Dryland Cotton Makes Over Two Bales Per Acre

A yield of better than two bales of dryland cotton per acre is believed to be a production record for Haskell County for 1961. This exceptional turn-out was recorded for the farm of Mrs. B. E. Hattox 10 miles northwest of Haskell, which was farmed by her son, Clay Hattox of this city. He had 16 1/2 acres planted to Western Stormproof cotton, planting two rows and skipping four, for an equivalent of 5 1/2 planted acres. Harvesting was delayed until after frost, when Clifford Thomas Jr., used his equipment to strip the cotton. Thomas reported that the 5 1/2 acres produced 6,120 pounds of lint cotton, processed into 12 bales averaging 510 pounds each. Prior to stripping, Thomas estimated the cotton would run about one and one-half bale per acre. "After the first round on the machine, the yield was so large that we decided to keep close weight records on the entire field," he said.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

If you've forgotten some of the stanzas of Auld Lang Syne, and if you catch yourself still writing it 1961, don't worry—you're perfectly normal—but getting older.

As usual, the Haskell area had its share of traffic accidents during the Christmas-New Year holiday season. Just to live things up the holiday season also brought an armed robbery, something that is becoming commonplace at this time of the year. Within a few hours of the hold-up here, other similar robberies occurred in Childress and Temple.

On the more somber side of news happenings in 1961, the unsolved slaying of P. J. White ranks at the top. The well-known and well-liked Haskell man was shot and beaten to death in early August, and to date no definite leads have been developed pointing to his slayers.

The case is still being actively worked by local and area officers, who express confidence that sooner or later the guilty party or parties will be apprehended.

One exciting event of 1961 which quickly gained the spotlight of attention in Haskell and this immediate area was the reported finding of rich deposits of gold, silver and copper along the breaks of the Salt Fork of the Brazos north of Old Glory and west of Rule. Abilene parties and a Haskell man who were making tests on claims they had in the area did recover ore samples which indicated extremely valuable percentages of copper and gold.

The attendant publicity, however, slowed their efforts at developing their find and since they were operating literally on and taken charge. He states he plans to do considerable renovating of the hotel.

Deputy County Clerk J. W. Meadors informs us that 51 marriage licenses were issued in this county during 1961. All of them have been returned duly executed, he said.

J. W. Boiling sold his place about a mile south of town this week to T. L. Williams of Forney, Kaufman County. We understand the consideration was about $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Walker came over from Aspermont on Wednesday. They secured a house to their liking and are now citizens of Haskell.

Dr. Coston has bought Sam Anderson's residence in the north part of town and Mr. Anderson has moved out to his farm.

Prayers in School

(Wichita Falls Times)
 The United States Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case in which the decision will be whether it is constitutional for prayers to be said in public schools.

The issue may be arguable but a Florida newspaper, the Orlando Evening Star, brings up some interesting points.

"Certain it is that most legislative bodies, from the state legislatures to the Senate of the United States, are opened with prayer. Could this, by any chance, make all their enactments unconstitutional?" the Orlando paper asks.

"Will the time come when a criminal can demand and get his conviction thrown out because the witness swore to tell the truth on a religious Bible?"

"Will some parent want to abolish all school holidays such as Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter because of their religious implications?"

"Will the time come when the courts can revoke all our rights, including the right to bring these anti-religious actions, because the Declaration of Independence refers to these rights as God-given?"

"And can the Declaration of Independence be purged from our schools because it refers to God and the Creator?"

More illustrations exist. Is our coinage legally acceptable because the words, "In God We Trust" are imprinted thereon?

"It does occur to us," the Orlando paper observes, "that the Supreme Court might well utter a prayer before deciding the case now before it."

Keep People Informed

To illustrate the importance of timely and accurate communications as essential to public understanding of a subject, J. M. Patterson of the American Oil Company said:

"Robert Fulton was credited with running the first profitable steamship in 1807. But by 1807 James Rumsey of Shepherdstown, W. Va., had been running one on the Potomac River for 18 years. However, it was without benefit of the New York press enlisted by Fulton.

"Longfellow—another professional communicator—immortalized Paul Revere's midnight ride from Boston to Lexington. But how many people know the British intercepted him en route to Concord and that Paul had to walk back to Lexington? The same night, Israel Bissell started a four-day, six-hour ride from Watertown, Mass., to Philadelphia to take news to the Continental Congress that the war had started!"

"Attitude surveys show most people think everything is too high. But we were surprised to learn that the public thought that when it comes to raising prices, gasoline was second only to haircuts.

"Actually gasoline prices are at a 10-year low, but direct gasoline taxes are at an all-time high. Taxes went up 55 per cent in the last 10 years. Direct taxes alone add over 50 per cent to retail prices.

"Today's gasoline is of much better quality, and does 78 per cent more work at 24 per cent less cost than 30 years ago."

The foregoing shows the importance of continuous communications in the right places and at the right times if the people are to be informed.

"Judge, sir, A'hm gonna plead non-existent, which was then located on the second floor of a two-story building on the northeast corner of the square, was a magnet for the youngsters."

Celebrations welcoming the advent of a New Year are tame affairs compared to what they were back in Haskell's "boom days" around 1910, one of Haskell's longtime residents, John Decker, commented the other day.

At midnight on New Year's Eve, every steam whistle in town would sound off, and this would generally continue until all the steam pressure in the respective boilers was exhausted.

Add to the whistles the firing of six-shooters by the more daring celebrants, while others would "shoot an anvil," producing a window-rattling blast that would awaken everyone in town.

And, if a freight train happened to be passing through at the time, the engineer would join in with blasts from the train whistle, Decker recalls.

Because of a strict curfew law, youngsters of the community had little opportunity to take part in the midnight celebration. But for a few of the more adventuresome teenagers who managed to keep out of sight of the town night-watchman, New Year's Eve was an ideal time for pranks.

The local Elks Club, now was to assist the Elks Club prefect during the dance.

Naturally, "Shag" and his preter friend had access to the punch bowl and other refreshments in some of the club hoppers, all of which made the New Year's affair an enjoyable event for them.

Knowing that the dance would last until well past midnight, "Shag's" thoughts turned romantically, and he envisioned a visit with a brown-skinned girl of his acquaintance who lived in the colored settlement near the Oil Mill.

Asking the club porter to allow for him if "Mistah Dick" asked about his whereabouts, "Shag" headed downstairs and to the Nolen buggy for the short drive to the Oil Mill area.

In the meantime, thoughtless youngsters had changed places with front and rear wheels on one side of the buggy, giving it a lop-sided appearance. Also, driving reins had been crossed through the rings on the harness hames.

"Shag", being a bit wobbly on his feet himself, didn't notice anything strange, all his thoughts being on his brown-skinned heart throb.

"Shag" had driven his employer and a young woman to the Elks Club for a New Year's Eve dance. Then, "Shag", after securing the horse to a hitching post on the square, toward home. This was the direction "Shag" had intended to take. The crazy tilt of the horse had been doing, trotting briskly, so the railroad tracks, the right rein to turn toward his gal's house.

Since the lines were the horse dutifully to which also happened toward the Nolen "Shag" thinking he thought it was supposed to be home, yanked hard right rein and reached buggy whip and horse's flank.

The bewildered animal, responding to the reins, driver kept yanking the reins, using the whip for emphasis, and yellow horse as the frightened turned sharply, the wheel which had been in front caught under of the buggy, overturned vehicle and spilling looee from the buggy was completely wrecked. "Shag" must have been a good driver.

Whatever story he must have been a good driver.

Resolutions Made

Many of the Indians made New Year's resolutions for 1962 and vowed to keep them. In some cases there were two sets: Personal resolutions and School resolutions. "Bring up my grades and fulfill my obligations to my school," were the main ones on most lists of "school resolutions." The Indian Band vowed to win "first" in concert playing and sight reading and make Mr. Porter the happiest man in Haskell. The "Nine Teens" agreed to practice harder and not waste so much time. The Annual Staff agreed to work hard and meet all deadlines to have a perfect Annual. And, most important to the biology students was to prove to Mr. McCoy that they can make "A's" every six weeks. All in all, the Christmas holidays seemed to be quite a success. The two weeks went fast and everyone hated to return to school, but now that all is underway again, everyone seems satisfied. The Christmas smiles have yet to wear off—every Indian is cheerful and happy. This will be a wonderful new year for everyone if each will do his part. Happy New Year! See you in seven moons.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to our many friends, neighbors and relatives who have been so kind and thoughtful, during our recent bereavement in the loss of our loved one, Janice Jones. Your messages of sympathy, the beautiful flowers, the food donations and your many acts of kindness will never be forgotten. May God bless you, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jones and Alvie and Mrs. Jim Spivey. 1p

MY THANKS

To all my friends who sent me the Christmas greetings, cards and gifts. Being unable to send my individual thanks for them. Words just won't express the comfort and joy they bring. I know now the meaning of the expression, "It is more blessed to give than receive." Thanks, Mrs. Sarah E. Reeves Cox 1p

NEWS OF INTEREST WOMEN

Children Host Open House for Parents Wedding Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Welsh honored their parents with open house at their home, 207 South Avenue C, on Sunday, Dec. 31, in observance of the golden wedding anniversary of the couple.

The receiving line included Miss Patricia Bean, their granddaughter; their sons and son-in-law, E. E. Welsh Jr. and Jerry Welsh and G. R. Morgan.

Miss Dianna Morgan presided over the guest book. Mrs. Dorothy Morgan, Mrs. Billie Bean, Mrs. Edna Welsh and Mrs. Antoinette Welsh, the couple's daughters and daughters-in-law respectively, served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Welsh moved from Bell County to Haskell in late 1923, and they were engaged in farming until Mr. Welsh's retirement in 1959.

The reception table was laid with a specially made white net tablecloth, adorned with white felt bells trimmed with gold sequins and a border of gold net over an imported white damask cloth. In the center of the table was a four-tiered white wedding cake ornamented with clusters of gold flowers and topped with the traditional bride and groom. Golden candelabra holding white candles were on each side of the cake. A crystal punch service, a silver coffee and tea service and a gold tray completed the table setting.

The house was decorated with golden mums, carnations, roses and ivy. Approximately 75 guests called during the hours from 2 to 5 p. m. Out-of-town guests registered from Fort Worth, Midland, Lubbock, Rule, Lueders, Stamford, Houston and Odessa.

Henderson and Mrs. Arlos Weaver were hostesses for the evening.

Tax Reporting Easier With Good Records
Taxpayers who kept good financial records last year should have no trouble preparing their 1961 federal income tax return, Omas T. Roberts, Administrative Officer of the Wichita Falls, Texas, office of Internal Revenue Service, stressed today.

Complete records are especially important, the IRS representative said, to taxpayers who elect to itemize deductions in filing.

Accurate expense records are especially essential if a taxpayer's return is selected for audit.

All records should be retained for as long as they may become material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Another advantage, he declared, is that taxpayers with good records can complete and mail their federal tax returns as soon as they receive their W-2 withholding tax certificates, thus eliminating last-minute searches for such papers, as the April 15 filing deadline draws near.

Dun & Bradstreet
 Lists 203 Firms
 In County

Today, A. J. Hemphill, district manager of the Fort Worth office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., announced statement requests were mailed to businesses in Haskell County. He said figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1962, totaled 203 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in this area.
 Hemphill stated that during January, business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns — to the corner grocery worth a few thousand dollars as well as to businesses worth millions.

 The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers, and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.
 During the past year, Hemphill added, 175 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of Haskell County businesses, including 49 names added, 81 names deleted, and 65 changes in the ratings of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Haskell County are about even with the rest of the country, where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

Incomes of $600
 Or More Require Tax Returns

All citizens or residents of the United States, including minor children, who had gross incomes of $600 or more in 1961 must file a federal income tax return, Murray C. King, Administrative Officer, Internal Revenue Service, Wichita Falls, Texas, announced today.

 If the taxpayer is 65 or over as of December 31, 1961, he or she is not required to file unless his or her gross income for 1961 was at least $1,200.
 The IRS representative added that even though a taxpayer is not required to file under these rules, he or she must file to obtain a refund, if any income tax was withheld from his or her pay.
 He said there is one exception to the general rule. Self-employed persons such as sole proprietors, partners, and independent contractors, must file an income tax return and pay a self-employment tax, if net earnings from self-employment were $400 or more.
 Many questions about federal income tax returns can be answered by telephoning the IRS office.
 Oh, yes, the filing deadline this year is Monday, April 15.

News from Rule

MRS. FAYE DUNNAM

Fouts-Tabor Rites
 Afternoon rites in the First Baptist Church of Rule marked the marriage Tuesday, December 26, of Lynnell Elaine Fouts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey E. Fouts, and Billy Douglas Tabor of Fort Worth, son of Mrs. John L. Brooks of Sagerton.

 Rev. Rodney Dowdy, pastor of the First Baptist Church, read the double ring ceremony. Mr. Fouts gave his daughter in marriage, Judy Gunn, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Best man was Willie Dee Lehmann of Fort Worth. Cousins of the bride, Anella and Sheila Chambers, lighted the wedding candles.

Ushers were brothers of the bride, Jack Tabor of Fort Worth, Jan Fouts of Lubbock, and Ed T. Fouts of Rule. Nuptial music was by Ann Henry, organist, and Carolyn O'Pry, vocalist, both of Lubbock.

The bride's gown, which she had designed and made, was of chantilly lace over silk organza and peau de soie. Pearlized orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of French silk illusion. She carried a white orchid with feathered carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Gunn wore a sheath dress of emerald green velvet with rounded neckline and long sleeves. She wore matching slippers and carried a white fur muff accented with yellow carnations.

The reception immediately followed at the Philadelphia Club House. Houseparty members were Mrs. Glen Crowder of Dallas, Sue Mims of Columbus, Ohio, Nancy Neumayer of Dallas, Martha McDaniels of Midland and Edith Chambers.

The bride changed to a gold wool suit with gold and black accessories for their wedding trip to New Orleans. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Rule High School. The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological College where she was a member of Mortar Board, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Phi Kappa Phi and Alpha Lambda Delta. She is teaching Homemaking at Stamford, Texas.

The bridegroom attended Texas Technological College and Texas Christian University. He is presently serving with the 49th Armored Division at Fort Polk, La.

HERE ARE 2 OF THE NEW JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLETS

WHICH ONE IS THE CONVERTIBLE AND WHICH THE HARDTOP?

Top one's our new Impala Sport Coupe whose steel roof line is a dead ringer for the Impala Convertible's below. But after rich new styling, what? In glamor and go, comfort and craftsmanship, here's all you'd reasonably expect of an expensive car. Except the expense.

Slip inside a Jet-smooth Chevrolet, relax and just notice how good you feel. Ready for action? Just flick the key and let'er purr (your choice of two standard engines—a 135-hp 6 or 170-hp V8—or optional-at-extra-cost V8's way up to a 409-hp mile-shrinker). That gentle cradling motion you enjoy is Jet-smooth ride at work. And the rich interior and neat craftsmanship are Bob by Fisher at work. Have your dealer give you the whole story. That's the work he loves best.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

When a race horse starts too soon it is known as breaking the barrier. When a track man gets in a hurry he jumps the gun.

When an ammunition maker moves out ahead of a gun manufacturer, it is a headache for just about everyone concerned.

During the last two or three years there has been a tremendous craze for so-called magnum loads. These oversize loads have been around for a long time. But only recently have hunters wanted to try them.

When the magnum load was first developed, it was a 3-inch 12-gauge shotgun shell. It carried more shot than the regular high velocity loads. But being a 3-inch shell, it required a gun with a longer chamber.

Then a new powder was developed and ammunition makers produced a magnum cartridge in a standard 2 3/4 inch length. Duck hunters began buying them and reaching for the moon. They could be used in almost any old shotgun.

If you could stand the kick you could shoot them. These overloaded hulls were a definite advantage to the not-too-good shooter. They carried more shot. Hence they made a better killing pattern.

Unfortunately, most hunters thought the magnum load was almost equal to a rifle for distance. But they soon learned different. In most instances they would kill five yards farther, but mainly because of the more efficient patterns resulting from more pellets.

Although the magnums were first loaded in the 12s, they are now being loaded in 20s. Of course, there are 10-gauge magnums, too. But we'll pass over them because so few hunters own this type of cannon.

Federal Cartridge Corporation now has a 3-inch 20-gauge magnum, loaded with 1 1/4 oz. of shot. This is compared with 3/8 ounce of shot in the original 20-gauge light load.

As shot loads are increased breech pressure also increases. This was a very important factor until a new slower burning powder was developed which did not increase the breech pressure.

The rub, however, is that there are not many guns around that will handle this 3-inch load. H. C. Russell, director of sales for Federal, shoots them in a Model-21 Winchester, which no longer is made except on special order at $1,000 each.

Col. Charles Askins of Fort Sam Houston shoots them in a rechambered over and under Browning. The lowest price of this gun is $260 retail.

Because they are 1/4-inch longer than the standard high-velocity cartridge, they cannot be chambered in the regular pump or automatic.

Sheldon Smith, president of Ithica, says "the Model-37 is NOT designed for that one, nor is it chambered for it and that load should not be utilized in our Model-37."

Since Marlin produces a double o/u gun we asked Lawrence Ferguson about rechambering for the 3-inch shell.

He says "the Marlin Model-90 cannot be chambered for the magnum 3-inch shells. It is chambered only for the 2 1/4 inch shells. It would be dangerous to attempt using a magnum in the 90."

Incidentally, he also said that it would not be practical to build a .44-magnum on the present Model-90 in the .410 frame.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

"It is about time we recognize that we have a genuine crisis in our country and to follow policies which go beyond the realm of being a generous free world leader which will ultimately weaken the strength of the free world."

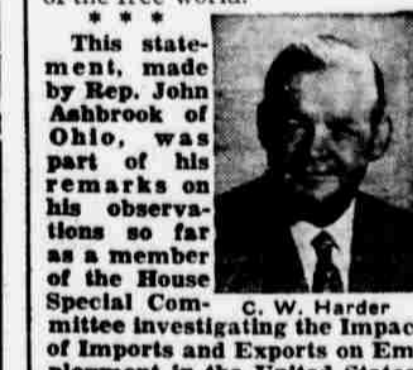

balance favoring U. S., but left deficit of $3.8 billion.

In addition, the U. S. under the farm programs is selling cotton abroad for 30 to 40% of the world price. Last year shipped 600 million bushels of wheat with a subsidy of 66 cents per bushel. Without the half billion dollar subsidy on these two products alone, there would not have been $2 billion worth exported. Thus, figures on American import-export trade are fallacious.

Rep. Ashbrook also points out that Russia reloaded on paying into the United Nations its share of the costs that have so far been incurred in keeping things quiet in the Congo. The United States picked up the Russian share of this tab totalling $15 million. Where did the money come from?

Here is Rep. Ashbrook's answer "Congress would never appropriate this sum for such folly so that takes $5 million from the President's contingent fund and $10 million from the foreign aid fund and literally gives it away to aid our enemy. Congress has already appropriated these amounts so we have no check on them. A logical question, however, is just who is obligating us to help pay the communist's share. Again we see a sign of our national weakness. We should insist that the Reds pay up or get out but instead the communists make mockery of the U. N. and we blithely make our own beleaguered taxpayers the fall guys once more. In effect, this means we are financing both sides of the Congo operation."

This all seems to add up to one thing. America's future appears to depend on an aroused Congress.

C. W. Harder, Special Committee Investigating the Impact of Imports and Exports on Employment in the United States.

He reports that the State Dept. gets too many people to listen to them when it is brought out that restricting imports of residual oil will help employment in the coal mines of America. State Dept. says this will create a crisis in Venezuela. But crisis that exists in American coal communities is not, presumably, supposed to be recognized.

Rep. Ashbrook points out that we allow Canada to ship gas and oil into the U. S. duty free, but if we ship coal to Canada, the Canadians charge 50 cents per ton duty.

He also takes a broad swipe at the bureaucratic news releases that say the balance of world trade is in favor of the U. S. If that were true, he points out, we would not be continually losing gold reserve.

As a matter of fact, Rep. Ashbrook says, in 1960 our give away items, counted as part of world trade, not only knocked out $5 billion dollar but also...

may be the deciding factor in killing your game. It's a good idea to know what shell throws the best pattern in your gun and to stick with that shell. Be it magnum or regular load.

RECENT VISITORS IN FELIX JOSSELET HOME

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Josselet during the holidays were Mrs. Almada Pednean and son Mickey of Deer Park, Texas, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith of Little Rock, Ark., John Walter Massey from NTSC, Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Massey of Monday, Mr. and Mrs. John White, Patty Sue, Dianna Kay of Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. Odie Kreger of Fort Worth.

Price-wise the 20-gauge magnum with 3 1/4 drams of powder and 1 1/4 ounces of shot is listed to sell retail for $3.40. This is exactly the same price of the 12-gauge high-power load with 3 1/4 drams of powder and 1 1/4 ounces of shot. The regular high-speed 20 lists at $2.95.

In the medium brass shells, the 12-gauge lists at $2.65 and the 20-gauge at $2.40. In the target loads the 12-gauge 2 3/4 drams with 1 1/8 ounce shot lists at $2.80 and the 20-gauge with 2 3/4 drams and 7/8 ounce shot lists at $2.30.

Since there is no doubt about the magnum giving cleaner kills, there is an advantage in them for the average shooter. Game frequently is killed at ranges in excess of 60 yards, but they can be considered as lucky shots. Consistent killing doesn't usually take place beyond 40 yards, or just about the depth of an ordinary city block. Actually, the lead you take
