

Captain promotions number 49

Forty-nine Reese first lieutenants received pleasant news last week when the personnel office released the calendar year 81A temporary captain list.

One hundred percent of those eligible for the promotion made it. All but twelve of the selectees were given Regular Air Force status. Six of those were medical personnel, who are considered separately. Those six will find out their status when the Chaplain, Judge Advocate General and Health Professional Regular Appointment Board meets June 1.

The other six captains will be in indefinite reserve status.

Those selected from the hospital were 1st Lts. Maureen M. Adamski, Bonny T. Kauffman, Karen M. Mutz, Gregory W. Russie, John H. Worth and Thomas W. Hearn Jr.

Lieutenants named to indefinite reserve status were Steven A. Cantrell, Lawrence E. Coehoorn, Christopher J. Couls, Gary W.

Hallecy, Edward B. Wider and Bruce J. Young.

Selected as regular captains were Andrew R. Beasley, Carl W. Bradshaw, Bruce K. Brooks, Nicholas F. Daffern, Dennis L. Dangelo, Roger H. Ducey III, Gary D. Dyson and David A. Gaitros. Other regulars are

Reese slates rape seminar

On March 26, the security police will be sponsoring a Rape Prevention Seminar. The seminar will be at 1 p.m. at the base theater.

It will include representatives from the district attorney's office, Lubbock Police Department/Crime Prevention Unit, Rape Crisis Center at Lubbock, social actions, Office of Special Investigations, base hospital, base chaplain's office, staff judge advocate, and security police.

Rape is the fastest-growing violent crime in the United States—having increased 103 percent from 1968 to 1977 and up 35 percent in the past five years. According to the FBI "Crime Clock" for 1979, one forcible rape occurs every seven minutes.

The problem, however, is even worse than these statistics show. The FBI says that rape is one of the most under-reported of all crimes, mainly because of victims' fear of their assailants and their fear of possible embarrassment to themselves.

More rapes take place during the evening and nighttime than during the day, and more take place in open public areas than in any other locations. About a third occur in or near the victim's home.

The rapist is not always a stranger. In over a third of the reported cases, the rapist is an acquaintance, neighbor, friend, or relative. Fifty-seven percent of those arrested for rape in 1979 were 25 or younger, and 30 percent were between 18 and 22.

Young women are statistically more likely to be rape victims than are older women. Victims, however, range from children to grandmothers because the rapist is often driven by a desire to dominate and hurt, not by sex appeal as it is generally understood. In fact, reports show most rapists had access to willing female partners at the time they committed rape. Some studies find that three rapists out of five were married.

AF fund drive begins favorably

Reese people showed their "Commitment to Caring" during the first week of the Air Force Assistance Fund drive by turning in 40.2 percent of the base goal in the first three days.

Reports are compiled each Friday and, according to Capt. Harry J. Hodges, project officer, "We are anticipating a big turn-in today."

Leading the way in collecting $4,473 of the $11,129 goal were Supply squadron with 159 percent of their goal, Communications Squadron, 219 percent and wing staff, 202 percent.

Air Training Command's portion of the 1981 goal is $304,030. The AFAF campaign, which began March 2 and runs through April 3, supports the Air Force Aid Society, the Air Force Enlisted Men's Widows and Dependents Home and the Air Force Village.

ATC's 1981 target is an increase of about $44,000 over last year when the goal was set at $260,238. However, it is well under the $462,859 that ATC members actually contributed to AFAF last year.

On the inside

Previews

March begins severe weather season on the South Plains, and brings with it the usual worry of tornadoes. A Field Maintenance Squadron lieutenant offers a more precise way of spotting twisters; by using your television. See page nine.

Praises

Dr. Robert Marlett came to Reese recently for a tour and orientation flight. His visit resulted in a letter to the wing commander, praising the professionalism of the people he came in contact with. For a look at the letter, see page two.

Promotions

Twenty-four Reese senior airmen became noncommissioned officers this month. Supervisors and command personnel turned out in full regalia to honor the new NCOs at the third monthly NCO status luncheon. See page four for the list.

Pastimes

The cost of living is up, and that includes the cost of entertainment. With the long summer days just around the corner, the arts and crafts center is offering inexpensive classes in inexpensive hobbies. See page six for full details.

Hospital commander praises people

by Col. (Dr.) Lloyd A. McLaughlin
Hospital Commander

Perhaps you have not had an opportunity to visit the Reese Hospital recently, but if you have, you probably are aware of the helpful, friendly attitude of the hospital personnel. This is a reflection of their pride in their institution and their dedication and professionalism. We are all proud of our hospital and are very conscious that we are a service organization to serve you.

It is considered a pleasure as well as our main job to render timely, quality care with empathy and understanding to all patients who seek help at our hospital.

We realize that people, during periods of stress or illness, may be easily upset and have personal problems tending to compound their interaction with people. We accept this fact and attempt to alleviate their apprehension by handling visits to the hospital expeditiously and with understanding.

So you can readily see we care and try to "go the extra mile" to make your visit to USAF Hospital Reese pleasant and medically satisfactory.

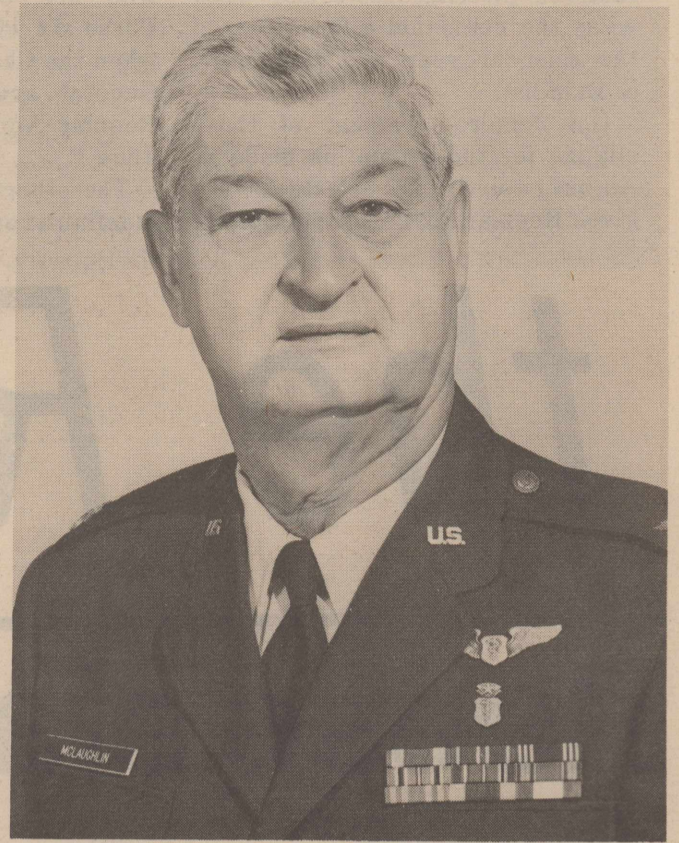

There are times when isolated instances may seem that things do not happen as described above. For this we ask your indulgence and state we are human. But, we will continue to strive to reach our goal of total satisfaction.

Like many federal services we have increasing monetary and manning constraints. Would you help us in our effort to help you by: being brief when you need to call the hospital for appointments, to speak with the doctors etc.; coming 10 to 15 minutes early for the appointment so you may be seen on time; and also understand that if the provider happens to be late that he may be taking care of a more urgent patient; using the emergency room for true emergencies which includes a worsening condition of a patient during non-duty hours; understanding that the provider treats you to the best of his ability and realizing not all illnesses are cured by antibiotics, and some illnesses do not require medication, but, time to run their course.

We have plans to start in the near future a family practice concept which will permit individuals to be followed by the team of a family practitioner and physician assistant provider, rendering more personal, continuing and comprehensive care to our patients.

Yes, we have limitations, but we are attempting to expand rather than curtail services to you, our patients, and hope to offer these services the way you would expect to receive them.

Contracts offers advice to buyers

by Terry Ford
deputy chief of contracts

So what do a 400 pound barbecued pig, a fancy trophy, a front-end loader, and three hundred eighty-five pairs of drapes have in common? Not much . . . except that they were involved in four separate unauthorized contracting actions at Air Training Command bases this past year.

Unauthorized contracting action . . . sounds familiar doesn't it? Sounds pretty terrible is what it sounds like! What it means is that someone obligated the government to pay for something—and they didn't have the authority to do so. One person who doesn't really need a trophy for something he didn't do is still trying to explain to his wife why he had to pay for it out of his own pocket.

The others were somewhat luckier . . . all they had to do was stand in front of their commander and try to explain to him why they decided to ignore proper acquisition channels (and violate several regulations at the same time).

ATC in general and Reese in particular have been suffering an increase in the incidence of unauthorized contracting actions. The only person authorized to obligate the government to pay for goods or services is a contracting officer.

When someone other than a contracting officer or his designated representative places an order for goods or services with a commercial firm, or accepts unordered goods or services, an unauthorized obligation is created. When the firm later presents a bill for payment, the accounting and finance officer cannot make payment since there has been no properly signed contract created. The firm will then look to the person who placed the order for payment . . . which is how our friend gained that lovely trophy.

The only other option is ratification, which is after-the-fact "blessing" of the unauthorized contracting action. Only the deputy commander for resources may ratify an unauthorized contracting action and then only when circumstances truly justify it.

These unauthorized contracting actions all have some serious undesirable aspects. First, they create ill-will in the business community when they delay or deny payment to the commercial firms involved (who generally acted in good faith).

Second, they create a good deal of embarrassment for not only the one who took the action but also his commander (who must explain how it occurred, what corrective action has been taken to prevent recurrence, and what disciplinary action was taken, or why none was taken).

Third, they waste an enormous amount of time on the part of the Staff Judge Advocate (who must get involved if the action is processed for "ratification," or official, after-the-fact blessing), the Contracts Division (who must write the official contract if the action is ratified), and the Deputy Commander for Resources, who will ratify the action if he deems that such is called for.

Save yourself embarrassment and money . . . don't become a statistic in this area . . . before you take any steps toward acquiring goods or services, call the Contracts Division, Ext. 3441. After all, what would you do with another trophy anyway?

Doctor lauds Reese

It is not often that civilians can get as close a view of operations at Reese as Dr. Robert Marlett was given the opportunity to do recently.

On January 12, he underwent a high-altitude chamber flight with our Physiological Training Unit and egress training with the Aircrew Life Support Unit. On January 28, he took a high altitude T-38 orientation flight. His letter speaks for itself.

His impressions reflect my own feelings about the manner in which our personnel continuously accomplish the wing mission. My congratulations to all those involved with Dr. Marlett's visit for a job well done.

However, I would like to add that I know professionalism is not limited to the areas Dr. Marlett observed. Had he visited any other units on base, he would have left here with the same impression of proficiency and dedication.

Dear Colonel Montgomery:

Recently, I had the privilege of participating in high altitude training and jet aircraft flight at Reese Air Force Base. As a scientist and observer of human behavior, this experience was extremely informative and profound.

First, I wish to express my gratitude and thanks to you and your command for making the training and flight possible. Second, I would like to congratulate you on the professional use and proficiency evident in every person and operation that I observed. Third, I was very impressed with your personnel's high level of human warmth and concern while at the same time maintaining excellent professional efficiency, not only with me but with each other.

Clearly your mission is vital to this nation's defense effort and the survival of free people everywhere. When it comes to increased defense budget, and accountability of results, your training program and operation should make any American feel much better about how his tax dollar is being spent, especially in light of the awesome, high energy and high technology demands of today's and tomorrow's defense needs. We cannot be silent on this matter.

Thank you again for the experience, photographs, and the opportunity to use my own camera. I will share my photos with you if any seem to be of use to you. Please let me know if I can be of service to you.

Respectfully yours,
Robert Marlett

Care Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Monte Montgomery, 64th FTW commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personnel reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.

** Retired Personnel play an important role in our nation's defense. Although no longer in uniform, they are as much a member of the military community as you and I—and should be treated with the same respect. They are entitled to be addressed by their retired rank, especially on any document or correspondence. We have a number of retired personnel in this area. There are two retired associations which meet frequently at Reese. They are the Retired Officers Association and the West Texas Retirees Association. These organizations are doing a lot to get the word out to the civilian community about defense. They are an important liaison between the base and the community. Let's make sure they receive the attention and respect they deserve.

** A special thanks to the morale, welfare, and recreation folks, especially the rec center personnel, for their support on such short notice of the Officers' Wives' Club art fair on Feb. 28. An electrical problem at the Officers' Club forced the move. Thanks for the outstanding support.

** Congratulations to field training detachment and the hospital. They have gone three months with 100 percent seat belt utilization. Great job! For the month of February, the following organizations achieved the 100 percent mark; supply, communications, hospital, the 35th, resource management, and FTD. February's results are the best I've seen in a long time. Keep it up!

** Congratulations to our talent contest winners. The vocal group comprised of Sgt. Legene Brooks and Airmen First Class Eric Snell and Calvin McCoy took first place. Second place was captured by singer SrA Stephanie Dean. Sergeant Brooks also captured third place in the drama category. Self-accompanied male vocalist 1st Lt. Gary Dyson placed fourth. The winners, along with A1C Ed Frazier, male vocalist, and A1C Quenton Smith, MC category, are representing Reese in the ATC Talent Contest at Keesler this week. If they win there, they will compete in the Air Force contest, also at Keesler, March 24-30.

** For the first time in many months, we were below our MOGAS consumption goal last month. We only used 88 percent of our monthly goal. I know it took a lot of effort on everyone's part. Let's keep it up.

** I got a call on CARE Line from an individual who was upset by the content of citations read at the retreat ceremony Feb. 18. The individual had attended one of the Air Force effective writing classes and was concerned with the redundancies and unnecessary large words used in the citations. I totally agree with you. Even though those citations were not written at Reese, my staff and I had a long conversation on those specific citations immediately after the retreat ceremony. We will have to edit them in the future.

** Another caller was concerned about the heat, or the lack of it, in the mornings on the second floor of building 420. There was also the problem of no hot water for showers. The heat has been adjusted to provide more heat to the rooms at the end of the hallways, which require more heat due to being exposed to outside walls. The boiler has also been adjusted to allow a maximum amount of water to be heated. The best solution to this is for personnel taking showers during high peak hours, such as early mornings, is to conserve the hot water and save some for others.

** A resident, and mother of two children, in Reese Village called, very concerned with cars speeding as they enter the village area from off base. I agree. The speed limit signs are too close to the intersection. A work order to move the signs 50 feet has been submitted. Thank you for bringing this to my attention.

** Concerning an answer in the Feb. 20 CARE Line concerning where checks can be cashed on base, a caller asked that I clarify the policy of check cashing at the clubs. The clubs are only authorized to store a certain amount of funds. In order to service all members, a check cashing limit was needed. I hope this clears things up. Check with your club to find out the specifics of their check cashing policy.

HELP YOUR CHILDREN SAVE!

If you've got children at home, start thinking about their financial future; set up a special share account at your credit union and let them watch it grow.

Your young one can salt away a sizable sum by saving the money that Grandpa sends for Christmas; income from babysitting or a paper route can be remarkably effective for building the share account balance.

By the time they're ready to leave home, they'll have an appreciable amount saved, and, more important, they'll have the savings habit.

Reese honors 24 new NCOs

Reese's third monthly noncommissioned officer status luncheon featured 24 newly promoted sergeants, along with a full complement of supervisors and command personnel.

The program, started to honor those moving from senior airman to sergeant, was held at the enlisted open mess last week. Guest speaker for the event was MSgt. William G. Coston, the soon-to-retire, ex-first sergeant of Air Base Group. He spoke on the responsibilities of an NCO.

CMSgt. Coy Martin, wing senior enlisted advisor, along with squadron first sergeants, presented certificates to the new sergeants. After the luncheon, group pictures were taken.

Those promoted included Kevin K. Bailey, Gary T. Butterworth, John S. Calejo, James A. Codd, Jeffery S. Devin, Don S. Dinwiddie and Edward W. Donnelly. Also included were Ronald W. Dulaney, Sandra D. Finley, Glen R. Fox, Debra L. Horne, Viola E. Huzvar, Deborah L. Koonz and Robert E. Luce.

Other honorees were Lydia J. Montague, Gene I. Peterson Jr., Daniel J. Rodriguez, George E. Spade II, Lee R. Steward Jr. and Joseph K. Spies. Rounding out the list were William L. Serena, David R. Silveria, Grey L. Vincent and Rhonda K. Wilson.

All the former senior airmen put on their star March 1.

Special News Bulletin on Whole Milk

By

FLATLANDER DAIRY

Our daily intake of food is to sustain life, and the choice of food had a factor in your present health and will be a factor in your future health.

This column is utilizing the foremost research findings of Adelle Davis, the nation's best known Nutritionist who studied at Purdue University and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

To keep interest high in this column on foods, we will start off telling a story of two friends working at the same plant.

At the morning coffee break, the two sat down at a table; one ordered a cup of black coffee and used a spoonful of sugar.

The second friend had a Thermos bottle of cold FLATLANDER Whole Raw Milk, and poured himself a glass of cool milk. Both of the men had a second fill up.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE COFFEE DRINKER: The hot coffee with caffeine and added sugar renewed his energy level and the drinker felt better. The caffeine contracted the blood vessels in his body, raising his blood pressure, and the sugar added extra energy for heart action.

However, in a short period of an hour, the high energy level of the caffeine kick was over, the blood vessels relaxed, the increased sugar effects were over and down came his blood pressure. The coffee drinker then reached for a cigarette and the nicotine had a similar effect on contracting the blood vessels and raising the blood pressure, and increasing the energy level. But this spurt of energy soon wore off. Many call this the Caffeine & Nicotine Fit for energy.

The second party who poured out a glass of cool FLATLANDER Whole Raw Milk experienced an immediate surge of energy and heart action from the calcium in the milk plus the milk sugar. The whole milk drinker experienced a quick relief from stress, fatigue and a big build up in the energy level that lasted for hours.

Whole milk is a complete life giving food, and has 40 known elements—vitamins, minerals, enzymes, energy cream—all essential for healthful living.

In your opinion, which of the programs is desirable—the Coffee and Cigarettes or the wholesome nourishing glass of refreshing FLATLANDER Whole Milk?

The U.S. Insurance Companies today have two insurance rates: the non-smoker gets a good reduction in annual premiums and is rated to live eight years longer than coffee drinkers and cigarette smokers.

If you were Personnel Manager seeking increased production, what would your thinking be on food products for a healthy and energetic work force?

Thanks for reading this column; we are crusading for Raw Whole Milk and fresh raw foods for better health. When you drive to FLATLANDER DAIRY, One Mile North of Clovis Road on Quaker Avenue, you will see a Million Dollar Modern Dairy, and pay only $1.70 for a Gallon of Grade "A" Whole Raw Milk, 60¢ under the current milk prices in Lubbock at this time.

Comm commander visits

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the Air Force Communications Command, and its members at Reese in the 1958th Communications Squadron received a birthday visit last week from their boss, AFCC Commander Maj. Gen. Robert T. Herres.

While on a 'how-goes-it' tour of several AFCC units across the country, General Herres stopped in to take a tour of Reese, particularly the Comm Squadron sections.

While here he stopped by the telephone switchboard, the telecommunications center, communications maintenance, the control tower and ground control approach. He also took advantage of his visit to get a look at the altitude chamber and the simulator branch, where he took a ride in the T-37 and T-38 simulators.

The general met with several wing and squadron officials, including Col. Monte Montgomery, wing commander, and Maj. Kelley Cartron, Comm Squadron commander. First Lt. Stephen Gladstone, unit public affairs representative, quoted General Herres. "He was 'very impressed by the way the 1958th Communications Squadron is supporting the wing and its mission,'" said the lieutenant.

For those wondering what to do as the days get longer and spring approaches, the arts and crafts center may offer a solution: Learn a new craft.

The Reese arts and crafts center will be offering a variety of classes, beginning with a series of advanced ceramic workshops in technique and design. The classes will begin March 27 from 6-9 p.m. and the cost is $4 for each workshop.

April 2 marks the beginning of two classes, one in basic black and white photography, the other in basic ceramics.

The photography course will run five weeks, meeting Thursday evenings from 6-9. This class will teach film developing, contact printing, use of enlarger, filter system, cropping, dodging, burning-in techniques and some enlarger experimentation. A 35mm format will be used, paper and chemicals will be included in the $30 per student fee.

Basic ceramics is a four week course which will also meet Thursdays from 6-9 p.m. Cost for the course is $12 for a single person, $20 per couple. It will teach mold casting, cleaning of greenware, application of underglaze and glazes and antiquing. Slip and glazes will be supplied.

For those interested in advanced ceramic techniques, a class in how to hand-make roses (no molds) will be offered beginning April 22 and running through May 13. The Wednesday evening classes will run from 6-9 p.m., and will include a lesson on how to use an air brush. Cost is $15 per person.

Something still in the works for this month is the sale of macrame items in the sales store. Classes in knot tying will be offered at a later date.

For the woodworkers at Reese, the wood craft shop has temporarily extended its hours. They are now: Wednesday, 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Thursday and Friday, noon-9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Sunday from noon-9 p.m. Woodworking supplies and a new line of picture frame mouldings are available.

JAG reports legal actions

by SSgt. Vee Damhauser
 NCOIC, legal office

An airman from Supply Squadron was court martialed in February on two counts of Article 134, possession of marijuana. He received three months hard labor, forfeiture of $334 for six months, reduced to the grade of E-1, and was reprimanded.

Seven airmen first class violated Article 134, five of which were possession of marijuana, one for being intoxicated and incapacitated for duty, and one for disorderly on station. Six were reduced to airmen and one received a suspended reduction to airman basic. A total of 123 days of extra duty and a forfeiture of $2,573 were given to the airmen. Three counts of Article 92, derelict in performance of duty, were given to three airmen. One airman was reprimanded, one was reduced to airman first class, and one received a suspended reduction to airman first class. A total of 14 days and a forfeiture of $288 were given to the two airmen.

Two counts of Article 86, absent from an organization, were given to two airmen. One airman received a suspended reduction to airman basic, forfeit of $250 for two months, 60 days restriction to base and 30 days extra duty. The second airman was reduced to airman basic and received a forfeiture of $50 for two months.

One count of Article 107, false statement to captain, was charged to an airman. He received a suspended reduction to airman and forfeited $116 for one month.

One count of Article 108, through neglect and damage to military property, was charged to an airman. He received a suspended reduction to airman first class and a forfeiture of $200 for two months.

An airman first class violated two articles of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Article 91, willfully disobey lawful order from sergeant, and Article 117, wrongfully use provoking words toward a sergeant. He was reduced to airman.

An airman basic was charged with Article 128, unlawfully striking an airman first class. He received a 30 day restriction to base.

Safety Wise

by Maj. Kenneth F. Hamlin
 Chief of Safety

You may have noticed the safety inspectors out around the base recently. It's certainly not because they don't have a load of work to do in the office. It's because they're needed more out in the work areas.

We're not looking to find discrepancies to get someone in trouble with their boss; that's never our intention! What we do try to do is point out unsafe practices and hazardous situations to the affected people so that people don't become injured or equipment damaged.

We realize that when people work in a job they may get too close to it. They can't see the hazards. They don't have or make the time to step back from the job and look for the problem areas. Although we probably don't have the expertise about the job being done, we are knowledgeable about the more common hazards that crop up in the work area.

Ideally, the workers and supervisors should continually be alert for improper acts and conditions, but it usually doesn't happen that way. It takes an outsider to spot the problem. As a technique the supervisors might try to ask another supervisor from a different shop to come by for a coffee break and look around and see if he spots anything abnormal.

If you don't have authority to correct a problem, just fill out a hazard report and send it to safety and we'll look into it and get the proper people to take action. We all realize we don't live in a completely safe world but if more people became more actively involved in safety, as they should, then we could save ourselves a great deal of misery and money.

If you notice a hazard, find a HR form and fill it out. If you don't want to do that, just call the safety office, Ext. 3504, and we'll fill it out for you.

TV can forecast twisters

by 2nd Lt. Stephen Williams
64th Field Maintenance
Squadron

Editor's note: Lieutenant Williams is a graduate of Eastern Illinois University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in industrial technology. He learned of this unique approach to weather watching while working for WHBQ radio in Memphis. He also holds a first class radio license from the Federal Communications Commission.

Sirens and television/radio announcements are great, but sometimes they provide little time to react to an imminent emergency when it comes to tornadoes.

Speaking as a scientist, one of the best tornado-detecting machines, and almost everyone has one, is a television set. The core of a tornado emits an electrical frequency close to 55 megahertz and that's the band used to broadcast programs on channel 2. The effective radiated power of any spinning tornado is sufficient to make a noticeable difference on regular TV within 10-15 miles.

To set a baseline for brightness, first turn the set to channel 13 (it's frequency is 211 megahertz, far enough above a tornado's signal so that there should be no interference.) Darken the screen just to the threshold of blackness, then turn back to channel 2.

Under normal conditions, the screen should be black. If the screen is white, or if a program on channel 2 becomes visible, it's time to head for shelter. A tornado must be within about 15 miles of your location to cause the channel to light up.

A few items bear mention at this point. First, a TV with an indoor antenna is advisable. Outside antennas would be more likely to pick up a tornado's signal, but unfortunately they also tend to attract lightning. A standard safety practice is to disconnect outside antennas during electrical storms.

Second, this test will not work if the television is hooked to cable. Disconnect the cable and use the set's internal antenna (make sure it's hooked up). Also, an AC/DC television avoids problems if the electrical power should be interrupted.

Finally, although officials of the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration have tested this procedure and found it effective, they maintain that not enough data is available to say that it works 100 percent of the time.

Three Diet Centers In City Posting Limited-Time Discount

Celebrating Grand Opening of the Diet Center at 3307 82nd under new ownership of Nancille Gallimore, the three Diet Centers in Lubbock have posted specials in salute.

"How to Win at the Losing Game" has never been made easier in Lubbock than at this time!

Each of the three Diet Centers is offering a $40 discount on the six-week program in recognition of the Grand Opening.

One Near You

So... take your pick:

The Diet Center at 3307 82nd St., with Nancille as owner and counselor; the 4211 Boston Ave. Diet Center, with Deanie Alewine as owner-counselor; and the 3602 Diet Center (in Security Park) where Candy Christmas is owner-counselor.

It all adds to the happy truth that "there's a Diet Center near you," each directed by graduates of the Dietology Training School in Rexburg, Idaho.

Nancille not only has assumed ownership of the 82nd Street facility, but she also owns Diet Centers in Crosbyton, Post and Spur. She is an Isbell Powell graduate and for 11 years was a beautician in Lubbock and Crosbyton.

Candy Christmas, at the Slide Road Diet Center, not only is most qualified in the field but she also is a flight instructor.

Deanie Alewine, at the Boston Diet Center, is a native West Texan, and before opening Diet Centers here was a 10-year Bryan (Tex.) resident where she attended Texas A&M.

The Diet Centers place emphasis on a well-balanced nutritious diet, with private daily counseling by "a counselor who cares."

As to expense... the Lubbock counselors emphasize that it costs less than 50 cents per day for loss of 17 to 25 pounds in the program, with six weeks for reducing, followed by six weeks for stabilizations and a full year for maintenance. No drugs, no shots and no contracts are involved.

Some may not realize that Diet Center programs are set up to meet each individual's needs, and that these can be adjusted for folks with special health problems. Counseling is afforded men and children, as well as women.

In brief, it is explained that the Diet Center program calls for a well-balanced diet, and the clients will not lose the essential fat on the body, but only the extra adipose fat; the dieters will have all the nutrients necessary to maintain good health while losing adipose fat from the body.

"We use no pre-packaged foods that contain chemicals, because chemicals slow down weight loss. We use only well-balanced natural foods."

"With the aid of one of the Diet Centers in Lubbock, you can feel well and if you persevere, in no time at all you'll begin to look as great as you feel!"

The Diet Center at 3307 82nd St., phone 793-3438, is open from 11:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., five days a week, closed Saturdays and Sundays.

Hours are 7:30 a.m. until 1 p.m., Mondays through Fridays at the Diet Centers at 4211 Boston and 3602 Slide.

"Was one of your New Year's resolutions that of losing weight and looking your best? Let the Diet Centers help you now, effectively and economically; it was never easier." (Advertisement)

Tidbits

Art contest

The Air Training Command Art Contest will be held at Lackland AFB, Texas on May 20.

The contest is open to all active duty military personnel assigned or attached to an ATC base. Competition will be divided into three categories and each category will consist of two classes, contemporary and traditional.

The categories are: Painting, consisting of any variety of media; drawing, which is pencil, pen, chalk, crayon, etc. and sculpture in wood, stone, ceramics, metal, etc.

All entries must be original work and not have been entered in previous ATC contests. All entries must be submitted to the arts & crafts center by May 3. For further information call Ext. 3141.

Correction

Sponsors who have guests on Reese after duty hours (with the exception of people visiting Base Housing) will be required to meet their guests at the Main Gate and sign them in. Special events should be coordinated with security policy (weddings, etc.).

Orientation

Personnel and family services will sponsor a personal affairs orientation March 24 in room 102 of the simulator building. There will be two sessions: 8:45-noon and 6:45-10 p.m.

The orientation is designed to acquaint spouses with the special rights, privileges and benefits they and their children have as a result of their Air Force affiliation.

Free nursery care will be provided. Arrangements must be made before Monday by calling Ext. 3306. Discussion items will include casualty notification and assistance, the Air Force Aid Society, Family Services, legal services, CHAMPUS, medical benefits and disaster preparedness.

New birth

TSgt. Gary and Songkwon Kunz had a baby March 1. Their new daughter weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces and was born at 2:22 p.m.

Ticket time

Since today is pay day, ticket sales for the enlisted dining-in are expected to be brisk. Squadron first sergeants still have a supply of tickets for Tuesday's event, but people are encouraged to buy as early as possible. Cost is $7.25 per person.

Wind word

In last week's article on the approach of severe weather season, the "things to do" during a tornado warning included opening a window or door if time permits. That was standard advice until recently.

New studies have shown such a practice can do more harm than good, since even more damage can be done by the tornadic winds getting inside and blowing things.

Therefore, the National Weather Service advises those under the threat of tornadoes to simply seek shelter in an interior hallway or closet and not to bother with windows or doors.

JOC dance

The Junior Officers' Council is sponsoring a dance at the officers' club March 20. The dance is open to all club members and will feature live music from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. There will be a $1 cover charge. See next week's Roundup for further details.

Check ride

Second Lt. Thomas S. Shipp of 81-08, A Flight, logged an outstanding check ride during an instrument check last week.

Open house

Reese Open House will be held May 10. Notices will be sent to all units from Morale Welfare and Recreation announcing plans of meeting after the first official open house meeting.

"THE ELEPHANT MAN" OPENS AT LUBBOCK MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM

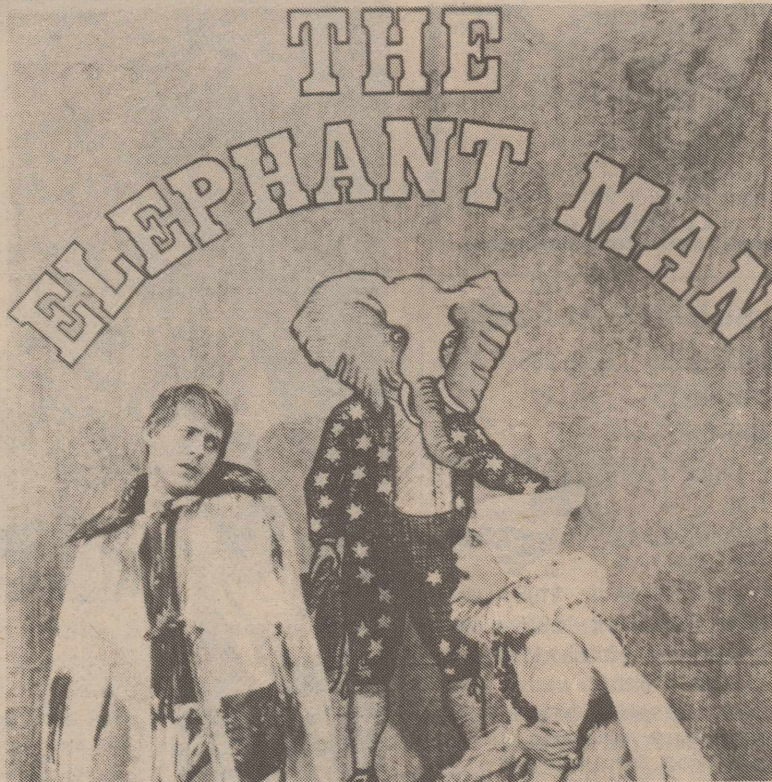

"The Elephant Man," the moving Broadway hit based on an actual historical figure from Victorian England, will open at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on March 30 for 1 performance at 8:15 pm. Call 742-3610 for ticket information. In 1979 when the Bernard Pomerance play opened on Broadway, it swept all of the major theatrical awards, including the 1979 Tony Award as Best Play of the Year, the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award, the Drama Desk Award and the Outer Critics' Circle Award, establishing it as a landmark in contemporary drama and rescuing from obscurity the strange and moving story of a luminous soul trapped within a body people regarded as "monstrous."

Based on an actual case history, the two-act play tells of one John Merrick (1863-1890) who was rescued from a demeaning sideshow exhibition by Frederick Treves, a highly-regarded London surgeon who died in 1923. Ironically, in Treves' hospital, Merrick the former freak becomes the darling of the day, ending his brief but unusual life receiving the cream of society in his hospital room. Among the eminent Victorians who come to visit Merrick is the actress Mrs. Kendal, who creates an oasis of warmth and humanity for the freakish "Elephant Man," who reveals a wit and intelligence that surprises even his doctor. Playright Pomerance has created a character which, without requiring the actor to don grotesque makeup, suggests not only the terrible physical deformity that John Merrick bore throughout his 27 years but the luminosity of spirit that electrified those who, encouraged by Treves, come to know him as a human being, not as a freak of nature.

The story of the "Elephant Man" has actually been told many times, in the memoirs of Frederick Treves (1923), in Ashley Montague's "The Elephant Man" (1971), in Frederick Drimmer's "Very Special People" (1973), in Leslie Fiedler's "Freaks" (1978) and in the recently published "The True History of the Elephant Man" by Michael Howell and Peter Ford.

The American Theatre Productions tour of this exciting and moving play will open in Providence, Rhode Island, on October 4th and continue from there to more than 50 other cities across America. The play had its Broadway premiere at the Booth Theatre on April 19, 1979, where it is still playing.

TAKE THE MYSTERY OUT OF CARPET CLEANING...

With our Hydra-Master carpet cleaning system

The secret to carpet restoration is "Power Cleaning." Our patented mobile plant generates 10-20 times more cleaning power than conventional portable units operating from household current. All noise and heavy equipment remains outside... only the cleaning wand and vacuum hose enter your home. Extracted dirt and soil are retained in the mobile unit, not dumped into your tub or toilet.

Net gain

Volleyballers from Field Maintenance and Hospital battle it out in opening night action. Hospital took the loss, but made FMS come from behind, 12-15, 15-6, 15-6, to win. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Don Hamblin)

Volleyballers bounce into 1981 action

Field Maintenance Squadron and Supply Squadron set the early intramural volleyball league pace Monday night by winning the circuit's opening games.

Supply easily outdistanced Organizational Maintenance Squadron in straight sets, 15-4 and 15-3. FMS dropped the opening set to the Hospital, 12-15, but bounced back with twin 15-6 scores in the final two sets.

The early league leaders are among 11 squadron teams chasing the intramural crown. The other squads in the field include Air Base Group, Civil Engineers, 1958th Communications Squadron, Resource Management Squadron, the 35th Flying Training Squadron and the 64th Student Squadron. These teams will try to unseat the defending champion, the 54th Flying Training Squadron.

Although ineligible for the league championship, the varsity women's team will also compete in lopp play.

Intramural action is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. each Monday through Thursday with new matches slated to start every 45 minutes.

Fencing tournament

Reese's fencing team, the best in the Air Training Command, will be the host squad for an invitational fencing tournament March 21.

Headed by ATC champ Shawn Hart, the base team will take on fencers from Odessa College, Amarillo College and Texas Tech. There is a possibility that a team from San Angelo State University will also participate.

The action begins at 10 a.m. in the base gym.

The meet is open to the public.

Group team

Personnel interested in playing on the Air Base Group golf team should call the orderly room at Ext. 3715 before March 23. Players must have established handicaps before the start of the intramural season.
