Says Red Cross...

Hostages Seem In Good Shape

By The Associated Press
A representative of the International Red Cross is flying from Tehran to Europe today with messages from all of the hostages in the U.S. Embassy to their families.

Two Swiss Red Cross men interviewed all the captives in the embassy "one by one" Monday and brought out a list of the hostages and messages for their families, the Red Cross reported.

"To me they appeared in rather good shape," said Harold Schmid de Grunec, the permanent Red Cross representative in Tehran, who with Dr. Bernard Liebeskind and three Iranian officials spent seven hours in the occupied embassy.

It was the most extensive visit by any foreigners to the captive Americans since militant young Iranians seized the embassy and its staff last Nov. 4. It was also the first time any foreigners were reported to have seen all the prisoners.

The Red Cross, apparently by agreement with the militants, would not confirm that the Americans total 50 in number, as the State Department says. But Schmid de Grunec said they made a list of all the hostages and their home addresses and this along with their messages would be forwarded to the United States.

"You can imagine those people have been there under rather difficult psychological conditions and they did appear in good shape," the Red Cross man told The Associated Press in a telephone interview.

"Of course, there are some people - this is just human - who support less than others those conditions, but still I want to emphasize there is no very grave problem.

"We were able to take the names of those hostages, to take the address of their family in the States, and their telephone number and on top of this - and I do believe this is most important to reassure the families in the States - we were able to get from each hostage a message, a Red Cross message, which will be sent to his family."

Schmid de Grunec said a Red Cross doctor would take the messages and the other information to the Geneva headquarters of the organization today

"and from there they will be sent to the States, so I guess the families there should receive them in a couple of days and this should reassure them, I am sure."

A Red Cross spokeswoman in Geneva said the messages would be transmitted to the families by the American Red Cross.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the Red Cross visit could be helpful to the hostages and their families, but it was "a palliative... a mask for the central reality that they are being held. Our objective is their release."

Ezzell, Shaw Face Off At Eagle Forum Meet

Mike Ezzell and Larry Shaw, incumbent 63rd District representative and challenger, squared off last night in a presentation of their political beliefs.

The program was sponsored by the Snyder Eagle Forum, a conservative women's group, and was held in the auditorium of Snyder Junior High School.

Ezzell, a Snyder resident, is seeking his fourth term of office. He is seeking elective office, he said, because of a "concern for the direction government is taking" because he feels he has a personal philosophy akin to that of his constituents, and "to continue to be available to the people."

Shaw, 27, a Howard County resident with cotton farming and ranching interests, is a newcomer to politics. He said he decided to toss his hat into the ring following the Iranian crisis.

"It is healthy for the political process to have competition," said Shaw, emphasizing his sincerity of intent. Sincerity, he noted, must be proven "and I'm asking you with all my heart to give me a two-year contract."

Both candidates fielded a variety of questions directed to them by the nearly 35 persons present. One question dealt with the Equal Rights Amendment, an issue opposed by the Eagle Forum. The question the men were asked dealt with whether they would fight to rescind Texas' ratification of the amendment. Both said they would.

Another issue both men agreed on was the direction they would take if a conflict arose between their personal beliefs and the beliefs of their constituents. If they felt one way and their constituents expressed an opposing belief, which would be their course of action? Both men said they would follow the course of action indicated by their constituents.

The issue of state employees organizing into a union for the right of collective bargaining was also raised.

"I do not think it leads to a better delivery of services," said Ezzell of the proposed move.

Shaw agreed, saying, "I do not think collective bargaining is the answer." Shaw, however, added that he believed state employees, especially teachers and law enforcement personnel, are generally underpaid. If elected, he pledged that he would try to get raises for some state employees, believing that to be the best course of action in stopping attempts at collective bargaining.

Both candidates said they are opposed to the free education of children of illegal aliens.

"Our (native) children in Texas come first," said Shaw. Alien children have a right to an education, he said, but their parents should be made to pay a tuition for it.

Ezzell concurred, saying, "I likewise am opposed to free education for aliens." He, too, said aliens should pay a tuition.

Both men cited the need for political involvement, even for those not seeking elective office. It is only through such involvement that representatives can know how their constituents feel, they said.

"We cannot sit back and let government run itself," said Ezzell. "The only way that voice (the voice of the people) can truly be mirrored is if people take the time to be involved."

Q—What is the "Beautify Texas Council" and what does it do and who belongs to it?

A—The Beautify Texas Council is a state-wide, non-profit voluntary organization to promote beautification and cleanliness in the state. It was founded in 1967 as sort of a state level counterpart of the Keep America Beautiful, Inc., a national organization founded in 1953 to cope with problems of littering, etc. If you want more information on the Beautify Texas Council, you may address your inquiry to Box 2251, Austin 78768.

AUSTIN (AP)—Glastron Boats, the country's largest manufacturer of medium-size boats, said Monday it will lay off about 60 percent of its work force indefinitely.

Tax Discount On School's Agenda

Snyder School District Trustees tonight are scheduled to consider again a proposal for the district to grant discounts for early payment of taxes.

This item was tabled at the last meeting. The district has been asked by the tax collector to grant discounts of three percent for payments in October, two percent for those in November and one percent for those in December, which corresponds to allowances made by the county. The county tax collector will collect taxes for all agencies beginning this year.

Also on the agenda tonight is a proposal to enlarge the board's meeting room by taking in space formerly used by the school tax office. Since the new county-wide appraisal and collection system went into effect, all tax offices are now located in the county courthouse. The move left some space in the school administration building across the hall from the board room.

Participation in the commodity distribution program for the coming year will be up for consideration, and adjustments to the district's per diem allowance for out-of-district travel and for in-district travel are on the agenda.

Court Rules Today...

Need Warrant To Enter Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police may not enter a person's home to make an arrest without a warrant if there is no emergency, the Supreme Court ruled today.

In a significant expansion of constitutional privacy rights, the justices ruled by a 6-3 vote that the warrant requirement police must meet for searches also applies to arrests.

"Neither history nor this nation's experience requires us to disregard the overriding respect for the sanctity of the home that has been embedded in our traditions since the origins of the republic," Justice John Paul Stevens wrote for the court.

The Supreme Court previously has ruled that most often police must have a court warrant before searching a home. But before today, the court never had invalidated an arrest because the arresting officer failed to get a warrant.

The decision overturned the convictions of two New York City men. State authorities must now retry the men or set them free.

Theodore Payton was convicted in the 1970 slaying of a service station attendant. Police, believing Payton was home, broke into his Bronx apartment while he was out. They found evidence that helped convict him. If a new trial is held, that evidence will not be admissible.

Obie Riddick of Queens was convicted of possessing heroin in 1973 after police arrested Riddick at his home and found some heroin there.

Stevens noted that New York law enforcement officials had argued that the arrest warrant requirement would unduly hinder police work. But he wrote: "In the absence of any evidence that effective law enforcement has suffered in those states that already have such a requirement, we are inclined to view such arguments with skepticism."

The ruling will carry immediate impact in at least 24 states that have allowed warrantless arrests in criminal suspects' homes.

Contract On Landfill Let

The Snyder city council met in special session Monday afternoon and awarded a bid for the construction of solid waste disposal pits at the city landfill.

Low and successful bidder was George Amthor Inc. of Abilene. The bid was $24,947. Other bidders were Price Construction Inc. and Grimmitt Bros. Construction.

City Engineer Mike Smith had estimated that the cost of the pits would be $42,000.

His latest form of recognition is a little different from a shiny chrome and gold plaque, however. This time a whole day has been named after the 32-year-old coach and his wife, Rose.

Designated so by Mayor Milton Ham last week, today has been proclaimed as "Nolan and Rose Day" in Snyder. The honor is just that - a day set aside to remember the coach and his wife. Booster members and others had wanted to plan something bordering on the spectacular, but Richardson's movements - virtually unknown from one day to the next - have made that impossible.

Instead, the evening will culminate with the annual All-Sports Banquet, to begin at 7:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum. And though the deadline for reservations has come and gone, organizers invite interested spectators to come and watch from the stands.

The banquet is held to honor Western Texas College's athletes in basketball, golf, judo and rodeo. The athletes will be introduced and a number of special awards will be presented.

No doubt a great deal of the focus will be on Richardson and Rose.

"Snow-lovers know that eventually the frost will thaw."

We came across that statement in a piece of junk mail the other day and figured there might be those who would question it following the past weekend's weather.

Saturday was not the first time that this area has experienced rain, sleet, snow and hail all in the same day, but that didn't make it any more palatable.

Still, the official thermometer didn't get down to the freezing mark.

Nevertheless, we took advantage of the opportunity to light up the last remnants of our firewood stack Saturday afternoon and a blazing fireplace didn't seem out of season.

While on the subject of late cold spells, Delbert and Dorothy Downing say there was some ice in this area April 8 in Borden County.

"The Brent Murphys said there was a crust of ice on their dog's drinking water pan," Downing reported.

He (Downing) couldn't believe that we didn't hear it thunder on Feb. 8, which is the reason for all of the interest in the weather of April 8. It happened while we were sound asleep, however, and that thunder simply wasn't loud enough to awaken us.

Anyway, the official thermometer here did not get down to the freezing mark on April 8, although nobody would dispute that it could happen in Borden County, not after this past weekend's weather episode.

We hear that plans are being made by some of the so-called consumer advocate groups to celebrate "Big Business Day," and indications are that they will go all out to discredit the nation's business community as something distasteful. We doubt, however, that they will pass up the opportunity to make use of such fruits of big business as television, the print media and other methods of communication that technology sponsored and financed by American business have made possible. And we don't expect to see any of them traveling around by horse and buggy, or even by bicycle as they promote their special day.

Tax Deadline Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you're one of the millions of taxpayers who have put off filing federal income taxes until the last minute because you owe money, the last minute is here. And the government can use the money.

Legally, taxpayers have until midnight to file their 1979 tax returns or be penalized, and many post-offices have made special arrangements to accept tax returns filed after the normal close of business.

The Internal Revenue Service expects to receive 6.6 million tax returns today alone, with equally large amounts during the next two days. It estimates it will receive 93 million tax returns for 1979, up from 91 million for 1978.

Begin Opens Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, saying he will try to speed up negotiations with Egypt on an autonomy plan for Palestinian Arabs, opened new summit talks today with President Carter.

But Begin seemed to be giving no ground on the kind of council Palestinians living in Israeli-held territory can elect.

"We shall not interfere with the daily affairs of the inhabitants, but we shall assure the security of Israel and the future of her children," Begin said Monday.

Cuban Airlift Delayed

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The start of the airlift of Cubans from the Peruvian Embassy in Havana has been delayed by a dispute over who will be the first to leave.

The Peruvian government offered to take 1,000 of the 10,800 Cubans who crowded into its embassy compound Easter weekend. It said it was ready to fly the first 500 to Lima as soon as the Cuban government would let them go, and Charge D'Affaires Armando Lecaros submitted a list giving priority to the sick, the aged and numbers of family groups.

bail-outs questioned

A recent New York Times dispatch notes that President Carter is going to have a tough time getting the $8.4 billion he requested for so-called foreign aid in 1981.

Not only is the 1981 appropriation the subject of dispute, the money being ladled out to foreign governments right now has not been formally approved. The $8.1 billion figure Congress decided on for 1980 was put on hold because the lawmakers have already exceeded their self-imposed budget ceiling for the year by $10 billion, even without the foreign aid expenditure.

This decision by indecision is beneficial in one respect in that, by reverting to the 1979 spending program as a continuing level of appropriation, planned expansions in later years must be foregone.

The Carter administration is even more worried, according to The Times, about congressional reluctance to maintain hefty payments to the World Bank and to regional development funds around the globe.

Why do we keep funding them? Partially, of course, because doling out money is thought to buy influence with rulers throughout the world.

Perhaps, in this hour of austerity - phony and real - among the capital crowd, the interest groups that perpetuate foreign aid may find themselves outflanked.

little room for humor

Every political year voters are likely to be sidetracked and some candidates derailed - by peripheral issues.

Or take the new year-book of the United States Department of Agriculture. Somebody had the bright idea that this document should be enlivened with some jokes about farmers and farming.

Another: "When might those same cows wear bells?" "When their horns don't work."

That editor underestimates the farm audience which is now obviously more sophisticated than is he. But even quality humor would be inappropriate in that informational publication.

Bureaucrats, like politicians, rarely have a real talent for humor. This is partly because we are accustomed to taking seriously what they say.

When you were 20, you didn't think anything of staying up all night; after 40, your opinion of such insanity is unthinkable.

Turning over a new leaf is fine if you're the type to get chummy with a tomato worm.

thought he could get away with Mexican-American jokes because he is Mexican-American - but his stories were as crude as relating to the relative cleanliness of female sex organs.

Every election for the last half dozen some candidate of prominence has had to apologize for or try to explain away some remark he made which somebody considered offensive.

Mostly, they are stories one hears about Aggies in Texas; about the Polish in Chicago, about South Dakotans in North Dakota - the same stories with only the target, creed, or clan substituted to suit the geographical situation.

Now Reagan's recent story about the Pole, the Italian and the Mafia was just plain dumb. Certainly it was unworthy of a professional entertainer and inappropriate for a professional politician.

When application was made for a post office one of the surveyors of the townsite, W.S. Jones, suggested the name of his home county in Virginia. And Fluvanna it was named. The post office was established in 1909.

Turning back east at the traffic light onto FM 612, the traveler would soon find himself back on 84 and continuing a ways past Dermott would find himself entering a town that back in 1877 was referred to as Robbers Roost due to the desperadoes and fugitives that hung out there.

NEW YORK (AP)—The housing industry has run into its own version of an "energy" shortage.

First to be hurt was the new-home market. When this year's figures are in, they'll probably show a decline in housing starts to about 1.2 million units, compared with close to 2 million two years ago.

Sales of existing homes held up for a while, but then they sank. Just last September the rate of sales was about 3.6 million units a year. In March it was only 2.6 million, and headed lower.

This is the worst decline in sales activity recorded over the 13-year history of these statistics, and the outlook is for further erosion, states the National Association of Realtors claims.

Condominium and cooperative conversions resisted pressure the longest, but now they too have been stalled. In some big-city areas money cannot be obtained. In most, credit costs are prohibitive.

Housing, which with food and clothing is one of the requirements of human survival, is going down for the count, despite what marketing men claim is a potentially robust market, and an obvious need.

As it seems to be with life, when one problem gets you down the others pile on. That, anyway, is how a group of New England agents described their feelings as they sought human company in a coffee shop.

"I don't even know why I advertise," one said. "I know as I pick up the phone that whoever is calling has more hope than cash, and I know he's not going to get the cash from the banks around here."

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This month's brief hiatus in the frenzied schedule of once-a-week primaries has produced little relief from the glut of news media political coverage that has become a hallmark of presidential election years.

Undaunted by the temporary dearth of either forthcoming primaries to speculate about or recent election returns to analyze, purveyors of political punditry have resorted to regaling the public with critiques of their own work.

In a flurry of soul-searching and crow-eating, numerous journalists have concluded that a "volatile" (an especially popular "buzz word" these days) electorate led them to repeatedly miscalculate the voters' mood and thus err in forecasting election returns during the initial months of the campaign.

One columnist recently described this year's race as the "most volatile presidential campaign in my 32 years of journalism." A news magazine observed that "the press was... caught off guard" throughout the early presidential primaries.

First, to set the record straight, those who proclaim the 1980 campaign the most "volatile" in modern times have very short memories that apparently don't stretch as far back as 1968.

The presidential race that year, especially the contest for the Democratic nomination, produced a series of truly dramatic and unpredictable events.

A sitting president (Lyndon B. Johnson) sought reelection but was forced to withdraw early in the primary season.

A Kennedy (Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York) then entered the race and was well on his way to capturing the nomination when he was assassinated.

A fiery populist (Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace) organized the most successful third-party challenge in more than four decades.

That's volatility - and nothing that has yet occurred in 1980 can match any one of those events.

The broader issue - the quality of press coverage during the 1980 campaign - is considerably more complex. The problem does not lie in inaccurate or inadequate reporting because the results of all the primaries have been promptly, full and honestly conveyed to the nation's readers, listeners and viewers.

Instead, the press (including this column) has unwittingly misled the public by overzealously interpreting and analyzing those results in a frantic search for trends that are at best elusive and at worst nonexistent.

Thus, George Bush is proclaimed to be the front-runner in the race for the Republican presidential nomination on the basis of a single victory, in the Iowa precinct caucuses.

Then Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois is touted as a threat to Ronald Reagan's lead in the GOP race on the basis of respectable but second-place showings in Massachusetts and Vermont.

And when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., finally wins a pair of primaries, in New York and Connecticut, President Carter's "rose garden strategy" for winning renomination is assumed to be on the verge of total collapse.

Public opinion is indeed fickle and unpredictable these days, as illustrated by Carter's roller coaster ride - down, up and down again - in nationwide polls during the past six months.

Voters unfortunately tend to treat political celebrities like movie stars and other show-business figures who are "hot" or "in" only as long as their latest film, record or television series is popular.

If we're aware of that phenomenon, journalists can best serve themselves and the public by a) avoiding almost all predictions because the state of the art in public opinion research is not adequate to track swift shifts in attitude, and b) being chary about extrapolating trends from isolated events.

Each primary is such an event - held in a specific state at a particular time and offering only a single (and sometimes misleading) clue to the shape of the final design will take.

When the primary season is concluded, however, all of the elections probably will form a mosaic with a clearly defined pattern. It's an event worth waiting for.

NEW YORK (AP)—The housing industry has run into its own version of an "energy" shortage.

"I don't even know why I advertise," one said. "I know as I pick up the phone that whoever is calling has more hope than cash, and I know he's not going to get the cash from the banks around here."

Jack Carlson, the Realtors' executive head and chief economist, suggests that even with sufficient down payments many potential buyers cannot afford the monthly payments.

He estimates the typical principle-interest payment leaped by $230 a month, or 50 percent, in the past 12 months, and 17 percent in just the past two - a figure that if maintained would exceed 100 percent a year.

The market didn't collapse without a fight. In fact, many agents will tell you it hasn't collapsed at all - that they have willing customers, and that the collapse was in the credit market instead.

Innovations were used to counter the near-absence of conventional financing. Sellers offered credit terms; agents sometimes cut their commissions; temporary financing was used; some buyers-sellers merely exchanged properties. Wise buyers shopped the banks for foreclosures, knowing that if they bought the home the financing came with it.

With $9 billion of newly built homes standing vacant, the National Association of Home Builders is holding seminars this month and next on "creative mortgage financing and marketing techniques" at 15 sites around the country.

Post is named after one of the most colorful characters to ever blaze a trail to Texas. C.W. Post began his career in Battle Creek, Mich. Anyone who ever saved cereal boxtops should remember Battle Creek. That is where you always sent the boxtops, plus $2, to get a ray gun, airplane or whatever.

But Mr. Post was not into gimmicks. He was into cereal. In 1904 he came out with a brand of corn flakes, which he called Elijah's Manna. The name evoked the wrath of preachers who berated him from their pulpits for his having the audacity to use Elijah and his raven to sell cereal. He changed the name to Post Toasties.

Post also introduced a cereal made of wheat and malted barley. He called it Grape Nuts although it contained neither grapes nor nuts. He believed that grape-sugar was formed during the baking operation and the cereal did have a nutty flavor.

"It reminds me of the taste of wild history nuts," the late Ewell Gibbons used to say.

The huge General Foods Co. eventually evolved from Post's operation that began in a little white barn in Battle Creek in 1895. Some 30 brand names came to be marketed under the General Foods label including Jell-O, Log Cabin Syrup and Maxwell House and Sanka coffees.

The year 1907 found Post in West Texas where he founded Post City, as it was first called. He designed the town to be the center of a community of farmers who owned their homes and land. Supplies for building the town were hauled from the railhead in Big Spring. Also in 1907, the town was named the seat of Garza County.

Departing Post on South Highway 84 today, Justiceburg is the next chance to stop unless you count the roadside park.

Justiceburg started out as a trading point on the J.D. Justice Ranch around the same time that Mr. Post was laying out his city. The area actually settled in about 1902 but there was no post office or store.

Previously, the mail was brought by buggy from Lite, a small town that is now Fluvanna. Rancher Jeff Justice gave right of way through his place for the railroad and dohated a townsite. The town was named for him.

Continuing on 84 a few miles and then turning off onto FM 1269, the traveler would find himself climbing the caprock escarpment and six miles later under the blinking light in Fluvanna.

South was able to make the most of his slim chances in slam.

The bidding needs some explanation. West might have doubled at his first opportunity, but he decided to show his good six-card club suit. East's three-club bid has little to recommend it except for the favorable vulnerability. South had visions of slam. He probed with a bid of three diamonds. West bid an immediate five clubs, which could only be defeated two tricks. North's five-heart bid was very aggressive and goaded South into the final overbid.

The opening club lead was won by West. He tried to cash the club ace, but declarer ruffed. South now proceeded to run all the trumps. To make the slam, he would need a lot of luck.

The luck was there. South simply ran off all his trumps while keeping all four spades in dummy. West had to hold all four spades and was forced to discard down to one diamond. The squeeze which depended on finding both king and queen of diamonds in the hand with four spades had materialized.

Can Americans Really Change Eating Habits?

By Gaynor Maddox

Can people change their established diets? New eating patterns like those recently suggested by the federal government promise better health and longer life. But can spoiled Americans actually shift from, say, potato chips to celery sticks?

Some scientists think not. Others, on the basis of equal amounts of research, believe they can.

At least they can in Missouri, says Rex Campbell, a professor of rural sociology at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Campbell reports that a recent poll of more than 1,200 farm families found that 40 percent had shifted from all-beef diets to diets including such lower-fat, lower-calorie protein sources as poultry, fish, eggs and dry beans.

The Missouri families had also increased their consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables while cutting their use of processed foods high in cholesterol.

Campbell credits the change to the "amount of attention nutrition has recently received from television, newspapers and magazines.

Amino acids are frequently referred to in discussions of the human body's protein requirements. But what exactly are these acids?

First, there are two kinds. Some can be synthesized by the body, while others cannot. The latter are the "essential amino acids" that we must obtain from our diets if our bodies are to maintain themselves properly.

Complete or high-quality protein sources are those that provide all the essential amino acids in sufficient amounts and in correct proportion to one another. Meat, eggs and cheese are examples of high-quality protein.

A single vegetable or grain seldom supplies the body's full amino-acid requirement. That makes it an incomplete source of protein. But the amino-acid requirement can often be met by combining several vegetables or grains with one another. Or by serving one or more of them with a glass of milk or a topping of cheese.

That means you can be a vegetarian and still get all the amino acids your body needs.

Pain under ribs

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 64-year-old female and I've had quite a few attacks of pain under the rib cage and in the abdominal area. These pains last from four to six hours. I was once X-rayed for ulcers and for my gallbladder and everything was all right. I was wondering if this could be a spastic colon. I also am overweight and would like a good diet to lose weight. What would you suggest for a spastic colon — diet or medication?

DEAR READER — You did the right thing to have a medical examination. It's impossible to tell what's really causing pains without a thorough examination. Yes, you're right, you can have such pains from a spastic colon. But I caution you that fact doesn't mean that a spastic colon is causing your problem. That diagnosis should only be made if your history of bowel movements and digestive disturbances is consistent with it.

Often the way this happens is the colon, which is a long muscular tube, will go into spasm. When it does this, gas will be trapped behind the area of the spasm. The gas distends the colon just like an inflated balloon.

The colon is really a horse-shoe-shaped tube that runs around the outer edge of the abdominal cavity, so it does come up and bend underneath the right rib margin, then passes across your upper abdomen, bends again under the left rib margin and descends down your left side. Gas tends to accumulate where the colon makes a sharp bend under the liver just under the right rib margin and also where it bends again on the left side — just underneath the ribs.

To give you more information about the spastic colon so you can have a better idea whether that's applicable to you, I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Frequently, individuals with a mild spastic colon can control most of their symptoms by changing their diet and developing good bowel habits, all of which is discussed in the issue of The Health Letter I'm sending you. The chemical laxative habit is a poor idea for such people.

As you requested, I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. If you decide to lose weight, you're going to have to be careful to include enough foods in your diet that contain bulk. If you don't get enough bulk while dieting, that can contribute to constipation and colon problems. Eat lots of raw, leafy vegetables and be sure that you have enough cereal that has bran in it to help provide some bulk.

You can add bran to other foods, including cereals and even fruits. Don't try to take bran dry as it can stick in your esophagus (food tube). Some people have lots of gas when they first add bran to the diet. These people often do better to sneak up on it and first add whole-wheat bread, then cereals and finally more bran if needed. The excess gas will usually stop in about three weeks after your diet is stabilized.

If that creates too many problems for you, you can use some Metamucil or other bulk former to provide some needed bulk while you're cutting down on your food intake.

The number of Americans working or job-hunting has been growing twice as fast as the U.S. population over the last 10 years. The Conference Board observes.

Chevron energy report:

For each nickel profit Chevron made on petroleum operations — almost three times as much went for taxes.

Taxes on Chevron's worldwide petroleum operations last year were over $4.5 billion,* divided among Federal, State, local and foreign governments. Here at home, these taxes included:

- Federal income tax
- State income taxes
- Municipal income taxes
- Real and personal property tax
- Taxes on the production of oil and gas
- Excise taxes
- Sales taxes
- Payroll taxes

Coach Awarded; WTC Trio Sign

Western Texas College's Nolan Richardson returned from Waco this week with an armful of interesting revelations, a couple of Tulsa University recruits and another in a series of awards.

The recruits are Western Texas standouts Paul Pressey and Phil Spradling, who have announced they will accompany their present coach to Tulsa University next fall.

Only one other member of the national championship team had committed as of early this morning, though it was expected that 6-9 Greg Stewart would likely sign with Tulsa also before the day was over. The third Westerner to sign was 6-1 guard Ronald Portee who has inked with Cal Fullerton University of Fullerton, Cal.

Richardson's latest award - Texas Junior College Coach of the Year - completes what the coach grinningly termed "the grand-slam." He had already been named Conference, Region and National Coach of the Year after leading Western Texas' Westerners to a 37-0 record this season.

The conference, region and Texas Judo honors are the third straight for the coach.

Waco was the site of the annual Region All-Star game, between regions 14 and 5. Pressey and Stewart played "phenomenal basketball" for the West team, according to Richardson, which was nipped 107-103 by the East squad. Coaching the West was Midland College coach, Jerry Stone. One of his sophomores, Robert Tate, was named Most Valuable Player.

Pressey won the "Slam-Dunk" Contest held in connection with the All-Star game. Stewart was second.

Another Westerner standout has made big news recently. David Brown, 6-7 sophomore, was named Most Valuable Player in the NJCAA All-Star Game in Hutchinson, Kan. over the weekend. The El Paso native had 30 points, 17 rebounds and three blocked shots.

Pressey, Brown, Stewart and other Westerners as well as WTC athletes in women's basketball, golf, judo and rodeo - will be honored at tonight's All-Sports Banquet scheduled for 7:30 at Scurry County Coliseum.

Allies Apparently Prepared To Support Olympic Boycott

By The Associated Press

West Germany and Japan, two allies whose support is considered vital to President Carter's drive for an international boycott of the Moscow Summer Olympics, appear ready to lend that support following the U.S. Olympic Committee's vote in favor of a boycott.

In addition, network sources say NBC will not televise the Moscow Olympics, although the official announcement will be delayed until lawyers are certain NBC had satisfied its insurance commitment and can recover some $57 million. That sum represents 90 percent of NBC's payment to the Soviet Olympic Organizing Committee and the International Olympic Committee.

Klaus Boelling, chief spokesman for the West German government, said Monday it would recommend that the country's National Olympic Committee vote to boycott the Games as long as Soviet troops remain in Afghanistan.

The committee will meet May 15 in Dusseldorf to decide whether to send a team to Moscow. Although the government decision is not binding, Willi Daume, West German IOC member, said it "certainly has weight."

West Germany's decision is expected to influence other Western European nations. France, for example, is on record as saying it will wait for a meeting of European nations in May before deciding on its position.

Meanwhile, Japanese Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira is scheduled to visit Washington in late April, and government officials said Ohira wanted to bring a pro-boycott decision with him.

"It is apparent the USOC's decision will have a serious effect on us, serious enough to influence our position," said Katsuji Shibata, president of the Japanese Olympic Committee.

The IOC has had no official comment on the USOC vote, but will review the Moscow situation at its executive board meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland April 21-23. "I will make no comment on the USOC's decision until I have talked to everyone else about it," said IOC President Lord Killanin.

In Moscow, preparations for the Games went on as usual. A government spokesman said, "The decision of the U.S. Olympic Committee will have no effect whatsoever on our preparations." And Tass, the Soviet news agency, said, "The Olympic will take place despite all the schemes, maneuvers, provocations, intrigues, convulsions and paroxysms at the White House."

Tigers Need Win Today

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers needed a win here this afternoon in order to keep up with the Joneses.

In this case the Joneses are the Brownfield Cubs, which defeated Lamesa in a make-up game yesterday to take a temporary half-game lead in District 3-AAA standings.

Brownfield boasts a 4-1 record, followed by Snyder, 3-1, and Lamesa, 0-5. A Tiger victory over Lamesa at their 4:30 p.m. game today would lock Brownfield and Snyder in the lead again with 4-1 marks. The two league leaders would then decide the first-round championship Thursday in Brownfield.

Should Snyder defeat Lamesa today, Thursday's victor would gain an automatic berth into any 3-AAA playoffs, if necessary. A loss for the Tigers today would give Brownfield no less than a tie for the first-round title.

Brownfield defeated Lamesa 9-1 in Brownfield. The game had originally been scheduled for Saturday, but was snowed out.

Rockets Fizzle Out; Others Are Still Alive

HOUSTON (AP)—The plodding Houston Rockets decided to fight fire with fire with the running Boston Celtics in the fourth game of their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semi-final playoff series Monday night.

The Rockets decided to run, too, and all they did was get burned for the 10th straight time as the Celtics flexed their muscle with another third-quarter surge and rolled to a 138-121 victory.

The win gave Boston a 4-0 sweep in the lopsided series and propelled them into the NBA Eastern Conference finals against the Philadelphia-Atlanta winner.

In nine previous losses to the Celtics, six straight in the regular season, the Rockets seldom dared get in a foot race with the greyhound-quick Celtics.

And when they opened up Monday night, the Celtics were neither surprised nor dismayed by the change in tactics.

"We're happy when people run with us," said Celtic forward Cedric Maxwell, who scored 27 points. "We think we have a good transition game and can get down the court with the best of them."

With the Celtics loping along with a 49-35 lead in the second quarter, the Rockets suddenly erupted with 12 straight points that cut the lead to 49-47 and the slumbering 13,106 Rocket fans came to life.

It was a fight the remainder of the first half with Boston being forced into a floor-length pass by Nate Archibald and a last-second basket by Maxwell for a 66-64 half-time lead.

But then the fun was over for the Rockets, who watched for the fourth time in the series as the Celtics put together a breakaway third-quarter spurt that put an end to their season with a 14-4 spurt to start the third quarter.

Both Philadelphia and Los Angeles can wrap up their second-round series tonight at home, but they are coming into their games from different directions.

After three close contests, each won by the home team, the Philadelphia 76ers stunned the Atlanta Hawks 107-83 Sunday night in Atlanta to take a 3-1 lead in their series.

Can Westerners Call Halt To Loop 'Jinx'?

Saturday, Western Texas' Westerners will attempt to do what no other WJCAC team has been able to accomplish this year - win a conference tournament in their own back yard.

The "jinx" was particularly upsetting to New Mexico Junior College last week, which finished fourth at the Western Junior College Athletic Conference's fourth conference meet in Hobbs.

NMJC had held a sizeable lead over the rest of the pack going into the tournament. But because of the mediocre finish, the Bulldogs are now only one-half point in front of tournament winner Odessa and runner-up Western Texas.

New Mexico boasts 18 1/2 conference points, while Odessa and WTC have 18 apiece. Midland is next with 16 1/2.

A victory for Western Texas Saturday would give the Westerners the conference lead going into the sixth and final conference tournament April 25 at Roswell, N.M. The regional tournament will also be held the weekend of April 25-26 in Roswell.

"I accomplished what we set out to do," beamed WTC Coach Bob O'Day after his Westerners carded a 295 to finish second last week and move up in the standings. "Odessa moved up strong too. It's a horse race again." Odessa won the 18-hole meet by one stroke, with a 294.

Western Texas went into the meet two-and-one-half points behind NMJC. Had the Westerners not finished well, hopes for a WJCAC title would have faded somewhat. Now only one-half point back, and playing at home this weekend, WTC's chances are brightening.

The Westerners are a young team this season, but have gained experience rapidly. Though they haven't wooed the crowd with exciting dominance, the Westerners have played with consistency throughout the spring session - which has given them their current success.

Houston Keeping Up; Smack Atlanta Braves

HOUSTON (AP)—Cesar Cedeno may have returned to his "old" self, but the Atlanta Braves know the every-day Enos Cabell is no slouch.

Cedeno hammered the Atlanta Braves pitching staff for four hits and Cabell drove in three runs, including the winning run in the bottom of the ninth, as the Astros nipped the Atlanta Braves 5-4 Monday night.

day so far this season we can hit," said Cabell, "and we can run successfully on anybody in the league."

J.R. Richard, who said Cedeno had returned to his "old self," was relieved after five innings by Vern Ruhle because of a sore shoulder and the Astros appeared to be headed for a 4-1 win until the top of the eighth.

After Atlanta's Bob Horner singled to open the inning and Dale Murphy flied to right, Houston manager Bill Virdon pulled Ruhle for Joe Sambito.

Brian Asseltine greeted Sambito with a booming double that scored Horner, then Astros rightfielder Jeff Leonard dropped a deep fly by Larvell Banks that sent Asseltine to third and left Banks on second.

Pinch-hitter Jeff Burroughs ripped another double that emptied the bases and left the score tied 4-4.

"I felt like I wanted to stay with Sambito," said Virdon after the game. "If he'd gotten a break and Jeff had held the ball, he'd have gotten out of the inning."

Cedeno singled to lead off the ninth inning for Houston, then stole second and went to third on a bad throw by Atlanta catcher Biff Pocoroba.

Joe Morgan also singled, then Atlanta reliever Gene Garber, who absorbed the loss, walked Jose Cruz to load the bases and Cabell sacrificed to end the game.

Houston scored two runs in the third, then added solo runs in the fourth and seventh. The Astros collected 12 hits off Atlanta pitching.

Atlanta scored their first run in the second inning. Doyle Alexander was the starting pitcher for Atlanta and was relieved after five innings by Larry Bradford. Gerber took over from Bradford in the eighth.

Cats Get Around Visiting Midland

Snyder junior varsity baseball team edged Midland here yesterday, 9-8. The Cats, 9-6, are slated to entertain Lubbock Christian at 4 p.m. on Thursday.

Snyder drilled the visitors for 15 hits, including a two-run homer by Barry Davis, a triple from David Gee and doubles from Casey Peterson, Curtis Gafford, Ralph Hernandez and John Wilson.

The heavy hitting accounted for eight runs through the first three innings, but the Cats also committed six early errors to let Midland stay in the game.

Snyder used four pitchers in the game. The win went to first reliever Hernandez, tossed for three innings. Galando was the losing hurler, going all the way for Midland.

Midland came up with seven hits. The visitors scored six runs during the first three innings, but managed only two in the final four.

Judges To Arrive In Hermleigh Thursday

EDITORS' NOTE: Approximately one year ago Hermleigh residents entered a contest in which they committed themselves to improving the quality of life and general appearance of their community. The success of those efforts will be determined Thursday when the judges arrive on what has been dubbed "Community Fair Day."

HERMLEIGH—A wel-

WTC Rodeo Team Builds Up Points

The last two outings for the Western Texas College rodeo team have been the most successful of the year, Bob Doty, team sponsor, said.

At Howard College last weekend, the bareback and bull riders turned in good performances. Mark Mueller of Snyder marked 69 in the bareback riding to split second and third place and Scott Davis of Sterling City marked 68 to split fourth and fifth place. Davis also won sixth in the steer wrestling. Chris Welch of Midland topped one of Vold's top bulls for a 75-point bull ride to win first in that event, and Jay Cochrane of Granbury rode a tough bull for 69 points to split sixth place.

Team totals were close, with Tarleton winning with 235 points, host Howard College second with 233 points, Sul Ross third with 192 points; and WTC close behind, in fourth with 188 points. Twelve schools were represented. Earlier at Frank Phillips College, Davis split a first place in the bull riding, scoring 73 points along with Lee Newman of Sul Ross. Billy Grady of Brownwood topped all other bareback riders with a score of 69 to win first in his event. Tommy Guin of Tahoka tied his calf in 11.84 to finish fifth in the calf roping.

When team totals were tallied, WTC was in third place with 167 points while Sul Ross finished first with 402 points and Tarleton was second with 184 points.

The WTC rodeo teams will be participating in the Hardin-Simmons rodeo in Abilene this weekend, then will be at home for the WTC rodeo April 24-26. Performances will begin at 8 each night in the rodeo arena on West 30th Street.

coming caravan and an afternoon of festivities await the judges for the Texas Rural Electric Cooperative Community Improvement contest when they arrive here at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

The caravan will assemble at the entrance to Hermleigh south of the Catholic Church. The caravan will proceed to the community center where the Cardinette Drill Team and Little Cardinal Twirlers will perform.

Representatives from Hermleigh's Webelo, Cub and Boy Scout Troops will present a flag ceremony. A community fair will be conducted in the community center complete with exhibit booths and speakers.

Those speaking will be Foster Watson, Joe Ramsey, Darlene Peel and Donald Tate. Billy Haynes will present a slide program featuring several of the improvement projects undertaken throughout the year.

Afterward, the judges will be treated to a tour of Hermleigh and the area. Everyone is invited to join the tour and see some of the things we have done since last year, said Jervia Farr, reporter for the Hermleigh Improvement Organization.

Improvements to be pointed out will include the new community water well; booster club welcome signs and the new street signs; renovations to the football stadium and park; cleaned lots, new homes and home improvements.

Hoffman, Field Win Top Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—On a tranquil night for Oscar, Dustin Hoffman and his bitter child custody battle "Kramer vs. Kramer" earned the best of the 52nd annual Academy Awards, while Sally Field's portrayal of a union militant in "Norma Rae" brought her best actress honors.

"Kramer" won five major awards Monday night, including best picture, best screenplay and directing (Robert Benton), best supporting actress Meryl Streep and best actor — the often-nominated but never-before chosen Hoffman.

Bob Fosse's "All That Jazz," a self-inspired musical about a stage producer's frenetic and eventually fatal drive, won four Oscars — film editing, art direction, adapted score and costume design.

"Apocalypse Now," Francis Ford Coppola's Vietnam War epic, collected for sound and cinematography. "Norma Rae" was the other multiple winner of the night, garnering Oscars for best song—"It Goes Like It Goes"—and for Miss Field's performance.

Hoffman's ambivalent acceptance and a verbal sparring match with reporters backstage provided the evening's only hints of spontaneous drama, commodities of which Oscar is usually in ample supply. Monday night was an exception.

Hoffman joked a bit as he accepted his Oscar, then turned serious, making reference to his being "critical of the Academy, and for reason."

SALLY FIELD Wins Best Actress...

Backstage, he expanded: "I guess what I'm trying to say is that I do think that art is competitive... but it is for the artist to do the competing. There's just no way to arbitrarily draw the line on good work."

Not at all ambivalent was Sally Field, who struggled for years with her cutesy "Gidget" image before getting roles worthy of Oscar performances. Her portrayal of the diminutive, tough-minded union organizer, Norma Rae, earned her a best actress Oscar in a difficult field that included such heavyweights as Jane Fonda and Marsha Mason.

Miss Field wept openly on stage, and said afterward, "I'm absolutely shocked.... I know I'll go home and cry some more. I've wanted to be an actress since I was three. This is incredible."

Melvyn Douglas, who at 79 was competing in the supporting actor category against 8-year-old Justin Henry, was a predicted and popular winner for his role as the craggy capitalist in "Being There."

Douglas, who has continued working despite weakened health, was the only winning actor not in attendance at Monday's ceremony.

The other supporting role award — to Meryl Streep for "Kramer" — was not unexpected, either. The only surprise came weeks ago, when Miss Streep, who played Hoffman's estranged wife in the movie, was nominated in the supporting, rather than lead category.

Steve Tesich won an Oscar for his charming, free-spirited "Breaking Away" script, a tale of growing up in a Midwest college town.

"The Tin Drum," from West Germany, was the best foreign language film. It was that country's first Oscar.

Your Birthday

April 16, 1980

Advancement this coming year is likely where your work or career is concerned. There is one thing, however, that could deter your progress: getting involved in political situations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Bewary today of behaving too severely with those in your charge. Harsh methods will produce more harm than good. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your managerial concepts are good today, but you may implement them haphazardly and not get the results you desire. Follow your original plan to the letter.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Things you do selfishly for others today will serve to make you and those you help happy. Where your motives are selfish, no one is apt to benefit.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your friends are willing and anxious to help you today, but you'd be wise not to ask favors of a financial or material nature. Borrowing money is a no-no.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things should go successfully today where your career is concerned, provided you're not overly assertive. Be ambitious without being too pushy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Let your logic and practicality prevail today in matters relating to your self-interests. Follow impulsive hunches could cause complications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be secretive about your commercial dealings today and keep persons who are not directly involved out of the picture. They could muddy the water.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In activities you share with friends today, don't press too hard to have your way. This will make them feel ill at ease, and it won't help your image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Helpers or coworkers may not be as reliable today as they usually are. If something important needs doing, count only on No. 1.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your organizational qualities are good today in handling things relating solely to you. However, uninvited meddling in another's affairs could be disastrous.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you may have to do something that is unpopular, but that you believe is right. Have the courage of your convictions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't make agreements today unless you're prepared to do as you promise, no matter how tough the going gets. It's best to say no than to be sorry.

Your electric bill has something in common with your grocery bill---inflation.

Inflation has made every can of corn, every carton of milk cost more today.

Everything it takes to produce and deliver groceries — fuel, equipment, etc. — is increasing in price.

The same is true of electricity. The cost of fuel to generate electricity is going up. So are the costs of power lines, transformers, poles and other equipment.

We're helping fight the effect of inflation on your electric bill by building new power plants that use cheaper lignite coal and nuclear fuels.

There are things you can do, as well. By using electricity wisely, just as you shop for groceries wisely, you can help hold down your electric bill.

By attending one of our free "Operation Tighten-Up" workshops, you can learn effective ways to conserve electricity. Call us and arrange to attend a workshop in your neighborhood.

Extending Thermostat Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Energy Department announced today that President Carter will extend for nine months the mandatory thermostat controls imposed last summer as a means of saving energy.

Deputy Energy Secretary John Sawhill said the controls will be extended through January 1981.

The program - first imposed last July 16 - requires that thermostats in public buildings be set at no higher than 65 degrees during the winter and no lower than 78 in the summer.

They were due to expire at midnight, but Sawhill said Carter has determined that the program "worked and it worked well."

Dear Abby Readers' Defense Takes Bull by the Horns

DEAR ABBY: This is in protest of your ignorant evaluation of a time-honored art which you labeled "the brutal and bloody business of torturing and killing animals for sport and entertainment — bullfighting."

What an outrageously ethnocentric remark! Bullfighting first appeared as early as 2,000 years before Christ. Since then it has flourished in Spain, Portugal and Latin America. For centuries, kings and noblemen as well as commoners have involved themselves in that sport.

Abby, as a foreigner, it is unfair for you to criticize the customs of another country. In Spain, bullfighting is considered an art, not merely a sport. When you say the animals are "tortured," it shows that you don't know anything about bullfighting. The bulls used in the arena are bred especially for their ferocity to kill men! It takes enormous skill and courage for a 175-pound man armed only with a cape and sword to face a wild bull weighing 2,000 pounds. And when the time comes to kill the animal, the men often kill the bull with a single thrust of the sword! (Tell me that chasing a fox with a pack of trained dogs, riding on horseback and using guns to kill is more sporting! The same can be said of your hunting birds and animals!)

In conclusion, I wish to inform you that in most cases the meat of the bulls killed in the arena is sold cheap to the city's poor or given to orphanages.

amazing 101-13 record in the past three seasons, considers today's honor as "one of the greatest things that has ever happened to me. It means a great deal to us. What can I say? I'm overwhelmed."

Area basketball fans know of Richardson's accomplishments - three straight conference and regional titles, three trips to the NJCAA National Tournament. The last season "resulted" in a "37-0 record and the national championship."

Richardson has been named conference, regional and Texas Junior College Coach of the Year for the past three years. Add National Juco Coach of the Year in 1980.

But he hasn't done it alone. A lot of help has come from Rose.

"Behind every person that ever accomplished anything was a force pushing them on, helping them. To me, that is Rose," said Richardson. "I feel very

Wallace Brings Campaign Here

Jim Wallace, a Democratic candidate for the state supreme court, brought his campaign to Snyder Monday afternoon when he stopped off at Winston Field.

Wallace, who hails from Houston, is presently a member of the First Court of Civil Appeals. He has served as a district court judge, has served two terms in the state senate and, up until 1975, operated a private law practice. He is seeking the seat being vacated by retiring judge Zollie Steakley. His opponents are John Phillips and Wayne Scott.

Two major issues Wallace said he has found in his campaign are complaints that civil matters are tied up in the courts too long and that legal services are costing so much "that a number of citizens are priced out of the market."

An alternative to that type of system, he said, is the Neighborhood Justice Council concept being experimented with in Houston.

In the Neighborhood Justice Council system, the two complainants meet with a third party and together the three work out a solution. The case can thus be settled out of court.

The third party in the agreement would not be a lawyer at all. The concept is similar in nature to the justice of the peace court. The vast majority of small civil claims can be settled through that type of system, he said. They can be settled quickly and at little cost.

"I think when we got away from that concept is one reason we have so many problems now," he said.

Wallace also addressed himself to the issue of whether judges should have to seek elective office or should be appointed to their posts.

While conceding that running for office is time consuming, expensive, and troublesome, it is still the best way, said Wallace.

"I still prefer the elective system," he said. "It's only human nature that if no one can fire you, you can run your court anyway you please."

Wallace is seeking Place 1 on the Texas Supreme Court.

Aging Agency Sets Hearing

The West Central Texas Council of Governments Agency on Aging will hold a public hearing at 11 a.m. Friday in the Senior Citizens Center at 2603 Avenue M.

The hearing is open to all residents of Scurry county, but will be directed primarily at persons 60 and over. The bulk of the hearing will be spent in getting information from those present about the needs of older persons, and this information will be used by the Agency in preparing its Regional Aging Services Plan for the period beginning Oct. 1.

Student Art Exhibit Set At College

Plans are underway for the First Annual Student Art Exhibit to be held May 4-9 at Western Texas College.

Any student at WTC is eligible to enter the show. Mike Thornton, Fine Arts Division chairman, said. Entries may include paintings, drawings, sketches, photographs, weavings, ceramics or any other medium.

"We welcome entries from any WTC student, whether they are majoring in art or other areas," Thornton stressed.

Entries are to be received between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on May 1 in room 117 of the Fine Arts Building. Cash awards and merit awards will be given.

Three Mishaps Reported Here

Three traffic accidents and a theft have been reported to city police.

The first collision was at 10:50 a.m. in the 2700 block of Ave. Q. It involved a parked 1978 Chevrolet owned by Nolan Richardson and a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Faye Higgins.

The next accident occurred in the 200 block of East Highway at 11:20 a.m. It involved a 1977 Cadillac driven by Sue Lock and a 1974 Ford driven by Howard Lovell.

The final accident Monday was at 2800 Ave. E. and it involved a 1970 Buick driven by Delores Neal and a 1975 Buick driven by Margarita Barrera. It was reported at 2:25 p.m.

All the traffic accidents were investigated by officers Joe Bob Martinez.

Sgt. Dale Burns worked a theft complaint filed by Guy Sullivan. Sullivan reported that his wallet, containing $100 in cash and some credit cards, was taken from his car while the vehicle was parked at Sullivan-Stanfield-Fowler Insurance Agency. That matter was reported at 11:40 p.m.

DEAR ABBY: I've thought about it, and I still disapprove of any sport (spectator or contact) in which blood (animal or human) is spilled.

DEAR ABBY: I must commend you for speaking out against bullfighting. Unfortunately, there are people in the world who believe it is good entertainment to watch dogfights, cockfights, etc. There are even people who condone using live rabbits for training greyhounds (for dog racing). The rabbits are put onto the track with no chance of escaping, and although exhausted, the terrified creatures run until they are caught and torn to shreds!

There is absolutely no justification for these barbaric acts against animals. They demoralize human beings, and lower us to the ways of the gladiators when animals were pitted against each other as the crowd roared in excitement and amusement.

Keep up the good work, Abby. The world needs more people like you.

MS. JERI ZUPANCIC

DEAR ABBY: In your country you fatten up your bulls, run them up a chute at the stockyards and hit them over the head with an ax before they become hamburger or steaks.

Your bulls have no chance to fight for their lives. Ours have. Ole!

Richardson's Home Center Has That Special Gift For Mother

Mother's Day is just around the corner and Richardson's Home Center, located at 1902 37th St., is the place to go when you're thinking of that special gift for Mom. You know, that's why Jerry calls it a home center - you can find practically every major appliance at Richardson's. Begin with air conditioners and go all the way to washing machines and then think of everything in between - and that's what you will find at the Home Center.

One of the newest lines at Richardson's is the Amana room air conditioner. With its one piece base pan, its anti-sound muffler, its isolated compressor, heavy duty insulation and efficient cooling coils, the Amana is the most energy efficient room air conditioner you can buy. Jerry's other brand new line is the Filter Queen Home Sanitation System. This bagless vacuum system is the best on the market. It simply will not leak dust and will clean your carpet better than any other vacuum system. Go by and let Jerry demonstrate the Cadillac of vacuums for you.

Amana is one of the country's foremost manufacturers of quality appliances including microwaves, refrigerators, freezers and ranges. And with their energy efficiency and long life, they are the best buy you can make. Winter has taken its last shot at us and the, hot weather is on the way. A ceiling fan from Richardson's will keep the air in a room circulating - and that's a big step toward keeping cool. Choose from many models and styles at the Home Center. Jerry began his business well-worth a trip to Richardson's Home Center to check out this most important home appliance. Finally, remember Richardson's for your vacuum and sewing machine service needs. They will work on any model of vacuum or sewing machine and will put them in tip-top shape. When you think of home appliances, think of Richardson's Home Center, 1902 37th St.
