Spring rains, general over a wide area of West Texas, brought moisture ranging from one to two inches over Haskell County Tuesday night, with light drizzles continuing through mid-morning Wednesday.

The rains were welcomed as potential "life saver" for much of the wheat in this section, which had been stunted by continued dry weather to almost the vanishing point.

Moisture this week will revive grain, and continued moisture when needed could bring on a fair yield of wheat, many farmers believe.

Precipitation in Haskell was measured at 1.08 at the City Hall gauge, and .97 inch at the home of Sam Herren, local observer.

At Weinert, an estimated two inches fell Tuesday night. Rule reported about one inch Tuesday night, while heavier rain was received in the Rochester section. Precipitation at Rochester was measured at 1.60, while northwest of town two inches was received, and the area northeast of Rochester received 1.75 inch.

Born March 29, 1890, in Wise County, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sprolows, who moved to Haskell County in 1891. She was a teacher in Haskell County schools a number of years before retirement.

She married Thomas Albert Martin Aug. 20, 1926, in this city. They had lived in Brownfield and Mineral Wells before moving to Baird where they had lived for the past 17 years. Mrs. Martin was a member of the First Methodist Church of Baird.

She is survived by two brothers, Milton Sprolows of Phoenix, Ariz., and Ed W. Sprolows, Anson newspaper publisher; and one sister, Mrs. Alma Jetton of Rochester.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, April 4, at the Rev. T. G. Craft, Methodist pastor at Rochester, officiating.

Western Week Planned

Plans are in the making for a community-wide observance of "Western Week" during the week of the Rice Springs Roundup.

Several special events are being planned in which everyone in the community will be asked to participate for both recreation and entertainment.

Under consideration is a special program honoring old-timers and pioneers which will include an "Old Fiddlers Contest" if enough talent can be secured.

Other events will be designed for the pleasure and entertainment of both young and old, a chance to "go Western" during Roundup Week and join with their friends and neighbors in celebrating the occasion.

When the complete program of events is announced, all civic groups and organizations will be asked to help promote the different affairs in order that participation can be on a community-wide scale.

Community Beauty Spots

Spring brings the need for a community-wide Clean Up and Brighten Up campaign in Haskell, along with a concerted effort to emphasize some of the major beauty spots in our town by making them more attractive.

Rice Springs Park is one of the city's greatest assets during the spring and summer months, providing an attractive and inviting spot for picnics, reunions and other types of outdoor gatherings. Playground facilities for children make it ideally suited for family gatherings during the long summer evenings.

Another potential beauty spot which has long been neglected is Spring Creek, which runs through the west part of town and winds through the Park. The area adjacent to the small stream could be cleared of grass, dead trees and other rubbish, channel of the stream could be deepened, especially in the Park area, thus adding to the beauty of the stream.

An example of how the stream can be transformed into a place of beauty has been furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parks, whose home is on the south side of the stream in West Haskell. They set out pecan trees several years ago which are now bearing, and the land has been sodded in Bermuda grass. The entire area is kept clean of weeds and other growth, and presents the appearance of a well-kept lawn.

Sunday School Week

What do public school officials think of Sunday Schools? Dr. John J. Theobald is superintendent of schools in New York City, controlling the teaching and preparation for life of one million boys and girls. Here is what he says about Sunday Schools:

"Man's two greatest adventures are exploring the world around him and the worth within him. Whether he probes with a missile or a prayer, he's on the high road of adventure, and his preparation must begin early in life. Sunday Schools of all faiths stress the principles that start young people in the right direction."

To help focus attention on the importance of our nation's Sunday Schools, the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., a non-sectarian, non-profit organization, has been sponsoring National Sunday School Week in April for the past fifteen years. The observance this year will be from April 13 to 19. The slogan is "Make Every Wee Sunday School Week."

Let's start our children in the right direction by giving them a chance to learn the Word of God in our Sunday Schools.

PAY AS YOU GO

The Internal Revenue Service is bearing down to make sure that individuals put their income tax on a pay-as-you-go basis. Salaried persons whose withholding doesn't cover their total tax, or those with incomes not subject to withholding, are supposed to get their payments current by filing and paying quarterly installments. Internal Revenue intends to see they do.

GUESS WORK? The law doesn't expect you to guess exactly what your income will be. It sets up penalties, however, if your estimate turns out to be too far off, you are privileged to file an amended estimate any quarter.

We have plenty of Forms 1040 ES we will furnish you, or we will make your returns for you for a nominal charge.

Quite a number of farmers planted cotton in various sections of the county this week. Frank Boedecker of Bunker Hill told us he planted yesterday and believed there was sufficient moisture to get it up. If not, he still has time to replant, he stated.

Mrs. W. F. Weaver of Vontress was here Monday on business. She is postmaster at Vontress and also operates a general store there.

B. M. Whiteaker, exhibit manager for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, spent the weekend at home with his family.

McNeill & Smith Hardware Company is featuring a beautiful art exhibit in their show windows this week.

60 Years Ago—April 22, 1899

Wichita Falls voted her incorporation off a couple of weeks ago, but already the people seem to have concluded they have gotten themselves into the middle of a bad fix with regard to their schools and are discussing the advisability of reincorporating the town.

Jim Roberson, one of the brothers who bought the Lackey place on the Brazos in the northwest part of the county, was in town the other day. He says they have 100 acres of corn up and growing nicely.

We learned that S. S. Cummings made a sale a few days ago of 300 head of cows to a Mr. McIntosh of Higgins at $27.50 per head, throwing in this spring's calves.

Messrs. Johnson & Son have added a grist mill for making corn meal to their windmill, and propose to grind for the public.

George Messer has sold his place and stock in the eastern part of the county to M. Smith.

Winter gave us a little blast from the north Thursday to let us know it was dying hard.

Mr. Higinbotham of Dublin was here this week looking for a ranch location. We understand he is negotiating for a lease on the 17,700 acre tract of Wise County school land northwest of town and if he gets it will stock it with cattle and run a stock farm in connection with it.

J. E. Woodfin of Washington, D. C., who has been spending some months with the family of T. W. Coker, has gone to Gilmer, where he will visit for a few weeks.

We heard yesterday that the ten or twelve year old son of G. H. Cobb, living in the southern part of the county, was bitten on the hip by a rattlesnake Tuesday, but that he was making a safe recovery from effects of the bite.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

The custom of the Pilgrim Fathers in carrying their muskets with them while working in the field, going to church or elsewhere wasn't a bad idea at all, in the opinion of Allen Strickland. He's considering adopting the practice on a limited scale himself.

A few days ago, Floyd Cook and Allen started to play a round on the new golf course. On the approach to No. 2, Allen's long drive put his ball almost on the green. As Cook took a couple of drives and they were slowly approaching No. 2, a raven took off from near the No. 2 green and flew directly over them.

"Strick, that crow's got your golf ball." Cook excitedly told his partner as the bird flew over, carrying something white in its beak.

"Naw, it's a rag or piece of paper," Allen replied unconcernedly.

But as they neared the green, Allen's ball was not there. After searching a wide area, there was only one conclusion: The crow HAD taken the ball.

"Cost me two strokes and a new $1.25 ball, too," Strickland admits.

Cook may have been exaggerating, but he related that during the remainder of the afternoon and all the way back to town, every time a raven came in sight, Allen would almost go into a rigor, clench his fist and start muttering to himself.

Can't say we blame him, either, considering the price of golf balls.

But, man, just think what the consequences might have been had it happened to Scotch Coggins.

Some of the oldest shade trees in Haskell are the large native elms at the residence now occupied by the Burl Darnell family, 209 North 2nd Street.

Iron Pearsey, one of Haskell's pioneer citizens, recalls that he dug the holes and set out the elm trees there in 1890, when he was 14 years old. The original house on the site was the old A. P. McLemore home. McLemore was an early-day druggist here, and Iron worked in his drug store, which is now Oates Drug, for several years.

Iron distinctly recalls his tree planting experience. The elms were native stock, secured from the Jim Keller Ranch east of Haskell which later became the Baldwin Ranch. Iron recalled. All of the transplanted trees thrived from the start, doubtless because they were well watered. Iron recalls that McLemore had a large windmill and one of the best water wells in town. The windmill pumped into a large cypress overhead tank, and the abundance of water made the Me-

Lemore place one of the town's garden spots, Iron remembers.

T. C. Williams of Cisco, who was county school superintendent here in the period around 1908-10, was in town Saturday visiting friends. Naturally the conversation turned to the weather and the need for rain. "But we don't need one like this the flood and storm that hit here in 1909," T. C. declared, and old-timers agreed.

A tornado and cloudburst had demolished a number of small houses and the three men remembered they were with groups searching for persons injured or left homeless.

The storm was still threatening and they had rounded up 19 persons and herded them into a large stormhouse near the J. S. Boone place northeast of the square.

T. C. was wearing a new derby of which he was exceedingly proud, and when everyone had gotten in the storm cellar he carefully placed the soaked derby on a rafter, hoping the hat would dry out and not lose its shape.

Minutes later, water started seeping into the cellar, then started flooding at a rate that threatened to drown the occupants. In the excitement of getting out, T. C. forgot the derby hat, which it turned out was the only casualty when the cellar roof caved in.

Grandiose plans are being made for the second reunion of the 1929 graduating class of Haskell High School, to be held on Memorial Day, May 30. County Auditor R. A. Coburn, a member of the class, thinks that more than 30 members will be on hand for this year's gathering, first reunion since 1954. John English of Longview, assisted by Joe Short, have charge of plans for the affair.

"If Joe Short hasn't lost a lot of his get up and go, the reunion will be a rip-snorting affair," Coburn observed, recalling some of Joe's escapades in high school.

The motion picture industry is said to be making a slow, but steady comeback after having been virtually put out of business with the advent of television in recent years. Movie houses are gradually gaining favor with entertainment seekers, and we hope they regain their former popularity.

Over a long period of years the automobile, motion pictures, radio and television played havoc with another segment of community life—the fraternal orders which flourished in every community, large or small.

Nowadays, the only active lodges here are the Masonic bodies, Eastern Star, Odd Fellows, and Rebekahs.

A generation ago there were many other secret orders here, and the same was true in most every community.

Some that we recall are the Knight of Pythias, the Elks, the Maccabees, Wodmen of the World, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, Modern Woodmen. Possibly there were others we have overlooked.

Then among the not-so-secret organization was the famed Farmers and Stockmen's Association—an order into which almost every newcomer was inducted. It is said that the ritual was so personally exacting that the initiate feared to reveal anything about the rites.

The story goes that one or two hot-headed inductees took the matter of initiation to the Grand Jury. Nothing came of that, possibly because the

It Pays to Own a Dodge!

(It could save you hundreds of dollars!)

Okay, it's settled. You've thought about it and talked about it and now you've decided: A new car—and soon. Now for the jackpot question. Which '59 car will it be?

Unless you happen to be a Mr. Gotrocks, you'll probably think pretty carefully before you finally make the move. You'll do more shopping and compare more closely. And you'll ask yourself some basic questions. How much will a new car cost me to buy? How much will it cost me to drive? What do I get for my money?

There is no mystery about new car prices

Until this year, it was hard to compare different makes of cars to find which offered the most value for the money. It was like comparing apples and bananas. But not any more. Not since all new cars are required to carry price labels. Now, for the first time, you can compare various makes and models and see exactly what you're getting for your money. It's like exposing the hole cards in a game of stud poker: You know exactly where you stand.

Why should you buy a Dodge?

No one has to tell you that there are a number of cars on the market that sell for less than a Dodge. No cigar on that count. You know it and we know it. But there are things you get in a Dodge that you simply can't get in these other smaller cars. And this is important. Dodge gives you all of these things—the bigness and roominess, the comfort and ride, the luxury and prestige—for less than other cars in its field.

LIVE BETTER BY FAR WITH A BRAND NEW CAR

YOUR NEARBY DODGE DEALER

MEDFORD MOTOR CO. • 200 N. Avenue

It's not just a few dollars less, either; in many cases it's literally hundreds of dollars less. Some Dodge models are even priced lower than the so-called "low-priced cars." (We'll be happy to show you the actual suggested retail prices.)

All cars cost money to run—but how much?

It would be nice if you just bought a new car and that was that. It didn't burn gas. Didn't use oil. Never needed service. But that's wishful thinking. Cars do use gas and oil. They do need service occasionally. But that doesn't mean that all cars cost the same to drive and maintain. Not by a jugful. There's a big difference.

Dodge is designed to run for less

Dodge has always had a reputation for economical operation. People who have owned them have found it costs less to run a Dodge, and that a Dodge needs service less often.

Take gasoline economy. The new Dodge 326 cu. in. Red Ram V-8 engine, because of its design and efficiency, will take you miles farther on a gallon of gas than any other V-8 in the Dodge field. You save money every mile you drive.

But that's only part of the story. The way Dodge is engineered and built saves you money on such things as engine wear, brake relining, tune-ups, spark plug replacement. When you add them all up, they represent quite a saving. Another reason why it pays to own a Dodge.

What do you get for what you pay?

According to Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices, Dodge generally costs less, model for model, than other cars in its field. Fine and dandy. But while price is important, it isn't the only consideration. The real standard of value—whether you're buying a new car or a can of beans—is what you get for what you pay. If "extras" you get at no extra cost that determine which car is the best buy.

Dodge gives you more for less

Talk is cheap. Anyone can make claims. So be specific about the extras you get in Dodge—no extra cost. Torsion-Aire Ride—concealed finest suspension in the industry—standard equipment on all Dodge models. Total-Contact Brake Safety-Rim Wheels, Electric Windshield Wipers, Independent Parking Brake—all standard Dodge. Of course, you can also choose from Dodge options as Push-Button Driving, Power Steering and Swing-Out Swivel Seats.

There's a big difference in comfort, too

Goodness knows, we certainly don't want to knock competition. But we feel obligated to point out the comfort and convenience of the Dodge. If you've tried getting into some of the other '59 cars you know just what we mean. To say it is difficult would honestly be an understatement. That's why we hope you'll come in and compare the difference in Dodge. How much easier it is to get in and out of a Dodge. How much more comfortable it is to sit in a Dodge. How much more room you have to stretch out. How it pays to own a Dodge.

It doesn't cost a penny to get the facts

We don't expect you to rush in and plunk down your money for a new Dodge just on the basis of what you've read. But if what you've read makes sense, we do hope you'll stop in to see to drive and to price a Dodge. We think it's a whale of a buy, but then maybe we're prejudiced. Why not drop in and judge for yourself? It'll be more than happy to give you all the facts. No obligation, of course.

Planting of Sesame Recommended To Provide Game Bird Food Supply

RENNER, Texas—Research to develop a high yielding combine sesame at Texas Research Foundation has turned up a plant which is a natural self-feeder in providing birds with highly nutritious seed during the winter months.

"The new plant, Renner Combine No. 15, scatters its seed slowly during January and February, thereby benefiting all seed-eating birds, especially game birds such as dove and quail," Dr. C. L. Lundell, director of the Foundation, said.

A product of the Foundation's plant breeding program at Renner, the new sesame is a drought tolerant, high yielding variety which has been bred as a non-shattering type for machine harvesting.

In North Texas, sesame is planted with a vegetable planter or a grain drill in rows around June 15. The seed pods mature, in October.

Dr. Lundell has observed dove and quail in sesame plantings over the past three years. "We first noticed these game birds' preference for sesame in 1956 in the Foundation's South Texas plantings. Since then, we have observed this preference in Northeast, North and West Texas," he said.

"Doves in particular will even leave grain sorghum fields, heretofore one of their favorite feeding grounds, for sesame fields; and those birds which have fed on sesame prior to the hunting season are better baited of yellow fat."

Dr. Lundell recommends sesame planting to landowners and sportsmen as an effective measure in wildlife conservation.

"When planted as such measure, sesame will provide food during the dead of winter, that period of the year when all birds find it most difficult to survive," he advised.

"Through use of sesame plantings more birds can be brought through the lean months to aid the farmer in his spring and summer insect control programs."

Doves probably are the nation's most widespread birds. They spend the winter in the southern half of the nation, and are present in great numbers during the hunting seasons. All members of the dove group are almost exclusively vegetarians, restricting their diet to seed, grain and fruit. They are ground feeders and their favorite feeding places are fields, orchards, open weedy areas and other similarly cleared spaces. They visit watering places frequently.

In Texas, favorite foods of the dove are dowseeded, sunflower, corn, croton, sorghum, hackberry, acacia, buckhorn, prickly pear, various grasses and wild fruits.

The bobwhite quail, favorite gamebird of Texas sportsmen, has returned from relative scarcity during the decline of agriculture in the 'twenties and 'thirties to fairly prosperous populations in recent years. Reappearance of quail in appreciable numbers has been concomitant with rejuvenation of agriculture and with large scale artificial propagation.

Dr. Lundell has suggested that landowners turn this quality of sesame to profit by planting seed in wildlife borders near water and woodlands, along side lanes and hedges, in the short rows of terraced fields and in cultivated fields adjacent to cover and water.

In small areas, the farmer can plant sesame in rows by hand, or he can broadcast the seed. One and one-half pounds of Renner Combine No. 15 seed will plant an acre in rows or 5 pounds an acre broadcast," he advised.

"Although planting seed is limited, sufficient quantities are available for landowners and sportsmen to make field tests.

Through such provision for wildlife, the landowners easily can raise the winter per-acre ratio of game birds to a level which will assure abundant sport and game during the hunting season and to a level which in addition will leave plenty of birds with ample food supply to stock his land for future shooting.

Judge Chapman Is Guest Speaker At B&PW Club

Pointing out that one-half of all State employees are workers in the State Highway Department, one of the largest spending agencies in Texas on a cash basis, District Judge B. C. Chapman stated that 73.13 per cent of the tax dollar is required for upkeep or construction of the state's road system, when he discussed "Where Your Road Dollars Go" at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

Other interesting facts brought out in Judge Chapman's discussion were that Highways 121 and 183 northeast of Fort Worth are the most heavily traveled in the state, that housewives are rated with less traffic accidents, and that $324,000 was required to pick up trash along our county roads in 1957.

Berlin Crisis Brings Into Focus Controversy Over Cut In Military

By Congressman Frank Bard Congress will be in its annual Easter recess during this week. When it reconvenes, there will be much more legislative activity because of the fact that many of the Committees reported bills just before recess.

The Berlin crisis has brought into focus the controversy over the size of the military forces. It is speculated that General Maxwell Taylor, Chief of Staff of the Army, is retiring largely on account of his views on the strength of the Army. The differences of the opinion can be brought into focus by noting the differences in proposals of the Administration and some of the top military men. The Army, for instance, now has 891,000 men which number is due to be reduced by around 870,000 by the middle of the year with reserve forces to be 630,000. The Army spokesmen say they need 925,000 with 20 percent of 700,000. The Army also wants money for the antirifles, extra money to modernize its weapons, and for a minimum of fifteen divisions. This controversy is, of course, yet to be resolved, and all of the evidence is not in, but it would seem that with the Berlin crisis being what it is, this is no time to scale down our forces. Historically, one of the most costly mistakes we have made has been to reduce our armed forces during the times of relative peace and then have to rebuild them in a crash program when a crisis occurs. It is hoped that we will not make this mistake again.

Workmen engaged in reworking the east front of the Capitol have been excavating looking for the building's original cornerstone. Recently they unearthed a pile of bones that caused great excitement; however, a careful examination of these remains proved them to be only what was left of a big barbecue held on the grounds probably on the day that General Washington laid the cornerstone.

The 46th Artillery Group, which is commanded by Colonel Allan S. Home Town Laundromat Installation Is Equal Of Any Unit In State

A REMINDER—Each day you fail to use the Westinghouse Laundromat to do your wash and dry is a loss in money, leisure time, convenience, saving on your back (for straining organs)—to those who have had surgery it is a life-saver and you are refusing yourself this big lift and real treat?

BIG PROJECT UNDERWAY FOR BETTER WATER SUPPLY FOR THE TOWN! True but it's been true for several months that 20 cents, two dimes, in a Westinghouse Laundromat will give you 26 gallons of the softest water this side of the rain clouds to wash your clothes in. Look how you can save on soap: 1 to 1 1/2 even more cups of soap has to be used in the regular Haskell water because it is so hard. But 1/2 cup of soap to the washer is all that the soft water you wash in at the Laundromat needs. Using more causes excess suds that foam over. Well, isn't that quite a saving? Do you like a ring around your bath tub? That is what has accumulated in your clothes during the prolonged washing that you have done in this hard water. If you need a test to prove this to you, believe me, we can make it for you if you will just ask us.

PLEASE FOLLOW ME IN THESE NEXT FEW LINES:

No other machine in your town is as safe and sanitary for public use as a Westinghouse Laundromat. The reason: A Westinghouse Laundromat machine is NOT a home washer taken and set in rows in a public wash house. It is a commercial machine made for public use (and abuse) solely. It is so constructed that when you have washed in it it automatically cleans itself and is sanitary for the next user. No human hands have to go around and clean out the grit and residue that remains at the bottom after each wash in every up-right-type washing machine. Now whose machine is safest, cleanest, most sanitary and would have the fewest bacterial count if a smear were taken from both types of machines placed on a slide, given a count at a laboratory? After every wash every machine is free of any grimy lint, etc. Do you want to see a demonstration of a Westinghouse Laundromat washing machine washing clothes and have us add a cup of sand and a cup of grease to the wash? See it finish up the wash free of all this and the machine unharmed and clothes cleaned? Give it a try on any other washers and examine the clothes also the machine!

HELPFUL HINTS—Lack of right instructions and a lot of false propaganda has caused this remark: "I just can't get my clothes clean on one of those machines." Do you drive your new car with the automatic steering just like you did the standard gear? Had trouble if you did, eh? You converted to the automatic way of driving and got along fine. Just so when you go from the old style way of washing to the new automatic way—learn how its done, do it the right way. Competitors would rather you would complain though! But here I am giving you the main points in a good wash: (1) Give clothes a pre-cold water soak in the tub at the Laundromat (some do this before leaving home). Hot water sets stains, be they dirt or otherwise if they are first put in hot water. (2) Rub shirt collars, other set in grime with pine oil (any grease remover) and white Lava soap. (3) Fill tub 3/4 full of clothes, add 1/2 cup of double duty detergent. Some put 2T sal-soda, Wisk, Texize if grease is present. Allow to wash in soft water and suds for 5 minutes. (4) Add bleach which has been diluted down the chute. Bleach is not a cleanser just a fader of color or whitener and counteracts the action of suds. The Laundromat is like a circular rubber board and rubs your clothes for 15 minutes. (5) Then it gives the clothes a spray rinse to rid them of floating suds. (6) The next is a deep rinse, and (7) is the rinse where if you wish, blueing may be added. Dilute 1 T. of blueing in a jar and pour down chute. You certainly have clean clothes, you washed in a clean machine, you left the machine clean; the water was steaming hot and just as soft as rain water—why shouldn't more dirt have washed out and clothes be free of hard residue? Drying in the dryer saves lifting baskets of heavy wet clothes, fluffs them and cuts down on ironing if you fold them while hot. The dryers have automatic thermostats on them and so safeguard the heat getting up so high that clothes would yellow. The old time dryer had no thermostat and this did happen but the modern dryer is more sanitary than the sun—no dust, no pollen, no flying particles, droppings and the like.

Westinghouse is good, always has been good. Haskell is fortunate to have one of the most attractive Laundromats in the state—something to be proud of for the home town and boosted to attract the newcomer. Use it more, you learn to love it. Isn't that feeling worth getting? To love more and more?

Bobcat With Five Unborn Kittens Is Killed
 A bobcat with five unborn kittens was killed in the hills west of Austin, March 17, according to the director of Wildlife Restoration, Game and Fish Commission. The average bobcat litter usually numbers about two, although three and four in a litter is not uncommon.

Van Lohman, an old trapper for 40 years, killed the cat on the Schultz Ranch at the head of Cypress Creek near Lake Travis. This is not the first time such a large litter has been reported in Texas; however, five in one litter is very, very rare in any state.

A bobcat with six unborn kittens was reported killed in Refugio County on Aug. 1, 1946. Another female, which was reported to have killed thirty lambs between April 19 and May 2, 1944, was reported trapped in Culberson County. This cat had been suckling five kittens, all of which were captured later. Other states have reported finding litters of five or more.

On Feb. 25, 1950, a female bobcat was reported killed in Oregon containing five unborn. Another Oregon cat examined in 1942 had seven embryos. In early March, 1954, a bobcat was taken in Utah that had seven unborn young.
 These stub-tailed cats are plentiful in nearly every state in the nation, and Texas has its share. They have been very destructive in some parts of the State. The one killed in Refugio County is reported to have destroyed some 65 chickens before it was eliminated.

Revival Planned At Pinkerton Baptist Church

The Pinkerton Baptist Church, located between Haskell and Rule, will hold an eight-day revival starting Sunday, April 12 and closing April 19, the pastor, Rev. C. M. Slate, has announced.

Services will be held daily, with prayer service starting at 7:30 p. m. and a song service at 8 p. m. preceding the preaching.

"Everyone is invited to hear Rev. J. A. Turner of the Corinth Baptist Church at Stamford as he brings the messages, and Leo Thames as he leads in the singing," Rev. Slate said.

Continuing, the pastor said, "Rev. Turner is a senior at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. He has been preaching about four years, and he is great man of God. You will learn to love him the first time you see him."

"Mr. Thames is also a student at Hardin-Simmons. He will lead in congregational singing each night. You will enjoy helping him and others sing praises of God."

"Sunday morning, April 12, the first service of the revival, we are going to have a roll call of all our residential church members. All visitors will also be recognized. After the service we want to take some pictures for our scrapbook. We want pictures of all of our church officers and teachers, also of all present that day," Rev. Slate stated.

The church has 110 enrolled in Sunday School, and last Sunday 83 were present. For the special Sunday April 12, Rev. Slate said the goal was to have 110 in Sunday School and 135 for the preaching service. The special song for this service will be "Calling the Prodigal." The topic for the message will be "The Prodigal Son." Everyone is invited to attend all of the revival services.
