Sprayberry case verdict expected today

Staff Writer

A verdict was expected to be reached today in the trial of a Midland justice of the peace accused of trying to force his secretary to perform oral sex on him while they were riding in his car.

Charlie Sprayberry, who did not take the stand in his own defense, faces a penalty range of two to 10 years in prison if convicted of attempting to sexually assault Wanda Niblett on April 26, 1984. He also is eligible for probation.

"This defendant harassed her sexually," special prosecutor Andy Shuval told the six-man, six-woman jury during closing arguments this morning in the 142nd Judicial District courtroom. "He made obscene and lewd telephone calls" and gave her a vibrator which he referred to as

"None of that has ever been challenged," he said. "What reason about the events of April 26, 1984? What can she gain?"

"I think I can answer Mr. Shuval's question," defense attorney John W. Smith told the jurors. "She got herself caught in a lie, and so here we

Ms. Niblett, 36, was sentenced to six months probation in 1984 for taking money from the Justice Court, and Smith suggested she started lying about Sprayberry to deflect attention from the theft.

'Some time later, she came across would Wanda Niblett have to lie a lady by the name of Lavon Spray-berry," said Smith, who suggested that Sprayberry's ex-wife Lavon Stephens took Ms. Niblett's accusations to the Sheriff's Office as a result of bitterness over her divorce from the 45-year-old magistrate.

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," Smith said. "Wouldn't it be nice to knock off the judge. Wouldn't it be a feather in the cap of...somebody.

Shuval ridiculed Smith's conspiracy theory, noting that the defense could have called Ms. Stephens as a witness but did not.

According to Ms. Niblett's Tuesday testimony, Sprayberry tried to assault her after taking her to lunch on April 26, 1984. She claimed he drove out into rural Midland County and exposed himself, then tried to force her head into his lap.

When she resisted, he grabbed her hand and forced her to touch him, she said. According to Ms. Niblett, she didn't report the incident at first because she was afraid of losing her

But defense witnesses testified

Wednesday that Ms. Niblett seemed friendly toward Sprayberry after she resigned her job at the Justice Court in August 1984.

"It appeared that she thought quite a bit of him," said Wayne Pinkerton, a Mobil Oil technician with whom Ms. Niblett worked in late 1984. Pinkerton described overhearing a telephone conversation in which Ms. Niblett, who is black, called Sprayberry and said, "This is your chocolate friend."

Judge rules against FDIC; Millions in loans at stake

By ED TODD Staff Writer

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) may stand to lose up to $350 million in uncollected First National Bank (FNB) loans if a judgment by U.S. District Court Judge Lucius D. Bunton holds up in appellate court.

And many of the former FNB debtors whose guaranties are in possession of the FDIC are elated with prospects that they may not have to pay the FDIC on those notes.

In trying to collect on one of many soured loans which came into its possession when the First National Bank (FNB) of Midland failed on Oct. 14, 1983, the FDIC last year sued Austin attorney Daniel N. Matheson and Austin rare-book collector John H. Jenkins to recoup a portion of $1.3 million still outstanding on loans to Trafalgar Drilling Co. of Midland to buy a $1.4-million drilling rig from Weiss Corp. of Odessa.

Trafalgar President Woodrow W. Weir Jr. of Midland had signed FNB notes to secure loans for buying the rig and for working capital. An FNB document signed by FNB Vice President Stephens T. Harper indicated that 10 individuals, including Weir, Jenkins and Matheson, made up the Trafalgar partnership.

The FDIC already has collected about a third of the $1.5-billion which it hopes to recoup.

Truly becomes shuttle director as Challenger probe widens

tronaut Richard H. Truly was named today to direct the battered space shuttle program. He immediately vowed to help find and fix the cause of last month's Challenger disaster so the manned space flight program can resume.

But he conceded, "I don't have the slightest idea" when a shuttle would fly again.

Truly's appointment was announced by acting NASA adminis-trator William Graham, who said the former astronaut's duties would include directing the space agency's own internal probe into the Jan. 28

An executive of the company that makes the space shuttle booster rockets said its managers initially opposed a cold weather liftoff but withdrew their objections the night before Challenger's ill-fated launch, despite the reservations of at least one engineer. Thomas Russell, an executive in Morton Thiokol's Chicago headquarters, said Wednesday that new, last-minute information persuaded top company managers to approve the launch. He declined to reveal exactly what prompted the company to withdraw its original objections.

SOLD! FDIC auction draws buyers, curious crowd

A field of vehicles from Chevettes to Lincolns, hatchbacks to Macks, greeted more than 3,000 persons who showed up to shop and gawk at the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.'s two-day auction that started Wednesday.

Reagan won't be sorry U.S. helped, he tells Grenadians

ST.GEORGES, Grenada (AP) -President Reagan said today he "will never be sorry" that he sent troops to oust the Marxist government of this tiny Caribbean island. Nineteen Americans died in the invasion.

Reagan also said the United States "must help those struggling for free-dom in Nicaragua," but did not indi-cate any intention to intervene militarily in the Central American nation.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Grenadian capital, Reagan recalled being awakened early in the morning of Oct. 23, 1983, and told that six members of the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States, joined by Jamaica and Babrados, had requested U.S. intervention after the overthrow and murder of Grenadian Prime Minister Maurice

"If we do, the Nicaraguan people will be able to free themselves from communist tyranny and win the liberty you now enjoy in Grenada."

Reagan also announced that the United States, under its Caribbean Basin Initiative, plans to triple funds for educational programs for the Caribbean.

Debris field' PROBEcould yield right booster

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) -Salvage experts say they are confident their seabottom search has found most of the wreckage of what could be a primary culprit in the destruction of the space shuttle Challenger — its right booster.

The search also has yielded parts of a 16-ton satellite launcher, but an 11-by-20-inch piece, a hydraulic reservoir, has convinced salvors they've found a "debris field" containing much of the solid-fuel rocket booster.

"I am confident we're going to find all of the right-hand SRB," Air Force Col. Edward A. O'Conner, head of shuttle search and recovery operations, said Wednesday.

The right booster is a prime suspect among investigators who believe that freezing temperatures deteriorated synthetic rubber O-ring seals in a bottom seam, leading to a leak that vented a spurt of flame which ignited the shuttle's external

However, O'Conner said, "at this point, we don't have any identified debris from that area" of the suspected leaky seam.

He and Capt. Charles A. Bartholomew, the Navy's supervisor of salvage, said it would be a laborious process to locate and identify pieces of the booster for recovery, despite the urgency of an investigation by a presidential commission

It could take as long as four to six months to recover all of the right booster, O'Conner said, but the process could be speeded up if the space agency determines it wants only certain parts.

O'Conner said nothing has been identified as the crew cabin and would not say if any human remains or personal effects of any of Challenger's seven crew members had been

A preliminary identification has been made of debris from the left booster at another search area several miles from the site of the right booster. O'Conner said.

The parts of the two boosters were tracked by radar until they hit the launch site. Bartholomew said that area lies just outside of a 10-by-25mile rectangle being searched for other wreckage.

"Every inch of ocean bottom" is being mapped by sonar and robot submersibles operating from five surface ships in those 250 square miles, he said.

Although NASA called the news conference to announce that Truly would replace Jesse Moore as shuttle director, many reporters' questions dealt with the probe into the Challenger accident.

Moore, who will become the new director of the Johnson Space Flight Center in Houston, said he had no knowlege in the hours before the launch that there had been a heated debate about whether cold weather posed a threat to the seals on the shuttle's solid rocket booster engineers. If he had known, Moore said, "I would certainly have asked a lot of questions."

Truly's appointment means that Moore will move to Houston a few months earlier than originally

Truly said he had virtually no firsthand knowlege of what went wrong last month, but suspected there was no single cause of the accident that destroyed Challenger and killed itsseven member crew. He said he expected a chain of events would prove responsible, and said whatever the cause "we will take action ... to correct it."

Truly, a naval rear admiral who had a 14-year career as an astronaut, flew on the second shuttle flight in 1981 and the eighth flight — aboard Challenger — in 1983. "Welcome back, Dick," Graham said in announcing Truly's new duties. Presidential commission chairman William P. Rogers announced the demand for the documents Wednesday

as other panel members said they were alarmed by NASA's handling of certain flight safety issues in the hours before launch — especially the right rocket booster that is a suspected cause of the accident.

One commission member said he found the process that led to the decision to launch the Challenger 'horrifying.'

Speaking on the condition he not be identified, the commission member said there was information that the launch team would normally have that was "not given to them. ... That's the shocker, that they did not have the information you would normally expect them to have."

Rogers said in his statement that three senior NASA officials never were told of strenuous objections raised by some engineers working for Morton Thiokol, the firm that makes the shuttle's twin rocket boosters.

Similarly, one source also said the panel was "surprised" to find out that top space agency officials never knew of unusually low temperature readings of around 7 to 9 degrees Fahrenheit on the surface of the rocket booster.

One Morton Thiokol engineer, Allan J. McDonald, said in interviews that he continued to object to the launch even after his superiors had overruled him and given their

Truly, a Navy fighter pilot during the early 1960s, made his first shuttle flight in November 1981 at the age of 43 and became the first grandfather to fly in space. He trained under the Air Force's old Manned Orbiting Laboratory program, which has since been scrapped.

He was a Mission Control capsule communicator for all three of the Skylab space station missions and for the joint U.S. Soviet manned space flight in 1975.

Moore has been head of NASA's internal investigation into the Jan. 28 Challenger explosion and has been the chief witness before the presidential commission. NASA had said five days before the Challenger tragedy that Moore would serve until May in dual roles as shuttle boss and as the Johnson Center director.

Seven crew members were killed when the Challenger exploded 73 seconds after liftoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Officials have said that the shuttle's problems appear to have started in the area of the right solid rocket booster, which emitted a black puff of smoke in the first second of the flight.

Several experts have expressed concern about the effect that cold weather might have had on the seals that join segments of the solid rockets. The temperature around the pad was 38 degrees at the time of launch.

In his statement Wednesday, Rogers announced that public hearings would resume next Tuesday and Wednesday. His request to have all notes taken during the decision-making process delivered to the commission by the close of business Friday was a strong indication of the direction the probe has taken.

THE FNB GUARANTY said that benefits of the guaranty, were it transferred from the bank to another, would go to the new holder of the debt but only on the condition that "all indebtedness to the Creditor

(FNB) shall first be paid in full."

The clause reads: "This guaranty shall inure to be benefit of the transferee, assignee, or holder of the principal debt; however, all indebtedness to the Creditor shall first be paid in full, before the assignee of any debt guaranteed shall receive any benefit of this contract of guaranty.

In his ruling, Bunton found that Trafalgar's indebtedness to the original holder, FNB, "has not been paid in full.

The FDIC-C in its corporate capacity had paid FDIC-R as receiver of the FNB about $946 million for $1.5 billion in FNB assets, which included the Trafalgar loan.

Payment was about 63 percent of

The FDIC-C paid less than book or face value for the assets which it acquired (including the note and guaranties in question) from the FDIC-R as part of the Purchase and Assumption transaction," Bunton ruled.

Bunton concluded that the guaranty's language that "'all indebtedness ... shall first be paid in full' is a condition precedent to the enforcement of the guaranties....

"THI Y (FDIC-C) WANT to collect $1.5 billion," noted Boldrick.
"This (the FDIC vs. Matheson-Jenkins case) is just the first time which this point was raised. They didn't pay 100 cents on this note.... They (FDIC) admitted that they didn't pay off the (other) notes in full."

Bunton said that the conditions (the defunct FNB) under which FDIC acquired the note "does not alter its obligation to meet the requirements of the guaranties prior to its enforcement thereof.'

Boldrick and Watkins admitted

"stumbling" onto the guaranty's clause which apparently frees Matheson and Jenkins and possibly several hundred others from liabilities. Still outstanding are about 600

FDIC cases linked to similar guaran ty agreements and which represent about $350 million in loans, Boldrick said FDIC attorneys admitted in

"It's an unbelievable amount of money," he said. "The impact of what the FDIC will do will be diminished in this town if the case stands up (on appeal), and I have no reason to believe it won't.

Bunton today said FDIC attorneys told him in court that $350 million in loans were secured from the FNB with guaranties which have the same clause as does the Matheson-Jenkins guaranties. "I don't think that the clause or phrase was in there for the benefit of the people that signed it (the guaranty)." Bunton said. "They (Matheson and Jenkins) found out about it after they got sued.' STANLEY CLARK, FDIC managing liquidator for the Midland Branch Office, declined to comment on the $350 million figure or on its impact on the FDIC were the FDICvs.-Matheson-Jenkins case to be upheld by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La. Clark said that FDIC estimates of the amount of loans affected by the particular guaranty do not agree with the $350 million figure. He declined to say if the FDIC estimate was higher or lower than the $350 figure. However, Clark said he was "certain" that the case would be appealed. FDIC attorneys, including Mitzi Turner of El Paso, opted not to comment. Ms. Turner said she "will not comment. Watkins said he had heard rumors of the $350-million impact, "but I don't know the magnitude of the problem." "I felt very lucky to stumble across it (the loophole)," he said.

"I don't have any doubt that the FDIC, corporation, paid full (fairmarket) value," Watkins said. "They paid as much as the assets were worth." The fair-market value of some of those energy notes was "zero," he said. Boldrick, too, admitted that some of notes were "worthless" despite their face value. After FNB's collapse, Republic-

Bank Dallas secured the right to purchase $200 million in FNB loans from FDIC, assumed the deposit liabilities of FNB, paid FDIC a premium of about $51.1 million, purchased $35 million in FNB tangible assets and open a new bank, RepublicBank First National Midland

Bunton had told the jury that "Even the blind hog finds an acorn" in explaining the discovery of the loophole, Boldrick said.

"It's uncommon, but it's not unique." Boldrick said of the clause, which was not common to all of FNB's guaranties. "And no one else had bothered to protest. ... It's obviously going to have a substantial hit (impact) on FDIC.

BOLDBICK SAID a disbelieving lawver told a client involved in FDIC litigation that he would "drop his drawers and run down the hall" were the FDIC-vs.-Matheson-Jenkins case to have such a possible domino fice worker. Ms. Niblett had testified Tuesday that Sprayberry frequently subjected her to sexual harassment at the office. But Linda Flow, who worked as a secretary for Sprayberry during the same period Ms. Niblett was simi-larly employed, testified Wednesday she was unaware of any tension between the two. Ms. Flow also testified that she had discovered Ms. Niblett's theft of "between $1,600 and $1,700" and reported it. Ms. Niblett had testified that she reported the theft herself to Sprayberry. According to earlier testimony, she made full restitution and was sentenced to six months probation for theft under $750.

Ms. Flow said there was a high rate of turnover among Sprayberry's fe-male clerical employees. Shuval asked if she knew or any women apart from Ms. Niblett who had comlained of sexual harassment by Sprayberry.
"I do," she said, but visiting Judge James H. Clack of Andrews sustained Smith's objection that such testimony was inadmissable as hearsay.

Dallas Smith, who was Midland County Sheriff during 1984, testified he never heard of any reports to his office about the April 26 incident. But Ms. Niblett's sister. Barbara Barnes, had earlier testified that Ms. Niblett told her about it in June 1984. "She said he (Sprayberry) was nasty and sick," Ms. Barnes testified

John Smith had questioned Ms. Niblett at length regarding exactly when she reported the alleged assault to law-enforcement officers. She said she didn't remember, but admitted having told Ms. Stephens about it when the Sprayberrys were going through divorce proceedings.

Ms. Stephens was never called to the stand. Both sides closed unexpectedly about 3 p.m. Wednesday without calling a number of rebuttal witness who had been subpoenaed. After the state rested its case Wednesday afternoon, Smith had moved for a directed verdict of acquittal, but Clack denied the motion. The jurors also had a lesser-included charge of false imprisonment, a Class B misdemeanor, to consider. Midland courthouse officials have excused themselves from the case. Shuval was brought in from Austin to conduct the prosecution, and Clack, of the 109th District Court in Andrews, agreed to replace 238th District Court Judge Vann Culp.

Sprayberry, who took an unpaid leave of absence after being indicted in November, also faces two misdemeanor charges of telephone harassment and three misdemeanor charges of barratry, or improperly soliciting cases for an attorney. Those charges were to be tried later at the county-court level.

Prince tours Shell refinery, San Jacinto Monument

HOUSTON (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles headed for Austin today to help celebrate Texas' Sesquicenten-nial bash after busy days of touring in the state's two largest cities — Dallas and Houston.

Prince Charles was asked to host a ceremony on the Capitol steps that will include a 21-gun salute and a flyover by the Texas Air National Guard. Late this afternoon, the prince is to cut the world's largest birthday cake — 90,000 pounds and measuring 80 feet by 110 feet.

It took about 32 hours to bake the cake, with 20,000 three-pound layers and large enough to feed 300,000, and 24 hours to assemble it. Each slice was priced at $1.50, or $150 for a sheet, with proceeds earmarked for restoration of the Texas Capitol.

Duncan Hines, which is sponsoring the cake, provided 31,026 boxes of yellow cake mix. The concoction required 93,108 eggs, 10,346 cups of vegetable oil, 38,795 cups of water, and 30,000 pounds of icing.

The prince, traveling without Princes Diana and their two sons, on Wednesday toured the Shell Oil Co. refinery in Deer Park, the San Jacinto Monument and a retirement home in Highlands and a retirement. Jacinto Monument and a retirement home in Highlands named after his favorite uncle. Lord Louis

About 300 people, many with cameras and American and British flags, withstood record-breaking temperatures in the upper 80s for several hours, waiting for the prince to arrive at the Mountbatten House, about 30 miles east of Houston.

The prince visited for about 30 minutes with Hazel Reilly, an 82-year-old resident at the home. "He was very nice. I think he was

Earlier Wednesday, Shell President John Bookout took the prince

up an elevator to a 300-foot tower to get an overall view of the refinery and visited an automated control room where the industrial solvent phenol acetone is produced.

The prince met with about a dozen employees in the control room, inquiring about their duties and even asked one if working night shifts ever created problems at home with his wife. "I explained that it didn't cause

After a lunch of tacos with about 25 Shell employees, the prince, next in line for the British throne, boarded the motor vessel "Sam Houston," going along the Houston Ship Channel toward the battlefield at San Jacinto where Texas forces under Sam Houston defeated the Mexican army in 1836 to win independence

The battlefield, about 20 miles east of Houston, now is marked by a monument that is a virtual duplicate of the Washington Monument.

T've learned a little bit about San Jacinto and oil refineries," Prince Charles said. "But not being a chemist, it's all very confusing.

The prince, saying he found it in teresting, toured a museum at the base of the 570-foot monument, then rode an elevator to an observation tower at the top.

More than 500 people waited outside the monument to catch a glimpse of the prince.

"If it's as hot as this in the winter, what is it like in the summer?" the prince asked.

Several of the people carried signs of welcome. Two or three signs were critical of the prince's visit, and peo-ple carrying the signs attempted to heckle the prince but were shouted down by the crowd.

"I touched him," squealed Mayda Rosales, 37, of Houston. "I kissed him. He is gorgeous. He is such a gentleman.

Wednesday evening, the prince attended a black-tie banquet hosted by Mayor Kathy Whitmire and attended by several hundred people who dined on quail, pheasant and salmon.

Hance: White should make cuts in his own office

LONGVIEW (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Kent Hance said Gov. Mark White should have prefaced his call for reduced state government spending by announcing cuts in his own office.

White asked all state agencies Tuesday to cut 13 percent from their spending in response to a projected $1.3 billion state budget shortfall. "If he wants to have any feel on it, he should have come out and said. 'I today have cut so much and I ask agencies to do likewise," Hance said Wednesday during an East Texas campaign swing.

White seems to have less than a firm handle on state spending, Hance said in a speech to the Gregg County Women's Club.

The governor, in the last budget, said it was a bare-bones budget, and there's no way we can find any more cuts. Now he's saying we are bound to be able to find another $1.3 billion." Hance said.

"My question is, was he right then, or is he right now? He was probably wrong both times," he told the luncheon meeting.

Hance said he could not predict "how much effect" White's call for spending cuts will have.

White doesn't have much legal authority other than just asking," Hance said. The Republican challenger said the next state budget should include less spending in the governor's office, with much of it coming out of the governor's budget office. He said that office's proposed state budget is generally ignored by legislators, who draw the spending document.

Hance said a Texas governor can have more input in the budget process by preparing a brief, general spending plan and then using the threat of veto to get his point across.

"There's room to make some cuts. You may have to eliminate some programs," he said. "I would write letters to the appropriations committee and let them know what I would

Hance, former Republican governer Bill Clements and U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler of Hunt are seeking the GOP nomination to challenge White, who faces several candidates in the May 3 Democratic primary.

DALLAS (AP) — A 3-year-old boy received an overdose of morphine an hour after a 6-year-old girl was given a fatal dose of the drug at the same clinic, a clinic official says.

ORANGE (AP) — A 19-year-old man has been jailed in connection with the strangulation slaying last Dec. 28 of a service station operator. Police arrested Robert "Bubba" King Conway Jr. Wednesday evening after an Orange County grand jury indicted him on a charge of capital murder in the death of W. Keisler Hoke, 71.

Conway was arraigned Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Claude Wimberly, who ordered Conway held without bond.

Plans for Democratic debate 'up in the air'

AUSTIN (AP) — A televised debate among the Republican candidates for governor has been scheduled in April, the Texas League of Women Voters says. But plans for a Democratic debate remain up in the air. League official Modelle Brudner said Wednesday the GOP debate would be held April 14 from 7 p.m. to

But the league remains unable to schedule a debate for the six Democratic candidates, she said, adding that time is running out to set up such a session before the May 3 primary election.

All three GOP candidates - former Gov. Bill Clements, U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler and former congressman Kent Hance — are scheduled to participate, Ms. Brudner said. They were all willing to debate. We had a little problem finding a date, but it's set now," she said in a telephone interview from Houston.

Ms. Brudner said the debate will be televised by KHOU-TV. Broadcast coverage of the debate will be offered to television and radio stations statewide, and a Spanish translation will be provided, she said.

Ms. Brudner said the league is continuing to work with the six Democratic candidates, including incumbent Gov. Mark White.

"But if we don't get something settled in the next week or so, I'm afraid we'll have to drop it," she said. The problem, she said, is "a date for Gov. White. We have not been able to come to any date at this

Mark McKinnon, White's campaign press secretary, said White remains willing to debate but that the governor's campaign staff wants the five other candidates to contact them about arranging a forum.

"We have encouraged all our primary opponents' campaign person-nel to contact our people," McKinnon said.

Briscoe said he also contacted White's capmaign staff, as they requested.

Iran, Iraq battle for control of port city

SOUTHERN MAJNOON OIL- ing one Iranian F-5 fighter and a TELD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi forces who four-engine C-130 plane used as an FIELD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi forces who recaptured Majnoon island after two years unleashed a barrage of howitzer, mortar and rocket fire in an effort to contain an Iranian offensive, and dug in for an expected counterattack.

Fierce air and ground battles, meanwhile, raged to the south Wednesday as the two sides struggled for control of the Iraqi oil port of Faw, captured by Iran during an offensive it launched Feb. 9.

Both sides reported increased air activity despite bad weather. Iran claimed it shot down four Iraqi jet-fighters, while Iraq reported downairborne radar command post.

Foreign correspondents were tak-en by Iranian and Iraqi officials to opposite sides of the marshy frontline for the first time since Iran launched its offensive. The two sides have been at war since September 1980.

Iraqi gunners pounded Iranian positions around the oilfield in an apparent attempt to prevent an expansion of the offensive. They deployed 40-barreled Soviet-built rocket launchers and a variety of howitzers and mortars in the barrage against the Iranian forces.

Col. Abbas al-Rawi, commander of Iraqi troops which routed Iranian forces from 90 percent of this 40square-mile oil-rich terrain last week, said the Iraqis "expect the Iranians to attack any minute."

Majnoon was captured during an Iranian offensive two years ago. By recapturing the southern Majnoon oilfield, better known as the greater Majnoon, the Iraqis regained control of four oil wells whose proven reserves were estimated at about 8.5 billion barrels, Col. al-Rawi said.

The smaller northern Majnoon island, which has no oil, remains under Iranian occupation.

FAW, Iraq (AP) — "Get moving! Get moving!" the Iranian helicopter crewmen shouted as they touched down in this captured Iraqi border town. Overhead, attacking Iraqi jets fired rockets.

The journalists dropped from the three choppers and ran for buses parked nearby. One rocket hit a mound of earth beside a road, spewing dust over them. Some struck only 50 yards away.

Wolfgang Steinbauer, Middle East editor of the West German magazine Der Spiegel, collapsed. Iranian officials said later he had died of a heart

Most of the buildings in Faw had suffered some damage. Iranian flags flew in several squares.

Revolutionary Guards carrying light automatic weapons and rocketpropelled grenades shouted: "Down with America! Down with France! Down with England!"

Their loudest chant was "Down with Saddam!" referring to Saddam Hussein, president of Iraq.

Hussein seeks a negotiated end to the war, which he started by invading Iran in an attempt to gain full control of the Shatt al-Arab, Iraq's only outlet to the sea. Khomeini has vowed to continue fighting until the Iraqi leader is driven from power.

NASA seized and held the film as part of its investigation of the explosion that killed the seven astronauts. The space agency's intent was good, but it appeared to be operating on the premise that the ends sought justified its means. That certainly is a faulty premise where the public's access to news is concerned.

In the Feb. 8th edition of the industry publication Editor & Publisher, NASA's tactics were harshly criticized by industry executives, including Associated Press executive editor Walter Mears who called the film seizure "certainly improper, probably illegal and, ironically, counterproductive" to investigation.

The exposed film of the shuttle takeoff was impounded from occur.

dangerous precedent was about 100 still cameras set following the explosion owned by news organizations. From the outset, news agencies had said they would cooperate by turning over original negatives to NASA after the film was processed and copied. NASA demanded the film first.

Such a tactic smacks of police state rule which denies basic rights to the citizens. It could feasibly lead to future confiscations of reporters' film and notes which would amount to de facto prior restraint of what news organizations can publish and, thus, what the American public can know. That would be disastrous.

In the wake of the unusually traumatic and shocking shuttle explosion, it's easy to comprehend how an agency such as NASA can forget its responsibilities to society and trample basic rights. But that fact doesn't make such strong-arm tactics any more acceptable in a free society.

NASA should strive to ensure no future confiscations will

The prince was the worse for wear. When his plane was hit, he ejected during a nosedive and broke bones in both arms and one leg. He fell into a lake in central Hanoi. A mob bayoneted him and smashed his shoulder. He was a prisoner for five-and-a-half years. Because he was properly obstinate, he was in solitary confinement for most of that time. His hair quickly turned white and his weight fell below 100 pounds. Every day for two years, one of his guards ordered him to bow, and then knocked him down. It was what is known as a consciousness-raising experience, one that he says made him acutely sensitive to the humiliations of discrimination.

On this day, the conservative congressman is getting more sensitivity

To say Arizona is booming is to settle for too limp a verb. But booms do not lift everyone skyward and the black leaders give McCain a grilling. Every Arizona politician knows the many forms poverty can take: 27 percent of the state is Indian reservations, one of which spills into Utah and New Mexico and is larger — and much poorer — than West Virginia.

McCain is a natural politician. He was elected "president" of Congress' freshman class of 1982 and was reelected to the House in 1984 with 78 percent of the vote. In 1982, he had lived in Arizona less than two years. To the charge that he is a carpetbagger, he replied that he had never lived long anywhere except Hanoi.

Most recent heavy-hitters in Arizona politics (Rep. Mo Udall, former Rep. John Rhodes, Gov. Bruce Babbitt, Sens. Dennis DeConcini and Barry Goldwater, who is retiring from the seat McCain is seeking) are from families whose records of public service run deep into the state's pre-history, known here as "pre-air conditioning." This feudal tendency is a charming oddity in the state that the newcomer among the Lower 48 — the last to join the Union. But, then, only in an odd state would the legislature proclaim bolo ties as the official state neckwear.

Thursday, February 20, 1986 Midland Reporter-Telegram

Most Arizonans were born else where; indeed, it sometimes seems that most are still unpacking. More than one-third of the registered voters — 450,000 of them — have arrived since 1981. Very few of today's Arizonans were voting when Goldwater became a senator 33 years ago. Arizona has only had eight senators, thanks in part to Carl Hayden, who served from 1927 to 1969, retiring when he was 92.

McCain almost certainly will be come the ninth. A recent poll has him leading his opponent, Richard Kimball, even among Democrats, and by 25 points statewide. In Maricopa County (Phoenix), where more than half the voters live, McCain's lead is almost 40 points.

Kimball began by running a populist campaign against the Phoenix "establishment," as personified by a prominent publisher who is a friend of McCain. Kimball said the publisher exemplified the attempt to impose a Senate choice. In December this publisher resigned in disgrace when it was learned that for years he had misrepresented his military record; he had never been in the military, but claimed an illustrious record as a fighter pilot.

However, Kimball must eventually run against McCain himself and Kimball seems accident-prone. He has said (to Phoenix Gazette columnist John Kolbe) such vertigo-inducing things as: He is running "because my experience mirrors where the state ought to be going." And: "We can be physically (sic) responsible without abandoning social issues." Say what? If McCain manages to make this race close, he has a knack for finding danger in blue skies.

With all that is happening in the country, I feel I need to add my opinion of a suggestion for our youth - to parents, Mother or Dad.

As parents, are we loving our children more than we scare them away? We want their respect and we only intend to discipline them, but are we using the best method? I don't feel it is best to be forceful or rough with our

I don't think we want to encourage suicide in our country, there are over 7,000 suicides in this country a year. Even a few in grade school ages. I think we need our children and I think they need to know we need them. We would like for all children to become outstanding adults, to become strong, well adjusted, secure, stable, successful and independent adults. We prefer them to have all they need in life at least. And we prefer them to have the common sense to apply better judgement, be good managers, manage with intelligence, thoughtfulness and accurate decisions.

Before they get out on their own, we, as their Mother or Dad, should teach them to be independent in their thinking and actions, not dependent on us. We are the ones to teach them to know how to start anything, how to handle decisions and responsibilities. It's our obligation to teach them how to overcome problems, how to find the solutions; even how to try again when they fail or it didn't work out before when they tried, and to teach them to find motivation; how to build and rebuild for the future.

We have the power to begin when we choose, but the earlier they learn the faster they can recognize an opportunity and determine if it is beneficial to them - to grab it. We can teach them and help them practice what is good for them before they are grown and gone, while they still feel a parent has a right to tell them what to

We should be attentive to children and teach them how to feel confident, to believe what they do or say is right, to believe in themselves. They should learn courage, to be unafraid, to try our their new ideas, to venture, to take that chance to give someone or perhaps the whole world something new, something they can share, like we share with them. If it doesn't work the first time, we should show them how to try again, without giving up or giving in, and in their own way not just in our way.

We must teach our children to have the incentive to start new projects: to be able to weigh their decisions and determine what is fair to all sides; to act and to speak with kindness to others whenever possible. They need to learn to use their education and their experiences, like a tool, to plan their goals, schedules and future and for today, to learn to apply what they think they know.

With help from parents and their friends encouraging them, we can guide them while we back them up, stand behind them; giving them moral support and sharing our time, our love for them and ourselves. They are a part of us, a part of our country, so we are needed to give our efforts to teach them all we can, giving them hope for a future time, for them to make the effort for any worthwhile achievement, their

If you haven't started by now, it's not too late. It's better at least to give it a try. Maybe what Em talking about can help you somehow, to generate a little more hope and a little better understanding between the parents and the teenagers, maybe be a part to bridge a gap between the young

It was in those final days of pain and debilitation that Jock showed courage of an even rarer sort. He never whined or bemoaned the lousy hand fate had dealt him. He retained his capacity for both outrage and amusement at the ethical frailties that he had set himself to expose. Never revealing the hopelessness of his situation, refusing to play his sources for sympathy, Jock poured all his energies into his chosen craft. He died without fuss or complaint.

His friends, determined to preserve his memory in an appropriate way, set up the Jock Hatfield Memorial Scholarship Fund to compensate young reporters who will cover the stories that Jock would have. Donations to the fund and scholarship applications will be accepted by its director, Susan Benesch, at 945 West End Ave., No. 6-B, New York, NY

CONSTITUTION COMMERCE: Congress is considering a bill that would remove the prohibition against using the logo of the Constitution bicentennial commission for commercial purposes. The idea is to allow the commission to license the way of raising funds for the 200th anniversary celebration of the Constitution's adoption next year. But congressional critics of the plan are afraid we may soon be seeing official Constitution hamburgers or Bill of Rights beer. The pending legislation allows the commission to write guidelines that would prevent misuse of the logo.

HAITIAN HEX: Did President Reagan invite a voodoo curse by assisting in the ouster of Jean-Claude 'Baby Doc" Duvalier as president of Haiti? Eight years ago we reported that Duvalier's mother, Mama Doc, had put a voodoo curse on President Carter for constantly nagging her baby about human rights. And many years earlier, Duvalier's father, Papa Doc, cast a hex on President Kenne dy. The older generation has passed to its dubious reward, but voodoo is still practiced here and there in Haiti, and Baby Doc might have taken a practitioner of the black art with him into exile. Watch for sharp pains, Mr. President.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., was reportedly miffed at a fellow liberal member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md., for what he feels was less than solid support for the Solarz investigation of U.S. real estate purchases by Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife, Imelda. Solarz noted that Barnes hadn't attended most of the hearings, and suspected it was because of Barnes' connection with two key witnesses who were cited Barnes aide denied everything and said the congressman supported the hearings.

MINI-EDITORIAL: That was a strange report from the mysterious East the other day: Secretary of State George Shultz wrote a letter to Japanese Foreign Minister Shintaro Abe using the salutation "Dear Shintaro" instead of "Dear Minister Abe" and the Japanese were delighted. Abe quickly whipped off a note to his new buddy, "Dear George." This is all pretty heady stuff, and we hope George will use this new intimacy to say something like, "Shin, good buddy, how about dropping those trade barriers so we can sell more American goods in Japan?" After all, what are friends for?

FEMA FOLLIES: Frankly, we thought the troubles in the Federal Emergency Management Agency might be over when several officials resigned last year after our revelations of rampant mismanagement and extravagance. But the agency's latest budget shows that FEMA's priorities are still a little peculiar. Funds for firefighter training, "radiological-disaster response" and civil defense have all been either cut or frozen at last year's levels. But the "federal preparedness" budget has gone up $20 million. That's the program that, among other things, plans for the survival of federal officials in case of nuclear attack.

Not in the bathing suit - outside it. Everything provocative is bulging out. What is a man on a beach to do when she walks by — other than pound the sand with his fists?

There was steam coming out of my wife's ears. "Just because a woman likes to wear something comfortable does not mean she is trying to seduce a man." "Okay, let's say the bathing suit is

South African creditors to reschedule debt

LONDON (AP) — South Africa's foreign creditors meet today to consider rescheduling $14 billion in short-term debt, an action Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu and other anti-apartheid clergymen urged them not to take.

entatives of 30 banks will meet with Fritz Leutwiler, a retired Swiss bank executive who is mediating between the banks and the South African government.

A top official of the South African Reserve Bank, Director-General Chris Stals, was in London but was not invited to the meeting.

News reports say Leutwiler has worked out a repayment plan which will not please South African au-thorities, who are hoping for a long-term rescheduling of $14 billion in short-term debt.

Soviets launch permanent space station

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched a new space station that is designed to become the primary building block of a permanently manned orbital complex, the official Tass news agency said.

The space station, named Mir, or Peace, has six docking ports to accommodate other craft ferrying in cosmonauts and supplies, and also contains advanced equipment for flight control and research,

Soviet television showed a brief film clip of the liftoff from the central Asian Cosmodrome at 12:29 a.m., but little detail of the new space platform was visible.

Cosmonauts will be sent up to work in the new space complex "after it is run in outer space," Tass quoted Gen. Alexei Leonov, deputy chief of the Soviet cosmonaut training center and a former cosmo-

The Soviet news agency called the Mir "a base module for assembling a multi-purpose permanently operating manned complex." During the pilotless phase of its flight in low-earth orbit, Tass said "testing is planned of elements of its construction, on-board systems and apparatus."

The Mir also has separate cabins for cosmonauts and specialized research areas for experiments in medicine, biology, astrophysics and other fields, Tass said. No details were given in the Tass report of the station's size or weight.

Leonov said that with the Mir, "practical cosmonautics has now entered a new stage: the beginning of a transition from research and experiments to large-scale production activities in outer space."

The Mir is second Soviet space complex currently in orbit. The Salyut-7 was launched in 1962, and is also orbiting without a crew at present. Tass today said both the Mir and Salyut-7 are functioning

The Mir has new equipment allowing completely automated flight, a function missing on the smaller Salyut-7. Tass said.

Moslem guerrillas claim they've killed Israeli soldier

TYRE, Lebanon (AP) — Vans toured Beirut's Shiite Moslem southern suburbs early today, blaring through their loudspeakers a recorded statement that Moslem guerrillas had killed one of two Israeli soldiers captured in southern Lebanon four days ago. The statement said the Islamic Resistance Front "executed the captive," because Israel failed to end a search for the soldiers by late Wednesday. It described the killed captive as an "Israeli intelligence officer," but did not identify him.

About 1,000 Israeli soldiers continued to scour southern Lebanon for a fourth day today, searching Shiite villages for the soldiers seized in an ambush Monday at a checkpoint in Israel's buffer zone in southern Lebanon

An anonymous telephone caller Wednesday night told the independent Beirut newspaper An-Nahar 'the Islamic Resistance carried out the death sentence on one of the two

Israeli hostages at 9 p.m."

The caller, who said he spoke for the Islamic Resistance Front, said a photograph of the slain Israeli would be released today.

Four arrested in disaster

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - A station master and three dispatchers have been arrested for routing two passenger trains into a head-on collision that killed at least 58 people and in jured 510, authorities said.

The Monday evening collision of the trains, packed with more than 600 vacationers, was Chile's worst

Mayor Alejandro Vial of Limache, the nearest town, said two dispatchers at the Limache and Penablanca stations were arrested Monday night in a court-ordered investigation of presumed negligence

Vast ancient palace found

PELLA, Greece (AP) - Rows of stone blocks and column bases trace the outline of a vast ancient palace that might have been the birthplace of Alexander the Great.

Constructed in the 4th century, B.C., on a hilltop overlooking the sea, the complex of colonnaded buildings and courtyards big enough to hold an army once sprawled over more than 15 acres. "Nothing like it has ever been uncovered in Greece before. For sheer size it's amazing. It's one of the largest ancient architectural complexes ever found anywhere," said Mairi Siganidou, a Greek archaeologist who began excavating the site in 1981, in an interview with The Associated

The discovery also adds weight to theories that the ancient Macedonian aristocracy, grown rich from battle spoils and a profitable export trade in timber and locally mined gold, enjoyed a sophisticated lifestyle in luxurious surroundings. Pella, 24 miles from the northern Greek city of Salonica, was once the capital of the powerful Macedonian kingdom, which Alexander built into an empire stretching to Egypt and

Landmine kills 39 people

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — A convoy of soldiers escorting farmers to market hit a landmine early Wednesday in an area of eastern Sri Lanka where Tamil separatist guerrillas are active. The government said 39 people were killed and more than 30 were seriously hurt. National Security Minister Lalith Athulathmudali told The Associated Press that government forces killed two men involved in placing the landmine, which he called the worst guerrilla attack in several months.

'It shows the terrorists have not lost their murderous habits," he said. The dead included 35 civilians and four soldiers, he said.

Party's office sealed off

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Lines of riot police sealed off the head-quarters of South Korea's main opposition political party Thursday, hours before party officials planned a meeting on their campaign to change the constitution.

The country's two best-known dissident leaders, Kim Dae-jung and Kim Young-sam, remained under house arrest. Similar restrictions were put on other opposition offihouse arrest. Similar restrictions were put on other opposition officials in a crackdown against political dissidents opposed to the government of President Chun Doo-hwan. The tougher actions by authorities to control the opposition began more than a week ago to stop a campaign to collect signatures on petitions demanding direct presidential elections rather than the electoral college system.

Dollar, gold mixed

LONDON (AP) - The U.S. dollar turned in a mixed performance on foreign exchange markets early today in an atmosphere of uncertainty over U.S. monetary policy.

Gold bullion rose in Hong Kong, but drifted lower in Europe in what was described as trendless trading.

After a volatile session in Europe and New York on Wednesday the dollar was mixed but steady in Europe by midmorning today. It was up against the currencies of Japan, Switzerland and Britain but down against those of France, the Netherlands, Italy and Canada.

In Tokyo, where trading ends just as Europe's business day gets started, the dollar rebounded slightly, closing at 179.85 Japanese yen, up from 178.80 yen. Later, in London, the dollar was quoted at 179.70 yen. Other midmorning dollar rates from 7.095 -2.5975 Dutch guilders, down

London's five biggest bullion houses fixed a recommended gold price of $339.25 a troy ounce at midmorning, down from $342.80 late Wednesday.

MARKETS Businessmen skeptical about economic outlook

By FRANK TROMBLEY Staff Writer

MIDLAND - A survey of West Texas business and civic leaders by ClayDesta National Bank to determine area economic/financial concerns for 1986 and beyond revealed "a trend that could be characterized as a kind of moderate optimism mixed with some restrained

Dr. William R. Carden, president of the Carden Group, a market research-strategic planning consulting firm specializing in the financial ser-vices industry, told more than 150 persons attending ClayDesta's first economic outlook conference more than 90 percent of the survey questionnaires sent out in early January were returned and noted he and Dr. M. Ray Perryman usually consider themselves lucky to get back 10 percent of questionnaires sent out.

The response, said Carden, is "characteristic of an entrepeneurial kind of a city.'

As Carden sees it, the "can do spirit" of Midland will help the area prevail through economically tough times expected to prevail at least

According to Perryman, a forecast generated on what is described as the world's largest Texas Econometric Model, which he developed, indicates that the settling of the West Texas Intermediate Crude price at $20 to $21 a barrel would intensify recessionary impact on Midland throughout 1966 and produce "an cal peak," with only "a very sluggish recovery" anticipated in 1987. In looking at the shory-term economic outlook for the Midland area, Perryman noted that "each dollar variation in the price of oil is responsible for a $15-$20 million loss with regard to real gross output in the

But, Perryman observed, "were prices to stabilize at levels of $24 per barrel or above, the present recessionary phase could be reversed and a period of modest economic growth would be observed.

Addressing the question of Third World debt, especially the debts of Mexico and other Central and South American countries, Carden described Mexico's economy as "a basket case" because decreased oil prices have wreaked havoc with an economy 90 percent dependent on oil exports.

Almost 400 restaurant owners and operators of institutional food services were on hand at the Odessa Holiday Inn Centre for a food show featuring the latest in institutional foods. Among the items presented were pre-prepared fish, chicken, steak fingers, hot dogs, and burritos, along with a host of salad bar foods, and onion rings, french fries, vegetables and drinks.

One food vendor said the growth of the preprepared institutional foods now made it was now possible to open up a restaurant with only tables and chairs, a refrigerator, micro-wave and plastic silverware and paper plates, if one so chose. He added: "But its not that way, many restaurants still like to prepare their menu from scratch and rely on pre-prepared foods for a potion of the menu.

GNP growth sluggish 1.2 percent BUSINESS BRIEFS

Coca-Cola bottlers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. economy slumped to a sluggish growth of just 1.2 percent during the final three months of 1985 as a soaring trade deficit continued to batter American industry, the government reported today.

For the second time, the Commerce Department revised sharply downward its estimate of economic growth as measured by the gross national product for the October-December quarter.

The revision did not change the growth figure for the year, a 2.3 percent increase, which was the weakest performance for the U.S. economy since a 2.5 percent drop in the recession year of 1982.

The sharp downward revision in fourth-quarter growth had been expected, given the fact that America's trade deficit soared in the final quarter. However, analysts said it did not change their belief that the economy has rebounded sharply in recent

Many private forecasters have revised their predictions for growth this year, with some saying the economy is likely to reach the 4 percent growth rate projected by the Reagan administration.

The new-found optimism stems from the fact that oil prices have fallen sharply over the past month, dropping from $25 per barrel down to $15 per barrel.

Lower oil prices mean that the oil bill for American consumers will be less, freeing them to spend more on other goods. It also means inflation will be less, which also help boosts growth in inflation-adjusted terms. Figures in the Commerce Department report were adjusted for Two months ago, before the quar-ter had ended, the government estimated fourth-quarter growth at an annual rate of 3.2 percent. That fig-ure was revised down to 2.4 percent last month and today was reduced further to the weak 1.2 percent rate. The primary reason for the revision was the deteriorating trade picture. The government estimated that the trade deficit was running at an annual rate of $134 billion in the fourth quarter, $6.4 billion higher than the deficit figure used a month

The country has suffered all year from soaring trade deficits as American manufacturers have been battered by a flood of imports while their overseas markets have evaporated because of the srength of the dollar

The Reagan administration in September began a coordinated effort with other countries to push the value of the dollar lower. But analysts say this effort may not bear fruit in lower trade deficits until later this

The economy was also pulled down by a plunge in inventory investment by businesses. That fell at an annual rate of $6.7 billion in the final three months.

Inflation showed a modest increase in the final quarter, with prices as measured by an inflation gauge tied to the GNP rising at an annual rat of 3.6 percent compared to a 2.5 percent rise.

RRC ends prehearing on Panhandle fields

AUSTIN (AP) - The Railroad Commission has concluded a prehearing conference on whether to consolidate 13 Panhandle oil and gas fields into a single field but no date has been set for the full hearing. Hearing examiner Don Walker also left pending a decision on whether to allow parties with "unique situations," such as school districts, to become involved in the hearing. According to a commission spokesman, the commission said it would not reconsider its "white oil" 1985 order to retest oil wells in the Panhandle Field that use refrigeration, or LTX, units to make the oil-gas ratio of one barrel of oil per 100,000 cubic feet of gas.

Greyhound Lines said Wednesday it is closing one-third of its bus terminals across the country as part of a continuing cost-cutting effort brought on by declining passenger traffic.

The Phoenix, Ariz.-based bus company said that it will close 35 of its 125 terminals nationwide by Oct. 1 and the 383 employees affected would probably be laid off. The company said that it expected to receive between $100 million and $150 million through the eventual sale of the terminals. Greyhound said that it did not plan to eliminate any routes as a result of the terminal closings. The company said that it would maintain bus service from independently operated facilities located near highways or in suburbs.

INVESTOR'S GUIDE GE has offer you can't refuse without losing investment

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I'm in the same predicament as many shareholders of RCA Corp. in which I have owned a substantial amount of common stock for many years. When RCA is merged into General Electric Co. I will receive $66.50 a share. I keep a meticulous record of my finances and calculate this will give me a $208,000 profit, with its corresponding capital gains tax.

That might seem to be a gold mine, but I would prefer to exchange my RCA stock for GE stock and avoid the tax bite. Can GE force RCA stockholders to surrender their shares for cash?

A. GE can't put a gun to your head to get you to turn in your shares. But this is much the same as The Godfather's offer you can't refuse" and is typical of "all-cash" merger deals.

In a situation such as this, if you don't hand over your shares you will receive nothing and your investment will go vote of RCA stockholders which is binding on all

Your only sensible choice is to shares and accept the huge check you'll receiv when the merger is completed. That's expected to be later this year.

Questions such as yours come in just about ever time there is an all-cash merger. The RCA-GI merger has resulted in more mail to this column than anything since the American Telephone

Q. I am a widower and will leave an estate of approximately $400,000. If I die this year, will everything I leave be free from federal estate

A - Yes. Besides tax free bequests from one spouse to the other, the size of an estate exempt from federal estate tax has been increasing in six annual steps For 1986, it's $500,000

Rigs nag roofs

The value of obsolete offchore oil and gas platforms as artificial reefs that attract both sport and commercial fish has been proven repeatedly.

But utilization of platforms for that purpose has been complicated by a lack of standardization among coastal states and lack of national regulations, according to Petroleum Engineer International magazine.

Oil companies, the magazine says, are justifiably concerned about problems of liability during transport and installation of obsolete platforms. And there also is concern about who is liable for mishaps connected with reefs once they have been installed.

Environmental enthusiasts push to have platforms transported to sites where they can function as artificial reefs. But, platform operators lack incentives to justify the additional costs.

One day motorists may not have to inhale such a high level of automobile hydrocarbon emissions

Amoco Oil Co. has improved evaporative canisters, currently used to control the fumes.

Company officials say this solution can be implemented quickly by making slight changes to the canisters. One difference is an improved charcoal with a greater specific working capacity used in the canisters.

Bake your own

Getting fresh, hot, french bread at home has always been a problem, but now a Dallas baking company has come up with a solution.

Earth Grains, distributed by Rainbo Baking Co., has introduced International Hearth French Bread, the first, authentic French bread consumers bake at home.

The bread is partially baked in a hearth oven, then packaged in a sealed bag to maintain freshness. Consumers complete the baking process in their oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Breaded fish and poultry are also big winners. Representatives for Crystal Creek Catfish Farms, a cooperative of catfish farmers, said the demand for catfish growing by leaps

A machine filets the fish, which are then placed in large aluminum tubs and compressed into 16 pound blocks to shipment to the U.S. The fish remains frozen from the time of catch to the time it is processed, breaded and sold to the customer.

January construction rate best in two years

WASHINGTON (AP) — New home construction surged 15.7 percent in January, the biggest increase in almost two years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said new homes and apartments were started at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.09 million units in January, compared to a December rate of 1.8 million units.

The monthly increase was the largest since a 17 percent jump in housing starts in February 1984.

The big increase in housing construction last month followed a strong 9 percent December gain and was likely to be cited as evidence that housing developers are finally responding to the sharp declines in interest rates of the last three Fixed-rate, 25 to 30-year mortgages are now averaging around 10.75 percent, the lowest rate in almost seven years.

most seven years.

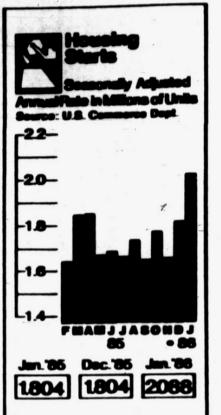

The big January improvement came from a sharp 24.5 percent jump in construction of single-family homes, which were built at an annual rate of 1.35 million units last month.

Construction of multi-family units rose a smaller 2.5 percent to an annual rate of 735,000 units.

The overall advance to 2.09 million units at an annual rate put the January performance at the highest level since 2.21 million units in February 1984

Many analysts are predicting that the housing industry will be one area contributing to strength in the economy this year as both sales and construction activity are expected to show strength in response to the low mortgage rates.

The department also revised its estimate for total construction for 1985, putting construction activity at 1,736,400 units, down a small 0.7 percent from 1984. The 1985 decline had originally been put at 1 percent.

For January, all areas of the country showed strength. The biggest rise was posted in the Northeast, a 28 percent gain over the December level.

Construction activity rose 22.1 percent in the Midwest and 17.2 percent in the South. Construction rose 1.8 percent in the West.

Permits for future construction were issued at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.87 million units in January, down a small 0.2 percent from December.

It's fat genes

No one irritates overweight people more than thin friends who gorge on pizza and cheesecake, never seeming to gain an ounce.

A new study is not going to make them feel any better, but the findings, based on a survey of 540 adopted adults in Denmark, offer a better explanation of why some people have a harder time than others shedding pounds.

The report, in last week's issue of The New England Journal of Medicine, contends that heredity, not the "family environment," governs the tendency to be fat or thin.

The researchers, headed by Dr. Albert J. Stunkard, a University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist, came to this conclusion after discovering that for adults adopted in infancy an index computed from weight and height resembled that of the subjects' biological parents. Contrary to the findings of at least one previous study, the team found no relation between the weights of adopted children and adoptive parents.

In an editorial accompanying the study, Dr. Theodore B. Van Itallie, an obesity specialist at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center in New York, called the findings "unequivocal."

"As members of a sedentary and food-laden society," Van Itallie wrote, "obesity-prone persons who wish to control their weight must learn to maintain a relatively high level of physical activity and to eat defensively."

Legal battle may postpone MISD board elections

By JULIE HILLRICHS Staff Writer

A year-long legal battle between the Midland Independent School Dis-trict and two minority organizations may cause a delay in the local school board elections tentatively planned for this spring.

U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton ruled in January that the MISD must switch from an at-large method of electing trustees to the singlemember district system, saying the at large system "is in violation of the Constitution." He prohibited the school district from holding any future at-large elections.

Further, the judge held that MISD's compromise proposal for a 3-4 plan (three at-large and four singlemember) was unacceptable and "is unconstitutional in that it impermissibly dilutes the votes" of the minorities represented by the League of United Latin American Citizens and the Black Advisory Council.

But MISD maintains that its orginal proposal "offers minorities a constituionally fair opportunity to be elected" to the Board. Three weeks ago, the Board asked Bunton to reconsider or clarify his decision and to allow the election to proceed on schedule. The board also proposed a revised dual-election system that would include two minority (single-member) districts and a third district in which five board members would be elected at-large.

MISD Superintendent Dr. Joseph P. Baressi said any plan to call for an election this spring would "depend on the judge's decision.

"I would assume that at this point we're not going to have one (an election)," Baressi said. "My assumption is that we are prohibited from calling for an election until we get this thing resolved.

LULAC and the Black Advisory Council last week urged Bunton to strike down the MISD's proposal and to hold the April election their way.

The two minority organizations asked the judge to "impose a remedy" for the April school-board election by imposing the 7-0 single-member district plan.

"...Predicted...the election "could be delayed somewhat" because "either way, some changes (in boundaries) will have to be

Judge Lucius Bunton

"I would assume that at this point we're not going to have one (an election). My assumption is that we are prohibited from calling for an election until we get this thing resolved."

 Dr. Joseph P. Baressi, MISD superintendent

In their rebuttal, the organizations said that "then, after the elections, the seven newly elected board members can, if it is precleared (by the U.S. Department of Justice) adopt the dual-election system."

Or, if they (MISD) so wish, "they can choose to adopt the court-ordered 7-0 plan or some other plan." the rebuttal said.

The LULAC-Black Advisory Council rebuttal added that under the 7-0 plan for single-member districts, the newly elected board members will have a renewed mandate from the community and (would) be able to deal with the issue objectively.

The rebuttal urged the judge to stand by his ruling and to "allow the future of the Midland ISD to be decided by a constitutionally elected school board. Bunton said he plans to render his final decision early next week. He predicted, however, that the election 'could be delayed somewhat" because "either way, some changes (in boundaries) will have to be made."

Well Service and Clayton Williams Jr. of ClayDesta Corp. on falling oil prices and their effect on the spirit of Texas. The segment will be aired at 10:30 p.m. Friday.

Midlanders interviewed for 'Nightline'

By RAMONA NYE Staff Writer

'We're not going to have an economic Alamo because the United States cannot afford for us to have one," Clayton Williams Jr. told ABC's Nightline television correspondent Marshall Frady Wednesday evening.

Williams' statement may have disappointed the Nightline crew in Midland Wednesday to film the possible beginnings of an economic disaster for the state with oil prices dropping to $15 per barrel.

"One is not accustomed to seeing Texas as an economic invalid, Frady said before the taping began.

Williams of the ClayDesta empire, along with Tom Wageman of Republicbank First National, Joe Pevehouse of Adobe Resources Corporation and W.D. "Moot" Bates of Bates

Well Service were interviewed by Nightline for a segment titled "The State of the State of Texas." About a six-to-eight minute story is expected to air on Channel 2 at 10:30 p.m.

"I think you're all vultures and you're all here in the same week. Why are all you guys here?" Wageman asked Frady. The three major networks are in Midland this week filming segments on the effects of declining oil prices.

The Nightline piece will focus on how oil prices are affecting the spirit of Texas, Frady said. So far, Frady said he has seen concern among the state's oil and gas men interviewed in Beaumont, Houston, Port Arthur and Midland. The Nightline crew travels to Austin today

"I don't think we're frightened, but we're damn well nervous," Williams said during the taping.

All four businessmen agreed they were nervous, but insisted the oil industry will survive.

We'll live. There will be a Midland. Some folks are not going to own what they own today. These fields will be worked. You can't walk off and abandon fields," Wageman

"We'll be able to make money in the oil business until it runs out and something else comes along," he

Williams said, "If you weren't an optimist, you wouldn't be in the oil business in the first place."

An impending shortage after cheap supplies are depleted and exploration is curtailed is one reason the men say they are optimistic about a turnaround.

We're using more reserves than we're finding. The whole world is in liquidation when it comes to oil and gas," Wageman said.

Williams said, "It's like selling off a little bit of farm land everyday without buying more.

Pevehouse added, "The consumers love cheap prices, but they don't understand reserve and demand...eventually they will have a shortage."

The interview also got into stereotyped images of the state's large open spaces and its independent spirit...a spirit that some say is being constrained by the Saudis and their low oil cartel prices.

"We're at their mercies," Pevehouse said.

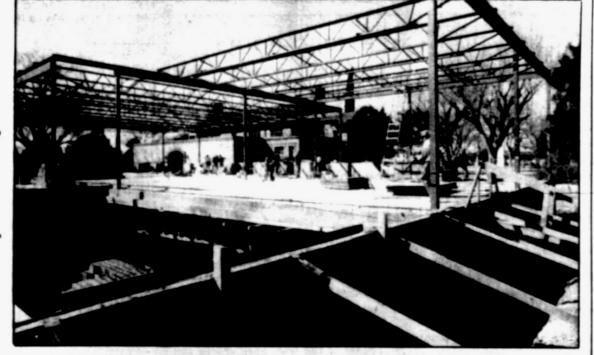

"Only they know what is going to happen. So we're down here in the trenches waiting," he said. Williams said, "Until you have some development of order in the world market, there will be chaos. The stability is what I yearn for."

Reckless conduct charges against a Midland man whose pet wolf allegedly attacked a girl in October were dismissed Wednesday by Municipal Court Judge Robin Smith. Mike Nickell, 4618 Cherokee Drive,

Favoritism toward football team causes resentment

The no-pass, no-play school rule doesn't stir any ruffles in me. More than anything, it most of all seems quite fair to the student and would tend to encourage him to put more than a half-hearted effort into his

I've had the notion, without being told, that school's primary functions are in academics and discipline. Teachers teach, students learn, and principals exact discipline. That was my impression and my experience. My earthly father was a principal-teacher back in the 1940s and 1960s and certainly impressed me over and

I do recall some aberrant behavior in at least one igh-school teacher, whose name I won't mention out of eference to the dead and out of fear her spirit might return and she might expel me again.

In class prior to football games, the civics teacher would make this pronouncement: Were the football team to win the Friday night game, she would sweeten up the grades of those football players in the class by a few points. Even then, I couldn't figure out what one had to do with the other. And I could sense a rush of resentment boiling within me. What I deemed as her favoritism seemed unfair, and it was particularly poignant since I didn't dress out in armor and play football with the boys or, as it turned out, with the teacher.

Now, I never "told" on the teacher. Right or wrong she was the captain at the helm. And I never mentione the favoritism, which today might be viewed as dis crimination, to the principal, who by this time wasn't Dad. (He was into another line of work which was financially more rewarding but, to him, was far less fulfilling than teaching.)

Eventually, the civics teacher and I got into some sort of classroom squabble. I suspect that it was fueled in arge measure by my resentment stemming from the avoritism which she extended to the victorious football players. Naturally, she won. I was expelled from class and stood outside the classroom for awhile.

Someday, I should like to go to her grave and make amends. She really was a good person.

Admittedly, I can see how a student might get "hard" and "hurt" feelings over being denied to play school games or being denied participation in other extracurricular activities because he flunked a course or a grading period. Still, the student is a student, possibly a scholar in the making, and still is under the rule of the teacher, just as the child is under the rule of the parent.

Foremost, the student is in school to learn in both as cademic and practical atmosphere. And learning taken

DPS trying to find 1,500 traffic ticket payments

COTULLA (AP) - The Department of Public Safety said it is try-ing to determine what happened to fines paid in LaSalle County for about 1,500 traffic tickets.

DPS Trooper Rudy Rodriguez said he is attempting to trace revenues from the hundreds of tickets issued in an 18-month period from the middle of 1983 until the end of 1984, the Laredo News reported.

Subpoenas are being obtained for LaSalle County deposit slips during the period, Rodriguez said. Several people provided proof of payment for the tickets but no records or payment receipts were re-corded, LaSalle County Sheriff Dar-

"I just forgot to record the money in the books," Martinez said. Martinez took over as justice of the peace in 1983 when Glen Matthews resigned before the comple-tion of his term. Martinez made a bid for the post in the spring of 1984 but lost to current Justice of the Peace Juan Ortiz.

Man pleads guilty to embezzlement

From Staff Reports

A Midland private investment counselor pleaded guilty Wednesday to embezzling $3,100 from one of his clients.

Bob Hammond, 41, of Florida, was ordered by District Judge Pat Baskin to pay $13,100 to the Midland man he defrauded. Hammond was also placed on a twoyear probation for his thirddegree theft conviction.

On Oct. 26, 1984, Hammond received $3,100 as a down payment for stocks he never purchased, said District Attorney Al Schorre. The sale involved Petroplex Bank stock, which the victim never received. Schorre said. The case also involved a contract Hammond did not fulfill, he said.

UT tower may be open for student tours

AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas administration indicated it may allow graduating students a brief farewell view of the campus and Austin from the UT Tower observation deck - closed to the public since 1975 as a guard against suicide attempts or other forms of violence.

UT President William Cunningham met Wednesday with students to discuss the proposal, but he said his concerns about safety would have to be satisfied.

The 27th-floor observation deck was a popular tourist attraction until it was closed to the public by UT regents. The regents decided 11 years ago that closing the area was the best way to make it secure against people intending suicide.

On Aug. 1, 1966, sniper Charles Whitman barricaded himself on the observation deck and shot at passersby below. Whitman killed 16 people and wounded more than 30 others before a police officer ran onto the observation deck and shot him to death.

Calorie counts subject to interpretation

By SONJA HEINZE

Q. I can't understand why all companies don't print the caloric content of their products on the labels along with the ingredients. Many companies do, but many don't, and I won't buy a product anymore that doesn't provide this information. Keniann MacCombie. South Bend.

A. The reason caloric content is absent from most labels is that government regulations do not require it. All that is required is the product's name, the manufacturer's name and address and a list of ingredients in descending order by weight. So a manufacturer would be cutting his own throat if he volumteered information on his label that would turn consumers off, such as 500 calories per serving of cake.

Some calorie labeling, although it's given voluntarily can be misleading For instance if you take a quick glance at a can of condensed soup, it says "Calories - 100." That doesn't seem like much at all until you study the label and realize that in the manufacturer's opinion there are two and three quarters servings per can. Now, even though I'm not a heavy eater, when I open a can of soup, I eat the whole thing.

A product labeled "reduced calorie" doesn't necessarily mean low calorie either. It just means, as defined by the Food and Drug Administran, that it has one-third fewer calories than it would have in its stan-

A. Several attempts on my part to elicit a response from Hardee's Restaurants to your question proved fruitless. Most fast-food chains contend that the way their food is processed and the ingredients they con-tain is privileged information, a corporate secret.

Then the Center for Science in the Public Interest, which is a nonprofit public interest organization. tried to get ingredient listings from Hardee's, among others, they were told that this information was confidential. Q. Since corn on the cob tastes best when it's picked that same day. during corn season I go to a produce market that displays a sign that says.

"Picked This A.M." Sometimes I wonder how true this is. How do I know he isn't taking his leftover corn and mixing it in the morning with the fresh corn?

A. At the end of the cob, where the corn is broken off from the stalk, it should be whitish in color if the cob is fresh. After a day it starts to turn brown and become dry.

The fresher the corn, the sweeter it is. As soon as corn is picked, the natural sugar in the kernels starts turning into starch. Keeping the corn cool retards this process. ## Con artists limited

By JOHN K. SCHMIDT

The California State Legislature has passed a "Boiler Room Bill," oth-erwise known as Assembly Bill 776. imed at curbing telephone sales acs of the con artists operating out of that state but well-know to us locally as "WATS-line hustiers." The new law went into effect Jan. 1.

The law will require persons and firms who solicit sales over the telephone to register with the California Department of Justice at least 10 days before they begin dialing

Failure to register and provide information about ownership, products and sales practices could be punished with up to six months in tail and a $2,500 fine for a misdemeanor violation, and up to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine for a felony The definitions and exemptions in the bill are thorough - most experts believe it is targeted precisely enough that it will not be burdensome for legitimate telemarketing

The key is the belief that con art ists and scam operators will not register. The hope is that the new law is strong enough to prevent their schemes from being profitable in

Now for the bad news. In the past whenever California has taken ac tion to rid its borders of such coc artists, they pack up and move many to Nevada. Arizona or Texas t. set up shop all over again. We can expect that many will do just that

Low-sodium soups missing more than salt

By LINDA ANDERSON

Proper nutrition seems to be on everyone's mind these days and sometimes it's hard to know who to believe. Every year or so we learn of some other food that is hazardous to our health, and food companies are always eager to introduce new products to help us avoid some unneces-

For a long time now doctors and other health officials have been warning about the dangers of too much salt. In light of this fact. Campbell Soup company offers a line of low sodium soups. Regular canned and dried soups are reported to be extremely high in sait.

in the interest of better health, the taste-testers tried three of these lowsalt soups for taste, price and advertising accuracy. The flavors were Chunky Chicken Vegetable, Chunky

Beef and Mushrooms and Chunky Vegetable Beef. The other flavors available are Chicken Broth, Chicken with Noodles. Cream of Mushroom, French Onion, Split Pea and Tomato with Tomato Pieces.

The soups are marketed in singleserving, 10%-ounce cans, and, unlike regular canned soups, do not need added water or milk. Price for one can is between 43 cents and 86 cents. depending on the flavor. (Ordinary, high-sodium, canned soups usually cost between 35-65 cents per can, depending on the flavor, and make two to three servings. Which means the low-sodium soups are much more expensive than regular canned soups. ounce per ounce. (Prices listed are from a local supermarket. Prices at other locations may vary. Nutrition information on the label of the chicken vegetable soup gives the calories in one serving (which, in this case, is the whole can to be 240. and sure enough, the sodium to be only 100 gm per serving

The label also lists the soup as containing 20 percent of the protein, 130 percent of the vitamin A and 25 percent of the macun suggested in the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance - as well as other important

Ingredients listed for the chicken soup included chacken stock, chacken meat, carrots, potatoes, sweet peppers, Sherry wine, water celery, chicken fat, yeast extract and other ingredients. Salt isn't listed on the label anywhere. In fact, the only thing that sounded unusual was oleoresin paprika, whatever that is Now for the critical taste-test All three flavors flunked. Royally When the first can - probably the vegetable beef - was opened. I took a taste and promptly threw it away

 I figured I had a bad can. So I opened the beef and mushroom. which proved to be at least as bad, if not worse, than the first.

One of the teenagers tried the chicken vegetable variety and was so disgusted she could not eat it. She did fix it by adding other ingredients so that it became palatable, but by itself the soup was horrible she

The absence of sait is no excuse for food tasting that bad. One of my co-workers said she liked the low sodium tomato soup - which we did not taste - but the flavors we tasted we do not recommended. Unless you are very brave

The snazry-looking, high-tech, computer-age gadgets often find homes in the grungy trucks of hardworking plumbers, contractors and landscap ers who are on the go and don't have any office other than the front seat of their truck.

There are cellular phones that can be installed in boats as well as cars. There also are cellular phones that run on batteries and can be stashed in a briefcase.

Businessman Steve Rothschild of San Diego takes his battery-powered cellular phone when he travels to Los Angeles and San Francisco. He makes calls from restaurant booths with it. On Thanksgiving, while driving to pick up a pie, he phoned his father in New York to wish him a happy holiday

Because there was a mechanical problem with the phone, Jacobson wound up taking it back to the dealer several times, which irritated him. Jacobson was aghast recently when he received his first cellular hone bill. The total, covering the first two and one half months of use. came to $450.

For an attorney billing a client for phone time spent on the road, that money is easily recouped. For someone like Jacobson, who owns a small business, it is not.

Before buying the cellular phone, Jacobson owned a mobile phone, and he feels a little nostalgic for it, he

"In retrospect, I'd go back to the old system," he said.

One thing Jacobson does like about the cellular phone is its sound quality, which is better than that of mobile phones

Basically, mobile phones are twoway radios and operate much more simply than cellular phones. But mobile phones are not capable of as many functions as cellular phones. Mobile car phones have a more limited range, and the lines are almost always busy when a caller tries to dial. Besides, an operator has to intervene to connect the call. Instead of having a single antenna covering an entire city, the cellular system uses many low-power antennae scattered about a city, covering individual geographic honevcomb-like cells - thus the "cell" in cellular. Calls are switched from antenna to antenna by computer as the vehicie travels

Each cell covers an area 1 to 8 miles in radius.

Cellular phones have 606 channels available for communications, compared with about 30 channels for mobile phones. And more channels means more conversations are possible at the same time.

The Federal Communications Commission, which regulates cellular phones, decided to split the number of channels and authorize two different providers of cellular service in each market area to provide competition and, optimally, better service for consumers.

Because the cellular phone market is very hot right now, consumers pretty much have their pick of where to shop and what to buy. You can buy a phone from electronics outlets or take your pick from dealers who sell nothing but cellular

The dealers are particularly eager to sell. If you can't come into the showroom, some will send a salesper son right to your home to show the

But don't forget as you're being wowed by the technology and slick look of the phones that you're buying a sophisticated piece of equipment that doesn't come cheap.

This is a high-ticket item," said Betty Bienstadt, a Pacific Telephone mobile access information officer A salesperson isn't going to sell 10 a day, so there's quite a bit of competition out there for sales.

For the moment it seems that the "cell" in "cellular' should be spelled "sell" because cellular phone stores have been popping up throughout the United States. Cellular phones come with "a lot of bells and whistles for different prices and options, just like a car," said Myron Peck, deputy chief of the Federal Communication Commission's cellular divi-sion in Washington, D.C.

Here is some information you may want to consider before you buy one:

You don't have to buy a cellula phone if you're not sure it is mething you really need to own. You can also rent one for $80 to $60 a month.

Make sure you will be able to use the phone in the areas where

It is best to buy a cellular phot at a business that will not only install the phone for you but will also provide service if something goes wrong.

The phone isn't the only thing you have to buy. If you are having it installed in your car, you will need an antenna and a mount.

Despite the interference bidding by their vulnerable opponents, North-South reached a good sixdiamond contract that would have been relatively easy with normal breaks. However, when there has been activity by the defenders despite a minimum point count, beware of bad breaks.

Michener in stable condition after quintuple heart bypass operation

AUSTIN (AP) - Author James Michener, whose most recent best-seller is the novel "Texas," is recuperating in stable condition at Seton Medical Center after undergoing a quintuple heart bypass

Michener, 79, author of more than 30 books, was hospitalized Saturday after arriving at the emergency room complaining of chest pains, hospital spokeswoman Linda McFarland said Wednesday.

Doctors performed the surgery Sunday night to bypass five blocked arteries, she said.
"He did not have a heart attack. They did detect some blockages, and the doctors decided now was as good a time as any to perform the bypass surgery," Ms. McFarland said. She said the surgeons encountered no complications during the operation.

Michener was resting comfortably Wednesday and was scheduled to be transferred out of the hospital's intensive care unit, Ms. McFarland said.

"He seems to be doing very well. He's resting well. He got up and moved around yesterday," she said. During bypass operations, surgeons remove veins from another part of the body and use them to replace clogged arteries, Ms. McFarland said. She described the procedure as fairly common. She said Michener likely will undergo a typical recovery program, including exercise and diet

Among Michener's books is the best-selling published last autumn. That project brought him to Austin in 1982 at the invitation of then-Gov. Bill Clements, and he spent 21/2 years researching the book.

"Texas" tells the history of the state and its people from the earliest times to the present.

Michener's first book, "Tales of the South Pacific," won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1948. In 1949, it went to Broadway as the long-running musical "South Pacific."

Among his other major works are "Hawaii," "The Source," "Chesapeake," "Centennial," and "Space."
Michener and his wife spent part of last year in Sitka, Alaska, where he is doing research for a new book.

He has said that book will focus on Alaska and the northern Pacific Ocean. The couple keeps a home at Austin, where Michener is a professor emeritus at the University of Texas.

DEVONPORT, England (AP) -Prince Andrew celebrated his 26th birthday away from his current flame, Sarah Ferguson, with his fellow officers on board the Royal Navy ship HMS Brazen.

Andrew, a helicopter pilot in the Royal Navy, was busy below decks as the frigate arrived Wednesday at this southwestern English port after exercises in the North Sea.

In London, the press was busy Prince Andrew trailing Ms. Ferguson, the woman widely touted to be the prince's future bride. She refused to comment to reporters about her relationship with the second son of Queen Elizabeth II.

MIAMI (LAT) — Dame Margo Fonteyn, one of ballet's all time greats, is coming out of retirement to play the part of the queen in Sleeping Beauty with the Sadler Wells Royal Ballet Company in Miami. The 67-year-old dancer made her U.S. debut as Princess Aurora in 1949 with the same company.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Astronaut Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin will appear on NBC's "Punky Brew-ster" show to help young viewers cope with the deaths of the seven astronauts aboard the space shuttle challenger, the series' creator says.

Executive producer David Duclon, who wrote the episode scheduled for broadcast March 9, said he was inspired by news coverage of how children who saw the shuttle explosion on television were affected by it.

Aldrin, who made man's first visit to the moon's surface with Neil Armstrong in 1989, will appear as himself. He tells Punky, played by Soleil Moon Frye, about the risks that all explorers take. NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Johnny Paycheck and Tanya Tucker are among more than three dozen country music stars lined up for the 10-hour "Thunder Across America" benefit concert for the American Indian on March 22. "We have a long way to go," country singer Bobby Storm said Wednesday. Storm, a full-blooded Cherokee, heads Save the Original Red Man Inc., the fundraising group sponsoring the event in the 9,900-seat Municipal Auditorium.

Other performers scheduled to appear include Johnny Rodriguez, Faron Young and Gus Hardin, Storm said. Tickets cost $10 and concertgoers are asked to bring canned food for needy Indians.

Storm would not estimate how much will be raised, but said, "If we raise just $10, it's worth the NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Entertainer Danny Thomas, who founded St. Jude Children's Research Hospital 25 years ago, has urged the Legislature to keep its promise to boost medical school research into children's diseases.

Thomas told Tennessee lawmakers Wednesday that the state's promise to boost research funding at the University of Tennessee medical school kept St. Jude from leaving Memphis for St. Louis in February.

When our doors opened in 1962, children went there to die," Thomas said of St. Jude, a leading research institution in such childhood diseases as leukemia. "Now, we're pushing 60 percent cured, better than 50 percent."

Gov. Lamar Alexander later said the state has pledged to spend $50 million over the next five years to upgrade research at the UT medical school, also in Memphis. At least-$10 million would go toward research on children's diseases.

BOWIE, Md. (LAT) — Bowie State College has established a Sharon Christa McAuliffe Scholarship-Fellowship Fund to honor the memory of fallen space traveler Mrs. McAuliffe, who received her Masters Degree in Education from the college in 1978. The fund will provide assistance to students in teacher education at both undergraduate and graduate levels.

WASHINGTON (LAT) - Self Magazine will be presenting its third annual National Fresh Start Awards Thursday at a congressional luncheon in the Caucus Room of the Cannon Building. Because these homes are foreclosed properties, they're priced for quick sale.

As you can see, this means a very good deal for you. In fact, you can probably afford an extra room. Or two.

Or maybe a bigger lot. Or a better location. So look over the list; call the real estate broker listed. But hurry. If you've been looking for the best possible deal in a home, don't overlook a foreclosed home.

San Angelo twists 4-5A athletic traditions

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Assistant Sports Editor

BIG SPRING - San Angelo school officials, using its broad veto power given by the University Inter-scholastic League two years ago, helped changed District 45A athletic tradition here Wednesday morning as the 4-5A Executive Committee met to determine sports schedules for the next two years.

With Big Spring dropping out of the league under the UIL's new realignment, 4-5A is left with seven teams and forcing all teams to have an open date during the league season. None of the teams wanted to be saddled with the open date during the ninth and tenth weeks of the football season. That started

Abilene athletic director Shorty Lawson first proposed that the current schedule be retained with the teams scheduled against Big Spring being open that

San Angelo vetoed the motion as is its right under the UIL guidelines. San Angelo always faced Big Spring on Week No. 10 and refused to accept that open date slot without a new schedule draw.

The UIL says that if we don't like the schedule, we can ask for a blind draw," said San Angelo superintendent Bill Graves. "We veto that proposal, but we will compromise. We want to have the first open date, and in return, we will allow other district schools to draw in pairs so each city with two schools can insure having one team on the road and one at home every week.

Midland officials then balked at that compromise feeling that San Angelo shouldn't automatically get the first open date on Sept. 26. Midland athletic director Gil Bartosh asked that San Angelo first draw for positions one, three, five or seven for the open dates, giving the Bobcats a one in four chance at Week No. 1 and the same odds for Week No. 7 of the district schedule. San Angelo again vetoed the Midland tried again as Midland superintendent Joe Baressi proposed that San Angelo take Week No. 1 during this two-year span and then progress through Week No. 7 over the next eight-year period. San Angelo would not bite, knowing they held the Midland, Abilene and Odessa all feared the blind draw more than San Angelo for obvious reasons. In a blind draw, it was possible for cities with two schools to be at home on the same weekend and on the road on the same weekend. It was a situation that gave San Angelo the upper hand.

With no other choice left by the rest of the league, San Angelo had its way, earning the off week on Sept. 26, the first of the seven open dates available, ending for at least two years the tradition of city rivals playing each other on the last weekend of the Riding the crest of an emotional 67-61 District 4-5A playoff victory over Midland High Tuesday night, Midland Lee's Rebels are gearing for Friday's bi-district playoff game against Amarillo High at 8 p.m. in Levelland's high school gym.

This is a trip the Rebs and coach Paul Stueckler are hoping that turns out better than the last bi-district trip the team made.

Lee was last in the basketball state playoffs a year ago and fell in the bidistrict round to Amarillo Palo Duro by one point in overtime. That game was one of the wildest finishes in Lee basketball history

Anthony Dickens hit what appeared to be the game winning basket as time ran out with a 15-foot jumper. The referee signaled two points, but was then called to the scorer's table and was informed that the shot was taken after the game's official gun, a track pistol, had misfired and the shot was not taken in time. Video shows that the shot was taken before the gym horn had

AT ANY rate, the two points were taken away and Palo Duro was given the victory after Lee's team and fans had already gone through a game winning celebration on the court. That game was played at the Lub-other Midland tragedy two years ago at this site. Amarillo High defeated Midland High in overtime at the Levelland gym in 1984

But Amarillo basketball coach Alan Simpson, who is 1-0 in playoff games in Levelland says, "What happened two years ago really has no bearing on this game. It's not even the same team we're playing.

Simpson, whose Sandies won the District 3-5A title with a 142 record, ing report. got to view the Lee-MHS war Tuesday while his team was idle, waiting for the right opponent to step

According to Simpson, he didn't like what he saw in Lee. "I think Lee is awesome, especially for us. They have great quickness and they shot over 50 percent from the field. No one in our district does that very

How does Simpson feel his team matches up against Lee?

"NOT VERY well," he replied. We play a fairly slow-type of game with a man-to-man defense. We don't press much because we don't have much quickness. Lee poses a big problem for us. It's going to be two opposite teams on the floor. If Lee shoots and rebounds as well as they did against Midland High, we'll be in a lot of trouble

Stueckler said Tuesday night that he knows absolutely nothing about Amarillo High, but would start solving that problem Wednesday.

'I really don't know anything about Amarillo High. Jesse Benevides scouted them for us last week but I haven't had a chance to look at his scouting report. I've had a few other things to consider since then said Stueckler, who flipped out a 26page scouting report on Midland High in what he termed a "record number of pages for me on a scout-

Fracture sidelines Dixon for season

From Staff Reports

The news was not all good for Midland Lee on Wednesday in the wake of its 67-61 playoff clinching win over Midland High on Tuesday night shooting guard Lee Dixon will miss the playoffs due to an injury suffered Tuesday night.

Dixon fractured his right, shooting, hand behind the middle two fingers early in the second quarter of the MHS-Lee game. He tried to come back but the pain was too much

They put a cast on it and that usually means it will be at least six weeks," Lee coach Paul Stueckler said. "He will be out for the season. but it's not something he won't recover from.

Dixon was the Rebels leading scorer all season with an 18.9 per game average. Though Dixon was able to bend the fingers slightly after the game, but the cast was put on the hand Wednesday, sealing his fate for the remainder of the playoffs, no matter how far the Rebeis can advance.

"It is very disappointing that I can't play, but I'm just hoping my teammates can go out there and give the best they can," Dixon said.

Stueckier added, "I just told the rest of the kids what DarrellRoyal used to say. When one of the wagons breaks, we'll just circle them a little tighter.

Lee travels to Levelland Friday night to meet Amarillo High in a bidistrict game

ODESSA- Midland College beat Odessa College, 79-74, just five points, when the teams met in Midland a month ago and the Wranglers weren't nearly as desperate as they will be wnight in the 8 p.m. rematch at the Odessa College Student Activities Center. After the loss to Western Texas

College Monday night, OC fell a game and a half behind in the race for third place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference and finds itself in a dogfight for fourth with New Mexico Junior College. Only the top four teams go to the Region V tournament.

Midland College and South Plains College have a hammerlock on the top two positions. MC, the nation's No. 3 ranked team, clinched a share of the title, at worst, by beating Frank Phillips College in Borger Monday night to lead by three games with three to go.

SOUTH PLAINS is second, but describing the Texans' hold as a "hammerlock" may be a bit strong. SPC, with three losses is barely staying ahead of WTC. Frank Phillips is at Western Texas tonight and NMMI at NMJC in other

Before the week is out, Clarendon plays at WTC and OC goes to SPC Saturday, both very important games in the race for the Final Four. Western comes to Midland Monday and the fate of the Westerners down the stretch is of more than passing interest to MC since the Region V tournament will be played at Snyder

In addition to its pursuit of the Region V title, Coach Jerry Stone's Chaparrais are within reach of the all-time MC winning streak, 29 in a row in 1962-83. The Chaps are 27-0 going into tonight's game against the 16-10 Wranglers.

MC'S BIG chore tonight will be to keep 6-8 Greg Lazard under control. Lazard averages 18.3 points a game and leads the WJCAC in rebounds with 13.2 a game and blocked shots, 83. MC's Derrick Lewis, 67, and Eddie Frazier, 55, are second and third in blocked shots. Combining with Dwayne Scott's 17.0 a game, Lazard provides a potent one-two offensive punch.

MC counters with Daron "Mookie" Blaylock who averages 17.4 points a game, Ricky Grace, 15.5; Lincoln Minor, 11.4 and Eddie Frazier, 10.7.

Blaylock with 108 and Grace 85 are one-two in steals while Minor's 67 swipes puts him among the leaders as well

In assists, Grace has 11.2 a game

AUSTIN — Bob Weltlich has his AUSTIN — Bob Weltlich has his first victory in four years against Dave Bliss, a fellow assistant to Bob Knight at Army and Indiana, and Weltlich's Texas Longhorns are all alone atop the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Karl Willock sank a free throw with 25 seconds left to play to give the Longhorns a 58-57 victory over Southern Methodist to move ahead of idle TCU.

of idle TCU.

The Longhorns are 12-2 in the conference and 17-8 overall, SMU is now 8-5 in SWC play and 16-8 overall.

SMU, led by clutch shooting from guard Butch Moore, held a 43-37 lead with 16:51 left in the game. Patrick Fairs tossed in eight points by the 11:38 mark to help pull Texas within two, then Raynard Davis tied it at 45-all with 10:38 left.

The Longhorns then took a 47-45

lead on Fairs' layyp.

Moore, hitting his third basket of the night with time running out on the shot clock, tied the game again at 57-57 with 1:08 left to play.

Moore, averaging just 8.9 points a game, scored 16 points. Terry Lewis, SMU's leading scorer with a 19.9 average, was held to 12 points. Mustangs set up for the last shot, but instead of taking the shot himslef, Moore dished off to reserve center

Jimmie Gilbert scored 14, Gary Lewis 11 and Todd Holloway 10 as the Aggies broke a three-game losing streak. A&M now is 94 in SWC play and 15-10 overall.

Texas Tech fell to 6-7 in league play and 11-13 for the year. A tight man-for-man defense helped the Aggies gain a 31-13 halftime lead as Tech hit only six of 25 field goal attempts. With 15:07 left in the game, A&M held a commanding 40-21 lead when Marbury went to the bench after committing his fourth foul. The Red Raiders, led by Tony Ben-

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Brian Carr scored 18 points, including a 10-foot jumper with four seconds left, to give Nebraska a 66-64 victory over No. 10 Oklahoma in Big Eight college basketball Wednesday night.

Oklahoma had a chance to tie the game after Carr's final basket, but could not get a shot off before the final buzzer.

Nebraska led 43-33 early in the second half, but the Sooners rallied after Cornhusker Bernard Day picked up his fourth foul and left the game with 16:47 left.

Fort Stockton meet marks thinclad opener again

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Assistant Sports Editor

The 1986 track season opens in Fort Stockton with the annual kickoff running of the Comanche Relays and four Midland teams are hoping that the spring-like February weather holds through this meet.

Even though the Comanche run is always a highly anticipated event for the thinclads, it can be a brutal experience if the weather doesn't cooperate. Midland Lee's Eddie Wolski will be making his debut as the Rebel track coach, becoming only the second head coach in the school's 25-year history. Sam Volpe retired last year after winning the Districy 45A track

Jane Young will also be making her debut with the Midland High girls while Johnny Williams will again guide the MHS boys and Janice Baulch the Lee girls. All four teams will compete in Fort Stockton Saturday as field event finals and running preliminaries will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday's running finals have a noon

IN AN effort to defend its 4-5A title, Lee has some returning talent to start with, but Wolski expects to bring his squad along slowly.

Comanche Relays

"Losing sophomore Joe Woodard to shoulder surgery has hurt us. I hope he can compete before the district meet," said Wolski. "We're going to do some experimenting early to find out just where we need everyone

Hurdler Quintus Hampton, a region qualifier a year ago, is back along with district 800-meter champion David Almand and 1600 champ Mike Garza, who qualified for region in two events. Hampton is back from the state qualifying 1600 relay as is Brad Cooper, a 400-

Chris Kenney, who has relay experience, and sophomore Dennis Sterling are expected to help in the relays along with Odell Samuels and Kevin Witt. Samuels was third in the district high jump last year at 6-4.

Some Lee newcomers to watch for include sprinter Waymond Goodley, distance runners Teddy Ruiz and Rodney Clark, both juniors.

COACH WILLIAMS at MHS is looking for a much improved team. His junior varsity teams have won the district championship the last three years in a row and some of that talent may be ready to pay off.

We don't have a lot of strength in the field events, but I feel pretty good about the team," said Williams. "Our sprint relay team has already posted a 42.9 and that's better than we ran all last year. Our 1600 team has a 3:28 and that's pretty good right now.

The district is going to be pretty strong. San Angelo, Abilene and Lee all have a lot of kids back and Permian has enough talent in key places to be a big factor." Wolski thought San Angelo, Odessa High, Abilene and Midland High were the teams to beat, but this is the annual put the monkey on someone else's back time of

THE REASON the MHS relays are ranked so high are Mike Eaden, Anthony Adkinson and Tyrone Oliver, all returning and if one more runner can come through, it could be a big boon for the Bulldogs. John St. Germain returns in the hurdles and Brent Barton in the discus, but that about takes care of the proven talent outside Eaden, Adkinson and Oliver. However, there are some good newcomers to watch, including Terry Robinson in the sprints, sophomore vaulters Donnie Doan and Mark Lane. MHS should be strong in the distance races with five juniors and a sophomore. Junior Sammy Venegas has been looking impressive in the long races while the sophomore Junior Natividad is believed to be another distance prospect. Phillip Suchil, Roy Salinas, Rocky Sanchez, Jose Hernandez and Brad Clark are all battling for distance positions. Charles Comer, a senior but a newcomer to the team, has looked good in the discus. Sophomore Sterling Warren could be a shot put

THE HIGHLY touted Ethel Edwards will be back in the sprints after gaining a state 200-meter berth as a sophomore. Great things are expected from her.

The MHS girls also have junior Amy Cumings, a twoevent region qualifier in the distance races. Amy Hubbard is the only senior on the team and Faye Daugherty is back for relay help. Chandra Govan was third in the district shot put last year.

The Lee girls also have some excellent talent back. Tami Woodberry, who was undefeated until the region meet in the hurdles a year ago, returns and district champion Tangi Carter is back in the 100. Piette Mayfield is also back in the hurdles and sophomore Carrie Roach appears to be a sprinter of note. More will be known about these teams after Saturday and the first taste of competition. We know what some of them can do, but who will be the surprises in 1986. Track is always full of surprises. Now if only the weather can surprise Saturday.

LOS ANGELES - Walt Hazzard, nearing the end of his second year as UCLA's basketball coach, signed a one year extension to his contract last July, it was confirmed Wednesday.

Paterno claims East `runs clean programs'

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) -Penn State Coach Joe Paterno, describing himself as "very uncomfortable with big-time college football these days," says the East runs the cleanest programs.

"I think of all the areas of the country, the Eastern part of the United States - particularly the Northeastern part - is closer to what intercollegiate football should be all about," Paterno said Wednesday night as he was honored as Eastern Coach of the Year by the Football Writers Association of New

Paterno said he could not recall any Eastern team ever being on probation, adding:

don't cheat the way other people do and we don't have the academic abuses in the East that I think we have (elsewhere).

"I don't think we feel that winning is worth that to us. Even though we've got coaches who have lost jobs, I don't think that anybody has felt that it's that important that you would sacrifice some of things that an institution would stand for.

Paterno said he made the "uncomfortable" remark "because of all the things that are going on. Some of the things that have come out in the last couple of years make me uncomfortable.

"I think all the people who are being turned in, the situation in the Southwest Conference, obviously if there are people who are putting pressure on people for preferential treatment with grades (the recent Georgia court case), they're not helping anybody.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Former head basketball coach Jim Dutcher and acting head coach Jimmy Williams will be discipined for their alleged role in efforts to raise funds for the defense of University of Minnesota basketball player Mitchell Lee on a rape charge, university offi-

An investigation has shown that, contrary to previous statments by both coaches, Williams and Dutcher not only knew about the fund-raising effort, but that Williams, at Dutcher's instruction, suggested it to a member of the Gopher booster club, Athletic Director Paul Giel said

Williams, when asked about the university announcement, said only, "The events of today are incredible, to say the least."

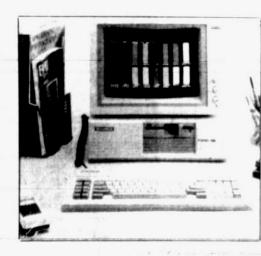

Lee was acquitted in January of rape in connection with an alleged attack a year earlier on a woman who lived in the same dormitory as he did. Lee was defended in the trial by Minneapolis attorney Philip

The Buffs were in the early season rankings as they sped to a 5-0 first half district record. But in the second go-around, Stanton dropped three games and fell out of state consideration. But now against Clint, the Buffs have a chance for redemption.

The Golden Cranes of Crane finished their 7-3A season with an unblemished 10-0 district mark, 21-6 overall. The Cranes fell, 60-59, to Kermit in a post-season practice game on Monday night in Odessa.

Crane travels to San Angelo to take on Lampasas on Friday night. Crane leading scorers and football standouts Kenny Walker. Gerald Mitchell and Abel Sena would all like to avenge a football loss to Lampasas last fall.

On the girls side, Reagan County remained undefeated at 26-0 after a 64-55 Area victory over Haskell on Tuesday night. Reagan County's diminutive scoring sensation Leslie Gooch scored 20 points in the victory. The District 8-2A champion Owls, ranked No. 6 in the state, now advance to Regional play this weekend in Big Spring.

Garden City's girls also advanced to the Regional tournament this weekend in Levelland. The Lady Bearkats, champions of District 16A are 18-7 this season.

THE 25-5 Sandies have a young squad that has 10 of the 13 team members who are either juniors or sophomores. The juniors on this team own a 108-6 record since they started organized basketball in the seventh grade.

Junior Sammy Simpson, a 6-1 guard, leads the team in scoring with a 14.3 average while senior 6-3 post Sherman Ray averages 12.5 per game and 8.5 rebounds per outing. Six-four senior post Craig Brown owns a 9.5 average while 5-11 Dod Clapp averages 6.0 and 6-0 junior Ashton Nowak owns an 8.0 average in the three-guard attack. Another thing that worries me about Lee is the fact that they've played in two big pressure games while we've been sitting around. We had our district title wrapped up for almost two weeks. It could be hard to get the kids back in gear for a pressure type game," said Simpson.

LEE WILL depend heavily on 6-5 post Anthony Dickens, who is averaging 16 points per outing and has had playoff experience. Leading scorer, guard Lee Dixon, is averaging 18.4 points per game, but injured his hand Tuesday against Midland High and will not play on Friday. Dixon was said to have fractured two fingers on his shooting hand.

Forward Eddie Riley is averaging 13.3 per outing and is a good rebounder. Wing Greg Johnson averages only 6.3 per game, but has scored 30 total points in his last two outings to become a needed offensive threat. In Rodney Sims, Henry Brewer and Mike Courtney, the Rebels have some backup strength. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $3 for adults and $2 for students. The game will be broadcast

Naturally when the draw began. Lee and Midland High drew each other to open the 4-5A district season on Sept. 26. The news was even worse for Midland High as the Bulldogs went on to draw a district opening schedule of Lee, Odessa Permian, San Angelo and Abilene High in order to open the district campaign. All four teams are considered contenders in 1986. Lee's schedule appears to be better, but does feature a season ending schedule that is murder with Permian, San Angelo and Abilene High in consecutive order. "Obviously, this isn't the schedule we would draw up if we had our way." noted MHS coach Doug McCutchen. "It sure didn't work out to our advantage, but still, you have to play them all sooner or later, and in this league, you're playing someone tough every week. If we were an experienced team, this schedule might work in our favor, but we will be inexperienced. "Also we drew the No. 8 open week and we have to wonder now if we want to fill that date or leave it open. I don't even know if we can fill it with a non-conference game.

New Lee coach Earl Miller felt his Rebels came out with a schedule he could live with. "There are some problems for us, but I feel pretty good about our schedule," Miller noted. "We have Permian and San Angelo back-to-back, but we do have an open date before the Permian game. We're open Oct. 17 and we'll have to decide quick if we want to fill that date with a nonconference opponent or keep it open with a nine-game schedule. Right now, I would say we will try to fill that date if we can find someone to play on our open date."

The emotional rivalry battle between Lee and MHS coming on Sept. 26 instead of the season ending Nov. 28 also drew mixed reviews from McCutchen and Miller. "I think you build up more excitement for the teams by playing each other the last game, but it should be a great district opener. I guess we'll just have the excitement early this year," said McCutchen. Miller offered, "The Lee-MHS game is always close and it will con-tinue to be close, but we are going to have to change our thinking on that game. We can't put the same emphasis on the game as we have in the past because it's the first district game. You don't want your kids get-ting so pumped up that they think they're out of it if they lose. That was a different case when we played

"I'm not saying that every district game isn't important, but you're not out of it when you lose that first game. You just can't place the major emphasis on the first district game like you can the last. Then you're reported. We regret the error.

playing for pride or a playoff berth. It's a whole different game then." Permian and Odessa High drew the almost fatal open dates on the last two weekends of the season. That was something Odessa athletic director John Wilkins tried to avoid before the draw. He knew the possibility and asked that two teams from the same town wouldn't be saddled with both of the last open dates. No schedule could be worked out to completely avoid that possibility with San Angelo hanging onto the first open date. The schedule will remain the same for two years, but 1986's visitors will become the home team in 1987. In other 4-5A matters, the committee also set the starting dates for the basketball and volleyball seasons. Those schedules will mirror the football schedule. The district volleyball season will begin Sept. 16 while girls basketball will start Dec. 19 with the second game on Jan. 2. The boys will begin district action on Jan. 6.

Girls basketball remains the step child in District 4-5A as another proposal to have the girls varsity play

prior to the boys varsity contests on Tuesday and Friday nights was defeated. San Angelo again was the major opponent with Odessa being lukewarm. Midland and Abilene both wanted the switch. Abilene High superintendent Wayne Blevins was elected by the committee to serve as the 4-5A chairman, beginning at the end of the current school year. He will replace

Big Spring superintendent Lynn

Hise, who is taking his Steers to Dis-trict 2-4A next fall under the new UIL realignment. Bartosh announced that Lee and MHS have three non-conference games lined up to open the football season, but the sites of those contests were still being worked on. Lee will open the season in order with Lubbock Coronado, Plainview and El Paso Eastwood. MHS will play in order Lubbock Monterey, Andrews and Lubbock Coronado. The process of filling the two open dates locally, is in process, but the two local teams will have to decide if they want games to fill those dates first.

After Atlanta committed 42 fouls and finished with four eligible players, 5-foot-7 Hawks guard Spud Webb said it best:

The first technical was called when the Hawks called timeout when they had none remaining, then Glenn Rivers was whistled for a technical for arguing. Rivers also was ejected, and with five players already on the bench after fouling out, the Hawks got another technical for having only four eligible players left.

NBA rules say a disqualified player is allowed to come back as the fifth man on the court, but a technical is assessed.

CLIFF LEVINGSTON, one of the Hawks who fouled out, returned to the game and made a three-point play to make the score 107-105, but Utah's Rickey Green iced the victory with two free throws with two seconds left.

"It was like a 15-round heavy-weight championship fight," said Green, who was 9-for-9 from the foul line and had 17 points and nine assists. "Bodies were flying every-where. I didn't notice they had fouled out so many people. It seemed to me that they just kept running bodies in and out."

"I've never seen a whole team foul out of a game in all my years of basketball, at any level," Utah guard John Stockton said.

Adrian Dantley, who scored 10 of his 31 points in overtime for the Jazz, was 17-of-19 from the free throw line. He said he wasn't surprised when the Hawks started fouling anyone who got near the basket with the hall

"That's their reputation," said Dantley, who didn't miss from the

"We had no other choice than to foul them down the stretch, hoping they would miss their foul shots," Atlanta Coach Mike Fratello said. "As a good experienced team, they made their foul shots down the end."

Thuri Bailey had 19 points for Utah, while Randy Wittman led Atlanta with 23. Webb scored a careerhigh 21 points for the Hawks, who were already short-handed before the game because Dominique Wilkins has an injured knee.

The Reds will have 25 pitchers and catchers in training camp today, including Denny and Gullickson whom they acquired in off-season deals. MEANWHILE, THE NL champion St. Louis Cardinals will have 17 pitchers and six catchers in camp today as most major league baseball teams open their spring training facilities in preparation for the 1986 season.

Most of the teams will have their first workouts for batterymen Friday with the rest of the players reporting Feb. 25 and working out the following day.

The Tigers and San Francisco Giants began workouts for pitchers and catchers today, while the American League East champion Toronto Blue Jays will be the last team to get players in uniform next Tuesday.

Among the first to arrive in St. Petersburg, Fla., for the Cardinals' workouts will be left-hander John Tudor, second last year in the NL Cy Young voting, and catcher Mike Heath, obtained in trade last December from Oakland.

'Whole town just drowned' in relentless California rain

GUERNEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Cars and trucks bob like bathtub toys in the muddy Russian River and homes that stood 30 feet from the bank a week ago now dip awkwardly into the water.

Hundreds of acres of vineyards and orchards lie submerged in a lake that fills the surrounding farmland. A week of relentless rain in this small town 70 miles north of San Francisco bloated the river to its highest level in 31 years here, forcing 1,500 residents from their homes.

"We used to live on Neeley Road," said 80-year-old Leanor Gray on Wednesday, smiling a little after a restless night in an overcrowded evacuation center. "Now we live on Neeley River."

Mrs. Gray was one of the refugees from the area airlifted by helicopters and taken to shelters. Their departures left their communities looking lifeless except for National Guardsmen, sheriffs' deputies, firefighters and other rescue crews slog-ging through the streets.

Some of her neighbors were ferried to safety in small boats. About 25 residents were plucked from the river by rescuers or dug out from mud and caved-in houses. Hundreds refused to leave, anxious to protect their homes or pets.

"The whole town just drowned," National Guardsman Mark McGlaughlin said. "You could see redwood decks and pieces of roofs floating down the river. The houses that were close to the banks, there's nothing left of them. There's nothing left for those people to go home

The Russian River rose to a record 49.5 feet at its worst Tuesday, before receding Wednesday to 43.5 feet. But the rain kept coming, and the threat of more flooding remained.

At dusk Wednesday, the sun peeked through rain clouds and gave a silver sheen to the wet streets. In a dry spot in the midst of flooded farmland, a boy and his father, who had chosen to stay, shot a basketball at a hoop by their home.

"It was terrible," said Fran Collins, 66, who gathered with other evacuees at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Santa Rosa, about 20 miles to the southeast. "Everything was flooded. The main street was washed out. There's nothing left of our

"My house was about 10 feet under water last night," said Angelo Dieli, 27. "There was 5 feet of water in the front room when we left this morning.

Dropout rate worst in District of Columbia

trict of Columbia, Louisiana and Alabama have the worst problems with students dropping out of school, while Minnesota, Nebraska and North Dakota have the best graduation rates, new federal rankings

Secretary of Education William J. Bennett today released his department's third annual chart ranking the 50 states and the District of Columbia on a host of school statistics, including dropouts, college entrance test scores, teachers' salaries and class size.

The chart showed improvements in college admission scores in 35 states since 1982.

"The news is good — our schools are improving again, our children are learning more," Bennett said in a statement. "To the American people I say: Good show, now let's stay at it."

New Hampshire, Oregon and Vermont led in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores in the 22 states where most college-bound seniors take that test; Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota set the pace in the 28 states where the American College Testing Program is dominant.

By contrast, at the back of the SAT pack were South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia, while Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and West Virginia pulled up at the rear on

ACT scores. The chart said 70.9 percent of public school students graduated from high school in 1984, which was a revision downward from the Education Department's previous assessment of a 74 percent graduation rate for that Boston dropouts outnumber grads

BOSTON (AP) - More Boston public high school students quit school than were graduated last year, officials said.

"It is obviously the school system's single biggest problem," said John Nucci, School Committee president.

In 1985, 3,026 students dropped out, and 2,978 were graduated, the School Department reported Wednesday

The dropout rate rose from 11 percent of the student body in 1982 to 15 percent last year and school officials blamed the increase partly on economic pressures, with youngsters as young as 12 seeking papers to work at minimum wage jobs in fast food restaurants.

'More families are being pushed under the poverty line, said Yohel Camayd-Freixas, School Department research director. "It puts pressure on poor kids to find jobs."

Richard Allen, head of the school system's attendance division, said the number of teenagers applying for working papers has doubled in two years.

"Our workload has increased 1,000 percent, Allen said. "With McDonald's and Burger King. We've had 12-year-olds ask for work papers.'

The department explained that some states in the former estimate had not counted special education students and others who were not classified by grade.

In today's accounting, the state figures also were adjusted to take into account migrations of students between states. The graduation rate. which is calculated by dividing the number of graduating seniors by the number of freshmen four years earlier, does not include those who obtain high school equivalency diplomas.

The department said that in 1984. the lowest graduation rates were in the District of Columbia, 55.2 percent; Louisiana, 56.7 percent; and Alabama, 62.1 percent. The highest were in Minnesota, 89.3 percent; and 86.3 percent in both Nebraska and North Dakota.

The department also computed a new graduation rate for 1982 of 69.7 percent. That means the dropout situation improved between 1982 and 1984 even while many states were imposing more rigorous diploma requirements, Education Department officials said. The graduation rate improved in 39 states between 1982

'Some have said that we can't have both excellence and equity in our schools, but the 1986 (report) trary to the usual thinking, test scores can be increased and dropout rates decreased at the same time," Bennett said.

The chart also showed 37 states provide or pay for in-service training for veteran teachers, and 31 require new teachers to pass certification

Alaska paid public school teachers the most: an estimated $39,751 average in 1985, followed by the District of Columbia, $28,621; and Michigan,

$28,401. Lowest teacher pay in 1985 was estimated at $15,971 in Mississippi. The first such chart in 1984 drew brickbats from some state school superintendents and other educators, particularly for the SAT and ACT rankings.

FairTest, a Boston-based group that is critical of standardized tests, issued a statement in advance of today's Education Department release charging that the chart "violates professional guidelines for proper test use and warps school curricula."

John Weiss, the group's executive director, said this "scoreboard approach forces educators in all 50 states to teach to the limited content of what a multiple-choice test can

President Reagan has challenged each state to raise its graduation rate to 90 percent by 1990. He has also exhorted schools to shoot for regaining half the drop in SAT and ACT scores by then. SAT scores fell steadily from 1963 through 1980, but have inched back up in recent years.

Safety of nuclear-powered payloads debated after Challenger explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Challenger explosion is prompting new concerns about plans for using the space shuttle to send nuclear-powered payloads into orbit, with Congress asking about the potential for contamination from an accident

The shuttle had been scheduled to carry two interplanetary probes powered by plutonium generators in separate missions this spring. The Challenger accident has postponed the missions for at least 18 months, but now some members of Congress are questioning whether the shuttle should be used for such a task at all.

"Clearly, the Challenger accident itself raises the important question of risk to the public from future missions containing a nuclear-powered plutonium generator," said Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., chairman of the House energy conservation and power subcommittee.

In a letter Wednesday to Energy Secretary John S. Herrington, the congressman raised his concern about safety and protested the department's failure to provide an analysis of how many people might be contaminated by radioactive particles if an explosion occurs during flight.

Gail Bradshaw, a spokeswoman for the Energy Department, said the document cannot be released until it is declassified, a process that she said has been started. National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Energy Department officials acknowledge that the future of the two missions carrying the probes Galileo

According to documents made available to the House Energy and Commerce Committee, the shuttle missions on which the nuclear-powered space probes were to be carried already were the subject of extensive debates about safety even before the Jan. 28 explosion of Challenger that killed all seven shuttle crew members.

In a report in January 1985, NASA's Aeronautical Safety Advisory Panel noted disagreement over how great an impact the nuclear-powered generators might withstand in an accident and said:

"The concern is with the possible spread of radioactive material if there is a catastrophic destruction of the (shuttle's) SRBs (solid rocket boosters) or ETs (external tank) during pad or ascent phases or during the landing as the result of an aborted mission. Other documents estimated the expected radioactive release from the nuclear-powered payload during an explosion at between 56,000 curies to 111,000 curies, depending on which stage of the flight the accident occurs and which of the missions are involved. An Energy Department study assumes that two to 10 microcuries - a microcurie is one millionth of a curie

- of plutonium would produce cancer in the lung or bone if inhaled. The expected release of plutonium in a launch accident such as the one that occurred with the Challenger was put by the Energy Department study at about

57,000 curies, with a "worst case" possibility of about While none of the available documents describe how many people might be contaminated, the documents recommend that actions be taken to shelter people "or evacuation might be considered" if there is an accident on or near the launch site. Markey said documents "raise more questions than "One savings option that combines a fair return, safety and simplicity has been with us a long time—U.S. Savings Bonds.

Today's Bonds have changed for the better, now offering more than adequate interest rates when held five years or more. These rates have compared favorably with those of other investments. And you need only $25 to get started.

There's no limit to how much your Bonds can earn. And if market rates fall, you're protected by a guaranteed minimum return of 7.5%.

Bond income is exempt from state and local tax, so your after-tax return will be even greater. They're guaranteed safe—and easy to buy through Payroll Savings Plans in companies nationwide.'

Gerber probes report of glass in baby food

Gerber Products Co. says the public has no reason to shun its baby foods but acknowledges it is investigating reports from seven states of broken glass inside its

The latest reports came Wednesday from Maryland, where two women said they found slivers of what appeared to be glass in jars of Gerber strained peaches they were feeding their infants.

"Current test findings indicate consumers should have no cause for concern, as evidenced by the overwhelming majority of the nation's grocers and other baby food outlets that continue to stock, and sell Gerber products," Gerber said in a statement Wednesday

Ronald Lovasz, Gerber's director of quality control, said the Fremont, Mich.-based company was investigat-

said the Fremont, Mich.-based company was investigating reports from seven states.

The statement referred to cases in Florida and Georgia. Earlier, Gerber had acknowledged contamination reports in New York, but the statement did not identify the other states and Gerber refused other comment. "There is no apparent pattern in the reports," Lovasz said. "It is important to emphasize that none of the reports involved injury to any child or adult."

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration said Wednesday that customer complaints of glass in Gerber baby food remained unconfirmed and a recall was unjusti-

"These are isolated cases," said Emil Corwin, FDA spokesman in Washington. "On the basis of current information, there have been no recalls. We are looking and still investigating.

The rash of reports began last week in New York. This week, claims of glass contamination were made in Swainsboro, Ga.; Miami and Lakeland, Fla., and Cecil Maryland health investigators picked up her supply of baby food to examine it for signs of tampering or contamination.

"Consumers should be aware of the possibility of tampering with food and drug products and should take the necessary steps to avoid a potentially dangerous accident," Adele Wilzack, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, said Wednesday.

The second contaminated jar of baby food was found a Baltimore County, state officials said.

FDA spokesman Jim Greene said, "Consumers, as a recautionary measure, would be wise to use a little stra care in buying packaged foods. Look for any iscoloration, any missing or torn wrappings or any

Shultz: U.S. values democracy more than Philippine air bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — With anger still building over the Philippine election, a plan to curb American aid to the government of President Ferdinand Marcos won key converts while the Reagan administration said it prized democracy more than two strategic U.S. military bases in that country.

"We have a big stake there," Secretary of State George P. Shultz told the Senate Budget Committee Wednesday, referring to Clark Air Base and Subic Bay in the Philippines, the largest American bases outside the United States.

But he added: "We have a stake in freedom. We have a stake in democracy. Let's put that first, over and above the bases. The desire to punish Marcos quickly was reflected in the Senate's overwhelming approval Wednesday of a resolution declaring the presidential election results were "marked by such widespread fraud that they cannot be considered a fair reflection of the will of the people of the Philippines." The vote was 85-9.

The administration urged caution on a more substantive proposal to curb American aid, which amounts to $245 million for fiscal 1986. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger warned that cutting off military aid could play into the hands of communist insurgents.

At the same time, it was known that the White House hopes special envoy Philip C. Habib will find some way in which Marcos and his challenger, Corazon Aquino, can share power. Habib, who was sent to Manila by President Reagan, has been silent about his talks there and is not expected to return home before the weekend.

But on Capitol Hill, momentum was building behind a proposal by Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y., to put most aid funds into an escrow account until Marcos was replaced by another government.

Solarz said under the agreement with Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fia., and Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., the funds would be released with "the establishment of a legitimate government in the Philippines that has the confidence of the Filipino people.

Lugar said in testimony before Solarz' committee Wednesday that "perhaps placing U.S. military aid in an escrow account would be an appropriate action." He also said the Marcos government is "not fit to run the Philippine economy" and urged that economic aid be channeled through groups independent of the government.
