Hesperian Office Closes All Day On Thanksgiving

Following a custom established several years ago of giving all the force a full holiday on Thanksgiving, The Hesperian Thursday of next week, November 28, will be closed in observance of the occasion.

Closing all day Thursday will require that we publish The Hesperian next week on Wednesday night, almost a day earlier than the usual hour. We would appreciate our advertisers and news contributors keeping this holiday in mind when preparing material for the next issue. Your help in this respect will make it possible for our force to enjoy the pleasures of a complete day of relaxation.

ATTA BOY, PAT!

What's the use of waiting until the last minute to let Santa know what a boy's thinking about that he wants Christmas? Another Floydada boy has that idea about it. His name is Pat Collins and here's what he has on his chest, Santa Claus, as written care The Hesperian:

Floydada, Texas, Nov. 25, 1929.
Dear Santa Claus:
Please bring me a football suit and a football, and a bicycle like James Willson's, and candy, nuts and bananas. Be good to other boys and girls.

Lockney And Ralls To Clash In Semi-Finals

Gridiron Clash on Longhorn Field Tomorrow Creating County-wide Interest.

Lockney Longhorns versus Ralls Jackrabbits, at Lockney, Friday, November 22. Semi-final championship game of District Two, Class B football.

Eyes of football fans of District Two who are interested in the Championship of Class B football are turned this week end toward the Longhorn Gridiron where the Floyd County entry in the fight for district honors will do battle with the Crosby County entry. Only three teams, Lockney, Ralls and Lamesa, remain undefeated in this district and after tomorrow only two teams will be left in the race. The winner of tomorrow's Lockney-Ralls game will go into the final championship game with Lamesa on Turkey Day at Lamesa.

Both cities are pepped up over the game this week and present indications point toward one of the hottest and fastest games played in this section this year. Considering "dope" from the Floydada High Whirlwind squad standpoint, odds are stacking in favor of the Longhorns. Lockney smothered Floydada under a 34 to 0 defeat, while Ralls barely defeated Floydada 13 to 7.

Local interest in the game has been steadily increasing and widespread interest all over the county has been created in the game tomorrow. Word from Lockney this week is that they are anticipating the large attendance at the game tomorrow the city has ever had at a similar event. Many Floydada and Floyd County fans are making plans to attend the game and furnish their share of side-line backing for the success of the Longhorns.

Whirlwinds In Last Home Game Tomorrow

Paducah Eleven Face Local Gridsters in Closing Home Game of Season.

Final curtains are slowly lowering on the Whirlwind 1929 football season and tomorrow will mark the last opportunity local fans will have to see the Whirlwinds at work on their own field. Their rivals in the next to last game of the season tomorrow will be the Paducah eleven, to whom the Whirlwinds forfeited their championship hopes last season.

Paducah is not expected to be such a tough job for the Windies this week as they were last season. In fact present expectations are that the local gridsters will swamp the visitors by two or more touchdowns. The dope is falling in favor of the Green and White warriors, not because of their past victories, but because of Paducah's record to date. Earlier in the season the Paducah boys were held to a scoreless tie by the Matarador eleven, and the Motley county gridsters are classed among the weakest squads in Class B football in this district.

Coach Troy Jones is optimistic this week over the coming game but expresses belief that the visitors will put up a harder fight than local fans are expecting. He believes that the game will be one of the best seen on the local gridiron this season and is urging all Whirlwind fans to attend and root for the local boys.

The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

THANKSGIVING BOX SUPPER AT FAIRVIEW M. E. CHURCH

The Fairview Methodist church is sponsoring the entertainment and proceeds from the box supper will be used to help pay for a lighting plant for the church building, it was stated.

In addition to the box supper, there will be a contest to determine the most beautiful girl present and one to determine the homeliest man. The program will include musical numbers and readings. It has been announced that Jno. W. McDonald will act as auctioneer for the box supper.

The program will be held at the Fairview Methodist Church on Thursday night, November 28.

The basketball team of the City Fire Department was defeated Thursday evening by the team of Dougherty school in a game played at the Andrews Ward Gymnasium. The score being 15 to 30 in favor of Dougherty.

Members of the Fire Department team who played are E. S. Price, Lee Mayhew, W. C. Newsome, George Sherrill, Hal Drace and Ray Clements.

Union Thanksgiving services in Floydada will be held at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening, November 27, at 7 o'clock.

Rev. G. T. Palmer, pastor of the First Methodist Church will be in charge of the program. Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon. Special music has been arranged for the occasion.

Singing Records Will Be Heard Here Friday

The approval records made by J. Frank Copeland and party of singers in Dallas, Victor recording, recently have been received and will be heard in Floydada tomorrow, it was announced Wednesday by Dee Copeland, who has charge of the record distribution.

Already the records are being heard in a dozen places in Texas, Kansas and Kentucky, and are making a hit, it is said. At Littlefield alone, we are informed, the Victor dealer incidentally heard the records, hunted Mr. Copeland up, and asked to be permitted to sell the records, expressing the belief that he could sell a thousand by January first.

The date for the presentation of the recording in Floydada is Friday November 22, tomorrow, when these records and others will be heard at Kirk & Sons and Carter Music Company. Mr. Copeland's son will have charge of the reproduction.

Hero Medal Presented To Boy Scout Sunday

Large Crowd See J. R. deCordova Receive First Life Saving Citation in District.

"Be Prepared" is not only a Scout motto, it is the principle on which all of scouting is based, and until a boy is prepared for the various tasks that may arise at unexpected moments, he is not a scout, according to Scout Executive E. L. Roberts, executive of the Central Plains Area. To save a human life is, of course, the supreme effort of this principle, but a scout must be able to meet and overcome many of the things that are baffling to the ordinary by-stander, he said.

Executive Roberts made an impressive talk to citizens of Floydada last Sunday evening at the Methodist Church when he presented the first Life Saving Citation to be won by a boy scout in the Central Plains Area. J. R. deCordova, member of Scout troop 44, was cited for heroism by the National Scout Headquarters at Washington, D. C., for saving the life of Pope Duncan, whom he rescued from drowning.

Mrs. G. W. deCordova, mother of the hero, received the medal from the Scout Executive, and in turn presented it to her son. It is said to have been the most impressive medal presentation ever held in the area. The large church building was packed to capacity with citizens and scouts who had gathered for the presentation.

W. A. Gound, scoutmaster of Troop 44, acted as chairman of the presentation program. The scouts who were to receive honors marched into the auditorium double file to the strains of "Star Spangled Banner" and paused in front of the altar to sing "America."

Following the invocation by Rev. P. D. O'Brien, a song, "Throw Out the Life Line" was sung by the congregation. J. C. Wester gave a very interesting and instructive heart-to-heart talk on a Dad's view of Scouting. Following his talk, Rev. O'Brien gave the sermon of the evening on a "Scout's Hike," carrying the principles and laws of scouting from the creation of man up to the present time.

Presentation of the hero badge was made following Rev. O'Brien's talk and following this presentation, Executive Roberts delivered Life Scout badges to four scouts, and Star Scout badges to two.

The Scouts who received the Life Scout honors were Reeves Scott, Fred Porterfield, Vern Eastridge and Sam Rutledge. Star Scout honors were presented to Cap Felton and John Edwards Smith. The medals were presented to the mothers of the scouts and then passed from the mothers to the honored scouts.

Reuben Fawver Killed In Car Accident Sat.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Fourteen Year Old Son of G. L. Fawver.

Reuben Hale Fawver, 14 year old son of G. L. Fawver, of the Baker community, was fatally injured at about 7 o'clock Saturday evening of last week when a car in which he was riding collided with a truck parked on the Lakeview road about 10 miles South east of this city. He was rushed to the Smith and Smith Sanitarium where he died shortly after the accident. A crushed skull, among other injuries, is said by doctors to have been the cause of his death.

Young Fawver, together with his older brother, G. L., Jr., 16, and Hilary Palvadore, 22, were enroute to Mt. Blanco to attend a party at the J. A. Palvadore home when the accident occurred. The boys were riding in a Ford coupe, which belonged to Palvadore. A bright moon which shined almost directly in the eyes of the driver is believed to have blinded him so that he did not see the truck parked on the roadway. The moving car was almost totally wrecked from the impact against the truck. Only slight injuries were sustained by Palvadore and the older Fawver boy.

Funeral services for the deceased were held at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. E. L. Muncy, assisted by Rev. P. D. O'Brien. More than a thousand friends and relatives of the Fawver family attended the funeral services. Mr. Fawver is one of the early settlers in this section.

Friends of the deceased, acting as pall bearers at the funeral were Herschel Green, R. T. Jones, Myrl Colston, Leland Hart, Winston Woolsey, Tate Jones, Floyd D. Gilbreath, Elmer Carathers, Reynolds Sanders and Frank Roberts.

Flower girls were Jewell Woolsey, Annie Graves, Irene Colston, Lela Jones, Thelma Colston, Flice Gilbreath, Marie Carathers and Meeda Teafattiller.

Surviving the deceased are his father and five brothers and one sister. The brothers are G. L. Fawver, Jr., who resides with his father; Roy, of the Campbell Community, Claude, of the Baker Community, Marvin, of Little Rock, Ark., and Ray of San Angelo. Marvin and Ray were not present for the funeral services Sunday afternoon. The sister is Annie Jewell Fawver, who resides with her father.

Interment was made, following the funeral services, in the Floydada Cemetery. The body was laid to rest beside the bodies of his two brothers, Frank and Milton and a sister, Virgie, all three of whom drowned at Silver Falls Lake in August of 1924.

Local Stores Prepare For Christmas Season

Wide Gift Selections in Many Initial Showings Made During past Week.

Almost half of the retail stores in Floydada are this week making their first displays of Christmas merchandise and have begun the decoration of their store buildings with bright colors paper bells and lighting schemes. Displays are being made this year almost two weeks earlier than last year, indicating that local merchants are heavier stocked with gift merchandise than ever before.

Not only are the gift departments larger this year, but they are composed of a larger variety of practical gifts than in the past. Expensive little novelties that are quickly discarded are giving away to the less expensive gifts that are practical the year-round. Radios, furniture and the other furnishings for the home are proving to be much in demand this year and Floydada dealers are preparing for the heavy runs by arranging their large stocks early in the season.

Probably the most completely arranged Christmas stores which were most noticeable this mid-week were the Martin Dry Goods Company and the H. P. Watson Company, department stores. The latter named store is especially attractive with it's display of playthings for the children. An electric train, running over a track placed almost around half of the store and passing over the heads of the customers, is the most eye-compelling feature in display at Watson's.

By next week-end, following the Thanksgiving holidays, it is expected that practically every retail store in the city will have made their initial showing of Christmas stocks and their stores gaily decorated with bright Christmas color schemes.

Present indications are that Floydada merchants will be better equipped this year to make the earliest and most complete showings of Christmas merchandise of recent years. "The Christmas Town" has been unofficially adopted by local merchants as their slogan this season and early preparations are being made with this aim in view.

ATTENDING STATE BAPTIST CONVENTION AT BEAUMONT

Rev. R. E. Bost, missionary for Floyd County Baptist Association, and Mrs. Bost, president of the Woman's work of the Association, left Saturday for Beaumont where they will attend the State Baptist Convention which convened at Beaumont Monday, November 18 in a ten days session.

Mrs. Lon V. Smith president of the Ninth District Woman's Missionary Society, will address the convention on the subject, "The Light that Lightens," Mrs. Smith left last week and attended the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at Mineral Wells November 11-15, before going to Beaumont.

RELATIONS OF COMPETITORS ROTARY SUBJECT WEDNESDAY

The program of the Floydada Rotary Club Wednesday at their noonday luncheon, basement of the Methodist Church, was in charge of the vocational service committee of the club, J. V. Daniel, chairman.

Applying the Golden Rule to business was the general head under which the discussions were held. "The relations of one competitor to another" being S. N. Tawwater's subject. H. L. Crow discussed the question, "Is it ethical to sell below cost?" and J. M. Willson the ethics of hiring a competitor's employe.

M. R. Snyder, Dr. C. D. Henry, and Faye Guthrie, of the Lockney Club, were present making up attendance, as was Leslie Stringer of the Wichita Falls Club.

The Floydada Club has extended an invitation to the Lockney Club to visit with the local club the first week in December.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Contemporary Thought

YOUR SURPLUS FUNDS

The Tulsa Herald: Not long ago, so it is reported, the officers of the Seaboard Air Line railroad were astonished at the rapid rise in the market quotations of their stock. Knowing that there was no reason for this increase, and feeling that the stock was being subjected to market manipulations, they employed investigators to study the situation.

The explanation was simple. Large numbers of people feeling that this concern was engaged in some branch of aviation were buying the company's stock without any true knowledge of its value. For this company's connection with aviation is to be found in the name only.

This illustrates the errors to which unexperienced investors are subject. It shows the extent of public knowledge back of a large volume of stock market activity. This era of frenzied buying is rapidly drawing to a close, thanks to the pressure of rapid crashes and declines in market prices. But it is to be regretted that so many people must learn the lesson at so great a price.

Investing money in speculative stocks is extremely hazardous for the average man and woman. Little do they know about all the many influences in the industrial world that affect the prices of their holdings. Seeking great wealth without working they often reduce themselves to poverty.

The wise man recognizes the limitations of his knowledge. He hesitates to plunge into financial waters without knowing something of their depth.

The intelligent thing is either to invest your money in good business institutions here in Tulsa, or consult your banker before you buy. His daily training in investing funds has given him a fund of knowledge that may be of extreme value to you in the proper handling of your surplus funds.

Newman of the Mt. Olive community came into town Monday and engaged his friends in conversation. "I see you have not as yet removed the automobiles from Main street so our country boys may park our cars when we come to town." Mr. Newman is right. His words brought up that famous remark credited to Mark Twain about the weather. We've talked a whole lot about the parking problem, but we have done nothing about it. The question recurs, what are we going to do about it.

MORE AIRPORTS WANTED

The American City: A nationwide system of airports at intervals of not more than 10 miles in each direction should be seriously considered to assure the growth and safety of aviation in the United States, in the opinion of Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the Guggenheim fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

Mr. Guggenheim believes that flyers have been asked to do the unreasonable when expected to pilot their planes over many miles of territory where they could not land with ease and safety if required to by bad weather or other conditions.

"If airports were located throughout this country at intervals of 10 miles in each direction, an airplane would normally never be more than a maximum of five miles from a landing field, or, in other words, would rarely be out of gliding distance if flying at an altitude of four or five thousand feet." Mr. Guggenheim says in a recent statement. The amount of land which this would require is significant in comparison with the area devoted to the railroads or roads of the country. It is roughly but conservatively estimated that the total land occupied by the railway right-of-way in use, and by station property, is 21,550 square miles. The total occupied by the nation's roads and highways, according to the latest mileage, and allowing a conservative width of 50 feet, is 28,500 square miles.

"As against this area represented by roads and railroads, amounting to a total of 50,050 square miles, landing fields of normal intermediate size — 1,200 foot runways — as used by the air mail, placed 10 miles apart all over the country, would require only 1,544 square miles, or about three per cent of the other figure."

ISSUE OF NOV. 18, 1915

W. M. Colville will let the contract for a residence on South Wall Street property this week. Plans have already been made.

Toll line construction on the two lines which are to be opened soon by the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph Company is progressing rapidly. Poles have been set more than half the way to Lockney out of Floydada, and construction crews moved into Lockney yesterday.

Coming as quite a bit of surprise information, no "Zulu Cars" (immigrant cars) were received at Floydada Santa Fe station last Monday. Practically a car load of immigrants goods per day have been unloaded here during the past month.

C. Surginer & Son have contracted for the distribution agency of the Brownie Motor Car, manufactured by the Carter Manufacturing Co., of Hannibal, Mo. They will have thirty-five of the most populous counties in the plains and panhandle. The new car is of 41 horse power and has a number of very attractive features. It sells at $735, F. O. B. the factory.

J. D. Starks contracted for the Floyd County Overland Automobile agency Tuesday of this week and will receive the first carload of this popular machine during December.

Serve ice cream in the form of a "parfait" once in a while. Put a little ice cream in the bottom of a tall glass; then a spoonful of crushed fruit or chocolate or butterscotch sauce; then more ice cream, a spoonful of whipped cream, and on top a candied cherry or bit of colorful jelly or a malaga grape, or bit of date.

Baked apples may be served with roast pork or pork chops occasionally. Jellied apples, stewed or steamed apples, and other tart accompaniments also offer variations in the menu.

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

SAYS

HAS FLOYDADA A HOLE IN ITS HEEL?

How do you feel toward the man who wears good clothes, keeps his shoes shined and his hat cleaned, but always on whose abdominal covering, there is conspicuous evidence of many a slip between the cup and the lip; who always needs a shave, and for the years that you have known him never has had a manœuvre?

What is your reaction when you behold a lady walking down the street all dressed up in the finest raiment, with a hole in her heel? And what would you think if you saw this same lady every day for a week, and every time that you saw her there was the same hole in the same heel of the same hose?

Whatever your reaction to such people, it is sure that you are not ATTRACTED to them. It is certain that contact with them does not fill you with joy and pleasure, nor create a desire to be intimately associated with them.

In people such is called slovenliness—or perhaps you have a better word for it; in communities it is "oppressive ugliness." Vacant rooms with dirty, placarded and messed-up windows; broken, cob-webbed and paper-stuffed second story windows in the business district; vacant lots overgrown with weeds, cluttered with all sorts of rubbish and refuse; vacant houses with tumble-down buildings; dirty streets, highway entrances littered with nondescript road signs; open city dumps and other such things of repulsion are to a community what a soup-stained vest or heelless stocking is to otherwise well-dressed people.

I know a town where, seven years ago, a store building in the heart of an attractive business district was gutted by fire. Weeds grow rampant through the brickbats within the confines of still-standing, smutted, charred half-walls.

Several years ago a school building surrounded by fine homes was condemned and abandoned. It still stands, dank and gruesome, its broken windows and rotted doorways yawning ghost-like, from under sagging and mildewed walls.

The city hall of a town I know was destroyed by storm some time ago. What was the basement of this building is now a catch-all—a dumping ground for street sweepings, tin cans, junk and corruption—a rodents' paradise of filth and hogwash in plain view of every passerby.

As you are affected by slovenliness in people, just so are the potential residential, commercial and industrial customers of your community affected by "oppressive ugliness."

Don't tolerate abominations that create "oppressive ugliness." The CAN be eliminated and it's YOUR business and the business of every other citizen to see to it that they ARE eliminated, because it's costing YOU money by driving business out of Floydada and keeping new business and new people from coming in.

Character of Old Battleaxe Exposed By Female Raid on Old Bachelors Banquet

(As told to a representative of Conglomerated Press, by Old Battleaxe, himself.)

Sorrow Valley, State of Matrimony, Anyoldplace, U. S. A.— The Old Bachelor's Club of Floydada is no more. Their tale has been told. They have tasted defeat and have surrendered themselves to the whelms of woman kind. "Dog Gone These Wimmin" is a slogan of the past.

For this unique and exclusive club of Woman Haters, the "night of nightmares" became a "night of nightmares." And as a result Old Battleaxe, creator of the club, has been ousted from all society, has been dethroned as a woman hater and has lost his one thought of happiness—single bliss. Prof. Hatesemall, of the University of Florida, principal speaker at the big "blow-out" yesterday evening, is slowly recovering today after having frittled two pieces of chinawear extracted from his skull.

With Old Battleaxe, columnist for this newspaper, at the helm, the first Annual Convention of Old Bachelors was progressing in A-1 Shape, with attendance from all over the United States, when the tragedy occurred, which marked the end of The Old Bachelors' Club.

Prof. Hatesemall, in the principal address of the evening, told his fellow bachelors of the horrors encountered by farers on the High Seas of Matrimony and advised his comrades how to avoid the call of the seas known as "Feminine Attractions." The professor, undoubtedly, had the largest vocabulary of slams for the wimmin that has ever been the privilege of men to hear.

The professor proved to be quite an enthusiast on car mechanism, and used the automobile to illustrate his talk, terming women as horns, flat tires, rattles that needed silencing and useless extras. He advised that the only cure for that loud and continuous knock in the back part of a car was a divorce. In speaking of how energetic many women are these days, he said that they make their husbands eat a cold meal and then stand in the sun for an hour to warm it up.

The speech delivered by this dignified and loquacious honorary member of the O. B. Club was received with wet cheers and loud tears or vice versa or versa vice.

The only error made in the first part of the program was made by man nature about him as he had before he gets into a campaign. He'd much rather you'd tell him "no" and mean it than to tell him "yes" and not mean it, and let him find out about it a few weeks later. That's one reason why every man ought to run for office once or serve the public in some capacity for about three years. It's most disillusioning. Some get bitter, while others, more philosophical, take it as a part of the education every person ought to have.

If addition to what is coming in the way of a candidate crop, is tax pay day. Better "get set" to pay your taxes this year. Happily, the taxation bodies of the county have arrived at the conclusion that taxes assessed ought also to be collected. And they ought, in fairness to the man who walks up to the licklog and takes his medicine. It is not fair to let some get by while the rest pay off.

The smaller communities have to help pay the fiddler for the larger communities. It was ever thus, it seems. The Motley County News says that Matador was without power a day or so last week. A previous man shot the Club Chaplain, J. C. C. who said that the length of women's skirts change so often that it might be a good idea to fasten them to a shade roller at the waist line. On second thought he happened to remember what happens to a shade when you give it a jerk.

It was during the duration of a very eliquite and spunkaneous address delivered by Old Battleaxe that the calamity happened that drew the final curtain on the Old Bachelor's Club.

O. B. had just begun his eulogy on women when the front door of the beautiful Floydada Municipal Auditorium swung open and in walked thirty-seven of Adam's spare ribs. One very attractive (ahem) young lady, whose likeness is shown above, headed the triumphal march with a banner declaring that "All Men Are Fools—Before or After Marriage." She acted as official broadcaster for the other female broadcasters.

Walking to the center of the banquet hall, she exploded as follows: "When the Creator had made all the good things, there was still some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects and when He had finished He had some scraps that were too bad to put into the Rattlesnakes, the Hyena, the Scorpion and the Skunk, so He put all these together covered it with suspicion, wrapped it in hate and jealousy and marked it an Old Bachelor.

"This product was so fearful to contemplate He had to make something to contract it, so He took a sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, wrapped it in civic pride, covered it with sacrificing love, gave it a mask of velvet, a touch of determination, made it a lover of fields and flowers, a believer in the trouble. Of course, if Matador had been served by a plant in Matador the extreme inconvenience would not have occurred.

Lockney's new high school building was formally opened with appropriate ceremonies and inspection visits Friday of last week. The building makes the educational plant of Lockney School District a most complete and satisfactory one.

This is distinctly a season of the buyer's market, but mercantile establishments from one end of the land to another are taking their losses with a smile. It takes training to do that.

Reports from Crosbyton say that a co-operative gin there and the growers who support it will soon adopt some grade of long staple cotton, with the expectation that by 1931 the entire output of the gin will be of the long staple (approximately one inch) variety and pull down a premium accordingly. Texas cotton raisers, hell bent on turn out, have just discovered that their product is in competition with cotton produced by six-cent labor in equality and justice and called it a woman. Since that time Man has had his choice of becoming an Old Bachelor or marrying His supreme creation."

Thus exploding to her fullest extent, the lady, if she may be called such, turned the center of the stage over to a bashful miss, who was not so hard on mankind. She read a short poem written by a local Floydada woman, entitled "I like Men." (The poem was):

I like men. They stride about Put their hands in their pockets And pull things out. They look important, They rock on their toes, They lose all the buttons Off of their clothes. They throw away their pipes. They find them again. Men are queer creatures. I like men.

Mrs. Don Key, secretary of the local burro of inflammation, was the next speaker to broadcast a few slams at the men. She said that the average man's head differs from the tusk of an elephant only in shape. "Some of them are handsome," she said, "But a lot of rotten eggs have perfect shells." She said that some men were so dumb that when they were boys their pa had to chop off one of their thumbs so that they would know which was their right hand. "There are lots of men," she said, "Who will pay a quarter to go to a movie but when they go to church they won't put a quarter in the collection plate to get into the Kingdom of Heaven."

After hours and hours of the above, with every one of the seventy-five Old Bachelors taking it in with wide open mouths, the war broke loose. And you will remember what Sherman said war was. It was that.

When the war had ended, the "ladies" had broke every dish on the banquet table, sixteen arms, two legs and all ten commandments.

"And now as for you," the leader of the band of ferocious females stated, as she dug Old Battleaxe out of a tea cup for the fifteenth time, "You are going home and ROCK ALL OUR BABIES TO SLEEP."

The "lady" in the case is known as Haltosis, legal "Pain-In-The-Neck," boss and wife of Old Battleaxe, (Himself).

AVERAGE SHEEP PRODUCES WOOL FOR ONE SUIT A YEAR

How culling and wise attention to breeding of farm animals may be expected to produce returns for farmers is reflected in statistics gathered by the Bureau of Animal Industry and published in the current Yearbook of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"In 1840," says E. W. Sheets, in charge of animal husbandry investigations, "the average weight of fleece sheared from American sheep was less than 2 pounds. By 1900 it had increased to nearly 5 1/2 pounds. To day it is approaching 8 pounds. In other words, an average sheep to-day grows wool enough each year to make approximately one suit of clothes. In 1840 it took the wool of four sheep to make a suit of equal weight and quality."

Better breeding and more rigid culling of breeding flocks promise to raise this production in dairy cattle and heavy egg production by hens. The offspring of heavy producers are likely to be heavy producers and to transmit to their offspring the capacity for heavy production.

In the case of sheep, Mr. Sheets says: "There is still room for improvement. By 'weeding out' the poor producers and breeding from the heavily fleeced sheep, flock owners can raise the average."

Sargon Endorsed By President Big Firm

"At the age of 79 I'm still active in business, and I attribute my splendid energy and vitality to Sargon. I believe it added years to my life."

DAVID S. BEEKMAN

"Before I took Sargon my health had been failing steadily for five years. What I ate soured almost as soon as it reached my stomach. My nerves were all to pieces and I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. I was continually bothered with constipation and biliousness. I tried many medicines but kept losing weight and getting weaker every day. I thought I would have to give up my business, which would have cost me thousands of dollars.

"Six bottles of Sargon made me like a different man. If I have an ailment left I don't know it. My appetite is keen, all trace of stomach trouble is gone, and I sleep like a top. I've gained seven pounds and feel as well and strong as I did 25 years ago. I go to my office every morning ready for a real day's work. It's a pleasure to endorse this remarkable treatment."—David S. Beekman, President Beekman Steel Fence Co., San Francisco. Floydada Drug Co., Agents.

Beef calves on the range that are weaned in late fall or winter should be fed liberally, as they make better use of the feed than when older. It is not usually advisable to feed yearling steers and heifers so liberally. Two-year-old steers must be wintered cheaply to insure profit in holding them until they are 3 years old. If steers come off the range in the fall fat enough, it may be more profitable to market them at that time. If they lack flesh for killing and the feeder demand is strong, they may be profitably sold as feeders.

WORMS THAT 'TURN'

Meal worms are good or bad, depending on how you look at 'em. They are an asset when reared as food for fish and birds, but a liability when they get into stores of flour, meal, and grain. When found in mills, warehouses, or granaries, they can be easily controlled by periodic cleaning up of refuse around these places, or by fumigation, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Kitchen Drudgery Not Necessary On Farms

Authorities Claim Cost of Betterments so Little Every Home Can Afford Them.

College Station—How needless drudgery drives many a farm wife to an early grave has been graphically pictured in a number of exhibits at county fairs this season where cemeteries were shown in which the tombstones tell the stories of the sad demise of the overworked mother. In the fair in Harrison county Miss Maggie Peach, home demonstration agent, arranged a most striking exhibit in cooperation with the women with whom she works, depicting in the foreground the "Burying ground of J. Jones' first four wives."

Wife No. 1, the epitaph reads, "broke her back over an old wash board," Wife No. 2 "had no screens and died of typhoid," "Died while wielding the broom," explained the demise of Wife No. 3, and Mr. Jones fourth helpmeet met her fate "carrying water from the well to the kitchen." In the background of the booth was young and winsome Wife No. 5, smiling happily in a spick and span kitchen equipped with a good oil stove, sink and running water, kitchen cabinet with table of the correct working height, steam pressure cooker, kitchen stool, electric washing machine, and linoleum floor. "She uses her head through modern devices instead of using her feet," the caption read.

There is much truth in this picture, home demonstration authorities here declare, for an extensive survey of farm kitchens a few years ago disclosed conditions that mark the average farm kitchen as a center of drudgery little improved over those of our grandmothers. Farm depression may account for some of this, it is said, but not all, for the survey, which was national in scope showed that it just hasn't occurred to a majority of men and women on farms that there is anything wrong with the old fashioned kitchen. Most of the changes that are needed to make kitchens efficient and cheerful workshops cost so little that almost every farm family in Texas can afford to make improvement in this line, these authorities claim. Less than $25 in cash expenditures transformed hundreds of farm kitchens in Texas in the improvement contents conducted by the Extension Service a few years ago, the effects of which are still noted all over the state in a steady addition of labor saving devices to kitchen equipment each year.

Piping water to a sink, letting in more light, putting tables and working surfaces at the correct height, adding a high stool, and getting an efficient stove are listed as the more important first considerations in a kitchen.

GRADY HOWARD UNDERGOES OPERATION AT LUBBOCK

Transferring a cross section of one leg and placing it in the other was the delicate operation performed on Grady Howard, son of B. F. Howard of this city, by Dr. J. T. Krueger, surgeon of the Lubbock Sanitarium Friday, November 8, Howard has been gradually improving since the operation, reports reaching here from Lubbock state.

Howard was hurt in an automobile accident last March in which his left leg was broken and crushed. The leg has been re-set several times, and as a last resort the operation was performed last Friday. It was reported successful.

Additional bone was needed to place in the broken leg, and this was taken from the right leg, a whole cross-section being removed in the operation. Howard will be in the sanitarium for several weeks before returning to Crosbyton. Doctors at Lubbock believe that complete use of the leg will be regained.—Crosbyton Review.

Mr. Howard is a brother of Mrs. John Reagan of this city and has spent a great deal of time with her since his injury.

Dougherty News

Parent-Teachers' Association of the Dougherty School met Monday night of this week with a very interesting program. It was decided to have our first Friday night instead of the first night. We hope to have a comedy also a negro connection with the usual program at our next meeting. One who is interested in the school and community is invited. Remember the Friday, December 6, at the auditorium.

The benefit of the ones who do not know the preaching dates for the first Sunday, Methodist pastor, Brother Joe Day. Brother Sunday, Brother Joe Day. Brother Sunday, Brother Lantrop. Brother Sunday, Brother Bill Sch...

The Dougherty Basket Ball team played the Floydada Fire Boys Friday night at the Andrews Ward gymnasium at Floydada. The score being 15 to 30 in Dougherty's favor. Dougherty has a very promising team for this season, both the school and the outside team. The boys have a game matched with the ed seven cars of cattle the past week. They will be placed on his wheat for the winter.

Mr. Lamberson and family, father of Mrs. Emil Oden, were visiting here enroute to Arizona where they plan to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Oden will accompany them there.

The many friends and acquaintances of the George Fawver family were shocked and grieved to learn of the fatal accident of their son Saturday night.

The community express their appreciation to the ones who furnished the splendid music between acts of the play here last week. They were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith and Mr. Sorrell of Wake; Oliver Allen, Lois Copas and Charlie O'Bannon of Floydada and Mr. Volley and Jack McNeill of Dougherty.

The approval of the large audience at our auditorium last week in respect to our new curtains and stage scenery was very gratifying. Our trustees were enthusiastically congratulated. The new seats also make our auditorium as comfortable and nice in every way as any people could desire which is a credit to any school and community.

It was estimated that 300 persons from Dougherty and the adjoining communities were present in the auditorium of the Dougherty School building Wednesday evening, November 13, to see the play "Valley Farm."

The play was staged by High School students of Dougherty. It was a rural drama in four acts which furnished much amusement for the crowd. The biggest laugh was when Almira Holcomb and Silas Holcomb from the farm visited their daughter and niece, Hetty Holcomb in New York City. There were several numbers for between acts and good music which was furnished by musicians from Floydada, Wake and Dougherty.

The cast of characters were: Harold Rutledge, a young New Yorker, and a member of the "Four Hundred." Wayne Furrow; Perry dean, a son of the soil, Gus Furguson; David Hildreath, A New York Lawyer, Stokes Campbell; Silas Holcomb, owner of the Valley Farm; Ted Letsinger; Azariah Keep, a clock tinker, Maurice Campbell; Jennings, a servant at the Rutledge mansion; Bill Combs; Hetty Holcomb, a country flower transplanted into city soil, Opal McNeill; Isabell Carney, a niece of David Hildreath; Lou Ella Lincoln; Mrs. Rutledge, Harold's mother, Miss Mary Edwards; Almira Holcomb, sister of Silas; Jonnie Brownlow; Lizzy Ann Tucker, who borrows but never gossips; Esther Patterson; Verbenia, a hired girl at the farm, Rena Ray Handley.

WARD SCHOOL OBSERVED "GOOD ENGLISH WEEK"

Fifth, Sixth and Seventh grade pupils of Andrews Ward School observed "Good English Week" by wearing cards upon which errors they made in English would be written. The pupils report that many errors were made and many corrected.

The following errors were reported to be most common "Yant" for do you want; "Jest" for just; "Git" for get; "Am" for isn't; and omitting "Ings" in words. Many others were found.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many kind friends who were so kind, patient and sympathetic during the long illness and recent death of our beloved husband and loving father. It would be impossible for cold type to express our sincere appreciation of the kind words that were said and the kind deeds that were done. And we shall always be grateful for the beautiful floral offerings. May God's richest blessings be yours.

Miss Thelma Kinnard and Miss Callie Raton, teachers in the school at White Flat, spent Friday and Saturday with Miss Kinnard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Kinnard.

BETTER THAN TRIPS TO HEALTH RESORTS, SAYS S. C. DENHAM

"My Wife Was Told She Would Have to be Operated on, But Since Taking Orgatone She is Able to do Own Housework," Says Burkburnett Man.

"I am happy to think how perfectly my wife's health has been restored that I want to make this statement for my wife," said S. C. Denham of Burkburnett, while talking with the druggist regarding the benefits his wife had derived.

"Her trouble first began after she had the 'flu', and she suffered just terribly. She had to go to bed, and nothing we did for her seemed to do her any good. Her appetite was very poor, and often she would not eat anything for days. She was very nervous and didn't get a good night's sleep. She had terrible headaches, and her limbs swelled up with rheumatism and she ached all over, so badly she could hardly stand it. The doctors advised that she should go to a sanatorium, which she did. She came home without being benefitted, and was then told she would have to be operated on for appendicitis.

"She was beginning to get discouraged and didn't think any kind of medicine would do her any good, but we read Fire Chief McClure's statement in the papers, and decided to get a bottle of Orgatone. Her wonderful improvement, on three bottles of Orgatone has surprised lots of people and she is now one of the happiest women in this town. She can eat anything now and isn't bothered with rheumatism at all now. In fact, she is well and strong and is doing her own housework. I am glad to give this statement, for I know anyone will be benefitted if they will give Orgatone a fair trial."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Floydada, at the Moore Drug Co.

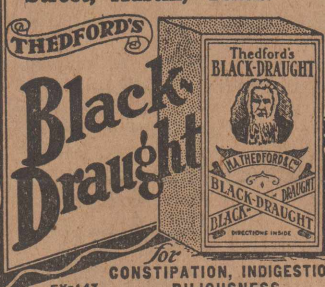

RELIEF that is REFRESHING

"We have used Theford's Black-Draught for years in our family. I can highly recommend it for many ailments. We take it for colds and for constipation.

"I have four children, and I give it to them. When my little girl gets bilious, or complains of headache, I give her a treatment of Black-Draught, and she is all right in a day or two.

"Sometimes when I have indigestion from improper eating, I have headache. Then I take Black-Draught. I always feel fresh and have more energy after I have taken it."—Mrs. E. Reich, 2215 East First Street, Austin, Texas.

PRETTY words, extravagant claims and high-pressure salesmanship produce no eggs for you. What you're interested in is the feed itself, and if you will compare RED CHAIN Egg Mash with any other feed you can see with your own eyes that it's a superior feed.

You can make this "Sifter Test" in your own home; and you will be amazed at what the sifter shows.

Sift 1 lb. of RED CHAIN Egg Mash for 1 1/2 minutes and these few scattered particles of easily-assimilated corn gluten feed and charcoal are all that is left. No "filler" or waste in the RED CHAIN bag—it's REAL FEED!

After sifting 1 lb. of any other egg mash for 1 1/2 minutes in the same sifter, the bottom will probably be covered with a thick layer of alfalfa stems and bran. Do you want to pay good money for this cheap "filler"?

Statement Makes Clear Plan For Cotton Loans

Harry Williams, Manager Texas Farm Bureau, Addresses Letter To Bankers of State.

Harry Williams, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, has addressed the following open letter to bankers of the state, clarifying the basis on which the loans of the U. S. Farm Board for cotton relief are being made:

"We wrote you on October 31st, advising that tentative arrangements had been made with the Federal Farm Board for a loan to this Association for the purpose of supporting this Association shipping cotton to the seasonal pool.

"That loan has now been approved and the first application for funds, made under the agreement, has been granted and the money received will be distributed to the members who have already shipped to the seasonal pool. Additional advances will be made from time to time as cotton to this pool is received and classed.

"As stated to you before, this advance will be made on the basis of 16.25c Middling 7-8" staple cotton at Houston and or Corpus Christi, less the estimated freight and expense. We name two Ports because that is where we have our cotton stored.

"The Farm Board will only advance to us against cotton shipped by bona fide members of the Association.

"The action of the Farm Board in making this loan to us has created wide-spread interest. Unfortunately there is a lot of confusion in the minds of good people who do not understand the nature of the loans.

"The Farm Board is authorized under the Law to deal with recognized cooperative associations only and as such leaving the matter of advances to the members to whom they lend. In our case, they are lending us this money with the agreement that it be used throughout the season and for the sole use of the members of the Association. The discretion of advances to the members is an association matter and this feature of it must be guarded because of our obligation to the Farm Board, which is a definite one.

"Since the closing of the loan we are prepared to make advances to the members of the Association on the basis of the loan less the freight and estimated expenses according to grade and staple on all cotton shipped to the seasonal pool. We are not in position at the present writing to make any advances of any character to non-members of local pools nor will we ever be in a position to do it unless local pools are organized under the Cooperative Law and control the title of its members' cotton.

Scouts Are Guests Of Lions Club This Week

Boy Scout Day was observed last Tuesday by the Floydada Lions Club at their regular noon luncheon. E. F. Eastridge, Scoutmaster of Floydada Boy Scout Troop 43, and four Eagle Scout members of his troop were honor guests at the luncheon and each interestingly told of what the scout troops of this city are accomplishing.

Floydada scout troops claim the distinction of having more Eagle Scouts than any other city, regardless of size, in the Central Palins Area. Troops of this city were the first to have a scout to reach the Eagle Scout rank, and now has the honor of having the only scout in the area to receive a life saving citation from National Headquarters at Washington, D. C.

These facts, among other facts about scout work, were given to members of the club by J. C. Wester, chairman of the program committee for the week's entertainment and also chairman of the Boys' Work Committee of the Club. Lion Wester expressed to Mr. Eastridge the club's appreciation of the work done by himself and W. A. Gound, Scoutmaster of Troop 44, and also for the interest and advancement made by the local boys.

The Boy Scouts present each made short talks on what a scout must do to pass the various ranks of scouting. Vern Eastridge told of the requirements of a tenderfoot, Fred Porterfield told of the requirements to become a Second Class Scout and Sam Rutledge told of the various tests a scout must pass to become a First Class Scout. Reeves Scott discussed the Eagle Scout rank and told of the significance of this rank.

MRS. HARPER HOSTESS TO SOUTH PLAINS H. D. CLUB

The Sunset Home Demonstration Club met at Mrs. Lucy Harper's cozy little home Friday, November 15, with eleven members present and three visitors.

Miss Strange gave a demonstration on a fruit cake baked in pressure cooker which was very interesting and as most of the club members have pressure cookers, will try their luck in baking a Christmas cake.

The club voted to change the name of the club from Sunset Home Demonstration Club to South Plains Home Demonstration Club.

New officers for the year were elected as follows; Mrs. Geo. West, president; Mrs. Lucy Harper, vice president; Mrs. Walter Wood, secretary and treasurer.

After the business session the hostess served hot chocolate and cake.

The club will meet next with Mrs. J. D. Simpson.

The following officers were elected; president, Margie Hudson; vice president, Bessie Shearer; secretary, Elsie Myers; reporter, Johnnie Lyles; pianist, Irene Higgins.

Other members present were: Juanita Hawkins, Mina Mae Calahan, Ora Bell Calahan, Linnie Milton, Anna Lee Pittman, Naomi Smith, Dorothy Stevenson, Pauline Gilliland, Gail Jarnagan, Alline Myers, Laura Wallace, Loretta Wallace, Betty Lou Flippen, Thelma Smith, Irene Simpson and Ada Hayes.

MCCOY 4-H GIRLS CHOSE POULTRY THEIR PROJECT

The McCoy 4H Club met November 7 in the Club room at the school for the purpose of reorganizing and election of officers for 1930. There were eight members present. The following officers were elected; president, Clarrett Tardy; vice president, Hazel Husley; secretary, Cleona Fitch; reporter, Georgia Pittman and Song Leader, Bernice Jackson.

Each of the girls chose poultry for productive work.

TWELVE MEMBERS ATTEND ANTELOPE ORGANIZATION

Antelope 4-H Club met Thursday afternoon, November 14, in the Antelope School house for the purpose of organizing a club for 1930. There were twelve members and the Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Marie Strange, present.

The following officers were elected: Hazel Blankenship, president; Connie Ray, vice president; Lula Blankenship, secretary; Sarah Frances Smith, Club Reporter; Shirlee Mae Palmer, Pianist.

Other members who joined were: Viola Hinsley, Neva Hinsley, Ruth Summerlin, Frankie Wisdom, Goldia Combs, Lila Blankenship and Lora Blankenship. After Miss Strange gave an interesting talk on Club work we adjourned to meet November 28.

LAKEVIEW CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS NOVEMBER 13

The Lakeview Home Demonstration Club held one of the most enjoyable meetings of the year at the home of Mrs. T. W. Martin, Wednesday, November 13. There were ten present, including one new member.

Mrs. J. E. Newton, the president, presided over the business meeting at which time it was voted that we have a Christmas tree. A committee was appointed to select the time and place for the tree and each one present drew the name of another member that she would present with a gift at this time.

Officers elected for next year were: Mrs. Tom Hopper, president; Mrs. J. M. Harrison, vice president; Mrs. Earl Edward, secretary; Mrs. John A. Lloyd, reporter; Miss Strange then took charge of the meeting. Cheese dishes was the lesson subject and this was discussed as to food value and as a meat substitute. Miss Strange gave the demonstration, using the cheese that was made at a former meeting.

After this the hostess served delicious refreshments of hot chocolate, cake, cheese souffle, fondue and toast with cheese sauce.

The next meeting will be Wednesday afternoon, November 27, with Mrs. W. T. Hopper to make out the year's report.

BOX SUPPER AND PROGRAM PLANNED BY BLANCO CLUB

(Too late for last week) Blanco Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon, November 7, at 2 o'clock with Mrs. J. D. Christian. There were six members present and we were glad to enroll one new member. This brings our total membership to twenty. Miss Strange met with the club and prepared some delicious cheese dishes. We always enjoy having her with us and learn many good things from her.

We decided to have a Thanksgiving Box Supper and program on Thursday night, November 28. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy it with us.

We feel that the staff of this year's Hesper is the best balanced we have ever had. The members are without exception of high average scholarship. The work is divided so that no one student will have all the responsibility. We tried to select those best qualified for the places and to give each member something to do.

The Whirlwinds of next year showed some surprisingly good football last Friday. We consider the game one of the best of the season. Welch and Carter deserve recommendation. Billie Joe, that husky Sophomore, needs only to remain healthy and unweakened by cigarettes to be a football favorite in the next few years.

Seen on Bulletin Boards An interesting display of various kinds of money is on the Civics and Economics bulletin board. Moneys from different lands and different ages are found there. By far the most interesting is an original pine tree shilling. This recalls to our minds the romance connected with the minting of this particular coin. The large bulletin board in the hall contains various phases of school activities. The seven Wonders of the ancient, medieval, and modern World prove very interesting to many. The Bible Society poster has attracted much attention. And the advertisements of Homer, the Wizard of the West give correct data on the great magician.

The bulletin boards are very helpful to both the students and the teachers.

Exchange Items Sturdy Denmark There is nothing rotten in Denmark. There is practically no illiteracy and not much unemployment in the little kingdom. For nearly 120 years there has been compulsory education between the ages of seven and fourteen years and as a result practically everyone in the country can read and write. As they advance in knowledge they raise their standards of living. They are not jazzy but are right comfortable. So far as Europe is concerned, the Danes are rather to be envied.

Made Light of Yardsticks (From "The Raven, Life Story of Sam Houston," by Marquis James.) Six feet Six—an entire school of southwestern tradition confirms it, but the descriptive list of the war department, wanting in imagination, and by no means incapable of error, undertakes to whittle Sam Houston's stature down to six feet two inches. Give knew Houston well, and the nature of their relations protects the judge against a charge of intentional flattery. But no escaping it, there was something about this man that made light of yardsticks.

White Flat-Whirlwind Game The future Whirlwinds took a hard game from the White Flat team on the local gridiron last Friday afternoon—19 to 24. The backfield combination of Welch, Porterfield, Hale, and Carter seemed hard for the White Flat lads to check, while on the other hand the long sweeping end runs of Coach Bennett's White Flat boys were most effective against the Whirlwind Coats.

Welch, premier ball carrier of the Whirlwinds, smashed through the White Flat defense time after time for long gains. Perhaps the most spectacular run of the game was made by captain Smith of White Flat. This fleet "back" raced 52 yards in almost a clear field for White Flat's second touchdown of the game. Up until the last minute of play the game had not been won. After the Whirlwinds had carried the ball up within five inches of White Flats goal line Bob Carter smashed through the line for the deciding and final touch down of the game. The starting lineups were as follows:

White Flat: Lloyd Murray, John E. Smith, Ernon Borum, Joe Pennington, Langford, Tom Deen, de Cordova, Welch, Carter, Hale, Porterfield. Several changes were made by both coaches.

The Economics Club met irregular meeting Friday November 15. The roll call was answered by the name of an inventor, one of his inventions, and the year it was invented. The lesson for Monday was assigned and some test papers were distributed. The following program was given: "Near East Relief"—Audrey Farris.

"Explanation of Cartoons"—Howard Welborn. "Explanation of Stock and Bond Terms"—Veva Swinson. The program committee for next meeting program is Lloyd McLaughlin and Maxine Norris. They are to meet with vice-president, Audrey Farris.

Locals Maxine Norris and Gene Smalley spent the week end in Amarillo with Miss Viola Norris, Maxine's sister. Mr. McWhirter spent the week-end in Lubbock and Slaton. Howard Welborn spent Sunday with Robert Carter at his home in the country.

Lloyd Murray received an injured arm during the football game with White Flat Friday.

Verla Blasingame spent the week-end with her sister, Vela, in Lubbock.

Ena Lea Fyffe spent the week-end with her grandmother in Plainview.

Blanche Hilton spent Sunday in Turkey with her sister, Mrs. Walter Pennington.

Eugenia Hoffman spent the week-end with Audrey Farris and Jesse Mae Wood.

Gladys Atkins was absent from school last week because of illness. Winona Felton said Thursday she was "sweet sixteen and kissed by no man's son". (We wonder)

We are all glad to have "Buddy" Bell back at school after his injury in an auto accident last week.

Patty Looper prepared her dinner as a project in domestic Science and Mrs. Adkins was guest. The dinner was beautifully served, and was enjoyed by all present.

Miss Rosson—"What are you doing with that?" Kinder—"I just wanted to see if it translated like I do".

Miss Rosson in English Class—"The study of Latin will also help you understand the meaning of English words."

Duncan—"I don't see how it does, 'Cresco' means grow in Latin, and 'Crisco' from the same root is 'shortening'."

Mr. Scoggin—"Well, how did you find things in Oklahoma City?" Miss Biebel—"By means of policemen."

Russel—"This surely is a unique town." Reeves—"Yes, I thought so, the word unique comes from Latin. Une means 'one' and equus means horse, so I agree that it is a unique town."

Miss Keeton—"Give me an example of an in appropriate action." Starks—"When Rome was burning Nero played the fiddle, and he should have been playing the hose."

Miss Rea (in history Class) When I was your age, I could name all of the presidents off by memory.

Fred Fondy—"Yes, but there were only about ten to remember, then. Bill Grigsby—"What is your ambition?"

O. B. Olson—"To be a farm hand in a candy factory. Bill—"What would you do?"

O. B.—"Milk chocolate. A freshman says that an oyster is a fish built like a nut.

Mr. Scoggins—"Name a poisonous substance. Gene—"Aviation. Mr. S. Explain yourself. Gene—"One drop kills."

Miss Biebel—"What would be the mistake in, 'I loathe the despise Chemistry'?"

Willimina—"It wouldn't be a mistake. Its useful repetition."

Chapel Program Monday afternoon, at the chapel program, the Boy's Quartet, composed of Ballard Wilkinson, Aisie Carleton, Dave Luttrall and Woodrow Carleton, sang several songs, which were immensely enjoyed by the student body. Mr. Patty made a talk on the "Evil Effects of Cigarette Smoking." Announcements were made by Mr. Scoggins, Starks Green, and Lois Sitton.

The Dramatic Club met Wednesday Night, November 13, for the purpose of selecting new members for this year. Everyone that had handed in an application for membership took part on the program as a test for his dramatic ability. The invitation committee of the club acted as judges.

The people who wished for membership selected parts of plays and prepared them for the occasion or gave readings. The program was very interesting and was enjoyed by all. The club is very promising and the members hope to improve over the former clubs of Floydada.

Mr. Jones—"Weak minded people can't learn Latin." Mr. Stevens—"My! What an ideal woman my wife would have made in the time of the Romans."

Julius Caesar and his friend, Cassius, were walking in the Forum one day, when they met a couple of pretty slave girls. Julius, as was his wont, gave them a glad hello as he passed along. "Who are them gals?" asked Cassius. "I don't know," said Julius, "but I'm 'for-um.'" It was at that moment that Sassiuss decided that something must be done to free Rome of this monster.

Warren Poole "Say, have you heard about the Scotchman who ran himself to death?"

Mildred Welborn—"No, what about him?"

Warren—"Well, he saw a bird sitting on a fence singing, 'Cheep, (cheap) cheep, (cheap) so he ran himself to death trying to catch it."

Starks—"You're the breath of my life." Eulalia—"Well, why don't you ever hold your breath?"

CHAPTER VIII

The Life of a Modern Buccaneer. Although our old jolly-boat was a raiding auxiliary cruiser, she also degenerated into a breed of passenger ship, too. Our passengers were our prisoners. That made the situation somewhat unusual and added a bit of spice. I've served as an officer aboard a dozen or more liners, and have seen all kinds and strata of society aboard including dull, delightful, ill-natured jolly—both the quick and the dead. Yes, I have had some splendid passenger lists on voyages where every hour was gay and bubbling with fun. But no group of passengers on a liner ever enjoyed such happy comradeship as did we aboard our buccaneering craft. The fact that we were captors and captives only seemed to make it all the jollier. We took the greatest pleasure in making the time agreeable for our prisoners, with games, concerts, cards and story telling. We tried to feed them well, and I think we did, which helps a lot, as you'll agree. We didn't throw it at them either. In fact, we served special meals for all the nations whose ships we captured.

One day our own German chef cooked, and that boy was some cook, as you say. The next day an English cook, then the French chef, then the Italian to make us some polenta. The English food was the worst. It usually is. On the other hand, the Americans fed their sailors best of all. It's long been a tradition on Yankee clipper ships. In the old days, the American sailing ships were famous for frightful work and much brutality, but the food was good. Today the work is not bad and there is no brutality, but food is still good. The prisoners seemed to appreciate our intentions thoroughly. They wanted to do everything they could for us in return. Feeling of patriotism should have made them hope for our early destruction. But more elemental sentiments of gratitude and friendship obliterated the more artificial passions of war hatred. I am sure that very few of our passengers wished us any ill or gloated in the hope of our being sunk by the cruisers of their nations. I think it really hurt many of them to realize that the day probably would come when we would be caught and go down under a rain of Allied shellfire. That magnificent Frenchman, the captain of the Charles Gounod, kept aloof from the general fraternizing, and scrupulously kept up his manner of cold politeness and stately hostility toward us, but even he thawed out a few degrees, although he tried hard to keep from showing it.

There was only one of our prisoners who behaved himself in any way that could be considered improper. That was Captain Lecoq who had cherished hopes that we would run afoul of the British cruiser. You see, the skippers aboard were quite free to go where they liked on the ship, except that I asked each one, as he came aboard, not to go into the fore part of the ship, and I explained why. "My magazines," I said, "are in the forward half of the boat. I do not want you to know exactly where they are placed. After you are released, you might reveal the secret. Then, one of these merry days, if some cruiser takes a shot at me, and if the location of my magazines is known, they'll aim right at that spot. A shell there and up in the air we go. I must ask you to give me your word of honor that you will not go into the fore-ship, else I will have to keep you confined."

Each skipper gave me his word, including Lecoq. Captain Lecoq broke his promise. He not only went secretly into the fore-ship, but he made sketches of the layout there. Captain Mullen of the Pinmore saw the sketches, knocked Lecoq down, and reported him to me. I berated Lecoq soundly.

"And as a result of your dishonorable action," I said, "when I release my prisoners and send them off to some port, there will be one Frenchman who will remain behind, and that Frenchman will be you. You will continue your cruise with us. You know where my magazines are, and I cannot trust any promise that you now give me."

He turned a bit green around the gills at that, but there was nothing he could say in reply.

Our only woman aboard, the skipper's little bride, grew melancholy. We did everything we could to make the time pleasant for her, but she pined for the society of other women. It was rather a trial for her to be so long the only woman among several hundred men.

"Count, I do so wish there were a woman aboard that I could talk to," she said to me a bit coaxingly one day. "Why don't you catch me one?"

I always like to oblige a lady, particularly one so charming and agreeable as she, but catching another woman was a game of chance with us. You don't often find fair company aboard freighters, especially in tropical waters. However, I said:

"Madam, we will do our best." At times I used to amuse myself by joining the crowd on the lookout in the rigging. It was a misty day, and nobody had much of a chance of seeing anything.

Then it cleared a little in the west, and Boarding Officer Preiss, who was beside me, thought he saw a ship. I instructed the helmsman to steer in that direction, and after fifteen minutes a large British barque appeared through the mist. As we drew near her, I saw a white figure on the deck. Sure enough a woman.

"Madam," I shouted to the Canadian skipper's bride, "get ready to welcome your companion. She'll be paying you a call in a few minutes."

Everybody, prisoners and all, swarmed on deck to witness the exceptional capture. The Seeadler bore down on the unlucky barque.

The captain looked curiously at the crowded figures standing at our rail, of every color and race. They waved gayly. Our gramophone blared out, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

"Hello," he shouted through his megaphone, "collecting volunteers?" He thought we were picking up war volunteers from the Atlantic islands.

"Volunteers?" I called in return. "Oh, yes."

Our prisoners laughed a bit. "Any news of the war?" he asked.

Officers and sailors and the woman on his deck craned their necks for a reply.

"Much news of the war," I responded. "I will signal it."

They stared, awaiting the signal. "C-I-D," our signal flags went up; "heave to or I will fire."

I could see the captain rapidly thumbing the pages of his book. His head jerked up suddenly. His binoculars focussed themselves on our masthead where the German flag now waved. Our gun mask dropped, and the cannon peered forth. By Joe, but it raised a commotion on the deck. When she saw it, the woman darted into her cabin. The sailors ran to the boats. Even the helmsman deserted the wheel. The captain was the only one who kept his head. He seized the helm with a firm hand, and the ship heave to.

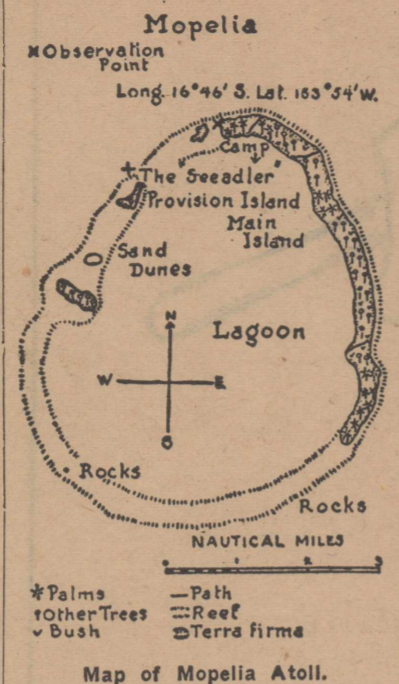

Our guests were always interested in the prospect of having new additions to their company. They had an every-ready, cordial welcome for fresh arrivals. This time, the coming of a second female passenger made the occasion a gala one. Everybody put on his best manners. The members of our "Captains' club" marshaled the officers and the lady from the captured craft with suitable dignity and formality.

Our little woman put on her best clothes and asked me for a nosegay from a supply of artificial flowers we had captured. The newly arriving woman, who scarcely knew what to expect aboard our dreadful pirate craft, was surprised when she was greeted not only by our Captains' club with all of its stately courtesies, but also by a brightly smiling young woman who presented her with a bouquet of flowers that made up in brightness of color what it lacked in sweetness of perfume, since they were imitation ones.

The two women immediately became the best of friends, and the convivial spirit aboard made our happiness complete.

The captured barque, the British Yeoman, carried a rare store of provisions, including some live pigs and chickens. She also had two pets, a curious pair—a rabbit and a pigeon. We promptly adopted them and called the pigeon "the dove of peace," in honor of the spirit aboard our raiding ark.

Our floating hotel was about full. If we wanted to take any more guests aboard, we would have to get rid of present company. The old pirates would have had a plank-walking ceremony. That was a sure way to prevent inconvenient information from getting around. Undoubtedly, it would have enabled us to keep our existence still secret. We were buccaneers in a sense, but not quite that bad. We would have to take other measures. When our prisoners got to port and our freebooting career became known, cruising, of course, would set out after us. They would make the narrow Atlantic much too hot for us. We would have to seek other waters. The broad Pacific remained. We did not want to hold our prisoners for the always rough passage of Cape Horn, where, in addition on watch keeping a guard for suspicious ships that might be trying to take the shortest route from European waters to the Pacific. We might be shelled and sunk, but it would have been scarcely humane to take a chance of going down with all our prisoners on board. So we arranged it in a way that would enable us to get a good start on our trip around Cape Horn before the cruisers could get word of us.

The French barque, the Cambronne, came along. You should have seen her heave to and her yards come hanging down when our German flag went up and we signaled the inevitable: "Stop or I shall fire."

Her captain exhibited all of the usual Gallic despair at the prospect of losing his ship. We looked the craft over. She was large and roomy and had aboard a large stock of provisions.

"No," I said to her skipper, "we are not going to sink your ship. She will go right on to port."

"Eh?" He was immensely surprised.

"She will take our prisoners."

"I will be delighted, monsieur, to have them as my guests."

"They won't be your guests, Captain. You will be the guest of the new captain of the Cambronne."

"I will not command my ship!"

"Not at all. I have a Captains' club aboard. You, as a prisoner, are now a charter member. Your ship is my prize. I will select a member of the Captains' club as her skipper."

He was very angry. It hurt him nearly as much to be removed from the command of his ship as to have her sunk.

It was a touchy matter to select a skipper from among a dozen captains, each of whom was full of sensitive dignity and thought he was the best navigator of the lot. The French captains thought a Frenchman should be selected, since the most numerous nationality among the prisoners was the French. The traditional principle of seniority, however, pointed to the selection of the oldest skipper. My belief in that principle was confirmed by the fact that the oldest skipper was Captain Mullen of the Pinmore. He had shown himself to be the finest of gentlemen, and then there was the memory of my old ship, which I had been compelled to sink. I appointed Captain Mullen master of the Cambronne. Since he was a Britisher, it was reasonable that his ship should sail under British colors. That necessitated the ceremony of hauling down the French flag and hoisting the Union Jack. The French captain did not like it at all.

We lopped off the Cambronne's upper masts, so that she could set only her lower sails. She could not make any speed now, and it would take her from ten to fourteen days to get to Rio de Janeiro, which was the nearest port. Then I exacted a pledge from Captain Mullen:

"Captain," said I, "we are releasing our prisoners and they are under your command. I understand perfectly well that when you get to port our existence will be known. We will be a sailing ship in a world of armored cruisers. We will be chased like a wild deer. We need a start. We have taken care that you do not get to port too soon. One thing remains, though. You may meet a ship within a week or within a day—it may be a steamer with a wireless plant. I ask for your word that you will not communicate with any ship until you reach port. We have, I hope, treated our prisoners fairly, and I ask this of you in return. I must have your solemn word on it."

"Count," he replied, "I give you my word that the Cambronne will not communicate with any ship until she is in port at Rio."

We shook hands on it, and my mind was at rest. It was no risk to take the word of the Pinmore's old skipper.

He played his part nobly. He passed several steamers on his way to Rio, but steered clear of them. One comical thing happened. A big steamer came toward the Cambronne one morning, and then her captain noticed the crowd of prisoners on the ship's deck. He was a cautious soul. If looked suspicious. The steamer turned and fled at full speed.

There remained the case of Captain Lecoq of the La Rochefoucauld, who had broken his word to me and whom I had promised not to release with the other prisoners. He tried to dissuade me. He was aghast at the thought of being kept aboard the Seeadler throughout her long cruise, the end of which no one could foretell. He vowed by all the saints that he would keep the position of the ship's magazines locked sternly within his bosom. I would not listen to him. I told him that the others would go but he would remain. I intended to hold him until we had caught and released our next batch of prisoners. He enlisted the other captains to intercede in his behalf. They came and asked me to relent.

"Gentlemen," I replied, "I have just now rested the safety of my ship on Captain Mullen's word. You know a captain's duty to the vessel he commands. Very well, I know that Captain Mullen's word is good. I have taken the others of you at your word, and you have not failed me. But Captain Lecoq broke his word. Can I trust him not to break it again?"

They argued so hard for their unfortunate fellow skipper that I finally gave in. After all even if he did break his word again and tell of the position of my magazines, it did not necessarily mean disaster. I made him sign a promise and made the other captains sign as witnesses to his promise. Then I gave orders that he should go with the rest.

We paid our prisoners off, just as if they had been working for us. Each received wages for the time he had spent aboard, and each was paid the wage he ordinarily received from his shipowner. By Joe, that made them happy. We had a final banquet. The sailors feasted in their quarters. I entertained the officers and ladies in my cabin. Toasts of champagne were drunk, and at the end there were cordial handshakes. We transferred the crowd to the Cambronne in boatloads, and each boat, as it pushed off, gave three cheers for the Seeadler.

We had been away from port for eight weeks and had sunk eleven vessels, representing a total of more than forty thousand tons of allied shipping. The Atlantic had given us its share. Now to the Pacific. And God save us from the cruisers. (To be continued)

SOCIETY

(By Mrs. Robt. McGuire)

Daughter Given Party Honoring Birthday.

Mrs. E. J. Barker entertained with a party Friday afternoon for her little daughter, Addie, honoring her birthday.

After a number of games had been played refreshments of sandwiches, cake and hot chocolate were served to Doris Clonts, Marilyn Cole, Mildred Houston, Iris Christine Kientz, Clara Belle Yearwood, Margaret Smith, Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Thelma Joe Hamilton, Adelle McRoberts, Louise Gound, Gladys Watson, Minnie Anon Stanley and Lois Covington.

Owls Forty-Two Club Met Thursday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Angus were host and hostess to the Owls Forty-two Club Thursday evening. A business meeting was held preceding the games and Mrs. George A. Linder was elected president; Edd Brown vice-president and O. P. Rutledge, treasurer. Mrs. Edd Brown, Mrs. E. L. Angus and Lon M. Davis were appointed as a committee of Rules and Regulations.

Visitors for the evening were: Mrs. Pitzer Baker of Weinert; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Grigsby and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hollingsworth.

Members present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Stevenson, Mr and Mrs. Lon M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brown, Mr and Mrs. R. S. Henry, Dr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Linder, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge and Dr. Lon V. Smith.

A dainty plate of refreshments was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Henry will entertain the club Thursday evening, December 5.

High School P. T. A. Social Friday.

Despite the severe cold weather Friday night the teachers and a few parents of the High School enjoyed a pleasant get-together meeting. The program rendered by the High School students made us realize that "All work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy" and, too, made us firmer believers in the survival of the fittest. The quartet, Ballard Wilkenson, Alsie and Woodrow Carleton and Dave Luttrall, took us back to "dem good old nigger days" with their song.

A dialogue, by Wana Tawwater and Christene Trowbridge, "Water-melon Pickles" gave us the love of a grandmother and imaginative power and ability for a boy to interpret a recipe.

The girls octette made us more positive that the singing ability was not confined to one group. Juanita Shirey gave a pianologue accompanied at the piano by Bernice Holeyfield.

Miss Morrow, last but not least, read.

After the enjoyable program we were invited to the Home Economics room where, over the coffee cup, an enjoyable social hour was spent.

For the first time some of the teachers and parents met each other and discussed the problems in which they were most concerned. It is through these meetings that we hope to have a firm connecting link between the home and the school. But yet, if the parents persist in staying away, how are the teachers ever going to know the characteristics of the student other than those learned in the school room? No student, or no healthy student, has only a one sided life, therefore, we make another urgent appeal to the parents to attend our meetings.

Parents, if for no other reason than to help your child in the contest, come to our meetings. Not only come but join the P. T. A. Reporter.

Andrews P. T. A. Held Meeting Wednesday.

Andrews Ward Parent-Teachers' Association was called to order Wednesday afternoon, November 13, at 3:30 by Mrs. James Colville, president.

During the business session the question as to whether children should have candy during school hours was discussed. It was decided that Mr. Cummings would send out notices to parents to get their opinion on the matter.

After the business meeting the following program was rendered:

"Education for Faithful Citizenship" was discussed by Robert A. Sone. "How Does Texas Rank in Education" was discussed by A. D. Cummings.

Bert Ione Smith gave a reading entitled "Blue Plus Gray Makes Khaki."

"Battle Hymn for Children" was sung by the assembly.

"Make your Mark" was sung by pupils of Mrs. V. Andrews.

Mrs. Cummings' room got the ribbon for having the most mothers present.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, November 27.

"THE STORE FOR MEN"

Uneven Touches to Hemlines, Cuffs, And Hats Add Chic to Frocks

BY HARRIET

The uneven hemline is established chic for afternoon and evening costumes now. But the best houses keep it for dressy things and see to it that all morning and sports costumes and all dresses for all-day wear are as even as art can make them.

Therefore the uneven hemline is a sign of a little more formality, when it appears. It is essentially correct for a dressy coat. It is imperative, almost, on a reception dress or party frock.

Along with the use of the uneven hemline, hats take a corresponding change in their brim slants. The hat designed for either coats or dresses with longer back length have modulated brims that dip on the sides and grow quite long, like the skirts, on the back of the neck.

There are other touches that get their inspiration from this uneven line, too. Cuffs with curved halves that cover the back of the hand and leave the under side to natural wrist line are cut in the same feeling.

Collars, too, take the uneven line. A pale pink crepe collar on a black flat crepe frock is scarcely any collar at all in front, but dips well below the shoulder blades in the back.

Boleros and flounces on both frocks and coats follow the uneven backline of the skirt. A party frock in yellow lame is made princess line, with the long-in-the-back skirt fashioning a regular fish train. A tiny bolero begins with only a suggestion in the front and forms almost a hipline cape in the back.

The woman of infallible taste will go slow in using one or all of these uneven tricks. She will decide whether her figure is tall enough and thin enough for this or that. And she will be somewhat restrained in every new line she adopts. For unless one can change her wardrobe each week, it is just as well to take one step towards the exaggerated hour-glass figure and the exaggerated curved hemlines.

One very conservative costume for dressy afternoon wear is a printed velvet frock, made with both the skirt and the bolero drooping to real length in the back. There is a clever tiered overskirt and girdle arrangement whereby the high, natural waistline is indicated, rather than girdled tightly with a belt. This is an excellent

The hat of this brown and tan frock is soft dark brown velvet, with the brim swaying in exactly the same curve as the skirt, to length on the back of the neck.

Another popular costume is the all-black one. This is extremely youthful looking, as black can be when manipulated right. The flat crepe frock has a cream collar that is long both in front and back, with little on the shoulder, following the skirt line which dips both front and back. The coat is cut with circular fullness and collared and cuffed in lynx.

Mrs. A. A. Bishop were winners of high score for the members.

The hostess served sandwiches, salad, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, hot chocolate and mints.

Guests of the club for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. K. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Steen, Dr. and Mrs. Herman J. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hilton.

Grand Canyon Program Given By 1929 Study Club.

Mrs. J. Clements was hostess to the 1929 Study Club Thursday. The following program on Grand Canyon was given with Mrs. Flynn Thagard as leader. Roll Call was answered by a bit of description or comment on the canyon by some noted visitor. Mrs. J. D. McBrien gave a description of the route to Grand Canyon, the location, area and chief characteristics of the canyon. Mrs. P. D. O'Brien gave some of the Indian legends of the canyon, and described the Indians of that region today. The origin of the canyon was discussed by Mrs. O. W. Fry. A description of the canyon trails, including those that are not so well known, was given by Mrs. L. J. Welborn.

A Civic Improvement Committee was appointed to meet with the Chamber of Commerce. Members of this committee are Mrs. Edd Bishop, Mrs. L. J. Welborn and Mrs. A. J. Folley.

Following the program the club members enjoyed a social hour during which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. S. M. Cole Tuesday, November 26 at 3:45. The meeting was changed from the regular meeting day because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

A crash brought Mrs. Gregory Jones bolt upright in bed, her heart pounding.

"Why!" demanded her husband savagely, nursing a bruised shin and groping for the light switch. "Why did you have to leave that chair there?"

In the front hall the telephone rang again, insistently. Jones shivered in the draft from the open window, and without waiting for a reply, disappeared through the doorway. Petulantly, his voice drifted back to her.

"No, Eleanor is not here. . . . Yes, we're expecting her tomorrow. . . . Tell her what I'll tell you, young man, that it's an imposition to wake folks at this time of night! And I'll deliver no messages!"

The receiver banged on the hook. Jones, muttering to himself, stumbled back down the hall.

"That settles it!" he exclaimed, still shivering. "Tomorrow, I'll have a telephone put in this bedroom."

Mrs. Jones smiled drowsily, snuggled deep into her pillow.

"Where have I heard that before," she murmured. "Tomorrow, I'll order one myself."

Telephones where you need them save time, patience—and midnight misadventures.

Few know that one or two additional instruments cost considerably less than the single telephone they now have!

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, and perhaps a rearrangement of the equipment you already have, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of your telephone service.

SPILLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jinnright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was. "When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

Sunday School Lesson

HIGHER PATRIOTISM
International Uniform School Lesson for Nov 24.
Her Patriotism. Jonah 1:1-5; 4:5-11.

otism is recognized by all atful people as among the st qualities. Certainly no true, y, or effective society can be 'shed without it, for if the in-ns or government of one's were such that one could not respect, it would be the task of true patriotism to seek to establish those institutions upon a worthier foundation.

Either in loyalty to those institutions or in consecrated purpose to make the institutions what they ought to be, patriotism is the supreme foundation and quality of good citizenship, and, therefore, of social life itself; for the highest ideal of citizenship is nothing more than the highest ideal of establishing right relationships man with man.

The famous Dr. Johnson defined patriotism as "the last refuge of a scoundrel." But manifestly he was speaking in irony of the sham patriotism and hypocrisy which makes profession of a noble loyalty and deal the occasion for serving selfish ends.

We Have Our Share

We have seen a great deal of that sort of sham patriotism in the world of late. It has not been confined to any one country, and we have had our full share of it right here in the American democracy. It was most evident during the war when some were sacrificing all that they had to give for their country while others in that very period of tragedy and sacrifice were taking advantage of the occasion for their own aggrandizement, either in wealth or in position. While men were dying at the front, these sham patriots were profiteering at home and where laborers dared or threatened to go on strike and were put down with a firm hand, the people who employed them were allowed to build up enormous profits.

No true patriot loves his country to the prejudice of other countries and nations. No true patriot will uphold in his own life, or in society, or in the body politic, things that are against the higher law of God unless his belief in God as the upholder of the world and as the source of the higher life of humanity is itself a sham.

The man elected to be president in the act of taking office makes oath before God that he will observe the laws and constitution, thereby recognizing that God himself is above the government to which he swears allegiance. Even in the navy, set for the defense of the country against possible enemies, it has been the custom in the hour of divine service to elevate above the national emblem the white flag bearing the cross, thereby signifying that God is over all, and that the supreme allegiance is to him. A nation that puts its patriotism upon any lower plane is a nation not only unchristian but a nation doomed to the narrow and wrong way that leads to disaster.

Increasing Our Patriotism
The discovery that the God whom we worship is the God of the whole world, the father of all men, is one that brings a great broadening of the sense of privilege and duty. But just as a man loves his wife none the less because of a high regard for women in general, so patriotism is never weakened but is only strengthened by the growth of a man's soul in love and righteousness.

It is the patriotism of noble mind-fulness of large visioned living and of warm and grateful hearts enlarged in righteousness and truth that makes a nation truly great. This is the patriotism which our lesson strives to inculcate.

Announcing
a revolutionizing Motor Oil, a new principle and a Challenge

the Challenge

Several years ago, the exclusive North American patent rights on the Germ Process were acquired by this Company. It was evolved and patented by two British scientists after exhaustive chemical and physical laboratory tests.

Germ Process oils were revolutionary in that they met every requirement, through special characteristics, for each type of internal combustion motor. These scientists, by the Germ Process, eradicated the prevalent weaknesses existent in motor oils regardless of their base.

This Company has made innumerable laboratory and road tests, under every conceivable condition, over the past seven years, and we are now prepared to state definitely that your motor oil problem is solved by the Germ-Processed Motor Oils.

By comparison, our tests prove that the "Germ Essence" creates the only safe motor oil under all conditions and at all times operates at the highest obtainable efficiency.

We are now prepared to meet any challenge of competitors. I confidently believe that Conoco Germ-Processed Paraffin Base Motor Oils are superior to any other motor oils made from any crude by any process.

More than twenty thousand outlets are now prepared to offer to the public such a motor oil for the discriminating buyer, and for a technical problem which has always been recognized but not solved until now.

J. Moran President,
CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY

Here are our Claims for Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil—Check against the oil you are now using

1 Under the Germ patents . . . exclusive to CONOCO for North America . . . there is imparted to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil an "oiliness" which is responsible for its greater lubricating value, greater film strength, greater penetrativeness, greater adhesiveness, greater tenacity, greater permanence, greater stability, greater stamina and a more nearly perfect compression seal than any other oil on the American market. Because of this affinity for metal—this actually combining with the metal itself, CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil never leaves the bearings. Where other oils drain out and leave the surface dry, Germ-Processed oil penetrates the metal surfaces, forming a film that adheres for months. This "carry-over" film—this always present film gives ample lubrication to all parts needing it when a cold motor is started, until such time as oil from the crank case can reach them.

2 This remarkable and exclusive feature of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil is reinforced by the fact that these oils are refined from only carefully selected paraffin base crudes by the most modern and scientific methods known to the petroleum technologist. Patented processes are used to remove all objectionable elements, leaving a perfectly balanced, stable product that is 100% lubricating oil. Thousands of tests demonstrate its remarkable resistance to corrosion.

The majority of motor oils never receive this degree of refining. None ever exceed it.

3 Increased gasoline mileage and improved motor performance are realized through the use of this new oil. The exclusive CONOCO Germ Process so adds to the "oiliness" of this lubricant that metal-against-metal friction is eliminated, even in motor starting after all oil ordinarily would have drained from the motor into the crankcase. The perfect sealing qualities of the CONOCO fracture-proof film insures a high compression efficiency that results in greatly increased motor performance. Marked improvements in power, speed, acceleration and flexibility are noticeable.

4 Due to the Germ Process and the select, premium, paraffin base crude stocks used, CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil positively does not break down under the most intense cylinder wall heat. A climb, high speed, heavy load, temperature extremes—none of these strains cause this oil to heat sufficiently to actually burn, break down or evaporate to any appreciable degree. By comparison with many oils on the market, you may confidently expect a saving in oil consumption up to 50%.

5 Automotive engineers agree that 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs during the starting period. This destructive wear is definitely reduced by the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Ordinary oil, thinned by heat and dilution, drains down past the piston rings when the motor is stopped, leaving little or no protective film. On starting the motor, a considerable time is required for the oil to reach all bearings and working surfaces. Under adverse conditions, such as winter temperatures, this time may be from 15 to 20 minutes or even longer.

Since CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil never leaves the bearings and working surfaces, it is always there under any and all conditions to provide needed lubrication until the normal supply of oil arrives.

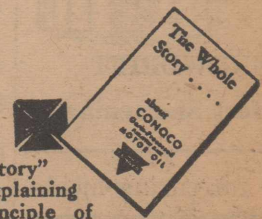

6 Unlike other oils, dilution does not impair the "oiliness" value of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

7 CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil retains its fluidity at sub-zero temperatures. No practical operating conditions in winter will affect its immediate lubricating value at the first touch of the electric starter.

Do Re Mi Club

The Do Re Mi Club met at the home of Lois Sitton last Tuesday night. The meeting was called to order by the president, Alsie Carlton, and the roll was called by the secretary. Each member answered the roll call with the name of some musical instrument.

There was a student body organized into a national high school song contest which will be sponsored by the musical organization of Floydada High School, the Do Re Mi Club and the Girl's Octette. The following committee were appointed: Initiation committee, Bill Grigsby, Ballard Wilkerson, and Hershel Swepton; Program committee-Samuel Rutledge, Hermas Olson, and Clyde Snell; Try-out committee, Fred Porterfield, Waldo Houghton, and Woodrow Carlton.

The following program was rendered:
Report on life of Jenny Lind-Hershel Swepton.
Report on the Opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor," Lois Sitton After scale practice by Mr. McWhirter the motion was made and seconded to adjourn.

Chapel Program

We listened to an interesting chapel program on good English Thursday, our regular chapel period.

Lois Sitton gave to us the purpose of the program, and an introduction to those taking part in the program, and Juanita Shirey's talk on the value of Good English was enjoyed by all. We also heard a short play on good English. The play was written by Maxine Norris, was presented by the following cast of characters:

Mary-(a young girl engaged to be married)-Maxine Norris.
Carl-(Her brother)-Dave Lutt-rall.
Jack-Mary's sweetheart)-Howard Welborn.

Exchange Articles

Here is a poem taken from "The World Review" which tells us how Bliss Carmen felt thirty years ago.

A Vagabond Song
There is something in the autumn that is native to my blood—
Touch of manner, hint of mood;
And my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and the purple and the crimson keeping time.

The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry
Of bugles going by,
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty asters like a smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October sets the gypsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her,
When from every hill of flame
She calls and calls each vagabond by name.

We find this in the "Dragon's Sting" of the Paducah paper.
"Don't forget folk that we're all going to Floydada the twenty-second, and here is a secret 'We are going to take the town as well as the game.' We want everyone of you 'Dragon Boosters' to be on the side-line and all who are not 'Dragon Booster's get that way before then. We defeated the Whirlwinds by a score of 25-0 last year, and we hope to do it again this season."

Well, all we have to say is that even if they did beat us last year, that's no sign 'cause look what Lockney did.

The basketball prospects for the coming season look exceedingly bright. Practically every member of last year's squad will return to help carry the green and white colors further into the great fields of athletic achievement. The members of last year's team who will heed coach Jones' call are Howard Welborn, Williams Smith, Ernie Widener, Alsie Carleton, Warren Poole, Everett Moore, and Joe Smith. Opportunities for a fruitful season are numerous; owing to the fact that these boys have several years of cage experience to their credit. With the aid of several rural school products who are showing up well in practice, it is almost assured that the Whirl-

Wednesday, November 13, at activities period at one o'clock the F. F. T. club met. Practically all of the members were present and the club was entertained by a musical program which was put on by Duncan Hollums, Lois Williams, Warren Poole and Claude Langford. Hershel Swepton gave the club a report on feeding beef-cattle, and Ralph Hale a report on feeding hens for egg production. Claude Langford was voted by the Club to be an honorary member. The club is making preparation for a Father and Son Banquet.
