London Embassy Seized

LONDON (AP)—Three Iranian Arab gunmen invaded Iran's London embassy today and seized 21 hostages, including a British police guard, Scotland Yard reported. Unconfirmed reports said the raiders threatened to kill their hostages and blow up the building unless political prisoners in Iran are released.

The Iranian Foreign Ministry in Tehran blamed the attack on Iraq. Police said the gunmen identified themselves as Arabs from Iran's southwestern province of Khuzestan — which they call Arabistan — who support Arab autonomy from the Persian-dominated revolutionary government of Iran. Iran accuses Arab Iraq of fomenting unrest in the region.

Some witnesses reported having heard shooting inside the building, but police disputed this and said that as far as they knew no one was hurt.

The top Iranian diplomat here, Charge d'Affaires Gholam-Ali Afrouz, was believed to be among the hostages, said the British news agency Press Association.

The mission has a staff of about 25 diplomats, as well as a number of non-diplomatic personnel. Witnesses said they saw a small number of men and women fleeing the building, in the prosperous embassy-filled Kensington district opposite Hyde Park, shortly before police arrived at about 11:30 a.m. — 6:30 a.m. EDT.

Fifty policemen, including sharpshooters and flak-jacketed members of the crack anti-terrorist squad, ringed the three-story embassy.

Negotiations with the intruders took place by telephone and through an open window at the front of the embassy, a police spokesman said. With officers at the window was a young dark-haired woman in a floral-print dress and police-issue blue flak jacket who appeared to be acting as an interpreter.

A police spokesman at the scene said the gunmen were "making certain demands, which are being investigated," but he refused to elaborate. Scotland Yard refused to comment on reports the invaders were threatening to kill their captives and blow up the embassy if political prisoners are not freed in Iran. But police said the gunmen had set no deadline.

Deputy Assistant Police Commissioner John Dellow said the trio, reportedly armed with rifles and possibly other weapons, apparently entered the embassy through a

Leading Indicators Fall

WASHINGTON (AP)—The third-steepest monthly decline in history in the nation's index of economic indicators was recorded in March, the Commerce Department said today, providing more evidence that the nation may face a deep recession. The index fell 2.6 percent last month. It was the eighth decline in the past 12 months and the steepest for any month since September 1974 when it fell 3 percent as the economy was sinking into the 1974-1975 recession.

Fear Criminals On Boatlift

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Security at docks and refugee processing centers has been tightened amid disclosures that dozens of Cubans from the "Freedom Flotilla" have admitted criminal pasts ranging from petty theft to murder.

Dade County Sheriff Bobby Jones said Tuesday that more than half the 200 "high risk" refugees interviewed by his department — single men under 40 without relatives in this country — had acknowledged criminal records.

The findings "confirm what we had been getting through our intelligence that Cuban President Fidel Castro had been loading up the boats with some people of questionable backgrounds," said county manager Merrett Stierheim.

Lance Acquitted On 9 Counts

ATLANTA (AP)—Former U.S. budget director Bert Lance was acquitted today on nine counts of bank fraud after a 16-week trial. A mistrial was declared on another three counts because the jury was deadlocked.

Lance's attorneys asked U.S. District Judge Charles A. Moye Jr. to declare directed verdicts of acquittal on the three remaining counts. Moye said he was not ready to decide immediately, but called attorneys for both sides into his chambers.

"We're delighted about the not guilty verdicts," Lance said. "It's what we thought all along it would be. We're terribly delighted and pleased."

WTC Crowns Royalty

An agri-business sophomore from Anson, Kenneth Leyens, and a physical education major from Ralls, Belva Marsh, were crowned Mr. and Miss Western Texas College last night at Spring Formal ceremonies in the WTC Gym Mickey Baird, activities director, served as emcee for the occasion and WTC president, Dr. Robert Clinton, presented the awards.

Leyens was a student senator his freshman year and served as senate chaplain. This year he is serving as student body president.

Leyens is very active in the sport of Judo. He placed first in state this year in the 189 pound men's division and was silver medalist in the junior college competition in Rogers, Ark.

He is a member of the energy committee for WTC and the Snyder community. He belongs to Phi Theta Kappa and was selected to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges.

His most recent honor came last week when he was selected "Most Outstanding Male Student."

Miss Marsh attended WTC her freshman year on a basketball scholarship. She gave up her scholarship this year and became a cheerleader. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and has been on the dean's list. She is also a senator and serves on the films committee.

In the fall Belva was a nominee for the Tenth Anniversary Queen for WTC. Miss Marsh was also selected to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges.

Recently she was honored by the Golf Team by being selected sweetheart. She will be attending Texas Tech in the fall.

Campaign Expenditures Hit $1.5 Million Mark

AUSTIN (AP)—Spending by Texas railroad commission candidates has hit the $1.5 million mark, according to candidate reports filed Tuesday with the secretary of state.

Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll emerged as the top spender among the four Democratic candidates for two open seats on the commission.

Voters will make their decisions Saturday, with the winners to meet the victors in the GOP primary in November. GOP candidates reported little or no spending in their largely inactive races.

Temple said he has spent $588,608 and raised $553,727, including a $250,000 loan from First Bank & Trust of Lufkin, in his race to unseat Commission Chairman John Poerner. Temple's expenditures include $243,000 paid to Media Texas of Abilene on April 10 for television time.

Poerner listed expenditures of $395,081 and said his contributions total $424,405. Commissioner Jim Nugent's latest report shows he has raised $487,903 and spent $434,799 to keep his job.

His expenditures for the four weeks that ended last Friday included $204,459 to Read-Poland Inc. of Austin, an advertising and political public relations firm.

Nugent's challenger, former Texas Observer editor Jim Hightower, has spent and raised the least — $154,108 in expenditures and $173,372 in campaign contributions.

Contributions of $1,000 or more reported by the candidates in their latest reports, covering the past month of campaigning, are: Temple: Robert C. Gray, Austin, $1,000; Transportation Political Education League, Austin, $2,500; Committee for Good Government of Temple-Eastex Inc., Diboll, $2,000; Joe C. Denman Jr., Diboll, $1,000; R.B. Thompson, Lufkin, $2,500.

Local Candidates List Expenditures

Scurry County candidates for local offices listed modest campaign expenses in their reports filed this week at the county clerk's office.

In the sheriff's race, which has only two candidates, both Democrats, Bobby Goodwin reported contributions of $250 and campaign expenses of $778.23. Keith Collier, the incumbent, reported no contributions and campaign expenses of $518.10.

In the race for county commissioner in Precinct No. 3, John Thomas reported contributions of $100 and campaign expenses of $451.07, while Charlie Yoast, the incumbent, listed contributions of $255 and campaign expenses of $770.74. Both are running on the Democratic Party ticket.

Lloyd Merritt, candidate for constable in Precinct No. 1, listed no contributions and expenses of $382, while Bill Love, the incumbent, listed no contributions and expenses of $275. Both are Democrats.

In all races, expenses included filing fees, campaign cards, advertising and in some cases, campaign posters.

Unopposed candidates are not required to file expense statements, and those in races for offices in multi-county districts and state-wide offices file their statements with the Secretary of State in Austin.

Absentee Voting Here In Last Minute Surge

A last-minute surge increased the absentee vote total substantially here, but it still fell short of the total two years ago, the last election year.

The county clerk's office report that 320 cast absentee ballots for the Democratic Party Primary and 18 cast absentee ballots for the Republican Party Primary before the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

The primary elections have been set for Saturday.

Two years ago, there were more than 500 absentee votes cast here and the eventual total turnout was around 4,500. More than half of the absentee total this year came on the final two days of the absentee voting period, with about 75 on Monday and more than 100 on Tuesday.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Saturday for the primary elections. The Democrats will operate polling places in all 13 voting precincts of the county while all voting in the Republican primary will be at the West Elementary School in Snyder. The county chairmen also have announced plans for precinct conventions to be held Saturday night. All Democratic precinct conventions will be held at 7:15 p.m. at the polling place sites. The precinct chairmen will preside until convention officers are named.

The Republicans will have only the one convention site at West Elementary School.

The Democratic Party polling places, which also will be precinct convention sites, and the election judges are as follows: Precinct No. 1, Northeast Snyder, north side of Scurry County Coliseum, Janelda Davis, chairman; Precinct No. 2, Lloyd Mountain, Northeast Community Center, Fred Cross; Precinct No. 5, Fluvanna, community center, Paul Turner; Precinct No. 6, Union, community center, Mrs. C.A. Ramsey; Precinct No. 7, Bison, Knapp Community Center, H.H. Carey; Precinct No. 9, Ira, community center, Grady Moore; Precinct No. 10, Dunn, community center,

If he were still living, Will Rogers probably would be enjoying this week in Texas. The primary elections are grinding toward the finish line and candidates from the courthouse to the state capital are rushing to get in their final campaign statements.

But Will Rogers might not recognize some of our campaigning for what it is today. And he undoubtedly would be startled by the cost of running for office today.

He would be even more so on election day when some commentator in a television studio told him who won by the time one or two percent of the votes had been counted.

Someone mentioned a "whistlestop campaign tour" the other day and a full-grown adult asked, "what's that?"

Surprising? Perhaps to some more mature adults, but remember there really hasn't been a real whistlestop campaign tour across the nation since the days of Harry S. Truman, and the last time a campaign train stopped in Snyder was the time Ben Barnes halted his special here—and you remember what happened to him on election day.

Nowadays, computers tell us who won before the vote count is completed and computers tell the candidates when, where and how to conduct their campaigns. It comes in handy, of course, for their staffs. Those who fight for a losing cause can blame it on the computer.

But those computers are smart, and they are used in just about every field of endeavor these days. There is the story of a man who consulted one of those date-matching computers. The personal information he fed into the machine noted that he was young, handsome, wealthy, kind, considerate, etc., and that he was looking for someone to love.

Out came a printout in response which said: "Don't just stand there. Kiss Me."

Who is to blame for this nation's near-catastrophic economic conditions? Jimmy Carter likes to blame the oil sheiks, the big oil companies, big business and even big unions. Yet it is becoming increasingly clear that the real culprit is the federal government.

Willis, who is the top "credit cop" for the Federal Reserve in the northern Midwest, believes that current inflation is due primarily to past government spending and monetary policy.

It is rare to find a member of a quasi-government agency like the Federal Reserve Bank being so candid. But Willis is more than an agent of government policy; he is a former academician.

Willis is just as unimpressed with the credit-control moves the Carter administration is promoting as a method of slowing inflation.

The solution, as Willis now sees it, and as many others have seen for a long time, is controlling the printing of money and putting an end to deficit spending.

It took an economist like Willis, with no profit to be made by promising voters new spending proposals, a long time to realize that government spending has to be cut.

What is bracingly unusual about Mark Willis is that he is speaking up. Over the years it is likely that many people charged with enforcing government policy realize the negative impact of their activities.

A friend of ours called the other night and with as much diplomacy as he could muster asked, "What's the matter with your son? I saw him at the garage and he looked like a budget deficiency."

The explanation is quite simple. Our son is the sole support of a "classic" car.

For the uninitiated, a classic car is an automobile that has died, but has been given so many reasons to live, no one has the guts to bury it.

It's hard to pinpoint the exact day when the car went from a "rundown heap" to "classic" status. One day it was propped up on cement blocks in the driveway, the object of a lot of kicking and cursing, and the next day my son was trying to restore it to what it never was.

He has lost all sense of perspective. The other night I was cheered when he said he met a girl who is like no one I have ever seen.

As a mother, I worry about my son's physical, monetary and emotional ties to the car. It has consumed him. It's the Melissa Manchester concert he couldn't afford...

Someone has pointed out that you can't win. If you run after money, you're materialistic. If you don't get it, you're a loser.

Neverless we must work daily to get along in this life. These 10 "Thou Shalts" from a recent monthly issue of Management Digest can be appreciated by every employer and employee.

I. Thou shalt honor thy boss, for his or her zeal at work is ever high, and by the top performance of their work shalt thou be rewarded.

II. Thou shalt be loyal to thy company and preserve all secrets entrusted to thy keeping.

III. Thou shalt give credit to those in thy midst who are deserving of it and refuse to bear false witness, for thy honor is more precious than undue recognition.

IV. Thou shalt be on time each time, so eager to serve that thy labors be true and honest throughout all the long days of thy life.

V. Thou shalt provide suggestions and ideas to increase the efficiency of thyself, thy performance, thy firm, and by so doing shalt thou and thy family flourish.

VI. Thou shalt keep rumors from spreading like locusts before the wind by keeping thy mouth clean and pure of tales told by the water fountain and at the break for coffee.

VIII. Thou shalt labor even after hours, when necessary, with loving-kindness, since payrolls are made possible only through thy continued efforts.

VIII. Thou shalt work safely, obeying all rules dealing with thy coming in and with thy going out and with thy working at thy task, for accidents hurt thy performance as well as thy hide.

IX. Thou shalt keep thy personal problems behind the door of thy home, and woe be unto him or her who leadeth not the good life.

X. Thou shalt be ever helpful and courteous to customers and co-workers, for they must be served in the like manner as thou would have them serve thee.

huge losses

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't judge the health of business by oil company profits, and proof of it is coming just about every other hour in red-inked financial reports, layoffs and requests for bailouts.

General Motors, biggest manufacturer of all, reported first quarter profits down 87 percent to $155 million, or 52 cents a share. Ford lost $163.3 million. Chrysler is expected to report a $400 million loss.

Auto industry layoffs now exceed 200,000, and if the total stays below the 250,000 or so laid off in the recession of 1974-1975 everyone who studies the industry will be surprised. The future is bleak.

Chrysler has been pleading and cajoling its bankers into line so that it can show the federal government it is still viable and worthy of receiving Washington's guarantees it is still viable and worthy of the loans will be repaid.

Those close to the action feel certain that some government guarantees will be forthcoming, but the Transportation Department indicates it has reservations. The Chrysler operating plan, it states is premised on optimistic assumptions for the sale, among other items, of large cars.

The skies aren't any friendlier to business. Pan American World Airways reported a record-high deficit of nearly $75 million for the first three months of the year. Fuel and fare regulation were blamed.

Pan Am wasn't alone, except in the size of its loss. American, United, Trans World, Braniff and Western also dipped into the red, in part due to seasonal traffic factors, but also because of soaring costs.

Banking has problems. In Philadelphia, the nation's 23rd largest bank, First Pennsylvania, once known for its innovative ways, is in such financial trouble that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has had to step in with $500 million of rescue funds. The bank lost $5 million on operations and another $1.4 on securities in the first quarter.

FDIC officials maintain that First Pennsylvania's problems are unique rather than indicative of an industry condition, but strains exist in other institutions because of market conditions, including explosive increases in their cost of money, which is their raw material.

Savings banks and savings and loan associations have been hurt badly. Being forced to pay increasingly higher rates to attract savings, while holding as assets low-rate mortgages made years earlier. Regulatory officials have warned that some of them might be forced to merge.

democracies. The chaotic Mideast is seemingly hellbent on being the cockpit of a third world war.

The region's key nation, stridently revolutionary, is not only challenging the West's interests but deriding its ability to defend them forcefully.

And in this situation of escalating crisis, calls for allied solidarity are producing anything but. Instead of rallying to the cause we find ourselves wrangling with each other.

Iran 1980? Yes, but the scenario also fits Suez 1956.

That, for memories in need of refreshing, was one of the great crises of the early postwar era. And as blunder followed blunder, it led to one of the great spectacles in the brief history of the United Nations—the United States, in semi-concert with the Soviet Union, orchestrating condemnation of its own chief allies, Britain and France.

To recap briefly, Egypt was still in the throes of a revolution that began in 1952, with the ouster of King Farouk Gamal Abdel Nasser, the driving force in the original revok of junior military officers, earlier in the year had assumed supreme power as president. More than the leader of Egypt, he was the charismatic figure to whom dissidents throughout the Mideast looked to bring about a new order.

Meanwhile, negotiations with the United States, on financing of the projected Aswan High Dam, the great hope of Egypt's economic future, were waning as Nasser became increasingly receptive to Soviet offers of assistance. In retaliation, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles withdrew the U.S. aid offer. And in counter-retaliation, Nasser seized the Suez Canal, which was not American but controlled by British and French interests.

It all came to a violent head that October with a sudden Israeli pre-emptive strike against Egyptian forces in the Sinai, quickly followed by British-French landings at the Mediterranean mouth of the Suez Canal, ostensibly to neutralize the vital waterway from the Egyptian-Israeli conflict.

The United States responded instantly, not with support of its allies but with intense pressure to compel their withdrawal. Suez, Washington maintained, was a flagrant use of force in violation of the U.N. Charter and a threat to world peace.

That it certainly was, and it happened to coincide with an equally serious threat to peace in Europe—the Soviets who then had moved in to crush the Hungarian Revolution. Washington's response to Suez raised some questions at the time: Could it be because Britain and France, still recovering from the exhaustion of World War II, were more susceptible to U.S. pressure than was the Soviet superpower?

Questions never answered and now history, as is the Suez crises, Britain and France did withdraw, peace did return to the Mideast for a time and the Atlantic alliance went on, but, severely shaken. Memories, however, still linger, at least in Paris.

If there is a lesson in all of this, it is that an alliance is only as dependable as the real com-

Great finesse saves game

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Although East-West have a cheap save in five clubs, down only two tricks, East elected to defend. Against a lesser declarer this decision might well have been profitable.

North and South were playing strong two bids. North's decision to double three clubs at his first opportunity is questionable. A bid of three notrump or pass would be favored by most players. However, they arrived in their four-spade contract.

The opening queen of clubs lead was ducked around the table. Declarer rightly refused to waste dummy's king. West switched to a small heart and East took his ace. East then played his ace of clubs which declarer ruffed with a spade honor. Declarer now drew all four rounds of trumps ending in the dummy.

At this point declarer's only problem is the diamond suit. If he plays the ace and king of diamonds and the queen doesn't drop, he will have no way of using his suit later and will go down one.

This South realized that he could still afford to lose one more trick. Consequently he took a safe diamond finesse. Even if it lost to West, West would not be able to lead any suit to his side's advantage. Dummy had both the high club and high heart. When dummy's diamond eight held the trick it was all over. South had his game with an over-trick.

Food Stamps May Be Cut

AUSTIN (AP)—Food stamps to buy groceries may be late, reduced or even suspended, state welfare officials are warning those participating in the program.

Jerome Chapman, Department of Human Resources commissioner, said Monday that congress set a national limit of $6.18 billion on the program this year and that limit will be reached by June 1. Congress is working to extend the program, but it is uncertain when and to what extent additional financing will be available.

Hermleigh Migrant Group Wins Meet

HERMLEIGH — Thirty-three students from Hermleigh won the third annual Migrant Competitive Events held the past weekend in Sweetwater. They were in competition with students from Sweetwater, McCauley, Lorraine and Tredit.

Under the sponsorship of Region 14 Education Service Center and the Texas Education Agency, this contest tries to initiate a yearly incentive program specifically for the benefit of Title I Migrant students. The meet was designed to provide eligible migrant students with the opportunity to strengthen both academic and athletic skills for meaningful competition. Students may enter academic competition in spelling, creative composition, and cultural and contemporary arts and crafts. Athletic events include long and short dashes, softball throw and standing broadjump. Students in grades one through eight are to be involved in competition.

The regional finals competition will be hosted by McMurry College on May 3. At the regional meet, students who placed first, second, or third in any district meet will compete against one another to determine regional winners. Schools with highest point per pupil average will receive trophies for first place and honorable mention. Students in preschool through eighth grades will be involved in competition.

Thursday Is Deadline For Art Entries

Thursday is the deadline for entries in the first annual Student Art Exhibit at Western Texas College.

All full- and part-time students are invited to enter the show. Terry Gilbreth, director of the Diamond Museum, will be the juror.

Prizes will be awarded at a reception Sunday afternoon marking the opening of the show. The reception is planned from 2-4 p.m. and is open to the public free of charge.

The show will remain in the Fine Arts Gallery through May 9 and may be seen during regular gallery hours without admission.

City Officials Fired As Favor

BELLAIRE (AP)—The city manager and city attorney were fired, just as a favor.

David Doty, the manager, and Firmin Hickey, the attorney, were fired Tuesday in a special City Council session because the council feared a new mayor and council that take over Thursday would do so without paying them $76,000 in severance pay. After the firings, Doty was presented a plaque reading "Mr. City Manager of Bellaire, Texas." Lawrence Folse, the mayor-elect, said he was offended by the firings because they implied the incoming council would not honor the severance pay contracts.

Houston Records 200th Murder

President Roosevelt pledged $1 billion worth of lend-lease aid to Russia in November 1941—the start of a vast flood of supplies sent to assist that country in its defense against Nazi Germany. Roosevelt, whose country had not yet entered the war, insisted the defense of Russia was essential to the defense of the United States.

Make a tax deductible contribution to Cogdell Memorial Hospital to furnish a room in memory of a loved one, or for your family. A bronze plaque, inscribed to your wishes, will be placed on a room door. A typical plaque is shown below.

Scurry Museum Is Accredited

The Scurry County Museum in Snyder and the Meadows Museum in Dallas are the two newest Texas institutions to receive accreditation from the American Association of Museums.

The Amarillo Art Center was accredited last November. With the addition of the Scurry County Museum and the Meadows Museum, Texas now has 24 accredited museums. Only 466 of the 5,500 museums in the United States are accredited by the American Association of Museums.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED BY MY LIFE-LONG FRIENDS TO SAY WHAT I THINK OF JAMES CLARK.

HE IS A NATIVE OF WEST TEXAS WHO IS WELL EDUCATED IN THE SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES OF THIS AREA.

IN HIS PRACTICE HE HAS BEEN ENTIRELY INDEPENDENT OF ORGANIZED GROUPS. IF HE IS DISTRICT JUDGE HE WILL BE FAIR TO ALL SEGMENTS OF OUR SOCIETY. HIS RULINGS WILL BE BASED ON THE LAW AS IT IS WRITTEN.

I KNOW THAT HE IS CAPABLE, FAIR MINDED AND JUST.

HE IS NOT TOO YOUNG AS HE IS THE SAME AGE I WAS A NUMBER OF YEARS AGO WHEN I TOOK THE HELM OF A BROKE COUNTY.

Ruiz's Title Taken; But Gets Invitation

BOSTON (AP)—Jacqueline Gareau of Montreal officially is the 1980 Boston Marathon women's champion and new record-holder, but Rosie Ruiz can return next year for another shot if she wants it.

The Boston Athletic Association awarded victory to the 27-year-old Gareau eight days late Tuesday in disqualifying Rosie on the grounds she did not run the entire race April 22.

In disqualifying the 26-year-old New York office worker, however, the BAA bid her welcome to return in 1981 and prove she belongs among the world's top women distance runners.

"I can truthfully and honestly say without hesitation that today has been the second saddest day of my life, only to be surpassed by the day I had to leave my father in my native country (Cuba) 18 years ago," Ruiz told the Associated Press in a telephone interview Tuesday night.

Will Cloney, director of the Boston Marathon since 1946, said a week-long investigation showed "beyond any reasonable doubt" that Ruiz did not cover the 26-mile, 385-yard course. However, he extended her "an open invitation" to enter again without the usual qualifying restrictions.

Cloney said that during the investigation BAA officials were "able to chart the women's race from about the midpoint in Wellesley to beyond Kenmore Square, less than one-half mile from the finish."

He said Gareau was the leader among 17 women checked at Wellesley, and more than 10,000 photos taken by four high speed cameras showed her in front about a mile from the finish.

"Miss Ruiz does not show in any sequence in the photos," Cloney added.

Ruiz was clocked at the finish line in 2 hours, 31 minutes, 56 seconds, which would have made it the third fastest women's time in history.

"I want to thank Mr. Cloney and all of the officials of the BAA from the bottom of my heart," Ruiz said. "I know they have deliberated for the past nine days and they have taken very possible evidence for and against me and given it all careful consideration."

Texans Among Top Picks In NFL Draft

By The Associated Press

A bumper crop of Southwest Conference athletes drew the attention of National Football League teams that harvested six of the SWC elite in the first round of the NFL draft.

It was the most SWC players ever taken in the first round, and more were picked from the SWC than from any other major conference this year.

In addition, three Texas natives who played outside the SWC went in Tuesday's first round, including the No. 1 pick, Oklahoma running back Billy Sims.

The Detroit Lions chose Sims, a native of Hooks who won the Heisman Trophy as a junior.

Texas wide receiver Johnny "Lam" Jones, a former Olympic gold medalist, was the first SWC player chosen. The New York Jets, picking second, took Jones and said they plan to team him with speedy Wesley Walker, giving the Jets perhaps the two fastest Snyder Wins, 10-3...

Tigers Clout Lamesa

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes blew out to a 3-0 lead early here yesterday but weakened in the final innings as Snyder High School fought back to take an important District 3-3A victory, 10-3.

The win gives Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers a 3-0 slate in round-two 3-3A action. They'll travel to Brownfield Saturday for what looms as the most important battle of the second round this far.

Lamesa slapped back to back singles and took advantage of two Tiger errors to go up 3-0 in the second inning here yesterday. Snyder quickly whittled the lead to 3-1 in the bottom half of the stanza however, as Shawn Ragland drew a walk and Bobby Degrate singled him home. Degrate led the hosts in hitting for the day, going four-for-four from the box, including a triple.

Mike Roemisch took first base on a fielder's choice in the third inning and teammate Sammy Willis cracked a double to stroll him around the bases and make the score 3-2.

Snyder not only tied the score, but went ahead in the fifth stanza. Roemisch singled, Toby Neves reached on an error and Willis walked to get the Tigers in motion. Ragland then connected with a hard double, and when the dust had cleared, Snyder was in front, 5-3.

The hosts battered the Tigers in the sixth inning after Degrate led off with a triple. Short walked, Roemisch sacrificed, Neves singled, Willis reached on an error and Ragland and Bryan Vincent came aboard on a pair of fielder's choices. Later, Paul Gafford sacrificed to bring in another run.

Winning pitcher William Robinson, 5-4, got an inning of relief help from Tory Degrate. The duo fanned 10 batters and did not give up any walks.

Ross Whitley took the loss for the Tornadoes, who fall to 4-18 for the season and 0-3 in round-two play.

Lamesa is scheduled to host 1-1 Brownfield on Friday. Snyder plays the first-round champions Saturday. The Tigers could give themselves a boost towards winning the second round with a victory over Brownfield.

Poke Prospects Not Brightest

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys, who built five Super Bowl teams on the National Football League draft, had to resort to 50-1 shots Tuesday when they couldn't work a trade for Thomas Henderson, Ed Too Tall Jones and Butch Johnson.

Relegated to the 78th and 80th choices because they traded No. 1 and No. 2 round-picks to Baltimore for John Dutton, the Cowboys took chances on a running back and a linebacker coming off knee injuries.

The names of linebacker Bill Roe of Colorado and running back James Jones of Mississippi State sent Cowboy publicists scrambling for those schools' respective media guides.

The 6-foot-3, 221-pound Roe was a second team Associated Press All Big Eight selection. He made 161 tackles and ran 69 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass. He had knee surgery his junior year.

Roe also boxes but laughingly assured the Cowboys that "professional boxing is not in my future plans."

Jones is 5-11 and 260 pounds. Although Mississippi State ran the Wishbone offense last year, his talents are more suited to the Cowboy I formation in the tailback position.

Jones said "I'm not a blazing fast back but I do a lot of cutting and I can run over people if I have to."

Jones can also throw the halfback pass, a trait Coach Tom Landry dearly loves. Jones' completed two halfback passes for touchdowns in 1978. He was injured his senior year and played sparingly.

Olson Enters Record; Abilene Wins Crown

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Abilene Christian's Billy Olson soared to 18-7 1/2 and a new national collegiate pole vault record Tuesday night, leading his team to its third consecutive Lone Star Conference track title.

Olson's vault broke the 1976 record of 18-7 1/4, set by Earl Bell of Arkansas State.

Abilene Christian collected 170 1/2 points to upset host Angelo State, which garnered 151 points, for the team title.

Southwest Texas was third, followed by Stephen F. Austin, East Texas, Texas A&I, Howard Payne and Sam Houston.

Eight meet records were established in the two-day event. Olson, who was named the meet's outstanding field performer, missed twice at 18-9 as he tried to break the world record of 18-8 1/4.

Oilers Choose Large Again

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Oilers didn't have a first round pick in the 1980 National Football League draft but by the second round, the scales had definitely tipped in the Oilers' favor.

For the second year in a row, the Oilers selected the biggest player in the draft, 6-5, 347-pound Angelo Fields, an offensive tackle from Michigan State.

"He's not overweight, he's just over-big," Oiler coach Bum Phillips said Monday, ignoring scouting reports that said Fields would need to trim down.

"A big guy that can do something will always beat a little guy that can do something," he said. "He's big but he has the movements of a much smaller man."

A year ago, the Oilers also traded away their first round selection and took Iowa State's 300-pound Mike Stensrud, the biggest player on the board, in the second round.

Scouting reports on the beefy Washington, D.C. native credit him with great athletic ability but with a need to lose weight. "I think some of the other teams might have been scared about his weight, that he couldn't trim down," Phillips said. Fields played only one year of offense at Michigan State, shifting for his senior year to shore up graduation losses. He was Houston's first selection in Tuesday's draft. The Oilers traded away their first round choice to New England last season for offensive tackle Leon Gray.

Chiles New Board Chairman...

Rangers, Astros Win Big

Compiled from The Associated Press
Mickey Rivers went four-for-five, Ken Frosch started poor but finished great, and millionaire Eddie Chiles isn't so mad anymore after a busy baseball Tuesday.

Rivers raised his batting average to .403 yesterday as the Texas Rangers defeated the Detroit Tigers 10-5 in a game shortened by rain to seven innings. Rivers' 29 hits now places him atop the American League.

"This is the best start I've ever had. Rivers said. "Once in 1976, I had a fast start similar to this.

The Tigers, who were never in the game, had a scare in the second inning when starter and loser Jack Morris, 3-2, took a life shot on the leg off the bat of Pepe Frai and had to leave the game. Morris was charged with five Texas runs.

Fort Worth millionaire Eddie Chiles, famous for his "I'm Mad" advertisements, is the new board chairman of the Rangers

Baseball Club, ending the six-year reign of Brad Corbett.

Chiles was officially elected board chairman and chief executive officer Tuesday afternoon. Eddie Robinson, who had been executive vice president, was elevated to the title of president and chief operating officer.

The board was trimmed from 10 to six members, three from Dallas and three from Fort Worth.

The league will last through the summer. Interested couples are urged to attend the meeting or call Zelma Irons at 573-6639 for further details.

Meanwhile, Houston Astro pitcher Frosch walked the first batter he faced, then proceeded to stifle the Cincinnati Reds on just three hits to hurl his team to a 3-0 victory. Cesar Cedeno provided the power for the Astros with a two-run homer that bounced off the foul pole screen in left field.

The victory puts Houston one-half game out of first place in the West Division, behind Cincinnati, 13-5.

Snyder Women's Golf Association held its annual Invitational Tournament here yesterday at Snyder Country Club. Sixty-two players from Abilene, Brownfield, Lubbock, Hamlin, Midland, Knox City, Tahoka, Winters, San Angelo, Matador and Snyder competed.

Following the tournament was a luncheon and awards presentation. Rachael Rosser provided piano music.

Three teams tied for first place in the Championship Flight yesterday with a 60 net score. A match play to determine the winner left the following results: first, Janel McPhail and Dorothy Kay of Lubbock; second, Juanita Hester and Jo Sterling of Snyder; and third, Anita Talbott of Snyder and Barbara Moffett of Midland.

First Flight champions were Rhylene Stoker and Delores Key of Snyder with a 59 net score. Four teams tied at 63 for second, including Jo Dickson and Donna Winborn, Midland; Betty Hildreth and Kaye Cypert, Snyder; Gertrude League, Hamlin; and Retha Pickering and Kathy Genuchi, Snyder.

Rachael Rosser and Chris Jordan, Snyder, won the Second Flight with a 62 net. Second were Temi Holladay, Snyder, and Patsy Anderson, Knox City, with a 65 net. Third, with a 68 net, were Fredda Townes and Punk Franklin.

Other awards went to Mrs. Hester for longest drive of the Championship Flight, Mrs. Pickering for longest drive, First Flight, and Leona Cox, Matador, longest drive, Second Flight.

Closest to the pin on par three—No. 5 was Snyder's Wilma Dillard, at 11-0 1/2, from the cup.

Lakers Expect Tough Seattle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles goes for the kill against the defending National Basketball Association champion Seattle SuperSonics tonight in an arena where the Lakers have won 41 of 46 games this season.

If form prevails, the Lakers will qualify to face the Eastern Conference champion Philadelphia 76ers for the NBA championship.

The Lakers hold a 3-1 advantage over Seattle in the best-of-seven Western Conference championship series, meaning that the Sonics must win tonight, at home Friday night and again at the Forum Sunday afternoon if they're to make it to the championship series.

It won't be easy, but the Sonics have fought back before — most recently against Milwaukee in the Western Conference semifinals. Seattle was down 3-2 before winning the final two games to get their chance against the Pacific Division champion Lakers.

"They'll play their best game, they might even relish the challenge," said Los Angeles Coach Paul Westhead. "I expect this to be the toughest game in the series for us."

Tonight's game, to be televised nationally by CBS, begins at 10:30 p.m. If the Lakers win the best-of-seven finals would begin at the Forum Sunday afternoon.

The Sonics have shown they can win here, nipping the Lakers' 108-107 in the first game of the series. But the Lakers won the following night 108-99 and, surprisingly, swept a pair of games in Seattle to take their 3-1 lead.

Cronkite Not Interested? Magazine Says Different

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Cronkite said he wasn't interested in a political campaign. New Republic magazine stuck by its story that the trusted CBS Evening News anchorman would be honored to join John Anderson's White House bid.

That's the way it is on April 29. The three-way debate began Monday when the magazine reported in its May 1 edition that Anderson was considering the veteran newsmen as his running mate and Cronkite might accept. "I have no interest in entering politics in any capacity," Cronkite, who was sailing off Florida, said Tuesday in a statement released through CBS. "I have never endorsed a political candidate and I have no intention of endorsing a political candidate in the upcoming campaign, including Mr. Anderson." Cronkite said the New Republic reporter with whom he had spoken "has misinterpreted our conversation." New Republic said it stood by its account quoting Cronkite, cited by polls as one of the nation's most trusted figures — as saying he had not been invited to join the ticket of the Illinois Republican, who recently announced an independent presidential candidacy.

Should Anderson suggest he run as vice president, Cronkite was quoted as saying, "I'd be so honored to be asked, I wouldn't turn it down. It would be the right party. I've been an independent all my life."

Early cataracts

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

HEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I went to my eye doctor for a checkup. He said my eyes were healthy but I have nuclear sclerosis. I do not see to read as well as I did before. He said something about transparency. Like others, I value my eyesight. Can you tell me something about this?

DEAR READER — He's telling you that you have early cataracts and was talking about changes in the lens. Many people don't understand that a cataract is inside the eye and not on the eye. The lens is a jelly-like globular structure inside the eye that focuses the images that you see, somewhat like the lens in the camera focuses for you to take a picture.

The lens is constantly regenerating itself just like the other cells in your body but it can't shed the old cells like your skin does. These old cells are clumped together and moved to the inside of the lens. In the early stages of cataract formation a little spot of these old clumped cells develop. This little spot is sometimes called nuclear sclerosis.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming, so that you can understand better what happens to the lens as people get older. It happens to everybody to some degree. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I really don't know why you're having trouble with your vision because there are many other things that can affect eyesight other than cataracts or nuclear sclerosis or even changes in the lens. But if you happen to be developing cataracts and they affect your vision to the point that it can't be managed with eye glasses, there's a strong likelihood that something can be done surgically to significantly improve your eyesight.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is exophthalmic goiter? And what is Graves disease? Is a poor life full of stress and fear a possible cause? I am a 60-year-old childless woman who works very hard and am under stress most of the time. What makes pressure behind the eyes at night?

DEAR READER — Graves disease refers to an overactive thyroid condition. It's often associated with nervousness, tremulousness, weight loss in the face of eating lots of calories and bulging eyes. The bulging eyes are called exophthalmos. The goiter refers to an enlargement of the thyroid. So you have an enlarged thyroid gland which is overactive and associated eye complications.

The eyes are literally pushed out of their socket because of the accumulation of lymph cells and fluid in the tissues behind the eye and in the muscles that control the eyeball itself. The eyes do need protective measures to prevent them from drying out if the eyelids don't meet properly over the protruding eyeballs.

Usually most of eyes' bulging will recede after the thyroid condition has been adequately controlled a sufficient length of time.

The cause of such overactive thyroid conditions is really not known. It used to be thought that it was related to stress but that can't be proved.

DeBerry Projects His Retirement

AUSTIN — Luther DeBerry, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for the last seven years, has announced he will retire effective June 30.

"I have had a very rewarding career with the department for well over 40 years and it is with some reluctance that I leave this fine organization, but I believe it is time for someone else to take over this position," DeBerry said.

Hitchcock Dead At 80

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His murders showed up in shower stalls, his victims in potato sacks. But sir Alfred Hitchcock, whose mastery of terror chilled movie audiences for half a century, died peacefully of natural causes at the age of 80.

The portly British-born "Hitch" was perhaps the film industry's best-known director. A popular television series made his pouting profile instantly recognizable to millions of Americans.

In more than 50 movies, Hitchcock created a legacy of suspense classics — "Psycho," "The Birds," "Rear Window" and "Spellbound." Yet he never won an Oscar for direction.

Hitchcock, plagued by kidney failures and arthritis, died at his home Tuesday after suffering ill health for a year. His family, including Alma, his wife of 54 years, was with him.

Despite a heart condition that necessitated a pacemaker, Hitchcock was preparing another thriller at the time of his death — "The Short Night," the tale of a real-life British traitor whose duplicity led to the deaths of 42 agents.

"There was nobody like him," said actor James Stewart, a favorite Hitchcock player. "I have lost a great friend, and the world has lost a man who made a tremendous contribution to our business."

Hitchcock's first American-made film, "Rebecca" in 1940, won a best-picture Oscar, and the movie Academy presented him with the Irving G. Thalberg award in 1968. Last year, Hitchcock was given the American Film Institute's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Hitchcock's stylized treatment of his favorite themes — violence, suspicion, guilt and confession — his clever use of the tracking shot by a camera that was always moving and his genius for the clever plot twist gave universal recognition to the label, "Hitchcock film."

His work encompassed all manner of the macabre.

Earnings Told By U. S. Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, has reported first quarter earnings of $126 million, noting that its November decision to close 15 unprofitable plants produced positive results.

U.S. Steel's earnings, which amounted to $1.45 per share on sales of $3.2 billion, was down 8.2 percent from the same period a year ago.

Meanwhile, second-ranked Bethlehem Steel said its first quarter 1980 net income declined despite a gain in sales.

U.S. Steel's income for the first quarter in 1979 was $137.3 million, or $1.60 per share on sales of $3.1 billion. The figures, however, reflect the cumulative effect of accounting changes adopted in 1979, which amounted to $99.4 million for the first quarter.

Excluding that effect, U.S. Steel Chairman David Baderick said first quarter income was improved substantially.

All industry segments were profitable. The decisions last year to shut down many marginal facilities produced positive results, he said.

Baderick said, however, that most of the income came from non-steel business, such as transportation, natural resources and chemicals.

'Easygoing' Helps Carter Face Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter says his "easygoing" nature, his of handling some nagging and some have helped him hold up under the pressures of the presidency.

"I guess God gave me a character and a temperament that doesn't cause me to lose control of myself. I am easygoing," he said.

Beatrix Reigns In Netherlands

By JOHN GALE
Associated Press Writer
AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Crown Princess Beatrix became queen of the Netherlands today after her mother, Queen Juliana, abdicated on her 71st birthday.

Juliana signed the abdication document surrendering the throne at 10 a.m. in the royal palace on Dam Square, and Beatrix, her energetic, 42-year-old eldest daughter, succeeded her, becoming Holland's fourth successive female monarch and its sixth constitutional ruler.

It was a repetition of Juliana's accession to the throne in 1948, when her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, abdicated when she was 68.

Beatrix, Premier Andries van Agt and 15 members of his Cabinet added their signatures to the abdication document, then the two guests greeted the delegations from foreign countries. Among them were royal guests from 10 nations headed by the heir to the British throne, Prince Charles.

The Dutch navy preceded the ceremony with a 101-gun salute heard throughout the city as crowds gathered on the east side of Dam Square for the appearance on the palace balcony of the new queen and the old one. But much of the square was closed to the public to protect the royal family and their guests from squatters who threatened to disrupt the ceremonies to protest the housing shortage and radical groups.

More than 8,000 police and troops closed off a large portion of the inner-city, banning motor traffic and keeping a close watch on pedestrians.

In keeping with traditions inherited from more than 200 years as a republic before Holland became a constitutional monarchy in 1814, the new ruler was to be inaugurated, not crowned, at a ceremony in midafternoon in the 15th century Nieuwe Kerk (New Church) on the Dam.

Clad in the 23-foot ermine-lined robe worn by Dutch rulers for 140 years, she was to take the oath to uphold the constitution while the jewel-studded royal crown remained alongside on a table rather than on her head.

Four students from Western Texas College were among the approximately 2,500 students and coordinators attending the Office Education Association National Leadership Conference in Minneapolis, Minn., recently.

The students from WTC had qualified for the national competition by winning contests at the state level in Fort Worth earlier. Stephanie Johnson from Seminole placed fourth in the receptionist competition. Other students attending were Tonya Porter from Hobbs, Gina Willman from Roscoe and Mary Pruitt from Snyder. Charlene Light, assistant professor of office occupations at WTC, accompanied the students.

The theme for the conference was "OEA — A Foundation for Our Nation's Future." Speak-

Cronkite Not Interested? Magazine Says Different

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Cronkite said he wasn't interested in a political campaign.

New Republic magazine stuck by its story that the trusted "CBS Evening News" anchorman would be honored to join John Anderson's White House bid.

And Anderson said he had talked to no one about the vice presidential slot or his independent ticket. Said Anderson, stealing Cronkite's best known line: "That's the way it is on April 29."

The three-way debate began Monday when the magazine reported in its May 3 edition that Anderson was considering the veteran newsmen as his running mate and Cronkite might accept.

"I have no interest in entering politics in any capacity," Cronkite, who was sailing off Florida, said Tuesday in a statement released through CBS. "I have never endorsed a political candidate and I have no intention of endorsing a political candidate in the upcoming campaign, including Mr. Anderson."

Cronkite said the New Republic reporter with whom he had spoken "has misinterpreted our conversation."

New Republic said it stood by its account quoting Cronkite — cited by polls as one of the nation's most trusted figures — as saying he had not been invited to join the ticket of the Illinois Republican, who recently announced an independent presidential candidacy.

Should Anderson suggest he run as vice president, Cronkite was quoted as saying, "I'd be so honored to be asked, I wouldn't turn it down. It would be the right party. I've been an independent all my life."

Early cataracts

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I went to my eye doctor for a checkup. He said my eyes were healthy but I have nuclear sclerosis. I do not see to read as well as I did before. He said something about transparency. Like others, I value my eyesight. Can you tell me something about this?

DEAR READER — He's telling you that you have early cataracts and was talking about changes in the lens. Many people don't understand that a cataract is inside the eye and not on the eye. The lens is a jelly-like globular structure inside the eye that focuses the images that you see, somewhat like the lens in the camera focuses for you to take a picture.

The lens is constantly regenerating itself just like the other cells in your body, but it can't shed the old cells like your skin does. These old cells are clumped together and moved to the inside of the lens. In the early stages of cataract formation a little spot of these old clumped cells develop. This little spot is sometimes called nuclear sclerosis.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, "Your Cataracts Are Coming, so that you can understand better what happens to the lens as people get older. It happens to everybody to some degree. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I really don't know why you're having trouble with your vision because there are many other things that can affect eyesight other than cataracts or nuclear sclerosis or even changes in the lens. But if you happen to be developing cataracts and they affect your vision to the point that it can't be managed with eye glasses, there's a strong likelihood that something can be done surgically to significantly improve your eyesight.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is exophthalmic goiter? And what is Graves disease? Is a poor life full of stress and fear a possible cause? I am a 60-year-old childless woman who works very, very hard and am under stress most of the time. What makes pressure behind the eyes at night?

DEAR READER — Graves disease refers to an overactive thyroid condition. It's often associated with nervousness, tremulousness, weight loss in the face of eating lots of calories and bulging eyes. The bulging eyes are called exophthalmos. The goiter refers to an enlargement of the thyroid. So you have an enlarged thyroid gland which is overactive and associated eye complications.

The eyes are literally pushed out of their socket because of the accumulation of lymph cells and fluid in the tissues behind the eye and in the muscles that control the eyeball itself. The eyes do need protective measures to prevent them from drying out if the eyelids don't meet properly over the protruding eyeballs.

Usually most of eyes' bulging will recede after the thyroid condition has been adequately controlled a sufficient length of time.

The cause of such overactive thyroid conditions is really not known. It used to be thought that it was related to stress but that can't be proved.

Hitchcock Dead At 80

HOOLYWOOD (AP) — His murders showed up in shower stalls, his victims in potato sacks. But sir Alfred Hitchcock, whose mastery of terror chilled movie audiences for half a century, died peacefully of natural causes at the age of 80.

The portly British-born "Hitch" was perhaps the film industry's best-known director. A popular television series made his pouting profile instantly recognizable to millions of Americans.

In more than 50 movies, Hitchcock created a legacy of suspense classics — "Psycho," "The Birds," "Rear Window" and "Spellbound." Yet he never won an Oscar for direction. Hitchcock, plagued by

Dear Abby

Who Wants to Look Like Linus Pauling?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading about a California businessman named Graham who has made a hobby of collecting sperm from Nobel Prize winners to be used to impregnate super-high IQ women whose husbands can't father children.

Nowhere has it been proven that kids inherit their intelligence from their parents. (How many Nobel Prize winners are children of Nobel Prize winners?)

However, it's a known fact that kids do inherit their looks from their parents. How about collecting sperm from Burt Reynolds, Paul Newman, Robert Redford and some other good-looking men in order to breed some beautiful offspring?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Wonderful idea. But instead of giving it away, they should auction it off and give the proceeds to Planned Parenthood.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning what name the children will carry if the mother retains her maiden name after marriage. In Spanish-speaking countries, the child takes both his mother's surname as well as his father's. Example: Senor Lopez marries Senorita Gomez. Their son will be Carlos Gomez Lopez. If they want to use the names of even more forebears, they can go back as far as they choose.

A proud, well-born Spaniard of my acquaintance carried his families' names on both sides for seven generations and ended up with 14 names!

Using the surnames of both mother and father was considered a mark of honor. To use only the mother's name suggested that the mother was not married. It was important to be born legitimately because all children born out of wedlock were disenfranchised.

I don't know if the practice still exists, but when I lived in Cartagena, Colombia, the births were announced daily in the newspapers under two headings, "Legitimos" and "Ilegitimos." And incidentally, between 65 and 70 percent of all the births were "ilegitimos."

FORMER COLOMBIAN

DEAR FORMER: Thanks for some interesting (and "legitimo") information.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you stated that if a woman had sexual intercourse with a man who had gonorrhea, her chance of contracting the disease was 50 percent, or if she was on the Pill, 100 percent.

Since you do not customarily dispense irresponsible medical information, perhaps it was a typographical error on the part of the newspaper, but that statement is incorrect.

The most recent studies indicate that among sexually active women, oral contraceptives reduce the relative risk of spreading gonorrheal infection to the tubes and ovaries by two-thirds.

I think you owe it to your readers to correct the misconception.

ELLEN G. BALCHUM, M.D.

DEAR DR. BALCHUM: It was indeed a typographical error for which I take full responsibility. Thank you (and all the other sharp-eyed informed readers) who wrote to point out the error.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who would like to vote in an upcoming election, but he has served a prison term. This is a small town and I don't want to ask anyone here. Can you tell me if he is eligible to vote or not?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Unless your friend receives a full pardon from the governor of his state, he is ineligible to vote. (And for a federal offense, one needs a pardon from the president of the United States.)

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Custody Fight Over Dumbo

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's a Hollywood case if ever there was one.

The star is Dumbo, a circus elephant with movie credits. The plot, "Kramer vs. Kramer," the child custody movie. And the legal question, Marvin vs. Marvin, the celebrity palimony case.

While the attorneys argued the matter on Tuesday, Dumbo the elephant did handstands and curtsies for a circus in South Dakota, oblivious to the custody battle raging over her in federal court here.

Dollie Jacobs imported the pachyderm from Asia in 1949. At age 32, the animal is a valuable commodity, trained to work with two other elephants and gentle enough to give children rides.

Moreover, Asian elephants are now on the Department of Interior's endangered species list, making it nearly impossible to import them. Dumbo and her two circus companions are worth about $100,000.

Mrs. Jacobs died last year, in the midst of her suit to invalidate the 1974 sale of Dumbo to circus producer Paul V. Kaye.

Mrs. Jacobs' daughter, Judy, who lived with Kaye for 12 years before their two-year marriage, is carrying on her mother's fight to win back Dumbo in a custody dispute that has elements of the Academy Award-winning film "Kramer vs. Kramer."

Mrs. Kaye says her former husband hid Dumbo from Mrs. Jacobs then obtained the elephant by threatening to mistreat or sell it if Mrs. Jacobs didn't sign the sales contract.

"She was just a sick, little old lady who didn't know where her elephant was," said Mrs. Kaye on the witness stand.

Before trial, Mrs. Kaye said her mother's last wish was "to be cremated and have her ashes spread around over Dumbo."

U.S. District Judge Irving Hill said he thought the contract dispute, a federal case because the litigants lived in different states, was merely an "extension of the bitterness and war between these two parties." Mrs.

Jacobs lived in Oregon and Kaye lives in California.

King Edward VII of England was born in 1841.

Muskie Thought Wise Selection

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—
From the Panama Canal to Iran, Edmund S. Muskie's Senate voting record shows few deviations from White House Foreign policy positions.

Indeed, the man President Carter has picked to be secretary of state says it is important for the administration to project an image of stability around the world.

And in Muskie, a 22-year senator from Maine who first came to national prominence as the Democratic vice-presidential candidate in 1968, Carter also chose a man more of political than diplomatic breeding.

Although Muskie, 66, has concentrated on domestic affairs in the Senate and acknowledged that "I am not a foreign policy technician," Carter praised him during Tuesday night's nationally televised news conference as "extremely well qualified" because of his broad experience, bipartisan esteem and "international reputation."

He said Muskie's political experience, including an unsuccessful run for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, made him familiar with the entire nation and its aspirations. The president said Muskie and Warren Christopher, who will remain as deputy secretary of state after being bypassed for the top job, "will provide continuity for our foreign policy."

Muskie supported Carter's decision to try to rescue the American hostages in Iran, the bold but unsuccessful move that prompted Cyrus R. Vance to resign in protest Monday.

"We do not regret the attempt to free the hostages. After all, it was a response to kidnapping and blackmail," Muskie said. "We do not rule out the use of any appropriate means which might end the confrontation and bring sanity back to Iran."

Muskie told reporters he has no doubt of Carter's confidence in him. "The president has left no doubt in my mind...that I will be the foreign policy spokesman," Muskie said when asked about his standing in view of the frequent clashes between Vance and the president's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Muskie's Senate record, including service on the Foreign Relations Committee, is typical of a Democrat who offers strong support to a president from the same party.

He sided with Carter on most of the president's most controversial foreign policy positions, including the Panama Canal treaties, the decision to scrap the B-1 bomber, the sale of advanced fighters to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia and maintaining economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Although he took no formal position on the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union, Muskie was counted as a strong proponent of arms control and a virtually certain vote in favor of the strategic arms limitation agreement.

Three Mishaps Reported Here

A one car turnover was investigated early this morning by city policeman Bill Armstrong.

The accident occurred about 12:25 a.m. along a Highway 84 access road. Reports show that a 1974 AMC Gremlin driven by Jesse Escobedo struck an embankment and overturned. Extensive damage was reported to the car.

Two other traffic mishaps were investigated. Both occurred Tuesday.

The first was at 1:15 p.m. in the 2400 block of Ave. T. Involved in it were a 1971 Pontiac driven by Aracelia Coliaco and a 1977 Buick driven by Carla Price. The accident was worked by Keith Ward.

The other accident was at 6:20 p.m. in the 200 block of Ave. J. According to a report filed by investigating officer Buddy Kinney, a 1979 Pontiac driven by Tommy Elam was struck by a vehicle which left the scene.

Raymond Massey, the actor, was born in 1896.

back door and proceeded to the front of the building, where they grabbed the police guard, a member of London's Diplomatic Protection Group.

"I was walking by the embassy, and I remember noticing it because of the troubles in Iran," said Derek Coggins, a truck driver on a day trip to London.

"Then two girls wearing Arab headresses came running out, obviously panic-stricken, and ran through the gardens on to the main road. Within seconds police were on the scene."

The embassy is known to have an alarm system connected directly to the police.

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP)—Dubai's traders across the Persian Gulf from Iran are artfully dodging the U.S. ban on American exports to their northern neighbor and the Iranian government's hostility to things American.

The local merchants will be delighted if America's European allies also order sanctions next month. "It will be a hell of a good business," said one government official. "The merchants might not agree with Iran's policies, but they won't let that affect their commercial judgment."

On the waterfront, Baluchi workers carefully scratch out "Made in the USA" and paint in "Made in Taiwan" or "Made in Yugoslavia."

"That way we please everyone," said one trader with a smirk. American air conditioners and sacks of rice are stacked alongside Japanese TVs and Italian refrigerators, waiting for the small motorized wooden dhows that will take them on the 90-mile run across the gulf to Iran's southeast coast.

Some 30 percent of all the city's imports end up outside the country, and the biggest and fastest growing market is Iran. In February 1979, re-exports to the big northern neighbor totaled $14 million; this February, they totaled $27 million. In one month, food shipped from Dubai to Iran more than doubled, from $5.4 million to $14 million.

To Enter Businesses, Says FBI...

Mafia Must Still Rely On Old Tactics Of Fear

By Margaret Gentry
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—
The FBI says Mafia bosses use computers to run their businesses these days, but still rely on the old-fashioned tactics of fear, intimidation and murder to muscle into them.

"Murder is essential for their operations," James Nelson, an FBI organized crime specialist, told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee Tuesday.

The committee was to examine a specific case in detail today — the Kansas City mob's attempt in the mid-1970s to seize control of a business redevelopment project, known as the River Quay. Nelson and two other FBI officials — Oscar Revell, a deputy assistant director, and Sean McWeeny, chief of the organized crime section — described current operations of the syndicate popularly known as the Mafia, but called La Cosa Nostra by its members.

Nelson said he described the Mafia and other mafias "in terms used by the groups themselves," based on information from informants and court-authorized electronic eavesdropping. The emphasis on ethnic identity, he said, was the mob's own.

"Without a doubt, in our estimation, La Cosa Nostra is the most powerful organized crime group in the country," Nelson said. "Nobody else is close."

The FBI counts about 2,000 initiated Mafia members in 25 families. Bosses of the nine most powerful families — five in New York City and one each in Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Buffalo, N.Y. — comprise a group that sets overall policy and resolves inter-family disputes, Nelson said.

The other families, by the FBI account, operate in these metropolitan areas: Boston, Mass.; Providence, R.I.; Elizabeth, N.J.; Pittsburgh and Pittsfield-Scranton, Pa.; Cleveland, St. Louis, Tampa, Fla.; New Orleans; Rockford, Ill.; Milwaukee-Madison, Wis.; Kansas City; Denver-Pueblo, Colo.; Tucson, Ariz.; Los Angeles; and San Francisco-San Jose, Calif.

Miami and Las Vegas are considered "open cities" where several families have permission to operate, Nelson said. For example, 100 Mafia members from 16 families live and operate at least part-time in Miami, McWeeny added.

Mafia crimes run the gamut — murder, arson, kidnaping, extortion, gambling, narcotics, securities fraud — all with the aim of making money, the FBI men said.

Diet Products To Be Reduced

By BETTY WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—
Nine new nonprescription diet products aren't likely to be sold much longer because they contain twice the current legal limit of an appetite-suppressant drug, the government says.

The five drug companies which make the products have agreed not to ship any more of the nine products, the Food and Drug Administration said Monday.

FDA is seeking a similar level of cooperation from four other companies that also make products containing more of the drug phenylpropanolamine hydrochloride, than is allowed. These companies have not yet responded to PPA, as the drug is known, is present in other over-the-counter diet preparations which aren't subject to the regulatory action. But it is in the other preparations in smaller amounts.

FDA officials said they think the companies made the new products on the assumption the FDA would approve the higher PPA levels because an FDA advisory panel suggested the increased levels.

But spokesman Wayne Pines said there is no certainty the higher levels will be approved by the full FDA. No decision is likely soon, he said.

A recall was not deemed necessary because the FDA is not convinced the higher PPA levels are a health risk. But one study which the FDA has shown that 85 milligrams of PPA, available in a product sold in Australia, caused "important" although only temporary, increases in the blood pressure of test subjects.

FDA permits PPA at levels of 37.5 milligrams in a regular, immediate-release dose and 75 milligrams in a sustained-release dose.

Mixed Drink Tax Rebates Distributed

Scurry County received $2,655.59 and the City of Snyder received $2,225.76 in mixed drink taxes for the first quarter of 1980. State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced Bullock said his office had mailed checks totaling $6.5 million to 207 counties and 360 cities as their share of the 10 percent gross receipts tax on mixed drinks sold in the state during January, February and March of this year.

Cities and counties receive a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state. The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from establishments who sell them in legal sales areas and in private clubs, and the city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the comptroller's office.

Mixed drink tax rebates for other counties and cities in this area for the first quarter include Howard County $3,645.74 and Big Spring $3,210.36; Nolan County $2,664.06 and Sweetwater $1,569.66; Mitchell County $279.24 and Colorado City $230.18; Dawson County $279.22 and Lamesa none.
