Teenage Gang "Muscles In" to Hi-jack Youthful Hallowe'en Celebrants

The Hallowe'en spirit was much in evidence Tuesday night as youthful "trick or treat" groups paraded all sections of town.

No trace of vandalism was evident, but the evening's fun for one group of small youngsters was spoiled by the gangster activities of a party of five or six older boys.

As three small lads, 9, 10 and 12 years old, were returning home, a car bearing five or six teenagers blocked them as they started across a dark street.

Three of the larger boys got out of the car and demanded the sacks of Hallowe'en treats carried by the small fry. After forcibly taking the "treats" collected by the small boys, the teenage gang drove off.

Here's a final note to the older boys: Some embarrassing explanations and apologies may be in order. The license number of the car occupied by the teenage gang was taken and has been reported to authorities.

Four Men Charged In Beer Store Burglary

Three Abilene men and a Stamford resident were jailed here Tuesday, charged with the Saturday night burglary of Bill's Place, a beer and wine store just outside the north city limits of Stamford. About $1,100 in cash and checks was reported taken in the burglary.

Entry to the store was gained by forcing open a rear window. Sheriff Garth Garrett of this city and Constable Raymond Denson of Rule identified the Abilene men as Roy Carlos Casady, 21; Lloyd E. Lowe, 28; and Lindy Morrow Holley, 29. The fourth man charged is Harvey Lee Denny, 34, of Stamford. He was arrested Sunday. The Abilene men were taken in custody Tuesday.

None of the money taken in the burglary was recovered. The Abilene men told officers they "tore up or threw away" the checks and then divided the money, but none of it was in their possession.

Working on the case with Sheriff Garrett and Constable Denson were Texas Ranger Homer T. Melton of Benjamin, Police Chief B. Q. Cooper of Stamford and Liquor Control Board Officer Eugene McNelly of Stamford.

Highway Patrolmen in Abilene assisted in locating the three suspects in that city, Sheriff Garrett said.

Cotton Ginnings Hit 7,513-Bale Mark Wednesday

Haskell's three cotton gins had processed a total of 7,513 bales of cotton from the 1961 crop through Tuesday night.

Cloudy, damp weather and light drizzles the first of the week slowed gathering of the crop as harvesting neared its peak.

Much of the crop remaining in the fields is expected to be gathered with mechanical harvesters after frost, but there is still a heavy demand for laborers in the county.

Group Working on Plans For Exhibition Building

A modern livestock exhibition building on the Rice Springs Roundup grounds, suitable for staging the largest shows ever held here, may become a reality in the near future, according to plans announced this week.

Plans for the modern building have been under consideration by a committee composed of representatives from local business interests, civic organizations, and the Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the committee met with the Commissioners Court last week and discussed the project and asked that the county cooperate to the fullest extent possible.

Meeting with the county officials were A. T. Ballard, C. A. Thomas Jr., Tom Barfield, C. O. Holt and Jetty V. Clare.

Although the project is only in a tentative stage, Commissioners assured the group they were interested and would furnish what help they could.

The proposal will also be placed before city officials for their consideration, members of the committee stated.

The proposed building would be available for livestock shows of all kinds, 4-H and FFA, Shetland Pony or Horse Shows, or any exhibitions of similar nature.

Under consideration is a building of pre-fabricated construction, which could be enlarged at any time desired, and which could be enclosed to form a museum-type structure if the need for this type of building developed.

A structure of this nature would be fireproof, with almost negligible maintenance cost, members of the committee explained.

Mrs. M. E. Lancaster, Whose Life Spanned More Than A Century, Dies

The long and useful life of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lancaster, which had spanned more than a century, came to a peaceful end at 6:30 a. m. Monday at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Atchison, east of Haskell.

Believed Haskell County's oldest resident, she had celebrated her 100th birthday last April 25th. Also a county pioneer in length of residence, she and her late husband had moved here in 1903. They had an important role in early day development of the area which became the present-day Roberts and Mattson communities.

Funeral service for Mrs. Lancaster was held at the First Methodist Church at 10 a. m. Wednesday, with the Rev. C. R. LeMond, pastor, and the Rev. L. D. Regeon, pastor of East Side Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home. Grandsons were pallbearers.

Mrs. Lancaster was born April 25, 1861, in Carter County, Missouri, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt W. Williamson. After the beginning of the Civil War, Mr. Williamson joined the Confederate Army and died in a Federal prison in St. Louis. The widowed mother moved her family to Arkansas when Mrs. Lancaster was five years old. Her mother died when she was eight years old and she lived in the home of an uncle and aunt until her marriage to A. L. Lancaster on Feb. 7, 1882.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster moved to Bell County, Texas in 1894. In 1903 they moved their family to Haskell County, purchasing a farm north-east of Haskell. During their long residence in that section, Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster were actively identified with church and school development in the area.

Indians Blast Spur 23-12; To Meet Stamford Friday

The Haskell Indians defeated the rambunctious Spur Bulldogs 23 to 12 in Spur Stadium last Friday night, in the Tribe's second conference win and No. 8 for the season.

The victory could be a costly one for the Indians, whose high-scoring quarterback, Jerry Hadaway was hospitalized at Spur as a result of injuries received in the last 90 seconds of the game. However, the injured player was able to take part in light workouts Tuesday.

The win over Spur moved Haskell into the ranks of the State's Top Ten 2A squads, as the Tribe prepared for its toughest game to date when the Indians host their traditional foe, the powerful Stamford Bulldogs, in Indian Stadium here Friday night.

On the line will be the Indians' 2-0 conference record against Stamford's 1-1 district record.

In last week's game at Spur, the Bulldogs scored in the first and third periods, failing to add extra points after TD's in both instances.

The Indians came from behind in the second quarter to score on a sustained drive. Halfback Dwight Stone skirted left end from the Spur 6 for the TD. Quarterback Jerry Hadaway went over left side for two points to place the Indians out front with a halftime score of 8-6.

Indian Fullback Robert Bartley powered through the middle for Haskell's third quarter score, and End Lonnie Sturdy kicked the extra point.

The Indian's final TD in the fourth quarter was No. 2 for the evening by Fullback Bartley, who drove to paydirt from the one to climax a 37-yard drive. A pass, Hadaway to Sturdy, added two points.

The Tribe threatened again in the fading minutes of the game, when Halfback Stone hit the pay zone but was ruled fractions shy by officials.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

With Thanksgiving and Christmas still to come, it is difficult to get into a mood for considering politics on a local or statewide scale.

Still, the cold facts are that would-be candidates have a filing deadline only three months away!

The political calendar for 1962 shows that Feb. 5 is the last day to file for a place on the primary ballot, and Feb. 17 is the deadline for paying the filing fee. Saturday, May 5, is date for the first primary election.

Considering the above rapidly-approaching dates, chances are that along with the holiday season we will have a few candidates for the various offices to be filled next year.

As you have probably noticed, Stanley Furrh recently did some remodeling at his Texas Cafe, making the front especially more attractive with an enclosed entrance or vestibule, and lowered ceiling.

One addition especially has created considerable attention and always elicits comment and laughter when noticed. It is a small, neat sign, strategically located in the vestibule.

Because the sign is located and worded in such a way that it must be seen and read to be appreciated, the wording will not be repeated here.

However, we believe you will get a kick out of seeing and reading it the next time you are in the cafe.

Stamford's Chief of Police B. Q. Cooper and Weinert's B. Q. Furrh have the same peculiar initials because they were named after the same man—but neither knew it until a few years ago.

Before becoming a peace officer, Cooper was in an implement house in Stamford. One day Furrh came in to make a purchase, and in making out the ticket, Cooper asked his name and initials.

"B. Q. Furrh," came the answer. Cooper looked at the man quizzically and said "Who are you trying to kid? I'm the only man in captivity outside the man I was named for, with the initials B. Q."

"Well, I must've been named for the same man, because those are my initials, too," Furrh answered.

"Who were you named after?" Cooper queried.

"Judge B. Q. Henderson, a Greenville lawyer," Furrh replied.

"Why man, he's my namesake, too," Cooper told the Weinert man.

It developed that both men had lived near Greenville before coming to West Texas. However, both declared they had never known anyone else with the initials B. Q., except the prominent East Texas lawyer who was their namesake.

A brief postcard message from a former Free Press printer and floorman, Sp. 4 Roger Weatherford, states that he "is in the Army now" and enjoyed attracted our attention was a statement in the story concerning the man's previous court record. It was brought out that the man had been convicted of "mule rustling" in 1935 and given a suspended sentence.

We've heard of "cattle rustling" but never before of "mule rustling." In fact, don't believe we can recall anyone so much as being charged with stealing one of the hard-headed critters. The Stamford character must be the type who always does difficult things the hard way.

The storm of protests against granting of permits for sale of beer and liquor in Abilene's satellite city of Impact has reached such proportions that the State Liquor Board is really behind the eight ball.

Administrator Luke Stevenson, just as the controversy began to rage, found it expedient to make a trip to New York City and was out of the state for a week or 10 days. As a result, an application for a license which has been pending, was held up.

Opponents of the newly-incorporated city, which quickly voted to legalize sale of both beer and liquor, have organized for a last-ditch fight to prevent opening of liquor stores on the fringe of Abilene.

In the meantime, beer and liquor stores in Haskell County's "wet edge"—Justice of Peace Prec. 4—continue to do a thriving business.

Since a bulk of patronage for these stores comes from Abilene and Dyess Air Force Base, local owners of the precinct dispensaries are hopeful that the Impact deal is stymied.

These operators have a selfish motive in their stand against Impact. Opening of liquor stores there would cut deeply into Prec. 4 business and many lights along Bourbon Drive and The Strip would be dimmed.

Incidentally, Saturday was the first anniversary of the legal sale of beer in Prec. 4.

The precinct voted wet in an election held Oct. 11, 1960, and the first beer store opened for business on Oct. 28, 1960.

Life and Death

Editor Max Ascoli of The Reporter, a magazine of the liberal persuasion, has this to say about the Communist leaders: "Much more than Marxism makes for the inhumanity of their system and their drive toward world conquest. They cannot tolerate freedom or prosperity at their borders; and to gain the goods, the services, the choices that civilization provides in the most advanced countries they must dominate those countries by isolating them from their allies and sterilizing their freedom. The first on the list, of course, is West Germany; the last but by no means the least, is us. This is the newest and most infamous of colonialism."

The long editorial from which this excerpt is taken amounts to a rousing attack on the "better Red than dead" movement which has developed a certain following in England and elsewhere. It is a movement which, if successful, would give the Kremlin everything it wants, with hardly a struggle, and lead to the enslavement of the world. So another thing Mr. Ascoli says deserves the widest currency: . . . the negotiations that are in prospect now are on a matter of life and death for us. If we negotiate away Berlin and Germany, that would make NATO negotiable. It is to be assumed that our administration's leaders do not consider the survival of our nation as negotiable.

A Search That Never Ends

All of us are familiar, to some extent, with the extraordinary progress made in medicine in the last generation or so, and the dedicated efforts that are underway to open up new frontiers of knowledge, and to find the cures to yet unconquered maimers and killers.

And modern developments in fields which may seem totally dissociated from medicine have brought new problems to the medical fraternity—and have created a need for research and evaluation.

Take, for instance, the agenda of the American Medical Association's 15th Clinical Meeting, which is to be held in Denver at the end of November. Medical aspects of such American habits as the coffee break, the cocktail hour, auto driving and family pets will be discussed. Another section of the meeting will explore the use of electronics and computers in medicine. With increasing use of nuclear reactors, physicians may soon face the problem of treating injuries from radiation accidents, and this subject will be examined in a series of scientific papers. The virus will be the subject of another series of papers. And attention will be focused on heredity as it relates to human ills, and the knowledge gained by specialists in space medicine will be relayed to practicing physicians.

So it goes. The search for medical knowledge never ends—and the results of that eternal searching bring inestimable benefits to tens of millions of us.

County's First GPCP Contract Completed

William E. Lawson of Haskell, participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program, has completed his GPCP Contract. The plan of operations scheduled a farm pond for livestock water and diversion terraces to increase the drainage area into the pond. Brush spraying and deferred grazing were also planned. All measures have been applied on Lawson's "Ranch" and the terms of the contract have been fulfilled with the exception of the length of time of the contract. Lawson's contract will expire Dec. 31, 1962. This is the first of Haskell County's GPCP Contracts to be completely applied.

Lawson will stock the "ranch" next year according to the available grass and will maintain a stocking rate that will take only one-half of the annual production of grass. By taking half and leaving half, Lawson says he will be able to maintain or even increase his carrying capacity. According to Lawson he will even have grass left for emergencies without serious effects to his range.

PUBLIC NOTICE

OF THE 13TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

My friends are circulating petitions urging me to run for Congress.

I have seen hundreds of signatures by folks in all parts of this 13th District. Some are old friends, some are new friends, and some are total strangers.

We have one thing in common.

We all like to be represented in Congress by a conservative-thinking businessman.

We are tired of being represented by wild-spending professional politicians who are leading us deeper into the wilderness of the "New Frontier" of Kennedy and Johnson.

I am decided to run for Congress.

I am going to go to Washington and do what I can to try to stop our break-neck rush. I hope you will join me in this fight. It will not be easy to win this race. The pendulum is certain to set off a mad scramble among present office holders to further their interests and to fill the seat with "one of their own" who will go meekly along with the status quo.

It is likely to be the usual threats of political punishment and economic reprisals to the 13th District if they dare defy the powers in office. I do not believe that our people are intimidated by public office holders nor bribed with their own money. I believe we are ready to stand up and speak up for common sense in government, and I hope you will give your support to the conservative candidates in this race.

I am sure I can serve you in that capacity.

Sincerely,
JOE MEISSNER, JR.

P.S. I do not think it is fair to run for one office while holding another. Therefore, I am resigning my position on the City Council of Wichita Falls, effective immediately. My sincere thanks to all for the understanding and support you have given me in that position.

MEISSNER FOR CONGRESS

Mr. and Mrs. Freeland have lived here 14 years. He was a stationary engine engineer for many years and, among other accomplishments while in that work, helped build the ice house at Haskell. In more recent years before his retirement, he farmed.

The couple has six children: Dorsey, who lives at home; Mrs. Florence Grangore of Oakland, Calif.; W. G. Freeland, area farmer; Mrs. Gertrude Williamson of Lubbock; and twin sons, John B. and Robert Lee Freeland, both of Oakland, Calif. The twins served throughout World War II together. The children were educated in Haskell schools, and got their college educations variously at Hardin-Simmons and McMurry College.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeland have 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

John Freeland was born in Tarrant County, Sept. 13, 1875. Effie Lee Ivy was born August 20, 1885 in Callahan County. The couple married Dec. 12, 1900, at Cottonwood, Texas.

Both are Methodists and have been Democrats all their lives.

Agent Advises Methods to Kill Wheat Insects

By F. W. Martin, County Agent

There are several insects that eat on small wheat that can be controlled by the use of chemicals applied to the wheat when it is sowed. The chemicals to use are Dieldrin and Heptachlor in the dust form.

Use 4 to 6 oz. of 50% wettable Dieldrin Powder to the 100 lbs. of seed wheat. Use 4 to 6 oz. of 50% Heptachlor to the 100 lbs. of seed wheat.

This is the only way to control false wire worms and white grub worms. You can't wait until the wheat comes up and then spray to control these worms.

The cost per 100 lbs. of seed wheat is small.

Mix the dust thoroughly with the seed wheat.

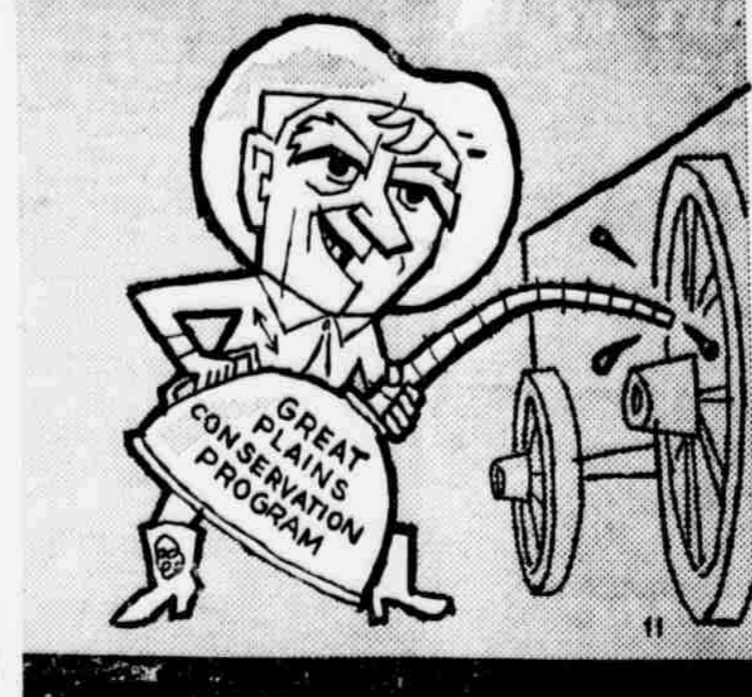

DORSEY OLIPHANTS ARE PARENTS OF SON

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Oliphant of Morton, Texas, are announcing the arrival of a son, Billy Nelson, weight 8 pounds, 15 ounces. He was born Oct. 15 in Memorial Hospital in Morton. Only grandparent is Roy Oliphant of Haskell.

Hunters, observe all safety measures while in the field. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to kill.

Great Plains Soil Program Now Has 26 Contracts In County

Obligated funds for the Great Plains Conservation Program in Haskell County now total $71,253. Twenty-six (26) contracts are at present in force.

J. M. Ashcroft of Stamford signed his GPCP contract last week on the Davis Ranch between Sagerton and Stamford. There are about 3300 acres in the ranch. Approximately $5,200 will be obligated for this contract. Fred Gillingham, Haskell has applied for assistance through the Great Plains Conservation Program in developing his farm east of Haskell.

The purpose of the Great Plains Conservation Program according to J. C. Yeary Jr., Work Unit Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Haskell, Texas, is to help land owners and operators carry out a plan of operations that will aid in reducing to a minimum the hazards of climate and protect the land from erosion and deterioration by natural causes such as wind and water.

The program has helped each of the 26 participants in Haskell County, and countless thousands in the Great Plains region of the United States.

Yeary said, "to solve difficult long-term land use and conservation problems on the individual farm or ranch. It will enable the producer to plan his farm or ranch operations so as to minimize the hazards of weather extremes. It enables the farmer or rancher to make necessary changes in land use. It will financially assist him to establish needed soil and water conservation measures under a guaranteed agreement or contract."

Check of Heating Equipment Is Recommended

Heating equipment should be checked now to help assure maximum comfort and safety during the coming winter months.

This reminder came today from Lone Star Gas Company Manager F. C. Hipp, who urged that heating equipment be checked before cold weather sets in. Hipp suggested these safety precautions:

1. Have heating equipment and vent pipes inspected for safe and economical operation. If adjustments are required, call a qualified serviceman.
2. Be sure that your heating equipment has a source of fresh air. See that the gas burns with a bright blue flame.
3. Use only metal connectors approved by the American Gas Association. Do not use rubber hose.

4. Keep clothing, furniture, curtains and other combustible materials away from heating equipment.

"By taking these simple yet essential precautions," Hipp said, "homeowners will eliminate possible accident hazards and will make their homes comfortable for the winter season."

Two things, my friend: economical oil transportation and good service to producers and refiners.

Means nothing, chum. I'm no producer or refiner. What I want to know is what they do for me.

Former Haskell County Teacher Dies in Ranger

Funeral services were held in Ranger Friday, Oct. 20, for Mrs. W. J. Herrington, former teacher in Haskell County schools who had lived in Eastland County for the past 38 years. She died Oct. 19 after a lengthy illness. The former Susie Addie Tompkins, daughter of the late J. B. and Mollie Tompkins, she was born in Montague County Aug. 20, 1888 and moved with her parents to a ranch in Haskell County about 1900. She graduated from Haskell High School and later attended North Texas State University and Baylor University, then located at Belton. She was graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1915. She taught in rural schools at O'Brien, Ozona and Haskell before marrying Mr. Herrington Oct. 21, 1923. Their home was in Eastland until 1939, when they moved to Rising Star, remaining there until 1956. Since then their home had been in Ranger. Mr. Herrington served several terms as Eastland County tax collector. Mrs. Herrington was a life-long member of the Baptist Church and member of the Eastern Star. Crane Man Drives 1923 Lincoln Car From Buffalo, N.Y.

A 1923 model Lincoln sedan, being driven from Buffalo, N. Y., to Crane, Texas, attracted considerable attention Monday of last week when the owner parked the vehicle on the north side of the square for a brief stay in Haskell. Ken Spencer of Crane, Texas, who says antique automobiles are his hobby, said he purchased the 1923 model car in Vermont. He had it towed to Buffalo, N. Y., and had driven it overland from that point. Despite its 38 years, the vehicle presented a spic and span appearance, with all metal parts shining like new and the motor looked as clean as the day it left the factory. One of the most impressive features about the antiquated vehicle were the wooden-spoke wheels which required 28-inch tires. Spencer said he had been able to get two spare tires in that size from the Goodrich factory.

Scouts to Hold Camp-O-Ree at Paint Rock

The 1961 Council Camp-O-Ree will be held at Paint Rock, Texas at the site of the Indian Painted rocks on Nov. 11, 12. A camporee is a demonstration of the camping skills of two or more Scout Troops which set up their own camp for one or more days and nights on the same campsite, for fun and good fellowship giving them the opportunity to learn more about camping from each other. All Scout troops in the Council have been invited to attend. The Camporee last year for the Council was conducted in Fort Griffin near Albany. Each Scout troop in the Northern District is busy now preparing for the Scout skills events that will be held Saturday afternoon on Nov. 11. The events for competition are: height judging, first aid relay, nature, signaling, silent signaling, silent signals, compass, flapjack contest, uniform and insignia, tripod building and flag ceremony. There are 10 events that cover some of the skills that all Scout Troops should be able to do well. Awards will be given to troops only, first, second and third places. Contest will be run on a fixed station basis. Judges will be at different stations and each Patrol will go from station to station. Ernest Williams of Rule is the Northern District Camping and Activities Chairman and urges all Troops in the Northern District to attend. Be sure to unload your guns, Mr. Sportsman, before putting them in the car. One careless action may cost a life. No Texas hunting or fishing license is transferable.

Extension Entomologists suggest to cotton producers that they proceed with stalk destruction programs as soon as possible after the wheat harvest is completed. Shredding the stalks and plowing the residue under to a depth of five to six inches is one of the best control measures for pink bollworms and for cutting off the food supply for over-wintering boll weevils. The program, they say, is most effective when carried out on a community or county basis. Dr. C. F. Gatz State University, the nation's dairy scientist of outstanding annual Texas Dairyman's Nov. 30 - December 1, Meekma, extensionist, says it is one that in the dairy want to miss.

Seven Bales From Four Acres Could Be Record!

As far as fertility of the soil is concerned the fabled "Valley of the Nile" has nothing on a 4-acre block of land on the E. W. Kreger farm eight miles north of Haskell, which is being worked by J. B. Dunnam. Mr. Kreger brought in a sample of white, fluffy cotton grown on the plot this year. It is Lankhart 57 strain, and Kreger says five bales have already been gathered and ginned from the four acre block. "There are at least two more bales," he declared, to make a total of seven bales from four acres of dryland cotton. Can anyone beat a record like that? Kreger, who has lived here 54 years, knows the answer: Rain at the right time. When we have seasonal rains this is the crop-growingest country on the face of the earth, he says.

Bule's of Stamford state they now have on hand the new model International two-row cottonstripper (all belt driven) which they can make operate on all models Farmall, John Deere and on many Massey-Harris and M-M tractors. Bule says "We also have a number of good used strippers at low prices." Adv. 42-43p

Tree Seedlings Now Available For Windbreaks

West Texas landowners from the Panhandle to the Gulf, should begin making plans for ordering tree seedlings for windbreak planting. Don Young, head of the Forest Management Department, Texas Forest Service today urged landowners to place their orders early before the February 10 deadline. Shipments will begin in mid-January. Three new species have been added to the list this year: Russian olive, enonymous and buffaloberry. Other species include black locust, black walnut (stratified nuts), catalpa, Chinese elm, cottonwood, mulberry, osage orange, red cedar, rosa multiflora, sycamore, Austrian pine, ponderosa pine, loblolly pine, and slash pine. All seedling orders are packed in moss and moisture-proof paper and shipped prepaid direct to the purchaser. The delivered cost of all species is $1.50 per hundred. Orders must be in multiples of 50 and orders for less than 100 seedlings will not be accepted. Landowners who apply for Texas Forest Service seedlings agree to plant the trees in Texas; protect them from fire, cattle and destructive insects; and to refrain from using or reselling the trees for ornamental purposes. Application forms can be obtained from county agents and Soil Conservation District Offices in the West Texas area or by writing the Director, Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas. It is unlawful in Texas to take any game bird by net or trap. Texas law forbids the sale of bass, crappie, or white perch.

THE NEW CHEVY II GOING GREAT GUNS!

Chevy II Nova 400 Sport Coupe—and there are 8 more models, just as nifty, where this one came from

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood... a frugal 4- or satiny 6-cylinder engine (there's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. Nine new-sized different models... sedans, wagons, hardtop and convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy... just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best—drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. Here's Body by Fisher comfort that makes many a full-size car wonder how it's done—room for six solid citizens, bag and baggage, in all sedans and two-seat wagons. And, thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, you get a remarkably smooth ride that rivals much higher priced cars.

Braceo "Blacklist" Hinted At Stamford

Farmers and businessmen of Stamford were advised last week of the possibility of that city being placed on the "blacklist" by the Mexican government.

Haskell was plagued by a similar threat just at the beginning of the cotton gathering season, until local businessmen worked out a solution satisfactory to the Mexican consulate, Hector Rangel, of Dallas. The settlement involved an agreement that local barber and beauty shops would serve Mexican customers.

Reportedly, the same friction is behind the threatened "blacklist" of Stamford. Rangel told Stamford Mayor Roland Kelley that people of Mexican nationality claimed they were refused service in barber shops in Stamford. Rangel pointed out that the complaints did not necessarily mean that the discriminations were against braceos.

That was the same situation which prevailed in the threatened "blacklisting" of Haskell. Only complaints which could be verified were made by local Mexican residents, none by braceos.

Since settlement of the claims of alleged discrimination here, Haskell barber shops report that very few Mexicans have patronized their shops. None of these have been braceos.

The Stamford Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to work out a satisfactory solution to the problem, in an effort to avoid that city being "blacklisted." Mayor Kelley has also given Rangel a letter promising to look into the situation, thus gaining from 10 days to two weeks time before the contract can be broken.

Roofing Repairs Will Be Made on County Hospital

The Commissioners Court, at its last regular meeting employed David S. Castles, Abilene building architect, to furnish plans and specifications for a new roof on the Haskell County Hospital.

The roof repairs have been needed for some time, and the project has been under consideration by county commissioners for several weeks.

Employment of an architect to check the roofing needs and provide plans and specifications was considered the most feasible manner for handling the project. When the plans are ready, they will be made available to contractors desiring to do the work.
