STREET LIGHTS

The added attractiveness that will come with the six blocks of white wall lights in Floydada, to which add intersection lights on some sixty residence blocks, is already beginning to picture itself to the citizenship. It is going to look good and be good.

Plenty of light is what we have been wanting for several moons. Plenty of light is what we will have.

C. M. T. C. PLANS

If you can't think what to do with that boy about so big this summer and don't have a farmer friend who can farm him out to, about the next best thing is to plan now to send him to a Citizens' Military Training Camp for some five weeks of "away from home" where he can be on his own and still be under strict discipline.

A good many boys are growing up who do not know the voice of authority, having never heard it. One of these may be yours. At any rate, plan now to get him off the streets or away from the idle time he is going to have this summer. The training camps are distinctly beneficial, no expense is involved and no military service, present or future, is required.

A CHANCE FOR PA

Speaking of something for the nearly grown boy to do this summer, here's also a chance for pa. That is if pa grows cotton or is interested in it. (and who isn't who lives in Texas.)

Experts on cotton marketing from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and a number of outstanding cotton men of the state will address those who attend the Cotton School at A. & M. College to be held from June 6 to July 16, according to announcement. L. E. Dowd, a professor of textile engineering, head of the cotton classing and marketing of the textile department of the college will be in charge of the course of instruction; and besides the school men, professors, economists and agronomists who will make talks, such practical men as W. H. Wolfe of Dallas, and W. L. Clayton of Houston will address the "student body."

Of course, if pa has learned already all he needs to know about cotton classing and marketing, he would be wasting time even to think about attending.

MENARY-HAUGHEN BILL VETOED

President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen Bill, planned to afford relief for six of the primary commodities from the farm, and in doing so recited numerous objectionable features to the chief of which was that it would be unconstitutional. The president also set out many provisions of the bill which he declared were based on icious reasoning and unsound ec-

At the same time the chief executive declared the need for relief of the business of farming was evident on every hand.

From a westerner's point of view, it took real courage to use the axe on the bill. However, if a third of the president's dozen or more objections raised to it, are based on good reasoning, it is well that he did so. Doubtless, the senators and representatives who hail from the west, who supported the measure because it was "the only thing in sight" for relief of the bad situation on the farms, will be delighted that the president took the responsibility and still gave them an opportunity to "point with pride" to support of the measure, without fastening it on the country as a law.

It would take an economist to discuss the now defeated bill with intelligence. Its worst apparent feature was the horde of office holders that would have been created by it.

LITTLEFIELD ROTARY ORGANIZES

Will H. Mayes in "Texas and Texans" At first one would think there is little news in the fact that a town like Littlefield has organized a Rotary club. Really it is a big item for that town, for it means that some 30 or 40 men in the town have caught a new and better vision of service, and with a vision of that kind organized into a working body something has to happen. Critics of such organizations as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Altrusa have to admit that they put better life and better working spirit into their membership and that their influence permeates beyond the members and throughout the entire community. Therefore, Littlefield and other towns organizing their business contingencies into civic clubs are doing things that will count for the good of the whole people.

14 YEARS AGO IN FLOYD COUNTY

News items taken from the Floyd County Hesperian files published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUE OF MARCH 6, 1913

New President in Office

Washington, D. C., Mar. 4.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey and Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana were inaugurated president and vice president of the United States today.

W. A. Gound and family left Tuesday for Sedalia, Mo., where they will remain indefinitely for the health of their youngest child.

Band Reorganizes Here

Since some two or three years ago that the Floydada Concert Band was disbanded, there have been one or two attempts to re-organize but the efforts have met with obstacles. However, the past two weeks has seen the reorganization of the band with about 16 pieces. The following are members: Cornets, Sam Goslee, Alfred Flynn, Artyl Martin, O. R. Eastwood, H. S. Haines clarinets, Will Salisbury; Baritone, Fletcher Haines, Wister Ross; Altos, Doug Pitts, Charlie Wilson; Trombone, Glenn Flynn; Bass, Stokie Bishop; drums, Tom Goslee, Ulmer White. These boys should make up one of the best bands on the plains.

Dickens County will have a road bond election on March 8th for the purpose of securing the issuance of $100,000 road bonds.

ALL-DAY SINGING AT PRAIRIE CHAPEL SUNDAY, MARCH 6TH

An all-day singing at Prairie Chapel Sunday, March 6, has been announced, to which the public is cordially invited. Among other features at the singing will be the Dean Quartette, according to A. L. Crowley, principal of Prairie Chapel School.

No public dinner will be served.

E. D. Tarpley, visited in Lubbock on Wednesday of last week.

'Round The Square

Clank, Clank, pop.—And the old days when the cowboys were prominent in Floydada, were revived last Friday afternoon when the Simmons University Cowboy band paraded the streets here. But if these boys are any relation to the real West Texas cowboys, they sure have faded out.

A little boy playfully hollered "Moo" at one of the "he-men" and one of the cowboys said: "Who is that trying to imitate a horse?"

Presenting members of congress with boxing gloves is a good idea. Now if we can only train our congressmen to put them on before they start any more rows.

Scoop, the big boy of the editorial end of the Plainview News, gave a complete review of the state of Texas last week. We would suggest that all historians copy Scoop's version of it.

We might add here that Scoop runs an editorial column similar to this one, only not as good, of course.

A shirt peddler was in town yesterday. We hope our dry goods merchant give the same answer to printing peddlers that we made to this one.

Publishers of law books have made an awful mistake. In all that we can find they have left out the most important partnerships ever formed some of them are: Time & Again, Lovem & Leavem, Goodbyedear & Call-meup, Letskiss & Forgetit, Waypast-midnight & Wherehaveyoubeen, Hereit-isnoon & Nodinnerready, Young & Foolish, Twins.

A little "bawl" advise that we recently found is pretty good. It says: "Don't strike out. Buck up. A home run in the ninth inning has won many a game. But that home run never was made by a player who had lost faith in his job and in himself."

"Fourteen Years Ago" revealed something this week. It gives a list of about ten Floydada business men who were real musicians at that time. And now some of these are not encouraging the idea of a band for Floydada. Why not look them up and get them interested?

"Friday the thirteenth" is nothing to be afraid of during 1927. Floydada people who are more or less superstitious will be glad to note that Friday the thirteenth appears only one time in this year. That is in May.

Floydada Hi has some excellent "raw material" to work on for a successful nine this year. But it is going to take training to make them what they ought to be.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Willis, of Amarillo, spent last Saturday and Sunday here visiting friends and relatives.

MODERN STUDENTS BETTER THAN THOSE OF 1880, DEAN SAYS

Austin, Texas, Feb. 25.—After watching the progress of the University of Texas for almost forty years, Harry B. Beck, campus foreman, is convinced that students of this, the "jazz" age, as some are wont to call it, are better than those of the '80's. "The good old days" did not necessarily produce good students, Beck said. In the early days of the institution, it was not infrequently unusual to call in the aid of the Austin police force in quelling the youthful exuberance of students, Beck said. This has not been necessary for many years. Students of the '80's were strictly to their own served. He has been at the University since 1880. Beck entered the institution as a student. He was made steward of the Hall, the boys dormitory, which was opened in 1890.

Running with the hood of his car sealed, the gasoline tank sealed, with judges to check every mile of the run, Homer Eubank Tuesday afternoon, driving a Ford Coupe, from stock, with standard equipment throughout, travelled from Barker Bros. Garage in Floydada, through Lockney on the highway to Plainview, around the court house there, and back the highway to within 100 yards of the Lockney Auto Company, Lockney,

A DISTANCE OF 53.2 MILES ON A MEASURED GALLON OF GASOLINE

At the same time he was making this remarkable record on DIRT ROADS—not pavement—eight other cars were also making records that prove the almost unbelievable mileage records stock Ford cars are making now—eight cars in the Ford Economy Run made a mileage in excess of thirty miles on a Gallon of Gas and a Ford Sedan, driven by Ted Borum of Floydada, made 49 miles on a measured gallon of gas.

FORD PROVES ITS ECONOMY OF OPERATION IS EQUAL TO THE LOW FIRST COST.

We have been telling our customers for months of the wonderful mileage the New Improved Ford is giving its owners, and last week we announced a Ford Economy Run to be held Monday in preparation for a Grand Final Contest on March 2—Texas Independence Day. The elimination run was held on Tuesday on account of inclement weather Monday. Eighteen Fords driven by owners were entered from Lockney Auto Co., at Lockney, and our agency in Floydada. The eliminations were held at the same time, on the same roads and with the same judges, for the sake of economy of time. From the cars sold from our agency we selected winners of first place in each division—open and closed types—and similar selections were made from the Lockney house. Selections were based on an elimination contest. The man who made the most mileage in each division from each point, was selected to represent the agency in the Grand Final Contest Wednesday.

WE CAN'T BE WRONG ABOUT THE MILEAGE MADE BY THESE FORDS IN THIS ELIMINATION

Read the figures as made officially by the judges at the time each car was inspected and examined where they stopped on the Highway. They are conclusive and convincing.

YOU CAN OWN THIS KIND OF A CAR, TOO

There was nothing "Special" about any of these cars. They are the kind of cars, with nothing added or taken away, that you see in our showrooms and on the streets every day. They are the New Improved Ford, just as made and delivered by the Ford Motor Company.

Keep this thought in your mind, too

Besides by far the Lowest First Cost of any car built in America, besides the wonderful Economy Runs being made by Fords all over the country, The New Improved Ford is a thing of beauty. It now comes in choice of five beautiful colors; Wire or Wood Wheels are optional equipment on all closed models, and Balloon Tires and Starter are regular equipment on all models.

METHODIST CHURCH

Ben Hardy, Pastor

Regular services at the usual hours at the Methodist Church Sunday and during the week.

All are welcome to any and all the services, and if you do not have a church home we invite you to come with us.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

F. L. Davis, Minister

We had the privilege of having Bro. J. D. Boyd with us a week ago last Tuesday night and those present enjoyed the message very much. Sorry others could not be present. He was especially in the interest of the Teacher's Training School at Clarendon next week. Some of us are talking of attending it.

Last Lord's day the services were all service at Ralls in the afternoon and found a fine crowd awaiting us. They were all helped by the service.

Don't forget that the S. S. Contest closed last Lord's day and the reports of the two secretaries will be given next Sunday, as well as the reports from the different departments of the church. We will know, when the reports are given, who has to treat the other side. We are pretty sure one side will be defeated and will have to treat the other side. We hope the preacher's side will win, and believe it will.

Services next Lord's day will be little out of the ordinary. We are asking each one to bring a Bible with them to church. We want to see the largest, the smallest, the oldest and the newest bible in the community. The last two months has been the Bible Reading Revival and we feel that this service will be fitting. The reading has gone fine, not only here, but all over the nation. The subject of the sermon will be: "The Wonder Book."

At the S. S. hour next Lord's day the pastor will give the prizes to those who will hand in the reply to the question: "What shall I do to be Saved," as given in Acts of Apostles, giving the things told to do and the chapter and verse or verses. He promised a prize to all who would do this at the beginning of the month when the reading of the book started. So bring your answers, written out so that it can be read and you will get the reward.

The Endeavor will meet at 6:30 and preaching will be at 7:30 and the subject will be the fourth in the series on the subject: "What is the Matter with our City." These sermons are proving helpful and are causing the people to think along these lines and we are sure they will result in good to us all.

Weather and roads permitting we will preach at Newland next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Those near there are invited to be present and enjoy the Howard Collins, president, Billie Grigsby, vice president, Hunter King, secretary, Shaffors Swift, treasurer, Doc. Massie, Reporter.

At present there are 14 members of the class, and it is hoped that every boy of our age and grade, will become interested in this class work, and if not a member of other Sunday Schools will join us, as plans are being made for considerable activity in many things of interest to boys.

Our services at the City Park Church last Lord's day were fine notwithstanding the weather was bad. Our interest continues to increase and we are looking forward to a steady growth. Bro. Freeman will have charge of the services at the 11:00 o'clock hour next Lord's day. Bible class work will begin at 10:00 a. m. Let all come early.

While some were not at prayer meeting last Wednesday night on account of sickness, yet, there were several present and Bro. Harmon made a nice talk. We expect some of the young men of the congregation to have charge of the prayer meeting next week.

LADIES BIBLE STUDY

Last Monday was a very bad day yet there were several of the ladies of the City Park Church present for the lesson at 3:00 o'clock which proved to be a very interesting one.

There was also a fine class of young folks present at the Bible drill at 4:15. The ladies will meet again at the City Park Church of Christ at 3:00 o'clock next Monday afternoon and the young folks at 4:15.

We are delighted with the progress each class is making and will be glad to have others attend these studies.

BAPTIST CHOR MEETING

The Choir of the Baptist church will have its regular meeting at the meeting house of the church on Friday night at eight o'clock. Elmer Wood is the choirster and Miss Virgie Price the choirster. We are stewards or trustees of whatever talent we have, and should honor the Lord with our talents. Let those of our congregation who have ever sung in choirs come along to this meeting. Let us plan to make our meeting as attractive as possible. The pastor expects to attend the meeting this week with some suggestions.

BAPTIST DEACONS' MEETING

The monthly meeting of the deacons of the Baptist church will be held at the meeting-house of the church on Thursday night at eight o'clock. The church recently selected seven of the ordained deacons of the church to compose the Active Board of Deacons for the year. E. P. Nelson is the Chairman and O. L. Stansell is the Secretary. This group of men really constitutes a standing committee of the church to have oversight of financial and benevolent activities of the church. School News

Refreshments to H. S. teachers met last Thursday afternoon in the Home Economics department. Refreshments consisted of cake and coffee for the members. The High School quarter meeting. There were a few of the mothers present but were certainly welcome. We wish the mothers would take time to come over and enjoy a few minutes with us twice each month. We met the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

Simmons Band Concert a Success
The Simmons College Cowboy Band gave a very interesting program in the High School auditorium last Friday night. The lower floor of the Auditorium was full and quite a few people sat in the balcony. The proceeds were $237 of which $79 went to the local school. However we have some advertising expense to pay out of our share. However we appreciate the opportunity of sponsoring as good an organization as these people were. We also appreciate the hospitality of the local people in keeping the boys in their homes.

Girls Basketball Meet
The basketball meet for girls of the South end of the county was held at the Andrews Ward school gymnasium Saturday.

McCoy and Fairview met for rural school honors and the former won by the score of 30-14. Sand Hill had no opposition in class B and Floydada no opposition in class A. The winners of the South end of the county will meet the winners of the North end in the final at an early date, possibly Saturday.

March 5. Due notice will appear in the Hesperian this week. Championship cups will be given in each division.

One Act Play Contest At Canyon
Notice has been received from the League headquarters that the one act play contest will be held at Canyon. In a telephone conversation with Mr. Lockhart today he says that the contest will be held in Canyon on Saturday, March 12. The local school has a cast to enter. This is the first year for the league to sponsor this contest. Very few schools have entered this year since it is an experiment but there will likely be many more entries next year. The local cast will present a negro comedy entitled "A Dark Secret." The cast has five characters including Allan Berry, Jack Sims, Jack de Cordova, Henry Bosley and Frances Kinard.

Last Photographs For Annual in Last Week
All photographs for the Hesper were completed this last week and will be mounted and sent in this week. This will give us advantage of a ten per cent discount on the engraving. The staff expects to begin work on the dummy at once and send in the book complete to the printer by the middle of March. This will put the book in ahead of schedule time and insure delivery several days before school is out. This will also make it possible for the Chamber of Commerce to place their order of books in the rural schools before their terms are expired.

Debaters Accept Paducah Challenge
The boy's debate team of Floydada High school has accepted a challenge from the boy's team at Paducah to meet them here on March 11. The question will be: "Resolved that there should be established a Federal Department of Education, with a secretary in the Presidents Cabinet." The Floydada team will have the negative side. The Floydada girls have also sent out a challenge to the Paducah girls to meet them here at the same time. The Paducah girls to pick choice of sides. The boys relay team won first place by a good margin. Roy Swain won first in the mile, Buford Terry won first place in the quarter mile, Jim Stiles won second in both pole vault and low hurdles. John Edwards won first place in the discus throw at 106 feet, 6 inches. Edwards also won second place in the shot put. Weldon Moore won third place in the discus, second place in 220 dash.

S. PHEBE K. WARNER PRAISES WOMEN'S PART IN COUNTY'S "HOME GROWN BANQUET"

How the story of the work of the Floyd County Club women in preparing the great banquet for the annual Floydada Chamber of Commerce gathering in February, impressed Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, one of the state's leading club women, is told in the following inspirational article, prepared by Mrs. Warner following her visit here in mid-February:

A few years ago the club women of Floydada decided they were going to do something for their own county as well as themselves and the State of Texas. It is a little strange how the club women have reached across the country and clasped hands with their town and city neighbors for so many years but forgot to reach the hand of sisterhood out across their own county and bring the brave women of the smaller towns and the open country into this big State Sisterhood of Women.

But it is coming. And Floyd County, Texas, is another fine example of the value of the County Federation of Women's Clubs. Why work for years to build up the whole State and the whole Nation and leave your home county out in the cold? So the Floydada women sent an invitation over to the club women of Lockney, the other town in Floyd County, and a county-wide meeting was planned.

At the first meeting of all the club women in the county they decided to organize the Floyd County Federation of Women's Clubs. No sooner was their organization perfected than their organization arose. "Now that we have a county organization, what shall we do?"

Some one suggested "Get a home demonstrator." Then they would have some one to help organize the rural work and there are about thirty rural communities and school districts in Floyd County. By working and pulling and planning together the home demonstrator was soon on the ground and at work. And you'd be surprised at the big things the women of Floyd County have put over since they went to work together to make Floyd County the best place to live in Texas.

A few weeks ago the Floydada Chamber of Commerce decided to have a banquet and invite the women to be their guests. And when they invited the farm women, those women said, "Yes, thank you, we'll be glad to come, and if you will let us we will not only come but will serve a genuine Floyd County Banquet out of our Floyd County gardens."

And you should see that menu. Baked chicken, home grown bread, vegetables, fruit, butter, cream, pickles and pie. Everything at that banquet except the coffee, sugar, pepper and salt was produced in Floyd County, even down to the girls of the home economics class of the Floydada High School who did the serving. The women of the home demonstration clubs furnished all the food, the Parent-Teacher organizations prepared the banquet and then the whole county sat down together and enjoyed the fruits and labors of their own soil and hands. It was a great meeting and they are all talking about it and themselves yet. None of them seemed to know just what fine folks and what an independent, self-supporting county they were until that night. And the women VOW that next time they will not depend on any other corner of the globe for a single thing for their county banquet. They will use sorghum syrup for sugar, red pepper and some of the men if not the women will manufacture something out of Floyd County grapes or something to drink. And maybe by next year they will have a salt water oil well that will furnish plenty of evaporated seasoning.

At that banquet the baked chickens were left over from Floyd County's $450,000 poultry crop of 1926. The light rolls were made of Floyd County wheat milled by the Floydada mill and the corn bread sticks were made of meal ground by one of the women with her own mill.

But even all that wonderful banquet was not the greatest revelation of the outgrowth of the Floyd County Federation. One of the speakers on that occasion was Mrs. A. R. Hanna, president of the Sand Hill community club. When Mrs. Hanna arose to make her speech she said: "If anybody had told me three years ago that I would ever be invited to a banquet of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, and not only invited to be here but to make a talk before all the business men of this town, I would have dropped dead of heart failure. Until the County Federation was organized and the town women began to work with the county women to secure our home demonstrator I knew only three people in Floydada, and I had lived out there on our farm for years. And those three people were our family doctor, the dentist and the groceryman."

With that introduction, Mrs. Hanna made the banner talk of the occasion, proving without doubt that Floyd County had produced not only the products for a beautiful banquet but by the cooperation of all the women in the county some real community leaders had been discovered and that the social life of the county had developed ever more than the commercial and agricultural interests and that the homes of Floyd County had improved right along with its products.

And herein lies the beauty of the County Federation of Women's Clubs. The greatest waste in all of our counties is not the food, or the money we are not producing, or making but the leadership, the talent, the joy, the companionship and the county fellowship that all the people are missing by not knowing and mingling with all the people of their home county.

Miss Blanche Bass is the happy home demonstrator in Floyd County. She now has thirteen women's clubs and ten girls' clubs in their County Council.

Mrs. Carl McAdams of Lockney is president of the County Federation which has a membership of several hundred women all working for a Better Floyd County.

TRACK MEET AT PLAINVIEW FRI. SHOWS F. H. S. PROSPECTS GOOD

Coach Ike Jay and eight members of his track and field team last Friday afternoon entered an invitation tournament with Plainview, and Olton at Plainview. Floydada Hi won four first places, losing to Plainview by two points. The meet was a practice meet by the three teams, and Floydada plans to hold another of the meets here in the near future.

The most interesting event of the meet was the mile relay. Floydada for the past few years has been represented in the district with one of the fastest relay teams in the South Plains. Last year the relay team from this city represented this district at the state meet in Austin, and it is Coach Jay's belief that we have a better team this year than last. Three members of the team, Edwards, Stiles and Terry have been representatives to Austin for the past two years, and Moore, a new member of the team promises to be equally as good as the other members.

At the meet in Plainview, Terry won the 440 yard sprint in 58 seconds. Swain who won the mile run at the district meet last year, won this race at the Plainview meet. Edwards, another district representative of 1926, won the discus throw. The date for the three towns to meet in Floydada has not been set yet, Coach Jay said.

Auxiliary Hostess at Party For Legionnaires.

Patriotism was truly the spirit of the party given at the American Legion Home Wednesday evening when the ladies of the Auxiliary acted as hostesses to the Legion members and several non-resident members in whose honor the party was given. True to their country and their post the members of the American Legion and Auxiliary gave their attendance of sixty strong. The blowing of bugles and horns gave quite a military air to the occasion, however the formality was lacking for the entire assembly was very informal during the entire evening. The guests were welcomed as they arrived by Mmes. Jack Henry and Luther Fry and each one was given a Red, white and blue cap. The red white and blue colors scheme and the George Washington idea was carried out in decorating the hall. Tall wicker baskets filled with flowers were placed here and there.

Mrs. V. Andrews, president of the Auxiliary, made the welcoming address paying a glowing tribute to the Legion members and in her address made mention that the Auxiliary was glad of the opportunity to help make the home what it should be. A. J. Folly received a hearty applause on the short witty response which he gave to Mrs. Andrews' address. Mrs. C. H. Davis was compelled to respond to an encore after giving "An Essay on Pants." Two very pleasing vocal selections were given by Mrs. A. W. Chowning. Little Nell Stevenson gave two readings which were warmly received. A feature of the entertainment which added to the success of the evening was music furnished by Miss Ruth Collins, Tom Goslee and Raymond Berry. Games of eighty-four furnished amusement for the remainder of the evening. Delicious refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, olives, fruit salad, cherry pie with whipped cream, coffee and mints, were served.

Those present were: Messrs and Mmes. Joe Day, Ogie Johnson, C. H. Davis, Robert McGuire, W. H. Sharp, J. I. Hammonds, Roy Snodgrass, Joubert Clements, Jack Henry, W. L. Fry, Reed Officer, J. A. FLOYDADA HI GIRLS WIN FROM MCCOY BASKETBALL TEAM TUE.

The Floydada Hi girls cage sextet last Tuesday night defeated the McCoy girls team in a practice game at the Andrews gym, the score being 32 to 16.

The McCoy girls, champion rural team in the south end of the county, put up a hard fight and did good playing throughout the entire game, but were out classed by the stronger Class A team.

The line-up of the two teams is as follows: Floydada—Stiles and Hill, forwards; Kinnard and Collins, center; Teeple and Sherrill, guards. McCoy—Smith and Thacker, forwards; Nixon and Jackson, center; Thacker and Berry, guards.

A practice game between the Lockney All-Star boys cage quintet and the Turkey All-Star team scheduled also for Tuesday night, was not played because of the failure of the Turkey team to come. The Lockney team have matched a game with the Ralls All-Star team here tonight, and are expecting a hard battle. The Ralls High School team for several years have won district honors, and the Longhorns plan to give them a battle royal here tonight.

WHEN you want Conoco Motor Oil for motor lubrication be sure that you get it. Beware of the unnamed, unbranded "just-as-good" which is a good profit-maker for the seller but which is apt to prove most costly to the unsuspecting motorist who buys it.

Let a reliable Conoco dealer or Conoco service station attendant drain your crankcase. Then you will be sure of getting genuine Conoco—the tested motor oil.

Conoco protects every moving part with its fine lubricating film. It is clean—full bodied—thoroughly tested. There's a grade for your type of motor.

Ford Economy Run Sets New Gas Mileage Record

Leading Car In Contest Makes More Than 53 Miles On Plains Dirt Roads.

The Ford Economy Run, staged Tuesday by the Lockney Auto Company and Barker Bros., of Lockney and Floydada respectively, set what is doubtless a new high mark for gasoline mileage on dirt roads for this section of the state Tuesday afternoon, when Homer Eubank, city, driving a Ford coupe made 53.2 miles on a measured gallon of gas, with hood and gas tank double-sealed. The judge's car registered exactly 53.2 miles when it drove up along side and broke the seals on the leading car.

The second best mark made by a car in the elimination contest was by a sedan driven by Ted Borum, also of this city. Borum's mark was 49 miles. Third place was also taken by a car in the closed car division, a coupe driven by V. Talkington, city, making 37.3 miles. Maurice Nickles, city, with 33.8 miles in a Ford roadster, C. C. McDowell, Lockney, with 33.8 miles in a coupe and Hugh Adams with 33 miles in a coupe were the next four high men in order. The average mileage of these six men was an even forty miles.

Eighteen cars were entered in the eliminations contest, which started from the Barker Bros. Sales and Service Station here. Of these, seven entries were from Lockney and eleven from the local agency.

Each agency paid the high mileage owners from their respective places $15 in cash. Winners of the prizes from Floydada were Homer Eubank, closed car; Maurice Nickles, open car. From Lockney winners were C. C. McDowell, closed car; and Walter King, open car.

The average mileage made by all cars in the contest was 31.5 miles. All except two cars made in excess of twenty-five miles and nine made in excess of thirty miles. Two made in excess of forty-five miles and the leading car almost equalled the paved road record of central Texas with 53.2 miles.

Only cars carrying standard equipment in every way were permitted to enter.

B. K. Barker, manager of Barker Bros., city, and A. P. Barker, manager of Lockney Auto Company, were much gratified with the success of the demonstration of fuel economy made by their new model Fords. "It is certain that the figures on the mileage can't be wrong," Arthur Barker of the Lockney agency said, following the close of the tests. "Every seal was intact when the cars were opened by the judges for refilling by the service men and every precaution was thrown around the test to make it thoroughly authentic in every respect. One judge, J. H. Mann, at the corner of the square in Plainview, checked the drivers as they passed his corner there, getting not only the number but the time at which they passed his post. The watchful eyes of the judges and the hundred spectators saw the cars filled as they left the starting post."

K. Barker said yesterday that the sense of the Ford owners to the friendly rivalry in the gasoline mileage contest was fully appreciated by the information gained in the run to owners and dealers.

Animals Wednesday, when the medals were made by the four owners of the eliminations of Monday Tuesday from Plainview, Hale Center, Floydada and Lockney. Walter King, of Lockney, won first place and $50 in gold for the open car drivers and C. C. McDowell, also of Lockney, won first place and $50 in the closed car class. Maurice Nickles, of this city, won second place in the open car class. The other second prize went to a owner of a car out of the Plainview agency.

LUNCHEON CLUB OFFICERS FOR QUARTER ELECTED MONDAY

G. C. Tubbs was elected presiding officer for the quarter beginning with the next meeting, and C. H. Davis assistant at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Floydada Luncheon Club Monday at the Commercial Hotel Dining Room. J. C. Gilliam was elected secretary-treasurer and R. E. Fry other.

The meeting was marked by the large attendance it has had in recent weeks, thirty-five members and visitors registering. Among the visitors, whom acknowledged introduction short talks were A. P. Horn, of tinney, Elder J. J. Day and C. E.

Reporting for the Boy Scouts' Comm. F. L. Davis told the club that they are now to have Regional Directors, Williams, of Lubbock, here for the meeting of the club unless conditions prevent. If it is possible for Williams and other scout workers to be here as planned, the club, acting the suggestion of Mr. Davis, will meet at 7:30 in the evening instead of the regular noon-day day.

SAND HILL HEN PARTY NETS $75 FOR SCHOOL FUND FRI.

World's Largest Zoo Is In Vast Jungle

South Africa Sets Aside 8,000 Square Miles To Preserve Its Wild Life.

South Africa lately combined two provincial game reserves into a national game park almost as large as the state of Massachusetts. South Africans say that it is richer in indigenous animals, bird and plant life than any other game preserve in the world, and in the light of its warden's report the claim has every appearance of validity. The largest game alone—lions, elephants, hippopotami, black rhinoceri, giraffes, zebras, buffaloes, a wide variety of antelopes, leopards, hyenas and wild dogs—now number 130,000 head the warden estimates.

All species that survived the years indiscriminate butchery to which big game was subjected in the settlements of South Africa are represented in this largest of natural zoos. Among the missing is the white rhinoceros. That survives only in Zululand and along the upper Nile. Colonel J. Stevenson Hamilton, the warden, is endeavoring to obtain a pair in order to preserve the species in the territory where it was once fairly abundant.

The great reserve has received the name of Kruger National Park, for the old Sable River and Shingwedzi reserves, from which it has been formed, trace back to an idea of "Oom Paul" Kruger, President of the Transvaal Republic twenty-eight years ago. Both of the old reserves were under the Transvaal Administration, and it was repeatedly urged to open the closed areas to land speculators and big game hunters (game butchers who sell their kills for meat). This summer the Union Government of Cape Town intervened and passed a bill presented by Piet Grobler, nephew of Kruger, if not actually to save the reserves, at least to settle forever the question of their future.

Enough Lions

Between five and six hundred full-grown lions are in the park and tourists who venture off the meager highways at present are required to engage beaters to precede them through the bush. This is because it is sometimes possible for one unaccustomed to the wild to get himself into trouble before he knows it.

About four hundred of the lions range in the old Sable River area; the remainder, about one hundred and fifty, roam the old Shingwedzi area—and they usually travel in small groups, never more than a dozen adults in a group, more frequently five or six. A lioness is sometimes accompanied by two or three lions until one of them drives off or kills its rival. It is not unusual to come across two defeated lions hunting together, after having been driven away from their family parties. Each troop has its own tract of the park, but the tracts are of considerable size. Kruger Park contains 7,937 square miles—and lions have been known to travel as much as twenty-five miles in a night, distances half as great being the common night's range.

How much damage the lions do to the other game is a question that has been studied at length by the warden, Colonel Hamilton, who brings scientific training to his office. He estimates that the kill of a party of six lions averages two antelopes a week, one large antelope sufficing a single adult lion for a period of two weeks. The rangers observed 475 lion kills last year and, taking this figure as 5 per cent of the total number of kills, the warden concludes that his lions last year killed a total of 9,500 animals.

The warden took steps to keep down the number of lions in the two old reserves. Their mortality for the year due to all causes was close to 200, and this offsets the natural increase. Lionesses in a wild state have litters of two or three cubs apiece every three years. One and sometimes two of the cubs die in infancy and of the surviving cubs about half live to maturity. Thus of 100 lionesses about thirty would produce litters each year and about fifteen cubs would grow to maturity. Of 100 adults about six would die each year from old age and four from hunting and fighting. The annual increase would be fifteen, the annual loss ten, the net annual increase five.

In Kruger Park, where the food supply is abundant, the warden and his rangers confine their interference with the normal growth of their game to the lions. By keeping the total number of the lions to a little below 600 the larger antelopes are enabled to increase more rapidly than they otherwise would. Their gross annual increase is placed at about 30 per cent, and their annual loss 15 per cent, 10 per cent of it due to the lions and 5 per cent to smaller carnivora and natural causes. This leaves an annual net increase for the antelopes of about 15 per cent.

Wildebeeste and waterbuck are the most numerous not only of the antelopes but of any of the larger animals, in the park. Elands, once extinct in the Transvaal, have taken a fresh start through importation. The existence of impala has long been suspected and is now known for a fact, but the secretive habits of this timid antelope make it impossible to determine its numbers. Kudu have greatly increased since the rinderpest plague nearly wiped them out in 1896; they have become so tame that visitors to the new park may see them at close range.

Of all the species in the park, the docile blue wildebeeste is now and will continue for some years to be the most familiar to visitors. Its quaint coloring make it as easy to see through the thin bush of the park as if it were caged. Except the lions it has no natural enemies; it is too fast to be hunted by native poachers with dogs; and it feeds on so many varieties of grasses that it never wants for food.

Waterbuck, being prolific, used to be the most numerous varieties of antelope in the old reserves. It has so many enemies, however, and is so easily hunted that now the wildebeeste has passed it in numbers. A single native poacher with a single small dog can do heavy damage among waterbuck in the course of a morning's chase. Tsessebe, impala, reedbuck, the secretive bushback, the klipspringer of the hills, a few mountain reedbuck, duiker and setebuck are denizens of the park. The Natal duiker, never very numerous has been lost. The oribi, now rare in South Africa, was supposed to be extinct in the old reserves, but one was seen in the park this summer.

In number, zebras rank next after wildebeeste and waterbuck. Warthogs are prolific in the enclosure, a fortunate circumstance, for they have many persistent enemies. Bush pigs thrive where the bush is sufficiently thick, but they are so timid that visitors find it difficult to get in sight of them. Giraffes are increasing, and are so widely distributed that some are always in the foreground.

A Game Refuge

There are two main herds of elephants. Both made gains this summer because of the promiscuous shooting beyond the Portuguese frontier. Elephants, the warden reports, are not the only animals that have crossed into the park in search of safety and have remained there. The number of black rhinos is small; the species is rapidly disappearing from the best game lands in Africa, and it is a slow breeder. It has no natural enemies, however, and the warden is convinced that its preservation is possible. It is rarely seen, as its home is the densest bush.

Hippopotami are even more difficult to preserve and their habits make the work no easier. It is a question whether they have not been declining. They have a habit of migrating down the river into Portuguese territory, where they are sometimes shot because of damage attributed to their incursions. They are the only mammal that is in danger of extermination in the park. Wild dogs grow fewer and fewer, becoming rather scarce. Hyenas, once almost extinct, have slightly increased in numbers.

These great herds of wild animals, now the wards of South Africa, epitomize the country's wild life. As for birds, from the big birds of prey down through the stork and egret to the little rhinoceros bird which keeps its bulky host free ticks, practically all the bird species of the country are represented in the park flock.

Of equal importance to scientists is the plant life, which varies from section to section. Other assets of the park appeal to other interests. A few natives live within it, under their own tribal laws and are subject only to such rules from without as are necessary for the protection of the game. In the rock outcrops among the hills there are caves which contain bushman paintings of interest to the South African archaeologist. The house of the first white inhabitant of the eastern low veldt is preserved. There are rock-climbing possibilities in the Lebomo Hills as well as in the isolated hills and kopjes, which stud the bush-clad plains, and some of the river-gorges are impressive.

The drawback of the great animal reserve is incidental to its newness. At present it is not easy to reach. Johannesburg lies about 1,000 miles from Cape Town and the park is a night's journey by train beyond Johannesburg. A line of railway skirts it on the south and another line crosses it for a distance of about eighty miles. Some roads within its boundaries are capable of taking motor traffic, but roads and bridges for circular tours are lacking. The provision of hotels and an adequate staff of guides has not yet begun. The place is unequipped except for the accommodation of the warden and his rangers.

Yellowstone Park in the United States was frequently mentioned in South Africa during the discussion which preceded this summer's proclamation of Kruger Park. It is intended that the reservation with its 130,000 head of wild animals shall be ultimately as accessible as Yellowstone to the ordinary tourist. It is malarial in summer but in the southern winter, from May to about November, it is one of the best places to visit. It is a scientific center, but also the greatest tourist resort in the world for men who "shoot" big game with cameras. No other method of shooting game will be permitted to its visitors.

LEFTY HOLMES TO TRY OUT UNDER WACOS FAMOUS COACH

Lefty Holmes of Sand Hill, youthful portside baseball twirler of wide local fame, will get the opportunity of a life time this spring, when he tries out his prowess under the watchful eye of the famous coach of the Waco Cubs, in the Texas Baseball Club.

Lefty leaves this week for Waco to begin his training. He got a berth for the spring workouts with the Cubs on the recommendation of Harley Sadler, West Texas' showman. While this show was in this territory last summer, Lefty pitched for the show boys against local teams. He made such a good impression on Mr. Sadler that the latter got the Cubs to give him a try-out.

GERMANY PLANS LARGE ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM FOR MASSES

According to reports, Germany plans a six-year program of road building to comprise about 9,000 miles of auto roads to attract tourists. At $40,000 a mile, this would cost $360,000,000, a good investment if Germany's laws were made to invite outsiders.
