Roaring Springs Business District Is Flooded By Water Spout

Will Breakfast, Spend Two Hours In Floydada

Rainfall Wednesday Causes Much Damage

Water Waist Deep In Streets Follows Drainage From Hills.

Business houses and residences in Roaring Springs were flooded late yesterday evening when streets were waist deep in water following rains in and around the city estimated at from three to five inches. Drainage from adjacent hills was responsible for the flood which resulted in considerable damage to merchandising stocks in the business houses and slight damage to residences.

Flood Danger Past

During the height of the flood, the water reached a depth of three feet and more in many of the business houses. Water mains, sewer lines, and telephone and telegraph poles were washed out by the force of the water. It is considered the worst flood the city has ever experienced.

The water level had gone down several inches this morning, reports from the Q. A. & P. Station in that city state, and it is believed that the dangerous part of the flood has passed.

Every business house in the city was flooded with the exception of two, according to reports. An automobile in the street over-night was flooded above the seat level, and it was feared for a while that it would be washed away. The waters were rushing from the near by hills to the river bed near the city. It is believed that the water will all be receded by late today.

Reports from the Q. A. & P. station state that a railroad dump near the bridge crossing Dutchman creek near Roaring Springs was washed out, and is being repaired today. Transfers are being made at the dump and services continued on the Q. A. & P. line. This is the same dump that was washed out several weeks ago.

Rain General Over County

Rainfall late yesterday evening was reported general over Floyd County, with little hail and small damage. The heaviest rainfall was reported in the south and south-eastern parts of the county. Travelers report a heavy rain in the Lakeview vicinity, and it is believed that some hail damage was suffered in that section. The rainfall became less towards Crosbyton. Disrupted telephone service makes reports from southeast meager.

Reports from Quitaque state that rainfall was heavy in that section, with considerable hail falling. Damage by hail, if any, is not known. South Plains reported from one to one and a half inches of rain, with no hail.

Three-fourths of an inch rainfall was reported at Dougherty, with no hail. According to the reports, territory near Fairview received a good rain, and only slight damage by hail. Sand Hill and the territory west of this city reported from one fourth to one half inch of rain and only slight damage by hail.

A telephone conversation with Carl McAdams, of Lockney, revealed only a light shower near that city, and no hail. Reports from Plainview are that light showers fell in that territory, also.

Wheat crops suffered from twenty to forty-five per cent damage in the vicinity of Starkey. Reports from the J. W. Howard farm state that the ground was covered with hail stones ranging up to the size of a hen egg. Practically all of the fruit was knocked off the trees, and gardens were ruined. The hail was accompanied by little wind, probably preventing greater damage. Cotton crops were not damaged so greatly due to the late planting season. The rainfall in that territory ranged up to two inches.

At McCoy the rainfall was heavy but only minor damage by hail. Not much rain and hail fell at Petersburg.

Light "cotton showers" fell over the Floydada territory last week-end, varying from one fourth to one inch rain fall. Practically all of the territory was benefitted by the showers.

PROTRACTED MEETING HELD BY THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elder Alva Johnson of Turkey is preaching for the revival meeting which is being held this week by the Church of Christ on South Wall street. A large crowd has attended the series.

Preaching services begin at 10:30 in the morning and 8:30 in the evening. The meeting started Saturday night and will probably close Sunday morning.

CLUB GIRLS' ENCAMPMENT SET FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 14

4-H Club girls of Floyd County will hold their annual encampment Friday, June 14, beginning at 9 o'clock at the court house, Miss Marie Strange, demonstration agent, has announced.

For part of the program in the morning each club girl will be called on to give a total report of her work done during the year. The program for the day will be very worthwhile and is a part of the required work in club activities although the most enjoyable of all the program.

Each girl is required to have all her cooking, sewing and other work finished before she is eligible to attend the encampment.

Members of the club will each bring some article of food for the picnic dinner. Ice cream and cake will be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce.

Will Bills Seriously Injured In Auto Crash

Will Bills, former resident of Floydada, is in serious condition at a hospital in Los Angeles following automobile accident in that city Saturday night, the exact nature of which is not disclosed in telegrams and letters received by the relatives here, further than that he was injured while on his way home from work.

Bills and his family, consisting of his wife and two little sons, left Floydada more than a year ago to make their home in California. Mrs. Bills is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tinnin of this city, and Mr. Tinnin left for Los Angeles Tuesday morning by automobile to be with the family.

Mr. Bills' condition is such that his life is despaired of. He sustained a fractured skull, it is said.

SOUTH PLAINS BASEBALL CLUB DEFEATED BY GASOLINE

South Plains Baseball Club went into another twelve inning game Wednesday when they played Gasoline and Emerged losers by a score of 1 to 2. Yesterday's game was the second in the past two weeks in which the South Plains team has played that went to twelve innings.

The score speaks for itself the interest in yesterday's game, and S. A. Thornton, manager of the club, states that the performance will be repeated to a different tune next Sunday when the two teams meet again. They will meet at South Plains.

South Plains will meet Four Corners Friday, and again on Saturday. Saturday's game will be played at South Plains.

SMALL ATTENDANCE MARKS FIRST MONDAY TRADES DAY

Small attendance at Floydada's fourth First Monday Trades Day last Monday is believed by local merchants to have been due to the busy planting season since the recent rains.

The free auction sale was held as usual on the east side of the court house. The firm of Seale and McDonald conducted the free auction sale which attracted the majority of the Trades Day visitors.

Local merchants who were sponsoring the movement made many special merchandising offers for the day.

County Singers Meet At Sunset This Week

Opening with a business session at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, the Floyd County Singing Convention will hold its regular meeting at sunset on Saturday and Sunday of this week. The two-day convention will be featured by group and individual singing by many of the best singers in this section. Among the well-known singers who are expected to be present are John F. Taylor, and his male quartet, from Clovis, N. M.

The general public is invited and urged to attend and take part in the singing, it was announced this week by C. M. Lyles, president of the convention. The Sunday session will open at 10 o'clock a. m., and a sandwich dinner will be served at the noon hour.

Other officials of the County Convention are Joe Reeves, vice president, and R. G. Spence, secretary and treasurer. The Floyd County Convention is a part of the Platau Convention, which includes practically all of the Panhandle and the north-eastern portion of New Mexico.

Will Open New Drug Store On West Side

Announcement was made this week of the lease by Frank L. Moore of this city, and his brother, Hollis B. Moore, of Crosbyton, of the south twenty feet of the Masonic Building on west side of the square from C. E. Stone Company, in which they will install a drug store.

Frank L. Moore, who is resigning as assistant cashier of The First National Bank effective sometime in this month or on the first of July, will be actively associated with his brother in the conduct of the business. H. B. Moore is a registered pharmacist.

"We hope to have the building remodeled, the equipment and stock installed, and ready for business about the first of July," Frank said Monday. Commenting on the fact that he had been employed at The First National for many years, he said, "The bank folks and the public have been good to me all these years, but I feel like it is time for me to hit out for myself and see if I can make a go of a business of my own."

The space the new firm will occupy will be twenty by 100 feet.

Country Club Members Picnic This Evening

Members of Floydada Country Club will have their annual spring picnic this evening, a business gathering at seven being scheduled to precede the eating and the fun.

A few changes or amendments to the constitution may be up for consideration at the business session, Secretary R. C. Scott said this week in notices sent out to members. Fifty-one members must be present before any changes can be made. In the business session a board of directors for the ensuing year will also be chosen.

W. M. Windsor and J. W. Clonts are on the committee to have charge of the feed and Roy L. Snodgrass and Lon M. Davis on the entertainment.

There are 100 members of the club, which owns 160 acres of land lying practically altogether in Blanco Canyon, the tract being a part of the J. J. Day Homestead. The land lends itself easily to improvement and beautifying into a playground. A nine-hole golf course, swimmingpool and club house, together with a small dam to impound water for a lake, are the principal improvements on the grounds, other than the natural shade trees.

ROTARY DELEGATES RETURN FROM DALLAS CONVENTION

A. D. Cummings, G. C. Tubbs, and J. M. Willson returned Friday from Dallas where they represented the local Rotary club at the Rotary International convention held there last week.

They reported a good convention although heavy rains fell every day.

W. H. SEALE WILL OPEN DRY GOODS STORE IN FLOYDADA

W. H. Seale has rented Judge A. B. Duncan's building on the south side of the square and will open a general dry goods store there at an early date, according to announcement made by Mr. Seale Wednesday.

The store will be known as, "The South Plains Outlet Store". Mr. Seale will be manager.

REFUNDING VOTE TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Bonds Contracted Above Market, An Argument For Issue.

Vote on the question of refunding the outstanding warrants of the city issued last year for nearly $160,000 worth of municipal improvements, will be up to the taxpayers of Floydada Tuesday of next week, with the expectation that the proposed refunding to be done will be approved by the taxpayers.

That the council last year did a good job of financing when they issued warrants as needed for capital improvements, is indicated by the fact that when the warrants were issued and sold on the basis of six per cent and at a price of ninety-seven and a half cents, the contract also carried an option of refunding by which the city is to receive $1.02½ for the re-funding bond issue, and the bonds to carry an interest rate of five and one-half per cent.

Under present conditions, it was pointed out at the city hall, it would likely be unwise to issue a large bond for sale on the open market. However, with the bonds contracted for sale at a price considerably above that warranted by present market conditions, it was explained, the council looks upon the matter of refunding at this time on the conditions named, as an excellent piece of business which the citizenship will likely want to be done.

Little interest has been indicated to date in the election.

Reunion Of Pioneers Set For August 15-16

Birthday of Uncle Hank Smith Is Opening Day of Rock House Reunion.

August 11 and 16 are the definite dates for the annual reunion of West Texas Old Settlers at the Old Rock House in Blanco Canyon, according to R. B. Smith chairman of the arrangements committee, who this week called officials' attention to the definite date. Erroneous dates were given in last week's Hesperian, due to a misunderstanding by the officials.

August 15 is the birthday of Uncle Hank Smith, who built the Rock House and was the earliest settler in this section, and it was the original intention of the organizers of the association to begin the picnic on this date.

"We are very anxious for everyone to keep the right dates in mind and make their plans now to attend the reunion," R. B. Smith said. Mr. Smith is a son of Uncle Hank Smith and resides in the Rock House.

South Plains Defeats Dougherty In Series

South Plains Baseball Club won the third of a three game series with the Dougherty club last Sunday afternoon when the two teams met on neutral ground at the Floydada Baseball Park. The score of the game was 9 to 10. Sunday's victory gave South Plains two of the three games played recently.

Running true to the form of other South Plains-Dougherty games, last Sunday's game was a battle from the first to ninth inning. Although this game went to only nine innings, it's interest rivaled the game of a week previous, when the battle swayed for twelve innings. Dougherty took the first game of the series, 5 to 0, and South Plains the other two, 3 to 4 and 9 to 10, respectively.

A large crowd of local people and fans from both of the visiting cities witnessed the final game of the series.

SUSTAINS BROKEN SHOULDER

Mrs. Calvin Steen of this city sustained a broken shoulder Wednesday evening of last week on the Floydada-Plainview highway when a car in which she was riding with her husband and father-in-law, John V. Steen, went into a ditch following a blow-out of one of the tires.

The elder Mr. Steen was shaken up somewhat but not injured, and Calvin received minor injuries. Their injuries were dressed at the Plainview Sanitarium and they returned home the same night.

Building Activities Show Marked Decline

Building activities during the past four weeks have shown a marked decline, or at least the prospect for continued building activity in the city in the immediate future is less bright than during the month of April, as indicated by the building permits issued during May by City Secretary Burl Bedford. The total for May was $5,610 against a total of $50,375 for April.

City Water Superintendent Strickland said he set only four new water meters during the month of May, the lowest figure for several months.

All carpenters and workmen of other building trades are busy but their work is largely on hang over jobs from April. Two business structures, for which permits were issued in April, are still uncompleted and ten or twelve residences. May permits bring the five-month figures to $176,635 for 1929.

May permits were as follows:

G. M. Bullard, 20x34 stucco residence on Lot 4 in Block 34,	$500.00
J. P. Hopper, six room residence on Lot 8 in Block 46,	$1,800.00
J. N. Johnston, double garage, Lot 8 in Block 4, West Side Heights,	$400.00
W. A. Amburn, six-room residence on Lot 16 in Block 48,	$2,910.00
Total,	$5,610.00

J. F. Anton Believed Fatally Injured Sunday

J. F. Anton, formerly division superintendent of the Santa Fe Slaton Division, and widely known in this section, is believed to have been fatally injured Sunday in an automobile accident near Fort Sumner, New Mexico, and his secretary, with whom he was riding in a grave condition. They sustained their injuries on a turn in the highway, according to the information received by V. Williams, local agent of the Santa Fe. Serious injuries in the back, possibly a fractured skull, a broken arm and leg, were among the injuries to Mr. Anton.

Mr. Anton and his secretary, who was also with Mr. Anton while on this division, reside at Las Vegas, to which point they were transferred from Slaton.

Floydada Teacher Chosen To Head Department At Pampa

Miss Lucille Hill, teacher of domestic science in Floydada High School, was recently elected to head a similar department in Central High School at Pampa next term, according to an article in the Pampa Daily News.

The article says in part, "Miss Hill is a graduate of the College of Industrial Arts and has had three successful years of experience. She takes an active part in school affairs, and at Floydada was sponsor of the girls' pep squad. Her home economics classes served a number of banquets during the last school year."

STONE WILL OPEN STORES IN RIO GRANDE VALLEY

Otis Harris, formerly of Lockney, who has been managing the C. E. Stone store in this city during the absence of J. Wilson Mahan, left Sunday for the Rio Grande Valley.

Charters have been granted by the company for the opening of ten stores in that section. This will bring the number of stores in the C. E. Stone Company chain up to sixty. Harris will have charge of the openings of the new stores.

Several hundred babies were entered in the contest which was held on May 29. Pictures of the entries were shown on the screen and the crowd voted on the winners. Free Delivery In Floyd Effective September First

The U. S. Post Office Department has authorized free City Mail Delivery for Floydada, effective September 1, the Hesperian was advised Wednesday in a message from Congressman Marvin Jones. Service will begin with one carrier and six hours auxiliary service, the message stated.

B. K. Barker, city, also received a message Wednesday from Mr. Jones advising him of the decision of the Post Office Department, and similar advices were given the Chamber of Commerce in a message from the First Assistant Postmaster General.

Official notification of the plan to extend the facilities of service of the local office is expected to be received by postal authorities soon.

323 Get Notices Of Change In Valuations

323 owners of property in Floyd County have received notices in the past week of changes proposed to be made in their valuations for county and state purposes by the Floyd County Commissioners' Court, sitting in sessions as a Board of Equalization.

The first session of the board was held last week and the adjourned session Tuesday.

Notices mailed to the property owners over the county outside of Floydada Independent School District, set the date for their hearing as June 14. On the day previous—June 13—large property owners and corporations will be heard, and for property owners in Floydada Independent School District, the date for the hearing is June 17.

233 notices were mailed out last week and about ninety following the session Tuesday. A statement relative to the actions of the court appears in this issue of The Hesperian, signed by Commissioners E. W. Henderson of Precinct One, E. H. Rankin of Precinct Two, C. E. Stone Judge Wm. McGehee. A vote on the zoning plan adopted last week resulted in a tie, with Commissioners M. H. Taylor, of Precinct Three and W. W. Payne, of Precinct Four dissenting and the judge untieing the vote.

Chamber Of Commerce Meeting Is Postponed

A meeting of the members of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce which was to have been held this Thursday evening at the court house, has been indefinitely postponed, Ed Bishop, secretary, announced this week. The postponement was due to a picnic planned by the Floydada Country Club which conflicted with the Chamber of Commerce meeting date.

The Country picnic is the annual gathering of the membership of that organization, and since many members of the Chamber of Commerce are also members of the club, it was thought best to postpone the gathering.

No new date has been set for the Chamber of Commerce meeting, Bishop stated.

Upon receipt of the itinerary and time table worked out for the trip the local Chamber of Commerce called upon its committee that had been named several days ago and preparations were begun for serving the breakfast and transporting the visitors to and from Lubbock. Two hundred plates will be prepared for the breakfast and in addition to those who will furnish cars for the Lubbock trip there will be a small delegation from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce who will dine with the Oklahoma visitors. Mmes. Geo. A. Linder, J. B. Jenkins, Lon M. Davis, O. P. Rutledge, E. L. Norman and G. V. NOT VERY AIR-MINDED

The Hesperian has a letter from the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, Inc., in which the promoters of the Fund, say that Floydada is one of 2,000 towns that according to their records, have not complied with the request to mark the roofs of buildings with identification words to aid aerial commerce. It was our impression that this request had been complied with, at least partially.

Col. Lindbergh is quoted in the letter as saying that this aid is "an absolute essential for the development of air navigation." A nationwide system of roof-markings; hence it is important that the work of identification should be complete throughout the country, including towns on and off the regular air routes as at present constituted, Mr. Guggenheim says.

Floydada is, indeed, not very air-minded if markings such as will meet the desires of the Post Office Department are not provided.

KIDDING THE TAX ASSESSOR

It must cause a tax assessor to smile inwardly to read in the public print where somebody has obtained a permit to construct a $5,000 house for $2,000.

Just how that kind of a thing will be stopped is one of the problems that face officials of a municipality. It probably doesn't hurt a deal, because it is likely the assessor in most cases will know whether or not he doesn't members of the equalization boards will—that is, it doesn't hurt so far as tax conditions are concerned. However, the building codes of communities, for which the permits are intended to serve as a check, are intended among other things to determine the approximate actual worth of the improvement as well as to make it possible for a community, through its authorities, to see that proper construction procedure is followed in order to conserve public health and safety.

TREES, FLOWERS, SHRUBS

Now that the old theory that trees, flowers and shrubs will not grow in Floyd County, has been so thoroughly exploded by so many different people who have various and sundry kinds of shrubs, trees, flowers growing about them to beautify their surroundings and intensify the pleasure of living, it is well that the rest of us awake to the possibilities of adding our efforts along this line.

At some of the prettier homes where the owner has permitted his yard to have play for a time, see the dark spurs, the petunias, Canterbury bells, honey suckle, sweet Williams and scores of other easily grown perennials, annuals and evergreens, together with rose gardens as gorgeous as—well, just gorgeous—and think what beauty you could

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

SAYS

HOW YOUR TOWN LOOKS IS IMPORTANT

What is there that some communities have that others lack, which makes the difference between compliments and criticisms—"that something" that invites you or repels and oppresses you—that difference which so distinguishes from the ordinary? It is largely a matter of that which, for want of a better name, has been termed by the advertising profession as "atmosphere."

Lack of "atmosphere" in a town is that which is responsible for motorists going through your town without seeing it, or remembering it. How often have you heard the remark, referring to business houses, places of amusement and even homes—"It doesn't appeal to me, there's no atmosphere?"

How your town looks IS important, for while people weigh values, they constantly compare towns. There are thousands who would go out of their way to patronize YOUR town if the surroundings were such that created "atmosphere."

"Atmosphere" attracts, induces, tempts, allures, fascinates and impresses—it SELLS your town; while the absence of it in any community creates a pall and silence that shouts to the world, including its own inhabitants, "This place LACKS what you are looking for."

In every section of this great land of ours, cities, towns and villages have, to a greater or less degree, thought of, talked about, and in many cases, STARTED a Clean-up Campaign. To what extent it has been carried out depends upon the wide-awakefulness of the people.

There is something about the first few days of every spring that gives us mortals an urge to shed ourselves of drab surroundings—to sort of brighten the corner where we are," so to speak. Full of pep, enthusiasm and with fine ideas of doing big things, we materially add to the joy of the paint store man, the seed merchant and the seller of garden and yard tools, and it is fine for everybody. But our hands are soft, our backs are weak, and our will not so strong, and altogether too soon the labor and incentive of the first days becomes the FEVER of the weeks and the job is left half done.

Verily, in a few short weeks many now tidy and much boasted of gardens will be but weed patches, unattended and forlorn. Likewise, many a Clean-up Week, widely heralded, urged and exploited by a loyal press, will with the May flowers unless you and your neighbors and all of their neighbors neighbors recognize the REAL value and keep AT it until it is late—and well.

Do not have a Clean-up WEEK—make it the year 'round, for your customers, from whence they may come, are becoming more critical—they want "atmosphere," and there can be none without cleanliness ALL the time.

REFUNDING VOTE NEXT WEEK

Funds expended by the city council last year for sewer and water mains, water wells, pipe and pumps and various and sundry improvements including a city hall, new fire truck, and fire equipment, not to mention the city's part of the rather extensive paving program, will be refunded into securities of the city bearing a lower rate of interest than the warrants issued if the taxpaying voters of the city favor such procedure in the election on June 11, which is Tuesday next.

Were we to attempt to advise the citizens how to vote on the proposition, we would say to vote for the refunding issue and then work on the aldermen to go slow on the sale of the bonds. Right now, money is dear, thanks to a kindly Federal Reserve Board that is making four per cent money bring six per cent.

COUNTY AGENT'S WORK

For a few years now Floyd County has been without the services of a county agent. Apparently this lack has been a definite detriment. Lack of an agent has increased the cost of getting new ideas for farm practice to farmers of Floyd County, or rather while the cost of getting new ideas and obtaining better farm methods has stayed at practically the same ratio in this county, it has decreased in other counties.

The world does move. Practices on the farm are changing the same as in industry. In the industrial world systems and ways of production have been revolutionized, to all practical intents in less than ten years. The demand for better products at cheaper prices has been met and still manufacturers are making money. Farmers need to keep up with the times, too, and the use of the services of a good county agent as a means to this end is money well spent.

SUPPORT THE AMENDMENTS

On July 16 there are two amendments to the Texas Constitution to be voted upon, both of which should have the support of the people of the state.

One of these will speed up the processes of the law in this state by increasing the number of judges in the state's supreme court and making possible a twelve-month term of the court instead of a nine-month term as now required by the constitution. Undoubtedly, the cost of the change would be immaterial and would greatly reduce the injustice resulting from the law's delay under the present system.

The other amendment would increase the governor's salary from $4,000 per year to $10,000. This is desirable because it would provide a living wage for the governor of the state and make it practical for a citizen, not possessed of great wealth, to serve as chief executive without ruinous sacrifice.

It seems to us there are no reasonable arguments against either of these proposed changes, and Texans should adopt them as befitting the changed conditions that have come about in our state.

WANT PEOPLE TO VOTE

A concurrent resolution of the senate, joined in unanimously by the house at its regular session, calls the matter of voting on the proposed changes in the constitution of material import to the state, and asks that as nearly as possible every qualified voter in the state shall go to the polls on that date and express their views on the question of their adoption, irrespective of the merits of the proposed changes.

Thus, if the amendments are to be turned down, lets have sufficient votes cast to determine that it is the will of the people that they be turned down; if they are to be adopted, let's have a large enough vote to determine that really it is the will of the people to have the changes. Calling on newspapers and radio broadcasting stations to improve every reasonable opportunity to get people interested in the changes is a new idea. But it is a good one.

GROWING UP IN WEEDS

Plentiful rains always bring plentiful weeds, and the vacant lots, as well as some of those not so vacant, are growing up in a wilderness of what nots, which when they get to seed, if permitted to do so, will make heap plenty of weeds for the late fall and next spring again.

Sometimes we think that if the city officials would just get a mower and four or five men on the vacant blocks, up and down the unused streets and alleys, they could get the weeds out and out of the way before they go to seed with about the same amount of effort and expense possibly they would spend trying to get the owners to do the cleaning job.

BEGINNING CONTINUED STORY

A continued story, "Tarzan the Mighty," begins in this issue of The Hesperian, and the story also has a film version which will be shown on the screen by the Floydada Theatres.

All the Tarzan stories we have ever read have had a strong appeal, and while we can't vouch for this one, having not read it, we feel sure that Edgar Rice Burroughs had lost none of the facility of pen or cunning of mind when he wrote this thriller. It will run as a serial for a number of weeks.

'Round The Square

With Old Battleaxe (Himself)

Gez whiz, with weather like we have been having out here in Floyd County, and some poor fish inclined as the navigator of this column, what could a fellow think about but FISH.

Some people kick because others go fishing, and some fish because others go kicking. O. B. is of the latter class. He wants to go fishing to get away from some of this kicking about bad roads, poor crops, and poor government. Boy, Page the Saliva Slinger.

By George, when a fellow goes fishing and lays back in the shade of a big tree, why, his troubles all vanish like a bad dream and he don't give a gosh darn about nobody. It just don't seem possible for a fellow to be crooked or to have mean thoughts about his neighbors when he is out fishing. Boy, it's the life!

There's something fishy about that street sweeper that we ain't got yet. Everybody admits that we need one badly, the City Pappas say that it would be money well spent, and still we ain't got no street sweeper. As these College Boys say "Why, it's plumb putrid."

Two negroes who were making an attempt to clean the Floydada streets with brooms and brushes, met with the curb.

First Broom-pusher. Well, how's things along California Street?
Second Ditto: Oh, let's don't talk slop.

Hot dog, here's co-operation for you. Last week, Mrs. Hollums promised to stock the Q. A. & P. depot lake with gold fish and now O. B. has received a promise that the fish will be cared for and fed. Boy, if we could receive such co-operation on some other matters, we would not have to spend so much on automobile springs and mud chains. Not mentioning the highway paving, of course.

"What a difference a few cents make," exclaimed that guy on California Street after a visit to a certain stale musty court house.

O. B. is a sworn, dyed-in-the-wool, old bachelor. He ain't never going to get married—unless he has a good chance. And the following little poem, which brought on all this fishy talk, tells just why.

Legs to the right of us,
Legs to the left of us,
Legs out in front of us,
How they display them!

On they go trippingly,
Dainty and skippingly,
Frost bites them nippingly,
But doesn't dismay them.

Straight legs and bandy ones,
Bum legs and dandy ones,
Awkward and handy ones,
Flirt with the breezes.
Round legs and flatter ones—
Specially the latter ones,
Showing their kneezes.

Mates and ill-sorted ones,
Slim and distorted ones,
Home and imported ones,
From every land,
Ain't nature grand?

ISSUE OF JUNE 10, 1915

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Sam B. McCleskey and Miss Lola Tye, of this city were quietly married at the residence of G. W. Shearer, pastor of the Methodist church. A few friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony.

A man by the name of Melton was given five years in the penitentiary at Matador last week for burning Roaring Springs along in the winter. Ben F. Smith, Deputy State Fire Marshal, was called into the case for the State Insurance Department.

The draft of the plans for the water works system to be constructed in Floydada show that upward of two miles of mains will be laid, which, with 1000 feet of hose will give fire protection to fifty-five blocks.

Saturday Floydada won their thirteenth game of the season from Plainview in the tenth inning. The score of the game was 11 to 10.

The Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, a subsidiary of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., was awarded the contract to build two giant rigid airships of 6,500,000 cubic feet each, for the United States Government. Skyway or highway—factory or field—Goodyear leads.

Theme—Temperance Lesson.
Scripture: Jer. 35:5-11.
Golden Text:—We will drink no wine.—Jer. 35:6.

Temperance Lesson

A very unusual Scripture has been selected for the lesson this week. It will bear much study, and furnish more helpful encouragement to those who desire to live temperate lives. The example set by these descendants of Hobab, brother-in-law of Moses, will stand out through the centuries as an illustration of what faithful men do when tempted. These people had been taught by their worthy fathers and grandfathers not to touch intoxicating drinks as long as they lived, and to teach their children the value of total abstinence. When the red, sparkling, wine was set before them and they were bidden to drink they gave answer in the words of the Golden Text, "We will drink no wine." They did not enquire about the alcoholic content, nor the probable physical, or moral effect drinking might have upon them, they did not dally with the temptation a moment, but boldly said, "We will drink none of it." They might have said, "we will take a little, but not enough to get drunk, nor will we drink again after today. Just this once." But they said "we will drink NO wine." Many a man today is wallowing in the gutter, filling a drunkard's grave, or suffering the eternal punishment of a drunkard's hell, who intended to take only a social drink, and quit at that. That first drink awakened every evil spirit of his nature, aroused the demon appetite which he did not know slumbered in him, and in the end wrought his perfect ruin. The only way to answer this or any other temptation, is with an immediate and direct and final, "I will not even consider the beginning of the matter." You cannot dally with sin. It is like handling the germs of a deadly disease, drinking them, breathing them and hoping to escape the disease. You cannot tamper with the dragon of sin without danger of being destroyed by it.

Judah, to our own day in Floydada, and Texas. If we are to get the best from the study of Scripture we must make it modern and personal. In the closing space allotted for this discussion we are going to give:

Ten Reasons Why We Do Not Drink Bootleg Liquor.

1. We have lived thirty seven happy, healthful years without a drop of intoxicating liquor going down our throats, we find no reason what-so-ever to regret this record or to change from its standard for the remaining years of life.
2. There is nothing in our nature that needs or craves the rotten stuff.
3. My most worthy, dependable, and cultured friends look upon the practice as low, vulgar and contemptible; health destroying and character wrecking, therefore I cannot afford to stoop to it.
4. It is against the laws of God, the laws of Nature, and the Laws of my country and I am, and expect to remain, a law abiding citizen.
5. I would have to break the law and make it, or deal with the lowest type of criminals, the bootlegger, and buy it; and neither of these could I ever do and look my friends and family in the face again.
6. I would have to pay a profit to a moon-shiner who makes it in the dark, and a boot-legger who sells it in a back alley, and I do not do business with this type of business man.
7. Any body with a sense of smell keen enough to detect the odor of a barrel of rotten bran, or smell a pole-cat could tell that I had been drinking it, so it would be utterly impossible to practice the sin secretly.
8. I could not bear the shame it would bring upon my father and mother who reared me and the sorrow and disgrace it would bring to my family and the certain loss it would bring to my business or profession. It will ultimately ruin any man who will not give it up. Ruin him socially, morally, physically and wreck his business or profession. The price is too much, I cannot pay it.
9. It would cost me money that should be used for food, clothing, instead of bootleggers and moon-shiners.

10. It would render me periodically insane, might lead me to abuse and mistreat my family and friends, would expose me to danger of disease or even death by its deadly poison, and usher me into the presence of God before my time to blow my foul breath into His face as I stand before Him in judgement.

Conclusion
I have some friends who drink. Who drink to much. In fact to drink any at all is too drink too much. They are getting worse. They always do or quit. In closing I would like to appeal to all the manhood that is in them, with others who might read these lines, to be man enough to say NO like the men of old, and stay with this resolve until complete victory is won over this evil.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Dick O'Brien, Pastor
We had very fine services all day last Sunday. Several additions to the church and a splendid spirit in all the services. Our silver offering amounted to almost $125. For this we are very grateful. God has been good to us, we must be faithful to Him. Let us remember we are trusting Him for salvation and a home in Heaven, and He is trusting us to be faithful in service to Him until the day we are to possess this home.
All regular services next Sunday, at the scheduled hours. Remember we are having evening services at 8:30 instead of 8:00.
The pastor may be out for the morning to take part in a dedication service of the new building at Quitaque. A suitable supply will be on hand. The pastor expects to preach at the evening hour, at which time we want a full representation of the membership.
Nearly a hundred are enrolled in the four classes in the study course at the church this week. This group will have a picnic next Monday evening. Visitors and strangers always welcome to our services.

Make a sirup of the juice drained from the peaches, which should be about 3/4 cup, an equal amount of vinegar, 3/4 cup of sugar, and spice with 3 blades of mace, 2 or 3 small pieces of stick cinnamon. Add 1/2 teaspoonful salt. Cook the peaches in this sirup for 15 or 20 minutes, or until the peaches have absorbed some of the sirup. Allow the fruit to stand 3 or 4 hours before serving so that the flavor will blend.

TARZAN THE MIGHTY

Novelized by ARTHUR B. REEVE.
From an original Serial produced by UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION, by special arrangement with
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
Author of TARZAN OF THE APES, THE CAVE GIRL, etc.

CHAPTER I JUNGLE KING

"Dance!"
The girl, a gleaming blonde beauty, figure full, delicate, voluptuously formed, clad in a single leopard skin, drew away from the menace of the eyes and voice of the dark white man, reversion to the elemental, a thousand miles from civilization.

"Dance, I tell you!" hissed Black John through his wolfish teeth.
Her eyes, deeper and more blue than any lake of the Dark Continent, shot a quick glance to the right. There lay the jungle, teeming with wild life, fascinating, mysterious with its keen, heartless struggle for existence crowned by the survival of the fittest. It was beautiful—and relentless.

Another quick glance to the left. There was the stockade wrested by man from pitiless luxuriant nature. Mary Trevor saw the huts, the cabin to which she had been borne with her little brother Bobbie after the wreck of the liner "Empress," sole survivors picked up by Black John, the beachcomber. In a great semi-circle before the thatched huts in the stockade square the black-skinned natives, on one side their Patriarch, on the other the drummers with their outlandish hollowed logs covered taut with goat skins.

They were waiting for Black John to call on the spirit gods of their ancestral jungle, waiting for him to demonstrate again the power of the white-man's witchcraft.

"Dance!"
An instant her eyes turned heavenward as she wafted a prayer. Above swayed the tangle of tropical moss and rope-vines. It was a glorious wild picture of nature "where every prospect pleases—and only man is vile."

Black John seized Mary in vise-like grip by the wrists.
"Dance! Dance at this ceremony of the Curse of Tarzan! The next time, remember, it will be the ceremony of our wedding. Dance—or I will call the priests and perform the ceremony—now!"

With his other hand he waved. The weird sound of the native drums accompanied by the clatter of spears and aboriginal musical instruments burst forth in a pandemonium of barbaric tempo.

Black John advanced into the center of the group, descendants of a pirate crew that had settled in the jungle generations ago, intermarried, now reduced to the primitive state of superstitious savages—a lost village. He himself, the wayward son of a noble British family, by his superior wit and shrewdness had made himself the leader of the tribe, pretending a mastery of witchcraft.

"Tarzan and his ape people are raiding our cattle!" he cried loudly. "They are destroying our fields. They must perish!" He hung on the word as if it alone would annihilate an enemy.

Still grasping Mary Trevor, the delicate, beautiful, high-strung American castaway, by the wrist Black John continued to harangue and exhort the villagers.

He paused before a flat stone. Seizing a brand from the council fire he applied it suddenly to a little pile on the stone. Instantly there was a blinding flash and a column of smoke shot high up in the air. It was Black John's magic by way of casting a spell to set fire to some black gunpowder and overawe the villagers, as a prelude.

"This will cast a spell of terror against Tarzan," he shouted boldly. "A curse on Tarzan and his tribe! He will not dare to come near us now!"

The beating of the native drums rose in sharp staccato, the clashing of musical instruments and of spears, the weird music of native voices.

Black John pulled Mary forward by the wrist almost dislocating it by the savage force of his grasp. "Now," he whispered, "Dance! Show them my power over the White Goddess who will win the favor of the Jungle Gods! Dance as you never danced before! Give it to them—all!"

Mary felt herself catapulted into the midst of the wild assemblage with the frenzied music. There was just time for one thought to flash through her mind in a split second. The dance of wild abandon was the least of many evils that might befall her. It would give her respite—if even for a day—and another day, what might another dawn bring forth?

Propelled by the force of Black John she caught herself, poised on one foot, balanced, whirled and was off in a dance that was a stone-age exaggeration of classical dancing now, swept on into writhings and posturings of old dance halls of Frisco, the tango, the maxixe of South America and wound up in the Negro movements that had captured the white dancers as she threw into them the spirit of native Africa itself.

Enthralled, the natives watched and followed the white goddess.

Far off in the jungle whence the eyes of Mary Trevor could not penetrate nor the echo of the curse reverberate, in a crotch of a great tree, perched the figure of a man how to call them, knew their trails and all their dangers; helped them, played and lived and suffered.

This was Tarzan, the Mighty, King of the Jungle!

Chapter 2 QUEEN OF HIS KIND

Into the heart of the Jungle, mysterious and fascinating, where Tantor, the elephant, prince of beasts, trumpeted to the herd, where Numa, the lion, ruler of his kind, preyed on man and beast, where lived the tiger, the rhinoceros, the crocodile, and above all the ape people who made up in shrewd cunning what they lacked in strength, years before had come two intrepid explorers, Lord and Lady Greystoke.

Delirious with the dread jungle fever, Lork Greystoke and Lady Rosalie tossed in their bunks in the cabin they had built. Scientists though they were and protected against the perils of the jungle, the science of their day had given them only imperfect protection from perils unseen, microscopic.

In a sudden silence, Rosalie staggered up from her bed, swayed across to her husband, so still, and took his hand. It was cold. She laid it down, tottered in a daze over to the bed here crooned little Edward, her baby born on the expedition. With a prayer on her lips she, too, collapsed on the floor, another martyr to the white man's conquest of the tropics.

Toka, the she-ape, had just been the victim of another jungle tragedy. Her own baby had fallen a victim to the dread foe of man and beast—death. Toka wandered, unconsolable, when suddenly from a strange habitation in her jungle she heard a piercing cry, a wail. It was not of an ape-child. Yet it was the young of some animal strangely akin. And it was the wail of hunger.

Toka looped over, looked in and entered. What she found stirred the depths of her already overwrought mother heart. She picked up the baby, caressed it, fondled it, clasped it to her breast. There was none to say her nay. She loped off with her foundling man-child.

... a better method of clothes pressing ...

HAVE a suit or coat pressed here the Valetor way, and you'll agree that this IS a better method of clothes pressing. Valetor pressing does more than simply iron out wrinkles and crease your clothes. Valetor pressing (1) reshapes the garments; brings back the original trim tailored lines; makes clothes fit like new; (2) raises the nap and restores the lustre of the fabric, and (3) kills disease germs, destroys moth eggs, and removes perspiration odors.

RESULT: Your clothes keep their new look. They come back to you soft-dried, fresh, good-looking. And—best of all—clothes pressed regularly the Valetor way actually last longer than clothes pressed by old-fashioned methods. You save money because your clothes wear longer!

Moth Gravel Pit in N. E. Floyd To Furnish Highways 9 and 28

Floyd County's mammoth gravel deposit in the vicinity of the town of Hale County will furnish the road material for the next twelve months.

Mr. Brown said that the sand and gravel business was good at this time and at the rate the contracts were coming in, it was a question of production at the big plant, and that they would have all they could do for some time to come, in order to take care of the demands that are being made upon them for material.

The plant of the Panhandle Sand & Gravel Co. represents about a half million dollars investment, and is wholly within Floyd county. The pit consists of three sections of land, all of which are solid sand gravel beds. All the ballast for the new lines of the Fort Worth & Denver South Plains Railway Co. was taken from this pit, and it only took the gravel from the cuts that were necessary for the railroad to move sand and gravel in building the spur three miles long that was necessary to take care of the future needs of the company in shipping out the Denver Road. The company has an individual locomotive at the plant that takes care of the switching and hauling of the cars of sand and gravel to the big plant, where it is screened and a dozen different grades of gravel and sand are turned out for different kinds of concrete work. Their pit is said to be one of the largest in the United States, and their plant is said to be one of the largest and best in the entire world.

This enormous plant, which was erected during the past year, is proving to be one of Floyd county's largest industries, and will fill a long felt need to the building activities all over the Western part of Texas.

Mr. Porter states that the highway contract calls for 120,000 tons sand and gravel, at an approximate cost of $210,000, and that the highway contract with the addition of the smaller sales of sand and

Members of Equalization Board Give New Zone Plan

Following is a statement by members of the Commissioners' Court, explanatory of their action, as a Board of Equalization.

The impression seems to prevail that a general raise in values is anticipated by the Commissioners' Court, which is not a fact. The facts are as follows:

The Board has not been general overhauling or revision of the property assessments of the County for a number of years (possibly since 1921). The same old values have been adopted with the exception of scattering adjustments over the county. During these years, many improvements have been made, and conveniences, such as Railroads, electric light and power lines, gas lines, telephone lines and many other public utilities have been installed; only a few years ago, many of our farmers were freighting their products a distance of from 20 to 35 miles; now these same communities either have shipping points in their midst, or only a few miles away (there is possibly not a farm in the County as much as 12 miles on an air line from a Rail Road.) In our opinion it would be unjust to allow tax values to remain as they were a few years ago, when only a limited area of our county had the conveniences enumerated above. As we have stated above, the raise in values, we are now contemplating, are not for the purpose of revenue, but are for the purpose of equalization. Some suggested that we take the low areas and scale down, or raise the higher values to an equal level with the low values. Our objection to this procedure is that it would absolutely ruin many of the common School Districts, as far as their finances are concerned. Hence, we cannot entertain a policy of this kind.

Now, as to the raise and its effect on the tax payer, we wish to outline our arrangement for equalization: We have laid the county out in zones with the sole purpose of equalizing values; in an extending about five miles in direction from Floydada, and Aiken there has been a material increase in values, in fact, it is doubtful if this area has paid its own; in the South West corner of the County, near Petersburg, we contemplate a value of $2200.00 per quarter Section; a little further East, values will drop to $1000.00 per quarter Section; on the south, and part of the east boundary line of the County, values will be $2000.00 per quarter Section, increasing to $2200.00 per quarter, nearer the Q. A. & P. and Denver R. R. There is very little land at the raise in values will exceed $100.00 per quarter Section and where greater values occur it is near the new R. R. towns or was badly out of line heretofore; where land has been raised $100.00 per quarter Section, the additional State tax will be 64c and County Tax 65c, or a raise per quarter of $1.29 under present tax rates.

In the City of Floydada, there will be a considerable increase of new property values and some increase in new business and desirable residential sections. Our opinion is that Floydada has outgrown former property values and is in need of a thorough overhauling.

The court is making every effort to so arrange the proportion of values so that every one will be on an equal basis, whether the property owner be a large corporate interests or the owner be a vacant town lot. While we do not claim that our plan of valuation is perfect or that our zoning system has no flaws, yet, we believe that it is a much better system than we have followed heretofore.

BRING YOUR WRECK DIRECT TO THE DOCTOR

When you have a wreck, as seems almost inevitable, why not bring the "boat" direct to the automobile body and fender doctor, and let him pass on your needs. Lots of times you can possibly save a fender, door or other part that you'd buy instead of having the part repaired and put back in the kind of condition like it was before the damage was done.

An Oklahoma Mother Says:

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I use it for mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home."

"When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is about the only medicine I have to take. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. I hardly see how I could keep house without Black-Draught. It has become a standby with us, in keeping the children and ourselves well."—Mrs. Luther Brassfield, Claremore, Okla.

Lions Best Rotarians On Baseball Diamond

"Too Much Coach Jones," Says Rotarian Reporter Who Could Not Hit Them.

The Lions and the Rotarians in their baseball diamond clash Friday afternoon of last week, figuratively speaking, had only a handful of spectators but they had plenty of fun trying to be as good as they could. The Lions had much of the struggle, scoring five runs while the Rotarians, after hitting two men across in the last two innings were never able to get man past third base.

Friday's game was an unfruitful attempt by the Rotarians to even the score of the previous game. A week previous, the Lions took the long end of a ten to two score from the Rotarians, and a re-call was issued to find out who is really best.

Starting for the Lions were J. C. Wester catcher, Troy Jones, pitcher, Lon Davis center field, Griggs Bishop short stop, P. G. Stegall third base, Ed Bishop right field, J. C.

Gilliam left field, Luther Fry second base and C. H. Davis first base.

For the Rotarians: Ben Blacklock, catcher; Bob Sone, pitcher; Dick O'Brien, first base; Bob Medlin, second base; D. W. Fyffe, third base; Geo. Linder, short stop, H. P. Watson, right field. They also used two "outsiders." They were Harold Porterfield, left field and Roy Swain, center field.

"Too much Coach Jones," the Rotarians claimed, Lion Troy H. Jones being on the mound for the Lions and doing a most excellent job of the pitching job. Bob Medlin and Robt. A. Sone for the Rotarians did much better than an average job of hurling.

The game lasted six innings from six to nearly eight. The Lions had lots of fun, and a number of Rotarians also attended the game. There were no casualties.

Use Pressure Cookers Canning Nonacid Foods

Research and practical experience have demonstrated, says Dr. A. F. Woods, director of Scientific Work, United States Department of Agriculture, that nonacid food products, like asparagus, beans, corn, peas, beets, spinach, meats, and fish, can not be canned safely by processing in boiling water, but must be sterilized under pressure with approved time and temperature.

Pressure cookers are now standard equipment and are readily available at small cost. The department does not recommend any particular make, although attention is called to the importance of having the pressure kettle equipped with thermometer and pressure gauge for proper control.

"There is now no excuse," says Doctor Woods, "for continuing to take risks involved in canning nonacid foods without adequate pressure cooking. All recommendations by the Department of Agriculture will hereafter make this clear and emphatic."

Badly Run-Down

"Six years ago, I was very much run-down," says Mrs. Olympia Knight, of Lovett, Ga. "I did not sleep well, and was weak and restless. I dragged around the house with not enough strength to do my daily tasks. I worried a lot, and this disturbed state of mind reacted on my health."

"I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while."

"It was astonishing how much I picked up. I slept better, my appetite improved, and that awful dragging-down feeling left me. I was so much better that I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well."

Cardui has been used by women for over 50 years.

To Market! To Market!

Remember the old nursery rhyme: "To market to market to buy a fat pig—and home again, home again dancing a jig!"

There's a reason for that nursery rhyme! Since our pre-historic ancestors laid in the day's provisions by hunting the dinosaur, meat has been the foundation of the house-wife's menu.

But dinosaurs are out of date, and we no longer are forced to hunt for meat. Our meat shops offer a variety of fresh meats every day. Those meats have been prepared, by sanitary methods, for your table.

Floydada housewives can be assured that they are getting fresh meat the year around—in warm days as well as cold.

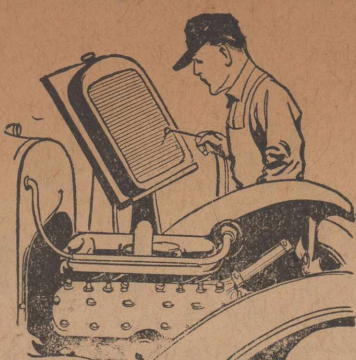

Our meat markets are unusually modern and up-to-date. As provisioners for your table, they are giving you conscientious service.

The female did not leave that part of the country, but stayed close by the straw stack where she had last seen her mate. After each snow I would see her tracks, but she never went close to the stack. In the latter part of February I killed her, shooting her across a small canon with a 30-30 rifle. She was very poor and I think that she was grieving herself to death over her mate. I suppose some fair lady is wearing this fur by this time. Little knowing the history of them. This occurred north of Clayton, N. M. The coyote is not as bad a killer as some people make him out to be. His food is mainly rats, mice, snakes and rabbits and I think he more than pays for the few sheep and melons he steals.—L. W. Stevens in Clayton (N. M.) News.

"Once a scrub, always a scrub" may be said of an individual cow, but not of a dairy herd. Use a good purebred dairy bull in a scrub herd and the daughters will be productive grades, and the granddaughters high grades of larger production.

No one likes butter with a sour overripe flavor, and this defect, which is very common in farm butter, can be avoided by properly ripening the cream, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Keep the cream cold and sweet until about 12 hours before it is to be churned. Then stir it thoroughly, warm to a temperature of 65 to 75 degrees F., and hold at that temperature until it thickens, has a glossy appearance and is mildly sour. Cool it quickly to churning temperature or below, hold for two hours, and churn. The churning temperature should be low enough to produce firm butter. In summer this will be between 52 and 60 degrees F. Cream that is allowed to ripen to long or at too high a temperature produces but-or wife's hats as she is in choosing neckties for him.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Out Of Date Roads Waste Public Cash
High Type Pavement Saves $99,000 Over Low In Twenty Years.

By E. E. Duffy

Not long ago a manufacturing company in Cleveland startled the business world by advertising its willingness to pay well for machinery improvements of such efficiency that scrapping old equipment would be justified.

Obsolescence has come to be regarded in industry as one of the chief enemies to profits. Countless cases are on record wherein companies on the verge of bankruptcy have saved themselves by discarding both new and old equipment of low efficiency.

A report presented recently before the American Society of Civil Engineers makes known some facts that again point out that the application of this business-like procedure to government operation would in many instances save the public considerable sums of money.

The report, prepared by H. J. Kuelling while state highway engineer of Wisconsin, concludes that an average mile of concrete road, over which 500 to 1500 cars pass daily, will save roughly $172,000 over gravel in the 20-year period.

He declares, "If $4,935 is deposited in a bank every year, drawing interest at five and a half per cent, compounded annually, it will amount to $172,000 at the end of 20 years. In other words, under the traffic conditions assumed a concrete road plus $4,935 saved annually is the equivalent to the cost of a gravel road. These figures are so staggering that they appear quite fallacious. This is because of the habit of neglecting to recognize the indirect taxes paid for highways. Bills for tires, gasoline and repairs are part of the operating costs."

Mr. Kuelling bases his conclusions on facts derived from comparing the first cost of gravel with concrete, and the cost of maintaining them, of the tire and gasoline expenses over both highway types, all for a period of 20 years.

This saving includes interest. However, if interest is eliminated, the saving over concrete for the same period is still $99,000.

Motor transportation is a business, a tremendous business, but its success and economy are now largely dependent upon the highway. It costs the public more money to travel over inferior roads rather than good, just as it costs a manufacturer more to use a piece of unperfected equipment.

A locomotive company reports that on one division of a certain railroad thirty-five new super-power locomotives have replaced engines, most of which were but five years old, because the new design operates at a 34 per cent reduction in ton-mile costs.

Certainly the private citizen, the engineer of his own personal engine, is worthy of the greatest possible highway efficiency.

A TRUE COYOTE STORY
This is a true story of a pair of coyotes that I tried for several years to trap. They followed the same route year after year and I could identify them because one had lost two front toes in a trap. I set trap after trap for these two wise coyote, but from 1926 until this year they always outwitted me. In January, this year, I saw that they had been digging in an old straw stack for mice. I placed a trap on the stack as I knew they would return. That night it snowed about six inches and I did not get to look at this trap for three days on account of sickness. The fourth day as I approached the trap I saw a coyote slink away in the brush nearby and as I got nearer I saw that I had one in the trap. It was the male. I shot him and as I was getting ready to reset the trap I noticed rabbit fur and feathers of quail about the trap and I knew this game had not been caught there.

Feels Years Younger,
Says Former Sheriff

"I am 63 years old. Take a man
my age, down and out physically, and let him find some medicine that puts him on his feet like Sargon did me, and he is going to tell about

HENRY C. KING

it," said Henry C. King, 2112 West 11th St., Oklahoma City, an "old timer" who for 50 years as cattleman and deputy sheriff has maintained a reputation as a "straight shooter".

"When I saw myself begin to get old and puny a few years ago,
I began to try nearly every medicine I ever heard of to get me straight but I couldn't get anything to do me any lasting good.

"Then I tried Sargon, and it soon had me feeling twenty years younger! Today, two months since I quit taking Sargon I feel just as good. A friend met me the other day and said "Why Henry, somebody told me you had been sick. He must have been mistaken. I never saw you looking better."

"We old timers learned to help one another so I want people to know what Sargon did for me. I couldn't digest anything I ate, my skin was yellow and spotted, and I was so weak that when I lay down
I didn't care whether I got up or not. I never had a natural action of my bowels, and had to get up all during the night on account of my kidneys.

"Sargon made me gain fourteen pounds, I eat more and digest it with no trouble; my kidneys have stopped bothering me and my bowels are regular as clockwork; and mind you it has been two months since I quit taking it."

Sargon may be obtained in Floydada at Floydada Drug Company and in Lockney at Stewart Drug Co.

"So you've come for your wife
—well we'll let Her decide!"

AS the words of his wife's letter burned in his brain, it seemed impossible that Janet could have written it. No word of endearment, not even a hint of regret.
And they had been so gloriously happy.

Two days later he had traced and found her in a hotel room—but how changed since the day she had fled! How she clung to him, sobbing, refusing to explain, pleading frantically for him to go.

"He may come any minute," she cried. "He will kill you—kill us both.
For myself I don't care. I want to die.
But I won't sacrifice you.
There are things I can't explain. I love you, I swear it. You are everything in the world to me, but—"

"So you're the loving husband! And you've come for your wife! Well—we'll see what she thinks about that." He turned to Janet. "Are you going with me, Janet? We'll let you decide."

Her eyes, desperate with mute appeal, wavered from one to the other; her lips trembled in a piteous attempt to speak.
Finally she voiced her decision—and thus launched one of the most astounding dramas ever unfolded in a woman's life.

Who was this man? What did he mean in Janet's life? Why had she fled the security of marriage and the happiness of a devoted husband's love to go away with this stranger? This amazing situation has at last been explained in "Why She Disappeared," in July True

Farming Profitable?

It took a western wheat farmer, Charlie Angell of Plains, that would make western wheat farming profitable.

Now there are dozens of implements patterned after or re-one-third.

We believe most farmers will prefer the original and genuine Angell "One Way" Disc with its proven record of success. Let

Radiator water boils at 212°F

MODERN motors, operating at high speeds, at high temperatures, require a heat resisting oil. The new DIAMOND "SEVEN-SIXTY"
Motor Oil is tested under a temperature of 760° F.
—insuring a wide margin of safety for the working parts of the new high speed, high compression motors. Even at this heat—over 3½ times greater than the temperature at which water boils—evaporation loss is negligible.

DIAMOND "SEVEN-SIXTY" offers you a new degree of safety, of economy, of motor perform-distinctly new and better lubricant—the first of

Peonies Are Easily Grown and Free Of Diseases, Questioner Is Told

Amateur growers of peonies, who for lack of information on the culture of these beautiful flowers, have been unable to get good results with them, will find the following from F. W. Christman, secretary of the American Peony Society, helpful and heartening. While many residents of Floyd County have learned the secret of handling them, many others have found it difficult to make peonies respond with their beautiful blooms.

Peonies are easily grown and fewer flowers are free from disease, according to W. F. Christian, secretary of the American Peony Society who published the following excerpt from questions and answers in Better Homes and Gardens Magazine.

"September is the best time to plant peonies because they will then have sufficient time for root growth to start before cold weather, however, in a moderate climate planting may be delayed a little later.

"A well drained location is considered best. Plants should not be planted close to trees or shrubbery where the moisture will be absorbed from the plants.

"A standard three to five eye division is the most satisfactory. Small divisions require more care in handling to insure success.

"Well decayed manure, wood ashes, steamed bone meal and well balanced commercial fertilizers can be used, but there is danger of over fertilization, which peonies resent. Fertilizers should never come in direct contact with the roots until they have been assimilated by the soil.

"There are a number of reasons why the plants do not bloom, the chief one being too deep planting. The buds should be placed so that when planting is completed they will be just below the surface. Excessive shade, late freezing in the spring, lack of fertility and an excessive number of eyes with insufficient root system are all contributing causes which result in the lack of blooms. Small divisions may fail to bloom the first or second season after planting. Removal sometimes causes plants to stop blooming for a year or more.

"A generous application of water under pressure will remove ants that bother the buds. They like a bitter-sweet honey that exudes at a certain stage of development. After the honey disappears the ants will no longer bother the bud, neither do they damage the flowers.

"Some of the most common diseases that infest peonies are Botrytis and leaf-spot. Botrytis blight is prevalent during cold, wet springs. The stems rot at the base. It is caused by a parasite fungus that is very destructive to plant tissues. Discolored shoots should be removed, and the soil over and around the crown should be displaced with new soil. A light application of hydrated lime will be beneficial. For leaf-spot, burning of the tops, in early fall will generally obviate the trouble."

Rotary Club Meets At Campbell For Luncheon

Floydada Rotary Club enjoyed the novelty of a luncheon away from their usual meeting place Wednesday, when they had their hour of program and lunch at Campbell School House, east of Floydada, with ladies of the Campbell Home Demonstration Club serving a most enjoyable spread.

Nineteen members attended with a number of visitors present, including Wiley Boyle of Plainview, Glad Snodgrass, Mrs. R. A. Sone, Miss Ruth Collins, Mrs. A. D. Cummings and Ed Bishop of Floydada.

"Aims and objects of Rotary," by D. W. Fyffe, "Rotary and the Rural Communities," by Jim Willson, were two features of the program arranged by R. A. Sone, chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. A. D. Cummings gave an enjoyable violin solo, "Roses of Picardy," with Miss Ruth Collins accompanying at the piano.

A. D. Cummings, recently returned delegate to the International Rotary Convention, gave a brief talk on "The International Aspect of Rotary," the first of a number of talks expected from him during the next several weeks.

Mrs. W. H. Bethel, of the Campbell Home Demonstration Club, said her club was happy to have representatives of Rotary visit their community for a meeting. Copies of "Milady's Cook Book," a publication issued last year by the Campbell Club, were given as favors.

Mrs. John Reagan returned Saturday from a week's visit with her parents, Judge and Mrs. B. H. Howard, of Crosbyton.

Roy Eubank resumed his work at Martin Dry Goods Co. Monday after a two weeks vacation trip to Corpus Christi and other southern points. While returning home he spent two days and one night on a hill between New Braunfels and San Marcos waiting for the water to recede sufficiently to continue travel, that part of the country being in the flooded district last week.

Week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Thacker were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sullivan and brother, Pat Sullivan of Big Spring.

Mrs. George A. Linder, Rev. R. E. Bost, G. M. Bullard and Rev. P. D. O'Brien attended the monthly Worker's Council of the Floyd County Baptist Association at Roaring Springs Tuesday. The next meeting will be held at Fairview the latter part of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Scoggin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kight Dickey and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dickey and little son moved to Lubbock last week where they will be associated in business under the firm name of Scoggin-Dickey Motor Co.

M. P. Cole, of Ralls, was a business visitor in Floydada Wednesday.
