Biggest Catch In Years...

Lake Thomas Water Supplies More Than Doubled By Rains

Lake J.B. Thomas, Snyder's water supply source, made its biggest catch in several years Thursday as heavy rains fell over much of Scurry and Borden Counties.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that the amount of water impounded at Lake Thomas more than doubled as 14,000 acre feet poured into the reservoir from the Colorado River and Bull Creek.

The lake's supply had declined to only 12,000 acre feet prior to the Wednesday night and Thursday rains. The new total of 26,000 acre feet puts the lake up to a little more than a fourth of its capacity.

R.L. Schooling, administrative assistant at CRMWD headquarters in Big Spring, said this morning that the flow into the lake has subsided, but it is expected to pick up several hundred acre feet more before the runoff stops.

There was no report on any gains at Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee, although torrents from Deep Creek were making their way down the river toward Robert Lee. It would be several more hours before the flow would reach Lake Spence, said Schooling.

Meanwhile, some damage to roads and streets was being surveyed over the area and J.H. Kimmel told of an ordeal he experienced when his pickup truck was swept off the road near Knapp.

"I want to express my appreciation to all the many people to come to my aid and rescued me from the floodwaters when my pickup was swept into the creek at Knapp Thursday," said Kimmel. "We live in a land of great people. Thanks to all and may God bless each one."

Kimmel, an employee of R.E. Smith, was driving a pickup that stalled in high water. Subsequently, the swift current took the pickup off the road and into a creek. It lodged against a tree and Kimmel was stranded there for some two hours while efforts were made to rescue him.

"There was no way they could get to me," said Kimmel.

Finally, however, rescuers managed to get a rope and an inflated inner tube to Kimmel and pulled him to safety.

Some damage to a bridge abutment at 30th St. and Deep Creek was reported, and there were a few washouts on streets. However, Mike Smith, city engineer, said that apparently there was no structural damage from the floodwaters. It probably will be necessary to dig out the bridge abutment and make some repairs before traffic is restored there, however.

County Commissioner Eldon Perry of Precinct No. 1, said a portion of the Camp Springs Road has been closed due to high

TECH 49ERS—Dr. Lauro F. Cavazos, president of Texas Tech and the school's only alumnus ever to head the university, found some of his 1949 classmates on hand when he came here to address the WTC graduating class Thursday night. Cavazos Applauds WTC Graduates

Western Texas College's 1980 graduates were commended Thursday night for taking advantage of opportunities for education and urged to continue seeking the best in the future, regardless of whether they plan more formal education or to begin immediate careers.

The speaker was Dr. Lauro F. Cavazos, president of Texas Tech University.

Dr. Cavazos described formal education as a "weapon" that is provided Americans to enable them to enjoy their freedoms to the fullest. He reminded that nobody dictates how much education a person is to receive in this country. He also emphasized the importance that many famous statesmen and scholars of the past have attributed to education.

During his address, Dr. Cavazos noted that many Western Texas College students have continued their formal education at Texas Tech and "they have done well."

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, WTC president, presided at the commencement program, which was held in the WTC gym. Dr. Ben Brock, WTC vice president, awarded associate in arts degrees and Dr. Gene McClurg, dean occupational education and technology, awarded the associate in applied science degrees. The welcome was extended by Edwin Parks, president

41 Graduate With Honors At WTC

Forty-one students graduated with honors in the Western Texas College commencement exercises.

Students must have a minimum grade point average of 3.85 to graduate summa cum laude, a minimum of 3.70 for magna cum laude, and a minimum of 3.50 to graduate cum laude.

The grade point average is found by dividing the total number of grade points by the total number of semester hours attempted. A grade of A is assigned four points per semester hour, B three points, C two points and D one point.

Summa cum laude graduates for 1980 with 4.0 grade point averages are Rudy England and Rachel Lynn Wimmer of Snyder, Joan McCallister of Lorenzo and Jo Anne Barfield of Sweetwater.

Other summa laude graduates are Britt Fuqua and Tracey Kruger Williamson of Hermleigh, Ann Rhodes Walton, Rann Clay, Edward D. Bailey, Dorothy Ratliff and Ruthie Raspberry of Snyder, and Mary Ann Haygood Smith of Sweetwater.

Magna cum laude graduates are Dora White, Jo Ann Marie Broker, Eura Beckham, Röcky Youngblood, Steven Allen Fisher, Janet Lynn Wilhelm and George Fuentez, all of Snyder; Scott Barrett of Pampa; Retha Lindsey of Sweetwater; Paige Lou Eiland of Stanton, and Rickey Doyle/Criswell of Guthrie.

Employees On Strike At General Telephone

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Employees of General Telephone Co. declared a strike and walked off their jobs at 12:01 a.m. today, but company officials said management personnel took over, immediately to keep operations going.

"We're officially on strike," said Judith Lanig, a Communications Workers of America spokesman after the midnight strike deadline passed.

A company spokesman said early today they did not expect any disruption of service.

Clovis McCallister of General Telephone said management personnel were filling in for operations and technicians. He said they had been trained in handling the jobs normally handled by union members.

McCallister also claimed that not all union members walked off their jobs when the strike started.

Union officials had said earlier they were not optimistic about avoiding a strike.

"We've taken a look at the new offer and it stinks," said CWA spokesman Dave Kent Thursday afternoon.

The company made a final offer of a wage and benefit package totaling $38,386,000 after the union announced at a press conference the old agreement would not be extended.

"Besides wages, a whole raft of other issues would need to be resolved before the midnight deadline," Kent said.

The union represents 8,000 General Telephone employees in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and southeastern New Mexico. More than half work in Texas.

T.O. Moses, chairman of the union's bargaining committee, said the proposal "merely shifted the amount of money around into a different configuration" and the 6 percent ceiling on the cost of living clause was no gain.

Rob Rutherford, a company spokesman, said the new proposal included an approximate 36½ percent increase in wages and benefits for the three-year term of the contract.

Keeping tab on our neighbors, Tom E. Roy of the Ballinger Ledger says there is a guy in Mississippi who is beginning to drive officials of the television networks nuts. His name is the Rev. Donald E. Wildmon and he is founder of the National Federation for Decency in Tupelo, Miss., and he is constantly trying to hold television accountable for the moral content of its programs. He caused several sponsors to change their advertising from some of the more questionable programs to more family-type fare.

"The networks always cry 'censorship' when the public complains about the violent, immoral, vulgar and profane programs they air, but when the shoe is on the other foot, they plead 'corporate responsibility,'" says Roy.

"When Mobil Oil produced a series of ads showing that network profits were greater on the dollar than those of major oil companies, all three networks refused to air them. It wasn't censorship, it was corporate responsibility.

"Similarly, Kaiser Aluminum did a series of ads urging people to get involved in their communities to deal with problems that affect them. One of the steps Kaiser urged the people to take was to write their elected officials. Not one of the networks would air the ads. One network refused the ads because writing elected officials was not considered a "positive act."

Speedy Nieman of the Hereford Brand, who began his newspaper career as a sports writer, notes that many benefits result from summer athletic programs, such as the kid baseball, softball and track activities, but he also has seen another side.

"The only problems we've ever seen arise in these programs come from misguided, uninformed parents. It is becoming more and more difficult to secure volunteer coaches and umpires because of the number of parents who contribute nothing but petty gripes and unjust criticism," says Nieman.

Iran Oil Field Blown Up

By The Associated Press
A pipeline in Iran's major oil producing region was blown up and set afire overnight and despite an immediate shutdown of the oil flow the flames burned through the night and today, Tehran Radio said. The radio, quoting an official Pars news agency report, did not say who blew up the pipe between Naft-e-Shah and Kermanshah, but Iranian Arabs who want autonomy for the region, have been fighting the central government and are believed to have sabotaged pipelines in the past.

lesson from britain

A generation of Americans were taught that Germans were great soldiers because they had a corner on technical know-how, that the French invariably looked to others for their defense, that the Italians had rather make love than war, that members of the Jewish race had absolutely no appetite for fighting, that the Japanese could compete on the battlefield only so long as their industrial espionage was successful and that Americans were the greatest fighters in the world. And the British? They hadn't had a fresh idea to promote the success of their battle legions in 200 years.

What a difference a few years makes. The Germans seem determined to make a go of their present political experiment without looking for added living space—and little wonder. The memories of the clobbering the country took during WW II may last a thousand years. The French are still the French. They love their culture, have no ambitions suspicious of any one who immigrates.

The Italians rallied to the side of Mussolini when they became convinced he was the messenger of conquest the country had been seeking for centuries, then wound up disenchanting and hung El Duçe upside down in some remorse province.

The Jews have emerged as some of the best fighters in the world, tough, realistic, unwilling to absorb punishment without giving some in return. The Japanese prosper now in the marketplace because they look to the United States to supply their military muscle.

The Americans have fought brushfire wars in both Korea and Vietnam, costly and bloody, to no conclusion. The "no win" policy their commanders pursued, on orders from Washington, badly damaged morale both within the armed forces and the country as a whole. The American children of 50 years ago bragged the United had never lost a war. Now, many are prone to wonder if we can ever again win one.

There appears to be some hope for the British. Their moral fiber stood them in good stead during the darkest hours of WW II, and only recently their commandos compelled a lot of respect the world over by the manner in which they solved the crisis at the Iranian Embassy.

The raid was daring and respectable and their message came through loud and clear: The British do not plan to sit idly by while terrorists function in their capital city and systemically butcher their captives.

The Americans talk a good game. The British face up to a problem more realistically and set about to do something about it. There is no substitution for swift, sure action—and the English seemed to know what they were doing from the very start.

Perhaps we should take lessons.

"Sir, we've come to rescue you from the White House."

castro's cunning

I don't get this: Anybody who's fired to bring a relative, friend or prospective employee from outside the United States—inside—has endured weeks of paperwork, months of waiting and sometimes bitter disappointment.

You want to employ tailors from Italy or China, you must advertise, document your need, prove to the Department of Immigration that there is no domestic supply of such workers—and even then you may be turned down.

Jewish, Polish, Lithuanian, British who want to emigrate to the United States—whatever their talents, skills, academic credentials—have a difficult, expensive and sometimes fruitless wait.

Anybody who has endured this tedious ordeal to try to bring qualified people into our country watches the avalanche of unqualified, illegal, uninvited, including undesirable and unhealthy boat people welcomed into Florida from Cuba.

And can only conclude that if our country has a policy it is that we practice discrimination in immigration—based purely on politics.

Cuba's Castro is no dummy. He is exporting his unemployment problem to the United States. He can empty his prisons, his jails, his asylums—sending them as refugees to Florida.

Among the thousands already ashore in the United States are scores of suspected criminals—many involved in narcotics, some in murder. The ragtag boatlift is also sprinkled with "bums and drunks, nuts and prostitutes—human garbage."

That's a quote from observers on the scene.

Health experts confess that they are able to check only a comparative few, but enough that they are anxious about the importation of diseases—venereal, TB, and some new ones.

President Carter, instead of making any effort to intercept or turn back this tide, has assigned our Navy's ships to protect and expedite the illegal traffic.

The President has the legal authority to put a stop to it. He has complete discretion when it comes to so-called "political exiles." But nobody dares to turn these away when he has made so much political hay of his "human rights" policy—and because this is an election year.

Is there not another "election year consideration," however?

American taxpayers are becoming increasingly aware of the price tag for our worldwide Welcome Wagon.

The influx of Cubans since Castro has already cost American taxpayers a thousand million dollars in welfare and job training.

Most illegals become virtual prisoners of unscrupulous employers. Americans are still damning the short-sighted sinfulness of their slave-trading ancestors; will succeeding generations damn us?

my turn
by john dunnam

Did you ever get one of those telephone calls from a long lost friend? Right out of the blue a friend I haven't seen in years called me the other day and wanted me to come to Alaska for a couple of weeks.

"What? Alaska! Sounds far out but it's really a little out of my range right now. Thanks for the invitation anyway. Someday I do plan to visit there and I will look you up. Honest."

"You know you are just kidding yourself. If you don't come now you never will. Anyway, I'm going to send you some literature to look over just in case you change your mind."

Did you know that Alaska contains 586,400 square miles? California, Montana and Texas would easily fit inside it.

Of course I would only be going to Southeast Alaska described in the propaganda book as being "made up of several large islands, hundreds of smaller ones, and a thin strip of rugged mainland bordering on Canada."

"Jagged mountains rise from picturesque fiords along the protected waterway called the Inside Passage and glaciers reach to the water's edge."

I remember when I was in college I became good friends with this girl from Hawaii. Honolulu no less. She invited me to come and stay with her family during the Christmas break. I thought about it and decided I really couldn't afford it. She begged me to come. She worked as a tourist guide during the summer and could show me all the best places and she would teach me to surf.

No, I have to work in the oilfield during the break so I can make money for next semester." I dutifully told her "But I will come to Hawaii someday." I promised.

I wonder how you say, "Stupid" in Hawaiian? Having never been there I wouldn't know.

When I graduated from college one of my bosom buddies went to Denver, another to Mexico City. I went to Houston. That first year out we took turns inviting one another for visits. Again, I didn't have the time or the money right then but someday.

I haven't heard from those guys in years.

In about 1974 my brother moved to Washington D.C. "Hey I would love to come up and see how the yankees do it but there is this recession coming on, and things are a little tight," I told him.

He has since moved back to Houston and now I'm continually kicking myself. I could have seen our country's capital and stood in awe of the magnificent monuments and pondered the proud traditions our nation was founded on and all while sponging off a relative.

But wait. I couldn't really be talking myself into a trip to Alaska. Not at the price of air fares today.

Just to squelch any silly impulse I might have, I got out a sheet of paper, and began listing, more or less in the order of priority, the things I desperately want and need more than a trip to Alaska.

It was a very depressing exercise. I listed three, then ten and then 24 and alas, I was at the end of the page.

Then I saw the loophole. The page should have 25 lines. I had started my list on the second line. So I neatly printed, ALASKAN VACATION on the top line and proceeded to make airline reservations.

NEW YORK (AP)—The problem isn't so much the next 12 months, even though we may undergo in that time the second worst economic downturn since the Great Depression of the 1930s. It's what happens thereafter.

Even the most casual perusal of forecasts reveals this to be a common theme and major worry of economists from almost every type of background: business, government, labor, academic, self-appointed.

And the warning that emerges is this: Unless we discipline ourselves and tackle our problems, and perhaps unless we have some good luck too, the next rounds of inflation-recession might be progressively worse.

As you might expect, not all economists agree with the assumption. But when so many do agree on this one conclusion, and when so many of them otherwise disagree on almost everything else, you have to be concerned.

Their fears are many: that government deficits will continue, that the nation will remain at the mercy of oil imports, that U.S. productive efficiency is deteriorating, that Americans have become soft, that Americans have turned into eager consumers but reluctant producers.

The list goes on: that billions still must be spent on social and environmental programs, that billions of dollars of debt—household, business, government—must someday be repaid, that population density and mix is causing new problems before spending can correct the old.

There is, perhaps, no end to the list of reasons. And, as you can see, the reasons are not always consistent. Each group of economists probably has its pet reasons. Their agreement is on the consequence.

If there is any agreement on a remedy, it would seem to be that productivity, a measure of output per worker, must be improved.

In the 1960s productivity rose at 3 percent. Then, after almost steady declines through the decade, it fell into reverse last year. Output per worker fell, something we used to believe was nearly impossible.

For clarity sake, that term "output per worker" might be improved, if only to remove the onus from labor. In truth, the decline seems to be less the fault of labor than of management and government.

If the investment climate is correct—if money is plentiful, interest rates low, tax incentives attractive, the economic future stable and management far-sighted—productivity almost certainly would improve.

It would improve because capital would be funneled into modern plant and equipment, into research and development, into innovation. Products and services would be delivered more efficiently and at lower cost.

Since products would be delivered at a lower unit cost, prices would tend to fall. More would be produced for less, and the resulting benefits could be shared by employees, employers and government. That, at least, is the theory, and it enjoys fairly broad acceptance.

throughout the country, one of the most important but least understood political struggles of the 1980s is now under way.

It is the battle for control of the legislatures in states where major population shifts during the past decade soon will require the elimination, addition or realignment of scores of congressional districts.

The contest pits not only Republicans against Democrats but also conservatives against liberals, city dwellers against rural residents, blacks against whites and political "regulars" against mavericks and independents.

The outcome of the struggle will have a profound influence on the development of public policy at all levels of government—local, state and federal—throughout the next decade.

Although the official results of the 1980 census of population will not be available until early next year, the state legislators elected this autumn will be responsible for the 1981-82 task of congressional reapportionment.

Preliminary estimates from the Census Bureau indicate that eight states—all in the Northeast and Midwest—will lose seats in Congress, while 10 other states—all in the South and West—will gain representation in the House.

New York probably will lose four seats; Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania two each; and Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey and South Dakota one apiece.

Florida is expected to gain three seats; California and Texas two each; and Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah and Washington one apiece.

But a recent analysis prepared by the Conference on Alternative State and Local Policies notes that there also have been major population shifts within some states.

During the past decade, "all but one of New York City's congressional districts lost population, as did seven districts in both Chicago and Los Angeles and five each in Philadelphia and Detroit," says the report issued by the Washington-based group.

Those losses probably will heighten the tensions between urban and rural interests that have played a major role in past reapportionment struggles in many state legislatures.

In some states, rural lawmakers who control the legislature have been able to gerrymander district lines to dilute the political power of voters in major cities.

Other forms of gerrymandering have been used to fragment the votes of blacks and other minorities, to punish maverick politicians and—perhaps most important—to advance the cause of the political party that controls the legislature.

William E. Brock III, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has noted repeatedly that throughout the 1970s the number of House seats won by GOP candidates has fallen approximately 10 percent behind the number of popular votes cast for Republican congressional candidates nationally.

That phenomenon is, in part, the product of gerrymandering by Democratic-controlled state legislatures following the 1970 census—but the Republicans now are determined not to suffer the same fate again.

Of the country's 98 partisan state legislative chambers, Democrats currently enjoy majorities in 69 while Republicans control only 29. (Nebraska has a unicameral, nonpartisan legislature and Washington's state house has a 49-49 deadlock.)

But in Delaware and Illinois, for example, a Democratic loss of only one seat in the house and three seats in the senate would transfer control of both chambers to the Republicans.

Similarly, a switch of five or fewer seats in the elections this fall would switch control of one house from Democratic to Republican in Washington, Minnesota, Oregon, New Hampshire, Ohio, Pennsylvania and California.

Nationally, a Democratic loss of only 26 selected legislative seats would bring 12 more chambers under Republican control in time to influence the reapportionment process. That's why the legislative races have become a major battleground.

Your Birthday

May 17, 1980
This coming year you are apt to be more content with a small group of intimate friends with whom you have much in common than you will with a large circle of acquaintances. The quality of the relationships is important, not the quantity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do more listening than talking if you're around persons who have something worthwhile to say. What you hear you'll later find useful. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Focus your efforts on situations that could shore up your financial security. There are several constructive steps you can now take.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have the gift to take charge of situations and get them on the proper path. You know how to handle others without stepping on any toes.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Goals can best be achieved today by operating in a manner so as not to call too much attention to yourself. Go about your business as unobtrusively as possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Friends appreciate you today. They know your concern is genuine. Your sincerity in dealing with their problems will not be readily forgotten.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It will not be easy to avoid being the center of attention today. You'll handle yourself in a way others will want to imitate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lessons you've learned from experience will be used wisely today. Mistakes you've made previously are not apt to be repeated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In business or commercial matters your instincts are a shade sharper than usual today. Follow your hunches; you'll chalk up a profit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your diplomacy and tact are your greatest assets with friends. Situations that could prove testy will not have a chance to develop.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Tasks you know need immediate attention should be given priority today. You'll have no peace of mind if you put off work that needs doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You don't need a lot of people around you today to thoroughly enjoy yourself. A secluded rendezvous with your special person offers more excitement than a large crowd.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you're outgoing and upbeat. Today, however, you could be surprisingly temperamental if you let little frustrations get to you.

Who's Getting Dinner?

By Gaynor Maddox

With more and more women — including mothers — joining the work force, the question arises as to who is getting dinner.

Leisurely family dining is becoming a thing of the past as each busy individual grabs a quick bite to eat on the way from one activity to another. It often appears that the entire household sits down to dinner together only on Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"These days it seems every one must work or play full time at some important business," says Mercedes Bates, vice president of the Betty Crocker Food and Nutrition Center in Minneapolis. "This requires a personal time schedule for each member of the family."

It also requires better distribution of household chores among all members of the family. After all, Mom deserves a chance to kick off her shoes and rest her weary feet after work just as much as Dad does.

"Wrongly," remarks Miss Bates, "many husbands think they have done their share of the family chores by taking out the garbage."

So how can we eat properly despite our busy schedules?

Miss Bates notes that microwave ovens are a solution being adopted by more and more American families. That way, mothers can easily prepare nutritious dinners for sons who arrive home late from basketball practice.

"I deny flatly there is any danger in using these new microwave appliances," Miss Bates adds.

Another valuable appliance in many busy homes is the slow cooker. Simple soups and stews started in the morning will be ready to eat when the family arrives home eight to 10 hours later.

Another solution to this time squeeze is for families to get together on Saturdays to prepare several main dishes that can be frozen for re-heating during the week. Or they can purchase prepared entrees in the freezer section of the supermarket.

Many husbands are now helping with weekend food shopping. And a recent survey by "Seventeen" magazine revealed that teen-agers purchase 35 percent of the family's foods.

Some families are taking a cue from the Europeans and the Latin Americans, many of whom eat their main meals at midday. It is then relatively simple to prepare sandwiches or salads at night.

And in a real pinch, there is always fast food, whether eaten in or taken out.

"Today," says Miss Bates, "you see families sitting together at fast-food counters having the family meal. It is usually plain food, but it seems to satisfy."

To ford a stream, an armadillo may hold its breath and walk across the bottom, weighted down by its heavy shell. Faced with a wider stream, it inflates its stomach and intestines and floats across.

More than 200 orphans of veterans are being cared for in the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home in Eaton Rapids, Michigan. A portion of the cost is raised through the annual sale of V.F.W. Buddy Poppies.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The bidding and the opening lead were virtually automatic. Most players, upon seeing a strong hand appear in the dummy, lose interest in the contract and hope for a change of luck in the future. West, Mark Molson of Montreal, one of Canada's most successful tournament players didn't think about the future. He concentrated on breaking the game contract and found an elegant solution.

Declarer ducked the heart lead in dummy and won East's jack with the queen. At trick two South led a spade to North's king. The 10 of diamonds was then covered by the queen and King and Mark won the ace.

Now Mark found the only play to defeat the contract. He knew that declarer had the 10 of hearts because East had played the jack at trick one. If East had both the jack and 10, he would have played the lower of his touching honors.

Mark decided that if South had begun with exactly Q 10 doubleton of hearts he could smother South's remaining heart honor. Consequently, Mark played the king of hearts. It didn't matter if declarer ducked or not. Mark's jack of diamonds was the entry to his established heart suit.

If you need a particular holding to defeat a contract, play for it. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED—A bridal shower honoring Jana Lou Martin of Big Lake, bride-elect of Michael Fisher, Big Lake, formerly of Snyder, was held in the home of Mrs. Joe Erwin, 5400 Cedar Creek Road, Friday evening. Other hostesses were Gaynelle Greene, Dorothy Teague, Wilma Scott, Sarah Klein, Eula Williams, Mickey Ferris and Dorothy Smith. Miss Martin, right, is shown with her mother, Mrs. Jimmie Martin of Big Lake, and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Billy F. Fisher. (SDN Staff Photo)

Automaking Slump Benefit To Others

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)—The slump in automaking may be a boon to other industries as Detroit's technical community is raided by companies hoping to snap up laid-off engineers.

And Ford Motor Co. is doing a kind of reverse recruiting called "outplacing" to place their engineers in other industries, other cities.

"Houston is booming," said Ford carburetor engineer Jerry Casada, one of 300 laid-off technical workers looking for a new job. "I just got a job offer at $5,000 more."

After announcing layoffs for 6,100 white-collar employees last month, Ford sent their resumes to other companies. Recruiters from 20 companies were talking with Ford's engineers and technicians Thursday and today.

"It appears there are a lot of transferable skills engineers have," said Ford's Gene Lawler, Manager of recruiting, he now spends his time helping engineers "outplace."

Most of the engineers "probably will get at least their present salary, based on demand," he said.

LEISURE LODGE—Fifth grade choir students of Mrs. Kay Kenner at Central Elementary performed for the residents of Leisure Lodge Nursing Home Tuesday. It was part of the recognition of Nursing Home Week being observed in Snyder. Today's activities include folk music by Emily Collins and Verna West; Bible study by Doug Allee; and more music by the Country Cousins western band. Saturday, Mrs. Billy Tune's piano students will perform at 9:30 a.m. and a sing-along is set for 2:30 p.m. (SDN Staff Photo)

South Carolina Girl Gets Miss USA Title

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The new Miss USA stands 5-foot-8, lifts weights, runs eight miles a day and studies at Clemson University.

Shawn Weatherly, a 20-year-old blue-eyed blonde from Sumter, S.C., burst into tears as she won $75,000 in cash and prizes and became the United States' representative in the Miss Universe pageant.

Miss Weatherly succeeded Mary Therese Friel of Rochester, N.Y., at the beauty contest Thursday.

"Daddy can't get too upset about my final exam grades now," she quipped after she was crowned.

"Fine. We'll burn them," said her beaming father, A.T. Weatherly.

Her prize money will help cover the enormous long-distance telephone bills she and her boyfriend, Dwight Clark, a wide receiver with the San Francisco 49ers, have run up.

"At least now I can help him pay for them," she said.

First runnerup was Jineane Ford, Miss Arizona.

Salesman Returned

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A salesman who disappeared in March along with an estimated $500,000 in jewelry has been returned from Mexico to face felony theft charges.

Robert Koltz, 24, was jailed in San Antonio Wednesday night in lieu of $25,000 bond. An arrest warrant had been issued for Koltz April 9 after investigators alleged he fled to Mexico with the jewelry from an exclusive north San Antonio store.

Koltz disappeared on March 26. His car was found the next day abandoned near the International Bridge in Laredo with several thousand dollars worth of jewelry scattered in the back seat.

Police Lt. Dave Keene said Wednesday night they had recovered most of the missing jewelry.

"I think he was getting tired of running and hiding," said Keene.

Dear Abby

PAT ABBANANTO

Life Begins at 40? For Some It's 80

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you published a priceless article describing the advantages of being 80 years old. I foolishly neglected to cut it out, and now that I am approaching 80 I would very much like to have it. Can you please locate it and run it again?

MARY P. IN LA MESA, CALIF.

DEAR MARY: With pleasure. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: We elders sure do get away with a lot just because we've managed to keep breathing longer than most folks. I have just celebrated my 80th birthday and I've got it made.

If you forget someone's name or an appointment or what you said yesterday, just explain that you are 80, and you will be forgiven. If you spill soup on your tie, or forget to shave half your face, or take another man's hat by mistake, or promise to mail a letter and carry it around in your pocket for two weeks, just say, "I'm 80, you know," and nobody will say a thing.

You have a perfect alibi for everything when you're 80. If you act silly, you're in your "second childhood."

Being 80 is much better than being 70. At 70 people are mad at you for everything, but if you make it to 80, you can talk back, argue, disagree and insist on having your own way because everybody thinks you are getting a little soft in the head.

They say that life begins at 40. Not true. If you ask me, life begins at 80! Sign me.

GOT IT MADE AT 80.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 12, very inexperienced, and I need to know the correct way to kiss a boy. My mother says it will just come naturally, but in case it doesn't, can you give me a few pointers?

Should the girl quit breathing? I heard she isn't supposed to make a "smack" when kissing a boy, but it's OK for kissing relatives, right?

Another question: Am I supposed to move my head? Or do I just move my lips? One last thing: What am I supposed to do with my nose?

NEVER BEEN KISSED

DEAR NEVER: You should not quit breathing. No "smack" sounds — not even with relatives. It's not necessary to move anything. And all you do with your nose is breathe through it.

DEAR ABBY: Would it be ethical for my husband and me to stipulate in our wills that the gold in our teeth be removed upon our demise and returned to our estate?

People aren't buried with jewelry, so now that gold is so valuable, why not?

After the mortician is through, who's to know anyway? PRACTICAL PERSON

DEAR PRACTICAE: It would be ethical, but whether it would be practical is another matter. My dentist informs me that the gold in one's teeth usually isn't worth extracting.

P.S. Since most wills are read after the deceased has been buried, if you have any instructions for the mortician, better leave them with your family, lawyer, physician, clergyman or the mortician himself while you're still alive.

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Girl Freed From Lion

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Circus workers today pried open the mouth of a lion to free a six-year-old girl whose head was trapped in the lion's mouth.

A witness said the girl, Alice Passi, fell on the lion when she was jostled by a group of children trying to get a closer look at the animal. The lion forced her down and got her head in its mouth, the witness said.

Police said the mauled child required 50 stitches.

Mrs. Elenora Lennon, wife of the circus owner, said King, the 15-month-old lion, had only one fang and had had its claws removed when it was six-months-old.

"He was just a pet and played with my children all the time," she said, adding: "He will never be let out again."

Polygamist Said He Received Revelation To Kill 2 Rivals

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Polygamist leader Ervil LeBaron told followers he had received a revelation to kill two rival leaders, one his brother, a witness testified in LeBaron's murder trial.

LeBaron, 55, is charged with murder and conspiracy in the May 10, 1977, slaying of Rulon C. Allred, 74, polygamist, father of 40 and leader of the largest known polygamist sect. He also is charged in the attempted murder of his brother Verlan LeBaron.

Witness Donald Sullivan, a former member of LeBaron's Church of the Lamb of God, faces cross-examination today on his testimony Thursday that LeBaron ordered the deaths of Allred and Verlan.

He said LeBaron told followers he had a revelation to kill the rivals because they were "false prophets."

He said Verlan was to have been killed at Allred's funeral, but the attempt was dropped because security at the funeral was too tight.

Sullivan testified he then fled from the organization because, "we were afraid we'd be killed if we didn't. We were under a death penalty if we backed out or didn't kill Verlan or the church."

Sullivan said he confessed his part in the double murder plot because "we were running from Ervil. We were running from police. We were tired of running and we wanted to get it over with."

Special prosecutor David Yocom contends LeBaron planned to kill the rivals so he could take over their followers. Allred, with six wives, was believed to have 6,000 followers. LeBaron, claiming more than a dozen wives, was thought to have had up to 100 followers.

Defense attorney John Hill contends Sullivan himself masterminded the killings under the influence of his father, Lloy Sullivan, a LeBaron follower who has since died of a heart attack.

Murder charges against Sullivan were reduced when he agreed to testify against the others. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge, received a suspended sentence of 1-15 years in prison and is on probation.

Last year a Salt Lake County jury acquitted four other LeBaron followers — including Rena Chynoweth, one of LeBaron's wives and the woman prosecutors contend was Allred's actual killer.

Sullivan testified LeBaron was present when the followers met in Dallas, Albuquerque and Evanson preceding Allred's killing.

He said he sat in a car outside Allred's office while Ms. Chynoweth and another woman, Ramona Marston, went into Allred's office. Ms. Marston has jumped bail and disappeared.

Sullivan said he later met the woman in a discount store parking lot where they handed him a bag containing clothing and wigs they had worn into the office. Sullivan said he and another LeBaron follower dumped this bag in a trash dumpster.

Sullivan said LeBaron ordered Allred be killed by women because he didn't want Verlan to suspect the Church of the Lamb of God was involved and be scared away from Allred's funeral.

Abbananto Plans Move

To Childress

Pat J. Abbananto, minister of the 37th Street Church of Christ for the past 14 years, has announced that he has accepted a position as minister of the church of Christ in Childress.

Abbananto, who had earlier announced that he would leave Snyder, will begin his new duties June 1. The Childress congregation has approximately 400 members and has recently completed a new education wing which includes 10 classrooms and a fellowship hall. The congregation is served by four elders, nine deacons and two preachers.

Abbananto came to Snyder from Fritch, Texas. He is a graduate of Abilene Christian University.

The eldership at 37th Street currently is searching for a new minister.

3-3A Playoff Slated In Brownfield Today

BROWNFIELD - Game Two of the District 3-3A baseball playoff series between Brownfield and Snyder was to resume here today at 1 p.m. Game Three, if necessary, will follow approximately 30 minutes after the conclusion of Game Two.

The contests had originally been scheduled for Thursday, but adverse weather caused school officials to postpone them until today.

Snyder High School leads the series after cracking Brownfield 10-3 in Game One, held Tuesday in Snyder. The extra day's rest could help both teams though Snyder's Tigers may receive greater benefit.

It means an extra day's rest for pitcher Tony Degrate, who mounted the hill and took the win over the Cubs on Tuesday. Coach Albert Lewis was expected presumably to start either William Robinson or Degrate in today's 1 o'clock contest.

Snyder, 14-12-1 for the season, has won District

3-3A the past three years, taking bi-district victories on two of those occasions.

Winner of today's series will play either Weatherly or Graham which are meeting this week to decide the District 4-3A title. That bi-district play-off, best-of-three series, will be held next week.

Kareem-less Lakers Go For NBA Title Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Can the Los Angeles Lakers win without Kareem Abdul-Jabbar?

"He's our offense, he's our defense," said Lakers guard Earvin "Magic" Johnson. "He's the man we go to when we're in trouble."

But the Lakers won't have the 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar to go to tonight when they take on the Philadelphia 76ers in the sixth game of the National Basketball Association championship series.

Abdul-Jabbar is back in Los Angeles nursing the sprained left ankle he suffered in Wednesday night's 108-103 victory that gave Los Angeles a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven playoff finals. Post-game X-rays were negative and Abdul-Jabbar was supposed to accompany the team here, but when the Lakers' flight took off Thursday afternoon, it took off without Abdul-Jabbar.

"It is extremely doubtful that Kareem would be able to play," said Dr. Robert Kerlan, the Lakers' team physician, who reported the ankle had swollen and become stiff overnight. "By keeping him in Los Angeles and treating him here, he will be much better prepared to play on Sunday if that game is necessary."

But Kerlan said the odds of Abdul-Jabbar playing on Sunday are only 50-50 at this point.

A win tonight and the Lakers don't have to worry about Sunday; they'd be wearing the NBA crown for the first time since 1972. But winning without Abdul-Jabbar, a five-time most valuable player and the most dominating force in the game, won't be easy.

Especially since it's a must-win situation for the Sixers, who will have a noisy crowd of 18,276 at the Spectrum rooting them on.

"There's no tomorrow for us," said Philadelphia guard Henry Bibby. "Either we win or else. And we're not ready for anything else yet."

Los Angeles survived without Abdul-Jabbar for the final 3:58 of the third period Wednesday night, even extending its lead from two-points to eight.

"But it's a completely different thing to be without him for 48 minutes instead of just four," observed Doug Collins, the Sixers' injured guard. "They need his scoring and his presence inside."

Miller Offers 'Icing' As Two-Year Holdout

NEW YORK (AP) - If management is willing to accept a two-year freeze on its demands for free agent compensation, the lingering baseball contract dispute may be headed for settlement.

"That is the essence of a bold offer made by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, Thursday in an effort to reach an agreement with Ray Grebey and the negotiators for the club owners."

Miller said the two sides are close on a number of issues - close enough for him to make this proposal. If agreement can be reached on those peripheral issues - health and safety, pensions, minimum salaries, etc. - in the next few days, the players will withdraw all of their demands in the areas of free agency and the reserve clause and participate in a two-year joint study of the question.

If, in 1981, management still feels a problem with the current free agent system, the owners could then unilaterally demand that contract negotiations be reopened at that time.

What Miller is suggesting is to put the most troublesome issue in these negotiations - management's demands for player compensation for free agent signing - on hold for two years.

In exchange for that, the players would accept status quo in the free agent reserve areas.

That means maintaining the six-year waiting period before a player could be eligible for free agency instead of switching to the four or five years which the players have proposed. It would also postpone any changes on matters such as players' eligibility for total free agency, limiting the number of rounds in the re-entry draft, the time when a player may demand a trade and other related issues.

By definition, however, it also means that management must accept a two-year hold before it can get compensation and that demand has been a cornerstone of the owners' position since these difficult negotiations began last winter.

West Germans Join Olympic Boycott

The Associated Press The Portuguese Olympic Committee this morning voted 20-15 with one abstention to send a team to Moscow. The vote came despite strong support for the boycott from Portugal's government, which has pledged to respect the committee's vote.

The West German Olympic Committee has joined the United States in deciding to boycott the 1980 Summer Games in Moscow, and White House sources say President Carter now is hoping other European Olympic committees will fall in line.

The West German Olympic Committee voted 59-40 Thursday to boycott the Games, giving the United States' call for a boycott its strongest European support thus far.

The National Olympic Committees (NOCs) of Australia, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal have said they probably will follow the West German lead. Administration sources said Carter also hopes Italy and Spain will decide to boycott.

Henderson To 49ers

DALLAS (AP) - Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson, the flamboyant linebacker fired by the Dallas Cowboys and now headed for San Francisco, says he is "still a great football player" and he looks forward to playing for the 49ers.

"I'm very flattered about and very excited that someone like (San Francisco) Coach Bill Walsh would make me feel like a man and feel good," Henderson said Thursday.

Cowboy spokesman Greg Aiello announced Thursday that Dallas traded Henderson to San Francisco for an undisclosed 1981 draft choice.

"I think they (the Cowboys) probably got a box of tape," Henderson said after the announcement. Aiello said the deal was unconditional, that Dallas got a draft choice even if San Francisco "cut Henderson tomorrow."

However, Cowboy player personnel director Gil Brandt said certain conditions will determine how high the draft choice will be. He said if Henderson does certain things the draft choice will be higher, if not, it likely will be a middle-round selection.

"We feel we're getting a top player who will play for us - a man we expect to add experience and leadership to our young team," Walsh said in San Francisco Thursday.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry fired Henderson on Nov. 19, just one day after the linebacker mugged for national television cameras while his teammates were being trounced by the Washington Redskins 34-20.

"The world should know I got fired for what they call mugging a camera so you can check with ABC, NBC and CBS and see how many players over the years have said 'Hi mom' and pointed the finger No. 1 at the camera," said Henderson.

"I hate people to hold my career on what happened there. I'm still a great football player," he added.

Henderson announced he would retire from football after Landry told him the was being placed on waivers.

However, Henderson later asked to be reinstated and when Landry refused, he said he wanted to be traded to another National Football League team.

"I thought I was playing for a Christian and religious man and the Bible says if a man asks forgiveness a 1,000 times, give it to him. So on that basis of the Bible and the Christianity that Tom believes in, I was very disappointed they didn't take me back," said Henderson.

Henderson, a five-year veteran and former No. 1 draft pick out of Langston University, still had three years left on a contract with Dallas.

Khomeini Calls For Purge Of Radio, TV

By The Associated Press
Revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has called for a purge of Iranian radio and television.

He said radio-tv contained "deviantist groups which had ties with the former regime of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi or were in its service and those which are corrupt and cause corruption," Tehran Radio reported.

In a meeting with Taqi Farahi, the new managing director of Iranian radio and television, Khomeini said, "It is both your religious and legal duty to purge radio and television" of these elements, the broadcast reported.

Extreme care should be taken, Tehran Radio quoted Khomeini as saying, to avoid imitating the East or the West "because imitating the East or West is not in harmony with an Islamic radio and television service."

Meanwhile, the White House today termed "ridiculous" Iran's claim that 96 armed American saboteurs and assassins and 19 Iranian exiles are on the loose after being landed in the mountains by helicopters.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr made the claim in an interview with Tehran Radio Wednesday.

May Dismantle Rate Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Interest rates on government-backed mortgages are falling by the sharpest amount ever, 1.5 percent, amid hints the Federal Reserve Board may soon dismantle credit controls it imposed in March.

The government announced Wednesday that Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration mortgage rates for single-family homes will drop from 13 percent to 11.5 percent, effective today.

Meanwhile, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker said monetary and credit conditions have improved so much of late that the board can begin to consider eliminating some of the controls imposed in March.

Oswald's Body To Remain Undisturbed

FORT WORTH (AP)—A British author was rebuffed again in his last effort to force the exhumation of the body in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave in Fort Worth. The 2nd Texas Court of Civil Appeals agreed with an earlier ruling of a Fort Worth state judge who told Michael Eddowes he lacked legal standing to bring his suit.

The Niagara Falls suspension bridge was opened in 1855.

water. The high water is about three miles east of the precinct barn. The road is submerged under about three feet of water for a distance of about a quarter of a mile. A detour route has been marked. It will be some time before the road can be reopened, Perry said.

Perry also reported that flashers on a barricade at a washout on the Camp Springs Road had been removed. This created a dangerous situation, because the washout required traffic to move at a slow pace there and without the flashers, serious traffic accidents could have occurred. Perry warned that removing such emergency warning equipment is a serious offense.

Mrs. Grantham

Funeral service has been set for 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Franklin Bartley Funeral Chapel in Lubbock for Mrs. Cece Grantham, 77. She died at 4 a.m. Thursday in Methodist Hospital.

Following the service there, the body will be brought to Snyder Cemetery for graveside rites and burial at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Woodrow Adcock, Methodist minister, will officiate at the Lubbock rites, and the Rev. James Merrell, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church, will conduct the graveside rites here.

Mrs. Grantham had lived in Lubbock 2 1/2 years, but had lived in Morton 40 years after moving from Snyder. She is survived by her husband, Earl Grantham; two daughters, Reta Rogers of Beaumont and Sherry Tunnell of Lawton, Okla.; a son, Jim Grantham of Big Lake; two sisters, Eupha Sumners and Fay Vought, both of Monahan; a brother, Tom Bertram of Hobbs, N.M.; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Assembly of God Church in Jayton, with the Rev. J.C. Owen officiating.

Jessie Daniel Stanley, 57, of Jayton was pronounced dead of natural causes after he was stricken shortly after noon Thursday while detouring traffic around a section of Texas Highway 208 that was under water in Kent County. He was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway of Snyder.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Assembly of God Church in Jayton, with the Rev. J.C. Owen officiating.

A native of Dickens County, he is survived by his wife, Oleta; four brothers, R.J. Stanley of Monahan, Melvin and Bud Stanley, both of Killean, and Granville Stanley of Comanche; two sisters, Vera Lee Robinson of DeLeon and Iva Harris of Arizona.

Joseph Stalin, the Russian leader, died in 1953. His real name was Dzhughashvili, but he changed it to Stalin, meaning made of steel, after joining the Bolshevik revolutionary movement. The son of a shoemaker, he became a Marxist while studying for the priesthood. He became the people's commissar for nationalities in Vladimir Lenin's cabinet, and after Lenin's death in 1924, Stalin and two others succeeded him.

Gas Prices To Go Up Despite Crude Supply

By ROBERT BURNS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Crude oil supplies are at an all-time high and refineries are cutting back production because they can't find enough customers, but that won't mean lower prices at the gas pump. Analysts say gasoline prices will go up this summer anyway. The increases, however, could be tempered for part of the summer by price wars in parts of the country — particularly in New York, Washington and sections of the Midwest — one analyst says. The retail price will rise about one cent per gallon each month, predicts Dave Knapp, an analyst with the Economics Group of Chase Manhattan Bank. He cautions that his forecast assumes there will be no unexpected changes in the production or pricing of foreign oil. There are several reasons the impending glut is not expected to reduce prices. For one, gasoline prices traditionally rise in the summer, when driving increases. Another is that, even with slackening demand overall, the price of crude oil is not going down. Saudi Arabia has just raised the price of its oil to $28 a barrel, bringing it closer to the prices of $30 and up charged by other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. There are 42 gallons in a barrel. And the federal government is gradually removing price controls on domestic oil, allowing those prices to rise to world levels. "No one can say for sure what's going to happen, but the underlying cost of making gasoline will continue to go up because, in part, of the government's decontrol program," said Gary Ross of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation. President Carter's effort to impose a fee of 10 cents per gallon on gasoline has been stymied for the moment, but gasoline prices would of course go up again if he succeeded in imposing that fee. It has been blocked by a judge and faces stiff congressional opposition. For the time being, however, the tremendous surge in gasoline prices has ended. The average price of leaded regular gasoline actually fell a bit during the first week of May, from $1.209 to $1.206 according to Dan Lundberg, who publishes a newsletter that monitors gasoline supplies and prices.

Antibiotic dosage differs

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you suggested that it was all right to use tetracycline for acne on a continual basis. I thought that antibiotics killed all the bacteria in the small intestine. I've heard of doctors who suggest the use of yogurt or buttermilk along with or after antibiotics. Am I correct about this?

DEAR READER — You are partially correct. If you take large doses of tetracycline over a long period of time, it can sterilize the bowel. Incidentally, there is far more bacteria in the colon than in the small intestine. In general, the small intestine is relatively free of important bacteria. The daily amount of tetracycline used to control or prevent acne is small enough that it usually will not have this effect.

Killing bacteria with antibiotics depends a lot on the dosage. Remember that a lot of the antibiotic is absorbed directly from the first part of the small intestine into the bloodstream and significant concentrations never reach the colon. That's why if you choose to sterilize the bowel for surgery, you often have to use powerful antibiotics and have to use relatively large amounts.

Moderately large doses of antibiotics used long enough can sterilize the bowel and cause problems. In these instances, it is true that using yogurt may help to reestablish the culture of helpful bacteria in the bowel. However, it's not recommended to use yogurt or buttermilk along with the antibiotics. These and milk tend to decrease the amount of absorption of the antibiotic into the bloodstream and can reduce their effectiveness.

To give you additional information about the treatment of acne, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. DEAR DR. LAMB — Do you think we get too many vitamins because they're added to our bread and cereal like vitamin D in milk, vitamin C in our drinks and so forth?

DEAR READER — When vitamins and minerals are added to foods, they are food additives. Fortunately, the water soluble vitamins, which include all of the different B vitamins and vitamin C, are not stored in excess amounts in the body. Vitamin C is a good example. There's a limited amount which can be carried in the blood. If you absorb more than that amount, it's quickly eliminated in the urine. That's also why taking excess quantities of the B vitamins and C vitamins often is a useless exercise unless you want to produce vitamin-enriched urine.

The addition of vitamin A and D, which are fat soluble vitamins, is another question. These are stored in the body. If a person uses a lot of milk and dairy products which have had vitamin D added to them, gets vitamin D from other food sources and also takes a vitamin preparation that contains vitamin D, it's rather easy to quickly reach toxic levels. The safety range between the amount of vitamin D your body needs and the amount that has a toxic effect is rather narrow.

Feelings Growing Bitter In Canada

MONTREAL (AP)—The campaign for the referendum next Tuesday on the future of Quebec is growing increasingly bitter in its final days, with partisans on both sides accusing each other of nationalistic hate-mongering, fascist tactics and a "campaign of fear."

The voters of the largely French-speaking province are being asked to make a historic first move toward leaving the 113-year-old Canada confederation.

The mishap occurred at 6:59 p.m. at 37th St. and Ave. E and is being investigated by Highway Patrolman Pat Alexander. Injured were Alta Nation, Aury Francis and Judy Brown. (Photos By Robby Trevey)

Can't Give Money Away

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP)—At Big Bend Community College, the federal government can't give money away.

The federal Department of Energy mailed a $1,000 check to the college last month to help make the school's buildings more energy-efficient.

But Dr. Howard Fryett, dean of administrative services, said the school would have to meet more than 40 federal requirements to get the money.

"I am sorry to inform you," he wrote Jack B. Robertson, regional Energy Department chief, "that we are unable to accept this grant and have therefore enclosed your check for $1,000...we find that the labor costs exceeds the $1,000 grant award."

Police Probe 2 Burglaries

Police are investigating two burglaries reported Thursday. Mack Riggins of 2906 1/2 Ave. L told police that a color television worth $300 and a money bag containing $11 and a small amount of liquor had been taken from his home. That incident was reported at 12:13 p.m. Thursday.

At 6:52 p.m. Rusty Davis told officers his 17th St. and Ave. M home had been broken into Wednesday afternoon. Taken, he said, was a radar range worth $450 and a black and white TV valued at $35.
