PAYING THE PENALTY

There has grown up a saying that money and power will keep any man out of the penitentiary, but indications that this saying is not altogether true, are given by recent developments in the United States, two instances furnishing especially striking proof of the fallacy of this statement. A wealthy governor of one of the most wealthy states in the union has begun serving a sentence for crime of which he was convicted by a jury. Similarly a congressman of wide acquaintance and political power has been convicted and will start serving sentence soon, while three wealthy society men in the east who became de luxe bootleggers when the 18th Amendment was made effective through the Volstead Act, have just about completed a term for their offenses.

The American people are awakening to their responsibilities. We are beginning to realize that instead of policing the non-conformists and irregulars we need to have our police forces at work convicting criminals in both high and low places. And during the past year or two we have made a good start.

TOO MANY PETTY LAWS

Texas, and every other state in the union, have too many petty laws. So numerous that officers are kept busy enforcing them instead of trying to catch the real criminals of the land. It is very easy to criticize, and the Hesperian would not attempt to pick out a particular list of thou shalt, or thou shalt not, that Texas ought to repeal. However, as the people begin to realize that we have overstepped ourselves in trying to regulate each other the laws that should go into the discard will suggest themselves by their very nature. It was no idler's talk that Thomas Jefferson made when he said that the best-governed people in the world are those who are least-governed. We can't make everybody conform to our ideas of things by legislation. By education is this done. The business of attending to our neighbors, who are just about the same kind of folk we are, with a little different slant on things, perhaps, may, we think, be safely left alone awhile by our legislators, while they and the citizenship in general strengthen the backing given officers in heading off the real criminal.

THE MATTER WITH AMERICA

It looks more and more as if this country is in need of a greater William Allen White to shock it out of its complacency and self-satisfaction with a frank, searching, blistering "What's the Matter With the United States?" The revelations of corruption at Washington ought to have brought a general awakening of its kind, but many signs indicate that it has failed to do so, that a full half of the people have allowed politicians to persuade them that there is little or nothing to be concerned about, and that the investigations are mere partisan attacks, although the investigations were voted by a practically unanimous Senate. There is something seriously wrong with the United States, or it would not be true, as Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman of the Prudential Insurance Company shows, confirming previous estimates, that "on the basis of population, murders were 25 times as frequent (in this country last year) as in England and Wales," and three times as frequent here as in Italy.

Why are there crimes of violence in such vast proportions in a country which boasts not only of progress in all lines but of orderly and good-natured population? Is it because of our negroes and our foreign groups, which are looked upon as things apart? Undoubtedly these are factors contributing toward the lamentable results, but fail in the adequate punishment of crime, because our administration of justice is so largely influenced by politics, because under our relatively amateur and partisan system we appoint not policemen and judges, but Republicans and Democrats, because we care more for party supremacy and party rewards than for an effective policy and an expert, independent and terror-inspiring judiciary. Again this is a part of it, but this is not all. Perhaps the chief cause of our unenviable eminence in crime was suggested by the New York World, when discussing in a recent editorial our "burden of law enforcement which is beyond ordinary human power," it said: "We are not content, as the English are, to mobilize the police and courts against criminals. We are determined to mobilize them against sinners and non-conformers as well. We keep our police so busy and our courts so clogged in an attempt to make mankind perfect that we have neither time nor energy to concentrate on crime. Starting with an undermanned and not very efficient, and highly political machinery to executing more laws than the legislatures of the rest of the world have ever contrived to enact. The result is that policemen who ought to be fighting crime are to be found encoring plays, watching labor unions issuing statements about Bolshevism, tasting liquor in restaurants and inspecting bathing suits."

In other words, obsessed by a mania for "up-lift" and for grinding out laws to that end, we have virtually left crime to take care of itself. With such conditions we need not wonder at the steady increase in the number of private organizations attempting to "regulate" outside of the law.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Mdmes. C. M. Wilson and John Finger left Monday for Memphis where they will visit with relatives a few days.

NOTICE

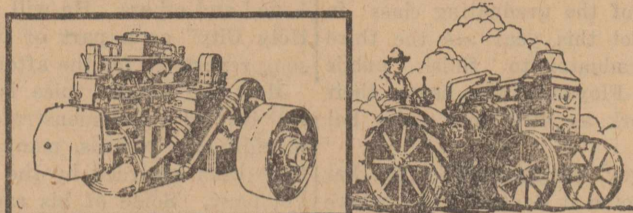

Notice is hereby given that Circle No. 2 of the Floydada Mutual Life Insurance Association has been re-organized and all members holding certificates will please deliver them to either E. P. Nelson or R. E. Fry for re-writing. We will re-write these certificates without extra cost to members, and the new certificate will be one of the best Mutual Aid contracts written in this part of the country. When we get this circle full, it will pay $1,500.00 for death or total and permanent disability, by either sickness or accident, $3,000.00 for accidental death and $750.00 for partial disability. The semi-annual dues will only be $1.00.

Another good feature under the re-organization will be that we will not take any new members over 50 years of age. We will have about 10 per-cent of the membership over 50 years, but no new members will get in at that age, and with the added features, we believe we will have one of the best mutuals in West Texas.

For further information see E. P. Nelson, president, or R. E. Fry, secretary-treasurer. Office over First National Bank. Floydada, Tex.

OILPULL

"The Cheapest Farm Power"

Valve-in-head motor Powerful-Accessible

What makes the OilPull motor a wonderful performer? For one thing it is of the valve-in-head, heavy duty type. But more important are: Finest materials and careful workmanship; micrometric precision in the fit of all important parts; the mirror-like smoothness to which all vital wearing surfaces are ground; 25% reserve power to meet unusual conditions. The OilPull motor is simple; it is protected by dual lubrication; and is cooled by oil which never freezes or evaporates. Due to Triple Heat Control, this motor burns cheap fuel oils successfully—cuts off at least 39% of your fuel bill. Let us explain these points in detail.

Amarillo Hi Takes 3 Straight From F. H. S.

The Whirlwinds went against too much class in their baseball contest with the Amarillo High School team Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, the Amarillo boys annexing all three games of the series.

The last game was the only one in which the local lads played their usual good brand of baseball. In the second game the Floydada High School boys took a real ascension, accounting for the bad drubbing they got on Friday.

Thursday's game resulted 8 to 1, Friday's 22 to 2, and Saturday's 6 to 3.

Forrest Ansley was acting coach for the team.

Mrs. Sam Henry and children of Lubbock visited Friday and Saturday of last week in Floydada with relatives.

Hail Damage

Frank Barber, local adjuster for the Niagara Fire Insurance Co., returned home the last of the week from a tour of several days, going over the hail stricken district of Swisher and Randall counties where he adjusted many losses among farmers who had their crops badly damaged by the recent hail in that section. The losses were exceedingly heavy and some were almost total losses.

New Rural Route

Postmaster Homer Howard informs the editor that he has secured the necessary 100 names for the route to be established in the Rock Creek community in Briscoe county, and has forwarded the petition to Washington to be acted on by the Postoffice department.

The route, if established, will connect with Route 1 out of Lockney, at a point 13 miles north of town and will go nine miles north to a point 22 miles from Lockney, turning east at this point for five miles and returning south to a connection with Route 1 out of Lockney. This will give the people of the Rock Creek community daily mail service.

West Texas Gin

The buildings for the West Texas Gin Co. plant on North Main street are nearing completion and within a few days the new machinery will be placed in position. The new gin is larger and more modern than the plant destroyed by fire last spring. The new gin will have five stands and will be equipped with a boll extractor, so as to be in shape to handle the run this fall and winter.

The cotton crop for this year promises to be very large, and the gins of this community have prospects for a big run during the cotton season.

The gin house for Ben Whitfill's plant at the south end of Main street, has been completed and within a short time all machinery and engines will be installed and everything will be put in readiness for the ginning season of this fall and winter.

C. R. Wilkinson has just had a nice ice vault erected of brick and tile just west of the postoffice on College street. The structure is very modern and will serve the purpose in the very best way. It is well located, and will be very convenient to the people of the town who buy their ice at the vault.

Arthur Barker is able to be at his place of business again, after an absence of more than a month, caused by an attack of rheumatism. He is fast gaining his strength and it is hoped he will soon be in good shape.

To Our Customers and Friends

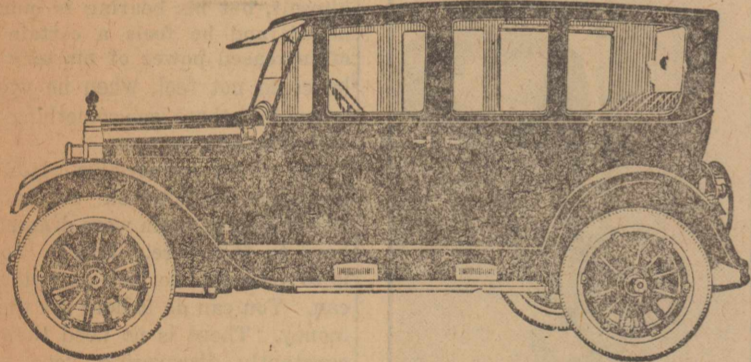

By instructions from the Banking Departments all business transacted during any one day, by a bank, must be entered and shown on the bank books on that day. In this case should we leave our back doors open until 6 o'clock p. m., and transact some business until that time, we must hold our books open until that time.

Under these instructions it has become necessary that we have a definite closing hour, and transact no business of a general nature after this set hour. And, since it takes our clerks an average of three hours time after the books are closed in the afternoons and before opening hours in the morning in which to count and balance cash, post and balance books that is absolutely necessary to be done before opening hour of the bank, we have set four o'clock p. m., as definite closing hour and will transact no business after hour named.

By giving our clerks uninterrupted periods after and before banking hours in which to do most all their clerical work, we know that a better banking service can be given to our customers, and therefore, from June 5th, we the undersigned banks will close at 4 o'clock p. m. and we will greatly appreciate your co-operation.

Yours very truly,

Are You Fair With Yourself In Buying Clothes?

Every man knows how different he feels after he has donned his best suit and is thoroughly dressed in every detail. Smart Clothes make him feel smart. He's a new person. A new being. He not only thinks more of himself, but his bearing is more dignified, and he feels a certain sense of increased power of mastery which he could not feel, when he was conscious that there was something wrong with his appearances.

Say those twenty-five lads that graduated didn't look so bad—eh? 85 per-cent of them were dressed from head to foot here. Why? You owe it to yourself—to look as well as you can. You can do it here for the same money. There is no need then to be constantly discovering your self in the estimation of others.
