Setting Stage For Recession...

Nation's Economy Cools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Growth of the nation's economy slowed sharply in the first three months of 1980, apparently setting the stage for the beginning of a new recession, government figures showed today.

The Commerce Department report said the gross national product grew at an annual rate of 1.1 percent from January through March, down from a 2 percent rate of growth in the fourth quarter of 1979.

It also said there was a worsening of inflation to an annual rate of 11.4 percent in the first quarter, up from a 9.4 percent rate in the fourth. This inflation measurement is different than the Consumer Price Index, which has shown an 18 percent rate of increase.

The first quarter GNP report showed the economy was sinking toward recession levels, although it hadn't yet started. But it provided support for recent predictions that a recession may have started in late March or early April.

President Carter said at a news conference Thursday that a recession has probably started, although he predicted it would be short and mild.

The GNP measures the total output of goods and services in the economy and a decline in output for two consecutive quarters is considered a recession. If the recession has started, it wouldn't show up in the GNP statistics until the second quarter report, which will be issued in July.

However, Carter said Americans don't need to wait for statistics to tell them when times are bad. He said many will face "pain and... disruptions" during the economic slide.

The nation's economy expanded during all of 1979 by an average of 1 percent, but the administration is predicting a decline of 0.4 percent this year because of the recession.

The Commerce Department attributed the weaker economic growth in the first quarter to a slowdown in the growth of consumer spending and to a decline in the housing industry.

It said total sales in the economy increased only 1.5 percent in the quarter, less than half the gain of 3.6 percent in the first three months of 1979.

The slide in the housing industry is continuing in the current quarter, the result of record high interest rates which are discouraging both homebuying and homebuilding. Housing starts were off more than 22 percent in March.

The Commerce Department measurement of inflation is called the fixed-weighted price index.

Saturday Mail Chances Fading

WASHINGTON (AP)—Saturday mail delivery appears to be the big loser in the House ground rules approved for next week's floor debate on a proposed 1981 balanced budget.

The House Rules Committee voted Thursday to permit only 11 amendments to be offered to the budget—five from Republicans and six from Democrats.

Although money to continue Saturday mail delivery is included in two package amendments backed by liberal Democrats, those two proposals are given little chance for approval.

Supporters of Saturday mail had hoped the Rules Committee would have permitted a separate amendment on restoring funds cut from the postal service subsidy.

Such an amendment, they felt, would stand a fair chance for passage considering election-year pressures from millions of constituents who would be affected by the cut in mail delivery.

"That's why we didn't get it (the amendment)," said one aide to the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee who asked not to be identified. "I think we're dead."

In recommending a $611.8 billion 1981 balanced budget, the House Budget Committee voted to eliminate the $836 million subsidy for the U.S. Postal Service, a cut the panel said would force a shift to five-day-a-week mail deliveries.

Snyder High 1-Act Play Going To Austin Again

They did it again! Jerry Worsham's Snyder High School one-act play cast and crew earned the right Friday to go to Austin and compete for another state title.

Snyder High's presentation of "A Mid Summer Night's Dream" and Iowa Park's presentation of "The Room," advanced to the state finals in regional University Interscholastic League competition at Odessa.

It will give Worsham a shot at an unprecedented eighth state title. The Snyder High production of "Macbeth" last year was judged best in the state in Class AAA competition, the seventh time for SHS to win the honor. It established a state record.

Clements' Census Figures Disputed

DALLAS (AP)—Census officials in Dallas say Gov. Bill Clements isn't even close with his claim that only 55 percent of Texans have returned their census forms.

"I don't know where the governor gets his figures," said Jane Sumner, public information coordinator with the regional census center in Dallas.

Ms. Sumner said she spent Thursday verifying that the Texas return rate is only slightly lower than the national rate of 86.6 percent.

Ask Us

Q—How much does it improve the mileage of a car to drive 55 mph on the highway instead of 70 mph?

A—There is no precise figure that would apply to all cars. On an average, however, the Texas Traffic Safety Section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation says a car will get 20 percent better mileage at 55 than at 70.

Three members of the SHS cast were singled out for individual honors at the regional contest in Odessa. Becky Pierce and Scott Marlair were named to the all-star cast, while LaQuita Reaves received honorable mention.

The state one-act play contest is scheduled for May 3 in Austin.

Regional UIL contests in individual events will continue at Odessa College through Saturday.

Keeping tab on our neighbors: Over at Big Spring, the Herald reports one of those "stranger-than-fiction" situations in city politics. They have an unopposed runoff race for a city council post.

It happened like this. Three candidates sought this post in the April 5 election. One candidate got 49.3 percent of the votes, another got 41.8 percent and the third got 8.8 percent. The city charter requires a majority. So, a runoff election was set.

Meanwhile, the No. 2 candidate looked over the results of April 5 voting for other posts as well as the lineup of hold-over councilmen and decided that his political philosophy would be out-numbered heavily. He withdrew. The third candidate, who got only 8.8 percent of the vote the first time a runoff was held, but he declined to make a runoff bid. So, the front-runner is left alone on the runoff ballot, which the city attorney has ruled must be held because no candidate got a majority on April 5. And write-in votes are not valid in a runoff election.

Customs change with the times. Craig Nieman of the Lamb County Leader-News tells about a woman and her teenaged daughter watching a typical romantic movie of the thirties on television. After it had ended with the usual clinch and fadeout, as most movies did in those days, the daughter turned to the mother and said, "Gee Mom, your movies ended where our begin."

But old Vermonters apparently remain the same, year in and year out, according to a story passed along by Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News.

"Old Eb, like many of his breed, rather stingy with words, said very little and then very grudgingly. One evening he was sitting on the front porch with his wife. The long day's work, the good supper, and the peaceful sights and sounds of dusk must have softened him up.

"Ed took his pipe out of his mouth and said, 'When I think of what you've meant to me all these years, Judith, sometimes it's more than I can stand not to tell you.'"

Iran Declares It Can Resist U.S. Pressures

By The Associated Press

Defiant Iranian leaders declared today their country can resist mounting U.S. economic pressure. But the sanctions campaign was picking up steam among American allies, with Australia and Denmark signaling they are ready to close ranks with President Carter.

Carter on Thursday tightened a few more economic screws on Iran and promised military action if the 50 U.S. Embassy hostages are not freed.

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr said in an interview with Iran's official Pars news agency today "it is clear to us" Carter will do all he can to force the Iranians to release the American captives.

But "we shall provide the means of resistance," he said. Bani-Sadr has said repeatedly Iran has prepared for months for such U.S. pressure, even a naval blockade.

Another leading revolutionary, Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali, told the Moslem Sabbath prayer meeting at Tehran University today that "we can't have any negotiation and mediation" with the United States.

Carter is trying to enlist the help of U.S. allies in squeezing Iran economically, and at a meeting early next week the foreign ministers of the nine European Common Market nations are expected to take some anti-Iranian steps. But Portugal has already ordered a trade ban with Iran, and Denmark and Australia today appeared ready to join in the sanctions.

After government meetings today in Copenhagen, Danish Prime Minister Anker Joergensen announced his government is "ready to do everything to support U.S. efforts." He indicated Denmark would not order trade restrictions without first coordinating actions with its eight Common Market partners next week.

In Canberra, officials said the Australian government would probably decide Monday to order at least partial bans on machinery, iron and steel exports to Iran.

Representatives of the Common Market nations in the European Parliament urged the nine governments Thursday to consider breaking diplomatic relations with Iran, as Carter did April 7.

On Thursday, Carter banned U.S. imports from Iran, ordered the freeing for U.S. use or sale of impounded military equipment purchased by Iran, said he would seek congressional authority to pay reparations to the hostages and their families out of more than $8 billion in Iranian assets he froze in November, barred financial transactions with anyone in Iran, except those involved in journalism and prohibited Americans "other than journalists from traveling to Iran without U.S. government permission.

Stilt-Walker On Long Trip

Step by step Joe Bowen is walking across the country, atop a pair of stilts.

"There's a lot of people who've walked," he says, "but do you know anybody nutty enough to walk on stilts?"

Bowen is still-walking from California to Kentucky, an odyssey that will span 3,000 miles. Along the way he hopes to raise $100,000 in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Bowen's concern for children suffering from the disease was kindled several years ago when it was discovered that a playmate of one of his three children had muscular dystrophy. That child can never lead a normal life, and Bowen decided to do something about it.

"I'm committed to that little boy and I'm committed to the United States Jaycees, and I'm not going to let them down," said Bowen, noting that the Jaycees are sponsoring his stilt-walk.

Bowen, who is himself a Jaycee, is no stranger to marathon events. Last year, he stilt-walked 154 miles across Kentucky, helping his state Jaycees raise more than $9,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. In 1967, he began a 16-month "pleasure trip" on a bicycle which covered 14,000 miles from southern California, through Canada, down the Continental Divide to Mexico, and back up to Kentucky.

Bowen began his current trek Feb. 20 in Los Angeles. His scheduled route will take him through 11 states, crossing the plains of the southwest and the hills of the Ozarks. He expects to complete his trip around the first of August.

For support, he is accompanied by Ed Gibson, a fellow Jaycee. They sleep in a motor home. Bowen planned the trip 3½ years.

Bowen remembers stilt-walking some as a youngster in Kentucky. "Back then we didn't have television," he said. "We made our own entertainment."

Although he enjoyed it, it was not an obsession with him. He chose stilt-walking as his medium because no one had ever made such a trip before. Of course, he hopes to set a new world's record for his efforts.

"When it's over, Bowen said, "I'll end the trip and I'll go back to work." He believes the unusual trip will "most definitely" have been worth it.

Gun Rule For Private Guards Eyed By Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—Complaints against security guards might be reduced by prohibiting them from carrying handguns when off-duty, says the staff of the Sunset Advisory Commission.

A staff report Thursday noted the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies received 1,246 complaints last year and added: "Analysis of complaint files revealed that a significant number of the complaints against commissioned security officers involved abuse of commission privileges which allow handguns to be worn to and from work.

The preliminary voice votes are subject to a final review and vote before going to the 1981 Legislature.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The biggest financial scandal in the history of the federal government could be under way right now — but law-enforcement agents lack the resources to stop the potential theft of billions of dollars.

"It's a relatively new field," says one Secret Service official in admitting that his agency can't cope with the sophisticated criminal technique. "You can safely say that nobody's got a handle on it."

The stakes are truly enormous because the amount of money susceptible to fraud, embezzlement and other forms of unlawful conversion exceeds $500 billion per year — the entire annual federal budget.

Although almost none of that money is in cash. Virtually all of the funds are disbursed through computer-generated Treasury checks, highly negotiable financial instruments that regularly authorize six- and seven-figure cash payments.

The key to gaining illegal access to that money is computer fraud. Although multiple safeguards are built into the federal system to prevent improper disbursements, those measures already have been foiled in at least three instances.

A federal grand jury in Baltimore recently indicted an employee of the Social Security Administration on charges of manipulating that agency's computer to pay herself and two accomplices more than $500,000 in unauthorized disability benefits.

The accused government employee worked at the agency's headquarters in the Baltimore suburb of Woodlawn, Md. Her office, only a small part of the vast Social Security bureaucracy, processed more than $1 billion in government disability payments every month.

In an earlier case, a supervisory clerk in Chicago was accused of feeding into a government computer false claims for federal benefits, producing approximately $100,000 worth of unauthorized welfare checks for herself and accomplices.

The most widely publicized of the federal computer-fraud cases involved an employee of the Department of Transportation assigned to the Washington headquarters of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

He devised a computer-fraud scheme to divert into his bank account more than $850,000 earmarked for construction of Atlanta's new subway system, then spent the money on a dozen new cars, a new home, a swimming pool and gambling junkets to Las Vegas.

Information about those cases is available because criminal charges have been filed against the alleged embezzlers in federal courts. The Secret Service, responsible for protecting all Treasury funds, will not discuss dozens of similar cases in which investigations still are incomplete.

The government is neither the only target for computer thieves nor the source of the largest known embezzlements. An employee of the Security Pacific National Bank has been convicted of defrauding that Los Angeles bank of $10.2 million by manipulating a computer to transfer the money to his personal bank accounts in other cities.

In another Los Angeles case, more than a dozen officers and employees of the Equity Funding Corporation of America have been convicted on charges of using a computer scheme to create $2 billion worth of fraudulent life-insurance policies. But the government's computers pose special problems because so much money is involved and because safeguards remain inadequate. One General Accounting Office study found "serious weaknesses" in security systems and "increasing potential for fraud, abuse ... and economic loss."

In both the Social Security and Transportation Department cases, the schemes were uncovered not through internal controls but rather because bank employees became suspicious of large deposits in the form of Treasury checks, followed by large withdrawals of cash.

"Whether or not we're at the tip of the iceberg right now, we don't know," says a Secret Service official. "The potential for misuse of taxpayer funds ... is not known to us."

no miracle solution

It takes an occasional trip to Washington to make one realize that the chief actors in the continuing drama of national and international politics are not pawns being moved around by an unseen hand but flesh and bone, capable of inspired action on occasions but also guilty of monumental blunder at other times.

When the former Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger, told a group of newspaper editors recently that he believed President Carter and Cyrus Vance were dealing with the Iranian crisis as best they could, under the circumstances, he didn't seem to be patronizing neither individual.

And when Admiral Stansfield Turner, now chief of the CIA, reiterated that he would not hesitate to use journalists on intelligence missions, after being challenged for taking that stance by several of the newsmen present, he did not appear to be trying to tamper with the rights of a free press but rather, in his own words, said he "hoped that reporters would feel a sense of patriotism equally as strong as that of the average American."

The newsmen present for the briefings were jolted into reality if they went there thinking the situation in Iran could be easily resolved.

Carter has no easy options. Presidential candidates George Bush and Ronald Reagan said the chief executive waited much too long to sever diplomatic relations with the Iranians and he may have been guilty of dragging his feet, but none dared to suggest that Iran be bombed into submission nor a blockade be set up to deprive the rest of the world of the right to enter Iranian waters.

No industrialized nation in the world now using Iranian oil wants to be cut off from that supply, and the United States could very well be courting their enmity by setting up the blockade and mining the waters of the Persian Gulf.

There seems to be far fewer hawks in this country than there were prior to and during the early days of the Vietnam War. There will be even fewer in the future, when most every nation of any size masters the secret of atomic weapons.

If problems are worked out in the Middle East, and that Gordian knot may never be cut during our lifetime, the solutions will come not on the battlefield but at conference tables.

Meanwhile, life goes on in Washington. President Carter gets up with the Iranian crisis in the morning and goes to bed with it at night. He needs all the help and advice he can get, and he's not getting much of the kind he can use.

Washington itself has taken pretty much of a hard line against him. In short, the gnarl chorus is in good voice, but no one seems to have any solutions. The second guessers are waiting to come out of the wings after the creases have been ironed out. Right now, those critics are showing very human characteristics by remaining mute.

Through the years Snyder has become associated with the White Buffalo. Now represented by a statue standing serenely under a shade tree on the courthouse square, the White Buffalo was a living creature, revered and sacred to the Indians.

However, to the early buffalo hunters, the first white men to inhabit the wilds of West Texas, it was a sought after trophy. J. Wright Mooar, the famous hunter and adventurer happened onto the creature in the late evening of Oct. 7 as it stood on the banks of Deep Creek grazing under a cottonwood tree with the rest of the herd. He is said to have downed it with a single shot from his 50 caliber Sharps Rifle. It was one of only two albino buffalo ever to be killed in Texas. It's hide was shown in the St. Louis Fair in 1904 and at many other notable occasions.

During his career, Mooar is credited with killing as many as 22,000 buffalo, a record probably unsurpassed. His ability to hit a vital spot at a distance of 1,000 feet won the respect of the Indians including Comanche chief Quanah Parker. Along with his brother John, Mooar established the first buffalo hunting camp in the Texas Panhandle. He also helped furnish game to feed construction crews building the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

But for all Mooar's exploits, Snyder was named for W.H. "Pete" Snyder who opened a trading post here. The townsite was laid out in 1882 and immigration invited. In 1884, Snyder became the county seat and the post office was established.

In those days, just to survive in this area it helped to be on the salty side and Snyder got its share of the rowdiest. Around 1887 the conglomeration of buffalo hide tents and dugouts that grew up around Mr. Snyder's trading post was often referred to as Robber's Roost because of the many desperadoes and fugitives who found refuge here.

To even things out there was also a Saint's Roost. A Methodist minister established a colony near where the present town of Clarendon now stands. Cowmen had to check their guns before entering. And there was no drinking or card playing allowed. No wonder Clarendon is such a small town today.

Looking over our quiet little city it is hard to believe it was once home for an untamed cache of toughs.

There is another era in Snyder's history when old timers around here say walking the streets after dark was not a past time of the sane. In the early 50s oil was discovered and Snyder became a "boomtown" with all the accompanying turbulence.

But that is another story for another time.

Some letters grab your attention right away. Maybe it was the clipping of my column that fell out with a red beard and mustache inked onto my picture at the top of it.

Now, I don't need a brick building to fall on me to know that someone out there was into "hostile beard drawing."

I was right. A 14-year-old boy from Winston-Salem, N.C., took issue with the column I did on the "baby of the family." In it I explored how the "baby" was viewed. Was he the family favorite? The last link with youth? The indulged brat? The conclusion was, it all depended on who you talked to.

Well, I should have talked with John, the 14-year-old boy from Winston-Salem, N.C. He is the "baby" of parents who are 50 years old and his letter will move you to tears. He writes:

"You obviously aren't the 'baby' in your family ... which is a biased term. Do you know what it's like to keep a yard the size of the White House lawn all by yourself because your so-called aging parents are unable to? No wonder! They're into jogging, tennis, and racketball.

"I'm not allowed to have a digital watch because my older brothers were 'negligent' in the maintenance of their timepieces.

"Tell me about hand-me-downs. For the past 10 years of my life, the only new clothes I got were Fruit-of-the-Loom underwear. My clothes are so outdated they'll be declared antiques in 1982.

"You said by the time I was born we would have a fullset of encyclopedias. By the time I grew old enough to use it, I discovered the most recent president was Eisenhower.

"At holidays, everyone comes home to a four-bedroom house, one for my parents, the rest to my siblings, while I'm booted to the couch.

"Do you know what it's like to sit through Masterpiece Theatre every night? Or how about being referred to as so-and-so's brother? I tell you it's rough at the bottom!"

Cheer up, John. You've got something only the what happened to savers?

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you considered what has happened to the people we call the salt of the earth, the people who try to live within their means and who used to save anything extra in case of a rainy day?

Those people whose savings the country relied upon to finance housing and business enterprises that provide the jobs and incomes for what used to be the ever-rising standard of American living?

They're the people who bought U.S. Savings Bonds because Uncle Sam's ad men and top business executives said bonds would help pay for the education of their children and make their retirement days easier too.

And what they didn't put into bonds at 6 percent they put into savings accounts at 5.5 percent because they had always been told saving is prudent. And it used to be, that's true, before 18 percent inflation.

For their efforts, of course, the savers not only lost much of their money but they paid taxes on the interest "earned." Their profits were an illusion; they really lost badly to double digit inflation.

Moreover, their taxes went up. Despite tax cuts, and despite many assurances that it wasn't so, a greater share of the gross national product now goes to taxes than in any year since the 1940s.

The bondbuyers, the savers, the insured — have they been robbed?

You know who they are. They're the people who personify the American ideals of family, hard work, thrift, hope in the future, faith in institutions, confidence in government. Dreamers, perhaps; but if it isn't now, America used to be the land where dreams came true.

These families tried. They began the 1960s with one breadwinner. Two were needed in the 1970s, so the wife returned to work. Inflation made further inroads, forcing them to cut into those rainy day savings.

It didn't stop there. As prices rose faster than take-home pay, and as savings eroded, they experimented with credit to maintain their life style. Then the credit markets, by edict, were closed to them.

Victims of inflation, all of them, and of taxes too, and of the futile, half-hearted and often inept attempts to stop inflation.

The ordinary people who adhered to the solid old values were too busy with the finer things of life, such as caring for the family, to spend time on financial matters. Nor, perhaps, did they have the inclination. They trusted; above all, they trusted Uncle Sam.

They remained the solid, dedicated, hard-working, straight, trusted, dependable people that everyone — political, business, investment, religious and other leaders — know is very badly needed.

But if there is added to the list another and heretofore misleading descriptive "cynical," it's for a very good reason. They've been sinned against. They've been robbed.

Switzerland Program By AFS Student

Sylvia Donadei, foreign exchange student from Bern, Switzerland, was guest speaker for the April meeting of the Twentieth Century Club. Her commentary on the pictures she showed gave club members a new insight into her homeland. Switzerland, an industrial nation that must import almost all of its raw materials, depends on skilled workers to make products of very high quality, said Miss Donadei. Swiss watches and other fine precision instruments are famous the world over. Cheese and chocolate are among its exports, she added. "Art and architecture preserved from the 13th and 14th centuries include valuable books copied by hand by monks. A Protestant Cathedral, rivaling in beauty other religious shrines, has a spiral stairs of 457 steps," said Sylvia. "The large cities of Switzerland reflect the international importance the country has always been accorded. Geneva is the center for the United Nations, the Red Cross, and numerous conferences of universal concern. Basil, on the Rhine, has the country's only harbor, and the international airport, Lucerne, the birthplace of Swiss democracy founded 700 years ago, still holds meetings in the square. Zurich has 1,000,000 of the 6,200,000 population. "Three languages are common in Switzerland. In the west, near France, French is spoken. German language is spoken near the German border. In the south Italian is the common language. The schools, too, are different from American schools," she concluded.

Other hostesses for the event were Mrs. Drexell Sales, Mrs. Curtis Johnson, Cheryl Smith and Mrs. Kenneth Smith. Hostess gifts were a baby swing and a letter T-shirt.

Stop excusing your life away.

Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, 52,000 people die of colorectal cancer every year. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment.

What's your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the guaiac test. This can detect signs of possible colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. Ask your doctor about a guaiac test, and stop excusing your life away.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

North's three-club bid was designed to prevent a club lead against a final slam contract. He continued his fancy Dan tactics with a second-round four-diamond call which gave East a chance to make a lead directing double.

That four-diamond double caused North to give up any thought of a grand slam and he settled for six spades.

Against any lead but a diamond six spades is a cinch. South wins the trick, draws trump, cashes the hearts in order to chuck a club, plays a club to dummy's ace, ruffs a club, leads a diamond, covers whatever card West plays and has end-played East.

Against the 10 of diamonds lead South played dummy's queen. East won with his king and led a club. South drew trumps and cashed the hearts, but was careful to discard a diamond — not a club.

Then he played the ace and nine of diamonds to give East his choice of mode of death. If East covered with the jack, South would ruff, return to dummy with a trump, cash the seven of diamonds which would now be good in order to discard his losing club.

Actually, East took his one chance. He ducked quickly, but South believed that 10 of diamonds opening lead and discarded his losing club-right then.

Margaret Miller, program leader, expressed the club's appreciation to Virginia Grove, who presented the speaker, and to Sylvia. Jana Kaye Bryant, guest, and 11 members were present. Henrietta Dupree was hostess.

First Alice Dies Friday

SAN DIEGO (AP)-Actress Charlotte Henry Dempsey, best known for her title role in the original motion picture "Alice in Wonderland," featuring W.C. Fields, Gary Cooper and Cary Grant in cameo roles, died Friday. She was 63.

Cancer Progress
If it were not for the rising toll of cigarette-related cancer deaths, overall mortality rates for cancer would be dropping, the American Cancer Society says.

LAFF-A-DAY

Jury Convicts Abilene Teen

ABILENE (AP)—Jurors deliberated less than two hours before convicting an Abilene teen-ager of capital murder in the beating-slashing slaying of an air traffic controller last December.

The same state district court jury that convicted Clifton Charles Russell Jr., 18, must decide whether to recommend life in prison or death by lethal injection.

The last time the death penalty was assessed in a Taylor County case was 1943.

Jurors, who had been sequestered for almost two weeks, began hearing testimony in the punishment phase of the trial Thursday afternoon.

The capital murder trial of an Abilene teen-ager, accused of the fatal beating-slashing of an air traffic controller last December in Abilene, headed toward its end today.

Hubert Otha Tobey, 41, got off work at Abilene Municipal Airport late last Dec. 2 and was never reported seen alive again. His body was found the next morning behind a house in east Abilene. He had been smashed in the head with a 25-pound piece of concrete and his clothes had been stripped away.

About 90 minutes after Tobey's body was found, his boots were found in a Midland cemetery. Russell was identified by a Midland pawn broker as having used Tobey's driver's license to sell a television set that morning.

Dear Abby

"Dirty Old Man" Merely Cheap

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Recently to celebrate a 70th birthday (mine), a group of couples went to a very fine restaurant. Our middle-aged waitress was wearing a tight black skirt slit up to her waist. Each time she came down the short stairway she showed a very shapely leg. We all remarked about it during dinner.

Upon leaving — meaning to compliment her — I said quietly, "That's a pretty decent exposure," whereupon she shouted so all could hear, "Why, you dirty old man!"

My wife, coming up behind me, demanded, "Did you pinch her?" Everyone in our party and most of the people in the restaurant had a good laugh — at my expense.

I quickly went back and pocketed the generous tip I had left for her, Abby, if they flaunt it, shouldn't they be complimented? And was I wrong to have-pocketed the tip?

TIPPED OFF IN TACOMA

DEAR TIPPED: When they flaunt it, even if you enjoy it, ignore it. You shouldn't have pocketed the tip. If the waitress served your party well, she earned it — even if she does have a big mouth.

DEAR ABBY: When my mother-in-law handed me my Christmas gift last year she said, "You don't seem like the type who would like this, so if you don't want it, please give it back to me because I love it!"

Abby, I was in a no-win situation. As I unwrapped it, I was hurt to think that she would give me a gift she knew I wouldn't like. Well, she was right. It was a gaudily decorated trinket box, in terrible taste and about as useless as anything could be. It was obvious that she wanted me to give it back to her. Well, I'm not in the habit of telling people I don't like their gifts, so I told her I thought it was "interesting" and kept it. She seemed surprised and disappointed.

As time went by, every time I looked at that ugly, useless box I became angry, so I donated it to a charity for a white elephant sale just to get it out of my sight.

What should I say if one day my mother-in-law asks to see that box?

GAVE UP ON FORGIVING

DEAR GAVE UP: Tell her the truth. She had it coming. (The truth, not the box.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for VIRGO, who couldn't decide whether to marry the "mature, responsible, hard-working man" because he didn't have a college degree (she did).

Someone should tell this snob that college definitely does not make the person. My husband makes a very good living, but he didn't even finish high school. I am certainly not against higher education; however, a degree doesn't automatically ensure that a person is mature and well-rounded. I know some college graduates who don't have sense enough to come in out of the rain.

This country was founded by people who were not afraid of hard, honest work, and not ashamed to get their hands dirty in the process.

I can only hope that this man who is "mature, responsible, hard-working and earns $35,000 a year at only a job — not a profession" finds himself a woman more deserving of him.

SCORPIO

CONFIDENTIAL TO G.T. IN TUCSON, ARIZ.: Experience is indeed a good teacher, but Ford (Henry, not Jerry) said: "The trouble with the school of experience is that the course is so long that the graduates are too old to go to work."

Cancer strikes at any age. It kills more children between the ages of 3 and 14 than any other disease. Cancer also strikes more frequently with advancing age, according to the American Cancer Society.

Vickie Greenfield Snyderite Is Student Missionary

Vickie Greenfield, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Greenfield, 3202 42nd Street, Snyder, will be a Texas Baptist student missionary this summer.

Miss Greenfield, a student at Angelo State University, will work at the Houston Baptist Center.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas Student Division commissioned Miss Greenfield and 109 other students as short-term missionaries.

Young people at Baptist Student Unions on 110 Texas college and university campuses will support the summer missionaries with fund-raising projects this spring.

HSU Alumni Set Meeting Here Sunday

A meeting of Hardin-Simmons University alumni has been scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church in Snyder.

Here for the meeting will be Dr. Rufus B. Spraberry, assistant vice president for development, and John M. Womble, director of Alumni relations.

The program will include a brief update on HSU by Dr. Spraberry and a multimedia presentation about the university. Questions about HSU, student activities, etc., will be answered.

All former students of HSU in the Snyder area are being invited to attend.

Veteran's Land Loans Suspended

The Veterans' Land Program will not be sending out new loan applications until some of the program's authorized $140 million in additional bonds can be sold. E.H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, chairman of the Veterans' Land Board, said the board voted on April 15 to suspend the mailing of applications. He said the Texas constitution limits the interest rate at which these bonds can be sold to six per cent and the current New York bond market is experiencing the highest rates in its history, far in excess of six per cent.

"Our financial advisors are optimistic that we will be able to sell at a reasonable rate before the end of the year," Armstrong said. He said the money currently available for loans has been committed much more quickly than anticipated because the Veterans' Land Program has become virtually the only source for long-term, low-interest real estate loans for small tracts in Texas. Under the program, veterans are able to borrow up to $20,000 on a 40-year note to purchase 10 or more acres.

Veterans who now have applications will still be able to get a loan under the program, Dever said, provided they return the required papers before the expiration date on their application. Veterans who are interested in this or other veterans programs may contact Dever's office in the Western Texas College Administration Building for assistance.

NOW SHOWING—Portraying herself, Joni Eareckson turns in a superb performance of a young woman's struggle to cope after a crippling accident, says Gary Dudder, pastor of the First Christian Church. Several church groups will be going to see the movie which opens tonight at the local theatre and runs for a week.

Violinist Fritz Kreisler made his New York debut in 1888 at the age of 13.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Cured bad breath

DEAR DR LAMB - My husband had bad breath to an extreme degree. He saw his doctor, his dentist and an ear, nose and throat specialist, and they didn't come up with anything. About a year ago, he saw an advertisement about a tongue scraper to use for this condition. He thought he had nothing to lose, so he got one. This little instrument is made of surgical-grade stainless steel and has a cleaning edge. You can use it to scrape the tongue clean. It's dishwasher safe and lasts for a lifetime. In my husband's case, it proved to be everything it claimed to be. Since then he hasn't had any problem.

in the mirror and see if you've got it all clean or if you need to brush a little longer until it is clean. A tongue loaded with food and secretions is a good place for bacteria to grow and cause odors. But that is only one of many causes for bad breath. Other causes are discussed in The Health Letter I'm sending you.

DEAR DR LAMB - I am expecting my second child in three months and I'm very worried. About a month ago a friend of mine who is also pregnant told me that her doctor warned her not to eat any foods prepared in a microwave oven because of the radiation. Well, I've eaten foods prepared in a microwave oven. Naturally, this upset me so when I went to see my doctor he said that there was probably no danger in eating the foods but that standing in front of the microwave oven could be harmful. I've also stood in front of a microwave oven when it was in use, but the most has been about five minutes. Is this going to affect my baby?

DEAR READER - Put your mind at ease. Foods cooked with microwaves present no hazard at all from the microwaves. All the microwaves do is speed up the movement of natural molecules that are inside the food to begin with.

A properly functioning modern microwave oven does not emit any significant amounts of microwaves. As a result, you can stand in front of it all day and it won't damage you. Finally, more recent studies have raised serious questions as to whether microwave exposure poses any hazards at all to human beings.

Of course, you can get burned with them if you stick your hand in a source of microwave just as food can get cooked, but that may be the only hazard that exists. Apparently much of the concern about microwaves has been somewhat exaggerated.

Tigers Want 5th School Title

Majors Tops At Levelland

BROWNFIELD — Coach Winfred Shipp brings his high-flying Tigers here Saturday in an attempt to lock up what would be Snyder High School's fifth District 3-AAA crown of the 1979-80 season.

Snyder has already clinched championships in girls' and boys' basketball, tennis and volleyball. This time the Tigers are eyeing a crown based on strength, speed and jumping ability — the boys' District 3-AAA track and field championships.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. with the high jump and discus, varsity division. Running prelims get underway at 10:30 and varsity long jump, pole vault and shot will begin at 2:30. Running finals will begin at 2:30 also.

A freshman division will compete at the same time, with the exception of field events. The frosh will hold their long jump, pole vault and shot at 10, and high jump and discus at 2:30.

Snyder returns several regional qualifiers to this annual event, including three Tigers which advanced to the State Track Meet last year.

Returning all-stars are long jumper Thomas Selmon, high jumper Brad Richardson, and pole vaulter Dale Jenkins.

Snyder also boasts the district's top marks in the 110 hurdles, the 300 hurdles, 200 meter dash and 400 meters dash, and should also finish well in the 800 meters, 100 meters, weights and relays.

Net Event Slated Here

Snyder Country Club has planned an April Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament for Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m.

The single-day, draw-for-partner, tournament is open to all club members. Pre-registration is not required. Entry fee will be $2.50 per player.

McGee Entered At Region Meet

ODESSA—Odessa College was to begin hosting Region I tennis play in classes 1A and 3A here this morning.

Girl's 3A singles — which includes Snyder's Donna McGee — was to begin at 10 o'clock. Doubles were to start at 1:30.

Pairings were not released by the regional director before start times this morning. McGee was the No. 1 seed all year long in District 3-AAA. The senior was upset in the district finals last week at Brownfield, however, by Brownfield's Tammy Merrifield, who will also represent the loop here. Donna McGee and Sylvia Layfield of Sweetwater, 3-AAA champs in girls doubles, also qualified for the regional tournament.

Snyder qualified three boys to the men's regionals, scheduled here next week. They are singles player Neil Paige, and doubles team Tom Smith and Jeff Wesson.

Local Tracksters Run In Odessa Saturday

ODESSA—Region I was to begin its girl's track and field meet with preliminaries in the 100-meter hurdles at W.T. Barrett Stadium here today. All other events are scheduled for Saturday.

Representing District 3-AAA will be girls from Snyder, Sweetwater, Brownfield, Lamesa and San Angelo Lake View. The region also includes schools from districts 1, 2 and 4.

Class A will be held along with AAA, which prevents an accurate list of starting times, but Saturday's action should begin about 1 p.m. with the 440-yard relay, followed by the 880 run, the 440 dash, 220 dash, 100 meter hurdles, 880 relay, 100 meter dash, 1600 meter run and mile relay. Field events also begin at 1 p.m.

Snyder High School will send five girls to the meet, four qualifiers and an alternate. The Felines, under the guidance of Coach Patty Grimmert, qualified in the 880 relay, 100 meter dash, triple jump and shot put.

Pam Brown represents Snyder's only state qualifier from the 1979 season. Brown won the 100 dash at Regionals last year with an 11.46 clocking. She'll take the blocks at approximately 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

Brown is also a member of Snyder's 880 relay team, running the first leg.

The Felines' other multiple-event athlete is Brenda Anderson, who qualified in the shot put, triple jump and the 880 relay. Anderson will compete in the two field events at 2 p.m.

Snyder's 880 relay team, which Anderson anchors, is expected to hear the starter's gun at approximately 2:30. Running the second and third legs will be Talna Barrett and Sherry Spells. Betty Huntsman serves as an alternate for the team.

Golfers Getting Final Chance

BROWNFIELD — Snyder's Tigers will give a last-gasp effort at qualifying for regionals as the final District 3-AAA golf tournament is held here Saturday.

It's not out of the question under good weather conditions, which District 3-AAA has not had all season. Snyder's troops are young, and strong winds have affected their play perhaps to a greater degree than the more veteran squads from Sweetwater and Lamesa.

"I believe if we had real good weather one time we could do real well," said Coach Mackey Greene, who is not counting the Tigers out of the running here Saturday. Current standings show Lamesa and Sweetwater tied for the conference lead with totals of 1,018. Snyder is 19 strokes back at 1,037. Brownfield is next with a 1,109, followed by Sweetwater II, 1,114; Lamesa II, 1,119; and Snyder II, 1,189.

The first and second place teams qualify for regionals. Playing for Snyder this year are Kip Wadleigh, Mike Wolf, Kris Seale, Jay Eiland, Paul Erwin, Barry Blackman, Jim League, Joe League and Clint Potts.

Westerners Gear For WJC Tourney

Coach Bob O'Day isn't afraid to admit it. "I'm scared," he said this morning. "You can quote me on that!"

There's good reason, too. Western Texas College, tied for second place in the WJCAC standings, will be attempting to do what no other team has done this year — win a conference tournament at its home course.

The Westerners will host the fifth Western Junior College Athletic Conference golf tourney Saturday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. The 18-hole meet includes teams from Western Texas, Odessa, Midland, New Mexico Junior College, New Mexico Military Institute and Frank Phillips.

A victory for Western Texas would give Coach O'Day's Westerners the lead going into the final conference tournament April 25 at Roswell, N.M.

The regional tournament will be held in conjunction with the final conference meet, April 25-26.

New Mexico Junior College (NMJC) currently leads the Western Conference with 18½ points while WTC and Odessa are tied for second with 18 each. Midland is in fourth with 16½ points, NMMI and Frank Phillips are back in the pack.

"There are four teams capable of winning this meet and conference," noted O'Day, recently named athletic director at Western Texas. "It's another horseshoe. Any of the four could win this thing, and the conference, too. It shows the caliber of play the conference has this year, the balance of teams. I'd have to say also that New Mexico Military is a darkhorse. The program there is really coming on. Coach Mike Mills has done a super job."

Western Texas has yet to win a conference tournament this season, but, said O'Day, "We've probably played more consistently than any other team in the conference. We're looking forward to a good tournament."

The Westerners are led by freshmen Richard White and Jeff Wagner, who are tied for second place in the WJCAC individual standings. At 286 each, the pair are five strokes behind leader Scott Myers of Odessa.

White, Wagner, freshman Chris Johnson and sophomores Mike Mahan and Ken Lawrence will compete for Western Texas this weekend. O'Day was to pick an individual following a playoff between Frank Montrey and Mike Cotter today.

through a 0-5 record; it would appear today's winner here would clinch the first-round title; a berth into any district playoffs, if necessary.

Snyder was expected to mount the hill with William Robinson. Brownfield should go with Jimmy Martinez.

The great figure skater Sonja Henie also studied ballet, a technique she used on the ice.

Snyder Searching For Early Crown

BROWNFIELD — Snyder's Tigers were to try to zero in on the District 3-AAA round-one baseball title here today.

The Tigers, 4-1 in conference action, were to take on 3-1 Brownfield at 4:30.

Today's game will be the final round-one clash for Snyder. Brownfield will play in Lamesa on Saturday to officially close the round, district-wide.
