By Moslem Demonstrators...
 Soviet Embassy Hit

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—As many as 10,000 demonstrators marched on the Soviet Embassy today, tore down and burned the Russians' flag and replaced it with an Islamic banner to protest the communists' invasion of Afghanistan. They also labeled Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev a madman, but were driven away by revolutionary guardsmen who fired automatic rifles over their heads. Another 5,000 protesters demonstrated and burned a Soviet flag in Mashad, in eastern Iran near the Afghan border, the official Pars news agency reported. It said both the Tehran and Mashad groups were made up of Afghan residents of Iran. Close to 100 of the Tehran demonstrators, who were led by Moslem clergymen from Afghanistan, stepped inside the embassy gate and read a statement condemning the Soviet for its invasion last week of Afghanistan. The invasion put a new Soviet puppet in power in Kabul, then broadened into an attack upon the 20-month-old Moslem revolt against Afghanistan's communist government.

The mob approached from the direction of Tehran University, where it reportedly assembled, and after leaving the walled Soviet compound went to protest in front of the occupied U.S. Embassy. The marchers chanted, "Down With U.S. and U.S.S.R. Plots." "Americans and the Soviet Union are the Enemies of our People." "The Hammer and Sickle and the Red Star are No Longer Effective and the Mad Brezhnev Doesn't Know It." One banner read "Afghanistan is the Vietnam of the Soviet Union." The Soviet Embassy was well guarded by revolutionary guardsmen who

New Year's Day still means football to many fans, but it doesn't have the corner on post-season market that it did back in the thirties and forties—or even earlier.

The New Year's Day games were "the" attraction in those days. The Rose Bowl, of course, was the starting point, but by the thirties, the Sugar Bowl, Sun Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl had joined the ranks, and some people thought the bowl situation was getting out of hand. Incidentally, the Sun Bowl is the oldest bowl game in Texas and the third oldest in the country, being out-ranked only by the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl in longevity.

Anyway, the ultimate in prestige was the Rose Bowl, and until SMU cracked the elite circle in 1935, this part of the country was virtually ignored at bowl selection time. That same season TCU lost only one game and got invited to the Sugar Bowl where it won a 3-2 decision over Louisiana State. SMU lost its only Rose Bowl game (and the only one for a Southwest Conference team) to Stanford, 7-0. Shortly thereafter, the conference made a pact to send its champion to the Cotton Bowl each year.

Our "ask us" question about a Cotton Bowl game the other day got some response. Harry Stevens says he was an eyeball witness to the episode in which Dickie Maegle of Rice was tackled by an Alabama player who leaped off the bench.

Also, John Cline reports that he was at the game, but missed that play because "a man who must have weighed somewhere in the neighborhood of the poundage of a bale of cotton, and in a matching overcoat, jumped to his feet and started yelling Maegle on. By the time I got to where I could see, the play was already over."

Cline said he had one of those end zone seats that some of the TV networks seem to like when covering games these days. He did not get to see the Dickie Maegle play until some three years later when it was shown on the Ed Sullivan TV show.

He is opposed to end zone TV shots at football games and big fans with baggy overcoats who refuse to remain seated when an exciting play develops on the field.

Now that New Year's Day, 1980, has arrived, we've already watched several bowl games, and there are more to come. And the powers that be won't dare select the "national champion" college team till the major bowl games have been played. It would be embarrassing to have a No. 1 team lose a lopsided decision to an inferior entry on New Year's Day.

Q—Why doesn't the city tarp its trucks?
 A—The law states that as long as the material being hauled in the truck is at least six inches from the top of the truck bed no tarp is required, said City Manager John Gayle. He added the city tries to abide by that minimum six-inch requirement.

Gold Prospers; Dollar Declines

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a great decade for gold, and an even better one for silver. For the dollar, it was a decade best forgotten.

Gold, which traded at $36 an ounce as 1969 ended, ended 1979 at $533 in New York, an increase of 1,381 percent. Silver closed in New York on Monday at $34.45 an ounce, up 1,814 percent from the $1.80 that prevailed at the end of 1969.

But it was a different story for the U.S. dollar, which reigned supreme over the world's economy when the 1960s ended. During the 1970s, the dollar fell 64 percent against the Swiss franc, 53 percent against the German mark, 33 percent against the Japanese yen and 28 percent against the French franc.

The drop in the value of the dollar reflected a rate of inflation almost unthinkable a decade ago—consumer prices doubled during the decade—and the continuing inability of the United States to end a

The Snyder area made its share of news in 1979, with major stories commanding state-wide and national attention and ranging from noteworthy achievements to crime and tragedy.

As the old year came to a close, the SDN news staff held its annual election and named its version of the "Top 10" local news stories of 1979.

Some of the bigger stories involved continuing activities that made the news pages over a period of weeks and even months.

And the year was only a few days old before the No. 1 story of the year—the year's biggest crime story—unfolded. Ranked No. 1 was the armed robbery and slaying on Jan. 12 at Gibson's Discount Center, which resulted in the death of Juan Garcia, the store manager. Subsequently Larry Bryant Williams and David Dell Rivera pleaded guilty to charges stemming from this incident and received prison terms of 75 years and 60 years, respectively.

Ranked No. 2 for the year was the big tax story of 1979. The year saw the organization of the Scurry County Taxpayers Association, much more than normal interest in meetings of local boards and commissions as they dealt with tax matters, and increased attendance at meetings of boards of tax equalization. Also included in the tax story of 1979 were two tax suits filed against the Snyder Independent School District by Jonisue and Lawson Stiff, protesting valuations. One of these was still pending at the end of the year.

The news story ranked as No. 3 for the year was the Hermleigh School Consolidation election. This issue was raised in the fall of 1978, but the vote came on Jan. 20, 1979. Following an active campaign by both proponents and opponents, the proposal to consolidate the Hermleigh School District with the Snyder School District was rejected. Hermleigh voters turned it down, 221 to 107, and Snyder voters opposed it, 455 to 208.

No. 4 on the list of top news stories of 1979 was etched by the Western Texas College basketball team. The Westerners won the Western Junior College Conference, the Regional Tournament and then placed fourth in the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament at Hutchinson, Kan.

Greg Stewart of the Westerners was named to the All-NJCAA Tournament Team.

Ranked 5th on the list of big local news stories was another significant achievement. The Snyder High School Drama Department won a state championship in University Interscholastic League competition at Austin. It was the seventh state title in the one-act play event since Jerry Worsham became director in 1968. Named to the all-star cast for their roles in "Macbeth" were Bryan Lewallen and Nell Sears. Sherrilyn Campbell, Donna Browning and Nova Love received honorable mention.

Placing 6th was a series of cases of drug overdoses which occurred here in late May and early June.

No. 7 on the list was the record cotton crop produced in Scurry County and which was still being harvested at the end of the year.

In eighth place was a series of public meetings conducted by the Snyder School Board to discuss a proposal to "pair" elementary schools. These proved to be somewhat stormy sessions and, following the meetings which brought out strong opposition, the proposal

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The words of the late Sam Rayburn, the legendary Speaker of the House, are not carved in stone anywhere on Capitol Hill but they will echo forever through the halls of Congress: "If you want to get along, go along."

Nowhere has that terse homily about securing and retaining friendship, power and influence been taken more seriously than in the ethics committees of the House and Senate.

Throughout the 1960s and 1970s, "going along" in dealing with allegations of colleagues' ethical, moral and legal transgressions has meant ignoring, rejecting or minimizing any suggestion that lawmakers, like other mortals, might have character flaws.

The Senate Committee on Standards and Conduct, established in mid-1964, was forced to conduct one major investigation in 1967, then virtually disappeared from sight for more than a decade.

The House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, formed in the spring of 1968, spent most of its first decade of its existence drafting sympathetic legal opinions endorsing various schemes devised by legislators to circumvent the law.

The House committee's first publicized cases were hardly models of zealous reform. They involved allegations that Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., and journalist Daniel Schorr breached House security guidelines when they disclosed information that the public had a right to know.

The committee finally undertook a legitimate investigation, involving alleged misconduct by Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., but it opened that probe only after Common Cause found an obscure legal provision that allowed it to force the investigation.

Throughout that period, Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., was a leader in the campaign for tough ethical standards, but when it came time to designate the committee chairman he inevitably was passed over in favor of someone more sympathetic to Sam Rayburn's credo.

The authoritative Almanac of American Politics describes Bennett as a man who "enjoys a reputation for probity and attention to duty which is second to none in the House," then explains why his colleagues were nervous about the prospect of Bennett as chairman: "There was a feeling that he was too much of a stickler for propriety. He opposes unofficial office accounts, outside income for members and congressional pay raises, which led one colleague to call him 'a bit too pious.'"

But Bennett continued to accumulate seniority during a period when a series of scandals involving House members led to heightened public cynicism about the congressional tradition of soul-cleansing exercises that were long a ritual but short on substance.

When the 96th Congress convened early this year, Bennett no longer could be denied the committee chairmanship. During his first year in that position, he has provided the integrity, dignity and independence that the committee long has lacked.

On the other side of the Capitol, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., has been only slightly less successful in establishing meaningful peer review under his chairmanship of the Select Committee on Ethics.

Stevenson's greatest success undoubtedly was forcing a full-scale investigation into certain improper financial transactions of Sen. Herman W. Talmadge, D-Ga.

Talmadge is a certified member of the Senate's "club," an unofficial but powerful group of shrewd veterans whose influence seldom is subject to successful challenge. Not many years ago, filing criminal charges of misconduct against one of those lawmakers would have been unthinkable.

Talmadge eventually received a slap on the wrist so gentle that he was able to brazenly suggest he actually had been vindicated, but his inability to "cut a deal" to avoid even being brought before the Senate's bar of justice was momentous event.

Neither the House nor the Senate committee is in danger of being mistaken for an unleashed tiger. Bush leadership and growing public intolerance of congressional hanky-panky have produced dramatic improvements this year.

lesson in bungling

The Department of Energy is two years old and has spent billions of dollars but has yet to produce its first btu of energy. Instead, the DOE's success rate is no better than that of any federal agency. What the DOE has produced is jobs for bureaucrats and a maze of contradictory regulations that hinders the development of domestic energy resources. It is a textbook example of the government's inability to solve problems.

It is difficult to understand why after so many failures people still turn to government agencies to get things done.

One explanation is that the very existence of an agency relieves public anxiety about the problems plaguing the nation. Politicians love to relieve anxiety—it gets them votes. Jimmy Carter's wartime-like commitment to energy independence is reminiscent of Lyndon Johnson's war on poverty. The war on poverty contributed more to the inflation rate, which is making everybody poorer, than any other factor. Likewise, the DOE is a major contributor to the continuing energy shortage.

Energy regulation did not start with the DOE. Back in 1954 the Federal Power Commission (FPC) slapped price controls on natural gas resulting in overconsumption and shortage. The natural gas shortage, with consummate timing hit the United States about the same time we began importing huge amounts of oil. What is worse, the DOE has continued the price controls on natural gas in spite of studies that demonstrate that ending control would result in a flood of new domestic production. Why preside over a shortage only of oil when with continued regulation, our agency can also oversee a natural gas shortage?

DOE's immediate predecessor, The Federal Energy Administration, was a production of the Nixon and Ford administrations. President Carter, always trying to reduce the size of government, he says, made it an executive department. That was two years ago and already the department has more than 20,000 employees and a yearly budget of $10.4 billion. The DOE budget is greater than the combined profit of the five largest oil companies—now that's obscene. And what do we get for all that? What we get from the DOE is regulation which stifles those who are trying to produce more energy. At least the oil companies produce gasoline.

People in the Southern states have been particularly frustrated by DOE regulation. Oil companies have been doing their best to develop offshore oil resources along the Southern coast and have been hamstrung by the DOE. On Oct. 3, the Southern Governors Association passed a resolution asking Congress to consider abolishing the DOE, calling the department an "excessive and unnecessary cost to the nation."

If people ever become aware that it was the DOE and not the oil companies that created the gas lines last summer, you can bet they will agree with the Southern governors. But the public has been fed so much propaganda about the oil companies that there is unfortunately no public clamor for the abolition of the DOE. Statements by former Deputy Energy Secretary John O'Leary point out that the DOE could have prevented those spring-summer gas lines and it did not. The bungling is reason enough to get rid of the department.

at wit's end

by erma bombeck

Let the word go out. Today is the first day of the reorganization of my stressful life. My family has insisted upon it. They say I'm a bundle of stress. They can tell by the way my muscles tighten in my neck and jaw, the frequent headaches, and an occasional loss of words.

That's why I have set up a program of six goals. First, I'm going to spend more time meditating—especially before I put a fattening lunch on my charge card which arrives at the same time as the bill for exercising it off.

I'm going to stop trying to do two or more things at a time. This includes listening to a phone conversation while taking the burrs out of the dog's rump, eating my lunch, and closing the door with my foot while listening to my husband telling me why the car is knocking.

Whether it be working, eating, listening, or playing, I'm going to allow myself plenty of time to do things well and provide myself with an environment that promotes peace of mind if I have to.

My turn to talk and the big hour arrived about the same time and I decided it prudent to change the subject so I suggested that we make some New Year's resolutions worthy of the new decade.

We did and they were indeed noble, ambitious and inspired. Unfortunately I can't remember any of them.

Well, there is one I recall but I'm not sure it counts because I used it last year and the year before: To take everything in moderation—especially moderation.

As a bonus for completing the column I know it is hard to read with a headache. I'm leaving you this timely thought, ponder panned almost 200 years ago by Benjamin Franklin for his Poor Richard's Almanac.

Be at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let every new year find you a better man.

my turn

by john dunnam

Last night as my friend and I were waiting for the new year to arrive he asked me if I had ever almost gotten married.

Well as a matter of fact I almost did once. I had been going with the same girl for a great length of time and it only seemed natural to tie the knot.

Right away I began saving so we could have a nice church wedding and maybe even go to Six Flags for our honeymoon.

Then one night, just on impulse, I said, "Why don't we take the money we have been saving for the wedding and blow it on a movie?" She agreed, we did and that was that.

My friend and I were quiet for a while but as the night grew older he began to extoll the virtues of married life.

"It's great," he said. "A man is the king of his family and his home is his castle." At a loss for any more such old wives tales he continued on the subject anyway.

"The trick is to show her who is boss," he whispered so as not to wake his wife sleeping in the next room. "For example," he said, "when we argue I always make sure I get in the last word."

He does and it is always the same one, "yes Ma'am."

He then claimed he had had her on her knees pleading with him just the other day. I happen to know that is true too. She was begging for him to come out from under the bed.

About 11 o'clock he looked me as straight in the eye as possible and swore that he ran things around his house. I know he runs the vacuum cleaner, lawn mower, washing machine.

By midnight I expected him to confess to reality but the closest he ever came was at 11:40 when he said, "And another thing I'm going to put my foot down on. Starting next paycheck I'm going to demand she let me keep more than $10 for lunch money."

My turn to talk and the big hour arrived about the same time and I decided it prudent to change the subject so I suggested that we make some New Year's resolutions worthy of the new decade.

We did and they were indeed noble, ambitious and inspired. Unfortunately I can't remember any of them.

NEW YORK (AP)—You would you like to repeat the 1970s, that decade of enormous expansion—in the number of jobs, in the level of wages, in medical insurance, pensions, vacation time, travel?

No? You don't want to repeat the sensational 70s? If so, you're like some other Americans who view the decade as one in which they slowly lost their grip just as they were grabbing for the big things in life.

Looking back, few Americans can review the past 10 years with undiluted satisfaction, even though the statistics—on increases in national product and income, for example—might suggest they should.

Many of the economic reasons are familiar to all. With expansion came unprecedented inflation, depletion of savings, and steady increases in personal and public debt. Prosperity was visible and wasn't affordable.

The decade spawned dreams—measured in cars and houses, for example. But the nation's ability to deliver was limited by lost productivity, and the ability of families to sustain their dreams was undermined by rising operating and financing costs.

Surveys repeatedly showed Americans lacked economic confidence, the thinness of their pocketbooks was a constant warning. But they also confused the surveyors by buying up a storm. Buying, it was explained, was survival; it was better to hold "tangibles" than cash.

The same surveys showed many people unaware that in the decade's second half there began one of America's longest economic expansions. They thought instead that it was a recession.

Sociologists and others often attributed the misconception to a feeling

Virgin, 55, Needs Bridal-Path Guide

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old woman, about to be married for the first time to a man who lost his wife last year. (He is 58.) We have a lot in common. In fact, we are both ministers of the same church.

I need someone to fill me in on a few things so I won't be so dumb on my wedding night. I don't have a mother or sister or anyone I can ask. As you can guess, I am a virgin, having saved myself for the man I was to marry.

Should I undress in front of him? I read in a novel once that a man loves to undress his bride. (It's an old novel; do you suppose the idea is outdated, too?) Also, do you think he would laugh if I asked for total darkness at first? I would just die with the lights on. Also, is it possible to get pregnant at my age? We've never discussed it, but I'm sure we don't want any children at our ages.

Any help you can give me will be appreciated. I hope you won't think my questions foolish. I'll sign my name, but don't use it.

ANONYMOUS IN CANADA

DEAR ANONYMOUS: First, see a physician and ask him if you can get pregnant. (If he says, "Maybe," don't take chances—take precautions!) As for the undressing, lights on or off, just let your husband take the lead, and if you're embarrassed, let him know it.

DEAR ABBY: If your husband could hardly wait for the hunting season to open, and then took off in the middle of the night for a five-day hunting trip and forgot to take his rifle, what would you think?

WEST TEXAS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I would think that he did not intend to shoot whatever it was that he set out to hunt!

DEAR ABBY: HURTING IN LONG BEACH really struck a raw nerve. She said she spent hours scrubbing the tile shower with a toothbrush only to hear her husband say, "You missed a spot by the door."

Believe me, I could write a book! Our marriage started out the same way. In 18 years, I've never kept the house clean enough, cooked a meal good enough, dressed myself well enough, or corrected the children often enough. I honestly can't recall getting one compliment from him. I held a full-time teaching job all through our marriage, too, but that didn't alter his expectations.

No matter what went wrong, it was always MY fault. When the roof leaked (after 12 years in the same house) it was MY fault because he never wanted to buy that house in the first place. When the children played ball and broke our window, he wanted to know why I "let" them do it.

My husband has always had a very poor self-image. Everything that went wrong he blamed on someone else. I don't believe in divorce. My mother taught me that when you trade husbands, you only trade one set of faults for another, so I stayed with him. On our 18th anniversary HE moved out because I was making HIM unhappy!

I'm not telling HURT what to do, but she's been married only one year to a man who sounds exactly like my husband—all criticism and no compliments. I hope she doesn't wait 18 years to realize she'd be better off without him.

SLOW LEARNER

DEAR SLOW: I told HURT not to rely on a few lines in my column to communicate the hurt, anger and frustration she felt—to choose the proper time and vent her feelings and encourage her husband to vent his.

Too bad you didn't speak up 18 years ago.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Record Number Visits NYC

NEW YORK (AP)—A record 17.5 million visitors spent $2.2 billion in New York City this past year, capping a booming decade for tourism in the nation's largest city, officials said.

Charles Gillett, president of the private New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, said Thursday that 1979 was the fourth year of accelerating growth with the hotel occupancy rate soaring to a record 82 percent.

A record 2.1 million foreign visitors also came to the city this year, according to year-end reports by the bureau and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

wanted to, but that gave the defense only three tricks and that isn't enough to beat a 10-trick contract.

"You're too lucky to live," complained East. "After you made that silly lead of the queen of diamonds, the hand was going to collapse unless diamonds broke 3-3."

"Right," said South. "I bid pretty high, but the doubled game plus 100 honors was a nice reward. Also, I was really lucky in my choice of opponents."

What South meant was that East had chucked the defense at trick one. East should have overtaken his partner's king of clubs with the ace and led a trump, whereupon no amount of luck could give South his contract.

South was a great believer in the "bid 'em fast and tell 'em nothing" school. Hence he jumped right to four spades over East's heart bid.

West doubled, opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen. South ruffed and played his ace and queen of diamonds.

West was in with the king and could do nothing better than to lead another club.

South ruffed, cashed his ace of hearts, ruffed a diamond with dummy's deuce of trumps, came to his hand with a heart ruff, cashed his ace-king-queen of trumps and led diamonds. East could take his jack of trumps any time he

Indonesia Makes Plans... Fewer Generals, Better Training Due For Army

By KENNETH WHITING
Associated Press Writer
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Fewer generals at the top and better trained troops at the bottom is the plan for Indonesia's army of the future.

The new look also promises a fully professional officer corps with no outside business interests and more military equipment stamped "made in Indonesia."

"Abri," an acronym for Armed Forces of Indonesia, is also undergoing a generational change as the so-called "1945 generation," who won independence from the Dutch, is phased out. Younger commanders are known as the "magelang generation" after the army academy in central Java.

Diplomats at some Western embassies in Jakarta say the changes are overdue. The military machine was showing signs of neglect because of more important national priorities, they said, and morale suffered in the lower ranks.

It was last tested in battle during Indonesia's takeover of Portuguese Timor in 1975. Several observers said an inept performance against ill-trained rebels had led directly to the current shakeup.

the military among civilians by stressing austerity and simple living.

Military guards once posted at the homes of top brass and senior civil servants have been withdrawn. Officers are ordered to shun nightclubbing and stay away from massage parlors.

Jusuf recently enforced a regulation issued more than five years ago forbidding officers on active duty to dabble in private business. The estimated 200 to 300 men with such sidelines were told to choose between their uniform or civilian careers.

Senior officers formally assigned to non-military posts in state-owned corporations or government departments were not affected. The policy of having them take on social-political-economic jobs as well as their military one is called "dwi fungsi" or dual function.

The military role in civilian affairs was formally written into the broad guidelines of state policy adopted in March 1978. About one third of the army is engaged in civil and administrative duties, according to one source.

000 men when President (formerly General Suharto) took power 13 years ago to between 300,000 and 350,000 now.

The second military strategic plan, which started in April, calls for a still more compact force of professionals with the latest weapons.

The officer corps is being enlarged at the bottom and thinned out at the top.

Most credit for revitalizing Abri is given to General Muhammad Jusuf, 50. He served in relative obscurity in the cabinet for 13 years before being named defense minister and armed forces commander 20 months ago.

Jusuf has been trying to create a new esprit de corps, an effort that ranges from improving the welfare of foot soldiers to threatening to dismiss officers and enlisted men who mistreat the public, abuse their power or flout regulations.

He has also tried to modernize equipment and create a better image of

Disease Samples Shipped By Air
ATLANTA (AP)—Potentially dangerous disease samples are being shipped on passenger airlines, possibly in illegal unmarked containers, federal officials say.

And the national Center for Disease Control, which enforces proper packaging and labeling laws, says in unmarked containers may be prompted by the refusal of some airlines to carry hazardous materials.

This officials said the materials include viruses, bacteria of diseased tissue samples shipped to and from medical centers all over the country.

CDC officials say there is a chance although very slim that the material could escape and spread disease among cargo loaders or the public.

Get Your Car's Cooling System In Shape At Joe's Radiator Shop

We all know that winter is the roughest time of the year on your automobile, particularly the cooling system. A clogged cooling system can cause both boil-overs and freeze-ups. However, Joe Rhodes and Craig Merritt at Joe's Radiator Shop, located at 2013 College Ave. can put your cooling system in tip-top shape.

Joe Rhodes is well known for his radiator work in the Snyder area, with his experience dating back to 1945. He offers service and repairs for virtually all types of radiators, including automotive, commercial, and industrial. Rhodes can also work on automobile heater cores. Rhodes also does all types of automotive repair in his shop. Transmission work, brake work, exhaust system work and work on the air conditioning system are all available as well as general motor repair.

It's hard to do without your car when it's broke down and the folks at Joe's Radiator shop realize this. That's why they will put forth every effort to finish your repair job as soon as possible. Rhodes is also

Kirby Vacuums Demonstrated In Home With No Obligation

It's a New Year—why not start out with the best—a Kirby Tradition from Kirby Vacuum Cleaners. This vacuum cleaner gives more versatility, quality, reliability and performance than any other appliance.

"Suppose you had to shampoo a rug, clean, sanitize, buff, wax, polish and paint—all in the same day: how many appliances would you need?"

"Just one...when that one is the Kirby Tradition System with its 80 different uses!"
Bill Estep will gladly give you a home demonstration of this model at absolutely no obligation. You can reach him at 573-5675 or 573-0914.

Bill has been in Snyder for 14 years, and has been a Kirby dealer for five years. With this kind of experience Bill knows a good product, he knows service, and he respects the customer's preferences and needs, as well as his pocketbook.

Together with his wife Frankie, Bill owns and operates Bill Estep's Kirby Vacuum primarily out of his home at 2907 El Paso. He features the complete Kirby line. Bill and Frankie have been named the top two salespersons for the Southwest Division on a number of occasions, and have won trips to Mexico City, Astroworld in Houston, and Acapulco. More recently, trips to Shangri-la, Oklahoma and Las Vegas have been won for selling above their quota. This certainly proves what a superior product they have to offer. The area Bill mostly works includes Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring and Odessa. You can count on Bill to stand behind his product too since he services all Kirby vacuum cleaners. He has established a reputation for good products, good service, and good prices in his five-year career. So if you're in the market for a good vacuum cleaner, Bill Estep is the man to call. Bill Estep also carries the Super Upkeep line. Super Upkeep is a carpet cleaner, stain remover and deodorizer, fully guaranteed to spot clean and completely deodorize a long list of stains on carpets, fine furniture and auto upholstery, ceramic tile, shoes and clothing. Rebuilt Kirbys are also available at a savings, and with a one-year guarantee. Bill Estep can also help you out with bank rate financing if you want to buy that vacuum cleaner on terms. Take a good product, represent it well, with the customer's welfare considered foremost, and you have a business worth knowing and doing business with. Call Bill Estep Kirby Vacuum Cleaners today at 573-5675 or 573-0914 and get acquainted with a Kirby.

Herrmann Pulls Purdue Past Upset-Minded Vols

HOUSTON (AP)—Although trailing 22-21 with 3:42 left in the 21st annual Bluebonnet Bowl, Purdue center Pete Quinn had advance knowledge that the Boilermakers were going to rally to a 27-22 victory over the aroused Tennessee Volunteers.

"When I saw Herm (quarterback Mark Herrmann) walk on the field the only thing I didn't know was how many plays it was going to take," Quinn said. "He is so cool under pressure. I knew we'd go down the field."

Quinn could do well with a crystal ball because that's exactly what the Boilermakers did with Herrmann drilling home a 17-yard touchdown pass to tight end Dave Young with 1:30 left in the game to cap a thrilling 80-yard

Walsh Stops Aussie Bid

Aussie Bid

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—American Sharon Walsh wiped out Australia's last chance of keeping the Australian women's Open title at home by defeating Mary Sawyer of Australia 7-6, 6-3 in a semifinal match.

Sawyer ousted American Janet Newberry 7-6, 6-3 in the quarterfinals and American Sharon Walsh breezed past Belgian Michele Gurfel 6-0, 6-3.

In other matches, American John Sardi defeated Australian John Frawley 7-6, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4 to advance to the men's semifinals.

drive. Quinn can be excused for not knowing it would take Purdue 10 plays. The comeback by Herrmann and the Boilermakers nullified an equally tense rally by the Volunteers, who fell behind 21-0 in the third quarter before taking the lead for the first time with 3:42 left in the game.

Gambling Vol. quarterback Jimmy Streater hit Glenn Ford with an eight-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter and engineered a pair of fourth quarter touchdown drives that had the Volunteers on the brink of an upset.

Streater pitched to wingback Phil Ingram who flipped 15 yards to tailback James Berry for one touchdown and Hubert Simpson rammed one yard and tacked on a pair of two-point conversions in the action packed final minutes of a game that had started as a dull scoreless duel.

Purdue, which set four Bluebonnet records, had taken a 14-0 halftime lead on the six-yard run by Ben McCall and the first of three touchdown passes by Herrmann, a 12-yard shot to Bart Burrell, who finished with eight catches for 144 yards.

The Boilermakers, runnersup to Ohio State in the Big 10, went up 21-0 in the third period on a 12-yard pass from Herrmann to Young, an Associated Press second-team All-America pick.

Herrmann, named the game's outstanding offensive player, completed 21 of 39 passes for a bowl record 303 yards. Tennessee safety Roland James received the outstanding defensive player honor.

Purdue also set Bluebonnet records of 31 first downs, most net passing yards by one team with 303, and most total plays by one team with 92.

Bowls Tumble Today; No. 1 Big Question

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bobby Bowden has it worked out for his Florida State football team to win the national championship.

Alabama would have to lose to Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl, his Seminoles would have to beat Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl and "Southern Cal and Ohio State would have to play the dulllest 3-3 tie in history" in the Rose Bowl.

However, it would seem more realistic that the national title will be decided somewhere west of Florida, most probably in the Rose Bowl game matching the nation's No. 1 team (Ohio State) against No. 3 (Southern Cal).

Though currently ranked below the Buckeyes in the national poll, the Trojans were 7½-point favorites

Gorging On Peaches Today...

Bears Bite Clemson

ATLANTA (AP)—Baylor Coach Grant Teaff had no kicks with his punting game or the Bears' seldom used passing attack, which shocked Clemson for three touchdowns in a 24-18 upset victory Monday over the 18th-ranked Tigers in the nationally televised Peach Bowl.

The 19th-ranked Bears of the Southwest Conference, who had thrown only six touchdown passes during the regular season while hitting on a mere 34 percent of their passes, raised their record to 8-4, the same as Clemson.

Baylor freshman quarterback Mike Brannan threw for a pair of touchdowns 2:35 apart in the second quarter before being sidelined with a knee injury and was voted the game's outstanding offensive performer. Brannan hit Bo Jackson on a 3-yard scoring pass and a 24-yarder to Robert Holt.

"It was just a Hail Mary deal," Brannan said of the pass to Holt, which came after he had scrambled from one side of the field to the other. "As soon as I threw it I wished I had it back, because I could see interception all the way. I just sort of threw it up in the air."

Senior Mickey Elam then came on and added another on a 7-yard toss to Raymond Cockrell in the third period after setting up a 29-yard field goal by Robert Bledsoe with a 62-yard pass to Walter Abercrombie.

In all, the two quarterbacks combined for 172 passing yards with Brannan connecting on four of six for 86 yards and Elam on four of 11 for 86 yards.

Clemson, of the Atlantic Coast Conference, scored on a 1-yard run by Lester Brown and Obed Ariri's 40-yard field goal before a last-second score by Chuck McSwain. "Our passing game doesn't exactly thrill me," Teaff had said earlier in the week while preparing for the post-season contest. "They (Elam and Brannan) throw the ball like I do -- which is rather poorly."

But, he conceded, the Bears had to throw against Clemson, which was ranked No. 7 in the nation in total defense and 10th against the rush.

The kicking game also was a factor as the Bears blocked two punts by Clemson's David Sims, who had only had one blocked previously and was fourth in the nation in punting. Both blocks led to touchdowns.

"We thought that the kicking game would be a key to the outcome, and it was," said Teaff, whose punter Ron Stowe kicked nine times for a 41-yard average.

The kicking game almost brought Clemson back in the closing seconds.

The Tigers blocked a punt with only 22 seconds remaining, recovering on the Baylor 1-yard line. McSwain went over one play later and a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Billy Lott to Jeff McCall made it 24-18. The Tigers then recovered an onside kick and moved to the Baylor 33 before Lott was intercepted by Doak Field on the final play of the game.

Pastorini Getting Ready For Start Against Steelers

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston Oilers quarterback Dan Pastorini patrolled the sidelines like an expectant father during last Saturday's emotional 17-14 victory over San Diego in the American Football Conference semi-final playoffs.

And when it was over, Pastorini embraced Gifford Nielsen, his replacement, and pronounced, "I'm as proud of him as if he were a son."

Nielsen, with poise beyond his brief experience, guided the Oilers offense to one of the biggest victories in the franchise's history.

But proud or not, Pastorini said Monday the groin injury that kept him out of Saturday's game is healing and he expects to play Sunday in the AFC title game against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

And, he expects a victory. "We'll win this one," said Pastorini, who watched Saturday's game from the sideline recovering from a groin injury suffered a week earlier against Denver. "Even if we have to find a secret way to hold onto a wet, frozen ball. We won't let the weather be a factor."

A frozen field and icy conditions, not to mention six fumbles, led to the Oilers downfall last year in the AFC title game against Pittsburgh.

Watching from the sidelines also taught Pastorini something about himself. "I realized I could never coach," he said. "Watching that game made a nervous wreck out of me. I felt useless on the sidelines." The winner of Sunday's game will advance to the Jan. 20 Super Bowl.

Inflation hits your electric bill just as hard as it does your grocery bill.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity.

Fuel costs are up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day.

The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more.

The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll. Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home.

At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for.

was dropped.

The No. 9 local news story of 1979 was the observance of the 10th anniversary of the creation of the Scurry County Junior College District. A celebration on the campus on Nov. 18 was attended by a number of former students, faculty members and persons who were identified with efforts to obtain a two-year college here. Ten-year service awards were presented to those who were associated with the college during its first 10 years. A ceremony was highlighted by the presentation of a plaque to Jonisue Stiff, who gave Western Texas College its 165-acre campus, and burial of a time capsule to be opened when the college marks its 50th anniversary.

The 10th ranked local story in 1979 was the opening of the new Scurry County Jail and Senior Center and Office Building. This event drew thousands of people on Jan. 28.

Other stories high in the running included district championships by Snyder High School teams in basketball, volleyball, baseball, track and tennis; the scrapping of the Deep Creek Flood Control project; the American Agricultural Movement; utility rate increases; a month-long campaign by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance in April to increase church attendance; and the "Fall into the Arts" program sponsored by the Arts and Humanities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce during October.

Three Mishaps Reported Here

Three minor traffic accidents were worked Monday and early this morning by city policemen. The first occurred Monday at 7:10 a.m. in the 1700 block of 8th St. A parked 1978 Ford pickup owned by C.E. Knight was in collision with an unattended 1969 Ford pickup owned by Orval Hodge. The accident was worked by Don Cheek. Cheek also worked the next wreck at 11:15 a.m. in the 2700 block of Ave. Z. There, reports show, a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Irvin Martin was in collision with a 1969 Chevrolet driven by Debra Schulze. A wreck at 2:15 a.m. today had the distinction of being the first wreck of the new year and a new decade. The wreck occurred at 2006 26th St. when a 1977 AMC Hornet driven by John Dominguez struck the house of Joe Flack. Damage to the house was estimated at $20. Only minor damages were reported to the car, too.

1,400 Texas Tornadoes Take 137 Lives In 70s

By The Associated Press More than 1,400 tornadoes struck Texas during the 1970s, claiming 137 lives, the National Weather Service says. The number of twisters was almost as much as the next three states combined, and Texas trailed only Mississippi in the number of tornado-caused deaths from 1970 through 1979, the weather service added in a report issued Monday.

Most of the deaths occurred in tornadoes that hit Clarendon on April 18, 1979; Lubbock on May 11, 1970; and Wichita Falls and Vernon on April 10, 1979.

Clarendon's tornado killed 16, many of them in trailer homes beside Greenbelt Reservoir.

Less than a month later came the tornado that tore up much of downtown Lubbock and killing 26. It triggered a downtown revitalization program that resulted in the bulldozing of a low-income residential area and replacing it with a convention center complex.

The tornado that swept through North Texas and southern Oklahoma last spring killed 42 in Wichita Falls, 11 in Vernon and 3 in Lawton, Okla.

From 1970 through 1979, there were 8,560 tornadoes nationwide, and Texas had more than a sixth of them.

Behind Texas 1,425 tornadoes over the 10-year period were Florida 658, Oklahoma 426, Nebraska 381, Illinois 364, Iowa 304, Kansas 303, Mississippi 292, Louisiana 278 and Arkansas 263.

Every state in the union had at least one tornado in the 1970s, the National Weather Service said.

Mississippi had 145 of the 986 deaths reported over the nation in the 1970s. Next was Texas with 137, Alabama 121, Kentucky 83, Tennessee 56, Oklahoma 55, Indiana 54, Ohio 47, Georgia 33 and Kansas 31.

The only West Coast tornado known to have produced fatalities in the 20th Century occurred on April 5, 1972, at Vancouver, Wash., killing 6 and injuring 300.

"By far the worst tornado disaster of the decade occurred on April 3-4, 1974," said Fred Ostby, acting director of the national severe storms forecasting center in Kansas City.

"Dubbed the Super Outbreak, it spawned some 146 tornadoes resulting in 307 deaths and more than 5,000 injuries in Alabama, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio, Georgia, North Carolina, Illinois, Michigan, Virginia, West Virginia and Canada," Ostby said.

Another major twister hit the South on Feb. 21, 1971, killing 110 in Mississippi, 11 in Louisiana and 2 in North Carolina.

Ostby said the continuing growth in metropolitan areas will increase the danger from tornadoes.

"As the population continues to grow and metropolitan areas spread, we will find that tornadoes will have larger targets to strike, storms that in the past have hit in open country," Ostby said.

"This will put a strain on the forecast system, and the challenge in the 80s will be to improve tornado preparedness well as detection and warning systems to minimize the loss of life."

Abandoned Child's Mother Charged

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The mother of a retarded 12-year-old girl found naked and screaming in an unheated row-house says she left the child because she was "ashamed" to take her on a holiday visit, police said.

Kimberly Bowie, who apparently cannot talk, weighed only 39 pounds when she was found Monday in a fetal position on a mattress between bags of trash in a rear bedroom of the west Philadelphia house, authorities said. Police had answered a report of a possible burglary.

The child's mother, Denise Bowie, 27, surrendered to police Monday afternoon. She was arraigned before Municipal Court President Judge Joseph Glancey on charges of attempted murder, recklessly endangering another person, endangering the welfare of a child and abandonment and held in lieu of $25,000 bail for a hearing Jan. 9.

Ms. Bowie, who has four other children, told police she had gone to her mother's house, about 15 blocks away, for the holidays. The mother said she had not taken Kimberly because she "felt ashamed and guilty and upset," according to a Juvenile Aid Division officer, who asked not to be identified.

The girl was taken to Hahnemann Hospital, where a spokeswoman said she was in good condition. The child, described as "grossly retarded," ate baby food at the hospital, but "has not spoken any intelligible words," said Phyllis Fisher, a hospital spokeswoman.

"She was extremely malnourished," said Capt. Dorothy Cousins of the police department's Juvenile Aid Division. "She's unable to talk."

Ms. Bowie told police she had tried to get help for her daughter through the local mental health agency. She said she had sent food back every day and had left a gas heater on, adding that she didn't have money to buy oil, the officer said.

Holiday Deaths On Highways In Texas Lag

By The Associated Press Traffic deaths on Texas roads and highways lag behind predictions for the holiday weekend but Department of Public Safety officials warned the grim statistic could climb toward the end of the count.

"Traffic will still be heavy through the late hours on New Year's Day," DPS spokesman Richard Grimmitt said Monday.

At least 17 persons have died on Texas highways since the count began Friday night. The DPS had estimated 56 persons would be killed by the time the count ended tonight.

"We are pleased to see the toll is not higher than it is," said Grimmitt. "It sounds good, but we're keeping our fingers crossed."

The major emphasis is being placed on keeping drunken drivers off the roads, said Grimmitt. "We have had all our available troopers on duty during the holiday period started on Friday."

City Firemen Called Twice

Two fires were doused Monday by city firefighters.

The first, reported at 2:55 p.m., was a compress fire at the Co-op Gin on the Roby Highway.

The second was a grass fire approximately 1 1/2 miles west of the city on 37th St. It was called in at 5:45 p.m.

In 1843, two magazines, the Cultivator and The Farmers Cabinet, told of many complaints by Pennsylvania dairy farmers of their cows aborting or calving prematurely. These accounts may very well have been the first reported outbreaks of Bovine brucellosis in the United States.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Burning holes in stomach

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What do you think of these so-called grapefruit diets? I've just started on one and been told that the acidic content of grapefruits will burn holes in your stomach. Is this true? Is it harmful to eat too many grapefruits in one day and seven days per week?

DEAR READER — The harm is not in the grapefruit. Most normal people produce an appreciable amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. That amount of acid is so much more than any acid you get from grapefruit that the grapefruit isn't very important.

Now if a person happens to have acid indigestion or ulcer problems, then he might need to go easy on grapefruits and other citrus fruits or might find that he would do better to avoid them entirely. Otherwise, I don't think you'll have a problem with them.

I'm not particularly fond of the so-called grapefruit diet and I'm not fond of most diet fads including starvation diets, extreme low-carbohydrate diets or the whole gamut of fad diets that promise people they'll lose lots of pounds in a short time.

The truth is many of these fad diets simply wash out a lot of body water rather than eliminating body fat. In the last analysis, if you want to get rid of body fat, you have to consume fewer calories than you use. There are many ways of doing this but it's important to do it in a healthy, sensible manner.

For this reason, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. It will provide you a balanced diet that you can follow. If you use this plan it will enable you to lose excess fat slowly. How fast you'll lose will really depend on how physically active you are as well. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City

Follow your highest ideals this coming year and you'll be rewarded with dividends. Don't be misled into thinking people in high places have all the answers. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll be judged today by the company you keep, so if you care about your image be extremely selective of your pals. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your effectiveness will suffer if you try to catch up in one day on a lot of work you've left undone. Pace yourself. You'll accomplish more.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Trying to spare someone's feelings because you think it could hurt them could backfire. They might accuse you of holding back the facts, so tell it like it is.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's unlike you to be influenced by the doubts or opinions of others, so don't begin today. You must do things your way, if you are to succeed.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could still be in a festive mood, and find it difficult to accomplish your chores today. At least try to get the important things done.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be sensible about how you spend this week's budget, or there's a good chance you'll have to contend with some deficits when the bills are due.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Granted that your ideas are good, you must still be willing to yield a bit when it comes to doing things, or you're going to run into stiff opposition.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your determination could get out of hand today, causing you to see only the negative aspects. Balance things out by trying to see the bright side.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When dealing with friends today, take care not to appear too selfish or self-serving. Resentment could develop. You'd be denied cooperation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll lose all control over the situation if you are set upon doing things solo today. You'll undertake too many changes. Listen to others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Stay calm and defend yourself intelligently, if you hear of something untrue another has said about you. Overreacting could make things worse.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Investigate any entangling situation that looks a little questionable. Then, if you need to, find the way to unwind yourself.

fact you've started a fad diet suggests that you might. The safest way to lose weight is gradually. Many people think you can lose two pounds a week but I think people do better losing about one pound a week unless they are very obese, in which case they need to be under a doctor's supervision for the weight loss program.

The key to successful dieting is learning proper nutrition and adjusting your habits so you'll eat properly thereafter. Otherwise, you'll just go on one of the fad diets and lose a lot of water and perhaps some fat, then return to your usual eating habits and regain most everything you've lost.

DEAR DR. LAMB — While a friend of mine had earphones on, someone turned the radio on full blast. Can it cause deafness or damage ear drums?

DEAR READER — Any noise that is sufficiently loud can cause ear damage. Sometimes if the noise exposure is of brief duration, the hearing will gradually return to normal. There is no way I can say what will happen in this individual case since I don't know how loud the noise was or what effects it had, but it certainly is the kind of thing that can cause permanent ear damage. For that matter, even exposure to loud rock bands and loud music on a persistent basis can lead to ear damage as well.

In 1535, on his second voyage to the New World, Jacques Cartier explored the St. Lawrence River as far as the present site of Quebec City.

Hitchcock Knighted In London

LONDON (AP)—In England, he's now Sir Alfred. But to fans across the world, he's still the peerless master of the macabre.

Alfred Hitchcock, the portly 80-year-old movie producer and director, became a Knight Commander, Order of the British Empire, with Monday's publishing of Queen Elizabeth's New Year's Honors List. The son of an east London fruit-and-vegetable grocer who moved to Hollywood in 1940, Hitchcock has made 54 films and a television series that opened with a caricature of his profile, marked by his pouting lower lip.

In March, Hitchcock received the American Film Institute's Life

Achievement Award, the supreme Hollywood accolade.

In 1967, half the food produced in India was lost to rats, rot, birds and insects. Three years later, 50 percent losses in developing countries were not unusual. It's estimated modern pest control could save enough food for 40 million people.
