

Say White House Officials... Draft To Include Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is proposing that men and women aged 19 and 20 be registered for a military draft, probably beginning this summer, White House officials say.

However, the president is unlikely to advocate changing the law banning women from combat roles.

Furthermore, the White House staff considers the question of drafting women into the armed services hypothetical "and likely to remain so," according to an official, who did not wish to be identified.

An announcement detailing the president's recommendations was expected at the White House later today.

Carter's recommendation to register women for the first time in the nation's history is expected to face trouble in Congress. It will be requested in separate legislation so as not to jeopardize early implementation of registration for men.

Administration officials envision the male registration program as beginning this summer, probably at post offices around the country.

There was no telling when or if Congress would order women to register.

Although White House officials acknowledge the female registration issue will be controversial, they are not ready to buy House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's argument that it would never pass.

"It will be very controversial," one official said Thursday. But he refused to predict that it would die automatically.

The official said that in deciding whether to include women, the White House considered a possible court challenge if the program were limited to men only.

"There is a substantial body of opinion that registration could be stymied by a legal challenge," he said. The official pointed to fears that a suit challenging a male-only program as unconstitutional would "be successful in blocking the program."

While the issues of registering and drafting women may be linked in many minds, they are being treated separately at the White House.

For instance, the possibility was raised that women, even if they register, never would be drafted.

"It would be unlikely that you would need to draft women even if you chose to do so, because at this point the first thing you would need is people for combat duties and there is no thought of changing that," an official said.

"Right now the volunteers among women are more than adequate to meet their military needs," he said. "The actual fact of drafting women - the question in real terms - is mostly hypothetical and is likely to remain so."

All of the White House officials willing to discuss the proposals did so on the condition they not be identified by name.

The president announced his intent to resume draft registration last month in his State of the Union address, citing an increasing threat from the Soviet Union.

He is asking for an extra $10 million for the Selective Service to implement the new program.

Oil Profits For Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee inched toward agreement early today to set aside most of the money from the new "windfall profits" tax on the oil industry for general income tax reductions.

The shape and timing of the tax cuts, which would total $114 billion or more in the 1980s, would be decided by later legislation.

Auto Layoffs Increase

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. layoffs have pushed the number of U.S. auto workers to be idle next week past 200,000 for the first time since mid-January, company reports say.

Total layoffs for the five domestic producers will be 211,825 next week, up 14 percent from the 186,275 reported last week. Of next week's total, 174,500 workers will be on indefinite layoff, with the remaining 37,325 out of a job for a week or two, the automakers said.

Somehow, we got the idea, after reading the following in his column in the Ballinger Ledger, that Tom E. Roy does not favor the Equal Rights Amendment:

"ERA is for that minority of misfits who talk out of both sides of their mouths. They claim they want equal rights but hedge when it comes to exactly equal responsibilities. They demand equal rights because they have lost the art of gaining better-than-equal treatment. In short, most of the proponents are the very opposite of the intriguing nature that sets womanhood apart and makes it very special."

Roy penned that paragraph in a column questioning the stand of ERA leaders concerning a military draft including women.

"Now that a situation has developed to test the theory of ERA, those ladies who have been so outspoken are starting to waffle on us. It seems that rhetoric of the law and application of the law are not one and the same."

Congress Wants FBI's Evidence On Bribery Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress are pressing for a firsthand look at the FBI's evidence in the congressional bribery investigation despite the Justice Department's refusal to cooperate.

With seven representatives and one senator implicated in the government's widespread corruption case, Rep. Peter Peyser, D-N.Y., introduced a resolution of inquiry in the House Thursday. It directs the attorney general to hand over all FBI evidence against members of Congress within a month.

"Congress cannot wait for a grand jury investigation or for a trial. We must know now what happened," he said. "If ever the public needs to have confidence in its government, it is today."

The degree of support for Peyser's resolution, which goes to the Judiciary Committee, was unclear. Peyser sent letters to all House members urging them to debate his proposal Thursday - but he was the only member who showed up.

In another development Thursday, the chairman of a House subcommittee said he will hold a hearing to determine whether the FBI illegally helped a private company get a federal contract in return for the company providing a "cover" for undercover FBI agents conducting the investigation.

And in New Jersey, FBI agents questioned members of the New Jersey Casino Control Commission, which figured in the allegations against one of the eight legislators, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J.

The Senate Ethics Committee already has voted for a "preliminary inquiry" into allegations concerning Williams. Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., chairman of the committee, said the panel might subpoena material it needs for its probe. The House Ethics Committee has voted to appoint a legal counsel to handle the case.

But Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann already has told House members they won't get the FBI evidence because "There is one nightmare picture for all of us... one in which we get entangled in each other's feet."

The eight congressmen, who have all denied guilt, were implicated last weekend in an alleged influence-peddling scandal. FBI agents, posing as wealthy Arabs or Arab agents, paid nearly $500,000 in cash in exchange for promises of political favors and other services.

In all, as many as 20 public officials and 10 businessmen have been implicated in the case, which will be turned over to grand juries.

G.A. PARKS JR. Parks Enters School Board Race Here

A third candidate has filed for Place 5 on the Snyder School Board in the April election.

He is G.A. Parks Jr., an employee of Chevron as a construction representative for SACROC. He also is engaged in stock farming and is a veteran of the Korean War. He is secretary of the Little League Baseball organization and has coached boys' Little Dribbler basketball the past six years. He is a member of the Scurry County Historical Commission and former member of the board of directors of the Scurry County Museum. Mr. and Mrs. Parks have a daughter, Paula, who teaches in Jayton High School and a son, Whit, a freshman at Snyder High School.

Other candidates for Place 5 on the board are Jan McCathern and Ben Warton. Still running unopposed are Michael Reed for Place 3 and Jerry Rice, an incumbent, for Place 4. The deadline for candidates to file is March 5.

Schools Close Early... Winter Moves Across Area

Another winter surge swept across the Snyder area today, all but closing highways and causing public schools to dismiss classes early.

Snow began falling at mid-morning here, as a complex winter storm system moved southeastward across the state and forecasts indicated that it would get worse before it clears up.

Conditions Of Roads

AUSTIN (AP) — The state highway department reported icy roads in West Texas early Friday and warned of worsening conditions in other parts of the state.

The Amarillo district reported slick streets and blowing snow with 10-degree temperatures.

Icing conditions were also reported in Childress, Hardeman, Donley, Briscoe, Collingsworth, Motley, Hall, and Wheeler counties. Light snow was falling in Donley and Wheeler counties.

The Lubbock district reported ice and blowing snow in Parmer, Castro and Swisher counties. Icing condition were expected to spread during the day.

Wichita Falls and Abilene had rain, sleet and snow with worsening road conditions.

Temperatures were dropping in Brownwood and freezing conditions were expected on roadways later in the day.

Dallas had rain with temperatures expected to hit the freezing point by Friday night.

El Paso had high wind warnings posted for the Guadalupe Mountains.

Schools Close Early...

All area schools were closing down in early afternoon as ice-covered roads made travel extremely dangerous. All highways in the county were reported slippery and there were several reports of vehicles sliding off highways.

The Scurry County Sheriff's office reported it had received word of at least four trucks involved in mishaps, all of them attributed to the slippery roads.

Temperatures, which had been a balmy 50 degrees late last night, had dropped to 23 degrees before noon today and the thermometer was still falling.

The National Weather Service issued various watches, warnings and advisories covering almost all of the state.

A winter storm watch was posted for the Texas Hill Country and forecasters warned of possible accumulations of 2 to 4 inches of ice and snow.

A second storm system located early today in southern Arizona was expected to roar across North Texas by tonight, dumping as much as 4 inches of snow across a vast area.

Forecasters said 2 to 4 inches of snow was expected tonight northwest of a line from Texarkana to Hillsboro to Brownwood. Freezing rain or sleet was expected to precede the snow in most of the area.

The storm system triggered heavy rain south of the area where snow fell, prompting the National Weather Service to issue flash flood watches for South Central Texas, Southeast Texas and a large area in the southeast section of North Texas.

The storm struck hard at the Texas Panhandle. First came showers and thunderstorms. Then came freezing rain and sleet to coat the highways. Two to four inches of snow, whipped up by gusting northerly winds, then coated the highways, making hazardous driving conditions.

About 75 vehicles were reported stranded on a two-mile stretch of IH 27 north of Canyon. Hundreds of other vehicles were stranded on other streets and highways in the Panhandle.

PAPER PRESERVED—Everyone knows that newspapers are more than just things to read. Wrapping fish, lining the bottom of birdcages and keeping gentle men down on their luck warm on park benches during winter nights are just a few of their functions. The paper above, an Oct. 22, 1934, issue of the Abilene Daily Reporter headlines a story about gangster, "Pretty Boy" Floyd and was being used as insulation on a pipe under the house of Mrs. Hugh Taylor. It was rescued by plumber Olton Smith after 46 years on the job. Rob Robinson, Smith's employer, displays the paper. See related story in My Turn Column, Page 2 (SDN Staff Photo)

Appraisal District Now Officially In Business

The Scurry County Appraisal District officially went into operation this morning at a called session of board members.

During the special meeting, the board approved a contract for valuation engineers, approved a budget and approved contracts with the taxing jurisdictions of the county.

Thomas Y. Pickett, the valuation engineering firm that has provided oil and industrial appraisals for Scurry County for a number of years, was awarded a contract for the same service for the new county-wide appraisal district. Its bid was $59,500. Two other firms, Pritchard and Abbott and Latham and Stultz bid $62,550 and $68,725, respectively. Pritchard and Abbott has been serving as valuation engineers for Snyder Independent School District, while Latham and Stultz have been going the oil and industrial appraisals for Ira Independent School District.

The board had failed to agree on a contract for valuation engineers at a meeting Tuesday night, pending a further study of bids. The vote this morning was unanimous.

A budget of $219,584 to set up and operate the county-wide appraisal office for the first year was approved. Ray Peveler, chief appraiser, said that in some cases the budget estimates may require adjustments later on, since there is no previous experience on which to base the figures. He cited as an example the fact that the contract for the valuation engineers is some $3,000 under the original estimates.

All taxing jurisdictions in Scurry County, the City of Snyder, the Scurry County Junior College District and the independent school districts of Snyder, Hermleigh and Ira have approved contracts with the district for appraisal service and have indicated that they will contract with the county tax office for tax collections.

John Reed, board chairman, presided over the special session this morning and board members attending included Ross Blanchard, Bill Hairston, Pete Hester and Kenneth Wilson.

'rights' for taxpayer

For years, Americans have been amused by the titling which takes place between the Italian people and the income tax bloodhounds of that nation. By tradition, the Italians reason that the burden of proof of their income lies with the tax collectors.

Such noted personages as Sophia Loren have gone into self exile to avoid getting stung by the Italian taxing entities, reasoning that the bulk of what she has earned does not belong to 'them' just because 'they' have decreed it.

In recent years, however, American respect for the canniness of the Italians in dealing with the people who has grown enormously. More and more, the agents of the IRS have tended to become downright bully-boys in dealing with the average American taxpayers.

All that may be changed. Congress is shaping up a "bill of rights" that is aimed directly at containing if not restricting the IRS people in dealing with the taxpayers.

Over the years, the IRS has assumed the image of a sort of Big Brother in its dealings with the people who, in fact, pay to sustain the agency. Those who perfected the income tax form have been accused of being in league with Satan himself, so complicated has it become. Few of the rank and file could complete one without developing a great dread, a fear caused by the thought of erring.

Now, perhaps anticipating action by Congress, the Internal Revenue Service has developed an interesting new post, an assistant to the tax commissioner - an ombudsman for the average taxpayer.

The congressional legislation, sponsored by Texas Republican Rep. James Collins, includes several interesting provisions: It would force the government to pay attorneys fees for taxpayers who win cases with the IRS. It would limit IRS probes to questions of the tax code only. It would postpone IRS seizures which invariably impose hardships on citizens. And it would give the General Accounting Office the right to audit IRS actions and regulations.

Collins didn't blaze a trail by initiating the legislation. It has been trotted before Congress before. This time, however, there appears to be much broader support for the bill.

Collins had 43 co-sponsors of the legislation this year, and the mere fact that the IRS created the ombudsman-like post without the bill being passed is an indication that the public's need for protection, from an over-enthusiastic business as well as government, is getting Washington's attention.

Perhaps there is hope for us yet.

my turn

by john dunnam

When Olton Smith, a plumber in the employ of Rob Robinson crawled under the house of Mrs. Hugh Taylor the last thing he expected was a history lesson. But as he unwrapped the insulation, which was old newspaper, off a pipe he couldn't help but notice the banner headline: Richetti Captured; Floyd Wounded

The paper was an Oct. 22, 1934 edition of the Abilene Daily Reporter and the headline referred to a "big shootout" with police with "Pretty Boy" Floyd and his cohort, Adam Richetti. The pair were wanted for, among other things, being trigger men in the June, 1933 massacre at Union Station in Kansas City. That bit of gangster lore was dramatized in a TV Special Sunday, two days before Smith stumbled on the paper that had been protecting Mrs. Taylor's pipe for almost half a century.

The newspaper account, datelined Wellsville, Ohio, reads: Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, desperate western gunman, seemingly has made one of his characteristic disappearances today as a posse of heavily armed officers and citizens, tramped through the neighboring woods looking for him.

"Melvin Purvis, head investigator for the department of justice in Chicago, expressed his belief that Floyd was dead or dying in the woods where he took refuge."

If my memory of gangster history serves me right, Purvis was correct in his belief that Floyd was wounded and he was killed shortly thereafter in a cotton patch on his family's farm in Oklahoma in another desperate escape attempt.

The second big story on the front page that day was a plea from the Texas Railroad Commission to stop the flow of hot oil from Texas by unscrupulous producers. By hot oil the paper meant "oil in excess of that allowed under proration regulations."

In those days there was actually too much oil and if wells had been allowed to produce at their maximum capacity the bottom would have fallen out of the price. The story reads in part: "...informed circles heard reports that all Texas oil fields might be shut down for an indefinite period if the railroad commission considers it necessary to avert a cut in the price of crude oil. The price has been a dollar a barrel for a little more than a year."

Now a dollar doesn't even buy a gallon of gas at the pump. What happened? Charles Stenholm, our congressman, said in a speech last year that oilmen warned the government 20 years ago that if it persisted with its policies we would eventually be in the shape we are in today. The sad part is, he said, farmers are now telling the government the same thing about food.

But since we are up to our ears in corn and the market will soon be suffocating from the current cotton crop, it's not very likely Uncle Sam will pay much attention to a small group of voters who have the annoying habit of turning everything they touch into a burdensome surplus.

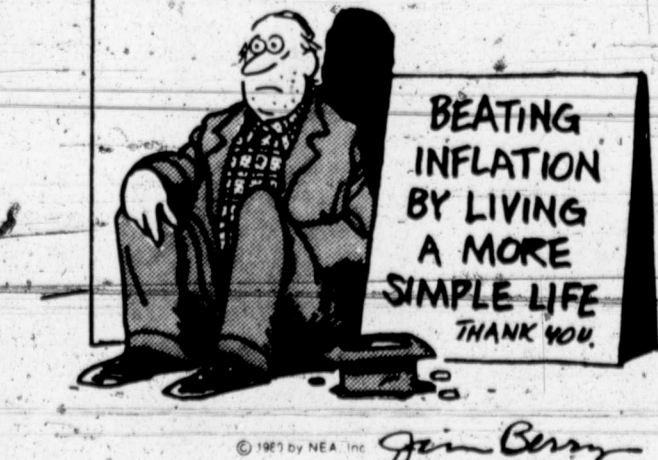

Lets jump ahead a few years. J.N. McKinney ran across a 1951 San Angelo Standard Times with a front page article that has proved cruelly prophetic. The headline reads: Iran Ignores World Court, Readies Plan for Oil Grab. The story begins: Iran spurned the world court today and made ready a secret plan for taking over Anglo-Iranian oil company fields.

The story continues with descriptions of mass demonstrations and a mention of an attempt on the life of the shah. Sounds familiar doesn't it. In 1951 it was the British who were the victims. They owned the oil wells that were about to be nationalized and were getting about one third of their oil from Iran.

Other front page stories in the '51 paper talk about the high price of beef, deteriorating relations with Russia, the usual violence and mayhem and the draft.

If it seems like the world is doomed to keep spinning in the same vicious circle don't despair, we are making progress. For instance, scientists are now sure that fiberglass is better insulation than old newspaper.

They don't call it alimony anymore. They call it "spousal maintenance," which sounds like something under warranty. ("Hey, Fred, I've got to get my wife in for her 35,000-mile spousal maintenance this week or her parts aren't guaranteed.")

A lot of people are taking a good look at "spousal maintenance" these days. Women are asking, "What am I worth?" Men are questioning whether it is better to have loved and pay than never to have loved at all.

This has necessitated insurance companies for the first time to put an estimate on the worth of a woman who runs a household, raises children, tends a husband, cooks, does laundry, and directs finances. They have come up with a figure of $355 a week as a minimum wage for a full-time wife.

As I look around me, the problem is "spousal maintenance" becomes a simple matter of mathematics. At $355 a week, the yearly cost of a wife amounts to $18,460. With the national income averaging far below that amount and with the rising costs of food, utilities and clothing, it must be apparent to you as it is to me that too many men have wives whom they cannot afford. Despite the fact that women are the biggest bargain going today, men are living above their means.

Now I'm not suggesting that wives be declared a luxury to be enjoyed only by the rich. Most of us are reasonable and would like even the working man to benefit by our wonderfulness. One solution might be to employ wives on a part-time basis.

As I told my husband, "I'd be willing to cook, do laundry, light cleaning, shop, transport children and pay bills for $275 a week."

He was ecstatic. "What's left, anyway?" "I won't sit up with a clogged sink, wait outside houses on Halloween for a scarecrow who has no vision, sit through a piano recital of 30 kids all playing the same tune, shave the dog's rump, or spend my twilight years waiting for a repairman for

As Feb. 14 approaches with its thoughts of hearts, flowers, and love, a warm feeling grows inside me with a memory from the month of December.

Rarely, have I seen so much warmth and love generated in one place as I did at the Y.A.R.C. (Youth Association of Retarded Children) Christmas Banquet for the retarded people planned, organized, and carried out by the banquet beautifully with the help of area merchants: Don Adams-Adams Candy, Hub Evans-Gandy's, Neil Gleaton-Baird's Bread, Bill Forbes and Mrs. Sid Schweitzer-The Other Place, Wayne Seay-Perry's, and Morris Sewell-Cash Foods.

Coming into the banquet room from the outside world of commercials, rushing and cold, as a guest I actually had tears in my eyes seeing these young people put a bright star in the memories of these special people. The evening was like a breath of fresh air.

I will ever remember the encouraging thought that our teenagers working all year round with these special people give of themselves freely. Even though drugs are everywhere; stealing and fighting surrounds us, there is still youth in our community that cares for their fellow man.

Thank you young people for caring, for doing, and for sharing. Thank you for being the best you that you can be for yourself and others. Tax shelters are constructed largely from funds supplied by the deductions the rest of us contribute, it seems.

Meanest man on the block is the fellow who gives his kid two-bits and tells him it's a Suzy dollar.

To take the latter first, Sen. Edward Kennedy is popularly regarded as occupying that ideological turf in the current presidential campaign, although his call for fiscal responsibility and budgetary discipline in his Georgetown University speech might lead some to suspect that he is straying somewhat afield.

This is the same Kennedy, you may remember, whose most passionate cause of the past several years has been a national health insurance program the likely cost of which would swamp any federal budget yet proposed or envisaged.

But that modest genuflection to the more conservative body of opinion among us was not the most politically significant point in what was in effect a redeclaration of his presidential candidacy.

This was his emphatic support for a wide range of new controls over the economy - including wage and price ceilings, a freeze on profits, dividends, interest rates and rents plus gasoline rationing.

Quite a package, and quite a definitive staking out of his own campaign turf. It sets him clearly apart from every other contender of either party except on the last point, where he differs more in degree than kind with his Democratic opponent, Jimmy Carter.

But it is by a considerable degree. He would base rationing on drivers' licenses - sort of a one citizen, one coupon system. It is a plan, clearly and consciously cut to the interests of the little fellow.

The standby plan proposed by the Carter administration would base rationing on vehicle registration which, Kennedy argues, favors the more affluent, multi-vehicle individuals and households.

And beyond that, the Carter camp favors rationing only as an emergency measure, preferring to the extent possible to reduce fuel consumption by removing controls from oil and letting natural market responses do the work.

Carter has, it is true, in his comprehensive energy proposals written in a provision for controls on oil imports should these exceed an arbitrary ceiling. But he has set that ceiling so high - 8.2 million barrels per day, more than half a million more than is currently entering the country - that the controls would be unlikely ever to take effect.

So much for the energy aspect. In his other proposals, Kennedy is taking a venturesomely extended position. Not that he is breaking any new ground, since every control he proposes is a known quantity as a consequence of wartime and postwar experience of the last half century.

But the history of those controls does not make a very persuasive argument for his case. Experience has been that controls may put a lid on economic pressures, but they do nothing in themselves to reduce those pressures.

Essential as they may have been during the World War II effort, once they were removed an inflationary burst followed. The most recent experience was the Nixon administration's 1971 wage-price freeze to slow the Lyndon B. Johnson Memorial Inflation incubated in the unpaid for Vietnam War. The result was the same. As soon as the economy was decontrolled, inflation was back only more so.

Well, at the very least the Kennedy speech coming almost simultaneously with Carter's budget message - and don't you believe that was a coincidence - provides plenty of material for discussion in the coming campaign months.

And the American presidential selection process being what it is, don't you believe it won't be.

Conservation Program Given By Mrs. Martin

The Art Guild Club met Feb. 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Henry Lee as hostess and Mrs. Dan Martin as program leader.

Mrs. Martin's program, "Energy in the Home," included a film showing homes built to use solar energy. Homes from the primitive to the very modern were observed.

Mrs. Martin made suggestions geared to conserve energy. Some were: Do not heat rooms that are not in use. Adjust drapes to help regulate temperature. Keep closet doors closed. Turn off lights and TV's when not needed. Turn off air conditioner and heat down when on vacation.

She also suggested following instructions offered in booklets furnished by Texas Electric Service Company.

Mrs. Hugh Lowry, club president, concluded the meeting with a short business session.

Mrs. Lee served refreshments to 14 members including two new members, Mrs. D.V. Merritt Jr. and Mrs. Jerry Hendon.

Snider Earns NTSU Degree

Max Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Snider, graduated from North Texas State University in December with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Interior Design.

Snider is a member of the American Society of Interior Design and is now employed by J. Paul Cunningham Interior Design of Odessa. His wife is the former Melinda Huffman.

The value of American farm assets has tripled since 1960 and doubled in the past six years alone, according to Sperry New Holland.

Meat Outlook For '80

By Gaynor Maddox

What do the experts predict about meat prices in 1980?

The answers are iffy. The Agriculture Department reports that near-record supplies of red meat will slow price increases a bit in 1980.

It is expected that food prices overall will go up from 7 percent to 11 percent this year. Meat prices, the department hopes, will not rise more than 4 percent to 6 percent.

The prediction is that pork prices will not go up by more than 2 percent in 1980 thanks to unusually high production.

That is the general picture today. But the department's report is well larded with words like "maybe," "hope" and "is expected."

We consulted Jeanne Paris, director of consumer services for Swift and Co., on how to control family meat costs.

"If your family insists on beef," she advises, "you should buy sub-primal cuts for economy. These are boneless cuts that are vacuum-packaged in the processing plants and shipped in cartons to the retailers." She classifies the following cuts as "sub-primal": rib eye, chuck shoulder, chuck roll, brisket, top sirloin butt, round sirloin tip, the gooseneck (consisting of the bottom round, the eye of the round and the rump), top round and beef loin or strip.

Some of these cuts are not available in all markets. Those advertised most often include top and bottom beef round, rib eye, chuck roll and loin strips.

"The lower-priced chuck and shoulder roasts and steaks and the roasts and steaks from the round of all species are best cooked in mist heat," says Miss Paris.

She goes on to note that a great variety of fresh, cured and smoked pork items are commonly available at the market.

These cuts include fresh and smoked picnic shoulders, pork chops (usually assorted or combination chops from a quarter loin sliced from end to end into chops), half and full pork loins, bone-in rib and loin roasts, boneless pork roasts and pork leg roasts. Also, spareribs, back bones, neck bones, pigs' feet, bacon, cured and smoked bone-in water-added ham portions (with the center slice removed), cured and smoked boneless ham and smoked sausage.

"Find new ways to prepare the high-quality pork that is available now," suggests Miss Paris. "Consumers need to be reminded that modern pork compares very favorably calorie-wise to other lean meat."

Here are two more money-saving tips:

—A recent Agriculture Department study found that the leaner ground meat loses moisture during cooking while the regular ground loses fat. Unless you're concerned about nine calories or 1 gram of fat in burgers of the same size, just plain hamburger is the better buy.

—To cut fuel-bills, cook one piece of meat for use at two or more meals. The leftover meat can be served either cold or warmed with gravy.

and returned the deuce. That return of the original fourth best was standard at auction, standard then and still standard today. The defense quickly gathered in the first five tricks.

At table two it seems that East just didn't know about this convention or maybe decided not to follow it. He returned his eight of hearts. South played the 10 and West took his jack and decided that he could not afford to cash his nine of hearts. South was obviously marked with at least two more hearts. So, South shifted to a diamond and declarer gratefully gathered in his game.

Here is a hand played in an important match some 45 years ago. The bidding was short, sweet and unfortunate. South's jump to two notrump was made because his hand held two-and-one-half honor tricks, plus a jack. North's raise to three was normal then, today and probably any Give West the ace of hearts, or let West lead any other suit and three notrump makes easily. Also if North were declarer, only a spade lead and heart return could beat the notrump game. Anyway, both South players were in three notrump and looking at a queen of hearts opening lead.

FUNNY BUSINESS

Dear Abby

Gives Her Ex A 'Z' Rating

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and have been divorced from my ex-husband for over 20 years. All that time I have been bombarded with letters from him telling me he has never stopped loving me—even during his marriage to a French woman while he was stationed overseas.

He has constantly written that he has never known genuine love and sexual satisfaction with any other woman, and I am the only one for him. Abby, such letters would come every day for weeks, and never less than 20 letters a month.

I replied with love and friendship—knowing he was living with another woman in Florida. He phoned me two months ago, saying he couldn't live without me, that he would tell the woman he was living with that she would have to leave, and begged me to join him. (I was in North Dakota.)

I quit my job, packed all my belongings in an enormous U-haul, and drove to Florida. It took eight days. I called his home, and a woman answered, so I checked into a motel and called him again. He came right over and told me not to worry—the woman was leaving.

He stalled me one day at a time for two weeks. I finally had to find an apartment because I couldn't afford the daily motel rates.

Meanwhile, it became clear to me that the woman was not leaving. He would come to see me, professing his love and wanting sex, but I said not as long as that woman was living with him.

I feel like a fool. I asked him why he asked me to come to Florida while he was still living with another woman. He had no answer. Since I'm not a wealthy woman, I must find employment. I have to find activities, interests and friends or I'll go out of my mind.

I've had crying spells and I'm lonely and depressed. I broke up my home and life to be with this man, and it's turned out to be a disaster.

He's 60, retired from the Air Force and works for the state.

Abby, what should I do? Should I confront him and the woman he lives with?

DESPERATE AND BEWILDERED

DEAR DESPERATE: Don't confront anybody. Admit that you made a big mistake when you disrupted your life to join him. Tell him you never want to see him or hear from him again. Then either go back to North Dakota where you have friends, or try to make a new life for yourself where you are.

DEAR ABBY: Are Americans growing selfish? I see so many letters in your column from people who resent drop-in guests. Why?

If a friend came to my front door, and apologized for coming without an invitation, I would throw my arms around her (or him) and say, "Anybody who wants to see me does not need to wait for an invitation. I feel complimented that you wanted to come."

And I would mean it sincerely. As a newspaper reporter and editor for many years, I have lived, worked and vacationed all over the United States. I have been told repeatedly that I have more friends than anybody else in town.

You see, I share my love, and am repaid with love.

DWI Offenders To Lose Licenses

AUSTIN (AP)—Some 4,000 Texans convicted of first-offense driving while intoxicated since August soon will be asked to turn in their drivers licenses for a year.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Bill Carter said Thursday a recent attorney general's opinion mandates a one year suspension of driving privileges for misdemeanor DWI offenders.

Until the end of last August, state law said a misdemeanor conviction was not considered a final conviction if probation was ordered in the case.

State law requires the one-year suspension for DWI convictions, but it could not be enforced when there was no final conviction, Carter said.

Attorney General Mark White said the revised law that went into effect last August says misdemeanor cases with probation are final convictions.

Carter said the change requires enforcement of the mandatory suspension.

"We had a question in our minds when the new law went into effect at the end of August, so we held all the cases since then in abeyance," Carter said. "There's been quite a backlog since then."

White's opinion also means a misdemeanor DWI conviction will go on a driver's record, Carter said. It was not placed on the record under the old law.

Misdemeanor DWI charges are filed in first-offense cases. Second-offense DWI is a felony, punishable by a prison sentence.

Mountain Pine Beetle Winning War On Trees

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Western foresters are waging war against a bug with a big appetite. The mountain pine beetle is winning, leaving vast forests of rust-colored dead trees.

There is no solid defense against the insects, which have eaten their way along Montana's mountainous backbone—from Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming through Glacier National Park into Canada—infesting 1.4 million acres of forest.

Commercial timber worth millions of dollars is dying in eight national forests in Montana and Idaho. But inside Yellowstone and Glacier, the National Park Service considers the beetles just one more protected species of wildlife.

The U.S. Forest Service admits it is helpless to stem the beetle blight. Once a tree is infested, insecticides won't work—the beetles live beneath the bark. Annual sprayings are saving a few trees in campgrounds. The Forest Service is responding to the beetle attack by accelerating timber harvest—to salvage timber killed by beetles—and by "beetle-proofing" uninfested stands by cutting vulnerable trees in the path of the spreading blight.

"The bug is doing what we do, harvest timber," said Jack Usher, the Forest Service's timber management chief for Montana, northern Idaho, North Dakota and westtern South Dakota. "Either we cut the timber, or the bug is going to get it."

Forest Service entomologist Mark McGregor said the beetle infestation is nothing new. "They've always been around forest stands, and are a natural part of the ecosystems."

The little insect with the long scientific name of "dendroctonus ponderosae" is a picky eater. It prefers to dine on mature lodgepole pine, aged 70 to 90 years and measuring 7-9 inches in diameter. In a pinch, however, the beetle will turn to other species.

Foresters say the epidemic can probably be traced to huge forest fires of nearly a century ago. After the fires, stands of lodgepole—now about the same age—sprouted over vast areas of western Montana, northern Idaho and in Yellowstone Park.

The beetle epidemic spread by 650,000 acres of lodgepole last year—a 21.5 percent increase in area—sometimes killing as many as 90 percent of the trees.

Lodgepole pines on another 2.2 million acres are the right size and age to be attacked by the beetles.

The tiny insects bore into the bark and lay eggs. The larvae feed on the inner bark tissue, which carries food and water from the roots to the needles. The feeding larvae girdle the trunk and the tree dies, often in two months, but the needles may not turn red-brown until the next year.

Researchers say they don't know why beetles find large diameter lodgepole so tasty. Forest Service scientists think the insects may like the combination of chemicals produced by large trees.

THERE IS A NEW twist to the line down the center of this road near the Sacramento, Calif., suburb of El Dorado Hills. The unusual line warns motorists that a dead end is just over the next rise.

Three Iranians Held On Smuggling Charge

GRAPEVINE (AP)—Federal agents who discovered $10 million worth of heroin concealed in hidden compartments of a crate that arrived at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport from Iran today held three Iranians as drug smuggling suspects.

The illegal narcotic was stashed in "secret" compartments of a display case that held a Moslem holy book.

Three Iranians, two men and a woman, were ordered to appear in court today for arraignment on charges of smuggling.

A U.S. Customs agent making a routine check opened a wooden crate he selected at random and discovered the compartments filled with a brown powder Jan. 29. The powder weighed 4.4 pounds and lab tests showed it was 72 percent pure heroin. Authorities then had to wait a week for someone to claim the crate.

In the meantime, Drug Enforcement Administration agents poured out the powder and replaced it with Nestle's powdered chocolate and tiny electronic transmitters that emit beeps so the location of the crate could be tracked.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Conrad Florence said after several days elapsed they were worried the smugglers may have become suspicious and decided not to pick up the crate.

But then, Tuesday, Florence said an Iranian woman identified as a Texas Women's University student claimed the crate and drove to Denton, where agents said in an affidavit that she removed it from the trunk of her car and carried it into her apartment.

The federal affidavit said an Iranian man, the woman's brother, picked up the crate Wednesday night and drove to a restaurant where another Iranian, a 38-year-old Florida resident, put the crate in his Blazer and then drove a circuitous route all over town.

Finally, the agents said, he went into a motel room where, according to the sound from the electronic beepers, he opened the crate.

That's when he apparently saw the transmitter and realized he had been tricked, agents said.

Almost immediately thereafter, he ran out of the room and tried to get into the Blazer, the affidavit said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney John Sweeney of Fort Worth said agents who had him under surveillance then moved in and arrested him.

"We don't know at this time what he planned to do with the heroin. Since he lived in Florida, it may be that he intended to take it to that state and turn it over for others. We don't know. But there was obviously some big money involved," he said.

One official estimated the street value of the seized heroin at $10 million.

Shipping records show the crate was flown from Shiraz, Iran, to Tehran Jan. 19. Then it was flown to Paris and from there to Houston. A truck transported the box from Houston to the Customs Service center at D-FW Airport, where it was checked Jan. 29.

Inmates In Custody Again

BOWIE (AP)—Two West Texas jail inmates, who embarrassed authorities by escaping four times in less than five months, are back behind bars.

Jeff Lamb, 19, and David Bowman, 20, were found hiding under a bed and in a closet at a Bowie residence Thursday. This time they were transported to the Dallas County jail for safekeeping.

Officer said the pair used a stool in their cell to bust a 6-inch by 14-inch hole in the "riot-proof" glass of their cell window Sunday.

AT IRA CHURCH OF GOD—The Inside-Out Singers of Gulf-Coast Bible College, Houston, will present a program of creative worship Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Ira Church of God. The 90-minute program will combine contemporary music, puppetry and drama. Fourteen young people comprise the group. "Their purpose is not only to entertain, but to challenge - helping people to find positive answers to today's questions," said Richard Martin, director of the group. The Inside-Out Singers are currently on a 10-month tour of the U.S. The group is an outreach ministry of Gulf-Coast Bible College.

McCarthyism Got Its Start 30 Years Ago

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—It began as a speech to a women's political club, a charge of communist subversion in the highest levels of government. It swept the nation into an era of torment and fear.

Thirty years ago, on Feb. 9, 1950, Joseph McCarthy, the junior senator from Wisconsin, was met at Wheeling Airport by two local Republican Party officials and a reporter from The Intelligencer newspaper.

Several weeks before, worried about re-election and his obscurity after four years in office, McCarthy had asked GOP officials to arrange several speaking engagements for Lincoln's birthday. Almost indifferently, McCarthy was offered Wheeling, Salt Lake City, Reno, Nev., and Huron, S.D.

That night, the Ohio County Women's Republican Club, anticipating traditional pleasantries, instead heard a speech that was to launch a bitter chapter in American political history and make "McCarthyism" a byword - even today - for hate-mongering and political purges.

In a pose seared on the memory of modern history, McCarthy waved a sheaf of papers and said, "I have here in my hand a list of 205 that were known to the secretary of state as being members of the Communist Party and who nevertheless are still working and shaping policy of the State Department."

Eva Lou Ingersoll, who listened to the speech, today remembers the fear invoked by McCarthy's words. "We were afraid of communism. We were just sleeping at a time when terrible things were going on in the country," she said.

Intelligencer reporter Frank Desmond hurried to his office with the account of McCarthy's sensational charges. Managing editor Norman Yost phoned the story to the Charleston bureau of The Associated Press.

Charles Lewis, the AP's night editor, was finishing up for the night. He remembers thinking the story didn't sound very important.

"Who the hell was McCarthy? It was just another Lincoln Day speech. I filed the story and went on home," Lewis recalls. "When I came to work the next day . . . we were off and running into McCarthyism."

As the story broke across the nation the next day, a surprised McCarthy was met at Salt Lake City by reporters clamoring for the "list" of communists.

McCarthy's charges came amid world crisis and the early chill of Cold War. The Soviet Union had exploded its first atomic bomb. Communists controlled China. The Korean War was looming. The United States was shaken by the sensational treason trial of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and the Alger Hiss case.

McCarthy electrified the nation with charges of communist infiltration and betrayal. Television carried the congressional hearings into the homes of millions, who watched McCarthy scream accusations at high-ranking officials, generals and cabinet members.

A hulking, amiable man with a ready laugh and uncanny skill as a poker player, McCarthy was also intensely ambitious. But it took an inflammatory anti-communist crusade to gain him national attention as "Tail Gunner Joe" - or "Low Blow Joe" to his opponents.

A Gallup Poll in January 1954 showed that 50 percent of the American people supported McCarthy, while 29 percent opposed his efforts.

In Congress, McCarthy found eager supporters. Others, despite mistrusting his charges and abhorring his methods, kept silent for fear of being accused themselves. Appeals to the White House to intervene were ignored. It seemed no one was safe from the senator.

Yet despite almost five years of investigations and hearings, the McCarthy witchhunt failed to uncover a single communist. An investigation by

The Associated Press in 1954 found that of 2.5 million federal employees, 75 could be accused of communist activities. All 75 had been investigated before 1948.

The famous list of 205 communists McCarthy waved triumphantly in Wheeling stemmed from a list of the 1946 Congressional Record of 285 employees who had not been recommended for permanent State Department employment for reasons not necessarily relating to politics. Eighty had left government in 1946, leaving McCarthy's 205 "communists."

The McCarthy hearings spilled into every sphere of American life. Blacklistings flourished. Loyalty boards sprouted.

An actress who imitated babies on radio shows found herself unemployed because she had once held a party for a "communist-front" organization. An aircraft worker lost his job when his name was confused with that of a Communist Party member.

McCarthy's fall from power was as sudden as his rise. After revelations of attempts by his staff to gain favors from the Army in 1954, the Senate voted to "condemn" him. He died in 1957 ravaged by acute alcoholism and without a shred of his former power.

But McCarthy still has followers. "They crucified him," said Mae Hughes of Wheeling, who heard the women's club speech. "I was so fond of him, I'll never forget his expression when he said right at this very moment there are Communists infiltrating our government."

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Is mouthwash harmful?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB - I'm a 20-year-old female and have been using a strong mouthwash for several years. I rarely gargle but simply rinse my mouth with it after brushing my teeth. I got into this habit while I had braces on - and now I like the clean feeling. I was wondering if it will do any harm to my taste buds or tissues over a period of time. I usually only have the mouthwash in my mouth about 30 to 60 seconds for rinsing it out. Also what do you think about those new tongue cleaners?

DEAR READER - I don't believe it will do you any harm although I don't think it will do you much good either, particularly if you don't have any bad breath problems.

I would like to point out that mouthwashes only tend to mask the odors that originate from the mouth itself. There are many causes for bad breath. Some cases are caused by dental problems and that's why a person with bad breath always should have a good complete dental evaluation. There may be an infection around the roots of the teeth that you can't do much about even with the best use of toothbrush, dental floss and other home devices.

Then, bad breath may also occur from the tongue. That's why it's very important for people to clean the tongue every day just the same as they brush their teeth. There are some new tongue cleaners that have been advocated, but probably the best tongue cleaner of all is a little toothpaste and a toothbrush.

You can brush the surface of the tongue at the same time that you brush your teeth and it won't hurt it a bit. Our tongue is pretty tough. If you don't clean off the tongue, the accumulated food particles and secretions can be a major source of odor. You'd be surprised how many people don't know that it's important to clean the tongue.

To give you an overall concept of the many different causes of bad breath, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 9-4, Halitosis: The Breath Problem and What to Do about It. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, you can even have bad breath originating from the lungs. That's really how a person has an alcohol breath. Those alcohol odors are coming out of the bloodstream and into the air that you breathe out of the lungs. That's why a breath analysis test works to determine what your blood alcohol level really is.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My father is constantly chiding me for eating lemons with salt as he says that they will strip the enamel off your teeth. Are there any benefits to be gained from eating lemons other than the vitamin C aspect? Do they in fact remove the enamel from your teeth?

DEAR READER - I presume the one benefit you get is the enjoyment you must have from eating that many lemons. Their biggest value really is their vitamin C. They don't contain a lot of calories and they're not going to strip the enamel off your teeth or cause you any other medical problems. If you had an ulcer or something of that sort, I might advise you to limit them. But, otherwise, I can't see that it makes much difference.

BACKBREAKING TASK—Rodney Hernandez of Snyder (dark shirt, white gloves) leans into the backbreaking task of mixing concrete by hand. He was part of a Hardin-Simmons University mission group that worked in El Sausal, Mexico, during semester break. (HSU Photo by Craig Bird)

On HSU Mission Trip . . .

Snyder Collegian Finds Days Long In Mexico

The border guard at Zaragoza, Mexico, looked suspiciously at the van and the 16 American college students crowded inside. "You mean this many of you went over into Mexico and didn't bring anything back?"

If he had known the rest of the story, he would have had a great deal more to disbelieve. Because 46 Hardin-Simmons University students and five faculty-staff sponsors spent the week of Jan. 5-12 on a mission trip to El Sausal, Mexico. The week included workdays 12 hours long amid the grit and poverty of the small Mexican village. And the group even paid $30 each for the privilege while their classmates enjoyed a final week of leisure before the spring semester began.

Rodney Hernandez of 2003 Ave. R, Snyder, a sophomore at HSU, went on the trip because he had always been interested in going on a mission trip. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elson Hernandez.

Rodney learned to appreciate the many blessings which God bestows upon us as Christians.

Complications included a shortage of translators (only four native-Spanish speakers went on the trip), wind storms that turned the sandy, desert town into an open-air sandblaster, water shortages while mixing concrete and the mere fact that only a handful of veterans from last year's mission trip had ever experienced "mixing concrete on the ground." In that process, the gravel, sand and cement is piled on the ground, water poured on and the entire process blended by hand with shovels and hoes.

"God made this trip possible but he sure didn't make it easy," one construction worker groaned near the end of the project - a sentiment heartily endorsed by the rest of the crew.

HSU has been making mission trips like this, under the sponsorship of the Baptist Student Union, since 1970.

Local Church Planning To Show 'Cindy'

"Cindy," a motion picture which shows how a young woman freed herself from a degrading life of crime, sex and drugs, will be shown tonight at the Lighthouse Assembly of God, located two miles west of Snyder on U.S. Highway 180.

The picture is a full-color, 16 millimeter production based on John Benton's best-seller. The showing will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

The B-29 Enola Gay dropped the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945. More than half of the industrial Japanese city was destroyed. On Aug. 9, the second and last use of a nuclear weapon in war took place when a plutonium atomic bomb was dropped on Nagasaki. The two bombings helped persuade the Japanese of the hopelessness of further resistance and on Aug. 14, President Harry Truman officially announced the Japanese surrender.

Charismatics Instructed To Work Within Churches

DALLAS (AP)—A Leader of the nation's growing charismatic movement has advised his peers to stay within their churches and work for reconciliation with those who oppose them in their denominations.

"God will ultimately give you the confidence to win your church," David DuPlessis, a representative of the Assemblies of God based in Springfield, Ill., told members of the Charismatic Leadership Convocation.

DuPlessis is known as "Mr. Pentecost" within the movement because of his efforts to unite Christian churches of the world through the World Council of Churches and the Vatican Council.

Snyder Student Honor Graduate

AUSTIN—Kevin Stavely Jones, Route 3, Snyder, is among 195 who were awarded bachelor's degrees from the College of Natural Sciences at the University of Texas at Austin at the end of the fall semester.

Jones graduated with high honors, receiving the bachelor of science in mathematics degree.

He made his remarks Thursday night at the opening session of the three-day convocation attended by 400 to 500 charismatic leaders from various denominations.

The religious leaders will meet in workshops today designed to reconcile various points of view.

The Rev. Des Evans of Fort Worth said he hoped leaders of the different denominations would "complement each other rather than contradict each other."

He said the whole point of the meeting was to "get a basis for reconciliation" of the different Christian points of view.

Charismatics, who believe in "gifts" such as speaking in mysterious languages that cannot be translated and healing, gained momentum in the 1960s and 1970s and has grown within the "mainline" Protestant and Catholic denominations. The Gallup Poll last year estimated 3 million Americans had joined the charismatic movement.

Glossolalia, speaking in unknown tongues, has received the most criticism from denominations that denounce the renewal outright or greet it with mixed emotions.

Some theologians contend such gifts ceased after Biblical times or that charismatics overemphasize them. Others said charismatics became too dependent on individual leader and lost touch with the real world.

Charismatic leaders see the movement maturing and reconciling with the mainline churches - with less emphasis on gifts and more on spiritual unity.

OBITUARIES

W. B. Kitchens

Will B. Kitchens, 85, a long-time resident of Snyder, died at 1 p.m. Thursday in Dallas. The funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday in the Bell-Seale Chapel, with the Rev. R. Virgil Mott officiating. Burial will be in the Decker Cemetery south of Sweetwater, under direction of Bell Seale Funeral Home. He was married on Nov. 3, 1911, in Fredonia, to Alice Echols. She survives. Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J.W. Derasaugh of Dallas, Kan., and Mrs. D.W. Kyzar of Brownwood; a brother, George Kitchens of Dallas; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Officers Sent To Detention

PAMPA, Texas (AP)—Two policemen came to Pampa High School Wednesday and set up a projector for a film to be shown to the school's government classes. A short while later, high school junior Joni Covatt ran up to the school principal. "Can you believe it. A cop is in my parking space. If I did that, I'd be sent to detention hall," she told the principal. That's the school rule. Park in a student's reserved place and you either get tickets or report for detention hall. Principal Paul Payne sent the officers a note informing them of their crime. When Lt. Charles Morris, acting as school liaison officer, and Detective R.J. Howell, juvenile officer, returned to police headquarters, they found a note from Police Chief J.J. Ryzman directing them to be at the school, in uniform, at 7 a.m. Wednesday to take their punishment.

Emergency Care Course Set Feb. 19

An emergency care attendant course, an advanced first aid course, will begin Feb. 19 at 6 p.m., reports Kerri Palmer, operator of the city-county ambulance service. The course meets two nights a week. Each class lasts from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m. and will be held in the dining room of Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Classes will be held through March 26. Tuition is $46, and applications for joining the class will be accepted through Feb. 19. Persons wanting to take the class or who want more information may contact Mrs. Palmer at 573-3514 or 573-4333. Coordinator for the course is C.L. Meeks, an emergency medical attendant and paramedic. Other persons assisting in putting on the class are Judy McCullough, Doyle Grapham, Jerry Muncy, Don Rudson, and Sharon Vetzan.

Not altogether happily, the officers were at the school at 7 a.m. They chose detention hall. In Pampa, the students were told, police are not above the law.

The Snyder Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute outlined its activities for 1980 in a general membership meeting last night at the country club. On February 23 a fish fry at the National Guard Armory is planned featuring a big name entertainer to be announced later. Proceeds will be donated to the Humble Smith School for special education. API chairman Bill Lemen said. In March or April API plans to bring Gov. Clements to Snyder. The date, said Lemen, will depend on the Governor's schedule. Proceeds from this program will also be donated to a deserving organization in the community, Lemen said.

In June API and Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE) will hold their annual golf tournament to raise money to finance a scholarship. Chosen to serve on the scholarship committee were Max Humble, chairman and Joe Lee Jr. One student from Scurry County will be chosen for a two year scholarship to Western Texas College. This year a dance will kick off the tournament. Proceeds from the dance will go toward helping the girls softball league. Additional support was also pledged to the girls softball teams from the proceeds to be collected from a Las Vegas Night at the country club. No date was set for the casino night. In September a blowout preventer symposium will be conducted at Western Texas College for oil field personnel in the area. Other local oilfield people will be speaking to API during the year also, it was announced.

A burglary and ensuing arrest topped police reports Thursday. The burglary was reported at 10 a.m. by C.W. Berryman at the Travel Inn. He told officers someone entered his room and took an alarm clock, a hair brush, and a bottle of Darvin containing 16 pills. Reports later in the day show an 18-year-old subject was taken into custody at the Travel Inn and booked on a burglary charge. A criminal mischief complaint and a minor traffic accident were also investigated. Reporting the criminal mischief was Bill Sealy at the school bus barn. He told officer Kerry Fritz a $10 mirror and a $100 windshield had been broken, both on buses. The minor traffic accident was in the 4100 block of Denison at 8:20 p.m. Investigating the wreck was Joe Bob Martinez. Involved in it were a 1965 Buick driven by James Bryan Vincent and a parked 1979 Ford owned by U.S. Steel Corp.

Burglary Case Under Probe

Analysis of Grain Reserves, was released Thursday. It was written by David J. Eaton, now at the University of Texas' Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs in Austin. Eaton did his research under contract with USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service while he was at The Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, the report said. Most of Eaton's report involves complicated models and formulas used to support various plans for handling global grain reserves to achieve an assortment of objectives. The activities of Joseph and Li K'o, however, were used by Eaton to illustrate causes and effects of those ancient grain reserve policies and to show that food can be a powerful economic and political tool. Joseph, of course, interpreted the Pharaoh's dreams correctly, concluding there would be seven years of famine after seven years of bumper harvests. "He instructed the Pharaoh to choose a man to set up a grain reserve that would contain one-fifth of each year's food production," the report said. "The stored food would be used during the seven years of famine." It then explains Joseph's plan further: "The focus was not upon a single failure of production, but rather the time series behavior of gluts and shortages. Although the grain reserve was to stabilize supplies over 14 years, the multiobjective implications were clear to Joseph." Quoting the Old Testament, the report noted that in the seven lean years Joseph first traded stored food for all the money available, then took over the cattle and, other livestock, and finally traded food for the people themselves and their land.

District Court Sentences Two

Jail time and probation were assessed Thursday in 132nd District Court. Receiving the jail sentence was Ralph Lane Johnston, 2201 41st St. He was charged with driving while intoxicated, and a guilty plea to the offense netted Johnston a 90-day jail term and a $500 fine. Final sentencing in the case is set for Feb. 18. Receiving the probation was Carolina Barrera. She was handed a two-year prison term that was probated two years on a theft charge, although the charge is basically one of welfare fraud. The charges cite four instances from November 1978 to January 1979 in which Ms. Barrera, now a Lubbock resident, is alleged to have fraudulantly received some type of welfare. The four instances add up to $292, it is reported in the charge. A guilty plea was entered in the case. The defendant was also fined $500.

Special Session Slated For August

AUSTIN (AP)—The much-discussed special session of the Texas Legislature definitely will be held in August, says Gov. Bill Clements. "I just don't think September is an appropriate date because of the nearness to the general election," Clements told newsmen Wednesday.

Joseph's Wisdom Recognized Again

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph, the Old Testament secretary of agriculture who advised Egypt's dreaming Pharaoh, is being recognized again for his innovations in establishing food reserves. A new report by the Agriculture Department says both Joseph and Li K'o, who lived in China in the 12th century B.C., "needed to stabilize supplies of grain through good and lean years." Further, it says, each figured out "how grain supply and fluctuations with a no-reserve policy could cause social disruption." The report, "A Systems

Streak Extended To 24-0...

Westerners Outlast Wranglers

ODESSA—Coach Nolan Richardson says he wouldn't dare attempt to run with the Westerners. He should know. He recruited them.

Not everybody listens to Richardson though. Odessa's Wranglers didn't. Maybe they will next time.

Western Texas College's Westerners, ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA, rallied from a halftime deficit to slide past the Wranglers 85-78 and post their 24th victory of the season here last night.

The win gives the Snyder-based crew a league-leading 12-0 conference record, while Odessa falls to 9-3. Richardson's Westerners, returning from back-to-back road trips, will host Clarendon on Monday, at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

The Westerners placed six individuals in double figures once they got going in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference shootout. Bill Patterson, who drew special applause from his coach, led with 20 points, followed by Greg Stewart with 15, Ronald Portee and Phil Spradling with 13, David Brown with 12 and Paul Pressey with 10.

"Bill played probably the best game I've ever seen a kid play since I've been here," said Richardson of the 6-4 sophomore from Harrisburg, PA. "He played both ends of the court. He came in and took charge."

Patterson wasn't the only Westerner who earned Richardson's spotlight. "Ronald played his heart out. He gave 101 percent. Greg played a superb game for us. David and Phil in the second half did a great job. The whole team played their hearts out to win that ballgame. I'm proud of them all."

Pressey, who normally leads the floor game, got into foul trouble early and spent a good deal of the contest from the bench. "It was good to see that we were able to play well without Paul," added Richardson. "We know we are a good team without him, but he's like icing on the cake."

In retrospect then, it was a team effort which got the Westerners past Odessa. The Wranglers, 17-6 on the season, led from the first

Dusters Have Problems, But Odessa Does Fine

ODESSA—Western Texas College's Dusters had their share of problems against Howard College in Big Spring on Monday, and apparently it carried over through Thursday as Odessa College outplayed the visitors 94-72 here last night.

The loss all but knocks the Dusters out of contention for the WJAC crown, though they can still gain entry into the Region V Tournament with a couple of victors in their final four conference games.

Odessa, which stretched its conference record to 7-2 with the win, took the lead early and never relinquished it. The Wranglerettes, ranked no. 11 in the NJCAA, led 47-29 at halftime.

HERMLEIGH—Hermleigh boys earned a zone co-championship by defeating Roby 51-47 here last night. The outcome leaves both teams at 5-1 in the 10-B zone.

The schools were to confer today to set a playoff spot. By virtue of their finish—the zone's top two teams—both have gained entry into a boy's district tournament. The playoff will decide seeding in that tournament.

Hermleigh girls, who have already gained entry into their District Tournament, will play Westbrook at 6:30 p.m. in Ira on Monday. That game will open two-day tournament play. At 8, Roby and Highland vie. The victors will meet 7 p.m. Tuesday, also in Ira, for the district title.

Time and place for the boys tournament has yet to be determined.

Weather Forces Officials To Postpone 3-AAA Tilts

SWEETWATER—Adverse weather throughout the area led school officials to postpone tonight's games between Sweetwater and Snyder scheduled here tonight.

The triple-header, which was to feature an important District 3-AAA varsity girls game, will be re-scheduled at another date.

Snyder's next contests are slated for Feb. 12 against San Angelo Lake View in the Scurry County Coliseum.

also led in rebounding, 51-30.

The loss puts the Dusters at 21-9 on the season and 5-3 in conference play. The women host Clarendon at 6 p.m. Tuesday in another WJAC contest.

"I think we have to stop and re-evaluate what we're trying to do now," said Coach Joe Cushing, who explained that the Dusters seemed "burned out." He added, "We can do either of two things now. We can self-destruct or we can bow our necks and come out fighting. I have an idea that these girls will choose the second one."

"We're going to take three days rest and see if that will help us. I've got a lot of faith in these kids, and in my own coaching ability—we're going to bounce back. We can make the regional tournament. It all depends on what certain people decide they want for this ball club."

Tuesday's game here to be held at the WTC Gym will be only the second home game for the Dusters since Jan. 17.

'Hollywood' A Saint? Might Be Possible

DALLAS (AP)—Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson says he would like to play for the New Orleans Saints since the Dallas Cowboys remain unwavering in their decision to have nothing more to do with the flamboyant, outspoken linebacker.

Henderson and Dallas coach Tom Landry met for a half hour Wednesday, with Landry rejecting Henderson's plea for reinstatement.

The 26-year-old five-year National Football League veteran retired after Landry announced Nov. 19 he was placing him on waivers for being a disruptive factor on the team. But he later changed his mind and requested Wednesday's meeting with Landry.

After Landry turned him down, he asked "out of frustration" if Landry would sound out New Orleans coach Dick Nolan about his playing there.

only other NFL team to employ the same defensive system (the flex) that the Cowboys use.

Nolan declined comment on his conversation with Landry about Henderson, except to say they spoke for 10 to 15 minutes.

"I can't say any more—just that for right now," Nolan said.

Landry said he thinks Henderson has several good years left—but not with the Cowboys.

"I don't feel in Thomas' case, it would be to his best interest to come back," Landry said Thursday.

feel that the longer a team keeps running, the more they are playing our game. And sooner or later we're going to beat them at it.

Though down by as much as six points late in the half, Western Texas pulled to within two at the buzzer, 40-38. The Westerners tied the game at the start of the second half, and never lost a lead they gained only moments later.

Midway through the period, WTC stretched the margin to 11 points and it appeared the game might be broken open. But Odessa, led by John Savoie's 20 second-half points, whittled the distance to three.

The lead rocked back and forth from seven to three points, but Odessa was never able to regain the advantage.

With about four minutes left, the Westerners went into a four corners to work on the clock. Though Odessa did manage a steal and two more points, the tactic eventually paid off for WTC, which went to 24-0 with the victory.

Savoie's 20 led the Wranglers. Craig Ehlo added 16 points and Kelly Kitchens had 15.

Rice Zaps Raiders; Arkansas Gains Tie

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech, on the heels of the season's biggest upset, stumbled against eighth-place Rice Thursday night, 71-61, and Red Raider coach Gerald Myers confessed later, "I can't predict what this team's gonna do."

Asked if he had ever had such a hot-and-cold team, Myers responded, "Just this one. Tech knocked off Texas A&M by 10 points in Lubbock Monday night, inflicting the first Southwest Conference loss of the season on the Aggies.

Rice led virtually all the way Thursday night. The Red Raiders played probably their best defensive game of the season against A&M. Their defensive effort against Rice, Myers said, was one of their worst.

In the other SWC games played Thursday night, Arkansas pulled away from a 26-26 halftime tie and defeated Baylor 70-51 to move back into a tie with A&M for the conference lead with a 10-1 record.

A&M beat SMU 67-56 and Texas beat TCU 90-62 in games played Wednesday night.

Rice's victory over Tech threw the battle for third place and a bye in the post-season tournament wide open again. Tech and Texas now are tied with 7-5 records.

Rice scored 10 straight points in the first half to take a 32-26 halftime lead, then widened its lead to 12 when the Raiders went the first 4:52 of the second half without scoring.

BIG SPRING—Despite reports of sleet in the area, the Valentine's Tennis Tournament was to begin here today. However, officials were expected to move the tournament indoors, to Big Spring High School Gym, and re-work schedules in an attempt to accommodate the cramped quarters.

Snyder Coach Bill Boles said his varsity team was prepared to play "around the clock" if necessary.

Other teams entered in the tournament include Seminole, Pecos, Lubbock High, Odessa Ector and Colorado City.

Cats Crush Toro Frosh

Snyder ninth grade Black team ripped Big Spring here last night, 98-51. Thirteen squadmembers scored for the local group, coached by Bill Boles.

David Nicholson led with 20, followed by Whit Parks with 14, and Monte Gambol and David Miller with 12 each. Matt Davis and Glenn Parham added 8 apiece.

The Cats will close out their season Monday in Sweetwater.
