School Fair Is Largely Attended

Keen Competition Features Principal Events and Attendance is Very Satisfactory

Attendance and interest in the annual School Fair and Interscholastic Meet, held at Lockney Friday and Saturday last, were very satisfactory in every particular, Olin S. Miller, Director General of the School Fair and other directors of the annual event declared the first of the week.

The attendance on both days was good, but Saturday's attendance was especially pleasing to the business men of Lockney as well as to the school interests more directly interested. Competition was strong in both literary and athletic events and both Floydada and Lockney Schools, in events where competition was general, had to look to their laurels, the general interest of the smaller schools of the county, in which keen educational activities have been awakened for a number of years being such that they gave hard competition throughout.

Olin S. Miller, Director General of the Meet this year, gave out the following statement Monday:

"The management wishes to thank the Chamber of Commerce, the Mothers' Club and other organizations of Lockney, that contributed so much to the success of the Interscholastic meet also the teachers and school people of the county for their interest and co-operation, without which it could not exist."

"Floyd county has maintained her record as having one of the most successful meets in the district."

The grand champion schools of the county, or the schools having the most points in each division are: Class A Schools, Floydada; Class B, Prairie Chapel, Rural Schools, Irick.

Director General Miller calls attention of schools in the contest at Lockney to the following facts:

The District Meet is at Lubbock on April 18th and 19th. All winners in the county are eligible to contest in the district meet. Contests are uniform with the county contests, with the exception of spelling and music memory contests, junior boys' athletic events and basketball.

There is a registration fee of five to twenty-five cents in each event entered. The district officers ask that this fee be sent in advance. It is hoped that all those who are eligible from Floyd County will be at Lubbock.

1924 TON LITTER CONTEST A MONEY MAKER

County Agent T. Scott Wilson is calling the attention of farmers over the county to the Ton Litter Contest for 1924, and asks that all who are interested send in their names and addresses, asking for enrollment blank, rules and list of awards.

In this connection he points out that the time of enrollment has been extended to May 15th, but that all litters must be enrolled not later than 10 days after farrowing.

Continuing he said: "All ton litters in Texas last year made an average profit of $55.00

"Clear money is what the farmer is interested in. The good, pure-bred sow can make money if you will let her. Put her to the test by entering the Ton Litter Club. You will find a new way of money-making—others have, so can you. Incidentally you can win a gold medal and some real money prizes."

C. C. STARK, OF CONE, DIED MONDAY AFTERNOON

C. C. Stark, of Cone, died Monday afternoon late and the remains were laid to rest in the Cone Cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

AIKEN SCHOOL TO STAGE PLAY AT LAKEVIEW FRIDAY

Aiken School will present a play, "The Poor Married Man," at Lakeview on Friday night of this week, April 11.

Cemetery Working Set for April 24

At the regular meeting of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce Friday night April 24th was designated Cemetery Work day. On this day it is expected to get the entire citizenship of Floydada to take an active part in cleaning up the local cemetery grounds and at the same time make certain improvements to the Cemetery Chapel that have been contemplated by the Chamber of Commerce. Funds for the purpose have already been raised by a committee composed of F. C. Harmon, J. Pat Horton and W. H. Hilton from the Chamber of Commerce. This same committee will have supervision of the work to be done on April 24th.

The camp house problem in Floydada was the subject for quite a lengthy round table discussion at the same meeting. All members present agreed that something must be done to better the camping facilities or at least not have a repetition of the experiences of the past tourist season with the camp grounds. Not being able to reach a definite conclusion as to the destiny of the camp grounds the chairman of the meeting was authorized to appoint a committee to determine what shall be done and report back at the next regular meeting. J. M. Hughes, of the Day and Night Garage was made chairman and B. K. Barker, Roy Snodgrass, H. O. Pope and C. C. Wright named as other members of this committee.

The management wishes to thank the Chamber of Commerce, the Mothers' Club and other organizations of Lockney, that contributed so much to the success of the Interscholastic meet also the teachers and school people of the county for their interest and co-operation, without which it could not exist.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be the usual services at our church Sunday, April 13th, since by agreement of the pastors last year it was deemed best to not call in the Sunday Services at all the churches on account of the revival at one of the churches. But as the pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, I wish to urge my people to attend the service at the Baptist Church during the week, as we believe it will not only be profitable to them spiritually but that they may encourage this effort to save souls. What services we have been permitted to attend there were very helpful and we earnestly pray the Lord to bless the brethren in their services in the reviving of the church and community and in the salvation of many souls. Let us all pray and help.

Judge Glenn, following his recent visit to Washington as a Lee Highway delegate, is thoroughly sold on the project. "This section is sure to profit hugely by the promotion of this highway as one of the main streets of the nation" the judge declared. "Dr. Johnson, general director of the association, has the confidence of congress, of the president and of the Bureau of Good Roads. He is a man of character, and the promotion of this highway is not similar by any means to the promotion projects which have stung the public in times past, I am thoroughly convinced."

THEY'RE YOURS

Floydada Independent School District has, or will have as soon as they can be sworn in, three new trustees, elected to take the place of three men who have labored long and hard for the district without reward.

These three new trustees, along with their contemporaries who are hold overs, or retained in office at the election, will have a lot of hard work to do, including getting together an efficient faculty for another year, completing the job of building the new school, now nearly ready to be received, and many other things that a school trustee has to do to make an efficient school.

These men are your trustees and mine. If you failed to vote at the election Saturday, that's not anybody's fault but yours. You should accept the verdict of the majority of the voting patrons of the school and "line up" for the best school interests of the community. Floydada Independent School District is one of the biggest financial interests of the community. It has the biggest pay roll in the city, and it comes closer to the home than any other agency. Its handling is a big responsibility. The men who now have the job of directing the school's course for another year can be depended on to give their best thought and service to the job. Accordingly they should have your hearty backing in their undertaking, and this in spite of the fact that everything they do will not be according to your ideas. These seven capable men are your trustees and mine. Let's get the most out of their unselfish service this year.

WHITE MAN'S PRIMARY

The decision of the federal judge in San Antonio the other day in the White Man's Primary case which had been appealed from the lower courts which upheld the law of Texas in every particular, might be misunderstood to abbreviate the franchise of the negro in Texas.

As a matter of fact the case has to do strictly with party affairs and does not abbreviate the rights of franchise and citizenship of the negro, as set out by the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments of the American Constitution. The judge held that a party had the right to make any rules or regulations governing its primaries that were considered expedient, and the fact that a party had the right to make any rules or regulations governing its primaries that were considered expedient, and the fact that the Democratic Party in Texas had elected to bar any class from its primaries did not abbreviate the franchise of that class, since no effort is made by this means to keep or hinder any person or persons from exercising the right of ballot at an election.

RADIO ENGINEERS ARE IMPROVING THE SERVICE

Some of the practical details which spoil radio listeners' enjoyment were pointed out in a recent paper by W. H. Martin of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Dr. Harvey Fletcher of the Western Electric Company.

Perfectly intelligible speech can be transmitted in which tones ranging from 500 to 2500 cycles only are employed, but in order to obtain naturalness of effect comparable to that of the original, the range must be extended at both ends to include 100 cycles and 300 cycles. If music, also must still be further extended to 5000 cycles or more.

In the arrangement of a broadcasting studio a room which gives no reverberation is just as bad as one giving too much. It is generally recognized that a bare room is undesirable, as the reverberations cause one note or syllable to follow over the nexts, producing an unpleasant jumble of sound; but it is a very common error to cover the walls, floor and ceiling of the studio as completely as possible with sound absorbing material, cutting off all echo and making the music sound "dead." This condition also makes it very difficult for a singer or violinist to keep on the key, as they are accustomed to getting the pitch of each note from the reverberation of the preceding one.

When, as is often the case, the program is presented in an assembly room or concert hall, it is obviously impossible to change the acoustic properties of the room. The best solution of the problem is then in properly locating the microphone transmitter. When a symphony concert is broadcast, the best place for the microphone has been found to be from thirty to fifty feet in front of the orchestra and ten or twenty feet from the ceiling.

THE PUBLISHING OF COURT NEWS

The recent grand jury in its report requested the papers to publish all the Court news, "from the Justice Court to the District Court." There is no doubt but what good might result from the publication of all court news, including that from the Justice Court and we always endeavor to give our readers the news of the County and District Courts, but we seriously doubt the advisability of publishing Justice Court proceedings, as most of these cases have to do with the sordid side of life, about which, sometimes, the least said the better. Ninety per cent of the cases have to do with fights and gambling, and the other ten per cent with sordid matters which are best left out of the columns of the press. In regard to this the Childress Index says editorially this week: "No doubt this would be a good piece of news, but with the small papers there is no pleasure in publishing the proceedings of the justice of the peace courts, for as a rule these proceedings have to do with fights and gambling. The editor does not care to take the responsibility of giving this news to the public, as he is sure to make enemies of the men whose names are published in the papers. Also many men who would be pleased to see the names of certain men published when fined for gambling, if the cases should be reversed and their names appear in that connection, would object most strenuously."

The local paper is not published to print all of this kind of news, especially under present conditions." — Hall County Herald.

Miss Willie Hale, of Canyon, spent last week end in Floydada with relatives.

MORE BUSINESS

Three or four new enterprises for Floydada are promised for the next few weeks, among these being at least two of which are coming in or not now overcrowded lines of business. At least one of these is a direct result of the fact that the people of Floydada have decided to build a sewer system.

All the good things that come Floydada's way this year may not be directly resultant from the building of a sewer system, of course, but we venture the prediction that this year is going to be one of the biggest years in business expansion that Floydada has known in many, and largely due to the expressed determination of the people already here that we shall have a real little city and not a village.

Croosote Fence Posts
Last for Many Years

The fact that wood is becoming scarce and labor more expensive is causing farmers to seek means of making their fence posts last longer, says the New York Times. Experimenters have shown that creosote will solve the problem, according to the New Jersey College of Agriculture.

Prof. E. R. Gross of the college states that fence posts treated in creosote will last three to five times as long as untreated posts, this being especially true of the softer varieties such as willow, ash, elm, soft maple, white cedar and cottonwood. Many consider it advisable, however, to creosote the harder woods, including oak, red cedar and chestnut.

The college recommends the use of round posts for creosoting rather than split posts, as the penetration will be more uniform. All bark must be stripped off and the timber well seasoned before creosoting.

"Creosote eight to ten inches above the depth to which the post is to be set since most rotting takes place at or just below the ground line," says Dr. Gross. "Posts three or four inches in diameter at the top give best results, as they are strong enough for most purposes and usually last as long as larger posts. It is important to get thorough and deep penetration of the creosote. A good vat is made of an old steel barrel set over a roughly constructed furnace. The creosote is kept at the boiling point and each batch of posts is left in the vat about two hours, depending on the rapidity of penetration. One inch penetration should be obtained. In order to determine this a post may be split or sawed in two. The tops of the posts should either be dipped or painted with hot creosote. A farmer having a wood lot may well spend a few days this winter cutting posts. Next winter these posts will be properly seasoned for creosoting."

Cornstarch Industry In America Is Enormous

The manufacture of cornstarch has grown to such proportions in this country that the industry now consumes about 50,000,000 bushels of America's great crop each year, according to the Department of Agriculture at Washington. From each bushel of corn the average manufacturer makes thirty-three pounds of cornstarch, and in 1921 the ten largest concerns made nearly 1,650,000,000 pounds of this product, which was more than 90 per cent of the total produced that year.

This industry, which began in the United States in 1844, has been growing rapidly in recent years. By 1880 the factories had reached a productive capacity of 230,000,000 pounds, and practically all of it was consumed here. By 1921 there were nearly 50 plants, and $6,000,000 worth of the output was exported. These figures are from a report recently made public by the department following a canvass of the industry.

"This department, through the bureau of chemistry, which enforces the food and drugs act, finds that cornstarch, with the possible exception of granulated sugar, is the least adulterated of all food products appearing on the markets," continues the department. "In addition to being used for food, it is also used for many technical purposes.

"In the food industry cornstarch finds its greatest use as a basis for the manufacture of corn syrup or glucose, about one-half of that produced in 1921 having been used for that purpose. It is employed by confectioners in making gumdrops; by housewives and chefs in thickening sauces and making custards. Confectioners also use it for forms into which soft candy is poured in making bonbons. Large quantities are used in the manufacture of baking powder and pie fillers. It is also an important ingredient in cosmetics and pastes, and is used to a limited extent in pharmaceutical preparations."

Composer of "The Rosary"

Ethelbert Nevin composed "The Rosary." He was born in Vineacres, near Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1862. He began to attract attention when ten years old by his excellent piano playing and when he was twelve he went to Dresden, Germany, to study.

After returning from Germany he settled in Boston and became a well-known teacher and concert player, but in 1893 the charm of Europe, especially Italy, was too strong to be resisted, and the next seven years were spent abroad, says the Detroit News. The influence of southern Europe is very evident in the dreamy, romantic tone of much of his later music. In 1900 he became a music instructor at Yale University and was in this work when stricken with heart failure. He died in 1901.

Few modern composers have excelled Nevin in perfection of melody, critics say. While "The Rosary" is his masterpiece, "Narcissus" has received no small amount of popularity. Other compositions by Nevin are "Water Sketches," "Day in Venice" and "Twas April."

Oldest Known Will

The oldest known will, found among the ruins of ancient Egypt and said to be 4,500 years old, was so constructed that its provisions would have to be carried out if made today, William S. Taylor, formerly recorder of wills, said in a talk on "Wills," delivered at the luncheon of the Newcomers club in the City Club of Washington.

MULE TRIES RIDE WITH MEMPHIANS

Memphis Folks Have Exciting Time When Mule Attempts to Ride Automobile

J. H. Howard and wife had an exciting few minutes Monday morning, enroute to Childress in their car, when one of a team of mules they met just west of that city attempted to get in the car with them.

Mrs. Howard was driving their car, a Buick, when just a short ways this side of Childress they met a team of mules hitched to a wagon. The mules became unmanageable and as the car was passing they reared up and whirled toward the auto and landed in the car. The foreleg of one mule went through the windshield and the other landed upon the seat of the car, between the lower limbs of Mrs. Howard. One of Mrs. Howard's hands was slightly cut by flying glass, but no other damage was done, save a broken windshield and some dent in the car. Mrs. Howard said that none was to blame for the accident.—Hall County Herald.

EASTER NEARLY HERE

Easter is nearly here and although we may expect a few more sharp nips from Jack Frost, spring is in the air, and the efforts of Winter to control the weather henceforth for quite a season will be fruitless. Winter is gone for a while.

Now we'll have gardens and gardening, chickens and chickening, with vain efforts to mix the two, and in the towns we'll read about neighbors falling out over the efforts of one to raise a garden and the other to raise chickens. Naurally, since the garden can't go over to the neighbors' the neighbor's chickens will come over to the garden and the chicken owners will be fault.

Easter comes much later than usual—April 20th—still several days away, and spring garden planting is belated on account of the expected "Easter spell," and mighty few there are who do not think that a "spell" always comes about Easter-time.

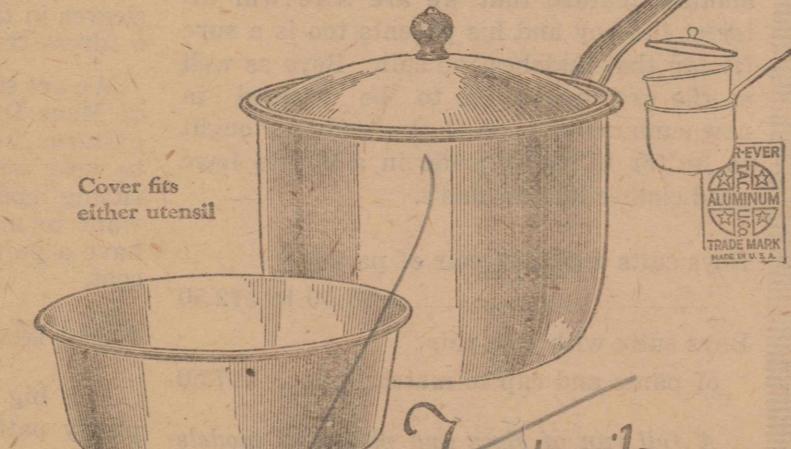

FLOYDADA CEMETERY

Floydada Cemetery certainly deserves to have continued work and attention by the people who have buried their dead there, and we can think of no more thoughtful or appropriate way of paying this obligation than through the Floydada Cemetery Association, a voluntary organization which has no financial interest in the cemetery.

To be perfectly frank, the Cemetery Association would now be functioning more freely, we feel sure, than it is if funds were available for their work. But these funds are going to have to be collected by some person or set of persons who will take it upon themselves to obtain it from the members.

The cemetery work day, set for April 17th, is a good idea. It should be the occasion for getting together a good many people to spend the day at real work. Then the effort should be prolonged by support of the Cemetery Association. This organization we cannot afford to lose through lack of interest.

Crop Accounts Help
Farmers If Kept Yearly

Basis of Business As Great An Aid to Farmer As To Others; Agricultural Expert Says

Stillwater, Okla.—If the farmer will keep crop accounts he will be able to put farming on a business basis, says Myron E. Andrews, of the agronomy department of Oklahoma A. and M. College.

"Farm crop accounts will show the best methods of producing staple crops in certain communities. In many ways good can be derived from the method which, by the way, few farmers follow."

"Economical production on the farm is important. So is economical marketing. Accounting must be made in either."

"Time spent by a farmer in keeping his accounts is well spent."

Andrews, aided by G. C. Gibbons, of the agronomy department has prepared a simplified crop account system as a part of a circular, entitled: "Know What Your Crop Costs," which the extension department will distribute. It is pointed out in the circular that to find the cost of producing a crop it is necessary to keep the following records.

Work Report—Records of all work done on the crop by man, horse, tractor and truck. These records should be totaled at the end of the year and transferred to the financial record at estimated rates per hour or mile.

Financial Record—These charges should include: A. Cash hearings, such as purchases of seed, fertilizer, twine, spray material, and amounts paid for threshing, silo filling, ginning, baling wire, bagging, ties and other expenses. B. Charges not directly paid in cash, such as the use of home-grown seed, farm manure, land, buildings, and interest on investments. C. Charges for the total amounts of man labor, horse labor, general farm equipment use, tractor and truck use transferred from work report to this account at the end of the year.

Credits—These records should include: A. Crop sold. Crop used on farm and in house. B. Crop held on hand at the end of the year. C. Any other credits.

Items to charge and to credit to a crop account are listed in order in the account system. Instructions are given relative to inventories, computations, valuations and methods.

"The purpose of keeping accounts is to furnish data for studying the business," the circular says. "Because a crop shows a loss is not sufficient reason for ceasing to produce it. The accounts and the farm business should be studied to see whether the cost of production can be decreased so as to make the crop profitable, and also to find whether any other crop can be substituted that will use the land and labor available, or pay for it at a higher rate."

SCHOLASTIC POPULATION

The net scholastic population of Floydada Independent School District, as reported to County Superintendent E. C. Nelson, Jr. is 698.

The figures were published last week, before eliminations and duplications had been worked out, at 700 scholastics.

MILK THIEVES IN

Milk thieves, who take bottles of milk, delivered by the dairymen, have been robbing some of the residents of Floydada of their morning's cream during the past few weeks.

Taking advantage of the usual habit of the householder, who puts out the cat and brings in the milk the last things before he goes to bed, the thieves have had easy pickings.

OVER COUNTY SATURDAY

Indications, from early returns made, are that the vote for county trustees in the county generally last Saturday, was rather light.

Early returns made indicate that the old members of the board were voted for for the most part, with scattering votes for other persons. Complete compilation of figures will likely not be made until a canvass of the returns next week.

NEWLAND INCREASES TAX

Newland School District is among the school districts of the county which this spring are voting increases in local maintenance tax for school purposes.

Their vote was on last Saturday and was almost unanimous to increase the tax not to exceed $1, the proposal carrying 11 to 1.

TRAIN CRASH AT MULESHOE IS FATAL TO ONE

Lubbock Journal:

In the third railway tragedy to occur in this vicinity recently an unidentified man, thought to be named Martin, was killed by a Santa Fe train near Muleshoe early Tuesday morning, when the heavily loaded truck, which he was driving was struck by a fast passenger train.

Incomplete reports reaching Lubbock concerning the accident state that Martin was approximately 35 years of age at the time of his death and that in his former home in Muleshoe a wife and two children survive him.

Persons who viewed the scene of the crash state that although the engineer in the cab of the locomotive blew the whistle and rang the bell of the train that Martin was unaware of the engine's approach until it struck his truck almost head on, in the center of the tracks where they cross the roadway.

The body of the dead man was so badly mangled that recognition was almost impossible. He was driving his truck behind a car filled with tourists and the exhaust of the motor of the car ahead of him is thought to have drowned the signals of the speeding train.

Train accidents are not unusual in the vicinity of Muleshoe, persons acquainted with the situation in that part of the country state. Through that territory fast passenger trains make such speed that care must be exercised in crossing the tracks.

Chivalry Is Not Dead

In the Far East
Major Bailey is wanted, the notice on the boarding told me; and instantly my mind flew back to a land where boardings are heavy with notices of wanted men who are never found. Every town in the East has a lengthy list of men who are wanted for crimes. The natives affirm that no true criminal is ever brought to book, but that the police, to justify themselves, from time to time, make an innocent man pay the penalty of another's sin.

The fact is, of course, that the ordinary methods of detection as we know them in the West are useless in the East. Few there can read, notices, even though they be printed in the vernaculars of the populace, and so a crier parades the streets with a little drum (followed by a rabble of urchins) to tell them of the latest man who is wanted by the police.

The people come to their doors, and when the crier has passed and the taps of his drum have grown faint they whisper among themselves. The chances are that they all know where the wanted man is hiding, but they are all resolved never to give him up.

Not all rewards in the world will make them tell the crier what they know; for the East is a land where vendettas still prevail and every native is aware that a man possesses power to strike even after he is dead. So, after the crier has passed, the criminal leaves his hiding place and moves on to the next township, toward the frontier where also he is sure of shelter and security.

Across the line he will be one of a hundred brigand bands that rove among the hills from Kashmir to Chinese Turkestan. There every criminal is beyond the arm of the law.—R. J. Minney in the Continental Editor of the London Mail.

New Gold Strikes in Madagascar and Alaska

Alaska a few days ago announced a new gold strike and hardly had that news come from a far more distant section of the globe, the town of Anklabilab in the Antsavelo river region of Madagascar. High hopes have been aroused by the latest discovery, as an extremely rich vein was uncovered in that vicinity twenty-five years ago.

Since that time extensive mining operations have been carried on, principally by a private company of Lyons, France, under concession from the government of Madagascar. French authority, after its experiences in the earlier gold rush, does not encourage the individual prospector who descends on a new gold field with little else than his tent and pick and is apt to prove an ungovernable, erratic character, but leans rather to favoring the chartered company. Big fortunes were made in Madagascar's earlier gold rushes, but gradually the vein along the Mozambique coast to the west became worked out and little had been heard of it until the word of the recent strike, says the New York Times.

The prevalence of rich ore in Madagascar has made mining one of its chief activities. In addition to gold there are valuable deposits of rubies and beryl, and veins of mica, graphite and uranium—the latter producing radium—are to be found, together with many other ores. Along the seaboard pearl diving has brought in considerable profits.

Raps Auto Horn on Wagon

"It was a dastardly trick and the man should have been arrested!" announced with much heat the elderly woman who hates traffic to her daughter on her return from a tour through the streets of the neighborhood, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"What trick? Which man?" queried the younger woman.

"You know how I hate to have to cross a street and how terrified I am of automobiles and how I'm relieved to see a horse-drawn vehicle approaching, for then I know I've time to cross," continued the mother, breathlessly.

"Well, as I was about to cross in front of the house I looked up and down carefully. All I could see was a slow moving, horse-drawn truck. I had only just started across when I was almost deafened by one of those terrible automobile horns. I jumped back on the sidewalk and again looked. There was no automobile, only the horse-drawn truck. But the driver had on the seat beside him an automobile horn and this he had sounded unnecessarily, almost scaring me to death."

Human Decoy for Wolf

The Russian hunter's method of killing wolves is interesting. A great hefty peasant, with yellow hair, snub nose, red face and shining blue eyes, brought an immense wolf's skin to me once and I asked him how he obtained it, says Francesca M. Wilson in the Manchester Guardian. He was standing at the window of his izba one late afternoon, he said, when he saw a wolf walking through the village street. He seized his gun, called a friend and they went in pursuit. The wolf stopped on the top of a hill outside the village and looked at them. To prevent it from running away the second man went down on all fours and moved toward the wolf. He looked, in his heavy sheepskin shuba, for all the world like an animal and the wolf ran back to attack him. When it had come to a convenient distance the hunter shot it.

*In the Far EastTaxicab Driver Proves
Chivalry Is Not Dead

"Don't offer me money, lady—it's so long since I have been a hero," said a taxicab driver, proving thereby that chivalry has not died.

The girl was dressed to impress a possible employer—that is, in her best. She had been job-hunting, and a sudden rainstorm left her marooned in an office building on a Fifth avenue corner. Taxis of all colors, all of them comfortably filled, went skidding past, and for half an hour the girl watched them greedily. Finally an empty cab came along. She dashed for it and jumped in without a word of warning, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"Get up; get up, miss," said the driver, beginning to look frightened. "I've gotta take this cab around to the garage."

"I can't get up," said the girl. "You'll hafta get up," said the driver sternly. "I can't stay here all night—that cop is telling me to move on now."

"Now man to man," said the girl, looking at him out of black-fringed Irish eyes, "do you want me to get this hat wet?"

He looked at the eyes and then at the hat. It was a pink silk hat, and, like the clouds, it had a silver lining. "No miss, I don't," he answered. "Tell you what I can do—I'll take you as far as I'm going and get you another cab there."

Without even throwing the meter he drove off and did not swerve until they reached the taxi barn.

Quintana Roo Better Than Its Name Sounds

Quintana Roo left a bad taste in the mouths of Mexicans in the days of Porfirio Diaz because it was principally known as the place to which political offenders and "bad Indians," mainly from Sonora, were sent to do time and die in its unhealthy climate. But now comes a report telling of the vast natural resources of this practically unknown territory of 18,000 square miles, comprising the eastern part of the peninsula of Yucatan and extending about 300 miles north and south. Data brought to United States Consul O. Gaylord Marsh at Progreso by prospectors, chicle gatherers and archeologists show that Quintana Roo has several ranges of hills, about nine lakes and several short rivers. The western part is said to contain wide rolling pampas, the interior is rich in valuable tropical woods and the coast abounds in fish. The soil is reported good for all sorts of tropical and semi-tropical vegetables and fruits.

Of the some 9,000 inhabitants of the territory, 2,500 live in Santa Cruz de Bravo, the capital. Transportation to the interior is lacking, but the recent arrival of an American caterpillar tractor has given the more enterprising coast residents visions of a speedy development.

Life in a Dead Hand

The dead hand is often a busy little mitt in these days of speedy finance. It works a full 24 hours in the day and brings results. We refer to mortmain in a broad sense as signifying funds functioning "on their own," as it were, without the disturbing influence of human timidities and eccentricities.

As the case in point there was the A. Barton Hepburn estate of something over $7,000,000 which, because of the intricacies of its settlement, remained for a few months in process of liquidation, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Mr. Hepburn died January 25, 1922, at which time the property was carefully appraised at $7,440,537. Recently an accounting of the executors was approved by the court, showing that since the decedent's passing the increment to his estate has been $1,738,945.

At the present time most of the estate has been distributed, but there are still possibilities of further gains by a kind of retroactivity of the power of money. The proverbial green bay tree has nothing on funds that are wisely placed, in wise control, by those who, realizing their end is near, wish to make wisest provision for their heirs.

RURAL SCHOOL SUPERVISOR REPORTS ON COUNTY SCHOOLS

Jefferson G. Smith, rural school supervisor of the State Department of Education has made the following report on the state of the rural schools of Floyd county:

"There has been much recent progress in the schools of Floyd county. Much of this progress is due to the co-operation of the county superintendent, teachers, trustees, pupils and citizens of the county. Several modern new brick school houses have been erected. There are more buildings under construction. These fine, new modern brick houses have been well planned, and have many large classrooms. Most of them have large auditoriums, with all modern annexes. Large tracts of land are being put in cultivation, and more people are moving into the communities. More elections are being held in several districts to increase local support and build more school houses.

"Many of the districts realize the importance of building teachers' homes, and much more progress along that line is contemplated. Most of the schoolroom floors have been oiled, and those that are not oiled are to be oiled as soon as possible. The rooms are decorated with many exhibits of art work and map drawings. Flowers are found in some of the classrooms.

"The County Superintendent and trustees have used good judgement in the selection of teachers, and very excellent work is being done in most of the schools this term."

Lightning Arresters and Glacial Lakes

It is not recorded that the Jove of olden days, in hurling his thunderbolts called a geologist to find the places where his shafts would strike most effectively, but the modern Jove, who has harnessed the force of the thunderbolt to powerful motors, brilliant lights and other electrical devices, wants to know where and how he can make the best ground connections for his electric currents and his lightning arresters. Tests have been made in the city of Chicago by the United States Bureau of Standards and the Commonwealth Edison Co., showed that the electric resistance of the ground connections was very much higher at some places than at others. When these places of high resistance were plotted on a map it was found that they were in tracts having sandy soil and sub-soil through which the rain passed down to a low ground water level. As a ground connection which is generally made by driving an iron pipe in the ground, must reach a moist place in order to be most effective, the pipes had to be driven deeper than usual in these sandy places. In order therefore to show the sandy places in which the pipes should be longer than usual it became necessary to outline on a map all these sandy areas. In a great city, however, much of the land is covered with buildings and pavements, which conceal the soil, and the task of locating the sandy areas, involves considerable labor. Here is where the modern Jove called in the geologist.

During the closing stages of the Great Ice Age the front of the great Lake Michigan glacier was melted back slowly northward along the lake basin. The waters were ponded between the retreating ice front and the great crescentic ridge of glacial debris that was left at the lower end of the lake basin (a ridge called by geologists as the Valparaiso terminal moraine) thus forming a temporary lake known to geologists as glacial Lake Chicago. The waters of this lake rose to a height of about 60 feet above the present level of Lake Michigan, spreading over the plain on which Chicago now stands. Then they broke across the moraine and eroded the sag that is now traversed by the Sanitary Drainage Canal and Des Plaines River and that leads to Illinois River. Along the shores of this glacial lake and beneath its waters at their successively lowered stages, immense deposits of sand and gravel were laid down, largely in the form of beach ridges and sand bars.

Some years ago the Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior in an investigation of the geology of this area, made a careful study of the ground in and around the city and mapped the ancient shore lines of Lake Chicago, the abandoned beach ridges and other deposits. These maps furnished the solution of the problem of the public utility company which turned to the Geological Survey's Chicago office for aid in plotting the areas in which it may be necessary to use ground pipes that are 50 percent longer than those generally used in other parts of the city. The company thus not only easily solved their own problem, but afforded another instructive example of the unforeseen utilization of the results of scientific research undertaken with no immediate commercial or industrial end in view.

KIDNAPPER AND 2 GIRLS CAUGHT AT ARDMORE, OKLA.

The two girls, Miss Annie Yandell and Miss Zora Daniels, and their alleged kidnappers, Frank Luce, were caught in Ardmore, Okla., by the officers there. They notified Constable Frank Morgan of Wichita Falls, who had been conducting the search and he immediately went with them to Wichita Falls Wednesday.

The officers here were also notified and County Sheriff W. J. A. Cooper of Graham, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff H. C. Williams and the fathers of the two girls, all of this place, went to Wichita Falls on Wednesday morning and returned that evening with the trio.

The girls were returned to their homes south of here and the man was taken to Graham and put in jail.

The man is alleged to have kidnapped the two girls near the Miller Bend School House, about 7 miles south of Newcastle, on Tuesday morning, March 11. It is the belief of the parents of the girls that their daughters were either enticed or kidnapped by the man, who is about 35 years of age. The Daniels girl was only 14 and the other 16.

Constable Morgan, of Wichita Falls, who conducted the search for the trio, had sent descriptions of the girls and the man to all officers in that section of the country and the word from Ardmore was the first information obtained.

METHODIST CHURCH

J. V. Daniel as superintendent of the Sunday School thinks things through. When, in his S. S. management, he proposes a thing, he does it because "There is a reason." Let Floydada Methodism rally to his leadership. The S. S. showed a healthy advance in attendance Sunday. But on that score we have nothing to "Crow about." Ordinarily, a church which hasn't a Sunday School attendance at least equal to its church membership should be ashamed of itself.

It having been voted by last year's Ministerial Association that we do not dismiss our several services for the many meetings of the season, we announce the following services for next Sunday: Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. The school begins on time and closes

Were the 'Good Old Days' Really Good?

When you hear an old-timer sigh for the days of his forefathers, smile quietly to yourself and think of this:

The ancients got along without automobiles, soap, stoves, toothbrushes, window glass, breakfast foods, telephones—without practically all of the things we consider the bare essentials of life.

There never has been a time when life bettered itself so rapidly and so consistently as now. New conveniences and new comforts are continually being thought out and wrought out for your benefit.

In order to reap the advantages that are yours today, you must read the advertisements. They bring you news of all that the world of invention and discovery is doing to make your work easier, your home life more pleasant, your clothing and food problems less difficult. They keep you informed of all that is new in the markets and stores. They tell you not only about the goods, the styles, the varieties and prices, but also where and when these things are to be had.

The advertisements are messages from the business world to you. Heed them.
