Council In Iran To Get Hostages

By The Associated Press
The Moslem militants who have held some 50 Americans hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran for 124 days today asked the ruling Revolutionary Council to take over responsibility for the captives.

The dramatic development seemed to signal a major breakthrough toward ending the crisis. But Iranian authorities, who have said a final decision on the hostages will not be made until April or May, had no immediate comment to indicate whether they now might be freed sooner.

Just when and how the Americans will be handed over to the authorities will be decided tonight or tomorrow," said an embassy militant reached by telephone by The Associated Press from Bonn, West Germany.

A Revolutionary Council meeting was scheduled for tonight to discuss the situation.

The militants' decision to surrender the hostages, first reported by Tehran Radio, appeared to clear the way for a U.N. investigating commission to meet with them as planned.

The commission had been preparing to leave Tehran, but with the news from the embassy they decided to stay on at least until Friday.

Tehran Radio quoted the militants' spokesman as saying:

"We ask the Revolutionary Council to take over the hostages, that is, American spies, from us and deal with them in any way it seems appropriate. Our responsibility is over for the hostages and we are sure that the Iranian nation will rectify whatever deviation that might arise in the pursuance of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's line."

Khomeini's role in the decision of the militants was not immediately clear. But the 79-year-old religious leader met this morning with President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, who has been trying to assert control over the militants.

The militants' turnabout was confirmed in a telephone interview with The Associated Press in Bonn, West Germany, in which a spokesman for the captors said they had agreed to give up responsibility for the Americans because the government was "pushing" them to do so.

Tehran Radio also quoted the spokesman for the militants as saying the decision was made because of the dispute with government authorities over whether the U.N. investigating commission should be allowed to meet with all of the hostages, seized Nov. 4.

The militants said they disagreed with the government stand approving the visit but that they did not want to be accused of weakening the revolutionary regime.

"As we have announced in our earlier statements, we believe that our dealing with America should be from a position of strength. And since the proposal for a meeting between the U.N. commission and the hostages had come from America, the grand satan, and not from the Iranian people, we rejected it," the militants said.

"But since the officials and those overseeing the matters regard our position as an infringement on the authority of the government, we therefore invite the Revolutionary Council to take over the hostages from us, because we do not want to be embroiled in a cause which is in the interest of our enemy and which will lead to no benefit for our people."

Q-Do Snyder Schools have truancy officer and, if not, who is responsible for checking on truancy?

A-Local schools have no truancy officer. Principals are responsible for checking on students who miss classes. In junior and senior high schools, parents are called when pupils are absent. This is done on a daily basis, and in all grades, proper authorization, or excuses, are required of pupils who miss classes. At the senior high school, it is not uncommon for senior students to be off campus at certain times because seniors are not required to be there during off periods.

Northern Electric Plant Reaches Two Milestones

Northern Electric Co., one of Snyder's premiere industries, reached two milestones simultaneously Wednesday, and Jimmy Daniels, plant manager, expressed pride in progress made by the firm in Snyder.

It was two years ago Wednesday (March 5, 1978) that work began on the first electric blanket turned out in the Snyder plant, which means that Wednesday was the second anniversary of the beginning of production here. And Wednesday, March 5, 1980, also was the date that the one-millionth blanket came off the production line at the local plant.

Daniels said that the production situation has changed considerably since those early days of the Snyder plant two years ago. It took two years to get the millionth blanket, but the efficiency of the plant here has progressed to the point that the two-millionth blanket probably will come off before another year passes, Daniels said.

The personnel situation has stabilized considerably, especially during the past year. In the early months of the plant's production, there was almost constant turnover, but as time passed, Daniels said the nucleus of an excellent work force began to emerge. Improved efficiency followed. "The past couple of months have been fantastic," Daniels said, in discussing efficiency of the plant operation.

Tonto Dead At 62

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Jay Silverheels, the full-blooded Mohawk known to millions of television viewers as the Lone Ranger's faithful Indian companion Tonto, has died at the age of 62.

A Canadian-born athlete and actor, Silverheels died Wednesday at the Motion Picture and Television Country House of complications from a bout with pneumonia. He had been hospitalized there since Jan. 25, suffering from the effects of a stroke he suffered 5 1/2 years ago.

To Depend On China

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan rejected an offer of $400 million in U.S. aid to strengthen its defenses against the Russians in neighboring Afghanistan. It said it would depend on its own "unity and strength" and the "time-tested friendship" of China.

Tax Increase Possible

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—House Speaker Billy Clayton said today the 1981 Legislature might not have enough money available for a tax cut and might even have to impose the first state tax increases since 1971.

The possibility of an increase always looms in the background, Clayton told reporters after attending the swearing-in of new state Rep. Dan Downey, R-Houston.

Gov. Bill Clements repeatedly has said state tax cuts are high on his agenda and recently said he thought lawmakers might even be able to reduce taxes by $1 billion over the next biennium.

The SDN Column

A proposed ordinance to control "itinerant merchants" suddenly sparked a lot of questions Monday night at the city council meeting.

The ordinance had been prepared following a survey made by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce in which some 143 persons out of 145 participating indicated that they favored some type of control over those who bring merchandise into town, set up on a vacant lot or a parking lot for a few days, and then move on. They pay no city taxes, they are not around to participate in community service activities and in some cases they are in direct competition with local merchants in the items they sell. Some people regard them as commercial parasites and many say they are at best a nuisance.

Following instructions by the council, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong drew up a new ordinance which would provide a licensing system for these wandering vendors and also would update the city's "peddler's" ordinance, which covers house-to-house selling. In seeking a license to operate under the new ordinance, a person would be required to go through certain formalities, including a rather detailed application form which would be checked for accuracy and veracity. This would call for a $25 investigation fee and then, if approved, a license to operate here could be obtained for $50, which would be valid for six months. The licenses also would be required to furnish a $1,000 surety bond as a precaution against fraud. This sounds logical, but the question of free enterprise emerged in discussion at the council meeting. Would such an ordinance be unnecessarily restrictive? How much of the junk most of these itinerants offer is actually in competition with items sold by local merchants? And do the individual rights of local citizens include the right to be ripped off occasionally?

Another factor that concerned the council was that not a single local merchant bothered to attend the council meeting when the ordinance came up for discussion, despite the fact that the chamber as well as news media outlets had publicized the fact that it was on the agenda.

The council didn't kill it off, but did postpone action until its April meeting. Some action likely will be taken at that time. The council may pass it as is, make a few changes and pass it, or throw it out. If the latter should occur, steps probably would be taken to update the peddler's ordinance, but it probably would not extend to cover the itinerant merchant problem.

Frankly, we have marveled at the audacity of some of these itinerant merchants—marveled that they would think even for a moment that anyone would be interested in the "merchandise" they displayed. Consequently, they haven't been any problem to us personally, because they never got any of our business.

deplorable decision

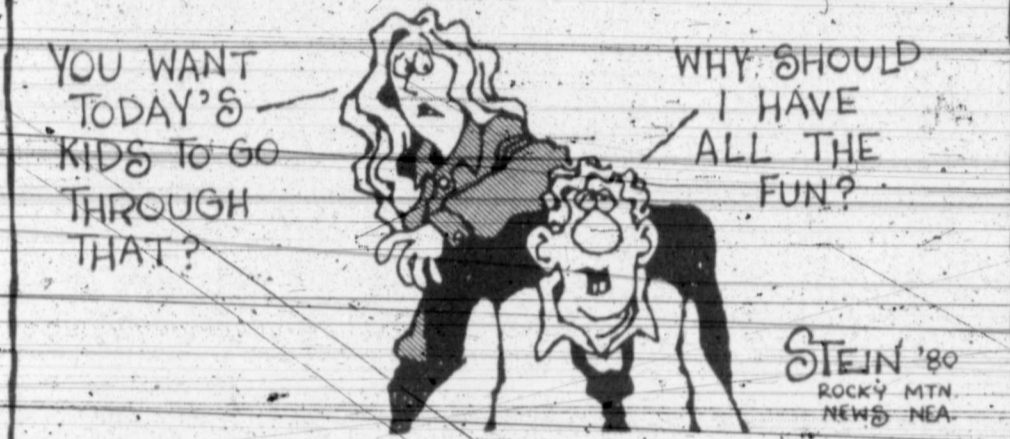

The United State Supreme Court has voted to uphold a lower court's ruling that taxpayers must be forced to pay for abortions. The decision is yet another example of the lack of courage demonstrated by the current Supreme Court. While choosing not to decide on the merits of the case, the Supreme Court justices simply let stand an obnoxious ruling by U.S. District Court Judge John Dooling. Dooling's mandate of taxpayer-funded abortions deserved to be rejected. The Supreme Court's acquiescence to Judge Dooling is doing nothing less than condoning the power grab by an arrogant member of the federal judiciary.

Last year after considerable debate Congress passed a Medicaid appropriations bill with a specific restriction on the use of tax money to provide abortions. Both houses decided that tax money should be used to provide abortions only for women whose lives are endangered by their pregnancies and to victims of rape or incest. It was a hard decision to make and not taken lightly by those elected officials.

In an act of unabashed judicial arrogance, Judge Dooling last month decided that he, not the U.S. Congress, has the final say on how tax dollars, or how many tax dollars, will be spent when it comes to abortion. He struck down the limitations set by Congress, and proclaimed the taxpayers obligated to pick up the abortion tab for any low-income female. He insisted his broad definition of medical necessity would be the guidepost for determining who gets tax money for abortions instead of the limits set in the appropriations bill. In a 6-to-3 decision, the Supreme Court backed him.

This decision violates the principles of both freedom and democracy. First, it forces those who consider abortion immoral to pay for the abortions of others. This leathome practice makes such people less than slaves. Second, the United States government is supposedly based on the concept of no taxation without representation. Has that government now evolved to the point that unelected powerbrokers - judges - can tax the population at will? The Supreme Court's failure to confront Judge Dooling does not bode well for the future of freedom of democracy in this nation.

The abortion issue has caused heated debate since the 1973 Supreme Court ruling legalizing the practice. Knowing that many taxpayers consider abortion immoral, Congress was prudent to limit the use of tax money in this area. The interference of Judge Dooling is unconscionable, as is the Supreme Court's refusal to prevent that interference.

soviet powerhouse

The United States of America, for more than 100 years, has been the world's powerhouse.

We are backsliding. Russian is becoming the powerhouse of the world.

Russia, with no Jane Fonda's, will multiply her nuclear energy by 10 times - from 15 million kilowatts to 150 million kilowatts - within 10 years.

Several energy options are presently proving themselves. We are backsliding. The practical application of each, in adequate quantity, is yet a decade away.

Our bird-in-the-hand energy is nuclear energy. Trade journals in Russia and Czechoslovakia and Hungary and East Germany are agreed that nuclear energy would have to be developed - even if it were dangerous. They agree it is not the hazard some imagine it to be, but consider it so vital to survival that it would have to be developed "even if it were dangerous."

Their announced objective is to harness the atom to produce 25 percent of all electricity in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe by 1990.

Russia, understand, is the world's biggest producer of oil and has huge deposits of natural gas. But those reserves are depleting at the same time the extraction cost is rising.

So, says Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, "Nuclear power is the most effective and rational energy source."

And in Russia, if anybody is opposed, he is not allowed to obstruct.

Even those Soviet engineers who recognize problems in storing, transporting, recycling fuel and disposing of waste - and accidents - nonetheless agree that "nuclear power must be developed."

A dozen times a day you and I flirt with the potential hazard of electrocution - standing over a wash basin with an electric shaver or by the sink with an electric mixer.

If our only consideration were safety nobody would ever use a power saw. The American automobile, despite our most elaborate precautions, is a "death trap" - externally from accidents, internally from fumes.

In farm machinery there are belts and teeth and cutters lying in wait to tear us apart or chop us up.

There is no time during any day when you are more than one move away from danger.

Yet we have overcome our fears and with precautions have adopted these dangerous tools and have made of them first-rate mechanical servants.

We are yet to make friends with nuclear energy, but we'd better. (c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

While women are increasingly numerous in unions, only 16 percent of all those millions of working women are as yet organized. Much the same figures apply to minority workers. Many of both are in service occupations, a booming employment category where more than 5 million jobs have opened up in recent years. Yet only some 15 percent are unionized.

Such is one of the more interesting developments out of the recent gathering in Florida of the AFL-CIO executive council, a session otherwise noteworthy for not being under the firm - not to say rigid - trip of the late George Meany who dominated such federation proceedings for the preceding quarter of a century. And there may well be a connection.

Kirkland has designated two seats on the 35-member council to be reserved for, respectively, a woman and a minority group representative.

Not exactly earthshaking news, you say. It may be somewhat more so when you consider the existing composition of that power center of the 19-million-member labor federation. Under a long-standing rule restricting council participation to heads of member unions, it includes at present only one black. And there has never been a women member.

So? So women today account for more than 30 percent of the total national work force. Further, one in every five union members is a woman. Blacks and Hispanics also have sizable representation in the labor force and union ranks, and would have even more were they not so over-represented in the unemployed statistics.

Not only is it about time that Big Labor took note of the actual situation; it is long past time for its own health.

Leave it to the Soviets. Just when the West is concentrating on Afghanistan, they roll out a challenge on another front - air travel.

This June they will be putting into service on domestic routes a new Airbus, the A-300, with a 350-passenger capacity.

70 more than its Western equivalent, the A-300 developed by a French-German consortium.

More, it represents a breakthrough in passenger convenience with a time-saving baggage arrangement. Passengers first enter a lower compartment where they place their own luggage in bins numbered according to seat assignments, proceed to upper-deck seating compartments for the journey and at the end of trip reverse the process to retrieve their own gear. Self-service loading and unloading can be accomplished in as little as 20 minutes, Soviet authorities claim.

It has all the signs of a mass-travel innovation Western airlines will be hard-pressed to catch up with - do-it-yourself baggage loss.

But don't think they can't do it.

The members of the Ira Bulldogs basketball team and I would like to say "Thanks" for the support of our fans throughout the year(s). We hope that you don't have to wait so long for it to happen again.

We would like to thank the members of our district and fans from Snyder for their support and encouragement during the district tournament and bi-district game. We hope we represented our district and our fans well, even though we did not go any further.

We would also like to say thanks to John Gary and his staff at Snyder High School for the use of their facilities and the cooperation during the district tournament.

I would also like to say "Thank You" to the parents who were willing to let their kids compete, and encouraged them to work hard. And I would like to thank our fans, who have no kids nor any relatives playing but were faithful anyway.

Our accomplishments have been as a result of your efforts as well.

Victory has been a long time in coming but we hope it stays with us for a while and is an incentive for our younger kids.

I would like to say a very special "Thank You" to the boys at Ira for the work you have put in to make our season successful. When you win, it is because you did a good job. When you lose, it is always the coaches' fault. I hope the underclassmen are not satisfied but will try harder in the off season and next year to go at least one step farther down the road. You have done a fine job but it can be better.

We, the players and coaches, would like to thank the Snyder Daily News for helping to keep the fans informed during the season.

I know I have left out a lot of people, but once again to all concerned and involved, we say a hearty "Thank You".

The supporters of the eugenics movement are at it again.

What, you've never heard of the eugenics movement? Well, you have, I'm sure, though perhaps not by that name.

Believers in the eugenics movement support the notion that a superior man can be created through genetic manipulation. Eugenics is the old name for the idea. People of this generation know it better by the term "master race."

The latest such talk comes from Robert K. Graham, 73, who is remembered chiefly for his development of plastic eyeglass lenses. Graham believes that when Nobel prize winning men mate with highly intelligent women the result will be a superior child.

To test his theory Graham has taken the sperm from seven Nobel laureates at California's universities and research centers. With it he hopes to impregnate three women he has chosen for their intelligence and abilities.

While the results of Graham's experiment may be interesting, I think it will all go for nothing in the long run.

What Graham and similar men fail to take into account are human worth and dignity. Graham believes a person must accomplish something great to be worthwhile. He believes worth is measured by achievement.

Success, someone once said, is measured not so much by where you are but by the obstacles you overcome in getting there.

A person doesn't have to be famous to be a person of consequence and importance. Every human being, by virtue of the fact that he is a human being, is entitled to have some respect. Every person is a person of importance to someone. Everyone is un-que. The same type argument can be used in regard to cloning, that much talked about process from one or two years ago in which genetic clone-twins can be manufactured.

Even if someone were able to produce another of me, my clone would never be me. He would never, and could never, experience the identical things that went together to make me. My experiences and my reactions to my experiences are what make me.

When beginners learn to play bridge they are taught innumerable things. Counting hands, finesses, end plays, ducking play and much more. However, eventually everything falls into place and these plays become sort of "automatic."

When the diagrammed hand was played at a regional tournament in Phoenix, only four declarers out of 13 (in one section) made three notrump. The bidding was simple and straightforward. It occurred at almost every table. The event was a Masters Pairs.

The opening heart lead was covered by the 10, and Jack and declarer won in hand with the queen. All of the unsuccessful declarers made the automatic play at trick two of leading a small diamond and playing low from dummy. If diamonds divide 3-2, almost a 68 per cent possibility, the contract will succeed with an overtrick.

These unlucky declarers later bemoaned their bad luck when diamonds didn't break and a heart return killed dummy. However, these players should have bemoaned their bad technique. All of the successful declarers also realized the diamond suit should be developed. But what if diamonds failed to break?

The club suit offered excellent chances—if one or both honors were in the East hand. If diamonds break 10 tricks are available; if the club suit lies favorably there are only nine tricks. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Annually, each ABWA chapter selects one of its members for this award. Selection is based on the member's achievement in her field of business, education, participation in the association and in community activities.

As a qualified chapter Woman of the Year, Mrs. Dortch may enter in competition for the 1980-1981 Top Ten Business Women of ABWA and the "American Business Woman of the Year" awards. A announcement of the national award recipients will be made at ABWA's National Convention, October 30-Nov. 2, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Baby Contest Votes Sought

Snyder Jayceettes have placed pictures of children entered in the "Lad" or "Lassie" baby contest in the Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank. During the week the public may drop by the banks to cast votes which are one penny each.

To vote on Saturdays, the display will be at TG&Y March 8 and 15.

"Anyone may cast votes for their favorite lad or lassie by simply inserting the coins beside the picture of their choice," says Billie Smith, project chairman. The child receiving the most money from March 3-15 will be the winner, she said, and the winner will be announced on St. Patrick's Day.

Prizes will be awarded in two categories: Lad & Lassie Gift Shop will provide prizes and certificates will be awarded from the local Jayceettes.

Proceeds will aid the local Jayceettes in hosting the Texas Jaycee-ette state awards judging to be held here April 18-20.

Temperature Settings Save On Utilities

MORE ENERGY SAVING-A switch to a lower temperature on the washing machine can have a major impact on utility bills, according to the Department of Energy.

It takes about 35 gallons of water to do a full wash and rinse, or about 17 gallons for each cycle.

How much of that water is hot depends on which button you push. A hot wash and a warm rinse setting, the highest setting on most machines, requires 25 gallons of hot water.

A load a day on such a setting, for electric water heaters, could easily cost $100 a year. Changing the rinse water to cold, which experts say does not affect the result of the wash, will save eight of those gallons a day, or $25 a year.

By changing the wash setting from hot to warm, you could save another $25. If you have a gas water heater, the savings could be $10 a year for each reduction.

To increase the savings even further, use a cold water detergent and wash and rinse with cold water.

"Sometimes we get more government than we really want."

Reviewing a list of legislative "ripoffs" in the last session of the Texas Legislature, Larry Shaw cites a property tax break given to East Texas timber giants, fourteen separate House votes to escalate interest rates, the weakening of the Consumer Protection Act, the $25.00 new car documentary fee (which will take millions of dollars out of Texans' pockets each year) and other items.

This legislation favors lenders and vendors. It works against those in the middle incomes. It could never pass except for the help it receives from legislators in league with lobbyists all across the state. Some of this strikes awfully close to home.

Fish Clash With Nevada Development

SNYDERITES PROMOTED—Promotions for two local men have been announced by Tony Knott, president of Tex-Mex Meter Service, Inc. James Tucker, left, has been named district manager over the company's newly formed North Texas district which includes the Snyder area. Cliff Hale, right, replaces Tucker as manager of the Snyder shop. Hale joined the company in 1975. Specializing in oilfield automation, the firm is located at 1801 13th Street.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Fish are causing a problem in the nation's most arid state. The fish, on federal endangered or threatened lists, are conflicting with Nevada's plans to develop its deserts.

By JOHN RICE
Associated Press Writer
RENO, Nev. (AP)—When Nevada officials wanted to build a new state prison in arid desert near tiny Indian Springs, a major worry was a possible lack of water. Another, ironically, was the presence of fish.

Nevada, the nation's driest state, is teeming with unique fish species in small springs and streams. Their presence and vulnerability has stymied Nevadans' attempts to develop their deserts. At least eight Nevada fish species are on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's endangered or threatened lists. Eight more should be on the lists, says Gale Kobetich, field supervisor for the service's endangered species office in Sacramento. "Most of them, if we didn't mess with the habitat, they would not be endangered," Kobetich says. "But because of the pressures on the habitat, most of them are threatened at least, some of them truly endangered." Because water is so precious in Nevada, there are sure to be conflicts between efforts to develop the desert and to save the fish, says the state Water Engineer Bill Newman. The conflict could touch the state's only two sizable population centers—Las Vegas and Reno—as well as a Pentagon proposal to dot the desert with the massive MX nuclear missile system. Nevada officials were relieved to learn recently that the proposed Indian Springs Prison would not affect the Desert pupfish or Pahrump killifish. Ranchers in the Ash Meadows area, of the searing Amargosa Desert weren't as lucky. A federal court order prohibits water pumping that would pull the ground-water level below a point at which the inch-long Devil's Hole pupfish can survive in the warm limestone pothole which is its only home. More important, the site around Devil's Hole was viewed as an alternative water supply for Las Vegas, Newman says. "This would pretty much preclude that." To protect another small fish—the 2- to 3-inch-long Mojave Dace—the Fish and Wildlife Service recently purchased a hot springs resort north of Las Vegas. Its proposal to purchase a neighboring—more heavily used—part of Warm Springs produced an outcry from Las Vegasans fearful the resort would be shut down. "The Service backed off from the plan. But worried that tampering with the spring could wipe out the fish, it is still considering buying parts of the resort or finding another way to protect it. Most of the rare fish are relics of the prehistoric era when Nevada's valleys were immersed under lakes, Kobetich says. "As these lakes dried, the fish were isolated," he says. And so, for thousands of years, the fish evolved along their own paths, many forming entirely unique species. The rare fish are spread throughout the state—and so are the Air Force's proposed sites for the MX missile. A mean average of 190 sunspots was observed in a year in 1957, according to National Geographic.

Dear Abby

Learn to Take Tension-Break

By Abigail Van Buren
1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News-Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: There is a lovely Negro spiritual by the name of "Slow Me Down, Lord." I heard that you once published a prayer by that title several years ago. Could that prayer have been stolen from the spiritual of the same name?

Will you please print the prayer and tell us who the author was and when it was published?

JESSE IN W.VA.

DEAR JESS: The essay, "Slow Me Down, Lord" was written by Wilfred A. Peterson in 1952.

Peterson said that the inspiration for his essay had come from an old Negro spiritual, but not a word of the spiritual was used.

According to the author, the essay was written especially for modern business executives working under tension as a suggestion to slow down and relax.

I think it's one of the loveliest things I have ever read; its message is as relevant today as it was 28 years ago. I shall print it again with pleasure:

"Slow me down, Lord! Ease the pounding of my heart by the quieting of my mind. Steady my hurried pace with a vision of the eternal reach of time. Give me, amidst the confusion of my day, the calmness of the everlasting hills. Break the tensions of my nerves and muscles with the soothing music of the singing streams that live in my memory. Help me to know the magic restoring power of sleep. Teach me the art of making Minute Vacations—of slowing down to look at a flower, to chat with a friend, to pat a dog; to read a few lines from a good book. Remind me each day of the fable of the hare and the tortoise that I may know that the race is not always to the swift; that there is more to life than increasing its speed. Let me look upward into the branches of the towering oak and know that it grew great and strong because it grew slowly and well. Slow me down, Lord, and inspire me to send my roots deep into the soil of life's enduring values that I may grow toward the stars of my greater destiny. Amen."

DEAR ABBY: I work with a girl who plans to be married soon. Today she admitted to me that although she really doesn't love the man, she and her mother think this may be her last chance, and she hopes to hook him before he gets out of the marrying mood.

She has four children by three previous marriages. Everyone at work says to keep quiet.

Abby, I don't want to see this man used or hurt, but I don't know him well enough to open my mouth.

I work with the woman, which could cause problems if I were to tip the man off and he repeated my warning.

Please suggest something useful.

OFFICE PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: The word from here is to keep mum.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOUBTING DONNA: It's true. The Wall Street Journal reported (as a business item) that available for sale is a tiny tape-playing device that fits inside a refrigerator, and every time the door is opened, a voice says, "Are you eating again? No wonder you look the way you do. Do yourself a favor and shut the door!"

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

2nd Girl Dies From Shooting

ABILENE (AP)—A second teen-age girl wounded in a convenience store shooting died Monday, and police still have no motive or suspect. Samantha Campbell, 17, a clerk at the store, died at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. She had been shot three times in the head.

The volley of gunfire at the store also killed 4-year-old Maria Carrillo, who was shot twice with a small-caliber weapon, police said.

Two customers discovered the victims about 2:50 a.m.

Although a motive has not been established, no money apparently was taken from the store's cash register, police said.

Cycling Ohioan Likes Moving By Own Power

By JOHN LONG
 "It's kind of rewarding to get someplace on your own power," said Fred Thaxton, who is bicycling across the country. He should know. He left his native Kent, Ohio, last summer and rolled in to Snyder Wednesday afternoon. He came here by way of Phoenix, Ariz.

From here Thaxton plans to pedal to Florida where he will visit relatives and do a little bird-watching. From Florida he will return to his Ohio home. In all, his trip will be between 4,000 and 5,000 miles.

Thaxton, 24, is a June graduate of Kent State University where he received his bachelor's degree in education. He decided, however, he wanted to take a year off before settling down to the business of daily living. It is not his first trip.

Thaxton was re-awakened to the joys of bicycling two years ago when he took a bicycling class as a part of his physical education requirement at Kent State. His first trip was during the summer of 1978 when he put in 3,200 miles on a journey to Seattle, Wash.

"I got hooked," Thaxton declared. "I love it. I never want to own a car."

Thaxton said he likes to keep off the main highways as much as possible. He prefers the farm to market roads for sightseeing and getting to meet people.

"That's what makes the trip for me," he said. "I get to meet a lot of great people."

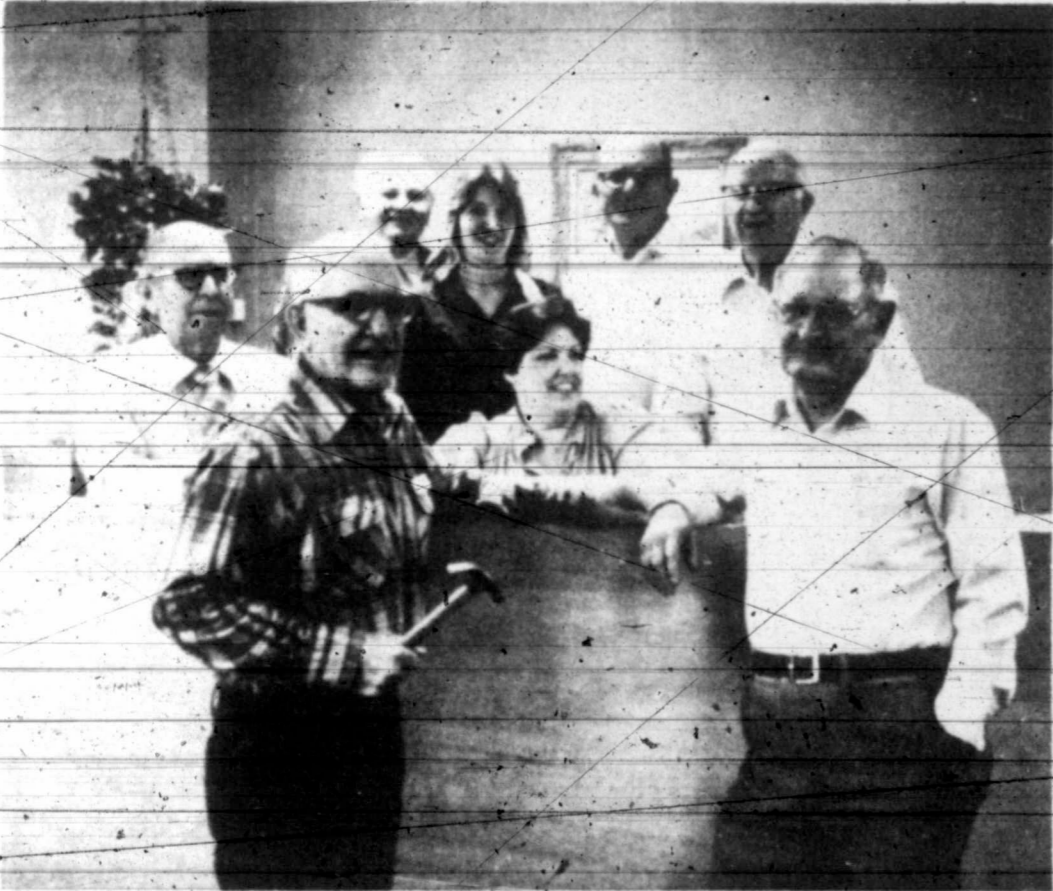

Thaxton is touring the country on a custom-made 15-speed bike. He carries with him 50 pounds of gear, and can out in 70 to 75 miles a day on the average. In Snyder he found a one night refuge at First United Methodist Church. He left this morning.

"A lot of people are touring by bike, but it's still unique," said Thaxton.

Stage Completed For Sr. Center

The Golden K Kiwanis Club has recently completed construction of a new stage for use in the Scurry County Senior Citizens Center, and even though the final step of staining the stage has not been finished the stage is in use.

The club purchased the lumber and built the stage in seven sections so it will be completely portable. The sections can be arranged to form a stage 8x24 feet or 16x12 feet, and one or more sections can be used when a smaller platform is needed.

Club members donated their labor and building skills as a community service project. The club sweetheart, Virginia Whitson, helped with a cash donation.

"The stage is really appreciated," Gloria Shaw, Senior Center Director, said, "and we will be using it in the SCAMP productions being planned."

SCAMP stands for Senior Center Actors and Misfit Performers, and the talents of these Senior Citizens will be combined in some type of fund-raising show in the future.

The Golden K meets in the Senior Center each Tuesday and men 60 years of age or older who would like to join the club are invited to inquire at the Center about membership.

Farabee Blasts Economic Policy

Thirtieth District State Senator Ray Farabee yesterday blasted the federal government's policy of fighting inflation by the use of high interest rates. In letters sent to President Carter and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul A. Volcker, Farabee called for the use of other approaches such as reduced federal spending, a balanced budget, and credit controls in lieu of high interest rates.

"Since early 1977 the prime rate has increased from less than 7 1/2 percent to 17 1/4 percent -- the highest level in history -- without a noticeable accompanying dent in the inflation rate," Farabee stated.

Farabee called the high interest rate policy cruel and ineffective. Not only has it priced low and middle income people out of the housing market, he noted, but it has actually increased the inflation rate as business costs are passed on to consumer. "Farabee pointed out that while financial policy is largely a federal concern, a high inflation rate has a drastic effect on state government.

"In Texas," Farabee said, "we are finding it increasingly difficult to provide quality education, good highways, and human services as our costs skyrocket.

In concluding his call for a broader based anti-inflation program, Farabee said, "It is my hope that the federal government will see fit to grasp the negative impact of its restrictive policies on all of our citizens. The people of the 30th Senatorial District and every other segment of the population will suffer from the continuation of high interest rates."

Citrus Damage. Cub Pack 37 Has Assessed In Florida Blue-Gold Banquet

OLLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Relieved that a late-winter freeze lasted only two days, Florida growers are assessing damage in the 750,000 acres of lush citrus groves across the state's midsection.

"We were lucky," said Wilson McGee, executive vice president of United Growers and Shippers Association, as temperatures began to climb late Monday and Tuesday.

But there was still concern in the $2 billion industry about next year's crop since some blossoms were damaged by the cold snap Sunday and early Monday that sent temperatures below freezing.

Growers also worried about the ice and slush found on rapidly maturing Valencia's, the "bread-and-butter" orange that gives frozen concentrate its rich taste and color.

Farther down the Florida peninsula, rich winter vegetable fields near Miami and Fort Lauderdale also appeared to have escaped serious damage.

The Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 37 was held Monday night at the Fowle Park Barn. Awards were given to 10 boys. They were Mike Ezzell, a one year Cub Scout pin; Tracy Clemmons, two-year pin; Jason West, one year pin; Bobby Neblett, one year pin; and Jeff Adams, two-year pin. Other pins went to Brad Blair, one year; Mark Brewer, one year; Tim Sullivan, three years; Sam Shifflett, one year; and Mark Clemmons, two years.

Mental Patient Believed Armed

NEVADA, Texas (AP)—Law officers hunted today for a heavily armed 36-year-old mental hospital escapee who eluded police in a rural area north of Dallas after a 5½-hour confrontation. The man, identified as James Edward Jones, was believed armed with a .45-caliber machine gun and a hand grenade. Roadblocks were set up on several highways in southeastern Collin County.

Not present but also being pin recipients were Chris Woodard, one year, and Tony Fearard, one year. "Cub Scout beads were presented to Mark Brewer, Brad Blair, and Jason West. Leadership pins were given to Gary and Carol Brewer. Pack 37 is sponsored by First Christian Church.

Pass on fructose pills

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I had a stroke four years ago. I'm able to get around and look and do light housekeeping but I tire easily and quickly. I saw an advertisement for energy tabs containing fructose to provide energy and pep. Do you know if these are good?

DEAR READER— You can get fructose from any fruit that you eat and it's half of the sugar in ordinary table sugar. Yes, it does have energy in it and so does table sugar.

Ordinary table sugar is a combination of glucose and fructose hooked together to form a disaccharide (double sugar), thus half of the sugar in the bowl is glucose and half of it is fructose.

When you eat table sugar in any form or any foods prepared with it, the double sugar is broken apart in the intestine by enzymes, leaving you ordinary glucose and ordinary fructose. That fructose is no different than that which you saw advertised.

Fructose is absorbed into the bloodstream and broken down to carbon dioxide and water, releasing energy in the process. It has to be converted to glucose which happens in all of us.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 3-8, Sugar and Starch Carbohydrates. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

It will give you the basic information that you apparently need about carbohydrates.

All carbohydrates, whether they're in fruits, vegetables, bread, other cereals or milk are made up of three single sugars: glucose, fructose and galactose. The latter occurs only in milk so almost all the other carbohydrate foods that we eat contain glucose and fructose.

Now, there are lots of reasons for being tired and having a loss of energy which is your basic problem. About 80 percent of the people who have a loss of energy don't have any discernible medical problem that causes it. Nevertheless, that means about one out of five do have an underlying medical problem. For that reason, I suggest that people who have unexplained persistent fatigue should see their doctor for an examination.

Often fatigue is associated with life situations. Sometimes that's because of boredom or lack of things that make life stimulating or interesting, a lack of involvement in other instances it's because of unpleasant life situations that the person can't escape. To give you more information about the problems of fatigue, I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 9-6, Fatigue: Feeling Tired and Weary. The information you get in that will do a lot more good for you than some fructose tablets.

You might also review your diet. A lot of people who are low on energy either have a poor diet or don't get enough physical activity. Be sure you are getting all the vitamins and minerals in your diet that you need and that you are eating enough. A calorie deficient diet means less energy.

I realize that your stroke may have slowed you down physically but if your condition permits a modest increase in daily physical activity may make you feel better too—such as a nice daily walk.

Your Birthday

March 7, 1980

Be alert for situations this coming year in which you can act as a middleman on a commission basis. You should be able to find several deals that would prove very worthwhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In partnership situations you have an innate understanding of what is best for both of you. Follow your instincts and do what you believe is right. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This should be a very fortunate day for you in involvement with others, especially if you are managing their resources or affairs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The one you love will be paramount in your thoughts today, just as you will be foremost in his or her mind. This should be an exciting day romantically.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This can be a day of major achievements if you set your mind to them. With determination, several important goals can be realized.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're in the thoughts of others today, so don't be surprised if you hear from persons you haven't been in touch with lately. You'll like what they have to say.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Use your smarts and you should be able to figure out ways to get things you've been wanting for your home and family.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) One of the reasons friends will find you an amicable companion is that you'll try to understand their point of view and adjust your actions accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your luck is likely to run strongest in financial or material areas. Things could come to you just because you're in the right spot at the right time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is something very magnetic about your personality today that will literally draw people to you, especially members of the opposite sex.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a powerful influence over others today in an indirect manner. Even if you stay in the background, your presence will be keenly felt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't hide yourself at a social gathering today. Persons who don't know you too well will like you better once they know where you're coming from.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have a bit of an edge today in business situations where something of value is at stake. However, it would be unwise to trust to luck alone.

Gov. Clements Says Oil Compact For All States

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas, the Interstate Oil Compact Commission has Gov. Bill Clements says pact Commission has something to offer all states, not just those with significant oil and natural gas production. Clements suggested the commission's executive committee, Wednesday the IIOC could be a forum, a platform for establishing national policy for all energy sources—not just oil and gas. As an example, Clements said, "Arizona has little production, as such, but is certainly interested in our energy problems." Clements, commission chairman, said states should recognize the commission as a springboard from which can emerge policy and direction in energy as a national issue. Thirty states are commission members.

Clements said two "polling sources" show 80 percent of the American public "does not believe there is an energy crisis." Previously, he said, only 40-45 percent felt there was a crisis. The public, Clements added, ranks the energy crisis as the No. 2 priority issue behind inflation and he realizes that the energy problem and inflation are linked. Clements noted Secretary of the Energy Commission, William Waller, said the commission's June 15 meeting in Salt Lake City, Utah, will be held in Dallas April 1. The committee was charged with developing a checklist for states to review whether all of the production, use, or conservation of energy resources. Waller said he would present a checklist and a report to the commission's first meeting will be held in Dallas April 1.

Conservation Leaders Warned About Erosion

Conservationists from the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District were among some 300 farmers, ranchers and other conservation leaders attending a hearing on the Resource Conservation Act (RCA) in the Memorial Civic Center in Lubbock on Tuesday.

Attending from the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District were District Director W.L. Wilson, Jr., Big Spring; Jerry Stone, CED, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Gail, and Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist Erwin Pavlik, Snyder.

Under the act, the USDA is soliciting recommendations for the development of a national conservation program for soil, water and related natural resources based on an appraisal of conditions and trends. The Lubbock hearing was one of a series being held across the nation to gather comments on the program from the public.

Rex Johnson, of College Station, area director of the USDA, Science and Education Administration, was moderator at the hearing. He urged participants to take part in the formulation of the conservation program.

Of the 30.5 million acres of cropland in Texas, Johnson pointed out, about one-third is eroding at an excessive rate, including erosion caused by wind damage.

Seven resource areas have been identified by the USDA with objectives, suggested activities to be conducted, estimated time spans and costs. Several alternative strategies also have been proposed for public consideration.

These include, redirecting present programs, cross compliance requirements, regional resource projects, state leadership, government regulations, performance bonuses, and payments to producers for reducing erosion and conserving water.

On the panel with Johnson were George Marks, Temple, State Conservationist; Soil Conservation Service; Dr. Billy Harris, College Station, soil and water specialist, Texas Agriculture Extension Service; Jerry Lee, Washington, D.C., Soil Conservation Service; and Steve Pringle, College Station, Soil Conservation Service.

Farmers, ranchers and other interested individuals may mail comments and suggestions by March 28 to the USDA Response Analysis Center, P.O. Box 888, Athens, Ga. 30604.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service, 3423 Avenue T, Snyder.

Small Savers May Get Some Relief

BY GLENN RITT

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Small savers could get some relief from inflation and the Federal Reserve Board would obtain added power to battle the economic disease under a compromise forged by House and Senate conferees.

The panel took action Wednesday that would remove, over a period of six years, the current 5.5 percent ceiling on passbook interest rates.

In the meantime, bank regulators would be encouraged to increase passbook rates "as rapidly as possible," at least 2.25 percentage points during the six-year period. However, mortgage rates fell short of requiring the increase, leaving it up to a pair of five federal regulators to vote on any boost in the passbook ceiling during the next six months after that, there would be no ceiling at all.

This compromise would appear to disappoint many small saver groups seeking faster and stronger relief. People able to invest a minimum of $10,000 can earn interest rates approaching 15 percent in these inflationary times.

However, the conferees also were trying to meet the concerns of thrift institutions, who say their earnings will severely erode if forced to pay such high interest rates to passbook savers without first expanding their profit-making ventures.

To this end, the conferees agreed to allow savings and loan associations to increase their volume of consumer loans, which command higher interest rates than mortgage loans.

The conferees also agreed to authorize NOW accounts nationwide as of Dec. 31. These are interest bearing savings accounts that offer check-writing privileges. Currently, they are legal only in New England, New York and

New Jersey.

Fernand St. Germain, D-R.I., a major architect of the compromise, called the finished product "well balanced" and voiced optimism it would survive House and Senate votes relatively intact.

In a long, harried day of negotiations, the conferees agreed to proposals that would:

- Permanently override state-imposed ceilings on mortgage rates, while removing, for three years, interest limits on agricultural and business loans above $25,000. States would have three years to re-establish interest rate ceilings.

increase the limits on all federal deposit insurance from $40,000 to $100,000.

Allow credit unions to charge 15 percent or more on consumer loans. Currently, they can charge only 12 percent.

Among the most significant steps taken by the conferees was a proposal requiring all banks and most thrift institutions to set aside a fixed percentage of money in reserves established by the Federal Reserve Board.

This could limit the amount of credit available to consumers because banks may have less money to lend.

He said he was "about two feet away from the pump," which fed two oil from two crude containers into the cracking unit, when he noticed sparks coming from the pump.

Westerners Meet Chaps In Region V Title Tilt

By The SDN Sports Staff
MIDLAND (AP)—As was expected, Midland and Western Texas College will meet here tonight for the Region V junior college basketball championship.

In semi-final games held last evening, Midland posted a 41-36 win over McLennan Community College, while Western Texas dispatched Cooke County College 83-68.

An All-Star game will open the show tonight at 5:30, setting the stage for the all-important title game at 7:30 in Chaparral Center. Tickets for the two-game session are $3 adults and $2 students.

Winner of the tournament which has been Western Texas the past three years will advance to the NJCAA National Tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., March 18-22.

Yesterday's Western Texas game began like its 121-92 victory over Amarillo the night before. The Westerners, led by Paul Pressey's three first-half steals, jumped out to a 6-0 lead before Cooke County found the hoop. But once Coach Jim Voight's crew located it they took good advantage, and raced in front, 10-8.

WTC's Ronald Portee tied the score on a long jump shot moments later, then put the Westerners ahead on a fast break.

12-10.

Cooke tied the totals again at 14-14 before Greg Stewart, Franklin Bennett and other members of the Westerners team began to connect almost at will with the nets. WTC's lead grew to 24-14 before Ronnie Clark hit a pair of free throws and Helnick added a bucket to temporarily stall the Westerners.

Western Texas kept a 12-to-eight point advantage for most of the half. With 2:35 left, Stewart connected on a pair of free throws and Bennett added four more points to put WTC up 40-25. Cooke County scored four of its own, and Western Texas got the final points of the half on a Bennett jump shot, 42-29.

A technical charged to Coach Voight, was the first order of business as the second half began. Voight's foul-garnering action occurred just as halftime began, when both teams were off the floor.

The game, scheduled to begin at 9, hadn't got started until 9:30 because of some problems with the north-end goal in the first game. More problems with it made a half-time adjustment necessary in the WTC-Cooke game, throwing the schedule off by almost an hour.

Western Texas' domination continued in the second half. Ronald Por-tee made a 43-29 with his basket off of the technical, and the Westerners were rolling again.

Cooke had trimmed the lead to 13 points, 49-36 early in the half, but Western Texas connected on eight consecutive points — three by Stewart and one by David Brown — to place the totals at 57-40. The Westerners later went in front by 20 points, courtesy of a Phil Spradling three-point play, and the game was over from that point on.

Stewart's 19 points led the Westerner effort while Portee and Spradling added 11 each. Pressey had 10, Bennett notched nine and Freddie Davis scored eight. The Westerners came away with 15 steals on the game. Pressey had five.

Clark's 15 paced Cooke. Tony Moore, Dennis Mays and Helnick had 10 points each.

In the early game, Midland had only slight trouble with McLennan, the No. 1-seeded team from the Northern Conference. Led by Ozell Hall, Charles Jones, Darrell Johnson and Anthony Lee, the Highlanders kept within 12 points for most of the first half, but were unable to compete with Midland's depth.

Tonight's championship game marks the fourth time Western Texas and No. 8 ranked Midland will have met this season. The Westerners, 32-0 and ranked No. 1 in the nation, have won by a close margin each time.

Western Texas 83, Cooke 58
Western Texas-Davis 4-0-8, Patterson 2-0-4, Stewart 8-3-19, Alvarado 2-1-5, Bennett 3-3-9, Portee 5-1-11, Spradling 5-1-11, Brown 3-0-6, Pressey 4-2-10, Totals 86-11-83.

Cooke County-Voight 2-1-5, Manson 1-0-2, Moore 5-0-10, Mays 4-2-10, Walker 3-3-9, Totals 26-16-68.

Halftime: WTC 42, Cooke 29.
Fouls: WTC 25, Cooke 25.

The Tigers, champions of District 3-AAA and ranked No. 2 in the state, are 27-4 on the season, owning a 17-game winning streak. Waxahachie's Indians are 31-3.

In an earlier class AAA semi-final contest tonight, Bay City, 27-8 and ranked No. 10, will meet No. 1 Beaumont Hebert, 32-3 at 7.

At point-guard for the Indians is 6-0 junior Lyndon Wilson with a 4.6

average. Averaging 6 points a game is 6-3 senior postman Kurt Paschal. Victor Gygard, a 6-1 senior, fills out the lineup. He averages 12 points.

Another senior, 6-3 Mike Cox, will come in for Paschal, and averages a hefty 13 points, while James Stein, a 6-0 junior averaging 5.9 points, will take the floor to rest Wilson.

Amarillo, SPC Win Places In Women's Region Tournament

Friday's semi-finals will see the Amarillo-Cisco

Victor against the Odessa-McLennan winner at 6, followed by the Western Texas-Weatherford winner versus the Howard South Plains winner at 8.

Jessica Wiley and Carolyn Jones put in 26 and 18 points respectively to lead Amarillo's Lady Badgers over Hill, led by Tammy Anderson's 16 points. For South Plains, it was Lynette Joimer's 22 points that helped the Texanettes past Grayson.

Tickets for each session are $3 adults and $2 students. Tournament tickets are $8 apiece.
