Cycle more evident in Odessa deposits

TOTAL BANK DEPOSITS AND LOANS 1980-Nov. 1985 (Billions)

EDITOR'S NOTE: The third in a series, this segment tracks fluctuations in bank deposits and loans in Midland and Odessa during the tumultuous years of 1980-85.

By FRANK TROMBLEY
Staff Writer

While numerous factors point up the differences in the socio-economic structures of Midland and Odessa, perhaps the most striking is the difference in bank deposits.

From 1980 through November 1985, the relative stability of bank deposits seem to demonstrate the degree of insulation from the shock of the economic downturn enjoyed by Midland, whereas, Odessa bank deposits fairly well track the so-called boom and subsequent economic downturn.

The apparent reason for this was pointed out in July 1985 by Dr. Carol Bennett, then a vice president-economist for Texas Commerce Bancshares in Houston. "Midland will generally outperform other oil-based economies," she stated, "since its energy business is focused on re-

1985 shows some reaction to the boom-bust period, though total deposits during that time increased slightly more than 73 percent, from more than $637 million to better than $1.6 billion in the third quarter of 1985. In 1982, before the economic downturn deepened, Midland bank deposits reached a high of slightly more than $2.1 billion at the end of the second quarter.

Midland bank deposits, in the second quarter of 1984, hit their lowest point in nearly five years when they dropped to slightly more than $1.4 billion. If bank deposits are an indication, recovery began about that time with increases in each quarter until after the first quarter of 1985. The second quarter of 1985 showed a decrease, but this was followed by the expected increase in the third quarter that usually occurs.

From 1980 through 1985, Odessa bank deposits showed a net gain of nearly 49 percent, from close to $497 million in 1980 to just under $740 million in November 1985. Odessa's bank deposits reached an all-time high of more than $872 million in January 1983.

The ratio of bank deposits to loans in Midland-Odessa from 1980 through November 1985 fairly well demonstrates changes in banking philosophy that occurred during the boom-bust period. Indicatures of the economies of the two cities. Sizeable deposits by the large number of major commercial depositors, which are left in banks for significant periods of time, allow banks in Midland to operate with higher deposit-loan ratios because less cash is required to meet deposit withdrawal demands. Conversely, Odessa banks operate, as it were, "closer to the vest," because deposits are usually considerably smaller and wage earners are more prone to withdraw their funds more frequently, which means Odessa banks need more cash on hand to meet daily deposit withdrawal demands.

The failure of three banks in the Midland-Odessa area: Metro Bank about the second quarter of 1983, National Bank of Odessa and First National Bank of Midland, both in the third quarter 1983, impacted on loan totals, though much more dramatically in Midland, where FNB appears to have had close to 70 percent of total loans made by Midland banks before it closed.

From the end of the third quarter 1983, when total loans in Midland amounted to more than $1.56 billion, loans decreased to just under $688 million in the fourth quarter 1983. In the first quarter of 1984, total loans by Midland banks had rebounded slightly, to more than $770. Since that time, loan growth has been relatively flat, with total loans at the end of the third quarter 1985 standing at just under $908 million, representing only 55.1 percent of total deposits. Strangely, the Midland deposit-loan ratio matches that of Odessa banks in the same period, although Odessa's total bank loans in this period amounted to just under half of total Midland bank loans.

Total loans by Odessa banks reached a high of $634 million at the end of the third quarter 1983 and have gradually decreased since that time, for the most part, to a total of slightly more than $429 million at the end of the fourth quarter 1985.

Figures indicate that, beginning about the end of 1984, Midland-Odessa area banks began adopting more conservative loan policies, with deposit-loan ratios apparently averaging in the mid-50 percent range. Dr. Michael Williams, vice president and manager of the funds/investment division of Republic Bank First National Midland, agrees that banks are generally looking at loans more closely, but loans are still being made, he said.

As to the deposit-loan ratios that tend to suggest banks are holding on to deposits rather than making loans, Williams said the problem is not a tight-money policy with banks, but rather loan demands are not materializing. He attributed this to the fact that a great number of businesses are in effect, much more cautious, seeking loans only when really necessary.

At the Permian Basin Outlook 1986 Conference, sponsored by the Greater Odessa Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Division, Williams ended his remarks saying, "I can summarize my outlook for 1986 by saying simply that there is no evidence on the horizon for the economy to improve drastically in 1986."

In fact, the recent softness in some numbers may point to a modest decline in economic activity for at least the first half of 1986.

Although efforts are under way to diversify the Midland-Odessa economies, the oil industry remains the key to the economic health of both areas.

search, engineering and financing of energy investments throughout the nation, rather than the more cyclical drilling industry that varies sharply with oil prices.

The stability of Midland, and no doubt the reason for the reasonable stability of bank deposits through the so-called boom-bust period, can be attributed to the fact that 700 oil and gas companies have offices in Midland. "A remarkable total for a city with less than 100,000," she observed. (NOTE: At the time of her remarks, Dr. Bennett estimated the population of Midland in the first quarter of 1985 was 95,800.)

A look at Midland's total bank deposits from 1980 through November 1985 shows some reaction to the boom-bust period, though total deposits during that time increased slightly more than 73 percent, from more than $637 million to better than $1.6 billion in the third quarter of 1985. In 1982, before the economic downturn deepened, Midland bank deposits reached a high of slightly more than $2.1 billion at the end of the second quarter.

According to Bill Elms, who operates Elms Faris & Co. accounting offices in Midland and Odessa, the difference in loan ratios in the two cities is directly attributable to the "Blue Collar" and "White Collar" na-

No cause for shuttle blast 'singled out'

By DAVID ESPO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting NASA administrator William Graham said today that while initial suspicions about the cause of the space shuttle disaster have centered on rocket booster seals, space agency officials "are still looking across a broad range of issues to try to establish what actually happened."

Concern about seals on the rocket booster, raised in an internal NASA memorandum written last July, doesn't mean that space officials have "singled out any one area at this point as a unique source of concern" in the destruction of the Challenger and the loss of its seven member crew. Graham told a presidential commission probing the Jan. 28 accident.

Added top NASA official Jesse Moore, "We are not exonerating any aspect of this particular incident as being free either of cause or effect."

Graham also predicted that other NASA memoranda "expressing engineering issues and concerns" would probably surface as the probe unfolds.

Graham was the lead-off witness as the commission, headed by former Secretary of State William Rogers, resumed public hearings. As he did at the panel's opening public hearing last Thursday, the acting NASA head pledged his agency's full cooperation with the commission.

He also said NASA will be releasing on Wednesday a three-inch thick stack of documents concerning the accident. NASA has come under criticism from several news organizations for withholding even the most mundane details of the launch.

Graham made his comments before the commission in Washington while a top Kennedy Space Center official fielded questions from reporters in Florida, saying that he doesn't believe ground crew fatigue was a factor in the accident.

"We don't feel that fatigue was a factor with our work out here," said Thomas Utman, adding that NASA was not running a "sweat factory."

He said the agency has a "policy that no one works seven days a week," although he also said there are exceptions to that rule.

In Washington, the opening moments of today's hearing consisted of a colloquy between Rogers and Graham, in which each man went out of his way to stress that their two organizations are working together.

Rogers, in fact, said Graham had "asked me to have a public session today to make clear that NASA was not trying to brush anything under the rug."

Western spies and prisoners board a bust at Glienicke Bridge after their release in an East-West exchange.

Prisoner exchange follows Scharansky's walk to West

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet dissident Anatoly Scharansky walked to freedom across the snow-covered Glienicke Bridge today after nearly nine years in Soviet prisons and labor camps and flew out of Berlin soon after on his way to Israel.

Scharansky, 38, and his wife, Avital, 34, were reunited at Frankfurt Airport. There they boarded an Israeli government executive jet and took off for Tel Aviv at 2:33 p.m. (8:33 a.m. EST), said airport spokesman Wolfgang Schwalm.

Israeli officials said a giant welcoming ceremony awaited him in Tel Aviv.

West German police said that Scharansky, wearing a silver fur hat, was handed over to U.S. Ambassador Richard Burt at the Glienicke Bridge at 10:57 a.m. (4:57 a.m. EST).

Scharansky waved to a crowd of bystanders and well-wishers, as Burt's Mercedes-Benz roared past a crowd of waiting journalists and headed down a road leading along the Berlin Wall.

U.S. and West German officials said five suspected Soviet bloc agents imprisoned in the West also were exchanged for three Westerners jailed in the East after Scharansky was freed. The exchange was concluded at 11:30 a.m. (5:30 a.m. EST), officials said.

The temperature had dropped to 25 degrees when the exchange took place.

In Berlin, Scharansky and Burt boarded a Lear jet after the U.S. Air Force plane that was to take them to Frankfurt developed mechanical trouble.

Drug busts affect 'pharmaceutical' burglaries

By MARK LEWIS
Staff Writer

Most of the 2,889 burglaries committed in Midland County in 1985 had a pharmaceutical origin, according to law-enforcement officials.

Burglars often convert the video-cassette recorders, radar detectors and rifles they steal into cash to pay for heroin and other expensive illegal drugs, according to Sgt. Mike Reed of the Midland Police Department's narcotics division.

"It's always going to be connected to drugs," he said.

So when burglaries in rural Midland went up recently, the Sheriff's Office responded by cracking down on drug dealers.

"We had so many burglaries, we were just tired of it," Sheriff Gary Painter said.

At first, Painter mounted extra patrols to interrupt the burglars' work schedules. Then he decided to go to the source of the problem: the drug dealers.

"The Criminal Investigation Division alone has run 15 search warrants and arrested 28 people" since Jan. 1, Painter said, and about $25,000 worth of heroin, cocaine and marijuana has been seized.

But other local law-enforcement agencies have also been busy, as indicated by the January figures from Midland Crime Stoppers: $316,206 in narcotics seized and 21 people arrested though Crime Stoppers tips. And the pace has continued in February, with two people arrested Sunday by police. Sheriff's officers and Department of Public Safety Intelligence officers, and $4,000 worth of suspected heroin seized.

"You can definitely tell the results — the burglaries are down," Painter said. "Crime in general is down since we started this."

According to Painter, Midland has seen an influx of new heroin and marijuana suppliers.

Another cyanide death linked to use of Extra-Strength Tylenol?

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Investigators are trying to determine whether a woman's death by cyanide poisoning was linked to Extra-Strength Tylenol, and a supermarket chain pulled the popular pain-killer from its stores in 24 states.

A&P pulled Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules from shelves in its more than 1,000 stores on Monday after police said Diane Eisroth, 23, of Peekskill, was found dead Saturday about 12 hours after taking two Tylenol capsules, officials said.

After the deaths of seven people in the Chicago area who had taken cyanide-laced capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol in 1982, its manufacturer and others took steps to make packages tamper-resistant. Authorities said other capsules in the bottle she used contained cyanide, but Deputy Chief Owen McClain would not comment on whether the Tylenol container found after Ms. Eisroth's death had been tampered with.

Filipino assembly renews count in disputed election

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Security men carried 13 green ballot boxes into the raucous National Assembly hall today to begin a count that will determine who won the disputed Philippine presidential election.

Supporters of President Ferdinand E. Marcos and challenger Corason Aquino argued and jeered as the National Assembly debated for a second day how to count the votes in an election marked by opposition charges of fraud.

Hundreds of uniformed police mingled in the assembly with about 7,000 supporters of Mrs. Aquino and Marcos, both of whom have claimed victory. Scores of soldiers with rifles were deployed outside the hall to prevent any violence between the two sides.

When the ballot boxes were carried in, opposition assemblymen immediately objected to returns from one province in Marcos' home region because the tally sheet did not have the required seal.

"The absence of a seal is a criminal offense which can be prosecuted,"

U.S. observers see 'commitment to democracy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of U.S. observers of the Philippine presidential election said the balloting was seriously flawed but the Filipino people have shown a genuine commitment to democracy that may shape the political future of the islands.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., who led the 20-member team of election observers with Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., said on leaving Manila that instances of vote-buying, intimidation attempts, snatching of ballot boxes and tampered election returns "undermine the integrity of the process."

Arriving at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland on Monday night, Lugar, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declined to repeat that assessment.

But he said those observing the contest between Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and challenger Corason Aquino had "witnessed democracy and the millions of people who have a passion for it."

The White House, meanwhile, was assessing the future of U.S.-Philippine relations, emphasizing the importance the United States places on political stability and U.S. strategic interests there and urging both sides to abide by the election outcome and not to resort to violence or demonstrations.

President Reagan, when asked about election fraud during a meeting Monday with out-of-town reporters, said, "I think any of us would be concerned."

However, he said, "I'm not going to really comment in detail on the evidence of that" until after his meeting today with the observer team. "I think that what we have to watch for is, in spite of all these charges, there is at the same time the evidence of a two — strong — two-party system now in the islands, and we certainly are accustomed to that," Reagan said.

Expressing hope for reconciliation between the two rivals, Reagan added, "We want to help in any way we can" after the election results are complete.

Delegation member Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., said Monday night it was clear from what he saw that there was "a total breakdown and slowdown in the vote counting process which made it difficult for any semblance of credibility."

shouted Assemblyman Marcelo Fernan, a member of Mrs. Aquino's party. The assembly speaker said the objection would be noted.

Ruling party officials said they would continue the count until they have canvassed all of 140 tally sheets from across the island nation of 26 million registered voters. The assembly had received only 99 sheets which include records of votes in individual provinces, cities or districts.

By law, canvassing in the assembly, where Marcos' party holds a two-thirds majority, must be finished 15 days after it begins.

If the assembly does not certify the result and declare a winner, Marcos, 68, will remain in office until 1987, when his six-year term expires.

Marcos gained ground on Mrs. Aquino in unofficial vote tallies today, as reports circulated that a U.S.-endorsed group may end its count because of fears the special presidential election was rigged.

The government's Commission on Elections showed Marcos holding a 52 percent to 48 percent lead over Mrs. Aquino with 53 percent of the precincts reporting.

The grassroots National Movement for Free Elections showed Mrs. Aquino leading by the same margin, 52 percent to 48 percent, with 64 percent of the precincts reported.

On Monday, Namfrel tallies showed Mrs. Aquino with an 8 percentage point lead over Marcos, ruler of this Asian island nation for two decades. Earlier government commission tallies put Marcos ahead 51 percent to 49 percent.

Ms. Elstroth, who was visiting her boyfriend, "took a couple of tablets the night before because she was not feeling well," McClain said in a Monday night news conference. The bottle was bought at a Bronxville A&P, but no other bottles at the store showed signs of tampering, officials said.

A&P ordered the recall "as a precautionary measure," said Michael J. Rourke, a spokesman for the Montvale, N.J.-based company. "We're still waiting to hear more from the FDA and the Yonkers police and Johnson & Johnson. If this turns out to be an isolated incident, we'll put it back on the shelves."

Westchester County banned the sale of Tylenol capsules and asked consumers to return any containers bought within the past two months, said Clare Palermo, spokeswoman for county Executive Andrew P. O'Rourke.

In nearby New York City, residents were advised not to use the product, said city health department spokesman Marvin Bogner.

Massachusetts public health officials today urged stores in that state to stop selling all types of Tylenol. Public Health Commissioner Bailus Walker took the action as a precautionary measure and said it was not mandatory.

Johnson & Johnson, the New Brunswick, N.J.-based manufacturer of Tylenol, said the batch in question was ADF916, shipped Aug. 22, 1985, with a May 1987 expiration date. It was in packages of 24 capsules, and the containers were designed to be tamper-resistant. Bottles of the pain-reliever have seals both underneath and over the cap.

"We checked with our retained samples and there was no problem there," said spokesman Jim Murray. "We're reasonably certain that it's not going to come out of our plant but we had to be sure."

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration examined all the Tylenol capsules that had been removed from the A&P store, and found no cyanide in any of them or evidence of further tampering, FDA Commissioner Frank Young said in Washington today.

However, in an interview on the "CBS Morning News," he said that three out of 21 capsules from the bottle Ms. Elstroth used were found to have been tainted with the poison.

Empty shelf space marks where an A&P supermarket in Bronxville, N.Y., pulled supplies of Tylenol capsules after a woman died of cyanide poisoning.

He also said that seals designed to defeat tampering were intact on the other bottles his agency examined. "At this time, I should emphasize, there is no evidence of any bottles being involved beyond the particular one," said Young, whose agency joined the investigation Monday.

But he advised consumers in the area involved to avoid taking Tylenol capsules, and said people nationally should not take Tylenol from the batch in question. He said people should not be concerned about Tylenol tablets or other Tylenol medication.

"In the past, such instances have invariably proved local in nature," the agency said in a statement Monday.

Westchester County Deputy Medical Examiner Louis Roh discovered the pain-killer and cyanide in Ms. Elstroth's body during an autopsy, McClain said.

"The medical examiner's office has indicated that the death was caused by cyanide, which may have been introduced by way of ingestion of a Tylenol capsule," said Police Commissioner Joseph V. Fernandes.

McClain said there was no evidence of any extortion threats connected with the death.

"There doesn't seem to be any reason for this death," he said. "We don't believe she had any enemies." Johnson & Johnson said consumers who return Tylenol from the lot would receive credit or an exchange. Consumers may also call a toll-free telephone number of McNeil Consumer Product Co., a Johnson & Johnson subsidiary, at 800-237-9800 for other information.

Callers to the hotline were asked not to use Tylenol capsules for the next couple of days, although other products were deemed usable.

The A&P stores are in Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Schcharansky went directly into a VIP lounge to see his wife after landing at 1:15 p.m. (7:15 a.m. EST) in Frankfurt, said Schwalm. "They greeted each other, but they didn't stay long," he said. His wife had campaigned worldwide for Schcharansky's release.

The release of Schcharansky, who became one of the most prominent dissidents in the Soviet Union, ended his interment in the Soviet Union. He was sentenced in 1978 to 13 years after being convicted of spying for the CIA — a charge he repeatedly denied.

Schcharansky, a Jew, said his only crime was applying for permission to emigrate to Israel.

U.S. officials had said Schcharansky was released before the others to emphasize their insistence that the activist in human rights and Jewish causes was not a spy.

On Glienicke Bridge, Schcharansky engaged Burt in an animated conversation. Eyewitnesses, including Associated Press reporter George Jahn, said Schcharansky, whose health had reportedly suffered in prison, appeared in good shape.

Israeli President Chaim Herzog applauded Schcharansky's release in a statement broadcast over Israeli army radio today, calling the freed dissident "a symbol and a flag" for Soviet Jews wishing to emigrate and "evidence of the flame of Jewish courage that cannot be suppressed."

As the prisoner exchange began, two vans pulled onto the bridge from the western side, stopping almost at the midpoint separating communist East Germany from West Berlin. Five passenger cars stopped in front of the bridge, also on the Western side.

They were accompanied by police cars with blue lights flashing, as the temperatures dropped below freezing and gray skies covered Berlin. Reporters and about 100 onlookers stood around the bridge as the exchange got under way.

After the other three prisoners held in the Soviet bloc were freed on the bridge, Wolfgang Vogel, the dapper East German attorney who represented the East in the arrangements, arrived in a white Mercedes. Vogel walked across the bridge and briefly boarded a Mercedes bus carrying the freed prisoners. He spoke briefly to them, but what he said was not known.

The Glienicke Bridge has been the site of numerous East-West swap and prisoner swaps over more than two decades' time.

In Jerusalem, the Foreign Ministry said an Israeli government plane had been sent to West Germany to pick up Schcharansky. Israeli television said Avital Schcharansky was on board.

In a White House statement calling Schcharansky a "prisoner of conscience," spokesman Mike Guest said, "Mr. Schcharansky's release is the product of close U.S.-German cooperation over an extended period of time. The president (Ronald Reagan) has expressed his warm appreciation to (West German) Chancellor (Helmut) Kohl for the substantial contribution of the government of the FRG (Federal Republic of Germany) in bringing about Mr. Schcharansky's release."

The West German newspaper Bild said the swap was endangered near the end because the Americans insisted Schcharansky be separated from the other prisoners on grounds that he was really a human rights activist and not a spy.

The issue was resolved when the two sides reached agreement that Schcharansky would be handed over to the West ahead of the three other prisoners, Bild said.

There was no immediate official identification of the others released today, but Bild and the conservative Die Welt daily of Bonn had identified the other East bloc prisoners to be handed over as Wolf George Frohn of East Germany; Jaroslav Jaworski of Czechoslovakia, and Dietrich Nistroy, a West German. All were being held in East Germany.

emitted an unusual "plume" of flame 14 seconds before Challenger exploded, killing its seven-member crew.

Aviation Week and Space Technology, a respected industry magazine, reported Monday that NASA investigators believe the right rocket booster became detached from the shuttle's main fuel tank at one of its two points. The magazine said space agency officials believe the rocket then pivoted into the main fuel tank, denting or puncturing it and setting off the explosion.

One NASA official, who spoke on condition of not being identified by name, confirmed that his agency is investigating such a scenario. But this source also said officials are trying to determine whether the flame from the booster caused the fuel tank to explode without the two steel structures coming into contact.

In a related matter, Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., sent a letter Monday to NASA asking about a 1983 Air Force report that he said sharply criticized safety planning for the space shuttle.

Against Burglary and Drugs. But Cahoon said his organization expects to note a decrease in 1986, thanks to "aggressive" law-enforcement efforts against drug dealers.

"We at NAB'D are very pleased with Sheriff Painter's recent drug arrests," he said.

Cahoon said 90 percent of break-ins are committed by users of illegal drugs, and with a continued crackdown on narcotics, "We're going to see a decrease in residential burglaries."

Swapped prisoner worked for Soviet human rights

MOSCOW (AP) — Anatoly Shcharansky was a spokesman for the Soviet human rights movement and an activist in the Jewish emigration effort when he was imprisoned in 1978 on charges of spying for the United States.

Shcharansky, 38, who has denied the espionage charges, was released today as part of an East-West prisoner exchange in Berlin, and was expected to fly to Israel.

After his sentencing to a 13-year prison and labor camp term, Shcharansky's case aroused widespread protests in the West. His wife, Avital, 34, campaigned without letup for her husband's freedom as did the National Conference on Soviet Jewry.

Shcharansky became an active dissident in the 1970s and his activities brought him into close contact with Andrei Sakharov, the Nobel Peace Prize laureate who is now confined to the city of Gorky.

Shcharansky joined the dissident movement after he was refused permission to emigrate, at the age of 25, in 1973. The heavy-set, balding computer programmer was frequently arrested by security police along with other Soviets who became dissidents during that period.

He often served as a link between human rights campaigners, such as Sakharov, and the Jewish emigration movement.

"My strength is that I do nothing secret, nothing illegal. So I shouldn't be afraid," Shcharansky said before he was arrested in 1977 on charges of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Shcharansky was born in the Ukraine on Jan. 20, 1948, and the family later moved to Istra, northwest of Moscow. He graduated from the Moscow Physical-Technical Institute in 1972 and went to work on computers at an oil and gas research institute in Moscow.

He was denied permission to emigrate to Israel on grounds he had knowledge of state secrets.

In 1974 he married Natasha Stig-litz, who later took the name Avital Shcharansky, in a Jewish ceremony. The Soviet government did not recognize the wedding, saying it had not been officially registered with proper authorities.

The day after their wedding, Mrs. Shcharansky received an exit visa for Israel. She now lives in Jerusalem, and has traveled widely to secure Shcharansky's freedom and to publicize the cause of Soviet Jews who want to emigrate.

Shcharansky was accused of high treason after an article in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said he had participated in a spy ring operated by the CIA.

should be very sad, because I have lived an honest life with my conscience and have never taken the path of hypocrisy."

Shcharansky was sent to Chistopol prison 500 miles east of Moscow and later to a labor camp in Perm, about 700 miles northeast of the capital. His family said he suffered from various ailments in captivity, that his weight dropped drastically and that he faced total blindness because of a lack of medical care.

In November 1981 he was transferred back to Chistopol, where he went on a 110-day hunger strike to protest the confiscation of his mail.

He abandoned the effort after his mother, Ida Milgrom, 81, won the right to send him letters in prison.

In the last information available on Shcharansky's movements in the Soviet Union, he was reported to have been transferred back to a labor camp in November 1984.

Mandela may be swapped

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel radio said Prime Minister Shimon Peres has asked South African President P.W. Botha to free Nelson Mandela as part of the East-West prisoner swap that took place today in Berlin.

The radio said Peres and Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir recently sent messages to Botha asking him to agree to a Soviet condition that Mandela, the jailed leader of the African National Congress black guerrilla group, be released as part of the exchange in which Jewish dissident Anatoly Shcharansky was freed.

Botha had suggested 10 days ago in a speech to Parliament that he might agree to such a step if Shcharansky and another Soviet dissident, Andrei Sakharov, as well as a South African soldier held prisoner in Angola, were freed.

Slander charge on Walesa dropped

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — A government prosecutor dropped slander charges today against Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, saying state election officials were "satisfied" with Walesa's statements that he did not deliberately slander them.

The chief judge said he was suspending the case and told Walesa he was calling off the date for the next court hearing.

Walesa had faced up to two years in prison or a maximum fine of $2,900 — about 27 times the average monthly salary in Poland — if convicted on the charges.

Walesa had stood in court and declared, "My intention was not to slander anyone. My intention was not to degrade anyone."

But he refused to back down and repudiate the independent figures he released that tended to call into question official voter turnout figures in October elections boycotted by supporters of the Solidarity free trade union.

He was pressed by Prosecutor Raymond Biazkowski who asked: "Do I understand that by your statement you wish to give satisfaction to those who were offended, as stated in the indictment?"

Walesa replied: "I'm sticking to what I said."

The court then recessed. About 100 people chanted "Solidarity, Solidarity" and waved V-for-victory signs outside the courthouse as Walesa left in his car.

Walesa spent 11 months in internment under military rule between December 1981 and November 1982, and was threatened with prosecution several times, but never before brought to trial.

As the trial began, a smiling Walesa told reporters before entering the court, "I'm feeling great today." He added, "I expect the court to be reasonable."

Significance of Egyptian tomb disputed

Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service

CAIRO, Egypt — Two members of a British-Dutch archeological expedition reported Monday that they had discovered the 3,300-year-old tomb of Maya, an official under King Tutankhamen.

Archaeologists Geoffrey Martin of London University and Jacobus Van Dyk of Leiden University said they found the long-sought tomb of Tutankhamen's finance minister Maya during excavations at the Sakkara Tombs site south of Cairo.

A Dutch Embassy spokesman called the discovery sensational, second only to the "King Tut" tomb 64 years ago, but Egyptian experts said the find was routine and of no great significance.

The two archeologists managed to get a glimpse inside the tomb, and what they saw "took their breath away," the Dutch Embassy spokesman said.

However, Egypt's Antiquities Administration Chief, Mahmoud Abdel-Rasek, said he doubted the "breath-taking" find was that of Tutankhamen's finance minister.

Abdel-Rasek said it appeared that the new tomb, bearing the inscription "Maya," was that of the lower Egyptian administrator of that name in Tutankhamen's time.

Jacobus Van Dyk, a Dutch archeologist, exhibits a skull and other bones Monday from an excavation near Sakkara, Egypt. The significance of the find is disputed.

The grave of the finance minister, who Abdel-Rasek said was called by a similar name, was found in Luxor, Upper Egypt, many years ago. The just-discovered tomb, he added, differed little from countless others.

It was not clear whether the tomb was untouched by plunderers at some point in history. It was found near the temple of Haremhab, the last pharaoh of the 18th dynasty.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Haitians gather guns

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The leader of Haiti's new ruling council says it is having a hard time collecting all the weapons from the disbanded Tonton Macoutes, the secret police force of the deposed Duvalier dictatorship.

As many as 300 members of the feared militia, formed as a personal army to Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier have been slain by revenge-seeking Haitians after President-for-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier fled the country Friday.

"We are trying to get back all the guns but it is very difficult," said Lt.

Gen. Henri Namphy, who heads the six-man council ruling Haiti since Duvalier left the country.

India trip pleases Pope

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Pope John Paul II said he achieved most of what he expected from his 10-day trip to India and was thankful for the interest shown by the crowds who came to see him, despite some bitter protests from some Hindus.

The pope landed in Italy two hours behind schedule, after heavy snows diverted his plane to Naples.

"I could not have expected more," said the 85-year-old pontiff, looking weary but contented.

Blacks die in violence

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (NYT) — Police said Monday that 10 black people were slain over the weekend in what appeared to be the result of violence between rival black factions.

The police said that five blacks, their hands and feet bound by wire, were incinerated together under a pile of blazing automobile tires in a slum quarter called Little Soweto.

Residents said the killings seemed to have resulted from a confrontation between political groups that say they are allies but disagree on the extent to which violence is a legitimate political weapon.

The bidding: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass 4 NT Pass 5 ♦ Pass 6 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠ It is difficult to resist something for nothing. But there is often a hidden cost, as this hand reported by Derek Rimington in "International Popular Bridge Monthly" proves.

It is debatable whether North's bid of four no trump was Blackwood, since no suit had been agreed upon by the partnership. Whatever the means of getting there, certainly the final contract of six no trump was quite reasonable.

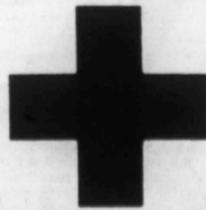

West led the five of diamonds and South could not resist the temptation of a "free" finesse. East covered the jack with the queen and declarer was forced to win in hand. Only then did his predicament begin to dawn on him. If he unblocked his high clubs, he would have no entry back to hand to cash high spades.

Declarer led the king of spades. West took his ace and continued with a diamond. The ace won, and declarer now had to rely on a 3-2 club break, since if he did not clear the ace of hearts, he could not score the king and would have only 11 tricks. Unfortunately, clubs were 4-1, and declarer eventually went down two tricks. A bit of foresight at trick one would have guaranteed the contract. Declarer should win the ace of diamonds, cash the ace-jack of clubs and then reenter dummy with the ace of hearts. After taking his four winning clubs, declarer simply leads a spade from the table and forces out the ace. No power on earth can stop him from winning six club tricks and two tricks in each of the other suits. The defenders have no choice but to present declarer with the lead in one of the red suits or spades.

NASA's tragedy

Nothing could be more tragic than for NASA to have known a shuttle flight could end in disaster and not have taken the steps to lessen the danger. Yet increasingly more evidence is pointing in that direction following the Jan. 28th explosion of Challenger.

An article in the New York Times recently charged that NASA knew well in advance of the fateful launch attempt that shuttle safety was "being compromised by potential failure" of seals between segments of the solid-fuel booster rockets that power the spacecraft into orbit.

That may have been the problem that led to the explosion of Challenger and the deaths of its seven-person crew last month. Earlier this week a special 13-member presidential commission studying the explosion told the space agency to turn over all internal space agency documents on the potential failure of the seals. NASA officials agreed to do so.

It should have been expected that the massive effort to get to the bottom of the Challenger explosion would uncover any questionable conduct on the space agency's part. The shuttle program has captured the imagination of the American people and others throughout the world. It was understood that any major tragedy such as this would be fully investigated and reveal any shortcut in planning or safety. That's the way it should be when multiple lives are at stake. But even as the Challenger was rising into the Florida sky, there was a degree of concern being voiced that NASA had rushed through this launch to keep pace with what had been a busy launch schedule for shuttle flights this year, perhaps pushing the safety consideration to the side.

The American people realize space flight is a risky undertaking in the best of conditions and have proven supportive of NASA over the past decades, but they literally will not condone a program in which the safety of the human participants does not take ultimate priority.

If the evidence proves NASA did not follow through in that regard — and let seven astronauts perish as the result — that support will be difficult to sustain in the future. That would be tragic for the future of manned space flight.

No amount of professional negligence is greater.

CIA watched Marcoses' dealings

WASHINGTON — The CIA has apparently kept a close watch on the purchase of property in the United States by Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife, Imelda, in recent years. At least two purchases of real estate in Hawaii were reported to the agency by businessmen who claim they were working for the CIA.

Jack Anderson

Evidence of the spy agency's Marcos-watching is contained in sworn statements given in the bizarre case of Ronald Ray Rewald, who ran a Honolulu-based investment firm from 1979 to 1983, when he was arrested for fraud. Rewald has been convicted of embezzling investors' money in an elaborate swindle, but our extensive investigation, along with those by congressional investigators and Rewald's attorneys, turned up solid evidence that Rewald and his associates were working at least partly on the CIA's behalf.

Half a dozen or more CIA agents, including some former Honolulu station chiefs, had ties to the investment firm. Officially, the CIA has admitted only a "low-level" involvement.

Confidential statements and reports obtained by reporter John Kelly show that Rewald and at least one CIA consultant were keeping an eye on the Marcoses' financial dealings in this country. A Philippine Embassy spokesman told our associate Donald Goldberg that Marcos has denied buying property in the United States.

In a 1983 statement about his legal problems, Rewald told his attorney, Robert A. Smith:

"We were keeping a close eye on Mrs. Marcos the last couple of years under the direction of the agency. She had been negotiating on purchasing some land here. All this is legal. They're allowed to do that. But it was the agency's feeling that they were doing it in anticipation of early exile. ... And we were coming up with real good information."

Rewald's firm hired another company to do a confidential investigation of Hawaii property purchases by the Marcoses. Two were identified in the investigative report.

One estate, purchased in 1977, was valued at $717,000. It was bought by Gliceria Tantoco, a close friend of Imelda Marcos. Mrs. Tantoco's family owns the biggest department store chain in the Philippines. She has been identified by Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., as the buyer of several New York properties for the Marcoses.

A second estate, valued at $1 million, was bought in 1980 through Antonio Floriando, who has also been linked by Solarz to other properties bought for the Marcoses. Neither Mrs. Tantoco nor Floriando could be reached for comment, but a Philippine Embassy spokesman charged that the evidence elicited by Solarz was based on "hearsay and third-party allegations."

Rewald's claim that he spied on the Marcoses for the CIA may seem farfetched, but it is supported by Robert W. Jinks, a Utah attorney who was a consultant to Rewald's investment firm and who claims that he also worked for the CIA.

In a sworn deposition given to the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1984, Jinks said he was led to believe he was working for the CIA by a former agency station chief as well as the current one, both of whom he had met through Rewald.

CHARLEY REESE

Why should U.S. help its enemies?

The Reagan administration is cocked to shoot the United States in the foot again by selling military material to two governments that are about as friendly as a rattlesnake with a sore stomach.

Charley Reese

I'm against selling, lending or supplying arms and military technology to any foreign country that has not proven itself a staunch ally. China is not only not an ally, it is an enemy even though it is more worried at the moment about the Soviet Union than it is about us. Saudi Arabia, which is a family instead of a country, is always publicly denouncing us and funding terrorists.

Nevertheless, the administration wants to sell radar and navigation equipment for China's fighter planes plus another package of arms to Saudi. The core problem with the hot shots in Washington is that they don't realize that the only thing that counts is character. Governments are just bureaucracies staffed by human beings. It is the character of the human beings who rule the governments that counts.

Now the present rulers of China are totalitarian, Stalinist-Leninist thugs who view human liberty the way most people look upon leprosy. They are the world's most ardent supporters of the Cambodian monster, Pol Pot, as well as funders of guerrilla movements plaguing U.S. allies in Southeast Asia.

At no time have they ever uttered a kind word about the United States or democratic governments. They are, like Stalin when faced with the Nazi invasion, making tactical maneuvers in order to get what they want from the United States. Their so-called economic reforms are standard Lenin tactics that countenance a minimum injection of private initiative from time to time when the socialist economy slips toward a coma.

There was some pragmatic justification for sending aid to Stalin in World War II. We were fighting Germans at that time and every German a Russian killed was one less German an American had to face.

The Chinese, however, are not fighting the Soviet Union. In fact, they are trying to repair relations with it. For all we know with our lousy intelligence, they may have already repaired relations long ago and are playing the Good Guy-Bad Guy charade in order to bleed what technology and credit they can from us. Between the greed of American corporations and naivete of the foreign policy establishment, we're an easy mark.

Strategically, China is of no value to us. Anybody who thinks that a Chinese horde is going to advance on Moscow is an ignoramus. Furthermore, the last thing in the world we want to do is get involved in fighting on the Asian landmass. Our strategic interest in that part of the world is the sea lanes, not the Mongolian steppes. And Taiwan, not Mainland China, is critical to control of the sea lanes.

As for the Saudis, they are a 20th Century comic opera. Saudi Arabia is the weak sister of the Arab world and its foreign policy is based on bribing its potential enemies, which include practically every other Arab nation with Iran thrown in for good measure.

The first thing members of the ruling family purchase with their petrodollars is a fast jet with an English-speaking pilot on 24-hour standby. Saudi Arabia is about as stable as sweating dynamite and about as substantial as Jello.

Not only did the Saudis lead the OPEC gang in the rape of the world's economy, but they have consistently opposed every effort toward peace in the Middle East. When we shot down two Libyan planes, they publicly denounced us as pirates. When Egypt signed a peace treaty we sponsored with Israel, they broke diplomatic relations with Egypt and led the chorus of denunciations.

The blarney and hot air that constantly flows out of Washington and New York about our friends the Saudis are generated by the oil and banking interests, which have a huge financial stake in Saudi Arabia. When the Saudis say jump, American banking and oil says, how high and in what direction?

If Ronald Reagan cannot see the difference between U.S. interests and the financial interests of big corporations, maybe he'd better retire to his ranch.

Space travel must go on

I watched in horror as the space shuttle Challenger exploded. For a fraction of a second I felt I was watching a Star Wars movie, then reality set in. This was no "make believe," this was very real! A terrible tragedy had happened before the eyes of the whole world — in a fraction of a second, seven human beings had disappeared and seven human souls had taken flight to heaven.

The shuttle flights had become routine. We, through NASA, had been so successful for 24 flights. A lot of us earthbound people had forgotten just how very dangerous these flights are. We had all witnessed on television the successful takeoffs and perfect landings. But, once again, we have been shown that nothing on earth can ever be, or remain, perfect. These seven courageous men and women have given their lives for something they believed in. Their names have been burned into the pages of history, and they now and forever belong to God and the ages. These seven brave men and women, in giving their lives, have touched the lives of all of us.

We can only go forward with our space program. We cannot stop, for if we do, the three men that died in 1967, and the seven men and women that gave their lives on Jan. 28, have all died for nothing. Out of this terrible tragedy must come ultimate triumph in man's exploration and use of outer space for peaceful purposes, and for the benefit of all mankind.

Support appreciated

On behalf of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, I would like to thank a supportive Midland community.

Any charitable organization that puts on a door-to-door campaign such as Mothers March will tell you that the most important person is the volunteer who willingly and consistently offers to help. I want all the volunteers involved in the march to realize how priceless their help was, not only in terms of funds raised, but in relation to the education material distributed and the ultimate prevention of a birth defective baby. If our campaign has made just one mother realize the great importance of prenatal care, if we've gotten one mother to stop smoking during her pregnancy, then we've come one life closer to our goal.

Special thanks to the following people who helped us in our efforts: Janet Pollard, honorary chairman; Kathy Callaway, volunteer; Sheriff Gary Painter, supporter; and Donna Lawson, volunteer.

The march is over, and now our work begins in research, community service, and public and professional health education. Without the volunteers, none of it would be possible.

Helmets can save lives

This letter is for parents who let their children ride three-wheelers.

Jan. 25th, my great nephew, 7-year-old Chad Lee Shelton was riding his father's three-wheeler which is used at the family dairy at Sidney, near Comanche. In a freak accident he was thrown from the three-wheeler and it landed on his head. He died shortly after. He was not wearing a helmet.

Please folks, if your children are going to ride these dangerous vehicles, buy them a helmet. Also see that they wear them.

Wary contractors snub tax move

WASHINGTON — The Democratic power structure in the House handed this sugar-coated threat last week to the military-industrial complex: If you want to save your defense contracts, get Ronald Reagan to increase taxes.

Rowland Evans

Robert Novak

That was the pungent impression left with key defense contractors summoned to Capitol Hill for coffee and rolls at 8 a.m. on budget day to hear two powerful House committee chairmen vital to their corporate interests. As the military industrialists later told us they heard it, Rep. William Gray of Pennsylvania, Budget chairman, and Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin, Armed Services chairman, were advising them to lobby the White House for a tax hike or else expect meat ax cuts in Pentagon spending.

Unlike those domestic pleaders, however, the military industrialists are definitely not on record pushing for a tax increase. Nor, like welfare program recipients, are they allies of Gray. The conservative American Security Council awards the Philadelphia Baptist minister a perfect goose egg on his national security voting record. He has voted against every new weapons system and usually votes against defense appropriations bills on final passage.

The invitation to some 20 Washington representatives of major Pentagon contractors came not from Gray but from one of their favorite Democrats: the influential Rep. John Murtha of Pennsylvania, a member of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee. But with Murtha away observing the Philippine election, the breakfast turned out to be the Bill Gray hour, with a late appearance by Armed Services Chairman Aspin (who, unlike Gray, has generally supported defense programs).

Each declared that massive defense cuts — $80 billion to $90 billion — will be mandated by Gramm-Rudman-Hollings under existing revenue. Gray also stressed the complexities of arms spending, hitting the military industrialists where they live: it takes two or three dollars in defense procurement cuts to yield a one dollar drop in defense spending for the coming fiscal year.

We talked separately to three lobbyists present at the closed-door sessions. None was willing to be quoted, but they gave nearly identical accounts of what was said: Though careful not to phrase it in so many words, both Gray and Aspin were enlisting their help in urging tax hikes on the White House in order to save their defense bacon.

Indeed, while insisting that the official Democratic position is to hold back on tax hikes until Reagan moves, Gray may have let a kitten slip out of the bag. He candidly told us that Aspin did explain to the lobbyists in some detail that defense spending would drop "unless there is more revenue." We were unable to reach Aspin.

The lobbyists feel squeezed. In the wake of procurement scandals and declining public support for defense spending, they know the spigot is tightening and their influence is on the wane. "In the shape we're in, I certainly am not going to run out and start lobbying Reagan for taxes," said the representative of a company whose well-being depends on the Pentagon budget.

But the deeper story out of those rolls and coffee at Capitol Hill is the reality of the Democratic thrust for higher taxes to fund their threatened domestic spending programs under the leverage of protecting the president's rearmament. Whether or not holding the Reagan defense budget hostage adds a cent of higher taxes, the closed-door tactic unveils what lurks in the bosom of the party's leadership.

Astronaut trainees acknowledge risks

DALLAS (AP) — When NASA payload specialist Drew Gaffney talked with two professional astronauts about the risks of flying aboard the space shuttle, all agreed that the ship's solid rocket boosters were the most vulnerable part of the flight.

"The money was on the solid rockets," Gaffney told the Dallas Morning News. "My crewmates thought that was what would happen, if something happened someday."

Gaffney, a doctor at the University of Texas Health Science Center, said he and the other astronauts believed the solid rocket boosters presented the most danger because the flight cannot be aborted during their two-minute burn.

Gaffney dreamed a year ago that a solid rocket booster on a space shuttle he was riding in exploded and that he survived. At the time, Gaffney thought the dream was "total nonsense."

Steve Cunningham, a payload specialist who works for Hughes Aircraft, said he didn't appreciate the risks until training began.

Cunningham trained with Greg Jarvis, one of the payload specialists who died aboard the shuttle Challenger Jan. 28.

In one class, Cunningham said, trainees were taken into a pressure chamber and shown the effects of lack of oxygen. They were given oxygen masks and the air pressure in the room was reduced to simulate an altitude of 33,000 feet.

"At that altitude, your brain doesn't quite get enough oxygen," he said. "You die in about two minutes. They had us take our oxygen masks off, then they gave us a clipboard with questions on it."

NASA scrubs next three shuttle flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — NASA is postponing its next three manned space flights because of the Challenger disaster, but the Air Force continues to prepare for a July launch in case the space agency finds the cause of the accident and resumes its own shuttle program by then.

In scrubbing the launch scheduled for March and the two in May, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration loses the opportunity for some major scientific observations. The March flight of Columbia was to train an ultraviolet telescope on Halley's Comet on the outbound leg of the comet's 76-year trip around the sun.

In May, NASA was to launch two shuttles five days apart, one carrying the Ulysses spacecraft to orbit the sun and one with the Galileo mission to orbit Jupiter and send a probe into its atmosphere.

Neither mission can be attempted again for another 13 months because both the Earth and Jupiter must be in precise positions relative to one another.

The Air Force is proceeding with preparations for the launch of Discovery in July from its new spaceport at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California "to ensure that we are ready if the investigation is completed," the service said.

"That does not mean there will be a launch on that date or that there would be a launch before completion of the investigation," the Air Force added.

Air Force sources said it is "virtually a certainty" that the first launch of a shuttle following completion of NASA's investigation will be performed at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

"You're not going to see us make the first launch of a shuttle after the Challenger's loss," said one official who requested anonymity.

"First of all, NASA wouldn't want us to go first," the source continued.

"They will want to be the ones to demonstrate that the shuttle is operational again. And, secondly, ours is a brand new launch facility, and NASA isn't going to want to resume the program by using an untried pad."

"And quite frankly, the first launch that we're planning from Vandenberg is simply not so important that we have any need to rush it," the source concluded. "You're talking about experiments — and they can wait."

The sources agreed to discuss the status of Vandenberg following a report last weekend by The Washington Post. The paper, citing unidentified Defense Department officials, said Vandenberg was being readied because military officials had received "informal advice from NASA officials that the cause of the Jan. 28 Challenger explosion has been located."

"I think everybody knows now that the solid rocket booster is suspected as the cause of the accident," one Air Force official said Monday. "But NASA hasn't told us that's the definite cause. We just want to be ready whenever the investigation is completed."

A presidential commission investigating the explosion held a closed-door session Monday. Commission spokesman Mark Weinberg said NASA and officials of Morton Thiokol Inc. of Chicago, which manufactures the rocket boosters, took part in the closed session.

The Air Force has been building a $2.8 billion shuttle complex at Vandenberg since 1979. Shuttles launched from Vandenberg can be placed in polar orbit around Earth, making it easier to place U.S. satellites in paths that will carry them over the Soviet Union. A Florida launch, on the other hand, places the spacecraft into an orbit with the equator at its center.

Mormons bar female writers

HOUSTON (AP) — A tradition of the Mormon Church that bars women from attending a certain meeting has caused the Religion News Writers' Association of America to move its scheduled meeting from Salt Lake City to Atlanta, the head of the group said.

The 200-member organization, made up of newspaper and magazine religious writers from the United States and Canada, usually meets along with a national religious meeting, said Louis Moore, president of the organization and religion writer for the Houston Chronicle.

The Mormon Church had invited the organization to attend its general conference, held twice a year, said Don LeFevre, manager of press relations for the church. The conference includes five sessions, four of which are open to the public.

The fifth session, known as the priesthood meeting, is strictly for male members of the church, LeFevre said. But men attending do not have to prove their church affiliation.

"No one is turned away at the door," he said. No one except women.

Although the religion writers' group overwhelmingly decided on the April meeting because of developments in the Mormon Church, several members voiced concern about female reporters being treated equally, Moore said.

As a way of accommodating women, the church suggested providing full transcripts or having closed-circuit television of the priesthood meeting, Moore said.

Conditions forecast for 7 A.M. Wednesday

Warmer days anticipated

From Staff and Wire Reports

Warmer temperatures can be expected for Wednesday after the bone-chilling cold of the last few days. According to the forecasters at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, the high for Wednesday should be in the low 50s. Tonight the low may well repeat the very cold temperatures experienced in the Permian Basin early this morning. A low in the upper teens is expected along with easterly winds at five to 10 mph. Wednesday the winds will shift to the south at 10-15 mph.

Monday's high of 34 was 50 degrees below the record high set in 1976. This morning's low was 6 degrees above the record low of 11 set in 1961.

STATE

The mercury dipped below zero across the Texas Panhandle today as the National Weather Service released travelers advisories for the High Plains because of roads packed with snow and ice.

The temperature in Amarillo fell to 12 below zero at 5 a.m., tying a record low reading for the date set in 1899. Readings in the 20s and 30s dominated the rest of Texas before dawn.

Freezing and frozen precipitation ended late Monday across the state as an upper-level storm system moved off to the east.

Skies were partly cloudy to cloudy across most of the state, except for clear skies over parts of the Red River Valley, Trans-Pecos and the Rio Grande plains.

Winds were mostly light and variable over West Texas, and northerly at 10 to 20 mph elsewhere.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies were forecast for most of Texas through Wednesday. Clear skies were expected in far West Texas and over portions of South Texas.

NATION

A storm pushed into the Appalachians and the Northeast today, spreading snow, sleet and freezing rain across a broad section of the nation as bitter cold prevailed in much of the West and Midwest.

The low-pressure system over northern Georgia spread snow from northern Tennessee and Kentucky across southern Ohio and West Virginia to southern New Jersey and Delaware.

A mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain stretched from northern Alabama and middle Tennessee to northern Virginia as rain prevailed across most of the Southeast.

Lady 'Dogs ease into bi-district

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

BIG SPRING — The expected close battle between Midland High and Abilene High for the second and final District 4-5A girls basketball playoff berth didn't materialize Monday night. Instead, the Bulldogs won going away, 67-45.

With the victory, Midland High, 18-8, advances into bi-district play against District 3-5A champion Amarillo High, 22-2. The two teams will tipoff Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at South Plains Junior College in Levelland.

The Bulldogs played their best game of the year in beating the Eagles, hitting a sizzling 66 percent of their field goals.

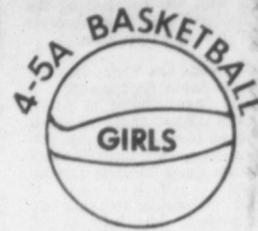

After a close first quarter in which Midland High built a 16-11 lead, the game was broken open in the second frame on a 79 percent shooting effort by the Bulldogs, 11-of-14 field goals, for a 38-23 lead.

Midland High kept increasing its lead in the final two quarters until, with 8:44 left to play, the Bulldogs led by 24 for their largest margin of the night. Abilene High, which closed its season at 21-10, never again got closer than 20.

All but one Bulldog shot 50 percent or better against the Eagles. Amy Hubbard went 0-for-3 on the night, but her job is not shooting, but getting the ball to the open player.

Four Bulldogs ended up with double digit efforts, led by Amy Cummings with 18 (9-of-13, 69 percent) and followed by Nadine Hill (6-of-10, 60 percent) with 13, Sebrina Finch (5-of-8, 63 percent) and Brenda Rodriguez (6-of-7, 87 percent) scored 12 each.

ON THE other side of the court, Abilene High hit on a mere 20-of-66 shots (30 percent) and had two players in double figures. Trena Jackson scored 18 (8-of-23, 35 percent) and Jody Anderson 12 (6-of-21, 29 percent).

"We didn't play any special defense on Abilene. All we did was play good defense," said MHS coach Jane Young. "We forced Trena into shooting shots she didn't want to shoot and we forced Jody into shooting shots she didn't want to shoot."

"And, those two are their offensive players. Trena shoots about 70 percent of the time, Jody 20 percent and the rest of the team 10 percent."

"Our press slowed them down in the first half. We got out of it in the second because I didn't want us getting into foul trouble. Besides, we had a 20-point lead."

Young also credited the success of Midland High's inside offensive game for the outstanding overall performance.

"With Amy and Nadine settled down on offense, the other kids had a chance to not be afraid of going to the basket," said Young. "Overall, we played fantastic."

THAT WAS the consensus of the entire team.

"This was the best game we've played all year, I know that," said Cummings. "We worked the ball real well and we shot well. We penetrated good. We were all ready and relaxed. We wanted it." "Our shooting percentage was good," said Rodriguez. "We played as a team."

Rodriguez did have a perfect night going before putting up her only miss late in the fourth quarter.

"I sort of forced it," said Rodriguez, who scored her season high of 18 against the Eagles early in the season.

"I've scored higher than that, but didn't shoot very well doing it."

Cummings was surprised by the final spread of the game.

"I thought it would be a lot closer," said Cummings. "I thought it would come down to the end, it usually does."

Now, the Bulldogs have two days to prepare for their Thursday meeting with Amarillo High. And, things won't be getting any easier.

"They're going to be tough," said Cummings. "We're going to have to work hard this week to prepare."

"I THINK we'd better play as well against Amarillo High as we did tonight if we want to go any further," said Rodriguez. "But, I think we have a good chance."

In other bi-district action Thursday, 4-5A champion Midland Lee will take on Lubbock Monterey at 7 p.m. at the Seminole middle school.

Stallings gone, Landry shuffles staff

DALLAS (AP) — Veteran Dallas receivers' coach Dick Nolan will be moving into the secondary spot left empty by Gene Stallings who is heading to St. Louis as head coach for the Cardinals.

Nolan, Landry's former New York Giants teammate, has coached with the Cowboys since 1982 and was a player-coach for the team in 1962 as well as Dallas' defensive coach from 1963-67.

Landry's Monday staff shuffle follows the Friday hiring of San Francisco 49ers' Paul Hackett as Cowboys' quarterbacks and receivers coach.

Landry said he doesn't expect any more changes in his staff.

"We're kind of set right now," said Landry. "I don't know if there will be another change. We have enough people in place to move forward. I'm satisfied at this point."

NOLAN LEFT Dallas to become head coach of the San Francisco 49ers from 1968 to 1975 and was the National Conference Coach of the Year in 1970. He also was head coach at New Orleans before returning to Dallas.

Nolan and Landry played for the Giants together during the 1950s. Nolan was a player-coach and Landry was his pupil. "We've made the cycle now," said Landry. "Dick will do a good job for us." Landry said he was happy for Stallings, who had been with the Cowboys since 1972.

Landry has four other former assistants holding down head coaching jobs in the NFL — Mike Ditka, coach of the Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears; John Mackovic of the Kansas City Chiefs; Dan Reeves of the Denver Broncos; and Raymond Berry of the New England Patriots, the American Football Conference champions.

MHS, Lee boys look for own brand of playoff fever

By ERIC SCHURER
Sports Writer

Playoff fever is running rampant among Tall City basketball teams, and tonight, Midland High and Midland Lee can finally assure themselves of some post-season action.

Both the Rebels and Bulldogs, tangled in a three-way tie at the top of the District 4-5A standings with Odessa Permian, can guarantee some kind of playoff game with wins tonight.

MHS travels to Permian while Lee hosts Odessa High, and wins by any of the trio at the top tonight would insure them of at least a tie for second place. On Friday, things get real sticky for the Tall City entrants, as they clash heads for a final time. While Permian, with the weaker Bronchos on tap for Friday, need only one win in the next two games to assure a playoff elimination berth.

With such an obviously critical game ahead on Friday, the Rebels must guard against looking past the basement-dwelling Bronchos, 2-10, 8-19.

"We really can't take OHS lightly, in our first game we were behind at halftime and came back to win by only four. We were lucky to win that game," coach Paul Stueckler said. "I won't take them lightly, but there's no telling what kids think sometimes. They probably don't even remember the score of the first game. They just remember we won."

"I'll talk to them and explain to them the importance of this game. I'll have to remind them of the first game."

THE REBELS will have a decided height advantage in tonight's contest at the Chaparral Center. With 6-5 post Anthony Dickens in the middle, and 6-3 Eddie Riley and 6-2 Greg Johnson on the forward wings, Lee outsize a small, quick OHS squad. The Bronchos start 6-2 Phillip Gold at post, but Gold, a senior, averages just 3.6 points per game. The only other six-footers that coach Keith Thompson has are reserves Roderick Jones, 6-2, and 6-0 Darren Davis.

"They're not very tall, but they're scrappy and quick," Stueckler points out. "Size isn't always the most important thing in rebounding. How quickly you can get off the floor and go get the ball can be more important. OHS is quick like that."

The Bronchos senior guard Paul Chavez, a three-year starter, leads OHS with a 15.0 scoring average, ninth in the district.

"He could be the best guard in the district," Stueckler said. "He can score and he really sets the tempo of the game."

THE PANTHERS, 10-2, 16-10, could pose a problem in both quickness and height for MHS. Permian has won six straight district games, including an impressive decision over Lee, since the Bulldogs embarrassed them 87-65 at Chap Center.

Coach Charles Pattillo has Mojo on a roll, with 6-4 senior Jimmie Davis leading the way. Davis is averaging 14.2 points in district play, but the Panthers have five other players hovering near the 10 point-per-game mark.

For size, Pattillo calls on Davis, 6-2 junior Parker Hager (9.4 per game), 6-2 senior Danny Serrance and 6-1 junior Todd Evans (10.4), now recovered from an appendectomy earlier this year. On the quickness side, there's speedy Curly Alford (11.8) and forwards Greg Anderson (9.2) and Lance Watkins (9.6).

But after a few weeks of struggling, MHS coach Jack Stephenson feels his 'Dogs are playing as well as they have all year after a pair of important district wins. MHS took a 78-77 overtime decision over Abilene Cooper on Friday, and outslugged San Angelo 77-68 last Tuesday.

"OUR KIDS showed a lot of character coming back to win that game in overtime," Stephenson said. "I looked up and saw us down by four with 40 seconds to go and thought it was over."

"We were ahead by 13 in the third quarter, but we let (Cooper) think away at us then we made some mistakes and they caught back up. I was just pleased to get out of there with a win."

The play of post Elvin Mackey was mainly responsible for the Bulldog comeback. Mackey scored MHS' only five points in the extra period, including a three-point play with 0:13 on the clock that put MHS ahead to stay.

Mackey's 23 points was his best production since the third district ballgame, and first 20-plus game in two weeks. He also grabbed 13 rebounds against a strong Cooper team.

"I THINK we just have to play our game. We plan to do the things we do best, we've won 23 games out there on the wood, 20 on paper. Now's the time to get down and repeat the things we've done well all year."

"I sure would like to be playing Lee on Friday for the district championship."

A pair of wins by Tall City teams tonight and Stephenson's wish will come true.

Terry Young to New Mexico

From Staff Reports

Midland Lee defensive back Terry Young verbally committed to New Mexico on Monday, becoming the third Tall City player to commit to a major college this season.

Young, 6-0, 170 pounds, cannot officially sign with the Lobos until wednesday, the first day letters of intent can be secured according to the NCAA.

Other players already committed to major colleges are Toney Rankin, also of Lee, who will attend Texas Tech, and Phillip Speight of Midland High, who has agreed to sign with Houston.

Pokes aide had to jump at Cards' post

By PAUL NOWELL
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS — Gene Stallings, a longtime assistant who thought his time to run a National Football League team might never come, had no trouble deciding when asked to coach the St. Louis Cardinals.

"It's one that I've cherished, the opportunity to head up my own football team, and I want to say a special thanks," Stallings, 50, said Monday. "I've got one thing in mind and that's to help the St. Louis Cardinals have the type of football team that they want to have."

The selection of Stallings, who for the past 14 years has been a Dallas Cowboys assistant to Tom Landry, climaxed an arduous St. Louis search for a successor to Jim Hanifan, who was dismissed Dec. 21.

"It was a long search, and I talked to a lot of very, very fine football coaches," team owner William V. Bidwill said at a news conference. "But you sometimes have to stop and make a judgment. I think I selected the best man available for the Cardinals at this time."

STALLINGS SAID he had been hired to become St. Louis' eighth fulltime head coach since 1960 for four years at terms that were not disclosed.

"I got a call from Mr. Bidwill Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock saying that he was planning on being in Dallas, and it went from there. I'm not really sure how long it took and I'm not really sure what all was said," the new coach said lightly. "I think I've got a pretty good contract, but I was at the point I would have come for less money. He (Bidwill) just didn't know that."

Stallings, a former all-Southwest Conference receiver at Texas A&M under the legendary Paul "Bear" Bryant, captained the Aggies in 1956 and spent the next season as an assistant there.

He left in 1958 to accompany Bryant to Alabama. He returned to Texas A&M in 1965, coaching his alma mater for seven seasons until fired in 1971. He joined Landry's staff with the Cowboys in 1972.

KNOWN AS a strict disciplinarian while tutoring Dallas' defensive backs, Stallings said the image may be overblown.

"Everybody's got good players. I think the secret is getting everybody pulling in the same direction, everybody with the same goals," he said. "You know, football's a tough game. The guys that are successful work the hardest. The players have to be ready to perform."

Stallings said former Cowboys quarterback coach Jim Shofner has agreed verbally to accept a similar post with St. Louis but that no other assistants have been selected.

"I'm not in a real big hurry to go out and get some folks so I can say I've got a staff of coaches. I'm looking for somebody to coach on the field, somebody that can communicate with the players," he said. "I think the coaches are out there, and I'm going to find them. I've got a number in mind."

Stallings also said he believes the Cardinals' personnel is far superior to the 5-11 record the NFL team finished with at the bottom of the National Conference East in 1985.

Former Cowboy assistant Gene Stallings at a news conference in St. Louis announcing him as the Cardinals' new head coach.

"GETTING READY for St. Louis every year, you knew they would move the ball on you (and) they would stop you from moving the ball on them. They played with a lot of spirit," he said. "I know they haven't won any championships. That perhaps comes with thinking right. Winning becomes a habit, (and) losing becomes a habit."

Stallings, who was first interviewed for the Cardinals' job on Dec. 29, emerged from a field of candidates that included Fresno State Coach Jim Sweeney, a former St. Louis assistant, Washington Redskins aides Jerry Rhone and Richie Petitbon and New England Patriots defensive coordinator Rod Rust.

Described by the new coach as his only two regrets in taking the job he had worked so long for were the absence of his wife, Ruth Ann, and their five children at the news conference and the absence of Bryant, his late mentor.

"I'm sorry that Coach Bryant is not here, my first coach," Stallings said. "I know somewhere he's smiling, because he's happy that I'll be associated with this team."

Redmen 'Berry' Hoyas

Associated Press

After hurting his left ankle against Boston College on Saturday, St. John's center Walter Berry came back to play against Georgetown and it was no sweat. Better yet, it was no pain.

"It felt a lot better," Berry said after his 22 points led the seventh-ranked Redmen to a 80-58 college basketball victory over No. 9 Georgetown Monday night. "I was very surprised how well I played with it and how much I moved."

Berry played the full 40 minutes and hit eight of 15 shots from the field. He grabbed all eight of his rebounds in the first half.

"He probably had a sprained ankle and his pride surfaced and then he forgot about it," said Georgetown Coach John Thompson, whose team had an eight-game winning streak snapped.

Berry scored 14 of his game-high point total in the second half to spearhead the Redmen, who had trailed the Big East Conference game by as many as eight points before intermission. The game wasn't decided until the last 45 seconds when St. John's Shelton Jones converted two free throws.

David Wingate scored 18 points to lead the Hoyas, who were beaten by St. John's at the Capital Centre for the fourth straight time.

No. 4 Memphis State 99, Florida State 73

Baskerville Holmes and Dwight Boyd scored 20 points apiece to lead Memphis State over Florida State in a Metro Conference game.

for the Tigers' 7-foot center, William Bedford, who was benched by the NCAA for borrowing Memphis State boosters' luxury automobiles.

No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas 79, California-Santa Barbara 71

Anthony Jones scored 25 points and Armon Gilliam added 23 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as Nevada-Las Vegas topped UC-Santa Barbara in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association game.

The victory was the 15th in a row for the Rebels, who have a 12-0 PCAA record and a 24-2 overall mark. UNLV and Bradley are tied with the longest winning streak currently alive in major college basketball.

The Gauchos, who haven't beaten UNLV in the 14 games between the schools, played the Rebels tougher than expected, never trailing by more than 11 points.

No. 13 Bradley 74, Illinois State 67

Guards Hersey Hawkins and Jim Les combined for 37 points as Bradley beat Illinois State in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The Braves, 24-1 for the season and 12-0 atop the MVC, took control of the game in the second half, as Hawkins scored 14 of his 19 points and Les scored 12 of his 18.

The Redbirds were led by the 19-point performance by sophomore forward Tony Hollifield.

No. 19 Louisville 93, No. 20 Virginia Tech 83

Billy Thompson, Jeff Hall and Milt

Wagner teamed for 63 points, including 33 of 40 shooting from the free throw line, as Louisville downed Virginia Tech.

Louisville, leading 42-40 at intermission, put together a 14-4 run at the start of the second half to take control 56-44 with 16:19 remaining. Thompson had five points, Wagner three and Pervis Ellison three during that surge.

The Cardinals built their advantage to as much as 68-51 with 11:42 remaining en route to their second victory in five days over Virginia Tech.

Others

Senior captain Otis Smith scored 26 points to lead Jacksonville over Western Kentucky in their Sun Belt Conference game.

In other action, Rick Suder scored 29 points and Dwayne Rawls and Ron Stevenson each had 18 as Duquesne held on for an 87-76 victory over St. Bonaventure; Walt McBride and Eddie Johnson scored key points in overtime to lead Xavier of Ohio past Loyola 91-88 to remain a game behind Detroit, a 72-48 winner over Butler, in their conference race, and Ed Coe scored 21 points and Nate Blackwell added 14 as Temple handed Rutgers its seventh straight loss with a 71-53 decision over the Scarlet Knights.

Also, Randolph Keys scored 20 points and Casey Fischer added 19 to lead Southern Mississippi to an 89-82 win over South Carolina; Shawn Reid scored 19 points, including a free throw with 18 seconds remaining in overtime, to lead Furman to a 72-70 victory over VMI; John Newman scored 23 points and John Davis added 13 more and 13 rebounds to power Richmond to a 70-59 victory over North Carolina-Wilmington.

Gary Graham of Nevada-Las Vegas goes in for a lay up as Conner Henry of Cal-Santa Barbara defends. The No. 6 Rebels escaped with a 79-71 victory.

Richardson AWOL again

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey guard Micheal Ray Richardson, just three weeks since his release from a drug rehabilitation center, has Nets officials worried again after missing practice and a doctor's appointment.

"Obviously, this is not good," said Lewis Schaffel, chief of operations for the NBA team. "With his past history, it's definitely not good."

Richardson, 30, called Nets trainer Fritz Massman on Monday and said he did not feel well and would go to a doctor.

"But he never showed at the doctor's," said Nets Coach Dave Wohl. "If he doesn't show up (today) for the shootaround, everything is spelled out rather clearly. He will have to take a (drug) test. If he has the flu, he will pass the test."

Schaffel said Richardson would be tested for drug use as soon as he returns to the team. He said Richardson had been suffering from the flu for several days last week.

If Richardson should fail the drug test he would face banishment, as a third-time offender, from the NBA with a two-year wait for appeal.

Richardson went through a drug rehabilitation in 1983. He was suspended by the Nets last Dec. 31 after missing two games following his disappearance after a team Christmas party on Dec. 27.

Richardson's latest drug rehabilitation, in the eyes of the league, was his second episode of drug abuse. He had had other problems with drugs, but they occurred before the league's drug policy went into effect and thus were not counted as offenses.

Under league rules, a third drug offense mandates at least a two-year suspension and the possibility of a lifetime ban.

ARLINGTON — Outfielder Gary Ward was left as the Texas Rangers' only potential arbitration case after pitcher Greg Harris agreed to a one-year contract.

Sources said Harris, who had filed for $354,000, accepted a $310,000 offer from the American League team, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported. Texas had filed an arbitration figure of $277,500.

Harris, 5-4 with a 2.47 earned run average last season, had been scheduled to face the Rangers across an arbitration table in Los Angeles Wednesday.

HOUSTON — Relief pitcher

Aurelio Lopez, who helped the Detroit Tigers to the World Series championship in 1984, has been invited to the Houston Astros training camp as a non-roster player, the club announced Monday.

Lopez, 37, whose fastball earned him the nickname of Senior Smoke, compiled a 10-1 record with 14 saves and a 2.94 earned run average, struck out 94 batters and walked only 52 in 137.2 innings in 1984.

Lopez was not offered a Tigers contract following the 1985 season, which he finished with a 3-7 record and five saves.

AUTO RACING DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Bill Elliott picked up where he left off last year, running off to the pole position for the Daytona 500 with a fast lap of 205.039 mph.

His Ford Thunderbird will share the front row with the Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS of Geoff Bodine, who was just behind at 204.545, a separation on the clock of just .11 of a second.

TENNIS

BOCA RATON, Fla. — West Germany's Boris Becker and Steffi Graf weren't sharp but were good enough to win their opening-round matches in the $18 Lipton International Players Championships tennis tournament.

Becker, seeded fourth, won a hard-hitting battle with Tom Nijssen of the Netherlands 6-3, 7-5. The 16-year-old Graf, seeded second in the 128-player women's singles, found her lost stroke early in the second set and rebounded to score a 1-6, 7-5, 6-1 victory over Melissa Gurney.

Scott Davis, a surprise finalist in this two-week tournament last year, and Andrea Jaeger, once ranked third in the world, were opening-day losers. Wolfgang Popp of West Germany ousted Davis 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, while Jaeger fell to Ann Hendrickson 6-7, 6-2, 6-2.

BOXING

ATLANTA — The Georgia Boxing Commission postponed a scheduled hearing into reports that Tim Witherspoon may have used drugs before his World Boxing Association heavyweight championship victory over Tony Tubbs last month.

The panel was to decide whether to fine or suspend Witherspoon. Promoter Don King announced last week that post-fight tests showed traces of marijuana in the fighter's system.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — The University of Tennessee will investigate whether college rules were violated after a Volunteer booster's credit card was found in former quarterback Tony Robinson's car, a school spokesman said today.

University officials planned to tell the National Collegiate Athletics Association of the probe and later will turn over their findings to both the NCAA and the Southeastern Conference, said Haywood Harris, sports information director.

Sheehan keeps Sarasota title

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer

SARASOTA, Fla. — You don't win a golf tournament one year and then lead it for three rounds the next without developing a feeling it's yours to win again.

Patty Sheehan had that feeling when the final round of the $200,000 Sarasota Classic began Monday. She reaffirmed it during a mid-round pep talk with herself and went on to complete a wire-to-wire victory in the LPGA event.

"I had to tell myself, 'this is my tournament. Don't give it away. Make them beat you,'" said Sheehan, who bogeyed the fourth and sixth holes to lose the two-stroke lead she held when the day began.

She appealed to herself after the sixth hole, but the message didn't hit home until Juli Inkster dropped a 3-foot putt to take a one-stroke lead on No. 9.

"I was looking at 1-shot down and not playing well at all," Sheehan said. "I said, 'I've got to do something to get this thing turned around.'"

What she did was birdie holes 10 through 12, while Inkster began to slip. Once she regained command, Sheehan cruised to a 71 and won the tournament by three strokes over Inkster, who shot a 72, and Pat Bradley, who climbed into contention with a 69.

"I got an enormous surge of energy on my tee shot on No. 10," said Sheehan, who earned $30,000 for her 15th career triumph to boost her lifetime earnings to $1,134,736. "It's the feeling I get when I'm going to play well."

THE WINNER finished with a 72-hole total of 9-under-par 279. Inkster and Bradley closed at 6-under 282, followed by Stephanie Farwig at 283 and Beth Daniel, Becky Pearson and Lori Garbacz, all at 284.

Patty Sheehan uses body english to sink a putt.

Inkster, a college teammate of Sheehan at San Jose State, had three birdies and three bogeys. It was a disappointment, coming on the heels of a sizzling 64 in the third round that featured nine birdies and only one bogey.

"I put pressure on Patty, but she responded very well," said Inkster, who bogeyed three of the last six holes Monday. "She played a great round. When I took the lead by one, I think that was all it took to get her going."

Bradley started the day five shots behind Sheehan. She birdied two of the first three holes and found herself challenging for the lead after sinking birdie putts of 5 and 1 foot on No. 13 and No. 14, respectively.

The top 10 finish was the third for Bradley in as many tournaments this season.

NC tightens grip; 'Pack joins rankings

Associated Press

NEW YORK — North Carolina unanimously remains the No. 1 team in college basketball today, while neighbor North Carolina State has climbed back into The Associated Press' Top Twenty for the first time since the second week of the season.

The top-ranked Tar Heels have been first in every poll since the season began. They were unanimous choices twice before losing to Virginia but still remained No. 1 last week.

All 63 sports writers and broadcasters voting in this week's poll tabbed 24-1 North Carolina as the top team. The Tar Heels collected 1,260 points in the balloting, far ahead of the 1,186 for runner-up Duke. The Blue Devils, 22-2, second in the poll for the second time this season, moving up two spots this week.

North Carolina State, meanwhile, jumped back into the ratings thanks to an upset of Louisville last week. The Wolfpack is 17-6 overall.

"I TOLD the kids at the beginning of the season that being in the Top 20 doesn't mean anything then," Coach Jim Valvano said of the preseason poll, which placed N.C. State 17th. "But at the end of the season to be playing Top 20 basketball has got to make you feel good."

"I think we have an outstanding basketball team at this point. But it is the quality of the opposition that we face that most concerns me."

The Wolfpack still must face all of the top teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, plus eighth-ranked Oklahoma.

"The kids have rallied from a low point in the season at Tallahassee (a loss to Florida State which dropped the Wolfpack to 3-3) to get where we are," said Valvano. "That means we have gone 14-3 since being 3-3 and to beat the teams we have along the way, I couldn't be happier."

There was considerable movement throughout the Top Twenty, thanks greatly to a slew of upsets last weekend.

Kansas, 22-3, moved from sixth to third, while 22-3 Memphis State dropped one spot to fourth and Georgia Tech fell from second to fifth. Memphis St. lost to Nevada-Las Vegas on Saturday, while Tech was beaten by Duke.

UNLV, 23-2, used its one-point win over Memphis State to surge from ninth to sixth. St. John's is seventh, up three spots, followed by Oklahoma, which dropped three places. No. 9 Georgetown and 10th-ranked Michigan.

The Second Ten also has Kentucky, Syracuse, Bradley, Notre Dame, Texas-El Paso, Indiana, Alabama, Louisville and Virginia Tech.

Western Kentucky was the only team to fall out of the rankings.

Diamond's old-timers to make a season of it

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's great players of yesteryear will be on display in every major-league ballpark this season thanks to a barnstorming series of old-timers' games.

In recent years, the old-timers have played a game in Washington each July under the sponsorship of Cracker Jack. Commissioner Peter Ueberroth announced Monday the new series of three- to five-inning games sponsored by the Equitable Life Assurance Co.

The series will begin in Boston May 17 and continue through Sept. 20, when the final contest is scheduled for Cincinnati. There will be games almost every weekend and two games in two cities on some.

The centerpiece of the 1986 series will be an old-timers' all-star game to be played in the Houston Astrodome on July 13, two days before the 57th major-league All-Star Game.

All the old-timers' game will precede regularly scheduled major-league contests and the format will generally field a team of old-timers from the host team against a mixed team of opponents.

HALL OF Fame pitcher Warren Spahn, one of a group of former players at the announcement, said he hopes the series keeps him and the others from being forgotten.

"It makes me current," said Hall of Fame pitcher Warren Spahn, one of eight players attending Monday's news conference. "Those things I did in my baseball career were yesterday. I want to be productive today, so I'm delighted to be part of it."

Major-league teams which have sponsored their own old-timers' games will continue and Equitable will contribute money to a fund to support old-time players not covered by the pension. Equitable currently provides baseball's insurance coverage and manages $44 million in baseball's pension assets.

"BESIDES PROVIDING a great series of spectacles for the fans, the arrangement with Equitable will provide much-needed benefits to those old-timers who solidified the foundation of our game and made it what it is today," Ueberroth said.

Besides Spahn, others attending the news conference included Whitey Ford, Bob Gibson and Jim Kaat, the Torre brothers — Joe and Frank; Bob Allison and Brooks Robinson.

Olson, Bubka to meet Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — Sergey Bubka of the Soviet Union, world outdoor record holder in the pole vault, will enter Friday night's Wanamaker Millrose Games against Billy Olson and Joe Dial, the two men with whom he has taken turns breaking the indoor mark this winter.

The three pole vaulters have set new world indoor bests seven times this season. Olson has been the leader, breaking the mark four times, raising it to 19 feet, 5 1/2 inches last Saturday night.

"I'm excited that he's going to be there," Olson. "It's a lot better for me than trying to wait for the TAC (national championship) meet. I'm getting tired. I've been jumping a lot this season."

"He's probably capable of jumping higher," Olson said of Bubka's most recent indoor performance, 19-5, Saturday at Moscow, hours before Olson sailed 19-5 1/2.

"But so am I."

Stocks post third record as interest rates, oil prices fall

Associated Press

Falling oil prices and declining interest rates have given the stock market its third straight record advance, but hurt the value of the dollar.

Wall Street's momentum continued Monday as the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which first pierced the 1,600 level last week, climbed 12.96 points in active trading to close at 1,626.38, an unprecedented level for the stock market's best-known indicator.

Analysts said the first drop in open-market oil prices since last Tuesday renewed hopes for non-inflationary economic growth, sending interest rates falling and stock prices rising.

Oil prices fell sharply on the New York Mercantile Exchange, erasing early gains. West Texas Intermediate crude, the benchmark domestic blend, hit $18.68 before plunging to close at $16.78 a barrel in contracts for March delivery, down 90 cents from Friday's close but up from the seven-year low of $15.44 set last Tuesday.

The oil market has been sharply depressed by a price war between the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and non-OPEC producers, notably Britain, Norway and Mexico.

In currency markets, the dollar retreated, falling to a seven-year low against the Japanese yen. Traders linked the yen's strength to the decline in the prices for oil, one of Japan's major imports.

The dollar is down more than 52 yen since last September, when finance ministers of the United States, Japan, Britain, France and West Germany agreed to cooperate to drive it down in a strategy to reduce the U.S. trade deficit. Lower-valued dollars would make U.S. goods more competitive.

The Federal Reserve Board said its measure of the dollar against the currencies of 10 leading industrial countries, weighted for trade, fell more than 1 percent Monday and was at its lowest level since March 1983.

In Washington, the Agriculture Department said the record 1985 corn harvest was approximately 8.87 billion bushels, even bigger than estimated earlier. The previous high was 8.24 billion bushels in 1982. Ample harvests have held down farm prices, aggravating the nation's farm debt problems.

In other news Monday, an investor group headed by First Boston Corp. raised its bid for Conrail to $1.8 billion from $1.65 billion, putting new pressure on Congress to reject a Reagan administration plan to sell the federally owned freight railroad to Norfolk Southern Corp. for $1.2 billion.

Houston bankruptcies up 33 percent

HOUSTON (AP) — The number of Houston businesses that declared bankruptcy rose 33 percent in 1985 and the figure will continue to rise if oil prices stay down, according to the accounting firm of Price Waterhouse.

Last year, 1,386 businesses sought the protection of bankruptcy courts, compared with 1,043 such actions the previous year, according to a study the company released Monday.

The businesses filing for bankruptcy listed debts of $2.08 billion, compared to assets of $1.75 billion.

"For Houston, no other factor is more important than oil prices," the report said. "If oil prices remain below $20, Houston bankruptcies in all sectors are likely to escalate."

In 1982, the first year after the oil boom began losing steam, 542 bankruptcy filings were recorded. That number rose to 951 in 1983.

In the most recent year, quarterly filings peaked with 404 actions in both the second and third quarters. In the October-December period, the study showed a decline to 353.

Retail businesses would continue to be the riskiest in Houston, with more bankruptcies in retailing "due to overexpansion of stores in recent years," Price Waterhouse predicted.

"Houston will also see a withdrawal of some retail firms from the local market," the report said. "Overall sales will be up about 8 percent but profits will continue to be squeezed."

In 1985, 420 retailers filed for bankruptcy, a 132 percent increase from the previous year and 30 percent of the overall 1985 total. Of those, Price Waterhouse said 93 percent of the failures involved businesses with assets of less than $1 million.

The largest company to seek court protection was Sakowitz Department Stores, which has assets of $73.6 million, the report said.

In the energy industry, oil and gas bankruptcies fell from 85 in 1984 to 82 in 1985.

Halliburton reports $339 million loss

DALLAS (AP) — The settlement of the South Texas Nuclear Project Plant suit and a writedown on marine construction equipment combined to give Halliburton Co. its first loss in its 66-year history, company officials reported.

Halliburton, which provides diversified oilfield and engineering services, posted on Monday a sharp decline in fourth-quarter earnings and a $339.3 million loss for all of 1985.

The annual loss was attributed to two previously-disclosed charges amounting to $563 million, without which the company would have had a profit of $223.7 million for the year.

In the fourth quarter, the Dallas-based company posted a profit of $16.8 million, or 62 cents a share, down 75 percent from earnings of $66.5 million, or 62 cents a share, a year ago. Revenue fell 13 percent to $1.2 billion from $1.39 billion.

For the year, the company reported a non-recurring charge of $195 million disclosed earlier for a writedown of marine construction equipment and related investments.

Midlander finalist for top car dealer award

From Staff Reports

Bill J. Rogers, chairman of Rogers Ford Sales, Inc., was recently honored as a 1986 TIME Magazine Quality Dealer Award (TMQDA) finalist.

Rogers, whose dealership is located at 4200 Highway 80 West in Midland, is one of only 21 dealers in the entire nation selected as a finalist in the TMQDA Program. Forty six other dealers received TMQDA recognition.

"I was pleasantly surprised to be nominated for the award, and even more pleased to have been selected as one of the finalists," Rogers said.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime nomination, it's not something you get a chance at every year. At this stage in my career as an automobile dealer, it is the icing on the cake," he added.

The TMQDA Program is sponsored by TIME in cooperation with the NADA. Each year it honors outstanding new car dealers in America for "exceptional performance in their dealerships combined with distinguished community service."

He began his automotive career in 1948 as a sales manager for a Chevrolet dealer in Tyler. He purchased his first new car dealership in 1962 and sold it two years later to found his current dealership.

Involved in automotive industry affairs, Rogers was nominated for the TIME award by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, of which he is a past president, past vice president and past director. He is a member of NADA, a past president of the Ford Dealer Advertising Board, and a past president, past vice president and past treasurer of the Midland New Car and Truck Dealers Association. He was appointed by the governor to the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission, where he served as commissioner from 1979 through 1984. He has also participated in numerous dealer councils.

Rogers has led his dealership to many honors. He is a fourteen time winner of the Ford Motor Co. Distinguished Dealer Achievement Award, an eight time winner of the Ford Motor Co. Distinguished Service Citation, and has won the Ford Motor Co. Vice President's Award twice. He has also won numerous district sales awards.

Panel to study whether Midland violated sewer discharge permits

By RAMONA NYE
Staff Writer

It will be three to four weeks before the City of Midland finds out if it will be fined for violating state sewage discharge permits, said a spokesman for the Texas Water Commission.

On Friday the commission's Odessa office made an enforcement request to the state office, said Max Woodfin, environmental coordinator with the water agency. Woodfin declined to explain what the enforcement request on the airport plant involved.

The commission's water quality division will spend the next three to four weeks checking all documentation relating to the city's four-month violations at its Midland Regional Airport sewage plant, Woodfin said. The city's main sewage treatment plant is on Interstate 20. The city could be fined up to $10,000 per day if they are found to have "significantly" violated a state discharge water permit.

From September to December, equipment break-down at the plant has prevented discharge water from meeting up to state permit standards, said John Lowe, utilities director. The airport plant dumps about 100 gallons of treated sewage water per minute into an unnamed tributary of Monahans Draw.

The discharged water is not meeting up to permit standard because it is mainly organically loaded, said Bill Lockett, district manager with the water commission. Organically loaded water is oxygen poor and harms aquatic life, he said.

Drainage channel will be dug to help stop flooding

From Staff Reports

A $2-million drainage channel to eliminate flooding in a recessed triangular area in southeast Midland is to be dug sometime this year.

The flooding occurs in the vicinity of the Garden City Highway (U.S. Highway 158) and Farm Road 715 and their junction with Interstate Highway 20.

The channel is to drain into Midland Draw.

Bill Lancaster, district engineer for the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, noted that the Texas Highway Commission authorized the department to enter into an agreement with the city of Midland and Midland County to construct the channel.

"There's a lot of dirt to be moved," said Lancaster.

Midland County Commissioner C. Wallace "Wally" Craig noted that the channel would be built whether or not the Garden City Highway is re-constructed and widened.

"It's a critical project," Craig said of the highway project.

Lancaster said there is a proposal to reconstruct and widen the highway for a four-mile segment running southeasterly from the highway's junction with Interstate Highway 20.

"We're having lots of accidents (on the Garden City Highway)," Lancaster said.

Court allows Brown's name on ballot

HOUSTON (AP) — A state appellate court has paved the way for the name of state Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown to appear as a candidate for Texas attorney general on the Republican primary ballot.

"Now we can get back to the business of putting our minds to the campaign issues that are important to the people of Texas," Brown said Monday after the 1st Court of Civil Appeals ruled.

"I'd rather be on the campaign trail than in the courtroom," said Brown, of Lake Jackson. "There aren't many voters in the courtroom."

With Brown in the running, four Republicans are seeking incumbent Attorney General Jim Mattox's post. The other GOP contenders are State District Roy Barrera Jr. of San Antonio, former Williamson County District Attorney Ed Walsh and State District Judge John Roach of McKinney.

Brown asked the Texas Supreme Court to order state Republican Party George Strake to name the senator as an attorney general candidate in the May GOP primary. But the court on Feb. 3 refused to consider Brown's request.

The senator then took his case to the Houston court.

"I'm excited about the order. I'm glad to have it over with so that we now will get on the ballot and continue our campaign for attorney general," said Brown, 44, a state senator since 1981.

Brown's eligibility came under question because of a provision in the state Constitution that says a legislator is ineligible, during the term for which he was elected, for "any civil office...which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which may have been increased, during such term."

Last year, the Legislature raised the salary of the attorney general from $70,400 to $71,100, an increase of less than 1 percent.

But the Legislature also included a special provision in the bill that said if a lawmaker is elected to another office, such as attorney general, the salary of that office would be rolled back to what it had been before the bill was passed.

Brown argued he should be allowed to seek the attorney's general's post in November because the increase was less than 1 percent and the provision stated he wouldn't get the increase even if he was elected.

Mail-order mates: Building person of your dreams

It was a slip of the tongue, but on second thought it sounded like a good idea. In fact, best idea of the century.

"Did you all read where they put the first human heart in an artificial man?" said the reporter, scanning the pages of the newspaper. It drew the immediate attention of nearby female reporters. "What town? What hospital and what's the phone number?"

Artificial man? At first it was funny, but then it sounded downright sensible.

Gone would be the days of wondering if Joe Schmoe really liked you because he had called once on the phone and you kept bumping into him. Or, if you didn't like him there wouldn't be the problem of trying to dump him...nicely. No longer would there be the pang of going from the strong heartbeat of thinking Joe Schmoe was Joe Cool and then the heartbreak of discovering he really was Joe Schmuck.

No more sitting at home on Saturday night and throwing up over "Love Boat." Or going to bed at 10 p.m. (with the dog curled up at your feet) because there's nothing else to do and even the book "Texas" has gotten a bit boring. Or spending the evening with someone who is about as exciting as Herb, the hamburger chain's clod.

Made-to-order mates. (I will give men the equal opportunity to design women of their dreams.) It would solve one of society's biggest problems and certainly would put the people in the office in a better mood in the mornings.

Modern science has created artificial hearts, artificial legs and arms, and artificial other things that can't be mentioned here. "If they can send a man to the moon, why can't they send one to my apartment?" questioned another reporter.

With today's state-of-the-art technology, surely there should be a way to get a "mail-order man" or "woman" to fit anyone's needs. This person could be ordered tall or short, heavy or light weight, with other characteristics such as color of hair, eyes and skin to be selected. Programmed in could be the personality (charming, like mine), intelligence (very high, of course), sense of humor (mine would have a double dip), and physical skills (tennis anyone?). I could see a huge warehouse where customers would wander down the aisles and order the parts for their mates.

Once the artificial mate is delivered, there would be a 30-day trial period with a money-back guarantee. And if for some reason he didn't work out, he could be returned and disassembled (no feelings hurt). Or, malfunctioning parts could be replaced.

The imagination went wild over what this mate could do. Cook, clean the house, make tons of money, carry on an intriguing conversation, leave me alone when I'm in a foul mood, wash and polish my car, change its oil, clean the carpets, cultivate grass and flowers in my back yard and do the grocery shopping.

But my bubble was soon burst. The same reporter who piqued the interest of female reporters over the artificial man looked at the story again. "Oops. It says they put an artificial heart in a man."

Lana Cunningham is assistant city editor of the Reporter-Telegram.

Counties want construction halted on pipeline until TRC issues permit

By GARY RASP
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Travis and Hays counties Monday asked state district court to stop construction on Good-year Tire & Rubber Co.'s All-American Pipeline until the Texas Railroad Commission issues an operating permit.

This is not the first time the two Central Texas counties have banded together against the pipeline. They believe the pipeline could irreparably harm the environmentally sensitive Edwards Aquifer.

All-American has continued with construction of the pipeline even though it has no operating permit.

The two counties and other opponents convinced another district judge last month to order the commission to develop anti-pollution rules to protect the aquifer. The commission will not rule on All-American's permit request until it issues the rules.

"After that hearing, the company maintained that they would still continue construction on their pipeline with or without an operating permit," said Travis County Assistant Attorney Jim Collins. "We don't believe that the company should be allowed to do that."

The two counties also question the quality of pipe Goodyear is using on the project and are asking the court to order an inspection of pipe already laid.

"Travis and Hays counties have reason to believe...that some or all of the metal pipe intended for use in the pipeline is defective and unfit for safely transporting heavy crude oil without failure or leakage," the petition states.

Company representatives have maintained they will take extra precautions to prevent damage to the aquifer.

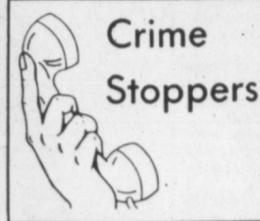

Crime Stoppers seeks information on murder

This week Crime Stoppers is seeking information concerning the murder of Ricky Hinojosa.

On the night of April 19, 1981 (Easter Sunday), about 9 p.m., Ricky Hinojosa was shot three times while at the old Foodway parking lot located at 800 W. Clements in Odessa. He was taken to Medical Center Hospital where he was later pronounced dead.

Witnesses saw a brownish-gold car, possibly a Nova, drive out of the parking lot with its lights off a short time after the shots were fired. According to witnesses, the vehicle may have been occupied by a male and a female.

If you have any information on this murder it could be worth $1,000 cash, this week only, if it leads to the arrest and felony indictment of the person or persons responsible. Crime Stoppers will pay cash rewards for other felony crimes. Crime Stoppers can be contacted in Midland at 694-TIPS or in Odessa at 333-TIPS. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Conflict causes MacNeil-Lehrer to cancel federal court coverage

From Staff Reports

A television crew from the MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour of New York canceled its planned coverage of bankruptcy court hearings today in federal court in Midland.

The cancellation was due to a "conflict," according to the District Clerk's Office. The crew was to be taping in Abilene.

U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton last week had permitted the recording of the session by waiving a court rule which prohibits the televising and recording of court proceedings.

The MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour is aired in Midland at 10 p.m. weekdays through the Dallas-based KERA-TV, Channel 13, a Public Broadcasting Service Network station.

(The film and interviews are to be used as part of a broadcast on the effects of the price of oil and the economy of Midland-Odessa area residents," noted the judge's order.

Bunton had ordered that MacNeil-Lehrer "may film the proceedings at the First Meeting of Creditors with the stipulation that no persons) may be filmed without prior permission." The proceedings may be recorded "only upon consent" of the parties involved in the courtroom proceedings.

Larry Bick, deputy U.S. District

Clerk in charge of the Midland-Odessa Division of federal court, is the presiding officer of the First Meeting of Creditors. Bunton had ordered that the presiding officer would "maintain the integrity of this Order and shall inform all parties present of the intent and purpose of the production company of MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour."

MCH, organ bank to give lecture on organ donation

From Staff Reports

Medical Center Hospital and Southwest Organ Bank of Dallas will present a lecture, "Organ Donation, a Crucial Choice," Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in MCH's auditorium. The one-hour lecture will inform the public on organ donation as a viable choice for many people.

Topics to be discussed include who may donate organs, how to donate organs, the legal aspects of donating and the families' role in donation. Representatives from MCH and Southwest will speak.

WATER

Difficulty in finding replacement parts for the 45-year-old plant has been partially to blame for the four consecutive violations, Lowe said.

Sprockets for the intermediate clarifier tank still have not been shipped but should be received today, said airport plant superintendent, Dalton Winkler. The sprockets help run a sludge rake that removes solids from the water. However, most of the solids have been settling in the tank and have been drawn out, Winkler said.

Once the sprockets are received, it will take about 10 days before the plant becomes fully operational, Lowe said.

After the water commission has issued a fine or corrective action, the city has 20 days to request a hearing, Woodfin said.

According to Southwest, transplants of organs is limited by the availability of suitable organ donors. It is estimated that of the 70,000 annual deaths from primary renal disease, kidney transplantation may be suitable in 16,000 people.

Nearly 100 people are in line for new hearts and another 150 or so are awaiting livers. Organs for transplants come from fewer than one-fifth of the estimated 20,000 potential donors who die in hospitals in this country each year.

Gramm thinks law will succeed despite ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm says he is confident the Gramm-Rudman law will succeed despite a federal court ruling that threw out part of the budget balancing measure.

"Legal counsel for the Senate feels optimistic that we can reverse this decision in the Supreme Court," Gramm said Monday in a speech to the Houston Club. "Whether we can or can't, I believe we can make this work."

A three-judge panel ruled last week that the law violated the constitutional principle that the three branches of government each have separate duties and powers. The law is named for Gramm, a Texas Republican, and Warren Rudman, R-N.H.

The federal panel objected to the automatic cuts certified by the U.S. comptroller general.

But Gramm said when the bill was written, he knew the dispute existed.

"The question has now raged for 60 years whether the comptroller works for congress or the president," he said. "It's been in the courts for years and years. I argue that he's appointed by the president and affirmed by Congress. He's part of the executive branch."

But Gramm said a backup mechanism in the law requires the Congressional Budget Office and the White House Office of Management and Budget to report deficit figures to the president, Congress and the American people. Congress must vote on the deficit number and president must sign a resolution, triggering cuts, he said.

"It was my feeling then and now that we can make the secondary number work," he said.

Gramm said he accepted the fact that dealing with the deficit was unpopular.

"I don't suffer from any delusions," he said. "I know we're looking at very difficult weeks and months and maybe years. I expect in the interim many of the tough decisions will be unpopular, but I'm convinced they are right and they will work."

He contended the way to put the cuts into effect was "either you press from the top down and squeeze the whole government, or you've got to reorder priorities. My view is you ought to reorder priorities."

Gramm said he favored pay increases for some government employees while terminating other federal workers "and have a smaller, high-quality, highly paid civil service."

He also said he was confident federal retirees would receive full cost-of-living pay raises this year, along with pay raises for other government civilian and military workers.

"But to do that, we have to eliminate about 20 programs, ranging from Amtrak to legal services," he said.

Sen. Phil Gramm

Quake task force optimistic funds will be raised

AUSTIN (AP) — A member of a volunteer task force seeking $5 million for Mexican earthquake relief says that amount of money "sounds like a big hill" but should not be too difficult to raise.

The money would be spent to build a hospital-clinic and school, and the task force plans to send Texas schoolchildren to a groundbreaking for the school in Mexico City to dramatize its efforts.

The Texas Response-Citizens for Mexican Relief has already received donations of an estimated $5 million in cash, goods and services, according to the task force.

It was reported Monday that $424,365 has been donated in the attempt to raise an additional $5 million, and the school groundbreaking in March was presented as an opportunity to highlight the campaign.

Tom Walker, a special assistant to Gov. Mark White, who organized the task force, said "$5 million sounds like a big hill but it won't be that hard once we see the response folks have for the whole idea."

Former congressman Bob Krueger, co-chairman of the task force, said Texas already has given more money to the Mexican earthquake relief effort than any other state.

He pledged that Texas would provide "concrete and visible symbols" of friendship between the two countries.

Walker said, "All of this is somewhat tentative, pending the (official) response of the secretary of education in Mexico City, which I expect we will have this week."

He said in the 4 1/2 months since the earthquake "the profile has gone down." Krueger added that he felt the groundbreaking would be important in "reviving the consciousness of the people of Texas."

According to the task force, earthquakes on Sept. 19-20 killed over 7,000 people and left 150,000 homeless. In Mexico City alone, 1,132 buildings were seriously damaged and over 5,000, or 45 percent, of the city's hospital beds were destroyed. Hundreds of schools were damaged.

"I wished we could have moved faster but the need is still great, and as long as there is a need I think the people of Texas will respond," Krueger said.

Walker, who visited Mexico City in January, said, "I'm impressed with the way Mexico is moving forward with its reconstruction efforts."

STATE IN BRIEF

Suspect said he planned to kidnap mayor's nephew

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A San Antonio man accused of killing a convenience store clerk and burying the body in a prepared grave claims he originally planned to kidnap someone he thought was Mayor Henry Cisneros' nephew, the sheriff said Monday.

Sheriff Harlon Copeland said Jose Angel Moreno, 18, gave authorities a statement saying he had planned to kidnap "Robert Cisneros" and hold him for ransom.

The mayor, however, said he does not have a nephew by that name, Copeland said.

Moreno was in the Bexar County Jail Monday on $500,000 bond on a capital murder charge. He was arrested on a warrant Friday at his home, Copeland said.

Moreno is charged with the Jan. 22 shooting death of John Cruz, 18, whose body was found in a grave that sheriff's deputies had been observing for several days.

Ninth Houston cabbie slain

HOUSTON (AP) — Police were questioning a 25-year-old man in the shooting death of a Yellow Cab Co.

driver, the ninth Houston taxi driver slain since September 1984.

A fellow cab driver found Charles Hunter, 37, shot to death early Monday. He had been shot in the chest and his cab was stolen, police said.

A suspect in the killing was arrested about two hours after the shooting but had not been charged late Monday, police said. A .22-caliber pistol thought to be the murder weapon was found in the suspect's car, said Detective J.L. Waltmon.

Police found Hunter's cab about 3:30 a.m. Monday outside an apartment complex where several of the suspect's relatives live, Waltmon said.

Clerk pleads guilty to theft

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The office manager for the Cameron County Attorney's office pleaded guilty Monday to 15 counts of theft.

Jo Anne Adler, 34, was scheduled to go on trial Monday, but instead pleaded guilty to charges she stole more than $45,000 from the office's hot check fund while she was manager last year.

Attorneys for Ms. Adler turned over a check for $66,000 to the county attorney's office to cover restitution and prosecutors' costs in the case.

Attorneys have asked that her punishment, which could range from five to 99 years or life imprisonment, be assessed by a jury. The case is expected to go before a jury later this week.

Leak forces evacuation

AMARILLO (AP) — Carbon monoxide forced down a chimney at a bank building forced 30 people to seek medical attention and prompted the evacuation of the 10-story structure, officials said.

Amarillo Fire Dispatcher Curtis Dilger said 14 people were taken to a local hospital by ambulance Tuesday and another six went on their own. Ten people were treated by paramedics at the Texas Commerce Bank building.

Maintenance technicians said the leak, which was reported around 11:15 a.m., apparently involved the furnace in the basement and problems with winter storm conditions.

"The way the weather is, wind coming and blowing down the stack and trapping the fumes, it's just one of those things," said technician Lynn Laningham.

The technician said he was in the basement and got "a little woozy," but was not hurt.

Marketing Manager Ilene Duncan (left to right), Kenneth Lahart of the inventory control and service department, and General Partners LaRene Menzel and Bob Provins of B and L Service are proud to offer the durable Digiclean water conditioning system. Call 561-9122 to find out more about this system which is assembled in the Permian Basin.

Have you ever wondered how much difference soft water could make in your home? After extensive research the Water Quality Research Council estimated that conditioned water could save you $50 to $80 per month.

That's one reason that Bob Provins and LaRene Menzel of B and L Service proudly offer the Digiclean system to area residents.

Bob explains that the system has a special history behind it. For years, Bob worked with a water conditioning company which is no longer operating. Friends began to call him and want him to service their water conditioners. Then people with other types of systems wanted Bob to try his hand at servicing them.

LaRene added her water company management experience to the endeavor, and B and L Service started at the kitchen table.

As Bob worked on a wide variety of systems, made by different companies he began to note what parts of which systems lasted the longest. He decided he could make a system that would be exceptionally durable. Today, B and L Service occupies a huge facility on Highway 80 and offers a state-of-the-art, high quality water conditioning system, which is assembled right here in the Permian Basin.

Bob took the best of all the parts from many systems and adapted them to create the incredible DIGICLEAN system. This system is made of durable high density Noryl molded plastics and has no metal parts, brass valves or stainless steel tanks that will corrode over time.

The control valves are state-of-the-art digital valves. The Digiclean system has only three moving parts, while many other have up to 38.

Best of all, this locally-assembled and warranted ionic exchange system, will provide your home with up to 18 gallons of soft, conditioned water each minute (the average household uses seven to eight gallons per minute).

That means you can save incredible amounts on soap and cleaning items, plumbing, appliances and clothing.

Because the system is metered, it will automatically regenerate itself only when necessary. You don't have to remember to punch any buttons to make it regenerate. For your convenience it is set to regenerate itself at 2:00 a.m. (or whenever you select). A 200 gallon reserve is always kept to insure you of having conditioned water when you need it. Right now you can get $50 off this system by clipping the coupon on today's Business/Industry pages.

LaRene recommends combining the Digiclean system with a reverse osmosis system under your sink. This will allow you to have bottle-quality water at your fingertips without the hassle of bottles. Even your icemaker can be supplied with this clean water.

B and L was built on service, and the company continues to offer service that area resident can depend upon.

B and L, an authorized Brunner dealer, offers commercial systems as well as residential systems.

B and L can help you arrange financing or will lease the water systems.

To find out more about B and L's quality water conditioning systems, call 561-9122. Bob and LaRene are committed to educating their customers, but you can rest assured that you won't get a high pressured sales presentation.

B and L is a member of the Texas Water Quality Association and the Midland Chamber of Commerce. The company is also part of the Pledge to Arbitrate program.

Triangle Lumber has installed this Majestic Warm Magic 36-inch fireplace in a new home currently under construction in Cloverdale Estates.

Triangle Lumber and Block: Your fireplace headquarters

During these cold winter months, "staying warm" is in the minds of most people. And one of the best and most energy efficient ways to do so, is to curl up with a good book by a new FIREPLACE.

The place to go to find all your fireplace needs is Triangle Lumber, located on Industrial running parallel to West Highway 80. This locally-owned and operated company has been established here in Midland for the past four years of their 25 year service history.

"We have our own fireplace specialty shop within Triangle Lumber and Block. Our installer is available year round and so are our fireplace products. We carry stove inserts for masonry fireplaces. We also carry masonry fire boxes, fire brick and flue liners and dampers," said Chris Williams, fireplace specialist. "And, our work is guaranteed."

"We handle Majestic Zero Clearance fireplaces and all parts and accessories, including boxes, pipes, caps and doors plus masonry brass doors."

Williams continued that all fireplace merchandise is now available at a 10 percent discount, a good saving for those in need of new equipment. But don't think for a second that this competent staff is only in the fireplace business. Triangle Lumber is a full-service lumber yard, offering a full line of lumber products and roofing materials with knowledgeable contractors available to install wood or composition roof on new or existing construction; moreover, the best quality service at most competitive prices.

Bob Childress, general manager, explained, "All of our lumber products are stored under one roof, to maximize each product's durability."

Childress continued that as a part of their quality service to their customers, Triangle Lumber manufactures their own cement blocks.

Denton Lambert and Chris Williams stand beside the many different sizes, models and accessories by Majestic.

"And on any item we carry, we make it a policy to match or beat any advertised cash and carry special. If we don't have it in stock though, such as some lines of doors and windows, we can order it," Childress said.

"And, a fast, courteous same day delivery service is available on all our products," Childress concluded.

From 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, you'll find everything you need to enhance the structural and/or decorative design of your home or office at Triangle Lumber.

DEAR ABBY

Christmas cheer year-round blessing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A big round of applause for Ed McMahon's suggestion to send the fronts of attractive religious Christmas cards to St. Jude's Ranch for Children, P.O. Box 985, Boulder City, Nev. 89005-0985. It is heartwarming to know that recycling used Christmas cards helps these abused children earn some money.

I have just sent off a package of Christmas cards to St. Jude's, plus a note to Father Herbert A. Ward Jr., enclosing a little donation for his wonderful work (your suggestion, Abby).

Reading Mr. McMahon's letter in your column gives one renewed faith that Christmas isn't just commercial (no pun intended for Mr. McMahon), that people really do care about other people, and that the real meaning of Christmas is love. — AGGIE O'CONNOR IN L.A.

DEAR AGGIE: I just called Father Ward's secretary, Edith, and was informed that the response has been incredible! (They had to get a new computer to handle all the information.)

Volunteers (bless them) go to the post office three times a day to pick up the mail, and they return looking like Santa Claus!
The nicest people in the world read Dear Abby.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for six years and have three beautiful children. My husband is a wonderful man, a hard worker and a caring father. He shares equally in all aspects of child rearing and house care.

The problem is our sex life. With each passing year we seem to grow less intimate. I miss the closeness we once had. At times I feel like we are just good friends, which is not wrong or bad; it's just not enough. The ironic thing is, he taught me how to be more demonstrative, less inhibited and to feel good about sharing my emotions.

This seems to have stopped, and when I broach the subject he says, "Yes, I agree with you, but it has nothing to do with you."
How do I get him to open up to me, or seek some outside advice? — JUST FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: If you belong to a church, inquire about Marriage Encounter. Briefly, it is instruction (over a weekend) for couples who want to revitalize marriages that have lost their intimacy and excitement. I have had superlative feedback from Catholic, Protestant and Jewish couples of all ages who have benefited from Marriage Encounter.

Another suggestion: No woman can get her husband to "open up" unless he really wants to. Don't become a nag. Simply tell him how much you miss the closeness you once shared, and encourage him to get counseling with or without you. I sense that there is a reason for his lagging interest, but he's not ready to talk with you about it.

DEAR ABBY: Re the topless girl who knocked on a door one night: I had a similar experience a few years ago. I heard a knock on my door at 2 a.m. I went to the door, looked through the peephole, and there stood a young man — stark naked! He asked me for something to wear. He said he was a college student, and as a prank some college friends had pushed him out of a car.

I had a chain on my door, so I got a beach towel and handed it to him.

He thanked me and said he'd bring it back. And that was the last I saw of him. — ME, TOO, IN BOSTON

DEAR ME, TOO: I should think you saw enough of him. Poor guy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: The person who isn't interested in politics is like the person who is drowning and isn't interested in water. If you're not registered to vote, call the headquarters of the political party of your choice, and find out when and where to register to be eligible to vote in the next election. To quote Edmund Burke: "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing."

Is your social life in a slump? Lonely? Get Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Parking situation knows no boundaries

By ERMA BOMBECK

I read an amusing little story the other day about the parking problem in Moscow. The situation was described as "catastrophic." It went on to say, "A garage is a dream which is unlikely to come true and even a fenced lot takes at least two years and the signatures of 15 department heads to get. Drivers fight back by writing letters of complaint, slashing tires, scratching swear words on the car and stealing parts."

There are 32 cars for every 1,000 Soviet citizens.

Russians may have invented frustration, but, comrades, Americans invented gridlock! We're the best there is at it.

For every 1,000 Americans, there are 530 cars of some kind on the road.

We even amaze ourselves at how good we are at compounding the traffic problem. It has taken years to perfect.

Let's say we are going to the airport. We get into the family car and drive it to a lot five miles from the airport where we park it and get into a bus that takes us to the terminal.

At our destination, we take another bus that takes us to the car rental lot where we rent a car which we cruise around in looking for a parking place. We return it to the lot after our stay, take a bus to the airport and, upon arriving home, take another bus to our car and drive it home where we park it on the lawn because our garage is filled with fertilizer and leaf sweeper and the kids' cars are parked in the driveway and on the street.

Apartment builders have the "Musical Car" mentality. They build 235 apartment units and give each tenant a spot with a number on it. Hopefully, each tenant lives a monk's existence, is an illegal alien with no friends, no deliveries and no visitors, or has a caller who is willing to risk having his face punched out for taking someone else's "spot."

They don't call Americans genius for nothing. Given all this traffic, we also fight back in our own way.

Shopping centers that cover three football fields are built every 100 miles or so. To insure a parking place, we park our car on the building site before the structure is built.

Don't even think of moving it. Work in a busy downtown area? Every morning, we stop at a different intersection near our office, raise the hood of the car and leave it. Police think we've gone for help.

Motor heating up from circling the block looking for a place to park? Pull into a drive-in bank and inquire about their interest rates while the motor cools down.

The story said there were no plans by Russian officials to build any new lots or garages. If the Americans were there, we'd park in Siberia and walk back.

Formica newest jewelry material

Formica. A paving for lunch counters and kitchen cabinets, right?

Bedecking a kitchen is one thing ... but can you imagine wearing this lightweight laminated material around your neck — as a necklace? Or wearing Formica earrings? Or a brooch or a bracelet?

Step aside, precious jewels, and let this "dramatic, with-it look" in, says Susan Grant Lewin, creative director for Formica Corp., which produces Colorcore, a solid-color surfacing material flirting with art jewelers — and the art collecting public.

Who will buy it and wear it? Simple, according to Lewin. "The same people who collect art. It's like

First lady hopes Gorbachevs check out American supermarket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Reagan says Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and his wife Raisa should get a chance during the upcoming summit to see first-hand how Americans live — and that might include a stop at a supermarket.

Mrs. Reagan says she wants the Soviet leader and his wife to see "how our people live, the openness of it."

"I don't want them to think that we've set things up, pre-arranged things — so you drop into a Safeway store," Mrs. Reagan suggested with a laugh.

That way, "They can see all of the people," she said Monday in an interview with The Associated Press.

The first lady laughed again and nodded her head in agreement when the suggestion was made that she should get a chance to reciprocate and go shopping with Mrs. Gorbachev during the third summit, set for Moscow.

Asked whether she had any plans for the Soviet couple, Mrs. Reagan said, "I'd like them to see all of America and how America lives," emphasizing the word "all."

But it is very important, Mrs. Reagan added, that the Gorbachevs do things that "would be fun and would be interesting to them."

Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Gorbachev first met during the November summit in Geneva, and their reciprocal teas and other encounters were the focus of intense media attention.

The two have exchanged thank-you notes since then, but Mrs. Reagan says she has not had any contact with her Soviet counterpart about the next summit session.

No date has been set for the upcoming summit, which Reagan and Gorbachev agreed would be held in the United States this year.

In Monday's interview, Mrs. Reagan also spoke of the shuttle Challenger disaster, saying the television image of the spacecraft exploding remained etched in her memory.

She compared the incident with other tragedies that have occurred during the past several years and the memorial services she and the president have attended for U.S. military personnel who have lost their lives overseas.

"I think this one seemed harder to shake than the others. I think it was...actually seeing it happen, I think that part added to making it hard to shake," she said.

First Lady Nancy Reagan

Mrs. Reagan praised her husband's effort to console the astronauts' families and his statements to the nation about the tragedy.

"Billy Graham said he (the president) acted as pastor to the country, and I think he did," Mrs. Reagan said. "It brought the country together, in a funny way."

She said that she agreed with her husband's decision to go forward with the space program.

Turning to their plans after leaving the White House, the first lady said her husband intends to write a book, and that she might also.

"He feels, and I agree, that for the sake of history, (you have) to get it all down correctly," she said.

"We're the first ones to be here for eight years for a long time," she said. "There's lots of things that have happened, and that I've seen and that I've done that haven't been printed, that nobody knows. And that would be interesting."
