KILLER LEADS OFFICERS TO BODY...

Rites Held Here Saturday for Man Slain Feb. 5 in Search for "Mine"

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church Saturday at 4 p. m. for Doras Franklin (Jack) Leflar, 31, New Mexico slaying victim and grandson of the late J. E. Leflar, mayor of Haskell in the early 40's.

Officiating for the rites was the Rev. Oscar Bruce, Methodist pastor. Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home.

Leflar was shot and killed on Feb. 5 by a companion during a fruitless search for a New Mexico gold mine near Ruidoso, N. M.

Murder charges in the Leflar death were filed Thursday in Alamogordo, N. M., against Roy Leon Handy, 21, of Lamesa, an itinerant restaurant cook. The slaying did not come to light until Feb. 22, when Handy led Lubbock officers to his friend's body on a New Mexico Indian reservation.

Handy, who has also been charged in Lubbock with forgery, disclosed the shooting during questioning there. The shooting took place near Ruidoso, where the men had gone in search of a gold mine. Their quest began in Juarez, Old Mexico, where they had picked up a map purportedly showing location of the "mine," Handy told officers.

Handy told officers he started to drive back to El Paso in Leflar's car, was given a speeding ticket in Alamogordo and threw his gun away. He then went to Lubbock where he was arrested Feb. 21 on a forgery and swindling charge. He had been using Leflar's identification and automobile since the shooting, officers said.

Leflar is survived by his son, Rocky 10, of Alamogordo; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fuller of El Paso two step-brothers; an uncle Eli Leflar, detective in the Amarillo police department; a aunt, Mrs. Lillian Cole of Rule.

The four awards are made to the student having the highest average on a combination of class grades and standardized test scores in each area.

The sweaters are made of white wool and orlon. The Quill and Scroll emblem is placed on the left side of the sweater.

Money for these sweaters is made by Quill and Scroll. Heretofore the Chapter has given the Quiz Show. As a money-making project this year, the Chapter has chosen "Cinderella of Loreland," a modern three-act version of the beloved fairy tale by Frances Homer. It will be presented by the speech class on the evenings of March 6 and 7 in the High School auditorium.

All of the money earned will go for the purchasing of the sweaters. If the Chapter has any money left, it goes back into the school in the form of a project by Quill and Scroll. The national charter states that each chapter must contribute some worthy project each year.

A.S.C. To Assemble Data On Feed Grain Acreage

In connection with the bill now being pushed in Congress to cut feed grain surpluses and boost the income of grain growers, the ASC county committee faces the task of assembling data from all grain producers in Haskell County by March 17.

As the program is understood here, it could mean additional farm revenue of $1 million or more to Haskell County.

Lloyd Feemster, secretary of the County ASC Committee, said that forms to be used in assembling the information are being prepared. As soon as forms are ready, all feed grain producers in the county will be notified by letter and requested to come by the local office and furnish information as to the number of acres of grain sorghum, oats and barley harvested last year.

"We have not been advised fully as to all details of the program but we do know that the time element in assembling the information wanted is important," Feemster said. Producers will be given all available information as soon as it is received by his office, he added.

He estimates there are 1600 grain producers in the county who will be affected by the program.

Final Rites for Urban Harris, 63, Held Saturday

Funeral service for Urban Harris, well-known farmer and longtime resident of Haskell County, were held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of this city.

Mr. Harris, 63, died at 4:20 p. m. Thursday in McKnight State Hospital, Sanatorium, Texas, after an illness of several years.

Conducting the funeral rites were the Rev. Dick Maples, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church in Abilene, and the Rev. Oscar Bruce, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Haskell.

Church Group Sponsors Free Health Clinic for Pre-School Children

The St. Ann Catholic Women's Guild has announced that a clinic for pre-school children ages 6 months through 6 years, has been arranged to administer immunization shots for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus through the public health facilities.

These shots will be made available to those children whose parents are unable to pay for them. The first shot of the series will be given in the emergency room of the Haskell County Hospital, on Monday, March 6, from 2:00 to 3:30 p. m. The second and third shots will be given on April 4 and May 1, at the same time and in the same place.

Mrs. W. P. Trice has volunteered to give the shots. Hallie Chapman has made the emergency room and the necessary equipment of the hospital available for this clinic.

Parents are reminded that at least one parent must accompany their children before they can receive the shots.

Mrs. Joe W. Cloud, president of St. Ann Guild, stated that the same type of clinic will be organized in a short while in Rule and Rochester, for the children in those areas.

Water Project Money Bill Passed

A bill to raise the amount the State Water Development Board can lend for local water projects gained final passage from both Houses of the Legislature at Austin last week.

Governor Daniel favored the bill and signed it immediately, placing it into effect.

The bill will allow the state board to lend up to $15 million for any one water project. This is of particular interest to member towns in the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

Auto Insurance Plan Hit

The Texas' merit rating plan for auto insurance came in for heavy criticism at Austin last week as the Senate Insurance Committee considered a measure calling for extensive changes.

Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo declared that, at present, it's not how you drive, but whether you get caught, that determines your insurance premiums.

Under a revised plan sponsored by Sen. Hazelwood, insurance premiums would be raised only for more serious traffic violations. No penalty points would be assigned for anything that happened before January 1, 1940.

In taking apart the present plan, Sen. Hazelwood said it was inequitable because, among other reasons, (1) it doesn't apply to commercial vehicles such as trucks, taxis, etc. and (2) traffic tickets aren't passed out as readily in small towns as large ones.

Socialism and Cupidity

According to figures just released by Tax Foundation, Inc., the per capita burden of federal, state and local taxes was $109 in 1940, $369 in 1950, and $715 in 1960.

In virtually all state and local governments, no less than the federal government, proposals are advanced for more and more tax revenue. Unless the people restrain their demands on government, and put their foot down on unnecessary government expenditures that curry favor with pressure groups, Karl Marx's plan "to wrest all capital from the bourgeoisie," may become a reality in the United States.

If socialism engulfs our country, it will be due to the cupid-ity of people who think they can get something for nothing from government.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

What do you do when you pull up to the curb, your brakes go out and your car continues on the sidewalk, headed for a plate glass store front?

The smart thing would be to do exactly as Betty Campbell did the other day when she faced this same situation. It happened on the south side of the square, in front of Elma Guest Dress shop.

Instead of giving way to panic, the pert young woman had the presence of mind to maintain control of the moving car and steered the vehicle straight down the sidewalk and around the corner, then off the curb and back into the street.

Luckily, there were no pedestrians on the sidewalk at the time, so none was endangered or inconvenienced.

Betty, a waitress at the Texas Cafe, admits she was a bit excited and "shook up" by the experience.

It has been over a month now, so perhaps it is safe to tell of an incident which happened at the recent Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Charles Swinson, with pad and pencil, was busily interviewing and listing names and addresses of out-of-town guests as they entered the hall on the way to the banquet tables.

Novis Ousley of Rule, as he approached Charles, speaking loudly enough to be heard by everyone around, said: "All right, waiter, I'm ready to give you my order." Then, before red-faced Charles could frame a suitable reply, Novis moved on down the line, grinning like the cat which had eaten the canary.

Seems that Eastland is stealing some of Haskell's thunder with their squabble over relocation of a highway through the home town of Old Rip, the fabled horned frog. They've really got a big fuss going.

While Haskell people managed to keep the Miller Creek water squabble confined to local ranks (with the exception of outside legal advice on both sides), our not too distant neighbors down at Eastland stepped out and got a Central Texas Congressman and one or two highway commission members into their ruckus. And both sides are giving their opponents Hall Columbia in generous doses, according to newspaper accounts.

We think the Eastland situation will bear watching, especially since they've involved those big shots from outside territory - something entirely new in small town squabbles.

Might be that if our water controversy needs any new angles we might try to draw in a Congressman or two, or better still, someone of cabinet rank.

We doubt the literary world will profit, but the water squabble has brought several would-be poets (using the word generously) to the fore. Much of the verse (charitable, again) tends to be of humorous vein, some of the skits have a pointed message, others are derogatory, and all are anonymous.

The literary "gems" were being circulated around town the first of the week but no one seemed to know where they started, nor the authors. We'd like to assemble a collection of these poetic efforts. Any copies given or loaned will be treated in confidence.

Talk turned to the weather and the bountiful winter rains and snows that have given this section the best underground season in years, with a consequent bright outlook for small grain and farm crops in general.

Optimism of the group was temporarily dampened by the prediction of Jim Norman when he said: "You may as well get ready, for you are going to see some sandstorms or a drought before you see another crop made."

Jim, after living many years in Haskell County, has learned that sandstorms are as certain as sunrise in West Texas, and that no matter how good a season there is in the ground there are always some who complain that unless it rains immediately a crop failure is imminent.

An article written by Mrs. Gene Overton and which originally appeared in her Paint Creek News column in The Free Press, has gained additional publicity.

The item was "An Obituary of a Car" and told of the life and ending of a Buick automobile christened "Shasta." The title, it was explained, stemmed from the fact that the vehicle was in frequent need of parts or accessories - she has to have a battery, she has to have new plugs, she has to, etc.

Mrs. Wallace Cox Jr., sent a copy of the "Obituary" to her mother in Bellflower, Ill., and it was reprinted later in the Saybrook (Ill.) Gazette.

Thoughtfulness of District Clerk Carrie McNulty last week earned her the gratitude of court officials, lawyers, jurors and witnesses in an important case which required more than two days of hearing in district court.

The district clerk brought a large electric percolator to her office, rigged the unit up, and with the help of Commissioners Court Secretary Ethel Lou Shelton, served hot coffee free to all connected with the trial during the two days it was in progress.

The phantom lion or panther reported seen a number of times in this area up until a few weeks ago, evidently has travelled on to other sections.

It's good riddance, too, especially if the critter's temperament was the same nature as that of a tame raccoon owned by a Seymour man, which reverted to a savage state recently.

The pet 'coon was believed harmless, until he escaped from his pen Sunday before last and went on a rampage.

That night a 70-year-old man heard a noise on his back porch and went to investigate. He was attacked by the 'coon, and with no weapon of any kind, he was almost helpless against the infuriated animal.

The man lost a part of one thumb and a finger, and had the calf of one leg badly slashed and cut by the teeth of the vicious animal before he could escape.

Later, when a deputy sheriff and game warden went to investigate, they too, were attacked by the animal. With the help of its owner, the "pet" was finally caged and was to be held for observation of possible rabies.

In and Out the Tee Pees
 By SUZANNE LANE
 "Long before the Christian Era, a version of the story of Cinderella was known by the Egyptians, and they wrote it in their strange characters for their children to read; it was also familiar to the Greeks. It may be found among the German folklore tales of the sixteenth century, and in the delightful collections of fairy stories for which we are indebted to the brothers Grimm. The central idea of the story had been made the basis of many modern plays because it touches an unusual chord in the human heart.
 The various English versions are adaptations of the narrative by Charles Perrault, a famous French writer of fairy tales.
 So it is with the coming of "Cinderella of Loreland," sponsored by the Lon Pate Chapter of Quill and Scroll and presented by the speech class of Haskell High on March 6, 7.
 Not only has this been an exciting and interesting production, but also a means of learning many new and different things. The speech class has learned about early costume-making, make-up and customs of the early centuries. Have you ever wondered what a knight and chancellor in the courts of the 16th and 17th centuries looked like? Their bright colored hose, shoes decorated with pom-poms and bows, garters, and gay blouse trousers. Could these be the background for our grandmothers, who centuries later were called "Bloomer Girls" or even the beginning of the "Gay Nineties" swimsuits?
 The World History classes have studied about the period of time in which the story was written and compared this period with the Renaissance.
 Could the chancellor's glasses be anachronism, or are they in keeping with the times? See if you can find others as you watch "Cinderella of Loreland."
 This is a contribution by these classes and the Lon Pate Chapter of Quill and Scroll to the Public School Week.

PAINT CREEK . . . COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

Several Paint Creek farmers are becoming alarmed about the wild geese that are eating the wheat. They graze it so close one can hardly see it. Archie Pardue has 400 acres of wheat south of Velton Middlebrook's place and one can't tell that there is any wheat in the field. They have eaten Velton's wheat, too, and several others have been worried about their grain being ruined. Some of the farmers have fired into the flock, but the geese just fly away for a little while and then come back. I wonder if geese know that wheat should not be grazed much later than this time of year if it is to make wheat? I'll bet they don't.

I have seen men use geese to eat the weeds out of their cotton over in East Texas. But those were nice white tame geese. These are great big old wild ones, and some one said they are not even good to eat. Eddie Lee Thane received his discharge from an army base on the west coast and is now at home. He has spent the last year in Korea and has grown taller and heavier and looked real fine when we saw him at the basketball game.

William Overton spent a recent weekend at home with his parents and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton and Mike and his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones at Rule, William is practicing teaching speech and English at Tech High School in Fort Worth.

Mike Overton was in Austin recently planning the area Order of the Arrow camps for this coming summer. He represented the Koto Lodge of the Chisholm Trail Council with Chief Gerald Franklin, O. K. Reynolds and Advisor John Lanier. They stayed at Camp Tom Wooten near Austin.

Miss Billie Bosher, Home-making teacher at Paint Creek High, has been made Paint Creek's representative on the Rehabilitation Center Drive. This drive is for the center at Abilene. We have only one Paint Creek child receiving treatment now, however, we have had Lloyd Blackwell and Jimmy Dan Raughton for Speech Therapy, Jerry Scheets for eye surgery, and Sandra Tate for post-Polio treatment. Little Peewee Mickler, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mickler, has received treatment since he was a baby. The Rehabilitation Center has done some wonderful things and it is good to know it is so close to us if any child needs it. It has attracted some fine doctors to Abilene, too. So, if anyone wants to contribute to the Center, give your contribution to Miss Bosher. The drive is to be during March.

Nelda Walton spent the week-end with her parents recently. She is resuming her studies at North Texas State College at Denton this semester where she is a senior. Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Griffith and daughter, Marilyn, were in Abilene recently to attend the dedication of the Blanche Lange dormitory on the Hardin-Simmons campus. They met their son, Cadet Dan Riley Griffith, from Texas A&M College there.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morrison and daughters spent Sunday, Feb. 19, in Graham with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Morrison, and drove on to Fort Worth in the afternoon to take Rev. and Mrs. Morrison for a visit.

Savings Bonds Sales in County At Good Level

At close of business January 31, 11.3 percent of the total 1961 sales goal for Haskell County was achieved, according to announcement made by J. M. Crawford, Chairman of the Haskell County Savings Bonds Committee. The county's goal for 1961 is $270,000.

"Statewide, the percentage of goal achieved is 9.5, which is normal for the month of January," said Mr. Crawford.

Mr. Crawford further stated, "Response both in attendance and in enthusiasm at state or organizational promotion meetings is such that we confidently expect to exceed our State goal by the end of 1961."

Read Seed Tag, Before Buying, Agent Advises

By F. W. Martin, Co. Agent.

Census figures reveal that Texas farmers are consistently producing higher per acre crop yields. The use of fertilizers and irrigation has contributed greatly to this yield increase, and many farmers now use a soil test to determine the kind and amount of fertilizer to apply. These and other practices serve to improve growing conditions, thus resulting in higher production.

There is one problem that increases with this increased yield. Noxious weeds take advantage of the improved growing conditions just as do the desired plants.

One way to ease the weed problem is to read the seed tag before buying. The Texas Seed Act requires that all seed offered for sale at a seed store must be tagged with the percentage of weed seed and the number of primary or secondary noxious weed seed per pound. This law prohibits any seed from being sold which contains more than 100 noxious weed seed or 300 secondary weed seed per pound. It is also a violation of the law to sell seed which contain field bindweed, hedge bindweed or nutgrass seed.

Some of the primary noxious weeds in Texas are dodder, wild garlic, Johnson grass, Russian knapweed, wild onion and Canada thistle. Bermuda grass, blueweed, wild carrot, cheat, cocklebur, darnel, curly dock, goatgrass, horsenettle, purple nightshade, Russian thistle and sheep sorrel as some of the secondary noxious weeds found in this state.

SUCCESSFUL FARMING REQUIRES PLANNING

Modern farming is a competitive business and the successful farmer, believes C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, must plan just as carefully as does his counterpart in industry. Technology figures large for both. Bates recommends that farmers take advantage of the technical services available to them through local county agents.

Hound Dog Philosophy
Don't expect your hound dog to obey your commands as well as a bird does.

Hounds are more independent. You hunt with them—they don't hunt with you. So, don't run a good dog by too much punishment. Just be glad your dog is a good one.

CHOOSE FARM TRACTOR WISELY

While farm tractors have long since proved their worth as power suppliers, they must be chosen wisely and used efficiently if they are to return top dividends.

W. L. Ulrich, extension agricultural engineer, says a tractor represents a sizable investment and should be selected to fill the needs on the farm.

Gun Club Shoot Held Sunday Well Attended

Perfect spring weather set the stage for the most successful shoot to date of the Haskell Gun Club, held Sunday afternoon at the club range on the County Golf Course grounds.

An estimated 150 spectators were on hand for the shoot, in which between 35 and 50 persons took part.

Prizes awarded to winners included five pheasants, two chukars, 40 pounds of sugar, eight pounds of bacon, eight pounds of coffee, and three hams. These awards went to best marksmen shooting at moving targets. Jimmy Camp of Haskell won the prize offered in the lucky shotgun shoot.

Members of the gun club are surveying grounds and terrain to determine if a rifle and pistol range can be built, in addition to the present shotgun range.

The explosion and flash fire, resulting from a pipeline break, occurred Feb. 23 at the Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery near Borger.

Sheriff Garrett attended the funeral service for his cousin, held in Borger Friday. Burial was in an Amarillo cemetery.

YARD LIGHTS PREVENT ACCIDENTS

A well-lighted yard and walkway is desirable for accident prevention and convenience. One or two yard lights located near the driveway or on the corner of the house will provide illumination for the entire area and help provide nighttime security, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.
