On the Inside

Pilots

Air Force pilots planning on getting out for a career in the airlines had perhaps better think twice. According to an article publiched in the Wall Street Journal, airlines expect heavy cutbacks in personnel in the face of heavy financial losses in 1980. See the full story on page three.

Plaudits

Air Force Communications Command celebrated their ninteenth anniversary in style by capturing a third of the awards in the annual Defense Communications Agency's awards for outstanding communications stations. For the full story, and a look at Reese's comm people at work, see page four.

Awards

The Air Force is fifty pilots richer after last Friday's graduation of Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 80-06. For a look at the results of awards presentation, see page

After weeks of anxiously awaiting their test results, 77 Reese NCOs received good news from Promotions and Testing recently when selectees for master and technical sergeant were released.

Twenty nine techs were selected for another stripe, while the remain of the selectees were staffs. Heading of the list of E-7 promotions were TSgts. James A. Andrews, Joe W. Box, James Burger, David D. Campbell, William A. Conoly and Michael E. Custy.

Also selected were William J. Dayton, William P. Desorbo, Dennis L. Goodman, Archie L. Hall, Lawrence Hall, Daniel L. Heckler, Edward Herrera, Alan C. Johnson, Bob H. Key and Abdon Marmolejo Jr.

Other techs selected included Joseph L. McBride, Charles P. Milliken, Stephen P. Mock, Vincent C. Nappa, Porter D. New and Elmer T. Otworth Jr. Rounding out the list were Daniel R. Parks, Wayne A. Powell, Charley Schumpert, Frank P. Sharpe, Jr., Dewey L. Tessier and Jose G. Vera.

Staffs who will be receiving their fifth stripe include Thomas S. Abney, Edgar B. Balleza, Brian J. Bastow, Clinton J. Biediger, Roger H. Bossler, William J. Bowen, Jackie D. Bradshaw, Roger D. Brown and Paul R. Burkett. Other selectees were Lawrence J. Carter, Alfonso G. Castillo, Danny F. Chevalier, Jay W. Clyde, Joseph J. Costello, Raymond E. Cote, Joan M. Folio and Edmund C. Ford Jr.

Others promoted to tech were Randall T. Furlough, Harold E. Green Jr., David L. Hale, George E. Headley, Robert Hempel, Leroy Hobbs, James A. Holmes, James E. Ilg and Dennis W. Jenkins. Also included on the list were Nathaniel Jones, Kenneth A. Lampe, Charles R. Lane, Raul B. Losoya, Glenn R. Meyers, Raymond R. Moore, Mercy A. Padilla, Frederick R. Palmer and Frederick C. Pepper.

Thomas R. Portolan, Clarence Redic Jr., Hershel L. Ritter, Joe D. Sadler, Primo V. Segafredo, Kerry G. Shafer and James L. Shaw were named on the list also. The final names on the selection notices were Daniel F. Steed, Richard H. Thomas, Paul J. Tolonen, Ricardo Vasquez, Stephen D. Whitsel and Rick D. Winslow.

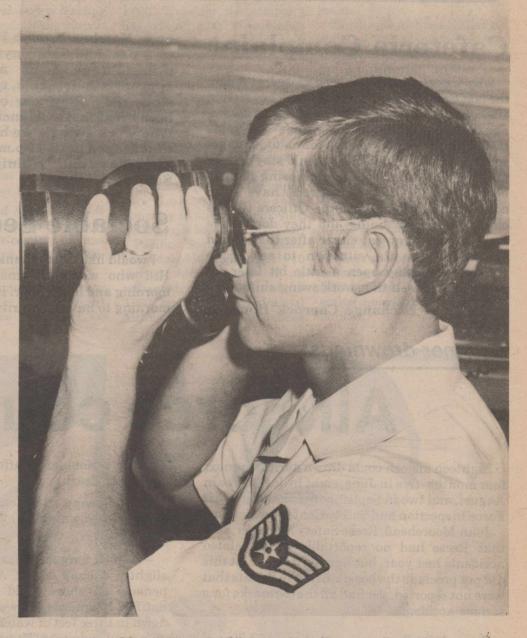

Comm celebrates anniversary

by TSgt. Roderick D. Dorsey 1958 Comm Squadron

In 1961, West Side Story won an academy award as the best picture of the year, the Crimson Tide of Alabama was crowned the national collegiate football champions and the Air Force Communications Command (AFCC) (formerly AFCS) was established as a major air command.

Tuesday, the 1958 Communications Squadron will join its sister comm units in celebrating the 19th anniversary of AFCC as the communications arm of the U.S. Air Force. In this capacity, the command provides the telecommunications, air traffic control and automated data processing services that support the need for rapid and reliable command and control of U.S. aerospace forces around the world.

fixed facilities at every USAF installation, supports other government agencies and can deploy mobile communications and air traffic services equipment by truck or air craft to support operations anywhere in the world. AFCC's forerunner, the Airways and Air Communications Service, was established in 1946 to assume air force base communications responsibilities. However, in 1961 the fledgling service took on a new name and was tasked with a much broader mission. Redesignated and elevated to Major Air Command status, the worldwide organization soon began

Freedom: Not just a word

by Chap. (Lt. Col.) A.G. Johnson

My name is Freedom. To some people I am just a word, an indefinite term used by an idealistic people. But, in the final analysis, I am a word that underlies the whole system of government of our nation, of a world, of a universe.

It is difficult, sometimes impossible to define me. Many people describe me by their feelings or emotions for the moment; a lump in the throat as the flag passes in a parade; tears in the eyes as "taps" signals the final resting place for a friend or loved-one.

Others put me in the dress of the academic atmosphere... or use my name in appeals to the highest courts in the land ... "freedom of speech," "freedom of religion," "freedom of the press," ... searching, striving, struggling to find meaning in life . . . in the name of FREEDOM.

I am difficult to achieve. I have cost the lives of countless thousands of men, women and children in the course of human history. They made the supreme sacrifice in order that I might be more than a word to future generations. Many others have been imprisoned for my cause, because they sought to preserve the gift of their forefathers.

What was once a privilege because it was granted by others is now an obligation, a standard to uphold. I can hear the voices of those who have gone before now:

- "Take up your quarrel with the foe:
- To you from failing hands we throw
- The torch; be yours to hold it high.
- If you break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies grow In Flanders Field." - -John McCrea The echo of the past serves to remind present generations of their command of the future. And the torch is passed on . . . in the name of FREEDOM.

I am priceless, I cannot be bought. I must be earned, and lived, by one and by all.

I am idealistic. I am a quantity, a quality of life meant for all people, everywhere.

But, I am elusive. Once attained, I demand constant attention - as does a petulant child - lest I stray away, or be captured by the selfish desires of others.

It then remains the responsibility of each person in a free society to strive to guarantee the same rights and privileges for his neighbor as those he possesses; that is the essence of my being. Yes, that's it. I am a privilege so some, an obligation to all.

Cafeteria Complaint

Why has the cafeteria been closed at 3 p.m. the last three or four Fridays? I feel they should stay open past three instead of closing at two. For the people that work swings and mids there's not too many places for us to go to get something to eat. I feel they should stay open to maybe six or seven. Is the early closing going to be a trend? A lot of officers have been complaining also because the Officers Club is closed at one for dining and they don't have many places to go eat either after that. Could you check into the situation to see if the cafeteria can stay open a little bit later for people like myself that work swing shifts.

The Base Exchange Caprock House is

For those of you who work swings, we have the Talon Inn that is open until 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and midnight Friday and Saturday

Sociable Security

I would like to say thank-you to Amn. Steven Hill who works the main gate during the morning and lunch hour. It really brightens the morning to have a Security Policeman like him be the first to greet you in the morning with a smile. He even gives a nod of greeting as he waves you through the gate.

It's a pleasure to see someone who enjoys his job.

We gave Airman Hill a chance to comment. Here's what he said. "I feel it's a privilege to serve the Reese community and I enjoy working with the people here. I feel that treating you with as much courtesy and respect as possible is part of my job and I enjoy helping people. The smiling faces and friendly waves make me feel that I'm accomplishing my job. All the members of the Security Policy Division take pride in serving all Reese people."

Air Force counts 18 deaths

Eighteen airmen could drown during the next four months-five in June, eight in July, three in August, and two in September-according to Air Force Inspection and Safety Center predictions.

John Moorehead, Reese Safety Manager, said that Reese had no reportable water related accidents last year, but hurried to add that this did not preclude the possibility of incidents that were not reported, yet had all the earmarks for a serious accident.

He specifically mentioned the possibility of near-drownings; cases that, when averted, leave no serious after affects, but could have resulted in death.

The following situations were among those leading to drownings at other bases in June and July 1979:

—A staff sargeant was swimming alone in slightly choppy water. A few minutes later, persons on shore could not locate him and notified lifeguards. He was found floating face down in three feet of water. He had been known as a good swimmer. There was a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. —A senior master sergeant and three others were fishing 50 yards from the shore when the lake became choppy and their boat began taking in water. The boat swamped and sank in 25 feet of water. The sergeant, who was not wearing a life vest although one was available, drowned. The other three had life vests on and were not injured.

Emphasis on water safety this summer can make a difference. Don't become a statistic of what not to do. Take practical measures for a safe outing.

Windmill curtails use of VISA card

Members of the Windmill Enlisted Open Mess will not be able to use their "limited" Visa cards after June 30, announced club officials earlier this week.

According to SMSgt. George Lawrence, Enlisted Open Mess manager, the First National Bank of Chicago, which recently took over the Visa franchise, has elected to cancel the limited Visa cards now in use here. In addition, members with regular Visa cards will no longer have their monthly dues charged automatically. All dues must now be paid on a monthly basis. Dues can be paid by cash or charged to Visa or Master Charge.

All club members must come in and get a new club card. The new cards will have stickers identifying the month that the card is paid up through. Airmen (E-4 and below) will now receive a standard red club card. Once this card is issued, the airmen are liable for dues until they resign in writing.

"We realize that many of our members like the convenience of charging," said Sergeant

Lawrence. "So, we are establishing a token credit system."

The tokens, explained Sergeant Lawrence, are each worth $1 and will be issued at the main cashier's cage in the lobby. When tokens are issued they will be charged to the member's account. All accounts must be cleared at the end of each month. Members may also use their regular Visa or Master Charge cards.

The casher's cage will be open for recertification of applications and the issuing of new cards Monday through Thursday from noon until 8 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday from noon until 10 p.m.

Sergeant Lawrence encouraged all members to come in and get their new cards as soon as possible.

"The sooner we get this done the easier things will be for everyone concerned," he said.

Airlines report heavy losses in first quarter

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -The airline industry is starting to feel the pinch of the current economic slowdown, according to a recent article in the Wall Street Journal.

Employee layoffs and flight reductions are spreading on the eve of the industry's two busiest months, July and August. The paper reports analysts are predicting heavy financial losses for most airlines in the current quarter for 1980.

Trans World Airlines says it was one of the earlier carriers to see the trouble coming and has reduced its work force to 34,000, down 2,800 positions.

United Airlines has also been cutting back. Daily flight departures are down to 1,300 from last summer's peak of layoffs and service curtail-1.600. Thus far the company has laid off 2,000 of its 54,000 employees, and is planning claiming any plans for layoffs, 1,160 more layoffs before year's end.

American Airlines is planning a regular "seasonal" reduction in the fall. Western Airlines hasn't yet decided the extent of layoffs they will have, but is already "running lean," according to a company spokesman quoted in the paper. The Los Angeles-based company is already employing 1,000 people less than last year.

Pacific Southwest Airlines has reduced its flights nearly 10 percent and will lay off an estimated one percent of its 3,960 employees, Continental Airlines has also announced ments.

Northwest Airlines, while disintends to reduce seat capacity for its domestic flights. The company's first quarter loss for this year was $10.9 million.

Braniff International has put 185 pilots on leave of absence, but says there have been no other layoffs.

"The grounding of planes and cutbacks in flights are positive steps for an industry driving toward a monumental loss figure for 1980," says analyst Julius Madutis in the article. In the first quarter of this year, the industry sustained a loss of $269 million versus a year earlier quarterly profit of $5.7 million.

Capt. Felix J. Stalls III, formerly of the Staff Judge Advocate's office, assumes duties today as the new area defense counsel. Replacing Capt. Carson Grimm, Captain Stalls will be responsible for representing individuals involved in military courts-martial, Article 32 hearings, pretrial interrogations or any other military justice action. assuming increased communications responsibilities. Initially, communications workloads of other major air commands were transferred to AFCS as the moves became feasible.

In 1969, all communications engineering and installation responsibilities were assumed.

This was followed nine years later with the assumption of the Air Force's automated data processing centers and their workload.

The challenges of monitoring, repairing, installing and operating one of the world's largest communications systems have earned AFCC units 11 presidential unit citations, 242 Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards and numerous individual achievements. The command operates from more than 425 locations in 23 countries handling everything from walkie-talkies and telephones to tropospheric scatter antennas and satellite ground terminals.

AFCC nets top share of awards

Scott AFB, Ill. (AFNS)--Air Force Communications Command units have won one-third of the Defense Communications Agency's annual awards for outstanding communications stations.

Weather words

The Reese Weather Station has installed an automatic answering service for persons wanting a quick forecast of local conditions for planning of individual activities.

The new line, Ext. 3570, gives a general weather summary for non-operational use.

The new system allows the undermanned weather unit to provide information for the general community without undermining the unit's primary mission of support to flying.

CHAMPUS includes kids

Washington (AFNS)--Are children of active-duty members eigible for Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services benefits? How about children over 21? These are typical questions asked about child eligibility.

For Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services purposes, eligible children are unmarried and under 21--natural born, legally adopted and stepchildren. They include children of active-duty service members, retirees and deceased activeduty and retired people.

There are some special cases of eligibility. For example:

-Students aged 21 or 22 are eligible for benefits if they are full-time students in an approved college or university and are dependent upon the sponsor for more than 50 percent of their support.

-A child incapable of selfsupport because of a physical or mental condition is eligible if the incapacity existed before the 21st birthday and has continued without interruption. The sponsor must contribute at least 50 percent of the support.

-Illegitimate children may also be eligible under the above and other circumstances.

Change-of-status conditions may affect a child's eligibility, such as divorce or adoption. For further information on child eligibility, check with the health benefits adviser at a service medical facility, the CHAMPUS fiscal intermediary which pays claims in your area or write to CHAMPUS, Aurora, Colo. 80045.

Rattlers handcuff Rebels; extend city league streak

Backing up a sterling defensive performance with a powerful attack, the Rattler fast-pitch softball team continued its dominance of the Lubbock city league by downing the Rebels, 6-1, last week.

Coach A.G. Johnson's charges now stand at 6-0 in city league action.

Against the Rebels, sparkling defensive plays such as Coy Jackson's diving catch of a line drive that would have scored at least two runs were evident throughout the game.

Offensively, Jackson led the Rattlers with a two RBI triple. Leroy Weddington and Roy Emerson also ripped threebaggers while hitting .500 in the game.

Roy Johnson went the distance for the Rattlers. The Rebels' lone run was the first scored off of Johnson in his last three city league starts.

The Rattlers will face Mote on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. on McKenzie Park Field-2.

The Rattlers continued to find tournament play a little rougher than the city league. The base team won two of four in the Lamesa Invitation Softball Tournament last weekend.

After losing to the highly regarded Portales Merchants, 8-5, the varsity came back to beat Texas Gasses, 4-3, and a Lamesa squad, 8-0, before being eliminated by Lamesa Plains 7-3.

Reese was leading in the game against Plains when a 'back-at-you" liner hit Rattler pitcher Willie Johnson in the hand. Johnson had to be pulled and Roy Johnson, who had already pitched 18 innings in 16 hours, was forced into the lineup.

"Roy had to work too much," said the Rattler coach after the loss. "He just was too tired to throw effectively."

The most valuable player for Reese in the tournament was Weddington. The Rattler standout was 12 for 15 at the plate and was a defensive mainstay throughout the tourney.

"We played well," said Johnson. "The teams we lost to finished first and second. We are getting closer to the way we should be playing each week."

The city league win and the tournament split, raised the Rattlers overall season record to 12-6.

OMS-1 remains unbeaten

Organizational Maintenance-1 picked up three wins last week, one by forfeit, to extend the team's intramural slow-pitch softball league unbeaten streak to eight games.

The wins also boosted OMS-1 to a two-game advantage over the second place 54th Flying Training Squadron, now 5-1 on the year.

OMS-1 opened the week with an easy 13-4 win over the Civil Engineers. A forfeit by the 1958th Communications Squadron gave the leaders their seventh victory in as many starts. Air Base Group became the eighth victim of the OMS title express, falling in a hard fought 6-4 decision.

The 54th FTS, the only other league team with less than two losses, beat Sturon, 9-4, to keep contact with front-running OMS-1.

Third ranked Supply added to victories to improve its record to 5-2. After collecting a forfeit from Sturon, the Supply players beat Field Maintenance Squadron, 15-3.

Rounding out the top five teams are Sturon and FMS (4-3). Sturon beat CE, 14-11 to post one win against two losses. FMS went two-for-three on the week, beating the 35th FTS, 17-3 and Air Base Group, 14-10.

Reese holds softball tourney

Fourteen women's slow-pitch softball teams, including two Reese teams, are scheduled for a double elimination tournament here this weekend.

The invitational tournament is slated for a 9 a.m. start on Saturday. Action is scheduled women's league. The varsity is one of three teams listed as pretourney favorites. Another women's loop squad, the Blue Diamonds, is entered in the tourney.

The top ranked team in the 14squad field is Little Lampe. Tourney officials expect the city

However, many of the players from that champoinship team will be in action. They are expected to play for Golden Pawn, making that squad a serious challenger for the title.

Rounding out the field are the Tigerettes, Stubb's Barbecue,

Better Halves down Red Hots

Down to just one out, the Better Halves exploded for three runs to upset the previously unbeaten Red Hots, 11-10, and post their first Women's Slowpitch Softball League victory this season.

Behind 10-8, in the bottom of the fifth inning with one out and runners on first and second Barbara Campbell singled home Jenny Laurenzano to make the score 10-9. Then with runners on first and third Betty Pusser's ground ball brought home Irene Parham and Campbell with the tying and winning runs.

In other loop action, the Blue Diamonds stopped the Dusty Devils, 10-5, the Red Hots beat the Dusty Devils, 10-9, and the Better Halves lost to the Blue Diamonds, 9-7.
