Fun Fourth

Games, music, refreshments and fun will be the order of the day for the Reese Fourth of July picnic. Festivities are scheduled to begin at noon Saturday, but a parent/child softball game and horseshoe tournament will precede the picnic.

Reese observes Fourth of July

By A1C Nanette Arpin
public affairs division

Across the United States and Armed Force Bases throughout the world Americans will celebrate the 205th year of American freedom on July 4.

Personnel throughout the base are invited to help celebrate the great day at the Reese picnic grounds.

Free prizes will be given each hour including coolers, bicycles and $25 gift certificates; which can be used at any MWR facility except the beverage package store. Also, at 11 p.m., a grand prize, a 19 inch color T.V., will be presented. Remember, you have to be present to win.

Feel free to enjoy food and beverages and play some of the game booths while listening to music.

Families have the right to choose what to do and what a choice! All families can enter both the family softball game beginning at 9 a.m. in the little league field. Parents, don't forget, you have to use a broom for a bat. Also, at 11 a.m., parents can partner with their children and enter in the horseshoe tournament at the base picnic grounds. A team consists of one parent and one child.

The recreation center will handle beer sales and both base clubs will operate a wet bar from 6 p.m. to midnight.

Live entertainment will be provided by a group called The Phantom Band playing from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Following the Fourth of July picnic, which ends at midnight, those still in a festive mood are encouraged to take in the disco at the Windmill Enlisted Club.

Davis recalls meaning of Fourth

by Gen. B.L. Davis commander,
air training command

(ATCNS) — Two hundred and five years ago our forebears bravely challenged the world's mightiest military force with the ringing Declaration "... that these United Colonies are, and of Right out to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES..."

Eleven years later, when Benjamin Franklin emerged from the final session of the Constitutional Convention, someone asked him about the result of their prolonged deliberations. His answer posed a challenge as compelling today as it was then: "You have a republic — if you can keep it."

Keep it we have, sometimes at a fearful cost, and keep it we will, forever — for our sakes, for the sake of our children and for the sake of every oppressed human being who thirsts for the freedom we often take for granted.

But we can't be content just to relive past glories. Each July 4th must be a time of renewal, of reaffirmation of our faith in the basic premise — world-shaking in Revolutionary times, and still not subscribed to by some nations — that each individual is endowed by his Creator with dignity and worth. We offer a shining example to the world of how a people and their country can be woven tightly together into an indestructible nation.

As you, your family and friends enjoy your Independence Day holiday to the fullest — safely! — remember that you're being privileged to do so in the greatest country on earth: the ideal, the dream, the glory that is America.

Westbrook tops graduating Class 81-06

Capt. Harold E. Westbrook topped a field of 46 Undergraduate Pilot Training graduates here last week by capturing the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy.

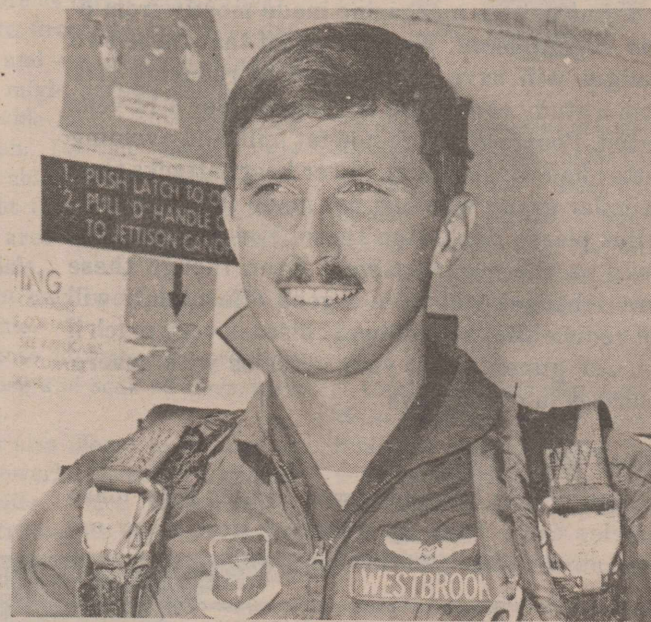

The ATC award, presented to the top all-around student in each class, was one of two awards earned by the Marietta, Georgia native. Captain Westbrook was also among four students to receive the Distinguished Graduate Award.

Capt. Jesse G. Bagwell was presented with the Flying Training Award and was awarded Distinguished Graduate Award.

Leadership awards for class 81-06 went to Capt. Roger D. Benell in Section I, and to Capt. Mary K. Higgins from Section II. Captain Higgins was also presented with the Academic Training Award.

Outstanding Second Lieutenant Awards went to 2nd Lt. R.D. Witchey and 2nd Lt. Robert J.

Hearne lauds MWR for Fourth preparations

by Col. Richard E. Hearne
64th Air Base Group commander

June was National Recreation Month and Reese has hosted numerous activities such as the Volksmarch and Tennis Clinic. Our Morale, Welfare, and Recreation people are doing a superb job planning events for the remainder of the summer.

I'm especially enthusiastic about the program MWR has planned for the Fourth of July weekend. It promises to be fun for the whole family. Activities will start Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Little League Field, with the parents playing a softball game against the children. After the softball game, teams consisting of one parent and one child will compete in a horseshoe tournament at the picnic area. Starting at noon, various other youth contests and squadron sponsored carnival games, food and beverage booths will be available. Purchase of a beer or Coke will provide a chance to participate in the "hourly free-prize give-away" events. Starting at 1 p.m. and every hour after (until 11 p.m.) various prizes (bicycles, coolers and gift certificates) will be given away to people present at the picnic. All the gifts for the children, such as bicycles, T-shirts, etc., will be given away by 7 p.m.

The gym will offer the adults exciting "Anything Goes" contests and I encourage interested military organizations to contact the athletic director, Earl Hutchings, Ext. 3207, to enter in the competition.

For entertainment we will have the Music Machine available throughout the day. Phantom, a variety band from Dallas, will play from 3-4 p.m. and again from 8 p.m. until midnight.

It looks as though the MWR folks have planned another great fun day, and I urge you to come out and join in, to bring our military families and the Reese Air Force Base community closer together.

Is deadly force allowed?

by
SSgt S. Lawrence Friedman
NCOIC,
preventive law division

Because he's leaving town for a two week vacation, Captain Hornblower wants to protect his valuables and his antique shotgun collection by rigging a shotgun to fire at every entrance of his home.

You be the judge!

Can he use deadly force to protect his property?

Everyone has the right to protect lawfully possessed property from unlawful violence, taking, or interference; but the Texas Penal Code imposes rigid limitations upon the use of both ordinary and deadly force for this purpose.

Generally speaking, only ordinary non-deadly force can be used to prevent trespass or unlawful interference with property; and doing so is justified only if the owner reasonably believes that the degree of ordinary force used was immediately necessary to prevent or terminate a trespass or unlawful interference.

Deadly force is justified in this context only when it is reasonably believed to be immediately necessary to prevent (1) arson, burglary, robbery, theft during the nighttime, or criminal mischief during the nighttime, or (2) to prevent someone from fleeing with property immediately after committing one of these offenses.

In short, even if one of these offenses is involved, deadly force is not justified unless the property owner reasonably believes either that deadly force was the last resort or that the use of ordinary force would have exposed himself or another to a substantial risk of death or serious injury.

Lastly, while use of a mechanical device to protect property against trespass or unlawful interference is not unlawful per se in Texas, it is justified only if (1) the device is not designed to cause, or known by the actor to create a risk of death or serious injury, and (2) use of the device is reasonable under all the surrounding circumstances.

Use of a shotgun device would not be justified under any conceivable set of circumstances, because it would inevitably have a potential for causing death or serious injury, contrary to the code's requirement. Moreover, military personnel are strongly urged to refrain from using any such device, because of the ever present risk of indiscriminate injury and the equally substantial risk of failing to meet the standard of reasonableness imposed by the code.

Dear HEART fields questions

Editor's Note: The Dear HEART Column will appear here from time to time. It contains a representative sample of questions typically asked by readers.

Dear HEART:

A quick question. If you felt you could only make one or two changes in your diet, what would they be?

Dear Reader:

Switch from whole milk to non-fat milk, and from butter to a margarine made mostly from liquid vegetable oil. We have proof that these two changes will have some effect in reducing risk from a study conducted in Finland over a 12 year period. People drinking non-fat milk and avoiding butter had considerably fewer heart attacks than a similar group who had not made the change.

But please don't stop there. For example, cut down on the sugar as well! Even though these three changes will have a good effect, they will not reduce your risk of heart disease very much if you are gumming up your arteries with atherosclerosis in other ways.

Dear HEART:

I am trying to reduce my weight. How many calories can I burn up walking? How many are used up in other types of exercise?

Dear Reader:

It all depends on your speed (which should be slow until you are in good condition). Walking at 2½ miles per hour uses up about 3½ calories a minute. A speed of about 3¾ miles per hour will burn up nearly 6 calories a minute. Running at 10 miles per hour uses up 15 calories a minute.

If you prefer cycling, you can burn up 4½ calories a minute at a fairly slow speed or as much as 11 at a brisker pace. Canoeing, rowing, swimming and horseback riding will burn off calories at a rate of 3 per minute at a slow pace to about 8 at a moderately rapid speed.

Dear HEART:

I showed one of your columns to my mother-in-law. She is a good Jewish cook, and she said that maybe Jews have less heart trouble than other people, since we do not use pork or shellfish, and do not cook meat in butter, or use cream in our coffee at the end of a meat meal. Do these dietary laws have an effect on the rate of heart attack among Jews?

Dear Reader:

We have no statistics relating specifically to American Jews, but do not believe that their rate of heart attack is different from the average. We can tell you that Israel has a slightly higher rate of heart disease than all European countries except Finland and Great Britain. It is also clear that Israeli Jews of European descent, who eat a "Westernized" diet, have a much higher rate of heart attacks than do the Jews from surrounding North African and Middle Eastern countries.

We doubt whether the lack of pork or seafood in the diet would alone make much difference to the level of atherosclerosis since there are many other ways of consuming large quantities of saturated animal fat and cholesterol. (It is true, however, that chicken fat is not as saturated as most other animal fats). Tell your mother-in-law to go easy on the chopped liver, for a start!

*CONGRATULATIONS ARE in order for several award winners. Capt. Robert L. Brooks, chief of the Student Branch, was recently selected as the Texas Air Force Association's Officer of the Year. Capt. Brooks also fills an additional duty as liaison officer for the Lubbock AFA chapter. More on his award may be found on page four.

A1C William T. Fletcher of Civil Engineering was the May winner of the Airman of the Month competition. This award is particularly significant in light of the stiff competition.

Finally, Ray Prickett was selected to represent Air Training Command at the Air Force competition for best traffic management officer after winning the command-level award. Congratulations, Ray, and good luck at Air Force.

FOREIGN OBJECT DAMAGE COSTS AIR FORCE MILLIONS

EXPENSIVE FODDER

*THE LONG weekend is finally here and, with it, unlimited chances for our people to be injured. Supervisors should thoroughly brief their people on safety procedures. Don't swim in unknown waters or without a buddy. Don't attempt to drive too far or too long at one stretch. Be careful with fires, barbecue grills and fireworks. I want everyone back at work Monday morning rested and healthy.

*WHILE I'M on the subject of the Fourth of July, let's not forget that it's not just a long weekend. It is a celebration of our independence, something of which we as members of the U.S. Air Force should be particularly proud. So during the festivities let's not forget what we're celebrating. I'm sure it will make the holiday much more meaningful.

*GEN. BENNIE L. Davis will be at Reese for a final visit prior to his reassignment as commander-in-chief of Strategic Air Command. Let's all give General Davis a good send-off by demonstrating the professionalism which is so much of the Reese reputation.

*SIXTEEN OF our airmen joined the ranks of noncommissioned officers Wednesday during the monthly NCO recognition luncheon. Those 16 have now entered the ranks of one of the most elite and honored groups in military history. I join all personnel from the 64th Flying Training Wing in honoring your achievement. For a closer look at this group of new NCOs, see next week's Roundup.

Fireworks cause numerous injuries

More than 6,000 people are injured each year in accidents involving fireworks. Some are caused by defective or malfunctioning fireworks, but the vast majority result from lack of attention to sound safety practices.

That is why Reese has regulations prohibiting the use or possession of fireworks within the confines of the base, including Reese Village.

Since fireworks are prohibited items, security police are required to take action, which could result in personnel receiving administrative or judicial punishment.

But the threat of punishment is secondary to safety considerations. Since the Fourth of July is traditionally associated with fireworks, Reese people are urged to take the following precautions:

Make sure there is a manufacturer's label and instructions for proper use on each firework item purchased. Illegally manufactured items rarely have either.

Store fireworks in a dry, cool place and avoid rough handling which might damage the fuses.

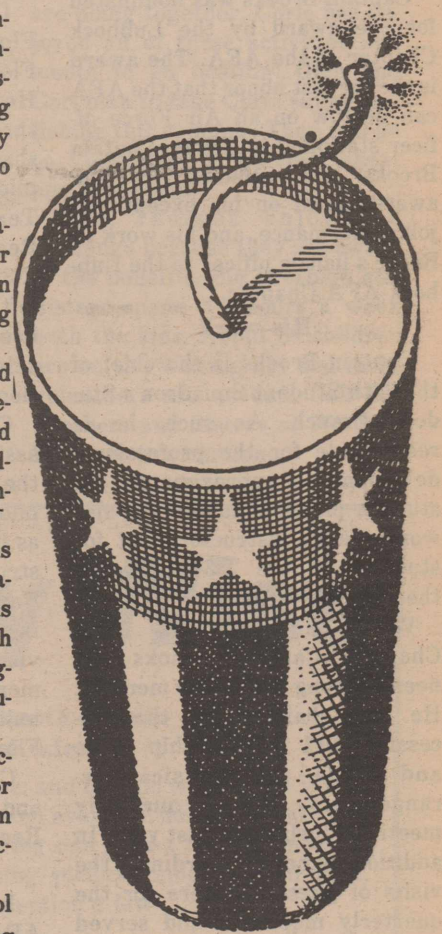

Provide adult supervision for children. Do not permit very young children to use fireworks.

Light fireworks only outdoors in an area clear of combustible materials.

Light only one fireworks item at a time.

Dispose of fireworks properly after use and soak all duds with water.

It is also illegal to possess or use fireworks inside the Lubbock city limits. In fact, policemen will be instructed to carefully watch patrons at fireworks stands to insure they do not go inside the city limits. Last year's court decision upheld the right of police to search vehicles that had stopped at retail stands. Violations will result in seizure of fireworks and issuance of a citation.

County officials also warn that those who go outside the city limits to celebrate the Fourth with fireworks may be trespassing, and a complaint could result in a citation.

Top officer

Capt. Robert Brooks, shown here pre-flying his aircraft, was recently selected by the Texas Air Force Association as Officer of the Year. This is the highest honor the AFA can give to an officer. (U.S. Air Force Photo).

Brooks cops AFA award

by Bill Tynan
public affairs division

Capt. Robert L. Brooks, who is assigned to the 64th Flying Training Wing at Reese, was selected as the Texas Air Force Association Officer of the Year for 1981.

The announcement of Captain Brooks' selection was made Saturday night during the final session of the AFA's State Convention in San Antonio, Texas.

Captain Brooks was nominated for the award by the Lubbock Chapter of the AFA. The award is the highest honor that the AFA can bestow on an Air Force officer stationed in Texas. Captain Brooks was selected for the award based on his exceptional job performance, and his work as Reese's liaison officer to the Lubbock AFA Chapter.

His work

Captain Brooks is the chief of the 64th Student Squadron's Student Branch. As such, he is responsible for the professional development of approximately 450 student pilots annually. He also works as an instructor pilot for students in the T-37 phase of their flying training.

With the Lubbock AFA Chapter, Captain Brooks has been a strong and active member. He was chairman of the successful 1981 membership drive and made the physical arrangements for all quarterly meetings during the past year. In addition, he helped coordinate the visits of guest speakers for the quarterly meetings, and served as an escort for some of those out-of-town guests.

He also coordinated the arrangements for AFA chapter members who support the flying training mission at Reese by participating in each pilot training graduation ceremony.

In the past

In a time when retention of experienced personnel is a major problem for the Air Force, Captain Brooks is a valuable asset. After nearly ten years of Air Force service, he left the Air Force in 1976 for a higher paying civilian job. Three years later, he returned to active duty with the Air Force. Why? Because in his own words, he "missed the Air Force," and had "tired of working with people only interested in the quantity of work accomplished rather than quality."

Captain Brooks is a native of Florida and graduated from Florida State University in 1966. He entered the Air Force through the ROTC program at that time and later completed pilot training at Laredo AFB, Texas. He was then assigned to Reese AFB for the first time as a T-37 instructor pilot. Before he left Reese in early 1971, he had been promoted to work with the select Standardization/Evaluation team.

Captain Brooks' other assignments have taken him to the Philippine Islands as a C-130 pilot, to the Air Force Academy as both a classroom and flying instructor, and to Randolph AFB, Texas, as an instructor pilot. During his break in active duty service, he flew the AC-130 as a member of an Air Force Reserve unit stationed at Eglin AFB, Florida.

Captain Brooks, his wife Pat, and two daughters reside in Reese Village.

Other achievements

In addition to being an active AFA member, Captain Brooks is also a member of the Caprock Flight, Order of Daedalians, the professional association of military aviators. In 1975, he was selected as an Outstanding Young Man in America.

Captain Brooks sums up his philosophy of life with this statement: "If excellence, pride, self-esteem, and dedication are present, job satisfaction will most assuredly follow. These attributes are present in the Air Force, and they make it a great way of life for me."

Good times

A1C Glen Thorpe and his friend, Chris, take time for a dip in the swimming pool. Airman Thorpe and his wife, Cari, take part in the couples program of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lubbock. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Jim King)

Reese couple shares Big Brother benefits

A1C Glen Thorpe and his wife Cari have made the first step to become friends with a young man from a single parent home. They are in the couples program of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lubbock, sharing time together with Chris Wade, who is eight.

"The couples program encourages married couples to become involved in helping someone," said Danny McWhorter, executive director of Big Brothers and Sisters of Lubbock. "Most of the volunteers are matched one-to-one with a little brother or sister. The couples share time together with one child. Sharing time with a child who needs the adult companionship is essential to encouraging a positive outlook toward the future."

Airman Thorpe knows the importance of the help Big Brothers and Sisters provide. "When I was 11, my future looked pretty dim. There was talk in my family that I might be sent to Boys Ranch. I was rotten. They decided to get me a Big Brother. I had the Big Brother for two years, then my mother re-married and we moved from Amarillo to a farm near Vega." He said that the two years he spent with a Big Brother kept him out of trouble. It got him started in a new direction and the new life on the farm sealed his decision to be productive in life.

Cari really enjoys the friendship. She has two little sisters in Amarillo and really misses them. Going to the mall, cooking out hamburgers, playing miniature golf and working on the car are just some of the activities they are doing together. Chris has enjoyed all of these activities and wants to go boating. Glen and Cari plan to take Chris skiing and fishing this summer. They will go to Vega soon to harvest wheat and ride horses.

The Thorpes enjoy the challenge because they are aware of the benefits. Big Brothers and Sisters spend 3-5 hours a week with the kids. About 80 children are on the waiting list and more volunteers are needed. Call Big Brothers and Sisters at 763-5618 for more information.

Safety Wise

by Maj. Kenneth Hamlin
 chief of safety

Another long weekend is here; and boy, do we need it! We've worked hard since the last one and everyone needs a break. The July 4th weekend is usually a big one with a large number of varied activities planned: boating, picnics, camping, road trips, fishing, and fireworks just to mention a few.

The Memorial Day weekend proved to be exceptionally safe for Reese and ATC personnel. Not one life lost! Super. But was it luck? I don't think so. I believe our people are becoming more safety conscious. The big test will be this weekend. Can we repeat the same results? Yes, we can.

Our concern is not only are more people participating in more activities on a holiday but they also tend to try things that are new to them. Don't over extend yourself. The ole body might not be in the shape you think it is. If you try something new make sure you get proper instructions before and during the activity. Crowds tend to reduce flexibility, so watch out for the other guy as well.

Of course all of us will do a little more driving this weekend. Don't forget to buckle-up. Seat belts will insure you will be around for the next long weekend.

Fireworks are traditionally the big problem during this holiday. They are pretty and can be a great deal of fun, but they demand respect in their use. Supervise your children closely and obey the local laws. Better yet, sit back and watch the professionals and enjoy the beauty of a first class fireworks show.

Nobody wants to put a damper on anyone's holiday activities. I assure you that if you approach your fun and games with the right attitude you'll have a safe and fun time. I can't remember ever having a good time going to the hospital, especially on a holiday weekend.

Civilians receive new rating

The Civil Service Reform Act requires the establishment of a new job performance appraisal system to be implemented on Oct. 1.

All General Schedule employees (except senior executives and merit pay employees) and all Federal Wage System employees are covered by JPAS and must have written job performance standards by that date. Ratings under the new system will begin Feb. 1, 1982. The rating date for each employee will be tied to the anniversary of the last within-grade step increase or promotion.

The new system will be job-related for each employee. Job performance elements and standards will be developed by the supervisor by Aug. 30 with the employee being urged to participate.

Supervisors will analyze duties of each position under their supervision and identify major job requirements including elements that are critical to satisfactory job performance. At the end of the appraisal period, supervisors will review employees' performance and determine whether employees met, exceeded or did not meet the requirements for satisfactory performance.

Based on the appraisal, supervisors will assign one of five ratings: Superior, Excellent, Fully Successful, Minimally Acceptable or Unacceptable. Fully Successful means the same as Satisfactory under the old rating system. Only employees who receive a Fully Successful or higher rating will be eligible for within-grade step increases when due.

Training sessions for supervisors are to begin July 7 and run through July 13. Squadron commanders and division chiefs have received schedules and instructions pertaining to names, dates, places and times for training.

Non-supervisory employees will be invited on Aug. 11 to attend a familiarization session at 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the base theater.

WAS IT WORTH IT

Recently, a Reese Air Force Base Airman was tried by special court-martial for the offenses of disrespect, disobedience of an order, using provoking words, and breaking restriction. The sentence adjudicated: confinement at hard labor for six (6) months; forfeiture of two-thirds (2/3) pay per month for six (6) months; reduction to the lowest enlisted grade (Airman Basic, E-1); and, a bad conduct discharge. This sentence, by the way, happens to be the maximum possible.

AAFES lowers gasoline prices

DALLAS (AFNS)—Gasoline prices are coming down at Army Air Force Exchange Service gas stations, AAFES officials announced here.

The reason, say the officials, is that the exchange service has increased its gasoline suppliers from 10 to 50 to take advantage of a recent gasoline surplus. Meanwhile, as supplier contracts are being drawn up, AAFES installations will be free to buy other gasoline brands at lowest local prices. Locally procured gas would be available only on a short-term basis.

Such gas will be sold on a cash-only basis. New AAFES contracts taking effect in the fall will not require suppliers to provide credit-card processing. Consequently, some AAFES stations will not accept credit cards, a service customers appear willing to give up for cheaper gasoline, say AAFES officials.

A recent AAFES test showed customers would willingly give up their cards for gasoline that was 3-cents a gallon cheaper.

CHAMPUS will now pay emergency maternity care

The Department of Defense has amended the definition of medical emergency in the CHAMPUS regulation to include emergency maternity inpatient care.

This action corrects a "catch 22" situation which has prevented some eligible women from obtaining CHAMPUS inpatient maternity coverage for emergencies associated with their pregnancies.

John H. Moxley III, M.D., Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) explained that through an oversight, the current CHAMPUS definition of medical emergency omitted any reference to maternity care. The amendment clarifies CHAMPUS policy on this point and establishes that a nonavailability statement is not required for maternity-related inpatient care when the care meets the definition of a medical emergency.

Dr. Moxley stated, "As with any other emergency, in the case of pregnancy a medical emergency must involve a sudden and unexpected medical complication which puts the mother, or baby, or both, at risk."

Examples of medical emergencies related to pregnancy include, but are not limited to, hemorrhage, ruptured membrane with prolapsed cord, shock, unconsciousness, heart attack, stroke and injury (as from an automobile accident). Pain alone would not qualify a maternity case as an emergency, nor would insipient birth after the 34th week of gestation unless an otherwise qualifying medical complication is present.

The policy clarification concerning emergency maternity admissions is retroactive to 1 June 1977, the date the current regulation was implemented. Therefore, any beneficiary who has been denied CHAMPUS benefits for a maternity admission which occurred during this period and which she believes could qualify as an emergency should resubmit the claim(s). Such claims should be sent to the CHAMPUS Fiscal Intermediary serving the area where the admission occurred, with a request that the case be reopened and reviewed.

Due to the retroactive nature of this policy clarification, the filing deadline on such claims is extended to 31 December 1981. The deadline on claims for care received in 1981 is 31 December 1982.

When filing a CHAMPUS claim for emergency care (whether maternity or other) beneficiaries are advised to—•provide as much detail as possible about the circumstances of the emergency and

•obtain a statement from the attending physician telling why immediate hospitalization was required and why the patient could not be transported to the nearest Uniformed Service hospital. If the emergency involves a maternity case, the physician's statement must include a certification that he/she had not been seeing the patient during her pregnancy.

Falsifying information on a claim form (such as a fraudulent residence address) in order to circumvent the 40-mile rule applicable to nonavailability statements not involving an emergency is considered to be fraud. Such actions will, at a minimum, result in the government recovering any payments made on such a claim.

For further information about emergency maternity care, pregnant beneficiaries who are contemplating travel, particularly during the last six weeks of pregnancy, should contact the health benefits advisor at a Uniformed Service medical facility.

Survey determines housing allowance

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—October's variable housing allowance adjustment will be determined by surveys mailed to some 400,000 service members in May, Air Force personnel officials said here.

Fiscal 1982's housing allowance will be based on housing costs and basic allowance for quarters. If the basic allowance for quarters increase in October is greater than the housing cost increases during the past year, then VHA rates could drop. Also, since housing costs differ from area to area, it's possible for one area's housing allowance to decrease while another's increases, officials caution.

Only service members receiving BAQ get the special housing allowance.

Cost data is most important when filling out the survey forms, officials say. They feel utility costs are the most difficult to obtain accurately. What's called for in the survey is the average monthly cost, figured by dividing total utility costs for one year by 12. When 12 months of data isn't available, officials suggest consulting residents of similar homes. Monthly averages are needed to round out heating and cooling season costs.

Average monthly maintenance costs are also needed.

VHA rates were established where average reported housing costs exceeded 115 percent of the average BAQ.

OMS dumps 54th for intramural title

by SrA William W. Barnes

After both OMS and the 54th FTS had gone through the season with almost unblemished records, they both dropped two games apiece last week forcing a showdown between the league powerhouses for the title.

OMS had been upset by the 35th 9-76 and RMS 7-3. The 54th dropped to FMS 8-2 and Sturon 23-13 finishing off a game that had been called for darkness in the first half of the season with the score tied 10 all after six innings of play.

Tuesday OMS jumped out to a 1-0 lead after the first inning and increased it to 5-0 in the third with five hits in the inning. The big hit of the inning was a three run homer by Chuck Rankin. The 54th made it 5-1 in the fifth inning but OMS then proceeded to slam the door to take the title.

In other scores around the league; OMS scored victories over FMS 3-2, CE 16-4 and ABG by forfeit.

The 54th beat Sturon 18-7, SPs 7-3, FMS 5-2 and Supply 5-4. RMS won over Sturon 16-13, Hosp 9-8 and FMS 4-3; Supply beat the SPs 9-1 and ABG 17-14 but dropped to Hospital 13-11. FMS beat Sturon

5-4, CE 13-12 and won by forfeit over ABG. The 35th squeezed by Sturon 7-6 and Hospital 13-10. Hospital beat Sturon 7-6.
