Goes Beyond Carter's Cuts...

Budget Surplus Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the House Budget Committee today proposed a fiscal 1981 budget that calls for a $5 billion surplus and goes beyond President Carter's request last week for federal spending cuts.

Rep. Robert N. Giaino, D-Conn., said his proposal, which goes before his panel today would balance the budget largely through $15.9 billion in new spending cuts for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

However, in a surprise announcement, Giaino added that he would seek a $3.5 billion increase in fees for use of government facilities such as airports. Speaking at a news conference, Giaino also recommended "modest tax reductions" to rebate to business and consumers $11 billion expected to be raised from the president's import fee on gas-line. Giaino's proposal calls for spending of $612.4 billion, revenues of $617.3 billion and a surplus of $4.9 billion.

Last week, Carter called for $13 billion in spending cuts to balance the 1981 budget as an inflation-fighting move.

But Carter has yet to submit a formal proposal to Congress, and that delay means that Giaino's proposal could become the framework for congressional action on a revised budget.

Normally, the president's proposed budget, submitted in January, establishes the frame work for congressional action, although Congress retains final control over the budget. The president's original spending plan called for a $15.8 billion deficit.

Giaino noted that a balanced 1981 budget would be the first for the federal government in 12 years and only the second in the last 21 years.

Runaway inflation, which in the first month of this year stood at annual rate of nearly 18 percent and which threatens the security of every American and foundations of our system makes a balanced budget imperative," he said.

Administration officials say Carter's budget-cutting proposals will not be ready until the end of the month.

By then, the House Budget Committee expects to have completed work on its own version of the budget for fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1. The Senate Budget Committee also will have started work on its version by the end of the month.

Chamber Board Gets Reports On Projects

Snyder chamber of commerce board members Tuesday night heard a variety of reports at their monthly meeting.

Chamber Manager Bill Warner said that he would soon send out information to chamber members concerning major points of a proposed itinerant merchants ordinance.

Warner said that the idea for such an ordinance came from the chamber's retail merchants committee and that a survey of chamber members in January revealed overwhelming support for such an ordinance.

City Attorney Ernie Armstrong was then asked to draft such an ordinance which earlier this month was presented to the Snyder city council. The council tabled action on the ordinance pending further information and in order to determine local support.

Warner said he would send out a newsletter with major points contained in the ordinance so that interested members can voice their opinion about the proposed ordinance which the council will consider at its April meeting.

The chamber manager also reported that a motor freight survey would be taken in Snyder which would likely result in a membership meeting to discuss freight service here. Warner said the survey is being taken in cooperation with local carriers.

A report on the status of an industrial prospect was given. It was revealed that contact with the prospect had been made again this week and Snyder is one of two West Texas cities still under consideration as a plant site.

The national AJRA rodeo will again come to Snyder, Warner reported. He said the decision was reached Monday night at a meeting with AJRA officials in Midland. He said the chamber also had made a bid for the regional junior college girls' basketball playoffs next year, but that the decision was made to hold the tournament in Brownwood.

Warner also called the first membership breakfast held earlier this month a success, and he said plans are being made to make it a monthly event.

Board members also were reminded of the annual banquet set for April 10 at the Scurry County Coliseum. Guest speaker will be Texas Gov. Bill Clements. Tickets are on sale at the chamber office.

Also introduced to the board was Murray Anne Ray who Thursday will begin duties as the new chamber secretary. She replaces Becky Holt.

Chamber president Charlie Henderson presided at the meeting.

Hobbs May Give Up Its Upper Grades

HOBBS—In meetings Monday and Tuesday the Hobbs Independent School District trustees discussed a proposal to send junior high and high school students to either Roby or Rotan. Grades kindergarten through sixth would remain at Hobbs, said Superintendent, M.B. Maxwell.

The board is conducting a poll of parents and taxpayers before making a definite decision on whether or not to keep the upper grades, he said.

The next meeting of the school board is Thursday at 1 p.m. in the school auditorium.

A final decision could be made at that time, said Maxwell.

Carter, Reagan Win In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Ronald Reagan took a giant stride toward the Republican presidential nomination with a convincing primary victory in Illinois, while President Carter trampled Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's Democratic challenge.

Their victories were matched by landslide leads as votes were counted today in competition for national convention delegates.

Reagan's easy win over Rep. John B. Anderson, with former U.N. Ambassador George Bush a distant third, left the former California Governor with no formidable challenger in view. "They'll find someone," Reagan smiled. He said he wouldn't claim the nomination just yet for fear he'd jinx himself.

Cotton Producers Set May 19 Planting Date

May 19 is the day cotton farmers in Scurry County will take to their fields to plant cotton, it was decided during a meeting of the Scurry County Cotton Producers Association.

This is the date recommended as most effective in the boll weevil control program.

The association met last night to decide on a cotton planting date, elect new directors, and hear a program on weed control presented by James Supak, a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock. Twenty-five persons attended.

Incumbent directors were re-elected to their present places. They are John Zalman and Glenn Thompson, precinct 1;

Work To Begin On Stacy Dam

Regardless of whether opponents drag out appeal of a permit, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is getting started on the Stacy reservoir project.

Directors of the CRMWD today announced that work on the first phase leading to the ultimate construction of the Stacy Dam would commence immediately. The work will consist of employing a consulting engineer doing necessary land surveys, soil testing, making core borings and other geo-technical investigations. Then will follow the development of the detailed spillway design including building a scale model of the spillway for functional tests to avoid possible design changes.

"Now that Judge Herman Jones has entered his judgment fully upholding our permit from the Texas Water Commission, we are confident we are on sound ground," declared P.C. Harbour, Odessa, president of CRMWD. "The undue and wasteful opposition to the permit has put us a couple of years behind schedule, and the board is convinced that investments made now in starting the job are worth the minor risk of judicial alteration of the permit."

Conditions supporting the Stacy project have increased since October, 1977, when the permit application was filed, added O. H. Ivie, general manager, and the district must move as rapidly as possible to have the water available when it is needed. He will be meeting promptly with others concerned with the new lake on the Colorado River southeast of Ballinger.

Questioned For 10 Hours

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, a key figure in the FBI undercover operation Brilab, spent some 10 hours answering questions of a federal grand jury and said he hoped "they now can see our innocence."

Clayton, in the grand jury room for seven hours Monday and another three hours Tuesday, paused briefly to talk with newsmen and then hustled from the federal building into a waiting taxi cab.

Begin, Sadat To Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt will visit Washington for separate talks with President Carter in April, White House officials announced today.

White House press secretary Jody Powell, announcing the new move in the bogged-down talks over Palestinian autonomy, said the dates for the meetings had not been set.

Spouses Barred From Suing

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court refused today to allow husbands and wives to sue each other for injuries caused by negligence.

The decision in a test case filed by a retired Air Force major who was badly injured when his wife accidentally struck him with her car left standing a rule established by the court in 1886.

Twenty-seven other states have revoked the doctrine prohibiting one spouse from recovering money damages from the other for accidental injuries.

UIL Transfer Rule Upheld

AUSTIN (AP)—The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals today upheld the University Interscholastic League's rule that prohibits high school football and basketball players from competing for one year after they transfer to a new school.

The court agreed with a state district judge's ruling throwing out a suit filed by John Sullivan, then a student at Anderson High School in Austin, challenging the transfer rule.

The mental hazard facing young athletes is getting attention in medical circles these days. The Texas Medical Association has come out with a report from a University of Washington psychiatrist urging that parents and coaches should guard against expecting too much from a child athlete.

"They (the young athletes) need protection against the mental violence that harsh parents and coaches can inflict," says the report. "Parents need to ask themselves if they are acting out their own dreams through the child and expecting too much from the child. Then parents need to look at the coach. Instead of living out unfulfilled wishes through the athletes, the coach should be motivated by a desire to help young people get along in groups, develop athletic skills, learn to accept frustration and compete positively."

This should not mean that anyone is going to settle for a season of defeat, the report says, but research has shown that the coach who is aware of the needs of children and the basic factors in psychological development is a better coach, has winning teams if he has some player talent, and is better liked.

We always figured that youngsters should have a little fun and at the same time take pride in their athletic pursuits, and we believe most of them do. Fun and pride are easier to develop while winning, of course, but even the best have their low points. Look at the NCAA basketball playoffs this year—only one ranked team in the last four to reach the showdown.

donald f. graff

We aren't likely to hear anything to the effect from the White House very soon, but Afghanistan looks to be simmering down to something considerably less than its original billing as the most threatening East-West crisis, since the Cuban missiles or whatever.

Not, however, that it doesn't still present problems, including those it has given rise to among the Western allies.

A common approach to the Soviet takeover has been glaringly conspicuous by its absence: West Germany and France resist a boycott of the Moscow Olympics. Germany fears for its trade ties and the security of Berlin. France, being as usual particularly uncooperative, scuttled a foreign ministers consultation that was shaping up as an anti-Soviet skull session. Britain backs the United States on the Olympics and trade curtailment, but went ahead on its own on possible neutralization of Afghanistan as a compromise solution. Uninformed and embarrassed Washington read it as backing down.

So it goes. So it has gone, as a matter of fact, for some time in the alliance since the Europeans regained a measure of strength of their own and sufficient self-assurance to cease covering behind a once all-powerful U.S. protector.

This may be a regrettable turn of events for Washington in its present foray into power politics, but it is by no means a bad thing in the long view of either East-West or inter-allied relations. It is, in fact, a culmination of U.S. post-war policy, the purpose of which was to put Western Europe back on its feet, not to develop an American chain of satellites.

So we might well say that we are victims of our own success, that we brought the present disarray on ourselves.

In the general confusion, however, there is one notable point of stability - the French-German relationship. Paris and Bonn, although not always in complete agreement on all nuances, have coordinated policies to a degree that is remarkable in the current interplay of national interests, and astounding considering the recent history of the two nations.

In less than a century, French and Germans fought three vicious wars that were themselves outgrowths of centuries of mutual antagonism. Their present association began in a limited way in the postwar linkage of the industrial bases of their economies. The intent of the original Coal and Steel Community was to so mesh the economies of the two that they would be unable to war against each other again.

That may have been accomplished, in the form of the present European Economic Community that grew out of it and now encompasses nine nations with several others lined up to join. But even more effective has been another development, the Franco-German entente that has become the center of European political gravity.

In Bonn, a relationship that initially was a meeting of the two domineering minds of Charles de Gaulle and Konrad Adenauer, has acquired something of a mystique. The French connection has speeded German re-acceptance as a nation among nations rather than a pariah. The French are not overly popular in Europe, but they are no threat. Louis XIV and Napoleon are safely tucked away in history.

On the French side, the relationship involves less emotion but a great deal of logic. German need of French respectability gives the latter an edge in any differences over joint policies. And association with the stronger German economy allows the French to throw more weight around in world affairs than would be possible on their own.

It is a relationship that still may appear miraculous to anyone with a memory longer than the day before yesterday, but one that continues to prove itself. And one to make you think.

If hereditary enemies such as the French and Germans can so abruptly and productively about face, it is not inconceivable that other pairs of antagonists might eventually do likewise.

Americans and Soviets could one day be putting Afghanistan far behind them to find a common cause. Or Soviets and Chinese discovering a new rapport. Or even Americans and French.

costly regulations

Government regulation is slowly killing the vitality of American business. In the pharmaceutical industry it is killing more than that. According to a leading member of Congress, the Food and Drug Administration is destroying the vitality and innovation of this nation's pharmaceutical manufacturers and in certain cases causing needless death and suffering.

Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., chairman of the House commerce consumer protection and finance subcommittee, charges that regulation has resulted in a "drug lag" which is jeopardizing the health of the nation. He says that regulation has created substantial delays and added exorbitant costs to the process of introducing new drugs. Yet congressional hearings, according to the subcommittee chairman, found no benefits of the regulation to the American consumer.

On the contrary, Scheuer found high prices and unavailable drugs are hurting the consumer. Some of the information revealed by Rep. Scheuer is frightening. Between 1975 and 1978 the FDA approved 14 important drugs. Most of these drugs had been available in Western Europe for a number of years. For example:

-Propranolol used in the treatment of hypertension was available in England for seven years before FDA approval.

-Sodium Valproate is used in the treatment of epilepsy, especially in children. It was available in France for 11 years before FDA approval.

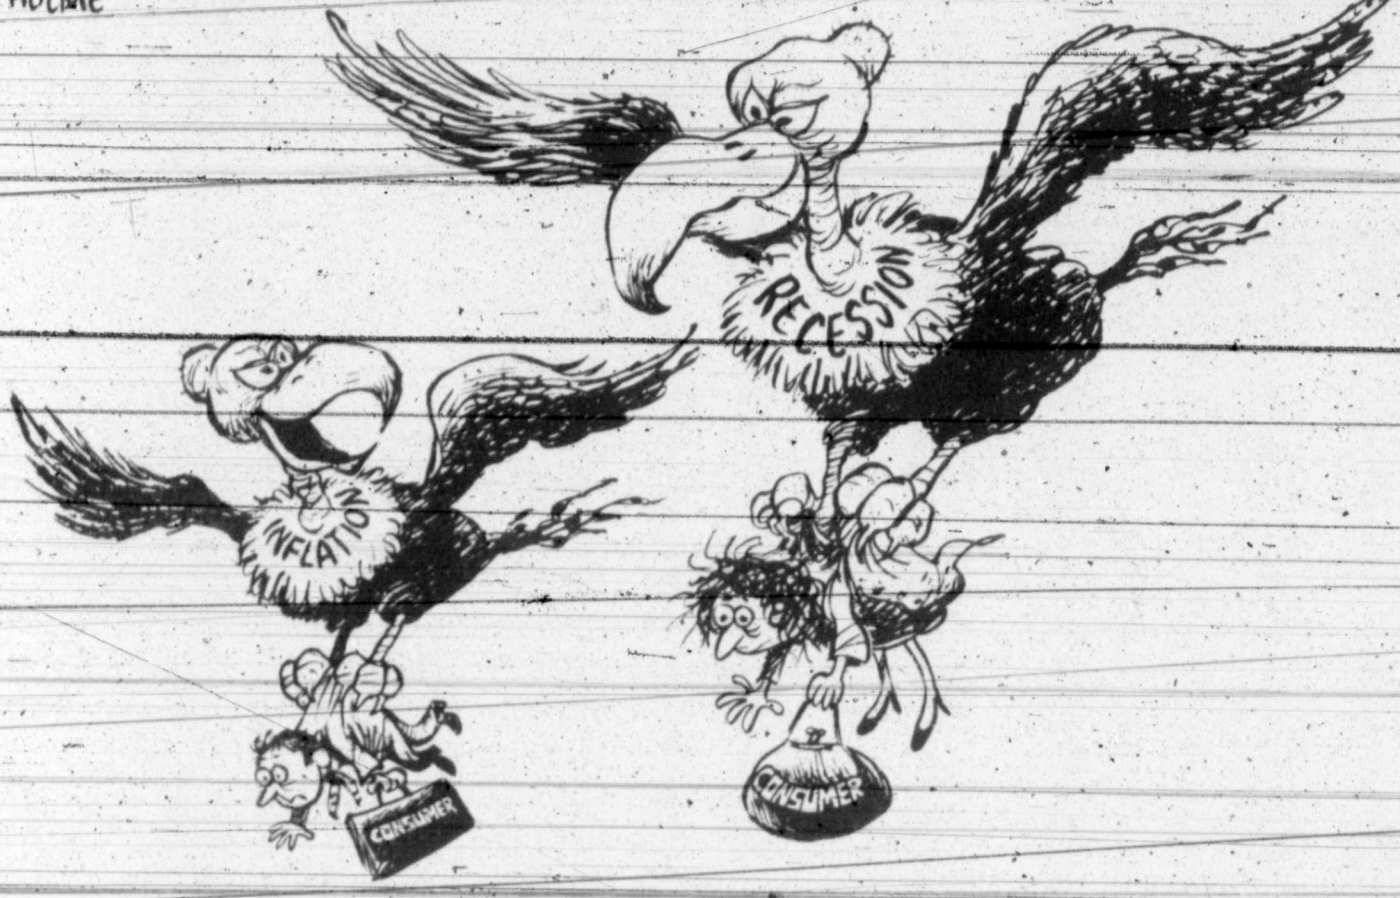

-Metoprolterenol is a cancer-fighting drug introduced in Europe more than 11 years before FDA approval.

The delay in approval of these drugs has caused incredible suffering by people who would otherwise have been treated. And the delay is only half the problem. The cost of winning FDA approval has skyrocketed, up to $50 million in some cases. The extra cost is simply added to the price of the drug and the public ends up picking up the bill.

Consumers and business suffer. Recent studies suggest that the innovation of the pharmaceutical industry has drastically declined because of FDA regulation. Between 1971 and 1973, for example, only 39 percent of the new drugs marketed in the United States originated with American firms. In the three decades before the 1970s 70 percent of this nation's new drugs were a product of domestic research and development.

We agree with Rep. Scheuer that FDA regulation is turning American patients into "second-class patients." It is a crime that citizens of the most technologically advanced nation of the world suffer while citizens of less developed countries are able to receive treatment. Federal drug regulations are adding greatly to the cost and decreasing the scope of drug treatment in this nation.

I've always hated being short. There are a lot of reasons for it.

All the short guys who were supposed to feel secure around me and buzz my house every weekend didn't and never did.

People feel a compulsion to hug you because you remind them of a stuffed animal they had as a child. And every kitchen I've ever owned was built to accommodate Julie Childs (6-2).

It's a tall world and to reinforce my theory, there's a new book coming out next month called "The Height of Your Life," written by Ralph Keyes.

He writes that our height is our destiny and there is a strong and pervasive bias in our society in favor of tall people.

It's true. The more successful you become, the taller people think you are.

The taller you are, the more money you make. Tall women are even more fertile. (Two advantages out of three isn't bad.)

One of the things I never considered until I saw it in print was the relation between height and jobs. If you're short and female this will really frost you.

Miss America's average 5-7 and the contest is gradually swinging toward taller girls year after year, suggesting that the pageant management does not see a short girl as representative of America and its ideals.

Models are traditionally moose-like. One agency said the ideal woman model measures 5-7 to 5-9. I should know. I buy all of her clothes and shorten them.

Tall chorus girls occupy the center of the chorus line and get paid more for being there. The stubbies are put on the ends. One show in Vegas advertises 5-8 and up!

So what are the job opportunities left for short women? According to Mr. Keyes: ballclub mascots. Short people are always needed to fit the chicken outfits.

Psychologists, rock stars, radio and TV reporters, and military heroes. (No wonder they want us for the draft.)

Theatrical agents are usually short, and saints are notoriously built close to the ground. And we all know how many openings there are for saints.

They could add "writer" to the list. Most of us are small in stature, or maybe we just don't bother to stand up. Oh, well, if we write tall, maybe no one will notice.

scoring inflation

NEW YORK (AP)-In announcing his newly conceived attack on rising prices President Carter pointedly referred to severe inflation as a world rather than domestic problem. In some respects he was right.

In Iceland, for example, inflation ranged above 70 percent for the six months to January of this year. In Turkey it topped 100 percent, in Italy more than 21 percent, and in Sweden more than 18 percent.

These figures, from the Paris-based Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, of which the United States and its chief trading partners are members, seem to confirm the president's words.

But among some major economies, the story isn't as clearcut. In Germany, dependent upon imported oil, the rate was only 4 percent, and in Japan, wholly dependent on oil imports, it was just 5.4 percent.

Does this mean the United States was out of step? It appears that way, but some economists insist the United States were merely one step ahead and that others would follow. There appears to be some evidence of it.

In Japan the deterioration was intensifying. Its January rate of 0.9 percent translates to a year's rate of more than 41 percent.

Still, the powerful German economy showed no signs of double-digit inflation in January. Consumer prices rose only 0.5 percent, and the government still hoped to keep the year's rate below 5 percent.

The current U.S. inflation rate is somewhere around 18 percent a year, and rising.

What leaders of Germany and Japan apparently learned in advance of U.S. leadership was the necessity of checking inflationary tendencies before they gathered their own momentum.

It wasn't that Americans weren't aware of the dangers. It was not, as President Carter suggested in his latest anti-inflationary program, "an invisible enemy." It was very visible in every pocketbook.

Just weeks after taking office, Carter revealed a voluntary restraint program, his first of four programs aimed at fighting the "pernicious problem" of inflation.

At the time, inflation was at 6 percent, and the president declared he intended to reduce the annual rate of 4 percent by 1979, primarily through voluntary restraints on prices and wages. Those voluntary restraints, however, never got at the root of the problem. Rather than restraining inflation, the guidelines were shoved along by it. Dozens of reasons can be given for the failure, but one of the best documented of them is that government didn't apply the restraints to itself.

Budget deficits soared when, in theory, an expanding economy should have meant sufficient revenue to reduce them.

my turn

by joann nunley

The definition of a small town in a neighboring newspaper caught my attention recently. Those having lived in a small town sometime in the past can relate to the following.

A small town is where you don't have to guess who your enemies are. You friends will tell you.

The only place where people past middle age are called by their first names when they saunter down the street.

Where, when you get the wrong number on telephone, you can talk for 15 minutes if you want to.

Where it is hard for anybody to walk for exercise because it takes too long to stop and explain to people in cars who stop, honk and offer you a ride.

Where every neighbor becomes a neighbor in the time of need.

Where everyone knows all the news before it is published and they just buy the hometown newspaper to see if the editor gets it right.

Spring is just around the corner and it is important to take the proper steps around the house to insure a safe and comfortable summer.

First, set your thermostat at 78 degrees or higher and leave it. Changing it costs more and wastes energy.

Keep closet doors shut. (Why cool your clothes?) Turn off the range, TV, lamps and other heat producing appliances when not in use.

thoughts

The fall of Jericho was set to music. The marching army was regulated by music. The seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns... blew with the trumpets... Joshua 6:8

Keep heat producing appliances away from the thermostat. Use major heat-producing appliances like washer and dryers during the cooler part of the day. Keep blinds or drapes on windows drawn on sunny days to help keep the heat out. This is important on the west side. Painting the home not only improves the appearance but will seal cracks that may allow cool air to escape, remember light colors reflect more heat than darker ones. Air conditioning equipment serviced once a year could save an expensive repair bill later.

Pre-emptive bids can be two-edged swords. Sometimes they impede the opponents from reaching their proper contract and at other times they give declarer a valuable clue in the play.

South probably should have doubled at his first opportunity, but his three-heart overall struck good support and was raised to game.

The opening club lead was obvious. West switched to a trump at the second trick and declarer drew two rounds with his ace and king.

South hoped for an even division in spades to accommodate his club loser. He played the ace, king and queen of spades, but they failed to split. However, South had another thought. Clubs, because of the bidding and the early defense, were obviously divided seven-one.

What if he played the fourth round of spades and discarded his club loser? West would be left on play with nothing but diamonds to lead. Declarer would lose one club, one spade and only one diamond. Consequently, South led the fourth spade and pitched his club loser on his spade loser, which effectively end played West.

South "guessed" how to play diamonds by having the opponents play them for him.

Cancer Check-Up

It doesn't take much time. It doesn't hurt. But it may save your life from cancer of the cervix. It's a Pap test and the American Cancer Society would like to see every woman have one regularly.

Everyone has a certain risk of developing cancer, says the American Cancer Society. A personal physician can advise what tests should be a part of your regular check-up to provide the best protection against the disease.

Sorority Views Film

Nineteen members of Beta Sigma Phi viewed a film, "The Art of Being Fully Human," for their program at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mona Bryan, program chairman for the evening showed a film "Creators and Receivers." The film showed the creative process which involved reflection of life or urging others toward improvement of life.

Some of the points from the narration of the film were to like yourself before you can expect others to like you; the opposite of love is apathy; if you are bored it is because you are boring; and growth involves risks. The narrator also stated that each one has a magic combination. "Only you have something in your own personality that only you can give," said the narrator. The film was made available by Western Texas College.

President Marie Boone reminded members of the State Convention to be held in Amarillo June 20-22. The next social will be a Las Vegas Night to be held soon at the National Guard Armory.

A garage sale to help defray expenses of the Martha Ann Woman's Club is being planned for Friday, March 21 and all members were asked to

Rabies Vaccinations Slated For Saturday

The Snyder Jaycees are sponsoring a rabies vaccination day Saturday in the agricultural annex on the coliseum grounds. Pet owners are urged to bring their pets by anytime between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Cost will be $5.

Rabies is a viral disease that can infect any warm-blooded animal including humans. The virus causes a disease of the nervous system manifested by changes in behavior preceding paralysis and death. The principal reservoirs of rabies in the U.S. are skunks, raccoons, bats, and foxes.

Rabies is usually spread when a rabid animal bites another, depositing virus from its saliva into the bite wound. However, rabies virus can enter the body through any break in the skin, and through the mucous membranes of the mouth. After entering the body, the rabies virus travels via a series of nerves to the brain. Signs of rabies usually begin between two weeks and two months following infection, but cases have developed after more than one year from contact.

The virus travels from the brain again via a nerve to enter the saliva. This occurs only a few days before clinical onset of the disease, therefore, observation of a dog for 10-15 days after it has inflicted a bite is necessary to make sure it has not transferred the disease. If any animal dies after biting within the 10-day period it is wise to have the brain examined. Your veterinarian or Public Health official will advise you on the proper procedure.

Rabid dogs usually first show changes in behavior. At this time rabies can be difficult to diagnose because the symptoms are so variable. A dog may become restless, insecure, or apprehensive, overly affectionate or shy. Some dogs have a normal appetite while others have to be coaxed to eat. After a few days the animal goes into either the paralytic or furious form.

The furious form of rabies is the "mad dog" form so often written of in literature. Here the dog is aggressive, the face is tense and shows anxiety, the pupils dilate and the dog attacks moving objects. The infected animal is excited and is not aware of fear or enemies.

These are the vicious and deadly roamers which attack other animals, people, or anything that moves. These animals become insensible to pain and if confined, may bite or slash at the bars of their cages. Partial paralysis of the vocal cords results in a change in their voice. As the condition progresses, incoordination and convulsions occur and finally, death.

The paralytic form of rabies, also known as "dumb" rabies may follow the furious form or may be seen by itself. The animal's masseter (jaw) muscles become paralyzed. The dog's mouth hangs open and excessive saliva drips from it. Since such dogs cannot ingest food or water, they become quite dehydrated. Eventually, total paralysis followed by death occurs.

Recovery from rabies is extremely rare. Protect your dog from rabies so you will never have to deal with the problem of owning a rabid animal. Dogs should first be vaccinated against rabies when they are three to four months old. There are several types of vaccines available, but the most commonly used type is a modified live virus which is administered by intramuscular injection, usually into one of the hind legs. Vaccination against rabies is required by state law and state and local laws regulate the frequency of booster vaccination.

If you or your pet are exposed to a rabies suspect, that animal should be confined if possible and turned over to a public health office for rabies quarantine. All bite wounds should be thoroughly washed with large quantities of a harsh alkali soap and water, and should be examined by a doctor.

A person bitten by a rabid animal must submit to the Pasteur treatment, a painful series of 14-21 injections. Whether or not your pet will be quarantined following exposure to a rabies suspect will depend on state and local regulations.

Vaccination of your pet is the only prevention against rabies.

Nine Women Die In Fire
LONDON (AP)—A fire killed nine destitute women Tuesday in a hostel run by the Roman Catholic Missionaries of Charity, the order founded by Nobel Peace Prize winner Mother Teresa of Calcutta, authorities said.

Fire chiefs told a news conference that no nuns died. Earlier, police reported that several nuns were among the victims. Neighbors said they rushed to help as screaming occupants of the hostel for homeless women.

"We are faced with two critical problems today. First, we must improve the quality of teacher education. At the same time, we must assure a steady supply of new teachers, particularly in critical areas of need," Bowen said.

The state will supply funds for about 4,600 additional teachers, the commissioner added. Projections indicate a need for 45 percent more teachers in the kindergarten through sixth grade levels and a need for 55 percent more teachers in grades seven through nine, said Bowen.

He also predicted a drop of 1,300 teachers in grades 10-12.

There will be an even greater demand for teachers trained in specific areas, he said, citing as examples bilingual education, elementary reading, secondary math, secondary science, secondary industrial arts and vocational training.

School districts in the state are also trying to find more men to teach in the elementary grades and more minority teachers.

Teacher Shortage Seen In Mid '80s

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas school districts may have trouble finding the 4,600 additional teachers they will need by the middle of the decade, predicts State Education Commissioner Alton Bowen.

"We have heard and read a great deal about a teacher surplus," Bowen told the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers Thursday. "I believe, as Mark Twain once said about stories of his own death, these reports have been greatly exaggerated."

Bowen said Texas Education Agency projections indicate the public school population will be 3,112,500 in 1984, compared to the current three million students. The student increase will combine with a drop in the number of future teachers now in Texas universities to cause a teacher shortage, he said.

Can't wear soft lenses

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My wife had cataracts removed from both eyes in 1973 and has been wearing soft contact lenses. She is now having difficulty with the inside of the eyelids from the formation of small nodules which the doctor says are caused from an allergy to a protein build up caused by the material in the soft lenses. He wants her to try hard lenses and if that doesn't work he advised her she would have to depend on cataract glasses to see. With all of our modern technology and great medical expertise, we find it hard to believe that there is not a better solution to our problem.

DEAR READER—Isn't it wonderful to be able to choose between having soft contact lenses or the regular hard contact lenses? And beyond that there is still another choice—having a solid lens inserted inside the eyeball itself. There are new contact lenses under development which are still in the experimental stage that may be able to be left in the eyes for days on end.

My advice would be to do as your doctor recommends. If the regular contact lenses are well fitted, your wife may get along with them very well. Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, almost everyone will develop cataracts if they live long enough. It's because of the very nature of regeneration of the lens inside the eye itself. For that reason, I think all mature adults should learn something about cataracts if they aren't already well informed about them.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I think you wrote a column once about people losing weight even if they were on a well-balanced diet and that you said that the disorder could be caused by the food passing through the body too fast.

I'm concerned about my sister who keeps losing weight. She must have lost 25 pounds without trying and she wasn't overweight to begin with. She has been to her doctor and had a complete examination and nothing was wrong. Yet she's so thin and I notice that when she's with me that she makes frequent trips to the bathroom. Could this be a liver disorder? She's 60 and says she's not in pain.

DEAR READER—Weight loss is a symptom and it can be caused by many things. Any of the diseases of the bowel that cause diarrhea or prevent normal absorption of food can cause it.

Another cause is diabetes with loss of lots of calories through the elimination of glucose sugar in the urine. That, by the way, also sends a person to the bathroom frequently.

A variety of infectious diseases may be associated with weight loss and so may an overactive thyroid. It can even be a sign of cancer.

It's very important for someone who has unexplained weight loss to have a complete examination in sufficient detail to find out what the real cause of the weight loss is. I would suggest that your sister should go back to her doctor and see if there are some additional studies that can be done to help solve her dilemma.

Tiger Baseballers To Host Annual Tourney

Snyder's Tigers welcome seven other teams here Friday as the annual Snyder Baseball Tournament begins on Moffett Field. The two-day tournament opens at 10:30 a.m. with Lamesa and Odessa Ecot taking the field. Snyder plays Lubbock Dunbar at 12:30. Winners of the two games will meet at 8:30 Friday evening. Losers vie at 6:30. Friday's afternoon round continues with Lubbock Estacado versus Brownfield at 2:30, followed by Monahans and Levelland at 4:30. Winners vie at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. Losers meet at 9:30. The final rounds begin at 2 p.m. Saturday in a game for seventh place and will be followed at 4 by the consolation match. At 6, a game for third place will be held. The championship match is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Last year's winner was Andrews; Kermil took the runner-up spot while Snyder and Lamesa tied for third place. Snyder hosts Lubbock Coronado and Odessa Ecot in games on March 25 and 28 respectively, and begins District 3 AAA play April 1 against Lamesa. Snyder is the defending district and bi-district champion.

Strong Field Assembles For TPC

PONTE VERDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Not only is it the strongest field assembled thus far this year, it is the strongest field that will be put together anywhere, anytime, for any tournament all season long. For pure strength of playing talent, the 144-man lineup for the Tournament Players Championship will not be matched at the Masters, or the British Open, or the PGA, or the U.S. Open or any other event. It is, quite simply, the strongest possible. It may be the strongest ever.

It includes 143 of the 144 players who have performed the best on the PGA tour for the past 12 months, plus British Open champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain, who received a special invitation to the event that begins Thursday.

The only absentee from the top 143 is former champion Al Geiberger, who is ill. At that time, the event, designed as the annual championship of golf's tournament players, was a traveling affair, shifting locations each season. For the past three years it has been played at Sawgrass, a 7,000-yard links-type layout usually raked by howling winds off the Atlantic. It will be played at Sawgrass again this year, but next season will shift to a permanent home at a new course across the highway at the PGA tour's national headquarters.

The ambitious event, which offers $440,000 in total prizes and $72,000 to the winner, has long range hopes of reaching major tournament status equal to that enjoyed by golf's currently recognized Big Four tournaments, the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Rangers Make It 9 In Row

MIAMI (AP) — Mark Corey hit a long home run in the last of the eighth inning Tuesday, enabling the Baltimore Orioles to hand the winless Texas Rangers their ninth straight exhibition defeat, 4-3.

Corey's 450-foot blast over the left field fence came off Texas right-hander Steve Comer and snapped 3-3 tie. Earlier, the Orioles had battled back from a 3-0 deficit on a two-run single by John Lowenstein in the third inning and Dan Graham's triple in the sixth.

Texas scored all three runs in the first two innings off starter Sammy Stewart, with second baseman Dave Roberts doubling home one of the runs. Richie Zisk also singled home a run and scored another on a fielder's choice. Tim Stoddard, who worked the final 1 1/3 innings was the winning pitcher. The victory boosted the Orioles' spring record to 5-2.

On April 16, 1940, Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians made major league history by pitching a no-hitter on opening day.

Biggest Freshmen Go On Display In NIT Finals

NEW YORK (AP) — Tonight's 43rd National Invitation Tournament final will be a matchup of two schools, two conferences and two of the biggest freshmen in the land—Virginia's Ralph Sampson and Minnesota's Randy Breuer.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson is the headline stealer. He broke the hearts of hundreds of college coaches by signing with Virginia of the basketball mad Atlantic Coast Conference. He made the U.S. Pan-American team before he played college ball. This season he led Virginia in rebounds (11.1), blocked shots (4.7) and his 14.9 points per game was second behind Jeff Lamp.

Sampson is the type of player who makes other people on the team better, said Lamp, who scored 30 points in Virginia's 90-71 romp over Nevada-Las Vegas in the semifinals Monday night.

Swaps Places With Stabler...

Pastorini Surprised By Trade

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Dan Pastorini, although he had asked to be traded several times during a stormy nine-year career with the Houston Oilers, says he was surprised when Bum Phillips finally peddled him to the Oakland Raiders for Ken Stabler.

Asked why he was surprised at the trade when he had asked for it, Pastorini said "I asked to be traded only if the situation couldn't be worked out. Obviously, it couldn't." Pastorini's latest trade demand came in January when the Oilers refused his requests refused to renegotiate his six-year contract or allow him to enter drag racing events.

"It's kind of difficult to be talking about something you never thought would take place," Pastorini said Tuesday. "But in this business you have to learn to expect anything." The gifted veteran said when the deal finally came through, he had second thoughts about leaving the Oilers.

"I've spent one-third of my life here," he said. "I came here as a puppy at age 21 and now I'm leaving as an old man, a little older and wiser and more mature. "It's been a long and winding road. When you Fans at Madison Square Garden saw Sampson's brand of destruction as he scored 26 points, picked off 15 rebounds and blocked four shots. That effort prompted the typical post-game speculation "Would he or wouldn't he turn pro after the season? A headline in a New York newspaper Tuesday screamed that he might.

"I guess you have to have headlines," Virginia Coach Terry Holland said at a Tuesday press conference, also attended by Lamp and Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher. Ralph's very honest and if you ask him that question enough different ways, he's bound to say that he'd have to consider it (the pros). But he's told us that he'll stay with us at least another year before he seriously considers it." Breuer, on the other hand, is not causing the pro scouts to swallow their whistles. Playing behind top-notch center, senior Kevin McHale—who also played on Bobby Knight's victorious Pan-Am team last summer—Breuer has not gotten that much publicity.

The 7-2 Breuer came out of a small high school in Minnesota, and Dutcher said his main recruiting competition came from Big Ten rivals Wisconsin and Iowa. Breuer declared his intention to go to Minnesota early, so there was no recruiting war and no headlines.

"Minnesota is the only Division I school in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota," Dutcher said. "There are no pro teams, either, so we're the franchise for the area. If we want a kid from our area, we get him." Because Breuer played for a small high school and was not severely tested, Dutcher brought his big freshman along slowly this season. He has played 16 minutes a game, gaining confidence while averaging 7.6 points and 3.0 rebounds.

"He's come along faster than we could have hoped," said Dutcher. In Minnesota's 65-63 victory over Illinois in the semifinals Monday night, Breuer came off the bench to score a season-high 24 points and pull down nine rebounds. He took over the center spot and was flanked by McHale and 6-10 Gary Holmes.

Dutcher likes Breuer coming off the bench so he won't start. But the coach thinks whether McHale or Breuer opposes Sampson, the game will center around this matchup. "That'll be the one, offensively and defensively," Dutcher said.

Post-Olympic Festival Plans Spark Disputes

By The Associated Press Progress in mapping plans for a post-Olympic international sports festival has been termed satisfactory by a special envoy for President Carter, while the Soviets say such efforts have ended in failure because of the absence of key European allies.

Lloyd Cutler, a White House counsel, said Tuesday after closed-door talks in Geneva, Switzerland, among representatives of 12 countries that the proposed late-summer festival for "world-class athletes" could be held in several venues throughout the world. Events covering virtually all of the 21 Summer Olympic sports would be open to all countries, regardless of whether they boycotted the Games in Moscow.

The Carter administration is encouraging a boycott of the Olympics because of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, although the International Olympic Committee opposes such a move. But Cutler said, "There will be nothing (in the festival) that would be in any way harmful to the future of the Olympic movement."

The presidential envoy said he was "satisfied" with progress achieved at the Geneva meetings. However, the Soviet news agency Tass said the United States has failed to draw "even a small number" of states to the meetings, and specifically pointed to the absence of West Germany, France and Italy from the talks. Tass said the meetings "ended in total failure."

Breaking a near-complete silence on the boycott issue by top Soviet leaders, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the Washington's anti-Olympic campaign was an example of American efforts to sow worldwide confusion.

The meeting was attended by Australia, Great Britain, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Kenya, The Netherlands, Portugal, Costa Rica, Canada, the Dominican Republic and the Philippines.

Cutler reiterated that the United States was confident that many sporting nations would participate in the boycott and that it was necessary to offer top athletes of these countries other top-level opportunities to compete. In other Olympic developments:

—The British House of Commons has voted 315-147 in support of a boycott, but British sports officials vowed Tuesday to send a team to Moscow anyway.

Sir Denis Follows, chairman of the British Olympic Association said that rather than submit to a boycott, "feelings of my committee have been rather stiffened by government pressures."

—The chairman of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, Peter Ueberroth, said Tuesday he believes the United States will not boycott the summer Games.

Ueberroth said the key date is May 24 and the Soviet government "will take some action by that date which will make it possible for us to compete in Moscow this summer." May 24 is the deadline for countries to enter the Olympics.

Baseball Talks Drop Pay Item

NEW YORK (AP)—With dramatic suddenness, negotiators for major league baseball have dropped one of their key proposals in an attempt to reach contract peace with the players.

But there is some question how much effect Tuesday's withdrawal of the proposed salary scales will really have on the so-far stalled talks.

"It's a little like you've been beating your wife and children for years," noted Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association. "then you stop and now you want a medal because you stopped."

A medal isn't necessary, but Ray Grebey, chief negotiator for the owners, would like a contract agreement and he believes the movement in talks Tuesday set the stage for that.

Asked if he considered the proposal's withdrawal a breakthrough, Grebey said, "I never use descriptive adjectives."

But it was clear that Grebey felt progress had been made in the 3 1/2-hour meeting in Fort Lauderdale the final negotiating session in Florida. The two sides will next meet again Wednesday, March 26 in Scottsdale, Ariz.

"We feel it's enough of a development to provide a settlement," Grebey said. "But that may not be the view of the players. From the start they have considered the free-agent compensation proposal a more dangerous part of the owners' package that the salary scales."

Sluggish Westerners Overcome NIC, 108-94

BY BILL McCLELLAN HUTCHINSON, Kan.—You had to read it in the program to believe it. The Green and White team out on the floor here last night was undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the nation. You couldn't tell from the way they played. "We didn't play up to our capabilities, but that happens every once in a while," agreed Coach Nolan Richardson after his Westerners rallied to hold off an upset-hopeful North Idaho College team, 108-94.

These are class players, though. I think you'll see them up and ready by Thursday. The Westerners, 34-0, take on Lincoln College of Lincoln, Ill., an 89-77 winner over Kansas' Cloud County College, at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in quarterfinals action of the NJCAA National Basketball Tournament.

Defending champion Three Rivers of Popular Bluff, Mo., behind 21 points from Tony Wallace and 19 from Marvin McCrary, cruised past Middle Georgia 80-67 in another.

In other first-round games, Jefferson State, Ala., took a 75-70 decision from Monroe, N.Y.; Yavapai, Ariz., downed Northeastern Colorado 60-49, and Anderson, S.C., bombed Northwest Mississippi 93-62.

First-round action concluded today with Baltimore vs. Westark, Ark., and Tyler, Texas, vs. Westchester, N.Y.

Tonight's schedule pits Northeastern Colorado against Middle Georgia in a losers' bracket game, and Yavapai against Three Rivers and Jefferson State against Anderson in second-round winners' bracket play.

Three Rivers, 34-4, used a second-half delay game to wear down Middle Georgia, 29-5.

Lincoln got 20 points from Julius Poinsette and 16 from Mike Goeken to down Cloud County, now 25-8, and boost its record to 28-7.

Jefferson State, 22-9, hit eight straight free throws down the stretch to hold off Monroe, which suffered its sixth loss against 28 victories.

Yavapai, 22-12, also went to a delay game after building a 28-20 halftime lead against Northeastern Colorado, 27-9.

Anderson, 22-5, got 22 points from Aaron Douglas against Northwest Mississippi, which fell to 28-5.

North Idaho out-rebounded the Westerners, 50-42 for the game and outshot them 57 percent to 50 percent in the final 20 minutes. Richardson's charges, playing without their normal zip, committed 22 turnovers—almost 13 more than their average.

After igniting for 11 straight points late in the first half to take a 51-35 lead, the Westerners had to come up with a similar feat late in the game to win in the first round of the tournament.

North Idaho, led by 6-1 guard Claude Butler, ripped off seven consecutive points early in the second period and out-scored WTC 17-4 at one time to get back in the contest.

The Cardinals then hung on, pulling within two points on several occasions before Ronald Portee, Bill Patterson and David Brown hit for seven more WTC points with 4:57 showing on the clock.

WTC's 93-82 lead was whittled back to five, 93-88, but Patterson and Brown again hit buckets in the clutch, giving the Snyder-based college a seven-point lead with less than three minutes to play.

From that point on, it was a matter of free throws. WTC converted nine of nine in the final 1:14 as Idaho tried desperation fouling in an attempt to get back into the game.

Western Texas' depth was the largest single factor in the game. Although North Idaho had 31 fouls to the Westerners' 20, most of that difference came late in the contest.

WTC played nine athletes in the game, while NIC sent only six or seven on the floor early. As a result, infractions charged to the Westerners were spread among a number of players, while the Cardinal team soon found itself in foul trouble.

North Idaho's inside threat, 6-10 freshman Greg Wiltjer, had three fouls in the first half, along with teammate Butler, and Phil Spradling and Patterson of the Westerners.

Wiltjer got his fourth foul early in the second half and fouled out with 13:31 still left in the game.

Butler, who had only two points in the first 20 minutes of play, tried to make up for the loss, but the task was too much to ask of the smaller man. He did wind up with 20 points in the game and with good outside shooting helped open up the middle to some extent in the second half.

With 5:34 remaining, Jerry Brittain got his fifth infraction. John Bell, who talked 18 points for the night, was the next to go, only 20 seconds after Brittain was waved off the floor.

Not having the three, which made up 46 of NIC's 94 points for the night, drastically cut the Cardinals' firepower, and replacements Bill Dougherty, Jim Barstow and Kerry Schierman were unable to take up the slack.

Meanwhile, Brown paced WTC's second half effort with 14 points giving him game high of 22.

Patterson and Paul Pressey got eight each half for totals of 16, while Greg Stewart came away with 17.

Patterson was the only Westerner to foul out. It was Patterson, a 6-4 sophomore, who had tied the score at 27-27 in the first half after NIC had taken a 25-19 lead. He added four points to Western Texas' 11-point surge just before half-time, which temporarily left the Westerners in good shape.

WTC 108, NIC 94
WTC—Davis 2-7, 2-2, 0-8; Patterson 7-11, 2-4, 5-16; Stewart 5-6, 7-11, 2-17; Bennett 2-5, 4-4, 2-8;

Portee 1-5, 3-6, 3-7; Spradling 6-12, 2-3, 4-14; Brown 8-12, 6-8, 3-22; Pressey 5-13, 6-7, 1-16; Warren 0-1, 0-0, 0-0. Totals 37-72, 34-45, 20, 108.

Receivership For Raiders Sought

OAKLAND (AP)—In a move believed to set a precedent in sports, the National Football League is asking a court to put the Oakland Raiders in receivership until the battle over the team's proposed move to Los Angeles is over.

The motion was made late Monday in Alameda County Superior Court as part of a breach of contract suit filed against the team by the league. A tentative hearing is set for March 28 before Judge Robert Kroninger.

The action comes on the heels of a 22-0 vote by the NFL against allowing managing general partner Al Davis to move his team south. The NFL had previously won a temporary restraining order against the Raider move.

"How can they put me into receivership? I am not a mental incompetent," Davis said at last week's NFL meetings in Rancho Mirage, Calif.

In the motion to establish a receivership, the NFL asked Judge Kroninger to allow the temporary operators to sign a lease with the Oakland Coliseum for home games in 1980. The receivership would be allowed to take over all the Raider property, sell tickets for the 1980 season, sign radio and television contracts and discipline any employee who did not follow orders.

"Our concern is to maintain the status quo," said Warren George, an NFL attorney. "We're concerned that if one side wins in court that they actually will have won nothing."

Raider attorney Joe Alioto was not available for comment.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors Tuesday voted to delay, at least until April 1, any consideration of the proposed county loan of $5 million to help finance the Raiders' move.

The decision apparently spells the end of plans to refurbish the Coliseum until after the 1980 season.

Brooks scored a career total of 2,628 points, averaging 23.1 points a game, and hauled in 1,372 rebounds, making him one of the few players in National Collegiate Athletic Association history to reach 4,000 in combined points and rebounds.

Astros Lose Game, Walling

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—The Houston Astros lost a four-run lead and outfielder Denny Walling Tuesday in a 5-4 exhibition baseball loss to the Detroit Tigers.

The Astros took a 4-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Terry Puhl, Walling, Jeff Leonard and Julio Gonzales.

Detroit's first three runs were unearned, the result of errors by catcher Luis Pujols and second baseman Rafael Landestoy.

The Tigers won it with two runs in the ninth inning on a single by Lynn Jones and a bases loaded sacrifice fly by Dave Stegman.

Walling, the team's leading hitter with a .327 average last season, was lost for seven to 10 days with a hand laceration suffered while running the bases.

Ag Day To Make More Aware Of Farm Issues

"Thought for Food" is 1980's theme for Agriculture Day, Thursday sponsored by the non-profit Agriculture Day Foundation to salute agri-business and make the non-farming consumer aware of agriculture's importance, according to Roy Kidd, owner of Snyder, Truck and Tractor.

"Ag Day's purpose is to make the 96 percent of the American population that doesn't farm aware of the challenges facing agriculture and its impact on all of our lives," said Kidd. "Consumers must be made aware of pressing farm issues, such as inflation, fuel shortages, environmental pressures, marketing and shrinking farm land, and the impact these issues have on each individual's life," he said.

"Although only 4 percent of the American population actually farms, four out of 10 working Americans are involved in the food and fiber production and distribution chain. American agriculture has assets nearly equal to the total assets of all the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange ($790 billion) and is the nation's largest employer.

Across the nation, activities to help increase "ag-awareness" such as shopping mail displays, radio and television interviews, and ag equipment parades are being planned by farm, youth civic and agribusiness groups.

Besides highlighting the livelihoods of food and fiber and stressing that agriculture is the basis of the American way of life, Ag Day 1980 will focus on five major themes in a nationwide public service campaign. One theme contrasts a fighter plane and a tractor, stressing the thought "the best way to keep the peace is to have the most tractors."

America's agriculture is her "biggest stick." No other country has an agricultural capacity to match American soil, climate and advanced technology - in fact, one American farmer alone produces enough food to feed 65 others, he added.

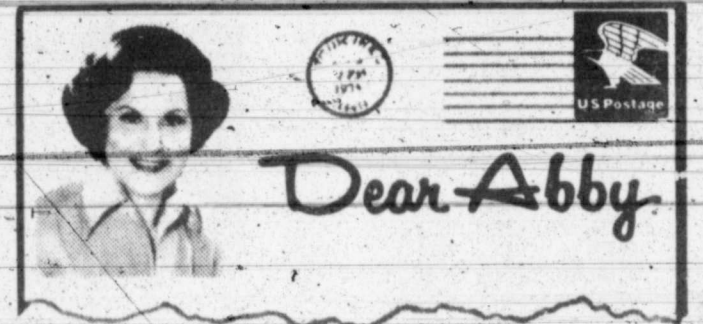

"As the current world's population explodes, most countries are unable to meet their food demands. They lack either land or technology or both. If the food poor and people rich countries can buy American military technology, they can certainly afford to buy its food," he explained.

The third Madison Square Garden, in operation from November 1925, to February 1968, attracted 250 million customers for 144 different types of events.

JUST PEDALLING THROUGH-Snyder seems to be in the path of more and more cross-country bicyclists these days. Pedalling in from Florida and on their way to California and then to Massachusetts last week were three four young men. They expect to be back home in June. From the left are, Steve and Jeff Kocur, both school teachers; Lou Spencer, college student; and Bruce Penny, auto mechanic. (SDN Staff Photo)

'Take-home' Doesn't Pay

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday my children were given "goodies" to play with that were taken from our hostess' place of employment. She has all sorts of little odds and ends at her house that she frankly admits she's taken from where she works. She makes no secret of the fact that she just helps herself.

She inherited this trait from her father, and she's passed it on to her children. Most of these "bonuses" are relatively inexpensive items, but when you keep taking little things every day, over a period of time they add up.

Perhaps a mention in your column about employee pilfering, which is not uncommon, will wake a few people up. Thanks.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: "Employee pilfering" is a high-sounding euphemism for stealing - a billion-dollar international disease - for which we, the consumers, pay. If anyone out there has a solution, short of frisking and X-raying every employee as he leaves his job, please submit it. (P.S. Correction: Character deficiencies are cultivated not inherited.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in the wholesale carpet business. When so-called friends show us carpet they just had installed, tell us what they paid for it and then ask if we think they got a good deal, what should we say?

Nine times out of 10 we could have given them a better deal, and that is what I tell them.

Later my husband and I argue about this; he says, "Never knock the competition - regardless."

Abby, these same people never even come into our store to see what we have, or to compare prices. I say why should we consider their feelings when they never consider ours? THE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I vote with your husband. Never knock the competition. And that goes for people in the clothing, furniture, jewelry and every other kind of business. If you tell someone they got a bad deal they'll think you're talking from sour grapes.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the comments of HALF A LOAF IN PORTLAND - the woman who had a 30-year romance going with a married man whose wife wouldn't give him a divorce.

Well, I know how she feels, because I've been part of a triangle for a year and a half and I hope it lasts forever.

If I'm getting his wife's leftovers, perhaps she is keeping the bone and throwing away the steak.

This man is my dearest friend as well as my lover. Never have I derived so much strength, support, peace and contentment from a relationship.

I'm no child. I'm 40, been divorced for six years and have children. I have a job I love, and earn enough to support myself and family.

This man isn't the only man I could get - he's the only man I want. He will not divorce his wife. She needs him to survive. She's been his wife for 20 years and doesn't know how to be anything else.

I wish he were all mine, but he isn't, and I have no desire to break up a family. Nobody has everything, and I, too, am happy with half a loaf. Sign me ...

Two Mishaps Reported Here

Two minor traffic accidents have been investigated by officers of the city police department.

The first, a hit and run, was reported at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday at Snyder High School. It involved, according to a report filed by investigating officer Don Cheek, a 1965 Chevrolet owned by Billy Sharron and a vehicle which left the scene.

The second accident was at 12:50 a.m. today at 2700 Ave. G. There, a 1974 Pontiac driven by Lesa Minyard struck a parked trailer owned by Pettit Blackburn Equipment Co. of Hugo, Okla.

Goodfellow

May Not Lose, Says Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lloyd Bentsen said Tuesday the Air Training Command has advised him it has proposed that Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo should not be closed.

A final decision on an Air Force proposal made last year to move Goodfellow operations to bases in two other states is pending while an environmental impact statement is completed.

The Air Training Command has its headquarters at Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Bentsen, D-Texas, said the command also has recommended that all bases under its jurisdiction should remain open.

OBITUARIES

Hough Rites

ODESSA—Services for Wesley Hough, 71, former owner of an automotive paint and body shop in Snyder, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in the chapel of Easterling-Wilson Funeral Home. Rev. James Abbernathy of Crescent Park Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be at 2 p.m. in Fairview Cemetery in Pecos.

Mr. Hough died Monday in Medical Center Hospital after a long illness. He had moved to Odessa two years ago from Weatherford.

He is survived by one son, Clarence Hough of Danbury, Conn.; two daughters, Mrs. J.L. (Doris) Bunch and Mrs. Lonnie (Norma) Young, both of Odessa; one sister, Mrs. Ola Mae Powell of Brownfield; two brothers, J.W. Hough and Bobby Hough, both of Lubbock; 11 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Chas. Winston

Charles K. Winston, 86, a former Scurry County resident, died Tuesday afternoon at his home in Denton after suffering a heart attack.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the chapel of First Baptist Church in Denton.

Mr. Winston, a former teacher in Scurry County schools, is survived by his wife, Leah; three sons, a daughter and two sisters. Also surviving are a number of nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Scott Casey and Mrs. Sam Joyce. He was the brother of the late Wade Winston and Harrie Winston of Snyder.

HOME DESTROYED—The sputtering jet of water shows the utility which faced Snyder firefighters as they were forced to watch the rural home of Forrest Wemken burn to the ground for lack of adequate water supplies. As soon as the fire appeared to be under control, the fire truck's water supply would be drained and the truck would have to leave the scene to tank up again at a hydrant down the road. The house is located at Dunn. The fire was reported at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday. (SDN Staff Photo By John Long)

New Community Program Forming

"Just about everyone has some concern in helping newly widowed persons, but few are able to deal specifically with the long term needs of widowed people," according to Marsha Krenek, RSVP director. "That is why we are working with the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons to organize, with community help, a program to assist newly widowed persons through one of life's major crisis."

Irvin Gourley, from the AARP district office in El Paso, will be speaking at a luncheon Thursday concerning the needs of widowed persons.

Any organization, church, or interested group concerned with helping widowed people is invited to the luncheon at 1 p.m. Thursday, March 20 at The Shack. Reservations can be made by calling Betty Doan, RSVP coordinator, at 573-0144.

The Widow to Widow Service, offers group sessions, public education, and referral service. "All services are free to newly widowed people of any age and either sex. The workers are trained volunteer aides who are or have been widowed and have made the adjustments to living alone," said Mrs. Krenek. "This is an exciting new program to be associated with and we are expecting wide community interest to help start the program, she said.

ABC Wins Weekly Ratings Race

ONE OF A DYING BREED. Harvey Hatfield has made his living for 55 years as a fisherman and trapper along the Mississippi River. He figures that the pelt from this 50-pound beaver will bring him up to $25. In a recent three-day period, Hatfield gathered 18 muskrats, nine raccoons and one beaver.

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS posted six of the week's 10 highest-rated programs and took first place with "60 Minutes" but lost the networks' three-way race to ABC for the first time since the Winter Olympics, according to the latest A.C. Nielsen Co. survey.

CBS had been building momentum in the ratings competition during the early part of the year, but ABC took charge in mid-February with broadcasts of the Winter Olympics from Lake Placid, N.Y. CBS had resumed its challenge to ABC's supremacy two weeks ago.

Even though it had only two programs in the Nielsen's Top 10 for the week ending March 16, ABC finished the most recent survey with a rating of 18.6 to 18.3 for CBS. NBC was third at 17.4.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 18.6 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to ABC.

ABC's lead over CBS for the season to date is two-tenths of a point. NBC's top-rated program was "Real People," No. 5 in the ratings, with ABC's best for the week, "Three's Company," in seventh place. That's incredible, ABC's answer to "Real People," was No. 10.

The rating for "60 Minutes," the season's No. 1 program, was 28.8. Nielsen says that means of all the TV-equipped homes in the country, 28.8 percent saw at least part of the show. It was the third time in two months that the news shows was the most watched in the nation.

It was a week of specials and premieres, and nearly all of them struggled in the ratings.

A special preview of NBC's "Facts of Life," was No. 16, with the regular Friday night show "The American Film Institute Salute to James Stewart" on CBS was No. 26, with ABC's first-run airing of the movie "Force 10 from Navarone" 31st and NBC's special Sunday night premiere of "From Here to Eternity," a new series, was 44th.

The premiere episode of NBC's "Sanford" finished 36th, "United States," also from NBC, was 47th, and "Here's Boomer," another new offering from NBC 49th. The premiere of ABC's "When the Whistle Blows" was No. 55.

CBS and NBC each had two programs among the five lowest-rated, with "Pink Lady and Jeff" from NBC 55th, followed by CBS' "Beyond Westworld," ABC's "One in a Million," "Never Say Never" from CBS and NBC's "Best of Saturday Night Live."

The week's Top 10 programs: "60 Minutes," with a rating of 28.8 representing 77 million homes, "Dukes of Hazzard," and "M-A-S-H," both 26.9 or 20.5 million, and "Alice," 26.6 or 20.3 million, all CBS, "Real People," 26.5 or 20.2 million, NBC, "Dallas," 25.7 or 21.1

million, CBS, "Three's Company," 24.9 or 19 million, ABC, "One Day at a Time," 24.5 or 18.7 million, CBS, "Diff'rent Strokes," 24.4 or 18.6 million, NBC, and "That's Incredible," 23.6 or 18 million, ABC.

The last year the $1 double-eagle gold pieces and the $10 eagles were minted in the United States was 1933. Gold was valued at about $20 an ounce up to then and had been since 1717 when Sir Isaac Newton, the master of the British Mint, established the equivalent prices.

It's time to grow up

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR BLAKER: Two months ago my father gave us his 1965 Ford. My wife and I were thrilled because it was in perfect condition. Besides, we needed a second car now that she is working full time.

But my father is still too involved with the car. He was so careful about its upkeep for 15 years that he can't stand to think we might allow it to get run-down.

Two weeks ago the car was stolen from our driveway. I thought my father was going to have a heart attack. He didn't even feel better after it was returned by the police later in the week with extensive damage to its interior upholstery.

I was planning merely to have the damage repaired, but my father thinks I should rip off the insurance company by having some other things unrelated to the theft fixed at the same time.

Furthermore, he feels I am not aggressive enough to handle that kind of wheeling and dealing. He wants to fly here to do it himself.

Now the problem is who should pay for the plane ticket.

DEAR READER — I don't think that is the problem. When your father gave you the car, did he transfer the ownership papers to you? All of you are reacting as if the car still belongs to him.

As long as that is the case, he will continue to be a controlling force in your life. Paying for the plane ticket will indicate to him that you agree with his right to be involved.

The car belongs to you. Why shouldn't you handle the insurance company by yourself?

Could it be that you feel guilty about the circumstances surrounding the theft of the car? Were you in some way responsible? Were the keys left in the car, for example?

That could set up a situation in which you feel you deserve some punishment from Daddy. Perhaps you think he should come and take away the responsibility you seem to have fumbled.

If you do not feel guilty about the theft of the car, the problem may be that you generally feel inadequate and inferior to your father.

In any event, your way of handling the insurance company sounds superior to his. It's too bad he can even make you feel guilty about being honest.

Somehow your father has given the message that you cannot be a man unless you are a manipulator. And you bought it hook, line and sinker.

Get off the hook. Be your own person. Stand up to your father.

Clear up the ownership of the car. Return it if he wants to control its maintenance.

You don't need that kind of aggravation.

My hunch is that he will let you take over — but not without offering a comment at every turn.

Snyderites Charged In Tax Case

LUBBOCK — A six-count information was filed March 17 in the Federal District Court of Lubbock, charging Sherman H. and Lupe Merritt of Snyder with failing to file their 1973, 1974 and 1975 Federal Income Tax returns. They are charged with three counts each of willfully failing to file tax returns.

The maximum penalty for violations of Sec. 7203 of the Internal Revenue Code, failure to file, is one year in prison or $10,000 fine, or both, together with the costs of prosecution of each count. The maximum penalty to which Sherman and Lupe Merritt are subject under this information is three years in prison and a $30,000 fine each.

The investigation was conducted by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service in Lubbock.

One legend says the world's first gold coin was struck by King Croesus of Lydia about 550 B.C. Another legend says it was struck by King Gyges, who ruled the same land which now is part of Turkey, about 100 years earlier.
