India Recognizes PLO

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India extended full diplomatic recognition today to the Palestine Liberation Organization, External Affairs Minister P.V.N. Rao told members of Parliament, who reacted with cheers.
He also said PLO leader Yasser Arafat would arrive in India on Friday for a two-day visit at the invitation of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

SS Tax Freeze Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Budget Committee, backed by a Senate directive to end budget deficits, is drafting a 1981 federal spending plan that may allow a partial freeze on Social Security taxes.
Preparing for the start of the panel's work today, the Senate served notice Tuesday that there is a limit to how deeply it will slash spending to battle inflation, turning back a Republican plan to tie federal spending to the Gross National Product.

Kennedy Challenge Renewed

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy won a new lease on his challenge for the White House with a surprise landslide over President Carter in New York and another upset in Connecticut. But he still is campaigning against long odds.
Republican Ronald Reagan padded his hefty Republican lead, winning big in New York on Tuesday while losing to George Bush in Connecticut.
Kennedy's first primary victories outside his own Massachusetts came just as the Carter camp was gaining support for its less-than-subtle suggestions that the time had come for Kennedy to quit and help Democrats unite behind the president.

Pope To Tour Africa

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John Paul II announced today he will make a six-nation tour of Africa, to pay homage to what he called that "dear continent."
The trip will last from May 2-12, and include stops in Zaire, the Congo, Kenya, Ghana, Upper Volta and the Ivory Coast.
"I am happy to make this announcement," the white-robed pontiff told some 10,000 pilgrims and tourists gathered in the Paul VI Hall for his weekly general audience, moved inside from St. Peter's Square because of rain.

Federal bureaus work hard at enforcing untold numbers of regulations on business and individuals, but they are known to overlook glaring violations in their own backyards.

For example, we saw a report the other day that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) which serves as a watchdog over just about everything we eat, drink, wear and breathe has been spewing cancer-causing chemicals into the air from its own laboratories in Washington, D.C.

Officials of the agency reportedly admitted to discharging more than 38 pounds of toxic and carcinogenic chemicals into the air, but claimed that such amounts were not a threat to public health and safety.

However, a Congressman suggested that it was somewhat out of character for the FDA to say that there is nothing wrong with a little poison.

One of the most interesting stories concerning the nation's economy involved a project of the Economic Development Administration. It seems a plush community center was constructed in a Michigan rural area. However, nothing was ever moved into the building and it was never used. Some three years later, a woodsman discovered that the building had collapsed, apparently crushed by heavy snows. An EDA official expressed regret over the incident, but said it had served a useful purpose. He said a major goal had been to provide jobs and that this goal had been met when the building was constructed.

Suggestions that federal revenue sharing funds be halted have frightened a lot of cities and counties that have cranked these funds into the operations budgets. Fortunately, both Snyder and Scurry County have treated these funds as extra income and used them for permanent improvements rather than to take care of the day-to-day costs of running local governments, such as salaries, etc.

Hopes Rise For Bogota Captives

BOGOTÁ, Colombia (AP)—With more negotiations scheduled today and three more hostages freed, there were increasing hopes of improved prospects for the release of the remaining 29 captives in the Dominican Republic's Embassy. But a Foreign Ministry official said the end of the siege was not yet in sight.
The feeling of optimism was enhanced by the smiles and handshakes that followed the last negotiating session Monday between representatives of the government and the guerrillas who took over the embassy four weeks ago.

Absentee Vote Period At Mid-Point Brother Visiting Exchange Student

Absentee voting, which began March 17 for city and school elections, will continue through April 1. So far, 30 absentee votes have been cast in the school election and 14 in the city election. The school's absentee clerk also has recorded eight absentee votes in the junior college district election.

Voters were being reminded that the election day falls on the Easter weekend, which also is the beginning of the spring break for Snyder Public Schools.

There are two contested races and one uncontested race for school board posts. The city ballot has three contested races for council posts and an uncontested race for mayor. There are three uncontested races on the junior college district ballot.

Absentee voting is being conducted at city hall for the city election and at the school administration building for the school and college elections.

Says Powell...

Proposed Budget Cut Target Upped

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration's proposed budget cuts for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 will be "significantly greater" than the $13 billion previously targeted, White House press secretary Jody Powell said today.
Powell indicated the cuts would be closer to the $16-billion cut that has emerged in the House and Senate.

The spokesman commented after President Carter told a group of key senators that the administration and Congress have made "remarkable progress" toward agreement on a balanced budget but that more work is needed.
Carter's meeting with Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd and members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said: "I have no doubt that Bruno Donadei of Bern, Switzerland, had to make quite a journey to visit his sister, but now that he has made it, there's lots of catching up to do.

Bruno is the brother of Sylvia Donadei, the foreign exchange student who is attending Snyder High School this school year.

Her 16½-year-old brother graduated last spring from his high school in Bern and he set out on a tour recently during from his apprentice assignment.
He spent five days touring New York prior to his arrival last Sunday in Snyder, and he plans to return to his home in Bern on Sunday.

In Snyder, Bruho is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter, who are hosts for his sister during her stay here as an American Field Service Exchange student.
He arrived in Snyder just in time for a spring dust storm, but didn't seem too concerned about it. A number of activities planned in advance for his visit here are keeping him busy and he and his sister have a lot to talk about. They have another 13-year-old brother at home in Switzerland.

Snow Spreads From Rockies To Plains

By The Associated Press
Snow spread from the Rockies into the western Plains this morning while a band of rain and thundershowers extended from the lower Rio Grande Valley and the Texas Gulf Coast into lower Mississippi.
Light rain was scattered over southern New England and showers and thundershowers covered southern California.
The western storm brought light snow into the high desert regions of California. The National Weather Service said it was unusual but not unheard of.

Light thundershowers fell late Tuesday afternoon to produce the first rainfall to be measured here in more than a month.
The official gauge at the city water treatment plant measured .21. The showers were scattered, ranging from a trace to unofficial reports of more than a quarter of an inch in the immediate Snyder area.

The last rainfall measured in the official gauge prior to Tuesday was .02 inch which fell on Feb. 17. Tuesday's showers increased the year's total rainfall here to 1.24 inches.

Carter reminded the lawmakers: "You've got 40 working days...between now and July 4th recess, which precedes the Republican convention, and after the conventions only a few working days before Congress will adjourn. So it's going to require a major team effort."

Most On Council Want Trial For Iran's Hostages

By The Associated Press
The majority of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council wants to put the American hostages on trial if the shah and his fortune are not returned to Iran. Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, Iran's justice minister and the council's first secretary, said today.

He also told reporters at his weekly news conference in Tehran that he advocates breaking diplomatic relations with the United States.

Beheshti said trying the hostages is "the general idea in Iran" and most members of the Revolutionary Council are behind it if the shah is not brought back to stand trial for his alleged crimes. The ailing shah escaped extradition proceedings in Panama and flew Monday to Egypt, where he is hospitalized.

Beheshti was the second major leader of the revolutionary regime this week to advocate trying the hostages because the shah had been allowed to leave Panama. The threat of such trials was raised often after young militants seized the U.S. Embassy last Nov. 4 but had not been made for several months. It was revived on Monday by Ayatollah

Sadegh Khalkhali, a leading revolutionary and former chief judge, who said after the new Iranian parliament meets, those Americans accused of being spies would be judged by revolutionary courts and sent to prison if found guilty, while the others would be freed.

However, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said on Tuesday there were no plans to try the Americans.

Inmates Free 5 Jail Guards

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Five Essex County Jail guards were released today after being held hostage for more than 13 hours by inmates who took over two floors of the facility and threatened to throw hostages out of a 10th-floor window.

One was taken out of the jail on a stretcher. A sixth hostage, who authorities said was severely beaten, was released Tuesday night.

One guard was dangled from the window before the incident ended. The siege started at 2:40 p.m. Tuesday after corrections officer John Belcher, was arrested on charges he smuggled the gun into the jail, said Essex County Prosecutor Donald Coburn.

The captured guards were released as the inmates were transferred to detention cells under a settlement reached by a team of negotiators, including two New York television newsmen.

"At approximately 6:10 a.m. we finally ended the negotiations and had the last of the hostages brought down," Coburn said.

Inmates were escorted in groups of four from the scene of the takeover to the women's floor. The hostages followed with one remaining inmate who carried the gun, Coburn said.

"The last man to come down handed the gun to a guard," he added.

According to Coburn, authorities agreed not to prosecute inmates for taking hostages or damaging jail property, but refused to agree that inmates would not be charged in the shooting of the guard.
The county said it would investigate to determine which prisoners had been responsible for assaults on jail personnel during the takeover and would prosecute them.

It agreed to set up grievance committees and not to restrict visitation rights of those involved in the siege, Coburn said.

Coburn said about 60 inmates were involved in the disturbance, which was limited to the 10th and 11th floors, where 110 inmates charged with murder, armed robbery or violent crimes were housed.

Guards said tension in the 600-inmate prison had been brewing for some time.

"They're the majority. They rule," said one guard. "It was bound to happen."

Wearing white towels around their heads, inmates shouted obscenities through broken windows, taunting troopers and police who surrounded the jail and threatening to throw hostages out 10th floor windows.

At one point, the inmates hung a hostage, identified as Al DeRogatis, out a window. The guard dangled for about 10 seconds, then was hauled back inside.

Q—Why does Easter Sunday change from year to year?

A—It depends on the beginning of spring and the moon. Easter falls on the first Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox (the beginning of spring). Easter may come as early as March 22, or as late as April 25.

Prompt Response Urged...

Distribution Of Census Forms Due This Week

All households are scheduled to receive through the mail late this week a questionnaire from the U.S. Bureau of the Census for the 1980 Census of Population and Housing, and local, regional and state officials are urging prompt response.

The large white envelopes with blue lettering will be delivered by address rather than on the basis of name. Below the address there will be a telephone number to call if help is needed in answering the questions on the form.

April 1 has been proclaimed "Census Day" and all are being urged to fill out the census questionnaire and mail it back on that date. April 1 is the day set for the official count, and the Snyder City Council approved a resolution at its meeting March 3 setting this date as "Census Day in Snyder."

The population count is especially important to West Texas. Legislative representation will be based on this count when district lines are redrawn.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has strongly stressed the importance of counting all West Texas residents during the 1980 count. Not only could it affect representation in both state and national government, but also it could affect future business opportunities which will be based on population projections using the 1980 census as a standard.

"Even though West Texas is now growing in population at a healthy rate, the region is not growing as rapidly as some other areas of the state," said Edward H. Coltharp, WTCC executive vice president. "Herein lies the urgency of the census for West Texans. West Texas stands to lose legislative representation as a result of the census when the state is redistricted, and West Texans must do everything possible to see that this loss of representation is minimized."

In his talk on his "new" war on inflation, President Carter spoke strongly for a balanced budget. Whether he means it we will know in time. But it is great to note that once again a balanced budget seems to be in vogue.

If your average hourly earnings in 1979 rose 8 percent, slightly above the president's wage guidelines, you still would have suffered a pay cut of 5.3 percent - the highest annual inflation rate since 1946. This increased the consumer price index to 254, which means it now costs $254 for goods worth $100 in the federal government's consumer base year of 1967. In other words, the 1967 dollar is worth only 39 cents today.

But worse lies ahead. Consumer prices exploded in January, rising 1.4 percent for an annual rate of 18 percent, a 50 percent leap. After 15 years of steady spiraling, inflation could now be entering the lethal stage when it becomes self-accelerating.

Ours is a bleak economic situation indeed. During the fourth quarter of last year, the savings rate of the American people fell to 3.3 percent, about half of what it normally is and only a fraction of German and Japanese saving rates, that range from 15 to 20 percent. This is the lowest U.S. saving since 1950, when the country entered the Korean war. Clearly, Americans believe the government is incapable of checking inflation. They have lost the incentive to invest in the future.

The results are a drying up of funds desperately needed to finance capital improvements; required to halt declining productivity and a collapse of the corporate bond market. Investors simply do not want to be locked into long-term investment faced as they are with the kind of inflation that now rages.

The nation's fiscal operation is clearly out of control. Voluntary wage and price ceilings have failed and hard prime lending interest rates of 18 1/2 percent, highest since Civil War times, are failing thus far.

Sen. Ted Kennedy correctly senses the Carter administration's vulnerability on pocketbook issues, but the Kennedy grasp of economic principles is even more flawed than Carter's.

Kennedy advocates the desperate remedy of government control over wages, prices and other aspects of the economy. Despite the bitter lessons of previous wage-price control failures, Kennedy and a growing number of others, would simply repeal inflation by edict and turn the marketplace over to the bureaucrats.

Leading economists differ on certain aspects of inflation and what should be done about it, but they generally agree on its root causes. In a word, it is overindulgence - a common failing of democratic systems. Our hangover is from a number of sprees; prosecuting the Vietnam war and investing simultaneously in the Great Society without raising taxes, the added cost of environmental protection, the rising, unchecked cost of welfare, and the leaping cost of energy. Mostly, inflation results from the monetization of successive federal deficits - expanding money and credit to cover the startling differences between spending and income.

Washington's gushing red ink is the wellspring of inflation.

Ed, who is my cousin Florence's husband, came in the other day from work and plopped his brown paper lunch bag down on the kitchen counter.

"What's that?" asked Florence. Ed said, "It's your sauerkraut cookies."

"You didn't eat them?" she asked. He said, "Florence, I didn't eat them today, yesterday, or every day for the last three years you've put them in my lunch. How long are you going to keep recycling those cookies?" Florence said, "I don't understand it. He always ate sauerkraut when his mother baked it in cookies."

I understand. Does anyone out there really appreciate what it is like to cook 738 meals a year, pack 1,040 lunches, make 2,055 snacks, 30 special banquets for birthdays and holidays and over 110 hospital trays?

It's enough to make Valium a kitchen staple. On one side we've got nutritionists telling us that we're responsible for the health of our families. On the other side, we've got a family who every time we serve a yellow vegetable, wants a food taster.

Children have given an entirely new glossary of meaning to food.

Peas: Small, green, round things that bounce when they are put on the plate. They roll into all your other food and you have to use your fingers to get them out. Fun to count.

Asparagus: Green, slimy sticks that reproduce and swell when you start to chew them. If you can stand to touch them, you can hide them under your plate.

Onions: Yucky lumps that mothers put in everything. By holding your breath and swallowing them whole, you can get rid of them.

Coconut: It's like having a strand of Grandma's hair in your mouth. It's used to ruin a perfectly good white cake.

Husbands are no better.

Mine defines an olive as a dentist's secret weapon... "soft and cushy on the outside with a surprise rock on the inside that crumbles your bridge-work."

Spinach he describes as a "lump piece of slime that slides around your mouth until it finds your front tooth and clings to it."

Florence handed me one of Ed's cookies and said, "Taste these. They made Ed's mother a legend." "Big deal," said Ed. "The apple did the same for Eve."

aviation safety is "completely messed up."

That astonishing admission comes from a man who ought to know - Langhorne M. Bond, head of the Federal Aviation Administration, the government agency principally responsible for the integrity and safety of air transportation.

When Bond was pressed at a recent congressional hearing to explain and justify the controversial method used to fund air safety improvements, he candidly acknowledged that "this whole system is a mess."

The most scandalous aspect of the situation involves the Airport and Airways Trust Fund, established by law in 1970 specifically to collect the money necessary to finance safety advances and other improvements in the nation's complex civil aviation system.

Approximately 85 percent of the trust fund's annual income comes from the proceeds of an 8 percent federal tax imposed on all airline passenger tickets, with the remainder of the receipts derived from similar taxes on aircraft tires and tubes, air cargo waybills and fuel used by "general aviation" non-commercial planes.

With the entire field of aviation booming and passenger ticket prices soaring because of escalating fuel costs, the already wealthy trust fund continues to grow every year.

Last Oct. 1, the beginning of the current fiscal year, the fund balance was more than $2.7 billion. It is expected to grow to more than $3.5 billion by the end of the fiscal year, with similar increases projected for future years.

There is virtual unanimity within the aviation community that much of the money could be wisely spent on airport navigational aids - devices to enhance the safety of take-offs and landings, the most critical and accident-prone segments of any flight.

When Bond testified at a recent hearing, he described the fly-by-the-seat-of-your-pants conditions that exist today at approximately 300 airports throughout the country served exclusively by commuter airlines:

"Sixty-seven percent do not have visual approach slope indicators installed, 87 percent do not have an instrument landing system, 92 percent are not served by a tower, 67.5 percent do not have radar approach control provided."

"Ninety-nine percent do not have airport surveillance radar, 88 percent do not have approach lights and 73 percent do not have runway and identification lights."

Even though all of that equipment is readily available for installation and its safety value is undisputed, more than half of the commuter airports have none of the precision aids.

Why have three consecutive administrations headed by Presidents Richard M. Nixon, Gerald R. Ford and Jimmy Carter - refused to release trust-fund money to finance installation of basic safety equipment that could prevent fatal accidents?

Technically is part of the thoughts

"The sweat of thy brow" is not actually in the Bible, but is found several times in other literature, such as in Shakespeare's command to Adam is:

"In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground..." Gen. 3:19 government's "unified budget," and consolidating its surplus and revenues with other federal funds helps to artificially enhance the appearance of a very skanky federal budget.

Although Congress clearly intended that the money be used for airline safety, the White House and its Office of Management and Budget don't have to segregate the revenues for that purpose because the applicable legislation doesn't require such earmarking.

The phrase "trust fund" has become little more than a misnamed book-keeping device. The money goes into the government's general fund and all the trust fund receives is a certificate of indebtedness - a fancy name for an IOU with no fixed interest rates nor repayment terms.

"If a private trust fund were administered the way the government runs the Airport and Airways Trust Fund," says one federal official who requests anonymity, "the trustees would end up in prison."

There are more than 100 million registered automobiles in the U.S. A typical car, with an average fuel economy of less than 13.7 miles per gallon, travels about 10,000 miles each year, and consumes well over 700 gallons of gasoline, according to the expert's figures.

It is figured altogether these automobiles consume some 70 trillion gallons of gasoline a year, or about 14 percent of all energy used in the United States.

The importance of individual gasoline savings cannot be overemphasized. In an effort to decrease gasoline consumption we could, for example, reduce daily trips, strive toward better driving practices and concentrate on better car maintenance.

If car pools were utilized, and the average passenger load was increased by just one person, it is figured each individual's out-of-pocket expenses for commuting would be cut, and the nation-wide gasoline savings would be more than 700,000 barrels per day.

Eliminating unnecessary trips would help considerably. If every automobile consumed just one less gallon of gasoline a week, say the experts, the nation would save about 5.2 billion gallons a year, or about seven percent of the total passenger car demand for gasoline. We could certainly manage that!

Driving practices can add to or decrease fuel consumption according to authorities. They figure a careful driver can get at least 30 percent more mileage than an average driver, and 50 percent more than a wasteful one.

The person behind the wheel should drive at moderate speeds. We've been told over and over again that most automobiles get more miles per gallon on highway at 55 miles per hour than they do at 70 mph. To accelerate smoothly, saves on engines, tires and gasoline. Avoiding stop-and-go traffic minimizes gasoline usage.

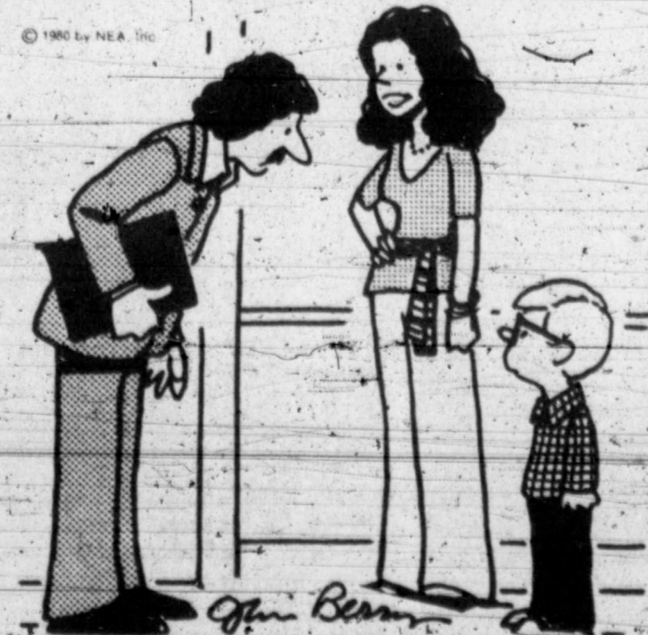

More than likely we are all guilty of letting the motor idle too long during the months just past. We are told not to let the motor idle for more than one minute. It is better to turn the engine off and start it again.

Keeping automobiles in prime condition is easier said than done. Who likes to spend money on it unless there is an evident need? But, good car maintenance and care can mean dollars saved. We're urged to have cars tuned regularly, which can save as much as 10 percent in gasoline costs. An air-starved engine can waste gas, too. It is important to keep a clean air filter. Using the octane in gasoline and oil grade recommended for the particular vehicle is a wise move. Under-inflated tires increase gas consumption, so check tire pressure regularly. Check for excess weight. If you're still carrying around the tent from last summer's vacation or any excessive objects of considerable weight, remove from the automobile for better mileage.

Most of these suggestions are common sense judgments and we shouldn't have to be reminded, but being the spoiled and overindulgent citizens we have become over the years, we need constant reminders to form new conservative habits.

Severe cheek pain

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 44-year-old housewife. We came to this country 16 years ago. Before I came I developed a pain in my right cheek. The doctor called it an inflammation and gave me an injection to paralyze the cheek for a while. It did relieve the pain. For a long time I had no pain but then sometime later I'd get lipset the pain started all over again.

I've never gone to a doctor here for this problem but it's now very painful and sometimes when I'm working, I don't feel a thing and then bang - the pain shoots right through the cheek, sometimes bringing tears to my eyes. I tried vitamin B-1 but that does not seem to do anything. Do you have any suggestions for me? I did not go to my doctor here because it's hard to explain and he'll probably send me from one doctor to another.

DEAR READER - There's no way I can be certain from your description what you have. You could have trigeminal neuralgia, also called tic douloureux. Your description of a sudden shooting pain suggests this possibility. It may be that the doctor in Europe injected the nerve to this part of your face.

In any case, you'll need to see the doctor and tell him basically the same thing you told me. He can tell rather quickly if you have tic douloureux or not. If you don't, you'll have to be examined to see if you have a problem with your teeth or sinuses or some other cause for facial pain.

You may be referred to a neurologist, a specialist in diseases that involve the nerves, and I don't mean being nervous.

If you happen to have tic douloureux, there are several things that can be done to control the pain. Medicines are useful in some cases and in other instances, selective damage of the nerves that carry the pain sensation can be accomplished. Or in some cases where nerve injury is related to arteries pinching the nerve, an operation can be done to put a little synthetic cushion around the nerve to keep it from being injured.

In any case, the first step is to find out what you have before anyone can decide what kind of treatment is indicated.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is sleeping in the nude, or just letting your body breathe that way, good for your skin?

DEAR READER - Unless you're wearing airtight sleeping garments that trap moisture and body odors, I can't see that it makes a particle of difference. In the middle of the winter you might be glad to have some warm sleeping togs if you tend to get cold in the night.

SEWING CLASS—Helen Martin, left, and Betty Sandel look over the sewing machines which will be used in a Beginning Sewing Class scheduled to begin Monday at WTC. Mrs. Martin will teach the course. Ms. Sandel is a Mid-Management instructor at WTC and works with the Adult Vocational Education office.

Beginning Sewing Classes At WTC

Morning and evening classes in Beginning Sewing are to begin Monday as a community services course at Western Texas College.

Helen Martin, a former home economics teacher at Snyder High School, will teach the course. Classes will meet in the basement classroom of the Scurry County Museum adjacent to the west park in lot.

Morning classes will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Friday for two weeks. Evening classes will meet from 7-10 p.m., also Monday through Friday for two weeks.

Sewing machines will be available in the classroom, but students who prefer to bring their own sewing machines may do so. A list of supplies required for the course will be provided on the first day of class. Techniques for sewing ultra suede will be included in the course.

Fees will be $51 per person, with a minimum of 12 required to form the class. Enrollment will be limited to 15 persons.

Space in either the morning or night class is to be reserved by calling the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240.

CONFERRED—Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi conferred the Ritual of Jewels Degree on Sue Sewell, seated, and Twila Polk, center. A short welcoming ceremony was also performed for Paula Middleton, who is a recent transfer to the local chapter. (SDN Staff Photo)

About two-thirds of America's 79 million housing units have been built since 1940. Of these, about 12.5 percent were built in the past 10 years. The average age of a housing unit is about 20 years.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Today's hand is taken directly from Ference Reese's book "The Most Puzzling Situations in Bridge Play."

South stops in three hearts and West starts with three rounds of spades. If everything comes up roses, South can knock out the ace of hearts, ruff another spade draw trumps and if they break 3-3 be sure of his contract. He may well score an overtrick if clubs break, the queen of diamonds drops doubleton or a club diamond squeeze develops.

Unfortunately, West holds four hearts and five spades and South will only come to eight tricks. The immediate play of the ace, king and queen of clubs also fails. West trumps the third club and plays ace and another trump to leave South with four tricks gone and a club loser in his hand.

Reese's play to make the contract is a jim-dandy. After South ruffs the third spade he must cash the ace and king of diamonds and king and ace of clubs. Now he leads his small club.

West can ruff, let the club ride to East's jack or whistle a happy tune, but South is going to get his nine tricks. If trumps are played he can score the ninth trick with the queen of clubs; otherwise, he can ruff that queen of clubs with one of dummy's high hearts. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Members Welcomed At Sorority Meeting

The highlight of the recent meeting of Beta Sigma Phi was the Ritual of Jewels degree to Sue Sewell and Twila Polk. Paula Middleton was officially welcomed into the local sorority by president Marie Boone. Gloria Myers was welcomed back to the organization following a leave of absence.

The coming year. They are Mona Bryan, president; Wanda Early, vice president; Nancy Ballenger, second vice president; Laura Greene, recording secretary; Carolyn Limmer, corresponding secretary; Dena Ellis, treasurer, and Sue Sewell, extension officer.

The group presented a money tree, a surprise gift, to Bonnie Hollis as a farewell token from the chapter.

The social committee reported Carolyn Greene and Truett Bryan won the special awards for the chapter's recent party, "Luck of the Irish." Officers were elected for

No Demand For Musical Hands

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—For a brief moment in the mid-1930s, fortune smiled on Cecil Dill, Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" newspaper column, reported that Dill could produce various songs and imitate all kinds of birds and animals.

He was featured in a newsreel and appeared in a couple of Hollywood night clubs before his career ended in frustration and failure. "I couldn't get laughs out of the audience," said Dill, 79, who now sweeps the parking lot and picks up trash around a Traverse City restaurant in exchange for his meals. "My beautiful gift of musical hands is a talent that has gone to waste," Dill said he had discovered his hands were exceptional while walking home from school one day in 1914. "I had no mittens and was rubbing and clenching my hands to warm them when they suddenly made music," he recalled. His hands still squeeze out tunes for tourists and the restaurant's customers.

Blood Drive Successful

A blood drive here last week will help greatly in meeting the need for blood by many area patients, Darlene Herring, mobile development director of South Plains Blood Service has advised.

Expressing appreciation in a letter to Mary Spieker of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Ms. Herring said she regarded the drive here as "very successful." It resulted in contributions of 54 pints of blood.

Thanks To Dallas's J.R....

CBS Wins Week's Ratings Race

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Millions of Americans tuned in to see nasty J.R. Ewing get his due in the season's closing episode of "Dallas," and the show helped push CBS to a heretofore victory in the week's TV ratings race.

Ewing, the ruthless oil executive played by Larry Hagman, was gunned down in the Friday episode, which was the week's top-rated show, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. Fans of the exploits of the millionaire Texas Ewing family will have to wait until next season to find out whether the villainous J.R. Ewing lives or dies and whodunit. Meanwhile, CBS moved closer to taking first place from front-running ABC in the television network ratings for the season. CBS was No. 1 in the week ending March 23 with a rating of 19.6, and won Monday, Thursday and Friday nights. ABC was second with a rating of 18.1, winning Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday nights.

NBC finished last with 17.9, but its shift of "CHIPS" from Saturday to Sunday helped it wrest Sunday away from CBS. The networks say the ratings mean that in an average prime-time hour during the week, 19.6 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to CBS.

"ABC holds a narrow lead in the ratings for the season overall at 19.6, compared to CBS, at 19.5. NBC is a distant third at 17.8. CBS' Friday night combination of "Dallas" and "Dukes of Hazzard" continued strong and took the first two places. The network's "60 Minutes" was third.

CBS' premiere of "Palmerston, U.S.A." placed 17th in United States. NBC's critically acclaimed new comedy, placed 64th, while CBS' "Beyond Westworld," which has already been cancelled, was last in 69th place.

The week's top 10 programs, in order: "Dallas," with a rating of 32.7 representing 24.9 million homes; "Dukes of Hazzard," 28.6 or 21.8 million, and "60 Minutes," 28.0 or 21.4 million, all CBS; "Real People," 27.1 or 20.7 million, and "Big

The next 10 programs: "House Calls," CBS; "Archie Bunker's Place," CBS; "Eight is Enough," ABC; "One Day at a Time," CBS; "Alice," CBS; "Lou Grant," CBS; "Palmerston, U.S.A.," CBS; "Vegas," ABC; "Benson," ABC, and "Little House on the Prairie," CBS.

More Murders, Rapes In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Department of Public Safety says there were 373 more murders and 1,101 more rapes in the state last year than in 1978. The DPS said Tuesday law officers cleared 73 percent of the 2,226 murders by an arrest and 52 percent of the 6,028 rapes in 1979. Col. Jim Adams, DPS Director, said the number of major criminal offenses committed in Texas last year rose by 68,140, or 9.42 percent. Only 21 percent of the crimes were cleared by an arrest, Adams said.

Texas' annual crime rate rose 6.4 percent in 1979, with the largest increase in rape and motor vehicle theft, he said. The crime rate is based on the number of crimes per 100,000 population. Adams said there were an estimated 72,687 motor vehicle thefts, a 22.2 percent increase, and a 19 percent increase in rapes from 1978. He said murders were up 16.9 percent over the previous year. Property valued at over $610 million was stolen in 1979, and only $216 million worth of property was recovered, Adams said.

Dear Abby Ruined Mattress Leaves Mom Steamed

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation: Last weekend my 12-year-old son, Danny, asked if he could invite his 13-year-old friend, Steve, to sleep over. Steve had just moved into the neighborhood and Danny was the only friend he had. I said yes.

When I went to make up the beds the next morning I found that Steve had wet the bed! I was really steamed because the mattress was ruined.

I told Danny about it, and he said that Steve never told him that he had a bed-wetting problem before he slept over, but the next morning when he discovered he had had an "accident," he begged Danny not to tell me or his mother about it.

What can I do, Abby? Should I tell Steve's mother (whom I haven't met) and hope she offers to buy me a new mattress? STEAMED DOWN SOUTH

DEAR STEAMED: I wouldn't. The poor kid probably has suffered enough humiliation as it is. But do tell Danny to tell Steve that since such an "accident" can happen, if he plans to sleep over anywhere, he should bring his own bedding, plus a rubber sheet.

DEAR ABBY: What is this world coming to? Yesterday I received a birth announcement, proudly announcing the birth of a baby girl. The mother is 21, the father is 40. He is married, but is separated from his wife of nearly 20 years. This man's wife and legitimate children live in the city and are well-known.

To top it off, the proud parents signed themselves "Gator Guy" and "Woolly Woman" — some clan, sect or gang name. We were really stunned. My question: Is a girl in order for an illegitimate child?

TOO OLD TO COPE

DEAR T.O.T.C.: There are no "illegitimate children" — just illegitimate parents. Don't penalize an innocent child because of the circumstances of his birth.

DEAR ABBY: For quite some time I have wanted to ask your opinion regarding the practice of some people who turn their left hand backward in a so-called "friendly" handshake, rather than extend their right hand in the conventional manner.

I vaguely recall having read somewhere that this is a "token" handshake which says, "I don't care for you, but nevertheless here's my left hand to indicate to folks nearby that we know each other." (It's just a cut above a snub.) I would prefer to be ignored rather than accept this fishy left handshake. How do you feel about it?

RIGHT HAND, PLEASE

DEAR RIGHT: On occasion I've been offered a left hand to shake and I shook it; I'm sure there were times when I have offered my left hand, too. Why look for some hidden meaning? It simply could indicate that one's right hand is otherwise occupied, that the left hand is handier or the right hand is wearing a large ring which invariably cuts into the flesh when grasped too tightly. Or some reason other than a putdown.

Are there questions you can't ask your parents? Get Abby's new booklet: WHAT TEENAGERS OUGHT TO KNOW. Drugs, sex and alcohol are plainly discussed. Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Home Goes On Display Sunday

The new home, being self-built by A. Alvarez, Jr. will be open for public inspection Sunday.

The home is located at 419 34th St. Hours will be from 1 to 5 p.m.

The home is a two-story style, one of many designs available through Miles Homes, one of the nation's pre-cut, do-it-yourself home marketers.

Michael Lewaren, Miles Homes representative in this area, said that the home is being shown before actual completion so that visitors may examine the quality of materials which go into the home. "Many of the quality features of the home are not visible once the inner walls are finished, so it is our policy to show the public exactly what goes into our homes from the inside out, so to speak," Lewaren said.

In order to reach the site of the open house, visitors should take Avenue E south from the intersection of Avenue E and Highway 208 in Snyder and proceed 1/2 mile. The house is on the left side. Follow Open House signs.

Check Given To Fluvanna Fire Dept.

The Fluvanna Volunteer Fire Dept. was presented a check for $75 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the departments work on the property of Carl Stewart. The money will be used for their loss prevention program.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when a department works at a fire in rural areas involving property insured by them.

Bandit Bungles Robbery Getaway

FORT WORTH (AP)—A bandit with a drinking problem and more than his share of bad luck was in jail today after robbing a bank, wrecking his getaway pickup and then taking a hostage who turned out to be a city marshal.

The robber started his day Tuesday morning by putting a grocery sack over his head with holes cut for his eyes — and robbing the First National Bank of Terral, Okla., located about five miles from the Texas border near Wichita Falls of $13,000.

Bank President Wayne Ivy said the bandit, who shouted threats and pointed a chrome-plated revolver, herded the bank's employees and customer into a vault before fleeing — but failed to lock the vault. Ivy said he smelled liquor on the robber's breath.

Next, the gunman drove into Texas in a stolen pickup truck, but lost control of the vehicle his Wise County on U.S. Highway 287. It overturned, but the outlaw escaped serious injury.

He tried to flag down a truck driver, Glenn Gage, but after stopping and seeing the man's gun, Gage jumped out of his truck and successfully ran away on foot.

The gunman then flagged down another car, commandeered it at gunpoint and took the driver hostage. The driver, Fairview City Marshal Bert Carter, was not hurt in the ordeal.

The two arrived in Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon, where Carter was released. Police arrested a 44-year-old Texas man a short time later and held him in the county jail while multiple charges were being prepared. Officers said the suspect surrendered without resistance.

Part of the stolen money was found at the site of the wrecked pickup. Police said "a large quantity" of money was also recovered in Fort Worth when the suspect was arrested, but authorities would not say if the entire $13,000 was found.

New-Found Defense Does It...

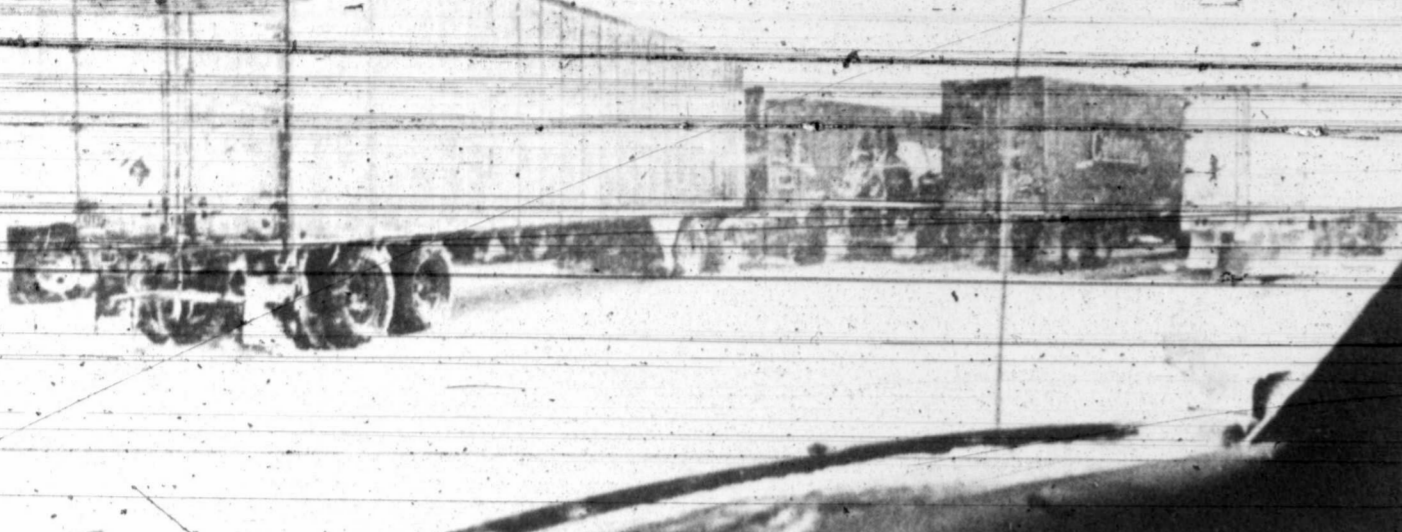

Spurs Make Playoffs

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs... who took over 12 games ago when Doug Moe was fired.

Preaching an unfamiliar gospel of defense, Bass turned the team around nine games ago.

The Spurs led by as many as 24 points in the third period. The Rockets never drew closer than 15 points in the final quarter.

They controlled the tempo of the game, especially when they made 16 out of 18 shots. That set the tempo, said Houston's Calvin Murphy.

BLIZZARD SCENE—A truck stop provided brief shelter for four Snyderites during the "Great Kansas Blizzard" Sunday. The photo above was taken early in the storm before it became obvious no traffic would be allowed to leave Meade, Kan. The foursome spent the night at the United Methodist Church of Meade, 22 miles west of Mineola, where the Western Texas College team, cheerleaders and others were stranded. See related column below. (Photo by J.D. Helm)

Sideline Glances Snowed In...

It Is Richardson's Fault

THERE IS a rumor going around that the Lord deliberately stirred up a snowstorm in Kansas Sunday for the sole purpose of humbling Western Texas College Coach Nolan Richardson.

Personally, I wouldn't doubt it. Not that Nolan has lost the faith or anything, but it's a fact that he has been getting more attention than a three-headed cow at a county fair recently.

The least HE could have done would have been to leave me out of it though. After all, I'm certainly not getting the big head.

IT WAS a matter of size which made it especially tough on me when the Great Kansas Blizzard hit Sunday. As one who is considered "less than tall", I couldn't help envying 6-9 Greg Stewart, who was undoubtedly strolling through the snow getting his ankles cooled off while I was trudging along with the stuff up to my knees.

At one time, I strayed into a drift that hit me pocket high. The only reason I didn't keep falling down was because everytime I stumbled forward the wind would knock me back in a standing position. Luckily, I never tettered backwards.

LIKE THE team, I also stayed in a small community church that night. I was in Meade, 22 miles west of Mineola, where the team bunked out. With me were three Western Texas College journalism students, Mark Rutherford, J.D. Helm and Gerald Colbert. Meade's claim to fame seems to be that it was a pit stop for the Dalton Gang back in the good old days of the west. I don't know if there deceptants live there now not, but luckily, the town was harboring a different kind of fugitive Sunday.

I THINK my passengers on the trip had a great time, actually. Their major contribution was to warn me which drifts to stay out of.

"Wow! Look at that drift! Hey, don't walk over that way, Man. We might never find you again. Ha, ha, he, he."

It was all great fun... for them. Fortunately, all I had to do was reach in my pocket, brush away the snow first, pull out the keys, and dangle them in front of the guys' power.

THERE WERE about 30 people, I'd guess, at the United Methodist Church in Meade. Some spent the night with families in the community, and some slept in the church fellowship hall, actually. A group of hard-working ladies whose names I did not catch, made sure we were warm and fed. And although I'm reasonably sure Meade will never see this, I'd like to thank one lady in particular, a Leona Powell, and the rest of those who helped her, the pastor, and the unseen faces who helped gather the food, blankets and etc.

Little do they know Coach Nolan Richardson was behind it all. But then, I guess it was worth a national championship.

Staubach To Hang Up Sneakers Says Report From LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dallas Cowboys' quarterback Roger Staubach will announce his retirement at a press conference next week, it was reported Tuesday night.

Ted Dawson, sports-caster for KABC Television in Los Angeles, reported that a "close source inside the Dallas organization" told him that the Cowboys will announce Staubach's retirement at a press conference next Monday.

At 38, Staubach figures that he's taken one too many shots to the head and wants out," Dawson said.

Staubach, a Heisman Trophy winner at Navy, joined Dallas in 1969 and went on to lead the Cowboys into five Super Bowls, two of which they won.

The game of basketball was invented in the winter of 1891-92 by Dr. James Naismith to provide indoor exercise for his students during the closing of the football season and the start of baseball in the spring.

Talks Moving Slowly Players Not Optimistic

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Negotiations on a basic agreement between major league baseball owners and players were to reopen here today, with owners guardedly optimistic and players' representatives flatly pessimistic about avoiding a strike at the start of the season.

Major league executives met Tuesday with their chief negotiator, Ray Grebey, who said no modifications were made in the owners' latest offer. "No votes were taken or policy decisions made today," Grebey said following a 90-minute meeting with the owners' negotiating committee.

The committee is composed of Grebey, the presidents of the American and National leagues, and six team executives: Daniel Galbreath of Pittsburgh, Bob Howsam of Cincinnati, John McHale of Montreal, Joseph Burke of Kansas City, Ed Fitzgerald of Milwaukee and Clark Griffith II of Minnesota.

British Bypass Thatcher Plan

LONDON (AP) — The British government appealed to Britain's athletes to turn their backs on their Olympic association and boycott the Moscow Olympics after the association defied Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and voted overwhelmingly to compete in the Games this summer.

The BOA announced after a meeting Tuesday night that delegates from 15 of 20 national sports federations voted to reject Mrs. Thatcher's call for a boycott, four wanted the decision deferred and only one, the hockey federation, was in favor of staying home.

It was a major setback to President Carter's campaign for an international quarantine of the Moscow Games because of the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan. "The government seriously regrets the decision to accept the invitation to participate in the summer Games in the Soviet Union. But this is not the end of the matter," said a statement from the Department of the Environment.

The executive director of the Players' Association, Marvin Miller, was dismayed by the news that the owners made no policy moves Tuesday.

"Since the Players Association finds that the owners' demands are unacceptable and the owners apparently are unwilling to change their position," Miller said he could see no reason for any of the optimism expressed by the owners.

"As long as we have bargaining sessions left, there's hope of avoiding a strike," Grebey said.

WTC Games To Be Aired

The NJCAA national tournament second round game between the Western Texas College Westerners and the Lincoln, Ill., Lynx will be shown on cable television here at 5:30 p.m. today on channel 2, Snyder Community Antenna Television has announced.

The semi-finals game with Tyler Junior College will be shown at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, and the championship game between WTC and Jefferson State of Alabama will be shown twice, at 6:30 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday.

SHS Grad Is New School's Head Coach

Larry McNair, Snyder High graduate and formerly on the coaching staff here, has been named head football coach at Terry High School, a new high school scheduled to open this fall in Rosenberg. He was on the coaching staff of Lamar Consolidated, up to now the only high school in the consolidated school district of Rosenberg, Richmond and surrounding area near Houston, which won the District 25-4A football title last fall.

Prior to moving to Rosenberg, McNair was on the coaching staff at Irving High School. He is a graduate of Haffin-Simmons University where he received both bachelors and masters degrees.

Golfers 8th At Tourney

ABILENE — Western Texas College's number two golf team placed eighth out of 17 teams competing in the Abilene Intercollegiate Tournament here Monday and Tuesday.

The WTC No. 1, squad will be competing in the Sam Houston Intercollegiate Tournament at Elkins Lake Country Club near Huntsville on Thursday and Friday.

The Westerner No. 2 squad fired a total 906 for the 54-hole tourney here. At Maxwell Golf Course on Monday the team turned in a 605. The Westerners finished at Abilene Country Club with a 301.

Individually, Mike Cotter, freshman, had rounds of 71-71-76, followed by Mike Mahan, sophomore, 75-75-72, Victor Villarreal, freshman, 82-74-75; Phil Kuss, sophomore, 83-74-81; and Lance McMullan, freshman, 83-84-78. Cotter and Mahan finished in the top ten individually.

ACU's Donnie O'Bannon was tournament medalist with a 208. Texas Wesleyan College won the two-day meet in sudden death playoff after tying with Angelo State, 868, in regulation. Use Snyder Daily News Classified Ads 573-5486

Tilt Cancelled; Try Thursday

Yesterday's varsity baseball game here between Snyder's Tigers and Lubbock Coronado was cancelled after two innings, due to rain.

The Tigers, 4-9, will see action again Thursday, playing in Big Spring at 4 p.m. The game, a make-up, is not on the schedule.

The final non-conference game for Snyder will be here March 28 at 4 against Odessa Ector.

WGA Begins 1980 Season

The Snyder Women's Golf Association will begin the 1980 season April 1, playing Funny Money for nine holes. A luncheon and business meeting will follow.

All ladies wishing to play should be at the Country Club Pro Shop no later than 9 a.m. Tee off time is 9:15.

The association invites all members unable to play golf to attend the luncheon. Yearbooks will be distributed and the schedule of events for 1980 will be announced.

Friday Evening Twilight Swingers will be held each Friday at 5:30 p.m. The Mixed Foursomes will meet the first Sunday of each month. Those interested should call the pro shop to sign up.

Pairings for Tuesday's Play Day will be published in Sunday's Snyder Daily News.

Vandalism, Two Mishaps Are Reported

City police yesterday investigated a criminal mischief complaint and two minor traffic accidents.

Reporting the criminal mischief was Clifford Allen, 3706 Muriel. He told Sgt. Jerry Parker the back windshield of his car was broken out resulting in approximately $250 worth of damage.

The first traffic accident was at 4:41 p.m. in the 2500 block of Ave. R. Involved in it were a 1972 Mercury driven by Adeline Martinez and a 1976 Buick driven by Lloyd Cecil Meroney. The accident was investigated by Don Cheek.

The other accident too occurred at 4:41 p.m. It was investigated by Don Whittenburg and involved a parked vehicle owned by Ollie Peek and another vehicle which fled the scene. It occurred at Snyder High School.

Former Judge Facing Drug Making Charges

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Federal grand jurors have indicted a former Brown County judge on drug manufacturing charges in connection with a raid earlier this month on what police said was a methamphetamine laboratory.

James G. Bunnell, who recently resigned his judicial position to run for district attorney, was indicted Tuesday, along with two other men identified as Frank Allen King, 32, and Wayne Walker Nichols, 34.

Grand jurors alleged the trio manufactured and conspired to manufacture the controlled stimulant.

The maximum penalty if convicted on the charges is 15 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Federal state and Brown County law enforcement officers confiscated paraphernalia at a rural Brown County location on March 9 when Nichols, King, and their wives, Gayla Lynn Nichols, 22, and Michelle Mary King, 17, were arrested.

The Nichols and the Kings were released after the raid after posting bonds set by U.S. Magistrate Phil Lane in San Angelo. The two women were not named in Tuesday's indictments.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials declined to provide details of the raid.

But Texas Department of Public Safety sources told the San Angelo Standard-Times a half-gallon of a substance believed to be liquid methamphetamine was confiscated in that raid.

That amount of liquid can be converted to about one pound of methamphetamine powder, and equipment at the lab indicated it was capable of producing about 10 pounds of the powder, the newspaper said.

Bunnell, 35, was appointed Brown County judge in February 1972. He resigned in February of this year to run for district attorney in a district comprising Brown, Mills and Coleman Counties.

He was named Brown County's Man of the Year in 1972.

Gulf Blast Death Now 4

GALVESTON (AP)—Penzoil officials say two badly-burned bodies have been recovered from a gas well that blew out in the Gulf of Mexico, bringing the death toll in the blast to four.

Penzoil spokesman Bob Harper said the bodies were recovered about noon Tuesday and had not been identified late Tuesday night.

Officials said Monday four men were missing after the blowout, which apparently came after the well struck a shallow pocket of natural gas.

The missing men are identified as: Charles Forbes, 32, of Columbia, Miss.; Johnny Lamert, 23, of Maestiss, Miss.; Jerry Saucier, 37, also of Columbia and Robert Smith, 22, of Alexandria, La.

Harper said the company will probably start clean-up operations and begin a preliminary investigation into the accident later this week.

Full-Time Writer To Lead Workshop Here

Etta Lynch, who will be conducting a workshop for writers Saturday at Western Texas College, can tell beginning writers how to begin from personal experience.

She began writing as a hobby, then followed her initial success with determination and is now a full-time free-lance writer with four non-fiction books to her credit. She has sold more than 150 articles and short stories to national and regional publications, including Ladies Home Journal, Lady's Circle, Modern Living, Western Living, National Features Syndicate, Christian Woman, Teenage Christian and Management Digest.

The workshop at WTC is sponsored by the Snyder Writers Guild and the Letters and Communications division of the college. The Guild is made up of local residents who are interested in writing for fun and profit, and they encourage everyone interested in writing to register for the workshop and to consider continuing their writing efforts as members of the Guild.

The workshop will be held in the Christian Student Center starting at 9 a.m. with registration from 8:30-9. The registration fee of $12.50 includes a salad luncheon at noon. Mrs. Lynch will tell workshop participants "What Is A Story?" in the opening session. She will discuss plotting a story, WORKSHOP DIRECTOR—Etta Lynch of Lubbock, writer, editor and lecturer, will direct a writers workshop Saturday at Western Texas College. The workshop is sponsored by the Snyder Writers Guild and the college and will begin at 9 a.m. in the Christian Student Center. The registration fee of $12.50 includes a noon luncheon. All interested persons are invited to attend.

fictional devices, theme, viewpoint character and characterization, and scenes later in the morning.

Following the luncheon, the topics will include action and reaction discovery and reversal, the "narrative hook," imagery and marketing tips for selling feature articles. The concluding discussion is "Truth As A Writer Must See It."

Mrs. Lynch has studied creative writing at the University of Oklahoma, Eastern New Mexico University, and Texas Tech University. She has been a guest lecturer at Tech and has conducted numerous workshops for writers. Persons wishing additional information about the workshop are invited to contact Mrs. Bety Burk, Guild president.

Beginning Powder Puff Mechanics will be offered as a Community Services course at Western Texas College starting April 1. Classes will meet from 8:30-9:30 on Tuesday and Thursday nights through April 30. Jimmy Hess, auto mechanics instructor at the college, will teach the course.

Students will pay fees of $16 each and will use their own automobiles for lab learning activities. The lectures and lab work is designed to provide women with basic knowledge of the operation and maintenance of automobiles. The course content includes familiarization with the automobile and identification and repair of unsafe and standard operating conditions.

A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the class and enrollment will be limited to 15. Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are to call 572-8511, extension 340.

Credit Rules In Limbo

By LOUISE COOK

Your pocketful of plastic may carry less clout than it used to.

The impact of the recent credit controls announced by President Carter varies according to where you live, the type of credit you have and how much you spend.

More than a week after Carter unveiled his anti-inflation program, including moves designed to down consumer spending by making it harder to buy now and pay later, lenders are still trying to figure out exactly what to do.

"We don't see any clear cut trend," Tim Lynch, a spokesman for MasterCard (formerly Master Charge), said on Tuesday. "Most banks aren't promoting new cards. Others are making the qualifications more stringent."

U.S. Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on consumer affairs, called officials of the Federal Reserve Board to testify at a hearing on the controls today. Another hearing by another subcommittee was scheduled for next week.

Among the things faced by the millions of Americans who already have credit cards are bigger minimum monthly payments, limits on cash advances, annual fees and higher interest charges. Different cards, however, have different strings.

There is also a difference between the "travel and entertainment" cards like American Express or Diners Club, whose customers generally must pay their bills in full each month, and the bank and store cards which offer users the option of paying a little bit at a time and incurring a finance charge on the balance.

A full-page American Express ad in The Washington Post on Tuesday, addressed to cardholders, said: "You are expected to pay your bill in full every month. . . . You don't get in over your head. That's why our Cardmembers can continue to use the American Express Card in the manner in which they always have . . . responsibly."

Where possible, banks and other creditors are raising interest rates. In places where state usury laws put a ceiling on interest, lenders are experimenting with new fees. In Miami, for example, the Southeast Banking Corporation said it would charge MasterCard and Visa holders an $18 annual fee, beginning next month.

Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank and one of the most aggressive in the field of consumer credit during much of the past decade, announced new rules on Monday. Among the changes: no new MasterCard and Visa cards; minimum monthly payments of $15 for current cardholders; no installment loans to new customers.

Queen Elizabeth, then a princess, married Prince Philip in 1947.

James Steller of Diners Club was quoted by Advertising Age, a trade journal, as saying: "The new ruling is meant to restrain consumer credit and not business expenses. Diners Club members use the card primarily for business expenses."

Sunken Ship's Survivor Rescued After 21 Days

By ROCKY SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
GALVESTON (AP)—For 21 days and nights after he abandoned a sinking ship, Kenneth Enoe sat alone in a 12-man lifeboat, ate C-rations, drank canned water and drifted aimlessly in the Gulf of Mexico.

On the 22nd day, the crew of the Coxa Navigator fished Enoe, who was in surprisingly good condition, out of the water about 200 miles southwest of New Orleans and gave him a hodge-podge wardrobe.

On the 23rd day, Tuesday, Enoe stepped from a U.S. Coast Guard launch onto a pier and, asked what he felt when he saw land again, replied: "I couldn't believe it."

"I'm very tired," the native of Grenada, a small island in the Caribbean near Venezuela, told waiting reporters as he was helped onto the pier.

Enoe looked dazed and bewildered as he moved slowly along the dock, supported on each side by employees of a local shipping firm.

Asked if he always thought he would be rescued, the bearded seaman whispered, "Yeah."

Enoe, clad in red-checked slacks, a white sweater and blue house shoes given to him by the Coxa Navigator's crew, was taken to a Galveston hospital after a brief medical examination at the Coast Guard base. He remained in the hospital Tuesday night.

"He is in good shape," said the doctor who examined Enoe at the Coast Guard station. The doctor, who asked not to be identified, described Enoe as partially dehydrated but mentally alert.

Enoe's ordeal began shortly after 1 a.m. on March 3 when the Panamanian ship Marvina reduced that it was sinking about 300 miles southwest of New Orleans in the Gulf of Mexico.

fell overboard, but he managed to find the lifeboat. It was stocked with C-rations, canned water and other survival equipment.

Enoe's fellow crew members that towed the Marvina to within 11 miles of the mouth of the Mississippi River, before the crippled vessel sank.

Coast Guard official said the amount of food on the lifeboat would have lasted one man about 21 days, meaning he would have run out of food the day before he was rescued.
