by a 53-51 count to claim the title only to lose it back to Lee four days later when an ineligible player was discovered, costing MHS three games by forfeit.

That was a month and a half ago and there have been a few changes for both teams. The biggest difference between then and now is in the personnel for both teams. In late November, the Rebel football team was competing in the playoffs and two-year basketball starter Anthony Dickens was still in pads. Dickens, a 6-foot-5 post, didn't start playing until after the Tall City Tournament and his addition helped the Rebels in the area they were weakest: Inside, providing rebounding strength and offensive rebound scoring production.

After a slow scoring start, Dickens has worked his way up to No. 2 on the Rebel stat sheet, scoring 13.3 points per game and is sixth in district scoring at 16.3.

The Buildogs were also hit hard by football, only it wasn't in a school game. During the Christmas holidays, Ben Grimes was lost for the season with a broken right arm in a pick-up game at Memorial Stadium. It took a plate and nine pins to put his arm back together.

Grimes was a top backup player for the Bulldogs and his loss cost MHS 6.3 points per game which still ranks fourth best on the team.

BOTH MHS and Lee are working on winning streaks and, obviously, neither wants to see them end when they meet tonight at 8 p.m. at Chaparral Center.

Midland High currently has the longest winning streak among District 4-5A teams at nine games, dating back to the San Antonio Optimist Classic and including six straight league victories.

The Rebels stumbled in the district opener against San Angelo but have since ripped off five straight victories.

The winning streaks are why the Bulldogs and Rebs are at the top of the 4-5A standings. Midland High is currently in first place at 6-0 while Lee owns sole possession of second at 5-1. Odessa Permian is alone in third at 4-2 while San Angelo holds fourth at 3-3. The rest of the league is playing sub 500 ball.

In the overall standings, Lee tops the list a 17-6 followed by MHS at 16-6, including the three forfeit games.

"We're playing real well right now, but if we don't win Tuesday, we're right back in the pack. A vic tory could sure gives us a lot of momentum heading into the second half," said MHS coach Jack Stephenson. "Lee is playing very good bas-ketball right now and, unfortunately, the game Tuesday should be a thrill a minute. I don't know why I would expect anything different. It

Lee coach Paul Stueckler had a similar comment about the way MHS is playing. "All I can say is Midland High is playing very, very well. They shoot the ball very well and are probably the most balanced team in the league. Usually when you scout a team you try to figure out a weakness, but they are very well balanced.'

BALANCED IS a word that works for both teams. Each team has a number of players who can put points on the scoreboard.

For the Bulldogs, the three big guns this season have been Matt Sears (20.1), Elvin Mackey (18.7) and Anthony Deande (14.6). In district play, all three are among 4-5A

Deande and Mackey are third and fourth respectively in league scoring at 21.2 and 21.0 per game. Sears comes in seventh at 16.3 Thomas Wilson has started coming into his own of late also, moving into fourth on the Bulldogs shooting list with a 5.8 average, including two straight double-digit games of 10 and 18 points. Fifth on the list is Terry St. Peters at 5.4.

The Rebels also have three players with strong double-figure statistics, led by Lee Dixon (18.6), Dickens and Eddie Riley (14.1). In district play, Dixon rates fifth at 19.7 followed by Dickens in sixth and

Riley in eighth at 13.8. "It's always something special when Midland high meets Midland Lee in basketball, but Tuesday's game should be a real spectacle for Midland fans this year," said Stephenson. "It's going to be an impor-tant game for both teams."

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — The NCAA Committee on Infractions announced Monday that the Baylor University men's basketball program had been placed on probation for re-cruiting violations.

The action prohibits the men's basketball team from participating in National Collegiate Athletic Association championship competition or in any other postseason play during the 1985-86 academic year. In addition, only two new basketball recruits will be permitted to receive initial athletics-related financial aid for the 1986-87 academic year. The university's basketball program will be limited to a total of 13 scholarships during the 1966-87 and 1987-88 academic years, a reduction of two from current levels.

Nine current or former basketball team members were involved in the violations found in the case, and the seven who remained on the team were declared ineligible for varying periods during the 1985-86 season.

The NCAA said the investigation of the Baylor case followed public statements in February 1985 by a former member of the team that indicated a former Baylor head basketball coach had given him a check for $172 for personal expens

The committee said it had suspended one year of a two-year postseason penalty and a one-year televi-sion sanction because of cooperation from Baylor. The NCAA cited selfdisclosure of violations, early action to disassociate the coaching staff members involved in the case and assistance provided by current mem-bers of the basketball team.

Violations noted by the NCAA included ethical conduct, extra benefits to enrolled student-athletes, recruiting inducements, excessive recruiting contacts, improper automobile and airline transportation, and certification of compliance with

"I believe the report will stand on its on. I see no need to belabor it. I think our job now is to restore our program, to build it as strong as we can and move on. We want to look to the future," Reynolds said.

-During April 1983, the then men's head basketball coach arranged for the young man to receive one-way commercial airline transportation in collegiate institution in which he had been enrolled.

-During May 1983, a then men's assistant basketball coach transported the young man from the university's campus to several automobile dealerships in Waco, Texas, in order to inquire about the purchase of an automobile.

-During May 1963, the then men's head basketball coach transported the prospect from the university's campus to an automobile dealership in Waco, Texas, in order for the young man to purchase an automobile.

-On numerous occasions during a period beginning in May 1983 and continuing through December 1984, the then men's head basketball coach gave cash (including one check) totaling $1,872 to the young man in order to make monthly payments on an automobile loan.

-On three occasions during the summer of 1983, the then men's head, basketball coach gave the young man an envelope containing cash (approximately $150 per month) to pay apartment rent.

-During a period beginning in the summer of 1984 and continuing through December 1984, the then men's head basketball coach gave $50 to $80 cash per month to the young man for his personal use.

The loss was well-deserved, Louisville Coach Denny Crum thought. Coming off the emotional high of an 83-73 upset of Syracuse on Saturday, the 13th-ranked Cardinals squandered a 56-43 lead before losing Monday night to Cincinnati, 84-82, in a Metro Conference game at Louisville. "Basketball is a lot like life," Crum said. "If you live in the past, you get what you earn. Tonight, we earned a

Hurricanes expect to ink Tito Horford

MIAMI (AP) - The University of Miami basketball program, which just resumed this season after a 14year absence, has received a big boost by the impending signing of 7foot-1 Tito Hortford.

Horford, who spent time at Houston and Louisiana State in August and September, was expected to enroll at Miami today. That matter apparently would have been accomplished Monday, but the school was closed because of the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday.

We're waiting on his high school transcript," Miami athletic director Sam Jankovich said Monday night. 'It's being sent Federal Express from Houston. Once we get it, we'll try to move as rapidly as we can."

Jankovich said the deadline for last registration for the spring semester is Friday. It is expected that Horford would not be eligible to play until the second semester next year. Horford, a native of the Dominican Republic, said Monday night after watching the Hurricanes' 83-75 victory over Florida, that he had nothing to say, "maybe tomorrow." It marked the second straight game that Horford sat through in the stands with Miami students. After watching the Hurricanes lose to Arizona, he had returned home to Houston, but returned Monday.

While Horford is expected to provide the Hurricanes with the kind of dominating big man that can speed up Miami's rebirth, Coach Bill Foster downplayed Horford's arrival.

in the NFL and with the Oilers. Basically, his advantage over the other two was his familiarity with our personnel," Ladd Herzeg, the Oilers' general manager, said from Houston. "We felt he gives us the best opportunity to win quickly."

Winning is something the Oilers have not done much of in recent seasons. Their last winning season was in 1980, when they qualified for the playoffs as a wild-card team with an 11-5 record. Since then, they have gone 7-9, 1-8, 2-14 and 3-13 before the 1985 season. 'We believe that over the last four years we have built a solid foundation," Herzeg said. "Everyone in the organization agrees that it's time to In the 10 years before he joined the Oilers, Glanville was an assistant coach with the Buffalo Bills, the Atlanta Falcons and the Detroit Lions. He also coached at Northern Michigan, Western Kentucky and Georgia Tech. The Eagles, who nearly signed David Shula, an assistant under his father, Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins, are now strongly considering Buddy Ryan, the defensive coordinator of the Chicago Bears. A source close to the Eagles said that the Ryan met last week with club officials and impressed them.

However, the source added, no further conversations with Ryan would be held until after the Super Norman Braman, the owner of the Eagles, acknowledged that he had an interest in Ryan. But he also said that Shula, the 28-year-old quarterbacks and receivers coach for the Dolphins, was "very much alive." "I haven't made a decision," Braman said from Miami. "Everything is up in the air. No one has a lock on this thing.' The Eagles were also reported to be interested in Jim Mora, the for-

Among those the Cardinals have met with are Gene Stallings, the defensive backs coach of the Dallas Cowboys; Jerry Rhome, the quarterbacks coach of the Washington Redskins: Mora, whose contract with his USFL club expired last week, and Richie Petitbon, the assistant head coach for defense for the Redskins.

The Saints are also interested in Mora and Petitbon, as well as Ryan, Rod Rust, the defensive coordinator of the Patriots, and several others. They will all be reviewed when Jim Finks, the Saints' new general manager, meets Tuesday with Thomas Benson, the Saints' owner.

"There has been no narrowing of names yet," Finks said. "Don't forget, before I got here, Tom was besieged with the names of people who wanted to be coach and general manager. He talked to some, and I'm sure others sent him resumes. Right now, the list of coaches is pretty large. We'll review them, and then maybe we'll cut and slash them.

Midland Lee's Lavette Wallace is hounded by Midland High's Sebrenia Finch (44) and Brenda Rodriguez. Lee won the game 42-35 to take a two-game lead in the District 4-5A basketball race.

"I'm relieved that this one is history," said Stephenson. "Midland High is a very good team and we knew that coming in. And it's nice to get that last year thing behind us.

"I've always had the philosophy that you can lose to any team on any given night and that could still happen, but it's nice to win this one. The great thing is that we don't have to go to San Angelo next Friday. They play at our place. After losing to Midland High last year, we went to San Angelo and scored twice as many field goals as they did and still lost

Lee's Melissa Hart also gave the Rebels some power underneath the basket, hitting four of six shots from the field and scoring 10 points. Seven of the 10 Rebels scored and that difference on the bench was also a factor. Only five Bulldogs got in on the scoring act and only one point from a non-starter.

Lee held MHS' leading scorer Amy Cumings to a meager nine points as she hit only four of 11 efforts. Nadine Hill scored 11 and Sebrenia Finch 10 for the Bulldogs.

"I thought both teams played good defense, but they played better than us in the fourth quarter and that was the difference," said MHS coach Jane Young. "We missed a lot of shots and that hurt and I thought

Roz played a great game against us. "We've still got five games to go, so we have to forget this one quick. We have a lot of road games, but we do have Abilene High here. We're on the road to teams that we beat in the first half, but we had trouble with some of them. San Angelo and Big Spring there is always tough."

Lee will host 5-4 San Angelo Friday at Lee Gym while MHS travels to 2.7 Big Spring. The pressure is now off Lee — until the Rebs drop a game — while the battle of the other playoff berth now begins for Bulldogs and Eagles.

Lee also won the junior varsity contest Monday with a 52-45 win. Peitte Mayfield led the Rebel attack with 13 points while Midland High's Bonnie Johnson led all scorers with

In other 45A games Monday, San Angelo ripped Big Spring, 55-41; and Odessa Permian won a 62-51 decision over Odessa High.

(Continued from Page 1B) "I'm sure the kids will play very hard, they always do against each other," said Stueckler. "I'm hoping both teams play real well."

ELSEWHERE AROUND the district, Odessa Permian is at Odessa High (0-4), Abilene High (2-4) is at Abilene Cooper (2-4) and Big Spring (2-4) is at San Angelo. All games are scheduled for 8 p.m. starts. Big Spring's Brian Mayfield moved into first place on the district scor-ing list Friday night at 22.7, surpass-ing previous leaders Chris Lowry of San Angelo, 22.0, and Mackey.

Mayfield and Lowry are two of four league players in the scoring Top 10 who don't play for Midland High or Midland Lee. The other two are David Hulse of San Angelo, 14.8; and Paul Chavez of Odessa High,

Dollar drops

LONDON (AP) - The dollar fell against most major currencies today after a strong advance in Europe the previous day on reports there would be no central bank intervention to devalue the U.S. currency. Gold prices rose.

Most of the dollar's decline came in Monday's U.S. trading. Activity was very limited, however, since most U.S. banks were closed for the Martin Luther King holiday. Dealers in Frankfurt, West Germany, said the dollar was likely to rise during the day, as well as later in the week with scheduled release of U.S. economic data.

The U.S. consumer price index for December is due Wednesday, as are preliminary fourth quarter 1985 Gross National Product

In Tokyo, where trading ends before Europe's business day begins, the dollar fell to a closing 202.22 yen from Monday's 202.95. Later, in London, it was quoted at 202.55 yen.

Other dollar rates at mid-morning, compared with late Monday: -2.457 West German marks, down from 2.47 -2.0865 Swiss francs, down from 2.0957

-7.5485 French francs, down from 7.5725 -2.768 Dutch guilders, down from 1,683.25 -1.403 Canadian dollars, up from 1.40065

In London, the British pound was quoted at $1.418 compared with $1.4168 Monday.

Gold opened in London at a bid price of $358 a troy ounce, compared with late Monday's $349.75. At mid-morning today the city's five major bullion dealers fixed a recommended price of $356.50.

In Zurich, the bid price was $356.50, up from $351.50 late Monday.

Earlier, in Hong Kong, gold rose $4.97 to close at a bid $356.96. In New York Monday, gold fell $1.40 to close at $354.10.

Silver was quoted in London today at a bid price of $6.22 a troy ounce, up from Monday's $6.15.

MARKETS Oil slump hurting Soviet economic plans

Los Angeles Times -Washington Post News Service

MOSCOW — A continuing slump in Soviet oil production, now in its 18th month, is putting a squeeze on Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's plans for economic revitalization.

The problems in the oil industry, a recurring theme in the Soviet press, already have diverted badly needed resources from other areas of the

The 1986 Soviet budget, adopted last November, called for a 31 percent increase in capital investments in oil. This was a significant jump that contradicted warnings from Gorbachev earlier this year that the energy sector — already consuming one-fifth of the nation's capital investment - would have to do without new infusions of capital.

Western analysts here interpreted the investment increase as a sign that Soviet economic planners have decided that the economy cannot afford to let the decline in oil output continue unchecked.

"It shows they are seriously con-cerned, and this is the minimum they have to do to hold the line," said one Western diplomat.

Western estimates of 1985 Soviet oil production now hover at 597 million tons — a drop of almost 3 per-cent from the 1984 level, which was already down 0.5 percent from the 1983 level of 616 million tons.

Because oil exports constitute 63 percent of Soviet hard-currency earnings, the decline has ramifications for other sectors of the Soviet

March. Earlier in the year, the oil minister was fired and replaced by Vasili Dinkov, who as gas minister had overseen the star performer of the Soviet economy.

In May the ruling Politburo went ahead with a program to increase drilling by 40 percent in the next five years — a bid to find replacements for the dwindling output from the country's older oil fields in the Tyumen region in western Siberia, where 63 percent of the nation's oil is produced. But judging from the steady stream of critical articles in the press, the main problems in the oil industry continue. "Dinkov has been in long enough that some of these things should have been solved," said one analyst. "It looks like his honeymoon is over."

The 12th five-year plan, to be adopted at the February party congress, calls for 75 to 80 percent of increased domestic fuel requirements to be made up through savings. The program also envisages continued conversion of oil-powered generating stations to nuclear ener-

Midland's cost of living rises

From Staff Reports

The cost of living in Midland rose 0.3 percent during December, according to calculations by ClayDesta National Bank, marking the second month the index has

Decreases in transportation, medical and clothing expenses were offset by increases for food, both away from and at home, utilities and housing costs.

Odessa saw a 0.1 percent rise in the cost of living. The annualized inflation rate for Midland equals 1.1 A second month of lower gasoline prices caused Midlanders have paid 1.6 percent more in medical expenses over the last 11 months. The Tall City reported lower costs for both women's and children's apparel, causing clothing costs to slip 0.3 percent. However, Midland also reported higher costs for men's clothing. Clothing costs have risen 3.3 percent over the last 11 months, with a 3.5 percent increase in Food away from home reported the highest increase, jumping 1.7 percent during December. The increase was caused by higher prices for coffee and other nonalcoholic beverages, assisted by slightly higher prices for meals prepared with beef.

Midlanders also paid more for food at home, with the category showing a 1.6 percent rise during the month. Increases in the price of produce and meats offset decreases in alcohol prices. Meat prices broke a two month old trend and rose 2.4 percent, with a 13.6 percent increase recorded in the price of ground beef. The past 11 months show a 3.9 percent rise in groceries, with 4.0 percent occuring the last six months.

Utilities rose 0.3 percent in Midland, with gas rates showing a 0.8 percent increase. Both the fuel adjustment charge and water rates remained stable. Midlanders have paid 3.8 percent more for utilities in the last 11 months.

Housing expenses also rose 0.3 percent, with slightly higher maintenance costs responsible. Although Clay-Desta figures show a 1.3 percent increase during the past 11 months, housing expenses have fallen 1.1 per-

Spokesman criticizes TRC 'white oil' action

AUSTIN (AP) - A "volunteer spokesman" for mineral and royalty owners said today if he were a Panhandle oil producer he would ignore a Railroad Commission letter against reporting "white oil" as crude oil.

Ron Slover, who identified himself as an Amarillo oil and gas broker and "longtime foe of the commission," said white oil "promises to be an economic disaster for Texas if it's not dealt with totally in the next several days.

"It likely will become the political hot potato of the 1986 statewide political races if something isn't done very soon about it," Slover said in remarks prepared for a press conference

Two legislative committees are reviewing whether the water-white liquid produced by chilling vapors to as low as 20 degrees below zero should be considered crude oil.

White oil operators lost their argument in state district court to count the liquid as oil, and the case filed by white oil interests was appealed to the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin. Counting the liquid as crude oil enables certain operators to meet commission standards for classifying a well as an oil well, which has pricing and production advantages over gas wells. In September, the commission sent letters to the operators of 541 wells that had been retested without refrigeration, or LTX, units, and ordered 271 wells shut-in, effective Oct. 1. Some later passed the oil well test of at least one barrel of oil per 100,000 cubic feet of gas and were reinstated as oil wells.

At the same time, the commission notified all Panhandle Field operators that they would have to start storing, measuring and reporting LTX liquids separately from wellhead liquids, beginning with January production.

If I were an oil producer in the Panhandle, I would personally disregard that letter and would report all lease production as being lease production," Slover said.

He said the letter from Jim Morrow, director of the commission's Oil and Gas Division, "constitutes a bla-tant disregard for small oil and gas producers, mineral owners, state and local taxing entities, and even for the commission's own formal proceedings and orders."

SIPES head forecast oil decline, predicts more hard times

By MELLA McEWEN Business/Oil Writer

In Midland last week for a monthly meeting of the organization he heads, A. Scott Ritchie, national president of the Society of Independent Professional Earth Scientists, accurately forecast the decline that was to transpire this week in oil prices, while predicting more hard times for the oil industry.

"I don't foresee any increase in activity, and I see a decrease in exploration, and a shift from gas to oil, due to the weakening of gas prices. We'll see, in the near short term, a $1-3 reduction in oil prices, which will tend to dampen the enthusiasm for investment," Ritchie predicted. "Drilling and exploration levels will stay soft, but after the end of the third or fourth quarters, there'll be a reasonable chance of seeing investment capital returning."

"Investment is emotional," he explained. "It's speculative. You have to be positive to invest in the unknown. Bad news, like weak prices and a lack of market, tends to reduce the buoyancy of investment. But, after the bad news has hit, economic sense takes over and the investor sees the opportunities and moves back in."

He said independent producers will have to learn to live with lower activity and reduced prices, and that there'll be fewer independents to compete, as "some will retire, and some will be retired." There'll always be some level of activity, whether it's 10 rigs or 500 rigs, Rit-

Other than the prospects for SIPES members, "One thing that worries me is that during this time of reduced activities, I see problems for the service companies," Ritchie commented. All of them, from log-gers to mud companies to the bulldozer operators, depend on new wells being drilled for the existence, he said. "If the company goes under, we lose that level of expertiese. Those well-trained operators will leave and find work somewhere else, and won't be there when the industry comes back. We'll have to retrain workers, and that could be worse than a prolonged period of slow

"This is an extremely competitive industry, and if we lose that competition, we lose efficiency," he said. "If we lose competition between service companies, the prices might not be as efficient as they were.

Not only is the industry competing against itself, it's competing against Mother Nature "to extract her hidden treasures, and against the government for room in the tax laws to attract investment dollars," Ritchie

"Every barrel we do not produce will have to be imported," he pointed out. "That impacts our balance of trade, and we lose energy independence." Independents can come back. Ritchie said. "It'll take five years to turn around and retool, but we can come back. Independents can move faster than the majors. We're explorationists. We can take greater risks for greater return, and we will if the return for the risk is there. If you can't enjoy the win, there's no reason to try.

The state of the industry is having direct effect on SIPES membership. During the boom, many oil executives went on their own, making themselves eligible for SIPES membership. And with the current contraction in the business, many executives are leaving companies for that reason, Ritchie said. Requirements for membership in SIPES include 12 years experience, four of which can be through a college degree program, a free choice of clients, and recommendation and approval for membership by an applicants peers.

The society formed in Houston in 1963 because the other trade organizations weren't able to meet the needs of the independent, Ritchie said. There are now 1,250 members in 13 chapters throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, Colorado and Mississippi. Earth scientists deal with the solids, liquids and gases that compose the earth's crust, and members range from geologists to geophysicists to hydrologists to seismologists. The group publishes technical bulletins and awards scholarships to students who want to study earth science. The Midland chapter is SIPES' largest chapter.

OCAW approves three more oil company contract offers

DENVER (AP) - Three more oil company contracts have been approved by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, bringing the total number of settlements to the halfway point, a union spokesman said Monday.

Jerry Archuleta said the offers approved met the minimum standards set by the Amaco settlement Jan. 13. The Amoco pact, covering 4,800 employees nationwide, includes a $1,000 lump sum payment for each employee the first year, a 2 percent raise the second year, and increases in company contributions for health

The Mobil offers were made at Torrance, Calif., and Beaumont, Texas. The Denver-based OCAW repre-sents 2,000 Mobil workers, Archuleta

The Texaco offer was made at the company's Fort Neches, Texas, asphalt plant. OCAW represents 7,100 Texaco workers nationwide, including ones formerly employed by Getty, Archuleta said.

Sun Oil made its offer at Toledo, Ohio. OCAW represents 1,360 Sun

"This brings to 28,100 the number of workers who will be covered by new agreements once the local issues are resolved," Archuleta said. "In some locations, the ratification process already has begun. Workers have voted to ratify the new

The union has 46,500 oil-industry members. A total of 265 contracts with 100 employers expired Jan. 8. Most workers have been on the job with contract extensions since then. 'We're moving toward (complete settlements)," Archuleta said. "It's moving quite satisfactorily — in most places."

About 765 workers at Shell Oil
Co.'s Norco, La., plant and 465 workers at Union Oil Co.'s Lemont, Ill., plant are considering striking over local issues, Archuleta said. OCAW president Joseph Misbrener has approved the possible strike action.

He said the company had submit-

AMOCO PRODUCTION CO., Andrews, has completed eight new wells in Andrews County - two in the Midland Farms field, five in the Midland Farms (Wolfcamp) field, and one in the Midland Farms West (Devonian) field. Six of the wells are located in the Midland Farms Deep Unit lease, and two in the Midland Farms Unit.

The strongest producer was the No. 130 Midland Farms Deep Unit, a Devonian producer in the Midland Farms West field, completed to flow 292 barrels of 45.8 gravity crude, 382 Mcfd and 36 barrels of water on a 15/64 inch choke with a flowing tubing pressure of 1,000 psi. Production is from perforations 11,059 to 11,366

Next came the No. 129 Midland Farms Deep Unit, a Wolfcamp producer in the Midland Farms field, potentialed to pump 244 barrels of 40 gravity crude, 106 Mcfd and 60 barrels of water from perforations 8,362 to 8,538 ft.

Amoco finaled a second Wolfcamp producer, the No. 131 Midland Farms Deep Unit, to pump 145 barrels of 41.5 gravity crude, 72 Mcfd and 146 barrels of water.

The No. 146 Midland Farms Deep Unit was potentialed to pump 125 barrels of 42.2 gravity crude, 85 Mcfd and three barrels of water from Wolfcamp perforations 8,340 to 8,422

In the Midland Farms field, the No. 687 Midland Farms Unit tested to pump 118 barrels of crude, 35 Mcfd and 1044 barrels of water from perforations 4,688 to 4,876 ft.

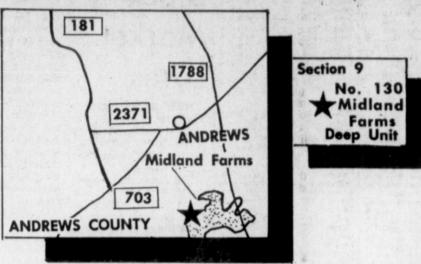

A fourth Wolfcamp producer, the No. 3 Midland Farms Deep Unit, pumped, on potential test, 70 barrels of 40.6 gravity crude, 65 Mcfd and 425 barrels of water from perforations 8,440 to 8,842 ft.

On potential test, the fifth Wolfcamp producer, the No. 29 Midland Farms Deep Unit, pumped 34 barrels of 45.5 gravity crude, 27 Mcfd and 59 barrels of water from perforations 8,362 to 8,662 ft.

The second completion in the Midland Farms field, the No. 662 Midland Farms Unit, completed to pump 13 barrels of crude, four Mcfd and 717 barrels of water from perforations 4,716 to 4,906 ft.

Sterling discovery flows five barrels

TIBURON PETROLEUM CORP., Midland, completed a discovery in the Credo (Wolfcamp) field of Sterling County.

On potential test, the No. 1 Stewart "22" flowed five barrels of 35 gravity crude, 210 Mcfd and three barrels of water on a 20/64 inch choke with a flowing tubing pressure of 110 psi. Production is from perforations 7,570 to 7,706 ft., which had been acidized with 4,500 gallons of 15 percent NeFe acid. Gas-oil ratio is 4,200:1.

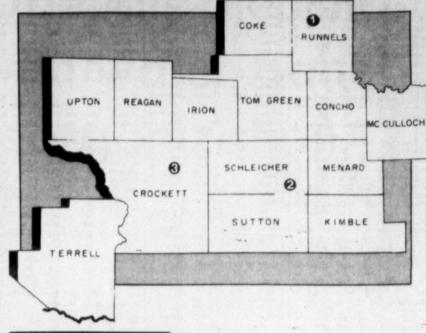

Planned as an 8,000 ft. wildcat, the well was drilled to 7,850 ft., where 4 1/2 inch casing was set, and plugged back to 7,847 ft.

The well topped the Clearfork at 3,063 ft., Wichita Albany at 4,262, and the Wolfcamp at 6,982 ft. on ground elevation of 2,612 ft. Pay was topped at 7,570 ft. Location is 660 ft. from north and

INVESTOR'S GUIDE Fed bank can change T notes to registered form

By BILL DOYLE

Q. My U.S. Treasury notes are in "bearer" form, with semiannual interest coupons attached. Banks in this area charge either $5 or $10 every time I cash a coupon. Is it possible to have my T notes changed to registered form, so that the checks for the interest are mailed to me or, better yet, deposited directly in my bank account?

A. You can have your T notes put into registered form through your district Federal Reserve Bank or branch. There are 12 such banks and 25 branches. Your local bank can provide the address of the one serving your Contact that Fed bank or branch and explain what you want to do. You'll receive forms to fill out. Send back the completed forms and your T notes, with all remaining interest coupons attached, by registered mail, return receipt requested. The remaining coupons will be removed from the notes and destroyed. Your name will be put on the notes and the Treasury Department's records. All future interest checks will be mailed to you.

The same procedure can be followed to change U.S. Treasury bonds from bearer to registered

At the present time, however, you cannot have Treasury note and bond interest checks deposited directly in your bank account.

Bearer Treasury notes and bonds are fading from the scene. No new ones have been issued since 1982. All new T notes and bonds now come only in registered or "book-entry" form. Book-entry means everything is recorded on computers and no certificates are printed. The Treasury Department has set July 1, 1986, as the tentative date after which all new T notes and bonds will come only in book-entry. Investors who buy T notes and bonds issued after that will be able to have direct deposit of their interest checks.

Q. Your column taught me how to make a direct purchase of U.S. Treasury bills, by submitting a tender to a Federal Reserve Bank, thereby saving charges from a local bank or brokerage firm. Thank you.

Now, can T bills be rolled over and over and over, indefinitely?

A. Not quite automatically. On the tender you submit when you buy your first T bill, you can indicate your preference to roll it over at maturity and reinvest that money in a new T bill. Or, you can arrange for the rollover by completing Form PD 4633-2, which the Treasury Department mails to you.

But a request for a continuous rollover will not be accepted. After the first rollover, you have to complete a new Form PD 4633-2 every time you want to reinvest. Make sure you mail back that form in time for it to reach the Treasury by the cutoff date specified on the form.

Q. After reading the column in which you said that a person buying a Treasury note by submit-ting a tender to a Federal Reserve Bank could pay for it with "your own check, which need not be certified," I wrote the Miami Federal Reserve Bank.

In reply, I received a long form. Under the heading Method of Payment, it reads: "A cashier's check for the exact amount of purchase only. It must be issued by a commercial bank or thrift institution..."

Guess you didn't do your homework on this

A. Ah, but I did. Regulations for payment on the purchase of Treasury bills, notes and bonds are set by the Treasury Department, not individual Federal Reserve Banks and branches. You corresponded with the Miami branch of the Atlanta Federal Re-

Uncertified personal checks are not accepted as payment for Treasury bills. But they most certainly are accepted as payment for Treasury notes and

You have confused T bills with T notes and bonds. Without seeing it, I'd lay a small bet that "long form" you mention provides instructions on making a T bill tender. Get hold of similar literature for T notes and bonds. Then, be more careful in your homework.

Post office planned at Air Terminal

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Assistant City Editor

With Midland and Odessa projected to continue their growth, a new postal facility will be constructed at Midland Regional Air Terminal to handle the increasing amount of mail, according to a spokesman with the U.S. Postal Service. And a new station will be added to Midland's list of facilities this year.

Stan Sartain, manager of customer automation and mechanization center that will consolidate services being done at Midland and Odessa will be constructed at the northwest corner of the intersection of Wright Drive and Sloan Field Boulevard.

The building on the 15-acre site will consist of 147,823 square feet. The work area is designed to have 63,634 square feet, said Sartain, in comparison to the 23,823 square feet at Midland's Main Post Office, 100 E. Wall St. The lobby will be almost twice as large, consisting of 11,077 square feet in comparison to the 6,000 square feet in the Main Post

Cost of the facility is $12.7 million, said Sartain. Construction is expected to start in the summer of 1987 with completion scheduled for the end of 1988. Approval of the facility came Jan. 7 by the Postal Service board of governors.

"This really got started during our growth period," said Sartain. Although the cities went through an economic downturn, the Postal Service board looked at current statistics and decided that Midland will continue to be one of the fastest growing cities in the country.

The new facility should relieve space problems at the two cities' main facilities, he said. The Midland Main Post Office has been too small for several years, as has Odessa's.

All the mail in the 797 zip code area and part of the 769 area will be processed at this new facility. Cur-

Officials pleased with water panel reorganization

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Texas Water Commission officials say the agency's recent reorganization has given them the tools they need to do their jobs more efficiently and effectively.

Spokesmen for the state's chemical industry and a prominent environmental group say it's too early to tell what the realignment will accomplish, but concede they are cautiously optimistic.

So far, so good. State lawmakers, during the 1985 session, amended the Texas Water Code to abolish the Texas Department of Water Resources and to transfer most of its duties to the commission. As part of that shakeup, legislators created several new divisions at the commission to keep all aspects of specific functions under one roof.

Those changes occurred Sept. 1. Among other things, the commission is responsible for regulating the state's wastewater treatment plants to ensure water quality. The agency also regulates the generation, storage and disposal of hazardous wastes. Legislators also granted the commission authority to enforce agency rules and state laws - something the prior regime did not have.

"I think the reorganization is working very, very well," said Tommy Mason, an environmental lawyer who heads the new Water Quality

The reason, Mason said, is that his office now has the authority to enforce the permits it issues. Mason can fine violators of wastewater permits up to $10,000 per day, per viola-

"In the past, all we had was a single choice," he said. "Do we refer a case to the attorney general's office for a lawsuit and get in a morass of litigation, or do we rely on a permitee's good faith?"

Now, even though the commission can still sue violators as a last resort, it can first try getting their attention

"That tends to make people want to resolve the issue quickly," Mason

He said it is still too early to tell, but predicted the commisson will see better compliance on its wastewater permits within the next six months. Sierra Club lobbyist Ken Kramer, an active participant in the legislative process and a proponent of administrative penalties, said he is pleased with the commission's new

"I'm extremely happy with the more aggressive stance the commission is taking on water permits," Kramer said. "So, in that sense they seem to be proving themselves."
At issue, Kramer added, is how long that momentum will last. "I'm afraid there's a possibility for some backlash," he said. "And it may be pretty widespread — from mu-nicipalities and the (chemical) indus-

The Sierra Club and two other environmental organizations have filed suit against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for allegedly approving water Texas quality standards that do not comply with the federal Clearn Water Act.

The reorganized water commis-sion will help eliminate some of those problems, Kramer said, but "there are some gripes that we have against EPA that need to be resolved, regardless of our relationship with the Texas Water Commission.

Despite those concerns, Kramer said the future looks good for Texas' water standards. "I think there is a new emphasis on water quality at the commission, he said, "and putting Tommy Mason in charge is evidence of that." As part of the reorganization, legislators ordered the commission to conduct "mandatory enforcement hearings" for cities and businesses who violate their wastewater permits for four consecutive months.

"That's to make sure that no one slips through the cracks," Mason said.

Red Cross to demonstrate relief center for 'UnDisaster Day'

By RON GILMORE Staff Writer

Midland's County Chapter of the American Red Cross will join other national chapters on Wednesday in sponsoring "UnDisaster Day" - a day of recognition of the organization's efforts in disaster relief.

"What they'll be doing is opening up a simulated Red Cross shelter the kind used in real disasters," said Clay Carbolla, executive director of the Washington YMCA. The shelter will be set up at that YMCA location on 1600 E. Wall St.

The facility is located across from Washington Park on the east side of Carver Learning Center. They'll be getting different people together and holding training sessions to show what is done in the event of a major disaster such as a tornado or flood," he said.

Demonstration of most activities normally occurring in a Red Cross shelter will include the serving of the noon disaster meal and beverage along with preparedness.

According to a spokesman for the Midland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, "UnDisaster Day" is being held to come to the aid of the relief organization itself.

"The Red Cross is broke national-" said Susan Robinson. "Because of the high number of disasters we've had this year - particularly over the last five months - it has completely depleted its resources."

"There has been a large number of tornadoes, hurricanes and flooding. It's just been real bad this year," she

A campaign to raise funds began in this month, said Ms. Robinson, and was aided greatly with "help from E. F. Hutton Co.

Locally, the "UnDisaster Day" events will serve as both public education and a fundraiser.

"Because we don't have many disasters in the Permian Basin, we wanted to show people what a shelter actually looks like," she said. Ms. Robinson said although it's been "more than five years" since the last Red Cross shelter was set up, there has been several occasions where the volunteers were alerted and were ready to set up.

"There was a train derailment with chemicals, an ice storm and then the time a plane crashed into the Warwick Apartments," she said. While Wednesday's event will be only make believe, the food that will

"We'll serve a typical disaster meal

be available to participants is (rice and stew) which is being provided by the West Texas Baptist Men's Association.

Ms. Robinson said that the meal "has everything nutritionally that the body needs.

The Midland Hilton Hotel will be providing coffee and the Midland Independent School District's nutritional staff will offer other additional food items. Also contributing is MacDonald's, said Ms. Robinson.

'We'll also have a first aid station and nursing station manned by three to four volunteers and special children's sessions will be held to show them how the Red Cross works," she said.

Ms. Robinson added that 94 invitations had been sent out to city council members, judges and other governmental officials who "would work with the Red Cross in the event of a disaster."

According to Ms. Robinson, Midlanders would most likely need Red Cross assistance during a tornado.

"That's our number one concern here," she said. "The second most likely disaster would be flooding."

Godwin announces he will not be running for second term

From Staff Reports

ODESSA - Republican state Representative Kelly Godwin, saying he needs to devote more time to his business, announced Monday he would not seek re-election to a second term.

The 34-year-old Godwin, addressing a group of supporters at the Presidential Museum, said he would continue work on several projects, including repeal of the state seat belt law, but "changes in the general enconomy and specific recent events in my business have made it apparent to me that I must make a choice between serving in public office and supporting my family," he stated.

Godwin apologized to supporters who had turned out to hear what they thought would be his formal announcement that he would seek a second term saying, "I'm sorry that some of you came here expecting a different kind of announcement.'

Godwin, who owns and operates Computer Consulting Services, 810 N. Dixie Blvd., said criticism of his involvement in the legislative dispute about a state funding bill, that included funding for UTPB, had no bearing on his decision not to seek a second term. He said his decision was based solely on personal reasons concerning his family and Though no Republican candidate has yet announced to run for his position, Godwin said he would support whoever the candidate is.

So far, the only candidate announced for the state representative race is former Ector County Democratic County Judge Gary Watkins.

Schmaltzy lyrics convert pop music fan to C&W

It's finally happened and it's all KCRS' fault. I've become a country and western

When I left town for a short vacation a couple of weeks ago, I was listening to the predictable but dull hits of the "Top 40" on my 550 AM radio dial. No choice. My old graying rattletrap doesn't have any fancy stereo equipment, just a plain old AM radio that sometimes crackles and more often, entirely cuts out.

Ah, what can happen in a week. I got in my trusty heap ther name is "Sylvia" - named after another gray and sturdy beast - my college professor), turned the key and was immediately blasted with a rousing rendition of "This Ain't Dallas" by

Hank Williams Jr. With automatic reflex I pushed the first button on the radio to get it back to my beloved KCRS and the harmless pop stuff I adored. It was

"Now wait a minute, this is Texas," I thought to myself. "They're just transgressing for a moment in tribute to some artist who was born in the area and probably died this week. Just hold on."

"The Squirrel Song" by Ray Stevens followed.

With great patience I gritted my teeth through the song as I awaited some explanation for this deviance from popland.

"Good morning. You're listening to the all-new hit country station, KCRS," bellowed Dave Williams.

I saw red. I felt intense anger. My coffee cup shook as I raised it to my lips to calm my shaking self. "No" or "AARGH" I screamed inside (or some similar reaction.)

In a frenzied panic I pushed at the buttons on the radio and turned the dial like a madman. In 10 seconds I knew my fate.

Sylvia was fully equipped with an AM radio that carried only country and western, Hispanic and "Muzak"type stations. No Top 40. No Lionel Ritchie. No Hall and Oates. Just Mel Tillis.

Funny, how country songs hit home with their schmaltzy lyrics.
As The Judds sang "Why Not Me?", I thought "Why me?" I empathized with their hit, "Have Mercy on Me." I didn't, however, with Willie Nelson's "Forgiving You Was Easy. The very words were taken from my mouth when John Schneider crooned "I'm Gonna Leave You." I was livid. When Juice Newton's recording of "You Make Me Want to Make You Mind" came on, I agreed completely.

I was also let down. "I'm So Hurt" said it all. But despite my indignation, I really had no

The hispanic stations carried some form of rock music but having lived a full 11 years since my high school Spanish class, I opted to give KCRS a

After all, some things were still the same. Ed Clements was still around there somewhere providing huge doses of sports news and the regulars were pretty convincing as C&W disc jockeys. Jo Ann Bagwell's hearty laugh was still audible in be-tween such inspiring hits as "Geor-gia Keeps Pulling on My Ring" and "Holding Her and Loving You."

Nope. I guess things weren't too

Actually, it was pretty novel to listen to the radio and have absolutely no idea of what to expect. Each song was entirely new to my virgin ears. It wasn't long before I was humming along to such greats as "Shoes-tring", "Does Fort Worth Ever Cross Your Mind?" and "Meet Me in I knew that I was beginning to actually enjoy some of the tunes when I started tapping my foot in anticipation of Dan Seal's "Bop" (as close to rock as country comes, I imagine).

And when I began looking through the C&W section in the al-bum display at Albertson's, I knew I was a goner. Hooked.

I don't know why I fell for C&W. Down deep inside I knew all those recording artists weren't living in trailers and driving beat-up pickup trucks. I knew they weren't genuine.

Let's face it. Rosanne Cash (Johnny's daughter) didn't sleep in the chicken coop growing up.

They're catering to an image that people want to believe in. The good ol' country boy (or girl) made good.

But when George Strait sings "Amarillo By Morning," it's nothing less than soul-restoring. Here's this rodeo rider who has lost everything (wife, kids and the rodeo) and he's not giving up. He's going to Amarillo to ride

Now I don't imagine that Strait spends too much time riding rodeos or even driving to Amarillo (unless he's got a concert, and even then I don't think that he does the driving.) But, it's tearful stuff.

And Sylvia? I swear her engine is purring better than ever.

Yep, I'm hooked.

The agency has also instituted its own invention: the 10 Best, 10 Worst List of wastewater permit holders. The lists, which come out quarterly, publicly recognize those permitees who are "doing a better than aver-age job," and vice versa.

There are some wastewater plants that are producing better-than-average effluent with outmoded equipment, Mason said. Those units are rewarded with some free publicity. Others, he added, have state-of-theart equipment, but release too much pollution.

"We're all in this together," Mason said. "Everybody lives downstream from somebody else.'

The commission is also working with the Texas Water Utilities Association to train treatment plant operators. The agency has the authority to revoke an operator's license, as well as the plant's permit.

Legislators also created a hazardous and solid waste division at the water commission. The division is responsible for issuing permits to businesses that generate, store or dispose

After much debate, lawmakers also approved a law requiring businesses to pay fees associated with that waste.

Producers of hazardous waste must now pay an annual generation fee, ranging from $50 to $1,000, depending on how much waste they produce. Industries that store or treat the waste must also pay an annual facility fee, ranging from $250 to $20,000, depending on how the waste is treated.

Revenue from those two fees, which is not to exceed $3.75 million per year, supports the water commis-

The third fee, based on disposal of hazardous waste, is imposed on a quarterly basis. Waste disposal companies must pay $4 per dry weight ton of hazardous waste they dispose. That fund, which goes toward cleaning up contaminated waste sites in Texas only, is not to exceed $10.75

Lewis names new head of prisons committee

By JIM WARREN

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau AUSTIN — The House committee overseeing Texas prisons has a new chairman and a new style. Rep. Allen Hightower, a soft-spo-ken East Texas Democrat, replaced outspoken prison crtic Ray Keller, a gruff Republican from the outskirts of Dallas who blasted the prison management, the governor and the federal courts.

Hightower quietly took over as the House Law Enforcement Committee chairman Thursday night at a Huntsville fundraiser where House Speaker Gib Lewis announced the change. Keller said last summer he would retire from the House to pursue his business interests and to get mar-

Hightower said Monday that he has three goals as chairman. Prison officials must carry out court-ordered reforms, inmate violence must "at least stay below the national average" and the state must boost prison-employee morale.

Goddess won't be ready for celebration

AUSTIN (AP) - The March 2 sesquicentennial celebration will have to go on without the new Goddess of Liberty statue. She won't be ready for the Capitol dome until June.

Delay in selecting the right metal for the new Goddess, and concerns about March winds combined to postpone completion of the statue, Capitol architect Roy Graham said Monday The old statue, worn and battered by her 97 years atop the Capitol, was removed from the dome last November. The 16-foot zinc statue is now in Rhome, Texas, where preparations are being made for a replacement.

The Monday news conference was called to announce the sale of 1,000 miniature Goddess replicas, at a cost of $1.836 each.

"In Texas it has as much mystique and history behind it as the Statue of Liberty project," said George Bristol, director of the committee raising money for Capitol restoration work.

Want to lower lower insurance rates, remove traffic violations?

ering your insurance rates or removing traffic violations from our record? It can be done! The Defensive Driving School, located in San Miguel Square, will help you accomplish both of these ob-jectives and teach you how to reduce your driving risks.

Instructor Bill Wiley also works for the Midland Fire Department. His years of experience as an ambulance driver is one thing that convinced him that an interesting, well-organized and informa-tive defensive driving course is desperately needed.

"Tve pulled so many bodies out of cars," Bill explains. "It makes you start thinking, Maybe we can change the attitude of the general makes."

al public."

Bill asks, "Did you know that from 1900 to 1984, 2,533,765 Amercians died in U.S. highway accidents?" Compare that to the fact that from 1775-1984 1,186,654 Americans died in all the U.S. Wars. Isn't it time to learn to drive defensively?

The Defensive Driving School's eight-hour course is designed to acquaint drivers with changes in law, behind-the-wheel procedures and driving hazards. The course, which Bill presents in an upbeat manner, guides drivers through clear decision-making processes which can be utilized when split second life and death choices have to be made

The course is so effective that insurance carriers regulated by the State Board of Insurance can give a ten percent liability insurance premium discount to driver who complete the course. This results in an average insurance savings of about $40 per year, while the course itself costs only $20 (clip the coupon from the today's Business/Industry pages and save $2). Drivers can take the course every three years to continue to qualify for the discounts.

Another benefit of the course is that one traffic violation can be removed every two years. This can help drivers keep satisfactory driving records.

The Defensive Driving School in San Miguel Square gives special attention to making the classes interesting. Classes are held every Monday and Tuesday evening from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. For those who prefer a weekend class. the course is also offered Satur-day from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Call (915)697-4578 for registration. Take in the coupon from the Business/Industry pages and save $2. The Defensive Driving School, a member of the National Safety Council, is licensed by the Texas Department of Public Safety and is certified by the Texas Safety Association.

Buffet King serves good Chinese, American Mexican, Japanese food

One of Midland's most unique restaurants, which is located in La Villita Shopping Center, is not called the Buffet King for nothing! At a lunch price (11 a.m. to 3 p.m.) of just $3.99 for adults and even less for children, Buffet King's super buffet features Chinese, American, Mexican and Japanese food. All to be enjoyed, even when you are in a hurry during the work week. In fact, if you need to you can get in and out in just 20 minutes.

The largest lunch buffet in the Permian Basin begins with a ten foot salad bar full of tossed salad, patato salad, fresh vegetables, jello, chocolate pudding and so much

Mexican dishes like tamales, along with American foods such as fried catfish, baked fish, chopped sirloin, Hawaiian ham, roast beef, fried chicken and turkey ala king are just the beginning of the food area.

Fried tempara, chicken teriyaki, egg rolls, fried rice, beef with broccoli, barbecue pork, egg drop soup, and barbecue spare rib are also regularly found at Buffet King. Ice tea, hot tea, soft drinks, mixed drinks, coffee, milk, fortune cookies, cake and ice cream top off a wonderful all-you-can-eat meal.

After 4:30 p.m. it gets even better. Mongolian Barbeque is prepared right before your eyes. This type of food was originally prepared in Mongolia. Because Mongolia was previously a part of China, the food is very similar to Chinese food and is very similar to Chinese food and very unlike what most Americans know as barbecue. "Barbecue" is simply the name for the way the dish is presented.

What is it like experiencing real MONGOLIAN BAR—B—QUE? Well, find out for yourself. Take a bowl and pick your favorites from among the wide selection of cabbage, bean sprouts, celery, broccoli, onion, bell pepper, yellow squash, zucchini and mushrooms. Add your choice of sliced chicken breast, tenderloin beef, sliced pork or barbecue pork. Top it off with one of these sauces: mandarin brown, teriyaki, garlic, sesame oil, sherry wine, ginger or vegetable oil. Then, sit back and watch the chef stir-fry your very own Mongolian bar-b-que. And then? Then, there's still the super buffet to enjoy. You will find many special things on the super buffet from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m., Mon-day through Saturday. Don't forget the beverages and ice cream are al-ways included in the all-you-can-eat price of just $5.95.

Sunday is the day of the extra good buffet. From 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. the super buffet with even more delicious dishes is yours to enjoy When you can enjoy the Buffet King for so little, why not take the whole family this week?

Stop Smoking Clinic will help you quit smoking

Statistics show that 85 percent of all smokers want to quit, yet many continue to smoke. Perhaps, you are one of those that has examined the health risks of smoking and desire to quit but just don't know how. The Stop Smoking Clinic in Mission Square can help you.

Almost daily, new research is completed about the harmful effects of smoking. That's why Surgeon General C. Everett Koop recently said, "We can say again today, with more certainty than ever, that cigarettes are the most important individual health risk in this country, responsible for more premature deaths and disability than any other known

Fran Nobles of the Stop Smoking Clinic says, in addition, there are many benefits that non-smokers enjoy. For example, insurance rates are much lower for nonsmokers. In fact, last year a 40year-old male that smoked had to pay two and a half times as much for insurance as non-smoking males his same age. Likewise, 40 year old women that smoke could cut their insurance cost in half by

"If your goal is still to stop smoking, it's okay to ask for help," says Ms. Nobles. The Stop Smoking Clinic has a special dual focus program which will help you reach your goal of quitting smoking. Smokers are both physically and psychologically addicted to tobacco. Though the physical adof days, many smokers forget about dealing with the psychological dependency. That's why some people report that they gain weight, stutter or become very nervous after quitting. The Stop Smoking Clinic's program is different in that it deals with the psychological needs of clients along with the individuals' physical needs. The program centers around a guaranteed, aversion-type therapy which does not use drugs or hypnosis.

Because the habit is established by association of pleasure or reward, the habit must be broken in the subconscious. The Stop Smoking Clinic deals with this association. This prevents the severe trauma or shock which can be caused by quitting "cold turkey."

In addition, people that go through this program report that they are able to quit without gaining weight. is followed for five days, so there is nothing to lose. Though each client goes through an individualized program, those who sign up as a family or office group get a special discount. If you have been thinking about quitting, call Fran Nobles at 682-7333.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: A budget problem turns out to be a blessing in disguise. You learn how to handle your money better. Love and marriage are sources of special satisfaction. Your hard work and dedication receive a wonderful tribute. New financial rewards boost your spirits. You feel more confident of reaching a long-cherished goal. Be practical. Only invest in things that you fully understand. An unusual assignment gives you a chance to learn new skills.

CELEBRITY. BIRTHDATES: English statesman-essayist Sir Francis Bacon, film pioneer D.W. Griffith, Chicago Cube slugger Briin Dayett, Milwaukee Caldwell, actresses Piper Laurie and Linda Blair.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A career change may not be the best answer to a cash shortage. Capitalize on your ability to stretch a dollar! Your relationship with mate improves when you act less critical. TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You receive an interesting letter or phone call regarding a career change. Follow up immediately. Those who work at home have an especially productive day. Confide in romantic partner and request support.

By JEANE DIXON

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Seek quiet surroundings when working on complex projects. Adopt a positive attitude toward a difficult situation. A family member is apt to be your best ally now. Pursue romance with a clear con-

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Consult a bank official or accountant about a financial problem. The right contact can help you cut through red tape. A family member gives you a hand with household chores.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep abreast of new developments in your field. Member of opposite sex your interest in having greater mobility. Mutual respect helps you and an associate handle a difficult personnel problem.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A work project holds special appeal now. You receive valuable advice from an outsider. Follow it to the letter and you will win big! Member of opposite sex influences a career decision.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Hard work and long hours bring you closer to financial goals. Home life begins to stabilize. Investigate a special scholarship or grant program. You may have the right qualifications!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Correct habits that irritate your co-workers. Someone could pry into your personal affairs. A troubled teen-ager needs understanding, not lectures. Avoid offering unsolicited advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An attractive individual who needles you could be trying to catch your attention! A close friend makes an intriguing career or financial suggestion. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A young person who behaves mysteriously could have hidden motives. He or she may be trying to take advantage of your contacts. A teen-ager volunteers some interesting information. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You have a real gift for putting others at ease. Use it wisely. A personal relationship is more rewarding than in the past. It could be time to set a wedding date!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A financial or career decision requires careful thought. What seems to be the best offer could prove disappointing in the long run. Romance may have to wait while you tend to business.

monds and three clubs. So East must duck. If West wins the ace, he cannot attack spades without presenting you with your ninth trick, and you have time to set up a heart. But let's suppose the jack of clubs wins. Now it's time to turn your attention to hearts. However, you still need to protect against East gaining the lead, so it is correct to cross to the table with the king of diamonds and lead a heart to your king. Again East cannot afford to rise with the ace, and if West wins you have the time to set up another club as your game-going trick. Note that, as the cards lie, you can be defeated if, after winning the jack of clubs, you lead a heart from hand. East captures the queen with the ace and returns a spade to set up West's suit, and West still has the ace of clubs as an entry to cash his tricks before you can take nine.

DICK TRACY

Omar Sharif's visit to new York to film his video-cassette "Play Bridge With Omar Sharif" was the occasion for some friendly bridge with the Goren staff. This hand could easily have been included in those selected for the cassette. To test your skill, cover the East and West hands and see if you can spot the sure-trick line for your contract after West leads a low spade and dummy's jack wins the trick.

The auction was uneventful Once North discovered that his partner did not have a four-card heart suit, he bid what he expected his side to make.

After the jack of spades wins, you have time to establish the tricks you need in hearts and clubs if you can succeed in keeping East, the danger hand, off lead. At trick two, lead a low club from dummy toward your jack. If East has the ace and steps up with it, you have nine tricks-two spades, four dia-

Williams investigated for DWI

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — Singer Andy Williams was ar-rested Monday for investigation of drunken driving, police said. Williams, 57, was driving his Rolls-Royce convertible when he was pulled over about 1 p.m. in San Bernardino County, said Cal-ifornia Highway Patrol Sgt. Rich Carroll and Officer Greg Transue.

The singer was booked into the San Bernardino County Jail, said sheriff's spokesman Jim Bryant. People arrested for investigation of drunken driving are usually held for about five hours and released,

Williams was stopped by a CHP officer who had followed the entertainer for about three miles, said CHP Sgt. Jay Jones. It was not clear why Williams was stopped or whether he had agreed to a sobriety test, Jones said. The officer had not submitted his arrest report and further details would not be immediately available, Jones said.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Comedian George Burns ushered in his 90th birthday Monday with a walk around a pool, a game of bridge, a good cigar and a dry quip, in typical Burns style.

"I feel the same way I did when I was 89," he told his manager, Irvin Fein.

Burns, who has had enough 90th birthday parties in recent days to wear out a younger man, began the day with a half-mile walk around the swimming pool of his Beverly Hills home. The star of the "Oh God!" films in 1977, 1980 and 1984, in which he gave a wry and comical version of a forgiving God, and "The George Burns and Gracie Allen" comedy TV series in the 1950s with his late wife, went to his Hollywood office. He had a photo session, went to lunch and played some bridge, Fein

That was followed by a nap before a quiet birth-day dinner at the Bistro Gardens in Beverly Hills with Fein and a few friends.

Burns had said he planned to celebrate his birthday with "two martinis and some very hot soup."
The revelry for the comedian began Jan. 11 when "The George Burns 90th Birthday Special" was taped for CBS. The show was broadcast Friday night.

Jack Lemmon, Carol Channing, Milton Berle, Red Buttons, Bob Hope and Rich Little were among the stars who had nice things to say about the comedian on the tribute.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) - The peaceful composure of historic Charleston's narrow streets was shattered by hundreds of shrieking soap opera fans Monday as the popular daytime drama "General Hospital" started three days of taping.

About 350 fans, mostly teen-age girls, crowded behind police lines in the city's historic district trying to catch a glimpse of their favorite stars.

As the production crew taped outside a nearby home, screams went up as the crowd caught a glimpse of the stars. It surged forward, only to be ordered back to the sidewalk by police with

'I've never seen anything like this, never," said ABC spokeswoman Kim Rowley.

When "General Hospital" goes on location, the shooting locales and times are not publicized, she said. But because of Charleston's new film guidelines, such information was required to be made public beforehand.

The production crew came to the city looking for a quaint, small-town atmosphere to portray the fic-tional town of Laurelton. St. John's Lutheran Church was to be the site of the wedding between Terry, played by Robyn Bernard, and Kevin, por-trayed by Kevin Bernhardt, according to a press release from the South Carolina State Development

The Charleston episodes will be broadcast between Feb. 5 and Feb. 17.

DEAR ABBY

Electrologist smells end of relationship

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an electrologist. A woman came to me to have the hair on her upper lip removed by electrolysis. I just finished her fifth treatment, and I do not think I can give her another. Abby, this woman has the worst body odor I have ever encountered! I noticed that her hair is always filthy. I don't believe she bathes at all. She smells so bad that it's impossible for me to work on her. Also, the room smells after she leaves.

Her husband drives her to her appointments, and I cannot for the life of me understand how he can live with her and let this go on.

How do dentists, physicians, opticians and other health-care professionals handle a problem like this?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: You assumed that because the woman's hair is filthy and she smells bad, she doesn't bathe. A reasonable assumption, but it may not be true; she may have a serious medical problem of which she is unaware, so it would be a kindness to recommend that she see her physician about her chronic body

Health-care professionals should (and most do) instruct patients with chronic body odor due to carelessness to bathe and wear clean clothing for their next visit.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for two years and have one child. We live on the East Coast. My in-laws, who live on the West Coast, visited us this last Christmas. When she was here, my mother-inlaw made it clear that she wants all her children to be with her next Christmas. My in-laws are in their early 50s, in good health and quite well-off financially.

I think her request is outrageous and beyond our means. Although I have a good job, we are heavily in debt: $5,000 for a new car, $7,500 for my university loans, and $5,000 for other debts to begin our new home. I mentioned that it might be too expensive for us to be with them next Christmas, and my mother-in-law put us on notice to start saving now so we could make it!

Her other children are also struggling to make ends meet, but she informed them that they are expected to start saving now!

Abby, is this woman within her rights to make such demands? And am I within my rights to tell her I think she's asking too much? — FU-

RIOUS SON-IN-LAW

DEAR FURIOUS: She is within her "rights" to issue any kind of invitation she wishes. And you are within yours to decline if you feel it's beyond your means. Whether you permit yourself to be manipulated is still your choice.

(Getting married? Send for Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Basin and UCLA. She has earned both a bachelors and a masters degree. At UCLA Ms. Bynum studied in the psychology department with Dr.

Kay Bynum, director of Developmental Disabilities Center, will speak on the Developmental Disabilities Center School.

Amy Dean Robnett, the second speaker, will discuss Special Olympics, which she has been involved in for several years.

Ms. Bynum attended Richland College, North Texas State University, the University of Texas at Dallas, the University of Texas of the Permian Basin and UCLA. She has earned both a bachelors and a masters degree. At UCLA Ms. Bynum studied in the psychology department with Dr. Ivar Lovars on the young autism project. She has been a supervisor of the Special Care School-Day Care Unit for the mentally retarded at Carrollton, and head teacher at the Autistic Treatment Center, a pilot project to mainstream young autistic children into regular preschool.

Ms. Bynum has also been in private practice as a behavioral therapist, working with young developmentally disabled children and their families in Dallas and in Midland. She founded the Developmental Disability Center in 1984.

Mrs. Robnett graduated from Ohio State University with a degree in special education. She taught in the Midland Independent School District for four years. She is a member of the MARC board and is active in the Developmental Disabilities Special Children's League, Opportunity Center Auxiliary and Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae.

The meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Thursday at 2202 Western Drive

Under optimum conditions, during its closest approach to earth, Halley's comet may be seen in April during an expedition to Peru and Ecuador. In the company of Mark J. Coco, who is a photographer and an astronomer, participants will be able to view the comet from Cuzco, the Urubamba Valley, from the ruins at Machu Picchu, at Quito and during a cruise among the Galapagos Islands. Tour highlights also include visits to Lima, Incan sites and Indian markets, and nature sites in the Galapagos.

The expedition, which leaves Miamī for Lima April 3 and returns from Guayaquil April 18, ranges in price from $2,327 to $2,659, depending on shipboard accommodations, plus air fare of about $650. The price includes transportation to the Galapagos Islands, hotel accommodations, many meals, sightseeing, transfers and advice on viewing and photographing the comet. Pasquale "Pat" Consalvo, 59, a New York City construction worker, and his wife Angelina are all smiles in New York Monday after the announcement that he had won $30 million in the state's lottery jackpot.

For 25 years, Consalvo has worked as a mason and laborer on renovations and alterations. He is a C member of Local 23 of the construction workers union, and makes about $800 a week; to make sure that he did not report for work Monday, relatives and friends ripped up his work clothes.

So instead, he went to a news conference, where he complained that he had not slept since learning of his good fortune Saturday night. For two nights and two days, the Consalvos celebrated with noise, champagne and Chinese food.

The father of three and grandfather of three said his immediate plans were to "go home and lay on my couch." Otherwise, he said, he would spend his winnings on his family, perhaps buying a new car to replace his '84 Oldsmobile or buying jewelry or a fur for his wife, Angelina.

I want is for my children to enjoy it, and for them to have good health." After taxes are withheld, the Consalvos will receive 21 payments of at least $1,142,857 each, spread over the next 20 years. That jackpot had grown since Dec. 28, the first of six drawings which passed without anyone selecting all six numbers in the twice-weekly lottery. The previous record jackpot in New York, $41 million, was set last August. That windfall was shared by the holders of three winning tickets,

The largest payout to one person in North America remains $40 million to Michael Wittkowski of Chicago, who won the Illinois lottery in September 1984. Wittkowski shared the money with his father, brother and sister.

NATION IN BRIEF

Baby, focus of legal fight, dies

BOSTON (AP) - A severely ill 31/2-month-old boy died Monday of respiratory failure, two days after his doctor agreed "enough had been enough," the child's mother said. The parents had threatened to file suit to block doctors from prolonging the child's life. Linda Bellingham said she and her husband, who owe at least $700,000 in medical bills, would continue to press for legislation "so the Ricky Bellinghams of the world will be able to die with peace and dignity."

Ricky had been in the intensive care unit of Children's Hospital since he was born Sept. 24, five weeks premature. He had a deformed esophagus and trachea, a liver infection, internal bleeding, an enlarged gall bladder and a hernia.

He had undergone three major operations and 10 other surgical procedures before Mrs. Bellingham and her husband, Jack, asked the hospital early this month to quit performing operations and to disconnect the child's feeding tubes so he could "die in peace, not pain."

The couple visited Ricky in the hospital Saturday and notified officials they were going to court "if they didn't agree that enough had been enough," Mrs. Bellingham said.

Harvard ponders transients' fate

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - About 200 Harvard students met with university officials Monday night to talk about the fate of transients who lost their warm sleeping spots behind a dormitory when the school covered up heating vents.

No decision was reached at the closed meeting on what to do about the homeless or the vents, which the university uncovered over the weekend because of what Leverett House master John E. Dowling described as intense publicity.

But the students said they were satisfied the university was taking the matter seriously while trying to protect residents of the 450-student dorm. The problem will never be gone as long as there are homeless people in the area," said senior Julie Schrager. "What we're happy about is Harvard is not putting it off."

Dowling said he asked the university to take action against the street people this summer when he learned that a student had reported that a man had threatened her with a knife last spring.
