Islamic Clerics Say Militants Should Keep U.S. Hostages

By The Associated Press
Iran's Islamic Republican Party, the powerful clerical faction on the ruling Revolutionary Council, said today the American hostages should remain in the hands of the militants at the U.S. Embassy.

The statement appeared to undermine a plan to transfer the hostages, now in their 154th day of captivity, to Iranian government control.

Meanwhile, three American clergymen sympathetic to the Iranian revolution were en route to Tehran to hold Easter services for the 50 embassy hostages and try to help bring about reconciliation between America and Iran.

The Islamic Republican Party said in its official party organ, Jomhuri Es-lami, "our position is clear and decisive - we think the hostages should remain in the hands of the students."

The party is believed to have a majority on the 13-member Revolutionary Council, which on Thursday night delayed Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr's proposal to ask the Islamic militants to turn over the hostages to the government.

Bani Sadr said in a speech Tuesday he would ask the council to take custody of the hostages if President Carter pledged to issue no further "propaganda" or "provocation." The White House made such a pledge Wednesday, and Bani-Sadr said Thursday he was satisfied and would request council action. But on Thursday night the council voted to demand further clarification from Carter.

Carter has so far refused to go beyond what he has already said publicly on the issue. He has said Bani-Sadr's offer to take control of the hostages was a "positive development" and has deferred additional political and economic sanctions against Iran.

Foreign Minister Sadegh

Ghotbzadeh said Thursday night the council might reconsider the issue Sunday. Iranian leaders reportedly want Carter to agree that the Iranian Parliament, still being elected, may decide the hostages' fate.

The American clergymen left New York Friday night. They planned a stop in Copenhagen before flying on to Tehran, arriving later today. They said they expected to be in Iran four or five days.

"Our primary mission is the Easter service and any pastoral relationship that may work out with the hostages," one of the clergymen, the Rev. Darrell Ruper, a Roman Catholic priest from Omaha, Neb., said at a news conference in New York.

Ruper was accompanied by two Methodist ministers—the Rev. Jack Bremer of Lawrence, Kan., and the Rev. Nelson Thompson of Kansas City Mo. All belong to the American-Iranian Crisis Resolution Committee, a Lawrence-based group sympathetic to Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. Ruper and Bremer recently traveled to Iran under committee auspices.

The militants, who have held the embassy since Nov. 4, are demanding the return of deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to stand trial on charges of murder and corruption.

Voters Pick School, City Officials

Local voters were going to the polls Saturday to elect city and school officials.

Excellent weather conditions prevailed and a moderate turnout was expected for the elections.

To be elected were three trustees in the Snyder Independent School District, two each in the Hermleigh and Ira School districts, a mayor and three city councilmen in Snyder, and three trustees in the Scurry County Junior College District. The polls were to close at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Deposits Soar To New Record; Loans Decline

Snyder financial firms set new records for deposits, but loans were down at the close of the first quarter of 1980.

A confused financial picture, with high interest rates and a growing inflation rate were blamed as major factors in the situation which saw the total amount of money on deposit increase by more than $8 million during the quarter as the loan picture slipped a notch. It was not known immediately how or to what extent new federal banking measures would affect matters.

Deposits in Snyder's two banks and two savings and loan firms increased to a total of $142,772,360. This erased the previous all-time record set just three months ago when the fourth quarter of 1979 closed with a total of $134,505,250.

During the same period, the loan total for the four institutions declined from $82,248,651 to $79,739,087. The all-time record for loans is $84,561,458 set during the second quarter of 1979. Thus, loans here are off by nearly $5 million from the all-time high.

Easter Egg Hunt In Park Today

The Optimist Club invites everyone to an Easter egg hunt today (Sunday) at 2 p.m. in Towle Park across from prairie dog town. The hunt will be for children ages one through eight. Prizes will be given.

Water Demand Up Early This Year

It's been a cool spring so far, but it hasn't "dampened" water demands.

The Snyder water treatment plant reported its first three-million-gallon day the past week, and the Colorado River Municipal water district reported increased water deliveries for March.

Snyder water consumption went past the three-million-gallon mark earlier than usual. As for the CRMWD, industrial deliveries continued to sag, but deliveries to cities were up 11.51 percent over the same month last year with a total of 1,038,098,000 gallons.

Industrial deliveries by CRMWD amounted to 143,556,294 gallons, a decline of $4.72 percent, but 368,948,000 gallons of the loss was attributed to the cutoff of the Texas Electric Service Co. plant in Ward County, to conserve well water on the west end of the district.

Municipal deliveries for March included Odessa 457,409,000 gallons, up 16.68 per cent; Big Spring 202,834,000, up 13.63 per cent; Snyder 70,424,000, up 14.91 per cent; Stanton 9,784,000 up 23.42 per cent; Midland 286,323,000, up 1.47 per cent; Robert Lee 11,324,600, up 24.72 per cent.

At the close of the first quarter, Snyder National Bank reported deposits of $29,875,121 and loans of $27,401,155.

First Federal Savings and Loan listed deposits of $17,965,233 and loans of $10,546,129.

The SDN Column

At this writing, it appears that one of the weather legends misfired this spring. That is, unless the weather forecasting people are caught far off base on this Easter weekend. We got some response when we noted in this column that we did not hear any thunder in February. Several called in and others wrote letters advising that it did indeed thunder on Feb. 8. Others said they heard some thunder on Feb. 6.

The legend is that if it thunders in February, there will be a freeze on the corresponding date in April. So, there should be a freeze this Easter morning if the legend prevails this year. But the weather forecasters have predicted a nice weekend with balmy weather.

Sarah Goebel, who usually gives us a report on the first scissortail flycatcher sighting of the season, didn't see the first one this year, but she reported one the past week. She said she had been "under the weather" earlier and just couldn't get out and look for the scissortail, which, according to another legend, is one of our sure signs that spring is here indeed. According to reports from birdwatchers in various places, the appearance of the feathered ones may not be accurate consistently because they change their habits. Some areas failed to attract species of birds this past winter that normally are there for the cold months. Some feared that the birds were declining in numbers, but older heads recalled that there had been similar situations in the past and that the birds always seemed to re-appear the next year. Nobody knew where they went when they skipped a season in their usual habitat.

Speaking of birds, we learned the other day that the world's smallest is the bee hummingbird. It weighs only one 10th of an ounce and measures only about two inches.

Weekend update

AMC Hikes Car Prices

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. has increased the sticker prices of its cars and Jeeps an average $229, or 2.6 percent, following the lead of other U.S. automakers which announced raises earlier this week.

AMC, in a late announcement Friday, said the increases are needed to partially offset higher costs for materials, labor and services as well as to combat the "adverse impact of continuing double-digit inflation."

Ford Motor Co., announced Thursday it would raise sticker prices an average of $170, or 2.2 percent, while General Motors Corp. on Monday started the trend by saying it would boost prices an average of $186, or 2.2 percent.

The AMC price increase was the third this model year by the small car producer.

Car Hits Line Of People

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A car slammed into a crowd of about 100 customers waiting in line outside a movie theater, and 18 persons were reported injured, none critically, police said.

Police Sgt. Ray Tetzlaff said the accident Friday night apparently stemmed from an argument between two motorists and a service station attendant who refused to sell gasoline to the drivers.

Tim Tierney, 37, of Culver City said he saw the two cars pull into the station and saw the attendant refuse to serve the cars.

There was an argument, and one of the drivers "got into the car and hit the gas. It was like watching a bad play," Tierney said.

The motorists plowed into a line of about 100 moviegoers across the street at the theater, police said.

County Preparing For Gigantic Garage Sale

By JOHN LONG

A garage sale by any other name is still a garage sale, and when the county puts one on it is no different, except maybe bigger.

The county's garage sale, which in some quarters is called an auction, will be held April 15 at the Towle Park Barn. All items are sold as is to the highest bidder on a first come first served basis. Sound familiar?

For those looking for a good bargain, there is an eye chart. For the ambitious there is a silver recliner. For the curious there is a croupette, whatever that is.

Dozens of items, ranging from a dump truck or two to a hospital sterilizer, will go on the block.

"It's stuff that departments are no longer using, and we feel it would be better to dispose of it for whatever we can get for it rather than have it sit around," said County Auditor J.C. Massingill, one of the men assisting in itemizing the sundry things that will be put up for sale.

The "things" come from the county precincts, the county courthouse, and the hospital, primarily.

Most are in good working order but antiquated, with little or no trade-in value. Instead of trading the stuff in, the decision was made long ago to keep it. Now the decision has been made to sell it. It is the accumulated trash and treasure from the three years since the last county auction of its sort.

For those wanting to count the "steals" they make at the auction there are counting machines, and for those wanting to figure up the money they are saving, there are adding machines. For those wanting to write home about it there are typewriters.

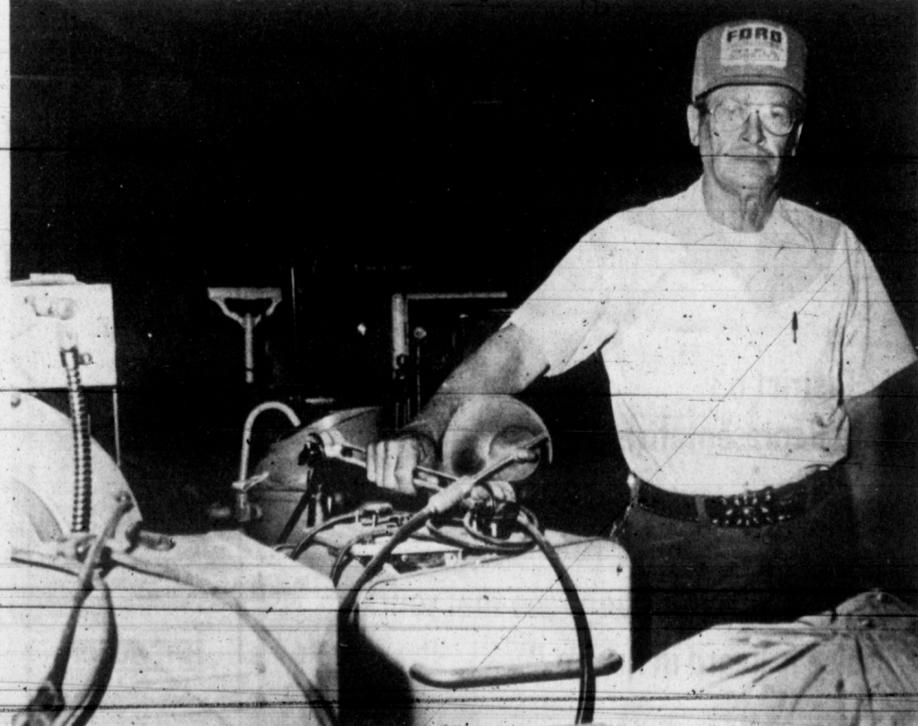

There will also be vehicles from the county's precincts, although no one knows exactly how many or what kind of vehicles they may be, yet.

Other items are a delivery table; an electric motor, a suction pump, a portable respirator, nine wooden doors, two oxygen tents, a hot pack, a fetal monitor, a set of scales, a charcoal burner deodorizer, light fixtures, and a bottle brush washer.

The items, seemingly obscure and useless to many people, cannot be given away, said Massingill. They must be sold.

"Primarily, doing it this way is to comply with the legal aspects of it," he said.

The sale begins at 10 a.m. Auctioneer will be Welden Wiggins of Ira.

To Care For Children...

Poor May Quit Jobs

AUSTIN (AP)—Some 1,000 low-income parents in Texas may have to quit their jobs and stay home with their children because of new federal day-care center guidelines, according to the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Jerome Chapman, TDHR commissioner, said Friday the new rules will hike the cost of keeping children in government subsidized day care centers.

The additional cost will mean the state only would be able to afford to pay for 80 percent of the 15,079 children now in subsidized day care centers, said Chapman.

The new rules go into effect Oct. 1. This is going to be disheartening to the parents who are earnestly trying to work themselves out of poverty and into self-sufficiency," said Chapman.

He said U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials say the guidelines add $90 a year to the cost of keeping a child in a day care center. But Chapman predicted an even greater cost increase.

The present average daily cost per child under two years old is $12.42. Under the new rules, the cost will go to $18.53 per child, according to TDHR.

"This is a blow to those mothers who have been progressing toward economic self-support," Chapman said.

Working parents whose income is less than 56 percent of the state median income can place their children in the day centers while the parents work or train for a skill.

The revised federal guidelines require more day care workers per child, raising the ratio from one adult per four children to one for every three children.

The centers will have to provide breakfast for the children if requested by the parents. Health assessments and immunizations are also required.

The Kentucky Derby is now held on the first Saturday in May but it has been run on every other day of the week except Sunday.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Wants to gain weight

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—So frequently I read about reducing. What I want to know is how can I put on weight? I'm 85 and I weigh 110 pounds. When I was 45 years old I weighed more than 140. My doctor had me in a hospital for a week to check on my weight loss. At the end of testing, he found nothing wrong with me. What do I have to do to put on weight?

DEAR READER—The same laws apply to putting on weight as apply to losing weight. Simply stated, you probably need to consume more calories than you're getting in your diet.

Once calorie-containing food is swallowed, there are only certain things that can happen to it. One is that it may not be absorbed. You see this with people who have diseases that interfere with absorption and cause diarrhea-type illnesses. That can be one explanation for a person eating a normal diet and not gaining weight.

The second is that absorption may be normal and you get all of the calories into the body but you lose the calories through the urine. This occurs in a diabetic who's losing sugar in the urine. That's why an advanced diabetic may lose weight whereas an early diabetic may be overweight.

But if you absorb all the calories in your food and you are not losing them through the urine, then the body has to process them. It can use the calories to maintain your body tissues such as your muscle mass and to form new enzymes and hormones if they're needed for the body. If you consume enough calories and proteins for this purpose, then you should not lose weight. If you eat more calories than you need for this purpose, these calories will be stored as fat and you will start to develop fat deposits on the body.

My recommendation to you would be to significantly increase your calorie intake. This might give you more strength and enable you to feel better. To do this you might need to eat more frequent, meals than you're accustomed to eating.

Now there are certain disease conditions which increase the amount of calories the body uses and people with these can eat a lot of food and not gain weight. The classic one of these is an overactive thyroid, but I'm certain your doctor has tested this and found your thyroid to be normal.

You'd be surprised how many people who are very thin and want to gain weight really aren't consuming many calories. Sometimes it's because they don't like the kind of foods that contain a lot of calories, specifically those that contain fat as you might get in a good steak. Or they don't like margarine or butter and they don't care for sweets. While I advise people who need to lose weight to get the fats and sweets out of their diet, a person who needs to gain weight, as in your case, might profit by adding some fats and sweets.

GETTING FATS and sweets out of food make it easier to control weight. Readers who want information on controlling calories this way can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for the Health Letter number 9-12, Kitchen Power for Weight Control. Send your request to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Talks Of Changes...

Clements To Review Paroles, Foodstamps

By GARTH JONES

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Food stamps and paroles are the next subjects of investigation for Gov. Bill Clements' watchdog team.

Clements told a news conference Friday he was unhappy with reports he has heard about the food stamp program in Texas.

"We are going to see some changes in the food stamp program," Clements said. "Some will be made by the federal government and some we can make ourselves."

He said he had asked his special audit committee, headed by Budget Director Paul Wrotenbery, to take on a study of the food stamp situation.

Wrotenbery's group was formed by Clements to make special probes of state agency operations. Clements also said Wrotenbery's team would look into probation procedures used by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles and parole commissioners.

"There needs to be some corrective measures but I don't want to talk about that now," Clements said. A coalition of social activists said earlier in the week that a million Texans might go hungry, and some might die, if President Carter carries out his budget-cutting threats that might stop the food stamp program about June 1.

"I think the food program has been abused in Texas and we are going to look into it," Clements said. "We will see if we can identify these abuses and make some changes."

Clements said his present information is mostly "hearsay" but he expected to get facts from Wrotenbery's committee.

"They will do it on an audit basis and see if some people are getting food stamps when they should not get them," he said. "They also will consider reports that people are actually being recruited to get food stamps by people in the food stamp program, which I consider improper."

Clements said he was not having second thoughts about turning down parole for David Ruiz, a 25-year-old Austin man serving 25 years for armed robbery. Ruiz is a plaintiff in a lawsuit against the Texas prison system. The State Board of Pardons and Paroles recommended the parole.

"Four of my staff were unanimous in recommending that the parole not be given and I made it five," said Clements.

He said, "There are some problems that exist in our pardons and paroles system. We are analyzing those problems and know there is a need for some corrective measure between the two groups (Board of Pardons and Paroles and parole commissioners)."

On other subjects Clements said: "I do not think there is any serious intention of the Department of Defense to locate the MX missile program in West Texas." Clements, a former deputy of defense, said the MX missile originally was intended to replace the Minuteman missiles and silos already in operation.

However, he said, President Carter and the present Joint Chiefs of Staff have attempted to make the MX missile mobile "which is not cost effective, and would be very, very expensive. I am very much against it."

"That any talk about him becoming a candidate for vice president is 'political baloney.'" He added that he did not think any other Texan would be asked to be a vice presidential candidate.

"That gasoline consumption in Texas in February was 9 percent below the year before."

With Inflation, Interest...

Unemployment Likely To Continue Upward

By KRISTIN GOFF
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Along with interest rates and inflation, the nation's unemployment rate is headed upward.

While the increase has not been as dramatic as the climb to 18 percent inflation and 20 percent minimum business loan rates, several reports suggest employers are growing cautious in their hiring plans.

The Labor Department this past week reported unemployment rose to 6.2 percent in March, up slightly from 6 percent the previous month but the same as in January.

That rate is expected to continue to increase later this year. Career administration economists predicted unemployment of 7.2 percent by the end of the year, and some private forecasters put the rate closer to 8 percent.

Even at the administration's lower estimate, about 7.4 million workers would be unemployed, an increase of 1 million from last month. The latest report showed a total of 97.7 million jobless workers.

Layoffs so far have hit hardest such industries as housing and autos, where high interest rates and slower sales have forced employment cutbacks.

But even in industries where layoffs have not been so great, some surveys indicate a more difficult time ahead for job seekers.

Given the recessionary outlook, labor market conditions can be expected to continue worsening over the next several months, said Kenneth Goldstein, who conducts a monthly survey of help-wanted advertising for the Conference Board.

The latest survey by the business research group showed the volume of want-ads in 51 metropolitan newspapers declined in February for the third consecutive month. The latest index stood at 151, compared to 154 the previous month. That was down 7 points from the index in February 1979.

Manpower Inc., a temporary employment company which conducts quarterly surveys on the employment outlook, came up with similar results in its survey of business plans for April, May and June.

Hiring plans for the period were up from those reported for the first three months of the year; but that pattern is normal, given increased seasonal demand in the spring, the Manpower report said.

Compared with results of a survey for the same period last year, plans to hire additional workers declined. The nationwide sampling of 8,000 employers found 28 percent planned to hire additional workers in the next three months, compared to 18 percent in January and 31 percent a year ago.

The majority of those polled, 62 percent, planned to maintain current staff levels, up from 60 percent a year earlier. Seven percent planned reductions in staffing, up from 6 percent in the survey last year.

Borden Scholars Win UIL District 9th Time

GAIL Borden High School proved its literary excellence for the ninth consecutive year Wednesday, winning the District 6-B University Interscholastic League title again.

Borden chalked up 252 points burying its nearest competitor, Wellman, who finished second with 124 points.

Winning their respective events were: Tammy Telchik, spelling; Karen Williams, shorthand; Ben Murphy, ready writing; Gena McLeroy, news writing; Mark Walker, persuasive speaking; Carla Jones, poetry interpretation; Heather McPhaul, prose reading; Glynda Burkett, science; Janna Love, editorial writing; Miss Burkett and Miss Love also won the debate contest.

In addition to these, Borden students captured the top prize in the one act play contest, a feat they have not accomplished since 1973.

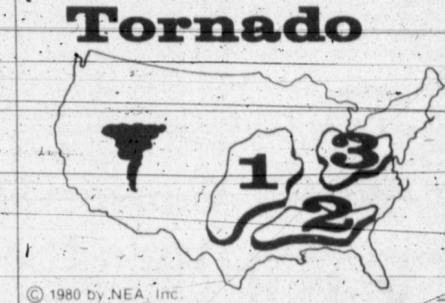

Eleven students will compete in thirteen events at the regional meet, April 18, at South Plains College.

While tornadoes can occur in any place in the United States, the most likely locations are in the east central part of the nation. Weather records show that these three illustrated locations receive more than 90 percent of all national "twisters." Normally, the prime season for the swirling storms is between May 1 and June 30.

Furniture Sale Planned At Governor's Mansion

AUSTIN (AP)—If you're looking for a conversation piece with a little history behind it, now's your chance. Thirty-nine pieces of furniture from the Governor's Mansion are about to be sold to the highest bidder.

This apparently is the first time furniture from the historic mansion has been offered for sale.

The State Purchasing and General Services Commission plans to send out bid sheets for the mail auction sometime this spring.

Anyone has the right to bid and can obtain bid sheets from the commission.

High bidders will get such items as an oval mahogany library table, made in the 1890s, that stood in the mansion's Sam Houston Bedroom during the Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson administration.

There also are chairs, mirrors, chairs, beds, night stands, dressers, wall sconces and a walnut etagere.

Each piece will come with a short pedigree - if one is known - prepared by mansion administrator Joann Cook.

"We photographed, identified and appraised everything. It's hard, believe me," Ms. Cook said.

Some of the pedigrees aren't too impressive, such as a dresser with mirror bought during the Preston Smith administration from an Austin furniture dealer for $95. One "antique" table is a fake and was purchased as such during the Dolph Briscoe administration to match a piece already in the mansion.

A lot of pieces were stored in the mansion garage.

"I took this on myself because Mrs. Clements and I would walk around the house and she would say, 'What do you know about this piece?' and I would say 'Nothing,'" Ms. Cook said.

She said much of her information came from old photographs and an inventory done in the 1960s by Jean Daniel, wife of Gov. Price Daniel Sr.

Ms. Cook said "the curiosity item" is a small wicker chair with a round seat, seen in mansion photos taken at the turn of the century and during the "Ma" Ferguson administration. It is beyond repair but "somebody might want it as a souvenir," she said.

First Lady Rita Clements obtained professional appraisals of all mansion furnishings before placing them in storage while the mansion undergoes renovation. According to a letter sent to all living former first ladies, Mrs. Clements and her staff culled items that "would not be appropriate" in the restored mansion.

The Governor's Mansion Committee and the Texas Commission on the Arts then authorized removal of the 39 pieces of furniture from the mansion inventory.

"This was the first time the committee has strongly exercised its responsibility. There never has been anybody to take care of this furniture, to be perfectly blunt," Ms. Cook said.

Each former first lady will have a chance to bid, but, legally, may not receive special preference.

One former mansion occupant is a little concerned about selling off furniture that has been used in the governor's house.

"Just the fact that something was in the mansion lends it a certain historic value. A first lady should have the opportunity of looking at it later on. Different first families have different tastes and lifestyles, and I would hope they would not let anything of historic value go," said Rep. Dave Alred, D-Wichita Falls.

Alred lived in the mansion as a small boy during the late 1930s when his father, James V. Alred, was governor.

While "shook up" that they might be selling a bunch of stuff because Rita didn't like it," Alred also understands why the mansion might be ripe for a garage sale.

"I do remember exploring the mansion's basement when I was five or six. Stuff was just stacked all over," he recalled - things like a plaster model of a school bus and a marble bust that gave Alred a fright when he rounded a dark corner and came face to face with it.

Conservationists Attend Session

Local conservationists were in Abilene on Monday attending a meeting of the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Directors.

Burl Belw, W.L. Wilson, Jr., and Walter Stirl, directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District and Erwin A. Pavlik, district conservationist for the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service attended from Borden and Scurry Counties.

Joe Montgomery, a Taylor County rancher and association president presided over the meeting. Reports on items affecting soil and water conservation district activities were made by Joe Antile, member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Abilene; Hermon Petty, president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Mineral Wells; and Carl Spencer, Executive Director of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Temple.

Wayne Wyatt, manager, High Plains Underground Water District of Lubbock, presented a program on water needs, use and potential use. He discussed water production in the Ogallala formation on the high plains which encompasses all or parts of 45 counties; several possibilities of water importation from other states; and the use of plant growth regulators which under research conditions have produced high crop yields with very limited amounts of water.

The meeting was hosted by the Middle Clear Fork SWCD at the Starlight Inn Restaurant in Abilene.

The June meeting will be hosted by the Sandhills Soil and Water Conservation District at Crane on June 30.

Cat Rescued After Week In Fir Tree

YALE, Wash. (AP)—Diggy, the cat who refused to come down from a towering fir tree after nearby Mount St. Helens started rumbling, is back in his owner's arms today—considerably thinner than when he began his week-long ordeal.

Dwight Carpenter, a forester for the state Department of Natural Resources, scaled the tree with special climbing gear and spiked boots Friday and managed to entice Dinky down.

The cat had been up the tree for eight days and previous efforts, including enticement by fish and a lady cat, had failed.

The black tomcat shot up the tree just before Mount St. Helens began erupting on March 27.

"At first he was up only 20 or 30 feet," recalled Rebecca Huesties, mother of the relieved owner, 7-year-old Lori. "We borrowed the neighbor's ladder and got up to the first branch. He just went farther up the tree."

"My sister and I tried throwing fish up to him, thinking if we could land some on the lower branches he'd come down. It didn't work."

'Gas-Up' International Event Of El Pasoans

By BILL GREER Associated Press Writer

EL PASO (AP)—A drive to the gas station is an international excursion for some El Paso automobile owners who are crossing the border into Mexico where they pay less than half the U.S. price for gasoline.

Gasoline prices are lower in El Paso than most other cities in the United States. But West Texas motorists can cross the border to Juarez, Mexico and fill up for a fraction of the price they'd pay in El Paso.

The average price for all grades of gasoline is slightly less than $1.15 a gallon on the United States side of the border. The El Paso price for regular gasoline ranges from $1.05 to $1.21 a gallon.

It takes about five minutes to drive from downtown El Paso across the Rio Grande River to the nearest Juarez service station.

Prices in Mexico have not changed recently - 47 cents a gallon for regular and 67 cents for unleaded gasoline.

But, the high demand for gas in Juarez causes some rationing and long lines. Last Monday, though, it was not difficult to fill up the tank at Pemex prices.

Pemex is the national oil monopoly of Mexico.

The main problem in Juarez is the shortage of unleaded gas. Last year a delegation from the Juarez Chamber of Commerce met with Pemex officials and asked for a larger allotment of unleaded gasoline.

Pemex officials, who were told much of the allotted gas went to U.S.

vehicles, refused the request.

Filling 'er up in Mexico, however, does have its disadvantages. Two recent incidents cooled the popularity of Mexican fuels. A mistake in the mixture of diesel fuel at one Texas-Mexico border town sent owners of some expensive U.S. cars scurrying to mechanics.

In Juarez, Pemex officials startled frugal motorists when they announced regular gasoline stored in a large tank was accidentally mixed with water and distributed to filling stations.

And, the Mexican pumps ring up prices and quantities in pesos and liters. Some drivers find it handy to carry a calculator.

Some U.S. motorists insist on souping up the Mexican gas with additives. Others say it's a must to add a little high-priced U.S. ethyl in each tank to give the foreign gas an extra kick and fewer knocks.

Ironically, in the early 1970s, high gasoline prices in Juarez forced many Mexican motorists to cross into the United States for fuel.

In November, 1971 Pemex officials said gasoline sales in Juarez dropped 46 percent after Mexican prices were raised above those in the United States. Mexican gas was 22 cents a gallon before the increases.

There are about 35 stations in Juarez compared with more than 250 in El Paso.

There are no self-service stations in Mexico. But Juarez filling stations are much like the United States counterparts in some areas - attendants don't wash windows.

Evel Knievel Facing Suit

MIAMI (AP)—Daredevil Evel Knievel faces a $100,000 damage suit over a luxury yacht that he says he can't afford to buy though he fixed it up by adding a teak deck, carpeting and extra bedroom mirrors.

Transit Charter Inc. contends Knievel's improvements damaged the 116-foot yacht and he broke a contract to buy it. The company convinced a federal judge Tuesday that the motorcycle stuntman was liable for any damage to the luxury vessel.

Judge William Hoever set a hearing later this month to determine the extent of damage to the yacht Knievel says he chartered in mid-1977 to take his family to motorcycle races in Daytona Beach.

Knievel's attorney, John Spittle Jr., said he withdrew from the case because Knievel didn't make good on promises to pay him.

WTC Professor's Book Goes On Sale

AWARD—Dr. Harry Krenek displays the plaque presented him at the 21st annual convention of the National Guard Association of Texas. Krenek was recognized for the historical research which resulted in the publication of "The Power Vested," a history of the Texas National Guard in the years from 1919-32.

The use of martial law and the Texas National Guard in Texas domestic crisis in the period from 1919-1932 are detailed in a new book titled "The Power Vested" by Dr. Harry Krenek, professor of history at Western Texas College.

Krenak made extensive use of previously unpublished materials from the Texas National Guard archives in assembling his data, which was first published as his doctoral thesis. In recognition of his work, the Texas National Guard Association's Military History Committee recently named Krenek recipient of its annual award. The presentation of a special plaque was made by Lt. Col Richard E. Harrison at the Association's 21st annual convention in Dallas.

The book is being used by students in History 132 at WTC this semester. It is available in the WTC bookstore in the paperback edition for $8.95. The hardback edition sells for $12.75 and will soon be available at Snyder Book Store at 3902 College Avenue. The publisher, Presidial Press of Austin, has also prepared a Collector's Edition, limited to 50 copies, leather bound and boxed, and offers these for $40 each.

Both the WTC library and the Scurry County Library have the book on order.

Krenak, a native of Elgin, Tex., was graduated from Howard Payne University in 1963 and received his master's degree at Southwest Texas State University in 1967. He was awarded the Ph.D. in history by Texas Tech University in 1979.

Krenak has used his historical research as the springboard for other writings, including articles in "West Texas Historian," "Military History of Texas and the Southwest," "Texas Highways," and "Lower Colorado River Review." His book is the same easy-reading style as the shorter pieces. An index is included, which makes the book easy to use as a research aid.

Traditionally it was the Texas Rangers who responded when local law enforcement officials proved unable to maintain law and order. Krenek says. However, in 1919 the Rangers were publicly condemned for some of their World War I activities along the Texas border and the famed organization was limited by legislative action to a maximum strength of 76 men. With the effectiveness of the Rangers so severely curtailed, Texas governors were forced to call on the Texas National Guard to restore law and order in the turbulent years following the war.

At Mexico in the early 1920s and at Borger later in the decade, oil booms attracted gamblers, bootleggers and others who were more than willing to circumvent the laws relating to personal morals. When gambling casinos and open bars sprang up in the cities, the Guard was ordered to intervene. Martial law was declared and the military raided stills and carried out a general clean-up operation.

At Sherman, in the summer of 1930, a lynch mob of more than a thousand people burned the Grayson County courthouse and then turned their wrath on the National Guard troops. The troops were forced to retreat and barricade themselves in the county jail.

In 1931 the boom in the East Texas oil field drove the price of oil down to six cents a barrel and violence broke out between the pro-ration and anti-ration forces. The Guard was ordered to close the field so that, as one newspaper reported,

"The 1,600 wells that were producing 738,000 barrels of oil a day will not turn out enough to grease any army rifle." After the field was reopened, Guardsmen on horseback patrolled the field for months in an attempt to enforce the pro-ration orders of the Railroad Commission.

"The Power Vested" is more than a history of the National Guard. It is a history of Texas in an era when racial tension and economic disputes erupted into violence, and Texan buffs will find that aspect interesting.

Mortgage Hike Highest Ever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Home mortgage rates rose 1.47 percent in March, the sharpest jump on record, the government says.

The effective interest rate on new, single-family homes hit 14.6 percent, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said Friday.

The stiff rise in mortgage rates reflected credit tightening moves by the Federal Reserve Board taken in February. Since then, the board has taken additional steps to slow borrowing and battle inflation.

Before March, the biggest monthly increase in mortgage commitment rates was a 1.03 percentage point jump from early October to early November 1979.

Early March's rate was nearly three percentage points above the level posted last October and four percentage points above the March 1979 figure, the bank board said.

The latest mortgage rates were just part of the depressing economic news the government released Friday. Officials also reported that wholesale prices surged upward by 1.4 percent in March, maintaining an 18 percent inflation rate, and unemployment increased to 6.2 percent of the labor force, up from 6 percent in February.

Memories Of Tornado Haunt Wichita Falls

Editor's Note: Like a terrible dream, a storm last week revived the haunting memories of the Wichita Falls tornado. It struck a year ago Thursday, killing 45. The latest assault overshadowed the fact that 80 percent of the homes, apartments and businesses have been rebuilt.

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Patsy Carroll is sick of monsters, tired of running, mad as hell and just a little upset about her children's night terrors.

"Where do you go to give up?" asked Louise Thomas as she mounted a tattered white symbol of surrender on her front porch.

Said Kathy Scheid, "It was kind of like Pavlov's dog. When the sirens went off, I became irrational."

The source of this fear and frustration was a killer tornado last year and the second storm last week—a haunting reminder of "Terrible Tuesday."

It was a year ago April 10 that a giant twister knifed into this Northwest Texas City of 100,000 and killed, crippled and destroyed with random perversity.

"The Storm Without Pity" read a banner headline in the Wichita Falls Times.

Forty-five persons died.

hundreds were injured and thousands were left homeless. Losses ran into the tens of millions.

Witnesses said three separate tornadoes converged into a single broad twister that danced along a populous corridor for more than eight disastrous miles.

It struck at 6 p.m. that Tuesday and by 6:10 it was gone. In its wake was a paralyzed city without power or water or a functional disaster plan.

Recovery was slow, painful and by no means total. After what crisis counselors labeled a "very hard year," city planners announced last Tuesday that 80 percent of the 5,500 homes damaged or destroyed had been rebuilt.

The next day, a moon-time thunderstorm swept into town, packing torrential rain and hail and the dramatic turbulence so common for tornadoes.

"We were almost looking at the same situation as last April 10," said meteorologist Frank Cannon. The National Weather Service confirmed "at least a dozen funnels."

Spotter's reported a tornado on the ground at Lake Kickapoo in neighboring Archer County. A second twister touched down just south southwest of Wichita Falls.

The second funnel rumbled toward the city.

At 12:56 p.m. officials triggered the ominous disaster warning sirens.

Around town, people scurried for cover. They fled from diners and shopping centers, beauty parlors, grocery stores and elsewhere.

Some panicked. Most did not.

Many abandoned cars—a lesson from Terrible Tuesday.

The more fortunate took refuge in storm cellars. Others huddled in bathtubs and closets and, in one tragic instance, in a drainage ditch.

A flash flood drowned a woman and her infant grandchild huddled there.

Patsy Carroll, her husband and three children, dragged mattresses and pillows into the bathroom.

Louise Thomas rode out the storm in a cellar with 13 people and two dogs.

Kathy Scheid, at lunch when the sirens sounded, dove home and hid in a closet.

Common Cause Suing Carter

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter is being sued by a citizen lobbying group which charges he has failed to set up energy-saving programs required by law.

Common Cause filed suit against Carter and three federal agencies Thursday accusing the administration of not implementing laws aimed at cutting energy used by the government.

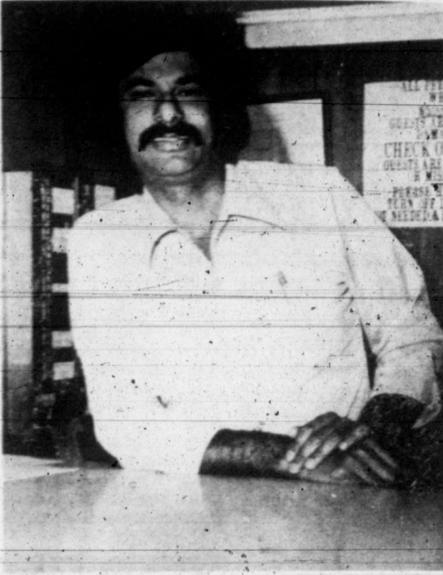

The group said if the Energy Department would develop a 10-year plan for reducing energy used in federal buildings it would save 31 million barrels of oil a year.

He took over operations at the motel April 1.

"We are going to do extensive remodeling, in six figures," said Hussein.

All the rooms are getting complete renovations.

Also on the agenda of change is an addition to existing banquet facilities at the motel.

MOTEL OWNER—Aladin Hussein, a two-year resident of Snyder, has recently purchased the American Motel Inn on the East Highway, near the traffic Y. Hussein is also the operator of the Pizza Inn, a position he plans to keep, he said. (SDN Staff Photo)

American Motel Has New Owner

The 31-unit American Motel Inn, located on the East Highway near the traffic Y, has been purchased by Aladin Hussein.

Hussein, a native of Pakistan, is an 11-year resident of this country. He came here as a student, studying first at Cooke County Junior College then transferring to the University of Texas where he studied industrial and management engineering.

He took over operations at the motel April 1.

"We are going to do extensive remodeling, in six figures," said Hussein.

All the rooms are getting complete renovations.

Hussein, the operator of the Pizza Inn, said he plans to retain that post.

He added that one motel owned by the Hussein family has recently been sold in Gainesville. Two other motels are owned by the family, one in East Texas and one in South Texas.

"TIME is money

If you don't read TIME Magazine, you should. You're paying for it.

In the fall of 1978, voters approved a constitutional amendment allowing family farmers to pay property taxes based upon the production value rather than the skyrocketing market value of their land.

Unfortunately, it took an act of the legislature to put this change into effect, and the special interest lobbyists descended on the Capitol like a swarm of locusts.

Before it was all over, the legislators (including our own State representative, Mike Erzell) voted to give the family farmers' tax break to the agribusiness corporations (that are buying out Texas family farmers), to land speculators, and to the giant timber companies. In fact, Temple-Eastex, a subsidiary of New York-based TIME, Inc., will be the biggest single beneficiary of the tax break that was designed to save the family farmer.

How does that affect you?

It means that instead of giving a real tax break to family farmers and the elderly (as the constitutional amendment was intended to do), Mr. Erzell voted to give the biggest tax break in Texas history to real estate speculators and big corporations. And who's making up for the lost tax revenues? You and I are.

So the next chance you have to read a copy of TIME, read it cover to cover. You're paying for it.

We can do better. We can't afford not to.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Many American homes and hotels have tap water temperatures that are dangerous as well as energy-wasting. A survey of homes showed that 35 percent of them heated water to 133 F., which can produce a potentially lethal burn in only three or four seconds. Hot water scalds account for about 20 percent of burns in some hospitals, especially among children. Tap water temperatures should be kept below 130 F. - some doctors advise 124 F. - by adjustments at the hot water heater.

Lou Leads Pack Of Pro Bowlers

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Alvin Lou topped Tom Baker 211-196 in the last match to claim the top-seeded position going into the finals of a $125,000 Professional Bowlers Association tournament.

Lou, who took over first place in the sixth round after rolling games of 211 and 268, won his first two matches but relinquished the lead to Dave Frame after losing three of his next four games. Lou then rebounded with two round-closing victories to finish 11 pins better than Frame.

Song Remembers Poke Quarterback

DALLAS (AP)—Roger Staubach's swan song as Dallas Cowboy quarterback has now been upstaged by "Roger's Song."

The melodic tribute was pulled together late Thursday night and debuted on a Dallas radio station Friday morning.

Unfortunately Roger the Dodger didn't hear it. He was listening to Anne Murray tapes in his car instead.

Producer Jake Pittman said musicians and studio personnel worked until the wee hours Friday morning on the record. Commercial singer Ginger Brown, 23, said she wasn't even told she would be featured on the recording until 11 p.m. Thursday.

Pittman rushed the tape to radio station KVIL and disc jockey Ron Chapman slapped it on the air at 8:45 a.m. CST, without listening to it first.

"You get a lot of people bringing in songs and wanting you to play them," Chapman said after hearing the song. "There are a lot of terrible songs done. But this was a very thoughtful, very musical event."

Pittman and songwriter Ron Bailey, both of Dallas, said records should be ready for distribution in about two weeks.

"I wanted to write something that would express what's happened to Roger," Bailey said, admitting he wouldn't mind if the records sold enough to make him a tidy profit. "It's not an ending, but a beginning."

Ms. Brown added: "It's not flashy. It's just real pretty."

And that's why Pittman said he decided to have a woman sing about the quarterback often described as a "real man's hero."

He said, "it might have sounded kind of funny having a guy singing..."

"How can we return all the joy you've given us? For all the breaks and pain that you went through, wherever you may go, you'll be part of us. Without you in the game it may never be the same. Even though you feel it's time to retire, Thanks for being the man we all admire. Through the years to come our goals remain the same. Although you must depart, you're still a Cowboy in our hearts."

So long doesn't mean we say goodbye. So long, we hate to see you go, Roger."

Televised Sunday...

Cuevas Defends Title

HOUSTON (AP)—World Boxing Association welterweight champion Pipino Cuevas of Mexico will make his 11th title defense Sunday against South Africa's Harold Volbrecht, the No. 5 challenger, but Sugar Ray Leonard will be only a knockout and signature away.

Cuevas, who has knocked out nine challengers in 10 previous defenses, went into the nationally televised 15 rounder as a heavy favorite to defeat Volbrecht and then accept a fight with Leonard, the World Boxing Council welterweight champion.

Promoter Bob Arum of Top Rank, Inc., confirmed Friday a championship bout at a yet-to-be-named location would be announced Sunday if Cuevas defeats Volbrecht.

The title fight with Leonard is not open to the winner of Sunday's fight, only to Cuevas if he wins.

"That's why this fight is so important," Arum said. "We will have an announcement Sunday, pending the outcome of the fight."

The only role left open to Volbrecht, the South African welterweight champion, was that of spoiler, and he expects to play that role well. He even predicted a knockout over the champion.

"I think he's going to take me lightly and I'm going to knock him out," said Volbrecht, although declining to name a round. "I'm not Ali."

Cuevas, a feared puncher, goes for quick victories and has similar plans Sunday.

"I'll knock him out in the first round if I see an opening," said Cuevas, 26-5 as a pro. "My style is to jump on top of them from the start and never let them get away."

Volbrecht, 22-2, said he was equally adept at boxing or punching but he intended to box Cuevas.

Cuevas, confessed he's never seen Volbrecht fight but it didn't make any difference. "I prepare the same for all my fights," he said. "I am in excellent shape and I'm ready to go so I don't worry."

The classic boxer-puncher matchup between Cuevas and Volbrecht could be a preview of a Cuevas-Leonard title fight.

Leonard, who knocked out Davey "Boy" Green last week in his first title defense, will be a commentator for the nationally televised fight.

Describing his pursuing, swarming style, Cuevas said "That's the way I would fight Leonard. I'd be on him and not give him a chance to move around, which is why Leonard gets away. People give him distance and he looks pretty."

Macbeth, a son of Macduff, won the 1888 Kentucky Derby.

Brownfield Holds Off Defending Champions

BROWNFIELD - Brownfield's Cubs came up with four first-inning runs, then held on to defeat Snyder High School by just that total here Friday afternoon, 4-0, in District 3-AAA baseball action.

The Cub victory left Brownfield leading the loop with a 1-0 record, followed by Snyder's 1-1, and Lamesa with 0-1. Brownfield and Lamesa were to vie Saturday afternoon.

Four walks and three errors spelled doom for the Tigers, who never gave up a hit in the contest. In all, Snyder committed eight errors in the game, a contrast to the Tigers' normally good fielding.

Brownfield made good use of the mistakes in the first stanza, building up the four-run lead which never changed. From the mound, pitcher Martinez allowed only one hit, a single to Bobby Degrate in the fourth inning. He struck out nine batters in improving his record to 7-1. Tony Degrate, 1-4, started atop the hill for Snyder. He was replaced by William Robinson in the second inning. Neither hurler allowed a hit, but gave up seven walks. The Tigers, 5-11 on the season, Brownfield boasts a 12-1 mark - take on the Golden Tors in

Many Attend Owens Funeral

CHICAGO (AP)—The five-ring Olympic flag was draped across the steel gray coffin of Jesse Owens while strains of "Where the Roads Come Together" played through cavernous Rockefeller Chapel.

Owens carried the banner of black hopes far down the road on lithe shoulders, and Friday, relatives and friends praised the dignity with which he performed that task since stunning the world by winning four gold medals at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin.

Outside the chapel, flags flew at half staff and a light snow fell steadily on bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and red roses in the open backs of two floral cars.

Inside, more than 2,000 mourners from all walks of life warmed themselves with memories of Owens as a friend, a hero, a pioneer and father. "The world will not remember what we say here, but they will never forget what Jesse Owens did," Joe Black, a former major league baseball player and longtime friend, said during remarks at the funeral service.

Owens, son of an Alabama sharecropper and grandson of slaves, died Monday at the age of 66 in a Tucson, Ariz., hospital after a three month bout with lung cancer.

"Weep not, weep not," Black said, his voice quaking. "He's only resting in the bosom of Jesus."

BEST BY FAR—Lloyd Benson, center above, ran away with the 200 and 400 meter dashes at the Lake View Relays held Friday in San Angelo. In the prelims, he ran a personal best of 21.98 in the 200. He won the event in the finals with a 22.5, and took first in the 400 by almost two seconds. His winning time was 48.96. See other photos and story, page 9A. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Snyder Wins Lake View Relays

SAN ANGELO—Snyder's Tigers zipped to first place in a half-dozen events and accumulated enough points in thirds, fourth, fifth and sixth to claim top prize at the Lake View Relays held here Friday afternoon and evening.

The Tigers, competing with high jumper Brad Richardson and suffering through a couple of injuries along the way, won the meet by a scant two points, 104-102 over a strong Brownwood team.

San Angelo Central was next with 89½, followed by Monahans with 80½ and Fort Stockton with 60. San Angelo Lake View, hampered by an injury to sprinter Rex Ford, garnered only 37 points.

Leg injuries suffered by Lloyd Benson, Miguel Ortegón and Thomas Selmon all but put the brakes on Snyder's relay teams - especially in the 1600 meter event where the Tigers have yet to field a completely healthy group all season.

But individually, the Tigers took place of the cloud-covered moon that should have been over Bobeat Stadium. Keith McClain sped to victories in the 110 and 200 hurdles, boasting times of 14.87 and a Region I best of 39.20, respectively.

Dale Jenkins picked up a solid fourth place finish in the high hurdles with a 15.43, but his event was yet to come.

Urged on by fellow athletes, coaches and news media, Jenkins easily cleared 15 feet in the pole vault and tied his best ever moments later when he executed a bar-banging 15-6. "The Kid" went for 16 later, but brushed the bar coming down on his third attempt. He nonetheless won the event by three feet over his nearest competitor.

Selmon easily won the long jump with a leap of 22-2. In fact, he was the only athlete to reach the 20s. The senior also took second place in the 100 meter dash with a time of 11.08.

Benson literally ran away with the 400 meter dash. Making one of his best runs ever, Benson turned in a time of 48.96. He also won the 200 meters with an impressive 22.5, shades slower than his blistering 21.98 prelims effort.

It appeared to be on the 400 meter run that Benson injured his leg. No one really knew how much he was suffering until the Tiger athlete took the second leg of the 1600. Close behind the second place runner from Central, spectators were sure he would put Snyder in second place, if not first.

But the blonde-haired athlete began pulling up before the mid-way point, and finished in fifth. Ortegón, who also had a minor leg injury, and Glenn Parham kept Snyder in position to garner four points out of the meet's final event - enough to give the Tigers a two-point edge over Brownwood.

Parham was a story himself in the Lake View Relays. The all-around athlete was upset over his sixth place finish in the long jump (18-10¼), but beamed in the high jump and 800 meters where he forged personal bests.

With Richardson out to visit relatives in El Paso during the Easter break, it appeared Snyder wouldn't do much in the high jump. But Parham leapt 6-2 to nail down third place and six big points, and later took fourth in the 800 with a 2:02.90. It was his best of the season by seconds. Teammate Mark Shaw, who got sixth, also put forth a personal best of 2:05.47.

In other events, Tommy Peek hurled the discus 139-11 for fourth place; Keith Wallace took fifth in the long jump with an 18-11½ effort; and the Tiger 400 meter relay team finished third with a 44.22.

Stadler Leads At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Craig Stadler fired a 3-under-par 69 with birdies on two of his last three holes and established a two-stroke lead in the second round of the $250,000 Greater Greensboro Open. Pat McGowan managed a 70 that put him in second place at 138.

Stadler led by one stroke over McGowan, who shot a 70. McGowan's score included a 67 on the final hole, but he was unable to catch Stadler.

SUPER DAY—Snyder High School came up with 104 points to win the Lake View Relays held Friday in San Angelo. It was an especially good day for several Tigers, who performed personal bests. One such individual was Glenn Parham, shown above clearing 6-2 in the high jump. The leap was Parham's best ever, and netted third place. He also ran a personal top of 2:02.90 in the 800 meters for fourth place. See article above, photos on pages 8 and 9A. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Lewis Breaks Texas Meet Jump Record

AUSTIN (AP)—Carl Lewis likes the long jump at the University of Texas mainly because he doesn't have to dodge javelins while he performs.

The world-class long jumper from the University of Houston, only a freshman, smashed a 22-year-old Texas Relays record Friday night with an extraordinary long jump of 26-6½.

It broke the old record of 26-3½, set by Ernie Shelby of Kansas, but the effort wasn't Lewis' career best.

Lewis, of Willingboro, N.J., the NCAA indoor champion, soared 26-8 at the 1979 Pan American Games to earn a bronze medal. He jumped 25-8¼ in the NCAA indoor.

The NCAA outdoor track and field championships will be held here in June and Lewis said, "I think there is such a thing as a home-court advantage for me in the NCAA because a lot of those guys (opponents) have been in the AAU's where they have javelins flying around you. We don't have that kind of distraction here so I think that will help me."

Lewis also likes the peace and quiet of the outdoor meets. "I like jumping outdoors much better than indoors," said the 18-year-old Lewis. "I don't like indoors at all - it's too cramped and too noisy." He added, "I think it will take a jump of 27 feet to win the NCAA."

There was one other relays record of note Friday night when Mark Anderson of the University of Arkansas won the 5,000-meter run in 13:41.38. He broke the old record of 13:49.36 by Michael Musyoki of Texas El Paso in 1978.

"I told myself before the race to just forget about the time and stay with the pack," said Anderson, who greeted his mother with a big bear hug at the end of the race. "I wanted to compete and show the people the type of runner I think I can be. I haven't been running well since high school and a lot of people have been expecting a lot from me. Maybe now they'll start seeing a lot more of me."

Like Lewis, Anderson enjoys performing at the Texas Relays.

"I just love running in this stadium," said Anderson, whose previous best in the 5,000-meter was 14:02.

The other Texas Relays' record of note was Louisiana State's 1:22.35 in the 800-meter relay.

The previous record was established by LSU last year in 1:22.37. The highlight of Saturday's action was expected in the open 100-meter dash when Texas A&M's Curtis Dickey takes on a talented field.

Texas Series At 1-1...

San Antonio 'Spurs' Back

by The Associated Press The San Antonio Spurs got even with the Houston Rockets, by George.

"It was a win for George Gervin," Houston Coach Del Harris said after watching the San Antonio superstar wreck his Rockets with a 44-point performance in the National Basketball Association playoffs Friday night.

Gervin's big night helped the Spurs beat the Rockets 106-101 and tie the best-of-three, first-round Eastern Conference series at a game apiece. Gervin scored 13 of his points in the last period and teamed with Kevin Restani to help control the flow of the game at the end. Gervin and Restani, who had nine points in the fourth quarter, led a San Antonio rally that gave the Spurs a 95-86 lead with 4:48 remaining.

76ers 112, Bulls 104 Julius Erving scored 31 points as Philadelphia built a commanding lead, then held off a late Washington charge. The victory advanced the 76ers to the second round of the Eastern Conference playoffs against Atlanta. The first game of that best-of-seven series will be played Sunday in Philadelphia. Atlanta drew a first-round bye for winning the Central Division. The 76ers saw a 22-point lead over Washington melt to just four with 3:33 left. But then they nailed the game down with some key points and a steal by Erving.

Kings 106, Suns 96 Scott Wedman scored 32 points and Otis Birdsong added 30 as Kansas City survived a third-quarter rally by Phoenix. Birdsong scored 11 of his points in the final period, including six during the string of eight straight, to help the Kings take a 98-87 lead with 2:26 left. The Suns could get no closer than nine points the rest of the way.

Before that, the Suns had wiped out a 21-point Kansas City lead in the third period and even had moved ahead by two before folding.

Alvan Adams led Phoenix with 22 points and Paul Westphal added 18. Blazers 105, Sonics 95 Ron Brewer and Billy Ray Bates triggered a late Portland rally as the Trail Blazers downed Seattle in overtime. The defending NBA champion Sonics led through most of the first half, their biggest lead coming at 33-23 with 8:49 left before halftime.

The Blazers caught the Sonics in the third quarter and it was close the rest of the way. An 18-foot shot by Bates with five seconds left sent the game into overtime tied at 89-89.

The extra period was all Portland, as Brewer and Bates scored six points apiece.

Brewer and Calvin Natt each scored 27 points to lead Portland. Bates, who had scored only two by halftime, wound up with 20. Dennis Johnson led Seattle with 24.

Grand Jurors Blasted By Bullock's Lawyer

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—Comptroller Bob Bullock's lawyer says it sometimes appears to him that grand jurors decide in advance to "get" somebody that they don't have the evidence to indict.

Roy Minton criticized Travis County grand jurors whose jurisdiction includes state officials—as he argued Friday to remove a report about Bullock from county records.

The judge, in the case, retired Texas Supreme Court Justice Ruel Walker, will make a decision after receiving written briefs from both Minton and the district attorney.

Bullock is trying to expunge a report issued by grand jurors in December 1978 after they investigated some of the comptroller's operations but failed to return any indictments.

A subsequent grand jury also investigated allegations made by Bullock's former publicist, Bill Collier, but also returned no indictments. Still open is an investigation into wheater Ralph Wayne, Bullock's former No. 2 man, used state supplies and employees in his personal business.

The December 1978 report said Bullock hindered the investigation by making it difficult for impossible to obtain pertinent records, such as those on the use of the comptroller's state-owned aircraft.

"I think grand jurors must sit around the drink coffee and eat cake somebody almost always bring a cake - and say, 'Who are we going to get?' Minton told Walker.

In Bullock's case, he said, the report is "sarcastic" and phrased "in such a way that it is going to rile somebody. It singles out this man here who the people of Texas elected and if they don't want him, they can vote him out of office. It scorches him."

Bullock sat quietly in a chair behind Minton. Assistant District Attorney Ralph Graham said grand jurors have a "watchdog" role that sometimes necessitates issuing reports even when there are no indictments returned.

He said grand jurors, as private citizens, are protected by the right of free speech when they issue non-indicting reports such as the one written about Bullock.

"The grand jury ought to be able to say that somebody is impeding the grand jury and that is the reason there was an acquittal," Graham said.

Grand jury reports, he said, are a common practice, and "grand jury reports have been spanking public officials since as long as we can find out."

Minton said the First Amendment right of free speech is a protection for individuals, not arms of government such as grand juries. He said grand juries operated as part of the judicial branch of government and, therefore, are not protected by the right of free speech.

He said nowhere in the Texas Constitution or state law are grand juries given the authority to do more than indict or no-bill persons accused of crimes.

Hearing On Sr. Citizen Services Set

A public hearing to gather facts for planning Senior Citizen services has been set for 11 a.m. April 17 at the Scurry County Senior Citizens Center, 2603, Ave. M.

The hearing to be conducted by the West Central Texas Council of Governments Area Agency of Aging will be one of 19 set throughout the WCTCOG region. It will be open to all residents of Scurry County, but will be directed primarily to persons aged 60 and over.

Included will be discussion of operation of senior citizen services under the Older Americans Act. National, state and local priorities will be reviewed with opportunity for input from the audience.

Most of the hearing will be spent getting information from those attending about the needs of older persons. The information will be used by the area agency on aging in preparing its regional aging services plan for the period beginning Oct. 1.

The ancient Greeks used to offer round cakes lit with candles to celebrate the anniversary of the goddess Artemis.

CUTWORMS AND SOIL INSECT CONTROL

The cutworms are causing havoc in many garden spots and flower beds. The cutworm is a difficult pest to control due to its feeding habits and nature.

During the day the cutworm will burrow into loose dirt 1/2 to 1 inch depth, usually fairly close to the plants. At night the cutworms will emerge and feed on plant and cut the stem 1 1/2 to 2 inches above the ground. In severe cases it may eat the above ground parts.

Control measures usually consist of applying residual insecticides, such as Sevin, to the plants late in the afternoon. Applications should be made every other day or every third day until they are controlled. Control measures such as this are usually considered only fair.

Prior to planting or transplanting most soil in sects can be controlled by treating the soil two weeks before planting 3/4 cups of Diazinon in 2 1/2 to 3 gallons water will treat 1,000 square feet of surface area. This should be applied evenly and mixed thoroughly into the top four inches of soil.

In transplanting, such as with tomatoes or peppers etc., use 1 cup of a mixture containing 2 teaspoons Diazinon in 1 gallon of water per plant. Prepared baits like Carbaryl 5B will also aid in controlling cutworms and sowbugs. Apply this bait at the rate of 1 pound per 1,000 square feet on a warm, dry evening.

These type of insects are difficult to control and diligent, persistent effort is needed.

Tech Health Center VP To Step Down

LUBBOCK (AP)—Dr. Richard A. Lockwood says he will step down from his position as vice president of the Texas Tech University Health Science Center and assume a teaching role with the medical school.

"I look forward to the opportunity to devote full time to academics and to returning to patient care activities," he said in announcing his decision to resign in June.

Lockwood will remain with the medical school as a tenured professor of surgery and chief of service in proctology.

Following discussions with incoming president Dr. Lauro Cavazos, I have elected to make my resignation effective June 2," Lockwood said Thursday after meeting with the medical school faculty and staff.

Lockwood joined the fledgling school of medicine in September 1973 as project director for building programs. He was named vice president in February 1974.

"Six years in an institution constantly undergoing change is longer than usual. I have enjoyed administering the affairs of the medical school and the health sciences center for these six years. I have been pleased with our accomplishments," said Lockwood.

Lockwood helped develop guidelines for regional medical education and directed the opening of a regional academic health center in El Paso. He also was instrumental in establishing the Permian Regional Academic Center at Odessa.

Eddie Eagan of the United States was the only man to win gold medals at both the Summer and Winter Olympics. Eagan won golds in boxing and bob-sledding.

ANNOUNCEMENTS A

GERMANIA FARM Mutual Aid Association, L.C. 213 meeting April 7, 1980 at 7:30 p.m. at Roland Hall No. 256 (Old German School). Very important that everyone be present. Albert J. Kuss, Jr.

CARD OF THANKS A-3

WE TAKE this means to express our sincere thanks to our many friends who were so kind to us in our darkest hour of sorrow (when our loved one was called away). We deeply appreciate the kind words and beautiful flowers that were sent, also the food that was prepared. May you have just friends if such sorrow ever visits your home. May heaven's richest blessings fall on each of you.

The Damon Johnson Family

WE WISH to express our deep appreciation for the many kindnesses extended during the illness and death of our father. Especially, we thank Dr. Pierce, the nurses, and the special attendants for their care and concern. Also, we truly appreciate the many friends, their visits, flowers and cards. These expressions of love and concern helped us greatly during this time.

Ila Ruth Newton
Mr. & Mrs. Melvin Newton, Jr.
Mr. & Mrs. Steve Tyler

Pair Must Pay More In Bail

ABILENE (AP)—Authorities have been told to re-arrest a man and wife mistakenly released on $40,000 bond from the Taylor County jail and hold the pair until they post $160,000 more in bail.

Larry W. Ellis, 27, and his wife Christel, 24, were released Friday by jail officials who apparently did not know their bonds had been increased from $40,000 to $200,000 on theft indictments, said Mike Watson, assistant criminal district attorney.

The Plano couple was named in four sealed theft indictments returned March 21 that alleged they bilked two Abilene banks out of almost $35,000 in a commodity futures trading deal. The pair was arrested in Collin County on Monday.

Bonds had originally been set at $10,000 on each charge, but after the couple's arrest State District Judge J. Neill Daniels, at the prosecution's request, increased the bond to $50,000 on each count.

Mike Watson, Taylor County assistant criminal district attorney, said jail officials apparently failed to note the increased bond on their records when they were notified Tuesday.

EPA Rules Preventing Refinery Construction

By MAX SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Donald C. O'Hara says the Environmental Protection Agency has finally accomplished what the old Standard Oil Trust was unable to do at the peak of its power.

The president of the National Petroleum Refiners Association says the EPA has effectively closed the door to the entry of new competitors into the refining business.

O'Hara said only one large domestic refinery has been built since 1973.

In order to get permission to build a new plant you must make a "trade off," that is, you must offer to close down some other polluting facility in order to balance the emissions," he said.

"Since only an existing company can do this, this rule has the effect of barring new competitors from entering the refining business."

Thus, he said, the industry seems to be entering into a new era like the early days of the New Deal.

"While the government antitrust lawyers are still talking about free competition, the overall government policy is leading us into a controlled industry in which we are sheltered from competition," he said.

O'Hara said a great deal has been written about the first great antitrust case under the Sherman Act which broke up the Standard Oil Trust in 1911.

This is often credited with bringing about competition in the industry," he said. "However, there are many students of the oil industry who point out the decree did not have much effect for many years."

O'Hara said there were two economic factors working to undermine the Oil Trust.

"The first of these was a tremendous increase in the demand for petroleum products, principally gasoline as the automobile developed its appetite," he said.

"The other was the discovery of oil in places like Texas, Oklahoma, and California which were outside the territory that had been controlled by the Trust."

These discoveries, he said, resulted in the establishment of large competitors such as Texaco, Gulf, Sun, Union Oil of California and others.

"What really broke the power of the Standard Oil Trust, and established competition in the oil industry, was that the Trust was unable to prevent new competitors from entering the business," he said, adding that this might be kept in mind while considering today's situation.

O'Hara said that in 1951 the 10 largest oil companies each had 50,000 barrels a day or more of refining capacity.

By the end of 1973, O'Hara said, there were 18 additional companies with 50,000 barrels a day of refining capacity and the share of total domestic capacity held by the 20 largest had declined from 80.68 percent in 1951 to 73.98 percent.

O'Hara said a Louisiana plant is the only large refinery built since 1973.

"However, that plant had barely come on stream when the Federal Energy Administration amended its regulations by adopting the 'reverse entitlements' program which virtually reserve

Building new refineries, he said, is discouraged by both economic and environmental regulation.

"In the past few years there have been 13 unsuccessful attempts to build refineries on the East Coast alone," he said.

"These attempts have ranged all the way from East Port, Maine, on the Canadian border, down to South Carolina. They have been rejected for environmental reasons."

O'Hara said one company, for example, has been trying nine years to get permission to build a refinery in Norfolk, Va.

Reactor Shuts Down In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—An abnormal drop in reactor water levels automatically shut down a nuclear power plant in southwestern Japan and caused a slight danger of radiation leakage outside the facility, an official said.

The shutdown of the Japan Atomic Power Co. in Tsuruga, 211 miles west of Tokyo, came as water levels were found 39 inches lower than usual in the boiling-water reactor, apparently due to malfunctioning water supply systems, the official said.

The plant resumed operations March 29, two days after shutting down automatically when a test pilot valve controlling a primary vapor separation cap failed to operate normally.

One survey shows that out of 4,000 species of flowers, only 400 gave off a pleasant scent. The most perfume was produced by flowers with white or cream-colored petals.

25 To Life For Teenager

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Petite, 18-year-old Brenda Spencer, who killed two men in a 6 1/2-hour schoolyard sniper attack, has been sentenced to a prison term of 25 years to life in prison for murder.

The red-haired teenager on Friday also was given a concurrent 48-year term for assault with a deadly weapon on the wounding of eight children and an extra seven years in the shooting of a police officer.

Orange County Superior Court Judge Byron McMillan emphasized those additional years would not lengthen the time actually spent in prison.

"The reason for the higher term was because of the violence of the acts, the multiple victims and the apparent premeditation on the part of the defendant," McMillan said.

Burton Wragg, principal of the Cleveland Elementary School in San Diego, was killed trying to rescue a child during the January 1979 incident. Janitor Mike Suchar was killed trying to rescue Wragg.

A week before the shooting, she had told acquaintances she was going to "do something big to get on TV."

Miss Spencer, who pleaded guilty to two counts of murder, already has been given credit for 15 months served in Santa Ana and San Diego jails and a California Youth Authority facility in Ventura.

Drug-Sniffing School Dogs Protested

BAYTOWN (AP)—Three students who say their constitutional rights are being violated by a school policy that allows drug-sniffing dogs to randomly search students have challenged the policy in federal court.

A class action suit filed Wednesday in Houston on behalf of the students by the American Civil Liberties Union asks U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor to halt the searches at Baytown Sterling High School.

The students - Robby Horton, 18, his sister Heather, 15, and Sandra Sanchez, also 18 - have been singled out by the dogs and searched, according to Arthur Val Perkins, their attorney.

Perkins said none of the three were found to have drugs in their possession. The suit says only a bottle of perfume was found when a purse belonging to Ms. Sanchez was searched Jan. 10.

The suit claims "the dogs are escorted unannounced by their trainers and school administrators into the classrooms of the school district during class periods."

The dogs, German Shepherds and Doberman Pinschers, are allowed to sniff the students until drugs are allegedly found and the student is then taken to the principal's office and searched.

Rick Peebles, attorney for the Goose Creek Independent School District of which the school is a part, declined to comment on the suit until it had been read by school officials.

Little Miss Event Judges Announced

Sue Travis, chairman for the ways and means committee of the American Business Women's Association, announced the names of the judges for the "Our Little Miss" Pageant to be presented April 12 at the Snyder High School Auditorium. They are Mrs. Vickie Harrison from Winters, Mrs. Ann Smith and Mrs. Yvonne Thaggard both from Electra.

They will be judging three age groups. The age groups are La Petite, 3-6 years; Our Little Miss, 7-12 years; and Ideal Miss, 13-17 years. Girls in the La Petite age group will be judged on appearance while the girls in Our Little Miss and Ideal Miss groups will also compete in a talent contest.

Top 10 winners of the talent competition will perform at the coronation Saturday evening. The current title holders from the Ballinger pageant will crown the winners of the Snyder Pageant in their respective groups. They are Miss La Petite, Jennifer Harrison; Our Little Miss, Lisa Clark; and Ideal Miss, Donna Faubion.

Tickets for the Saturday night coronation will be $1 and can be purchased from any ABWA member or at the door.

WHO CONTROLS YOUR FOOD CHOICES?

Do you really control your food choices - or do your habits control you? If changes are needed, only you can decide to make them - and that depends on four things: a specific goal, learning nutrition basics, "unlearning" misinformation, and changing traditions. Few of us eat foods because we're told they're "good for us."

In fact, health may be one of the least-effective motivations for change.

GOAL MUST EXIST
On the other hand, most of us will respond to a specific goal - weight reduction or diabetes control, for example.

We see that health relates to any other specific goals, but just "health" alone isn't specific enough to make a majority of us change the way we eat.

Most of us don't think in such long-range terms as eating "right" today to prevent health problems later in life.

So having a specific goal is a "must" for many of us, but it's just the first step.

If we can see health in itself as our specific goal, this first step will be a stronger one.

BASICS, PATHWAYS
Understanding nutrition basics is the second step. This takes learning.

We need facts to point out the pathways of all our other steps - and to suggest the time and effort they'll require.

Most of us are interested in nutrition only if it means something good today.

We seek immediate results, and we're not too realistic about the time and effort needed to reach or obtain our desired goal.

Learning nutrition basics is the key to effectively reaching our goal.

'UNLEARNING' MISINFORMATION
Learning and unlearning is a never-ending process, and nutrition education is not a simple matter.

Changes in types and forms of foods will continue at a pace which staggers the imagination. Choices we face will become even greater.

Realizing that this is a constant process which will go on throughout life is the third step in changing our eating habits.

CHANGING OUR TRADITIONS

Developing the ability to actually change is the fourth step.

One key to success is knowing how strongly food habits become entrenched in our daily routines.

Their grip is so strong we often fail to recognize that the laws of nutrition apply to everyone - or we ignore that fact.

DO I NEED ALL THIS?

How do we know if we need to change? Start with self-analysis.

We can ask ourselves these questions: 1) What factors are most important when I select particular foods? 2) How does my overall dietary pattern affect my lifestyle and health? 3) Or, does my lifestyle determine my eating habits? 4) Do I select foods out of impulse, or am I a rational decision-maker? 5) Do I really understand why I choose the foods I eat?

Remember, too for most people, price of food items doesn't play a central role in consumer decisions - cost limits our purchases, but it doesn't determine our eating habits.

Here's one last question - a "food for thought" question (the one we asked in the first place): Do I really control my food choices - or do my habits control me?

Reverse is forcing rebid.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

In modern bidding, when you open one club and rebid two hearts or diamonds after partner responds one spade you have made a reverse bid which is a one-round force and should show at least a full king above a minimum opening.

Here is a good example. You hold S-Q93H-2D-AK43C-AK986.

You have a sound opening bid with only one of the minor-suit kings. If partner responds one spade, you can well afford to reverse to two diamonds. If he rebids two spades you just bid four. If he rebids two hearts you can bid either two or three spades depending on whether you are an optimist or a pessimist. If he bids two notrump, three clubs or three diamonds you bid three spades.

You can also reverse if the response is one heart, but here you will plan to pass if he just goes back to two hearts. Not that you are happy here, but probably two hearts is the best place to stop.

Incidentally, when and if you do pass at two hearts and it turns out that partner's hand is something like S-A4H-KQJ1076D-Q2C-542 and he wraps up 11 tricks and then says, "Partner! You reversed! How could you pass?" you have heard something similar to what is brought up time and time again.

The true reverse by opener is just a one-round force. A further bid is not promised and there was no reason for this responder to fail to jump to three or four hearts.

Suppose you open one club with S-832H-2D-AK54C-AK986. What should you bid after a one-spade response? Raise to two spades! What should you rebid after a one-heart response? Two clubs, is slightly better than one notrump. Do not consider a reverse bid.

MR. AND MRS. JOBIE GROVES

Couple Married In First Baptist

Sherry Renee Warren and Jobie Groves were married March 29 in the chapel of First Baptist Church with the Rev. Ben Warton, director creative ministries, officiating. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beets. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Groves of Midland. Teresa Smith was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lisa Fogle and Shellie Davenport. The bride's sister, Catherine Beets, was flower girl. Gaylon Groves of Midland, the bridegroom's brother, was ring bearer.

Mike Neely was best man. Groomsmen were Dale Clowers and Curtis Welborne, both of Midland. A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held in the church's garden room. The bride attended Snyder High School and is employed by Lota Burger. The bride groom graduated from Hermleigh High School and is employed by Knipe Oil Well Service.

When buying a fan, the pitch or angle of the blades is important, says Sue Young, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. The deeper the blades are angled, the better they will propel air forward.

Dear Abby

"Heartbroken" Mom Doesn't Have Much to Break

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My heart is broken. Our wonderful 22-year-old son is going to marry the 20-year-old girl he's gone with for two years. She's a fine girl, but last summer suffered a spinal-cord injury in an auto accident. (My son was driving, and miraculously came out of it with no serious injuries.) Unfortunately, the girl is now paralyzed from the waist down, and will be in a wheelchair for the rest of her life. Abby, I don't want to be cruel, but we want more for our son than to spend his life caring for an invalid. He says he "loves" her, but I think he feels sorry for her, and feels guilty because he was driving when the accident occurred. (It wasn't his fault. His brakes failed.)

We've tried to talk some sense into the boy, but it did no good. You are our last hope. He respects your judgment. Will you please write to him and try to make him understand what a serious mistake he is making? We would even be willing to have him live with her for a year just to make sure he knows what he's getting into. Thank you.

HEARTBROKEN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Sorry, but I write only to those who solicit my advice. Instead of trying to dissuade him from marrying the girl, you should be proud of him for his decision. You appear to have a greater problem than your son, Mother. Get counseling and learn how to love and let go.

DEAR ABBY: We are both well over 21. Two years ago my boyfriend and I took out a marriage license, but so far we haven't used it. I have brought up the matter of getting married several times, but he always has an excuse to put it off. I don't think he really wants to get married. Abby, how long is a marriage license good for?

FED UP IN PHILLY

DEAR FED UP: In your case, it's good for nothing.

DEAR ABBY: Do those people who complain about barking dogs ever stop to realize that barking is a dog's way of trying to tell us something?

The talking dog says, "I am lonely, pet me. I am restless, walk me. I am unhappy because I can't leave this spot. Take me with you. I am cold, I am hungry. I am frightened." Give your dog some attention. Walk him twice daily and show him some affection. Take care of his needs and he will be less likely to bark.

As an animal welfare worker, I have answered complaints about barking dogs ever stop to realize that barking is a dog's way of trying to tell us something? The barking dog is the unhappy dog. Let us use love instead of muzzles, and concern instead of criticism.

IRENE UPTON

DEAR IRENE: If dogs could read, you'd get a lot of fan letters from man's best friend.

Teen: Are there some questions you just can't ask anyone about sex, drugs, your own feelings? Abby's new booklet, WHAT TEENAGER SHOULD KNOW TO KNOW. Send $2 to Abby, 132 Long Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope.

Floral Design Classes Begin On April 14

A series of Floral Design classes are scheduled to begin on April 14 as a Community Services course at Western Texas College. Students will pay fees of $25 each and furnish their own supplies. They will learn to make corsages and arrangements using artificial and cut flowers, and the items they make will be theirs to keep.

Sue Travis will be instructor for the classes and students will meet at Travis Flowers, 1912 37th Street. Class hours are 6:30-9:30 on Monday nights through May 19.

Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are to call the Community Services office at WTC, 573-8511, extension 240.

Use a bobby pin or the split end of a pencil eraser as a holder when driving small nails.

Big Spring Church Site Of Ceremony

Vickie L. Kincheloe of Big Spring and Paul Docktor of Abilene were united in marriage in Big Spring, March 15 at 7 p.m. Rev. Carl Shroyer, uncle of the bride performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kincheloe of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Docktor of Abilene.

Father of the bride presented his daughter in marriage as she was attired in a formal length gown of ivory satin fashioned with a high Victorian neckline of scalloped Alcencon lace and long lantern sleeves of beaded lace with a scalloped cuff. A heavily beaded bodice of lace attached a softly gathered A-line skirt of satin accented with beaded lace motifs. Her headpiece was a band of blue and white carnations with matching streamers.

For something old the bride carried a handkerchief, something new was her gown borrowed from her aunt, Billie Shroyer. Something blue was her garter.

The bride carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations accented with English ivy tied with blue and white satin streamers.

The groom wore a blue tuxedo and matching blue bow tie with a white ruffled shirt and a boutonniere made of carnations.

Sandy Baldock of Big Spring, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a formal length gown of blue and white and carried a bouquet matching the bride's. Flower girls were Amanda Kincheloe, niece of the bride, and Leah Sealy of Big Spring. They wore long blue dotted Swiss dresses and carried baskets containing red rose petals.

Best man was Rusty Ille of Big Spring and ushers were Joe Kincheloe of Sonora, brother of the bride.

Vows were read before an altar featuring an archway entwined with greenery and white carnation with blue ribbons flanked by baskets of white flowers adorned with blue bows.

Carolyn Githens provided musical selections at the piano.

A reception was held in the bride's parents' home. The serving table was covered with a white lace tablecloth over a solid blue cloth. It was centered with a bouquet of blue and white carnations and held crystal appointments. The wedding cake, two tiered and decorated in blue, was made by Charlotte McDowell, aunt of the bride, and was served by

MR. AND MRS. PAUL DOCKTOR

Bobbie Sealy, sister of the bride.

The bride attended Snyder High School and is a graduate of Big Spring High School. She is employed by M System in Abilene. The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by Ben E. Keith Frozen Foods. The couple will reside in Abilene. Out of town guest came from Abilene, Sonora, Midland and Snyder.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jonie Kincheloe of Snyder.

QUICKEST RAISIN LOAF
1 loaf raisin bread, sliced
1/2 cup soft butter
Toppings
1/4 cup honey
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon instant powdered coffee
1 cup powdered sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon maple flavoring

Spread bread slices with soft butter.

Mix honey with orange peel. Spread on 1/3 of slices.

Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar with cinnamon. Spread on next 1/3 of slices.

Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar with coffee. Spread on last 1/3.

Place in loaf pan. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Remove foil. Toast for 10 more minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare maple icing by beating powdered sugar, milk and maple flavoring until smooth.

While loaf is still warm, drizzle icing over top. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 loaf.

'77 Conservation Act Rapped By Stenholm

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles W. Stenholm today called the Resource Conservation Act of 1977 "a most dangerous attack on the rights of the people to own and use property, a fundamental freedom in this country."

In comments to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, Stenholm said he was "generally displeased with each of the proposals that were put out for comment. If this is an indication of where we are heading in our efforts to conserve natural resources, I tend to agree with the assessment made by one of my constituents that we should simply cut out all USDA conservation funding."

Stenholm, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, had recently requested that Bergland extend the comment period on the proposals. "I've been informed that the proposals will be revised, in line with the comments already received," he said, "and then published for comment by the public again.

"During this upcoming comment period, I urge every landowner to study the proposals and let their views be known," Stenholm said.

In further comments to the Secretary of Agriculture, Stenholm said, "rightly or wrongly, these proposals are seen as a shifting away from the practical, flexible, voluntary program that has characterized the Department's conservation efforts since its inception, toward a more mandatory and inflexible approach."

"I reject the report's inference that America's agricultural producers are land abusers. Rather, I believe they are environmental experts, when one observes the large number of conservation practices that have been permanently established on the nation's farm and ranches, largely at the producer's own expense, while his own agricultural income has been limited, at best."

Commenting on the various proposals, Stenholm came down hardest on the regulatory approach to emphasize "mandatory compliance with Federal standards. This is the most objectionable of all the alternatives," he said. "This alternative envisions the penalizing of land users, who fail to comply with some national scheme, through the levying of a fine, higher taxes, or a reimbursement to the government for federally mandated expenditures. I can scarcely believe this proposal was made in good faith."

Children occasionally need a small space for play where they can enjoy their solitude, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service The Texas A&M University System. "It can be very demanding on a child to spend all his time in large room with other people, she explains.

3 Snyderites Going Into Honor Society

LUBBOCK — Approximately 275 new members will be initiated into the Texas Tech University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society April 16. Junior, senior and graduate students who are invited into membership must rank in the top 10 percent of their graduating class.

New members include three from Snyder: Donald Burk, senior music student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy N. Burk of 2302 40th. Burk is a member of Texas Tech Choir. Tim Flynn, senior ornamental-horticulture student, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Flynn of 3501 40th. Flynn is a member of the Horticulture Society, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Zeta honoraries.

Deanna Myers, senior entomology student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Myers Jr., of Route 2. Myers is secretary of the Entomology Club, Alpha Zeta honorary, recipient of a $100 Undergraduate research award for 1979-80, member of the Resident Standards Board for Knapp Hall, and co-author of one paper in 1979-Range & Wildlife Research Highlights.

Spiritual Comment

Editor's Note—This column is prepared by members of the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance and is presented as community service.

By GARY A. DUDDER
 1st Christian Church

The author, Robert McAfee Brown, tells of being on a Navy transport along with 1500 Marines being brought back to the United States for discharge. During an early morning Bible study they read together the 11th chapter of John, which describes the raising of Lazarus from the dead. Chaplain Brown suggested that the incident "dramatized" what Jesus had said: "I am the Resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." Chaplain Brown wrote, "more important even than the reanimation of a corpse in A.D. 30 was the question of whether or not that statement of Jesus was true in (what was then) A.D. 1946."

He illustrated the concept by telling them the story of Raskolnikov, a man in Dostoevsky's "Crime and Punishment" who "had killed his very self in the act of murdering another, but had in truth been brought back to life as these words of Jesus were read to him."

Following a few questions and some short discussion, one of the young men "cornered" the chaplain and said, "I felt as though everything we read this morning was pointed right at me. I've been living in hell for the last six months, and for the first time I feel as though I'd gotten free." As they talked, the story came out about the young man going off one night with some friends and how he had gotten into trouble, serious trouble. Even though no one else knew about it, he knew about it. And he was sure God knew about it. He felt guilty, very guilty, and wasn't sure he could face his family and friends back home.

But somehow that wasn't the end after all. He kept repeating one idea over and over: "Up until today, chaplain, I've been a dead man. I have felt utterly condemned by myself, by my family (if they knew), and by God. I've been dead, but now, after reading about Jesus and Lazarus, I know that I am alive again. The forgiveness of God can reach out even to me. The resurrection Jesus was talking about is a real thing, after all, right now."

"Now let's face it," writes Chaplain Brown. "On the surface nothing would seem more completely irrelevant to a Marine, tortured in soul, sitting on a coil of rope in a troop transport, than the story of a first century raising from the dead. But, for some strange reason, the story was not irrelevant."

How did it happen that after reading it a Marine could speak of having been dead and now being alive? The thing that happened was that the living truth of the story became living truth for him. It was not ancient history; it was his story, an account of his situation. The message of "new life" reached across the pages, grasped him, and transformed him.

As we approach Easter Sunday to celebrate "the Risen Christ," know that where love replaces hate, we experience the Resurrection; where guilt is overcome by forgiveness, we experience the Resurrection; where faith is found to be true, then doubt, we experience the Resurrection.

Looking Forward To Pennsylvania

HOUSTON (AP)—Republican presidential candidate George Bush says he's looking forward to the April 22 Pennsylvania primary so he can go "head-to-head" with Ronald Reagan.

"I still believe it (the nomination) is wide open," Bush said Thursday at his Houston campaign headquarters, "and the thing we have to do is demonstrate that now."

He said the Pennsylvania race will give him his first opportunity to go "head-to-head" with Reagan, "with no third party and no crossover (vote)."

"I'm looking forward to it," he said. "I think it's going to get everything in focus before the important Texas primary."

Renewing his attack on President Carter's handling of the Iranian crisis, Bush said the president "ought to level with the American people on Iran."

Iranians Convicted On Dope Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Iranian citizens have been convicted on federal charges connected with what authorities said was the largest heroin seizure in U.S. history.

Shahrokh Bakhtiar, 37, nephew of the last prime minister to serve under the deposed Shah of Iran, was convicted Thursday on 14 counts including conspiracy and distribution. Mohammad Roshan, 34, a Washington restaurant operator, was convicted on a single charge of aiding in the distribution of heroin. Federal authorities said they seized seven pounds of uncommonly pure heroin worth $32 million on Feb. 6.

One thing to remember about politicians when considering the stupidity of their economic policies or the degree to which they are really self-serving is that anyone who must run for office generally is in the business of giving people what they want.

As President Carter was announcing his latest shipment of snake oil, that truism was brought to mind by a Wall Street Journal article that followed Missouri Sen. Thomas Eagleton on a recent trip home from Washington. Eagleton, for a short time George McGovern's running mate for the White House, was to his credit attempting to tell the home folk that the federal budget had to be controlled and some goodies had to be taken away even as he stands for re-election. What he found was instructive.

In Kansas City, a black minister pleaded for no cuts in the summer youth program.

The Missouri Builders Association applauded Eagleton for bringing to the state a $120 million IRS facility a $50 million check to repair a decaying bridge and a $10 million HUD grant for a new hotel.

At St. Louis director of the local Job Corps program warned that a CETA vocational training center mustn't be cut back.

A convention of pig farmers, an official of the group vowed to go to Washington to preserve its tax-paid research budget.

A district official of the machinists' union said he wants to moderate cuts in Labor Department programs.

A leader of the state nurses association argued that, if anything, more money needs to go to the nursing profession.

And on and on. Most people seem to recognize a need to reduce spending, but are intent on seeing that the other guy's program is the one to be whacked.

It isn't just that way in Missouri, either. The first thing some senators did after the president acted was to assure constituents that they would suffer least of anyone from any cuts.

Evidently, this is what people want. The polls indicate this, and those who voted, given a clear choice in 1976 between a president whose advisors had put the country on sounder financial footing and a candidate who offered a tastier free lunch, chose Jimmy Carter.

The answer to inflation starts at home. And it starts young, with an end to government subsidies to medical care and then to child care and then to schools and then to college scholarships and then to home buying and then to small businesses and then to the roads and parks and sewers of the communities we live in and then to the trade associations and the big businesses and the labor unions and then to the mammoth federal retirement system that is not a pension fund but a direct income transfer from the producers. Then maybe we can start talking about the people getting handouts; they always live someplace else.

gold market calms

Gold appears to be riding out its boom and mild decline without excessive distress to anyone with the possible exception of those individuals who bought heavily when the price was pushing $1,000 an ounce.

It has settled back to the $400 vicinity as hot and lukewarm money is drawn to the dollar and U.S. securities by high and still rising interest rates. One consequence is a strengthened dollar, not only in terms of gold but against all the major currencies.

That has its good and bad aspects—it raises the prices of U.S. exports and thus may lead to even more balance of payments difficulties. But a less feverish gold market does have a calming effect on the world economy.

Warmth is still being felt in some areas, however, most notably South Africa, the world's leading gold producer.

The wealth flowing in from sales has enabled that government to announce a budget with massive tax decreases—48 percent at the lower end of the income scale—plus new spending programs with education and the country's black majority among the principal beneficiaries.

The only real problem with this budget apparently was in making the most of a golden opportunity.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Don't ignore today—it's the tomorrow you were looking forward to."

We've stated before that Washington is a terribly poor place for a proper perspective for making decisions on national policy.

Fortunately, there is no other place in the world like Washington, D.C. The problem is that too many politicians and bureaucrats have never seen the real world, or at least they have forgotten.

Last week for example, President Carter's chief economic adviser said that soaring inflation, once limited to energy and mortgage interest costs, is now spreading out to the rest of the U.S. economy.

If you can believe it, here's the direct quote, "For the first time, inflation began to spill out into the economy more broadly during January and February of this year."

For the first time! Where has Mr. Schultze been? Surely the president's chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers has bought a 75-cent cup of coffee in Washington.

Well, maybe not. A statement like that leads us to believe that he has spent the last six months touring the Smithsonian. Does the man ever leave his office? Since he is the President's top economic adviser, we can plainly see why Mr. Carter has fumbled the ball so many times. He's getting bad advice.

It's sorta' like the coach telling a basketball team to stall when it's 10 points behind.

Should Mr. Carter get re-elected and we hope that he won't—perhaps he'll get a new group of Looking back on it, my entire life changed the first holiday I was allowed to eat at Grandma's table.

Up until then, I could only speculate on what it was like to be an adult by listening from the kitchen and occasionally getting a glimpse of them as Grandma's swinging door thumped in and out.

Then one Easter, when I was 13, Grandma pointed to a vanity bench brought down from her bedroom that was sandwiched in between my mother and an uncle, and said, "You can sit at the big table."

It was awful. They passed things and took a little bit of everything whether they liked it or not just to be polite.

They never laughed with food in their mouths even when something was funny and needed laughing at. When they talked, they argued usually about things they couldn't do anything about—the Germans marching into Czechoslovakia and the high cost of living.

They had a real thing about napkins and dabbed the corners of their mouths when there was nothing there. With every bite, they looked depressed and kept saying, "I shouldn't be eating this. My weight, you know." Everyone was always shooting the dog away from the table and saying. "Go away, I just washed my hands." Sometimes when the door swung open I could hear the rest of the kids in the kitchen laughing and screaming. I knew my cousin Billy was blacking out his front teeth with black olives and acting crazy. And my cousin Pat was scraping the grease with her spoon for hunks of chicken that stuck to the skillet. When they wanted seconds, they just brought the pots to the table and ate what was left with the big spoons still in them. Someone would belch and they'd laugh until someone choked and had to be hit on the back. Then they'd hit back and someone would start a fight with cold mashed potatoes and Grandma would say, "If you kids don't settle down out there, I'm going to make you all go outside."

Every Easter Sunday I think about the big table. It never changes—only the name of the war changes and the names of the adults. But as I hear the laughter from the children in the kitchen, I yearn to shed the yoke of responsibility, decorum, and discipline... and be a child once more.

in earnest a couple of weeks back: the race to become Ronald Reagan's running mate.

So far, Reagan has not said much about whom he will choose, only that his running mate will have to be philosophically compatible. At the same time, his advisers are saying that, above all else, they want to avoid another debacle such as that of 1976, when Reagan chose Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker in an attempt to placate party moderates.

Also, Reagan's advisers admit privately that the man who gets the No. 2 nod is likely to get closer scrutiny than normal because of Reagan's age and the possible fear of the electorate that the former governor may not serve out his term if elected.

Right now, the front-runners for the job appear to be:

William Simon: The former treasury secretary has become a close personal friend and key economic adviser to candidate Reagan. Some of Reagan's political aides reportedly are pushing for Simon, saying his presence on the ticket would call attention to the Carter administration's economic policy failures. This makes Simon, who otherwise would like to be governor of New Jersey, an early favorite.

Rep. Jack Kemp: The young congressman from upstate New York recently announced that he will not oppose incumbent GOP Sen. Jacob K. Javits and, instead, will devote his full time to the Reagan campaign. Most insiders took Kemp's announcement to mean that he was formally off and running for second spot on a Reagan ticket. Kemp people say he "would be greatly honored" if Reagan taps him.

Kemp has been traveling with Reagan for some time and clearly has influenced the candidate greatly. Much of Reagan's economic policy originated with Kemp, who is the co-author of the Kemp-Roth Tax Reduction Act, which calls for cutting taxes by a third and which Reagan supports.

The problem is that Kemp does not have Simon's name recognition. However, he is young, photogenic and an excellent stump speaker. There are other contenders, of course. Among them:

Rep. Philip Crane: The Illinois representative ran this presidential campaign on the basis that he was the "young Ronald Reagan" and stood ready to take up the gauntlet for the conservative wing of the party if Reagan faltered. Reagan didn't and so Crane has withdrawn, asking his supporters to back Reagan. This is being interpreted as Crane's bid for the second spot, which he admits he wants.

Crane would be philosophically acceptable to Reagan's conservative backers, but Reagan reportedly does not look too kindly on Crane's aborted presidential challenge. Because there is so little difference between Kemp and Crane, Kemp is viewed as the more likely choice between the two.

Sen. Howard Baker: When pushed, Reagan's backers admit the Tennessee senator would be a definite asset to the ticket and probably would be philosophically "acceptable," although any of the above three would be "more acceptable."

Baker would help to bring in moderate votes and would add to the ticket the aura of Washington experience. Party professionals may seek to convince Reagan to accept Baker for this reason. Baker has said he would accept the second slot if offered. Reagan, however, has all but said it would not be offered. That could change, but it is not likely.

Then there are a number of dark horse candidates. In the Senate, mentioned are Indiana's Richard Lugar, Missouri's Jack Danforth and South Dakota's Larry Pressler.

Former Sen. Bill Brock, now chairman of the Republican National Committee, also is a possibility; as is former Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, the Ford administration secretary of defense who is now in private business.

If Reagan goes outside of Washington to choose, a good possibility might be Iowa Gov. Robert Ray, who managed to come out of the Iowa caucuses with no real enemies in the party. A lesser possibility would be Pennsylvania's Gov. Dick Thornburgh.

The early favorites now appear to be Simon and Kemp, but this race has a long way to go and it will heat up, albeit quietly, in the coming weeks.

growing older

By Lou Cottin

When we were children, our parents followed the biblical commandment to "honor thy father and thy mother."

That meant that our parents shared their homes with our grandparents. Extended families were par for the course during our childhood.

We grew up married, bought homes, raised families.

We were the first generation of Americans to establish what has been called the nuclear family. Translation: no grandparents living with the younger generations.

Our youngsters grew up, found mates, set up households, kept in homes or apartments.

Standard procedure, right? Not anymore. Rents for desirable apartments have gone through the roof. So, of course, have home prices.

Our newly married children will pay through the nose for housing. And their plans to give us grandchildren will probably wait until finances permit them more space.

Many of us seniors, however, own our homes free and clear. Others owe just a few more years of payments. We float around, our children figure, just two old people in our six- or seven-room houses.

Make a guess as to what's bound to happen as the decade progresses. It's now safe to say that the extended family will make a comeback during the '80s.

We will be taking in our married children, their spouses and their children. We will be built-in babysitters.

For some of us, this will be a pleasure. For others, it will be misery.

Much will depend on how we prepare for this change in our lives. It may also depend on how cleverly architects can make alterations to assure privacy for all generations.

We must set up rules right from the beginning. We must make sure that the youngsters do not tell us how our houses will be run—once they move in.

We must not be patsies.

No, we won't give up the master bedroom.

No, we won't make apologies for the shabbiness of the furniture.

No, we won't listen to their criticism of how the house has fallen into disrepair.

Our homes have taken on the patina of age. We don't like it that way. But that's what happened.

If our offspring want to live in our homes, they should understand that they can't live free as they did when they were younger.

They are adults. They must pay their way.

The money will be there.

Palmer, Medrano Pledge Vows

Denisa Rene Palmer and Raymond Francisco Medrano exchanged wedding vows Saturday, March 15 at 7 p.m. The double ring candlelight ceremony was officiated by Judge Preston Wilson at the Christian Student Center at Western Texas College. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Lee Palmer and Mrs. Ann James, both of Snyder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cayetano Medrano of Snyder.

Vows were pledged before an altar featuring a candelabrum holding 14 burning tapers decorated with greenery and brown and yellow satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a gown of white chiffon and bridal satin, designed with the high neckline of French lace and veil length cape of white chiffon. Her full A-line skirt was surrounded with rows of French draping of white chiffon over a cathedral length train of bridal satin with a 42 inch flounce. She wore a matching picture hat. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow carnations with baby's breath tied with white satin streamers.

tion, something old and borrowed were her mother's pearl earrings, something new was her wedding gown, something blue was her garter. Pennies minted in the couple's birth year were provided by her sister, Teresa McBeth of Abilene.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo, ruffled shirt and a yellow carnation boutonniere.

The bride's mother wore a green knit suede suit and the groom's mother was attired in a lilac polyester dress.

Diana Martin, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a yellow crepe dress topped with a yellow chiffon cape. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations with baby's breath, accented with yellow and brown satin ribbon. April Martin, niece of the bride served as flower girl. She was dressed in a yellow accordeon-pleated chiffon gown and carried a basket of yellow carnation petals.

Joe Melendez served as the groom's best man.

Seating guests were Jack Early and Junior Medrano, brother of the groom. Joe Medrano, brother of the groom was candlelighter.

Melanie Palmer, sister of the bride, registered guests as they entered.

Felix Ramos, organist, played traditional wedding music.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Student Center. The bride's table, covered with a white lace and bridal satin was centered with the couple's memory candle surrounded by yellow carnations. The bride's three tiered cake was decorated with yellow roses cascading and featured a bride and groom between tiers. Serving were Naida Garza and Debra Kenney. Juanita Medrano, sister of the groom served at the groom's table that held a traditional chocolate cake decorated with yellow roses. A cat class coffee service was placed on a lace satin table cloth.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Varue Rawson of Eastland. Out of town guests were from Abilene, Midland, Odessa, Rotan, Hobbs and Eastland.

Being in the No. 1 spot is likely to be more important for you this coming year than it has been in the past. You have everything necessary to be a winner, so vent your ambitions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may not be working under optimum conditions today, so make the most of what you have at hand. Be satisfied with small gains. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Use lessons you've learned from experiences as reference points today and you won't repeat mistakes. Old pitfalls may present themselves.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) By using your smarts in commercial situations today you should be able to turn a tidy profit. Don't settle for the first price.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Rather than going overboard on issues today, try to steer a middle course. Taking a strong position could alienate friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Choirs requiring immediate attention should not be neglected today. Don't put anything off, because you're apt to be less industrious tomorrow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In matters that require a good organizer, you'll be the right person to fill the slot today. Your skills will make all the pieces fit neatly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't let minor setbacks deter you from your final objectives today. Be persistent and you'll be victorious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Handling things of a mental nature will be more your cup of tea today than doing things that call for brawn. Put your splendid mind to work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Give matters that relate to personal finances priority today. You might be able to spot something that could earn you extra pennies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Leave nothing to others that you should be doing for yourself. You are a good achiever today, but you could be a poor delegator.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Without being too pushy today, it may be necessary for you to assert yourself in order to protect your self-interests. The doorman role doesn't suit you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Pals hold you in high esteem today because they appreciate that you are trustworthy, dependable and a person they can lean on in their time of need.

April 6, 1980

Extend yourself to exert your best efforts this coming year. How you fare will be determined by how hard you push.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The ideas you have today for achieving your goals are good ones, so translate them into action as promptly as possible. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Spreading sunshine wherever you go today comes as natural to you as breathing. You know how to make others feel both wanted and important.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Joint ventures look promising for you again today. If you're tied in with a winner, make the most of the collective situation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You conduct yourself very well today in important one-to-one relationships, primarily because you're looking out for the other fellow as well as for yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ever though this is normally a day of relaxation, spend the necessary time on things which could benefit you materially. It's more profitable than snoozing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you've been in a rut lately, select an activity today that you truly enjoy. You're entitled to some fun and games.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Things you do with your family today will prove more enjoyable for you than what you do with outsiders. Blood is thicker than water.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't let the size or scope of projects intimidate you today. You're at your best when you have large challenges to contend with.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) All you need for success today is the proper motivation. Once you get in gear, the sky is the limit. Think "win," and get going.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others may seek you out for advice or counsel today because they'll sense you are a person who has the answers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your naiveness and insight, coupled with your logic, will serve you well today in your commercial affairs. Blend with them in a homogenous brew.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Should you receive an invitation today to a large gathering, by all means go. You might meet someone interesting and make a new friend.
