Economy Grew By 2.3% In 1979

WASHINGTON (AP)—The recession that was predicted for 1979 never materialized as the economy grew by 2.3 percent during the year, the Commerce Department reported today.

While a recession was avoided, the increase in the nation's gross national product—the total value of all goods and services produced—was lower in the last three months of 1979 than had been expected. This indicates a recession may actually be coming in 1980.

Another strong performance by consumers, who increased their purchases in the fourth quarter, kept the economy on the plus side in the October-December period. "Obviously, consumers are carrying a big part of it here," said one analyst. However, to maintain purchasing power in the face of rising inflation, Americans saved only 3.3 percent of their income in the fourth quarter at an annual rate. It was the lowest savings rate for any three-month period since the Korean War in 1950.

A recession is said to occur when there is negative GNP growth for two consecutive quarters. The average 2.3 percent growth for the year compared with 4.4 percent growth in 1978 and 5.3 percent in 1977.

The only negative quarter in 1979 was the second. A recession is said to occur when there is negative GNP growth for two consecutive quarters. The average 2.3 percent growth for the year compared with 4.4 percent growth in 1978 and 5.3 percent in 1977.

The Commerce Department also reported that inflation, as measured by its broadly based implicit price deflator, was at an annual rate of 8.6 percent in the fourth quarter and was 8.8 percent for the entire year. That compares with inflation of 7.3 percent in 1978.

The GNP price deflator, which measures inflation throughout the economy, is said to provide the best measurement of underlying inflation in the economy. The consumer price index, by contrast, has been showing an inflation rate of 13 percent at the consumer level.

Longshoremen Urged To Load Soviet Vessels

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter is urging longshoremen to abandon their boycott and load 3 million tons of grain destined for the Soviet Union to relieve a backlog he says is clogging the nation's transportation system.

The action is calculated not to help the Soviets, but to relieve pressure on American farmers. The administration continues to press forward on other fronts for punitive measures against the Soviet Union in reprisal for that country's military intervention in Afghanistan.

The total GNP for 1979 was $2,368.5 billion, or nearly $2.5 trillion. After adjusting for the effect of inflation, the GNP was $1,431.1 billion. The percentage figures on changes in the GNP are based on the inflation-adjusted total.

WTSB Has 'Reasonably Good Year'

Stockholders of West Texas State Bank were given a report on a "reasonably good year" at their annual meeting Thursday.

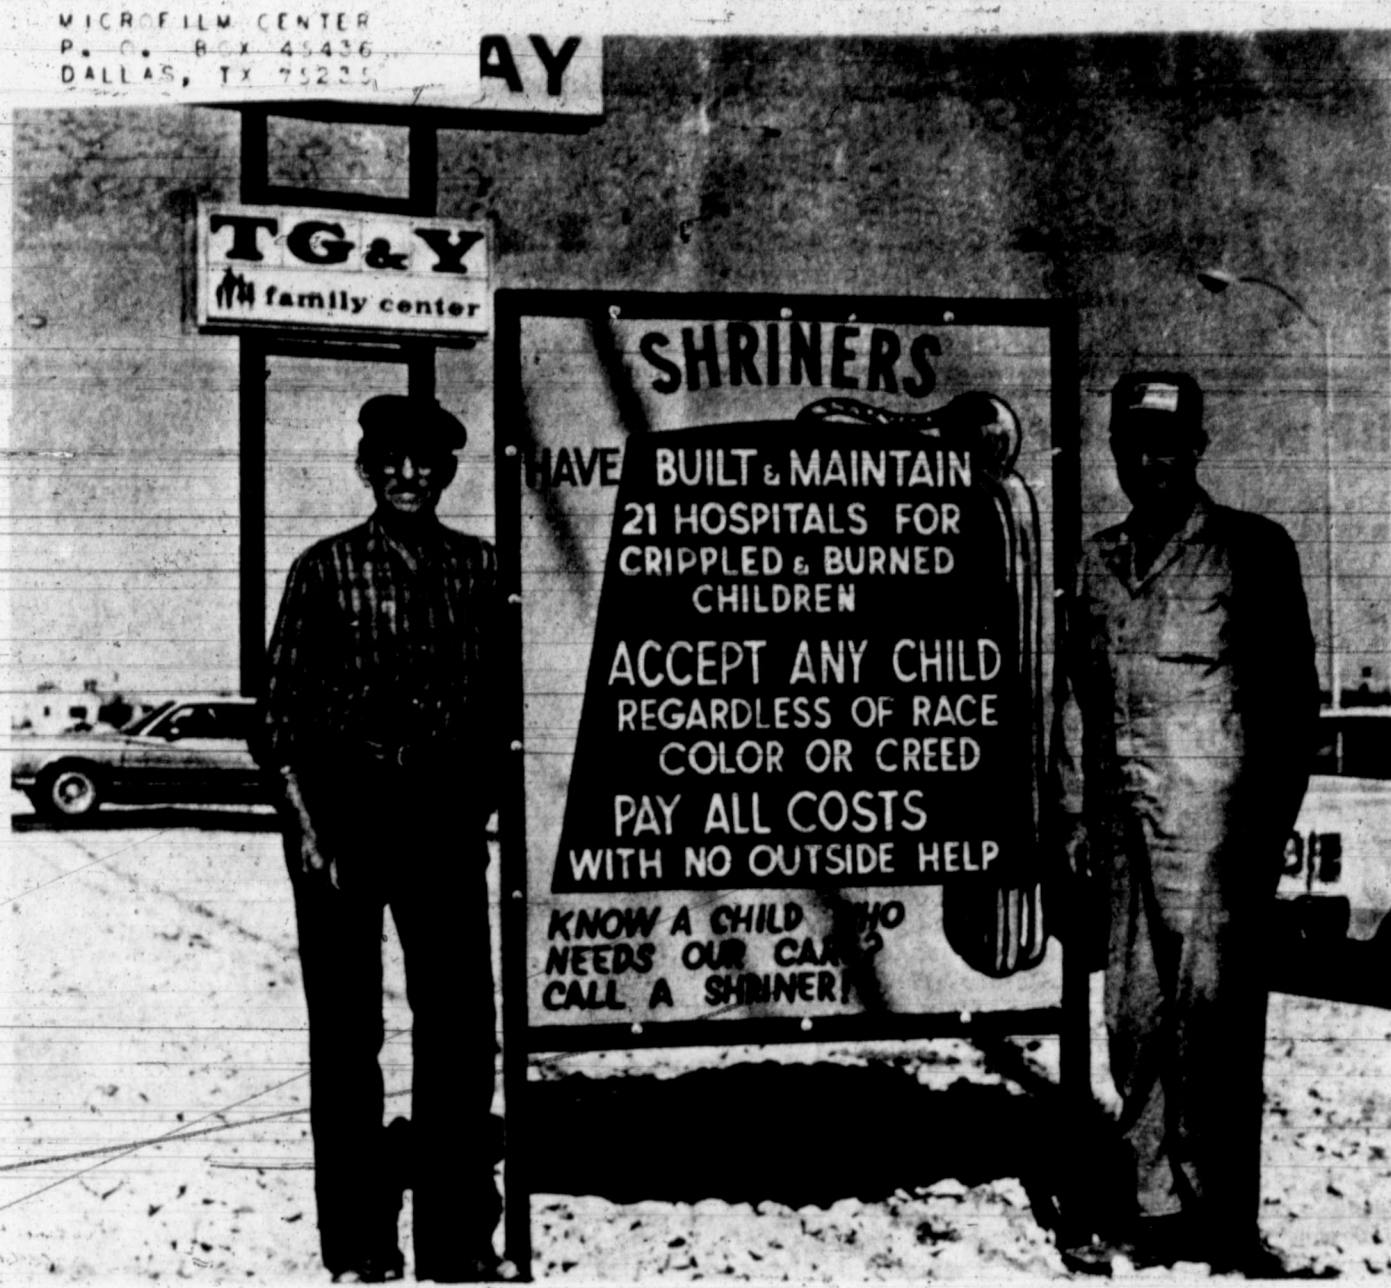

Martin Brooks, president of the bank, reported gains that were experienced despite some obstacles, including increased cost of time deposits. All directors were re-elected. In the directors' meeting which followed, Derwin Thompson was elected vice president and cashier and operations officer of the bank. All other officers were re-elected. Thompson, formerly cashier of Snyder National Bank, takes over the cashier's duties from John Green, another vice president who was re-elected.

Hijacker Surrenders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A devout teenager desperate to find Lebanon's lost Shiite Moslem leader hijacked a Lebanese jetliner today and ordered it to head for Iran, but he surrendered a short time later when the plane landed here, authorities reported.

The youth had threatened to blow up the Middle East Airlines Boeing 707 with a hand grenade if it did not take him to Tehran. The plane, carrying 72 passengers and a crew of nine, was commandeered over the Mediterranean some 25 minutes after it took off from Beirut airport on a flight to Larnaca, Cyprus, in mid-afternoon, Lebanese authorities said.

They said the hijacker, identified as Fuad Hama-deh, a Shiite Moslem from the southern Lebanese village of Khirbet Silm, told the captain and passengers he had taken command of the plane in a new attempt to determine the fate of Imam Musa Sadr, the spiritual leader of Lebanese Shites who disappeared mysteriously more than a year ago on a trip to Libya.

Soviets Force Afghan Retreat

By The Associated Press Soviet troops using helicopter gunships and tanks have forced Afghanistan's Moslem rebels to retreat to remote mountain villages, according to reports reaching Kabul, the Afghan capital city. The Spanish news agency EFE, reporting from Kabul, said Soviet helicopters were "controlling" guerrilla movements in the interior and near the Pakistani border. The dispatch was carried in Madrid.

EFE correspondent Jose Luis Vidal quoted journalists returning from southern Afghanistan near the border with Iran as saying the rebels appeared "frightened" by the Soviet armor being used against them. The journalists, who were not identified, said the rebels had no automatic weapons and had fallen back to mountain villages hidden in the snow, EFE said.

The report said the Afghan army was patrolling Kabul and the only visible Soviet troops were those seen shopping in the capital's bazaar. The EFE report could not be confirmed. Meanwhile, American reporters were leaving Afghanistan today under an expulsion order from the pro-Soviet government, and the Soviets were reported replacing regular troops with reservists in their occupation army.

Q—If you mail a package with the postage paid, and the package is not delivered, but is returned to you, do you have to pay postage on it again?
A—Yes. That is, if you want to reclaim the package. Postage must be paid both ways and if it is rejected or is otherwise undeliverable, the Postal Service will return it and you must pay the return postage to get it out. You may, of course, decline, in which case it will be sent to the "dead letter office," or perhaps "dead package office" would be a better term in this case, for disposal.

Shah Blames Oil Companies

NEW YORK (AP)—The deposed Shah of Iran says he has not renounced his claim to Iran's Peacock Throne and that the greed of U.S. oil companies brought about his downfall one year ago.

"Abdicating in the vocabulary of a king does not exist unless it's very, very special circumstances," Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi said Thursday in a televised interview with British journalist David Frost.

He charged his regime had been sacrificed by profit-hungry American oil companies and rejected as "preposterous" claims by the regime of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini that he was responsible for the massacre of tens of thousands of Iranians during his reign.

Freighter Hits Bridge

Keeping tab on our neighbors: Tom E. Roy of the Ballinger Ledger speculates that Will Rogers would be enjoying a field day if he were still alive in 1980.

"Just look at the subject matter he could have for his often irreverent lampoons," says Roy. "Besides the obvious—Congress, the president, oil shortages—he could easily aim his wit at travesties such as the impotent U.N. debate concerning Russia's excursions into Afghanistan, and the Ayatollah Khomeini. Then there is the price of gold, inflation, the upcoming primaries, Bert Parks being fired. When he was through with all that, he could take jabs at the wheat embargo, Chrysler Corp., the price of oil and the Supreme Court."

And we always thought it was a shame that Will Rogers couldn't have been around to comment on Watergate and Chappaquiddick.

"Of course fashions have changed. But it's the attitude of the articles that has changed the most. Fifteen years ago, teenage magazines told us what was respectable and what wasn't when we went out on a date. Now, we have what should be expected of him in the relationship."

"But the one thing that hasn't changed are those cheap little ads in the back of what seems to be in every magazine. I mean the respectable ones with the two-page spreads for the finest clothes and make-ups."

She referred specifically to the "before and after" ads concerning "stomach loss" and "bust gain."

Operating Procedures Studied By Tax Board

Preliminary discussions were begun last night on a budget for the new single unit tax appraisal board for Scurry County, although no final figure was arrived at or even estimated.

whether legal counsel should be retained for the new agency, location of offices, coverage under liability insurance, the possibility of bonding the chief appraiser and secretary, and new retirement plans might be affected for employees brought into the new agency from the county or school.

brought into his present post from that of tax assessor-collector for the school district, will not be receiving two salaries. He will draw his first paycheck from his new post effective Jan. 15 or Feb. 1, according to arrangements to be worked out through the school.

Chief appraiser Ray Peveler, who only earlier this week was named to the post, said items in the budget are still too tentative to allow a budget, even a preliminary budget, to be worked out. Board members groped through a maze of "maybes" and "what ifs" as they discussed the role the office will play and the ramifications of policy adoptions.

The consensus of the board was that a separate appraiser be employed to handle personal property work. In regard to office policy, the consensus of the board was that the new agency should observe county holidays, employees should be granted two-week paid vacations, and employees should be allowed two weeks' paid sick leave that can accumulate up to 60 days during the fifth year of employment.

The next meeting of the Scurry County Tax Appraisal Board will be held Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. at city hall. The meeting last night was attended by board members Ross Blanchard, Pete Hester, Bill Hairston, Kenneth Wilson, and John Reed. Peveler attended, as well as County Judge Preston Wilson.

Recently mandated state law requires each county to establish a single unit appraising agency with county-wide jurisdiction, but details of the function and details of the powers granted to the agency have never been made completely clear. The agency will, however, have the responsibility of appraising property for all taxing entities in the county, including the county itself, the city, and all school districts.

No vote was taken on any issue during the two-hour long meeting, so all measures are still tentative in nature. About the only item voted on so far has been the salary and travel expense for the chief appraiser. Earlier this week, when Peveler was elected to his post, board members voted also to grant the chief appraiser a $30,000 a year salary, plus $1,800 in district expense allocations. the real bottleneck

It is becoming increasingly popular to attack the major oil companies, especially when one wants to draw attention away from his own shortcomings.

Fighting liars is a harder job than producing oil, and in the case of the major oil companies, they'd have to deal with a pack of them.

The Interior Department, which has more to do with the energy shortage than OPEC does, hinted in public press releases that Exxon was dragging its feet in developing some of its California oil leases.

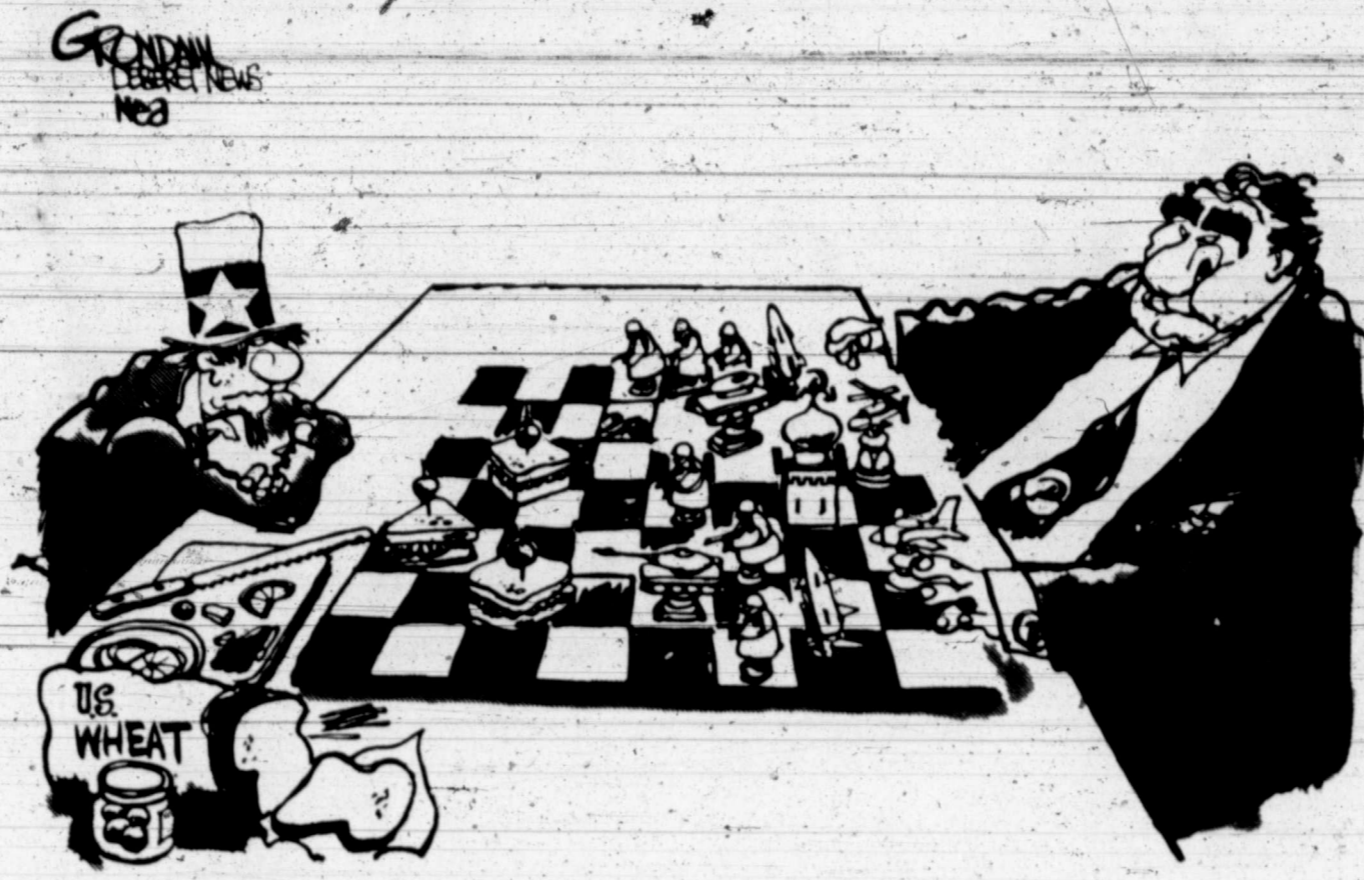

Loftis charges that his company has been "stymied by government regulatory and permit problems" in trying to develop the oil field since the project began more than 10 years ago.

- 3 major environmental impact studies;
- 21 major public hearings;
- 10 major governmental approvals (plus many minor ones);
- 51 consultant studies, costing more than $2 million;
- 12 lawsuits;

Oil companies rarely confront such federal bureaucrats; the reason for their silence is itself enlightening. The very same people who are feeding misinformation to the American public have the power to delay Exxon even more.

The bureaucrats have had their chance and, not surprisingly, have bungled the job. It is time we turned the oil companies loose. Directed by profit, instead of government agencies, they will have a much better chance of getting the job done.

In the meantime, when politicians claim they are the ones the oil companies fear, they might be right.

what kind of war?

Is this in Afghanistan yet another "religious war"?

By now you know that Soviet Russia sent 100,000 troops to Afghanistan, figuring that would be enough.

They are experienced winter fighters, determined to crush all resistance before spring.

Yet in several sectors they have been stopped by Moslem mountain fighters headquartered across the border in Pakistan.

The Afghan night fighters have some guns but they prefer meat cleavers.

It is bitter cold in Afghanistan right now. A lot of bodies lie unburied on the frozen ground. In the wake of the fighting the stink of war.

And any dogface who did up-front time in Korea or Nam will smell that smell for the rest of his life.

And there are other obvious similarities between this war and those.

I can't know, but I'm thinking that Soviet President Brezhnev, old and sick - and Soviet Prime Minister Kosygin, old and sick - that they may have had little or nothing to do with this misadventure.

It sounds more like something Gromyko and Ustinov would cook up.

Official Washington has sent a warning to Russia not to move its military forces beyond Afghanistan - implying that we are prepared to stop them if they try.

On the White House Kremlin hotline, Brezhnev has said that Russian troops will be withdrawn "only after they have completed their work" - whatever that means.

Most Western observers have assumed that Russia is in Afghanistan as a first step to further conquest of the oil-rich Middle East.

That could be. But Soviet communism is threatened by any other religion.

Oh, yes, communism is a goddess religion, to be sure, but a religion, nonetheless.

Thus Soviet communism is careful to limit freedom for any other religions inside the Soviet Union.

But the religion of Islam - in Iran and in Afghanistan - has been spilling across those borders into the Soviet Union.

And this thrust may be primarily intended to contain that.

Before young Americans are again asked to go to war, they deserve to know what for.

If it is to protect Mideast oil supplies, it would be a lot cheaper to spend the same money accelerating the development of substitutes for oil.

If it is to make the area safe for Moslems our sons deserve better than to be sent into the crossfire of a religious war.

If it is to oppose the advance of communism, we don't need to travel 6,000 miles from home to do that; we can start 90 miles from Florida.

identical candidates, a format has emerged that affords voters a unique opportunity to compare both the style and substance of the contenders.

At the Republican Candidates Forum conducted here recently, all of the participating politicians were able to present a fairly complete, accurate and undistorted picture of their character and personality as well as their positions on a wide range of issues.

As a result, those who followed the proceedings - in person or on radio or television - could accomplish in two hours what otherwise would require weeks of travel costing thousands of dollars.

Republican organizations throughout the country, especially those in states where early primaries or precinct caucuses are to be held this year, sought to provide a similar opportunity last year by inducing most of the candidates to make joint appearances at dinners, cocktail parties and other social events.

Those unsatisfying forums, derisively but accurately labeled "cattle shows," were conducted in Chicago; Indianapolis; Ames, Iowa; Portland, Maine; Kissimmee, Fla.; Concord, N.H. and other disparate locations.

The typical format allowed each candidate five or 10 minutes to recite his basic campaign speech, but there were few opportunities for question or side by side comparison. In most cases, the social setting and party atmosphere mitigate against any serious assessment of those seeking the country's highest office.

But the more serious forum sponsored here by the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company was a strikingly successful venture, allowing each candidate to be his quintessential self. A capsule review of their performances, in alphabetical order:

Rep. John Anderson of Illinois offered himself as a man who marches to a different drummer, rejecting both conservative dogma and politically popular rhetoric. Even supporters of other candidates acknowledged that his fiery peroration at the end of the session was the emotional highlight of the forum.

Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee has a folksy, easy-going style that - unfortunately for him - is not especially memorable. Baker may well be the 1980 presidential campaign's version of the proverbial Chinese meal that leaves the diner hungry only a few hours later.

Former United Nations Ambassador George Bush emerged as a distinguished, capable and professional manager. He is both likeable and believable, but doesn't inspire intense emotional reactions among most voters.

Former Texas Gov. John Connally continues to be the most eloquent orator in the field, but the forum's time limitations prevented him from taking full advantage of his renowned rhetorical ability.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois was the only member of the panel who never once displayed any sense of humor. His rapid-fire, mechanical delivery of unshakable views on every imaginable issue suggests that, if elected, he would be the country's first bionic president.

Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas provided a dazzling display of the rapier-sharp, sardonic and sometimes self-deprecating wit that is legendary among political insiders. His caustic one-liners are a delight to those who appreciate that specialized art form, but that asset isn't sufficient to propel a man into the White House.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who steadfastly has refused to participate in joint appearances with other contenders, clearly suffered by his absence. Connally was both deft and devastating in capitalizing on Reagan's absence.

Describing the Des Moines forum as "unique in the annals of politics," Crane predicted: "I doubt it we're going to see this happen again in the campaign."

Let's hope he's wrong. The country would be well served by similar presentations in other states during the coming months of the presidential campaign.

who knows?

NEW YORK (AP)—To whom do you turn for financial advice these days?

Who can you believe at times like these when the future, which we once idyllically believed was out there waiting for us - bright, shiny and beckoning - now disappears into a dark economic fog?

With world economics undergoing basic changes, with inflation beyond the control and maybe the understanding of authorities, with energy availability so unpredictable, where do you turn for direction?

Judging from some of the popular sellers among books, many people turn to volumes with intriguing titles that give the reader an extreme choice between preparing for disaster or gearing up for success.

You are advised to get out of real estate by English and Cardiff in "The Coming Real Estate Collapse," and exhorted to buy it by Jake Ebach in "How To Become a Millionaire - Even in Today's Economy."

The success of Howard Ruff's best seller probably results in part from the title, "How To Prosper During the Coming Bad Years," which scares readers and then tells them they can do something about it.

Asphy Bladen utilizes the same duality in the title of his book, "How To Cope With The Developing Financial Crisis," now being promoted as a forecast of impending disaster from which you possibly might escape.

The question in many works is whether the authors have utilized more emotion and conviction than analysis, and in some productions the question gets raised of whether or not they are simply exploiting fear.

In some, what are hailed as courageous forecasts are mere recitations of what already has occurred or what obviously can occur.

"Prediction," says the advertisement for Bladen's book, "A major run on the dollar could begin any time." To which many people might reply: "Hasn't it already occurred?"

"Prediction," it continues, "Long-term interest rates, including mortgage rates, could jump by 3 or 4 percentage points to 14 percent or even higher. Well, haven't they? Isn't that history?"

"Prediction," the advertisement reads, "Oil prices will soon rise again - and OPEC and other U.S. creditors could soon begin dictating U.S. economic policy." Some would say it's happening now.

"Prediction: Soaring personal, business, and government debt will cause a wave of private, corporate, and municipal bankruptcies." Hardly a forecast. Personal bankruptcies already are up. Chrysler had to beg Washington for help. "So did New York City. Officials are wary of the financial condition of some banks, too. It's all on record."

With the future so much a question mark, the atmosphere is conducive to the exclamation mark. You can be shocked or you can be cheered - and to be fair, you can also pick up some useful tips from these and other books - but you may find it difficult to get some quiet advice.

Heavy Snow Hides Rockies

By The Associated Press Heavy snow blanketed the Rockies today, as a winter storm developed in the Southwest.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for the Colorado mountains, where at least a foot of new snow was expected. Winter storm watches also were issued for parts of Wyoming and Nebraska.

Rain dampened parts of Arizona today, and mixed with snow across southern sections of Nevada and Utah.

Rain also was scattered across California, and showers extended from Mississippi across Alabama, Tennessee and the southern Appalachians to the Atlantic Coast.

Drizzle was reported in parts of Michigan, which also reported some snow flurries.

Freezing drizzle plagued parts of Massachusetts and most of Maine, making driving hazardous throughout the state.

my turn

by john dunnam

I've uncovered a conspiracy. It's the mechanical types against the rest of us. Did you ever go buy auto parts and get the right thing on the first try? Neither did I.

I don't know why they do it; surely they have unloaded all those Edsel parts by now. I think it is just for the demonic pleasure they derive from humilitating those who don't know the difference between a carburetor and radiator and alternator and don't care.

They use a secret code to distinguish who is one of THEM and who is not. I haven't completely broken it yet but it has something to do with grease. If you walk in completely clean it is a dead giveaway that you had rather spend weekends doing something besides valve jobs. Ask for a heater hose for a 1979 Dodge Pickup and they will send you away with a fan belt for a '59 Desoto Coup.

On the other hand, if you appear oiled from head to toe and with your knuckles bleeding profusely they know right away that you don't subscribe to Hot Rod Magazine and will proceed to add to your misery by asking a lot of personal questions about your car. (Everybody in town doesn't have to know I don't have air conditioning.)

My own little brother, who is one of THEM, even set me up once. He has the dubious distinction of being the youngest mechanic at the John Deere house. (I told him they only hired him because they like things green.)

Anyway he asked me to pick up a freeze plug for him. That is one of those doodads that sticks in the side of the motor sort of like a cork. You know what I'm talking about. That thing that is supposed to pop out should the water in the motor freeze but never does. The motor cracks instead.

"Make sure it is an 1 1/2 inches in diameter or it won't fit," he kept saying. That sounded simple enough but the man at the parts store demanded to know: "What engine does it go on?"

"It goes on the bottom of the one in the car," I replied and immediately realized by the look in his eyes that I had blown my cover. I had stuffed dirt up my fingernails and put a grimy red rag in my hip pocket for nothing. In a desperate effort to recoup, I tilted my baseball cap to the side enough to reveal a smudge right at the hair line and blurted: "Its for a 68 351 Windsor with a 4-speed and no air."

I didn't have any idea if that meant anything but I heard Steve McQueen say it on the late show and it got results so what the heck.

I couldn't determine by his expression if the parts man was impressed or just bewildered but it did get his attention. He began flipping through a book that would make Webster's International Dictionary look like a Dermott telephone directory.

Triumphantly, I stood there sneering and trying to get a pack of Winston's out of the sleeve of my tee-shirt where I had wrapped it for that extra touch. I was still fumbling when he said: "Here we go son, that is an 1 1/2 inch plug you need."

I protested but he showed it to me in black and white and it was under a column entitled Ford Mustang (I didn't know there was any other kind.) so I figured it had to be right. Anyway, what is a quarter of an inch between brothers.

The kid threw a fit. I couldn't believe the same boy that I once taught to ride a bicycle and shoot a BB-gun was saying those things about me. And where did he pick up such language. I don't even think he realized he implicated his own parentage a time or two.

Next time he can go get his own stupid parts. If he is going to be so cranky I hope his cam shaft stops rotating.

And for all you other nuts who had rather spend your time under a hood than with your family here is a riddle: What do you get if you cross a gorilla with a mechanic? If you're thinking grease monkey you are wrong. You'd get a retarded gorilla what else hababaha.

Mrs. Thorpe Gives History Of MAWC To Art Guild

The Art Guild Study Club met Jan. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Ben Thorpe was hostess and program leader. She chose as her subject, "History of Martha Ann Woman's Club."

Mrs. Thorpe told the group of the origin and purpose of the clubhouse. She explained that the land and club building were given to the women of Scurry County by the D.M. Cogdell family. The name Martha Ann was a tribute to their daughter who died in 1939 at the age of 13.

Snyder Club women raised $40,000 which they spent in furnishing the building and buying the kitchen equipment, she said.

According to Mrs. Thorpe, the building was opened in 1956. There were 19 clubs participating at that time.

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Cogdell, the women of Snyder and surrounding area are enjoying the building and are grateful for this cultural center, she said.

"Truly we are the envy of all of the women who come our way to the numerous affairs that we are privileged to host," Mrs. Thorpe concluded.

Mrs. Hugh Lowry, club president, presided at the business meeting.

Fears the Grind Of a Rumor Mill

DEAR ABBY: My fiance (27) and I (25) disagree on something and have decided to abide by your decision. I am a junior high school teacher in a community of less than 1,000 people, and I live in another small town near where I teach. The students in both towns communicate with each other.

My boyfriend lives about 75 miles from where I live. On weekends he would like to sleep at my apartment. We would sleep in separate rooms, and everything would be strictly on the up and up because I am saving myself for marriage. I should mention that he has trouble staying awake when he drives home, and has often had to stop to sleep.

I say I cannot let him stay at my apartment because someone would see his car and say something to my students, and they would not understand. He says it shouldn't matter since we sleep in separate rooms.

I trust him, but I don't want to listen to any off-color remarks. We plan on getting married next summer.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S REPUTATION

DEAR REPUTATION: Feeling as you do about your reputation, you're wise to "avoid the appearance of evil" by sending your fiance home on weekends.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get rid of a guy you don't care for?
CINDY

DEAR CINDY: Introduce him to a girl you don't care for.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon in my home town. I'm planning a rather intimate wedding with only relatives and a few close friends. My problem is my father. He wants me to invite his girlfriend, Sandy. She's my age, and the cause of my parents' divorce. I don't particularly care for Sandy and I know that my Mom would be terribly upset if she came. All the relatives know about the situation and they would feel uncomfortable, too.

I have already told my father that I didn't think it would be appropriate for him to bring Sandy and he told me if she wasn't welcome, he wouldn't come either.

I want my father at my wedding, but if he brings Sandy it will spoil the day for me.

What should I do?
COLOR ME BLUE

DEAR BLUE: Let your father know that you want him at your wedding, but you don't want Sandy. If he refuses to come without her, tell him you'll miss him.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for love to make a person ill? I mean physically sick? I fell in love last year for the first time in my life. Abby, this man is everything I've ever dreamed of, but ever since we met I've been getting the worst headaches. They're not just ordinary headaches—they're migraines, and they are so severe they make me want to die!

Maybe it's just a coincidence, but I never had headaches until I fell in love. I've been to three doctors, and none of them could find anything wrong with me. Do you think love could have something to do with it? And where do I go from here?
IN LOVE AND IN PAIN

DEAR IN: Love is an emotion, and a very powerful one. It's possible to get headaches from something that's on your mind. Examine your relationship with this man. Is there any aspect of it that could be a "headache"? Ask your doctor to recommend a psychotherapist.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

MR. AND MRS. W.G. WHITE to be honored

Dunn Couple Notes 50th Anniversary

William Grady and Hazel Lena White of Dunn celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today. The couple will be honored at a reception Jan. 20 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Dunn Community Center hosted by their children.

The couple's children are Bob White of Magnolia Ark., Andrew J. White of Abilene, Mrs. A.J. (Eloise) Roemisch of Abilene, Mrs. K.H. (Joyce) Bond of Abilene, Foy W. White of El Paso and Mrs. G.C. (Ellen) Doss, also of Abilene. The children's spouses and their children will serve in the houseparty.

White was born May 20, 1910 in Scurry County and Mrs. White was born July 18, 1913 in Ellis County.

The couple met in 1929 and were married in the Baptist Church at Dunn. They have lived in and around the community of Dunn since their marriage where they have been engaged in the farming business. White is retired. They have 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Carving Found
MOSCOW (AP)—One of the world's oldest ivory carvings has been discovered by Soviet archeologists in central Asia, according to the official news agency, TASS. More than 2,000 years old, the carving portrays scenes from the life of Alexander the Great.

The second set of 16 boards represent what is probably the most one-sided set in bridge history. Every board was a gain for the American team until we had picked up 64 straight IMPs. Then Italy scored a 3 IMP gain with two boards to go, but we returned to our winning ways and won the session by a score of 71 to 3 to go 25 IMPs in front.

The bridge wasn't perfect, but it was most effective. Thus, Billy Eisenberg, sitting South, rebid one notrump and landed at three. West opened the king of spades and continued with the queen after East signalled with the nine. Billy felt that spades were going to be breaking 5-3 and held off a second time in spite of the club danger, but West did lead a third spade to Billy's ace. Now Billy knocked out the ace of hearts and made his game.

At the other table the Italian methods led to disaster. They were using an artificial club convention so South had to open one heart. North responded two diamonds and for some reason South rebid two hearts leading to a disastrous four hearts.

There were 64 boards left to go and the Italian proceeded to put on a really masterful exhibition of bidding and play, but Kantar, Eisenberg, Goldman and Soloway played very well also.

Cancer Drug To Be Mass Produced

HOUSTON (AP)—A newly-developed process that allows mass production of an anti-cancer agent has been called "something we've all been waiting for" by an American Cancer Society official.

"It's extremely important that we don't overpromise anything," said Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr., ACS senior vice president.

China, Germany In Ag Project
Peking (AP)—China and West Germany have agreed on a project of cooperation in agriculture.

The countries have agreed to carry out several pilot projects in which West Germany will supply the technical equipment. China will pay for the project mainly with soy products, a West German diplomatic source said.

dent for research, "but personally, I'm as optimistic about interferon's potential for treating cancer as anything else I've seen."

Interferon is a rare body protein that provides defense against infections. Only about 1,200 persons have been treated with the anti-tumor agent thus far because of the limited supply and high cost as much as $40,000 per patient.

Rauscher's statement came Thursday after it was announced that a team of Boston scientists had developed a method for making interferon from bacteria. Currently, supplies are obtained from human blood samples.

"We're barely over the 50-yard line in our efforts to assess interferon's full anti-tumor effects alone," Rauscher said, "and we need to test it in combination with other drugs." Dr. Jordan Gutterman, who supervises interferon studies at University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, said he was "encouraged by results so far" in using interferon as an anti-cancer agent.

"We could move faster in assessing interferon's effectiveness for different types of cancers if we had cheaper and more plentiful sources of the material," Gutterman said.

The hospital is treating 65 patients for various types of cancer. Gutterman said at least half of those treated had partial or complete remission of the disease.

But he added that brief remissions cannot be compared with long-term survival, saying "considerable" clinical work remained to be done.

Rauscher said even though it is realistic to expect interferon can eventually be made "in buckets," that it would be two or three years before it could be available for widespread patient use.

Both men said the interferon used to date in cancer research has been "remarkably non-toxic," and no bad side effects had been observed.

RENOVATING—Fenton's Dad & Lad, located on the east side of the square since 1952, will be moving into the old Top Dollar building on the north side of the square. Renovation work on the Top Dollar building has already started. Danny Fenton, above, removes some panelling. (SDN Staff Photo)

Fenton's Planning To Move, Expand

Fenton's Dad & Lad, which has been on the east side of the courthouse square for more than a quarter of a century, will be moving to the north side of the square and into the building formerly occupied by Top Dollar.

Renovation of the old Top Dollar building has already begun. Danny Fenton, who co-owns the Dad & Lad store with his father, Lynn, said he hopes to have renovation of the new store completed and have everything moved into it by April 15.

"When I get the additional footage (of the new building)," said Danny Fenton, "I'll put in an art gallery."

The art gallery, he said, will feature the works of local artists, including those of his wife, Saretta. Also displayed will be the works of artists from across the country. Both paintings and bronzes will be represented. With the additional space, besides adding the art gallery, Fenton said he may expand his line of women's clothing.

To Search For Doctor

ADRIAN, Minn. (AP)—The town of Adrian in southwestern Minnesota is taking its search for a physician to the Super Bowl.

A hot air balloon with the message "Psst Doctor, 1,347 people in Adrian, Minn., need you" and a telephone number will be floating over the crowds gathered Sunday in Pasadena, Calif., for Super Bowl XIV.

In addition, 10 Adrian residents will be in the crowd carrying placards and wearing T-shirts advertising Adrian's plight. Adrian was served by two doctors until the first of the year when one retired. As a result, community leaders claim Dr. L.A. Laikola's time is "spread a little thin."

"I just realized that the interest on loans for the new car, house and furnishings adds up to a total of 45 PERCENT!"

Triumph, Strain Mark Life Of Exiled Mormon

STERLING, Va. (AP)—Excommunication from the Mormon Church has brought Sonia Johnson triumph and strain. Her latest trauma is the breakup of her marriage. She is a heroine to feminists, yet the object of scorn at her church. "It's grim," Mrs. Johnson says. "I feel spiritually amputated." Suddenly, all the world is knocking on her door. She's had to install a second telephone; the letters arrive 100 at a time; she is in constant demand to speak out for the proposed Equal Rights Amendment. But at home, life as a Mormon-in-exile is not comfortable. She still goes to her old church, she says, "but it's painful." When the bishop's wife stood up at services and thanked everyone for sustaining her and her husband during the excommunication ordeal, Mrs. Johnson says she wondered, "What about my ordeal?" Excommunication is just the ultimate rejection, she says with a shake of her head. "It just says, 'We don't want you, no matter how much they say they love me.' And, adding to her torment, she and her husband, Richard, a statistics professor, have separated. It is a coincidence, she says, that the rift in her marriage and the rift within her church occurred together. "I guess we just both had crises at the same time. This whole family has been under tremendous pressure. I don't want to attribute it to the excommunication business," she says. "But it didn't help." Mrs. Johnson, 43, president of Mormons for ERA, college English teacher and mother of four, feels she is in "a terrific battle" with church authorities in Salt Lake City, who portray the ERA as a threat to the family. She fears her enemies will use her marital strains as an object lesson of what feminism does to a family. "That wasn't the case in her home, she says. "He really is a feminist," she says of her husband. "He stuck it out when it was almost unbearable. He still stays with the children when I'm traveling around for ERA. He couldn't be better."

NEW OWNER—Mildred McDermott is the new owner of D'Ann's. The new name of the dress shop will be Mildred's. Mrs. McDermott has been in Snyder three years. Her husband is employed at McCormick and Son's Oil Company. Store hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. She says the price range will be the same at the store but that she is adding new lines. She attended the Lubbock and Dallas markets and expects items for spring to arrive soon.

Church Youth Selling Candy
 Assembly of God Churches in Snyder will begin a candy sale Saturday in cooperation with the West Texas District Council of the Assemblies of God Youth Department. Proceeds will go for district youth ministries and improvements and additions to facilities for the District Assembly of God Youth Camp located 10 miles east of Roaring Springs. Youth of the churches will be going door-to-door selling boxes of candy. The sale will continue through Saturday, Feb. 2.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

January 19, 1980
 This coming year you may find two new sources which could add to your income. One you may create yourself, the other might come through the good offices of a friend.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Financial conditions are a mixed bag today, but if you handle things smartly your gains should far exceed your losses. How to get along with other signs is one of the sections you'll enjoy in your Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 In order to advance your self-interests today you must be careful not to do anything at the expense of others. A friendship is more valuable than a fleeting achievement.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Doing things in accordance with your nobler ideals will bring you rewards, not regrets today. Act in harmony with your high standards.
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 In situations where you deal with groups today, let the will of the majority prevail. Behaving too independently could cause problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 It's important today to keep the good will of allies who are helping you to further your goals. Do nothing which could alienate them.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Turning a social gathering into a business meeting could prove counterproductive today. Fun activities should be kept light and breezy.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Your rewards today will come in areas where you use your mind and muscle. Longshots or wild speculations are apt to prove unprofitable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Be sure you know what you're agreeing to going in today, or you may find yourself in an awkward position from which you'd like to back out.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 This should be a rewarding day, provided you do not look for more than you're entitled to. If your expectations are unrealistic, you'll be disappointed.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 You're extremely imaginative and creative in aesthetic areas today, but you may not be so clever where money is concerned. Be careful.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Follow your initial hunches and instincts in commercial dealings today. Your intuition is sharper than usual where dollars and cents are concerned.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 Don't play politics or favorites with your peer group today. A sensitive pal could be hurt if he or she feels left out.

Solution to swallowed air

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB—I've read several of your columns about people having excess gas and, as a result, I learned about my own condition. I've suffered with this condition for over two years and had X-rays and medications without results until a thought came to me to solve my problem. I was never bothered when I was away from home so it had to be something I was doing when I was home. I always took my teeth out (lower plate) when I was home. Would you believe that was when I swallowed air? I had gotten to the place where I was afraid to eat and lost needed weight. I've already helped one friend with this knowledge and am back to normal again. If it hadn't been for your column, I would never have known about swallowing air.

DEAR READER—Thank you for your helpful letter and congratulations on finding out why you were swallowing air. Your observation is consistent with the point that anyone who has ill-fitting dentures is apt to be an air swallower. So good teeth and wearing them does help prevent the problem in many people.

Because of your thoughtfulness in expressing this to other readers, I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-8: Controlling Gaseousness. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I hope your thoughtful suggestion will be of use to others who have the habit of not wearing their teeth or who need dentures or use improperly fitting dentures.

DEAR DR. LAMB—When I went to have my prescription for Colbenemid refilled the other day, the druggist told me about another drug that's cheaper than what I'm now taking. Please read the tag he put on the bottle. Do you think this drug is as good as Colbenemid and can I buy it over the counter?

DEAR READER—The little tag you sent me says, "This drug is available in cost saving generic. Please ask us about it." That means that your pharmacist gave you exactly the same medicine as you've been getting all along. So, of course, it should be just as effective. The difference here is the brand name. I know this is confusing to the public but we've had to put up with it in non-medical items for a long time. To stay out of the medical area and the problems involved, let's just look at common baking soda. You're probably used to buying it with a brand name but its generic name, meaning its chemical name, should be sodium bicarbonate. Buying sodium bicarbonate might be cheaper than buying one of the brand names of baking soda. Aspirin is sold under different brand names but it's all acetylsalicylic acid. The exceptions to this are aspirin preparations that have had other chemicals added to them, such as antacids for buffering action. Everyone, including professional people, is so used to calling it aspirin that you never hear doctors say take two acetylsalicylic acid tablets and call me in the morning. And if they did, the patients would probably say, "What?"

In any case, don't worry about the medicine your pharmacist gave you. It's the same thing you've been taking all along.

Gold Price Surpasses Value Of Sentiments

By ANN BLACKMAN, Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)

Granddad's broken gold pocketwatch and great Aunt Tilly's gold jewelry may not look like a rainbow. But dust them off anyway. There may be a pot of cash at the bottom of your jewel box.

As the price of gold broke $800 Thursday and an ounce of silver exceeded $48, Americans all over the country were sifting through their valuables, weighing sentimental value against the soaring price of precious metals.

Many are finding that even sentiment has its price: They're cashing in old coins, gold watches, silverware, candlesticks, silver bowls and almost anything else that shines.

Washington jewelry store owner Jim Rosenheim paid $800 for a small gold box and $100 for a gaudy silver plate with "Northeastern University" engraved on the rim.

In Cincinnati, coin store owner Randy Sandler paid $1,800 for three silver bowls.

At the Coin Pocket stores in Denver, salesman Kenny McIntyre said a three-tooth gold bridge with gold fillings brings $16 while silver dimes, dated 1964 or before, get $1.45 or more.

"A lot of what we're buying is stuff people didn't think was valuable - broken bracelets, old bridge work and other things they had hidden away because they didn't know what to do with them," McIntyre said.

Even crusty old gold fillings are considered an investment.

"See this little bag?" said jewelry store owner Jac King, holding up a small Manila envelope filled with gold fillings he bought from a dentist.

"It's worth $600, $700, and the guy just had it hanging around his office."

"Last October, a guy dressed like a bum came in with his gold bridge-work. I got a hammer, banged out the teeth and gave him $100."

Other people are more willing to bargain.

As King talked, a gray-haired woman carrying a plastic shopping bag entered his store, located in Washington's fashionable Georgetown section. She produced a gold charm bracelet and a gold watch.

"At my age, near retirement, these things are less important to me," said Lucille Hawkins, a secretary who works for the Veterans Administration. "It's time to get rid of these things. And with inflation, I need the money."

King weighed the jewelry and offered her $90 for the watchband and $200 for the bracelet. Miss Hawkins refused to sell. King offered $375 for the bracelet. Again Miss Hawkins refused.

"I'll bet I can get more for them at another store," she said and walked out.

Gold Rushes Over $800

LONDON (AP) - Gold opened in Europe above $800 an ounce for the first time in history today after spectacular new rises in New York and Hong Kong. New York gold prices followed the overseas example.

Gold trading opened in Zurich at $810 an ounce, and the price hit a world record of $840 in late trading, a huge $109.50 advance on Thursday's closing price.

The opening price in London was $815, and major bullion houses "fixed" the afternoon price at $835, a record for that market and $75 above Thursday's closing price.

New York's gold market followed the European trend in early trading, with prices rising more than $30 an ounce to $833, according to Republic National Bank. On New York's Commodity Exchange, futures contracts for delivery of gold this month soared about $40 an ounce to $841.50.

In Hong Kong, meanwhile, the price soared to a world record of $832.97 an ounce, then settled back to close at $810.85.

Only two days ago, the price of gold hit $700 for the first time after breaking through $600 on Jan. 3. The metal has more than doubled in value since the siege of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran began on Nov. 4, when gold was worth $381 an ounce.

Burglary Case Under Probe By Officers

An early morning burglary is under investigation by city police officers.

The burglary, said officers, occurred at Harold Denson's service station. Officers were still checking to determine what may have been taken. The burglary was reported at 8 a.m.

Yesterday, police arrested a 36-year-old man on a charge of possession of a controlled substance. The man, reports show, was taken into custody in the 3600 block of Ave. V when a liquid substance was found in his possession. Police said the substance will be sent to a lab for analysis. The arrest was made about 4:30 p.m.

A theft is also under investigation. Officer Joe Bob Martinez took a report in which a billfold and personal items were taken from a car belonging to Sue Natheny of Abilene. Loss was estimated at $40.

Two traffic accidents were also worked.

The first occurred about 8:06 a.m. in the 200 block of 30th St. It involved a 1975 Mercury driven by Oscar Eckler and a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Debra Smith. It was worked by officer Kerry Fritz.

Fritz also worked an accident at Highland Park Bakery that involved a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Emilia DeLoera and a 1976 Chevrolet driven by Cathy Brumley. It was reported about 9 a.m.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. David Fish of 3110 Ave. U are parents of a son, Dustin, born at Cogdell Hospital Jan. 10 at 10:50 p.m. He weighed 7 lbs. 3 ozs. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walla Fish and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McMahan, all of Snyder.

Felony Charge Of DWI Filed

A felony charge of driving while intoxicated has been filed against Larry Neil Crawley.

Crawley, 2410 27th St., was arrested Jan. 15 by officers of the city police department.

OBITUARIES

Hugh Clift

Funeral services for Hugh A. Clift of Denton, a former resident of Hermleigh, will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Highland Heights Methodist Church in Sweetwater.

Survivors include his wife, Aileen of the home; one daughter, Mrs. Nancy Polson of Marfa; one brother, Vance Clift of Hermleigh; three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Boattenhamer of Hermleigh, Mrs. Elsie Christopher of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Edith Snellings of San Marcos; and two grandsons.

A retired school teacher, Mr. Clift was principal of the John R. Lewis Elementary School in Sweetwater for about 17 years.

Westerners Get Past Amarillo...

Machine Racks Up More Milage

By BILL McCLELLAN
Ralph Nader would have been proud of the Western Texas College Westerners last night. The "Green Machine" was strapped with enough emission controls to stall a bicycle but came through like a Mack truck going downhill as it shifted past Amarillo's Badgers, 73-66.

The Westerners lost first gear from the start when sophomore Bill Patterson and Freddie Davis were unable to suit out for the WJCAC game. Patterson, who averages 13.4 points a contest, had a sprained wrist, while Davis (5.9) was out with a knee problem.

To make matters worse, David Brown picked up four fouls in the first half and Paul Pressey was cited for three. Pressey, undoubtedly a key floor leader for the Westerners, got his fourth early in the second half.

In fact, WTC was charged with 14 fouls in the first 20 minutes while Amarillo was ticketed with six. As a result, Western Texas was never able to apply the type pressure it wanted to against the larger, more physical Badgers.

Amarillo led early and managed to go into the locker room at halftime with a 38-36 advantage.

The Badgers, 13-4 going into the game, stretched the lead to 54-48, six points, early in the second period.

With Pressey and Brown

in foul trouble, and lacking the full services of a normally well-stocked bench, the Westerners utilized poise to try and overcome the Badgers. Amarillo, with a four-point lead midway through the half, elected to go into a delay game - not stalling altogether, but working the ball slowly and deliberately.

The tactic worked until Brown batted down a pass, picked it up and raced downcourt to lay in two points for the Westerners. Amarillo promptly turned the ball over, and that was all WTC needed as Greg Stewart turned the Badger miscue into a 60-60 ballgame. The 6-8 sophomore put the Westerners ahead with 6:59 left and WTC, forced into a more cautious game with all those "emission controls," went into a stall of its own.

The delay game wasn't broken until Ronald Portee drove the middle for an almost sure bucket with 2:36 left. His shot rolled off the rim, but in the fight for a rebound Amarillo fouled, and it was WTC's ball out of bounds.

Then, with 1:39 left, the Badgers were ticketed with a technical for unaggressive play, and Pressey's free shot made 65-62.

Obviously, Amarillo expected the Westerners to go right back into the stall after inbounding the ball, but it was at that point that WTC zipped into overdrive.

The Badgers held back, leaving Stewart open under the basket. He dropped in an easy two-point and was fouled in the process. Stewart, who scored 19 points in the second half of play, converted the bonus free throw, and WTC led by five, 68-62 with 1:32 left.

Once more it was Stewart who shifted the gears, this time at the opposite end of the court, blocking a shot by 6-10 Vic Mitchell - a play which eventually resulted in Brown sinking a free throw to put WTC up by seven points; and with less than a minute remaining on the clock, it put the game under wraps.

Despite Stewart's stand-out performance late in the game, it was a team effort which got WTC past the Badgers. Timely outside shooting by Ronald Portee and Franklin Bennett helped open the middle for the big player. Brown punched in 11 points from inside and out, while Portee and Pressey added 9 each.

Stewart's 28 points led all takers, but David Bradley scored 26 and Vic Mitchell added 22 for the Badgers to keep 1,500-plus fans on the edge of their seats.

Part of the story lay in the fact that only four other Badger players scored, combining for a total of 18 points, while eight lit the scoreboard lights for WTC. The Westerners kept Amarillo from getting the ball to Mitchell - the No. 2 scorer in the WJCAC - with good success in the second half. Mitchell got most of his second-half points by sticking in rebounds, a statistic in which Amarillo dominated throughout the night.

The Westerners, now 18-0 on the season and 6-0 in conference play, will travel to Frank Phillips College in Borger on Tuesday.

Howard Pops Odessa; WJCAC Deadlocked!

Odessa College, Western Texas College and Howard County College women are all locked for the WJCAC lead after a round of conference play last night.

WTC's Dusters defeated Amarillo College in Snyder 74-69 and Howard County College edged Odessa 89-88 in overtime at Odessa to make up the latest standings. In non-conference play, South Plains defeated Wayland JV, 72-62.

The loss drops Odessa to 4-1 in loop play, 14-4 on the season. WTC (15-6) and Howard (13-5) are both 3-1. Amarillo (13-4) is 1-2, followed by Clarendon, Frank Phillips and South Plains, all with 0-2 records.

Western Texas and Midland continue to lead the men's WJCAC lineup with unblemished records. WTC, 18-0 on the season, defeated Amarillo 73-66, while Midland (17-1) knocked off Frank Phillips, 61-57.

In other games, Odessa (13-4) raised its record to 5-1 by popping Howard 110-99; and New Mexico Junior College (9-12) went to 2-4 by handing South Plains 92-91.

Those results leave Frank Phillips at 7-7 and 3-2, Howard at 9-8 and 1-4, and South Plains at 5-12 and 1-5. Frank Phillips is 7-7 and 3-2, while Amarillo is 13-5 and 2-3.

With Solid Second-Half Play...

Dusters Bag A Badger

By The SDN Sports Staff
Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters had to make rally on top of rally here last night but the final comeback did the trick to nudge past No. 15 ranked Amarillo College 74-69.

Katie Fisher, Joyce Plagens and Shari Teal led the late rallies, which saw Western Texas College basket 10 consecutive points at one time and eight straight points even later to exit the highly-touted Lady Badgers.

The victory puts Cushing's crew into a three-way tie for the Western Junior College Athletic Conference lead. Howard County College helped the Dusters out by nipping Odessa College 89-88 in overtime. Those outcomes put Odessa at 4-1 and WTC and Howard at 3-1. Amarillo is 1-2, while Frank Phillips, South Plains and Clarendon are all 0-2.

The Dusters shot only 37 percent from the floor yesterday, but volume was the key. WTC basketed 33 of 88 shots to keep the offensive adrenalin going, and played tenacious second-half defense.

Olivia Jones, the No. 1 scorer in the conference, slammed WTC for 17 first-half points, but was held to only seven in the final 20 minutes as the Lady Badgers managed only 27 second-half points.

"We had some people really come through for us last night," praised Cushing. Shari (Teal) did a very good job in the second half against Jones. When you hold her to 24 points a game, you've done a good job defensively. I thought that was the difference in the ballgame."

Offensively, Teal put in a below-average 11 points, but countered with 12 rebounds, and that tough defensive play against the 6-2 Jones. Joyce Plagens also played both ends of the court well, scoring 14 points and ripping down 11 rebounds, in addition to being a major figure in the latter stages of the game.

Cushing, the fans and the Badgers wouldn't be able to say enough about Katie Fisher, however, who's play the coach called, "the best I've seen her play."

Fisher scored 16 second-half points and bucketed 28 for the 40-minute contest. She accounted for six assists and five steals.

The Badgers, 13-4, led most of the second half until WTC rattled off 10 straight points in a two-minute period. The Dusters were behind 55-52 when Plagens grabbed her first of two back-to-back steals from Jones' hands underneath the Amarillo basket.

in to put WTC in front with 11:02 left. It was the 5-9 sophomore's turn on the next three occasions as Plagens put up two rebounds for scores, and utilized a Fisher steal to give WTC a 62-55 lead.

But Amarillo wasn't content to let the game end that way. The Lady Badgers rallied back with a 10-point surge of their own. DeAnn Halford, 5-10, broke the Duster scoring string, and began one for the Lady Badgers. Jessica Wiley, 6-0, added another bucket, and Jones took a steal and scrambled unmolested to put Amarillo within a point, 62-61. K.A. O'Leary then scored on a fast break to give the visitors the lead again with 6:26 left, and added another bucket for insurance.

It might have been enough to pull the plug on some occasions, but Amarillo's comeback seemed only to make the Dusters more determined. After both teams turned the ball over, Fisher crashed the middle to get WTC going again. Linda Holubec intercepted a wobbly Amarillo pass and Teal made it into a Duster lead, 66-65 with 4:56 left.

Fisher added two more points just moments later, and after another succession of futile turnovers by both teams, Holubec picked off another Badger pass. She got the ball to Fisher, who scored with 3:29 to give WTC a five-point lead.

Amarillo cut the lead to 70-69 with 1:58 left, but back-to-back points by Fisher and Plagens ended the threat.

LOS ANGELES (AP)-If you've gotten as far as the Super Bowl, common sense dictates that you've got what it takes to win it, too.

At least that's Chuck Noll's philosophy. "You win with what's gotten you here," Pittsburgh's coach has said in the past namely when the Steelers were winning their three Super Bowl titles.

But Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi thinks it's always a good idea to have a few new things up your sleeve.

In Malavasi's case, he may well be right, considering he's sending his underdog Rams against Noll's Steelers.

"Personally, we try to rely on things we've been doing since training camp," Noll said Thursday. "I think the most important part of our preparation is training camp. Everything we'll do on Sunday we've done in training camp and have refined and improved during the season."

"To put in something cold can make things very confusing, make it difficult to execute your offense."

Malavasi isn't exactly planning on scrapping the offense that put the Rams in their first Super Bowl, but he does say he's got a few surprises in store for the Steelers.

ing into tonight's bash with Brownfield.

The Mustang girls team has an inside track to the "first-round loop crown on that date, Tuesday. They've already beaten loop favorite Lake View 55-53 in overtime and tonight's opponent, Brownfield, promises little threat.

That would leave only Snyder, in the Sweetwater girls also zipped past Lamesa, 48-24, earlier this week.

In contrast, Snyder easily handled Lamesa and Brownfield, but must now face two of the district's toughest teams in Sweetwater and Lake View (Jan 25).

Tonight's Snyder-Lubbock Christian boys games comprise the third time this season the Tigers and Panthers have met. In varsity play LCHS won the first meeting 55-51, while Snyder took the second 56-55 in overtime. Snyder girls lost their only bout with Lubbock Christian earlier this season, 42-39.

Gold Wins; Black Falls

Snyder ninth grade boy's basketball teams split with outsiders last night.

The local Gold team improved its record to 6-0 with a 72-45 win over Colorado City. James Caldwell and Paul Gafford led the Cat's scoring with 22 and 21 points respectively.

Snyder Black lost to Big Spring's Brahmas 51-34. The Cats were behind only 33-27 going into the fourth quarter, but 26 turnovers in the game and 2 of 18 free throw shooting took their toll.

Scoring for Snyder black were David Nicholson 11, Whit Parks 10, Glenn Parkham 6, David Miller 4 and Casey Peterson 3.
