Hodding Carter Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) State Department spokesman Hodding Carter plans to resign and return to journalism after a brief transition period under new Secretary of State Edmund Muskie.

Carter told reporters Thursday he has not spoken to Muskie about his tenure in his post as assistant secretary of state for public affairs, which made his face familiar to millions of Americans as the voice of the U.S. government during the Iran crisis.

Auto Layoffs Highest

DETROIT (AP) Layoffs in the U.S. auto industry have hit a 1980 high with more than 284,000 workers out of work.

That layoff figure, announced Thursday for next week, is about 36 percent of the production work force of the five automakers. Most of the increase represents workers included for the first time.

Ford Motor Co. began including layoffs in component plants. General Motors Corp. also included some for the first time.

Of the new total, more than 210,000 will be furloughed indefinitely.

Comparable figures this week were 201,350 indefinite and 65,000 short-term layoffs, with the latter figure not including any counterpart to the 15,000 workers temporarily furloughed from component plants next week.

Fierce Fighting Reported

NEW DELHI, India (AP) Fierce fighting is raging for the second week between Soviet forces and Afghan rebels in Afghanistan's Ghazni Province southwest of Kabul, near the scene of a massacre of thousand of villagers in late April, according to reports from Kabul received here today.

Khomeini Votes Today

By The Associated Press

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini dropped his ballot into a box in his home in Tehran today as millions of Iranians turned out to complete the election of the new Parliament that he says will decide the fate of the American hostages.

A leader of the militants holding the hostages was quoted as saying today that the Parliament's job must be to devise a plan for putting the Americans on trial. At least some of the 53 hostages must be held indefinitely as "instruments" to ensure continued revolutionary fervor in Iran, an Italian newspaper quoted him as saying in an interview.

The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

People don't seem to care much about voting any more. That's one thing that frightens us when they mention "initiative and referendum." Speedy Nieman of the Hereford Brand pretty well summed up the problem in a recent column:

"After years of writing columns to urge and even beg our readers to vote, we've decided it's not worth the effort.

"We still advocate voting. If you are a qualified voter, study the candidates and the issues, and just need a reminder to go to the polls, we salute you.

"If you are the type who has to be dragged to the polls, it is doubtful that you will have done the homework to make an intelligent choice of candidates. If you don't vote, you won't be doing me a disservice.

"You'll just make it easier for me and the small group I belong to -- registered voters who actually vote -- to elect who we want."

On the same subject, Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter said he was flabbergasted to find that several families there who were involved in their jobs and community had not voted for several years.

He said they promised to turn over a new leaf in the 80s.

"What's Washington actually doing about saving energy?" asks Craig Nieman of the Lamb County Leader-News.

"That's a fair question because the 10 biggest energy-using agencies of the federal government consume enough energy to heat 11 million homes and to fuel all the automobiles in California and New York.

"Regrettably, the federal government lags behind much of the nation in conservation," a House subcommittee reported."

Bus Falls In Bay; At Least 31 Die...

Freighter Rams Into Bridge

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) - A 609-foot freighter rammed the Sunshine Skyway Bridge at rush hour today, tearing away a large section of the 15-mile span and sending a Greyhound bus plunging 140 feet into Tampa Bay. At least 31 persons were killed, the Coast Guard said.

Coast Guard spokesman Russell Woodall said a bus, two cars and a truck plunged into the bay.

He said there were reports that the bus landed on top of the cars in the water.

Phillip Biebender, a Coast Guard spokesman in St. Petersburg said 17 bodies were recovered within hours after the freighter Summit Venture hit the bridge in a thunder-shower. The accident occurred during the morning rush hour.

The bus was resting in 20 feet of water.

About 300 feet of the bridge collapsed where it crosses the main shipping channel.

One car was seen hanging over the edge of the town bridge but its four occupants crawled to safety.

Richard Hornbuckle, 60, of St. Petersburg, driver of the car, said, "It was raining cats and dogs. It was dark. The wind was blowing like a hurricane."

"I was doing about 25 mph; the Greyhound bus passed me doing about 35. There was a stalled car in front. As I came to the very top of the bridge, I saw the rest of it was out. I applied my brakes immediately and stopped within 2 feet of going in. I bailed out and went back to stop other cars."

"We got all the other cars stopped. I looked down and saw my car with all four doors open. I figured the Lord was real good to the four of us."

Coast Guard Chief Petty

Officer Paul Scotti said

authorities at first believed 90 persons may have drowned because they thought the bus was filled.

But Robert Rodriguez, a local manager for Greyhound, said the bus was carrying 22 passengers and a driver.

Rodriguez said the bus left St. Petersburg for Miami at 7:05 a.m. and did not arrive as scheduled in Bradenton, off the other side of the bay.

Authorities said it appeared the passenger car and the bus had just passed a slower moving vehicle on the bridge when they sped onto the torn section. The bus plunged over the edge and into the bay, but the car was able to stop barely in time.

Divers from the local sheriff's department were dispatched to the area to search for survivors.

Inflation Eases Increase In April

WASHINGTON (AP) -

Inflation's iron grip loosened in April, as wholesale prices rose only 0.5 percent, the smallest increase in 11 months, the Labor Department reported today.

The slowdown was due largely to a 2.8 percent decline in wholesale prices of food, the sharpest drop since June 1974 when prices fell 33 percent. In March, food prices shot up 1.1 percent.

April's overall 0.5 percent rise in wholesale, or producer, prices compares with a 1.4 percent surge in March and a 1.5 percent increase in both January and February, the Labor Department said.

At last month's pace -- the lowest since May 1979 -- the composite inflation rate at the producer level would be only 6.2 percent, about one-third the rate of recent months.

The clear slowdown in wholesale prices occurred as the U.S. economy is entering a recession. Unemployment last month shot up from 6.2 percent to 7 percent.

Energy prices went up 3.8 percent last month -- a price far less than the 7 percent-plus figures of February and March -- as last year's OPEC oil price increases rippled through the U.S. economy.

Gasoline prices rose 4.3 percent, compared with an 8.5 percent acceleration in March, the Labor Department said. Fuel oil went up 3 percent in April after a 6.3 percent rise the month before.

The sharp drop in finished food products was caused by sharply lower prices for beef and veal -- down 8.7 percent; and poultry, 5 percent lower than in March, the department said.

Prices also turned down after advancing in March for eggs, fish, milled rice, sugar, roasted coffee and fresh fruits.

The price of all finished goods, except food and energy products, went up 0.6 percent last month, somewhat more than the 0.4 percent increase in March, the department said.

A 9.8 percent decline in gold jewelry prices and a 27.7 percent drop in household flatware prices were more than offset by increases in passenger cars, cosmetics, pharmacy items, nonalcoholic beverages, household furniture and mobile homes.

Economists watch wholesale prices carefully because they indicate the direction of consumer prices in the next few months.

From April 1979 to last month, wholesale prices have risen 13.5 percent.

REFERENCE BOOK PRESENTED--Carl Williams, chairman of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, presents the Rev. Monte Jones, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, with a copy of "The Judgment of Nature," a reference booklet for observance of soil Stewardship's Week. The special Week will get special recognition in a number of churches Sunday.

Special Week Focuses On Soil Stewardship

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which emphasizes man's responsibility to protect and conserve soil, water, and other natural resources, will be observed May 11-18, Carl Williams, chairman of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, has announced.

Borden and Scurry County Judges Jim Burkett and Preston Wilson have both designated the week of May 11-18 as Soil Stewardship Week in their respective counties, Williams said.

The theme of this year's celebration is "The Judgment of Nature." It's focus is especially appropriate as the United States considers the current condition of its soil, water, and related resources, said Williams.

"Through nature, we are linked with the past and committed to the future," it is said in the 16-page "Judgment of Nature" reference booklet, which presents thoughts for consideration not only during Soil Stewardship Week, but throughout the year. Nature is defined in the publication as the continuing system of life created by God.

"Nature is neither fixed nor static; it is a continuing process and inherently dynamic. It rewards care and constructive attention, even as it penalizes negligence and deliberate damage," the booklet states.

The loss of some 3 million acres of productive agricultural land each year through urbanization and other uses, the decline in productivity of the topsoil as the result of destructive erosion, and continuing pollution of the nation's waters is serious cause for everyone's concern," the sponsors believe. Participation in Soil Stewardship Week activities offers an opportunity to reflect on the nation's natural resource problems and consider actions to resolve them or reduce their impact.

The National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil Stewardship Week in the United States since 1955, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts.

A number of the churches in the district are scheduling special Soil Stewardship services.

During the past week the district hosted a conservation awards banquet with emphasis on Soil Stewardship. Soil Stewardship Bookmarks were also distributed to the Elementary School Students in the District.

"We hope," said Williams, "that during Soil Stewardship Week, millions of Americans will pause for a moment to consider their responsibilities for the protection and proper care of the Lord's earth."

The district provided churches with a reference booklet, designed for this year's observance. The material was prepared by the Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The advisory committee is composed of churchmen of various faiths.

Ask Us

Q-I thought we voted on nominees for president in the primary elections and was wondering why there are conventions scheduled.
A-Both parties did have presidential candidates on primary ballots, but only the Republicans took a "binding" vote. And even so, the delegates must still go to the convention to cast their votes for the actual nomination. Also, there will be platform issues and other party matters to be settled at the conventions.

Carter Due To Get Support

Scurry County Democrats are expected to give most of their support to President Jimmy Carter at their county convention set for 2 p.m. Saturday in the junior high school auditorium.

Gene Bowlin, county Democratic Chairman, said that reports from last Saturday's precinct convention indicate that Carter will get a majority of this county's support at the state convention with most of the remainder going uncommitted. There was no indication of any significant support for Ted Kennedy, based on minutes of the precinct conventions.

Also, there was a surprising lack of resolutions coming out of the precinct conventions this time. Precinct 18 in Snyder listed favorable action on several resolutions, however. These include opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment, deportation of illegal aliens, support of the boycott of the Olympic Games, deportation of all aliens who become involved in riots and flag-burning and any other activity in opposition to the U.S. government, more funds for national defense, opposition to the windfall profits tax on oil, for election of federal judges instead of appointment, etc.

The county convention will be open to the public, but only certified delegates from the precincts may participate in it.

Mortgage Loan Rates Beginning To Ease Off

Mortgage interest rates in Snyder are responding to an apparent trend toward easing off that was reported earlier this week in Dallas.

First Federal Savings and Loan this morning dropped the interest rate on conventional mortgage loans from 16 percent to 13 1/2 percent, and Snyder Savings and Loan reported that it was in the process of reviewing its mortgage interest rates as a result of reductions in metropolitan areas.

Snyder Savings and Loan's rates for conventional mortgage loans were 14 to 14 1/2 percent, depending on the type of property," said John Pickering Jr., vice president and comptroller.

Brenda Hedges, vice president and manager of First Federal's branch here, was hopeful that the decrease in interest rates would stimulate some activity on mortgage loans. She said First Federal had plenty of funds on hand to handle loans at the new rate. While the conventional mortgage loan rate dropped from 16 to 13 1/2 percent, the rate on FHA and VA loans dropped from 13 to 12 percent at First Federal.

Pickering indicated that the trend was not unexpected. The rates likely will fluctuate some in the next few months, he believes, and possibly will level off somewhere in the 11 to 12 percent area.

There were reports that some Dallas lenders had lowered interest rates to 12 to 12 1/4 percent.

"They must not have had many money market certificates out at 15.7 percent," said Mrs. Hedges. Savings and loan firms and banks were issuing the $10,000 money market certificates at figures above 15 1/2 percent last month. Recently, however, the money market certificate rates have dropped below 10 percent, and at the same time, larger banks in the nation have dropped their prime interest rates after hitting the 20 percent mark.

One of the reasons government grows so rapidly is that the public views many of its services as essential. Among those we couldn't get along without their services provided by the state, paid for by the people themselves of course, is the court system. The public still, even with all its failures, thinks there are no alternatives to the government court system. Well, there are alternatives, many of them. One of the more interesting substitutes is a Christian organization that is handling problems that otherwise might be decided by a government judge.

Traditionally the church, not the court, was the community institution that solved most conflicts and disputes. There were more ministers on the American frontier than there were judges, so the men of the cloth were often tapped to serve as community mediators as well as preachers of the gospel. Many disputes were left to the board of deacons while other problems were settled in the privacy of the preacher's office. Family problems, which now take up considerable court time, were almost exclusively the domain of the clergy. Other disputes were often settled when both sides agreed to abide by the decision of the church.

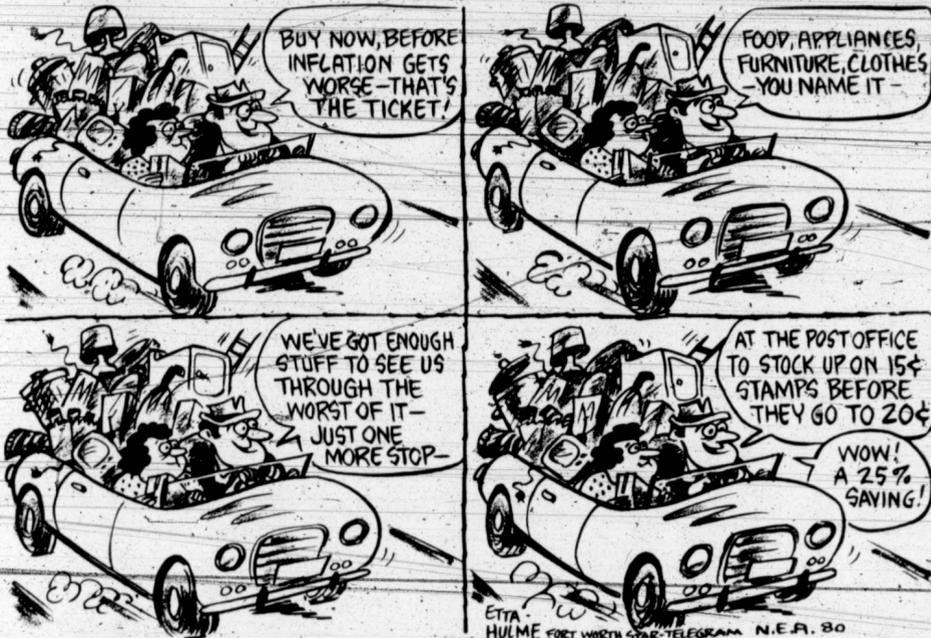

As the government grew the role of this country's voluntary institutions, such as the church, shrank. Welfare and reconciliation functions of the nation's religious institutions have been largely replaced by bureaucracy and tax-supported structures. As could be predicted the job went from the hands of people who care to the hands of people who are, for the most part, more concerned with keeping their jobs.

In recent years there has been a swing back to a more activist approach to religion by numerous churches. Churches are providing their members with marriage counseling services that offer a tremendous deterrent to divorce in these fast-moving times. Now an organization of Christian activists is offering an alternative to legal action. The Los Angeles-based organization calls itself the Christian Conciliation Service and it settles disputes by using biblical principles.

The CCS started three years ago when some concerned Christians observed that court litigation usually tears people apart rather than brings them together. These Bible-oriented Christians looked to the Scriptures and found what they consider to be God's method of solving disputes in the 18th chapter of Matthew, verses 15 through 18.

The procedure stresses the opening of communication between the conflicting parties, and that is often enough to solve the problem. For more serious problems people in conflict are brought together and they present their case to a panel of Christian attorneys. In such situations the two parties agree before the procedure begins that the decision of the panel will be legally binding or, if they so choose, only a mediation session. Of the dozens of cases heard by the Christian panel, all but one was settled out of court.

There is a growing trend among businessmen to settle their disputes through private arbitration agencies rather than through government courts. If the Christian Conciliation Service is successful, and we hope it is, a similar trend might develop with the private citizens of this country. Trend or not, this type of activity is likely to strengthen the participation churches, and that's something to cheer.

I'm waiting for someone to boycott the "Spending Olympics" being held this year in the United States. Somehow the president's message just hasn't filtered down to the people yet. A couple of us were in the supermarket the other day when Mayva threw a couple of lawn chairs in her basket. "Mayva," I said, "you don't need those lawn chairs. Didn't you hear the president a few weeks ago invite you to a recession?" "I know, and we can't go," she said, then added brightly, "But Herb and I are sending a check!" Peggy pursed her lips into a pout and said, "Spoilsport! Spending money is the only adventure left that hasn't killed research rats." Adventure! Peggy had put her finger on it. Spending in this country has become one big game. You buy a car and bands play, balloons fly and someone hands you a $500 rebate. You buy a water bed and get a free pair of cowboy boots. You purchase a freezer and get a three-month supply of hamburger. You purchase a subscription to Reader's Digest and you get a shot at the big sweepstakes. Inside every bag of dog snacks is a coupon for 1/2 off the next one you buy. Send in three soap labels and win a trip to Europe. Spending is fun. Have a hamburger at McDonald's and while you're there, if your ticket stubs match up you may win $10,000. Baseball players on strike? Who cares? Play baseball while you're flying American Airlines and you may be the big winner and fly free for a whole month. For awhile, banks entered the Spending Olympics, but they were rank amateurs compared to manufacturers. If you opened a savings account for $10,000 and left your money in for three years, they gave you a rain bonnet in a plastic carrying case and gave you a choice of suckers from the Lollipop Tree. If you took the same $10,000 and made a down payment on a condominium, you got a microwave oven, a chance on a cabin cruiser, a weekend with the Royal Family in Monaco, and a part in a Burt Reynolds movie. The only way I can see it is the government is just going to have to "sell" a recession to the people with a Recession Sweepstakes. Make a game out of it. The first one to end up at the end of the week without spending more than he makes will be given a free ticket to pass IRS audit, collect $200 tax-free and have a chance to live in the greatest financially-sound country in the world... It just passes on the expenses. In fact, it has money to spare, and not just in guarantees to Chrysler Corp., which otherwise might have to declare bankruptcy. Other loans and guarantees are growing fast and soon may total $500 billion. Many knowledgeable financial people, including congressional aides and private sector officials, are deeply worried about the practice, but it goes on unchecked because, it seems, the money is there to be lent. It is accumulated from taxes, which have been growing, and by borrowing, which has been growing. The government now owes about $850 billion, but it has a steady and growing income taxes to cover it. Much has been made recently of balancing the budget, but whatever balance is achieved will be at a very high level. Budget balancing does not require spending cuts. It can be achieved through higher revenues. If the recession is long and deep, as it seems it will be, government income too will shrink. Government has no financing other than borrowing, its ability to collect revenues, and the printing press. It's one thing for household and business revenues to shrivel. But when it finally hits government the noise will be awful. That's when the public sector of the economy comes to appreciate recession.

NEW YORK (AP)—As the economy drops into recession, with jobs being lost and businesses collapsing, there remains one area of enterprise that is doing well, based on the standard measurements. This area of enterprise reports that its revenues are up. It is expanding. It is hiring. It is spending. It is lending. It too may experience a downturn in its revenues, because no piece of the economy structure stands alone. Like an erector set, the parts all fit together, and sometimes they all come down together too. But for the time being, it seems to be able to go its way. U.S. Steel and General Motors are closing plants and laying off workers, but this enterprise has just opened up a brand new, fully equipped department. The expansion, into the lucrative education market, was viewed as indicative of more to come, because the enterprise's other departments have been growing at a pace faster even than any private concern. The enterprise, of course, is the U.S. Government,

The fire at Rainbow Market Sunday was tragic. Mom and pop grocery stores are an endangered species. Operating in the midst of the giant chains with their super promotions and national advertising is no easy row to hoe.

So J.W. and Frances Tatom were already survivors of sorts when the electrical system in the attic went haywire and set the blaze that ravaged their store.

"We closed up and left here about 9:15 or 9:20," said J.W. "We were eating supper out at Rip's when they called us and said the store was on fire. That was 9:40."

"I expected one little corner of the inside of the building to be afire," said Frances. "I was never so shocked in my life when we drove up and saw smoke billowing from the entire inside. That is quite a feeling, let me tell you."

"We're grateful no one got hurt," said J.W. But the fire alarm Sunday may have been the death knell for the 1614 25th St. location as a site for selling groceries, something that has been going on there for nearly half a century. That is sort of sad in itself; a tiny piece of Snyder has died.

The Jim Adams family first started selling vegetables and fruit off the back of a truck there in the 1930s. Eventually the store was added.

J.W. TATOM ...In ravaged store

Coincidentally, Jim Adams was the grandfather of J.W.

"I still remember cutting up plugs of tobacco for him when I was a kid, I wasted a lot of tobacco before I got the hang of that machine," he said.

The store became J.R.B. Rainbow and in 1960 was purchased by Sterling Parker. The Tatoms bought the store in December of 1978.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Tatom, the family also provided employment for their son and his wife, Jerry and Dolly Tatom; their oldest daughter, Shirley all and their youngest daughter, Elaine Buchanan.

But don't count the Tatoms out yet. They are not down for the count. If they can find another location they will be back in business.

"Shucks, we can't quit now, we're too far under," said J.W. with a shrug and a smile.

leave their polling stations.

An ABC News poll found, for example, that about two-thirds of all participants in the Pennsylvania primary made up their minds about which candidate prior to the last week of the campaign. Among those voters, Reagan was slightly favored over Bush and Kennedy was tied with Carter.

But among the remaining one-third of the voters who waited until the final week to decide — when the two insurgents had taken up temporary residence in the state — Kennedy was favored by a 52-36 margin — and Bush was preferred by an even wider 63-31 margin.

Personal campaigning may be suitable for candidates seeking lesser offices and representing smaller constituencies, they argue, but contenders for the presidency ought to use more modern techniques.

Invariably leading that list is television advertising, followed by other depersonalized approaches such as telephone banks, computerized mass mailings and stands on issues tailored to the results of public opinion surveys.

But in this year's contest for the Republican presidential nomination, the two most striking upsets scored by insurgent George Bush against front-runner Ronald Reagan have come in states where Bush devoted an inordinate amount of his own time to campaigning in person.

In Iowa, where precinct caucuses provided the year's first test of the candidates' popularity, Bush was the unexpected winner after spending 38 days campaigning in the state.

Reagan's infrequent forays into Iowa became an issue in that contest, a potential problem he promptly resolved by substantially increasing the number of personal appearances in New Hampshire — where he trounced Bush in the primary.

In the primary here in Pennsylvania, Bush again achieved a surprising victory after spending 14 consecutive days immediately prior to election day traversing the state.

Reagan originally planned to spend only portions of two days here, then belatedly added appearances on Saturday and Sunday prior to the Tuesday balloting — but that effort apparently was too little too late.

In the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., similarly achieved his most striking victories over President Carter in the two primaries where he virtually lived in the state for a week or more prior to election day — New York and Pennsylvania.

Personalized campaigning is not, by itself, the key to victory for a contender in a major political race, especially in a heavily populated state like Pennsylvania.

That's why candidate travel schedules often are constructed to reach several "media markets" in a single day — so television and radio stations and newspapers can convey to voters the message that the politician cared enough to visit their home town.

In addition, paid advertising remains a crucial element of a successful statewide campaign. Here in Pennsylvania, for instance, Bush spent an estimated $1 million, approximately half of which was used to purchase time for television commercials, while Reagan's total campaign budget was only about $250,000. The impact of extensive personal campaigning is reflected, in part, in the results of public opinion surveys of voters as they leave their polling stations. An ABC News poll found, for example, that about two-thirds of all participants in the Pennsylvania primary made up their minds about which candidate prior to the last week of the campaign.

Among those voters, Reagan was slightly favored over Bush and Kennedy was tied with Carter.

But among the remaining one-third of the voters who waited until the final week to decide — when the two insurgents had taken up temporary residence in the state — Kennedy was favored by a 52-36 margin — and Bush was preferred by an even wider 63-31 margin.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Shut Up And Eat!

DEAR ABBY: You missed the obvious in the case of the man whose ladyfriend scolded him for eating with his elbows on the table and talking with his mouth full. It is evident that he is going with the village nag because nobody else will have him.

More people are turned off by bad table manners than bad breath, body odor and a terrible temper combined. I recently invited an elderly gentleman over for dinner. I will not ask him again. Seeing him talk with his mouth full of food was more than I could bear.

Since advertisers have no product for sale to improve table manners, the offending man should be glad his ladyfriend only scolded him. She could have rejected him. Not even dogs bark with their mouths full!

DOG'S BEST FRIEND IN D.C.

DEAR FRIEND: It takes all kinds of people. Read on for another view:

DEAR ABBY: With our world falling apart and so much suffering, how do people get hung up on such little things? A man could have worse faults than eating with his elbows on the table. If I could call my husband back, I wouldn't care if he put his knee on the table. Sign me

70 AND LONESOME

DEAR ABBY: DUMMY IN MUSCATINE, IOWA, wrote, "My husband asked me if I wanted to go back to his hometown for his 25th high school reunion. I didn't know anybody back there, so I told him to go without me. Well, he went alone and met his old high school sweetheart — a blonde bombshell — recently divorced. They picked up where they had left off and rekindled the old flame, and guess who's without a husband now? That's right.

Abby, I wonder what would have happened if when the letter about the high school reunion came, the wife had said, "Honey, if you want me to go I will, but you know how shy and uncomfortable I am around strangers. Maybe you'd have more fun if I stayed home, then you could wander around, renew old acquaintances and reminisce with your buddies without having to worry about whether I was having a good time."

Then she could have pulled out the old suitcase, polished up the scuff marks, packed his best suit fresh from the cleaners, made sure he had clean shirts, socks and underwear, and packed some notes in the folds, like, "Have a great time. I love you." And if she then had sent him off after a warm and wild night of love with a smile, a kiss and a whispered, "Have a good time, but hurry home and remember I love you," I wonder how good that divorced blonde bombshell would have looked to him?

My husband and I have been married 32 years. We've been separated a few times, but every time he had to leave home, that's the way I sent him off. I may not be the firm young girl he married, but you can be sure I ain't no "Dummy in Muscatine."

PHYLIS

DEAR PHYLIS: Please give that lucky guy you're married to my regards, will you?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL HURTING IN VICTORIA, TEXAS": All love affairs would be pain-free if both parties quit caring at the same time. But they never do, so be a big boy and don't whine, beg or crawl. It's over.

Hospital Auxiliary Has Banquet

The Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital marked its 22nd year of service to the hospital at its annual awards banquet Monday night, with about 200 members and guests present at the Snyder Country Club.

Special guests for the awards ceremony were hospital officials, county commissioners and hospital board members.

A summary of the year's activities submitted by Reeda Thomas, outgoing president, included gifts and donations to Cogdell Memorial Hospital in the amount of $13,273.14 and miscellaneous gifts of $2,818.90, a total of $16,092.04.

In addition, the Auxiliary provided scholarship funds of approximately $1,200 for five registered nurse students the first semester and four students the second semester. Before being accepted in this program, students must have satisfactorily completed 2 years of basic training in an accredited school, with the R.N. degree requiring an additional two years. The monies for these scholarships come from the net profit of the gift shop and cigarette vending machines.

Money for other projects comes from the operation of the snack bar and rental fees for the use of television sets and telephones from the patients who desire such services. The Auxiliary also accepts donations to a Memorial Fund, and all proceeds from this are used specifically for life saving equipment for the hospital.

Glenn Polk, KSNY radio personality, provided entertainment for the evening. In his monologue, Polk directed much of his humor at the hospital staff and personnel. Accompanying himself at the piano, he sang several songs adapted for the occasion. Polk also made some special awards to hospital personnel and auxiliary members.

Cy Miller, hospital administrator, presented pins and service bars to Auxiliary and Candy Stripper members in recognition of the hours of service they have given the hospital during the past year. The Women's Auxiliary donated a total of 12,247 hours, while the Candy Stripper organization accounted for 1,192 hours. Miller expressed appreciation to the volunteer workers, and said that their services to Cogdell Hospital had saved the taxpayers of Scurry County a great deal of money over the years. The Auxiliary, organized in 1958, with 13 members, now has an active membership of 74, as well as 24 junior members. All Auxiliary and Candy Stripper members give their time without pay and furnish

Areas of service for volunteer workers include the gift shop, both in operating the shop for the convenience of hospital patients and visitors, and in stocking the shop with many unique handmade items; the information desk to assist visitors to the hospital; the snack bar which is operated as a service to hospital personnel and visitors; the floor workers who take care of television and telephone rentals. The volunteers also assist hospital personnel who requested and provided many thoughtful services to the patients.

They are Carol Davis, first vice president; Fern Cox, second vice president; Wilma Dillard, recording secretary and reporter; Donnie Chorn, corresponding secretary; Ena Carroll, parliamentarian; and board members Reeda Thomas, Sue Mize and Ena Carroll. lead with the ace, dropping South's queen. Misled by West's double, East returned a heart thinking his partner had a singleton and that Declarer's queen had been a false-card from queen-five of hearts.

South was faced with three clear losers in his doubled game. He had already lost one heart, and the spade king and club ace still had to be conceded. However, declarer came up with an excellent plan. He hoped that West might be induced into a careless second-hand play.

Accordingly, South ruffed the heart return with the diamond nine and at trick three led a small club toward dummy's queen.

Poor West "automatically" played his 10 and dummy's queen won. Declarer drew two rounds of trump, ending in the dummy and pitched his club king on the king of hearts. Declarer still had to lose a spade trick, but he had stolen his game. Of course, West should have "risen" to the occasion and gone right up with the ace of clubs, but that doesn't detract from declarer's skillful play.

If you can give the opposition an opportunity to err, they may do so. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Tigers To Host Cubs In Key 3A Tilt Today

Snyder High School hosts Brownfield's Cubs in baseball action this afternoon, an important contest for both schools.

The rivals are scheduled to meet at Moffett Field for a 5:30 start.

Brownfield, 3-3A first-round victor, needs a win today to keep fast-improving Snyder from forcing a district playoff series. Meanwhile, Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers need a win today or at Lamesa tomorrow to win the second-round.

Should Snyder come up with a victory, the two teams would enter a best-of-three playoff series next week to determine the district champion and post-season representative.

Snyder, 12-11-1, was expected to start fireballer Tony Degrate, 5-4 on the hill. Brownfield will probably go with Jimmy Martinez, 9-2.

Brownfield, boasting the best overall record of the district at 19-4, won the district's first half with a 5-1 mark. Snyder, which lost twice to the Cubs, was 4-2.

But sharper pitching from Degrate and throwing-mate William Robinson have the Tigers going into today's game at 4-0 in the second round. Brownfield already has two losses, at 3-2. Lamesa, 0-6 the first round, is 0-5 in the second.

Snyder has represented District 33A the past three years, and won bi-district twice during that time.

Defending Champs Expect To Repeat Again This Year

AUSTIN (AP)—Only three individual champions return in the top two divisions — 3A and 4A — at the state schoolboy track and field meet today and Saturday. Eight defending champions will compete in the other three conferences.

Defending state team champions Killeen, Needville, Snook, and possibly Bay City, appear to be in shape to win again, this year at the state meet.

Timpson, the defending champion in Class A, only has a relay team and a sprinter in the 200-meter dash and apparently will relinquish its crown to Crosbyton, Falls City or Kerens.

The defending 4A individual champions are Robert Scott of Killeen in the long jump and Dennis Brantley, who tied the conference record last year in the 110-meter hurdles in 13.5 seconds.

In regional competition this year, Scott's jump of 24-feet 3/4-inch was the third best of the 4A competitors, and Brantley's 13.8 in the hurdles was one-tenth of a second slower than two other hurdlers.

Also returning is 3A distance runner Andrew Daniels of Burkburnett, who won the mile last year in 4:16.6 but ran the 1,600-meters in regional two weeks ago in 4:29.6, which is only the sixth best time in that event.

Bay City and Terrell should be close in 3A, and Needville's stiffest competition could come from Waller in 2A. Snook is the 1A favorite.

Five 'Locals' To Compete...

State Track, Net Meets Begin

AUSTIN—Snyder High School was to begin its quest for the gold here today; a possible three on the track field and another from the tennis courts.

Area standout Wade Pierson, a junior from Ira High School, is also slated to run in the Class B high hurdles tomorrow at 1:35 p.m.

Neal Paige, Snyder's lone entry in the boy's State Tennis Tournament, was scheduled for an 11 a.m. start in the first round today against Barrett Cresswell of Glade-water.

Winner of the match will advance to a semi-final round at 5 this afternoon, both matches to be held at Caswell Tennis Center.

Championship tennis matches will be held 9 a.m. Saturday at the Penick Courts on the University of Texas campus.

Scheduled to perform this afternoon are Snyder's three entries in the Class 3A State Track and Field Meet.

Senior Thomas Selmon was to compete in the long jump at 2 p.m. while junior teammate Dale Jenkins is to begin pole vault competition at 5.

Snyder's other entry, junior Brad Richardson, is to high jump at 6.

Of the four track and field qualifiers, three go into their respective events with the state's top times or distances. Jenkins, making his third straight trip here, holds the state's best vault with an official 15-6 effort. He cleared 16-0 in a practice session several weeks ago. Jenkins finished seventh here in 1978 and second in '79.

Also returning is Brad Richardson, whose Snyder High School record of 7-0 is the best class 3A jump of the year. Richardson placed fourth here in 1979 with a 6-6.

Jumpingmate Selmon has the third best long jump of class 3A performers this weekend, a 23-4 1/2. Despite that, he is thought to have a good chance at winning the event. The junior athlete has gone 24-3 1/2 this year, but the effort was ruled inadmissible. He also represented Snyder here last year, finishing fourth overall.

The other favorite is Ira's Pierson, who has the fastest qualifying time, 14.9, in the class B high hurdles. Pierson, whose brother ran here several years ago, won eight meets this season and set six records.

Paige, who has a chance to become Snyder's first boy's singles champion since 1971, is also thought to have good opportunity to finish well. It is generally agreed the class 3A tennis battle is a toss-up for 1980.

Cage Playoffs Headed For Philly On Saturday

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Games Three and Four between the Los Angeles Lakers and the Philadelphia 76ers, both afternoon contests, will be played here Saturday and Sunday. Game Five of the NBA playoff series will be held in Los Angeles Wednesday night.

The series opened as Los Angeles took the first game 109-102, but a Darryl Dawkins-ignited Sixer team rallied back to even the series 107-104.

"Darryl is a guy who wants to win," said Sixers Coach Billy Cunningham. "He is willing to work for it and he showed it. He was completely different ballplayers."

"In the opener Sunday I blew my cool," said Dawkins, who picked up three early fouls in that game and finally fouled out in the fourth quarter. "I didn't stay in and play my game. I got out of the offense. This was a different story. I got myself going early and got better and better."

"We came out to their building and got a split," said Cunningham. "We would rather have won two, of course, but we have to be satisfied. Now they have to win at least once in Philadelphia."

No Laker team has won in Philadelphia since 1975, a streak of nine losses. But it's a streak that is about to end, says Chones.

"We know we are better than they are," claimed the Los Angeles forward.

SMU Slaps Reins On Pony Baseball

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist has called an end to its baseball program, one season earlier than had been planned.

Athletic Director Russ Potts announced Thursday that SMU has dropped baseball from its intercollegiate athletic program effective immediately.

SMU had planned to drop the program after all current scholarships had run out, but Potts said he met with the team Thursday, and was told most players wanted to transfer to other schools.

"If we discontinue the team now they won't have to sit out a year when they transfer. There is no point keeping a skeleton team and having them hurt by it as well, so we will drop the sport now and honor our financial aid commitments," said Potts.

Argentina To Boycott Games
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine government decided that country will not participate in the 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow, the Foreign Ministry announced.

The decision was made after considering "the possibility that massive participation in the Olympic Games could be interpreted as a demonstration of political support" for Soviet military action in Afghanistan.

In a similar move, China reiterated it will not take part in the Olympics if Soviet Troops do not withdraw from Afghanistan by May 24.

District Court Hears Four Guilty Pleas

Four guilty pleas were entered in 132nd District Court Thursday. Judge Wayland Holt presiding. Tony Murphy Courtney and Walter Lee Courtney entered guilty pleas to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Tony Courtney received five years in the Texas Department of Corrections. Walter Courtney received four years probation. The offense took place on April 9 when the pair took a 1972 Chevrolet without the consent of owner, Jack Dupree.

Ollie Katherine Greenwood pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $200. He received five years probation and a $500 fine. Mack McCray Jr. pleaded guilty to DWI, subsequent offense, and was put on probation for two years.

Suspect Held In Slaying Of Student

ABILENE (AP)-A 32-year-old Abilene man has been charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of Hardin-Simmons University student Lorenzo Gutierrez, authorities said.

Abilene police arrested Michael Wayne Hill on Thursday and brought him before Justice of the Peace Silas Clark, who set bond at $7,500. Gutierrez, 21, was found unconscious in his blood-spattered bathroom Wednesday night. He had been shot in the head three times and died shortly after arriving at Hendrick Medical Center.

Gutierrez, a music student, was to have graduated this month. Early Christian burial plans - known as catacombs - were arranged in vaults, cut into walls and decorated with frescoes.

Adequate calcium necessary

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB - What can I do to correct a hump in the upper part of my back? It's round like a barrel. I'm a 67-year-old female and very active. Could exercise help and what kind should I do to correct this or straighten my back?

DEAR READER - You probably have osteoporosis, which means a loss of calcium and bony tissue from the vertebrae. It can involve other bones in the body as well. This is the common cause for the buffalo hump or dowager's hump seen in older women. It occurs in men, too, but usually at an older age. Once the bony deformity has occurred there's a limited amount that you can do about it except to take measures to prevent progression. Some studies do show that exercise helps to prevent osteoporosis and certainly it's important to have adequate calcium intake. Women who are on a calcium-deficient diet are five times as likely to develop osteoporosis as women who receive adequate calcium.

It's important, particularly for women after the menopause, to do exercises that strengthen the muscles between the shoulder blades. The typical exercise is the backward rotation of the arms similar to the swimmer's back stroke. Since you already have some deformity, I think you would be wise to be counseled by a physiotherapist as to what exercises you can do that would be helpful and won't be harmful. When you have weakening of the bones because of the changes of osteoporosis, the wrong kinds of exercise such as lifting and straining can actually fracture a bone.

Two Mishaps, Theft Reported

Two minor accidents and a theft were reported by the police department Thursday.

At 8:01 a.m. in the 4600 block of College Ave. a trailer came unhitched from a pickup owned by Pearson Sibert oil Co. and driven by Jimmy Ballard. Minor damage was reported to the trailer. The mishap was investigated by officer Keith Ward.

The second mishap occurred at 3:10 p.m. at the U.S. 84 bypass and College Ave. Involved were a 1978 Marquis driven by Bettie Kruse Moore of Ira and a 1974 Ford driven by Clydell Gallimore Pool of Abilene. Tony Whittenburg investigated. The theft was reported at Snyder Iron and Metal. John Jackson said his billfold containing $30 and a $300 check had been stolen.

Casual Dress Policy Same

AUSTIN (AP)-At first, it seemed as if Gov. Bill Clements was ready to take his casual dress policy one step further than last summer. "We will have a no shirt, no tie proclamation today," he told his weekly news conference Thursday.

Book Tells Of Guard's Early Texas Role

The role of the Texas National Guard in protecting lives and property in Texas in the troubled years between 1919 and 1932 is depicted in Dr. Harry Krenk's new book titled "The Power Vest."

Krenk, professor of history at Western Texas

College, will be honored at an autograph party from 10 to 3 Sunday afternoon in the Scurry County Museum and the public is invited to attend. The museum is on the south side of the WTC campus and visitors may also tour the museum exhibits.

Using records previously unpublished, Krenk has included chapters on the Galveston dock strike of 1920, the use of martial law in Mexia, Borger and the East Texas oil field, and race riots at Longview and Sherman. The book is indexed to make it of greater value to researchers.
