DODGE BROTHER'S ENLARGE OUTPUT TO MEET SALES

With a record of 11 highly successful years behind them, Dodge Brothers, Inc., are apparently determined to make outdo all their previous sales achievements.

The pace set by this manufacturer during the first quarter and so far in Man Sleeps Like Log, April is discussed quite generally as one of the fine achievements of the industry. From the seventh day of January, when prices were reduced, there has been a constant acceleration in demand for Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks-Graham Brothers is a division of Dodge Brothers, Inc.—with the result that each of the first three months successively established a new record.

When you know the facts about the materials used in Ford manufacture, you can readily understand why Ford cars serve their owners so long and dependably—for, after all, the basic quality of a motor car must be largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today.

No automobile, regardless of cost, can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford-because Ford steels are the finest available for the purpose.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contain a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. This is necessary because Ford upholstery must last a long time-like the rest of the car. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. If it isn't the very best obtainable for the purpose, it isn't used. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Yet—with all the recognized quality of Ford cars -Ford prices are the lowest in the world. Conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry make this possible.

ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts.

Raw material and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, steel mills, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.

In this way every possible manufacturing economy is effected. Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

Why the Santa Fe some years ago

"Adequately served" has become a shibboleth of the Santa Fe'men in West Texas and the plains in the past five years. All the territory involved in the hearing Monday has been in their "adequately served" area all this time. Their extension program, to gain more plausibility, should have been proposNow then resently, after a plains. Old John Santa Fe's viewpoint is the answer. John lives in Kansas.

Their extension, if made, will cost half as much as the eastern connection will, and add no available markets to the territory to be served. But handicaps don't mean anything to a good lawyer. Neither, apparently, did a right-about face as to rail transportation needs, all within a year, seem to mean anything to the Santa Fe officials who appeared in the hearing. The idea being that the Santa Fe decided to get a permit to extend southeast 15 miles and no further, make no promises as to their intentions as regards eastern played by a local store. connections, and then go after what they desired.

As between neighbors and friends over the area involved, no hard feelings exist. The crying need of this plains territory is more railway facilities. Everybody wants railroads and more railroads, and meaning no reflections. more railroads, and meaning no reflection, the situation is like that of the logs to which the bone is pitched. They are hungry and fight over the bone. When it is gone they wag their tails and are friends again, friends in a common hope that another bone will be pitched out to fight over. A fighting chance is better than no chance at er one.

The play to be presented by the senior class on May 18, is one of the best ever shown here. As its title, "Much Ado About Betty," indicates, there is action all the time. In my opinion the senior class has the talent to put it over as intended. There are nineteen seniors, and one little white girl and one little negro girl. In the years previous to this, an admission of 35c and 50c has been charged, with the first thirteen rows reserved, but this year only 25c and 35c, with the first thirteen rows reserved, will be charged.

A great many people have inquired what the proceeds of the Senior play were used for. It is customary to pay the speaker at the final exercises and also the preacher of the baccalaureate sermon $25.00, and expenses. There are various other expenses to be met, and as a usual thing the entire amount realized is used. We take in about $200 on an average at the showing of these

Mrs. Ohmer Kirk Falls and Breaks Right Leg

The right limb of Mrs. Ohmer Kirk was broken Monday afternoon at about o'clock when she tripped over a poultry netting in the J. T. Kirk gar-den and fell with all her weight on that Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kirk were away from home at the time, and the victim of the accident had been watering their hot bed, which is surrounded by poultry wire, when, in some manner her foot became entangled as she started to step over the nettting, thus causing the fall which resulted in the breaking of both bones of the right limb about five inches above the ankle.

Mr. Kirk and a physician responded to a hurry-up telephone call from the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, who was near-by her home, where medical aid was rendered. She is reported doing well from the injury, tho it is expected to be fully three months before she will be able to walk.

TULAREMIA MAY BE TRANSMITTED TO MAN

The epizootic disease known as tula-remia, "rabbit fever," or "deer-fly fever," which kills off wild rabbits in great numbers, may also be transmitted human beings through the bite of blood-sucking flies and ticks and through handling or coming in touch with the blood and internal organs of infected wild rabbits, according to investigations of the United States Public Health Service, and the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture calls attention to the prevalence of tularemia in order that, to prevent possible infection, persons exposed to the disease may observe precautions, such as wearing rubber loves, rinsing the hands in antiseptic solutions after handling wild rabbits, and treating insect bites promptly with iodine. Many persons have become infected by dressing wild rabbits for the table or by cutting them up for fish bait or feed for poultry, swine, or other domestic stock. Cases of the disease have occurred in Arizona, California, Colorado, the Dis trict of Columbia, Georgia, Idaho, Indi-Iowa, Kansas, Mississippi, Mis-, Montana, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming. This distribu-tion indicates that the disease probably occurs throughout the United States and that its recognition and occurrence in other States will be only a matter of time, as it was found in nine new States during the past year.

Tularemia is carried by jack rabbits, snowshoe rabbits, and cottontails and also by certain species of ground squirrels. In human beings the usual symptoms are headaches, chills, bodily pains, omiting, prostration, and fever, followed by painful swelling and later suppuration of glands. It is a disabling disease, incapacitating the patient weeks or months and at times terminating fatally. The control measures being directed by the Biological Survey against wild rabbits and other rodents in the Western States for the protection of forage and other crops are not only accom-plishing this object but also are safeguarding human health by checking the occurrence of tularemia.

After an examination of all the facts of the case, the woman was sent the following letter by the department.

RAILROADS AND BUS LINES

(Editorial from Houston Chronicle) Recent dispatches state that the In-ernational-Great Northern Railroad, fter taking off one of its motor cars between San Antonio and Austin, has petitioned the railroad commission to be allowed to take off another and the last one. This has been made necessary because bus lines running on the public highway between San Santonio and Austin parallel the railroad line and have converted the motor car into an unprofitable investment.

The railroad is a "common carrier" and is held liable in every way to the full extent to which the law applies to common carriers. It is a corporation and is under the control and direction of the railroad commission.

but they are not subject to the requirement of running on regular schedules. They may start, stop and quit entirely whenever they see fit to do so. Their operation is made possible because public money has built good roads along the line of the railways, and of public money the railroads have contributed a very large share.

The 80 odd miles between San Anand Austin traversed by lines of railway in all likelihood furnish more money to the treasury of Texas in the way of Taxes than do all public busses put together.

Some kind of legislation like a mileage tax to be applied to the road upkeep might be put on the buss lines without doing them any injustice.

If the mileage tax of 10 per cent for each bus for each round trip was put on the busses, or less than a fourth of a cent a mile, the average accumulation of that tax in a year would greatly lessen the road tax of the counties, a reduction which the railroads would, course, share.

If the bus lines are to perform all the functions of common carriers, they should be held to the measure of legal operating responsibility that other common carriers are, and should be made to contribute their fair proportion of the expense of building and maintaining the good roads which make their operation possible.

FIFTY-FIFTY

From "Tell Me Another," by Lord Aber-

John Barrymore, during his recent visit to London, told us this story at a dinner tendered him by the Lyceum A colored man purveyed what he described as veal and ham pies. After a while some people came to him and said:

"Some of those who have eaten your pies are ill, and some have died, and and we want to know what's inside those pies and no faking about it."
"Rabbits," said the pieman.

'But there must be something else; what is it?" "Horse."

"But in what proportion?" "Fifty-fifty-one rabbit, one horse."

A map covering 2,750 feet of canvas, said to be the largest in the world, has been unveiled in Rome.

DID WHAT 'WITCH' TOLD HIM TO

German Farmer Performed Queer Rites but Still Didn't Get Rich.

From London Daily Mail.

Frederica Riek, a farmer, has been telling the magistrates at Marggra-Bowa. in East Prussia, the extraordinary things he had to do at the comhand of a witch who undertook to bring his prosperity.

He had to write in honey on a thin cake of bread the magic words, "Adonis dear, adonis my own! Thou canst do all. Thou art firendly and thy goodness is eternal. Help me this once. Thou art the Lord."

Then he had to wash his hands and face in water on which the morning sun had not shown, to say a prayer to Adonis seven times and tie a cake of bread round his neck.

At the same time he had to lend the witch a carriage, he had to get the heart of a white toad and tie it with three feathers under the seat of a bicycle he had bought for the wizard who assisted the witch. He provided thirty yards of English cloth to darken the room in which the witch called up the spirits, and 1,200 marks of good money went from his pocket to hers.

If the witch, in private life, a farmer's wife, and the wizard, a shoemaker, had been genuine Frederick Riek would not have complained, but they were nothing less than a false and wizard, in fact, common swindlers.

They were unable to prove their qualifications to practice the black art, and the witch got three months' and the wizard six months' imprisonment for fraud.

Six o'clock in the morning is the usual opening time for Chinese shopkeepers.

This can be done and is being done by some farmers who are always prosperous. There are some kinds of feed crops that grow well in every part of the State, and farmers should plant the feed crops adapted to their own locality. County Kitchen Contest Prize-Winners Are Announce.

Kitchen Contest Work Explained

By Miss Blanche Bass, Floyd County Home Demonstration Agent.

The Kitchen Improvement Contest, whether it means much to the outside reader or not, to me is one of the most interesting and worthwhile phases our Club work. Why? Because the kitchen is the "workshop" of the home. It is where the mother spends at least 75 per cent of her time. Although the home is not a money-making enterprise, it is quite as important as in industry, that every means possible should be used to lighten the tasks of the homemaker, who many times must work beyond her strength. But home-makers have been slow to study how to save time and labor in their work. Consequently, conditions in the home life from the standpoint of efficient methods of work and the adoption of labor-saving equipment and its conwehient arrangement are far behind those of other occupations.

Convenient, attractive kitchens are more than an aid to housewives—they help to create helpful, happy homes. Where we work has much to do with how we work. The average kitchen, whether in town or country, makes work instead of saving work. This waste of time and energy means that the mother is over-tired, and that her family is deprived of attention it might otherwise have had.

31 Entered Contest

Last January when the 31 kitchens over Floyd County were judged before the improvements were started I saw some of the most gloomy, ill-ventilated, poorly arranged kitchens imaginable. Every day I came home wondering if they could ever be converted into orderly, cheerful convenient rooms. For everything had to be done, and with a cost of $25 it seemed impossible.

Just as soon as all the judging was finished the contestants started work as enthusiastically as ever people could, each one scheming and planning just how she would have her kitchen. This being a state-wide contest, she not only worked with a determination to beat every other woman in Floyd County, but in the entire state of Tex-

When, last week, I went back to do the final scoring of all the kitchens in the contest, I am sure I was never more delightfully surprised with any work than I was these kitchens. In most cases I could not recognize a thing in the kitchen but the cook stove. Everything had been changed and planned to the last detail, fully, completely fur-nished! Every modern convenience had been added. I would like to have the space to print every story that has been written on these kitchens, but when you read those of the winners I think you, too, can appreciate their

So we have planned a "Kitchen Tour" for the 20th of May, the third Thursday, at which time every one is invited. Whether you are a member of a Club or not we want to urge you to join us in Floydada at 2 o'clock and make this trip with us. On this tour we will stop at Mrs. W. E.
