Harvesting of Early Maize Crop Almost Finished

Central Baptist Church Revival Begins Sunday

Plans have been completed for a one-week revival at the Central Baptist Church in this city, which will begin Sunday, August 23 and continue through Sunday, August 30. The Rev. J. V. Vestal, pastor, will be the evangelist and will bring a series of revival messages that will be of interest to everyone. F. C. Hipp will be song director during the revival, and gospel singing will be a feature at each service. Evening services will be held at 7:30 o'clock each week-day, with the regular Sunday schedule of services being followed on opening and closing days of the revival. Harvesting of the early maize crop in the Haskell area will be completed within a week or ten days, local buyers and warehouse men said Wednesday. They estimated that between 65 and 75 per cent of the crop had been harvested.

Yield on dryland maize has been from 2,500 to 3,000 pounds per acre, to make the crop the best ever raised in Haskell County, in the opinion of grain dealers.

All the early maize has been sold by the producer, since the market price of $1.50-$1.40 was higher than the Government loan which would return only $1.28 net to the farmer.

Very little of the maize brought the higher price, the market starting at $1.50 and quickly settling to the current $1.40 figure.

Virtually all of the grain has been shipped out about as fast as it was received by local dealers. Some of the crop has been moved out by rail, with trucks handling a large part of the crop.

The bumper crop of early-planted maize will not be duplicated by late grain sorghums, which has deteriorated rapidly during the recent seige of dry, hot weather and is needing rain badly.

Three Face Judge For Liquor Law Violations

Violations of the liquor law spelled trouble for three Haskell County men who were held before Judge Jim Alvis last week. Two paid fines totalling $254.40, and the third made $500 bond pending trial of his case. Heaviest fine, $150 and costs of $27.20, was assessed Marion Bell, who entered a plea of guilty before County Judge Jim Alvis to a charge of possession of beer for the purpose of sale. The charges were filed after Constable Raymond Denson of Rule and Deputy Sheriff Moreland Glass had seized 32 cases of beer Saturday at a farmhouse near the Sagerton "V" south of Rule, occupied by Bell. Also in County Court, a fine of $50 and costs was assessed against a Mexican, Natividad Bernal, who entered a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated. Three other Negroes, two men and a woman were charged with assault with intent to murder in complaints filed in Justice Court in connection with the shooting. Despite their wounds, the three victims were able to get away from the scene of the shooting under their own power. They were rounded up later by Deputy Sheriff Moreland Glass who investigated after being notified of the gunplay.

Fixtures Being Installed for New Food Store

Fixtures and equipment for Haskell's newest business establishment, a Lucky Dollar Food Store, are being installed in the Oates Buildings on the west side of the square this week.

The store will occupy two buildings formerly housing Sherman's Floor Co. and used furniture market. Two passageways have been cut in the wall between the two buildings to combine the quarters into a single store.

Fixtures, refrigerated cases and other equipment for the store were moved here from Quana and from another store in that section.

Owner of the new store here is Glenn Barber of Munday, well-known West Texas grocer. Local manager will be Olen King, formerly of this city who is returning to Haskell from Lubbock where he has been associated with Furr Food Stores for some time.

Opening date of the new Haskell store has been tentatively set for early September.

Season's First Cotton Ginned Here Wednesday

First bale of cotton from the 1959 crop to be ginned in Haskell was brought in Wednesday afternoon by John and J. L. Grand of Haskell.

The cotton was produced on the Killingsworth farm a few miles southeast of town, which the Grands are working this year.

The bale, processed at the Duncan Gin Co., weighed 605 pounds, a turn-out from 2,190 pounds of boll cotton.

Mr. Grand estimated that his crew went over seven acres in getting the first bale.

The cotton was planted around the middle of April, and Mr. Grand believes he will have enough cotton open today (Thursday) for another bale.

Aspermont Man Fined $750 in County Court

A fine of $750 and court costs of $27.20 was assessed Kenneth Hays of Aspermont on a plea of guilty before County Judge Jim Alvis Tuesday of last week. The Aspermont man was charged with possession of liquor, in a complaint signed by Chief of Police Tom P. Barnett. The charge was the outgrowth of a seizure made by the city officer, Highway Patrolman Tommy Wood, and Eugene L. McNeely, an officer with the State Liquor Control Board. The officers confiscated a quantity of liquor when they stopped Hays' car in northeast Haskell recently. The $750 fine was recommended by County Attorney Curtis Pogue. The fine and costs, a total of $777.20, was paid immediately, court officials said.

REV. JOE T. HALL

Dates for conducting the blood typing program in Haskell have been set for Aug. 25 and 27, from 6 to 10 p. m., at the Community Room in the Haskell National Bank.

Sponsors of the program urge all men and women between the ages of 16 to 55 years, who can and would be willing to give blood when needed, to come and be typed on one of the above dates.

At Rochester Tuesday night, 141 volunteer blood donors were typed in initiating the county-wide typing program. Another session will be held at Rochester tonight (Thursday) for the benefit of those unable to have their blood typed Tuesday night, it was announced.

Similar blood typing programs will be held at Rule and Weinert, with dates to be announced later. If people from these towns can come on to Haskell on either Aug. 26 or 27, they are urged to do so.

Persons who know their blood type are asked to fill in the form on Page 10 of The Free Press and mail or turn in this information to Mrs. W. F. Trice, Haskell, Texas. A new card will be issued, and the person's name will be included in the Walking Blood Bank list.

Gene Elliott, technician at the Haskell Clinic will be in charge of the blood typing program.

Volunteer workers helping on Aug. 25th will be: Mrs. Monte Frierson, Mrs. W. F. Trice, Mrs. Robert Speer and Miss Nettie McCollum.

Barbara Elliott, Gail Ratliff, Geneva Franklin and Gail Spain will be card typists. Twyla Hipp and Nancy Lawson will be in charge of keeping materials used clean.

On Thursday evening, Aug. 27, members of the B&PW Club will help with the typing program.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson have returned from a vacation spent in Eureka Springs, Ark., and other points in the Ozark Mountains.

Wounded were Annie Clare Whitaker, struck in the right shoulder by a bullet from a .22 caliber pistol, Bersie Lee Whitaker, with a bullet in the calf of her right leg, and Alton H. Parks, hit in the right side by a bullet from the small caliber revolver. The three Negroes were treated at the Haskell Hospital and released to go home.

Charged in connection with the shooting were George Hicks, 55; his wife, Euanna Hicks, about 33; and his son, Charles Hicks, about 25. All are Negroes.

The shooting occurred, officers learned, in a cafe operated by another Negro, Bubba Whitaker.

Officers were given several versions as to what took place, with the shooting believed to have developed when two of the Negro women began fighting and were ordered out of the place.

Only one pistol was used, officers were told, a 9-shot .22 caliber revolver from which all nine bullets were fired.

Directing the twice-a-day sessions are Coaches Ray Overton Jr., Dick Gaines, Jimmy Browning and Bill (Senator) Blakley.

"We're proud of the way our boys are getting into the training grind, they have a wonderful attitude and spirit," Overton commented.

Indian Boosters Elect Officers, Directors at Meeting Tuesday

Officers and directors were elected and plans made for the annual membership drive, at the first meeting of the Indian Booster Club, held Tuesday night in the HHS lunchroom.

Elected president was Allen Reeves, with Stan Loper being named vice president and Geo. Neely re-elected as secretary and treasurer. New directors elected are Sam Crume and Tom Watson, succeeding C. O. Holt and the late Floyd Cook.

A committee on membership was appointed, consisting of C. O. Holt, Jack Medford and Wayne Phenister.

In connection with the membership drive, plans were approved for setting up a membership booth at Indian Stadium next Tuesday evening, Aug. 25, when the Indians and Munday Moguls have scheduled a pre-season scrimmage session.

Beginning the first week in September, the Boosters will meet each Tuesday evening in the lunchroom at 8 p. m. On Tuesdays when Junior High home games are scheduled, the Booster will meet immediately after the game.

Highlighting the meeting Tuesday night were talks by Coaches Ray Overton Jr., Dick Gaines, Jimmy Browning and Bill Blakley, dealing with the football outlook for the coming season. Coach Overton also told of some of the equipment needs of the squad, and of some new gear that had been bought this year.

Coaches praised the attitude and spirit of boys reporting for football practice this week. "The squad is small, and we lack depth and experience, but the boys have a real fine attitude and are working hard," Overton stated.

The Indians face a tough schedule in District 6AA this year, and also meet strong opponents in their non-conference games.

Coach Overton pointed out that the Indians meet Spur Bulldogs in the opener on Sept. 4. "The Bulldog squad is practically the same team that met Stamford last year in the semifinals," Overton said. He added that Spur had 26 lettermen returning this year.

New Cotton Warehouses Are Asset to Community

A new business enterprise in Haskell, the Haskell County Warehouse and Compress Company, is making a valuable contribution to the economic development of the community in the extensive building program launched by the company.

The locally owned corporation is investing thousands of dollars in the initial phases of a construction program which will be continually expanded in the future, in order to provide warehouse facilities for the tremendous cotton production in Haskell's trade territory.

The warehouse facilities being provided now, and plans for a compress in the near future, will help make Haskell a major cotton concentration center for this area. This will bring more money into local trade channels and serve to expand the trade territory even more.

Also, since the enterprise is locally owned, all revenue from its operation will remain in Haskell and be available for future expansion as needed.

Haskell is fortunate in already having a large concentration of grain storage warehouses located here, providing a large payroll as well as market and storage facilities for grain produced in this area.

"Free" Rides Cost Money

Do the people really want economical government? This question has not yet been answered by the people themselves.

Candidates for public office and office holders continually propose measures that ostensibly give the people something for nothing but which in reality increase their taxes.

A good example of this is a new bridge across the Columbia River between Portland, Oregon and Vancouver, Washington. The bridge was to be paid for by tolls. Now a move is on to get 90 per cent of the cost from the federal government. In other words, the people of all the states will help pay for an Oregon-Washington bridge and no doubt the people of Oregon and Washington, along with those of 48 other states, will be asked to pay for bridges in other areas.

It is an old political game to offer the people "something for nothing," but the result is always the same—by the time the people are taxed via the Washington, D. C. route they have put up more money than if they had paid their own bills in the first place.

The principal beneficiaries of this giveaway process are the officials who secure votes and power by giving away somebody else's money. As a citizen, don't kick about taxes if you endorse this process.

Newspapers and TV

Last year was a very bad year in the U. S. automobile industry. Sales were far under both past and anticipated levels. There was but one exception—American Motors, with its Rambler car, whose sales zoomed an astonishing 80%.

So something reported by Editor & Publisher in a late issue is of great interest.

The television people claim the world for their advertising medium. But American Motors, in setting its 1958 record, spent more than two-thirds of its $6 million advertising budget in newspapers, and absolutely nothing on TV.

The other makes all spent large parts of their ad budgets on TV.

Editor & Publisher says: "It will be argued, of course, that 1958 was an unusual year, that too many other factors enter into automobile sales, and that these figures are meaningless. We disagree.

"It seems to us that the coincidence—the manufacturer placing the largest percentage of his advertising appropriation in television and having the largest percentage drop in sales together with the fact that the only manufacturer who spent no money on TV but had the only increase in sales—is too great to ignore."

TV is a great medium but nothing can supplant the newspaper.

Several prairie fires have started within the past week, presumably from the carelessness of campers, but fortunately they have been discovered and extinguished before getting a good start.

The wood camp of Messrs. W. R. Smith and Iron Pearsey, on Mule Creek, which had not been occupied by them for a week or more, was burned a few nights ago. The fire started either from spontaneous combustion or by the hand of an incendiary. Their bedding, several dollars worth of provisions and a new wagon bed belonging to Mr. Smith was destroyed. The prairie grass around the camp caught fire, and 25 or 30 persons went out from town and had a hot time putting it out.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

An Aspermont man who's luck ran out recently when he was nabbed by local officers who confiscated his load of liquor and impounded his car, apparently holds no grudge over the deal. He came over last week and paid a fine of $750 and costs of $27.20 without so much as batting an eyelid.

Then, according to local officers, he regained possession of his car from the Liquor Board authorities by posting bond and is now a free agent again.

Some husbands are wonderful. We know a guy who's been married for years but he's never stopped being romantic. Of course, if his wife ever finds out about it she'll break his neck.

You can hand it to the City Council for being a pretty shrewd bunch of operators. By hook or crook, one way or another, they accomplish what they set out to do.

For years the Council was having difficulty enforcing a "hog ordinance," to relieve a situation believed to be a possible threat to community health.

Enforcement measures started by the Council bogged down for one reason or another, and the City was stymied. The situation was a major topic at meeting after meeting of the Council, which seemed unable to devise any effective method for enforcing its ordinance.

Then, after a year or so, the individual carrying on the hog feeding enterprise decided to close down his operation, solving the Council's problem for them.

Later, just to be on the safe side, the City purchased the land which had been used for the operation, investing $250 in the deal.

Latest development shows that the Council fares better in the role of real estate brokers than in enforcing city ordinances. The land they bought for $250 in self defense, you might say, has now been sold for $600, a neat profit of 100 per cent on the real estate transaction.

Ever since the Legislature moved up the date for the Democratic Primary, we've been wondering about the effect on local politics.

Now, it appears that candidates will begin making formal announcements well in advance of the old Jan. 1 date arbitrarily fixed by custom.

Fact is, one Haskell man has announced that he is definitely a candidate for county office and that his formal announcement will be forthcoming at the proper time.

With him breaking the ice, chances are that several other potential candidates will make their intentions known in the immediate future.

Some choice steaks went to waste Saturday night, when a Club calf strayed onto the highway between Haskell and Weinert and evidently was killed by a car or truck.

Other motorists reported the incident and word got to Highway Maintenance Boss Ray Lusk, whose job is to keep the highway safe for traffic.

Lusk, summoning two of his men, James Adkins, and Les Collins, went in a light pickup to remove the animal, thinking it unnecessary to call out a regular loading truck.

They did the chore, all right but only by dint of a lot of heavy tugging and pulling which created some ludicrous situations. At one stage of the operation, Adkins' hold on the animal slipped and the highway worker sat down abruptly, a pained expression on his face, while his companions doubled up in laughter.

Finally, the unwieldy cargo was hauled up into the truck, and Lusk remarked, "Well, boys, we got it loaded."

"Yeah, WE got it loaded, while YOU stood there laughing," was Adkins' quick retort.

Troy Ash, Haskell farmer who grew up at Throckmorton, was recalling some of his first visits to Haskell the other evening. Forty years ago, this place had one of the best cotton markets in West Texas, and many Throckmorton farmers would haul their cotton here to sell it.

Of times, they would be accompanied by their families and supplies of dry goods, clothing, and groceries would be bought from Haskell merchants.

One of his first-trips here as a boy, Troy recalled, was with a group of at least half a dozen families from the 42 settlement near Throckmorton.

It was a regular caravan of wagons, with one farmer bringing seven bales of cotton, while others had from two four bales on a wagon.

The west side of the square was the cotton market center, and loaded wagons were parked as thick as sardines every Saturday during the cotton season, Troy said.

"Seems to me that Haskell was a better town than it is now, especially in a business sense. At least there was more hustle and bustle, streets were full of customers," he declared.

He recalls the major cotton buyers in those days were Courtney Hunt, the late Bob Robertson, Jim Fields and Steve Neathery.

"We've been having our share of troubles in recent weeks, endeavoring to replace a top-notch employee who resigned to take another position which he considered an advancement. Like all other trades and professions, a scarcity of skilled help exists in the printing and publishing industry. Good printers and Linotype operators are hard to find.

Out of five or six applicants for the job, a man whose references indicated he could fill the bill was hired.

Like buying a used car or going on a blind date, you sometimes get a lemon. We did in this case of a printer-operator.

First of all, this bird turned out to be a vocalist, a man who believed in singing while he worked. In itself, singing a commendable trait, a desirable accomplishment that is a pleasure to hear, under the proper circumstances.

But this character's outbursts of bar-room ballads, coming at unexpected times and rendered in a roof-rattling baritone, were disconcerting to say the least.

Another accomplishment was the blending of harmony in humming and singing alternately, something we've never heard before in the manner perfected by this fellow.

Then there was the matter of rebuilding the Linotype machines to his liking, correcting numerous flaws made at the factory when the machines were originally assembled and adjusted.

All in all, he was a likable sort of fellow who was never too busy to stop and talk awhile, or preferably longer.

Callaway-Marchand Wedding Vows Exchanged In Wichita Falls Rites

Miss Martha Ellen Marchand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Marchand, Wichita Falls, became the bride of Clarence Alvin Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Callaway of Haskell, Friday evening, Aug. 7 in the University Methodist Church with Rev. Gene Sorley, pastor of the Wesley Foundation, officiating for the 8 o'clock double-ring ceremony.

Vows were repeated before an altar flanked by candelabra holding tapers and baskets of white gladioli. Garlands of greenery and white flowers decorated the chancel rails. The couple knelt on white satin pillows.

Eddie Wyatt, organist, and T. D. Davis, soloist, presented a program of traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length dress of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice and

Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls. She carried white gardenias with ribbons atop a Bible.

Mrs. Charles H. Cape of Plains, Texas, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Joy White was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of yellow embroidered tulle over gold taffeta emphasizing the bride's chosen colors of gold and white. The dresses featured fitted bodices and sweetheart necklines. The bouffant skirts tied at the waists with bronze ribbons were waist-length. Matching headbands and shoes completed the attire. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Over 2 Million Acres Contracted Under Great Plains Soil Program

Over two and one-third million acres of farm and ranch lands in the Plains area of Texas have been contracted for cost-share assistance under the Great Plains Conservation program, reports Lynn Pittard, extension assistant soil and water conservation specialist. As of June 30, 1959, approximately $5,500,000 has been obligated to the landowners for assistance by the program. In the 78 counties now participating, Pittard says more than 1300 contracts have been signed. The contracts are for three to ten years duration. This voluntary program applies in the Great Plains area and provides cost-share assistance for many soil and water conservation practices such as brush control, range reseeding, constructing wells and ponds for livestock water and several others. Operators may receive up to 80 per cent assistance, depending on the practice. Pittard pointed out that the program has several advantages. It is flexible and can be modified to meet the particular individuals' needs. There is no limitation on assistance except on irrigation. Crop allotments are not affected during contract and the program may be used in combination with other government cost-share plans. At present, range work such as: reseeding, range chiseling or pitting, controlling brush or shrubs, and initial establishment of a permanent vegetative cover accounts for well over half of the fund distribution. Other practices that come under the program are: planting trees and shrubs, establishing permanent waterways, constructing terraces and diversion ditches, water spreading terraces, reorganizing irrigation systems, and land leveling for irrigation. For a more thorough explanation of the program, Pittard advises obtaining L-410, "The Great Plains Conservation Program—What Is It?" from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

State Capitol Highlights

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Texas—Quiet has settled over Texas, Capitol Hill after 202 days of hubbub. As legislators packed up to go home, directors and employees of state agencies were filling scratch pads with figures. For most state-supported activities, the new budget which goes into effect Sept. 1 will mean more funds. Altogether, $300,000,000 more. There was some disappointments, of course, in the appropriations bill. Many programs got less than asked for, some salaries were cut, and there were riders and restrictions in other activities. But, overall, there was more relief and rejoicing than tears and complaining. Most seemed to regard the new budget as the best that could be hoped for in such a "hard year." For their parts, lawmakers were eager to get home and "mingle with the folks." Ahead lie probable showdowns on new spending for welfare and public schools, and, always, the inching up every two years in general spending. BUDGET BREAKDOWN — Texas' new record high budget of $2,418,000,000 was reported out after 95 days of haggling in conference committee. But once out, it zipped through both houses, with only 8 dissenting votes in the Sen- of $130,933,424 for the state's House. Spending from the general fund, the state's multi-purpose housekeeping kitty, totals $322,800,000. This is up $42,000,000 from the present biennium. COL. JACK HARRIS AND FAMILY VISIT HERE Lt. Col. and Mrs. Shelby Jack Harris and their three daughters, Jackie, Penny and Jan, have been visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Harris, and with other relatives. For the past three years Col. Harris and family have been at Elmendorf Air Force Base at Anchorage, Alaska. He was recently assigned to the 34th Air Division at Kirtland AFB, New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stone will visit in Haskell a week before he enters Medical School in Galveston. Memo to motorists: Be especially watchful on Saturdays for bike riders.

Making selection of the prize-winning prints, 160 of which will be displayed about the nation, was a jury of professional photographers of America.

Vegetable Crops Can Be Damaged by Weed Killers

Weed killers, which annually save Texas farmers many thousands of dollars in weeding crops, can cause much damage to vegetable crops growing in the same area if improperly used, says Clyde C. Singletary, extension horticulturist.

The principal offenders are the hormone type weed killers 2, 4-D and 2,4,5-T, he said. Nearly all vegetable crops can be damaged at some stage in their life cycle by their drift of vapor. The more susceptible crops are tomatoes, peppers, snap beans, cucumbers, melons, lettuce and many others which can be injured by very small concentrations of 2,4-D.

A major problem involved in weed killer damage is the tremendous volumes of air involved above a cornfield for example, that has been sprayed with 2,4-D. A 30-acre field would involve more than 7 1/2 million cubic feet of air, the specialist says, assuming that spray particles are suspended in a column of air 6 feet above the soil surface. Wind movement can send this air mass over nearby vegetable crops.

Farmers using herbicides should do everything possible to confine the tiny spray particles to the sprayed area, the horticulturist cautions. Increasing the amount of water applied per acre, and not spraying when the wind is blowing toward susceptible crops are points to watch when using herbicides.

The amine or low volatile forms of 2,4-D should be used in place of the more volatile ester forms. Recently several new herbicides have appeared that can be used near horticultural crops with little hazard, Singletary adds.

HERE FROM CALIFORNIA Mrs. Raymond Laird of Reseda, Calif., is here for a visit with relatives and friends, and looking after business interests. Mrs. Laird is the former Mrs. Calvin Henson and lived here for a number of years.

CARD OF THANKS

It is impossible for us to personally thank each one, and we take this method of expressing our heartfelt appreciation to everyone for their kindness, visits, help and sympathy extended to us in our sorrow over the loss of our loved one. We sincerely appreciate the beautiful service and the thoughtful words, calls, and lovely flowers that comforted us later in our bereavement and sorrow over our loss. We are deeply grateful, too, to the neighbors who brought food and helped in other ways during the sad hours. Our prayer is that God will bless you and keep you.—The Horace Oneal Family. 34c

Rotary Club Told Of Girls' State Activities

Three Haskell High School students who attended the 1954 session of Bluebonnet Girls State in Austin in June, were guests at the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday in the Highway Drive Inn.

The talented students, Suzanne Weaver, Martha Decker and Barbara Elliott were accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. D. H. Persons who was also a guest at the meeting. Misses Elliott, Decker and Weaver in brief talks explained the purpose of the Girls State program, initiated and sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Texas.

The weekly session held each year is designed to acquaint junior citizens of Texas with the responsibilities of good citizenship and the functions of our Democratic government. The more than 400 young people selected as representatives from their schools at Girls State set up their own city, county and state government for a one-week period, the young women explained.

While in Austin, the three Haskell students had an opportunity to see the Legislature in session, and were privileged to talk with State Representative Ed Cloud of Rule and other officials.

Guests at the meeting and luncheon were E. Walker of Corpus Christi, Glenn Barber of Munday, Gene Brown of Eagle Lake, and O. S. Temple of Seymour.

4 1/2-Acre Tract Of Land Sold By City

A 4 1/2-acre tract of land east of the old Fairgrounds, and adjacent to the Wichita Valley Railway tracks, purchased last year by the City of Haskell, has been sold to Buster Shelton of this city.

Contract for sale of the tract at an agreed price of $500, was approved at the meeting of the City Council last week. The land was bought by the City for $250.

The tract is comprised of Block 24 and one-half of Outlot "O" in the Brown & Roberts Addition. A small stream which is dry most of the time, runs through the property. According to some old-timers, the original Rice Springs, around which the town of Haskell developed, was located on the 4 1/2-acre tract.
