More Than 400 Attend Lockney C.-C. Banquet

Many Communities Represented in Spite of Sub-Zero Weather That Prevailed.

Lockney, January 22.—More than four hundred people from Lockney and surrounding communities attended the annual banquet and "get-together" of the Lockney Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday night. About one-half of those present came from the rural communities in spite of bad roads and sub-zero weather, thus enabling those in charge of the program to feature the possibilities presented by the proper cooperation between the people of the towns and the rural communities. More than five hundred people received invitations to the banquet.

Speakers of the evening stressed the possibilities presented with the coming of more people to this section combined with the proper development of the city and surrounding communities. Each speaker urged the building of hard-surfaced roads through Floyd county, the development of small scale irrigation farming, the securing of better rural schools together with a constructiv program of county development sponsored by the people of both the town and rural community.

Following an informal supper, served by the ladies of the Methodist Church, Ray H. Wall, retiring President, presented Reverend E. D. Morgan, pastor of the Lockney Baptist Church who pronounced an invocation. Reverend J. E. Stephens, local Methodist pastor, welcomed the people from the rural communities and surrounding towns to Lockney. J. B. Allen, superintendent of the Lone Star school, responded for the visitors. Speakers on the program included: Dr. C. J. McCollum, who spoke on "My Town"; Elder J. E. Arceneaux, whose subject was "Community Interests"; A quartette composed of H. G. Shirley, W. D. Biggers, T. B. Brooks and Herman Ely rendered two vocal selections and the Copeland Chorus sang two numbers. A feature of the program was a Harmonica Band composed of students of the Lockney Grammar School and led by G. D. Tate, Principal of the school.

Visitors responding with short talks included: Mrs. H. O. Shurbet, Sand Hill; Miss Anna Sims, Roseland; W. A. Whitlock, Floyd county pioneer; Lee Rushing, Fairview; Edd Bishop, Maury Hopkins and H. S. Hilburn, Plainview; and Miss Marie Strange, Floyd county Home Demonstration Agent.

As a conclusion for the program, Ex-President Wall introduced Dr. C. D. Henry, who in turn introduced the officer of the Chamber of Commerce for 1930. Those introduced were: Frank Perkins and A. P. Barker, Vice-Presidents; D. E. Cox, Treasurer; A. R. Meriwether, H. M. Mason, Artie Baker, Carl McAdams and H. B. McAdams, members of the Board of Directors. Following the introduction, A. P. Barker presented Ray H. Wall with a desk fountain pen set as a token of appreciation from the Chamber of Commerce for service faithfully performed. Following the presentation, Dr. C. D. Henry outlined the policies and program of work for the Chamber of Commerce during the ensuing year.

MEMBER HESPERIAN FORCE IN HOSPITAL THIS WEEK

B. F. McIntosh, for the past five years a member of The Hesperian office family, is ill this week in the Smith & Smith Sanitarium, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday afternoon last.

Dollars Spent In Floydada Have Strong Buying Power

Uncle Sam's silver dollar is destined to do wonders when offered in trade to Floydada merchants on Friday and Saturday of this week. These two days have been set aside by a score or more of local retail merchants as "Community Wide Dollar Days."

Hundreds of Dollar Day bargains are offered to the buying public this week through the advertising columns of this week's issue of the Hesperian.

Globe Girdling Poet-Humorist Fri. Night

Thomas Elmore Lucy, Entertainer, Appears Auspiciously Most Widely Traveled Man on the Platform' High School.

America's globe-girdling Poet-Humorist, Character Artist, Crayon Sketch Entertainer and poet of the platform and Radioland is the description given in brief of Thomas Elmore Lucy, entertainer, who is to appear tomorrow night at the High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Hesper Staff.

Proceeds from the entertainment will be used for the annual fund.

Mr. Lucy has been appearing on the American Lyceum and chautauqua platforms for the past twenty years, and at one previous time he appeared as an entertainer in Floydada on the Dixie Lyceum Circuit. He was well received here at that time.

His program has a wide variety of entertaining features. If he gives his impersonation of Edgar Allen Poe and the presentation of "The Raven" it will undoubtedly prove a highlight in the program. He uses the James Whitcomb Riley poems in his impersonations to good advantage.

Mr. Lucy's engagements in Texas at this time are carrying him to a number of points in the panhandle and plains area.

Heart Trouble Causes H. R. Johnston Death

Funeral Tuesday Afternoon For Mississippian Resident Here 14 Years.

H. R. Johnston died suddenly at 6:30 Monday morning of heart trouble. He had been in poor health for six weeks. He was past seventy-five years of age at the time of his death.

Funeral services were conducted at the home, 321 North Fifth St., Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. A. A. Collins. Interment was made in Floydada cemetery, with F. C. Harmon in charge. Surviving relatives are his wife, Mrs. H. R. Johnston, three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Ward of Bridgeport, Mrs. J. L. Taylor of Fort Worth, and Mrs. W. E. Carter of Bowie; and three sons, O. H. and Stanley Johnson of Floydada, and W. D. Johnson of Fort Worth; a sister, Miss Ruth Johnston; several grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Carter were unable to attend their father's funeral. Mrs. Taylor was accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Estes of Fort Worth.

Mr. Johnston joined the Presbyterian church at an early age. He was married in 1877 to Miss Sefrona Smith and to this union were born seven children, all of whom survive except one daughter.

Mr. Johnston has been a resident of Floydada for fourteen years, coming to this county from Wise County, where he resided for thirteen years. He was a native of the State of Mississippi.

Ninety-Foot Sign For Airmen Is Latest Here

A ninety-foot sign for the guidance of air travellers graces the roof of the Barker Building on West Missouri Street since yesterday, the result of a fund assembled for the purpose by local business interests. The sign, according to information supplied by O. Sellers, who made the installation, is put up along lines suggested by the Guggenheim Foundation. The word "Floydada" is in letters twelve feet high running north and south. One arrow, with the letter "N" points north, and another points west, lettered "W."

B. K. Barker, owner of the building, said this morning he checked the sign as to specification, and that it is erected and constructed according to representations made to him. Sellers told a local newspaper representative that he is on the payroll of the Guggenheim Foundation and that his visit here was to assist local interests in working out their problems in connection with the new air field planned here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pennington, who have been located at Turkey with the C. E. Stone Co., have recently been transferred to Dimmitt where Mr. Pennington will be manager for the company.

You are urged to read the Dollar Day bargains in this issue. Never before in the history of Floyd County has the dollar had such buying power as the present time. Many real bargains are offered to you by all lines of business through the advertising columns of this newspaper; Dollar Day Bargains and others as well. You will save money every week by taking advantage of the prices offered you through this medium.

"In The Shadows"

Kill Prairie Dogs Now Advice of Biology Man

District Representative Division of Rodent Control Leaves Poison Mixture.

"Now is the time to kill out prairie dogs, rats and rabbits by the use of poison baits," J. M. Hill, of San Antonio, with the Division of Rodent Control, U. S. Biological Survey, told a reporter for The Hesperian in Floydada Wednesday afternoon. "This is the time of the year to put out the poison for these rodents and if the job is properly done a person can expect 80 to 100 per cent results."

Mr. Hill has charge of fifty-five counties in northwest Texas in the work of controlling and exterminating prairie dogs. His tour of this section this week includes, besides Floydada, Muleshoe, Plainview, Littlefield, Olton and Hereford. At this latter place, he said, much complaint was being made of rabbits making inroads on the wheat fields, and he is going to lend a hand there in an effort to control the rodents.

His work, primarily, he said, is to exterminate prairie dogs, but the poison he mixes for this work is equally effective with rats, rabbits, ground squirrels and crows.

While in Floydada he mixed 500 pounds of the poison a part of which is being left at the court house for distribution. Two Floyd County residents—A. H. Kreis and N. A. Armstrong—took a part of the mixture for use on their lands. Mr. Hill is leaving a proposition to the Commissioners Court to handle the poison. The strychnine, feed and other ingredients in this vicinity costs about seven cents per pound made up and is being distributed at cost.

Mr. Hill plans to pay the county another visit later, he said, and would then make an effort to clean up the county of all prairie dogs.

Sunday Picture Shows Announced By Theatre

Beginning last Sunday Floydada is to have Sunday afternoon picture shows, according to J. G. Deakins, manager of the Floydada Theatres. "The Sunday afternoon entertainments are presented in answer to the hundreds of requests by Floyd County people who have been driving many miles for Sunday recreation," Mr. Deakins stated when announcing the first show last week.

The shows begin promptly at 2 o'clock each Sunday afternoon and close at 6 o'clock sharp, it was announced. The box office closes at 4:30 o'clock. "There is no if's and and's about it; the picture machines will always stop at six o'clock sharp," Mr. Deakins said.

In announcing the Sunday afternoon entertainments, Mr. Deakins said that the feature talking pictures of the week would always be shown for the first time on Sunday afternoons. The new program began last Sunday with Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy". The picture announced this week is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking picture, entitled "Hollywood Revue", featuring 25 stars and a chorus of 200.

Coldest Day in Floyd Co.?

Nothing Ever Like Friday Before, Some Say

But It Wasn't Hot, Anyhow

Was last Friday morning the coldest and worst five-hour period Floyd County has ever seen?

Was there ever any worse spell since the country began to get pretty well settled up? Maybe it was and maybe it wasn't. If you are talking to an old-timer he will tell you that there have been colder times in Floyd County. If you are talking to a man who has been here twelve to fifteen years he may tell you it was the worst and he may not. Undoubtedly, newcomers and old-timers alike are agreed that the winter of 1918-1919 wasn't any slouch, but it is remembered best by them by the fact that the cold lingered with us so long and the snow was so deep.

But for downright cold, the freezing kind, the mail carriers out of Floydada Post Office are pretty well agreed that they had never had any such experience with cold weather as they had last Friday morning. G. N. Shirey, who is on Route 5 and has a highway on much of his route was the only man who made it around. All the west narrow lanes and made six to thirty miles, depending on the place they hit the first heavy drifts.

Of these Oliver Allen stalled his car about a mile and a half from S. A. Greer's place and walked two or three miles in the snow. As a result he had puffed up places on his cheeks the following day and his legs were also bitten above his overalls. Will Salisbury stalled and to save his radiator had to take it off his car in the blinding snow and carry it to a house to thaw out.

J. W. Clouts, Route 1 carrier, made about ten miles, and Jeff Welborn made eight on his route, and reached home mighty cold.

New Owners of Laundry Take Charge This Week

Grigsby and Lattimore, new proprietors of the Floydada Steam Laundry, took charge of the business on Monday morning of this week, succeeding Messick Brothers. The new firm is composed of W. C. Grigsby and H. A. Lattimore, both of whom are well known in this territory. Mr. Grigsby has been a member of the C. R. Houston Company in this city for the past ten years, and Mr. Lattimore has been field representative for the Fort Worth Star Telegram in this section.

The new proprietors state that they will continue the business at the same location on North Main Street. F. A. and A. W. Messick have been in the laundry business in Floydada for the past four years. They have not announced their definite plans for the future, although they are contemplating going into the ranch business in Western New Mexico.

Ralls, Plainview Meet Whirlwinds Next Week

The Floydada Cagers Promise Fast Games Here Next Wednesday And Thursday.

Cage fans of Floydada and vicinity will have an opportunity next mid-week to see three of the very best teams in this section at work on the Floydada Court when the Plainview and Ralls quintets meet the F. H. S. Whirlwinds on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Ralls Jackrabbits are the first crew scheduled for the week of basketball encounters, when they pit their skill against the locals for the second time this season on Wednesday night, January 29. The Plainview cagers also tie into the Whirlwind for the second time this season on Thursday night.

Both of the visiting crews will have the edge on Coach Jones' boys in the two games, due to previous games. On December 21, in the opening cage game of the season, the Jackrabbits took the Floydada cagers under 20 to 13. It has been pointed out by fans who have watched the two teams, however, that the Ralls aggregation had been in practice several weeks at the time of the first game, while the Floydada crew had barely been organized. It is believed that Coach Jones has worked his boys through such strenuous practice games that they have overcome their most difficult problems, and the game next week might be a different story.

A real battle between speedy, accurate and tricky teams has been promised the fans for the Thursday night game. The Plainview Bulldog team has been judged one of the strongest in this section. On January 10, however, they barely nosed out the local cagers in an encounter on the Plainview court by a 23 to 26 score. And their victory in this instance was brought about only through a last quarter rally. Each of the two teams have made wonderful improvement during the past few weeks, according to cage fans, and the game next week in Floydada promises to be one chug full of thrills for both spectators and players.

Both games in this city will be played at Andrews Ward Gymnasium.

Local Five Runners-up In Turkey Tournament

Floydada Cagers Awarded Trophy for Second Place Honors at Invitation Meet.

More laurels were added to the rapidly growing crown of victories accumulated by the F. H. Whirlwind cagers last week-end when they ran off with the second place honors at an invitation basketball tournament held at Turkey on Friday and Saturday. The Whirlwind crew dribbled, passed and whirled their way through the other six teams entered in the meet, winning every game played in the semi-finals by a large margin, only to go down before the swift Turkey quintet in the final contest. The score of the final game was 37 to 21.

Small basketball watch charms of sterling silver were presented to the individual players on the Floydada first string, as awards for the runners-up of the meet. Gold charms were presented to the Turkey team as champions of the tournament.

After two strenuous games on Saturday afternoon, the Whirlwinds found themselves facing the fast Turkey squad on Saturday night. They were slightly handicapped by weariness when they met their fresh opponents, but their fighting spirit was high and for three quarters of the game, the score rocked back and forth, entirely too close for either team to breathe with ease. In the fourth period, the strain of the three games became too great for the Whirlwinds and their strong opponents added a top-heavy finishing touch, winning out by a margin of 16 points.

In the first game of the tournament played by the Whirlwinds, they crushed the Lakeview, Hall County, quintet under a 41 to 25 score. Their first encounter was declared to be interesting, but the local lads were entirely too fast for the contest to be thrilling.

Newlin, Hall County, was second and last quintet to go down before the onslaught of the Whirlwinds on their route towards the final game. This game proved to be an equally easy victory for the locals. They piled up a 39 to 19 score against the weaker team, although the entire game proved to be fast and tiresome on the F. H. S. quintet. Both games were played on Saturday afternoon.

DISTRICT CLERK GUMARIN RECOVERING FROM INFLUENZA

District Clerk T. P. Gumarin this week is beginning to show renewed strength after a ten-day wrestle with a severe case of influenza or gripe that came near developing into pneumonia last week.

Reports from his home said he was able to sit up some, but that probably it would be several days before he would be out and on the job once more.

'Skidding' Is Play Of Typical Family Life

Unusual Drama Promised by Plainview Players Here on Next Thursday Night.

"The most human play ever given in this section," is the way "Skidding" a production by the Plainview Little Theatre Players, is being heralded by those who have witnessed the first rehearsals recently. "Skidding" will be presented in Floydada on Thursday night, January 30, at the Palace Theatre as a one hundred per cent benefit for the Boy Scout organization of the Central Plains Area.

Considerable interest is being worked up in Floydada among local citizens who are interested in both the Little Theatre movement as well as the Boy Scout movement in this section. Present indications are that a packed house will witness the production in this city.

"Skidding" primarily, is a political play. A hot campaign for nomination is in progress in a small city in Idaho. A district judge is the central figure. His family has widely varying interests but naturally all concentrate on the judge's nomination, particularly "the baby girl" who has just returned from college. There are many tense moments in the play and plenty of dramatic climax. There are fill-in parts, each being vitally a part of the whole and each a most distinctive character.

"Skidding" was a big success when first presented by Hyman Adler and Marion Gering, Inc., at the Bijou Theatre in New York the week beginning May 21, 1928. The play is by Aurania Rouverol, one of America's most brilliant young playwrights.

Special attention will be given to the atmosphere of the play in its setting and the small cast has been carefully chosen to fit the types in true fashion. The cast is one of the smallest recently presented. It includes Jack Woodward, Billy Bromley, E. B. Miller, W. J. Klinger and Ruffin Baird; Misses Rena Belle Akeson, Wilma Friedsam, Eppie Irons, Phyllis McKnight and Sarah Bruner.

Eight Acceptances to Cage Meet in February

Eight of the strongest basketball quintets on the South Plains, have sent in their definite acceptances of invitations to attend the fourth annual South Plains Basketball tournament to be held in this city on February 7 and 8, according to Whirlwind coach Troy Jones.

If favorable weather prevails during the week, present indications are that the invitation practice meet held annually in this city will be the most widely attended and the strongest in point of rivalry ever held in this section.

Suitable trophies for the winners of the tournament and the runners-up is being arranged for this week by Coach Jones, and the final plans made for the two day meet.

Teams which have definitely accepted invitations to be present and take part in the contests are Lorenzo, Turkey, Plainview, Olton, Post, Lamesa, Lockney and Lubbock.

Commissioners Meet Friday Of This Week

Judge Wm. McGehee informs The Hesperian that he has called a special term of the Commissioners' Court of the county for Friday, January 24, to consider business that was not attended to at the regular term on January 13.

On the second Monday the court adjourned subject to call on account of some of the commissioners not being physically able to attend and the inclement weather conditions, Judge McGehee said.

District Court Opens In Floydada On Monday

District Court for Floyd County will open its winter term in Floydada Monday morning of next week, when District Judge Kenneth Bain will open the five-week term at 10 o'clock.

The grand jury will be empanelled and the dockets sounded, but no petit jury has been summoned for the first week, the first petit jury chosen by the jury commission being for Monday, February 3.

Judge Bain, District Attorney A. J. Foley and Court Reporter H. B. Sams have been in Silvertown during the past three weeks in the term of court for that county which closes Saturday of this week.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR TO PREACH AT RALLS SUNDAY

Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Collins will spend next Sunday in Ralls where Rev. Collins will preach both morning and evening services at the Presbyterian church there. There will not be preaching services at the local church.

CHAPTER XVII

The Escape From New Zealand. The thought of every prisoner is—escape! That was what we thought about, by Joe, and what we dreamed about. Occasionally, I'd wake up with a start, dreaming we were still in our small boat and about to be dashed against that coral reef. Usually my sleep was not troubled with such nightmares. But I often dreamed of getting away, capturing another ship, and continuing our cruise. This did finally come about, but not for many months.

No opportunity of escape presented itself during our stay at Suva, which was not long. Kircheiss and I were shipped from the Fijis to a little isle off the coast of the north island of New Zealand, right near the entrance to Auckland harbor. The other four men went to the island of Somes, where they had a hard time under a bad camp commander, a Major Matthis. No chance to escape came their way, but with Kircheiss and me it was different. We had a highly exciting time, and thus were spared the mental and physical stagnation that is the lot of the average prisoner of war.

The public of New Zealand was inflamed against us. When we arrived there was a great outcry and demand that we be shot. This amazed us, but we discovered the reason a few days later. You see the inhabitants of these islands thought that we had sunk the big New Zealand passenger steamer Wairuna, with all aboard. As a matter of fact, we knew nothing of the Wairuna, and hadn't even heard of her. Later, it developed that she had been captured by our fast auxiliary cruiser Wolf, sister ship of the Moewe, and her crew taken aboard as prisoners. The rage of the public was such that authorities had to hide us away in their naval barracks at the Devonport torpedo yard, and then transfer us secretly to a prison camp on the island of Motuili, nearby. Meanwhile, the populace clamored for us to be turned over to them so they could lynch us.

The little island of Motuili, a beautiful strip of land, had long been the internment place of many Germans who had been captured when the British seized our possessions in Samoa and in other parts of the South Sea. They were civilians, from ten to seventy years of age, traders, plantation owners, and officials. They greeted us with pride and affection, but more particularly with anxiety. They said we were sure to be shot. I laughed at this. "By Joe, who wants to kill us? On what grounds could mere prisoners of war be shot down in captivity?" I asked.

But things looked a little less rosy when, forty-eight hours later, we were taken by boat to Auckland and then whisked by automobile under cover of night, through valley and forest to a freight train pulled up in a wild, remote place. They locked us up in a freight car, where there were two beds. They told us it was to protect us against the public. The train pulled out and, after an all-night journey, stopped near the outskirts of the city of Wellington, the capital of the islands that comprise New Zealand. Here they put us into another automobile and rushed us to the Danish barracks in Wellington, an old jail, a relic of the terrible days when New Zealand was a convict settlement. A native keeper who led us along a corridor tugged at my coat and pointed into a cell. There were my boys, Leudemann, Krauss, Parmien, and Erdmann. They were in chains. We were all to stand trial together. We spoke to one another a minute and then Kircheiss and I were led to our cells.

On the following day Kircheiss and I were taken aboard an old cruiser in the harbor and ushered into the saloon, where there were about a dozen men who wore black coats and four-cornered caps with tassels. Our four boys were standing in a corner. I was boiling mad. "What's this?" I said, "Is justice becoming ridiculous? Why are we put in jail like this and some of my boys in chains? Is that for prisoners of war? And what man of you is able to judge of our warfare? You are civilians. Are we to be judged by civilians? I will answer only to naval men."

Just then Sir Hall Thompson, British naval commander in New Zealand waters, came down the stairway. I turned to him.

"I am glad to see you, sir. Why are we treated like this? And are prisoners of war to be tried by civilians?"

"Count," he replied, "public opinion forces it. The public has demanded that within three days of your arrival in this country you must reveal where you sank the Wairuna and why you sank her without saving a single life, and also where your ship Seadler is."

"But I know nothing about the Wairuna," I replied. "I did not sink her. In every single capture that we made, I took the crews aboard my ship, kept them there until we were overpowered, and then sent them home."

"You say you didn't sink the Wairuna?"

"No! Nor ever even heard of her!"

"Will you give me your word of honor on this?"

"I give it to you now."

"Very well, count, that is good."

"But why do you keep my men in chains?"

"We want to know where the Seadler is at the present time."

"I want to tell you, sir, that my men will die before they will say anything. They have orders from me not to talk. If anyone is to tell anything about the Seadler, it is I. You would give your men the same command under the circumstances, and you would want them to obey as my men are obeying."

"You are the one to ask, count, about information of the Seadler."

"Yes."

"Then tell me where she is."

"Captain, may I sink deep in the earth if I ever betray my crew. I respect you. I would not put such a question to you if you were my prisoner."

"Count," he replied, "your men have set an example to our sailors. I understand and appreciate your attitude. So long as your men show themselves to be disciplined sailors, they will have excellent treatment. And I hope that you, yourself, will have a pleasant stay with us and find nothing of which to complain. Gentlemen," he addressed the judges, "the court martial is over."

My four men were taken back to their island, and Kircheiss and I to ours.

At Motuili things were not so bad. The food was good and discipline was not too strict. The camp commander, Turner by name, seemed very proud to have a couple of real war prisoners in his charge. He had really cause to be pleased. Now that he had enemy naval officers in his camp, he was raised to the rank of lieutenant colonel, and his force of guards was increased to eighty men. It likewise seemed to add to his dignity that he had among the captives some one whom he could call count. The principal annoyance now was the strict watch they felt obliged to keep over us to prevent our escape. Headquarters at Auckland had to be telephoned every other hour and told that everything was all right. Colonel Turner was also provided with a fine new motor boat, so that, if anything went wrong with the telephone wire, he would still have a means of swift communication with the mainland.

"By Joe, what a fine motor boat," I exclaimed when I saw it.

"Maybe we could use it," commented Kircheiss.

You couldn't blame the authorities for being a bit nervous. They still did not know where the remainder of the Seadler's crew was, and were worried about a possible raid to liberate us. Likewise, Kircheiss and I had the idea of escape buzzing furiously in our heads. In fact, the prisoners on Motuili. Before we arrived had already thought of a jail break. They had formed no definite plan, but had gathered materials that might be useful.

One had contrived to flich and hide away a number of tools. Another had found a derelict floating mine and taken the fuses from it and also a large quantity of gun-cotton which he stowed in his mattress, which he stowed in his mattress. He slept on the gun-cotton every night. Another had succeeded in finding charts of the mine fields. In any plan of flight, I could, by including the men who had collected them, have these materials at my disposal.

The motor boat was, of course, the center of all scheming. The idea was to sail away in it with an able-bodied company of prison camp comrades, capture a sailing ship, and go buccaneering again. One of the prisoners, a young fellow, was a motor expert. The camp commander had assigned him to look after the engine of his motor boat. So he was one man whom we would have to have with us.

Although there were sentries all over the island, we were sure we could invent some way of outwitting them. We would have to stow the boat with a large amount of supplies. This, our motor expert could do while pretending to tinker with the engine. He could hide the material away in the air chambers of the boat. Much more difficult was the job of collecting all the food, weapons, and other equipment. This took a long time, and all the patient maneuvering that is traditional of prisoners and their schemes of escape.

First it was necessary to quiet the uneasiness of the camp commander. He apparently expected me to go breaking out of his camp breathing fire from my nostrils. The camp doctor was a German Pole, quite intelligent, but of degenerate spirit, who was used by commandant to spy on the prisoners. He made the friendliest sort of overtures to me, and I having been told that he was an informer, made it seem as though I were being completely taken in by his smooth ways.

Nearly everybody in the camp suffered severely from rheumatism. I was one of the few who had the good luck to escape the malady. But I pretended to get it badly, so badly that I was only able to walk with crutches. The commander was pleased when he found that I was almost helpless. For how could a cripple attempt an escape? The doctor pretended to try his best to cure my supposed ailment, but gave me a kind of treatment that was designed to make it worse. His hoodwinking was complete when I asked him to help me to get word to my people in Germany to send my five thousand pounds, and promised him part of this in return for his aid. I kept the hypothetical five thousand dollars before his nose, and his avarice blinked him so much that I was able to make a ready tool of him.

My crew for the projected flight consisted of nine men, seven of whom were North German Lloyd merchantship cadets captured by the British in Samoa. When war broke out they happened to be at the American South Sea port of Papagayo. Slipping away in a small boat they got to German Samoa, only to find it in the hands of the New Zealanders.

I did my recruiting secretly. The plan of escape was kept from the other prisoners. Always to keep your secret among as few as possible is a good rule even among prisoners. You never know who is a spy. The fellows I chose were all lively lads, ready for anything. One day a couple of the prisoners said to me:

"Count, let's get up a show for Christmas, a play."

Show, play, theater—that was an idea for me.

"Certainly I will," I replied. "I often got up shows in the navy. We will have a theater here at Motuili that will beat the best in Berlin. But you must leave everything to me. I will direct everything."

"All right," they said.

I got permission from the commandant to produce the show. In fact, he waxed quite enthusiastic about it. Not only would it give the prisoners something to do, but it would also provide amusement for the jailers. Life on the island was mighty homesome to all of them.

In a little while the prison camp was humming with preparations for the grand spectacle I was going to stage. This was the cover under which my fellows and I prepared all of our equipment for our escape. It deluded the guards, and also fooled the prisoners whom we couldn't take with us. When we wanted material, always apparently innocent things, we asked for it and said it was for the show. When we built anything, it was for the show.

We even built a wireless set out of things supposed to be for our grosses schauspielhaus. We made bombs out of tin cans and gun-cotton that had already been procured. The bombs had fuses that could be lighted from a cigarette. One of my men worked on a farm in the interior of the island, and got a lot of dynamite and blasting powder used in blowing up stumps. We stole a couple of pistols from the camp arsenal. We made a fake contrivance which looked like a perfect Lewis or Maxim machine gun, but it worked well enough and it looked even more formidable. Cadet von Zortowsky took odds and ends and made a sextant that afterward took us fifty nautical miles off our course, pretty fair, considering the circumstances.

We had no great trouble in hiding away a considerable supply of food in the air chambers of the motor boat. Of course, I not only talked of elaborate plans for the supposed theatrical events that I was directing, but I also had the prisoners prepare a lot of bona-fide stage props, more even than could be used. These were made up by the rest of the fellows who were not in our plot. Most of the actual material needed for our escape and subsequent raiding cruise had to be fixed up stealthily by the boys who were to make the dash for freedom with me.

Of all the people I met in New Zealand, there was but one for whom I had a complete contempt. He was a fellow named Hansen, a German by birth and a naturalized New Zealander. In spite of his naturalization, he had been interned. He happened to notice that the motor expert, while supposedly working on the engine of the Pearl, the colonel's boat, had carried something suspicious aboard. Anxious to curry favor with the commandant, he reported that we were acting suspiciously. The commandant was contemptuous of a rat like that in the first place, and then he was utterly infatuated with our theater. He said that whatever we were doing could only be in preparation for our show. Nevertheless, he tried to investigate, but found nothing to confirm what the squealer had told him.

After weeks of hard labor, we were ready. At night we cut the wires connecting the island with the mainland and set a barracks on fire. That created the diversion we needed. Everybody, guards and all, flocked to put the blaze out, I was amongst the foremost, and attracted all attention to myself. I seemed to have a passion for fighting fires. My boys were with me. When the excitement was at its highest we stole away singly and boarded the motor boat. The engine purred, and we were away in the darkness.

We were safe from pursuit for awhile, anyway. There was no other boat at the island, and Motuili could not communicate with the mainland. It was only when the wires were repaired or when the mainland was due to get its next report that the chase after us could begin. When our escape did become known on the mainland on the night of December 13, 1917, every kind of craft available went out to look for us. Private owners took up scouting for us as a sport. Boats chased one another and shot at one another, and one steamer went on the rocks. Finally, a false rumor spread that we had capsized and drowned, and the weary pursuers were glad to accept it as true and return home.

We had our difficulties in finding our way in the night through the Tauraki gulf on which Auckland lies, but at an hour or so past midnight we saw sweeping shafts of light. The authorities at Auckland were looking for us with a searchlight, a ridiculous procedure, but one calculated to impress the population. We steered by the searchlight beams now, and picked our way along easily enough.

Of course, it would take a separate volume to record all of the details of our work of preparation and our final escape. I am only giving you a description of the high spots. But, by the way, I almost forgot to tell you how we were dressed. We all had New Zealand uniforms. Mine was the most interesting of the lot and provided material for Australian humorists and cartoonists for many weeks. As the commander of a man-o-war, even of a two-foot wooden one with the unwarlike name of Pearl, I absolutely had to have a sword. One of the boys, just an hour before our escape, slipped into the wardrobe of the prison camp commandant. Not only did he take Colonel Turner's best dress uniform, but he also swiped his sword and scabbard.

We lay off an isolated bay of Red Mercury island, northwest of the Bay of Plenty, for two days, during which we had a couple of narrow escapes from searching boats. A government cutter had almost sighted us when she damaged her propeller on the rocks and had to limp back home. The third day we put out to sea, and as we bounced about on the waves I swore in the cadets as regular midshipmen of the Imperial navy and promoted Vice Corporal von Egidy to the rank of naval junior lieutenant. As commander of a war vessel, even though she was only the colonel's motor boat, I had the authority to do this. Then each helped the other cut his hair short in naval fashion.

Two sailing vessels came by. We decided to seize them both, sink one, and keep the other. We went after the first one, but a sudden puff of wind carried her along at a great rate, and we could not catch her. This was very unfortunate, for they reported our capture of the second boat, which she witnessed. Bombs poised, machine gun pointed and German flag raised, we swiftly approached the Moa. She hove to. My boys and I clambered on deck. With Colonel Turner's sword in my hand, I ordered the captain and crew herded below, the captain an excellent old sail, growling:

"You're escaped prisoners, eh? Our boys are doing their bit in France, and at home they can't even guard prisoners."

The Moa was a fine craft but as flat as a match box. Intended for coastwise trade, she had no keel and drew only three feet of water, but she had huge masts. A storm blew up, and we scudded before the wind. The Moa's captain rushed up bristling with excitement. His boat, he protested, was not adapted for sailing on the high sea. Much less through a storm. We were risking our lives, he expostulated. We should take down sail.

"We are sailing for our lives, by Joe," I responded, and kept all canvas up.

The skipper stayed on deck all night and poured out oil to quiet the waves. We went on our watches undisturbed. Ordinarily, we would have been somewhat worried, but the storm was taking us along swiftly—away from pursuit. The waves began to break over our stern, and the Moa bobbed up and down. She had a deckload of lumber. Overboard with it. We started to work and were ably assisted by a breaker that crashed over us and in an instant swept most of the lumber into the sea. We were towing the motor boat we had taken from the commandant at Motuili. A wave swamped her, and she tore loose from the towline and sank.

We steered to the Kermadec islands, an uninhabited group where the New Zealand government keeps a cache of provisions for castaway sailors. Curtis island, one of the group, came in sight on December 21. It appeared in a cloud of smoke, a land of volcanoes and geysers. Presently we spied the sheet-iron shed where the provisions were stored. Kircheiss and four men landed on the inferno-like coast and in due time returned, their boat loaded deep with provisions. The New Zealand government was kind enough to provide many useful things for shipwrecked sailors and sometimes for escaped prisoners of war. There were tools, oars, sails, fishing tackle, blankets, bacon, butter lard, canned beef—in short, everything. We had intended to leave our prisoners on Curtis island, but that den of steam and sulphur fumes seemed unfit for anyone. So we decided to take them ashore with a supply of provisions, and we sent a wireless message to summon aid for them.

"Smoke to the north, behind the island," sang the lookout.

Two men were still on the island. I sent hastily for them. The Moa raised sail and ran before the wind. The steamer was in sight now. She sailed toward us. We changed our course. She, too, changed her course. The skipper of the Moa recognized her as the New Zealand government's cable steamer, Iris, an auxiliary cruiser. She had cannon, and we had none. Our goose was cooked.

We still tried helplessly to run away. She gained on us, and signaled us to stop. We kept on. A flash, a distant roar, a hissing in the air, a splash in front of us. She was firing on us.

"Heave to," I commanded, and we were prisoners once again.

The Iris was manned by a non-descript crowd that put pistols to our backs as we came aboard, and searched us to the soles of our shoes. Then these gentry robbed us of our personal possessions. They were wildly jubilant over their victory. I gathered from them that the ship that had escaped us having brought the news of our capture, the authorities there had surmised that we must be headed for the cache of supplies at Curtis island. When we arrived at Auckland, the New Zealanders had their own little victory to celebrate. Sight-seers in all sorts of boats came out to have a look at the Iris with the Moa in tow steamed into harbor, the victor of the Battle of the Kermadecs.

We were jailed at Mount Eden, the local prison of Auckland, as a punishment for our flight. For a calaboose, it was not bad. After twenty-one days there, we were distributed among various prison camps. Kircheiss and I went to River island near Lyttelton on the south island of New Zealand. Even the yard of our prison in Fort Jer-vois was a veritable cage. It was screened not only around, but also across the top with lines of barbed wire. The commander of the camp, Major Leeming of Tasmania, was one of the best fellows I have ever met. He, too, felt himself a prisoner here on this lonely island and soon became our third man at cards, which we played to while away the hours during the long evenings.

A drawbridge that had been smashed by a hurricane was being repaired, and we prisoner had access to the waterside for a while. In the yard stood a row of empty tar barrels. One of the barrels fell over, and I happened to notice that it was picked up by a small coastwise schooner that often lay at dock farther down the shore. I threw in another barrel. It floated. The boat picked it up. My plan made. I could arrange one of those barrels so that I could float in it. I would pick the time when the little schooner was at shore. Then I would get into the barrel and roll myself off the dock. The boat would pick the barrel up. It might seem a bit heavy, but they would think it had tar in it. The barrel once aboard, its lid would open and a man armed with a knife would step out, like a jack-in-the-box. Thus I would have a boat. I would pick up Kircheiss, who would be waiting and we would go sailing and perhaps get to some neutral island.

Major Leeming had been so kind to me that I did not want to embarrass him by escaping under his command. He, expecting an addition to his family, was to take a furlough. I would do my jail-breaking while he was away. But soon after Major Leeming went on his furlough Kircheiss and I were ordered back to the prison camp at Motuili. Of course, there was a new commandant at Motuili now, a Major Schofield. Most of the prisoners there received us with enthusiasm.

Even the treacherous Polish doctor brought me a bottle of champagne, hoping that I would not mention our former business transaction in which he was to get a percentage of that $25,000.

Presently several fellows came to me and asked if I did not think something could be undertaken. They had already contrived to get a few pistols and build a folding canvas boat. We could not very well go to sea in that. But if we could contrive to station ourselves at some other part of the island, we could wait until a sailing ship came along, put out in our flimsy little craft, and attack her. We consulted with the former governor of German Samoa, Doctor Schultz-Ewarth by name, who was a prisoner at Motuili. He with his personal servant, a giant fellow, formerly a German baker, was allowed to wander where he pleased on the island. It was his man who hit upon the idea of hiding in the interior of the island by building a cave in the side of a dry river bed that he had discovered, the cave to be disguised that searchers would not notice it. We could easily get out of the camp and into other parts of the island, and, at the same time, give the impression that we had escaped over a cliff to the shore and been picked up by a boat. We could keep to our retreat until the search had died down, and then we could watch for a passing sailship and attack it. The plan seemed an excellent one.

We gathered more weapons, while Doctor Schultz-Ewarth and his man, on their long rambles, began the construction of the cave. Things progressed rapidly. Then the Armistice came. If it had been delayed a week, there would have been another escape at Motuili.

After the Armistice, we were prisoners for four more months on the north island near Auckland, but were allowed visitors.

When the day on which we were to sail for home drew near, the president of the Soldiers' Mothers' league visited me and wished me a pleasant trip on behalf of the mothers of 80,000 soldiers. She said she came because New Zealand's sons who had been war prisoners in Germany had returned home in good health to their mothers. Therefore, she considered it her duty to pray God that I, too, might soon be restored to my mother's arms.

So at last we sailed away from New Zealand, "the land down under," where we had had the last of our adventures, enjoyed a few hardships, spent many weary and delightful hours, and met many hospitable and kindly people. On the whole, I have happy memories of the Antipodes. I stepped on German soil again and hurried home, just in time to pass a few weeks with my father, who died on September 3. The old warrior held steadfast in his faith in the Fatherland to the last. But to his dying hour he was filled with regret because his government would not let him take an active part in the Great War.

On January 3, 1920, all my men returned—that is, all save one. Their clothes were faded from the tropical sun and corroded by the sea water, but they returned without a stain upon either their honor or their loyalty.

The only gap in our ranks after those long adventures was the excellent Doctor Pietsch, our ship surgeon. The news of Germany's collapse reached the remote part of Chile where he was living. When he heard it, he fell dead of heart failure.

Returned to my beloved Fatherland. I found so many things changed and different from what I had hoped. In this connection, there is one memory always before me. It is my mother. I was sitting at her sick bed when even the doctors had given up hope. Only then did I realize how much I loved her, but I also realized with sorrow and regret how much more I should have done for her. Exactly the same feeling I have today when I find my country lying low. Never have I loved my homeland so much as now.

Poultry Demonstrators Show Profits For 1929

1783 Hens in eight flocks of pure bred stock laid a total of 238,098 eggs from January 1 to October 31, 1929, according to records kept by eight special poultry demonstrators. Making an average of each hen laying 127 eggs in 10 months. These eggs were produced at the minimum cost of 7 cents per dozen. By average each hen netted a profit of $2.25.

These flocks ranged from the smallest flock of 56 hens owned by Mrs. W. M. Knight to the largest number of 413 hens owned by Mrs. David Batty. The flock of 56 hens netted an income above feed cost of $119.50, while the average of 413 hens netted $972.80 above feed cost. The latter demonstrator has to her gain also, 400 pullets that she raised this year and is adding to her flock.

The special poultry demonstrators in 1929 were: Mrs. David Batty, Harmony Club; Mrs. F. L. Marble, Roseland Club; Mrs. W. M. Knight, Sand Hill; Mrs. J. D. Christian, Blanco; Mrs. Geo. Stiles, Campbell; Mrs. Tom Hopper, Lakeview; Mrs. K. Sammann, Providence; Mrs. O. W. Fry, Pleasant Valley.

Records Show Results
How closely these demonstrators have kept up with their costs and other details of their demonstration flocks is indicated by the record of Mrs. Tom Hopper of the Lakeview Demonstration Club. She had last year an average flock of 232 White Leghorn hens. These 232 hens produced 42,660 eggs in twelve months from January 1 to December 31, making a yearly average of 185 eggs per hen.

The monthly average per hen of this flock, as compared by the Standard Poultry Calendar sent out from A. & M. College is as follows:

THE MONTH	STANDARD AVE.	MRS. HOPPER'S AVE.
January	9	11
February	11	11.7
March	16	20
April	18	21
May	19	21
June	16	19
July	15	18
August	13	17
September	9	16
October	5	16
November	4	7
December	5	8

Mrs. Hopper feeds her poultry a balanced ration yearly. She has good poultry house and equipment. As a result of the proper feeding and keeping her houses and yards clean, she had no disease in her flock last year.

BANK PAYS 80 PER CENT

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank, held here Tuesday afternoon, all officers and directors were retained for the ensuing year. They are: Officers, S. L. Rushing, Chairman of Board of Directors; Artie Baker, President; Dorsey Baker, Vice-President; M. R. Snyder, Cashier; Mrs. Katie Price, Assistant Cashier. Directors, S. L. Rushing, Artie Baker, Dorsey Baker, France Baker, E. G. Foster, E. E. Dyer, and P. M. Smitherman.

At this meeting a dividend of 80 per cent of the capital stock was declared and passed to the surplus fund of the bank, making the surplus fund $25,000.00. The capital of the bank is also $25,000.00, thus with the added surplus the bank is made a $50,000.00 bank.

Mr. Artie Baker states that this is the largest dividend ever declared by the bank in its twenty-one years of existence, and that the past year has been the most prosperous year in the history of the bank.

RE-ELECT SAME OFFICIALS

At the annual election of the officers and directors of the Security State Bank, held Tuesday of this week, all the officers and directors were retained for the ensuing year. They are: Officers, Carl McAdams, President; Geo. T. Meriwether, Vice-President; J. C. Broyles, Cashier; Gip Hudson, Assistant Cashier. Board of directors, Geo. T. Meriwether, A. C. Wimberly, A. E. Meriwether, Carl McAdams, and J. C. Broyles.

The bank did not declare a dividend this year, but it is stated that the year has been a very prosperous one for the bank.

MAKE GOOD AT TECH

Two boys from Lockney made the honor roll for the spring term at the Texas Technological College at Lubbock, according to a report received at this office from the Tech correspondent. They were Elmer Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hartman, who live northeast of Lockney, with a grade of A on 18 term hours of work; and T. H. Stewart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. #### TRIO OF YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR LORENZO ROBBERIES

Lorenzo Enterprise: "Knob Knockers" have visited all of the surrounding towns, and decided Wednesday morning along about 3:15 a. m. that they would visit Lorenzo and try their hand at knocking off a few safe combinations located in our business houses. They visited the Abell Chevrolet Co. and the South Service Station, but Nightwatchman John Cook was just a little too fast for them and they had to give up before completing their jobs, and try to make their get-away in a car parked near-by. Cook was close enough when they pulled out of town to get a good description of their car and phoned to police at Lubbock that they were headed that way. About 4:30 they drove into Lubbock and were promptly arrested and lodged in jail; three of them. They confessed to a series of robberies which included the Lindsey confectionery and Mistletoe Creamery office in Lubbock, another in Shallowater. The youths are Morris Tew, 19, of Lubbock; Harmon McCoy, 22, of Shallowater, and A. M. Sanford, 19, of Leveland.

They left the Smith Filling Station in such a hurry they left a hammer and a vest, we understand this vest contained a name which helped to identify the trio.

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS TO SOME OF YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT STARGAS

STARGAS Starts Where Gas Mains Stop

STARGAS—the Compressed Natural Gas, available in portable cylinders—brings all of the city conveniences of gas to rural and suburban homes. STARGAS is ideal for cooking, heating water, refrigeration and lighting. In considering STARGAS for your own use, there are five questions that you will very naturally ask—here are the answers:

Is STARGAS Used the Same as Pipe Line Gas?

Yes—even the same time-tried appliances are used, with minor adjustments. And the house is piped the same. STARGAS is NOT an experiment, but builds on the sure foundation of Natural Gas, which has been the CONVENTIONAL fuel for so long, because STARGAS is Natural Gas in compressed form, now made available in sections not served by pipe lines.

How Long Does a Cylinder of STARGAS Last?

This varies. Cylinders are lasting some families better than two months for cooking; other families use a cylinder in shorter time. The life of a cylinder of STARGAS depends on the number and type of appliances served and the care exercised.

Is a Customer Likely to Be Out of STARGAS at Any Time?

Not if he orders a full cylinder as soon as one becomes empty. One point that insures continuous service is the fact that the company back of STARGAS has millions of dollars invested in the natural gas industry.

Is STARGAS Safe to Use?

Yes. STARGAS offers the same safety as pipe line gas, as reflected by the approval of Underwriters Laboratories.

Will the Installation of STARGAS Affect My Insurance?

No. The rate is not affected nor any insurance invalidated when properly installed.

By means of STARGAS, rural and suburban homes can now use the same modern equipment and appliances that city homes use. It is no longer necessary to accept substitutes for the highest type of modern fuel. The one STARGAS installation furnishes fuel for all needs, cooking, heating water, refrigeration, lighting, ironing, etc. See actual STARGAS demonstration now at . . .

Stargas equipment and appliances are sold on convenient terms . . .

The hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. H. N. Porterfield, Mrs. N. W. Williams, Mrs. Wilson Kimble and Mrs. James Colville.

The society will meet at the church next Monday afternoon to take up their new study book, "The Roads to the City of God."

Mrs. Kenneth Bain Hostess To Missionary Society.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met in an all day meeting last Monday with Mrs. Kenneth Bain as hostess.

Mrs. A. A. Collins led the devotional. A very interesting program was held throughout the day. The program was taken from the new book, The Journal Jubilee.

Every one present brought a dish and a lovely dinner was served. Just before dismissing at four o'clock a short business meeting was held.

The society will meet February 3, at the church.

Mrs. B. K. Barker Hostess at 10 O'Clock Breakfast.

Mrs. B. K. Barker was a charming hostess at a beautifully arranged breakfast at her home last Friday morning honoring Mrs. Pitzer Baker of Weibert.

A green and yellow color scheme was effectively carried out with bits of yellow and white narcissus among the tables. Vases of yellow carnations added charm to the room.

The delicious four course breakfast consisted of winter pears and grape fruit juices, ham and egg panet with bacon and olive fans, hot biscuits, butter and coffee, tate cheese and nut salad, banana pancakes with apricot syrup, green and yellow score cards used for the games of bridge.

Following the breakfast, those playing were: Mrs. Homer Sen, Mrs. T. P. Collins, Mrs. Pitzer Baker of Weibert, the honor guest, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. A. Bishop, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. Jack Henry, Mrs. A. B. Keim and the hostess.

entertain With Birthday dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Sullivan entertained with a birthday dinner in honor of R. C. Sullivan at their home on South Wall Street Sunday. A lovely dinner was served to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wigley and daughters, Misses Stella, Irene and Doris Louise, of Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. A. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kelley, Messrs. Ike and Elmer Finley, the honoree and wife, Mrs. Laura Sullivan, the host and hostess and little daughter, Joyce May.

Christian Endeavor Entertains Epworth Leaguers.

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian Church entertained the League of the Methodist church Tuesday night of this week with a combination "Tacky" party and box supper. Everyone came dressed very tacky, and the evening was spent playing various games. Mildred Teeple, who played the part of "granny" won first prize for the tackiest and Raymond King was the proud possessor of second prize which consisted of a box of animal crackers.

After an evening of fun and laughter, the boxes were auctioned off to the boys. The following enjoyed the novel entertainment: Misses Bessie Sherrill, Williamina Salisbury, Christine Trowbridge, Enid Scoggin, Etha Williams, Helen King, Robbie Archer, Mildred Teeple, Mildred Strickland, Wanda Tawwater, Wanda Teeple and Jean Bain; Messrs. Russell King, Hereon Wright, Roy Conway, Alpha Boothe, Carder Collins, Jim Stiles, Carl Marshall, Raymond King and E. T. Williams; Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce King, and Mrs. Kenneth Bain.

Four Circles of Baptist W. M. S. Met Monday.

The four circles of the Baptist Womans Missionary Societies met in a joint business meeting Monday at the church. Plans were discussed for the district meeting that will be held here the last week of April.

The North Circle served refreshments to twenty members. The societies will meet in circles next Monday.

Long Coats for Afternoon Wear, Short for Evening, Is 1930 Vogue

BY HARRIET

Long coats for dressy afternoon events and short coats for evening present the latest "long and the short of it" when it comes to style.

The coat that I mention is the dressy daytime coat that is practical as well as chic for the stay at home woman who wants to take advantage of the New Year sales. It is an excellent choice for the second coat of the working girl and very practical for the business woman who has made good and can afford a change of coats.

These usually have rounded hemlines, with quite a long back and sides, often curving up to less length in front. The new ones are of soft dull finished, deep woads. Excellent colors are both beige and gray, dull medium blue and any of the green tones.

One of these is fashioned of kasha-velour in beige of a deep tone and is collared and cuffed in beige fox. This is an exceptionally dressy coat and one that most women would adore having hanging in their wardrobes. It can be made into an ensemble so easily by using a flat crepe in any green, red, or soft blue. Or a figured frock can make it look like a million dollar ensemble. But the frock under it must match or else be quite gay and appealing on its own account.

This type of coat now is apt to have a slightly gored back so that the suggestion of a princess line is seen. It is a safe bet to buy for the princess line is likely to be stressed more rather than less as spring and summer come.

The coat, one usually has to buy. But the tricky little jacket that will dress last year's frock up like new or make this year's frock look like a Paris import, one can fashion herself.

They come in all lengths, all fabrics, all colors and practically any cut, the more individual the better, however. Over a printed frock of gay flowers against a beige background, a Palm Beach dinner dress takes a flaming orange little jacket of taffeta, with its cut very quaint in the way it rounds its corners to almost a cutaway effect. The sleeves flare out over the hands too, in old-fashioned manner.

This little jacket achieves its distinction because of the unusual trimming which is hand-made cording of the taffeta. Several rows of it edge the jacket and round the cuffs.

This garment is illustrative of the newest things in fashion shops. The jacket crepe frock that uses cording to weave a pattern design on its bodice and skirt is very smart. The one that self-covered buttons to make a flower on a pocket, a nos-

The long coat for dressy afternoon events (left) is of new beige kasha-velour with gored back, swaying hemline and beige fox trim. It is practical, too, for the stay at home woman. By quaint cut and hand cording trim, a flaring orange taffeta evening jacket (right) achieves chic.

gay on the shoulder, or one that uses fine tucks to work out designs in the France "nervure" manner are the ones that women crave.

These early months of the new year are the ones in which to plan your spring wardrobe. But to get ready for spring, you usually need a coat, a dress or something to finish the winter right. Both of these garments are excellent ideas to consider.

Sin Cuidado Bridge Club with Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrill.

The Sin Cuidado Bridge club was delightfully entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrill.

Four tables were playing. Winners of high score were: Mrs. Rip Snodgrass and W. L. Fry for the visitors; Mrs. Gerald Groves and George Sherrill for the members.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, chicken salad, pie and coffee were served to: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sams, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Groves, Dr. and Mrs. Herman Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Steen, and the host and hostess, members present.

The visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fry, Mrs. W. H. Hilton, and Mrs. Rip Snodgrass. The club will meet February 4 at 7:30 with Dr. and Mrs. Herman Thomas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Arwine.

Andrews Ward P. T. A. Meeting Wednesday.

The Andrews Ward Parents Teachers Association met Wednesday afternoon at the school in a business meeting. Mrs. Lon M. Davis was elected secretary to fill the place vacated by Mrs. Tom Shaw. They also voted to serve lunches during the basketball tournament which is to be held here in February.

The organization has been giving a prize to the room that has the most mothers present and Mrs. A. D. Cumming's room won it. The prize consisted of ten books suitable for the children. At each meeting the room having the most mothers present is given a blue ribbon and at the end of the term the room having the largest number of ribbons wins the prize.

The following program was rendered:

Music—Junior Band.

Reading—Annette Cogswell.

Piano Solo—Hazel Ford.

There was a large attendance, with one new member.

1922 Study Club With Mrs. O. T. Williams

Mrs. O. T. Williams was hostess to the 1922 Study Club last Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at her home on West Virginia.

In the business meeting held, the president, Mrs. W. C. Grigsby, appointed the new year book of 1930 and 1931 committee which was: Mrs. T. P. Collins, Mrs. W. I. Canaday, and Mrs. C. H. Davis. Mrs. R. E. Fry has been offered an appointment by the president of the seventh district.

Reports from the different committees were made and accepted. The club wishes to announce that their loan fund is now available to any boy or girl who wishes to use it.

The program for the afternoon was:

Roll call answered with events of Persian History.

The Fire Watchers—Mrs. John Reagan.

Art of Persia—Mrs. Wilson Kimble.

Kashmiri Song—Woodforde-Finden—Mrs. W. E. Patty.

Mrs. Pitzer Baker of Weibert was a guest of the club.

The next meeting will be February 2 with Mrs. John Reagan.

Girl Reserves Meeting Postponed to February 2

The Girl Reserves program which was to have been held last Sunday evening was postponed till February 2, at which time the following program will be given:

1. Initiation of new members.

2. Talk by President—Miss Veva Swinson.

3. Music—Mrs. E. C. Thomas.

4. Y. W. C. A. Candle Service.

5. Talk, Meaning of Girl Reserves Code—Rev. P. D. O'Brien.

The Girl Reserves is sponsored by the Federated Woman's Missionary Societies of the town and is the only organization in school which has a distinctly religious purpose besides the H-Y organization.

Miss Jewel Brock is devoting so much of her time to the Girl Reserves work, also Mrs. E. J. Barker has given some of her time to instruct the girls in painting and Mrs. Tom Shaw, before she moved to California, instructed them in basket weaving. This is a very helpful organization for the girls and they are showing an increased interest in their work, it is declared.

There are now forty members and they will take in forty more at the initiation bringing the membership to eighty.

K. K. Klub In Business and Social Meeting.

Mrs. Roy lements was hostess to the K. K. Klub last Friday afternoon at three o'clock in a business and social meeting.

The usual number of games were played in which Mrs. Polk Goen won high score.

A business meeting was then held. Mrs. Tony B. Maxey and Mrs. Carr Surginer were elected to membership to fill the vacancies of Mrs. Eddie Bishop and Miss Jennie Lewis.

The officers for the year were elected: President, Mrs. Fred Brown; Vice-President, Mrs. Carr Surginer; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Otis Abston; Reporter, Mrs. W. H. Hilton.

Lovely refreshments were enjoyed by: Mrs. Otis Abston, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Polk Goen, Mrs. W. H. Hilton, Mrs. John Hammond, Mrs. Carr Surginer, Mrs. Tony B. Maxey, Mrs. Wilson Mahan, Mrs. W. C. Newsome, Mrs. George Sherrill, and Mrs. John Reagan.

The next regular meeting of the club will be January 31 with Mrs. Polk Goen.

Mrs. Robert Eubank Hostess to Wednesday Bridge Club.

The Wednesday Bridge Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Robert Eubank as hostess. After the games were played a business meeting was held. Mrs. Jack Henry was elected president and Mrs. T. P. Collins reporter.

Refreshments were served to: Mrs. Homer Steen, Mrs. Leon Collins, Mrs. T. P. Collins, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. Jas. K. Green, Mrs. John Hammonds, Mrs. Jack Henry and the host, members present, and Mrs. C. Y. Carter of Abilene, a visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrill Entertain K. K. Klub.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrill were hosts to the K. K. Klub members and their husbands Wednesday evening at their regular monthly meeting when the club entertains their husbands.

Mrs. L. T. Bishop and John Hammond were high score winners for the members and Miss Adelaide Scott and Grady Howard for the visitors. Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, tuna fish salad, pecan pie and coffee, were served to the following members: Mr. and Mrs. C. Surginer, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newsome, Mr. and Mrs. John Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. Tony B. Maxey, Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. Polk Goen, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clements, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, members, and the following visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Rip Snodgrass, Miss Adelaide Scott and Mr. Grady Howard of Crosbyton.

Miss Verle Blasingame Entertains With Bridge Party.

Miss Verle Blasingame entertained a number of young people last Thursday evening honoring Miss Wana Tawwater, who left Tuesday for Quanah to make her home.

Three tables were placed for the games. Those enjoying the evening were: Misses Ina Rae Cummings, Artie Mitchell, Bernice Bishop, Helene and Maurine Hay Wana Tawwater, the honor guest and Hearn Wright, Ross Hanna, Russel King, Hunter King, Lloyd McLaughlin Carl Marshall and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Davis and son Billie Clyde left today for Sterling City and Winters to visit relatives for a few days.

IN MEMORIAM

Be it ordained that God in His wisdom saw fit to call Mobley McMurray home on November 26, 1929, after a brief illness.

He was born February 11, 1908, in Hill County, Texas, where he lived until October 6, 1920, when he moved with his parents to West Texas. He has resided in Floyd and Crosby Counties since then. During this time he attended the Lakeview and Mt. Blanco schools and graduated from Floydada High School with the class of 1927.

At the age of twelve, during the Sunday afternoon service of the Rogers Cousins Reunion, he accepted Christ as his personal Savior. The Reunion was held at the home of W. F. Rogers and Reverend G. W. Tubbs was doing the preaching, and incidentally, Bro. Tubbs was his pastor at the time of his death. Since conversion, his life has been one of fruitful service with unwavering faith and uplifting influence. He was fine, clean, and strong in physic and character. It seems unfair for such a promising young man to be snatched so ungraciously to his reward, but we believe that God knows best. Let us accept Browning's philosophy that death is only a transition from earth to heaven, where he is waiting to welcome them home.

Muncy News

Muncy, January 22—A fine snow fell over this part of the community during the past week.

Increased Entries At Dairy Show Expected

Plainview Reports Forecast 50,000
Attendance April 7, 8, 9
And 10.

"More entries, and a larger attendance," is the word being received by officials of the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show from county agents, dairy farmers, vocational agricultural instructors, and chamber of commerce officials in each of the fifty-four counties comprising the Texas Panhandle, as preparations for the third annual show to be held in Plainview, April 7, 8, 9 and 10 go forward. Citizens of Plainview are making arrangements to entertain 50,000 visitors this year compared to 35,000 last year.

"Much of the increased interest in pure bred dairy stock in the Panhandle can be attributed to the dairy show and while the interest as shown by attendance at the number of entries is more than we had hoped for it is a pleasant surprise to the officers and directors," Oscar Stansell, Floydada, president of the dairy association stated. "Every official is enthusiastic over the prospects for the show this year and from every county we have reports that there will be an increase of from fifteen to thirty percent in both attendance and entries."

From Swisher, Potter, Collingsworth, Floyd Carson, Randall, Lamb, Deaf Smith, and a number of other counties that led last year in entries and attendance representatives at a recent directors meeting in Plainview stated that there would be from ten to twenty percent increase in the number of animals entered and the attendance. Chambers of Commerce in some of the cities in the Panhandle are making special arrangements for transportation for a number of farmers to the show and in some instances are offering awards for attendance and premiums won.

Arrangements for the annual sale, the production contest, boys 4-H judging contest, vocational agricultural boys judging contest, and the county herd department were made at the first directors meeting this year. Twenty three directors were present for this gathering despite very inclement weather.

Officers of the 1930 show are O. L. Stansell, Floydada, president; S. J. Payne, Tulsa, vice-president; Maury Hopkins, Plainview, Secretary Manager; and D. F. Eaton Lubbock, Honorary vice president.

Locals Talley Second Cage Double-Header

Two Wins Over Silvertown Wednesday Make Prospects Bright For Tournament This Week-End.

A second double-header within a week's time was tallied up to the credit of the Floydada High School cagers last night when they stepped in for two wins from the Silvertown quintet, one from Silvertown's first string, 17 to 28, while the second string five of the two schools went into a fast battle, with the local bench-warmers emerging 27 to 16 winners.

Of the two games last evening, the encounter between the bench-warmers was by far the fastest and most thrilling. Silvertown took a fast lead, and throwing up a strong defense, held the locals scoreless for the first few minutes of play. By the end of the half, the swift Silvertown lads had dropped the ball in the basket for a nine count, while holding the Floydada crew to five points. In the last half, the F. H. S. five rallied and ran off with the long end of the score.

In the first game of the evening between the first string teams, Silvertown played a strong offensive game but were weak on the defense. Floydada took a fast lead in the first half, and had the Silvertown lads outclassed 4 to 20 at the end of the period. Coach Jones made many substitutions in the last half, running in many second string men. Silvertown rallied in the last quarter, against the second string men, and brought the locals' lead down considerably. When the final whistle blew, Floydada held the long end of a 28 to 17 score.

With an overwhelming double-headed victory to their credit, the F. H. S. cagers promise to be strong runners in an invitation tournament which will be held at Silvertown on Friday and Saturday of this week. Present indications are that ten teams will be represented at the Silvertown meet, and Floydada is scheduled to run strong among the first place winners. Teams who have definitely accepted for the tournament meet this week-end are Texico, Guilaque, Turkey, Lockney, Floydada, Plainview, Memphis, Union Hill, Newlin and Lakeview.

Sunday School Lesson

THE TRUE CHRISTIAN

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for January 23. A Christian According to Christ. Matt. 5:3-9, 17-20, 43-48.

To be a Christian according to Christ is a very different thing from being a Christian according to conventional or world standards. It means more than belonging to a church organization or than being classed as a Christian in the census. To be a Christian according to Christ is to have the virtues and characteristics that were emphasized in Jesus of Nazareth manifested in some degree in one's life, and it is the degree in which these virtues and characteristics are manifested that constitutes the extent to which one may be called a Christian.

The principles of the Christian life here set forth in the beatitudes, and in the accompanying teaching of the Sermon on the Mount, are rightly defined in the general title of this lesson as "Standards of the Kingdom." They represent the things without which the Kingdom of God cannot exist or be a reality in the souls of men. At the same time they represent something very different from the standards of other kingdoms.

Rule From Within
The principle of earthly and worldly kingdoms has always been external rule or authority. The principle of the Kingdom of God is from within. Its standards are standards of life and character. Its foundations are in the thoughts, motives, and attitudes that determine outward conduct.

It should not be overlooked that these standards have to do with happiness or blessedness in life. False philosophies of narrow materialism in our own age and in other ages have confused pleasure and happiness with goodness. They have tended to say "Be happy and you will be good," making the standard of the welfare of life in character and conduct a sort of contentment or pleasurable reaction. Now different, however, is the whole approach of Jesus and his setting forth of the true basis of moral and spiritual values! His principal of life is not the avoidance of pain. He enjoys his followers to weep with them that weep, and he pronounces blessing for the mourners. He encourages his followers to believe that even in an atmosphere of hate and persecution they can preserve the integrity of their own souls and find blessedness.

But it ought to be noted that Jesus does lay profound stress upon blessedness. Life is a matter of soul satisfaction. If the seeming degree of goodness makes life narrow and dissatisfied and unhappy. It would appear that there is something wrong with the goal. Joy and peace enter somewhere into the reality of these things ought to be demonstrated in the fact that Christians like Paul, who bore heavy burdens of loss, persecution, and suffering, are the most intense witnesses to the underlying joy and peace that the Christian life can give despite one's outward environment and situation.

This blessedness of life is something that is not to be despised. The message of it that Jesus brought to the world is worthy of particular emphasis at the present time when in this sophisticated age so much of real unhappiness and dissatisfaction with life is found even in youth with its apparent jazziest and distraction in pleasure. The wise observer can see in much of the exaggerated wildness of youth the evidence of a self-delusion, a grasping at baubles because of discouragement over the lack of reality.

Aspirants Announced For Most Every Office

More Offer For Commissioner Precinct Two and County Supt. Than Any Others

There is an announced aspirant for practically every public office in Floyd County at this time, although for two or three of these there are to date only one. Indications point to a fuller list of candidates than usual, with additional names sure to be entered in the lists for some of the places.

So far the most popular offices in point of announced candidates are the County Superintendent's place, where four are seeking the honor, and the Commissioner of Precinct Two, where five have spilled their hats into the ring.

The list of candidates actually announced to and including last week for all offices in the county is as follows:
For County Judge, Wm. McGehee;
For District Clerk, T. P. Guimarin, Roy O'Brien;
For County Clerk, Tom W. Deen;
For Tax Collector, C. M. Meredith, J. G. Wood;
For County Treasurer, Maud Merrick;

For Tax Assessor, Joe M. Day; A. A. Tubb;
For County Superintendent, Geo. Gilpin, Liles Ola Hanna, Price Scott, J. B. Allen;
For Sheriff, F. N. Clark, P. C. Segall;
For Commissioner Precinct Two, E. R. Harris, A. J. Cooper, T. Z. Reed, J. Paul Sims, J. F. Dollar;
For Commissioner Precinct Three, M. H. Taylor;
For Commissioner Precinct Four, Joe P. Hart, Geo. L. Fawver.

Says Orgatone (Argotane) Restores Health When Everything Else Had Failed.

T. H. Martin who owns and operates a shop at 809 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas, and who resides on Avenue H, 11934 talks interestingly of the benefits he has derived from Orgatone (Argotane) in a conversation with an Orgatone representative.

"I was in a general run-down condition and have had a severe chronic case of stomach trouble and indigestion for a long time I was in such a low spirit rundown condition my life was miserable. I had no appetite and could hardly eat anything unless I was troubled afterwards with severe bloating spells and gas that formed on my stomach. I was constipated and was forced to take strong laxatives most of the time.

"I am getting wonderful results since taking Orgatone. Doctors told me I would have to be operated on for gall trouble but Orgatone has saved me from this to my notion has saved me hundreds of dollars and a lot of suffering. I eat anything I want now and it never bothers me. Gas does not bother me any more and I have improved with every dose till I feel now like nothing ever was the matter with me. I sleep fine and rest and am not nervous any more. I will praise Orgatone (Argotane) as long and will tell my friends all about it."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be obtained in Floydada at the Moore Drug Store.

The Difference Between Cold And Comfort

The striking of a match and the turning of a valve is the only difference we may immediately realize. But to produce comfort instead of cold requires several hundred miles of pipe lines and an army of men who work diligently at their task of furnishing you with good gas service.

Gas Service

Eternal vigilance on the part of all employees is necessary to insure you against discomfort in such weather as the recent cold waves. Daily in the face of beating storms, through ice and snow and over wind-swept roads, employees carry on—for on them is the responsibility of preventing an interruption of the unfailing gas service you have come to expect.

Weather Forecast Says Warmer in Plains Area

Snow of Friday Adds Appreciably To Moisture For Wheat And Plowed Lands.

Floyd County today is due to see a loosening up of the frigid temperatures which have prevailed over the county for upward of two weeks, according to the weather forecast of last night by the Weather Bureau.

Temperatures ranging from zero upward to ten above have ceased to be news during the past few days. On five different mornings the thermometers have registered zero or below, with six below as approximately the lowest point to be reached by the mercury.

In line with the forecaster's reading of the signs the low point reached by the thermometers here this morning was twelve above zero, compared with three above yesterday morning. Yesterday's high reached two or three degrees above the freezing point.

Friday of last week was recorded the low temperature of the period, when a blinding snow fell for several hours and drifted rather badly.

The snow that fell added quite a bit to the total of moisture for the wheat and stalk lands, where the former snow crusts helped to collect and hold the later fall as it drifted. Bare spots in wheat fields were refilled, but on prairie land the drifting snow did not hold so well. East and west roads adjacent to pasture land are still practically impassible in numerous instances.

JONES CO. FORGERY CHARGE AGAINST MAN HELD HERE

O. Sellers, who this week completed the construction of an air sign on top of one of the larger buildings in the city at a contract price of $90 and who represents himself to be on salary of the Guggenheim Foundation, this morning is being held by local officers on a Jones County, Texas, warrant charging forgery.

Sheriff P. G. Stegall this morning disclaimed any information relative to the matter further than that he had instructions to make the arrest and that Tom Hudson, Jones County sheriff, had informed him he would be here today to claim Mr. Sellers on the complaint in his county, claimed to be based on a recent transaction.

New Airplane Arrives Here After Long Trip

Pilot Instructor Made Three Forced Landings in 10 Day Trip From Colorado.

After three forced landings and two weeks of combating the winter elements, Dennis Wraske arrived here Wednesday afternoon from Colorado Springs, in a new Curtiss Eaglerock airplane, to perfect plans for an aviation school in this city. The new plane is the property of Lee Wilkinson and Dennis Wraske, who are partners in the school. It is a three seater, equipped with an O. X. 5 Curtiss Whirlwind motor.

Wraske was married at Colorado Springs on December 24, and he and his wife left the Eaglerock factory at Colorado Springs a little after the first of the year. The first forced landing was made in Kansas near Wichita. He was forced down because of blinding snow storms and winds. The second landing made in the northwestern portion of Oklahoma, and the last made 15 miles north of Silverton, were also caused from the inclement weather conditions.

Present plans of the owners of the plane are to build a hangar and conduct the school on a field southwest of the city near the Lee Wilkinson home. Wraske, who is a licensed instructor and transport pilot, will be the instructor for the school, and will also carry passengers, it was stated.

Working Out Details For C. Of C. Banquet

Local civic workers are co-operating with Chamber of Commerce Secretary S. W. Ross in working out details of the plans for the annual C. of C. banquet, the date for which has been set tentatively as Friday evening, February 21.

Representatives of the women's organizations of the community met with Mr. Ross one day this week, and already assurance had been given of hearty assistance from the women of the Home Demonstration Club of the county in preparing the food for the event.

Other local organizations which have offered their assistance and will probably have a part in the big affair are the F. F. T. Club boys and Home Economics girls of Floydada High School and the Boy Scouts.

Plans are being made at this time to have plates for 400, which means that the number of plates available for residents of Floydada will be restricted this year more closely than formerly.

J. A. ENOCH INSTALLS NEW TYPE OF ELECTRIC WELDER

Declared to be the newest and most accurate machine of its kind, the new Welco Electric Welder installed this week by J. A. Enoch, promises an easier and faster method of electric welding. The new machine is the product of a recent invention, using a transformer on an alternating current, instead of the old model generator type welder, according to Mr. Enoch.

It is declared that through the use of this new machine, practically any kind of metal, including cast iron, may be successfully welded, without pre-heating or tearing down.

The machine is of such high power, and while in use, throws off such a strong light that it is very injurious to the naked eye. A warning has been issued by Mr. Enoch to spectators who wish to see the machine in operation, not to watch with the naked eye. In case injuries to the eye are sustained from this cause, a five per cent solution of Navocaine is recommended as an eye wash.

Mr. Graham, formerly of Plainview, will have charge of the new electric welder at the J. A. Enoch blacksmith shop on the East side of the square. Mr. Graham moved to this city this week to make his home.

On account of the severe weather the 1929 Study Club postponed their trip to Matador last Friday when they were to have been guests of the Matador Study Club. A date for the trip will be announced later.

BROTHER OF C. E. STONE BURIED MONDAY AFTERNOON

Jerome Stone, brother of C. E. Stone, president of the C. E. Stone Company Chain Stores, died in Dallas Saturday of last week, and was buried Monday. He was about 45 years of age.

Mr. Stone was reared near Mincola in this state. For the past year he had had charge of the New York offices of C. E. Stone Company.

The Floydada store of the company, along with the others over the country, were closed Monday out of respect to the deceased official of the firm.

FIRE STOPPED AT HAYNES HOME; NO SERIOUS DAMAGE

Fire Wednesday morning from a faulty flue threatened serious damage to the A. V. Haynes residence on West Missouri Street, but prompt aid minimized the damage.

A nineteen-year-old negro boy, L. C. Thomas and a companion are given credit by Mr. Haynes for keeping the fire down during the three or four-minute wait for the fire department to get into action.

"The fire boys were mighty prompt and put the fire out quickly when they got here," Mr. Haynes said. "I sure owe them a good word for their promptness and efficiency."

Earnest of the permanence of the dairy industry in Texas is seen in the fact that within recent months more than $2,000,000 has been invested in dairy, milk and cheese plants. A new cheese plant is at the small town of Abernathy, Hale County, with a capacity of 1,000 pounds a day, and Denison, Wichita Falls, Denton, Valley Mills, Round Rock, Taylor and other points with several other Texas towns organizing or preparing to organize companies for cheese making. The Borden milk plant at Waco, the Carnation plant at Schulenburg (with a second planned for Sulphur Springs) the new milk plants at Tyler, Sherman, Marshall and several other cities are also new factors in the dairy business in Texas.

To bound Texas requires four other states, 860 miles of international border and 370 miles of Gulf coast.

W. M. Dorsey Purchases City Market, Grocery

Purchase of the City Market & Grocery, 110 West California Street from B. M. Eubank by W. M. Dorsey, former Crosbyton and Lubbock business man, was announced this week, following the completion of an invoice of the stock and equipment of the market. Mr. Dorsey's business experience includes ten years spent in dealing in groceries at Crosbyton.

Mr. Eubank's plans for the future have not taken definite shape at this time, he told a reporter for The Hesperian Monday evening. Mr. Dorsey has assumed charge of the business.

WEIGHT AND EATING

Anyone may reduce in weight by reducing the quantity of food eaten, according to the health doctor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman writing in the November issue. Such a statement is not a very palatable truth to the fat person. He much prefers the advice that tells him to "eat and grow thin." He is willing to do special exercises, to take baths of very special kinds, to try hydrotherapy, electrotherapy, mechanical therapy and many other therapies, but he does dislike the idea that he must reduce eating.

Several years ago Irving Cobb, the fat humorist, wrote an article in which he described the 24 hours of agony attending his first serious effort to limit the magnitude of his excellent appetite, and then went on to tell of the great reward that came to him as a result. All the distress of the effort was amply recorded by the improved tone of his whole body within 48 hours.

"Before night of the second day that all-gone sensation had vanished. Already I had made the agreeable discovery that I could get along and be reasonably happy on from 35 to 50 percent of what, until then I had deludedly thought was required to nourish me. Before the week ended I felt fitter and sprier in every way than I had for years past! More alive, more interested in things, quicker on my feet and brisker in my mental processes than in a long time."

There's the whole story. I doubt whether many will get results as quickly as Mr. Cobb. Stay by it two weeks or a month and see what you get.

Most persons eat too much after middle life is reached. Children and young people in the years of growth need an abundance of nourishing food. Men and women who are engaged in heavy manual labor need more and different food than those in sedentary occupations. There are few of those of us who have reached middle age who may not profitably review our accustomed diet and see whether a reduction in its bulk and a change in its character may not make us mentally alert and physically

all doubt. Methinks 'tis better to be than a fool, than to speak and not

Tech President Unable To Speak Here Tuesday

Toney B. Maxey Main Speaker At Joint Meeting of Lions and Rotarians.

Inclement weather prevented Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College, from being present and speaking to a joint meeting of the Floydada Lions and Rotary Clubs last Tuesday at the noon hour. Between fifty and sixty business and professional men of the city gathered at the First Baptist church for the occasion, and were much disappointed at not being able to hear the college official speak. It was unanimously agreed that Dr. Horn be invited to speak to another joint meeting of the clubs at his earliest convenience.

In the absence of Dr. Horn, Toney B. Maxey, new attorney-at-law in this city, addressed the gathering on the subject of "Law Enforcement." The key-note of Judge Maxey's talk was that the eyes of the public should be on observing the law and not on enforcing the law. While his speech was centered on prohibition, he brought out the fact that honesty should be as much of an issue in the public's eye as the liquor question.

"I do not claim to be a wet, nor a strong prohibitionist," Judge Maxey stated. "Although the radical prohibitionists will term me a wet, or anti-pro." The prohibition amendment has made the United States constitution a detriment. The liquor problem, in my view, should be strictly a state question. I do not advocate no prohibition, but neither do I endorse the present prohibition law," he declared.

Judge Maxey continued by stating that in 1923 he served a term as a Tennessee legislator, and he "had no cause to regret his action in legislating light wines and beer in the state of Tennessee." "The present prison problem in Texas arises from congestion, caused partially from the imprisonment of young men who are caught in indiscretions such as having a small bottle of liquor in their possession. If this law could be amended to the effect that such a crime is punishable by serving a term in the county jail, your prisons would not be overflowing and your young men might be saved for a higher type citizenry," he concluded.

FRANCES LESTER ON HONOR ROLL AT W. T. S. T. C.

Special to the Hesperian Canyon, Texas, January 20.—Among the students of the West Texas State Teachers College whose names appear on the Honor Roll for the fall term is Miss Frances Lester of Floydada.

There are 61 names on the roll which represents those students who do the best class work in the college. Those whose names appear come from widely separated points in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

It is probable that the honor roll for the winter quarter will contain more names, as 104 new students were enrolled the first of January.

President J. A. Hill is now working on the plans for the twelve weeks 1930 summer school which will open June 6 and close August 27.

NO INJURIES SUSTAINED IN RECENT CAR ACCIDENT

No injuries were sustained by Clay Willis and Dorman Clanton in an automobile accident which occurred on the Amarillo highway on Tuesday of last week, although the car in which they were riding was badly damaged. It is believed that the steering gear of the coupe became loose, causing it to leave the road and turn over a number of times.

MRS. L. C. PENRY LEAVES FOR DAUGHTER'S BEDSIDE

Mrs. L. C. Penry left Monday for Los Angeles, California, to be at the bedside of a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Houlgate, who is seriously ill. A message telling of Mrs. Houlgate's illness was received Monday and Mrs. Penry left immediately.

Judge Penry was unable to accompany Mrs. Penry because of professional business matters.

LEAVES FOR BUSINESS SCHOOL

Lee Mayhew, who has been employed for the past several years with F. C. Harmon Furniture store, left Sunday for Ft. Worth where he will attend Brantley-Draughon's Business College. Verlon Harmon who recently returned from Tennessee will fill the vacancy in the store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dickey and N. L. Ross of Lubbock came over Sunday to spend the day with relatives. Mr. Dickey and Mr. Ross returned Sunday afternoon but Mrs. Dickey remained for several days visit.

Big Family In Reunion For First Time In Thirteen Years

The home of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Battey, 309 West California Street, was the place where this picture of Mr. and Mrs. Battey was taken a few days after Christmas, and the occasion was the reunion of the members of the family for the first time in thirteen years.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Battey have been residents of the county some twenty-five years, until two years ago residents of Lakeview, south-east of Floydada.

Reading from left to right in the group are: David S. Battey, Harmony, Floyd County; Lloyd A. Battey and Mrs. J. E. Ball, Friona; Mrs. Henry Willis, Lakeview; R. M. Battey, Pleasant Hill, Floyd County; Mrs. O. F. Battey, city; Mrs. A. T. Pratt, Pleasant Hill, Floyd County; O. F. Battey; A. M. and C. N. Battey, Lakeview, Floyd County.

THE ART OF LIVING TOGETHER

"Johnnie, be a nice little boy and give Billy some of your cake. Don't be like that, dear; Billy's your company, and you should treat your company nice," said Mrs. Bliss to her six year old son.

"Take all the old cake if you want it. Mother will make Johnnie some more," thus Johnnie displayed his temper as he flung his cake into Billy's face.

"Oh, take your cake; I don't want it. Mother can cook me some cake when I get home, too," was Billy's answer to Johnnie's insult.

Years passed and Johnnie and Billy entered school. Johnnie was an exceptionally bright student in grammar school, for he always took more out of life than he returned. Billy was not an extremely brilliant boy, but he soon became the favorite of all his classmates.

When the freshman year in high school rolled around, the teachers smiled encouragingly at Johnnie and his Mother as they walked into general assembly on the first morning of school. But no one could smile at Billy, because he was surrounded by admirers three legions thick.

The real test came later on the football field. Billy was plainly the favorite, for he sacrificed his own interest in order that the team might win. Did Johnnie do that? No; when he saw that he could not win the honor of the day, he fouled in order that his team mate might not star.

Can this thing go on forever? No,

Johnnie continued his studies through high school and graduated with few friends. Billy was besieged by numerous admirers who praised his character.

Out in life on day Johnnie and Billie will meet. Which of the two do you expect to make the greatest success in life?

Society demands the person who can pass with the lowest and the highest of the land, the person who is broad minded enough to see the other fellows interest out of an understanding heart. Students, our school is our society. Does society see in you, as individuals, artists who know the art of living together with your fellowmen?

A TRIBUTE

Students, why not try this semester to help Mr. Boteler as he helps us? One of the most important things which we might do would be to use the waste-basket instead of the floor and the insides of the desks. At the end of a school-day the study halls look as if there had been pigs in them instead of high school students. If it were not for Mr. Boteler's staying up here every afternoon till real late and sweeping up after us we would soon be wading through paper up to our necks. We also forget that he comes up here early every morning and heats the building up and makes it comfortable for us to live in all day.

Mr. Boteler is very appreciative, for in chapel he has expressed, more than once his appreciation of what little we have done to help him. I'm sure that if we will do more toward keeping the building clean he will appreciate it much more.

WHAT CLOTHING GIRLS ARE TAUGHT

Why does the number of girls taking that important subject, clothing, decrease each year? The common answer to this question is that it is too expensive. But is it? It is true that the girls have to buy their own books, but in many courses they are required to do the same. Then there is the material and the sewing equipment that take a small amount of money.

Clothing girls are not required to spend a lot of money. That is not the purpose of the course at all. In fact the girls here in Floydada High School who are taking clothing are required to keep account of all they spend on clothing and they are all working out clothing budgets for the next two years. Now is this an expensive course? Think it over.

WHERE IS YOUR PEP?

Where's your pep, Junior class? Why don't you snap out of it and do something? Last year as Sophs you were the leading class but this year as Juniors you are a flop. Has it gone to your head since you moved up in the upper Study Hall and have lockers? True, there are a few members who work their heads nearly off and win the big ends of the contests, but what do the rest of you do? Nothing until you discover that the Juniors have been put on the map. Then you sit back with your thumbs in your vest and a mile-long smile on your face and say, "Yes, that's the Junior class. Look what we (and you stress the we) did. I'm (and your head begins to swell) a member of that class." It is a distinction, I'll admit, but it would be more so if you would work and win some of the prizes instead of leaving all the work to the others and then claiming the reward.

But seriously, Juniors, let's get to work and do something. We won't be juniors long and we certainly don't want to go on as seniors leaving our junior class page blank. Let's pep up and make 1930 the biggest year our class has ever had.

COMING GAGE INTERESTS

On January 29 the Whirlwind basketballs will be hosts to the powerful Plainview Bulldogs. When Coach Tom Hays leads his Plainview Bulldogs into the Whirlwind territory he will be seeking two straight games from the local boys. On the other hand the Whirlwinds will be seeking revenge against the Bulldogs for the stinging defeat handed them on the 7th of January.

The following night, January 30, the Ralls Jackrabbits will invade the Whirlwind territory to return the game of December 21. There is no question but what these two games will be the best seen at the Andrews Ward Gym this season. Both the Ralls and Plainview teams are rated among the best teams of the South Plains.

WHIRLWINDS DEFEAT SILVERTON

The Floydada Whirlwinds swamped the Silverton quintet to the tune of 42 to 8 last Wednesday afternoon in the Andrews Ward Gym. The locals grabbed the lead in the first few minutes of play and were never in danger throughout the rest of the game. At the end of the first half the score stood 22 to 1 in favor of the Whirlwinds and at the end of the third quarter the score stood 34 to 2; however, the Silverton crew tightened up on defense and flashed a brisk offense to score six points in the last minute of the game. Various substitutions were made by both teams.

The second game of the evening was between the Whirlwind second team and the Center 5. This game proved to be over-interesting owing to the fact that both teams were closely matched. After four quarters of hard, fast playing the score stood 34 to 17 in favor of the Whirlwind second team. The second team of today will be the first team of tomorrow, which goes to show that with strong backing, you will get value received tomorrow.

WHIRLWINDS WIN SECOND PLACE AT TURKEY

Members of the Whirlwind basketball squad are showing silver basketball watch-charms to others with pride. The reason for this is that Floydada won second place in an invitation tournament at Turkey, Saturday, January 18. The Whirlwind quintet first eliminated Lakeview and Newlin and then went into the finals. The F. H. boys won the first two games by an overwhelming score, but went down in defeat before the strong Turkey team.

Players who saw action in the games at Turkey are: Joe Smith, who was high point man, Jess Lanier, William Smith, Milton Ashton, Howard Welborn, Ernie Widener, Warren Poole, Starks Green, and Donley Stephenson.

WHAT THEY'RE DOING

The following are the phases of study that the different classes of F. H. S. have taken up this beginning of the new semester:

History 10—The Civil War
English 10—American Literature
Plane Geometry—Construction of Figures
Clothing 1—Personal Appearance
Clothing 1—Budgeting
Foods 1—Health
Foods 1—Relation of Food to the Body

Chemistry—The Gas Laws
English 9—Argumentation
History 9—"The Minor Countries of Europe"

Algebra 9—Quadratic Equations
Latin 1—Verbs
Latin 1—"Caesar's Conquest with Ariovistus"

History 8—Charlemagne.
Algebra 8—Factoring
English 8—Business Letters
Spanish 1—"The Rooms of the House"

Spanish 11—Cuentos Y Leyendas
Physics—Thermometry
Solid Geometry—Lines and Planes
Commercial Law—Facts about Law

Civics—Benefits of Government
Economics—The Four Stages of Industry
English 11—English Literature
Bookkeeping—Bookkeeping for individual concerns and partnerships. The principles of debit and credit together with a study of the Balance Sheet, Statements of Profit and Loss, and Closing Entries for the Ledger are especially stressed.

GREEN PEPPERS

The pep squad feels that someone may think that we are "falling down on the job," after hearing about the excellent work of the basketball team. We don't want anyone to feel that way, because we are proud of that team, and we intend to back them just as we did the football boys. It's not our custom to give up and quit working.

Due to the bad weather, we have not been able to be present at all the games, but we intend to be there "full strong" for the Lockney games, and during the tournament. Whirlwinds and Coach Jones, we are proud of the work you're doing and we're still fighting for you and the green and white "first—last—and always."

JOKES

Miss Rosson: Please shut up. Kinding: I wasn't going to say anything bad.

Mr. Scoggins: Have you heard about how Benjamin Franklin discovered lightning?
Hazel: No.
Mr. Scoggins: Well, he went out West, and when he came back he married and discovered lightning.

Milton wrote "Paradise Lost" before his wife died, and after she died he wrote "Paradise Regained."

Genell: There were thirteen rats

in the buttermilk.
Miss Tyson: Did you take them out?
Genell: No, I put the cat in, too.

Gene: Do you have an ear for music?
Mr. Scoggins: No, I use one of my ears for telephone communications and one as a pen-rack.

Mr. Jones: Did you get hurt while you were on the football team?
Robert: No, I got hurt while the football team was on me.

Miss Keeton asked us not to mention her name in connection with a young medical student of Galveston—which we won't.

Jesse Mae: Where's the editor's dummy?
Robinette: Do you mean Alsie?

Mrs. Adkins: Jim, did you tear that out of your notebook?
Jim: No, I tore it out of Joe's.

Winoha: Two Frenchmen went up in an airplane and the plane went into a tailspin. What nationality were they when they came down?
Pattye: French, of course.

Winona: No, they weren't. One came down a Russian (rushing) and the other fell on a telegraph wire and came down a Pole.

LOCALS
The Senior class is glad to report that we have a new member, Dale Self from Rule. We join the members of the faculty in giving him a hearty welcome to F. H. S.

As a result of the "Snow storm" Friday, many students were absent from school.

F. H. S. is very glad to report that Veva Swinson and Alsie Carlton are able to be back in school after being absent for several days on account of illness.

We are glad to have Douglas Hollums back in school. He has been absent on account of illness.

Coach Jones and his basketball boys attended the tournament at Turkey last week-end. The boys came home wearing silver basketballs which were given them for second place.

Herschel Swepston spent Friday night with Edward Clanton.

Miss Opal Thornton of Lockney spent Sunday with Hattie Goins.

MEBANE COTTONSEED'S SURVEY WRECK 1883

"Say, pa, kin I have the survey this evenin'?" I want to take Sally to the singing at the Brush-arbor out close to Honeysuckle. Ichabod Rowbinders' pa let him have their survey to take Alamanda Water-mellonseed to the barn dance out at Hogshead last Sunday was a year ago."

Mr. Cottonseed: "Well, son, take the survey and the whites but start early cause it's three and a half miles out there and you want to be in bed anyhow by 8:45 because you've gotta break up that south pasture for planting tomorrow."

Mebane Cottonseed took the survey and off went he to fetch Sally Cookstove to the singing in the Brush-arbor out close to Honeysuckle.

After sitting in the brush arbor for three hours, Mr. Mebane Cottonseed and Miss Sally Cookstove mounted the survey and started home. Mr. Cottonseed, seeing Miss Cookstove was feeling in a mood for racing, whipped the whites into a gallop and sped down the road at the tremendous rate of 9 miles per hour; but lo! as the survey took the corner where the road turns off to Hicksville, a spoke in the left-hand wheel of the survey cracked and Mebane brought the survey to a quick halt. On account of the severe wreck Mebane Cottonseed never got the survey again and Sally Cookstove married Ichabod Rowbinder after a whirlwind courtship of two years and Mebane died of asthma in 1888.

BITS OF POETRY

Snow! Snow!
How it snows,
Then it blows,
Makes cold our toes,
Makes us weep
But let's us sleep.

F. F. T. CLUB
The F. F. T. Club met Wednesday, January 15, and the meeting was called to order by the president. Old and new business was discussed.

The members of the club were entertained with a trick by the master magician, C. W. McCarty. The band then played two numbers.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien was accepted as an honorary member of the F. F. T. Club. He will assist in presenting the negro minstrel on January 31.

Tambone and Sambo are all set for January 31, the date on which

Many Expected At Tech Short Course Feb. 3-5

Tech Faculty Members and Many Visiting Speakers To Have Part in Program.

Lubbock, Texas, Jan. 20.—With a predicted attendance of from one to three thousand the second annual Farmers Short Course and Home Improvement Conference will be held at Texas Technological College February 3, 4, and 5. The schools of agriculture and home economics will cooperate in giving the three-day program. For men the first day will include a marketing program, the second day will be given to community work, and the third day to livestock. The programs and demonstrations for women will include such subjects as home decoration, child management problems, school lunches, ready-made clothing, marketing problems, and other matters of interest to housewives.

In addition to several Tech faculty members who will appear on the program many visiting speakers will take part in the programs. J. D. Tinsley, agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, will discuss History and Reminiscence of Agricultural Marketing on the Plains Panhandle. Harry Williams, manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, will speak on the Status of Marketing Cotton in Texas. R. F. Cook, manager of the Texas Wheat Growers Association, will make an address on the Status of Marketing Wheat in Texas. These addresses will be made the first day.

In the afternoon the machinery in the textile department will be in full operation so that visitors may see how students are being taught the textile industry.

On the second day Sterling C. Evans, Texas Agricultural agent, Texas A. & M. College, will make a report on the Progress of the One-Variety Cotton Communities Project in Texas. In the afternoon Mrs. Chas. Sewell of Chicago, a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will speak to both men and women. She will feature several of the women's programs.

Livestock day comes Wednesday, February 5. With the marked interest in dairying and dairy cattle on the Plains Panhandle this subject will be given special emphasis on the program. Feeding and cow testing by mail will be featured. Permanent and temporary pastures for cattle and hogs will be discussed, and sheep feeding and fattening for market will be on the program. The farm flock in poultry will be given special consideration. A full list of speakers and subjects will be announced in the near future.

The first day's session will be held in the Tech gymnasium which has a seating capacity of more than two thousand. Smaller group meetings will be held during the three days in other buildings of the College. Demonstrations for women will be held in the home economics building. A reception for both men and women will be given by the School of Home Economics in the new Home Management House Wednesday afternoon at 3:30.

President Paul W. Horn will deliver the address of welcome at 7 p. m. on the first day in the College gymnasium. The response will be made by Lynn Stokes, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association. Texas Technological College is extending a cordial welcome to all who are interested to attend these meetings.

UNCLE MRS. FRANK HARMON AND MRS. J. U. BORUM DIES

Mrs. Frank Harmon and Mrs. J. U. Borum received a telegram last Thursday stating that their uncle, J. U. Grubbs of Justin was dead. He had been ill for about a week. Interment was made in the Justin Cemetery Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Harmon and Mrs. Borum were unable to attend the funeral on account of the weather.

INFANT DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. ROGERS BURIED MONDAY

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Rogers of the Mt. Blanco community which was born Sunday morning died Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the home and interment made in the Lakeview cemetery late Monday afternoon.

M. E. Rogers, manager of the Baker, Hanna Co. store, made a business trip to Aitua, Oklahoma last week.

they entertain the public with a program of songs, magic, and general fun.

Layton Dorrell plays the part of Tambone Jackson, a colored man who likes trouble. Joe Pennington plays the part of Sambo Johnston, a dorkie who likes to attend to everybody's business but his own. C. W. McCarty, sometimes called Houdini II, has a number of new tricks to present. The girls' sextette will sing a few numbers and assist in the chorus. The F. F. T. band will furnish music between acts.

The F. F. T. Club of Floydada is presenting the minstrel, and the proceeds will be used to pay the expenses of the teams that are to go to Lubbock and A. and M. in April.

Political Announcements

The following announcements for office, subject to the Democratic Primary, July 26, 1930, have been authorized to be made by The Hesperian:

- For County Judge: Wm. McGEHEE
For County Clerk: TOM W. DEEN
For County Treasurer: MAUD MERRICK
For District Clerk: T. P. GUIMARIN ROY O'BRIEN
For Tax Assessor: JOE M. (JODIE) DAY A. A. TUBBS
For Sheriff: F. N. (FRED) CLARK P. G. STEGALL
For Tax Collector: C. M. MEREDITH J. G. WOOD
For County Superintendent: GEO. GILPIN PRICE SCOTT MISS OLA HANNA J. B. ALLEN
For Commissioner, Precinct 4: JOE P. HART GEO. L. FAWVER.

THAT OLD 'IT' AGAIN

We read in The Clarendon News where that town would be in the class of towns eligible for federal postoffices "but for the practice of many local firms in allowing their jobbers and wholesalers to stamp their direct by mail advertising campaigns in the big centers, rather than in Clarendon." Then a recitation in commensurate terms of the unfairness of the big city offices getting credit for the sale of stamps, while the local office gets only what the little boy shot at except the work.

SENSIBLE THING TO DO

The Canyon News says that the names of Senator Thos. B. Love and all the other bolters of 1928 who ask to have their names on the State Ticket this year will be allowed to go on the ticket after a lot of wild discussion by the state committee and others whether the candidates voted for Hoover or for Smith, and comments that such is the only sensible thing to do.

OBEYING THE PEOPLE

Had the powers that be in Chicago obeyed the mandates of the people and carried out their oaths as nearly as could be, the throes of municipal debt would not have been upon them now, we conclude. And it was ever thus. Whatever is your idea or mine of what should be done with tax money and with tax assessments or renditions it is unsafe and unrighteous—just as unrighteous as bootlegging—to go tampering with the people's money or disobeying their mandates.

citizen, as you ordinarily take them, he might be wealthy. He might even have most patriotic intentions. But when he would attempt to supplant the mandate or judgment of the people with his own, he needs to be dislodged from his place of trust.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL

In Precinct Two of this county several men have announced for Commissioner and several more are said to be in prospect and since everyone of them is going to need some candidate cards and announcements and other et cetera the printer furnishes, it makes us envious of Harry Adams and The Beacon. Six or eight candidates for one office and the possibility of another crop coming on, with a little encouragement, if Harry could put an agent or two in the field and run the score up to twenty it would prove good business.

CHICAGO HAS MUCH TROUBLE

It wouldn't be anything but natural that much of Chicago's financial troubles, municipally speaking, should be much misunderstood. If we are not mistaken, the trouble arose to begin with, with the boss-ridden political conditions. In Chicago two or three years ago, or possibly longer, the powers that be began a big campaign of punishment by taxes for their enemies and an attendant easing up on their friends. Thus if you belonged your tax rendition was reduced greatly, and if you didn't belong politically, you got it in the neck when valuation time came. The newspapers began checking up and publishing some of the ridiculous inequalities with the result that thousands and thousands of taxpayers refused to pay and have instituted lawsuits to keep clouds from their titles as a result. Meanwhile the expense bill of the city has gone ahead and things will be in a muddle for sometime.

This And That

Said to be the most valuable property in the world is located at No. 1 Wall Street, where Brisbane tells us a big bank is fixing to build an office. A history of the lot for a period of 300 years back was among the papers filed in the cornerstone before it was sealed.

Days like the first half of last Friday are rare in this section but when they do come they are wampuss kittens. The last similar one this writer recalls was in the latter part of 1918. It lasted more than a day, seems like it was two days and a night. The wind blew forty miles an hour and the snowdrifts were eight feet deep. Now you tell one.

The biggest thing in national politics now is the prohibition question. The pros and the antis are bombarding the atmosphere and incidentally training their guns on Herbert Hoover considerably. Herbert Hoover looks and looks till he finds facts, and until he gets to rockbottom he doesn't do much talking or acting. That won't suit the rabid elements—either pro or anti.

The intense weather of the past several days has brought to light a number of charity cases, which have had to have attention. It takes heat and food to head off misery of body and mind, and for the man who depends on his daily labor, or who has had a run of hard luck, missing ten days or two weeks of work gives stark staring want as a bedfellow.

N. A. Armstrong was among those who had a weather eye out when the northeast blew up last Friday, with icy snow in its teeth. He has some cows wintering on pasture, which up to that time had not suffered. It was a big relief to him to have the radio and other reports that said it would clear off by night.

Thermometers Friday morning began dropping sometime around 2 o'clock and by 8 the reading was 1 degree above. By 9:30 it was 2 degrees below zero. That cold with the wind blowing a snow ahead of it is considerably colder than it sounds. For me ask some of the men around town who live six or eight blocks out, and who started to work without any protection for their ears.

What some of the poultry raisers of Floyd County have done during the past year with chickens has been remarkable—remarkable principally on account of the fact that their chickens made them good money. Floyd County has been a leader in the production of good poultry for a number of years and it has been found to be a paying enterprise wherever gone into on the proper basis.

After all, the efforts we make are pointed toward the betterment of the economic position of ourselves and our families, to head off the want that might come with old age, and to give our children better advantages in life. That poultry and eggs and turkeys and Jersey cows are instruments adaptable to the end is the big reason for them. That's the reason people who have ambition for themselves and their children and who are in position to raise these money-making side-lines on their farms, are spending time studying ways of producing better stuff at lower cost.

John L. McCarty of the Dalhart Texan says the surest mark of a country town is that business men park in front of their stores and women will positively refuse to walk over one block in doing their shopping.

Broken faucets to the left of us! Busted pipes to the right of us! Frozen lanes across the street! That's the big story of the week here in town, and out in the country farmers tell us it is about the same. How we'd like to be in the pipe business for a week or so. Or a Plumber which brings to mind the old adage "Every dog has his day."

Talk of cattle losses in Floyd and adjoining counties during the bad spell the latter part of last week, we think, has been a little overdone, the best we can learn. Some of the big ranches that do not feed were already losing an occasional cow. What makes us think a good deal of the talk is guesswork is the report that the Matador 700 head. This report was out by Saturday, and we just imagine the line riders had not had an opportunity to get over their territory in time to get anything like a good count.

Speaking of bad weather and cattle losses, you know sitting around a good hot fire is calculated to loosen a person's tongue and his imagination some, which is how the figures grow big and bigger.

W. K. Henderson, over KWKH, is pouring it on the chain store boys and is doing a good business, thank you, raking in the memberships in his Independent Merchants Association. There are two slides to the question, of course, and just before it gets too bad either way, the happy medium will be found.

With Old Battlexe (Himself)

You know, folks are funny. Somebody has said that you run no risk of getting into an argument when you tell a man that his success can well be attributed to his good business judgement, and hard work, while the greater success of his friends is nothing more than luck. Ain't it so?

Say, papa, here's a new method to starve out the family while you are saying up to meet the taxes. I know that it'll work, cause I tried it on Haltosis and the brats. Me and Haltosis and the two brats sat down to dinner Sunday, and I said to the kids, I says: "Now I'll give you youngsters your choice, a nickel, or meat for dinner." They both decided in favor of the nickel, so Haltosis put the meat away. Next she brought in the pie, and I says: "Now my children, how many of you want a nickels worth of pie."

Dog gone, some of these dry goods men sure get my goat. Haltosis went to Martin's last week to buy me a new hat. She told them the color that she had decided I wanted, but didn't tell them my size. They sent up a 6 1/2 and it fit exactly.

Later she asked 'em how they knew my size, and Roy Eubank, (dog gone 'im) said that it was easy. "Any man who will let his wife buy his hat always has a small head," he said.

Folks, I've been scouting around during the past week to find out just what the people want me to talk about most this year, and you'd be surprised at the many suggestions received. Most of 'em agree, tho, that they had rather I would follow my old style and not talk about anything with any common sense.

J. R. Yearwood says that the best thing I can talk about is the new Santa Fe depot. He says that the Santa Fe folks are going to spend an enormous amount of money in this territory during 1930, and if we don't get a new depot this year, we would not get one before 1935. "What the people need to do right now is talk it up," he said. Conditions to build are ideal, Floydada has needed something besides a box as a Santa Fe depot for umpty-odd years, and the Santa Fe people have got the money to build and are going to spend it this year, he says.

H. L. Crow, over the Floydada Hardware, says that the best thing we can talk about during 1930 is better roads. Not only highways, but the lateral roads in Floyd County are the worst, or dern near the worst, in the state of Texas.

(Most all of us agree with R. H. (Bob) Willis, who says that Floydada's telephone service is disgraceful. "The telephone girls are not to blame for the kind of service we get, but the whole dog gone trouble is in the Floydada switch board and cables," he says. He also says that he is paying for a private line and sometimes there are as many as three phones on his wire. O. B. is sure in line with Mr. Willis.

'Some folks say that Floydada's greatest need is more street paving, while some say that we need a Municipal Auditorium the worst in the world. Others think the very best thing we can do is to get the pavement we already have, cleaned up so that we can get a glimpse of it about every six or eight weeks. A few agree with O. B. that we need the court house painted, and

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUES OF JANUARY 27, 1916

Of the fifteen precincts, Floydada voting precincts showed the lowest percentage of poll taxes paid of any precinct in the county, having a total now of 179 polls paid. The entire county shows payments to Wednesday night of a total of 883 polls and 30 exemptions.

That the poultry raising industry in Floyd County is growing largely as it should, is well demonstrated by Tuesday's 10,000 pound shipment of chickens by the Marshall Grain Company. Ten cents per pound was the price paid for the poultry car.

W. C. Hanna had a load of hogs on the Fort Worth Market last week that averaged 240 pounds at the market and at the age of eight months.

Paul Sims, of Curlew, was in town Monday on business.

Constable R. L. Henry was injured in the face Friday night, when he fell in the lobby of the Meandy Theatre, and is still wearing a bandage on his lip as a result. Billiousness is declared by Dr. Childers to have caused the fainting spell when Mr. Henry fell.

The inhabitants of the United States, statistics say, consumed 189,500 tons of spinach during 1928. There's grit for you.

Maxim Gorky, Russian writer, declares youth is too pessimistic, but then he probably has never been on a college campus on the eve of a big football game.

"Americans are gas bags," says Yvette Guilbert, famous French actress. Yvette probably overestimates our number of congressmen.

Letters From Readers

A CALL TO ARMS

Congressman John E. Rankin, member of Congress from Mississippi, issues a "call to arms" to farmers of America, which is an argument in favor of the debenture plan of farm relief. It is one of the best expositions of what the debenture plan advocates visualize as the farm remedy.

"The fight is now on for real farm relief," he says, and continues: "The question has been stripped of all camouflage, and the issue is now squarely before Congress, and the President.

"The fate of American agriculture is now at stake, and may be determined within the next sixty days. "Within that time Congress, and the President, will decide whether we are to carry out the promises made by both major political parties in the last campaign to put agriculture on equality with industry or whether we are to shut the door of hope in the farmer's face and leave him to endure indefinitely the economic disadvantages from which he is now suffering.

"The Senate has performed a great duty. "It has written into the tariff bill the debenture amendment, which if accepted by the House and the President, will come near placing agriculture on equality with industry than it has been for more than sixty years.

"This debenture amendment would give agriculture the benefit of the tariff. It would raise the price of wheat 21 cents a bushel, that of corn 12 1/2 cents a bushel, that of cotton 2 cents a pound, above the world price. "It is the only possible way to give the producer of those commodities the benefit of the tariff. It is the only way to make the tariff on them effective.

"For instance, we have a tariff now of forty two cents a bushel on wheat. If the tariff were effective, wheat would be 42 cents a bushel higher in this country than in Canada or Great Britain. "But the market reports show May wheat selling at $1.27 a bushel in Kansas City, $1.45 in Winnipeg, Canada, and $1.48 in Liverpool, England. Thus instead of wheat being 42 cents a bushel higher in the United States, as it would be if the tariff on it were effective, it is 18 cents a bushel lower in Kansas City than in Winnipeg and 21 cents lower than in Liverpool. And even at Minneapolis and Chicago it was selling on the same day at $1.34, or 11 cents under Winnipeg, just across the line, and 12 cents under Liverpool.

"The tariff commission made a thorough investigation last year of the cost of raising wheat in this country and in Canada, and reported to the president that it cost 42 cents a bushel more to raise wheat in the United States than it does in Canada; hence the tariff on wheat was raised to 42 cents,—on paper.

"Now, if it cost 42 cents a bushel more to raise wheat in Kansas than it does in Canada, as the investigation showed it does, and wheat is 18 cents a bushel higher in Canada than it is in Kansas, then the Canadian farmer is making 60 cents a bushel more profit on his wheat than is the farmer in Kansas.

"The farmer is not asking for a bounty. All he wants is justice—equality with industry under the tariff, so long as we have the present tariff law.

"The debenture would make that tariff effective on agriculture and would give to the growers of wheat, corn, and cotton the benefits of the tariff now enjoyed by industry."

Contemporary Thought

NOW FOR THE CENSUS

Lamb County Leader: It won't be long now until the census takers will be abroad in the land, counting noses to determine the exact size of Uncle Sam's big family and gathering statistics covering everything under the sun.

It's a big job, and one as important as it is big. If the real facts are not brought out, census figures are misleading and pave the way for mistakes in the future. For that reason no one should regard the census-taker with suspicion, or furnish him with false statements or seek to evade answering his questions correctly. He is not sent out to over-value your property, to raise your taxes or to pry into your private affairs. For that reason full and free answers should always be made to the questions he will have to ask.

Our new census will be nothing more than a stock-taking of the nation and its resources—a guide for future development and improvement. The exact size of the nation, along with actual conditions of agriculture, stock-raising, industry and employment cannot be secured in any other way. And we profit in our daily lives through knowledge exactly how far we have progressed in 10 years, and what is needed to insure further progress. We feel sure everyone around Littlefield will cooperate with the census-takers when they start out on their task. It is just another way of demonstrating good citizenship and loyalty to the country and its institutions.

A HIGHWAY ARGUMENT

The Tullia Enterprise: When a Tullia motorist drives over a good road in preference to a sand or dirt road, he saves two cents a mile in tire and tube wear and consumption of gasoline. Some may dispute it, but the American Road Builders Association offers the figures after a year of experiment with every kind of tire and every type of road. The report explains that tractive resistance on paved roads is reduced, and that this resistance is what wears tires; the least amount of "pull" causes the least amount of tire wear. Where a car will go 15 miles to the gallon on a paved surface it has been found that 1.47 gallons are needed to cover the same distance on unpaved roads.

Right here is argument enough for paved roads, though a hundred other arguments just as good can be advanced. If motorists can save two cents a mile on paved roads then how long, considering the number of cars in operation in this state, would it take to pay off the added tax state-wide paving would cost? Not very long. Of course there is the saving in time to be considered, as well as the advantage of getting to market that could not be reached over poor roads. But leaving all this out, it seems to us that the mere fact that paved roads save car owners two cents a mile in tire wear and gasoline consumption is enough to warrant them in demanding still better highways than we now have. And it ought to be sufficient to silence the fellow who is willing to drive along in the same old rut rather than line up with the good roads boosters.

CORSICANA LAD CARRIES TEXAS FLAG IN CONTEST

Thurman Evans, Corsicana high school boy, who won first place in the contest to be Texas' candidate in the Edison scholarship contest, gets, certainly, a trip to Orange, N. J., and the Edison laboratory at the inventor's expense. There, in company with 48 other American youths, representing all the States and the District of Columbia, he will be given a questionnaire; and if he wins in that final competition by answering the questions most intelligently, he will be given a four-year course in a technical school. Then he will have the opportunity to carry on for one of the world's master workmen.

It a post-mortem examination of one or two chickens shows that the poultry flock has worms, 2 per cent by weight of finely powdered tobacco dust should be added to the dry mash. The dust should contain at least 1.5 per cent nicotine. This will control roundworms and also, to some extent, kill worms, and lessen the danger to young chicks and poulters next spring.

Dougherty News

(By Mrs. W. D. Newell)

One of the coldest spells in several years was experienced here the past two weeks. The climax being reached Friday night of last week, thermometers at this place registering seven degrees below. The old saying, "It's never so bad, but it could be worse," was experienced Wednesday night when it was discovered that the town was without water. Late in the afternoon the water began to fall in the water mains; it was thought that the tank was empty, although the gauge showed several feet of water in the tank before sundown. Efforts were made to pump fresh water into the mains that night but owing to the amount of ice in the lead pipes and pumps, the attempt was unsuccessful. Thursday morning the gauge still showed several feet of water in the tank. The booster pump was started, but was soon discovered that it wasn't throwing water. Upon investigation it was found that the 8-inch riser pipe, 100 feet high, leading to the standpipe was frozen solid. Preparations were then made to thaw this pipe out, but Friday brought a new blizzard and it was impossible to do anything that day, except to assemble equipment for use as soon as the weather permitted. Saturday morning the storm had broke and renewed efforts were started to thaw the ice when it was discovered the pipe was burst by the ice. Efforts were then made to get permission from the railroad officials for the use of their tank until repairs can be made on the city's tank. However, the storm had paid tribute to the telephone lines and it was late Saturday before permission was obtained. A bypass was installed at the railroad tank Sunday and water turned into the main lines late Sunday afternoon. This gives us water again, although not so great a pressure as that of the city's tank. When making connections at the railroad tank, it was discovered that the meter had frozen and burst. It is not known, at this time, whether or not there are others in the same condition; however, most everyone is having their own individual troubles with their pipes and faucets.

Church and School News

The Methodist conference will be held in the new church here next Saturday, January 25. Brother Beavers will preach on Friday night before conference or the night of the 24th.

A singing class was organized last Sunday night with Mr. Norman Payne as President and C. L. Lassiter as choir master. They plan to practice once a week and every Sunday night. We were fortunate in having as our guests the Stamps Trio, who are touring the country. The trio was composed of Clyde Burleson, alto; Cecil Gunn, leading part; and L. M. Brooks, bass.

The Stamps Trio will present a program in the school auditorium tonight, Tuesday, to be sponsored by the girls basket ball team.

A NEW AGE OF LUBRICATION BEGINS WITH THIS NEW MOTOR OIL CHARACTERISTIC:

"Penetrative Lubricity"*

CONOCO Alone Has this New Characteristic

Since the discovery of the wheel, lubrication has been a necessity and a problem. The first rude barrows which pre-historic men built, needed lubrication, and one of the brighter tribesmen began rubbing the axles of his primitive cart with raw animal meat.

With Watt's invention of the steam engine in 1763, metal-on-metal friction resulted. Then it was that animal and vegetable oil lubricants became definitely unsatisfactory. Their tendency to leave corrosive deposits ruled them out.

Mineral Oils Are Discovered

After the drilling of the first oil well in 1859, mineral oils became commercially successful. Because petroleum was plentiful and was freer from gumming and corroding tendencies, it rapidly supplanted animal and vegetable oils.

But since 1901 there have been practically no changes of fundamental importance in refining motor oils.

Now since 1901, think of the changes that have been made in motors! Probably the make of car you drive today was not even manufactured in 1901. Certainly its needs for oils are far more exacting!

The Development of Germ Process

Foreseeing that ordinary mineral oils would eventually fail to meet the increasing strains put upon them, Wells and Southcombe, two British scientists began a study of the problem which occupied 16 years. The result of their efforts was the isolation of the Germ Essence—a property that provides increased "oiliness" when introduced into mineral oils. These processes were patented and Continental acquired them exclusively for North America. Thus Continental brings you the first and only fundamentally better oil of the century!

Germ Process and Penetrative Lubricity

The Germ Process adds one startling characteristic to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oils. It enables them to penetrate metal surfaces! This means that an enduring oil film actually penetrates all working parts and clings under all conditions. In starting when 40% to 60% of motor wear occurs . . . in speeding when any failure of the film is fatal to motor life, remember this—the permanence of this film precludes any possibility of metal abrasion. The germ-essence naturally adds greater "oiliness" and we call that lubricity. So we have Penetrative Lubricity as the outstanding characteristic of this new oil.

When will you begin using CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil?

THE FOUR AGES OF LUBRICATION

Mother's noiseless alarm

gets Dad and John up earlier

"I get them up with one call now."

"I USED to have so much trouble getting those two up," Mrs. Burton told a neighbor. "Sometimes they wouldn't even hear the alarm clock. Other mornings they'd turn it off and go right back to sleep."

"Then you'd have to call them half a dozen times—like I do with Edward and his father," the neighbor put in, understandingly.

"Sometimes a dozen," Mrs. Burton added. "The breakfast would get cold and John would be late for school and his father for work. Oh, it was a fright."

"But those days are over. I get them up with one call now. Both of them love White Swan Coffee. I put two cups of coffee on a tray and set it on a table in their room. Then I wake them."

"You ought to see how the aroma of White Swan Coffee makes them come to life. Of course, I put it out of reach and they have to get up. You try that yourself—but be sure it's White Swan. It has an aroma and a flavor all its own."

Fathers and sons who rise to the occasion of breakfasting with White Swan Coffee always find that the promise in White Swan aroma is richly fulfilled in the satisfying flavor of every cup.

Skillful roasting and blending—the result of more than a half century of experience—completely develops and nicely balances the flavors of selected native coffees in achieving the famous White Swan blend.

White Swan Coffee always comes to you with its flavor fresh. Fresh, not only from the sealed tin in which it is packed, but fresh from the roaster. Prompt distribution is effected through 22 Waples Platter Houses strategically located to serve the 10,000 White Swan dealers. USE LIGHTS TO TRAP APPLE MOTHS IN N. Y. ORCHARDS

Experiments in California in using electric lights to trap codling moths in orchards are followed in New York where near Hilton 100 apple trees, each equipped with an insect trap and an electric light, are being used in a campaign against the apple bud-moth, another pestiferous insect to orchardists. Last year 34 trees similarly protected reduced the bud-moth crop by 60,000 and in addition 40,000 fruit-tree leaf rollers. Examination showed the trees so protected suffered 10 per cent less injury than those unprotected, and the experiment is being enlarged this year.

Poem Presented This Week First Of Long Series

On the Editorial Page this week, the Hesperian presents the first of a series of Poems on Childhood and Home, by Lawrence Hawthorne. In this delightful series, you will find poems of Sadness and of Cheer; of Dream Castles and of Memories; Poems of Old Age and of Youth. Regardless of your desires in poetry, you should find just the poem that you have been seeking in this series.

The title of this week's poem is "Folks." The Hesperian invites you to watch the Editorial Page each week for these gems.

Center News

Center, Jan. 21. — Well, this weather is beginning to get stale but I guess if it will be sure enough spring when that time of year comes, we will forget all about this terrible weather we are having now.

Had about twenty-five out to Sunday School Sunday and about a dozen more out for the night services.

A number of our folks went to Campbell to singing Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Spence took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jordan.

Miss Effie Noland spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Vergie Mae Dennis.

It has kept Marion Carpenter busy this cold weather doctoring the sick automobiles. The most seriously ailed were Rev. Weathers, C. O. Spence's and Mr. Veache's.

We had no school Friday on account of the terrible snow storm that was on for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence spent last Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

Roy O'Brien and Lee Golightly called at the Jordan home Sunday afternoon.

Bascom Fields visited J. B. Jordan last Sunday.

Hansel McCada got his car stalled in a snow drift Saturday night and had to leave it until day light.

Miss Vergie Mae Dennis spent Sunday night with Miss Alma Montgomery.

Next Sunday is our regular church day. The pastor expects to be in the pulpit at all services with Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. at their regular hours.

G. H. Jackson was a Floydada caller today.

Several of our community have had to replenish the coal supply during this spell.

AMERICAN SHIPPING SMALL BESIDE FOREIGN FLEET

Despite the continued growth of shipping in every country in the world, the United States fleets, both passenger and freight, continue to be dwarfed in comparison to those of other countries, according to Webb Waldron, writer, who has just completed a world tour in freight vessels.

Describing the vast interchange of goods between the United States and foreign markets, Waldron points out, in The American Magazine, that of the 32,000 ships in the world, 28,000 are in freight service. The United States ships of more than 1,000 tons number only 2,000, and of these 200 are passenger carriers.

"Perhaps," Waldron says, "Americans would think more of its sea commerce if they could visit foreign ports and get the thrill of seeing American goods exchanged everywhere. I saw the ship Exchester at Palermo discharge over one rail fifty boxes of Pittsburg tin plate and take on over the other two hundred crates of Sicilian olive oil timed in Pittsburg tin. At Leghorn, Italy, the Exchester put ashore forty-four cases of hat leathers made in Connecticut and took on seventy cases of Leghorn hats sewed with Connecticut hat leathers. Another ship at Marseilles discharged forty-five cases of automobile tires addressed to Sama-rang, Java, and loaded two hundred cases of Javanese rubber consigned to Akron, Ohio.

"Perhaps the apple grower of Yakima Valley would get a thrill as I did when a band of Oriental stevedores swarmed up our ship as we anchored off Alexandria, Egypt, and lifted out into the dazzling

Egyptian sunshine two hundred boxes of ruddy Puget Sound apples.

"So the freighters — box cars of the seas — go their obscure ways, linking up the commerce of the world. They touch the lives of all of us."

Floyd County Clubs

CAMPBELL DEMONSTRATION CLUB

Campbell Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. R. H. Ashton on Tuesday afternoon, January 21. Each member answered the roll call by naming one product that they would like to standardize for the market.

Plans for the club's funds for the year were discussed. The program for the afternoon was on "Making Money at Home." Mrs. R. H. Ashton discussed "Products in the country being marketed and how." "Possibilities of home marketing" was discussed by Mrs. Stiles. Following the talks, a round table discussion was held.

The Campbell club presented their ex-president, Mrs. R. H. Ashton, with a beautiful gift. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Clarence Ashton, a member of the club who recently married.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. W. H. Bethel on February 4. The subject for that meeting will be on "The garden plot and the hot bed."

STARKEY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETING

The Starkey home demonstration club met Thursday, January 16 with Mrs. Efford Parish. Miss Strange gave an interesting talk on this year's work after which refreshments were served. The meeting was greatly enjoyed by all present.

BLANCO DEMONSTRATION MEETING POSTPONED

The Blanco Home Demonstration Club did not have its regular meeting last Thursday because of the inclement weather. The next meeting will be at 2:00 p. m. Thursday, February 6, at the home of Mrs. L. C. Wheeler. "The Garden Plot and the Hot Bed" will be the subject. The roll call will be answered with, "The new vegetable that I intend to plant this year." Miss Strange will be present and give a demonstration on making a hot bed. Let's have one hundred per cent attendance.

SAND HILL CLUB DISCUSSES FRUIT PLOT AND GARDEN

The Sand Hill Home Demonstration Club's first meeting of 1930, held on January 1 at the club room, was given over to round table discussion of the things the club wants to accomplish during the year of 1930, and in spite of a very cold day gardeners had a very great deal of the discussing, each one planning for a better garden this year than ever before.

Seven regular members were present, two new members and one visitor.

We sincerely invite every woman in the community to attend club on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

Local And Personal

Mrs. Buck Sullivan is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. O. L. and R. C. Sullivan spent the afternoon of Monday with Mrs. H. A. Finley.

Judge L. C. Penry left Tuesday evening for Fort Worth, Brady, and Farwell, to be gone several days on professional business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. U. White have been in Abilene this week while consulting specialists for Mrs. White's health.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman left the first of the week for Mineral Wells, where they plan to spend a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nevius, who have been here for a few weeks visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Tubbs and other relatives, left Sunday for their home at Sacramento, California. Miss Ruby White accompanied them and will visit with friends for an indefinite time.

GAS IS FUEL FOR OVER 14,000,000 AMERICAN HOMES

More than 14,000,000 American homes are now served by gas, according to survey by the American Gas Association. The exact total, 14,560,000, is divided between manufactured and natural gas 10,830,000 for the former and 3,730,000 for the latter.

Gas has become the chief cooking fuel, the survey figures show, with approximately 13,000,000 gas ranges in service.

Coal and wood are used for cooking purposes by 8,290,000 families, second to gas. Six million use oil and 590,000 use electricity.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Although the pastor will be away next Sunday the services at the Baptist church are to be held on schedule. A suitable supply will be engaged for the preaching hours. We hope the attendance will continue to hold up in spite of the very bad weather which has prevailed for the past several days. Last Sunday we had very fine congregations at all services, considering the weather conditions. There were 252 in Sunday school in time to be counted, and 137 were present at the B. Y. P. U's.

The pastor will be away for a week or ten days in a revival meeting with the First Baptist church at Santa Rosa, New Mexico. All regular features of our program will be carried on as usual. The pastor expects to be back for the services on the First Sunday in February.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Considering the weather there was a large attendance present at the City Park Church of Christ last Sunday.

Bible Study begin at 10 o'clock, preaching services at 11 o'clock. At 6:30 every Sunday evening we have an evening Bible Class, then the evening service at 7:30. Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. We are studying the book of Second Samuel now and you will enjoy the lessons if you will attend. The Ladies Bible class meets every Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. You are earnestly invited to attend each of these services.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

82 per cent of resident church members enrolled in Bible school. 79 1/2 per cent of Sunday school enrolled present last Sunday.

65 per cent of resident church members present last Sunday in Bible school.

Monday afternoon Council 12 in attendance. Tuesday night Christian Endeavor in business at Parsonage.

Wednesday night Bible school workers Conference to determine program for 1930.

Preaching Sunday morning: "What think ye of Christ?"

Sunday night: "Adam, where art Thou?"

Claude Wingo, Pastor.

MT. BLANCO BAPTIST CHURCH

G. W. Tubbs, Pastor
Preaching by the pastor Saturday night, 7 o'clock.

Sunday School 10 a. m., B. Y. P. U. at 7 p. m.

Preaching Sunday morning at 11 a. m., and Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

G. T. Palmer, Pastor

The attendance at Sunday School last Sunday was very fine. As soon as the weather fair up we should have at least four hundred in attendance. We are certainly grateful for the splendid work which is being done. Bigger and better is the slogan adopted by the school, and your earnest co-operation is desired in order that this worthy program may be carried out. We are going to count on you being in your place the coming Sunday.

Preaching by the pastor at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. We shall be glad to have you worship with us morning or night. Visitors are welcome to all the services of our church. We have had six additions to the church the last two Sundays, and we appreciate these who have come into the fellowship of the church. There are many others who should come, and we give them a cordial invitation to come at the first opportunity.

The three Epworth Leagues will meet as usual, and each Leaguer is urged to be present.

ELDER SMITH TO PREACH AT WALL ST. CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elder C. W. Smith will preach at the Wall Street Church of Christ next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock A. M. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The Christian Endeavor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will meet Sunday, January 26 and render the following program:

Topic—"What is our church planning this year?"

Scripture—Acts 2:41-47; 13:1-3.

Leader—Pierce King.

Topics for discussion: "What new way is there of backing our minister more loyally?"

—Jean Bain.

"What is a good way to increase the attendance of our Christian Endeavor?"—Ruth Rutledge.

"What do you think are the greatest blessings we get from the Church?"—Russell King.

"Fifteen minutes will be spent in a 'Mystery Meeting.'"

Business.

Endeavor benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Scoggin and daughters, Mary Lou and Charlotte Ray, spent Monday night and Tuesday visiting Mrs. Scoggin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dickey, and other relatives. Mrs. J. E. Dickey returned home with them.

Hesperian Readers Last Week Receive 68 Columns News

Readers of the Hesperian last week were given more than sixty-eight columns of news and feature items, presented in a sixteen page edition. This figure represents nearly ten solid pages of news and features, or a total of 1360 inches.

The Hesperian usually averages from fifty to seventy-five columns of news and features each week. The average size of the Hesperian is twelve to sixteen pages, although special editions occasionally run as high as twenty-eight pages.

DESPISED FACE WASHING CHILD'S PLEASURE NOW

Stormy scenes at face-washing, hair-brushing and manicuring hour for children are gradually disappearing and much hated tasks are becoming a pleasure now, says Helen Rawson Cades, beauty expert, in Woman's Home Companion.

Modern mothers instead of letting their own appearance run down, keep up with their toilet activities and the children, always imitative, are eager to learn the methods of grown-up grooming. Brightly colored toilet articles, such as brushes, combs and manicure sets and pleasant smelling toilet preparations enable the children to have actual fun in performing their little duties, add Miss Cades. She also observes that instilling the desire to be a properly groomed child does not make it vain, but conscious of being in good taste.

Mothers cannot afford to act as a example of carelessness, either with themselves or in developing children's habits.

"Many a girl has her mother to blame for a mouth that even a lipstick can't love, and many a man wears a moustache because his mother couldn't bear to make him take his finger out of his mouth," the writer concludes.

Seeing Power Decreases With Age

The gradual decrease in ocular power which accompanies age is no more contrary to nature than it is for the hair to turn gray, the teeth to become defective or the muscles to weaken.

Artificial aid is to be expected as age advances and should be resorted to at the first indication of failing sight. Call and let us fit your eyes with glasses they require.

Dear a. nonimous:-
Please, oh, please, a. n., don't leave us poor old Floyd County folks out here in the cold to freeze, while you are basking in the warm New Mexico sunshine. It ain't fair to us nor to anybody else. You are forgiven for what you said Sunday. Why, if you will notice, I didn't even say a word in my 'Round the Square column this week about what you said Sunday. Just because I got what I asked for you won't hear me say "I told you so". It may be because I'm just so awfully dumb. Anywhat, please come back, and don't never leave us again.

—Old Battleaxe.

(Unscrambling the above communication and Old Battle Axe's reply: The communication came in with the news from The Baptist Church where a middlin' tall preacher is pastor. Old Battle Axe was so pleased that he could figure it out that he wanted to make the letter and his reply the leading story in the church column and put a streamer head on it. But the church column is one place we haven't let Old Battle Axe bust into yet.—Ed.)

Demand For Sargon Breaks All Records

Famous Medicine Rapidly Becoming Household Word Throughout America—24 Carloads Sold in 25 Days in 27 States—Overwhelming Demand the One Great Outstanding Proof of Its Wonderful Merit.

Most medicines are sold by the dozen or by the gross. A few are sold in larger quantities, but think of a medicine that sells in such enormous quantities that wholesale dealers are forced to buy it in solid carload lots to supply a demand that has been so phenomenal as to almost stagger the imagination.

That's just what has happened with Sargon, the celebrated new medicine that is now sweeping the country like a great tidal wave. Not only is the trade buying it in carload lots, but they are buying carload after carload, each car containing over 20,000 bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills.

Twenty-four carloads in 25 days sold in only 27 states is the amazing record recently made by these wonderful medicines.

In the State of California where Sargon was introduced in April of last year, it has required 21 carloads to supply the ever increasing demand in this one state alone. Texas dealers required 9 carloads in only four months.

A single New York firm, with wholesale branches in leading cities, is selling at the rate of over a Million and a Quarter bottles a year.

"Phenomenal and bewildering" is the way one of the big drug jobbers of the country describes the marvelous demand for Sargon.

"It's the greatest seller within the memory of the oldest members of our organization," said another.

"We are selling more Sargon than any other ten medicines put together," said still another.

And so it is everywhere Sargon has been introduced. From Coast to Coast and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, Sargon is known and honored.

Million upon millions have used it and have told other millions what it has done for them. When suffering men and women find a medicine that helps them, they naturally want to tell their friends about it and in this way Sargon is fast becoming a household word throughout America.

Some of Tudor Design Distinctive In Appearance; Also Conveniencies

Well-Planned Home Is Novel Yet Inexpensive

Well Planned Interior of "The Grixdale" Has Ideal Arrangement of Many Conveniencies.

The family who desire a home of novel and distinctive architecture yet comfortable and conveniently arranged will be interested in the Grixdale which is illustrated in an adjacent column.

Here is a dwelling that has all of the charm of the Tudor design. Its half timber and stucco walls are in keeping with modern tendencies. The floor layouts are strictly up to the minute.

The man who wants his garage attached to the house will be pleased with the Grixdale for this convenience has been embodied in its plans. The garage is situated at the rear and is not in evidence from the front.

Not only is the Grixdale well arranged but it contains many of those modern touches that appeal to the family. Closets—the desire of every housewife—are provided in abundance. Electrical outlets are found in each room and side wall brackets for lighting prove both practical and ornamental.

Not Expensive
All of these conveniencies are secured in this attractive dwelling of five rooms, bath and attached garage for a sum that the average man can afford. The exact cost of the structure depends on a number of factors, yet this as a home is worthy of being considered by the family who are paying $50.00 or more monthly as rent.

Best of all, this dwelling has been constructed and proven its worth under actual living conditions. It is not an untried house but one that has eminently met the requirements of an exacting household.

Pleasing Exterior
The stucco walls of the building have been finished with an expressive decorative design, showing in the texture of the material swirls and swirls which liven the usual deadness of grey-white stucco.

The front entrance door is severly plain, containing six little panes of glass to form a "peekhole." The stoop is of flagstones. There is no shelter overhead, a heavy beam forming a head and relieving the plainness that would otherwise ensue.

Within the door is a small vestibule with a large closet for storing overcoats, rubbers, umbrellas and the like.

Spacious Living Room
The ample living room which one enters through the vestibule contains a fireplace of unusual attractiveness. The hearth is made of flagstones. Blocks of native stone are used on the face of the fireplace. Instead of a broad mantel a narrow moulding defines its upper limits.

Handsome electric light brackets flank each side of the fireplace as well as the plaster arch which separates the living room from the dining room.

At one end of the living room is the staircase leading to the floor above.

The living room is well lighted by casement windows which may be flung open during the hot summer days, thereby catching any air that is stirring. The slender muntin bars and small rectangle panes lend a pleasant aspect to the vista seen through the casements.

Built-In Features
One of the features of the cozy little dining room which faces the front of the house is the built-in cupboards, handily placed in two corners of the room near the swinging door leading to the kitchen. These cabinets are ample enough to hold the dishes, silver and glassware of the family.

Another door leads to the pleasant side porch, the roof of which was formed by continuing the roof of the house down and out in a graceful curve.

Behind the dining room is the kitchen, a well arranged little room with two pantry cases, large enough to hold the kitchen utensils. A recess in the back wall contains the ice-box which is provided with an icing door in the wall so that the iceman can deliver ice without entering the kitchen—a decided convenience in stormy weather when otherwise he would track in mud and water.

The service entry has a door leading into the garage which holds one car. The floor of the garage is concrete and a drain is provided for waste water. A ramp of easy incline leads from the garage floor to the concrete drive outside.

Plenty of Closet Space

On the second floor are two chambers, each of which contain two closets. Cross ventilation is afforded each room by placing windows on two sides. These windows are also of the casement type, the ventilator leaves swinging outward. Side wall lighting fixtures and outlet plugs are also found in each of these sleeping rooms.

Off the hall on the second floor is an open deck, guarded by a hand railing. This makes a convenient lounging place and could be satisfactorily used as a sleeping porch on hot summer nights.

The bathroom is so placed that it is but a step from the bedrooms. Here is located a built-in tub and a small closet for towels and linens. The medicine cabinet is lighted by two wall lights, located one on each side of the cabinet.

Basement Well Arranged
Below in the basement is the heating room with the coal bin adjacent. The heater is of the warm air type, so located that the air ducts are short. Comfort is assured the home owner.

The laundry is walled off from the rest of the cellar so that flying coal and ash dust does not gather on the clothes that may be hung in the room. A heavy batten door provides entrance to this room.

Off the laundry is a small fruit cellar where canned fruits, preserves and jellies may be stored for winter use.

ADVANTAGES OF ATTACHED GARAGES DURING WINTER

During cold winter weather the advantages of having the garage attached to the house becomes evident. The car is kept under shelter in a mild temperature, the motor starts easily, the grease in the transmission and gear shift remains soft and the owner keeps under shelter while seeking the car.

Summer rains also do not inconvenience the owner who keeps his car in the attached garage. He enters or leaves his car without combating the elements.

When the home is located on sloping grounds it is often possible to locate the garage in the basement of the house. The grade from the drive to the basement garage should be gentle for it is otherwise, rain water or melting snows might cause an accumulation of waste water. Under these conditions an extra drain would be necessary.

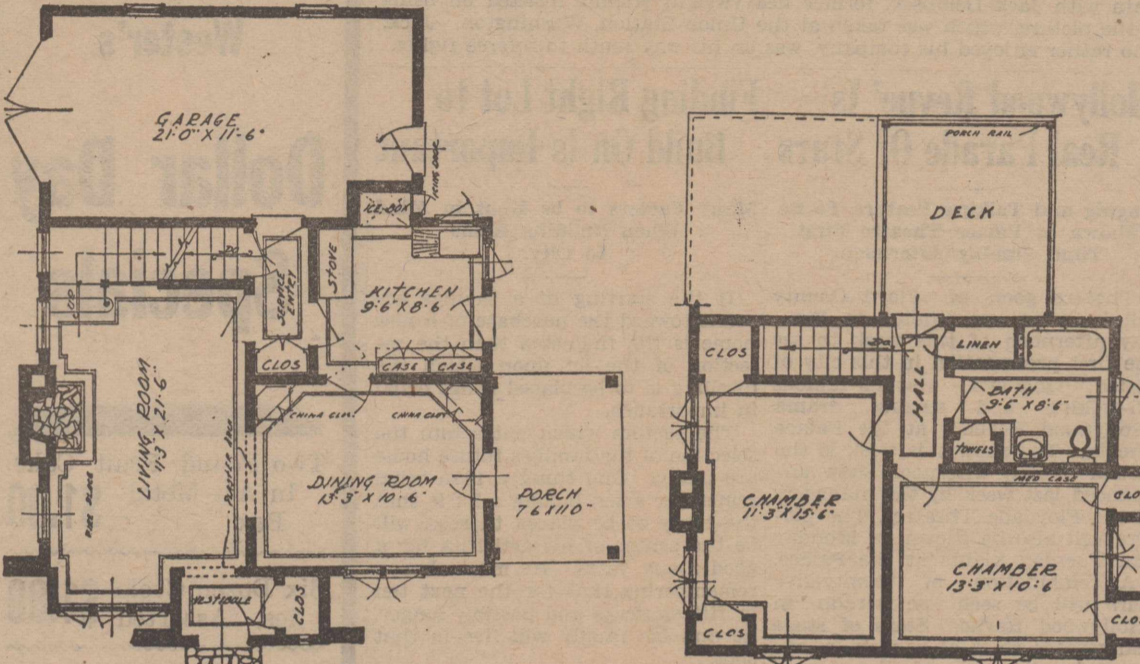

Insurance regulations and often the fire preventative ordinances of many cities insist that the walls between the garage and the house proper be built of fire-resisting material. The ceiling of the garage should also be lined with asbestos-board, plaster on metal lath or similar arrangement that will meet the approval of the inspectors.

Construct the garages large enough to include a work bench so that simple repairs can be made near the car. The side walls should contain two or more windows as good lighting is essential when working on the car.

I. P. & P. CO. DISPOSES OF NEWSPAPER INTERESTS

International Paper & Power Co., whose stock interest in several newspapers caused a furor on the part of the press and public when the fact transpired, announces that it has sold all of its interests in the newspapers. A. R. Graustein, president, contended that the purchases were made solely to obtain contracts for the output of the International's paper mills, and that there was never any purpose of control or influence editorial or news policies.

Beauty and Comfort in 'The Grixdale'

Beauty and Comfort in modern homes are combined to a distinctive advantage in "The Grixdale," shown above. Here is a dwelling that has all of the charm of the Tudor design. Its half timber and stucco walls are in keeping with modern

Helpful Suggestions For The Home Builder

Modern Homes Have Many Tried And Tested Advantages Over Old Styles.

High Kitchen Sink
Many domestic science experts insist that the height of the average kitchen sink is entirely too low for the housewife, causing her undue fatigue when washing dishes and otherwise using the sink.

The exact height may best be determined by the lady of the house herself. Usually the sink is placed 36 inches from the floor but this may be varied to meet conditions. In matters of this sort it is always wise to consult with the one who is going to use it.

Sound-Proof The Floors.
If the man of the house is a radio fan and likes to fish for D-X at night long after the rest of the family has retired, provision should be made to sound-proof the second floor so that he can pursue his pastime untroubled by the thoughts that his search for distant stations is keeping the other members of the family awake.

To soundproof the walls of the new home, lay strips of cellular material on top of the joists and lay the rough flooring over these. Then put heavy felt between the rough and finish flooring.

Make certain also that the doors to the sleeping chambers are tight. These precautions should aid in keeping out unwelcome noises from the floor below.

There are other methods of sound-proofing but this should prove to be satisfactory and economical.

Paint Wood Trim
The question often arises as to whether the wooden trim shall be painted on the back before it is nailed to the wall. This is not necessary but is advisable.

The advantage of painting the trim on the back lies in its protection from moisture. Wood will readily absorb moisture and then swell and warp. Paint wards off this condition and allows the wood trim to remain in its original condition.

The trim should be nailed to the wall only when the plaster is entirely dry. By following this rule there will be little chance for moisture to penetrate into the trim.

Fit Screens When Building
With the arrival of spring one of the annual duties of the home owner is to bring the screens out of the storeroom in the basement, inspect

MODERN TREND ELIMINATES LARGE OPEN FRONT PORCH

Modern architectural design seems to be eliminating the older open porches which were once so common. This is especially true of the front porch which is now superseded by the small stoop with a tiny shelter overhead.

A variety of reasons are given. The broad front porch, for instance, often casts deep shadows and darkens the interior of the house. Its

'Hollywood Revue' Is Real Parade Of Stars

Singing and Talking Feature To Be Shown at Palace Theatre First Time Sunday Afternoon.

Theatre goers of Floyd County will have an opportunity on Sunday afternoon of this week to see the first presentation in this city of Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's famous all-talking and singing drama "Hollywood Revue" at the Palace Theatre. The show this week is the second Sunday afternoon show announced last week by the managers of the Floydada Theatres. The picture will also be shown on Monday and Tuesday nights at the Palace. A combination of twenty-five stars will be seen on parade in "Hollywood Revue." Stars of stage and screen; stars of vaudeville, opera and radio; stars of all our wonderful twentieth century amusement media will be seen in what has been declared the greatest cast ever assembled.

It is a Ziegfeld, Earl Carroll and George White show rolled into one with many deft motion picture touches, and because it is a motion picture, many cities and towns of the country off the beaten track of road productions, will witness a great revue of revues for the first time.

Sound technique's rapid development, the startling success of "The Broadway Melody," the transposition of Broadway's stage and musical comedy stars as well as its "tin pan alley" to Hollywood—all these backed by the resources of a great studio, have wrought this wonder.

M - G - M's "Hollywood Revue" more than redeems the promise of "musical movies" made with the first talking picture. For example:

Marion Davies makes her talking screen debut in a song and dance number supported by a male chorus of six-footers. She sings and she tap dances in a way to make the greatest tap-dancing stars of the stage look to their honors. Conrad Nagel makes his screen debut as a singer and appears in a new role, that of interlocutor in a minstrel number.

MARYLAND MOTHER TRADES CORN COBS FOR HAIRCUTS

Mrs. Evelyn Harris, wife of a Maryland farmer, has found a way to finance the upkeep of bobbed hair. She trades corn cobs for haircuts.

"Farm money was scarce and I found that haircuts for myself and five children were expensive," she says in an article in Farm & Fireside. "One day I heard the village barber's wife wishing for some corn cobs to use as fuel and I asked her if her husband would be willing to trade twelve haircuts for a truck load of cobs. He was willing and for the cobs that would have been wasted we had two haircuts all around."

"I have to pay transportation to get my children to high school. I paid that last winter in corn cobs, too. Schools need good kindling. Aside from the trades I made for corn cobs, I persuaded a book publisher to take six fryers, dressed, for a set of nature books and in a parcel post trade I got several good magazines for the children in exchange for apples."

"But my star swap," concluded the writer, "was when I persuaded a city woman to exchange a fine, fresh permanent wave for a lot of laying hens."

Finding Right Lot to Build On Is Important

Many Factors to be Kept in Mind When Building Home In City.

If the starting of a savings account toward the purchase of a new home is the first step then the selection of the lot upon which the dwelling is to be placed ranks equal in importance.

The factors which enter into the selection of the family's future home are many. One thing a man must remember when buying a lot is that the home to be placed thereon will be the center of his activities for a good many years. He must choose, remembering that for the next ten or fifteen years and possibly longer, he and his family will live in that spot.

If this fact is kept to the fore when the selection is being made, a number of sites will be looked over with certain practical consideration in mind.

Keep Income in Mind
The lot must be selected with land values that are commensurate with the pocket book of the family. The income of the wage earner will determine to a large extent the price that can be paid for the lot. If he is making a good salary or wage, he can afford to pay more than if his income is low.

Usually the price of a lot is determined by its location with reference to the main section of the city. If the lot is in a built-up neighborhood where transportation is good, all improvements are made, and stores are convenient, it is more costly than the lot on the edge of town. Sometimes a small lot may be found conveniently located; then the problem is the decision whether one in an outlying district, whether the increased light and air is more desirable than the central location.

Often the lots on the edge of town are lacking in some of the improvements—water, paving, sidewalks, street-lighting, electricity or gas. If these must be installed later, the additional expense must be considered.

Sometimes the deed to the lot will contain restrictive clauses that will work to your detriment. Or there may be restrictive clauses in the deeds of other lots on the street or in the block. Your lot or block may be restricted while across the street objectionable buildings may be erected.

Often the deeds state that only a house of a certain minimum value may be erected on the lot. Can the family afford to erect a house of this minimum value?

Find out also if the restrictions are perpetual or for the duration of a certain number of years. The restrictions that protect you should be in force for the length of time that you propose to live in the district or otherwise you may be left unprotected.

When there are children in the family it is well to purchase a lot with their requirements in mind. The school should be located within easy walking distance. And there must be no dangerous streets to cross.

Should Be Satisfactory

The lot should be satisfactory for building. The character of the soil, the drainage, the grading and the filling are determining factors. A low lot may be marshy or cause dampness in the basement. If it has been filled with debris, the cost of the foundations may run high, or the building may settle after construction. Where grading or filling is necessary the cost of this should be estimated and added to the cost of the land, for sooner or later this expense will be incurred. The character of the soil is important for a lawn must be grown, flower beds, plants and often the trees set out. These are essential to the finishing of the house and their importance must not be overlooked.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Levelland spent the week end here visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Blacklock. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Blacklock are sisters.
