McCoy takes AF position

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Tidal W. McCoy has been sworn in as the assistant secretary of the Air Force for manpower, reserve affairs and installations by Secretary of the Air Force Verne Orr.

McCoy will oversee Air Force personnel plans, policies and programs;

air reserve forces and operations of the service's installations worldwide.

A former assistant for national security affairs with Senator Jake Garn, McCoy is a 1967 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y. After service as a field artillery officer, his assignments have included work with the Defense Intelligence Agency, National Security Agency, Central Intelligence Agency, the National Security Council and as staff assistant in the offices of five secretaries of defense.

Bill promises substantial raise

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — An increase in basic pay is a key feature in the Uniformed Services Pay and Benefits Act of 1981 as approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The Senate bill would target raises in basic pay from 9 to 18 percent for officers and 7 to 22 percent for enlisted people. It would also increase the basic allowance for quarters by 17 percent for E-5's through E-9's and by 14.3 percent for all others.

The bill would provide a 30- to 35-percent increase in aviation career incentive pay for officers with six to 25 years of service, authorize the incentive pay for officers with more than 25 years of service who are below the grade of O-7 and who perform operational flying duties and increase minimum enlisted flying pay to $83.

The bill must now be considered by the full Senate. Differences between the House- and Senate-approved bills would be resolved in conference. Other features of the Senate Armed Services Committee version include:

— Suspend the President's authority to reallocate 25 percent of the basic pay increase by grade and years of service or into quarters or separate rations allowances.

— Terminate the present authority to pay members' travel allowances to home of record or separation or release from active duty if the travel is not actually taken.

— Authorize four days temporary lodging expenses for permanent-change-of-station moves not to exceed $110 per day per family. This would include $50 per day without dependents or $37.90 per day for the member and $25 per day for each dependent.

— Authorize advance payment of any applicable dependent travel, dislocation or evacuation allowances.

— Authorize exception to the 180-day storage limitation to protect members from personal liability for storage costs incurred because of duty requirements such as protracted deployments.

— Authorize reimbursement for travel from the old duty station to the port of vehicle embarkation and from the port of vehicle debarkation to the new permanent duty station.

— Authorize members serving consecutive overseas tours at the same remote location to receive travel and transportation entitlements to their home of record or place of family residence between tours. If the member is denied leave for military necessity, the bill authorizes travel and transportation allowances after arrival at new duty station or after commencing in-place remote tour.

— Authorize funded commercial transportation, if government transportation is not available, for members and their dependents serving in austere overseas locations to a location offering respite from the adverse conditions. The authorization would be for one round trip during any continuous two-year tour and two round trips during any three-year tour.

— Provide round-trip travel entitlement in the event of serious illness, death or imminent death of a close relative. This would only be authorized if government transportation is not available and is only authorized to a stateside port of entry.

— Authorize travel and transportation for members on temporary duty to their permanent stations in the event of the serious illness, injury or death of a dependent.

Fourth of July

Reese personnel joined Lubbock to start off Fourth of July festivities with Col. Monte Montgomery, Lt. Col. Edward Priest and CMSgt. Coy Martin leading Air Force personnel during the patriotic parade. After the long hot march personnel returned to the base picnic grounds to enjoy cooling refreshments. This little boy seems to take the snow cone seriously.

DCM condemns complacency

by Col. John D. Herbert deputy commander for maintenance

Complacency is by far our greatest threat. It threatens us because it dulls our quest for excellence and promotes mediocrity.

The symptoms are easy to spot: Do you hit the front gate at the same exact moment every day? If so, your routine may be so set that you are failing to see the changes or problems that may be creeping up on you.

Have you ever really looked up that procedure in the regulation or are you just doing it the way it has always been done? If there's a change to that regulation and you don't know about it, that excuse won't help when inspection time rolls around; worse yet, when somebody gets hurt.

Do you pass by FO (foreign object) on the ramp because it's not your day to do a FOD walk — or — there are just too many pieces and it'll take too long? How long is too long when it concerns the survival of an irreplaceable multi-million dollar airplane and/or human life?

How about those strangers hanging around the flight line. I know — it's not your turn to give a guided tour and chances are there's some reason for them to be there, so why challenge them? Well, what if they are tourists unfamiliar with the hazards on the line and one gets hurt? Or, what if they are terrorists intent on causing extra hazards on the line?

It could never happen at Reese Air Patch, you say. But for terrorism to be effective, it must surprise — and surprise is possible anywhere there is complacency.

So stand up — stretch — do a jumping jack or two — wake up — open your eyes. The threats are right here and to keep them at bay requires your awareness, alertness, and constant attention. Let's make Reese a safer, more professional operation!

HEART offers recipes for health

Editor's note: Reese's Health Evaluation and Risk Tabulation program offers these recipes for those interested in improving their diets.

Oriental Eating

Japanese and Chinese have almost no heart disease, and the reason is their diet. The typical Japanese diet emphasizes fish, vegetables, rice, and vegetable oils with very little animal fat. It is the perfect HEART-healthy diet.

Oriental foods are prepared different from western foods. They are first sliced or chopped into small pieces, and usually cooked very quickly right before serving. Special ingredients, like bean curd (tofu), ginger root, or Bok Choy, are available at Oriental groceries.

CHICKEN WITH GREEN PEPPERS (Serves four)

- 2 cups diced chicken meat (breasts and thighs of one 3 lb. chicken)
- 3 tps. cornstarch
- 1 tsp. dry sherry
- 4 tbsps. vegetable oil
- 1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
- 1/2 cup bamboo shoots, diced
- 1/2 cup water chestnuts, diced
- 2 medium green peppers, diced

TO PREPARE: Mix chicken meat with 1 tsp. cornstarch and sherry. Set aside. Mix 2 tps. cornstarch in 5 tbsps. cold water and set aside. Pour oil in hot pan and cook garlic and chicken meat, stirring, about 2 minutes. Add water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, stirring about one minute, then stir in green pepper. Stir cornstarch and water mixture and add, stirring until gravy thickens. Serve immediately.

SUKIYAKI (Serves six)

- 3 tbsps. vegetable oil
- 8-10 mushrooms, washed, dried, and thinly sliced
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 1 bunch Bok Choy or spinach, washed, drained, and diced
- 1/4 stalk celery, diced
- 1 small or 1/2 large head Chinese cabbage, sliced
- 5-6 scallions, chopped
- 1 cup fresh or canned bean sprouts
- 1 lb. bean curd (tofu), diced
- 1/2 cup soy sauce mixed with 2/3 cup water and 1 tsp. sugar

TO PREPARE: Put oil in heavy frying pan or

Recipe:

electric pan. Add mushrooms and onion and cook until slightly limp. Add 1 tbsp. of the soy sauce-water-sugar mixture and the celery and Bok Choy or spinach. Add a little more soy sauce mixture, stirring. Add cabbage, water chestnuts, and scallions. Cook, stirring, for 3-5 minutes, adding more soy mixture as needed to keep the vegetables moist. Add the bean sprouts and soy bean curd and heat through.

VARIATION: 1 lb. of chicken may be cut into thin slices, sprinkled with sherry, and added to hot oil with the mushrooms and onions.

Italian Specialties

Along with the Japanese, people who eat Mediterranean-style diets have the least heart disease in the world. This is because, for example, Italians eat lots of pasta and olive oil, but very little meat and butter. When the Italians do eat meat, it is usually veal or fish, which are very low in saturated fat.

These recipes are characteristic of Italian cuisine — flavorful, unusual, and healthful.

HAM AND VEAL ROLLS (SALTIMBOCCA) (Serves four)

- 1 lb. lean veal round, cut into 8 even slices
- 8 slices cooked or boiled ham, thinly sliced
- 1/2 tsp. crumbled leaf sage

- 1 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup dry white wine for cooking

TO PREPARE: Pound the veal slices lightly with a meat mallet or the edge of a heavy plate. Cover each veal slice with a slice of ham and sprinkle with sage. Roll up the slices and secure with wooden toothpicks.

Heat the vegetable oil in a non-stick skillet, then brown the veal rolls well on all sides. Pour in the wine, bringing it to a boil. Lower the heat and simmer until most of the wine is evaporated. When the wine has nearly evaporated, the rolls are ready to serve.

GREEN SAUCE FOR SPAGHETTI (Serves four to six)

- 2 cups spinach leaves (washed, but not dried, and packed firmly)
- 1/2 cup fresh parsley leaves (washed, but not dried, and packed firmly)
- 2 garlic cloves
- 1/2 cup polyunsaturated margarine
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup pine nuts
- 1/4 cup walnut meat
- 1/2 cup freshly grated Romano cheese
- 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tsp. dried basil

TO PREPARE: Combine all ingredients in a blender. Blend on high speed until mixture is almost pureed, but still has flecks of spinach and parsley. If too thick, add a small amount of water.

Toss with 1 pound of cooked spaghetti. The heat from the spaghetti warms the sauce.

WHITE CLAM SAUCE (Serves four to six)

- 1/4 cup polyunsaturated margarine
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 2 cups clam juice
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- freshly ground fresh pepper, to taste
- 1 1/2 tps. dried thyme
- 2 cups minced clams, fresh or canned

TO PREPARE: In a saucepan, cook the garlic in the margarine for 1 minute over moderate heat. With a wire whisk, stir in the flour and clam juice.

Add the parsley, pepper and thyme; simmer gently for 10 minutes. Add minced clams and heat through. Serve over linguini or spaghetti.

Care Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Monte Montgomery, 64th FTW commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personnel reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.

**PRESIDENT RONALD Reagan has issued a proclamation designating July 18 as National Prisoner of War/Missing in Action Recognition Day. Those of us in the military owe a particular debt of gratitude to those who gave up their freedom, and possibly their lives, in defense of their country. I encourage every person at Reese to remember our POWs/MIAs by attending the special retreat ceremony scheduled for July 17.

**CONGRATULATIONS to Maj. Fred K. Blume, winner of the Reese championship golf tournament. The full story can be found on this week's sports page. His win entitles him to a shot at the Training Command title, which will be up for grabs at Sheppard AFB, Texas, Aug. 6-9. Good luck, Fred.

**IT HAS COME to my attention that things at the library are really looking good since our new librarian, Mary Rinas, took over. She has completely rearranged the shelves, centralizing books into categories so western buffs, for instance, don't have to search through row after row of books to find what they're looking for. Mary just returned from an American Library Association convention in San Francisco and has many more good ideas on how to improve service and selection. Stop by and see her.

**ALTHOUGH CARE Line is basically an instrument for solving complaints, it never hurts to hear a kind word. One caller dialed us just to say he appreciates the outlet for grievances and the amount of work that goes into it. Thanks for taking the time to pass on your observations.

**ANOTHER CALLER, however, was not so happy about the change in policy for VA tuition payments to Wayland Baptist College. In the past, students were allowed to register for classes with the understanding they would pay tuition when the VA check arrived. Abuses of this system caused the school to require payment up front when they were left with $10,000 in unpaid tuition last semester.

Alternatives are available, as always. The Reese Credit Union has offered to make short-term personal loans to those with a note from the education services officer indicating the amount needed for tuition. Also, some persons may qualify for a tuition assistance loan from the Air Force Aid Society.

**ONE CARE Line caller was really "hot" about the lack of air conditioning at the auto hobby shop. He certainly has a valid complaint with the temperatures we've suffered through lately. The problem is, though, that we are scheduled for a new hobby shop in 1983. It simply isn't prudent to spend additional funds to install air conditioning in a building that will soon be replaced.

President proclaims POW/MIA observance

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed July 17 as National POW/MIA Recognition Day.

"Throughout American history our prisoners of war have been called upon to make uncommon sacrifices," the President said. "In fulfilling their duty as citizens of the United States they have defended American ideals while suffering unimaginable indignities under the absolute control of the enemy."

He urged all Americans to join in honoring those who made the uncommon sacrifice of being held captive in war. "Honor, as well, their loved ones who have also suffered valiantly and patiently," President Reagan said.

He said, "The pain and bitterness of war endure for their families, relatives and friends—and for all of us."

During this century, more than 140,000 Americans were taken prisoner during wars, with some 17,000 dying in captivity. Some 700 Americans were taken prisoner during the Vietnam War and more than 100 died while imprisoned. Of that 700, more than 350 were Air Force people.

The president stated that the search for answers about the fate of POWs and MIAs will continue.

VBS begins July 27

"Promises, Promises - from God", is the theme of Reese's Vacation Bible School, slated to run from July 27-Aug. 5.

Approximately 200 children are expected to enroll in the program which will include games, puzzles, songs, projects, and Bible Stories for ages three through grade eight.

Helpers are still needed in each grade. Families may take an active part by teaching or helping with music, art, refreshments, or Bible studies.

Parents who wish to enroll their children may do so until July 24 from 1-3 p.m. weekdays. Parents are asked to provide two dozen cookies per child to help with refreshments.

Classes begin at 9 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m. Busses will depart the chapel at 8:45 for Reese Village children only. Do not send children who are not registered on the busses. A bus route is available at the chapel office during normal duty hours. For more information you may call Cheri Zacha at 885-2374 or the Chapel at Ext. 3237.

NCOs add 16 newcomers

Letters appointing 16 Reese bluesuiters to NCO status were presented here last week during the NCO status ceremony and luncheon.

CMSgt. Coy K. Martin, senior enlisted advisor, was the guest speaker at the event.

The letters were presented at the special ceremony by first sergeant's from each squadron.

Receiving the certificates of NCO status were: Timothy K. Baraga, Barry L. Conklin, Christopher K. Hamman, Garman C. Martin Jr., Karen L. Mathews, Virginia E. Osorio, George S. Shute, Field Maintenance

Squadron; Carlos M. Cedillo, Tena M. Conkey, John B. Spicer, Thomas P. Tait, Supply; Elizabeth A. DeGrace, Kenneth F. Ferguson, Resource Management; John J. Papineau, Steve D. Williams, Organizational Maintenance Squadron; and John Gutierrez Jr.

Safety Wise

There is greater misunderstanding about the right of way rule than any other part of the traffic code. Ask any driver if he knows the right of way rule and he gives you a look that says, "Why you silly so-and-so, I've been driving professionally for fifteen years. Do I know the right of way rule?" My answer to that is, "Well, do you?"

It's downright amusing sometimes to hear them quote it to you. They usually start like this: "When two vehicles reach an intersection at the same time, the one on the right has the right of way." Right then I know that he and I are not talking the same language. He hasn't learned the basic principle of the right of way law. Strange that with all the discussion about it so few people take the time to read the law. Let's start reading it together. My copy goes like this. "When two vehicles enter an intersection from different highways at the same time, the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield the right of way to the vehicle on the right." That's quite different from what most people say. In one case the law says the one on the left shall yield and in the other the driver says the right has the right of way.

Let's get this one point firmly imbedded between our ears. The Law Never Gives The Right of Way to Anyone. The law only says who shall yield and places a penalty on the driver who fails to do so. You may have him arrested—if you are still alive after the crash—but don't make the silly mistake of thinking the law has given you the right of way.

The only person who can give you the right of way is the other driver. Until he does so you haven't got it. I have read dozens and dozens of accident reports which start with, "I had the right of way," and I've seen several near fights between drivers involved in accidents in which each driver claimed he had the right of way.

When you come to think of it, its rather plan to see, isn't it, that neither one had the right of way, for, if either one had, there would have been no accident. You can mark this down as truth: In every case of vehicle collision neither driver had the right of way, although one or both may claim it.

With this knowledge of right of way a new light is shed on correct behavior at intersections. We must know the law, of course, but we must never assume that we have the right of way until we are sure the other fellow has yielded it to us.

Really, the only benefit afforded by the right of way law is to act as a guide as to which driver should yield. It won't keep you from getting hit if the other guy fails to yield.

There is another little joke about this law that many don't suspect until it is too late. If you have a crash and there is a dispute over responsibility for the accident do you think the judge or jury will decide it on the basis of whom the law said should yield? Oh, no! It will be decided according to the "doctrine of the last clear chance." In other words, that driver is responsible who, in the opinion of the court, had the last clear chance to avoid the accident and failed to do so. How do you feel about right of way now?

There is only one safe rule to determine when the other fellow should yield. Assume that he has the right of way and yield to him unless you are sure that he is yielding it to you.

Another mistaken belief about the right of way law is that on a preferential street or road you have the right of way over all entering traffic. Here, again, it is well to read the law which says:

"The driver of a vehicle shall stop as required by this act at the entrance to a through highway and shall yield the right of way to other vehicles which have entered the intersection from said through highway or which are approaching so closely on said highway as to constitute an immediate hazard, but said driver having so yielded may proceed and the drivers of all other vehicles approaching the intersection on said through highway shall yield the right of way to the vehicle so proceeding into or across the through highway."

This may cramp your style just a bit. It definitely puts part of the burden for safe operation on you. If you want to avoid accidents—and who doesn't—then you must be prepared at all times to yield even when it's your turn. Then, when you are safely through the intersection, and only then, can you say, "I had the right of way."

Registration for the Frenship Independent School District will be held Aug. 24 from 8:30-11:30 a.m. for classes beginning Aug. 26.

All students will need to bring last year's report card and new students will also need a birth certificate and up-to-date immunization record.

Shot requirements are: Polip—three doses, one after the age of four. DPT—three doses, one after the age of four. Rubeola (red measles)—one dose received after age one. Rubella (German measles)—one dose received after age one. Mumps—one dose received after age one.

Dorm managers

More than 300 full-time managers for enlisted dormitories are needed, say officials at the Air Force engineering and services center here.

There are more than 100,000 dormitory rooms throughout the Air Force. Dorm managers' duties range from making room assignments to identifying maintenance requirements.

Dorm managers are in the services career field, which deals with the basic needs of food, clothing and shelter for Air Force service members.

Senior Enlisted Advisor positions

The Senior Enlisted Advisor position at Vance AFB and Lowry AFB will be vacated in August and September respectively. All E-9's who would like to apply, please contact CBPO for more information.

The TAC Senior Enlisted Advisor position will be vacated soon, TAC needs a replacement by September 1. For eligibility criteria contact CBPO.

Chip shot

Fred Blume hits a Birdie, not a kite, during last weekend's golf tournament. This chip shot landed within feet of the cup, then he one putted for a birdie.

Blume swoops to Reese golf victory

by A1C Nanette Aird Arpin public affairs division

Birdies, eagles . . . ugh . . . kites?

Fred Blume, before winning the tournament had a lot to contend with last weekend during the three day golf competition, held at the Reese golf course.

During the second round Blume barely missed a hole-in-one at the 18th hole. He commented, "Due to the change in the wind direction heading north instead of south, the strategy of my game was changed." Blume added, "Colonel Montgomery doesn't need to add more sand traps for hazards, he already brought in enough airbourne (kites) hazards!" he chuckled.

Kites are in the hawk family and like to dive bomb golfers and spectators alike.

In spite of swooping birds, Blume captured the tournament and, with six other competitors, he earned a berth for the Air Training Command golf championship that will be held at Sheppard AFB, Aug. 6-9.

Among a field of 60 players, Blume, who had only played 36 holes this summer before the competition, was unsure of his style, "I didn't hit the ball as well as I could have, but I managed to score well considering the amount of practice beforehand."

Blume went into the final day with a seven stroke lead and ended with a final score of 210.

Eight people have been named to represent Reese at the ATC golf championship: Senior division: Fred Blume, Norm Hall; Open division: Jack Kearney, Roy Emerson; Handicapp division: Al Vargas, Erv Lessel and for the women's division: Leslie Doyle and Carolyn Jaskowiec.

Asked about the competition Blume said "the competition was keen but I got off to a good start, if not it would have been tougher." Blume added, "I felt I scored well due to the superb condition of the golf greens."

One thing Blume wanted to say was about a fellow competitor who played in the handicap division. "Jack Herbert won the club championship with an outstanding 43 under par."

Overall statistics

Fred Blume, 210; Roy Emerson, 220; Jack Herbert, 172 with handicap of 33.
