NUMBER 45
LUBBOCK, TEXAS

Vice president arrives here today

Vice President of the United States, George H. Bush, is scheduled to arrive at Reese at 5:15 today aboard Air Force II. He is visiting Lubbock to address the annual membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

A welcoming ceremony is scheduled upon his arrival in front of base operations, building 79. Members of the welcoming party will include Gen. Thomas M. Ryan, commander of Air Training Command; Col. Monte Montgomery, Lubbock Mayor Bill McAlister, Chamber of Commerce president Joe Horkey, past chamber president Lee Stafford and other civilian dignitaries.

The Reese honor guard will also participate in the ceremony. A news conference is slated in the base ops building immediately following the arrival.

During the time Bush is on base, identification cards will be required for entry at the main gate.

All Reese personnel and their dependents who wish to welcome the vice president may do so by joining the gathering to the north of the base ops building. Small American flags will be made available to spectators.

Reese photographers place second

Reese photographers made an excellent showing in the Air Training Command contest held at Randolph AFB, Texas, last week, capturing a total of four first place ribbons and placing second overall.

The host base walked away with first place honors in the annual contest, while Mather AFB, Calif. and Lowry AFB, Colo. garnered the third and fourth positions, respectively.

TSgt. Carl Ridener and Capt. Dave Fintel once again led the pack for Reese. Ridener won first place in three of the four categories: color print, people; color slide, general; and color slide, people. He also came away with a fifth place for a general slide.

Fintel, who won best of show in the local contest, once again saw his close-up of a macramé owl take honors with a first place in the black and white print, general category. He also brought home a third and fourth in general slides and five fifth places.

Second Lt. Jerry Mehlberg repeated his local performance with a third place in the scenic slide division, and also a fourth place in the experimental slides.

SSgt. Larry A. Johnson rounded out the list of local winners with a third and a sixth place, both in the experimental slides division.

On Dec. 2 the four local winners' work will be entered in the Air Force contest, also slated to be held at Randolph.

Personnel official grants interview

Editor's note: Brig. Gen. Winfield S. Harpe is the Deputy Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff, Manpower and Personnel for Military Personnel and vice commander of the Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center.

His dual position makes him responsible for administering a number of personnel programs that directly affect Reese airmen and their families.

When General Harpe made a visit to Reese last week to address the second in a series of officer development seminars, a Roundup reporter was granted an interview. Following are excerpts from that interview.

Roundup: General Harpe, recent years have seen a turn toward stabilization of tour length. Do you see this as a continuing trend?

Harpe: PCS assignments should remain at about the same level; slightly less than four years on the average. A big reason for the trend toward longer tours is that overseas requirements have been substantially reduced.

We do not move people just to move people. We understand the financial difficulty, the problems with uprooting a family that are part of a PCS move.

Roundup: What is the future of the Stripes for Exceptional Performers program?

Harpe: It will definitely be a go. The first year test period is over and the program has been adopted. In fact, the number of promotions under the program will almost double over the test year, but we don't want it to get too large.

The program was designed to recognize those people who make extraordinary contributions; sort of a below the zone for those people above E-4. One change in the program, by the way, will be that E-4 promotions will not be handled under it. The below the zone promotion system is a viable way to recognize exceptional performers in this grade.

Roundup: What is the status of registering single parents and dual-career couples for dependent care responsibility?

Harpe: We have a regulation that requires certification of dependent care when parents are called away for mobility, shift work or remote assignments. A new version of this regulation is expected in the field within the next month. This new reg makes very clear military members' responsibilities in this area.

For those new single parents coming into the Air Force, things are going to be even more stringent. They are going to have to prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that arrangements have been made to care for their dependents when mission requirements dictate their absence.

Roundup: What is the outlook for the Join Spouse program? Will it be more difficult to place career couples as opposed to first-termers?

Harpe: There have been no policy changes in the Join Spouse program. I want to emphasize that. We are doing and will continue to do our dead-level best to keep couples together when mission requirements allow.

The cause for recent publicity has simply been that we are trying to be totally honest. With the increased number of military couples on active duty, and the higher their progression in grade, it is going to be increasingly difficult to make Join Spouse assignments.

Roundup: What hopes does the Air Force hold for the two-tier promotion system as a retention tool in the future.

Harpe: We won't be seeing the results of the first stage until January. The program is designed to increase promotion opportunities for personnel in chronically undermanned career fields.

I want to stress that these increased promotions will not be at the expense of other AFSCs. We have gotten 4,600 extra promotions approved to use for the program. We hope this will stimulate both

SG supports use of aspirin

Col. Dr. Clint E. Chambers

by Col. Dr. Clint E. Chambers hospital commander

It is disheartening to not feel well and go to the doctor only to be prescribed aspirin? It shouldn't be. Let's get reacquainted with the facts about aspirin.

Aspirin, bed rest, and fluids are the common treatment for many viral disorders and it remains the drug of choice for rheumatoid arthritis. Aspirin is still the most widely recommended and consumed medication for analgesia (pain relief), antipyresis (fever reduction), and reduction of inflammation. Aspirin is inexpensive and readily available. Because of its cost and easy availability many people have come to be disbelievers in its effectiveness.

Aspirin is not without side effects and hazards, as is no medication available by prescription or without a prescription. Probably the most common side effect is stomach upset. This is caused primarily because aspirin is an acid and added to the already existent stomach acid creates heartburn or even nausea in some instances. This property has been associated with an allergic reaction by many laymen.

Stomach upset is not necessarily indicative of an allergic reaction and can often be alleviated by taking aspirin with food or milk, or aspirin can be purchased in enteric coated form or in combination with antacids. Other side effects, if taken in high doses, include ringing of the ears, spinning sensation and even high temperatures. This may also lead to respiratory depression and seizures.

There are instances when aspirin should be avoided. Persons that have blood coagulation problems should avoid aspirin unless advised otherwise by a medical practitioner. Persons with asthma or a history of ulcers should also avoid aspirin. For persons in these categories there are adequate substitutes available as over-the-counter medications. Individuals taking other medications in addition to aspirin should consult their pharmacists for information on drug interaction.

True allergic reactions to aspirin manifest themselves as skin rashes and/or swelling of such tissues as lips, eyelids, tongue or face. Windpipe swelling is often present causing difficult breathing. Asthma probably constitutes the chief allergic manifestation in individuals sensitive to aspirin.

Take aspirin only according to directions on the package or those given to you by a medical professional. Aspirin is the largest cause of accidental poisonings in children in the United States, primarily because it is so common an item in homes. Keep aspirin, as well as other medications, out of the reach of children. That alone will drastically decrease accidental poisonings.

JAG recommends all military members have "will worksheets" filled out by Capt. Richard A. McDonald

Office of the staff judge advocate

Let's assume you're young, just recently married, just started pilot training — you don't need a will do you? You think "nothing's going to happen to me and besides even if something does, my spouse will get everything I have even without a will." Right? Not necessarily.

A lot of people have the mistaken idea they don't need to have a will because the people they want their property to go to will get it anyway. In many states and in many instances, this is not the case. For example, in Texas (as in many other states) if you die, leaving a spouse behind but have no children, your spouse will not get all of your property — your parents will receive a portion of it. One more example will make it clear how incorrect this misconception is — if you die without a will and are survived by a spouse and children, the children will receive a share of your property regardless of what your spouse desires. This may not make any difference in most situations but what if the surviving "child" is 21 and has had serious problems with his parents for the last several years — suddenly he has a share of his dad's estate and there's nothing mom can do about it.

Another very important reason for making a will is to allow you to name a guardian for your minor children if something should happen to you and your spouse. Most people would like the chance to make their wishes known in this area but you may not get the chance unless you put it in a will — now.

Hopefully you now understand how important a will can be. If you're entitled to legal assistance, stop by the legal office to pick up a "will worksheet" and within a few weeks you'll have a valid will to solve the problems discussed in this article.

PA seeks speakers

The Community Relations Branch of the Public Affairs Office is actively seeking military and civilian employees who will share their knowledge with local high school and various civic organizations.

A silver tongue and a golden voice are not prerequisites for the speakers program. Speeches about Air Force career fields, education and sports will do nicely.

Reese people who participate in the speakers program have discovered that they are doing the base, students, civic organizations and themselves a real service. They realize that students and civic organizations want and need to know about the men and women in today's Air Force. Experts in their fields are best qualified to fill that need.

Opportunity is knocking for those who can hoist up their courage and batten down their fear of public speaking.

Getting into the program is easy. Just fill in the Speakers Bureau Application and send it to PA, Stop 9, Attn: Speakers Bureau. Those who are interested but feel that they need additional information may call MSgt. Pollard, Ext. 3169.

Yes: You can count on me. I wish to share my expertise and experiences with students and civic organizations. I enjoy Public speaking and would like to tell others about my profession and today's Air Force. I understand that participation in this program is a vital link in our Community Relations.

Care Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Monte Montgomery, 64th FTW commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personnel reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.

IF YOU HAVE ever had trouble wading through the recent changes in the enlisted promotion system, now is your chance to get some help. Headquarters Air Training Command will send a promotions briefing team to Reese Nov. 24. They will be explaining the latest enlisted skill imbalances promotion modification program. It directly affects all personnel eligible for promotion to the grades of staff sergeant through master sergeant.

The briefing for commanders and key staff will be in the officers' club (Daedalian Room) at 9:30 a.m. Four briefings (8:30 and 10 a.m., noon and 1:30 p.m.) will be held in the base theater.

THANKSGIVING IS rapidly approaching. For many of our younger airmen, the holidays are often more a time of heightened loneliness than a time for thanksgiving. I would like to encourage those Reese people who are lucky enough to be spending this special time of year with their families to share their blessings. Look around your duty section. There is probably somebody there who would greatly appreciate an invitation to Thanksgiving dinner.

IN KEEPING WITH the holiday spirit, the Organizational Maintenance Squadron is sponsoring a blood drive to provide a Christmas gift to Lubbock. Reese is currently the record-holder for blood donations, a goal achieved by Field Maintenance last year when they collected 376 pints of blood during a three-day drive.

OMS will attempt to shatter this record during their Nov. 23-25 drive by collecting 500 pints. If you would like to aid in this worthy cause, come by hangar 82 between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on any of the three days. The few minutes it takes could provide someone the gift of life, perhaps even a member of your family.

give enough credit to the volunteers in the Red Cross program. Their selfless dedication to helping Reese people is exemplary. There will be a recognition ceremony at the base chapel Monday at 10 a.m. to give service pins to some of these individuals. I hope that each of you who has benefitted from the services of the Red Cross will attend and express your appreciation in person.

SEVERAL CALLS have come in over the CARE Line concerning the hours of the back gate. Although the gate is supposed to open at 4:45 p.m., security police are not assigned to fulfill this function. Therefore, it occasionally becomes necessary to delay the opening of the gate until a man is available.

One particular call pointed out that the gate did not open until almost 5 p.m. on Oct. 14. Upon checking with security police, I found that an alarm was activated at quitting time on that day. This was the cause of the rather lengthy delay in getting the gate open.

Incidentally, once a career field is identified and placed under the two-tier system, it will remain there for a minimum of three years. So those considering retraining into the field don't have to worry about it being taken out six months after he joins.

South Plains College, the largest provider of after-hours education for Reese personnel, will join other Texas schools Nov. 15-21 in celebrating Texas Community College Week.

DITY moves make money

People in today's world know the importance of economizing wherever possible. That's the reason for the great increase in the number of do-it-yourself products, books, and enthusiasts. Not only can these projects save money, they can make money as well. Here's how:

A person or family making a permanent change of station move or going on temporary duty assignment now has the choice of letting commercial van lines move them; of letting the government rent a U-Haul, Jar-Tran, Ryder or Hertz truck for the member to load or move their own household goods; or any combination that will meet their moving requirements.

There are a number of advantages to moving oneself. The Department of Defense has decided that they can pay an Air Force member 80 percent of what it would cost to have a commercial firm move the member and still save thousands of dollars a month on moving costs. Plus, they feel that the member will be less inconvenienced because there will be no strangers in the house handling the property.

The family will be more secure and less anxious. Their belongings will be with them the entire trip and there is less chance for damage (depending on how well they are packed) because there's no extra handling of the property.

The 80 percent incentive payment is made on a post-move and actual weight basis. It is subject to a withholding tax of 20 percent which is subtracted by the government before the incentive is paid to the member. Any other costs are also subtracted from the incentive payment. Examples would be: packing material and boxes, truck or trailer costs, dollies, or trailer hitches.

To perform a DITY move, the member must get the approval of the Traffic Management Officer. There must be a known address at destination where the truck may be unloaded before the TMO will give approval. The TMO will order the rental equipment or will approve the use of privately owned or borrowed trucks or trailers that meet the DITY requirements.

If rental equipment is used, the member should have all his property packed and prepared for loading before the truck is picked up from the dealer. The empty weight of the truck must be taken on a government approved scale. The truck is then loaded and reweighed. The two weight tickets from these weighings are very important and should be turned in to the original TMO with all other applicable paperwork.

Allowable mileage between the two locations may be strict; so, the member is warned to drive the most direct route possible, unload the truck, and turn it in to the approved dealership.

If only a small amount of property is to be moved, a DITY move would be ideal. How else could someone have it all arrive with them and be in good condition? For personnel with more cumbersome amounts of household goods, it may be attractive to get a trailer to move necessary living items and high weight items for a partial DITY move and let commercial carriers bring less needed items later.

Obviously, the longer the distance traveled and/or the higher the weight of goods moved, the higher the monetary rewards will be. Reese paid out $132,515 in incentive payments in February '81 to 362 people, and will probably pay even more next year.

For those moving soon who are interested in making a little extra during their move, a TMO counselor can tell them how the DITY move program can work.

Officials clarify uniform policy

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Clarification of policy for wear of the lightweight blue jacket and combination one uniform was announced by air force personnel officials here.

It is inappropriate to wear the lightweight blue jacket in certain situations, say the officials. It may not be worn off base to formal, organized functions such as luncheons, meetings, symposiums, conferences and conventions.

The jacket should also not be worn to off-base business establishments for extended shopping, formal evening dining, socializing or to take part in entertainment.

This policy does not apply to private luncheons or stops at fast food restaurants, nor is it intended to preclude convenience stops at service stations, grocery stores, and the like.

Major command or installation commanders may adapt this policy to local conditions and unique situations, however.

On-base wear of the jacket is not restricted, except as directed by the local commander.

TAX-FREE ALL-SAVERS CERTIFICATES

If you're in the 25% or higher tax bracket, your credit union will be offering the type of certificate you've been waiting for ... one with tax-free interest. Money Market Certificates with rates equal to or higher than the ASC yield may be cashed without penalty to take immediate advantage of the new certificates at your credit union.

Here's what it's all about ...

- Your interest is exempt from federal income tax up to a maximum of $2,000 for a couple filing jointly, or $1,000 for an individual.
- The new one-year certificate is fully insured up to $100,000.
- The rate paid on the certificate will be 70% of the average discount rate on one year Treasury Bills.

Here's how your credit union All-Savers Certificate can work for you.

If your family income is:	Anticipated tax bracket	Approximate interest rate required to net 10.75% after Federal Income Taxes is:
$20,000 or less	25%	14.30%

$35,000	40%	17.90%
$50,000 or more	50%	21.53%

Interest rate of 10.75% is used for illustrative purposes only. The actual rate paid at the time the certificate is issued will be established as equal to 70% of the average investment on one-year Treasury Bill.

The specific terms and rate of interest paid on the All Savers Certificates will be governed by all applicable federal regulations issued for this type of certificate. Early withdrawal will result in a substantial penalty.

New revision

A new revision to AFR 11-24, base and unit personnel locators and postal directories, deleted the requirement to complete a new AF Form 624, base and unit locator and PCS directory, for change of local or mailing address, or home phone number if the member does not want to change his or her consent to release code. Stop by CBPO customer service unit and complete AF Form 99.

Classes

Wayland Baptist University will begin registration on Nov. 23 from 4 to 7 p.m. and Nov. 24 from noon to 3 p.m. There will be no registration on Nov. 19 as originally published.

Family housing

The recent upgrade of military family housing units and upgrading installation of air conditioning units has caused an increase in electrical requirements. The distribution system was designed for a lesser load, and it is now necessary to upgrade the system in the family housing area to meet these new demands. Such an upgrade will require an outage in Reese Village on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All personnel

With upcoming holidays all military personnel are reminded that for long distance travel done by commercial aircraft, train or bus who plan on wearing the uniform must wear combination 1/1A/5-5A. This does not apply to personnel who commute to and from work in taxi, bus or other means of transportation.

Tickets

Tickets are now on sale for the fifth annual enlisted awards banquet on Dec. 8. The event will be held at the enlisted open mess. All personnel interested in attending should contact their first sergeants for ticket reservations. The banquet will honor all Reese airman, NCO and senior NCO of the year award winners.

Commissary

The Commissary will be closed for Thanksgiving. Regular hours will resume on Nov. 27.

Clothing sales

Defense Personnel Support Center is experiencing a shortage of fatigues, therefore, fatigues will only be sold to active duty personnel, reservists and guardsmen. For more information call Bill Watson, at Ext. 3216.

Youth center

A special activities program for school children whose parents are either working at Reese or are affiliated with Reese, will be set up for school children ages five to 12 years old.

The program is for parents who have children who require supervision while parents are at work before and after school.

The program will include recreational, educational and social activities which contribute to a child's development. A survey is being taken by the youth center to find out how many parents will be interested in such a program for their children. For more information call the youth center at 3820.

Toy project

The Junior Officers Committee is asking for all personnel; enlisted, officers and civilian, to help with the Christmas toy project. The JOC is planning to build 500 wooden toys from scrap lumber for local disadvantaged children.

Personnel are also needed to donate time and materials. Expertise on woodworking machinery is not required as members of the JOC will teach anyone interested in helping.

Anyone who wants to donate lumber, paint, paint brushes or other materials to help make the toys can call 1st Lt. Darrell Smith at Ext. 3577.

Chapel news

The Women of the Chapel meeting for November will be held on Tuesday, at 9:30 a.m. in the chapel social hall. The guest speaker will be Reverend Homer Duncan, Pastor, lecturer, and author. Coffee time is 9:30 to 10 a.m. followed by a short business meeting, and then our speaker. Nursery care is available. Please make reservations and sign in on a chapel sheet.

Donations

The Women of the Chapel will sponsor a canned food and paper products drive during November. These items will be donated to Reese families in need for Thanksgiving. Items can be brought to Sunday services or dropped off at the chapel office during duty hours. Anyone knowing families in need may contact a chaplain at Ext. 3237 or any squadron commander. Also, the chapel needs mittens, socks and hats to donate to those in need.

ATC/IG
A personal conference will be held by the Air Training Command inspector general in building 900 at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

The IG will help personnel with action on complaints and will also take suggestions. Fraud, waste and abuse will also be discussed during this time.

All disclosures during the conference period will be held in confidence except to the extent necessary for corrective action. Those who are unable to attend should call the wing inspector at Ext. 3409 to make an appointment with the ACT/IG representative.

Thirteen members travel to Randolph for ATC playoffs

Thirteen personnel have been selected to represent Reese at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, for the Air Training Command District flag football competition.

The 35th Flying Training Squadron earned their way to the competition by winning the intramural flag football playoffs last week.

The three finalists at the ATC tournament will be selected through a series of three regional tournaments, which will be held from Nov. 13 through 15 at Columbus, Sheppard and Randolph AFB, Texas.

Once the teams have been selected they will go on to Sheppard AFB, Texas, which is the host for this year's Air Training Command flag football championship tournament from Nov. 17 through the 19.

According to sports officials at AFB, Texas, Raiders are a good bet to successfully defend their 1980 football crown. Laughlin won last year's tournament, also at Sheppard, by downing Columbus AFB, Miss., 41-27 in the finals.

Each ATC base is eligible to enter a 12-man team in its respective regional tournament. Both the regional and ATC tournaments will be conducted under the double-elimination rules.

The following members from the 35th Flying Training Squadron team will represent Reese next week at Randolph: coaches, Robert L. Lewis and Richard E. Dalton, Francis T. Szalejko, Gregory D. Flierl, Christopher J. Couls, Randy A. Dockendorf, Richard Dockery, David Kellman, Keith H. Heise, John P. Dorsey, Patrick F. Murphy, John A. Neubauer and Ronald Williams.
